MACARTHUR SENDS REPORT TO U.N.

Light Vote Seen Locally Tuesday

Observers Would Like To See Big Turnout But None Too Hopeful; Few Candidates Have Opposition; Constitutional Amendments Offered

Pitt Countians tomorrow will trek to the polls along with other voters of North Carolina and the nation in what is expected to be, locally, a light vote.

Although the off-year election may provide hot and heavy political fireworks and reversals on a national level. The election tomorrow takes on a token vote aspect.

The consensus of those who have to do with the electioneering is that Pitt's vote will be much less than that cast in both Primaries.

However, the chairman of the county elections board and the chairman of the county Democratic Executive Committee were both urgent today that registered voters go to the polls.

County Democratic chairman John G. Clark today expressed the desire to see the Democrats out en masse at the polls. He stated, "I hope the vote comes near to being what it was in May and June —at least I want to see all the registered Democrats go on record for the Party,"

This year Clark heads the party that is offered no opposition at the ballot box. All officers, as nominated in the May Primary, will move into office the first of next year without any campaigning since then.

County elections chairman J. Henry Harrell stated he didn't expect much of a turnout at the polling places in the county's 23 precincts. He would not estimate the possible vote, saying it would be "light" at best.

However, he thought the recent new registration in Greenville Township would help increase the number of expected ballots cast. Since the registration closed only nine days ago, he said, it may tend to bring most of those persons back to cast a ballot.

To be voted upon are Democratic candidates Senator Clyde Hoey and senatorial nominee Willis Smith. Republican candidates are Halsey B. Leavitt, opposing Hoey, and E. L. Gavin, opposing Smith.

The only State office which has any opposition is Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. Republican candidates is Robert H. Mc-

Will Hold Three Sessions Police Court Each Week

Judge J.W.H. Roberts, presiding judge over the Greenville Recorder's Court, and Solicitor Eli Bloom announced today that beginning Wednesday, November 15, he will hold three sessions of Police Court each week. The Monday and Friday court sessions, held at 9 a.m., are for routine cases.

Court will be held on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock for hearing of traffic violations, Judge Roberts said. "The court's business is steadily increasing and we are planning the Wednesday session of court to help dispose of the dockets promptly.

"It begins to look like traffic violations constitute the majority of the important cases coming up in the Police Court," the judge said.

Criticizes Pitt Lag In Campaign By Farm Bureau

State Leader Says County Not Doing Its Share In Membership Drive

In an informal talk designed to speed up the membership drive in the Pitt Farm Bureau, A. C. Edwards, president of the State Bureau from Hookerton, told drive workers Friday night the Farm Bureau is the only organization that protects the farmer's interests and gives him the benefits due him as the food and other commodity producer of the nation.

Speaking to a small group of the county membership workers at a checkup dinner, Edwards stated Pitt County is not doing its share in contributing to the Bureau membership.

He said Pitt should have been over the top weeks ago since it stands to gain more from the Bureau through its large tobacco allotment. Other counties with much smaller tobacco acreages, have long since reached and surpassed their goals, he said.

The dinner was designed to jack up the workers who have been writing new memberships during the past weeks. However, the checkup produced only a few more memberships than had been reported before. At present only 2,000 farmers out of a requested 3,500 quota have been written in the county.

Edwards reiterated in strong terms the value of belonging to the farm organization. Unless the farmer belongs to the Bureau, he said, he will not realize all the benefits that should come to him.

Legislation in Congress, spurred on by the work of the organization, is the only way the farmers of the country will receive what is due them from their products, Edwards continued.

He told the group that if Pitt's tobacco farmers gave their crop to the manufacturers free, a pack of cigarettes would still cost the consumer 15 and 3-4 cents. Further, if a wool producer gave the wool in a $60 suit, it would still cost the buyer $58. He explained the discrepancy in the figures was due to the prevailing taxes on the manufactured product and also the manufacturers production charges.

Edwards stated the money spent last year by the government on the farmers amounted to only half the amount the government spent in subsidizing one steel mill. The overall farm program last year cost $612 million, he said.

Dewey Attempts Video Marathon

New York, Nov. 6—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey sat down before a television camera at dawn today, and planned to stay in the studio until midnight.

Sitting at a large oak desk, Dewey seeking a third term, began his long stint at 6 a. m. A coffee table stood nearby. In the corner was a voting machine.

A battery of telephone operators worked in an adjoining room to receive questions from callers for the governor to answer on the program.

Bogus Peace Forum

Attlee's Charge That Meeting In Britain Has Aim Of Sabotaging National Defense; Extent Of Freedom Allowed Soap-Box Orators; Sign Of Confidence

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

British Prime Minister Attlee declares the "World Peace Congress" opening in Sheffield next Monday has been organized by Communists and fellow travelers as a bogus peace forum with the real aim of sabotaging national defense.

The premier made this statement at a Foreign Press Association dinner in London. Despite the gravity of the charge he added that the Communists were welcome to "blow off steam," though not all foreign delegates would be admitted to Britain.

In order to understand Mr. Attlee's attitude towards such a threat of sabotage, one must know that his idea of letting the public "blow off steam" long has been among the basic policies of British officialdom. One of the best examples of its working is seen in the methods of the police force.

You can see a demonstration any fair evening at famous Hyde Park where the soap-box orators collect to deliver themselves of speeches on every subject imaginable. Police always are present—just in case—but the London "bobby" will listen to the most extravagant ravings and offensive remarks without displaying more feeling than a grin.

Speakers can damn anybody or anything to Hades and back without getting a rise from Robert. But let the ranter change his allegations to a call on the crowd for ACTION and the constable himself takes a hand.

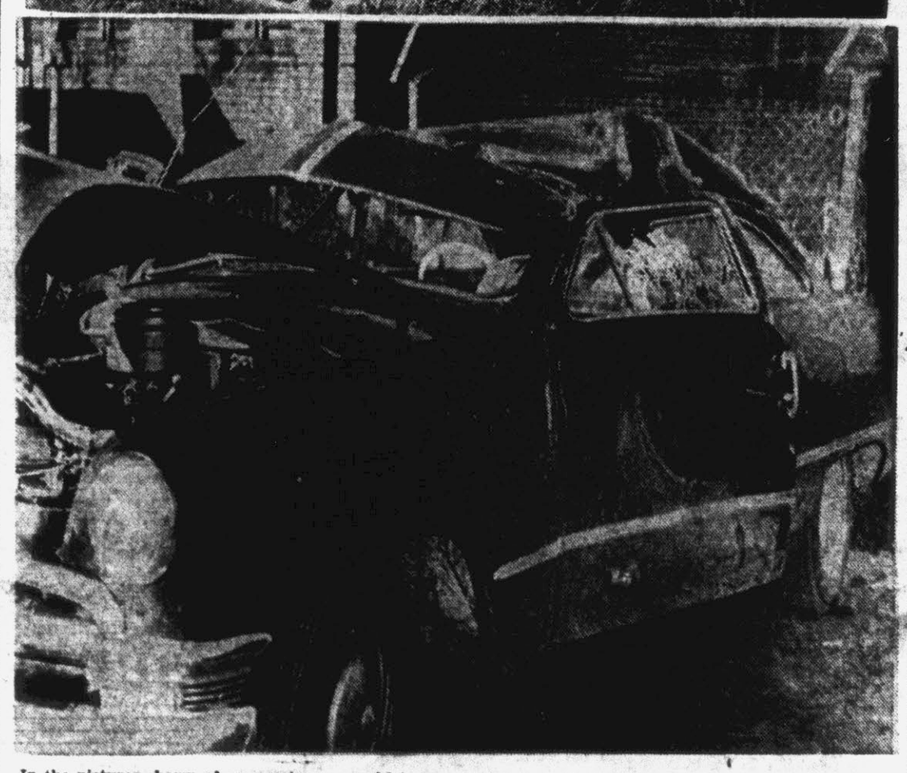

That's the key for police intervention—unlawful action. Not hot air. And that's the key word for official intervention in any such gathering as the "World Peace Congress."

In keeping with this idea of non-interference, the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian says "it is an odd thought that while for weeks the Sheffield peace congress has been filling the broadcast program of Russia and her satellites, the prime minister's speech was almost the first the British listener heard about it." And the London Daily Telegraph observes that "it is a sign of confidence, not of weakness, that the government should be without misgivings to allow this paranoic demonstration to take place."

Two Of Cars In Pitt County's Accident Toll

In the pictures shown above are two cars which were wrecked on Pitt's highways yesterday. Over the past week end, six accidents were reported which injured five persons causing them to be hospitalized. Top photo to: two persons escaped serious injury when the car shown was in collision with a car at the intersection of the Evans Street Extension Road and the Fire Tower Road. The bottom photo shows the car in which three Pitt men were injured when it turned over on the newly-paved highway near Gardnersville. (Reflector Staff Photos by Roy Hardee).

County Highway Accidents For Weekend Seriously Injure Five

Five persons were hospitalized over the week as the result of six highway accidents which occurred in various sections of Pitt county.

The mounting Pitt accident toll swung back into the limelight after nearly a period of one week had gone by without any serious accidents being reported. Up until Saturday there had been only three minor accidents reported for the month.

One fact to be noted in view of the many weekend accidents was that a large percentage of the accidents took place on newly paved highways and involved only one car. Patrolmen all over the county reported that in most cases of accidents occurring on newly paved highways they were the first to be reported on the road.

Two Salisbury women were taken to Pitt General hospital yesterday afternoon around 3 o'clock after their car overturned on a curve near Farmville. Patrolman Dick Chadwick stated that the cause of the accident was apparently due to a right rear tire which blew out. The car turned over on a curve, ending in a ditch. Injured were Mrs. Lettie Pool Hoover and Mrs. B. A. Benfield. Doctors at Pitt General hospital could not be reached this morning for any comment on the condition of the two women.

Three persons were injured late yesterday when the automobile which they were driving turned over on the newly paved Gardnersville highway. Patrolmen Dick Chadwick and R. C. Holt of Ayden stated that the car went off the left side of the highway and turned over. The car was reported as being a total loss. Injured were Ola K. Reel, Route 1, Vanceboro; J. Reel, Route 1, Grifton. The nature of their injuries was not known. Investigation of the accident is not complete.

Late Saturday night three cars collided on the Old Ram Horn Road about six miles from Greenville.

A car operated by Percy E. Deputy, Cherry Point Marine was pushing a car driven by Willie James Perkins, 308 Fleming street, Greenville when the front car was struck by a car driven by Lee Whitfield of Route 1, Box 306, Greenville.

The oncoming driver stated that he was confused by lights. The first car reportedly did not have lights on. Patrolmen Chadwick and Guthrie stated that the Perkins and Whitfield cars were both on the left side of the highway. The drivers were indicted for driving on the left side of the highway and Perkins for improper lights.

Damage to the cars was estimated to be about $400.

The third accident to be reported on the newly paved Simpson Road was investigated by Patrolman Paul. C. Whitley yesterday afternoon around five o'clock. The car was driven by Theodore Gardner, colored, of Route 3, Greenville, who stated that he lost control and turned over.

He was arrested on charges of driving without a license. No one was injured but the car was a total loss.

Shortly before two o'clock Sun-

Rotarians Gather Today In Inter-City Forum Here

Rotarians from 21 clubs of eastern North Carolina began arriving in Greenville about noon today for an inter city general forum being sponsored by the Rotary clubs of this area.

The afternoon session of the forum convened at the Rotary building at 2:30 at which time Floyd F. Hendrix, president of the Greenville club welcomed the visiting Rotarians to the meeting. Howard J. McGinnis of Greenville, governor of district 279 of Rotary International, introduced Donald A. Adams of New Haven, Conn. who is the forum leader.

