European Army Nears Active Role

Integrated Defense Force May Be Going Concern In Next 2 Months

Washington, October 27—(AP)—The combined military force for defense of Western Europe may be a going concern, headed by an American as supreme commander, within the next two months.

The military committee of the North Atlantic treaty organization last night completed a set of recommendations to be handed to the defense ministers of the 12 treaty powers when they meet here Saturday.

The blueprint prepared by the chiefs of staff composing the military committee provides: creation of an integrated force for the collective defense of all the North Atlantic treaty area (both Europe and the western hemisphere group of Canada and the United States); an integrated force for protection of the European area; the establishment of a supreme headquarters for the European force; the appointment of a supreme commander.

There were broad hints that the nucleus of the European force, together with a supreme commander, would be functioning by January.

Neither the official communiqué nor an American spokesman who discussed it gave any hint on two points of major interest—the size of the collective force and its components or the nationality of the supreme commander.

Nevertheless, much speculation centered on Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of allied forces in Western Europe in World War II. Those who guessed it would be Eisenhower pointed significantly to a scheduled meeting of the general with President Truman on Saturday.

The questions of a supreme commander and the forces to be contributed to the mutual defense system won't be settled by the recommendations of the military committee or the defense ministers.

Those problems, because of their high importance and their involvement in domestic situations of the various member nations, will require ultimate approval by the North Atlantic council of foreign ministers and the respective governments. Action can be taken by the foreign ministers' council without the time-consuming procedure of calling an other council meeting, it was explained.

Wreck Victim's Condition Said Still 'Critical'

The condition of Thomas Gray Pilgreen of near Pictolus, who was seriously injured in a car automobile accident in Pictolus on Wednesday afternoon, is still critical, a spokesman for Tayloe Hospital reported today. Doctors stated his condition is "about as good as can be expected."

Pilgreen was driving a car on the Washington highway with his son as a passenger, when the car was demolished by a car driven by Samuel Randall Cordon, of Washington. The car hit the car on the right side of the highway.

Basnight Pilgreen, son of the injured man, who is also in Tayloe Hospital, was reported to be somewhat improved this morning. He suffered a concussion and internal injuries, doctors stated.

Fifth Column Crime

Undercover Aggression Labeled As Crime In Resolution Before UN Committee; U. S. Has Had Past Experience In This Direction; Review Of 1933-39 Activities

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

America is employing one of her earliest defenses against communism in joining five other U. N. members to label fifth column aggression as among "the gravest of all crimes against peace and security throughout the world."

A resolution to this effect has been placed before the assembly's Political Committee by the U.S.A., Mexico and The Netherlands. This is in answer to the Russian peace project calling for armaments reduction and branding as a war criminal the first government to use the atomic bomb.

The grouping of the bomb with fifth column activities may seem far fetched at first blush. However, the fifth column is by far the most powerful weapon in the Soviet armory. The Red empire is built largely on the strength of these underground workers.

One of the earliest of the world's statesmen to recognize the dangers of the fifth column, was President Franklin D. Roosevelt. When he came to the White House in 1933 in large degree to the Communist

Gov't Plans New Controls For Three Critical Metals

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—To speed the making of munitions, the government is planning to stem part of the immense flow of aluminum, copper and nickel now going into civilian products.

William H. Harrison, administrator of the National Production Authority (NPA), told manufacturers yesterday that a "tentative plan" under consideration calls for a cut of 20 to 30 per cent in the non-military use of the three critical metals.

He didn't say when the plan might be put into effect.

Harrison also served notice that another important metal, cobalt, is so scarce that it may be removed from non-defense use altogether. Cobalt, similar to nickel, is used as a steel alloy and in electro-magnets. It was not clear just how heavily the proposed metals controls would affect the output of television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, automobiles, bicycles, toys, and other articles which contain aluminum, copper, nickel or cobalt.

This will depend in part on the extent to which a manufacturer can adopt substitutes for those metals.

The NPA said that the cutback program would apply to the metals only in their "primary forms." Each manufacturer using aluminum, copper or nickel would have his supply reduced by a certain percentage below his average consumption during some particular previous period not yet determined.

But each manufacturer could still decide what products to make. And buyers of those products would not be limited to any percentage of their previous purchases.

The NPA said Harrison outlined the tentative plan yesterday before a group of radio and television producers and repeated the performance before manufacturers of consumer durable goods (such as washing machines and refrigerators).

From all reports, most of the industry men apparently were not surprised at the news.

U. S. Okays Softer Position On Franco

Lake Success, Oct. 27—(AP)—The United States threw its support today behind a move to soften United Nations restrictions against Franco Spain.

An American source said the U. S. will vote for a resolution, scheduled to be introduced in the United Nations special political committee to revoke the ban on sending ambassadors to Madrid and to give Spain permission to join organizations affiliated with the U. N.

The resolution does not permit full Spanish membership in the United Nations nor does it repeal an earlier formal condemnation of the Franco regime.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson forecast the new American policy in a letter to Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, last spring.

He said that if the U. N. resolution did not constitute outright approval of Franco, the U. S. would have no objection to repealing the ban on ambassadors.

Britain, whose Labor government has been one of the most outspoken critics of Franco, let it be known it would not oppose the resolution and would abstain in the voting.

With the almost solid support of the Latin American and Arab countries, the resolution seemed assured of the votes needed to beat down Soviet bloc opposition.

It is sponsored by Bolivia, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, the Philippines and Peru.

All of those countries have cultural and emotional ties with Spain, which originally colonized them.

Pitt Farm Bureau Drive Far Behind Planned Goal

W. A. Allen, president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau, stated today the 1950 membership is lagging far behind the goal of 3,500 subscriptions, numbering at the present only 1,335.

In announcing the subscriptions written in each of the 13 townships, Allen stated he wanted business men and farmers alike to know that the drive is definitely lagging.

"The farmer must realize his responsibility to join," Allen said. "He should not wait for his neighbor to join, but must do it on his own. Besides, it isn't fair for a non-member to receive the benefits of the Bureau when he isn't paying for them."

To date, Farmville Township is leading the drive with 449 paid memberships. These include both new members and those renewals from the past year.

Other townships with their signed members are: Bethel, 224; Greenville, 186; Swift Creek, 145; Ayden, 137; Beaver Dam, 130; Pictolus, 24; Falkland, 17; Chicod, 12; and Winterville, 11. Fountain, Belfor and Carolina Townships have not reported.

It is imperative that all the membership workers turn in all their subscriptions by next Wednesday.

Filipino Critic Of U. S. Graft To Be Disciplined

Manila, Oct. 27—(AP)—Sharp discipline of the author of an article accusing Washington of harboring worse grafters than the Philippines was promised today by President Elpidio Quirino.

The article was released Thursday by the Malacanán (Philippines White House) press office. The writer was named by the press office as Federico Mangahas, Quirino's personal secretary.

Quirino repudiated the article, which was on Malacanán stationery, saying:

"I have not authorized publication of the statement of the alleged commentator, much less its release as a Malacanán statement. Steps are being taken to take disciplinary action against the party responsible for this release."

The article purported to answer criticism of the Bell mission whose report to President Truman has not been published. The mission, headed by Daniel W. Bell, Washington banker and former undersecretary of the U. S. Treasury, studied Philippines finances and economics for two months and reported on aid for the island republic on Oct. 11.

The Malacanán statement declared Filipinos were "mere pikers" compared with Americans in the matter of graft. He writer was described merely as "a Philippine commentator."

President Quirino disclosed in a statement that he himself had called on U. S. Ambassador Myron Cowen and expressed his regret over the incident.

Auto Union Sees Layoffs At Ford

Detroit, Oct. 27—(AP)—The president of the Ford Union of the CIO United Auto Workers says the Ford Motor Company is planning to cut its working force 15 per cent immediately.

Carl Stellato, president of the 60,000-member Ford UAW Local 600, wired President Truman last night that huge layoffs are imminent because of the government's new credit restrictions and a steel shortage. He described the credit revision as "drastic."

Chinese Unit?

With the U.S. First Corps in North Korea, Oct. 27—(AP)—South Korean interrogators said today that Chinese prisoners told them one full corps—perhaps 30,000 men—had entered Korea from Red Manchuria to bolster the faltering North Korean Communist troops.

An American adviser with the South Korean First Division said the division was attacked by a "Chinese" division Thursday and that in the ensuing battle many Chinese were killed or wounded and four Chinese were captured.

