Puzzling Lull For Korean War Front

Sixty Thousand Chinese Said In Korea With Equal Number Close To Border; Air Action Highlights Quiet Day

Seoul, Nov. 9—(AP)—A puzzling lull marked the Korean war today.

The diplomatic front had taken the spotlight. Communist China was asked by the United Nations Security Council to answer charges of throwing tens of thousands of Red troops into the twilight stages of the campaign.

The charges, by U. N. commander General M. Arthur, were followed today by a chapter and verse appraisal by his Tokyo spokesman.

60,000 Chinese Red troops in far North Korea and as many more available immediately in Manchuria.

Hence, the lull wasn't due to Red inability to keep up the pressure that last week forced hasty U. N. withdrawing in Northwest Korea. The Chinese, themselves having pulled back last week seemed to be awaiting further orders.

Allied ground forces moved cautiously ahead for short distances. Continuing consolidations started gradually four days ago. Up until late today the only noteworthy development was a strike by Carrier-based dive-bombers on two railroad bridges across the Yalu river boundary between Manchuria and Northwest Korea.

Dive bombers from the Carrier Philippine Sea ran into heavy anti-aircraft fire as they pounded the twin spans.

U. S. Navy Panther jet fighters, flying over the bombers, warded off four Russian-made Mig-15 jet fighters and shot down one in history's second death flight between jets. The first was Wednesday, when U. S. F-80 Shooting Stars downed one MIG-15 and damaged another.

On the ground, evidence was multiplying that Chinese troops were the only barrier to the Yalu River

Record Tax Hike Probably Ahead

'Pay-As-You-Go' Plan Will Get Emphasis In Congress

Washington, Nov. 9—(AP)—Congress may increase taxes again, perhaps to the highest level on record, notwithstanding the turn of political fortunes in Tuesday's elections.

The tax issue—a multi-billion dollar war excess profits levy—is scheduled for consideration when the present Congress reconvenes Nov. 27. The idea back of it is to prevent profiteering, curb inflation and provide money for guns.

In the face of vast spending in the Korean war, and threats of other Communist aggression elsewhere, tax policy has taken on some bi-partisan aspects.

When Congress adjourned in September, to get ready for the elections, some top Republicans—as well as Democrats—were calling for a "pay-as-you-go" plan to finance the huge rearmament program.

Senator Taft, the Senate Republican policy chairman who won reelection by a thumping vote in Ohio, was a leader in this move. With him were such Democrats as Senator Byrd of Virginia.

Cars In Collision At Third and Evans

Automobiles driven by Eddie Mack Cherry, colored, taxi driver of Greenville, and Joachim Benson of Farmville, collided at Evans and Third Streets about 11:30 today. Damage to both vehicles was slight.

A traffic officer cited Benson to Traffic Police Court next Wednesday, November 15, at 9 a.m. He charged the motorist with crashing a red light.

Reflector Price To Rise Nov. 13

Subscription Rate Hike Delayed As Long As Possible

Publisher D. J. Whichard Jr. of The Daily Reflector today announced increased subscription rates for both carrier and mail subscribers which will become effective November 13.

The rate on carrier delivery papers will advance from 20 cents a week to 25 cents a week, and the price of the mail subscriptions will advance from $8 per year to $10.50 per year.

"Because of the increased cost in newspaper which in the past few weeks has jumped $10 a ton and other production costs, we have found it imperative that the subscription rates of The Reflector be increased immediately," the publisher stated. "We have held the line as long as possible against the rising costs of production during the past several years without passing the increased cost on to our subscribers. The cost of production has now reached the point where a portion of it must be passed on to The Reflector subscribers."

The publisher pointed out that The Reflector is one of the four dailies in North Carolina which has not previously had a weekly subscription rate of 25 cents or more.

In addition to the cost of newspaper, Publisher Whichard called attention to the fact that during the past two years, the local news staff of The Reflector has been increased from three people to eight people. He also pointed out that additional equipment has been installed by The Reflector which now affords the subscribers a complete picture coverage of local happenings.

In announcing the increase in subscription rates, it was also announced that subscribers who receive their Reflectors by carrier delivery will be allowed to pay their subscription for one year in advance in the office of The Reflector. Carrier boys, however, will not be allowed to receive payments for The Reflector for more than four weeks in advance. Payments for carrier subscription for one year will be accepted beginning Monday.

Europe Buying African Tobacco

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 9—(AP)—Partly because of a shortage of American tobacco, Southern Rhodesia is finding markets in Western Europe for a portion of its increased flue-cured tobacco production.

This was reported today by Tobacco Associates Inc., which works to promote export of American flue-cured leaf.

Tobacco Associates noted that until recently the use of Southern Rhodesian tobacco has been confined almost entirely to British Commonwealth countries where it enjoys preferential tariff treatment.

Just Curious

Huntington, W.Va., Nov. 9—(AP)—A Pennsylvania miss who shall be nameless here has been dating since last April a boy from these parts, and now she wants to know all about him. County Clerk Fred A. Ware received this questionnaire from her:

Is his family sanitary or unsanitary? What kind of a family does he come from? Did he graduate from high school? How old is he? Was he ever married? What is his religion? Has he ever done any tragic killings or been in jail? Is so, why?

Ware said he doesn't have the answers.

Four Accidents Mar Respite In Pitt Yesterday

Brings Total To 14 Highway Mishaps For Month On County Roads

After a lull of more than 48 hours, in which there were no highway accidents reported in Pitt county, the county recorded four on its highways yesterday.

For the month, the accident list stands at 14 accidents in which five persons have been injured. None of the accidents have been fatal. The county for the first nine days of the month has 14 accidents reported with heavy property damage to the cars and trucks involved. No one has been seriously injured in the accidents reported. Two other accidents were reported to the patrol, involving personal injury but when Patrolmen arrived on the scene the cars involved had been moved. Patrolmen are still investigating.

Yesterday morning shortly before seven o'clock, a car and truck were involved in a minor accident on the Old Gum Swamp Road about two miles from Belvoir. The car driven by Lester Edges Coggins, of Route 4, collided with a truck operated by Wesley Ward Manning, of Route 4.

According to Patrolman Paul C. Whitley, investigating officer, the car driven by Coggins struck a sand bed, striking the truck on the left side. Damage to the car was estimated to be about $175 with an estimated $100 damages to the truck. No charges were brought against the drivers.

Around 5 o'clock, another accident was reported on the newly paved Simpson highway. A car operated by Mac Dixon, of Route 2, Greenville, attempted to pass a car in front of it at the same time the car started to make a left hand turn. The car was driven by James Earl Tyson, of Route 3, Greenville. Tyson was arrested by Patrolman Whitley for driving without a license. Damages to the two cars was reported to be about $20.

A pick-up truck driven by Howard D. Moy, of Route 1, Farmville, following behind a county school bus yesterday afternoon was struck by a transfer truck following behind when Moy stopped to allow the bus to discharge pupils.

Patrolman Paul Whitley stated that the truck belonging to the Southern Transfer company and driven by Calvin M. Blake of Texas, struck the truck in the rear when the driver made a sudden stop. Only moderate damage which was estimated to run about $100 to both trucks resulted.

No charges were filed against either driver.

A car driven by Bruce Hudson of Route 2, Box 20, Greenville, was wrecked last night when the driver stated his right front wheel came off. The car suffered damages estimated to run over $900 when it turned over.

The accident occurred about seven miles from Greenville on the New Bern highway. Investigation was made by Patrolman Dick Chadwick.

The driver was not injured.

Truman Cloaks Reaction To Surprise Vote Result

Aboard Yasht My Mary Gain, Nov. 9—(AP)—President Truman cloaked his disappointment and probable surprise over Tuesday's Democratic election setbacks behind a cheerful appearance today and pondered his future.

As an election aftermath, the question naturally arose whether the President will seek his own reelection in 1952 with the same kind of "give 'em hell" campaign he staged in 1948.

Mr. Truman has never said he will not run again. And he has never said he will. At the same time, there has been no effort on the part of the National committee to build up another Democrat to build up another Democrat for the contest.

And several of those who have

Board Of Inquiry Into Draft Problems Sworn In

A board of inquiry composed of Superintendent J. H. Rose of Greenville schools and Superintendent D. H. Conley of Pitt county schools was sworn in this morning by O. C. Stroud of Ayden, chairman of the Pitt county draft board. Sworn in with Rose and Conley was Miss Mattie Perkins who will act as secretary of the board of inquiry. The board of inquiry will investigate the failure of the unusually high percentage of Pitt county men who have taken the draft mental exam. Pictured, left to right, are D. H. Conley, Selma Evans, clerk of the Pitt county draft board; J. H. Rose, Miss Mattie Perkins, and O. C. Stroud. (Reflector photo by Roy Hardee).

School Officials Move To Probe Draft Test Failures

Local Educators Take Lead Among N. C. Counties In Seeking Cause Of Pre-Induction Rejections; May Affect School System

Public school officials of Pitt County today took the lead among the counties of North Carolina and began investigating why the current number of men who flunk the army mental examinations is so high.

Superintendent of county schools D. H. Conley and J. H. Rose, Greenville superintendent, were sworn in as a special board of inquiry for the investigation by draft board chairman O. C. Stroud. Sworn with them was Miss Mattie Perkins, who will serve as secretary for the board.

The purpose of the board, as stated by Rose, will be to inquire into the school background of those Pitt men who have recently flunked the pre-induction examinations. The findings will be delivered to Colonel T. H. Upton, head of the State Selective Service office, and will not be made public unless approved by the State office.

Upton's office last week requested such an inquiry of the Pitt draft board. The board in turn passed the job along to the school officials. Later, the white and colored school supervisors will be sworn to serve on the board with Conley and Rose.

Rose, who has long been an advocate of progressive schooling throughout the state and particularly in the eastern section, stated the board did not intend to thump its chest for what the county school system has accomplished. Rather, he said, the board wants to approach the problem from an objective point of view, asking the help of the draft board officials and the public.

First Reports Point To Successful Drive

Community Chest Committees Show $6,000 Already Raised Against Intended Goal Of $10,200 For Work

First reports from the Community Chest workers yesterday indicated the drive this week will reach the intended $10,200 goal for 1950.

Through noon today total donations amounted to $6,000 which have been turned in by the individual committees. Working in teams, the committees have combed the business men of town for their contributions and have just about wound up that part of the drive.

Leading the drive in total donations is the special gifts committee, under the chairmanship of Van Fleming, Jr. He reported his workers have contributed $4,187.50 through this morning. The committee's work in the overall drive finished last night, though short of the intended $5,600 or 55 percent of the overall total.

Fleming stated his committee was running "a little behind what it had expected to raise. However, he thought the goal could be reached through late donations.

Meanwhile, today the Women's Service League began the house-to-house canvass in an effort to raise the remainder of the goal. That part of the campaign will wind up Saturday. The Jaycees today began their canvass of the employees of small businesses and will finish their work about Saturday.

General Chairman H. L. Hodges, Jr., stated he thought the campaign was proceeding according to schedule. "We're pleased with the results so far," he said. "Of course we haven't heard from some of the teams as yet, but we hope their funds can put us over the top by Saturday."

A report from the workers among the colored areas of town will not come in until the first of next week. Hodges said. During the weekend the drive in those sections will be concerted since more of the Negroes are at home at that time.

Two Cars Damaged In Accident Last Nite

Cars driven by Linwood E. Tripp of Winterville and Kenneth R. Nobles, 1014 Ward Street, collided side-wise late last night at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and 20th Street. The drivers were not injured.

Damage to Tripp's car was estimated at $200. Damage to Nobles' car, $350. No arrest was made.