Discussion in the afternoon session centered principally around the Rotary program, club service, vocational service and community service.

Dinner for the Rotarians is scheduled tonight at the Woman's Club after which there will be an address by Dr. Adams and another forum session.

Regional Play Festival Planned Here In March

The Eastern Regional Play Festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association will be held at East Carolina Teachers College early in March, according to an announcement by Dr. Lucille H. Charles, director of dramatic arts at the college here. The event will bring to the campus representatives of schools from the eastern section of North Carolina for a series of play productions and a program of evaluation of their dramatic work.

East Carolina's new Little Theatre in the Training School on the campus will be used for the festival. Recently completed, the theatre is considered one of the most excellent in the state in design and in stage equipment.

Plans for the festival were begun here Saturday, November 3, when Dr. Charles, chairman of the committee in charge, met with representatives of various schools and dramatic organizations of this section. Present were Mrs. Howard W. Mims of the Greenville High School; Mrs. J. H. Rose of the Rose School of Speech in Greenville; Mamiej Chandler, director of the Wesley Players of Greenville; Claude B. West, Jr., of the Greenville High School; Jack Howard of Oak City; Douglas Swink of the Charles L. Coon School in Wilson;

Security Council Informed Of New Foe Fighting UN

Formal Report Will Be Before Delegates Convening This Afternoon; Decision To Label Peiping Govm't As Aggressors Could Touch Off Fuse Leading To World War

Lake Success, Nov. 6—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today formally notified the United Nations Security Council that Chinese Communist forces are fighting U.N. troops in Korea.

The charges were made in a special report transmitted by chief U.S. delegate Warren R. Austin.

MacArthur gave a detailed account of specific units which had been identified by his intelligence officers.

"The United Nations forces are meeting a new foe," MacArthur said.

"It is apparent to our fighting forces and our intelligence agencies have confirmed the fact that the United Nations are presently in hostile contact with Chinese Communist military units deployed for action against the forces of the united command."

MacArthur added:

"The continued employment of Chinese Communist forces in Korea and the hostile attitude assumed by such forces, either inside or outside Korea, are matters which it is incumbent upon me to bring at once to the attention of the United Nations."

The Security Council was scheduled to meet at 3 p.m., EST, today to take up the Palestine question, but the report will be before the delegates when they convene.

There was no indication, however, that the question would be debated immediately.

A U.N. decision to label the Red Peiping government aggressors and order a full-scale military effort to drive its troops out of Korea could conceivably touch off a chain of events that might lead ultimately to another world war.

BULLETIN

Lake Success, Nov. 6—(AP)—The United States today called for a special Security Council meeting Wednesday to consider the intervention of Red China in the Korean war.

It is known, however, that the U.S. is trying desperately to avoid spreading the Korean war.

Among suggested actions, it was reported in Washington, is a possible offer to continue the sale of electric power to Manchuria from North Korea if Red Chinese troops go home. This offer would be coupled with a threat to destroy the great hydro-electric dam at Suiho, on the Korean-Manchurian border, if intervention continues. The Suiho dam supplies much of the electric power for Manchurian industry.

Some informed sources said the U.N. might ask MacArthur for more information and request its commission in Korea to investigate before taking concrete steps.

An American diplomat asserted, however, that this probably would accomplish little since the commission would be dependent on American military authorities for information and most information available is already included in the MacArthur communique.

At best, it would be a delaying action.

Pending a clarification of the American position, diplomats were cautious in speculating about possible U.N. moves.

The general feeling here, however, seems to be that the world peace organization is caught on the horns of a dilemma.

If the U.N. fails to take action, the world will lose its new-found confidence in the organization as the guardian of world peace.

On the other hand, hasty action might precipitate a showdown in the East-West conflict.

In the last analysis many diplomats here believe the outcome will be decided in Moscow.

Should Russia give no more open backing to the Peiping government than she has given the North Koreans, the U.N. could continue its anti-aggression policy in Korea and, when it had driven Chinese troops out of that country, sit tight.

Brief Lull In Korean Struggle

To-And-Fro Struggles In Northwest Sector Termed Relatively Quiet

Seoul, Korea, Nov. 6 — (AP) — American troops in northwest Korea this afternoon recovered a half mile of ground lost to a morning Communist attack and fought bitterly for no gain in the northeast against an enemy newly identified by General MacArthur as Chinese Reds.

Elements of two U.S. divisions holding the bridgehead area north of the Chongchon river near Korea's west coast recovered the territory lost to the Reds six miles north of Anju.

U. S. 5th Air Force Headquarters, Korea, Nov. 6—(AP)—An Air Force spokesman said U. S. pilots established positively today that jet fighter planes were operating from Manchuria bases against U.N. forces in Korea.

They had been shoved back an estimated half mile by two battalions of Communists who attacked in darkness at 4:30 a.m., but were finally halted at 7 a.m.

An earlier enemy feint at the bridgehead Sunday night had been stopped cold by American artillery, while Australian troops of the British Commonwealth brigade also halted a stab by two Red companies in a heavy fire-fight.

Despite these to-and-fro struggles, the northwest flank was described as relatively quiet Monday, compared with the big actions of last week that caused a 50-mile American withdrawal.

Five Russian-made Yak fighter planes ineffectively strafed part of the South Korean Sixth division on that front near Kunu late Monday.

In the northeast, U.S. Marines beat back a bitter Chinese counter-attack in slashing, hand-to-hand combat Monday just south of the Changji power reservoir. The Marine drive towards that dam failed to gain ground for the fourth consecutive day, U. S. Tenth Corps headquarters announced.

In the farthest northeast sector, elements of the South Korean capital division plunged 18 miles north of the town of Kilchu, putting them 105 miles from the frontier of Soviet Siberia. This was the only appreciable allied gain of the day.

British Hint At Revoking Action

Consider Withdrawing Recognition Of Peiping Govm't

London, Nov. 6—(AP)—Qualified informants reported today that Britain was thinking of cancelling its recognition of the Chinese communist government.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin—said to oppose such action—is expected to make an important statement on British Chinese relations today or tomorrow in the House of Commons.

A decision has yet to be made by the cabinet. Bevin's statement will, however, reflect cabinet thinking at the time it is made.

The cabinet met this morning and is believed to have considered a foreign office analysis of the diplomatic hole Britain would be in if the presence of large numbers of Red Chinese troops in Korea were established by the United Nations.

Government thinking, according to the informants, is nearing the conclusion that Britain would face an impossible situation if Chinese Red troops were fighting British soldiers in Korea while Britain kept trying to develop diplomatic relations with the Chinese regime.

Britain recognized Communist China last January.

Chest Drive Has Opening Parade

Unofficial Opening Of Annual Drive This Afternoon

This year's Community Chest Drive gets underway unofficially this afternoon when a parade moves down Evans Street to publicize the annual combined organization fund drive.

Heading the parade this year will be the 18 Chest directors, marking the first time in Chest history the directors have marched. The Greenville high school band and also the Eppes high school band will furnish the music for the procession. The Boy and Girl Scouts and the Cub Packs of Greenville, organizations to which Chest funds are donated, will march also.

Tomorrow the solicitations will begin. Opening with a breakfast at eight o'clock in the morning, the individual committees will begin their work in reaching the quota of $10,200. Throughout the rest of the week each business firm, the employes and homemakers will be contacted to help fill the Chest treasury.

This year the funds will be donated to eight organizations in the city which, possibly, could not conduct a successful fund raising drive on their own. Those eight, the same as in past drives, are the Boy and Girl Scouts, the Teen Age Club, the Emergency Charity Fund, the Service League Thrift Shop and the Kings Daughters.

As outlined recently by the directors and officers of this year's campaign, the advisability of a combined drive has proved its advantages in past years. Each organization must outline a budget on which it will operate for the coming year and the funds are allocated to them after the drive is completed.

Religious Group Charged 'Spies'

Berlin, Nov. 6—(AP)—A Russian zone court today sentenced 16 members of the Jehovah's Witnesses religious sect to long terms at hard labor on charges of acting as "spies" for the West.

The Soviet-licensed ADN news agency said the sentences, imposed at Erfurt, ranged from two to 15 years.

The Communist East German government banned the Jehovah's Witnesses as an anti-state group two months ago. Five hundred members were rounded up in mass arrests by the peoples' police.

Mrs. Truman's Brother Ailing

Independence, Mo., Nov. 6—(AP) George P. Wallace, 58, brother of Mrs. Harry Truman, was reported in dangerous condition at an Independence hospital today.

He was stricken yesterday while returning from Municipal Air Terminal where he had greeted President Truman on his arrival from St. Louis.

New Census Figures

As A Result Of The New Population Count, Some States Will Gain Congressmen, Others Will Lose Some; Story Of How And Why It's Done; The Reapportioning

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 6—(AP)—The government has taken its census on the population. As a result of its new figures, some states will gain some Congressmen, others will lose some Congressmen.

This is the story.

The constitution says every state is entitled to at least one congressman. But whether a state gets more than one congressman—and how many more—depends on the total number of congressmen in relation to total population.

To be sure each state gets the correct number of congressmen—based on population—the constitution says the government shall take a national census every ten years.

This has been done, starting in 1790. The result of the 1950 census was announced last week.

As the years passed and the population grew the number of congressmen—that is, members of the house of representatives—also grew. It was decided some limit had to be put on the size of the house. Otherwise, it couldn't do business.

So the house itself in 1910 said there could be no more than 435 congressmen. That figure still stands. There are only 435 today.

Putting this limit on the number of congressmen, while the population grows, means that as time passes those 435 congressmen are representing more and more people.

For example, in 1940 the total population was 131,000,000. The 435 congressmen, divided into that total population, meant one congressman for every 301,000 people.

Now in 1950 the total population has jumped to 150,697,000. Dividing the 435 congressmen into that total means each is now representing 346,000.

So, for each 346,000 of its population, a state is entitled to one congressman. That's the way it should be under present law.

But this will show what the problem is:

The last time congressmen were apportioned among the states, according to total population, was after the 1940 census.

And in that year, when each congressman was supposed to represent 301,000 people, California's population was 6,907,387. So California

Cites Salvation As Final Answer

By WYATT BROWN

The answer to man's fears and desire to escape from these days of insecurity is Salvation, was brought out by Reverend M. W. Lawrence, pastor of Queen Street Methodist Church of Kinston, in his sermon yesterday morning at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church. Further picturing the state of man in these times the guest preacher pointed out the emptiness of men's lives.

Having fallen short of what they could have done leaves man with a sense of guilt except those who have lost their sense of sin Mr. Lawrence brought out in developing his theme. Escape is sought by everyone resulting in the following of the "isms" which are false messiahs.

"Christian Salvation offers us a way for our lives and an escape; release from sins, release from guilt affording peace of mind; release from insecurity to security," he declared. Salvation comes, he explained, only to those who accept Christ and his principles and discipline themselves.

"One who accepts Salvation is ready to live. If storms come" it would not hurt the life built on rock he said in conclusion.

Water Color Exhibit And Photographic Art Is On Display

Two exhibitions of interest to artists and photographers are now being shown at East Carolina Teachers College under the sponsorship of the department of art. An invitation to attend is extended to the public. Both exhibitions will continue through November 19.

Thirty watercolors by California artists are on display in Room 202 of the Austin building. The works included were selected by the California Watercolor Society, one of the largest and most active organizations of its kind in the United States. A striking handling of color and a variety of subject matter and techniques distinguish the paintings. The exhibition was lent by the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts.