"This morning we counted 62 dead Chinese in our area near Unsan," the American said.

Cattle Breeding Group Chartered

Organization To Begin Work Within Next Two Weeks

The Pitt Artificial Breeding Cooperative, Inc., was chartered today by the Secretary of State and will begin its first operation within the next two weeks.

As outlined in the charter, the purpose of the program is "to make available to owners of dairy cattle and family milk cows sire semen from sires of high index ability to transmit their offspring ability to produce high quantities of milk with high butterfat content."

The organization, now that it is chartered, passes out of the sponsoring hands of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

From the first of this year the committee has worked to interest farmers in the program. At a meeting in February, it called together farmers from all areas of the county to find their reaction to such an organization. More than 300 owners of cow herds and family cows alike stated they would use the service if brought here.

More recently the officers of the cooperative appointed two technicians to take a course at State College which will train them to perform the service of artificially inseminating cattle. That course begins next week.

After that the technicians will begin their work. They are T. He-

Shortages, High Prices Predicted In Meat Industry

Economist Says Only Sharp Step-Up In Production Will Meet Demand

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—A meat industry economist cautioned today that the country faces a shortage of meat and skyrocketing prices next year unless the government takes steps soon to encourage greater output.

Carl H. Wilken, economist with the Raw Materials National Council, said a study he just made for the National Independent Meat Packers Association indicates consumers will demand an average of between 155 and 160 pounds of meat in 1951.

This is at least eight pounds more than the Agriculture Department expects farmers to produce next year, unless special incentives are set up to encourage greater production.

Commenting on the Department forecast, Wilken told a reporter a survey of livestock feeding operations led him to advise the packers that production next year may not exceed this year's level of 145 pounds for each consumer.

Government spending under the defense program, the economist predicted, will boost consumer buying power to an extent that the public will have between one and two billion dollars more to spend for food next year than this.

Unless there is a sharp set-up in meat production, he said, the movement of this extra money into the meat markets can only result in very high prices which probably would lead to the imposition of price controls.

Wilken said he is convinced the government should act at once to assure farmers of satisfactory prices on future marketings. Such assurance, he said, would lead farmers to feed present hogs three or four weeks longer than they now plan. Such a practice would add many additional millions of pounds of pork to the supply.

Since the bulk of this pork would move to market this winter, some of the pork should be removed from the market and stored for sale next summer when supplies will be seasonably small and prices high. This action, he said, would tend to stabilize prices and supplies throughout the year.

Collision Victim Much Improved

Mrs. R. S. Broughton, injured in an automobile collision on Tuesday afternoon, was reported today by doctors at Pitt General Hospital to be very much improved.

The woman was taken to the hospital early Tuesday afternoon after a car driven by her was in collision with another car at the intersection of Chestnut Street and Raleigh Avenue.

She suffered a head injury, cracked ribs and other minor injuries. Doctors stated that she may leave the hospital within the next few days if her condition continues to improve.

Reds Reported Moving On Tibet

A radio broadcast from Peiping, China, Wednesday said Chinese Reds are moving on Tibet (1), the strange country in mid-Asia seldom seen by white men. The Red radio said the purpose of the Communists' advance is to "free 3,000,000 Tibetans from imperialist oppression." Another Asiatic invasion is taking place in Indochina (2) where French troops are defending the country against Communist-led forces of Ho Chi Minh. (AP Wirephoto Map).

Rural Fire Protection Group Forming In Pitt

Farmers Of Bethel Area Raising $10,000, Bethel To Add $3,000 For Buying Fire-Fighting Equipment

Bethel, Oct. 27—The first rural fire protection association to operate in Pitt county is being formed by farmers of the Bethel area who at present are in the process of raising some $13,000 to purchase necessary fire equipment.

The organization is to be known as the Tri-County Rural Fire Association and is to include in its membership farmers of Pitt, Martin and Edgecombe counties who have property within a radius of approximately five miles of Bethel.

An initial step in the formation of the organization was taken a week ago when a meeting of interested farmers was held in the Bethel gymnasium and preliminary plans for the organization were made. Since that time a list of approximately 240 farm property owners in the Bethel area has been compiled, and already about $7,000 has been subscribed by the farmers for the association, according to a statement this morning by Fire Chief J. W. Minton of Bethel.

Minton explained that a goal of $10,000 has been set to be raised by the farmer members of the association and present plans are for the town of Bethel to supply the remainder of the money necessary to purchase a truck suitable for rural fire fighting. The reputation for the formation of the association, Minton said, has been very gratifying. "Practically everybody we go to and explain the association is ready to come across," the chief said. "We are hoping to get the rest of the $10,000 within the next two weeks, and I think we will because we are getting along fine."

With the association set up as it now is, each farmer is assessed $5 for each tobacco barn, pack house, tenant house, dwelling or other major building on his property. Once the truck is purchased, there will be no additional cost to the individual farmer until the equipment has to be replaced. Under normal conditions.

Enthusiastic Audience Hears Eleanor Steber

Eleanor Steber, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Association, sang last night at East Carolina Teachers College before an audience of approximately 1800 people.

The concert by the American star of opera, concert and radio opened the 1950-1951 Entertainment Series at the college. Patrons of this year's program who were present included a large number from Washington, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Windsor, Snow Hill, Robersonville, New Bern, Farmville and other nearby towns.

Enthusiastic applause followed Miss Steber's numbers, and during the evening she was recalled to the stage for frequent bows and encores. Her voice, which is beautiful in quality, wide in range, and well controlled, combined with her sense of drama and a pleasing stage presence to make the concert a memorable one for the audience.

Accompanied by James Quillian at the piano, Miss Steber opened her program with arias from the Mozart operas "Idomeneo" and "Don Giovanni." A group of songs by Brahms and Richard Strauss proved especially appealing to the audience. Other numbers on the program included an aria from Verdi's "Don Carlos," French and Italian songs by Debussy, Rossini, and other composers; and a group of songs sung in English.

The encore "Summertime" by Gershwin and the humorous numbers "Hello, Hello" from Menotti's

Oppose Increase For University's Tuition

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 27—(AP)—The Student Council of the Greater University of North Carolina has gone on record as opposing any possible increase in tuition.

The student organization yesterday sent a resolution to this effect to Governor Scott.

"The Telephone" and a parody on the old favorite "Long, Long Ago" were hits with the audience.

The next number on the Entertainment Series will be a production of "La Boheme," presented by the Wagner Opera Company, November 28 in the Wright auditorium at 8:00 in the evening.

Rent Control Law?

Continuing Talk Of Controls Given Shot In Arm By President's Hinted Recall Of Congress; Since Law Was Relaxed, Situation Not The Same As It Was

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 27—(AP)—A new rent control law? There's been continuing talk of it, and the idea got a shot in the arm this week.

President Truman said yesterday he may call congress back—before it's due back on November 27—to consider rent controls, among other things.

Earlier this month Senator Bricker, Ohio Republican, said congress may have to extend the rent law when it returns in November.

In the past Bricker had been one of the chief foes of such controls. He had fought against them the last two times congress extended them. And as far back as September Rep. Spence—Kentucky Democrat and chairman of the House Banking committee—said his group would start hearings on a new rent law as soon as congress returns in November.

Last April Mr. Truman asked congress to keep the controls until June 30, 1951, anyway.

Late in June congress thought otherwise and decided to wipe out the controls—or most of them—sooner than Mr. Truman wanted. It passed a rent law which went into effect July 1 and said this:

1. All government rent controls would end December 31, 1950, unless—

2. The people of a city or town, by referendum or vote of their governing body, like a city council, voted to keep them until June 30, 1951.

For most of the country, unless congress in the meantime votes to keep them longer, controls will end December 31, 1950.

But since congress voted in June the Korean fighting started. So did this country's defense program with all that means.

Industries are booming, workers are needed, and in the meantime the government cracked down on new home building by making it harder to buy.

So the situation now is not exactly the same as it was in June, Bricker, for instance, said this on October 6:

New building had almost caught up with housing needs (in June) but the government crackdown on new building since the defense program started rolling may leave a

Two battalions of U.S. and ROK marines were rushed south of Wonsan port to stop a marauding band of 4,000 Reds striking from the Diamond Mountains. That's 30 to 40 miles from the big east coast port where U.S. marines and infantry and ROK marines began landing Thursday.