That New Congress

The 82nd Congress Begins Two-Year Term On January 3, Democratic Majority Will Have Great Influence Though Final Powers Reduced By Republican Gains

By W. L. BEALE

Washington, Nov. 9—(AP)—If you're wondering what Tuesday's elections meant in Congress, here's a brief fill-in.

The Congress due back here this month is the 81st—elected in 1948—and not the 82nd, which you voted for Tuesday.

The two-year term of the 81st, which began at noon, Jan. 3, 1949, ends just before noon, Jan. 3, 1951.

And at noon next Jan. 3 the 82nd Congress begins its two-year term.

In the 81st the Democrats had a majority over the Republicans. They'll keep it in the 82nd, but slimmer, as a result of this week's elections.

This majority gives the Democrats a position of power. But because it's slim, they won't be able to ram through any legislation they please.

For example—because they're in a majority, the Democrats will have a majority on all committees. And all committee chairmen will be Democrats.

These committees, of course, are of the utmost importance since it's in them that new laws get their start. For example:

Court Justifies Vote Refusal

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 9—(AP)—The action of the Randolph County Elections Board in turning down a petition calling for a vote on ABC stores was justified.

This was decreed yesterday by the State Supreme Court. The court upheld a ruling issued by Judge Allen H. Gwyn last September which dismissed a suit filed by Homer Hancock protesting the board's action.

Witness Declares Four Police Accepted Payoff

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 9—(AP)—City officials plan no immediate action against four Greensboro policemen who a lottery trial witness said accepted cash and liquor for protection.

Police Chief L. L. Jarvis and City Manager James Townsend said an investigation would be made however. A fifth officer was said to be present when the reported payoff was made.

The damaging testimony came from C. A. (Shug) York, on trial as the alleged head of a lottery

Nationwide Strike Hits Bell System

CIO Equipment Workers Walkout In Long - Threatened Work Stoppage

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—CIO equipment workers struck the huge Bell telephone network from coast-to-coast today in a work stoppage that threatened to paralyze a major link in the nation's communication system.

The long-threatened walkout began at dawn on the east coast and spread gradually across the country as the 6 a.m. local time deadline passed.

The 33,000 strikers are members of the CIO Communications Workers Union. Some 16,000 are employed by Western Electric Company, manufacturing and installing arm of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. A wage dispute touched off the walkout after the union rejected a proposed wage increase of 10 to 11½ cents an hour. The union asked a "substantial boost."

The remaining strikers are employed by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, involved in a separate wage dispute with the company.

Within five minutes after the walkout, the strikers stationed picket lines around exchanges from coast to coast—a maneuver designed to keep nearly 300,000 fellow union members, including operators, away from their jobs.

Following instructions from their union, most of the non-striking employees refused to pass through the lines.

The strike struck first at the key American Telephone and Telegraph building in New York City. A handful of employees braved the picket lines there but others, including a union-estimated 2,700 long distance operators, refused to pass through. The building handles an average of 75,000 long distance calls daily. A Western Electric spokesman said there were no reports of impaired service.

Pickets also hit a exchange in Philadelphia, Detroit, Washington, Chicago, Des Moines, Kansas City and then on the west coast.

The company's long lines division said that 830 operators—"more than half" of them supervisory employees—manned the switchboards in the New York office during the morning peak hour. Normally 1,017 are on the job, the company said.

Pickets were removed in Little Rock, Ark., after Southwestern Bell obtained an injunction. They also were withdrawn in Memphis. A union spokesman in New York said the Memphis pickets were withdrawn because of the absence from the city of GWA representatives.

Service in manually-operated exchanges was slowed in many areas.

Police Not Yet Through Probe Of Jones Death

Greenville police today revealed that they have not yet completed their investigation into the death of Cecil C. Jones who was found dead in his automobile Tuesday evening.

Jones was found by passing colored workers near the local ball park.

When officers arrived on the scene they found his body stretched out in the back seat with a .22 calibre rifle behind his rack. Officers estimated that he had been dead since early morning. He died from a wound at the base of his skull, and Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated that he died instantly.

All of the windows in the car were closed and hit hat and coat were found in the front seat of the car.

Upheaval Hits Nepal

Ideological Storm Suddenly Reaches Into Tiny Himalayan Kingdom; Obscure Causes Of Trouble; No Apparent Connection With Chinese Reds Yet Noted

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The ideological storm which is searching every nook and cranny of our globe finally has hit the most inaccessible spot—the tiny Himalayan kingdom of Nepal, which forms a gable in the towering "roof of the world."

Through long centuries Nepal has remained a land of mystery—a kingdom which has been a mecca for the Hindu and Buddhist religions. Few Americans or Europeans ever have been permitted to visit this ancient link between Tibet on the north and India on the south.

Now Nepal suddenly has experienced a political upheaval, the exact nature of which still is obscure. The known facts are that the 44-year-old king, Tribhuvan Bir Bikram, has taken refuge in the Indian embassy in his capital.

The monarch's three-year-old grandson, Gyanendra, has been placed on the throne by the hereditary prime minister, Maharaja Mohun Shamsher Jang Bahadur Rana, after a meeting of parliament and the nobles. Here it is important to note that the prime minister has been the real ruler of Nepal.

This prime minister, by the way, is the one who visited America a couple of years ago and was received by President Truman in Washington.

One of the known facts back of this upheaval is that the king had been under pressure to demote his government, which was an autocracy of the feudal type—controlled by the prime minister, as previously mentioned. One report is that the advice came from India.

Naturally the question also arises whether Communist China's intervention in Tibet had anything to do with the Nepal situation. However, there appears to be no connection between the Red invasion of Tibet and the quick shift in the Nepal monarchy. Communist agents have been reported at work in Nepal, but whether they had a hand in the crisis is among the mysteries of the moment.

Nepal is about the size of Illinois, a land of towering mountains among which is Everest, highest in the world. The population is estimated at about 6,000,000 and it is

N. C. Artists' Annual Show Presented At Art Gallery

At the Art Gallery at Sheppard Memorial Library, a new show of paintings by North Carolina artists was formally opened on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 p.m. when Mr. James Walker, art instructor for the Greenville City Schools, gave a talk.

In his discussion of the twenty-two paintings which are being shown, Mr. Walker informed a small but enthusiastic audience about art techniques and backgrounds of the artists and their offerings which were on exhibition.

The emphasis in art nowadays is self-expression and the encouragement of experimentation. "In art one has to find one's own way," said Mr. Walker, "whether the mediums used are in oils, water colors, pastels, ceramics or textiles."

He demonstrated the method by which most modern art is created by means of cardboard drawings he did himself. "First an artist usually draws at random lines on sheets of paper—lines running vertically, horizontally, at angles and in circles. These lines will suggest, through free play of the imagination, certain figures or forms which emerge into definite shapes through the process of trial and error."

Then he drew dozens of scratch lines from which the shapes of two women and a table were quickly suggested. This, said Mr. Walker, is the way many modern artists turn out what is facetiously called a "mess."

In pointing out the individual characteristics of each picture in the two galleries, he called specific attention to the use of colors, the center of interest, the spacing of objects, and the proportion of scale used by each artist. He suggested the way paints, tools, and artists' implements were used, and made clear to the audience the "why" of everything and the significance each stroke or line lent to the drawing as a whole.

He told the group that art critics, when selecting pictures for the exhibits, tried to select representative paintings and styles from each type of artist.

Among the pictures now on exhibition at the gallery are many modernistic paintings which appear to be without meaning or interpretation of any specific subject but present interesting studies in color contrasts, harmony of scale and unity of design.

The artists whose works are represented are, for the most part, seasoned ones who have studied in some of the best art schools in the country. Most of them have been painting for years and have won many awards and have shown in many one-man exhibitions. Their offerings present a variety in subject matter, color harmonies, and artistic achievements.

Those whose works are on exhibit in this particular show, which will last through the month of November, are the following North Carolina artists:

George Kachergis, Edith London, Claude Howell, Gerard Tempest, Jean Church, Joseph Bolt, Kenneth Ness, John C. Lewis, Marianne Massena, Doris Meekins, Ben Williams, Inez Leinbach, Philip Moore, Margaret Munch and Harriet Bogart.

The public is cordially invited to visit the Art Gallery any week day afternoon between the hours of 2:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

Wesleyan Guild Program Given By Mrs. Leon Russell

The Wesleyan Service Guild Circle No. 2 met on Monday night with Mrs. Kelly Rowe at her home on Fifth street.

Mrs. Margaret Farley, president, presided over the business session. She led the group in prayer, after which Miss Laura Bell presented a very inspiring devotional, using as her text, Matthew 9:35-10:1. Her theme was "Thy Saving Health Among All Nations."

Following the business session, Miss Jane Hadley introduced Mrs. Leon Russell, who gave the program. Using as her topic the general theme "Thy Saving Health Among All Nations," Mrs. Russell gave an informative and interesting talk in explaining the need of saving health among the nation's people in order to reach other nations.

The speaker said, "Our health is not just a matter of physical fitness, but is also a matter of holiness, of spiritual depth, of mental and social well being. In order to be healthy and to show the other nations how to achieve the same ends, we must first prove our teachings in our own lives."

"A hungry world becomes a suspicious world and builds barriers of hatred and misunderstanding. To have peace in this world we will have to see that all peoples of the world are healthy economically. To do this, we have to see to our own spiritual lives and be directed through prayer," Mrs. Russell concluded.

The Guild will have a joint meeting of the two circles in December, at which time a Christmas dinner will be served.

At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious dessert course was served. Assisting Mrs. Rowe as hostesses were Mrs. Margaret Farley and Miss Laura Bell.

Mr. And Mrs. William R. Jones Entertained At Open House On Sixtieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William Radford Jones

On Tuesday night, November 7, Mrs. D. H. Gower, her son Irving between the hours of 8:00 p.m.-10:00 p.m., Mr. and Mrs. William Radford Jones were honored in celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary, when their daughters, Mrs. D. H. Gower and Miss Ada Jones, held open house for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones were married in the home of Mrs. George Lewis in Washington, N.C. on November 7, 1890, with the late Rev. W. R. Ware, Methodist minister of Washington, performing the ceremony.

The entire lower floor was decorated in arrangements of yellow and white chrysanthemums and the dining table was decorated with a magnificent bouquet of American Beauty roses which had been expressed into Greenville from Washington, D.C. The table also held the traditional three tiered wedding cake flanked by silver candelabra which held seafoam green tapers. The guests were also served old fashioned grape wine.

The refreshments were the same kind as were served at their wedding reception. The original wedding cake was duplicated in design as nearly as possible, and the wine was the same flavor.

Upon arrival the guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cobb and Judge and Mrs. Dink James and then introduced to the receiving line by Mrs. E. E. Rawl. With the honored couple in the receiving line were four generations including ington, N.C.; Mrs. Minton Hodges, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harding, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Joffre R. Fisher, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stanton, Stauntonburg; Mrs. Herbert L. Jones, Norfolk; Miss Luise Jones, Norfolk; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wilkins, Norfolk; Masters Jon and Lee Wilkins, Norfolk; Mr. Irving Gower, Raleigh; Miss Nancy Dixon, Charleston, West Virginia; and Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Gower, Gritton.

Upheaval . . .

The country is intensely religious. Not only in the villages but along the mountain trails there are thousands of shrines and memorials—statues of monkey and elephant gods, temples to Hind deities, and great Buddhist mounds surmounted by pyramids.

The progress of the political crisis in Nepal will be watched with special anxiety by India. If the development should take on a Red communist activities closer to India, it would bring Chinese Communism too close for comfort.

Visual Aids Program Given At November Meeting Of PTA

Mrs. D. M. Clark was the speaker for the afternoon when the PTA met at the Training School on Wednesday.