Prize winners in the Fifth Annual National High School photographic awards are now on display in the college library. Depicting school life, sports, and everyday life and including also photographs made with artistic intent, the pictures in the exhibition include 72 enlargements of subjects taken by high school students throughout the United States. The national awards are sponsored by the Eastman Kodak Company and approved by the Contest Committee of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Women In The Church

Mrs. Henry Ford, widow of the automobile manufacturer, has given the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Detroit approximately a million dollars for the erection and maintenance of a church beside the old Ford cemetery near Dearborn, Mich. Sixty members of the Ford family are buried there.

"To see that every woman in jail has a second chance," the Birmingham (Ala.) Council of Church Women sees that every woman in prison in the state is visited by another woman and helped where possible. At Easter and at Christmas they are remembered by gifts; where needed they are given food, clothing and shoes; and upon release a place to live and a job is found for each woman. This ministry was begun 25 years ago by Mrs. E. M. Ford, of Birmingham, and she is still active in the work.

A young graduate nurse is being sought by the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church (150 Fifth Ave., New York 11, N.Y.) to serve in its Rural Health Program "to teach mothers how to save their babies," and 'to save the young people from the ravages of disease and malnutrition."

Thirty-six-year-old Hwa Nan College, maintained in Foochow, China, by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, Methodist Church, for higher education among Chinese women, is carrying on under the presidency of Dr. Lucy Wang, Christian leader who is also a member of the Provincial Assembly. While there is no secret that the new communist government of the province and the country is materialistic and atheistic, and while it denounces and ridicules religion, it does tolerate it. A reporter from Foochow says, "Hwa Nan was able to maintain its high religious tone during the term. The president gave her courageous witness in the face of ridicule at the Provincial Assembly. She spoke fearlessly to this body when prayer was being attacked and told of its reality and significance in her life. So long as Hwa Nan has its present Christian leadership, its Christian character will be preserved. Chapel attendance was excellent, and so was attendance at the four voluntary Bible classes. The YWCA did valiant work in Christian service."

Last Rites Held For T. S. Johnson

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 6—(AP)—Funeral services were conducted here this morning for Theodore S. Johnson, 65, wartime OPA director and Rationing Administrator for North Carolina, who died yesterday in the Veterans Hospital at Fayetteville.

Final rites will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Granville, O., where Johnson will be buried. He had been ill for more than a year.

Johnson was North Carolina's first civil defense director, taking over the post in January, 1942. In July of that year he resigned the defense job to become head of the wartime rationing program to which price control was later added.

Following the war, Johnson went to N.C. State College to become veterans adviser in charge of housing and liaison officer between the college administration and construction officials in the college's improvement program. He resigned that post when his health failed in 1949.

Memorial Service Armistice Day

Memorial services for all deceased veterans of World Wars I and II will be held under auspices of Pitt County Post No. 39, American Legion, at the courthouse next Saturday, November 11, Armistice Day, at 11 a.m.

Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church and chaplain of Post 39, will preside over the meeting. If the weather is fair the exercises will be held on the courthouse portico and lawn. If it rains the memorial services will be held in the courtroom on the second floor of the building.

It was announced at a recent meeting of Post 39, American Legion, that Dr. Haney had issued an invitation to the ministers of the city through the press to preach special Armistice Day Memorial sermons at their respective churches next Sunday.

The American Legion post plans to have a barbecue dinner after the memorial services. All legionnaires who have paid their 1951 dues will be special guests. All members are invited.

Funeral Set Tuesday For Willie Roebuck

Mr. Willie Roebuck, 52, died at his home near Oak City Sunday night at seven o'clock after several years of illness. Funeral services will be conducted from the Oak City Baptist Church Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Mr. Sexton, pastor, and burial will be in the Hamilton cemetery.

Mr. Roebuck, son of the late Simon and Etta White Roebuck, was born in Martin County and was a member of the Oak City Baptist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida Edmondson Roebuck; five daughters, Mrs. Leon Warren of Hobgood, Etta Marie Roebuck of Robersonville and Mrs. Elsie Thomas, Helen Elizabeth and Linda Ann Roebuck, all of the home; six sons, Jack, George M., William, Billy Saunders, Julius and Donald G. Roebuck, all of the home; four brothers, Linton Roebuck of Williamston, Calvin Roebuck of Hamilton, Fate Roebuck of near Williamston and Jasper Roebuck of Scotland Neck; and a sister, Mrs. Blythe Pierce of Popular Point.

Library Notes

The Sheppard Memorial Library announces the addition of the following books to its collection:

"September Tide," by Daphne Du Maurier. An amusing play by the author of "The Parisites" about a young artist who makes ardent love to first daughter and then mother. A hit in London with Gertrude Lawrence, it will soon be showing in America.

"William Henry Belk," by Legette Blythe. The story of the southern farm boy who became a pioneer in the field of merchandising by expanding his country store into a hundred-million-dollar-a-year business.

"Room For One More," by Anna Perrott Rose. The author tells her experiences in bringing up three foster children along with three of her own. A book with special appeal for parents.

"Korea Today," by George McAfee McCune. A readable book about political and economic conditions in postwar Korea, it contains valuable background material for the present situation.

"Faith Is Power For You," by Daniel Alfred Poling. A discussion of personal experiences with faith and prayer by a former pastor and present editor of the Christian Herald Mazagine.

"Brass Hat or Executive," by Lester F. Miles. A helpful book of advice to the young executive, stressing the importance of personal relationships in business.

"Louisa May Alcott," by Madeline Bettina Stern. A readable new biography of the life of the author of "Little Women," it presents her as the central figure in a remarkable family.

"The Innocents," by William Archibald. A new play based on Henry James' "The Turn of the Screw," it contains all the mounting horror of the story and has become a current hit on Broadway.

Charge Belgium Is Selling China Much Munitions

Brussels, Nov. 6 —(AP)— In a front page article the Brussels progovernment newspaper "La Cite" said today Belgium is selling large quantities of automatic weapons and cartridges to Communist China.

The daily said that from the beginning of 1948 till the end of September 1950, Belgium had exported $10,936,880 worth of arms to Mao Tse-Tung's China.

The newspaper took most of its figures from the monthly foreign trade official bulletin.

Figures given by the paper were:

1948—$1,600,000 worth of machine gun bullets.

1949—$4,580,000 worth of machine guns, rifles, and cartridges.

1950—January and February 50.5 million franc (1,010,000 dollars).

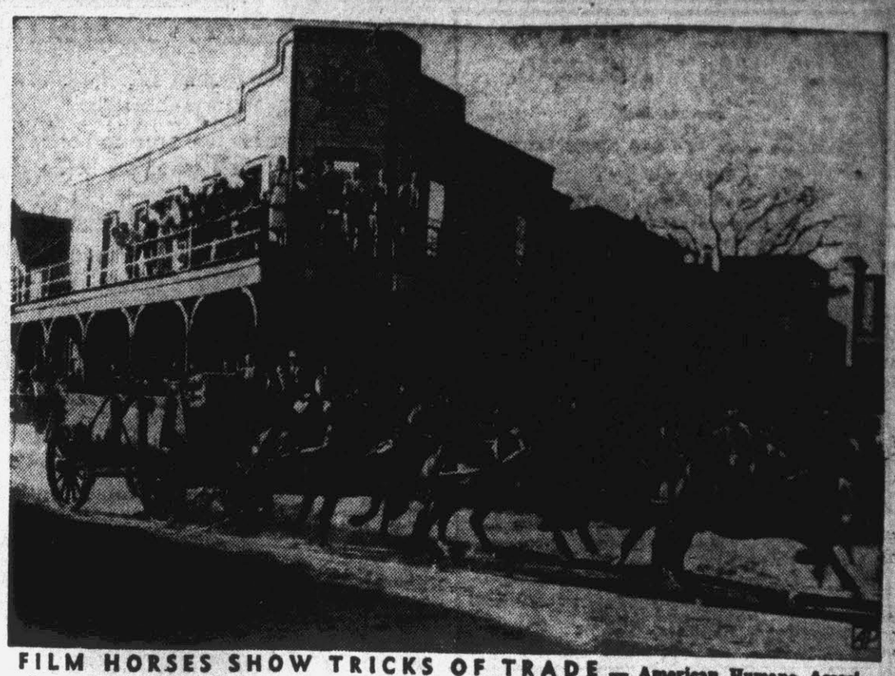

Official comment was not immediately available.

The bulletin published no figures for Chinese arms shipments after February.

"La Cite" claimed however, to have "incontestable proof" that $4,700,000 worth of munitions and weapons had gone to the Chinese mainland from January until September 1950.

Editorially "La Cite" said: "We do not publish these figures with a lightness of heart nor in the hope of provoking an easy scandal. Belgian volunteers for Korea will have American arms but ..ere will be Belgian weapons in the hands of their Chinese Communist adversaries.

"At the moment when America is being called on to arm us (Belgium), Mao Tse-Tung is equipping his Red army with Belgian guns."

Farmer Decides To Stick To Model T

Zezulon, Nov. 6 —(AP)— A 73-year-old farmer of Zebulon, Route 2, went back to driving his 1925 model T Ford today convinced modern cars are "too fast."

Kearney Phillips said he decided to buy a new car because parts were becoming scarce for his ancient model Ford. He went to Rocky Mount and paid cash for a shining 1950 model. A neighbor friend, Sonnie Williams, went along to drive the shift-gear car back.

About a mile from the Phillips home, Williams got out and turned the steering wheel over to Philips. The farmer said he managed all right until he got almost home and then the car wrecked. The vehicle was almost completely demolished. Phillips escaped with no serious injuries.

His comment: "I'm going back to my model T. I'll get the parts somehow. These modern cars are too fast."

Gorden Gray Will Head Seal Drive

Chapel Hill, N.C., Nov. 6—(AP)—Gordon Gray, president of the Greater University of North Carolina, will head the 1950 Christmas seal campaign in North Carolina.

This was announced by Dr. Herman F. Easom, president of the N.C. Tuberculosis Association and medical director of the Eastern N. C. Sanatorium at Wilson.

Deny Dalai Lama And His Govm't Have Fled Tibet

New Delhi, India, Nov. 6—(AP)—India has been advised that Tibet's 16-year-old ruler, the Dalai Lama, and his government of Buddhist priests still control Lhasa, the Tibetan capital.

This report yesterday from India's representative in Lhasa, Dr. S. Sinha, contradicted persistent rumors stemming from Tibetan traders that the boy ruler and his elderly regent, Takta Rimpoche, had fled before invading Chinese communist armies.

Dr. Dinha's report heartened official sources who had felt that the swift collapse of the Tibetan government was imminent. The Indian government had told Dr. Sinha India would give asylum to any legitimate refugees from Tibet.

Two Cars Collide Fourth and Greene; Arrest One Driver

Cars driven by John Bradley, Route 4, Greenville, and Carl E. Thore, of Hopewell, Va., collided at Fourth and Greene Streets Sunday afternoon about 4 o'clock.

Thore's car was damaged to the extent of about $250, the investigating officer stated. Bradley's, about $50.

Police arrested Thore for driving a motor vehicle too close behind another. His car collided with the rear of the other vehicle, the officer said.

New Liquid Kills Roaches and Ants

New Way to Kill Pests Discovered by Scientists

ROACHES are the most difficult household pests to control, and they can be brought into any home from the market in a bag of potatoes or other groceries.

Science has just come forth with a new discovery that kills cockroaches and ants, and that stays effective for months. It is called Johnston's NO-ROACH coating.