An American marine battalion from Wonsan landed at Kojo. A battalion of South Korean marines landed farther south to spring a trap around the terrorists, led by a Red Korean brigadier general.

A U.S. 10th Army spokesman at Wonsan said the situation was not serious, but added:

"There are more North Koreans behind us than ahead of us. They are coming out of the hills all down the coast raiding towns, holding up trains and generally annoying us."

One unconfirmed report said Red raiders killed all villagers at Iri who had been friendly to allied troops. The town is north of Wonsan. There was no estimate on the loss of life.

A spokesman for the Marine First Air Wing said pilots had killed 1,000 Red raiders south of Wonsan in four days.

An 8th Army spokesman at Seoul said he could not verify ROK front-line reports of facing large forces of organized Chinese Reds. He doubted if they were true.

AP Correspondent O.H.P. King quoted one high staff official: "The rumor of 60,000 Chinese Communists in North Korea is purely rumor as far as I am concerned. I have not seen any."

But reports that Chinese Reds were fighting on the North Koreans' side persisted.

Credit Women Breakfast Clubbers Entertain At Colorful Party

Credit Women Breakfast Clubbers entertained their "Bosses" and guests last night at the Woman's Club at a colorful Halloween party and banquet with Mrs. Dorothy Copeland presiding.

Pumpkin name cards, hats of Halloween design, pack-o-lanterns and witches and white favors decorated the tables, with programs in huge black cats and pumpkins. Individual favors marked places for men and women clubbers and guests. A lovely bowl of giant chrysanthemums provided the centerpiece.

Mr. John G. Clark, president of the Exchange Club and boss of Mrs. Frances Cassick, who gave the welcome, responded, following invocation by Mr. A. Hartwell Campbell. Mrs. Dorothy Copeland reviewed the history of the club and the awards won at state and Dixie Council for outstanding club work and in local community. She presented each club member an emblem pin, explaining the significance of it to breakfast clubbers. Mrs. Vallie Henderson of Raleigh, past president of the Dixie Council, of the state organization and of the Raleigh club, installed the new officers in an impressive

Local Residents Attend AAUW Fall Workshop In Shelby

The Fall Workshop of the N. C. Division of the American Association of University Women was held on Saturday, October 21, at the Country Club, Shelby, N.C., where important business was conducted and interesting reports were heard. All state officers and most of the state committee chairmen and branch presidents were present.

Among the items of business considered was the acceptance of the revised State By-Laws and the initiation of a new state project. This project is the establishment, by the N.C. Division of A.A.U.W., of a committee of hospitality to welcome foreign students and visiting educators. Dr. Edna Arundell, Greensboro, was appointed state chairman of this committee. Two other state projects already in effect are: that of sponsoring the writing of N. C. County Histories and presenting a cup for each year's winner; and the international project of contacting for correspondence, et cetera, branches of International Association of University Women in foreign countries.

A most interesting report of the conference of the International Federation of University Women, held in Zurich, Switzerland, in August, was given by Miss Margaret Cuddy, Charlotte, who was one of the two representatives of the N. C. State Division. Approximately 600 delegates representing 25 federations met for a week filled with workshop group meetings, administration meetings, receptions and dinners. The Swiss hostesses had planned with great thoughtfulness and efficiency. Those who did not already speak English fluently had been studying so that they could welcome English-speaking delegates. Two hundred of the delegates were from the United States. At a formal reception marking the 30th anniversary of the founding of the federation, histories of each of the 34 member associations were presented as the roll was called. The associations behind the Iron Curtain could not send delegates, but they had all sent messages—some by way of the Underground. Dr. Douglass, I.F.U.W. president, of Kingston, Canada, presided.

Delegates to the Regional Conference held in June at the Ocean Forest Hotel, Myrtle Beach, S. C., gave interesting reports.

Announcements were made of the National Convention of A.A.U.W. to be held in Atlantic City April 9-13, 1951, and of the State Convention to be held in Winston-Salem April 27-28, 1951.

At one o'clock, the members of the Board of Directors attended a luncheon at which Dr. Melanie R. Rosborough, University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida, vice-president of the South Atlantic Region, was guest speaker. The theme on which she spoke was "Women and the United Nations."

In attendance at the Workshop from Greenville were Mrs. Robert Lee Humber, president, and Mrs. Spruill Spain, secretary, of the N.C. Division of A.A.U.W.

Memorial Baptist Church

Dr. R. L. Holt, professor of religious education and coordinator of religious activities of East Carolina Teachers College, will preach Sunday morning at Memorial Baptist church. This will be the first time that Dr. Holt has spoken to the congregation at Memorial Baptist church and the members will be looking forward to hearing him. The morning worship hour is 11 o'clock.

POWER

"What's the matter with me?"

Many people keep asking this question and then at last they betake themselves to a specialist. "Brother," says the specialist, "what you need is a new set of spark plugs and piston rings." Then the surgeons begin removing what we are not supposed to have, and the specialists in internal medicine begin filling us with vitamins and other things which we are supposed to have. Last of all, the fanciest specialist of the lot goes to work on us—the psychiatrist. He tunes up our motor.

After it is all over, we find we cannot get going any better than before, and the reason is that there is no gasoline in the tank—no money in the bank, no gasoline in the tank.

Religion is power. It's gasoline in the tank. The promise of Jesus to his disciples when he left them was: "Ye shall have power."

Briefly stated, the position of the Christian church is that the fundamental problems of life cannot be settled apart from religious faith. Surgery, medication, psychiatric treatment play an important part in modern life. We may need new equipment and a tuning up of our motor, but above everything else we need gasoline in the tank before we can get going. Religion is power.

Saturday Is The Last Chance

Tomorrow the people of Greenville township get their last chance to register for the coming general election which will be held November 7.

This new registration has been required for the entire Greenville township, and all those who have not registered in the new registration will not be eligible to vote.

The registration places which have been designated for the newly arranged precincts of the township are Farmers' Warehouse, the county courthouse, Third Street school, West Greenville school, city hall, Gold Leaf warehouse and the Red Banks community building. The new registration has been neglected by a large percentage of the voters who were previously registered in the township.

Tomorrow will be the last day of registration before the books close for this year. It is your duty to register now and vote in the general election on November 7.

For The Preservation Of Private Enterprise

Private enterprise has won a round in its fight for survival against the federal government.

Yesterday the board of the North Carolina department of conservation and development approved a plan of the Virginia Power and Light company for the construction of a $30,000,000 dam at Roanoke Rapids.

The action was a shot in the arm to the private power concerns which have been struggling with the Federal government in an effort to hold their own businesses against the vast government power projects which are springing up. Another significant point in the action of the board of the conservation and development department is the request from the board for the federal government to withdraw its opposition to the private construction of the dam.

The Reflector is heartily in accord with the action of the state board. It has taken a step back toward private enterprise which was far overdue in the electric power field.

There is little question that the Tennessee Valley Authority with its electrification program has meant a great deal to the area which it serves, but it remains a disputed issue whether or not private enterprise could do a more efficient job of the project had it been allowed to do so. The electric power industry in the United States has moved far down the road toward nationalization. The government has stepped in here and there and proposed its own projects in direct competition with private enterprise and at the expense of the taxpayers. It is true that in some cases the power produced by the government has been cheaper to the consumer than the power produced by the private companies, but the government projects can operate at a loss which is absorbed by the taxpayers through the federal budget.

Federal controls on private enterprise are extensive enough without the government seeking to have private enterprise kept out of the electric power field in any section of the country.

The Reflector believes the board of the North Carolina department of conservation and development has taken a step which in the long run will have a far reaching effect upon private enterprise in the electric power business. The example North Carolina has set in requesting the federal government to withdraw its opposition to a private project should be the inspiration other state boards need to take similar action for the preservation of private enterprise.

What About The New Fairgrounds?

What is this ban on amusement building going to do to the Pitt county fair plans?

It is generally known that the fair board of the American Legion posts of Pitt county is planning for the fair to be during the coming year at the new fair property across the river. The fair has outgrown its area and facilities at the present location and plans are to construct new exhibit buildings and other facilities at the new fairground site for the coming year.