Following an inspiring devotional given by Mrs. Fred Saue on the theme "What Is God?" Mrs. Picklen Arthur, program chairman, presented the monthly program subject "Education Is a Process of Growing." She introduced Mrs. D. M. Clark, who talked about visual aids in modern education.

"Now along with the textbooks, radio, motion pictures and television are being used as aids to learning," said Mrs. Clark. "Books are no longer enough because the tendency today is towards verbalization in the learning process."

Mrs. Clark spoke of how teaching now was centered in purposeful experience, dramatic participation and demonstrations. Field trips are now used as an integral part of the child's educational process and growing out of such experiences comes excellent opportunities for verbal expression.

Mrs. Clark presented Dr. Jones from the department of elementary science at ECTC, who illustrated the effectiveness of dramatic presentation of subject matter. He brought a jointed model of a human body and showed how the physical structure of the body could be demonstrated by the use of such visual aids.

Mrs. Clark concluded her talk by urging the necessity for visual aids for use in the Training School.

Mrs. Dink James, president of the organization, presided over the business session. She reported that 152 members were present for the October meeting, while 137 had registered for the November meeting. Mrs. J. R. Jackson reported 225 paid memberships in October and 348 paid members to date.

Mrs. Ray Mackenzie reported that $285.00 had been cleared on the Halloween Carnival. The organization voted to send $10.00 to the National PTA Building Fund.

Mrs. L. E. Tyler reported on the district meeting held in Swan Quarter in October and announced that the three Greenville associations had the largest delegation present at the meeting.

The highlight of the business meeting came when the United Nations flag, made by Mrs. J. O. Howard and her daughter Nan, was presented to the group. The flag is to be awarded each month to the grade having the largest number of parents present at the meeting. Miss Purvis' fifth grade was the first room to win the flag.

The meeting was then adjourned by the president.

The cold area of air prevailing over the southeast several days has moved out to sea and higher temperatures are prevailing in this section of the state now. Old-timers warned today to watch out for a sudden change in the weather.

The highest temperature here yesterday was 80 degrees. Lowest last night, 45, and at 8 a.m. the mercury stood at 52. A heavy fog prevailed early in the day. The highest temperature here a year ago yesterday was 73 degrees. That night the lowest was 46, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 46. Mrs. Carl E. Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE VEHEMENT FLAME
Are you jealous? If you are, then you are to be pitied. The Bible calls jealousy a vehement flame. It burns happiness and purpose out of any life which is unfortunate enough to be ignited by it.

The sensible approach to this weakness is the realization that jealousy is stupid. If a person surpasses you in one way, be quite sure that you surpass him or her in some other way. Furthermore, if you look with envy upon something which someone else has and burn with jealousy because he possesses it, be sure that that flame will not get you the thing you want. Jealousy leads to every excess, and these excesses alienate people and line them up against you as enemies. The more jealous you are of any person and his possessions or his achievements, the more are you making it certain that the things you covet can never be yours. Jealousy always defeats its own ends. Triumph is unknown to the jealous person.

This is a passion hard indeed to wrestle with. In the name of all you hold precious, free yourself from this cruel tyrant. It promises nothing but torture and delivers nothing but defeat.

The Price Of Your Reflector Is Going Up

The Daily Reflector today announced a price increase in its carrier delivery and mail circulation rates.

The carrier subscription rates will be increased from 20 cents to 25 cents a week, and the mail rates will advance from $8 per year to $10.50 per year effective November 13.

Because of the increased cost of newsprint and other materials, plus the additional labor and other costs which have been added to the production of The Reflector in the past two years, it is necessary that the subscription rates be advanced.

Back in 1940 when The Reflector was averaging four to six pages a day and the price of the paper was 15 cents a week, the cost of newsprint was $40 per ton. Today the price of newsprint is $124 per ton, The Reflector is averaging 11 pages a day, and the price is going to 25 cents a week. The price of newsprint alone has more than tripled in the ten year period, while the subscription rate is advancing to only 66 per cent above the 1940 price.

Only two years ago there were three people on the local news staff of The Reflector gathering local news for the paper. Today there are eight people on The Reflector local news staff in addition to a number of correspondents in various communities throughout Pitt county. Also during the past two years The Reflector has added to its service to the people a complete up to the minute picture coverage of the happenings in the county. All of which means the subscriber is receiving a better newspaper with much more news of local happenings than he did two years ago.

The Reflector is one of the last few daily newspapers in North Carolina which has maintained a 20 cents per week subscription rate in the face of rising production costs during the past several years. Practically all other daily newspapers in North Carolina have found production costs have made it necessary that subscription rates be 25 cents a week or higher. The Reflector is no exception to the economic situation.

The Reflector asks the continued cooperation of its subscribers and promises the people of Pitt county continued improved service, and a newspaper which will continue to improve.

They Share Responsibility For The Light Vote

Now that the general election is over, the analysts and the so called experts are mulling over the results to determine just what the election outcome is going to mean to the nation.

In Pitt county and North Carolina, there were only two things which were of much significance. The Democrats won, naturally, but the party members did not turn out in great numbers anywhere except a few counties where there was a strong race between Republican and Democratic candidates. And some of the precincts dominated by labor and Negro votes which were almost solid for Graham in the senatorial primary gave substantial majorities to the Republican nominee who was opposing Democratic Candidate Willis Smith for the senate. The move by labor voters hardly fits in with their statements in the primary that Smith was too much like a Republican to receive the labor support. Perhaps they have taken the attitude that Smith is more like a Republican than the Republican candidate.

In the opinion of The Reflector, Democratic Chairman John G. Clark gave the fundamental reason for the light vote in his brief statement yesterday: "They (the party leaders) have got to give us something to vote for."

The people can not be expected to trek to the polls on election day, regardless of their obligation, if they do not feel there is anything at stake in the election. There were Democratic rallies held throughout the state by the individual districts, but they were mere formalities. Little constructive criticism was considered for the party at these rallies. They merely afforded an occasion for speech making and barbecue. The barbecue had the flavor, and the speeches almost without exception were as flat as yesterday's pancake.

The obligation of voting on election day rests with the individual voter, but the responsibility for the light vote in North Carolina in Tuesday's election must at least be shared by the Democratic party leaders.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A restudy and a reevaluation of this country's relationship toward the United Nations, and especially of the grave responsibilities we may have to assume under far-reaching provisions of the world body's Charter, will be undertaken by the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee at the next session.

Influential Senators, both Democrats and Republicans, on the basis of developments in Korea, at Lake Success and elsewhere, begin to fear that the United States may have jeopardized its national interests by vesting too much power and sovereignty in what threatens to become a super-government, where we have only one vote in both the Security Council and the General Assembly.

Secretary Dean Acheson's supposedly clever strategy in obtaining more authority for the veto-less General Assembly is partially responsible for this demand for another look at the U.N.'s growing dominance.

With the smaller and defenseless nations enjoying a majority of votes in the Assembly, it will be possible and advantageous for them to call upon us for military assistance, like that given in Korea, whenever their security is threatened by Russia or any other great power. They have already done so in ratifying the Genocide Pact.

TROUBLE—In short, the Achesonian program may result in forcing us to poke our red, white and blue noses into every potential trouble spot on the globe, in the opinion of foreign affairs experts on Capitol Hill.

They point out, for instance, that it is possible to make out as valid a case for our intervention in Tibet, Indo-China, Burma and Malaya, or wherever the Communists launch an undeclared war, as there was for our resistance to the invasion of Korea.

Before outlining the means by which our overseas responsibilities under the U.N. Charter may be defined more clearly and narrowed down, it is worth while to cite specific but generally unrecognized examples of how our membership embarrasses and endangers us both at home and abroad.

"POLICE"—President Truman invoked our responsibilities under the U.N. Charter, although Korea is not a member nation, to resist the North Koreans' attack before the international organization decided to back us up. If Russia had not deliberately been boycotting the Security Council at the time, the U.N. would not have approved our action, and we would have been involved alone and on our own.

Mr. Truman said that we were merely taking "police action" under the Charter's provisions and guarantees. But it is obvious that a war which already has cost about 30,000 casualties, is no simple "police action." Moreover, despite U.N. blessing, few countries—including England, Canada and Australia—have given us a minimum of military reinforcement.

ANXIETY—Still thinking in terms of "police action," Mr. Truman and Secretary Acheson did not consult General MacArthur or Pentagon experts on our readiness or ability to hurl back the North Koreans. As a matter of fact, and so the first few months of fighting demonstrated, we were not prepared. In view of Chinese Communist intervention, we may have to wage a difficult winter war, with many times the casualties we have already suffered.

The nation generally approved Mr. Truman's action, whether taken within or without the jurisdiction of the United Nations. But our loose and undefined relationship with a divided U.N., where the weak sisters in the Assembly can invoke our aid at any time and anywhere, causes anxiety on Capitol Hill over future entanglements.

PAUSE—The fiction that the U.N. rather than the U.S. is carrying the democratic torch is also responsible for our present difficulties along the Manchurian border. Had it not been for this mixup, MacArthur could have cleaned out the retreating North Koreans within a few days.

But he had to halt and find out from Washington, which then had to engage in protracted parleys with U.N. diplomats, whether he should take a chance on precipitating World War III by advancing to the Russian and Chinese borders along the Yalu.

This pause gave the enemy time to regroup, to rearm and to call on Chinese Communists for aid. MacArthur was like a quarterback trying to forward-pass, only to find the other team breaking through his front line and throwing him for a heavy loss. In short, the U.S.-U.N. front line, as now constituted, whether it be in Korea or elsewhere, cannot hold for long.

"WHIM"—United Nations troublemakers—Soviet, of course—are also interfering with domestic affairs and legislation in an insolent manner.

Spurred by the Soviet bloc, the U.N.'s Economic and Social Committee voted 15-0 to investigate the operation of the new anti-subversive act known as the McCarran Bill. Although Moscow and its satellites are sending secret agents here under the guise of U.N. experts, who are supposed to be exempt from the immigration laws, that statute may be invoked to bar their entry. Here is the insulting remark of Russian Delegate Amansap A. Arutunian on this question of federal law versus the U.N. Charter: "We can't tolerate violations. We are not here as poor relatives of the United States, due to some legislation by Congress. We cannot subordinate the United Nations to the whim of the United States Congress or of any other legislature of the United States."

HOPE—The Senate will not renounce ratification of the Charter, for there is still hope in the U.N. But unless President Truman, Secretary Acheson or court decisions make clear that we do not regard the U.N. as a super-government, which can disregard federal and state laws, the Congress will adopt a resolution at the next session declaring that the Stars and Stripes are our most popular colors at home and abroad.

The Election's Over—

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

All the talk about television these days has pushed radio into the background. Since our new daughter has been here, Wife Rachel and I have been home at night and our appreciation for radio is increasing day by day. Sure, we're excited about television, too, but at the same time the old faithful deserves a pat on the back.

Listening to the radio is no simple matter. In order to get the most out of it, you have to clip the radio schedule from the newspaper and know exactly where to locate the four major networks: CBS, NBC, ABC, and Mutual. During the evening it might be necessary to switch from one network to another to get the best programs.

For those who follow radio closely, it has been amusing to watch the battle between the two major networks, NBC and CBS, for the top programs. During the last two years CBS has grabbed off some of the top names from NBC. Good examples are: Jack Benny, Charlie McCarthy and Edgar Bergen, Amos and Andy, Bing Crosby, Red Skelton and Horace Heidt. Of course NBC still has some top names: Bill Stern, Fibber McGee and Molly, and Bob Crosby.