It's just as simple and easy to use as it looks. You paint the coating on surfaces frequented by roaches and ants, woodwork near the sink, baseboards, garbage pails, window and door sills. When these crawling pests come in contact with this invisible, odorless, stainless coating they slowly become paralyzed, turn over on their backs with legs waving in the air, and die. Then the coating stays effective for months to kill any strays that get into the home and that walk over it.

Science has seen to it too, that this product contains no DDT, no sodium fluoride, and no phosphorous. Johnston's NO-ROACH is not a contaminating spray, or a messy powder. It is colorless, and may be brushed just where you want it, without having to move all your dishes and pots and pans.

Prices are 8 oz. for 89c, pint for $1.69, and a quart for $2.98.

The Truth About BLUE-WHITE DIAMONDS

Don't be fooled by commonly used terms "Blue-White" and "Perfect" when selecting your diamond! What many jewelers consider a "blue-white" diamond may actually be tinged with yellow.

Only a Registered Jeweler can offer you the assurance and protection of scientific diamond grading. Diamonds vary in value according to four factors:

(1). COLOR.
(2). CARAT WEIGHT.
(3). COMPARATIVE ABSENCE OF IMPERFECTIONS.
(4). CUTTING.

PERFECT POOR

National diamond grading examinations for the Registered Jeweler assure you of better diamond values. A Registered Jeweler knows the facts about scientific diamond grading and must observe the American Gem Society's standards which protect his customers from purchasing low grade diamonds.

OTHERWISE—NO PROGRESS

Centuries ago the people of China built a great wall to keep out the invader. It was a marvelous achievement, but it failed to fulfill its purpose. For the wall was scarcely completed before the invader bribed gatekeepers and marched in unresisted.

Few circumstances in history are more eloquent than this one. It demonstrates that in the end our only security is moral character. We leave our money in the banks and do so with confidence that it is safe. But it is safe only because we are quite sure that bankers, by and large, are honest men.

No law in the world will hold families together. The greatest system of armament will never insure any nation against invasion so long as there are neighbors who recognize no moral restraint.

The protection of China's great wall was destroyed with a few pieces of gold handed over to a few traitors. Lack of fidelity destroys marriage. Business depends upon credit and credit upon moral character.

All life comes back to the soundness of moral character. There can be no security, no happiness, no progress without it. Mankind in general must have it and we in particular must have it.

Election Day - Not Just Another Day

Tomorrow is another election day. The people of America will exercise their rare privilege of casting their votes for the officials they want to run their government.

But the unfortunate part of the whole thing is that so few people tomorrow will exercise their privilege and obligation to vote. In Pitt county there seems on the surface to be very little reason for going to the polls except through the formality of casting a vote. Most people take the attitude that nothing much is at stake in this general election. The Democratic nominees for our local, state and federal offices were nominated in the primary in May, and now it's all over. Not since 1928 has any party but the Democrats swept the state elections here . . . so why worry?

The appathetical attitude which is found in Pitt county toward tomorrow's election is the same attitude which enables an active minority to put into office its own officials even though they do not have the approval of the majority of the people. This off-year general election has attracted too little of the people's attention in Pitt county and throughout North Carolina.

There are offices at stake, and there are five constitutional amendments on the ballot which should be adopted by the people.

The surest way for the people of the United States to safeguard their right to vote is to exercise that right on election day. Be sure you vote in tomorrow's election.

Now To Get To The Bare Facts

Superintendent J. H. Rose of the Greenville school system and D. H. Conley of the Pitt county school system have offered to aid the state selective service board find out exactly why so many Pitt countians are failing the draft mental examination.

Rose and Conley propose to make an analysis of the education of the men who have failed the mental examination for selective service; but in order to do so, they must have the names of those men who have failed the examination. Up to the present time, the only names available from the local draft and state draft offices are those of men who have passed the mental and physical exams and have been called for induction and those delinquents who the draft board wished to locate.

Although Col. T. H. Upton, state director of the selective service has offered his cooperation with the local officials, he has not obligated himself to give out the names of those persons who have failed to pass the mental examination.

The analysis which the local school authorities propose would trace the education of the men who have failed to pass the mental examination for selective service. It would give a clear picture of the formal education each of the mental rejectees has had. It would give the school authorities and the draft officials the background from which to judge whether the individual lacked sufficient years in school to pass the exam; whether the school system fell down on the education of the individual; or whether the individual apparently intentionally failed the mental examination.

The findings of the proposed analysis will be vital to the state draft board and the future of selective service in Pitt county. It seems that the state draft officials would be anxious to do everything possible to determine the cause of the outrageously large number of mental failures among the draftees of Pitt county.

Col. Upton should offer the full facilities of his office if necessary to determining what is causing the high rate of men to be found unfit for military service because of not passing the mental test. He should be willing to turn over to the Greenville and Pitt county school officials the names of those men who have failed to pass the mental exam.

If the mental exam is being failed intentionally by some draftees as the school officials seem to think, the intentional failures will continue as long as it can be done in anonymity as it is being done now.

Steps should be taken to remove the anonymity which now surrounds the people who are called to report for draft examinations. Proposed steps for determining the causes of the mental failures in selective service should receive the full cooperation of the state selective service offic.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6—President Truman's plan to call the 81st Congress into special session has been violently opposed by every Democratic leader and adviser on Capitol Hill. They think it poor politics and bad governmental procedure, and they have told him so bluntly, although with scant hope of dissuading the stubborn Missourian. He rarely takes their advice these days.

The "big four"—Vice-President Barkley, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Leader Lucas and House Boss McCormack—maintain that an early meeting will make no progress, especially if the Republicans gain in both bodies as a result of tomorrow's voting. Both the GOP-ers and Democratic conservatives will stall all proceedings in committee and on the floor they inform Mr. Truman, until the regular January get-together.

HEARINGS—The President justifies his idea on the ground that the special session might act quickly on such things as an excess profits tax and rent control. But both these questions are so complicated that they will require many weeks of committee hearings and study before any measure can be drawn. As the leaders argue, the appropriate committees can begin preliminary work without the presence of the full membership.

Moreover, depending on the election outcome, there may be many new faces on the committees which handle these questions. If so, the newcomers will be unwilling to accept any decisions made by their predecessors. They will insist on reviewing the whole effort, and probably hold hearings of their own next year.

CONDITIONS—There are even more practical objections, in the opinions of the "big four."

Since federal spending will not begin to have any real effect on economic conditions—prices, wages, building costs—until next year, any legislation enacted on the basis of 1950 showings will have to be temporary. Renting and building costs are still in a state of flux due to the recent imposition of material and down payment restrictions.

Last-quarter earnings in 1950 will be an important factor with respect to a proposed excess profits tax or such a possible substitute as a straight increase in the corporate rate. It will be difficult to frame either a rent or a tax bill until the economic picture becomes more clear to the legislators and the outside interests involved.

HOSTILE—Although the Capitol Hill bigwigs have not dared to make this argument to the easily irritated President Truman, they have tried to impress it on his personal and political aides around the White House. Here is their amazing, off-the-record rebuttal to his special session scheme:

The next Congress will have fairly easy sledding. It will not be troubled or held up by debate or action on "fair deal" domestic legislation—national health insurance the Brannan Plan, FEPC, Taft-Hartley repeal etc.—for it is generally agreed that Mr. Truman's five-year-old, reform program is dead and buried, at least temporarily. The 82nd session will be more hostile than both the 80th and 81st, which were Republican and Democratic, respectively.

REST—Thus, in the leaders' opinion, the big job will be to pass a $60,000,000,000 or $70,000,000,000 appropriation and rearmament budget, increase taxes by $10,000,000,000 or $15,000,000,000, and make some changes in the military unification scheme on the basis of lessons learned in Korea. All other questions before the Congress will be minor.

So, the "big four" see no reason for such presidential haste. Moreover, at least two of the quartet of leaders will need a fairly long rest before they can resume their Congressional duties.

They are 73-year-old Vice-President Barkley, who wore himself out in a carnival campaign to reelect a Democratic Congress, and the other is Senate Leader Scott Lucas. The likable Illinoisan has had a back-breaking job for six months, trying to put through the Truman legislative program and getting himself reelected.

LIAISON—American casualties and reverses along the Manchuria-Korea border in the last few days deeply disturb our military commanders over the peculiar situation under which the United States does the fighting for and carries the banner of the United Nations. They insist that closer and more effective liaison must be established between U. S. fighting forces and the fictitious U.N. command, for fear the same difficulty may arise in other trouble spots where we bear the brunt of the Communists' attack.

Had General MacArthur pushed on to the border when he had overwhelming superiority and the enemy was demoralized, he might have been able to crush all except guerrilla opposition within a few days. But he had to query Washington on the advisability of chancing an encounter with Mao Tse-tung's Chinese Reds, inspired by Stalin, and precipitating a war that would inflame and involve the Orient.

President Truman and Secretary Acheson had to consult with members of the American delegation to the U.N., and they had to hold off-the-record conferences with U.N. nations which have supported our Korean intervention. Meanwhile, the enemy had time to regroup, rearm and to send a call for Chinese reinforcements, which resulted in heavy losses for us, and for a slowdown in any final conquest of the peninsula.

SHOWDOWN—It is impossible to estimate what the delay has cost us in men and money and prestige. But the more important consideration, in the opinion of Pentagon experts, is that the same thing could happen again, whenever and wherever we carry the international torch for the United Nations, especially as only about three members of that body—England, Canada and Australia—gave us any real battlefield reinforcements.

This predicament explains why, according to grapevine reports, General MacArthur, in his one-hour, unpublicized tete-a-tete with President Truman, is said to have asked for a showdown on whether he, Secretary Acheson or the United Nations is making U.S. military and diplomatic policy in the hermit kingdom.

The Himalaya Peek

AroundCapitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau — By LYNN NISBET — Raleigh, N. C.

ABSENTEES—It has not been possible to get an acceptably accurate estimate of the number of absentee ballots likely to be cast in Tuesday's general election. Information is at hand indicating that absentee votes may be the deciding factor in several counties. One small county, with normal general election vote of about 5,000 almost equally divided between the parties, reports this year they have corraled more than 400 absentee votes for the Democrats. Word from Washington is that the North Carolina Democratic club there had forwarded more than a thousand absentee ballots to the several counties in this state. Almost certainly a good many other District of Columbia residents sent their ballots direct. One estimate puts Washington absentees at more than 2,000. It is not likely there is any such concentration of effort elsewhere, but there is no doubt strenuous effort has been made to get ballots into the hands of voters who anticipated being away from their home precincts on election day.

CONTROLLING—The absentee votes are relatively insignificant when compared with the hundreds of thousands cast all over the state. In counties and congressional districts where the races are close, just a few absentees may control the issue. In this connection is recalled one of the late Governor's favorite stories about a nine-vote majority in Clay County constituting a "Democratic landslide."

WASHINGTON—The national capital has long been the most fertile source of absentee votes. Republicans have sought to make political capital out of the fact that soon after the Democrats took over the federal administration and placed thousands of workers in government offices, the state Democratic legislature banned absentees in the primary but left them valid in the general election. If there should be a change of administration in national affairs, the Democrats would probably conclude absentees weren't necessary any time.

CONTRIBUTIONS — State Chairman Everett Jordan has heard so much caustic criticism about his suggestion that state employees should contribute to the Democratic campaign fund, when he gets a letter of different tone he is highly pleased. It is especially gratifying to have the writer say the approach this year was more courteous than heretofore. Here's what one man wrote, along with a $10 check: "May I express my opinion that your letter soliciting contributions is a great improvement over the practice of two years ago. At that time I received a strong hint that, as a state employee I was expected to contribute 5% of one pay check. I called campaign headquarters to object to this practice and was told that "employees of the party" had an obligation to contribute. As I considered myself an employee of the people of North Carolina I did not contribute to that campaign. It is with pleasure and good feeling that I enclose a small contribution in response to your current request."