The county fair has come to mean a great deal to Pitt county during the past several years. The Reflector is in the hope conditions will allow the new fairground facilities to be constructed before next fall even though a county fair is usually considered a form of amusement.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The Administration's political brain trust is preparing an ultra-secret scheme for sweetening the kitty for the most powerful vote-getting machine in the country—namely, the 3,000,000-plus federal employees and the 130,000 who have been retired on pensions. Since it requires legislation, it cannot become effective until later and will have major impact when President Truman runs again in 1952.

The plan contemplates tying the pay of the government's postal and other white-collar workers to the same sort of cost-of-living formula incorporated in the recent contract between General Motors and the CIO's United Auto Workers. Under this system, union members get a 1-cent an hour increase for every 14 point rise in the price index compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics at Washington.

The other proposal would boost the retirement pay of the 130,000 former employees by $300 a year or by a percentage formula, whichever seems to be more reasonable. Both would be a revolutionary move in the fixing of federal salaries and pensions, as it was in industry.

No presidential spokesmen will accept responsibility for advancing such a program. But it will be an easy matter to have it initiated by the federal employees' organization here, or by some member of Congress. It is probable that few men on Capitol Hill would dare to vote "No."

TIGHT—It is not generally realized outside the inner political circles, but the army of Uncle Sam's help probably constitutes the most tight, easily controlled and effective vote-getting machine in the country. It excels such blocs as labor, farmers, veterans, social workers and racial elements, as cold mathematics of the 1948 outcome demonstrates.

It is true that federal workers are supposed to be protected by Civil Service. But that agency is frequently operated and manipulated with an eye to partisan politics. Moreover, even Civil Service adherents do not like changes in Administration that may mean internal shakeups and reorganizations in which they may lose certain privileged status. They are fervent advocates of a don't-rock-the-boat system.

It is not necessary to labor the point that the strategically distributed array of government employees have dominated and can dominate presidential and Congressional elections in closely contested fights. It is only necessary to review the results of the Truman-Dewey battle of two years ago.

EVIDENCE—In six decisive states—California, Illinois, Ohio, Utah, Wyoming and Nevada—the number of federal workers, excluding presumably sympathetic members of their families, relatives and friends, was six times as great as the Democratic margin of victory. In counties where there was the heaviest concentration of Uncle Sam's men and women, the Democrats rolled up their largest majorities.

It was the Truman strength in Cook County, where there are more federal pay rollers than in any other county in the U.S., that carried Illinois for the President. The same was true of California, where the federalists in the Bay Area were responsible for a Dewy-Warren loss. It was the turnout of government beneficiaries in Cleveland, Toledo and Dayton that caused the upset in Ohio.

There is evidence that federal workers rather than labor won Ohio for Mr. Truman, as it may hurt Senator Taft next month. Although Hamilton County (Cincinnati) is heavily industrialized, it has relatively few U.S. workers. It went Republican.

MARGINS—Here is a spectacular breakdown of the vote in these six key states, showing the direct relationship between the "federal" employees and the Democratic margins of victory in 1948:

State	Democratic Margin	Federal Employees
California	17,865	202,572
Illinois	33,612	96,633
Ohio	7,107	82,374
Idaho	5,856	6,003
Wyoming	4,407	5,365
Nevada	1,632	4,126

These states have a total of eight-eight electoral votes. With the 120-plus of the so-called "Solid South" and the border states, they give the nominee of the party in power a tremendous initial handicap over the opposition.

ASSET—The number of U.S. workers listed in this table includes only those resident in the six states. In addition, there are other thousands stationed at Washington and elsewhere. For instance, there are more Ohio pay rollers assigned to desks here than the total by which Mr. Truman carried that state in 1948. And the Democratic National Committee sees to it that they register, where that is necessary, and that they vote.

For a while, due partially to economy demands by the Byrd Senate Committee, the number of pay roll patriots began to drop from its war peak. But the Korean war, the creation of numerous foreign aid agencies and preparation for new controls will soon increase the total to an unprecedented peacetime high.

These 3,000,000 Uncle Sammies, who happen to be distributed where they can do the most Democratic good, are a factor with which the Republicans must reckon in next month's Congressional elections. And they will be Mr. Truman's not so hidden asset in 1952.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

One of the great thrills for a young married couple is making the final payment on an automobile purchased by the painful plan. The new regulation by the Federal Reserve Board which requires a down payment of one third and allows only 15 months for paying the balance will put a crimp in the plans of young couples to use the painful plan, which is what it's designed for. To make the national economy more stable, the plan is to discourage installment buying.

Most automobiles with a few extras cost close to $2,100 these days. That means that you need $700 for a down payment, and every month for 15 months you must pay about $93. And these figures do not include the carrying charges!

In this area, with no big-time used car dealers, this situation has not been too much to cry about, that is, from the dealer's point of view. New cars seem to be coming into Greenville in quantities insufficient to meet the demand, which means that the new installment buying regulation hasn't hit the new car dealers. In summary, I would say that in Greenville the only man suffering from the new regulation is the man who wants to buy a car on easier terms than the regulation allows.

But this isn't the case in Los Angeles. A used car dealer posted a big sign on his lot which reads: "Going Broke Sale. Dictator Truman is out to break every small businessman in the USA with regulation and controls. All cars on this lot at or below cost!"

The dealer, whose name is Jack Black, says he lost $13,500 and was forced out of business when the regulations were put on in 1948. This time, he says he's going to sell out before the loss. With the sign as a drawing card, he sold 14 of his 22 cars in one week.

In Denver, one dealer said, "Used-car dealers, unless they have a sideline of automotive repairs, will not be able to stay in business." In the used car capital, Detroit, prices were down an average of $300. Even with the low prices, sales were slow. One Hudson dealer who had sold 30 cars the week before the regulation, sold five last week.

Of course the regulation hits items other than cars. The price of houses continues to rise, but in the Northwest some grades of lumber have dropped as much as 50 per cent. Sales of television sets, radios, washing machines, and other appliances have also dropped.

The beauty of this country of ours is that we can slap on regulations when the time comes, fuss all we please at Uncle Sam about doing it, lift them when the emergency is over, and fuss about that. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

DIFFERENT — The fifth district Democratic rally held at Reidsville Wednesday afternoon, eleventh in the series of 1950, differed from all the others in several respects. There was a luncheon for the official party at the hotel before the program and a barbecue for everybody after. There were several hundred Democrats assembled in the armory, and a battery of high powered speakers to address them on the virtues of the Democratic party. In these respects the affair followed the fixed routine. But—this was the first place where there were three congressmen on the platform, although the host congressman was absent; and it was the first at which visitors were entertained by a ventriloquist who had his stooge engage in some interesting double-talk.

ABSENT — Representative Thurmond Chatham is still in Europe on an official mission. He sent recordings of a short report on his trip which was played to the audience and sent out over the air to the entire district. He had asked Rep. Charles B. Deane of the eighth district, four counties of which border the fifth, to speak for him. Also Representatives Robert L. Doughton of the ninth and Carl Durham of the sixth were on hand to pay tribute to their absent colleague. All of the four counties in the sixth district border the fifth. In fact the entire district was taken from the fifth when the 1930 census justified splitting it.

BRANDYWINE — Joe King of Winston-Salem, one of Forsyth county's nominees for the general assembly, was on hand with his famed "Brandywine." This pair is almost as well known in North Carolina as Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy. Brandywine got off some good quips at expense of the dignitaries present. Senator Frank Graham, Senator-nominate Willis Smith, former Senator William Umstead, Secretary of State Thad Eure, Commissioner of Agriculture Ballentine and others were taken for a ride by the dummy—who wasn't so dumb after all.

CHATHAM—Although not present in person, Congressman Chatham had large part in the program. He personally provided the barbecue for the entire crowd, and his recorded speech came out very well. It required some doing to get the records to Reidsville in time. They were mailed from Copenhagen by air mail to New York and were supposed to come directly to the fifth district. When they didn't arrive on schedule the congressman's secretary, Harold Thompson, and his son, Hugh, got busy. After dozens of telephone calls and personal trips, the records were found in the department of state at Washington. Brief negotiation got them out barely in time to have them at Reidsville for the program. The recording was mainly a honey report on the congressman's travels, with not much detail on his now-famous visit behind the iron curtain. Mr. Chatham hinted at the idea emphatically expressed by Congressman Harold Cooley and Charlie Deane that the United States should keep closer supervision on expenditure of money loaned or donated to other governments.

