Leaf Market Set New Sales Record

Highest Season's Average In History Of Greenville Mart Becomes Official; Over 62 Million Pounds Of Tobacco Sold, Averaging $56.49

The highest season's average in the 60-year history of the Greenville tobacco market became official yesterday as the last selling day of the season ended.

The market during the 54 selling days this season sold more than 62 million pounds of tobacco and recorded an average of $56.49 for its gross sales.

The market had 54 selling days during the 1950 season compared with 57 selling days last year. It sold approximately seven million pounds more this year than last year and paid out over eight million dollars more for the tobacco sold this year than the tobacco sold last year.

The sales records for the season shattered past records as far as the market average is concerned. The only season which approached the average recorded on the market this year was back in 1919 when the market had an official average of $52.84. During that season the market sold 30,031,161 pounds of tobacco and paid out to farmers $15,867,518.83.

But on the market this year, records were set in more categories than just the season's average. The Greenville market during the season recorded eight days in which more than a million dollars a day were paid for tobacco sold on the market. They were the first million dollar days in the history of the market. Before the season opened on August 21 of this year, the Greenville market never had paid out as much as a million dollars in one day. But on the opening day of the season the tobacco sold reached 2,135,920 pounds, the day's average price soared to an official $57.13 and the market paid out $1,220,282.05 for the day's sale.

Seven other million dollar days followed during the remainder of the season. The peak of the price this year came on October 2 when total sales on the Greenville warehouse floors averaged $60.17 for the day. On that particular day the market sold 1,721,276 pounds of leaf and paid out $1,035,776.45.

After the sales closed officially for the season yesterday, Sales Supervisor Whedbee said emphatically, "I want to thank all the farmers of eastern North Carolina who have helped to make this one of the best years in Greenville's entire history. The farmers have been better satisfied with the prices they have received for their tobacco this year than any time I can remember."

Although the season's average this year is higher than any previously recorded by the market, the total amount paid for the tobacco is slightly less than in the 1946 season when the market sold 68 million pounds and paid out $35,983,384 for an average of $52.72. That season, however, was before the tobacco acreage cut. Pitt County raised 45,313.4 acres of tobacco in 1946 compared with the 34,379.3 acres of tobacco which the county raised this year.

The signs of the times, however, really are made apparent when a comparison is made between the official figures for the 1950 season on the Greenville tobacco market and the season of the dark days of 1931.

This year the market sold over 62 million pounds, paid out more than $35,300,000 and averaged $56.49. In 1931 the Greenville market sold 66,208,312 pounds of tobacco, paid out $6,173,956.24 and averaged $9.31 per hundred pounds.

Republicans Talk New Probe Body In Next Congress

Consider Permanent Senate Committee On Un-American Activities

Washington, Nov. 10—(AP)—Encouraged by the election results to press for a new communists-in-government inquiry, some republicans may try in January to set up a permanent senate committee on un-American activities.

The investigating unit they have in mind would be patterned, so far as scope is concerned, agter the existing house committee.

There is some talk, too, that a joint congressional committee ought to be set up incorporating the house group and a senate delegation.

Those ideas could come up for discussion when a group of senate republicans gets together at the capitol Nov. 27 to talk over the gains their party made at the polls and to plan ahead.

That is the day the "Lame Duck" session of the expiring 81st congress will meet, unless President Truman calls the lawmakers back earlier. The President reportedly will decide when he returns from a short cruise this weekend.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who scored a smashing re-election triumph, said yesterday he had suggested the meeting so the new republican senators could meet their coleagues and talk things over.

Taft, chairman of the GOP Senate Policy Committee, said the meeting would not be a formal conference of all Republican senators. His views on setting up an un-American activities committee are not known.

From a numerical standpoint Senate Republicans would need the help of some but probably not many Democrats to create such a Senate committee.

In the new, 82nd Congress which convenes Jan. 3 the Republicans will have 47 seats as against the Democrats slim majority, with 49. The present split is 54 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

A recount in a close Connecticut contest could make the new division 48 seats for each party, with Vice-President Barkley casting the deciding vote for the Democrats in such a case.

Assuming virtually solid GOP support for the committee idea, the Republicans would need to win over only a couple of Democrats to get up a new inquiry group.

Republicans Lead In Gubernatorial Victories

ELECTION OF GOVERNORS:—This map with its elephan and donkey symbols shows gains scored by Republicans in the election of governors Tuesday. By Wednesday, returns showed that G. O. P. governors were elected in 21 of the 33 states in which gubernatorial races were run. In two others, Arizona and Michigan, Republicans were in the lead. Maine's election of a Republican governor took place last September. The G. O. P. gained six governors—in Connecticut, Nevada, Maryland, New Mexico, Colorado and Wyoming—and appeared to have Arizona and Michigan in the bag. They did not lose any. The Democrats elected 10 governors. They lost five and gained none. Shaded states are those in which no governor's race was held Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto Map).

U. S. Expected To Urge Speed On Chinese Issue

American Delegation To Ask Security Council Proceed With Discussion Of Korea While Awaiting Red Reply

Lake Success, Nov. 10—(AP)—The United States is expected to call on the U.N. Security Council today to move "as rapidly as it can" to prevent Chinese Communist intervention in Korea from spreading the conflict.

With the backing of Britain and France, the American delegation will ask the council to go ahead with its discussion of the Korean case without waiting for the arrival of Chinese Communist representatives.

Russia already has served notice she will fight all consideration of the question until the Chinese Reds have been brought before the council and given a chance to answer the charges made against them by Gen. MacArthur, U.N. commander in Korea, and the American delegation.

Today's council meeting (scheduled for 3 p.m. EST) originally was called to consider the Palestine case. Addition of the Korean question is expected to set the stage for a lengthy argument over the agenda. Such a wrangle could prevent the council from coming to grips with the Korean issue this afternoon.

The United States will try to prevent such a development. Porter McKeever, spokesman for the American delegation, told reporters last night the council "must move ahead" and not allow the Chinese Communists to so time their arrival at Lake Success as to impede the council's work. He added:

"The clear duty of the council is to do everything it can as rapidly as it can to prevent the conflict in Korea from spreading."

Aldermen Meet On Traffic Issue

Board And Oil Company Representatives Talk Problem

At a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen and oil company representatives last night, recommendations were made to alleviate the congestion of truck traffic on the streets of Greenville.

No action was taken during the meeting. The recommendations were turned over to the board's ordinance committee for a report of its findings at the December meeting.

Several of the distributing companies here were represented by employes of the firms and others were represented by attorneys.

One recommendation made concerned safety precautions that can be exercised by oil trucks while using the city streets. That entails cutting the present large capacity tanks into small compartments which will hold approximately the same quantity of gasoline. This will also be reported out of committee at the December meeting.

Attorneys present at the short meeting were Albion Dunn, representing Standard Oil Company; and M. K. Blount and Hoover Taft.

Over $7,000 In Chest Donations

Donations to the Community Chest Drive pushed over the $7,000 mark today at noon when General Chairman H. L. Hodges, Jr., reported a total of $7,106.50 had been received through the third day of solicitation.

Hodges said there were signs that the drive might bog down after a fast start. Yesterday, $6,000 were turned in by drive workers. With only $1,000 reported in in the meantime, he said, this year's campaign may not reach its $10,200 quota.

However, there are still several teams of the various Committees that have not reported their donations, he said. These are to be turned in today. The money received through the house-to-house canvass and from employes of small business firms will come in today and Monday.

Hodges stated the office in the Chamber of Commerce Building will be closed tomorrow, making it necessary to hold the drive over until Monday. At that time the workers in the colored sections will report in.

The chairman urged all persons who have been contacted by a team but who have not contributed due to various reasons to do so at the Chest office either today or Monday. He said he expects to make a final report by the first of the week.

Sale Of Christmas Seals Will Start In County Shortly

The Christmas Tuberculosis Seal Sale Committee, at a meeting at the courthouse Thursday, conferred with the county chairmen and had an open forum discussion of plans for the approaching campaign. Mrs David A. Evans, chairman, presided.

Mrs. W. M. Johnson, public health nurse from the Pitt County Health Department, pointed out the good results of the annual Christmas Seal Sale campaign and the general plan to prevent tuberculosis and to assist those who have the white plague.

The bond seal sale will start next Monday, November 13. The seal sale starts in the schools on December 7 and 8.

City Endangered By Flames, Wind

Hundreds Fled San Bernardino Homes; Damage Is Light

San Bernardino, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Hundreds fled their homes in the darkness today as a fire swept by 50-mile an hour winds threatened much of the city's northern residential sector.

Firemen said it was almost out after a six hour fight.

At one point, police reported hundreds of homes burning, while pajama clad residents—many of them women and children—played garden hoses on roofs. But as dawn came, only one home on a hilltop appeared a complete loss. A half-dozen others were badly damaged and spot burns and charred paint showed on many more.

A two-mile strip several blocks wide in places, but largely brushland near the foothills, was blackened.

The fire department reported 14 men injured as a result of the flames and the high winds. Most of them suffered facial cuts and eye injuries from flying debris and cinders.