DISCRIMINATION — Several state employees have used the mails and telephone for anonymous protests against the suggestion they ought to help out the finances of the Democratic party. Most of those who protested, however, based their contention on the fact they were being discriminated against, because school teachers and faculty members of educational institutions were not called upon. One lady said she had always contributed to the party fund, she felt that she ought to do so, although she resented being assessed any particular amount; but she couldn't understand why the source of her pay check was considered and more state money than that which went into other salaries. She added that she believed Republicans on the state payroll should contribute to their own party fund. For that reason she does not like the idea of assessments or pressure. Apparently the man who sent Mr. Jordan the ten bucks feels the same way.

BUGS—North Carolina has bugs, lots of bugs. Nobody knows just how many. It is not even known for sure how many species or types there are. And, of course, the entomologists and other bugologists will insist that all insects are not bugs and all bugs are not insects. For the average fellow the terms are interchangeable. Now comes along Dr. David L. Wary, entomologist with the state department of agriculture in charge of the insect collection and classification, with report that there had been up to last June 30, a total of 11,918 species of insects classified in this state. The list has been growing at an average rate of a hundred new species a year for the past decade.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

ARE YOU A PART TIME CITIZEN?
(Williamston Enterprise)

Being a citizen in a democracy is a full time job. In other forms of government the citizenry makes up the background, appearing only in mob scenes to "yes" the rulers of the nation.

In a democracy there is no room for part time citizens. Our government is us—what we make of it. Ours is the fault if the wheels of government do not run smoothly, for the laws we make are the roadbed, and the men we elect are the machine.

Do you fulfill all your duties as a voter? Do you show up just at election time to cast your vote without due consideration of the full qualifications, record and principles of all candidates? Do you neglect to help select the proper candidates at the primaries? Are you a part time citizen?

Do you obey the laws you have had a hand in making? Is your only thought, when you break what seems like an inconsequential little law, how you can get away with it? Are you a part time citizen?

Do you evince interest in all issues—or only in those problems which directly concern you, and then object when other groups do the same and infringe on your prerogatives? Only as citizens work for the common good of all can democracy progress. Are you a part time citizen?

Do you lend an ear to subversive elements who tell you how much better conditions are or would be for you were there a different form of government? Do you thoughtlessly pass on these tales without checking on their accuracy or considering their source? Are you a part time citizen?

Do you stand up for democracy or do you condemn its mistakes without consideration of the good it has to offer? Do you stress only its shortcomings and never its long range program which, slowly but surely, and in spite of stumblings, discriminations and detours has made this country of ours the best in which to live. Are you a part time citizen?

Now as never before the United States needs the full time allegiance of all of its people. Don't be a part time citizen!

KOREAN ATROCITIES
(New Bern Sun-Journal)

"Atrocity" is fast becoming an every-day word in the average persons wartime vocabulary, says a Washington correspondent. Just like "bazooka," "jet," "A-bomb," or "radar." We seem too willing to accept a hideous crime as an inevitable consequence of modern warfare.

An atrocity report at one time produced a feeling of genuine shock, but nowadays even its propaganda value is wearing thin. We tend to cluck our tongues disapprovingly and forget about it. And that appears to be the direction of things on Korea. The latest estimates of atrocities in the Korean war run as high as 25,000. It means that as many as 25,000 South Korean civilians and American G.I.'s have been brutally butchered as they lay helplessly wounded or bound. Although voluminous evidence has been gathered to prove that these savage acts have taken place, there seems to have been little or no effect to locate and identify the guilty parties.

The Army appears to have taken the view that it is the job of the United Nations to gather evidence against specific war criminals. The United Nations, conversely, seems to think that the Army should handle it. It is obvious that unless evidence against specific individuals is obtained, no punitive action will be taken. Denunciatory speeches point out our abhorrence of this needless cruelty in wartime, but do little to stop it. Only conviction and punishment of individual war criminals can discourage this sort of wanton murder in the future.

Evidence against war criminals disappears quickly. Investigators for the Nurnberg trials discovered that witnesses forget, or become hard to find. Documents disappear or are destroyed. Much time already has been lost in Korea, and every day that the United States Army and the United Nations haggle over who is responsible for gathering that evidence, another wanton war savage may get off the hook.

P.-T. A. GROWTH
(New Bern Sun-Journal)

With much to be accomplished in this state, those most closely associated with the schools of North Carolina are evidencing a promising interest. The state's Parent-Teacher Associations recorded an all-time high in membership, placing the state eighth in national ranking.

For the past school year the state P.-T. A membership reached 200,093, which was an increase of 10,901 over the preceding year. In the 1948-49 school year the membership in North Carolina was 189,192, which rated the state ninth among the states of the nation. This is the month of the annual membership drive in North Carolina and Governor Scott has said:

The fact that your organization now ranks eighth in the nation in membership is a real tribute to the splendid work you have carried on in furthering the educational program in this state. This program is of paramount importance to all our citizens and above all needs the full cooperation of every parent and teacher. Your organization is an excellent means of enabling them to work together in the education of our children and thus toward the building of a greater North Carolina."

There were 889 unit organizations in North Carolina last year. The seven states exceeding North Carolina in membership were, in the order of their rank, California, Ohio, Illinois, Texas, Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

Despite all efforts by silk-tied advertising agency men and the thumpings in this corner, there still appears to be a gap in the movement of goods from factory to consumer.

This gap is in the supply of information which the retailer seller has to pass on to the eventual buyer.

This is not a universal fault. Many manufacturers and many distributors, when they deliver their goods to the retailer, lay down informative matter so clear and so compelling that even the most scatter-brained salesperson can tell the prospect clearly, and convincingly the qualities and merits of the goods. But others are remiss.

The Old Promoter tells us that he dropped into a service station recently to buy seat covers for his car. He was shown something and the seller said, "This is good. It's plastic." "What kind of plastic?" the O.P. asked. "We sell a lot of them," said the seller. "But what kind of plastic?" "It's a sort of nylon." "You mean it's nylon?" "No, it's plastic."

That that sort of nonsense isn't rare is indicated by a survey by the American Home magazine. Of the families it interviewed, only 14.7 per cent said that salespeople were able to help consumers.

SUPPLIES, RETAILERS SHARE THE BLAME

The blame should be shared by retailers and suppliers. Large numbers of manufacturers fail to give the retailer and his salespeople the information they need to explain the products, although practically every advertising agency is constantly advising them to increase informative labeling, bulletins and dealer aids. And large numbers of retailers fail to pass on to their clerks the information manufacturers supply them.

No punches were pulled by Joseph R. Rowen, national advertising manager of the Grant stores, in speaking before the American Marketing Association recently. He made these points:

Stores do not get enough factual information about their products to help their sales and advertising people.

Some manufacturers seem more concerned with the fanciness of their promotional efforts than with the merits of their products, either to the store or the consumer.

Some manufacturers spring national campaigns before they are in a position to back it up with merchandise.

Some manufacturers are too willing to trade on their names alone, forgetting that the competition of private or lesser known brands is strong, both for quality and price.

With the prospects that higher income taxes and consumer credit controls will make consumers more selective in buying, it appears important that every manufacturer of consumer products should make his packaging informatively self-selling, and that every lot of goods should contain information to enable the salesperson to tell the quality and merits of the article, to answer all questions and objections, and to be armed with facts to enable the seller to close the sale. It would also appear equally important that every retailer be sure that every employee is familiar with this data and, if it is not available, insist that manufacturers supply it.

NEW TAX FORMS ASK DIVIDEND DATA

The income tax bite will not only be deeper next year, but the forms themselves will require more work. For the first time, they will require individuals to break down their totals of dividends received into amounts by companies and the companies themselves. It means that stockholders will have to keep careful records of dividends.

TV MARK-UPS ON TAX AS WELL AS COSTS

While the situation is made somewhat less than clear by rising costs of labor and materials, new prices for television sets appear to bear out criticism of the principle of manufacturer's excise taxes.

As near as can be told from price lists, the new 10 per cent excise tax is being figured as a basic cost and the traditional distributors' and retailers' mark-ups are being added to it. Thus a buyer not only pays the tax itself, but also pays the distributor and the retailer a profit on that tax.

Hal Boyle's Column

By TOM LAMBERT
(For Hal Boyle)

Paekchon, Korea—(AP)—The woman shifted the bundle on her back—a baby. She did it without awareness of movement. Her eyes were fixed on a rubber shoe.

Over and over she twisted the shoe in her hands. She stared at it. finally . . .

"I think it is his."

But the agcny of uncertainty lingered in her eyes.

She picked her way slowly past four bomb craters filled with about 80 bodies of Korean dead—victims of the communists.

She kicked over an empty rifle casing, Russian-made.

She trudged past a corpse shrouded in coarse white linen. The body was laid on two sections of rice-straw matting fastened to two rough poles.

"You knew that man?" I asked.

A Korean nodded towards a 16-year-old boy.

"There is his son."

"Why was he killed?"

The boy said: "My father was 61 years old. He said to our villagers, North Korea and South Korea should not be fighting. he . . ."

The boy stopped and took up one end of the makeshift stretcher. Another Korean picked up the other end. Slowly and painfully they trudged through the dry cold sand of the riverbed, past the bomb craters, away from the smell of death, toward a molten sun setting behind hill.

The woman with the pain in her eyes but the impassive, sunbronzed face, moved once again. She walked to a small bundle of belongings. The baby whimpered. The woman shifted it to the front, where it began nursing.

A white-garbed Korean squatted on the ground. He rolled a cigarette with a comic page fragment, a discarded bit of the army newspaper, "Stars and Stripes."

Several Koreans were working in one of the bomb craters, shoveling and pawing sand away from bodies.

The hands of the dead were tied. Bullet holes gaped in their heads or backs.

"If your husband is somewhere here, why was he killed?" I asked.

"Not long ago soldiers came and asked him to lead an oxcart of supplies," the woman said. "He said he would not do that. Then they asked him if he would guide the men who would lead the oxcarts. He agreed.

"He sat in our house for several days. Fourteen days ago the chief official of our free village came and told my husband to come with him. He went. After two days I asked the chief official where my husband was, and he said he didn't know. They have heard my husband might be in this city, and I came here."

"Where is your village?" I asked.

She turned and pointed to the west. A tall plume of smoke was rising straight and white in the crisp air.

"Her village is burning," another explained.

Suddenly the man smoking the cigarette broke into husky, unrestrained sobbing. His mouth twisted down his cheeks.

"He is the brother of this woman's husband," a Korean said.

The woman put a comforting hand on the man's shoulder. Her eyes were dry.

"What will she do now, how will she live?" I asked.

The woman stooped and picked up her bundle. She shifted the baby back between her shoulders and nestling him in her flowing coarse linen garment.

"She has a young son who can manage the farm. She will live."

The woman walked slowly through the sand, away from the main road filled with men and weapons, away from the bomb craters with their gruesome burdens.

In her hand she carried the single rubber shoe, in her eyes . . . terrible uncertainty.

Washington Letter

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
(For Jane Eads)

Washington—Planning to wed this winter? If you are married before this year ends, Uncle Sam indirectly may help finance your honeymoon.

The idea is you may save a tidy chunk of income tax money by hastening the wedding. If you are married on December 31, 1950, the tax law considers you as married for the entire year 1950, regardless of how long or short a time you actually have been married.