If you are a radio fan, you are familiar with the show "The Great Gildersleeve." Though I have seen no report in print, from listening I have guessed at the story behind the recent change. Harold Perry, the original Gildersleeve, decided to make the switch to CBS. Obviously, someone who objected has the patent on his radio name, so he had to change the name of his show to "Honest Harold." Also, he had to change his plot and characters.

When Perry left NBC they continued "The Great Gildersleeve," only with a new voice. The new Gildy sounds exactly like Harold Perry, and it takes a sharp ear to tell them apart.

One of NBC's most outstanding features is their Monday night of solid music. This attraction tempts you to leave your dial set at NBC. Mutual's outstanding program, in my opinion, is "Twenty Questions" featuring Bill Slater, who is also a sportscaster.

Some day I'm going to write one of the networks for a picture of a fellow named John Brown. But you never heard of him, and he's the most versatile actor in radio. He plays the part of Al in "My Friend Irma," the Friendly Undertaker in "Life With Riley," Judy's father in "A Date With Judy," and numerous other parts. Actually, John plays so many parts that it's unusual to hear two consecutive programs without hearing the announcer say "The part of so-and-so was played by John Brown." Like the movies, it's the supporting actors in radio that make or break a program.

The American Advertising Council says that when you buy a pack of cigarettes you pay far less than one percent of the price for the advertising you see and hear. If the percentage were as high as one, it would be worth it to those of us who take advantage of the radio entertainment. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN NISBET Raleigh, N. C.

AFTERMATH—As has long been their custom, denizens of Capitol square devoted most of their time Wednesday to the election held the day before. There were not so many alibi explanations, for the simple reason there had been fewer than usual predictions. Observers frankly admitted before hand they could not anticipate attitude of the people.

MISSING—Nearly everybody missed the boat on estimating the number of votes. Some estimates were as high as 900,000 and your reporter did not encounter a pre-election forecast of less than 600,000. At time this is being written all returns are not in, but it seems practically certain the vote will not go much above half a million. Another prediction which most people missed was with respect to constitutional amendments. It was generally believed that all amendments would be ratified, with the legislative pay increase most definitely assured. Actually, on returns from about half the precincts the legislative pay raise was least popular of the amendments, although the whole five were approved.

TOO BIG—Experiences in this election lead to conclusion that simplification of ballots and reduction in size of precincts are much needed. The ballots for state officers (and for local officers in some counties) were so big it required a lot of time for the voter to check them and even more time for pollholders and tellers to unfold and count them. In precincts where more than a thousand names were on registration books, and some precincts have almost twice that number, a lot of time was lost while registrars searched the books for names of persons applying for ballots. That meant slowing up the voting process, and the large multi-folded ballots slowed up the counting process. One experienced observer says no precinct ought to have more than 600 registrants, preferably not more than 500. Also it would facilitate voting and counting if the ballots were further split-up and more boxes provided.

WRITE-INS—Capitol square folks were interested in the increasing disposition of voters to ignore the nominations made in legal primaries and to write in names of other persons on the ballot. The write-in program for Senator Frank Graham did not develop to the extent some of its sponsors had hoped, but he got several hundred votes through that process. The write-in plan also failed with respect to sheriffs in Hertford and Halifax counties, but it proved successful in electing Thomas E. Joyner, Sheriff of Bertie county, over

Henry L. Smith, the regular Democratic nominee. That was an unusual situation, in that Sheriff Smith, who was renominated without opposition in the primary, subsequently was convicted of drunken driving and removed from office. However, his name had to go on the ticket. Bertie folks decided they would "bolt" to the extent of writing in the name of a man they felt better qualified to serve them as sheriff.

REPUBLICAN—Another significant item in the election returns was the way some large Negro dominated and labor controlled precincts voted Republican, after giving Senator Frank Graham majorities over Willis Smith in the senatorial primaries of two or three hundred to one. The virtually all-Negro precincts in Raleigh, Durham, Charlotte and Greensboro, which went all out for Graham in the primary, this week gave the Republican candidate for the senate substantial majorities. This attitude does not jibe with the claim made last spring that they would not vote for Smith because he "was too much like a Republican."

RESPONSIBILITY—The lack of responsibility indicated by the way registered Democrats ignored results of the primary, and either wrote in other names or voted for Republicans, occasions some concern among Capitol square folks.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Stores' apparel buyers from all sections of the country, in New York this week for the opening of the spring markets, have mixed sales even confused opinions of the sales potential for the coming year. Some buyers are ordering heavily while others are more than usually cautious.

The things that are causing caution are these:
1. Easter early next year, on March 25, within three days of earliest possible date. This will shorten the pre-Easter selling season.

2. Many stores have been building stocks of staples steadily since June and part of their spring needs are covered.

3. Higher withholding taxes, plus the prospect of a further increase, and the possibility of more rigid credit controls make uncertain the trend of 1951 sales.

Weighed against these bearish factors are these bullish thoughts:
1. Payrolls are increasing faster than withholding taxes.

2. Prospective shortages of metals, plus tightening restrictions on credit, may reduce sales of durables, leaving more disposable income available for apparel and other non-durables.

3. Delaying orders, such as was done before the 1949 and 1950 spring markets, may be ineffective because retailers are competing with the armed forces for the products of the mills.

The reasons for buying, except in special cases, appear to be more compelling than the reasons for holding off. In addition, the prospects of shortages and the likelihood of price increases will work to stimulate buying. Early Easter notwithstanding, it may be a very big market.

CONTEST GETS NAME PLUS PUBLICITY
One way to get a name for a new store—and to gain publicity for the opening—is to stage a contest. In newspaper ads, the owners of children's toys, clothing and furniture stores offered a prize for the name. The winner: Joyland.

FREE GIFT-WRAPPING HIT BY HIGHER COSTS
More stores than ever before will charge for gift-wrapping this holiday season. Cost of wrapping materials is not only at a peak, but many of them are in short supply. In addition, wages for wrapping labor are also at a peak. Free gift-wrapping of articles selling for less than $1 can run the entire transaction into a net loss and can cut deeply into the profits on large sales. Diamond chokers, however, will continue to be wrapped as ornately as the buyer wishes, at no extra charge.

REMOVER: Thousands of dollars were spent developing silicone polishes for autos; now a silicone film remover has been invented. Seems the silicone must be removed before refinishing a car. (The remover is by Martin-Senour Co., 9 East 56th St., New York.)

CALCULATOR: A slide-rule type calculator expressly for determining metal rod and flat stock requirements from blueprints without the use of charts or reference books has been devised. (It is made of rigid Vinylite sheet by H. R. Potter Co., P. O. Box 318, Montclair, N.J.)

SELF-WINDER: Self-winding watches are not new, but the first American-made self-winder is being put into volume production. (By Elgin National Watch Co., Elgin, Ill.) and will be available early in 1951. It's been 16 years in developing.

Hal Boyle's Column

Korea—(AP)—Living alone for 69 days behind enemy lines in wartime is bound to teach a man something.

Lt. Joseph E. Hicks, 25, a platoon leader from Cobden, Ill., survived such an ordeal.

For the first six or seven days he had no food at all. He had nothing but rice, a few potatoes and an occasional dried fish the rest of the time.

From July 25 until Oct. 5—69 lonely days—he saw no American face except the mirrored reflection of his own features when he knelt to drink from a mountain stream. He met no one who could speak his own tongue.

The first day after the Reds overwhelmed and destroyed his outfit at Kuchang he spent nearly submerged in a road culvert. Only four inches of air lay between the stinking water and the culvert ceiling. He spent the next six days cramped under a roadside straw pile, and when he arose he fell flat on his face.

For about nine weeks thereafter he shivered in solitary mountain hideouts, cold at night and often wet from rain during the day. He had no weapons, no blankets, no coat—only his thin, worn fatigue uniform. His bed was pine boughs. And he could rest neither by night nor by day because of the fear that he would be found by enemy patrols.

"Once it rained for about 40 hours, and the water rose and washed away my bed of sticks," he recalled. "I had to perch on a rock for two days until the river ebbed. It wasn't as bad as it sounds because by then I had learned to squat on my haunches comfortably like the Orientals do."

I asked him to put into one word what he had learned from his terrifying experience. He thought a moment and said: "Patience."

Then he laughed and remarked, "But of course I should have learned that from being in the Army."

Hicks is a tall, handsome young officer with dark, intelligent eyes. He doesn't see his qualities of endurance as heroic.

"To have surrendered would have meant to die," he said. "What I was most worried about was that winter would come before the Americans counterattacked. And I didn't know whether I could live through a winter in the mountains."

"All I had was a pencil, a few scraps of paper, a compass and my canteen."

The morning I met him he was just leisurely finishing his third breakfast.

"More than anything else I missed somebody to talk to," he said.

"I had a lot of time to sit around and look at space."

The most welcome sound he heard was the signal whistle of a loyal South Korean who came every week or so to bring him rice.

"It was a big problem to keep the rice dry," he said. "Rice spoils quickly if it gets wet. And it seemed to be always raining."

But except for a few bolts his health was good. He actually gained weight.

"I never had a headache once," he said. "For the first 20 days I missed the lack of sugar. But rice is something you get used to. I always tasted good, and the more I ate the more the taste improved. I still like it."

A watch was a civilized gadget he yearned for most.

"Boy, there's nothing I missed more than not knowing the time," he laughed. "But I kept track of the days pretty well."

"I thought that the first thing I wanted to do when I got back was to get out of the Army. But now I don't know. Once you are back with the boys a few days, your viewpoint changes."

And then he said slowly and quietly:

"I guess there is one thing more I learned. Miracles can happen."

Washington Letter

By FRED S. HOFFMAN (For Jane Eads)

Washington—"Can you tell me something about diseases of the mouse?" This question was in a letter addressed to a western congressman some time ago.

It seems that a rancher had a mouse penned up next to his barn. The mouse fell ill—and the rancher was puzzled how to treat the animal. So he wrote his congressman—who promptly forwarded the letter to the legislative reference service of the Library of Congress.

A researcher got to work—and soon the congressman sent the rancher detailed information on "diseases of the mouse." The reference service is called on to answer questions like this every day.

Legislative reference came into being in 115 "to aid members of Congress in matters relating to legislation." Besides answering about 150 Congressional queries a day, it prepares tables, summaries, background data and other material needed by congressmen and senators for drawing up legislation and writing speeches.

The service employs 150, and its current appropriation is $790,000. Its researchers are highly-trained specialists, "the pick of the college crop around the country." The service occupies most of one wing of the Library of Congress, just across the park from the Capitol building—but as far as the public is concerned, it works in relative obscurity.

It has nine divisions, such as historical, general research, economics, foreign affairs, government and American law. Some questions can be answered almost instantly by reference to the service's voluminous files and to various collections in the Library of Congress.

Some of its projects take several months of preparation—as when the service drew up the pamphlet "Communism in Action" in 1948 at the request of then Rep. Dirksen (R-Ill.). Ten people worked on that job.

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, Nov. 9.—James N. Slade will continue to function as auditor and treasurer of Caswell county, but there is some doubt about what authority he will act under.

Through oversight his name and office was omitted from the general election ticket. The omission was not discovered in time for correction, such as was made with Sheriff Ruel Tyson in Pitt county. The Pitt board of elections left the sheriff off the ticket, but substitute ballots were hastily printed and distributed so that votes could be cast during the afternoon for a sheriff.

Attorney General Harry McMillan was called upon Wednesday morning to decide what procedure would be necessary in Caswell county to assure continuing tenure of the auditor. Apparently there is an alternative approach.

Slade can continue in office under the general provision that every such officer shall hold until his successor has been elected and qualified. Or, the office can be declared vacant and the county commissioners fill it by appointment.