DEANE — Deane devoted most of his short talk to two items: The lack of courage and foresight on part of Republicans, and their dishonesty in talking about socialism without specifying what government services they would abandon; and the futility of the friends of labor "taking a walk" or writing in names of other than regular Democratic candidates on election day. He said the working man owes a lot to the Democratic party, and warned that failure to support it now might result in repetition of conditions prevailing in the 80th congress—which was controlled by Republicans largely because Democrats "took a walk" in 1946. Deane's position on this subject has significance, because he is regarded as the most pro-labor and liberal among the North Carolina delegation in congress.

VOTERS — Informal reports from every county in the district were similar to reports heard at previous meetings and indicate the largest vote in history.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

THE EVIDENCE GROWS (Kinston Daily Free Press)

Proof of the expansion of the livestock industry in Eastern Carolina and particularly in Lenoir County is seen in a number of things, not the least of which is addition this week of 25 heifers to Lenoir County herds. A dairy cow chain is also being expanded and the recent rains will give new life to the program of permanent pasture seeding in this area.

The North Carolina Department of Agriculture, assisted by local Extension Service agents, made it possible for livestock farmers in this area to obtain the Herford heifers at minimum cost, plus transportation charges. Others interested may obtain such stock on a similar basis.

This is the time for expansion of local dairy and beef cattle herds. This evidence that has come in recent days that such is being done should be followed by other purchases and further expansion of pasture facilities to take care of these 100s.

It is all a part of a regional effort to make this area more self-sufficient and less dependent upon a single source of income.

VISIT TO TITO (Greensboro Daily News)

Representative Thurmond Chatham, on a visit to Belgrade, had a lot of nice things to say about Marshal Tito, expressed the personal opinion that the United States should accept him as "a friend, neighbor and fighting companion," and concluded that the U. S. should aid Yugoslavia quickly to prevent starvation this winter.

The Daily News is not much given to placing a great deal of confidence in the conclusions of visiting congressmen about countries they have seen only during the few hours they have been entertained by the presiding dictator. We have no quarrel with Congressman Chatham for saying that Tito reminded him of some of the best qualities of Kerr Scott, Frank Graham and Clyde Hoyt; after all Marshal Tito was doubtless on his best behavior, although we haven't heard that he considered the comparison a compliment.

We see no necessity for the United States accepting the marshal as "a friend," and we hope he is a little too far off to be "a neighbor," but as "a fighting companion" we think he would do all right.

And while the situation in Europe continues, we believe the U. S. A. would do well to give him and his people what we can reasonably spare in the way of food and arms to keep them in fighting trim.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

The certainty of higher taxes in 1951 continues to increase. Support for "pay as you go" rearmament is stronger. There are fewer proposals for borrowing to finance defense. Less often is heard the soothing justification of deficit financing. "After all, we owe it to ourselves."

Most significant is the fact that the big business groups—the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and others—are more concerned with how additional taxes may be levied instead of the more usual opposition to tax increases.

Don't misunderstand. These groups are not in favor of unlimited government spending. They are still firm in their positions on the "welfare-state." But they seem reconciled to higher taxes and are now concerned with the manner in which the levies are to be made.

One of the causes for the unanimity of opinion on higher taxes is inflation. Even the most deplorable, profit-grabbing millionaire—if the species still exists—can see the futility of piling up higher profits if inflation is going to wipe out their buying power. It will be better to pay part of profits in taxes and check inflation, and thereby preserve the intrinsic worth of the rest, than to see the whole vanish in inflation, as happened in post World War I Germany.

Out of inflation grows another factor tending to reconcile the country to higher taxes, and that is the rising rate of almost all kinds of income. Wages, salaries, dividends and entrepreneurial payments are increasing. The few exceptions to the general trend include landholders, people living on incomes from bonds, and pensioners. In recent weeks several moves have been made to increase army, civil service, and some private pension payments.

Higher incomes make it less painful to pay the added costs of rearmament now than it could be if the indebtedness falls due during a recession some 10, 20 or more years from now.

NORWEGIANS TWIL THEIR OWN SMOKE

More Norwegians are "rolling their own." Department of Agriculture report reveals. Higher prices for cigarettes are causing the thrifty Norwegians to shift from tailor-made.

Incidentally, taxes on cigarettes are Norway's largest single source of funds. The country imports 11,500,000 pounds a year, only half of which goes into cigarettes. The remainder is consumed in a variety of forms, including snuff.

Hal Boyle's Column

By BILL ROSS (For Hal Boyle)

Tokyo (AP)—Most newsmen who covered the Korean war gave their overseas address as No. 1 Shimbun Alley. This is the location of the Tokyo correspondents' club.

During the past four months the traffic that flowed in and out of the five story building at times rivaled that of a state hotel caught in the crush of an American Legion convention.

It isn't a pretentious club and definitely was not intended to accommodate the nearly 300 correspondents who called it home while the fighting raged in Korea.

But in chit and club happy Tokyo—where everybody has to have a chit to buy food and drink and belong to a club to buy a chit—it was the only place reporters really felt at home.

Rarely did newsmen have an opportunity to spend more than a couple of days at the club.

The correspondents slept dormitory-style except for a dozen or so "old Japan hands" who were permanent club residents.

As Jimmy Cannon of the New York Post once put it during a trip "home" from the then-raging Taegu sector:

"This is the only chance a guy has to act as a civilized reporter should act."

The tiny bar operated virtually around the clock until weary correspondents—back from Korea for an honest to goodness rest—complained to the executive committee about the post midnight noise.

A heavy-eyed investigating committee of three groped down the stairs to the bar and found 43 persons—all non-reporters.

The midnight bar curfew was imposed the next day. But correspondents who liked a late nightcap were unhappy—especially at the military brass who had made all the noise.

The club's lounge, furnished with comfortable but battered davenports and easy chairs, was the scene of some get-togethers that Shimbun Alley folks never will forget. But generally it was a surprisingly quiet place with the library almost as popular as the bar.

After the first few weeks of the war, you could almost always see a correspondent with an arm or a leg in a cast resting in the lounge. There were others battered and beaten—reminders of the toll the Korean war inflicted on newsmen who covered it.

But perhaps the grimmest memories were stirred by the mail boxes, with ever increasing stacks of letters and packages, addressed to those correspondents who would never return to the club—to those who lost their lives on the embattled peninsula or en route there.

A tiny pump-organ is the correspondent's club's monument to its own Korean war dead. The instrument was "liberated" at

Washington Letter

By FRANK CAREY (For Jane Eads)

Washington—An Ohio chemist believes he has rediscovered the "secret" of Stradivari, the 17th century master violin maker.

Joseph Michelman of Cincinnati says he has prepared a varnish which "compares favorably" with the make-up of that used by the celebrated master. It also is similar in color and certain other properties, he claims.

Furthermore, says Michelman, he believes he has found the tip-off on the process used by Stradivari and other great fiddle makers in preparing their varnish.

(Most experts agree that the varnish used in the old violins contributed probably the most important single element of their superiority in tone over modern instruments. The "secret" of Stradivari's varnish has never been discovered, although most experts doubt that the master himself or his contemporaries tried to keep it a secret.)

Michelman, in a report in the journal "Science," did not state whether his varnish had yet been used on any fiddles.

Several years ago, Michelman advanced the theory that the old Italian masters used "metal rosinates"—that is, rosin combined with a metallic salt—in their varnishes.

Meanwhile, he had prepared varnishes based on the results of spectrographic analyses of the old Italian varnishes.

But he wanted to test his hunch about the methods employed in preparing the old time varnish. So he started right in with wood ashes and rosin, and used working methods in keeping with the times when Stradivari worked.

The upshot was that he produced a varnish "that compares" favorably in the composition of a group of its constituents elements with the varnish used by the celebrated master.

Want A Bargain?
Los Angeles, Oct. 27—(AP)—Today's transportation special: bullet proof Cadillac. At the ridiculously low price of $16,500 no family need be without one. Why wait? See Mickey Cohen, gambler.

Cohen, often the target of gangland bullets, is selling his custom built armored car because the California highway patrol denied him the special permit he needs to operate it. Bullet proof cars, the patrol ruled, are for use only by money-carrying express firms and the like, not gamblers. Burton Chalmers, who armored the car and is acting as agent for its sale, says it is used by President Truman.