So if your marriage takes place December 31, you may claim a $600 exemption for your wife in making out your 1950 tax return. You also may make a joint return for 1950, which in most cases is as cheap or cheaper, than a separate return.

But if your marriage takes place on January 2, 1951, you are not allowed to claim the $600 exemption for your wife on your 1950 return, and you can not file a joint return for 1950. This is not a new provision of the tax law. However, Internal Revenue officials say that many taxpayers are unaware of it.

If a person is divorced or legally separated from his wife on or before December 31, 1950, he is considered single for the entire year from an income tax standpoint. He is not allowed to take the $600 exemption for his wife, even if the separation did not take place until the last day of 1950.

On the other hand if the taxpayer's wife dies during the year, they are nevertheless considered married for the entire year. The taxpayer then may take the $600 exemption for his wife and file a joint return.

A taxpayer also may take a $600 exemption for a dependent child born December 31, 1950. The tax law treats children born during the year as if they were dependent for the entire year.

Military Orders Said To Take Up Any Slack

Sea Island, Ga., Nov. 6—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall said yesterday that military orders will be great enough in the months immediately ahead to take up any slack in industry caused by the government's emergency controls.

He gave that assurance to 90 industrial leaders attending a business advisory council of the Department of Commerce.

His speech was off the record, as were all the council sessions, but reporters learned that Marshall said:

He is drawing up a four year program of military production calling for a steady rate of build-up to rearm the United States and allies. The plan now is about half finished.

It will attempt to schedule evenly the flow of military orders to prevent temporary shutdowns or layoffs.

Marshall did not estimate how deeply the defense effort will bite into civilian goods production, but his remarks served to allay fears that civilian cutbacks might bring a temporary "recession" in early 1951 until military production hits its stride.

Both government and industry leaders welcomed the disclosure that a four year munitions program is being worked up. The absence of long-range estimates of how much material and plant capacity will be needed has handicapped the national production authority in setting up a pattern of industry controls.

Marshall indicated that a third supplemental military appropriation to be asked when congress reconvenes this month will not be large enough to compel sudden new slashes in civilian production.

The secretary, it also was learned, is not yet prepared to make an estimate of how much the United States should plan for defense for fiscal 1952, starting next July 1. Some officials have estimated that $55,000,000,000 may be needed, but other guesses have ranged considerably lower.

TEEN TALK

(Dear Judy)

AP Newsfeatures

If you've ever been before an audience—in a play or to make a speech or to debate or for any other reason—you know that awful butterfly-in-the-middle feeling when you sense the audience is restless. Why people will take it upon themselves to be part of an audience for any function, and then not give it the attention it deserves, is hard to understand. But it happens.

One excellent idea performers should welcome is a course developed by a speech teacher and a band-orchestra teacher at South Side Junior High School in St. Petersburg, Fla. They've instituted an audience participation program to show students how to be members of a good audience. Their "ten commandments" of good audience participation goes like this:

1. A good audience has a sympathetic attitude toward the performance. Performers can do a better job when they feel the audience appreciates them . . . and are not sitting there waiting for mistakes. Laugh at something funny, not at lines that are forgotten or mistakes that are made.

2. Be courteous to the performer. Even if you are bored, avoid talking, shuffling around and making unnecessary movements.

3. Do not try to attract attention by standing up and clowning or making rude remarks. If anyone else does, ignore him, and he will soon sit down.

4. Applaud for the performer when he is announced and until he has arrived at the center of the stage or at his performing position. This gives him confidence and does not leave him walking self-consciously into dead silence.

(a) Applaud at the end of the number, but never whistle, stomp or yell. The amount of applause shows your enthusiasm and respect. Never whistle at girl performers.

(b) If the performer does an outstanding job, applaud until he has taken a bow or acknowledged your applause.

(c) At the end of the play, applaud while the curtain is open and until it finally has closed. Do not leave until the house lights are turned on.

(d) Sacred or religious performances aren't always applauded. If you do not know whether or not to applaud, do not applaud. Sometimes the program will tell.

ance and enter quietly. Never during a performance unless it is absolutely necessary. If so, leave quietly. If you expect an emergency to arise, sit in the rear of the auditorium so that you will not disturb anyone as you leave.

6. Stay in your seat and do not move from one place to another.

7. Remove your hat so that others behind you can see.

8. Do not put your feet in the seat in front of you or beat time with the music. Do not imitate performers nor sing with them. If you drop something, wait until the end of the performance to look for it.

9. If someone is forced to speak to you for being discourteous, do not make matters worse by arguing or asking why.

10. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

Perhaps the best treatment for a school audience would be to have each and every student perform. When one goes through the agony of a rude audience, one would certainly learn to be more courteous. Boys (the smart aleck type) are particular offenders. Usually, they aren't taught manners at home, and therefore, scarcely can be expected to be gentlemen whenever they can take advantage of an opportunity to show off.

By BILL LLOYD

Jack Groce and his mountain-air adjusted Appalachian teammates scored three times in the second half Saturday night, to down East Carolina, 20-0, midst freezing weather on a muddy, windswept field.

The Mountaineers' sensational sophomore halfback accounted for all three of the Apps' scores, with two in the third period and one in the fourth, before a frozen, weather-beaten crowd.

Heralded Roger Thrift and his Pirate mates found their heretofore powerful passing attack stymied because of terrific, cold winds which were not adaptable to their style of football.

Both clubs slogged through a scoreless first half, with each team's defensive units playing brilliant, irresistible ball on a rain-soaked turf.

Groce's first marker came on the first play from scrimmage immediately after the second half kickoff, as the 170-pound flash skirted 67 yards behind deadly blocking to give the Apps a 6-0 lead.

Appalachian's second score came on a sustained 62-yard march, with Groce finally going over from the one-yard stripe.

Halfback Ray Triplett teamed with Groce to spearhead the march, which saw the Pirates' defenses led by Guard Don McKenzie and Tackle Buck Hardee rise up with stubborn force, before permitting Groce to tally after three thrusts from the one-yard line.

Groce's fourth quarter score was made in the final two minutes as Fullback Johnny Smith fumbled on his own 19, and the Apps' Mac Smith recovering the slippery pigskin. After Groce had picked up a first down on the nine, this same brilliant Mountaineer back scampered to pay dirt with only seconds left to play.

East Carolina's most serious threat came midway of the final stanza as Thrift connected with End Dwight Shoe on a pass good for 55 yards, down to the Apps' five-yard stripe. However, at this point, Shoe was hit hard from behind, causing the ace Pirate flankman to fumble, with the Apps recovering, ending the sudden threat.

In summing up Saturday night's defeat, Coach Bill Dole had this to say:

"Football games are won and lost in the front line. Appalachian's line dominated the play, both offensively and defensively. In fairness to our boys we might say that in addition to battling a fine team, we had to battle the elements, and it hurt us more than them because we are a passing team. It was a wicked night for football and I marveled that Thrift was able to throw the ball at all."

Headlining East Carolina's play Saturday night was the booming kicks by Bill Darby. The senior halfback got off one beautiful 79-yard quick kick that put the Apps back on their own five-yard line.

The lineups:

Close Contest For Scoring Honors

Richmond, Va., Nov. 6—(AP)—Backfield stars from as many different colleges are hot on the heels of Duke's Halfback Tom Powers in the race for Southern Conference individual football scoring honors.

Powers has 48 points. He hasn't made a point in two successive games. Fullback Walt Michaels of Washington and Lee has 47. Dickie Lewis, William and Mary halfback, is in third with 44. Two other players, Maryland's Bob Shemonski and Duke's Jack Mounie, are tied with 42.

Mounie did most to challenge Powers' leadership over the week-end. The big fullback plunged over for three touchdowns to help pull the Dukes from behind and finally down Georgia Tech, 30-21. Duke trailed by 21-0 at the end of the first period, but the Blue Devils recovered on Billy Cox's running and passing. It was the 200th coaching victory in the career of Duke's Wallace Wade.

Highlights of other games:

Washington and Lee 25, Virginia Tech 7—Tech went ahead late in the first period after Sterling Wingo had set up the score with a 64-yard run. But W&L Guard Buck Conrad fell on a blocked punt in the second period to put his mates out front, and they never trailed again. It was W&L's fifth conference victory and kept the Generals on top of the league

Tennessee 16, North Carolina 0—Tennessee converted a pair of fumbles into touchdowns. That was the story.

Maryland 23, George Washington 7—Maryland used Bob de Stefano, a reserve, in the leading quarterback role. He threw two touchdown passes, one to End Stan Karnash and the other to Shemonski.

Virginia Military 46, Davidson 6—VMI's Fullback Joe Stump led the Keydets to an easy triumph. Stump went around and through the Davidson team for gain after gain, scored once himself.

Clemson 53, Duquesne 20—With its best backs sidelined by injuries, Clemson struck with Tailback Billy Hair leading the way and had no trouble with the Dukes after the first period. Hair made two touchdowns and passed for two more.

In other tilts, Boston University edged William and Mary, 16-14; Pittsburgh downed West Virginia, 21-7; Virginia trimmed The Citadel, 34-14, and North Carolina State whitewashed the University of Richmond, 7-0. Friday night, South Carolina tied Marquette and Furman deadlocked Wofford, both by identical scores of 13-13.

Hunts At Home

Sault Ste., Marie, Ontario—(AP) While her son was away on a hunting trip, Mrs. W. T. Scott bagged a partridge in her apartment building. Attracted by her dog, she found the bird on the stairs and it flew up and stunned itself on a window transon. There was no clue as to how it got in.

Appalachian Still Leads Pack For Conference Title

By the Associated Press

Appalachian is still at the top of the North State Conference this week, and games this weekend will probably decide if the Mountaineers will wind up with the loop title.

Appalachian kept its lead intact with a 20-0 win over East Carolina last Saturday.

The victory left only Elon within striking distance of the conference lead. Elon trounced High Point 41-0 last Thursday, and now has a 5-0-1 record within the conference. Appalachian has won six and lost one.

Appalachian closes out its schedule this week with a pair of games—a non-conference battle with Presbyterian Thursday, and a conference tilt with Atlantic Christian at Wilson Saturday. A win over Atlantic Christian will assure Appalachian of at least a tie for first place in the conference standings.

In other games last week, Lenoir-Rhyne defeated Guilford 20-0; Catawba lost to Presbyterian 27-14; and Atlantic Christian bowed to Randolph-Macon 20-0.

In other games this week, Elon will meet Lenoir-Rhyne at Burlington Saturday, Catawba and Guilford play at Greensboro, High Point will be at East Carolina, and Western Carolina will be at Emory and Henry.

Last Rites For Famous Pitcher Scheduled Today

St. Paul, Nebraska, Nov. 6—(AP)—Grover Cleveland Alexander, the renowned pitcher of three decades ago, will be laid to rest today in the peaceful surroundings of a little cemetery just southwest of here.

Alexander, who set a major league pitching record with 373 victories in 696 games, died Saturday at the age of 63 of a heart ailment. He had been in failing health for more than a year.

Alexander broke into baseball with the Philadelphia Phillies, winning 28 games for them his first year. Besides the Phils, he played for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs during his major league career which covered 19 years, from 1911 to 1930.

Duplicates Feat

Indianapolis—(AP)—Last season, while wearing the uniform of the New Haven team, goaltender Emile Francis came to Indianapolis and shut out the Capitals on his first visit to Indiana. This season, Francis is doing the netminding for Cincinnati in the American Hockey League and the first time the Mohawks came to town he again notched a shutout. Both scores were 1-0.