Chances are that in the Caswell case both methods will be invoked. The auditor-treasurer can hold under the continuing provision of the general statutes, and he may also be appointed by the commissioners.

Every election presents some new "monkey business" incidents, but oldtimers cannot recall another year in which two counties left off the official ballots names of candidates for high ranking county offices.

Police Break Up Series Robberies

Greenville officers have solved a series of three robberies at Jack Brady's pool room and cafe on the Bethel highway in the Fleming's Crossroads community. Police reports stated that the place was broken into three times and that each time the nocturnal prowler obtained loot of money or candy or cold drinks.

The officers have arrested Thurman Pockey Harrison, 14-year-old white youth, who lives at 148 West Gum Road, a thoroughfare leading off from the Bethel highway toward Belvoir. Police quoted the youth as admitting the robberies at Brady's and committing thefts at the Training School in Greenville and at Clifton Whitehurst's service station.

Harrison is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Harrison. He recently returned from a long visit with an uncle, Will Woolard of near Pine Town, in Beaufort County.

Police said the Harrison boy appears to be much older than 14 years.

Health Program On Air Saturday

"Bring Out Your Dead"—the dull chant of London's burymen during the Great Plague—is the title of this week's Resource-Use Education Commission radio program to be heard over WGTC Saturday at 10:15 a.m.

The program is eighth in a series entitled "The Silent Siren" and centers around the work of North Carolina's work in the field of preventive medicine. "Bring Out Your Dead" is the first of two such programs sponsored by the State Board of Health.

During the 15-minute broadcast the listeners will be informed that more than five percent of those persons living in the State today are more than 65 years old—a fact that is contrary to the prevailing condition earlier in this century.

The broadcast brings out the fact that largely through preventive medicine and newly-discovered curative drugs, death rates from many specific causes have been reduced almost to the vanishing point.

The darker side of the over-all picture will not be omitted. It will be revealed that more than three times as many people in this state die every year of diseases of the heart than died in 1916 from the same causes. Too, it will describe the conditions that are responsible for 50 percent of the State's hospital beds being filled with the mentally ill.

Taft Poses Six Questions On U. S. Commitments In Europe

Washington, Nov. 9—(AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio), successful in his race for re-election, demands a thorough airing of United States commitments to defend Western Europe.

He said one of the questions to be answered is whether Western Europe "can really be defended" against Russian atomic attacks which might destroy ports and cut off American armies from their supplies.

Indicating a battle over this issue is in prospect when Congress returns to Washington, Taft accused the Truman Administration of making military commitments "without the slightest public discussion or consideration."

"The Administration has pursued a policy of secrecy and undertaken to deal with these (foreign) issues without giving the people any chance to decide what they really want," the Republican senator said in a weekly report to Ohioans. The report was prepared prior to Tuesday's election.

Taft posed these six questions he said ought to be answered to the satisfaction of the American people before any further commitments are made for defending Western Europe:

1. "How many American soldiers will be required and what will be the additional cost?"
2. "How much will it increase the necessity of drafting every American boy as he becomes 18 years of age, for two years' service in the army?"

3. "Can Western Europe really be defended?"
4. "If the Russians have atomic bombs with which they can bomb the cities of this country—according to military authorities—can they also bomb the debarcation ports in Europe and cut off our armies in Europe from American supplies?"
5. "What will a third world war look like?"
6. "How do we finally win it?"

Taft said he doesn't believe "any one question the wisdom of an air force sufficient to protect this country from Russian attack and to deter Russia from beginning a war, through our power to bomb the Russian cities and industrial plants."

Carver Library

Formal education applies its pattern to the mind; but only through books does the mind itself enrich, deepen, apply, modify and develop those patterns in individual life. Full-fledged intelligence must be active, playing over the education it is receiving, drawing its conclusions, making its own observations and its own tests; otherwise we have simply a thin surface coating of applied instruction. Books are the instrument of intelligence.

Consider what books mean in individual development. Through books we gain what John Morley called "The Historic Sense of Progress Through the Ages." In other words background of understanding. Through books we have bridged the centuries and built the world's structure of achievement. Through books, we receive and enlarge the heritage of the human mind. Make friends with books.

November 12 to 18 is National Book Week. The George Washington Carver library plans a special book week program. Displays will be in several store windows.

Sunday speakers will be at each church in the city, giving the origin of book week and its purpose; these persons are members of the Library board.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the RECTOR KITCHENS

Because they are so superior in quality and in flavor, and so easy on the cook, we at the Rector Kitchens just couldn't manage the busy holidays without either a Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham or a Wilson's Tender Made Ham. Often we use both. As you no doubt know, Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham is meant for home-cooking, while Wilson's Tender Made Ham comes fully cooked, ready to eat. Either of the Wilson's hams will enhance your reputation as a good cook and, at the same time, make your dinner or party an easy and sure success. Then come the thrifty "bonus" meals (made with left-overs) that are so enjoyable.

Enhance your reputation

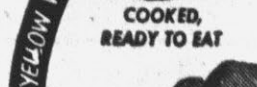

So, roast a whole Wilson's ham, a half ham, a butt end or a shank end. Or... broil, bake or fry a thick juicy slice. Directions are inside the wrapper. And for one of the "quickie" bonus-meals, be sure to try our delightful—Ham Rabbit in a Bun.

COOK BEFORE EATING

COOKED, READY TO EAT

HAM RABBIT IN A BUN

Empty the contents of:
1 can (8 oz.) condensed tomato soup into a saucepan. Melt in it:
1 cup shredded (1/4 lb.) Wilson's American or Old Fashioned (natural cheddar) cheese
Then stir in:
1 slightly beaten egg mixed with
1/4 cup thin cream
a bit of Worcestershire Sauce, to your taste
1/4 teaspoon pepper and no salt
Stir and cook over water a few minutes to thicken the egg. Place a split-open, toasted bun, or slice of toast, in an individual casserole or on a serving plate. Top with grilled or fried ham slice. Sauce it generously with Tomato-Rabbit. Repeat for the number of guests to be served. There's sauce enough for four generous servings in this recipe.

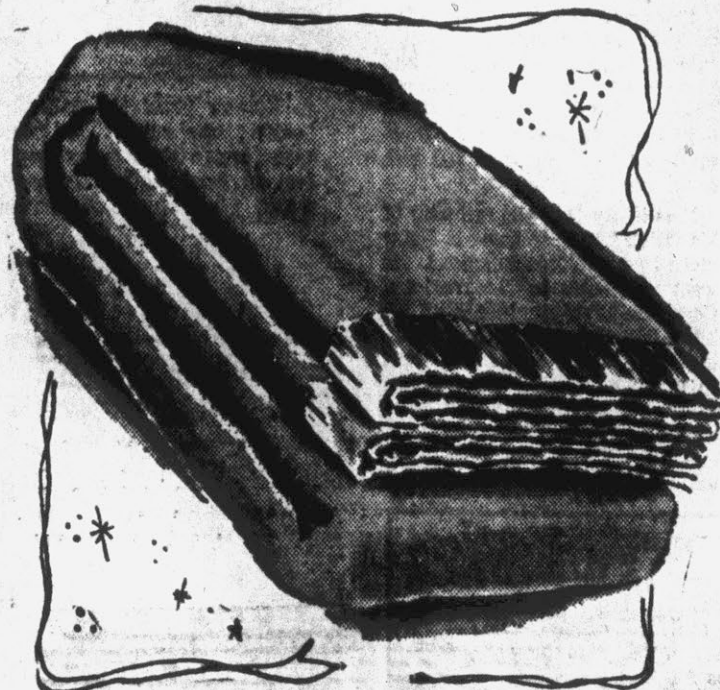

Yellow wrapper—Wilson's Tender Made Ham, deliciously cooked and ready to eat.

FELLOWSHIP AMONG CHRISTIANS

JESUS COMMANDED "THAT YE LOVE ONE ANOTHER."

Scripture—Acts 10-11; Philippians 2:1-18.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IT IS a sad thought that in all the history of the Christian church men's hearts have been so hardened that there have been bitter quarrels among believers.

Even while Jesus was with His apostles they disputed with one another as to who should be first in the kingdom of heaven, bringing His rebuke. One of His last charges to them was: "This is My commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you."

In spite of this command, all down the ages there have been dissensions in our churches; men have hated one another for differences of opinion, and persecuted one another. Seldom indeed can one find a congregation in which no one is being criticized and sides taken for and against an outstanding leader.

Now, more than ever before in the world, we need love and understanding. Men are getting together—all the nations—in the United Nations, trying to solve the globe's problems. There is awhile. A huge white sheetlike vessel descended from above filled with all manner of beasts. A voice said, "Rise, Peter, kill, and eat."

Peter protested that, as a Jew, he could not eat meat that had not been sanctified; it would be unclean. The voice said: "What God hath cleansed, that call not thou common."

Peter did not understand the meaning of the vision, and then came a knocking on the door, and Peter went to see who was there. Cornelius' men stood there and they asked him to go with them to Cornelius' home and tell him about the Lord.

It is likely that the meaning of his vision began to come to Peter when he heard this summons. He went with them to Caesarea, and Cornelius having gathered all his household and friends together in his home, Peter explained Jesus to them—telling of His life on earth, of His suffering and death and resurrection.

All believed, and were baptized, and then, on these Gentiles, the Scripture—Acts 10-11; Philippians 2:1-18.

A Roman centurion named Cornelius, praying one day at his home in Caesarea, was visited by an angel who told him to send for Peter, who would give him Christian instruction.

Peter had a vision of a sheet being let down from heaven containing all manner of beasts. He was told to slay and eat; and not to call unclean what God had cleansed.

Pondering on the meaning of his vision, Peter was called by the men from Cornelius to go with them to Caesarea and explain the gospel to the soldier and all his household.

Guided by the Spirit, Peter went with the men to Caesarea and in Cornelius' house talking to his friends and relatives, converting and baptizing them.

MEMORY VERSE—Philippians 2:4-5.

The Golden Text

Peter in the house of Cornelius.

"Not looking each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others. Have this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who existing in the form of God, counted not the being on an equality with God a thing to be grasped."—Philippians 2:4-5.

Three Prisoners Of Reds Return

Immensee, Switzerland—(AP)—

Three Swiss Roman Catholic missionaries have returned to Switzerland after three years in a Chinese Communist prison in Manchuria for alleged collaboration with the Japanese. The three priests, Fathers Friedrich Hort, Johann Imesch and Franz Senn, reported on their experiences in guarded language, evidently fearful of harming eight other Swiss priests still imprisoned under sentences ranging from five to 12 years.

"We suffered greatly from the unclean habits of the other prisoners," Father Hort said. "There was an unimaginable plague of insects, vermin and nearly all the priests caught typhus—some of them two or three times. We were not ill-treated by the authorities," Father Hort said, "but we suffered from the malice of the other prisoners."

A system of public confession was introduced at the prison, at which every prisoner had to confess his crimes and errors and demonstrate that he was turning towards Communism.

"Under this system, the other

MEMORY VERSE

"Not looking each of you to his own things, but each of you also to the things of others. Have this mind in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who existing in the form of God, counted not the being on an equality with God a thing to be grasped."—Philippians 2:4-5.

talk of world government—all for the purpose of maintaining peace. But as we read our newspapers, we see very little hope of the love that Jesus spoke of prevailing in secular matters, or among the churches that profess to follow Him.

Our lesson is concerned with one of the controversies of that early church, in which Peter was criticized for his conduct. Fortunately, in this case, he vindicated himself and brought others to see matters from his point of view.