Accused Slayers Give Selves Up

Raleigh, N.C., Oct. 27—(AP)—Two men charged with murder in the hold-up slaying of a High Point merchant have surrendered to the State Bureau of Investigation. A spokesman for the SBI announced yesterday that Jake Strickland, 21, and Edward A. Eason, 32, turned themselves in at High Point Wednesday night. He said the pair claimed they were "tired of dodging the law."

Ancient Spike Is Museum-Bound

Halifax—(P)—An eight-inch, hand made spike more than 200 years old was removed from one of the beams under the flooring of St. Paul's church and will probably go to the Nova Scotia museum. It is thought the spike was brought from Boston when St. Paul's oldest Anglican church in Canada, was built in 1750. The church now has been reinforced with cement.

A chemical solution brushed on girdled trees now is used to loosen the bark to the trees may be harvested for pulp at any time.

East Carolina Gridders At Full Strength For Contest

Pirates In Best Condition For Clash With Visiting Marines Saturday Night; First Time In Four Weeks That Team At Full Force

By BILL LLOYD
East Carolina's football forces will be at top strength for tomorrow night's grid battle with the Cherry Point Marines here.
With the exception of reserve fullback Tom Swain, who has been favoring a bad knee, it will be the first time in four weeks that the Pirates have been at full force.
Guards Reggie Byrd and Mickey Berman, two veteran linemen who have not seen full action since the Hampden-Sydney game here, participated in all the workouts this week, and should be ready for service tomorrow night.
End Ed Tanner, who sustained a severe leg injury in the Pirates' opening game, has returned to heavy duty, along with defensive flankman Bob Bradley, who has been sidelined for the past two weeks.
Coach Dole's charges set up their defenses for the strong, unbeaten Flyer eleven yesterday, then worked extensively on their pass patterns under pressure.
Quarterback Roger Thrift and his understudy, Sandy Siler, did the hunking for the Buck with all ends and halfbacks sharing in the pass-receiving duties.
Drills in kicking off, placement kicks, and punting wound up yesterday's practice.
Bill Darby, Jack Benzie and Sandy Siler took turns in getting off booming kicks, while Bobby Hodges and Buck Hardee worked on kick-offs and place-kicking, respectively.
East Carolina will taper off this afternoon, with only light signal drills and blocking assignments on schedule.
Gala halftime festivities have been planned for the Flyer-Pirate game tomorrow night, with the 60-piece Cherry Point Marine band participating in the halftime performances, along with East Carolina's 74-piece outfit.
Cherry Point's commanding officer, General L. E. Woods, will also be on hand for the contest.

Another Smith Who Plays At Tackle

One of the three "Smith boys" listed on the East Carolina football roster this year is Dennis "Doc" Smith, big, 190-pound offensive tackle stalwart from nearby Washington, N. C. Smith is playing his second year under the Purple and Gold colors and has performed a sensational game this season at his offensive spot. This big Beaufort county lad will open up plenty holes in tomorrow night's East Carolina-Cherry Point clash. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

Another Lamb Is 'Slaughtered' By King Sugar Ray

Philadelphia, Oct. 27.—(AP)—The promoters are still marching in the lambs and Ray (Sugar) Robinson continues to slaughter them in the master style of the Harlem dandy.
Last night it was Carl (Bobo) Olson who faced the Robinson fists. Fresh from the Hawaiian Islands, 22-year-old Olson tried to win Robinson's Pennsylvania - won middleweight championship. All he got for 5,500 miles of traveling was his fourth defeat in 53 fights.

Robinson set Olson down for the count in 1:19 of the 12th round of a scheduled 15 rounder at Convention Hall.

Olson never had a chance. One judge gave him a round while the other judge and the referee called one round even and gave Robinson the rest. A low blow cost the champion the 11th.

Robinson had only one trouble with Olson. That was hitting him. The islander offered a unique defense that made him a very tough target. He held his hands high and allowed his elbows to protrude in front of his midsection. It's a style to make an opponent work so hard trying to get in a punch that he wears himself out. But Olson was being cute with the wrong guy.

Robinson admitted in his dressing room after the fight that although he had everything his own way, Olson was one of the toughest opponents he has faced in his 11-year pro-ring career.

"He really covers up and you have to work mighty hard to get in a punch. I just kept whacking away at his kidneys trying to hurt him enough to drop his guard. I hit the body so many times that I was able to end it with a right hand body punch."

Olson, who never hit the canvas before in his career, called Robinson, "the greatest fighter I've ever seen. He's awfully smart. I thought he finished me with a right to the head but the way my side feels there's not much doubt what did it."

In retaining his Pennsylvania 160 pound crown, Robinson won his 118th fight in 121 efforts. Only a defeat by the middleweight champion in the other 47 states, Jake LaMotta, and two draws blot the Robinson record. He has licked LaMotta four times.

Graziano Talks Good Fight For Return Match

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—He's not as vicious in the ring as he used to be but Rocky Graziano still talks a tough fight.

"I'll knock him stiff," said Rocky who meets Tony Janiro in a return round bout at Madison Square Garden tonight. They drew in their first clash last March 31.

The Rock is a 1 to 2 choice to win over blond Tony, a flashy boxer from Youngstown, O.

Tony, however, declares he's in his best shape ever and "I'll wear him out. Rocky's slow and easy to hit and I may even knock him out."

All-Star Cagers To Draw 18,000

Chicago, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Some 18,000 fans are expected in Chicago Stadium tonight to see basketball's All-Star game.

The Minneapolis Lakers, a professional team, take on the country's outstanding college stars in the 11th annual cage feature.

The Lakers are champions of the National Basketball Association and for the last two years winners over the collegians.

Orphanage Bowl Contest Tonight

Raleigh, Oct. 27.—(AP)— Methodist Orphanage of Raleigh and Oxford Orphanage kick the lid off the bowl season tonight in the third annual Orphanage Bowl game at Riddick Stadium.

Methodist holds a 2-0 lead in the series but will enter tonight's game as the underdog.

The game is sponsored by Sudan Shrine Temple, and proceeds go to the participating schools.

The Smith Who Plays At Fullback

Hustling Johnny Smith, 162-pound line-plunger, put a "shot-in-the-arm" in East Carolina's rushing department when he took over the fullback duties for the Pirates two weeks ago. The little dynamo from Portsmouth, Va., has rolled up 160 yards rushing in two games this season for an average of 6.2 per try. Smith is an excellent team man, and doubles up with terrific line-backing chores. He will be in the East Carolina starting line-up against the Cherry Point Marines here tomorrow night. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

Tornadoes Pit Unbeaten Record Against Tarboro

Ayden's undefeated, untied Coastal conference champs put their spectacular record on line again tonight, as they journey to Tarboro for a non-conference tilt with Coach John Wolfe's eleven.

All-Conference Quarterback Teddy Bullock will once again lead the

WGTC Remains League Leaders

Women's City League
WGTC 13 8 619
College View 11 10 523
Double N 10 11 477
Carolina Cleaners 8 13 381

WGTC remained on top of the head of Women's League bowling teams by taking three for three from Double N Restaurant. The radio girls had a right easy time of it, winning all three by fairly large margins. Third game was the closest — 530-515 — with the losers getting a 15 point handicap.

Between the other two members of the league, College View copped two games out of the set from Carolina Cleaners, thereby replacing Double N in second place. The winners came within a hair of losing by the same margin when Carolina stopped one pin shy of the 359.

College View tallied in the third game. Carolina took the first game by a four-pin margin, 320-6.

WGTC and Double N provided the best display of bowling, although scores were not high enough to do any record breaking. Edna Branch, with a 12-pin spot, rolled the best games for the victors as she turned 3 games of 109-110-122-341. However, her three-game score was equalled by Margaret Savage of Double N. She rolled 341 on three games of 105, 132 and 104.

WGTC was able to take the set on the strength of five over-300 sets. Whereas, only two Double N bowlers rolled better than the women's par score.

Here are the five leading averages in the league: Frances Cassick, WGTC, 127; Margaret Fordham, WGTC, 123; Edith Nisbet, Carolina, 121; Marjorie Wells, College View, 113; and Eloise Warren, Double N, 113.

Phil Rizzuto Acclaimed Most Valuable In Loop

New York, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Phil Rizzuto, who was chased out of the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field because he was "too small" is the most valuable player in the American League for 1950.