The might of Greenville's Mighty Mites still prevails. They ran their undefeated streak to 16 games Saturday night by defeating Washington 40-13 at Guy Smith Stadium before a chilled crowd of 400 spectators.

Bill Kittrell's Midgets struck explosively against the Pam Pack eleven and displayed their best offense of the season.

Howell Runs Wild

Bob Howell, the Mites' leading yardage gainer, set Greenville's football offensive in motion on the first play of the game; and he provided the punch for the one-sided score. He scored two touchdowns, one extra point, recovered a Washington fumble on the opening kickoff, ran back the second half kickoff for 80 yards and a touchdown, and carried the pigskin a total of 226 yards.

Three plays after Howell recovered the Washington fumble, he scored the first TD; and Tommy Key Norris scored the extra point. Before the first period ended, Norris scored again for the Midgets.

Tommy Saleed, the Mites' captain, provided the second score with a brilliant pass interception on the visitors' 30 yard line and ran the distance to score. Howell ran the extra point.

Washington Scores

Washington was held scoreless in the first half but they bounced back in the second half to score 13 points. Their first tally came from a pass by Cochrane to Lee Smith in the third period. A pass from Cochrane to Eddie West in the last quarter was taken on their own 30 and run 70 yards for their second score and most spectacular play of the game. Lester Ward scored the extra point.

Howell and Sawyer scored one TD each in the second half for the Mites; and George Sideris, a substitute back, scored another. Norris and Billy Johnson scored one extra point each to end the second half scoring.

Triple Lateral

One of the oustanding plays of the game came in the fourth quarter when Greenville took a Washington punt on their own 30 and after a triple lateral carried the ball 54 yards to the visitors' 12 yard line. Bob Howell carried most of the way. This play, one that made the locals look like professionals, set up the last score. Pat Sawyer ran 12 yards on the next play to the end zone.

Ike Riddick, Tommy Saleed, Billy Johnson, David Zieour, Edgar Moore, Charles Hollingsworth, and Harry Scott provided the defense that held Washington to 86 yards gained rushing and helped Greenville gain 247.

Bill Kittrell, after the game, said, "We were lucky, that's all."

Washington's Coach Shep Grist stated, "I think that if I had run in Lester Wollard, our second half standout, in the first half that the score would have been closer."

Second Win Over Washington

The Midgets defeated Washington in their first game of the season by a 32-7 margin.

One more game with New Bern this Saturday night will finish the regular season for the Mites. They defeated the Cubs earlier in the season 20-0. The game will be played in New Bern.

No Hope For Air Crash Survivors On Alpine Peak

Chamonix, France, Nov. 6—(AP)—A French mountain authority said today there was no hope of finding any survivors of the Air India Constellation which crashed into Mont Blanc Friday with 48 persons aboard.

Maj. Jacques Flottard, commander of the French army mountain school here, said after a reconnaissance flight over the wreckage that the plane had disintegrated on crashing and was strewn over a wide area on both sides of the French-Italian frontier.

Swiss fliers spotted the wreckage yesterday on the 15,781-foot Alpine peak, western Europe's highest. The plane crashed at a height of about 15000 feet.

A 27-man patrol from Flottard's school began the hazardous ascent towards the wreckage this morning.

The plane, enroute to London from Bombay on a charter flight, was carrying 40 East Indian seamen to man a cargo vessel in England. All of the crew of eight were Indians except the British pilot, Capt. Alan Saint.

"Even if anyone survived the crash," Flottard said, "nobody could have lived for three nights at temperatures ranging down to minus 50 degrees centigrade (minus 58 degrees Fahrenheit.)."

Awaits Trial In 4-Year-Old Case

Dunn, N.C., Nov. 6—(AP)—A Negro today awaited trial on a murder charge from which he fled four years ago.

Deputy Sheriff Oscar Pearce announced the arrest over the weekend of Joseph C. Merchinson, 42, who jumped bond in Wilson.

Merchinson had been living here under the alias James Smith. Pearce said he admitted the rifle slaying of Coefield Bell, but claimed it was in self defense. He will be returned to Wilson.

Dies Of Wounds In Bid To Escape

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 6—(AP)—A young Negro convict died yesterday from wounds received in an escape attempt Thursday from a Beaufort county road gang.

Prisons director John Gold identified the prisoner as Ralph C. Cooper, 17, of Mt. Olive. Gold said Cooper was wounded by a Highway employ after he overpowered a road gang guard and fled with his pistol and shotgun.

Friendly Collie Is Poison Victim

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 6 —(AP)—Blaze, a five-year-old collie champion, had lots of friends.

There was, for instance, seven-months-old Sharan Kay Dalroot, whose father, Edwin, had trained Blaze until the dog became the first in Michigan to win the American Kennel Club's utility rating for superior obedience.

Blaze regularly watched over Sharan while she played.

Then there were the children in two hospitals near the Dalroot home —the St. John's Home and the Mary Free Bed Guild Convalescent Home. Blaze visited them often and put on his own brand of dog show to keep them laughing.

He also was the inseparable companion of Dick, a 15-year-old blind cat. Blaze led Dick around, and with his big forepaw showed the cat his food and warm spots in the sun.

But someone apparently didn't know about all Blaze's friends. The dog dragged himself home Saturday morning to die of poisoning.

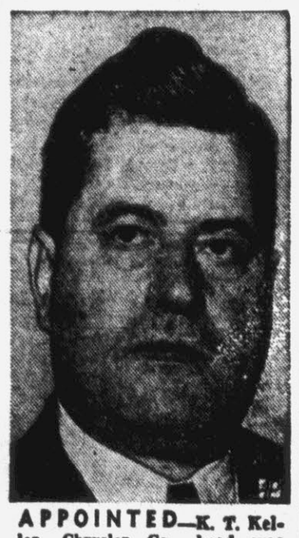

Recapture 2 Of Three Prisoners Who Walked Out

Raleigh, N. C. Nov 6—(AP)—Two of three prisoners who 'walked away" from camp Polk Saturday night were back in custody today and a search was continued for the third.

Prison authorities said Flagg and men in custody as Julius M. Flagg, about 30, serving 7-15 years for robbery from Guilford county, and William H. Taylor, 43, serving 18 months for assault from Craven county.

Still at large is Alton G. Clark, about 30, a short term prisoner from Wake county.

Prison authoroties said Flagg and Taylor were arrested near Reidsville when the automobile they had stolen in Raleigh wrecked. They were brought to central prison hospital here.

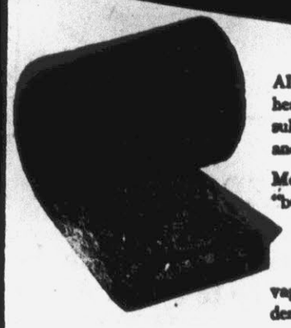

APPOINTED—K. T. Keller, Chrysler Co., head, was named director of guided missiles by Defense Secretary Marshall.

THE BEST INSULATION IS AIR WHEN ALFOL PUTS IT TO WORK!

AIR—free—plentiful—is the real heart of most materials used to insulate against heat loss in winter and heat increase in summer.

Most insulating materials hold "bubbles" of AIR—but ALFOL Aluminum Foil Building Blanket literally "boxes" AIR in—seals it against moisture or vapor and prevents ruinous condensation within your walls.

When ALFOL is applied, the area between the studs becomes a series of sealed-off AIR SPACES completely enclosed by reflective surfaces of aluminum.

Call or write for a sample, and you'll quickly see why ALFOL costs less per Square foot of area treated—costs less to ship, handle and install.

Chapter 14

Walking slowly down Main Street, with his hat on the back of his head, Marc finally stopped in front of Lord's Bookstore. Stepping into the dim interior, reeking with the mustiness and dust of ancient paper, he was greeted by a small, stoop-shouldered man.

"Good morning, sir. What can I do for you?"

"You've an interesting place, Mr. Lord." Marc glanced around at the stacks of books. "I imagine you have some rare copies tucked away on your shelves."

"Oh, most of this stuff is trash," replied Lord, waving his hand in disdain. "Are you a book lover, sir?"

"Well—" Marc hesitated. "In a way, yes. Do you have anything on criminal law?"

"Yes, indeed, a very fine selection. Just step this way, please."

Lord led the way to the back of the store.

"I believe an acquaintance of mine is one of your customers," said Marc casually, thumbing through one of the books. "Mr. Eric Linden."

"Oh, yes, Mr. Linden," exclaimed Lord, his eyes lighting with pleasure. "He's a true book lover. I've been fortunate enough to obtain many rare items for him in years past. If you're a friend of his, that's an excellent recommendation.' He smiled warmly at Marc.

"You say he's been purchasing books from you for some time?"

"Many years. Mr. Linden's a collector, a true connoisseur. I'm proud to say that he patronizes me almost exclusively."

"Some of these books are quite expensive, aren't they?"

"A few are almost priceless."

"You don't have such copies on display, do you?"

"Indeed not. That'd be foolish," replied Lord. "In fact, I keep very few valuable books on hand. Customers for such items are scarce, and I can't afford the investment."

"Then how are sales arranged?"

"Usually by specific request for a certain editior, or by a general understanding such as I have with Mr. Linden. I call all good items to his attention as I find them. Only a few months ago I arranged for the purchase of a first edition 'Pickwick' for him. You'd be surprised, young man, to know what that volume cost."

"What did it cost?" asked Marc, watching Lord intently out of the corner of his eye.

"Such information is confidential," replied Lord. "Perhaps Mr. Linden would tell you, if you asked him."

"I understand. Tell me, Mr. Lord, have you ever had any dealings with Mr. Richards?"

"You mean Mr. Richards, the man who was murdered last night? Terrible thing, isn't it? Yes, I did once handle a transaction for Mr. Richards several years ago. I recall the occasion because it was very puzzling to me."

"In what way?"

"Mr. Richards came to me with a manuscript—a very valuable item—and asked me to sell it for him. I was immediately suspicious, because I had obtained that manuscript for Mr. Linden some time before through a very fortunate transaction, and I knew he valued it highly. I didnt know Mr. Richards, and naturally first supposed that he had come by it illegally. Mr. Linden agreed, however, that everything was in order, so of course I was glad to handle the matter for Mr. Richards."

"I don't see anything strange about that," said Marc. "Just a straightforward sale."

"I forget the peculiar part," continued Lord. "Mr. Richards specified a price—I've forgotten what, exactly—but some odd figure, and insisted that it should be sold for that, no more and no less. I tried to tell him that the manuscript was worth more, but he was adamant. He told me to sell it for anything I liked, so long as he got that particular amount of money. Naturally, I made a nice profit. Perhaps that's why I remember the sale."

"Did Linden say why he sold it to Richards?"

"I did ask him about it, but he refused to discuss the matter. He said the deal was closed, and he wanted to forget about it. I think he regretted the sale."

"I suppose Linden had good reasons for selling. How much are you asking for this book?" Marc indicated the volume he was idly fingering.

"That book," said Lord, "is ten dollars, and a real bargain at the price."

"I'm sure it's a bargain," said Marc dryly, fishing for his wallet. "I believe I'll take it. Will you hold it, please, and I'll stop in the first opportunity?"

"Be glad to, sir. What name shall I put on it?"

"Marc Jordan. It may be several days before I get back."

"All right, Mr. Jordan. We'll be glad to see you any time."

Marc walked slowly out of the store, his forehead furrowed by a thoughtful brown. Turning into Main Street again, he hailed a passing cab, and gave an address on Riverside Drive.

His brow was still furrowed when the cab turned into a white gravel drive and stopped at the entrance to a beautiful colonial house overlooking a wide sweep of lawn, and a bend of the river.