We are told first of a noble Roman centurion (or captain) who believed in God, communed with Him and was kind to the poor. One day while he was praying in his home, an angel came to him and told him to send to Joppa and find Simon whose surname was Peter, at the house of a tanner named Simon. He was to summon Peter to come to him at Caesarea, and Peter would tell him of Christ.

Cornelius did not hesitate, but sent his men for Peter. Peter himself had had a vision in which, while, being hungry, he had gone to the tanner's roof top to sleep

Holy Spirit came as it had to Jewish converts, and they too, spoke in strange tongues.

Word of this was received at Jerusalem, and stirred up trouble. To many it seemed that only those who were circumcised could belong to Christ and receive the Holy Ghost.

Peter, arriving in the city, went at once to his brethren and defended himself from the accusations, which were that not only had he—a Jew—entered a Gentile home, but he had eaten with Gentiles and admitted them into the fellowship of the church.

After Peter had explained, telling of his vision—which he knew was from God—and its meaning, and how, after he had baptized these Gentiles, the Holy Ghost descended upon them, just as it had on Jews, they agreed that the Lord intended the gospel for all mankind.

Read the Memory Verse to see St. Paul's views on Christian fellowship; he believed that love to one another and thinking of others as well as of one's self would bring the long hoped-for peace to our churches.

General Wolfe's Tray In Museum

Berkeley—(AP)—A tray fashioned from silverplate that once belonged to Maj. Gen. James Wolfe, who captured Canada from the French in 1759, has been presented to the Plains of Abraham.

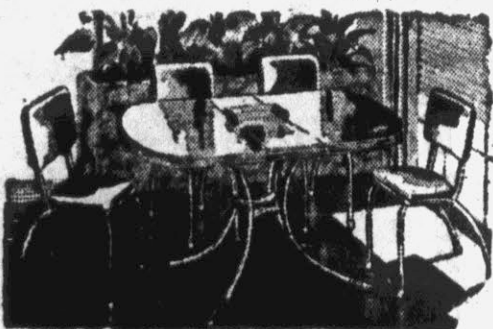

Royal Ontario Museum. It was Wolfe's nephew, who had inherited part of the general's silver. Some of the pieces were in repair and others were not in use at the time, the nephew decided to have them all melted and made into a single piece that would commemorate the general's victory on the Plains of Abraham.

Now You Can Dye At Home

TINT HAIR AT HOME... Easy-to-use dye is applied with a brush, is said to do a smart salon-type job.

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newfeature Beauty Editor
It's getting cheaper to keep young and beautiful these days.

The beauty market is loaded with glamor. There are contraptions and charm aids for every purse and problem. Everything from false bosoms to artificial toe nails can be utilized by Mom to retain girlish charm. Furthermore, she can do the job herself at home.

Newest charm camouflage to become a home beauty aid is hair color. Heretofore usually available only at beauty salons, hair tint required application by an experienced operator in order that color could be applied evenly to prevent streaking.

This new hair coloring is said to make it possible for a woman to do a salon-type hair coloring or "touch up" at home in 30 minutes. The preparation requires no pre-wash preparation such as bleaching, softening or even shampooing.

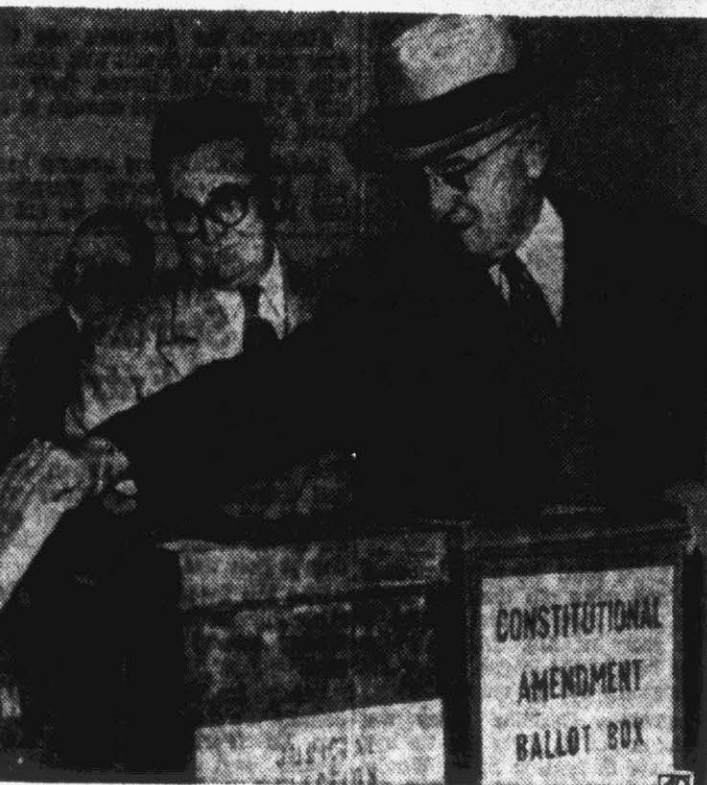

It is applied with small brushes which resemble paint brushes. After the coloring is applied it is combed through the hair and left on for 15 minutes. Then the hair is shampooed and set.

It is claimed that the action of the coloring is completed in 15 minutes, good news for the forgetful girl. If timing is off, while hair dye is working, such as in the case of a long telephone conversation or unexpected company, there should be no line of demarcation or streaks, say the hair tint chemists.

The new tint is available in 12 fashion colors. There is a pale, pale blonde called canary diamond, a bamboo blonde, starlight blonde, giving the would-be blonde her choice of colors. There is a carrot top shade and plain American brown. Other colors include a Mona Lisa brown, gleaming bronze and a glossy chestnut. Brown onyx is a warm dark brown and jet brown is the darkest brown.

Circle K Club Holds Dinner Meeting Tuesday

Members of the Circle K Club at East Carolina Teachers College, campus branch of Kiwanis International, at a dinner meeting Tuesday night at the American Legion Home in the city heard a program of music by three students of music at the college and transacted various matters of business. Bernard Ham and Ernest G. Black of Portsmouth, Va. and Malcolm Wester of Goldsboro entertained those present with a group of selections for a trio of instrumentalists.

Thirty members attended the meeting, at which Robert Mays of Greenville presided. Wendell W. Smiley, college librarian, and Dr. John Reynolds, faculty sponsor of the group, were guests.

Club members voted during a business session to assist the Greenville Kiwanis Club in presenting its annual minstrel. December 12 was set by Circle K as Ladies Night, when a dinner for guests will be given. A report on the sale of Pirate Flags showed that 250 of the banners have been sold for use at athletic contests. The proceeds will be used to further the athletic program at East Carolina.

Farley Revises Lineup Of Phantoms For Friday Game

Hopes For Conference Victory Over Roanoke Rapids Dampened By Several Injuries; Large Alumni Crowd Expected At Stadium Tomorrow Night

Greenville High School's hopes for a conference victory in their homecoming game here tomorrow night dampened yesterday, as several injuries were reported to the Phantoms.

End Johnny Aman and Tackle Bob Strickland have not worked out all week, and Coach Bo Farley reported many changes in his lineup this morning.

Versatile Leon Moore, the line-busting fullback, will be shifted to Aman's end post for tomorrow night's tilt, with Sydney Briley taking over the sole duties at fullback.

Halfback Kent Lee, along with Aman and Strickland, has been bothered by a bad ankle, and will see only limited action in the homecoming contest.

In yesterday's practice session, the Phantoms worked extensively on their passing game with Quarterback Eddie Farley doing the chunking. End Wiley Gardner coupled with Moore on the pass-receiving, along with big Wallace Conway, who may see some action from an offensive flank post.

Coach Farley also drilled his line on 3-1 exercises, and checked their blocking assignments. Tackle Fletcher Murray and Guard Joe Rowland stood out in the forward wall play.

Timing of the Phantoms running attack and a short dummy scrimmage rounded out yesterday's workouts.

A large crowd of returning alumni is expected to fill East Carolina's stadium tomorrow night, as the Phantoms go after their first conference victory of the season. Greenville has a current record of 3-1, in the circuit, while winning three straight games with non-conference foes.

Police Traffic Court Wednesday

Judge J. W. H. Roberts, who presides over Greenville Police Court, will sit in session at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock to hold a midweek session of court exclusively for hearing traffic cases.

The business of the Police Court has steadily increased in recent months. A growing number of traffic violations has burdened the Monday and Friday sessions of Police Court. Court officials expressed the belief that the special traffic session of court on Wednesday will facilitate the handling of a continually increasing docket.

No traffic cases will be tried on Mondays and Fridays, Solicitor Bloom said.

Reserve Fullback Will See Action

Reserve Fullback Billy Wooten has capably filled in at the line-plunging spot for the Phantoms this season, and this hefty bone-crusher also doubles up with line-backing duties. Wooten, with injuries giving Coach Farley a headache, will be counted on heavily in tomorrow night's homecoming game with Roanoke Rapids. (Photo by Roy Hardee).

Tornadoes Test Power Of Fuquay Springs' Attack

Ayden's Tornadoes began serious preparation for the onrushing game with the Falcons of Fuquay Springs High School. The game, to be played Friday night in Ayden's newly lighted field, has been designated as the Homecoming game for the Tornadoes.

After having the day off Monday, the Tornadoes held a brief session of the fundamentals of defensive blocking Tuesday. Coach Tripp sent his boys through an hour-long scrimmage against the offensive plays of Fuquay Springs, which were run by the Ayden second string.

Troy Jackson and Jerry Britt were outstanding during the scrimmage from their tackle and guard positions, respectively.

Quarterback Teedy Bullock, who was recently chosen to play in the Optimist Bowl in High Point on Thanksgiving Day, improved his passing arm by throwing several aeriels to End Mac Whitehurst and Fullback Mac Hardee. Ayden's passing attack has been one of their

Nip And Tuck

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—Willie Shoemaker was a 1 to 5 shot to set a new modern day record of 520 winners in one season at Hollywood Park today. But the lad from El Paso, Tex., can't seem to shake Joe Culmore in his drive for 1950 National Jockey honors.

Shoemaker boosted home two winners yesterday to tie the current modern day record of 519 set by the veteran Johnny Longden two years ago. He lost ground to Culmore, however, as little Joe kicked home four winners at Pimlico. This gave Culmore 313 winners for the year and put him in a position whereby he could easily overtake Shoemaker if Willie falters.

Coach Counting On Pinch-Hitter Perry

One of the leading reserves for Coach Bo Farley's Phantoms this year has been Halfback Bob Perry. Perry has seen plenty of action on the offensive unit of the Phantoms, and with injuries plaguing Greenville's preparations for their homecoming game with Roanoke Rapids tomorrow night, this backfield scooter will see much more activity. High Scores In Bowling League

Classic Bowling League
Carolina Dairy	17 13 567
Wagner-Waldrop	16 14 533
Hodges Hardware	15 15 500
Bilbro Wholesale	12 18 400

Spooky Morgan led his Wagner-Waldrop bowling team to a two-game victory over Hodges Hardware to help break up a first place tie that prevailed for one week.

Morgan hit his stride Tuesday night and turned in the highest game ever recorded in Classic League play. He rolled a first game score of 230 which went ahead of Bill Harrington's previous high score by 10 pins.

Morgan finished the set with 509 but was tied by Bob Matthews of Hodges Hardware. Matthews' games were 172, 154 and 183 while Morgan's other two were 147 and 132.

Joe Smith, bowling for Hodges, however, set the night's highest three game total when he knocked down one more pin than did Matthews and Morgan and tallied a series score of 510. That score is fourth best in the league, but misses Harrington's 578 by quite a bit.

Meanwhile, Carolina Dairy was moving out of its three way tie into first place in beating Bilbro Wholesale three games and sending the Wholesalers deeper into the cellar.