So fierce was the wind that the paint was blasted off one U. S. Forest Service truck.

VFW Poppy Day Sale Tomorrow

The Veterans of Foreign Wars will sponsor its annual Buddy Poppy Day sale tomorrow—"to honor the dead by helping the living."

The red crepe poppies have been made during the past year by disabled veterans in the hospitals throughout the country and have been in readiness for the Armistice Day sale for some weeks. Proceeds from the sale will be given to benefit the veterans who made the poppies and also to the VFW National Home for veterans' widows and orphans.

During the past year much local help and rehabilitation has been rendered to needy veteran families. Money was loaned to a college student whose family was in need. A loan was also made to a veteran who was in need of funds for transportation to another state where his child was stricken with infantile paralysis. Several needy families in Greenville have been given food, clothing and other essentials while the support of each family was limited due to incapacitated parent, illness or required absence of the veteran from his home.

The local VFW organization urges everyone to participate in wearing the red poppy tomorrow.

A spokesman of the organization stated: "It is Armistice Day, the day set aside to honor peace and to honor those veterans who made peace possible in both world wars. Since that time a constant effort has been made and is now being made in Korea to bring peace to the world. It is for those veterans who were wounded and are now disabled and because of their part in the conflict that this sale is being held."

New Consumers' Income Record For September

Washington, Nov. 10 — (AP) — Consumer income boomed to an unprecedented $228,300,000,000 a year rate in September—up $2,900,000,000 from the previous record set in August.

In reporting this yesterday, the Commerce Department said the upward surge was swelled by a flood of corporate dividends and another rise in wage and salary payments.

The annual rate of non-farm income rose $4,200,000,000 to $211,500,000,000 while farm income dropped $1,300,000,000 to a $16,800,000,000 level.

The Commerce Department said the September decline in farm income was due to "a reduction, after seasonal adjustment, in the volume of crop marketings."

Judge James Led County Ticket In Vote Tabulation

Pitt Elections Board Releases Official Figures Of Ballot Count

The official vote in Pitt county during Tuesday's general election shows County Court Judge Dink James led the county ticket by eight votes over another court official Solicitor Charles Whedbee.

James' total vote was 3,420 against Whedbee's 3,412. Clerk of Superior Court D. T. House, Jr., trailed Whedbee by one vote.

The official figures were released today through the clerk's office and were tabulated by the county Board of Elections.

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse received 3,405 votes for the fourth highest balloting of the county offices. Sheriff Ruel Tyson, who in past elections has led the ticket, received 2,508 votes due to a late arrival of ballots for the Sheriff's office in the precincts.

Other county office holders and their votes are:

State Senator Paul E. Jones, 3,296. State Representatives C. O. Worthington, 3,287; Frank M. Kilpatrick, 3,274. County Commissioners, F. P. Hendrix, 3,362, J. T. Dupree, 3,340, C. C. Harris, 3,337, Marvin W. Smith, 3,349, M. Brown Hodges, 3,347.

All the amendments passed the county voters by wide margins. Closest vote concerned amendment No. 3 which calls for a hike in pay for members of the General Assembly. The vote was 1,807 for the amendment and 797 against.

Republican strength in the county was low. Congressman Herbert Bonner received 3,276 votes over Zeno D. Ratcliff's 107. Senator Clyde R. Hoey received a larger majority than did Willis Smith. Hoey's vote was 3,290 against Halsey B. Leavitt with 142. Smith rolled 3,190 against E. L. Gavin with 512.

The vote for Solicitor William J. Bundy, who was unopposed, totaled 3,410.

Pitt voted overwhelmingly for San J. Ervin, Jr., for Supreme Court Associate Justice, the only candidate who was opposed. The voters gave Ervin 3,250 and his opponent, Robert H. McNeill, 120. Other justices of the Supreme Court and Superior Court judges received just about the same vote.

Judge Clawson L. Williams, Sanford, drew one supposed Republican vote when a write-in for Joe Louis was listed.

WOMAN IN MILITARY?

Washington, Nov. 10 — (AP) — Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg of New York has been recommended by Secretary of Defense Marshall for the highest post ever held by a woman in the military branch of the government—assistant Secretary of Defense.

Chinese Reds Rapidly Building Up Troops In Manchuria; Puzzling Lull Is Continued

Seoul, Nov. 10—(AP)—The Allies forged a steel band across North Korea's narrow waist today with the linkup of U. S. Tenth Corps forces from the east and Eighth Army elements from the west.

AP Correspondent William Jorden reported the linkup was made southeast of Tokchon, in north-central Korea. It came as Chinese communists just north of the Manchurian border continued their ominous buildup of troops—now reported at some 300,000.

Other Chinese Red forces already in Korea, estimated at about 60,000 were withdrawing into far north Korea's wooded mountain fastness under constant lashing by allied air power.

U. S. planes hit ten Russian-built tanks and Red transport southeast of the border.

American and Red jet fighters engaged in two flashing chases near the major Red crossing point—the northwest border town of Sinuiju. No losses on either side were reported.

U. S. jets destroyed eight enemy tanks and damaged two in Red territory south and southeast of Sinuiju. Twenty-five trucks and other vehicles were destroyed and seven trucks damaged.

The puzzling lull in the ground action continued into its fifth day. There was only patrol action and minor skirmishing.

Inland from the east coast, the U. S. Marines observed the 175th anniversary of the corps by rolling onto a plateau to three miles of the vital Changjin power dam. It was a gain of six miles.

There was no opposition. Abandoned packs indicated the haste of the Chinese withdrawal.

A U. S. First Corps spokesman said the day's greatest advance—likewise unopposed—was registered by the South Korean Capital Division in the far northeast—an 11-mile thrust north of Kilchu.

That's about 75 miles south of the Manchurian border. Elsewhere across the peninsula, the allied line was 45 to 50 miles south of the touchy boundary. Before the Red counter attacks last week, the allies had shoved to the border at one point and 15 miles from it an another.

Voluntary Controls No Longer Seen Effective

Phone Strikers Talk 'Jamming'

Action Would Tie Up Local And Long Distance Wires

New York, Nov. 10—(AP)—Talk of "jamming" the nation's telephone system was in the air today as a coast-to-coast strike of phone equipment workers went into its second day.

There were moves to urge strikers and their friends to "jam" local and long distance circuits by placing one useless call after another.

Federal mediators sought anew to settle the dispute which has idled many thousands of workers, including operators, and disrupted service in some areas.

In a side angle of the national walkout, 16,000 telephone employees in Michigan put their local strike on a 'hit-and-run" basis.

There was no official indication that this strategy would be adopted in the coast-to-coast walkout.

The "hit-and-run" move in Michigan was disclosed early today in Detroit by the state strike leader, Walter Schaar, president of Division 15 of the CIO Communications Workers of America (CWA).

Schaar said employes of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company would 'leave the job at unexpected moments and return when not expected" in a move to keep the management 'off balance.'

Govm't To Rely On Mandatory Orders; Sawyer Forecasts Impact Of Rearming To Be Felt Next Spring

Washington, Nov. 10 — (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, forecasting that the full impact of rearmament will hit industry 'next spring or summer," said today the government has dropped the idea of controlling production by voluntary means.

The National Production Authority (NPA), Sawyer told a news conference, will rely chiefly on mandatory orders because voluntary, industry-wide compacts 'just won't work."

The Secretary gave assurance, however, that NPA will try not to curtail civilian goods output so rapidly as to cause temporary idleness and slack business before military buying hits its stride.

Sawyer also reported:

1. The steel industry may 'substantially increase" its plant expansion program above the 9,500,000 tons already assured by the end of 1952.

2. He expects the expansion to continue at the same rate after 1952, thereby bringing steel-making capacity to about 120,000,000 tons a year by the end of 1954.

3. He is confident that looming bottlenecks in manganese, iron ore and ore boats will be overcome. All are vital to expanding steel production.

Marshall Offers Corps Greetings

Washington, Nov. 10—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall congrateulated the Marine Corps today on its 175th anniversary.

He said in a statement the morale, efficiency and successes of the Marines fighting in Korea are "in full accord with the traditions of the corps."

The corps arranged to observe the day with a wreath laying ceremony at the tomb of the unknown soldier in Arlington cemetery.

Covey Lamm Executed Today In Gas Chamber

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 10—(AP)—A Wilson fish dealer who shot his invalid wife and then kissed her as she lay dead in the kitchen of their home was executed today.

Covey Connor Lamm, 48, was pronounced dead after he had breathed deadly cyanid gas fumes for nine minutes in the gas chamber at Central Prison.

Lamm, short and stocky, went to his death calmly. He shook hands with a guard as he entered the death chamber and talked with attendants as they strapped him into the big oak chair.

A few hours before his death Lamm had received a telegram from his son, Covey Medford Lamm of Los Angeles, Calif. It read: "Dear Daddy, sorry I couldn't get there. My heart and soul is with you."

Lamm and his wife had been married nearly 28 years when the slaying occurred. He told officers after the shooting he had his reasons for his act but would not reveal them.