"Is Mrs. Arnold at home?" asked Marc.

"Yes, sir, she's home," replied the maid, "but she won't see anyone."

"It's important that I do see her," said Marc, drawing out a card and hastily scribbling a note. "Please take this to her, and tell her that I'll only need to take up a few minutes of her time."

"Yes, sir," answered the maid, taking the card and disappearing into the house.

Head Start For Big Phone Strike

New York, Nov. 4—(AP)— A Coast-to-Coast telephone strike set for next Thursday got off to a head start yesterday in the St. Louis area and threatened to spread through five southwestern states.

National officials of the Union the CIO Communications Workers of America, said here, however, it would not be used as an excuse to jump the gun on the major walkout deadline.

One out of eight telephones in the St. Louis Metropolitan area was dead—or nearly dead—after some 3,000 workers struck yesterday to protest the suspension of six truck drivers.

The drivers had refused to pick up at a rented, public warehouse the materials they normally got from a Western Electric Co., plant where 140 workers had walked out to protest delay in New York wage negotiations.

Western Electric is the supply and maintenance subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Company—better known as the Bell System. The 3,000 St Louis strikers work for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., another AT&T subsidiary.

On-the-spot peace talks in St. Louis broke down at an early hour this morning after the negotiators reached an impasse over reinstating the six drivers.

SUMMONS BY PUBLICATION
In The Superior Court
North Carolina,
Pitt County.
Essie Garris Bogey, guardian of A. J. Garris, a non compos mentis
Vs.
E.A.Garris
To the defendant, E. A. Garris:

You will hereby take notice that an action entitled as above has been commenced against you in the Superior Court of Pitt County to set aside and declare null and void that certain deed executed by A. J. Garris to you on March 25th, 1949, and recorded in Book I-25 at page 533, the cause for said action being mental incapacity upon the part of the grantor to execute said deed and undue influence asserted by you upon the grantor in procuring the execution thereof; and you will further take notice that you are required to appeal and answer or demur to the complaint on the 28th day of November, 1950, or within twenty (20) days thereafter, or the relief prayed for in the complaint will be granted.

Given under my hand this the 28th day of October, 1950.

Albion Dunn, Attorney.
Oct. 30 Nov. 6-13-20.

NOTICE OF RE-SALE
Under and by virtue of the authority of those certain orders entered by Hon. H. L. Lewis, Jr., Assistant Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, in those certain Special Proceedings therein pending, entitled: "Gilbert A. Moore and others, vs. Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., Guardian Ad Litem," being S. P. No. 5314; and "In the Matter of; Gilbert A. Moore and others, Ex Parte"; being S. P. No. 5315 on the 3rd day of November 1950, directing a re-sale of the Ira M. Moore lands, and the Guilford L. Moore lands, by reason of a second raise in bid, said lands to be reoffered together as a whole, the undersigned Commissioner will on Monday, the 20th day of November, 1950, at 12:00 o'clock Noon. before the Courthouse door in Greenville, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder for CASH, subject to the confirmation by the Court, the following described tracts of land and improvements thereon:

1. Situate in Pactolus Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and known as the Ira M. Moore Farm Lands. Bounded on the South by the Grindle Creek Canal; on the East by the Henry Whitehurst lands known as the L. C. Moore lands; on the North by Roy Weatherington lands known as the Spencer Moore land; and on the West by Roy Weatherington's Spencer Moore Land, and containing 199 acres, more or less, and formerly known as the Carney Lands. And being Lot No. 6, of the Carney Division, excepting 13.5 acres heretofore conveyed by deed in Book T-20 at page 159. For title references see Book P-7 at page 216, and Book DD (EE) page 209, of the Register of Deeds office of Pitt County.

2. Lying and being in Pactolus Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and known as the Guilford L. Moore Home Place. Bounded on the South by Grindle Creek Canal; on the East by James Whichard land and J. L. Ross land; on the Northeast and North by the J. J. Perkins and Ben Randolph land; and on the West by the Henry Whitehurst lands known as the "Tuck Moore Place." Said tract of land known as the Moore lands, and containing 180 acres, more or less. For title reference see Book R. R., pages 112 and 113, in the Register of Deeds office of Pitt County. And being the same lands whereon Arley V. Moore and her sisters resided, and the same whereon Ira M. Moore resided prior to his death.

The two tracts of land will be offered for sale together at a starting bid of $24,746.00 being the raise in bid. The purchaser at this sale will be required to deposit ten per cent of the purchase bid awaiting confirmation by the Court.

Possession to be given the purchaser January first, 1951.

This the 4th day of November, 1950.

Solution of Saturday's Puzzle

Ask Russia To End False Peace Appeals

Rome, Nov. 6 —(AP)— Foreign ministers of the European Council have called on Soviet Russia to stop making appeals in the name of a "false peace." They asked the Reds to lift the iron curtain and open frontiers between East and West instead.

The pleas was contained in a resolution adopted by the foreign ministers committee of the Council of Europe. It will be sent to the lower body of the council, the Consultative Assembly, with a recommendation for approval.

In addition, the ministers also signed a convention of human rights, binding their countries to protect the basic rights of their citizens.

Accomplishments of the two day session, which ended Saturday, did not satisfy Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak, president of the standing committee of the Council of Europe. "More realistic and concrete decisions' should have been made, he said.

The ministers took no final action on the Schuman plan to pool Europe's coal and steel industries. But French foreign minister Robert Schuman told a news conference here "he was satisfied with the progress accomplished so far" on his project.

Heavy Receipts Sweet Potatoes

Auction sales of sweet potatoes on the Bethel Auction Market last Friday totaled about 5,600 bushels. They sold for an average of from $1.40 to $1.45 a bushel, J. P. Harris, president of the Bethel Auction Company, Inc., stated. No sales are held on Saturday.

Receipts today were heavy, but the offerings were of fair quality.. Market officials continue to urge growers to pack their baskets with uniform size potatoes and see to it that there are 50 pounds to the basket. Baskets weigh 4 1-2 pounds. Full weight and neatly packed baskets tend to merit better prices, a market official said

Digging of sweet potatoes in Pitt Edgecombe and Martin counties is expected to be completed by the end of this week. President Harris said last night's frost was not heavy enough to damage potatoes in the ground.

Killing Frost In Area Last Night

The Greenville area of North Carolina experienced its first killing frost last night, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, reported today. The frost was unusually heavy.

Incidentally, we had the first killing frost of the fall on the same night last year, she stated.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 56 degrees. Lowest last night, 29, three degrees below freezing. At 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 37.

The highest temperature here a year ago yesterday was 56 degrees. Lowest during that night, 32, and it was 38 at 8 a.m. next day.

An Associated Press dispatch today stated that the front was general over the state. The cold spell blew in from the northwest Saturday afternoon and lingered until this morning. The weather man predicts warmer weather.

The coldest spot in North Carolina was at Mount Mitchell where the mercury descended to 15 degrees.

The unusually low temperature of 50 degrees was reported at Hatteras.

County Highway . . .

day afternoon, two cars driven by James Smith and Elizah Jenkins collided at the intersection of the Evans Street extension and the fire tower road. Neither of the two drivers were injured but the cars were a total loss. Both drivers reported Not seeing the other until the crash, Patrolman Paul Whitley reported. No arrests were made as investigation of the accident is not complete. Whitley stated that there are no stop signs on either side of the highway at the intersection.

This morning about 7:30, a car driven by Grace Ward Cannon of Ayden collided with a car driven by Frank R. Dupree, negro, of Winterville. There was slight damage to the two cars. Investigation of the accident which occurred near the country road intersection is not complete, Patrolman Dick Chadwick reported today.

Others who will participate in planning and staging the festival at the college are Mrs. Doris Holsworth of Atlantic Christian College, Dr. Lucile Turner, director of the East Carolina department of English; and Alton Finch of the New Hanover High School in Wilmington.

Rotarians . . .

Between 180 and 200 Rotarians from the 21 towns were expected to be here by the time the dinner meeting begins tonight. At a similar meeting held in Lur..berton Friday for the clubs of that area, Mr. Adams conducted forums which were attended by approximately 125 Rotarians from 18 clubs.

Mr. Adams was born in Windsor, Wisconsin and was graduated from Carleton College in Minnesota and from Yale University law school. He practiced law in New York City and later moved to New Haven where he is the owner of a casualty insurance company. He is a charter member and past president of the Rotary club of New Haven, and served as president of Rotary international in 1925-26. He also served as vice president, district governor, committee member and chairman, and recently as Rotary international observer at meetings of the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

New Census . . .

got 23 congressmen, since 301,000 divided into 6,907,387 comes out roughly at 23.

In that same year New York State's population was 13,479,142. Dividing 301,000 into 13,479,142 shows New York was entitled to 45 congressmen.

But, as mentioned before, the total population now is 150,697,000 and since there still are only 435 congressmen, each now should represent 346,000 people instead of 301,000 as in 1940.

While New York's population is greater than California's the latter's population in the past ten years has increased at a faster rate than New York's.

California's population now is 10,586,223. New York's is 14,830,192. Since there should now be one congressman to every 346,000 people, California is entitled to 30 congressmen (7 more than in 1940) while New York is entitled to only 43 (2 less than in 1940).

And that's the picture with a lot of states around the country. Some are now entitled to more congressmen, some to less. Seven states will gain seats in the house, nine will lose seats.

Bogus Peace . . .

The second All-Union Conference of Soviet Peace Partisans closed in Moscow October 18 by choosing a delegation of 65 which would seek visas to attend the projected Sheffield congress. The delegation included some of the most distinguished Soviet citizens. Among them were the Metropolitan Nikolai of the Russian Orthodox Church, and Dmitri Shostakovich, the composer.

Mr. Attlee didn't indicate whether he had any of this delegation in mind when he said not all foreign delegates would be admitted to Britain. The day after the delegation was named the British Council of Churches refused to be represented at the congress, describing it as chiefly an instrument of Cominform propaganda.

The prime minister's attitude towards the peace congress doesn't mean that the government has softened towards the Reds. The permission to "blow off steam" is routine procedure which is contingent on behavior.

Mr. Attlee can be, and has been tough in dealing with British Reds who are labeled as the "lunatic fringe" by the Labor Party (Socialists). Some of the leftists have been purged from the Labor Party and others have been asked to resign.

Here's a Bedroom Suite That Has EVERYTHING!

Because we're noted for value, we went all out to bring you this magnificent group at a moderate price. Each piece is of generous proportions, and uses Avodire, Birds-Eye Maple and Zebrawood veneers to show their full beauty. Contrasting marquetry inlays . . . effectively etched mirrors and decorative brass hardware contribute their quota of expensive detailing. Inside, this suite boasts such quality details as dustproof construction, full oak interiors and center drawer guides.

THIS SUITE IS REASONABLY PRICED AND YOU HAVE 15 MONTHS TO PAY

Gets MORE HEAT out of every drop of oil!

You get more heat from every drop of oil! Because Duo-Therm's fuel-miser Burner floats a mushroom type flame right into the heat chamber. The flame hugs the chamber walls . . . transfers more heat quickly into your home. Only Duo-Therm has this!

You save up to 25% on fuel bills with Duo-Therm's Power-Air! Proved in actual tests in a cold northern climate. Keeps heat on the move—saves as much as 1 gallon in every four. Only Duo-Therm has Power-Air!

You tend the fire by turning a dial! No work! No dirt! No hauling coal or wood or ashes through the house!

Come in—see the new Duo-Therm Heaters. Every one's a fine piece of furniture as well as a fuel-thrifty heater. Easy Terms? Certainly!