There were no eye raising scores for the Dairy's ledger, and for that fact Bilbro almost took two of the games, missing by only nine pins from being the series victor.

Score of the first game was close—666-674—but the third outing was hair raising when Bilbro fell one pin behind the Dairy's 699. Carolina won all three in giving a 39 pin handicap.

Joins Philadelphia

Ottawa, Nov. 9—(R)—Howie Turner, a star backfielder with Ottawa Rough Riders of Canada's Big Four football league for four seasons, will play with the Philadelphia Eagles for the rest of that club's playing schedule.

The former North Carolina back will join the Eagles immediately.

Dole Continues Polish Passing Attack For High Point Meeting

East Carolina's pass-slinging Pirates continued to sharpen their aerial offense yesterday in preparation for Saturday night's game with High Point here.

Coach Bill Dole, the grid master who has brought East Carolina from the bottom of the heap to a current fourth-place power, knocked off all the rough work last week for the rest of the year because of several injuries to the Pirates' key players.

All-Conference Quarterback Roger Thrift has spent all week loosening up his pitching arm for Saturday's tilt, with his ace pass-receiver, Ends Frank Maennle and Dwight Shoe doing the catching.

Running patterns also received emphasis yesterday with Fullback Johnny Smith and Halfbacks Jack Britt, Bill Darby and Jack Benzie doing the running.

Punting, punt returns, and kicking of extra points also were stressed in yesterday's drills.

Halfback Bill Darby, the fellow who kept the Pirates out of the danger zone with his kicks last week, shared the booting chores with Jack Benzie and Sandy Siler. Tackle Buck Hardee worked with his educated toe in kicking extra points. Hardee has kicked true on 16 placements this season, with two field goals also to his credit.

East Carolina will be in top shape for Saturday's North State clash, with the exception of Guard Jesse Aldridge, who dislocated his shoulder last week, and will be lost to the Pirates for the remainder of the year.

High Point Hungry For Loop Victory Saturday

By Bill Lloyd

A victory-hungry Panther eleven from High Point College comes into East Carolina stadium Saturday night to set the stage for another North State conference battle.

Although the Panthers are the door mat of the circuit this season, with six straight losses, they are still a team powerful enough to be taken seriously.

And if football fans around here will remember, these Furniture City lads will definitely be out to avenge a last second 26-26 tie with East Carolina last year.

Big and bustling Bill Lloyd, 190-pound All-conference fullback for the Panthers, is rated as one of the top line-plungers in the gridiron business, and this hefty senior will be counted on for much yardage gained here Saturday night.

Halfbacks Hugh Gordon and Pete Hotis are also scooters with the pigskin, and Hotis has been a consistent pass-receiver for the Purple and White colors all season.

At the quarterback spot, Dayton Crews, small but nifty passer, finds capable receivers in Illard Yarborough and Vincente Dellaville. Yarborough stands six-foot at end while Dellaville climbs to 6-foot-2.

In the line play, Captain Max Morgan, 189-pound guard is one of the more aggressive men from his forward wall position, along with Ray Burleson, 216-pound tackle standout.

Teaming with Morgan and Burleson are Center Donald Hooper and Tackle Paul Pryor, the basketballer, which make High Point's defensive setups a non-yielding crew.

Yep, if you get a Panther's jaws gnawing and his paws clawing for a victory, it will be quite a North State contest here.

First Savannah Open Starting With 110 Entries

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 9—(AP)—The first $10,000 Savannah Open golf tournament starts today with a field of 110 amateurs and professionals teeing off on the four-day 72 hole test.

The top favorite is big Jim Frier, the second leading money winner among this year's touring pros.

Other leading contenders were Johnny Palmer, the Badin, N. C., pro, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Kenmore, Wash., and George Fazio, the Washington, D. C., golfer who tied for this year's National Open title only to lose the playoff with Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum.

Leading Defense Teams To Meet

New York, Nov. 9—(AP)—The game between Kentucky and Mississippi State on Saturday will bring together the two total defense leaders of major college football.

Based on average yardage allowed to opponents per game, figures released today by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau showed Mississippi State's Maroons on top with 150.5 yards permitted in six games. Kentucky's Wildcats have given up 163.9 in eight starts. Wyoming was third with 169.0 for seven games.

Robinson Scores 121st Boxing Win

Chicago, Nov. 9—(AP)—Welterweight champion Ray "Sugar" Robinson won another, fight last night, settling for a 10 round split decision when a knockout seems inevitable several times.

The victim of Robinson's 121st victory Bobby Dykes, young and game Miami, Fla., hopeful.

The match was not for Sugar's title. He weighed 157 pounds, 10 pounds over the welter limit, to Dykes' 148 1-2.

Despite the champion's evident superiority, it was a split decision. The referee and one judge gave the decision to Robinson. A second judge voted the bout a draw.

New Prospects For Gator Bowl

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 9—(AP)—The Gator Bowl today added Vanderbilt and Washington and Lee to its list of teams considered for the New Year's football game here.

Washington and Lee apparently is headed for the Southern Conference title. Its record in all games is five victories and two losses. Vanderbilt of the Southeastern Conference has lost only to Florida in seven games.

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurensen

AP News Service

Chapter 17
"Is your report complete?" Thatcher considered Marc thoughtfully for a moment and then said slowly, "No, it isn't."
"Kitty Dean left the show for six months. Nervous breakdown, she told them."
A long whistle escaped Marc's lips. "Not—?"
"Arnold?"
Thatcher shook his head. "Don't think so. However, he had a marriage license at one time."
"Why didn't they get married instead of all the hush-hush?"
"Miss Dean said she wouldn't marry anyone but a millionaire. Quite vocal about it. Seems the millionaire turned up."
"Any idea of how Arnold took it?"
"Not too seriously. He dropped out and started with the accounting firm."
"How did he happen to go with Abercrombie and Coy?"
"Arnold's smart as a whip, as you know. He's very capable, and sold himself to Abercrombie."
Marc toyed idly with his watch chain. "How'd Richards react to all this?"
"He was pleased with the dope on Mrs. Johnson, but quite upset when he learned about Arnold."
"How long've you worked on the case?"

"Six months or so. About two months ago we got our first real information."
"Did you tell Richards everything you've told me?"
"Of course."
"The report—did he request it in this form?"
"Yes. He said something about wanting a club."
"What did Arnold want with you this morning?"
"He tried to pump me." Thatcher laughed mirthlessly.
"For some time both men silently considered the whims of mankind. Then Marc asked, 'This report—did it conclude your assignment?'" Thatcher frowned thoughtfully. "No, it didn't. I've had a tail on Mrs. Johnson for weeks."
"No! Wonderful!" Marc breathed. "Were you shadowing her yesterday?"
"Yes. My man's back. I called him in this morning. In view of events, that job's probably wound up. No use running up expenses," he said dryly.
He pressed a bell button under his desk and the blank-eyed guard thrust his head through the door. "See if Mike's around. Send him in," ordered Thatcher.
After a brief wait, a florid, thick-set man entered.
"Want me, Bos?"
"Uh-huh," grunted Thatcher. "Jordan, Mike Klutz, one of my operators. Jordan wants to ask you about yesterday. Tell him anything he wants to know."

"Tell me," continued Marc, "what were Mrs. Johnson's activities yesterday?"
"She didn't have none, except to stay home."
"Marc's jaw sagged in surprise. 'You mean she was at home all day? She didn't go out?'"
"That's right: she was and she didn't."
"How long were you there?"
"I left around eight-thirty."
"So you don't know what happened after eight-thirty?"
"That's right. Them's my orders," he said defensively.
Marc shook his head sadly. "I was hoping we had something."
"That all you wanted, Jordan?" asked Thatcher. "Okay, Mike, beat it," he said as Marc nodded assent. "This man Klutz, is he good?"
"All my men're good."
"Did he ever report a meeting between Mrs. Johnson and David Arnold?"
Thatcher considered. "Yes, about a week ago. Arnold came along in a speed boat and picked her up. They were gone about an hour."
"Has he reported her meeting anyone else?"
"No."
Marc threw a knee over the corner of the desk. "You've given me a lot of information, Thatcher. Now may I recommend a course of action: namely, that we keep our little tete-a-tete between ourselves." Thatcher grunted. "You're wasting breath telling me that!"
"I'm sure of it." Marc walked to the door and turned with a wave of his hat. "Thanks, Thatcher. You'll be hearing from me again." Straddling a stool at a lunch counter, Marc ordered a sandwich and coffee and was deeply engrossed scribbling notes in a notebook when his train of thought was interrupted by a soft voice from the next seat.

"Don't look now, but that waitress, the one with the figure, is going to stick a butcher knife in the short order cook any minute!"
Marc turned to meet Nora's teasing eyes.
"Hello, Irish," grinned Marc. "Thought you might get hungry about this time."
"Oh, stop it. How is the great investigation?"
"Progress no end. Hunks of it."

So much that I'm considering taking the afternoon off for a vacation."
"Marc, you're fooling. I know it."
"No, really," replied Marc lightly. "Think I'll take a trip to Duck Lake this afternoon. How about coming along for the ride?"
"It's a beautiful day," said Nora, gazing wistfully at the sunlight streaming across the counter. "Maybe it could be fixed."
"That's settled then. I'm just playing a hunch. I don't know what I'm going for. This thing's a muddle. The pieces don't fit. For example, where'd Cleo get to?"

"Cleo?" explained Nora in astonishment. "That's a new name!"
"Yes. Joan Arnold's pet dog. It got away last night."
"I can't see what a dog has to do with it."
"Neither can I. That's what worries me. Let's eat. Time flies and we have things to do."

EFFECTIVE Nov. 13, 1950

The Subscription rates of The Daily Reflector will be increased to 25c per week by carrier and $10.50 per year by mail.

These prices will be effective beginning Monday, November 13 1950.

Because of recent increases in the costs of newsprint and other materials necessary for producing your Daily Reflector, it is Necessary that this increase in subscription price become effective immediately.

The Reflector has held the line as long as possible against advancing subscription rates. At the present time there is no other daily newspaper of comparable size in North Carolina which is not already charging this or a higher subscription rate.

As a matter of fact, in addition to the Reflector there are only three other daily newspapers in the state which have maintained a 20c per week rate until the present time.

New Subscription Rates

	By Carrier	By Mail
	25c per week
(The Daily Reflector will not be responsible for payments to carriers for more than 4 weeks in advance.)
	1 year	$10.50
	6 months	$ 5.50
	3 months	$ 3.00

The Reflector is striving to give you a better newspaper and better service. We ask your co-operation in this matter by paying your carrier boy every Saturday, so that you may avoid having your paper stopped because of a delinquent account.

Beginning Monday, November 13, carrier subscribers who desire to pay for their paper for a year in advance may do so by making payment of $13.00 directly to the Daily Reflector office. In no cases will carriers be allowed to accept payments for more than 4 weeks in advance.

Two Collision-Damaged Warships Sail To Port

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Two badly damaged destroyers headed toward an undesignated destination today for repairs following a pre-dawn collision during fleet maneuvers off the North Carolina coast.

Four men were killed and three injured, two critically, when the two vessels—the C. H. Roan and the Brownson—collided early yesterday while all ships were darkened during night exercises.

Atlantic Fleet headquarters said the two ships, although heavily damaged, were not in danger of sinking. Two Navy tugs were dispatched to the collision area—400 miles east of the Carolina coast—in the event they might be needed for towing.

A fleet spokesman said last night that "the Brownson bore down on the Roan, her bow striking the Roan's starboard quarters, folding back the bow of the Brownson and crushing the starboard side of the Roan."