Mrs. Lamm was shot to death at the couple's home in Wilson last February, and Lamm was convicted of the crime in Wilson Superior Court in May.

Five Trapped In Elevator Blaze Are Rescued

Chicago, Nov. 10 —(AP)— Five persons, including a baby and two elderly women, were rescued from a flaming stalled elevator as fire swept through a South Side apartment hotel today.

Two firemen, hearing cries for help from the three women and a man in the flaming shaft, crept under flames which enveloped the hotel lobby to the elevator. With axes, they smashed the fire glass outer door and tore off the hot inner grill to release the five from the fiery trap.

All five suffered burns on the face and arms. They were taken to the Illinois Central Hospital.

After rescuing the five persons, the two firemen—Ken Solski and Norman Drisch—found the Bowens' four month old cocker spaniel dead in the burning elevator.

American, Briton Win Nobel Literary Prizes

Stockholm, Sweden, Nov. 10—(AP)—American Novelist William Faulkner and British Philosopher Bertrand Russell were awarded Nobel literary prizes today for 1949 and 1950.

The Swedish Academy elected Faulkner, of Oxford, Miss., as winner of the 1949 prize—withheld last fall. This year's prize was given to 78-year-old Russell, internationally famed philosopher, mathematician and moralist.

The winners were selected from among more than 50 candidates. They will receive the awards from the new Swedish King, Gustaf VI, when the Nobel foundation celebrates its 50th anniversary December 10.

This year's prize money totals 164,303 krona ($31,715), while the sum frozen last year totalled 156,229 krona ($30,007).

This was the first time two full literary prizes had been awarded simultaneously.

Faulkner is the fourth American to win the Nobel prize for literature. Others have gone to Novelists Sinclair Lewis and Pearl S. Buck, and playwright Eugene O'Neill. Poet T. S. Eliot, American-born but now a British citizen, also received the prize.

With the selection of Russell, the awarding body abondoned the purely literary line for the first time in 23 years. In 1927 the French philosopher, Henri Bergson, received the award. In 1908 the choice was German Philosopher Rudolf Eucken—criticized as one of the academy's weakest decisions.

Ideal Weather

Unusually mild weather prevailing in this section of Eastern Carolina is in striking contrast to the wintry weather now prevailing in the north and west. Snow, sleet and rain is prevailing over many parts of the country.

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 80 degrees—a summer time level—and the lowest last night was 52, and at 8 a.m. today, it was 57, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported. Similar mild weather prevailed here the same day last year.

Is A Crisis Easing?

At Least There's Room For Hope In That Chinese Communists Are Going To Talk Over Korea And Formosa With United Nations; Background To Deal

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

There is a gleam of hope for easement of the Korean strife in the disclosure that nine Chinese Communists are coming to Lake Success to discuss the Korean and Formosan issues with the United Nations.

This is the outgrowth of an invitation from the security council to the Red Regime in Peiping to confer regarding the communist charge that the United States had invaded Formosa. A natural corollary is the projected discussion of the much more dangerous Korean question.

As things stand, Korea is a potential breeding ground for another world war. With Chinese red troops estimated by General Macarthur's headquarters at 60,000—already intervening in North Korea, and United Nations forces surging closer to the Korean-Manchurian front, the situation has become highly explosive.

One somewhat encouraging aspect of this situation is that the Chinese government has persisted in calling these Chinese troops 'volunteers." This is taken to mean that the Peiping regime hasn't wanted to become officially identified with this dangerous interventio. .

If the Korean war dragged out for years, that would put a heavy economic and military strain on the United States and other U.N. nations involved.

However, there has been no indication that Russia intends to push China far enough to precipitate a major conflict. Russia doesn't want another world war—at least not now. And China certainly hasn't any desire to get involved deeply with the western powers.

That is the background of the forthcoming conference of the Chinese communists with the United Nations. Coincident with this we get from an American staff officer at Eighth Army Headquarters in Korea the intriguing statement that Chinese communist forces may be avoiding battle with U.N. troops pending high level diplomatic moves which would affect the course of the war.

"It is a very puzzling situation," said this officer. "The war is now

Re-Shuffling To Come

There Are Big Changes In Congressional Make-up Every Time One Of The Key Figures Is Knocked Off; Seniority; The Freshman; New Chairmen

By JAMES MARLOW

For example, take Senator Millard E. Tydings, Maryland Democrat. He had been in the Senate 24 years. He'll be missing from the next Congress.

He was defeated in Tuesday's elections by a Republican, John Marshall Butler, a political novice.

Tydings, because he was chairman of the Senate's Armed Services Committee and a member of its foreign relations committee, was one of the most powerful men in the Senate.

He got his spot on both by seniority, meaning his ability to stick around a long time.

That seniority business cuts great ice in both House and Senate. A newcomer gets appointed to a committee but has to start at the foot of the ladder.

And, if he stays around long enough, he eventually gets to be chairman—provided all those who started ahead of him are dead, retired or defeated.

And he becomes chairman only when his party has a majority of the seats in House or Senate. If not, he has to wait till it does.

And even getting membership on a desirable committee, at the foot of the ladder, goes by seniority.

A freshman senator may set his sights on a particular committee but if there's only one spot open and someone with seniority wants it, the freshman has to be content with the foot of the ladder on some other committee.

Now that Tydings is done, the chairmanship will go to the next in line, Senator Richard B. Russell, Georgia Democrat, if he wants it, since the Democrats still have a majority in the Senate.

Because of his years of service, and all the background that goes with it, the chairman of a committee has an invaluable knowledge of the field covered by his committee, whether it's foreign affairs, defense or something else.

Whether defeat of a chairman can be considered a loss to the country is, of course, a matter of argument, since some can say a

The regular monthly supper meeting of the men of the church was held tonight in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church. The ladies of circle number six of the church served a bountiful turkey dinner with all the trimmings. President C. K. Beatty presided over the meeting.

A short devotional was conducted by E. Withers Harvey. John O. Reynolds, program chairman, presented Hunter Keck who led the men in an old fashion hymn songfest. Special music was presented by vocal soloist Al Livesay, president of the student body at East Carolina, accompanied by Carl Anderson, music major at the college who also directs the choir of the First Presbyterian Church. Mr. Livesay sang "The Twenty Third Psalm" and "Smiling Through." Bancroft Moseley and Hunter Keck sang a duet while the men hummed accompaniment.

Leonard Topping, pastor of the church, announced the meeting in Greenville on November 16 of the men of Albemarle Presbytery. President Beatty paid tribute to two outstanding members of the church who have passed on during the summer, Roy Coburn and E. W. Harvey Sr. President Beatty appointed Paul E. Powell to serve as secretary-treasurer to succeed Roy Coburn.

Guests included Cliff Rhodes, Dr. Hassel and Frank Wooten.

Program On Visual Aids Presented At Third Street PTA

The Third Street School P. T. A. held its November meeting in the school auditorium with Mrs. W. L. Whedbee, president, presiding.

The devotional was presented by the fifth grade. The students centered their devotional around the theme of Thanks giving and used a song, a story and scripture reading in their presentation.

Miss Lillian Sugg of the West Greenville school faculty, spoke on "Audio-Visual Education." She told how direct experiences, demonstrations, imaginary experiences, field trips, radio, motion pictures, books and dramatic participation all work together to enable the child to learn.

Miss Janet Allen of the West Greenville fifth grade told how her classes had made a study of tobacco. She explained how the class had used all the means of study referred to by Miss Sugg in the effective learning process.

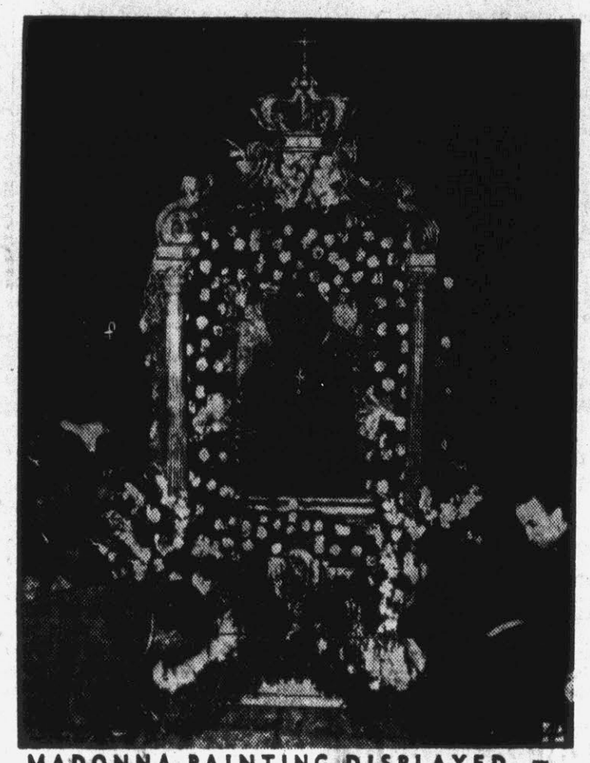

The fifth grade was presented the attendance prize at the conclusion of the meeting for having the most parents present.