Rizzuto, the little gamecock who plays a man sized shortstop for a world champion New York Yankees, won the coveted award yesterday with plenty to spare. The 32-year-old star polled 16 of 33 first place votes and 284 of a maximum 322 points in a poll conducted by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Boston's Billy Goodman, the league's batting champion, finished a distant second. Goodman received only four first place ballots and wound up with 180 points. Catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees drew the three remaining first place votes and finished third with 146 points.

Rounding out the top ten were George Kell, Detroit, fourth; Bob Lemon, Cleveland, fifth; Walt Dropo, Boston, sixth; Vic Raschi, New York, seventh; Larry Doby, Cleveland, eighth; Joe DiMaggio, New York, ninth and Vic Vertz, Detroit, tenth.

Ted Williams of Boston, last year's winner, finished way down. Williams drew only seven votes.

The great slugger however missed a good part of the season because of a broken elbow.
Copping the most valuable player award completes Rizzuto's most brilliant season in the game.
Never much of a power hitter in the past, Rizzuto switched to a Johnny Mize model bat at the beginning of the season and began hitting for extra bases with the heavier bat. He wound up with 50 extra base blows and the highest batting average of his major league career, .324.

Despite his slight stature (5-foot-6 inches, 165 pounds) Rizzuto was the only Yank to play in every one of his team's games. He took plenty of punishment around the midway but like the Mounties he seldom failed to "get his man."

Skiing Gridders

Ten Months Late, Tramp Ship Reaches Port; Eventful Cruise

It's Sensational

You'll Wonder How!
Watch This Paper
Every Day
For Mama and Papa

Hong Kong, Oct. 27—(AP)—Almost with a sigh today the trouble ship Tamara eased into the harbor and dropped her hook.

It was the end—or near the end—of an unlucky cruise. Ten months it took her to sail from Australia. Three weeks is par.

The Tamara is a Honduran registered ship of 1,160 tons—a tramp if ever there was one, and a ship with a temper akin to that of a King Cobra.

Her 38 crewmen are of six nationalities—all volatile.

Her cargo is a group of Chinese deportees from Australia, seven dogs, four cats, two monkeys and a gorilla from Borneo.

Her destination—well, anywhere there is peace and quiet.

Here is what authorities were told had happened:

The Tamara left Newcastle, Australia, near Sydney, on a hot day last December. Her destination was Portuguese Macao on the South China coast. It was to be a leisurely three-week cruise.

Two days out the Tamara's temper flared. She blew a boiler tube. The Chinese all got seasick. She limped into Brisbane for repairs.

But even in port her baleful influence was felt. Three of her South American crewmen fell in love with the same girl. Knives flashed.

The result: one jail and two hospital cases.

Seven weeks and several court hearings later she put out for Bowen, northeast Australia port. More trouble.

The officers and crew got into a donnybrook. Don't know what it was about.

Result: a bosun and fireman hurt badly; 12 crewmen quit.

By mid-March the Tamara was headed for Thursday Island off the north Australian coast.

A generator shaft snapped, her coal ran low and disgruntled seamen demanded back pay.

From Thursday Island the Tamara plodded toward Makassar in the Celebes. One day she found herself in the middle of a minefield while an Indonesian naval battle raged.

With her luck, you'd think the Tamara would have had her brains blown out.

She escaped unscathed.

But once outside the battle zone she blew another boiler tube and her food ran out.

By the time she reached the Gulf of Bone in the Celebes her coal was gone. There she took on fresh water, food and wood and headed for Borneo.

At Samarinda she loaded on the dogs, cats, monkeys and gorilla.

On her way out she got stuck on a sand bar.

Weeks later she put into Manila for food, water and repairs.

On Sept. 23 she sailed for Hong Kong, the nearest port to the Asia mainland. Two typhoons blocked her way.

She went back to Manila. The crew was getting tired of it all. They almost mutinied.

Finally the Tamara got here today, 10 months late.

Everybody, including the dogs, cats, monkeys and gorilla, was for getting right off the ship. They were all tired of each other.

But port authorities blocked them. It seems there had been TROUBLE aboard the Tamara and nobody but the captain could come ashore until things were straightened out.

Truman Will Be Re-elected In '52 Asserts Daniels

Washington, Oct. 27 — (AP) — Jonathan Daniels, Raleigh, N. C., publisher and Democratic National committeeman, predicts President Truman will be reelected in 1952.

Daniels, a presidential adviser, told a luncheon sponsored by the Washington Post yesterday that "Mr. Truman is with us for some time to come." He added that the President "is the symbol of what we hope to make people feel everywhere in the world... Mr. Truman represents Americanism—the stuff nobody will listen to elsewhere in the world."

Daniels recently wrote a Truman biography called "The Man of Independence."

Chapter 8

"Howdy, Jordan," said the bald-headed man. "Miss O'Connor said you were here. What's up?"

"Murder!"

"You don't say," said Anderson dryly. "Well, where the corpse, and who is it?"

"On the platform," said Marc, pointing to the private car. "Allow me to present Mr. Richards, president of the railroad!"

"Whew," whistled Anderson. "Brother, you've got trouble. What do you know about it?" he asked as they hurried toward the car.

"Nothing," replied Marc. "Nothing that won't keep. You fellows had better get to work. We've held this train twenty minutes, and several hundred people are going to start raising the roof. Say!" he exclaimed, turning suddenly to Nora. "Didn't I ask you to stay in the tower?"

"Who do you think you are, Marc Jordan, to order me around!" she replied indignantly.

"But it won't be pleasant. What do you think of that, Jerry?" he asked, pointing to the platform.

"Great day!" exclaimed Anderson. "Somebody really meant business, and no fooling. Any trace of the weapon?"

"That's strange, Jerry," replied Marc. "It seems we found the weapon before we knew there'd been a murder."

"Huh? How come?"

"Morrison, signal maintainer, was out on trouble tonight, and followed this train in on his motorcar. At Zola he hit something. De-railed. He found an axe, covered with blood, in the crossing."

"Well! Could've dropped off the train, then."

"Yes," replied Marc. "It's obvious how the job was done. Richards was standing on the platform, looking out of the window. Just lit a cigar. He was struck from behind on the left. The murderer stepped through to the next car—see the line of blood drops?—opened the car door, dropped the axe out."

"Yup, quick and convenient."

"I'll wager that the axe was taken from a case of tools in Mr. Richards' own car. One is missing."

"Well," said Anderson, "that makes it easy. Open and shut. We find who could get the axe, and there's our man. Nothing to it."

"Not so fast," cautioned Marc. "Anyone could slip back from the front part of the train and get the axe. Quite a lot of passengers got off here. Could've been any of them."

"Hm," muttered Anderson. "Well, let's get to work, boys. Joe, I want a lot of good pictures. Now, how about these people on the train? Talked to any of 'em, Jordan?"

"Just to Richards' daughter and her husband. I thought it a good idea to prepare them. Haven't heard from the others yet."

"What shall we do with the passengers? We can't hold 'em all, and it'll take all night to grill 'em, one at a time."

"Right. The Pullman conductor is checking his list, and maybe he can help us. Here he is now."

"Mr. Jordan," said the Pullman conductor, coming up with his car sheets in his hand, "all Pullman passengers are aboard except five. Three of 'em, an old couple and a young feller, had space to Calumet. One man on this car," he indicated the last Pullman, "had through space. He told the porter not to make up his berth, and got off here. A woman in the next car pulled the same stunt, only her berth was made up. Then two look fishy."

"Any description?" asked Anderson.

"Not much," replied the conductor. "Porter took their tickets."

"Could he describe 'em?"

"Well, he says the man was tall, heavy-set, fat in the face, and had on a light gray suit. The woman was medium size, had on a tan coat, dark glasses and a scarf on her head."

"Hm. Not much. How about coach passengers?"

"Holland handles them. You'll have to ask him."

"I been checking, Mr. Jordan," said Holland, joining the group. "A couple dozen got off, but the boys can't tell a thing about 'em. We never pay much attention to passengers' looks."

"Jerry," interrupted Marc, "why not detail a couple of men to run down these passengers, and a couple more to check through the train."

"Good idea, Jordan. Meyers, you and George work out of the station. Check taxi drivers and red caps. Follow up any leads. Doctor, how long's he been dead?"

"Oh, can't say exactly. Not very long. Anywhere from fifteen minutes to an hour."