The Brownson's bow smashed into the Roan's after engine room and living quarters, flooding both spaces. Part of the Brownson's bow was ripped off and part was folded back about 30 feet. Several compartments were flooded.

Emergency measures brought flooding under control on both vessels, but the Roan's forward engine had to be shut down until salt water could be pumped from her system, the spokesman said.

The Brownson was able to proceed under her own power at a reduced speed, but the Roan's after engine was put out of operation and she was taken in tow by the destroyer S. B. Roberts.

Too Busy For 28-Car Accident

Denver, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A snowstorm and resulting slick streets produced a 28-car accident—but police were too busy to bother with it.

The mass pileup of cars occurred on a south Denver hill last night after one motorist's car skidded sideways. Before he got his car straightened out, 27 other vehicles were involved.

The report reached police headquarters, already swamped with traffic calls. There were no injuries so police advised worried motorists to "straighten it out the best you can."

Demand Recount In Connecticut

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 9.—(AP)—The Republican party will demand a recount in the tight race for the U. S. Senate between William Benton, the Democratic incumbent, and Prescott Bush, his GOP opponent.

Republican state chairman Clarence F. Baldwin said last night the recount will be sought because of the importance of the office and because of the bearing the outcome may have on control of the Senate.

If Benton's apparent victory were set aside and Bush named the winner, Democrats and Republicans each would have 48 seats with vice President Barkley holding the decisive vote.

Benton's lead over Bush had dwindled to fewer than 1,000 votes on the basis of a state official's preliminary check of official returns.

Other major races had a decisive outcome. U. S. Senator Brien McMahon (D) was reelected to a six-year term. Rep. John Davis Lodge (R) ousted Democratic governor Bowles.

Indicted

Winston-Salem, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Vaughn J. Cannon of Asheville yesterday was indicted by a grand jury in U.S. District Court here on charges of evading federal income taxes of $119,720.22.

The indictment followed a two-year investigation by federal agents of Cannon's activities in the Carolinas and six other states. Cannon was charged with evading taxes from 1944 through 1947.

In June, 1949, Cannon pleaded guilty in Buncombe Superior Court to illegal possession of pinball machines. He paid a $5,000 fine and a one-year road sentence was suspended.

Two Men Held In Bootleg Shooting

Asheville, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Two men accused of shooting a federal tax agent during a raid on an illegal whiskey still in Burke County are being held in the Buncombe County jail, it was disclosed today.

The men—Arthur Carswell, 26, and Roby Smith, 23—were arraigned before a U.S. commissioner Tuesday and bond was set at $36,000. They are charged with assault with intent to kill a federal officer and violating the Internal Revenue Act.

The men were arrested Tuesday in the Enola section of Burke County after a gun battle. A third man—Homer Mull, 40—was arrested also, but arraignment has been postponed until he is released from a hospital; he received a neck wound in the shooting.

Murder, Suicide Ruled In Deaths

Burlington, N.C., Nov. 9.—(AP)—Dr. H. H. Simpson, Alamance County coroner, ruled murder and suicide in the deaths of a Negro man and his estranged wife here late yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Simpson said Theodore Webb, 40, shot Maydell Webb, about 35, in the head with a pistol, then turned the gun on himself in the back lot of a taxi company where he was employed.

The woman died almost instantly, and Webb died shortly after reaching a hospital.

Krupa Band Here For Lions' Dance

Gene Krupa and his nationally famous orchestra will play in Greenville tonight for a dance under the auspices of the Greenville Lions Club.

The dance will be held at McGowan's new warehouse on Ninth Street beginning at 9 o'clock.

Handsome Joe Tucker will handle the vocals on the romantic songs and Bobby Soles will take over the vocal on the novelty numbers. Don Faberquist will be the featured trumpeter with Gene Krupa's orchestra.

Ben Rouse, chairman of the ticket committee for the Lions Club, commented this morning, "The Lions Club has gone all out to make this the biggest dance ever held in Greenville, and from all indications a record crowd will be on hand to dance to the music of Krupa and his orchestra. The warehouse has been turned into a ballroom with tables and chairs for those who made reservations." Rouse said preliminary checks indicate approximately 1,000 advance tickets for the dance have been sold. Tickets will be on sale at the door tonight.

Fred Fletcher, Raleigh radio personality, and a party from Raleigh are expected to be here for the dance, Rouse said.

A portion of the dance will be broadcast over radio station WHED in Washington beginning at 9:30.

Electrocuted

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—(AP)—A five-year-old girl was electrocuted when a washing machine wringer caught her hand and shoved the fingers into an electric socket.

The child, Essie Sanders, was playing in the kitchen of her home last night while her mother, Mrs. Jane Sanders, 22, was doing the family laundry.

Mrs. Sanders told police her daughter was standing in some water spilled on the floor when the child's fingers touched the electric socket hanging down from the ceiling.

Mrs. Sanders was knocked unconscious as she tried to rescue the little girl.

Legion Plans For Armistice Day

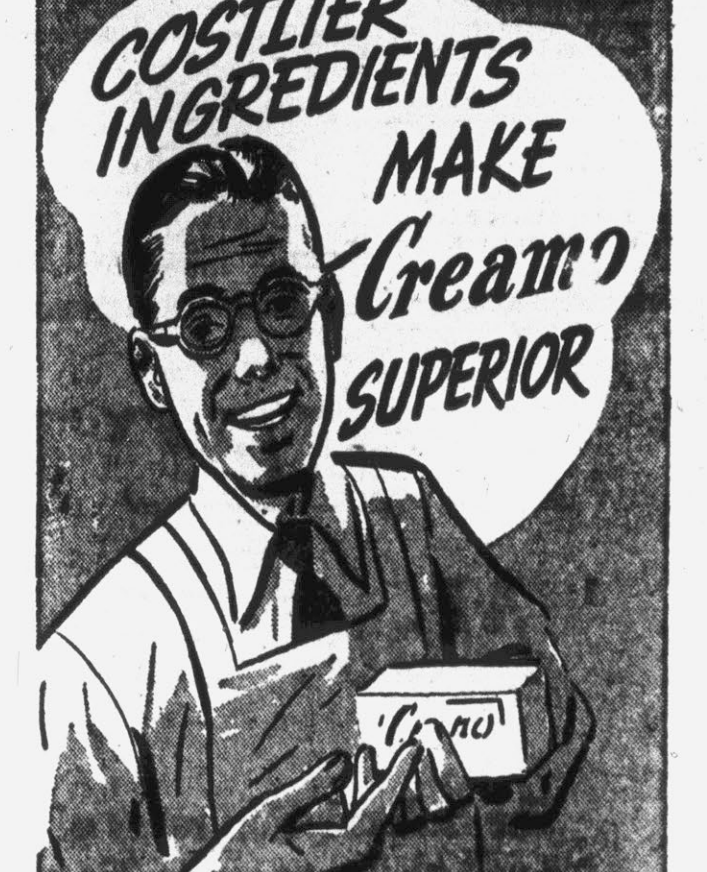

Armistice Day will be observed in Greenville with memorial services next Saturday, November 11, at 11 a.m. J. Howard Moye, commander of Pitt County Post No. 39, announced.

There will be no parade. The memorial services will be held on the courthouse lawn. Dr. H. Glenn Haney, pastor of Eighth Street Christian Church and American Legion post chaplain, will have charge of the services.

In case of rain, the memorial services will be held in the courthouse. Special seats will be provided for white and colored veterans and their families and friends.

Commander Moye said the Armistice Day memorial services will be for all veterans of wars, not just for members of veterans' organizations.

Farmville Carrier Boy Wins Bicycle For His Work

Wiley Glenn Cobb (center with hands on handlebars) proudly exhibits his brand new Columbia bicycle which was presented him last night by The Daily Reflector for his outstanding work as a Reflector carrier boy. Cobb received his bicycle for getting more new subscribers on his Reflector route than any of the other 37 Reflector carriers. He has added 83 subscribers to his route in Farmville since last spring. Left to right in the picture are: Hugh Duncan of Greenville, who received a flashlight for outstanding work on his Reflector delivery route, Managing Editor Dave Whichard of The Reflector, Cobb, James Lang, Jr., who received a flashlight for outstanding work on his route; Circulation Manager J. E. Keziah, and Curt Evans who received a flashlight for outstanding work on his Reflector delivery route. (Reflector photo by Roy Hardee).

Bicycle And Other Awards Are Presented Carriers In Contest

Wiley Glenn Cobb, 13-year old Farmville boy, last night was presented a new Columbia bicycle for his outstanding work as a carrier boy The Daily Reflector. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cobb. The presentation was made at a meeting of the Daily Reflector Carrier Boys club which was attended by more than 35 boys from Greenville, Farmville, Ayden, Bethel, Winterville and Grimesland. Young Cobb received the blue bicycle equipped with light and sidewall tires, which was given as 1st prize in a contest among the Reflector carriers for new subscribers. In addition to the bicycle which was presented to Cobb, Harold Hopkins, a Negro carrier boy of Farmville, was presented a certificate for two bicycle tires and tubes as second prize in the contest. A flashlight, third prize was presented to Adolphus Chase a Negro carrier boy of Greenville. Flashlights were also presented to Hugh Duncan of Greenville, Curt Evans, Negro, of Greenville and James Lang, Negro, of Greenville for outstanding work on their Reflector routes.

U. S. Marines of the Seventh Regiment's First Battalion are trapped by encircling Reds near Sudong, North Korea, but they are fighting on just the same. American artillery shells burst high up on the hills in the background in search of enemy positions. At right, a Marine guards Chinese Reds captured in the area. The battalion was surrounded by the enemy in its drive toward Changjin. This picture was made by Frank Noel, Associated Press staff photographer who was trapped with the Marines. Noel formerly was stationed in the AP's bureaus at Atlanta and Miami. (AP Wirephoto).

on his route in Farmville when the contest for new subscribers began last spring. Through his diligent efforts, he has increased his route by 83 customers and at the present time is delivering Reflectors daily to 174 Farmville homes. Hopkins, another Farmville carrier who won second prize in the contest, had 65 customers on his route when the contest began, and at the present time he is delivering papers to an even 100 homes in Farmville—an increase of 35 subscribers on his route. A committee of four members of the Carrier Boys club was elected to work with Circulation Manager Keziah on plans for a Christmas party for members of the club.

School Officials . . .

(Continued from page one) It is at fault," the superintendent said. "We're trying to get at the root of the problem and see what can be done to improve the present school system. "When you take 100 rejectees and examine their past school records, you get a pretty good picture of a cross-section of the county. The object of the investigation is not, primarily, to help men pass the examinations, Rose said. The board will do its work behind the scenes—only after the men have been rejected from future duty with the Armed Forces. Both men seemed to think the examination itself was at fault. It does not test a man on his native ability, they thought, but on his ability to read the 200 questions and understand them. The background of the entire problem, Rose thought, was in the present public school attendance law. "The policy with the tenant farmer of eastern North Carolina is that children just don't go to school. Now it's beginning to wash up on us," he said.

That New . . . (Continued from page one) Democrats' majority was larger, this health program got exactly no where because too many Democrats joined with too many Republicans in opposing it. Now it will have even less chance. And on some issues, like civil rights, there'll be even smaller chance for the Trumanites to do anything. And on foreign affairs the Republicans—because of the slim margin between them and the Democrats—are in a stronger position now to have a hand in what's done. You can see why: Mr. Truman's advisers, in the Defense and State departments, may come up with a program in the foreign field. But almost any program costs money which has to be voted by Congress. This means Congress can put strong limits on any such program. Being more powerful than they were in the 81st Congress, the Republicans can pretty much vote a stop or go-ahead signal in the 82nd.