Coffee Hour Honors Mr. and Mrs. Powell

Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Powell, Jr., were honored at an informal coffee hour by Misses Sammye Langley and Rosa Exum, at the home of Miss Exum. The home was lovely throughout with arrangements of pink and white cushion mums. The guests were met by the hostesses and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Powell, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Brown Hodges. They were directed to the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson. Mrs. Henry L. Andrews poured coffee, and was assisted in serving ham biscuits, cheese straws, lady fingers and stuffed olives by Miss Ella Sockwell and Mrs. Louella Stancill. Guests sat in groups all over the house enjoying the informality of the hour. Goodbyes were said by Miss Bruce Exum.

Over 1,000 Dance To Krupa Music Here Last Night

More than 1,000 persons crowded the McGowan's warehouse last night to hear Gene Krupa and his band, which played for a warehouse dance sponsored by the Greenville Lion's Club.

The ace drummer kept his audience entertained by mixing a variety of hot music with the sweet dancing numbers during the four hours of the dance.

Lion Club officials stated this morning that the exact number of persons who attended the dance will not be known until later final tabulation of dance tickets sold. The local club officers also stated that the club plans to make the event an annual one with a leading dance band being brought to Greenville each year.

Lighthouse Keeper's Wife Pays Small Fee And Gets Greyhound

Enoch Elisha Jones, humane officer for the city of Greenville and keeper of the city dog pound, has sold his pet greyhound.

Mrs. Willard Willis, 1314 South Washington Street, Greenville, bought the year-and-a-half old pedigreed dog and promised it a good home. Jones said Mrs. Willis' husband is a lighthouse keeper in Chesapeake Bay.

The owner of the greyhound gave it to the dog catcher recently and asked that it be given to someone who would take care of it. Mrs. Willis paid the $2.50 pound fee for the dog's keep and $1 for a license tag.

A city ordinance requires all dogs in the city to be registered with the police department.

Reviews Significance Of American Education Week

By FLETCHER MURRAY
(Greenville High School)

As a student in one of our institutions of learning, what does American Education Week mean to me? To me it presents several questions. Am I taking full advantages of the opportunities offered? Am I doing my best to become a leader as well as a follower? Am I doing my share of the work and giving my cooperation?

Because of the present world conflict, these last two years in high school may be all the education I have for quite a long while. One of the keystones of the American educational system is the variation of subject matter. I should make full use of this advantage and equip myself with a valuable weapon, an educated mind. For these last two years I should work harder and plan my work so as to get the largest amount of knowledge possible. Another advantage that I should profit by is the large number of people in school with whom I can make friends. The ability to make friends is an easy one to acquire and in the present world chaos no one can be more helpful than a friend. Who would there be to fight if everyone were friends? I should also profit by the large extra-curriculum program offered by our high school. On the field of athletics I learn sportsmanship, the competitive spirit and the ability to think quickly in emergencies, as well as develop my body physically. In my band class I learn to understand and enjoy good music. This also gives me something to do when I grow older.

American Education Week also brings to my mind the fact that everything in school is not mere book learning. High school is one of the best places possible to develop good learners. Just as important, it also develops followers, fod good followers are necessary if leaders are to accomplish anything worthwhile. While I become a leader of people, or follower of other people, I must also learn to act on my own. This habit may be of great value to me and to others in critical times. As a Student Council Representative I represent people. Working with this organization should teach me to state myself in precise and exact terms and to vote in the best interest of the group.

My membership in these clubs and organizations should teach me to work without complaining. I learn to co-operate and sacrifice my personal wishes to have harmony and agreement.

Truly American Education Week means much to me. It should to every student enrolled in an American high school. We should be wide awake at all times, never letting an advantage slip through our hands. Only in this manner can we accept the responsibility of preparing ourselves as citizens of the uncertain world of tomorrow.

Institute Proved To Be A Success

On Sunday night, October 29, the Christian Youth Institute, sponsored by the Walstonburg Youth Center and led by the Reverend John T. Greene, was brought to a most successful close. The last session climaxed the series of meetings that had been in progress each Sunday night since October 8. Several of the more than 100 young people who had been attending each Sunday night were reluctant to admit that this was the last meeting and stayed to question Mr. Greene long after the group had been formally dismissed.

The program each night consisted of a period of worship followed by a movie, and an open discussion led by Mr. Greene concerning dating customs of the present day. Using a wheel with five spokes as the basis for his discussion, Mr. Greene pointed out how a person's physical, mental, emotional, social and spiritual development makes for a well-rounded life. He traced the growth in these five areas from birth to adulthood, and showed how immaturity in any of these areas might lead to later marital problems.

Interest and attendance not only from the Walstonburg community, but from Bell Arthur, Farmville and the Wesley and Tabernacle communities as well showed that such an institute has partially filled a real need in the lives of young people in this section.

Local Insurance Group Attends Agency Meeting

The Southland Life Insurance Company, whose home office is in Dallas, was host to the agency organization of Southland's Continental Life Division at a "get acquainted meeting" held at Old Point Comfort, Virginia, November 3 and 4. Continental Life Divsion's agency office staff, district managers, superintendents and the entire field personnel from the division's 33 district offices located in Maryland, Virgina, North Carolina and the District of Columbia were guests. Approximately 480 attended.

Attending the meeting from Greenville were: J. Lundy Baker, J. T. Baldree, Osborn R. Scott, R. W. Morris, R. C. Glover and G. V. Stalker

Southland's Continental Life Division was formerly the Continental Life Insurance Company, Inc., Washington, D.C. Its recent purchase by and merger with Southland placed Southland among the top 50 life companies in the U. S.

Melbourne Fire Fighters Strike

Sydney—(AP)—Melbourne, Australia's second city, had only a skeleton crew fire-fighting for 15 days of October, but did not have a serious fire. The 520 firemen of the city of 1,200,000 people were on strike. Only 76 fire brigade officers were on duty.

The strike was over a new press button alarm system which called for a button in fire brigade stations to be pressed at intervals. The firemen went back to work after an arbiter was appointed to determine the rights and wrongs of the "press button" dispute.

Mr. And Mrs. Reel Observe Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Albert Reel, of Grifton, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at their home Sunday, November 5, with a family dinner, followed by open house in the afternoon.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Helen L. Jones, of Ayden, and presented to the members of the receiving line, which was composed of the bridal couple and their children, also one of their grandchildren—Mrs. Mark Haddock, of Norfolk, who made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Reel after her parents death. Miss Merle Reade Moore, of Grifton, poured punch and was assisted in serving cake, mints and nuts by Mesdames Laurie Reel, Clem Reel, George Reel, Jim Reel, Dempsey Hinson, and L. V. Reel, both of Fair Bluff. Mrs. Fred Hammond, of Fair Bluff, presided over the register, and goodbyes were said to Mrs. Hyman Causey, of Grifton. Approximately two hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Mrs. Reel is the former Miss Fannie Jarrell of the Grifton community. The couple have nine children: Mrs. Woodrow Boyd, of Grifton, Mrs. Roman Buck of Vanceboro, Mrs. D. C. Moore, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Estelle Reel of New York, George Reel of Grifton, Clem Reel of Ayden, John Reel of Vanceboro, Laurie Reel of Grimesland, Jim Reel of Cer Gordo; 33 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Official Grading Of Meat Talked

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 10—(AP)—Meat slaughtered in North Carolina may soon be subject to official state grading.

Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine announced yesterday he has called for a public hearing on the matter for Nov. 21.

"The proposal to be considered" at the hearing here, Ballentine asserted, "contemplates a grading system subject to voluntary adoption by slaughterers and packers. It would not be mandatory upon all those slaughtering meat."

Ballentine said purpose "is to place North Carolina beef and other meat on a competitive basis with graded meat from other states."

Elks Lodge Holds Memorial Service For Cecil C. Jones

Greenville Lodge No. 1645, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at a meeting last night, paid tribute to the memory of a departed brother, Cecil C. Jones, who died Tuesday and whose funeral was held yesterday. Exalted Ruler Jesse R. Moye II presided.

E. F. House, appointed by the lodge to deliver the eulogy in the memorial service, said he had known Cecil Jones as a boy and as a man and had always found him to be a good citizen. A brief period of silence prevailed in memory of a departed brother.

Other business transacted included reports about the Civilian Air Patrol detachment here and the authorizing of a committee to follow out the suggestion of the State Youth Committee of the N.C. State Elks Association to take an active part in promoting and sponsoring midget basketball teams.

Teachers Slated To Get Pay Hike By December 11

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 10—(AP)—Come Dec. 11 and more than 25,000 Tar Heel school teachers should be plucking pay checks totaling $7,239,000 out of their mail.

Controller C. D. Douglas of the State Board of Education announced yesterday that is the date for payment of the contingent teacher pay raise promised by the 1949 General Assembly.

Douglas said he was notified by the Budget Bureau that the $7,239,000 needed to make the payments is available.

Detailed instructions have been mailed from Douglas' office to 172 county and city school superintendents on how to make the payments.