"Hold it a minute," interrupted Marc abruptly. The put-put of a motorcar died away on the next track, and a man hopped off. "Here's Morrison with the axe. Nice work, Morris, just in time. Would that do it, Doc?" he asked, pointing to the axe Morrison held gingerly between thumb and finger.

"Let's see," he said. "About five inches across the blade. Not too heavy, but heavy enough. Yes, I'd say that would do very nicely."

"By the way, Doctor," said Marc quietly, "could a woman have used that axe?"

"A woman? Sure."

"There's Exhibit 'A,' Jerry."

"Darned if it ain't. Here, Martin, take care of this." He handed the axe to one of the men. "Go easy on it. Don't want to spoil the evidence any more than it is already. I can't understand how those people can be so quiet in there."

"Passengers usually stay in bed, once they get there," replied Marc. "They chalk delays up to railroad inefficiency."

"Well, let's get 'em up. Looks like we're gonna be here all night."

WORLD'S BEST NOW BETTER THAN EVER!

"PRESTONE" ANTI-FREEZE

BRAND

IMPROVED AGAIN!

DEALERS, ENGINEERS,
AUTOMOTIVE
SPECIALISTS—

Here's the Inside Story:

Every day sees new developments in the automotive industry... higher compression engines, higher operating temperatures, greater speeds, etc. The cooling system of the average passenger car of today pumps as much as 4,000 gallons of water an hour and carries off enough heat to warm a six-room house in zero weather!

Research is constantly improving "Prestone" brand anti-freeze to meet these changing demands. Latest improvement, now announced to car owners in this ad, was announced some time ago to dealers in trade publications and by mail. (All of your present stock is this improved "Prestone" anti-freeze.)

With "Prestone" anti-freeze, dealers offer their customers the anti-freeze product developed in the world's largest anti-freeze laboratories to give unequalled, all-winter protection against freeze-ups, rust, clogging and foaming... for both new cars and old.

Best Protection Against
Rust and Clogging

"Prestone" anti-freeze coats the entire cooling system with a microscopically thin film which shields against rust and corrosion. It combats the destructive action of natural waters on cooling system metals and neutralizes acidity developing from corrosive contamination. It also prevents rust loosening and seepage.

Best Protection Against
Foaming

Foaming can cause serious loss of solution through the overflow pipe. Generally, the motorist is completely unaware of this loss, even though it may be a half-gallon or more in a thousand miles of driving. Many anti-freezes foam; but with "Prestone" anti-freeze, there is absolutely no foaming problem—even under toughest driving conditions.

Complete All-Winter Protection
Only "Prestone" anti-freeze can give the complete protection that today's high-powered cars and high-speed driving require. With "Prestone" anti-freeze, you're safe... and you know it!

No other Anti-Freeze can give you this same protection!

SAME PRICE $3.50 PER GAL.

NO RUST • NO FOAM
NO FREEZE • NO FAILURE

Sweet Potatoes In Heavy Demand

A steady demand for quality sweet potatoes on the Bethel auction market Thursday sent the average price up to $1.40 a bushel for 1,000 bushels, the highest average of the season, J. L. Harris, reported. Some of yesterday's offerings sold for as high as $1.70 a bushel.

J. L. Harris is auctioneer. At 10:30 a. m. today 1,500 bushels of sweet potatoes had been sold with the average estimated to be about $1.50 a bushel.

Market officials continue to urge growers to pack their baskets carefully with the full 50 pounds to the bushel basket.

The auction market is open Monday through Friday each week. The market is closed Saturdays.

Report Wrist Of Youth Slashed

The police officer who investigated a report of a resident of the neighborhood of 13th and Washington streets, last night about 7 o'clock, that a "disgrace" was occurring there, made the following report: Jarvis E. Bullock, 109-B West 13th street, white youth, slashed his right wrist and was taken in the city emergency ambulance to Dr. Joseph Smith's Clinic.

A physician said the youth lost much blood and that the wound did not appear to have been intentionally inflicted. He later returned to his home. Bullock has been in poor health, it was stated.

Dr. Leo Jenkins Is Speaker Today For High School Students

Dr. Leo Jenkins, Dean of ECTC, was the guest speaker at an assembly in the high school auditorium Friday morning.

The program was opened with the devotion by Rodney Fulcher followed by the singing of "Come Thou Almighty King." The speaker was introduced by Orren E. Dowd, principal of Greenville high school.

Dr. Jenkins spoke on the five important factors of life. These factors were religion, a life's work, a successful marriage, a good hobby and keeping good company. He concluded by saying that if one took care of all of these things "God would lend a helping hand with the rest."

Frost Last Night

The temperature in the Greenville area made a precipitous drop during the last 24 hours when the mercury went down during last night, to 40 degrees. A light frost was reported over the countryside. The first frost of the fall occurred the last of September; the second frost, early in this month.

The highest temperature recorded here yesterday was 67 degrees. Lowest last night, 40, and at 8 a.m. today it was 49.

The highest temperature yesterday a year ago was 72 degrees. Lowest that night, 50, and at 8 a. m. next day it was 55 degrees. Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau, reported.

association and interested farmers will be held at the Agriculture Building to again explain the function of the cooperative and how it serves the county.

Conducting the discussion will be two dairy specialists familiar with the program in other counties. They are J. F. Brown of the Extension Dairy Department and Murray Gaston, Extension representative of the Southeastern Artificial Breeders Association in Asheville.

As the Chamber of Commerce turned the Cooperative over to the farmers of the county, Willard Kyrzer, manager of the Chamber stated:

"We are very glad of the opportunity to have helped start the organization. We hope the program can provide more of a service to the farmer than can his own methods."

Lots Of Smoke From Cigarettes

Los Angeles, Oct. 7.-(AP)—Claude Harrison, president of the National Association of Tobacco Distributors, told a regional convention yesterday that America is now consuming 400,000,000,000 cigarettes a year. That figures out to 2,667, roughly, for every man, woman and child—or 133 packs per year and 2 1/4 per week.

Rural Fire . . .

The truck is to be housed, maintained and manned by the town of Bethel, and in return for this service, the town is to have use of the truck for its own fire protection.

At the meeting last week in which plans for the association were made, Curtis Flanagan of Farmville, vice president of the North Carolina Firemen's Association was one of the principal speakers and explained to those present the means of forming such a rural fire protection association. Other speakers at the meeting included Fire Chief W. B. Rogerson and Vance Roberson of Robersonville.

Chief Minton said this morning members of the 12-man committee which is contacting farmers about the association have talked with approximately one-third of the farmers whose names are on the list. The group met last night to discuss the progress of the association and to make further plans for the organization's membership.

Driver Arrested After Wreck On Falkland Road

One driver was arrested on charges of following too closely behind another vehicle yesterday afternoon as the result of a highway accident on the Falkland highway.

A car operated by Lucy Daniels Jones, colored, of 508 McKinley Street, Greenville, was attempting to make a right hand turn when it was struck by a truck driven by Elmer Lee Everett, of Pinetops.

The Jones car was thrown into a nearby tree causing damages estimated to be about $100.

Patrolman Dalton E. Perry, investigating officer, arrested Everett. Neither of the two drivers was injured in the accident. Damages to the pick-up truck, owned by the state, was about $50, Perry reported.

Last Rites Saturday For L. T. Respass

Mr. L. T. Respass, 76, died at his home, 201 Cotanche Street, at 6:55 o'clock Friday morning. He had been in failing health for the past six years and critically ill for the past two days. Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson & Sons Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church, and burial will be in Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Respass was born and reared in Washington County and had been living in Greenville for the past 12 years. He was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ella Bateman Respass; two sons, Ronald and C. M. (Smug) Respass, both of Greenville; two daughters, Mrs. O. O. Curling of South Norfolk, Va. and Mrs. George Phelps of Newport News, Va.; 7 grandchildren; one great grandchild; and three brothers, George Respass of Belhaven, Louis Respass of Pinetown and David Respass of Greenville.

Fifth Column . . .

(Continued from page one) even further. The minister promised that Americans living in the Soviet Union would have all the legal rights granted to the nationals of other countries, and would have full freedom of conscience and the right to worship as they liked. And there were other stipulations.

Well, things ostensibly quieted down for a while.

Then in 1939 came another radical change. Litvinoff, advocate of collective security, was relieved of his post as foreign minister and dropped into obscurity. Molotov, hard boiled old Bolshevik, took over. The rest of the story is fresh in everyone's mind. The world revolution is in full swing.