Checks will be drawn by the local units, and copies of the vouchers will be sent to the State Board of Education for double checking.

Douglas said he hoped to have everything completed in time to let teachers receive their checks on Dec. 11.

Payments will go to teachers holding "A", "B" and graduate certificates as supplements to their salaries for the last fiscal year.

The supplemental pay was promised by the 1949 State Legislature contingent upon one important condition. That was that general fund revenues must be sufficient to pay for the increase. Several weeks ago the Advisory Budget Commission announced revenues were sufficient.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

PROVIDENCE

Twenty-five years ago a man wrote a popular song which achieved a very limited popularity. In fact it could hardly have been called popular at all. It had a brief day and then seemed to fade from the picture.

Recently someone came across this song and used it as a theme song on a radio program. Immediately it caught the attention and aroused the enthusiasm of listeners. Twenty-five years after it had been composed and published, it achieved fame, and its composer was overwhelmed with the success he had long since considered impossible. He had written that composition off as a dead loss. Suddenly it became a source of financial gain to him and the starting point, probably, of more and better composition.

How little do we control the circumstances of our own lives! How completely are we at the mercy of forces and circumstances over which we can exercise no control whatsoever! People have protested against the religious doctrine of predestination as cruel and unjust, yet there is a determinism in life's events which we accept every day, which we can in no wise account for; and it molds us into about whatever forms it pleases. It is only when above these powers we write a greater word, namely, Providence, that we begin to see the true meaning of life's events.

"Almost Stopping" Is No Longer Good Enough

Street corner stop signs have for a long time been among the most disregarded safety warnings in existence. In Greenville at the present time, however, many drivers are beginning to feel the importance of the signs . . . thanks to the police department.

The Greenville police department under the direction of Chief Guy C. Langston has taken a step which will protect all the citizens of Greenville. They are enforcing the stop signs like they have not been enforced before. There are a number of motorists who are "feeling the pinch" of the police department action.

But for the most part the motorists are not kicking about being warned or pinched by the police for disregarding a stop sign. The motorist realizes he has been getting away with "almost stopping" at the corners for many years.

The Reflector believes the police department is doing a good job in bringing the stop signs to their proper place of importance through strict enforcement of the ordinances which require full stops at particular corners throughout the city. The cooperation of the people of Greenville will make the police enforcement job easier, and it will make Greenville a safer place for the people who live here.

A Lame Duck And A New Look

The complexion of the 82nd Congress is now apparent with most of the races in Tuesday's general election already decided. It looks during the coming year like Truman will have to cope with Congress rather than Congress coping with Truman as has been the case during the past two years.

The 49-47 majority which the Democrats hold in the senate leaves a slim margin for the administration when it is considered that a lot of conservative Democratic senators are not in sympathy with Truman's foreign and domestic policies. As a matter of fact the coalition of the generally anti-administration forces will have control of the senate as long as the forces can maintain the coalition.

In the house the situation is practically the same, although the Democrats maintained a majority even though the majority is smaller than in the 81st Congress.

The conditions will necessitate a modification of the administration's foreign and domestic policies if the President expects any of his program hitherto proposed (but not yet enacted into law) to be accepted by the 82nd Congress. It is apparent that much of the administration program which did not receive the approval of the 81st Congress will be ditched entirely by the 82nd.

The big question now is what the administration will attempt to press through Congress when the lame duck session of the 81st Congress convenes later this month. This work could be constructive to the future of the party and the nation, or on the contructive to the future of the party and the nation, or on the other hand it could become a last ditch attempt to force into enactment portions of the administration program which heretofore were unacceptable to the legislators.

The Democratic leaders who wielded the power in the 81st Congress should take precautions not to be pushed by the administration into hasty actions which would in the future cause a weakening of the party's national position. Those legislators who have in the past received the support of Truman, and now have been ousted by the voters, may be inclined to give all the support they possibly can to the administration in these their dying days in Congress.

Those Democrats who are in the lame duck session of Congress should beware of actions which will jeopardize the national security both domestically and internationally, and actions which will leave the party vulnerable after the congressional picture changes on January first.

In the past, Congress has had to deal with Truman. In the 82nd Congress the shoe will be on the other foot. The lame duck session could enhance the national position of the Democratic party or it could cause the Democratic party stock to sink even lower than it has been pushed by the election returns.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10—The Franco-American argument over the eventual location of our anti-Russian defense frontier in Western Europe appears to be nothing more than diplomatic shadow-boxing, in view of the furious construction of land and air fortifications along the Rhine River by the French, the Belgians and the Dutch. They are erecting a bulwark there far superior to the ill-fated Maginot Line.

In the recent Acheson-Marshall-Moch-Pleven arguments over inclusion of German units in an allied army, the basic but unpublicized question was whether we should try to hold invading Red forces at the Elbe River, deep in Germany, or at the Rhine. The Americans and British held out for the Elbe, and insisted that German troops be mobilized into units as large as divisions.

FRONTIER—To fix the frontier at the Rhine, and to accord the Germans only a mercenary role in the international force, as the French demand, would be to throw the Germans into the arms of the Russians, including their scientists and industrialists as well as their soldiers, according to Secretary Acheson. He had the full support of the British, who shudder at the thought of atomic air attacks by Russians perched as far eastward as the Rhine River.

Although French Defense Minister Moch skirted the direct issue of the Rhine versus the Elbe, Paris insists that the Elbe is militarily indefensible. They point out that the surrounding terrain does not provide the natural defenses present in the historic Rhine Valley. They were deaf to arguments that rearmed and trained Germans would strengthen Stalin enormously, both in peace and war time.

LINE—Meanwhile, apparently killing the Acheson-Marshall hope that the problem of German rearming can be solved satisfactorily, the French and their Low Country allies are fortifying the Rhine from the North Sea to the Swiss Alps. Although they may not be using American dollars directly—Marshall Plan or rearmament money—it is obvious that they would not be able to devote their own resources to this task if it were not for United States aid.

The French are not repeating the blunders they made in building the Maginot Line, where they burrowed so deep in the ground that they had merely an inflexible and immobile defense that was quickly overrun by Hitler's panzers and aerial armadas. They are mounting heavy artillery on high cliffs, and laying out air stripe to the rear. They are preparing devices to set the Rhine aflame, in the event of a Russian attempt to cross it. The few observers who have seen these defenses report them to be a Central European Gibraltar.

REVERSE—The practical and logical French apparently figure that they can outwit both the Americans and the British by this maneuver. Once the Rhine fortifications become an accomplished fact, it is their belief that the argument in favor of an Elbe frontier will disappear. They do not seem to worry that abandonment of 45,000,000 Germans to the enemy will be a major diplomatic and military reverse.

Our prospective difficulties in China, even though that situation does not explode into a general, world war, convince the Pleven-Moch government that the western powers must settle on a Rhine defense.

Should American and British forces have to be committed in large numbers in the Far East, which seems to be Stalin's strategy in persuading Chinese Communists to fight us, it might be difficult to raise a force large enough to cover territory as far across Germany as the Elbe.

PROMISES—The 1953 Western European Army tentatively fixed by the recent conference of defense ministers was to have forty to fifty divisions, although that figure seems a rather large objective. If the U.S. furnishes ten divisions, Britain five and other European allies five, Paris agrees to match that total.

That would make only forty divisions, and it is still questionable whether the French could keep their military promises. With ten German units, it would make fifty, as against 170 Russian divisons now mobilized.

DOUBTFUL—But if Stalin and Mao Tse-tung succeed in pinning us down in the Orient, from North Korea to India, it is doubtful whether any of the western powers will be able to meet these quotas. In that event, as Paris hopes and expects, Washington and London will be forced to locate their anti-Russian watch on the historic Rhine, leaving Germany unprotected and susceptible to Red conversion.

For obvious reasons, the question of the French-Belgian-Dutch fortifications, as well as the Rhine versus Elbe disagreement, have been shrouded in the utmost secrecy in the three capitals. But its solution could determine the fate of the western world, especially Germany, France, Britain and their adjacent neighbor powers.

KNOWN—The amazing aspect of the military construction along the Rhine River stretch is that it has not been reported by the extremely capable corps of American newspaper correspondents stationed at Paris, Frankfurt, Berlin and other news centers. The only explanation is that (1) more immediate developments in the "cold war" have kept them occupied, or (2) that the government involved do not permit even casual inspection.

But the development is known to diplomats, possibly including the "hostess with the mostest on the ball"—Perle Mesta at Luxembourg—and to many of our military observers. It is almost time that Secretaries Achesen and Marshall show an interest in this attempt to outflank them on the diplomatic and military front.

PORT ST. JOE, FLA., STAR: "This country is now committed to a policy of active resistance to Communist aggression. It is a policy whose cost no one can as yet estimate. In the light of this, how can further waste and unnecessary domestic spending be countenanced? In a world struggle for survival, there is no room for the welfare state. . . ."

CLEAR LAKE, CALIF., OBSERVER: "Can you afford to take a pay cut so that the people in the Tennessee Valley can buy power from the government at a fraction of its actual cost?"

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Before telling you today's story: Remember that tomorrow is Buddy Poppy Day, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary. Buy a poppy tomorrow to remember those who can't forget—the disabled veterans.

This is television report number five. Each time I see television my contention that TV in Greenville isn't worth the money grows weaker. If all TV could be as clear as it was last night, an investment in TV would be wise.

J. B. Kittrell Jr. and his wife Betty are in New York City, and last night they saw the Kay Kyser television show as it was telecast from the ABC studio. Here in Greenville, J. B. Sr., Mrs. Kittrell, Lib Kittrell, Mrs. Carlton Joyner and I saw the show, almost as clearly as J. B. Jr saw it in New York. The set we watched belongs to J. B. Sr. but was hooked up at Carlton Joyner's house because Mr. Kittrell has been unable to get an aerial.

Because Kay Kyser is from Rocky Mount, most North Carolinians have followed his radio and screen career closely. Kay's home town even named a bridge after him.

For a man who started as an orchestra leader, (he studied law, too) Kay has gone a long way. For eleven years he was one of the top attractions on radio—and few stars have outlasted that record. Television came along just in time to keep Kay in the limelight and his one-hour show for Ford Motor Company is enjoyable. During the hour Kay was visited by the King of the Trumpet, Louis Armstrong; the Queen of Television, Faye Emerson, ex-movie star (divorced from one of the Roosevelt sons); Bert Parks, radio star of ABC's famous "Stop the Music" program; and Guy Lombardo, the famous orchestra leader and champion speedboat racer.

Kay's program is still called the "Kollege of Music Knowledge," but the only few items resemble his old program: his trade mark, the cap and gown; his old faithful comic, Isn Kabibble (Marvin A. Bogue); and three contestants. The question-and-answer session lasted only a few minutes. Sandwiched in between the appearance of the celebrities were songs by unknown-but-good vocalists, a performance by three good acrobatics, and a cheer now and then for dear old Kyser Kollege.

Kay's greatest asset is his ability to get laughs in the question-and-answer game. He's a great favorite, particularly in North Carolina, and it's good to see him back in the groove.

After Kay was enjoyed an excellent whodunit, "Martin Kane, Private Eye." TV was great in Greenville last night. The day when it'll be great here every night is not too far off.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau — By LYNN NISBET — Raleigh, N. C.

NO BILLS—J. Elmer Long, legislative counsel for Governor Scott in the 1949 general assembly, and slated to perform the same duties next time, says he has no bills prepared, and doesn't contemplate he will have many. Close liaison between the governor and the general assembly is important for smooth running of state government, but Mr. Long said it is his idea to let the legislative branch do its own job of proposing and enacting laws. As director of the budget the governor has responsibility to help prepare tax and appropriation recommendations, and under the constitution he is required to "give the general assembly information on the affairs of state, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient." Governor Scott has several times told newsmen at press conferences that he contemplates very few new suggestions for the next legislature.

PROGRAM—At the same time, he has made it clear he expects to continue efforts to have his entire original 'Go Forward Program" effectuated through appropriate laws. That position occasions considerable speculation among capitol square observers as to how much pressure the governor will exert for a statewide vote on liquor. He proposed such referendum during his campaign and in at least two addresses to the general assembly last time, but he did not follow through with much pressure.

BUDGET—Governor Scott has given close attention to the preparation of the budget report. He sat in at the public hearings of departments, institutions and agencies, and he has been closeted in executive session with the advisory budget commission for many hours since the public hearings were concluded. Complete secrecy covers these budget sessions, but enough information has leaked out to let watchful newspaper men know there is substantial difference of opinion about new taxes and increasing expenditures on part of the state.

REVENUE—Improved business conditions and inflation incident to the Korean war and other defense needs have boosted current revenue beyond expectations. Even the most optimistic prophets cannot see enough revenue in sight to meet growing demands, without additional taxes—either through new levies, removal of present exemptions, or tightening up of collections. Any talk of a statewide referendum on liquor always runs smack into the necessity of replacing some twenty-five million dollars of state and local government revenue now derived from the beverage tax.

PERSONNEL—Opinion prevails among state officials and employees that the next legislature will have to make some important changes in the personnel department set-up. Idea back of the separate department was that control over personnel should be separated from the budget bureau. Theoretically, the act establishing the department nearly two years accomplished that separation. In practice, it has not worked out that way. The personnel department is not much more than auxiliary of the budget bureau. There is considerable feeling that it ought to be strengthened, given more autonomy and fuller authority over matters pertaining to state employees; or it ought to be legally integrated into the budget bureau by statute as well as by practice.

PARALLEL — The situation is similar to that which developed in connection with the tax research department several years ago. At request of Governor Broughton the general assembly divorced the tax research work from the revenue department and set up an independent agency with departmental rank. The revenue department, however, did not ever quite relinquish its controlling influence over tax research, and the last legislaure put the agency back as a division in the department of revenue.

CLASSIFICATION— The personnel department at considerable cost to the state has made substantial progress in the classification of all state workers, determining qualifications and salary scales for employees all along the line, from apprentice clerks to top appointive executives. Results of these studies have proven highly valuable and for most part have been satisfactory to the men and women who draw regular pay checks from the state. Fact remains that the budget bureau sits in superior judgment on personnel findings and exercises final control by the simple device of saying whether or not the money will be made available for the salaries established by the personnel department.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

A NORTH CAROLINA SHIFT

(Greensboro Daily News)

What the Daily News confesses to be its biggest election surprise here in North Carolina is the manner in which all five proposed changes in the state's constitution were given public approval at the polls.

That simply is not the way Tar Heels have reacted in years past. There has been a general disinclination to change the organic law. North Carolina simply preferred for its constitution to stay put, attribute it to indifference, apathy, conservatism, failure to understand whatever amendments were offered or any other attributes or reasons which you may have in mind. In broad perspective the attitude probably was, well, since we don't know about this or that change, maybe the best thing to do is vote "No." And "no" has been the generally prevailing reaction throughout the years.

How striking and sudden was the shift this time is shown by the fact that one of the changes voted Tuesday, that having to do with increased legislative pay, was thumpingly rejected only two years ago. And the amendments offered in the current election were certainly as complicated, as cumbersome and as difficult to understand in their practical application as were most of the others which the electorate has in time turned down. Whether North Carolina attitudes are really changing, with Tar Heels more inclined to take on the new, and to what factors, sociological, political or psychological, these changed attitudes may be attributed, we leave to those more qualified to analyze and to comment.

It can be said on the practical side that there was no vocative or organized opposition to any of the amendments, that there was some organized effort, especially among the bar and teachers, for their adoption and that newspaper support was, so far as we have noted, unanimous.

By way of addendum to this expression on the amendments vote as such, we would observe that the State has a right to expect its legislators to stay on the job in accord with their increased pay and t demand that those who have taken the lead in projecting the amendments having to do with the courts follow through with the improvements in the administration of justice, especially its expedition, which they have declared these changes will enable. If Tuesday's constitutional votes show anything, they show, in the approval given these judicial changes, that voting Tar Heels are no longer apathetic about their courts.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

When Congress reconvenes, somewhat chastened by the election, it will find itself under a peppering barrage of telegrams, letters and resolutions from business men and folks back home. Most of the words will concern controls, present and prospective.

Some of the most vociferous protests will concern the restrictions on housing. Builders' associations, mortgage and loan associations and materials suppliers, with sharp assists from veterans' organizations, will demand that Congress act to soften the restrictions on home building. They'll charge the limitations were too sudden, too sharp and unrealistic. The National Association of Home Builders is already fostering the idea that low down payments, instead of being inflationary, are really deflationary since they create a form of systemetized savings. A number of veteran groups have resolved that the restrictions are unfair.

At the same time, retailers will protest the curbs on consumer credit. They are already making much of the point that the Federal Reserve Board failed to consult with retail groups before controls were recently tightened, although the law appears to require it. What worries them most is not the present curbs, but with precedents it has established, the Federal Reserve may feel free to crack down again and again without warning.

On the other hand, there will be another drum fire of demands for even more controls. Congressional mail has already started to balloon with demands from housewives for price controls on food and 'cost of living" articles, and other groups are setting forth their own ideas on where controls should be applied. Most people, it seems, want price controls on the things they buy, but not on the things they sell. Labor, generally, would like to see consumer prices controlled but is shocked at the idea of controls on wages. Some employers want ceilings on wages but are in no rush for limits on the prices they charge.

Then there will be the conflict over taxes, with those liable to be be hit by an excess profit tax proposing all manner of substitute formulas, and those liable to be bitten by an increase in personal income taxes stoutly and loudly calling for higher levies on corporations.

All this lobbying and pressuring will have less effect on Congress than it would have had a short time ago. The international situation is more critical and decisive action will be called for. And the Representatives do not have to face their electorates for another two years, only a third of the Senators in that time.

STEEL CHEAP?
OATS ARE CHEAPER!

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U.S. Steel, jolted a lot of people when he remarked recently that steel was cheaper than dirt. He said the corporation has received less than an average of 5 cents a pound for steel this year, while dirt for potting plants costs 7 cents a pound in New York seed stores.

F. W. Pearson, a North Dakota farmer, was moved to write the Wall St. Journal that, by the same reasoning, foodstuffs are cheaper than both steel and dirt, because wheat is bringing the farmer 3.3 cents a pound, corn 2.44 cents, and oats 2 cents. On the face of it, it would appear that both Mr. Pearson and Mr. Fairless ought to go to New York and get in the dirt business.

Mr. Fairless, of course, was only kidding. The dirt price he referred to was at retail, the steel at wholesale. Just try to buy a tool or anything else made of Mr. Fairless's steel at retail at 5 or 7 cents a pound!

HOTELS READYING FOR MORE BUSINESS

Hotels are expecting a return to their busy days of World War II, judging by the interests at the 35th National Hotel Exposition in New York this week.

A record attendance of more than 100,000 is expected by the close tonight. Exhibitors reported high interest and, in many cases, heavy orders. Most buying was for kitchen equipment and hotel devices made of metal, which many hotel managers believe will be hard to get next year.

HOW TO DEAL WITH RETAIL UNIONS

Greater unionization of retail employees adds interest to the publication today of "Stores and Unions," by George C. Kirstein, labor relations expert. (It is published by Fairchild Publications, New York, at $7.) Mr. Kirstein cites numerous case histories to illustrate the problems merchants face when unions come in.

NEW AND HOT

PLANS: Floor plans for homes, offices, stores or factories can be quickly made and reproduced with materials in a new kit. Walls can be drawn to scale, without ruler, on a cross-ruled transparent sheet of Vinylite. Plastic representations of desks, furniture, etc., may be arranged on the sheet, where they are held by magnets. Sensitized paper may then be placed under the sheet and, with lamp and chemicals in the kit, a black and white reproduction obtained without a dark room. (It's by Gross Engineering Co., Three Rivers, Mich.)

LIGHT: For attaching to telephones, there's a tiny night light that spotlights the dial when the receiver is lifted. (By Nite-telite, Inc., 514 Second St., S.W., Canton, Ohio.

TASTY: A new tooth paste for children comes in strawberry and bubble gum flavors. It is being premiered in the New York market (by Tasty Tooth Paste Corp., Mt. Vernon, N.Y.)

LUBRICANT: Because dry cleaning usually takes the factory-applied lubricant out of zippers, causing them to stick, a greaseless and stainless lubricant is being marketed in lip-stick shape (by David Traum Co., 11 E. 26th St., New York 10).

Hal Boyle's Column

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
(For Hal Boyle)

There was a time when I chose my nail polish by a very simple method. I merely decided what color polish blended with my lipstick and which make did an adequate job of covering up the ravages of the garden on my fingernails.

At the moment, my favorite nail polish manufacturer is throwing the gauntlet down to the women of the nation—daring them to buy his polish. It seems that this polish now comes in a certain color which is extremely heady and stimulating — and heaven knows what will befall a working girl if her finger-tips flaunt this shade.

The last time I was challenged to buy something daring it was a perfume. The implications were that if you daubed yourself with this fragrance, you were heading directly into delicious danger. That was a little more costly a dare to take up, but I did it. Now for considerably less money, I can hope for a gay fling just by touching up my nails.

At the same time I am fascinated by one of the home permanent wave companies, which is currently engaged in making all the naturally-curly-haired-women of the country green with jealousy. Once a home permanent wave was just a wonderful, simple collection of liquids and pins which made it possible for any woman to give herself a permanent in her own home.

Along has come a home permanent wave manufacturer with a neutralizer lotion which apparently is the greatest boon to hair since shampooing was discovered. Obviously, only people who get home permanents and use the lotion, can hope to have fine, beautiful, shining hair.

Then I'm interested in this matter of mixes. For the past several years there has appeared on the market a huge number of preparations which require only the addition of a little milk or water to produce cakes, rolls, pies and a number of other good eating items. This was hailed as a great boon to the busy or unlucky housewife. All one had to do was buy the package, keep it on the shelf and then whip the contents into some liquid and the job was all done.

Finally, I want to know more about 'magic ingredients." Right now nobody ever buys anything for a single, stated purpose, but for a manifold one. When you buy toilet soap today, you not only invest money to remove dirt from the face and hands, but to receive as a sort of bonus a beauty treatment. When you buy food, frequently it is partly because it will taste good but often because it is fortified by additions of vitamins and minerals.

Dresses and other garments can be converted from office frocks to dinner gowns; laundry detergents not only clean clothes but supply them with built-in sunshine. All this apparently started with a three-way cold tablet which could do almost anything.

Right now I'm in the market for a nail polish that merely polishes nails. I want a permanent that merely curls hair. I seek the easiest way of baking a cake. I'm looking for a toothpaste that polishes teeth but does not necessarily prevent cavities.

Washington Letter

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
(For Jane Eads)

Washington — Theodore Frances Green, oldest member of the U. S. Senate at 83, has a tip or two for youngsters in politics.

"Get into political party activities as soon as you can,' he said, 'but don't run for office if you must be dependent upon that office for your living. If you do, you may be under control of people who do the nominating."

The octogenarian lawmaker is one of the most remarkable men in Congress. At 70 he was a freshman Senator. Unless you searched the congressional directory, you would never believe he is the oldest Senator. Perhaps half of his colleagues look and act much older.

Small and wiry, he usually walks bareheaded each morning the more than two miles between his quarters in the University Club and the Senate office building. Although he does not smoke, he thoroughly enjoys the many social affairs and cocktail parties he attends.

He still maintains the family home in Providence, R. I., which has been occupied by five generations of his family for more than 150 years. He also is the fifth member of the family to serve in Congress. He is rated as a multi-millionaire and yet he still is a bachelor.

"I still hope my luck will change when another leap year rolls around," the senator quips when you ask him about being a bachelor.

He still is ready for a game of tennis at least once a week. Until recent years he did a lot of wrestling and mountain climbing. Asked how he stays so young and active after long careers as a successful lawyer, director of many corporations and financial institutions, two terms as a governor and two more as a senator, Green snaps:

"I never worry. When I go to bed at night I go to sleep, bang, just like that," he said slapping the desk.

His weight has not varied more than three or four pounds for the past 35 years.

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurenson

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 18

Marc turned off the main highway onto a white gravel road designated by a weather-beaten sign as the road to Duck Lake.

Marc studied the road. "We should be almost there. I've only been here once before ,but I think we come to Richards' cottage first. . . Yup, here we are." He headed the car into a curved driveway.

"People call these cottages!" exclaimed Nora with undisguised envy. "I shouldn't have come, Marc. I'll never be satisfied with the simple things again."

Marc climbed out of the car and ran around to hold the door for her. "May I remind you once more that the owner of this cottage is known as 'the late Mr. Richards'? Are you coming?"

"Try to lose me!" Nora swung her legs out of the car. "What do we do now?"

"Dangle the line to see what bites." Marc pressed the doorbell button. The door was opened suddenly by Mrs. Donovan.

"Well, young man," she snapped.

"I beg your pardon, ma'am," replied Marc, bowing politely, hat in hand. "You are Mrs. Donovan?"

"Yes, I'm Mrs. Donovan. What do you want?"

"I'm a friend of Mrs. Joan Arnold's. She told me I'd find you here."

"Who're you?"

"Marc Jordan. I'm chief attorney —lawyer—for the railroad. This is Miss O'Conner, my—ah—secretary. I'd like to talk to you, if I may."

"Come on in then; don't stand there moonin'." She led the way into the comfortable pine-paneled living room.

"Have you been housekeeper for Mr. Richards for some time?"

"Night onto twenty-five years. Mr. Richards, he wasn't an easy one to get on with Not that he wasn't nice to me," she added hastily. "Always polite and nice as could be. And gentle and lovin' with Miss Joan and Mrs. Richards—poor soul —while she was still livin'. But the other people, he was awful hard on them sometimes."

"What other people?"

"Mostly railroad men. I guess."

"How about Mr. Linden? Has he been here much?"

"Not lately. He used to come out once in a while. I know for a fact they didn't hit it off good."

"Quarreled, eh? Recently?"

"Can't say."

"How about Mr. Richards and Mr. Arnold?"

"Right at first, they didn't get on so good either. But lately they been real friendly."

"Have they ever quarreled?"

"Practical diplomacy at its peak," muttered Marc dryly. "Did the Richards family have much social contact with the people next door, the Johnsons?"

Mrs. Donovan's shoulders twitched with contempt. "That brazen hussy! Makin' calf eyes at Mr. Richards! She's got her eye on everythin' in pants. Her husband ought to take a paddle to her!"

Marc chuckled. "Apparently, Mrs. Donovan, you don't hold Mrs. Johnson in very high esteem."

"That I don't."

"Tell me, Mrs. Donovan, did Mr. Richards reciprocate the—er—calf eyes?"

"Don't know as I can say. He never told me, and I ain't one to pry around into other people's business. All I know is, Mrs. Johnson and Mr. Richards used to go fishin' at night a lot. Seems like they never caught much fish, neither."

"Has that been lately?"

"No, come to think about it, they was only out onct this summer. Seems like there ain't been much sociability back and forth lately."

Marc rose and slowly paced the length of the room. "Hm, yes. Did you notice anything unusual in the family affairs yesterday?"

"Nope. I didn't see much of 'em."

"Mrs. Johnson didn't go along. Did you see any activity next door after they left?"

"I didn't see no one, but Agnes says Mrs. Johnson drove off in her car, that sporty red job she's so proud of, and didn't get back till all hours. But I didn't see nothin'. I wasn't payin' no attention."

Marc arrested his slow pacing, his body tense with concentration, and his eyes glittering with suppressed excitement. He stared at Mrs. Donovan.

"So—Mrs. Johnson was out last night! Late! Interesting. I don't suppose she gave any explanation?"

"Said somethin' about a party with friends. Some friends!" The straight line of her lips expressed Mrs. Donovan's firm convictions about the friends. Marc's glance met Nora's. He resumed his march.

"It's really imperative that we pay a social call next door," he muttered. "Imperative. Can we get through that row of trees, Mrs. Donovan?"

"Sure. Follow the path. There's a open space through to their drive."

"Fine. Come on, Nora. We've taken enough of Mrs. Donovan's time." Marc walked rapidly to the door. "You've been very helpful, ma'am. Thank you."

"That's all right, young man. You see the police catch that feller."

Marshall Helms Is Guest Speaker Of Lecture Club

Marshall Helms of the science department of East Carolina Teachers College spoke Thursday evening at a meeting of the Faculty Lecture club of the college. His talk on "Atomic Disintegration Particles" was given in the Flanagan building and was heard by a group of approximately twenty-five members of the group.

Dr. Hubert Coleman, program chairman of the club, introduced Mr. Helms. The timely talk was illustrated by a series of demonstrations given by Mr. Helms to illustrate the scientific principles which he discussed.

Plans were begun at the meeting for two lectures by Archibald Rutledge, internationally known naturalist and author, who will speak at the college under the sponsorship of the Faculty Lecture club November 30.

It's A Crime!

Berlin, Nov. 10—(AP)—A Soviet sector court sentenced a 20-year-old East Berlin youth today to a year in jail for comparing his goose to the Communist regime.

A policeman testified the youth told him he had a goose 'fat like Pieck and cackles like Grotewohl."

Promise Fight Against Govm't Curb On Credit

Dallas, Nov. 10—(AP)—Used car dealers of the nation have promised a fight to get relief from new government credit regulations.

At their fourth annual convention here yesterday, they said the automobile business is off 50 to 75 per cent.

President Martin McCollum of Flint, Mich., asserted "the average worker is being forced to buy a cheaper car at a higher price and that just doesn't make sense."

Most of yesterday was spent drawing up a protest to Washington on regulation of the new rules—the one that required at least a third down and the balance to be paid in no more than 15 months on any automobile costing more than $50.

Charges Result In Suspension Of Four Policemen

Greensboro, N.C., Nov. 10—(AP)—Four Greensboro policemen have been suspended indefinitely on charges of taking protection money from a numbers lottery.

Police Chief L. L. Jarvis suspended them yesterday after testimony by C. A. (Shug) York, convicted lottery operator.

York testified he gave several hundred dollars to Patrolman R. L. Paschal, and money and whisky to Patrolmen J. H. Adams and R. L. Ferrell and Detective Sgt. F. B. Money. Jarvis said warrants against them will be issued today or tomorrow. He also said that he and other officials would confer with York today and try to get more details of York's alleged dealings with policemen.

Larger Number Illegally Loaded Trucks On Road

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 10—(AP)—A study by the State Highway Commission indicates that more trucks with illegal loads are using North Carolina's highways.

The commission's division of statistics and planning, reporting on a survey made during August as compared with a similar period a year ago, said it found:

1. There were nine per cent more illegally loaded trucks and combinations than in 1949, and

2. 40 per cent of the single-unit trucks and 51 per cent of the tractor-trailers were exceeding the 45-mile per hour speed limit.

ADMINISTRATOR— Dr. Alan Valentine, former University of Rochester president, was named administrator of the new Economic Stabilization Agency.

RIVER CROSSING—FRENCH ARMY STYLE — Recruits at French army camp in Montlhery, near Paris, crawl along cables strung to simulate a river crossing.

HIGH PRESSURE BALL GAME — There's much splashing in this "water ball" game at Ingolstadt, Germany, as players use high pressure hoses to douse each other. The game is played as a climax to the national fire prevention week program.

Is A Crisis . . .

in a strange phase in which diplomatic moves perhaps are as important as military moves."

At the same time the officer didn't discount the possibility that while the red forces might be cautiously holding up any offensive action pending diplomatic moves in the U.N. It also was possible they might be regrouping for an offensive.

Apropos of this unusual situation there also is this point to consider: the problem might become impossible of solution if the ChinesBe were forced into a position in which they couldn't back up any further without losing face. As the major power of Asia, China can't afford to lose face—a highly important consideration among Asiatic peoples.

Re-Shuffling . . .

fairly regular transfusion of new blood into the Senate, even at the sacrifice of a chairman, is worthwhile.

But Tydings wasn't the only casualty among Democratic chairmen. Another was Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah, chairman of the Labor Committee. After 18 years' service, he was licked by a Republican, Wallace F. Bennett. So that committee will be reshuffled. Senator James E. Murray of Montana is in line for the chairmanship.

One other chairmanship will change. Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma lost in the primary to Rep. A. S. (Mike) Monroney. Thomas, like Tydings, had 24 years of service and was chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana is in line to succeed him.

See Savings In New Postal Pact

Washington, Nov. 10—(AP)—The Post Office Department estimates it will save about $500,000 a year under a new international postal agreement being signed today in Madrid.

The agreement, among members of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain, calls upon the sending country to pay the costs of any re-shipments required in handling surface mail.

Police Court Will Hold Traffic Term On Wednesdays

The Greenville Police Court will hold a traffic session on Wednesdays of each week, starting next Wednesday, November 15, Judge J. W. H. Roberts and Solicitor Eli Bloom have announced.

Traffic law violations have steadily increased to such proportions that the court officials deemed it wise and expedient to hold a midweek session of court principally for the trial of traffic cases.

After today, traffic cases will not be tried at the Monday and Friday sessions of the court.

Firemen Ready To Help Burn Off Lots

Greenville firemen in the past several days have received numerous requests to burn off lots in the city. Local firemen assured that the department is ready and willing to help property owners to clear their lots in a safe manner.

Firemen request that when a person is planning to burn a lot they first call the Fire Department and get permission, and in cases where there is likelihood of the fire spreading, a small truck from the station will be sent to stand by in case it is needed.

Since the beginning of the occupation 2,248 Christian missionaries have been cleared to enter Japan.

"It is true that you may fool all of the people some of the time; you can even fool some of the people all of the time; but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."
"You were right, Mr. Lincoln," says Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc

20,000,000 bottles of HADACOL have been made and sold thus far in 1950. This is a record for any product but it is even more unusual when you consider that HADACOL is advertised in only 22 states.
Advertising has sold the first bottle of HADACOL to many folks; HADACOL is a very meritorious product and the results it has obtained have made possible the sale of these 20,000,000 bottles in 10 months.
Faith has been an important factor in the development of HADACOL — faith made possible its creation and the faith the American people have placed in my product has been responsible for its growth. I pledge to the American people that the faith they have placed in HADACOL will never be violated.

Truthfully,

EFFECTIVE Nov. 13, 1950

The Subscription rates of The Daily Reflector will be increased to 25c per week by carrier and $10.50 per year by mail.

These prices will be effective beginning Monday, November 13 1950.

Because of recent increases in the costs of newsprint and other materials necessary for producing your Daily Reflector, it is Necessary that this increase in subscription price become effective immediately.

The Reflector has held the line as long as possible against advancing subscription rates. At the present time there is no other daily newspaper of comparable size in North Carolina which is not already charging this or a higher subscription rate.

As a matter of fact, in addition to the Reflector there are only three other daily newspapers in the state which have maintained a 20c per week rate until the present time.

New Subscription Rates

By Carrier 25c per week	By Mail
(The Daily Reflector will not be responsible for payments to carriers for more than 4 weeks in advance.)	1 year	$10.50
	6 months	$ 5.50
	3 months	$ 3.00

The Reflector is striving to give you a better newspaper and better service. We ask your cooperation in this matter by paying your carrier boy every Saturday, so that you may avoid having your paper stopped because of a delinquent account.

Beginning Monday, November 13, carrier subscribers who desire to pay for their paper for a year in advance may do so by making payment of $13.00 directly to the Daily Reflector office. In no cases will carriers be allowed to accept payments for more than 4 weeks in advance.

King's Daughters Report Time Limited In Campaign

For years the Patient Circle of The King's Daughters and Sons has realized the desperate need for a home for aging men and women of Pitt County. To this end an option was secured on the Vines House.

The Vines House with 30 rooms is located at the corner of West Fifth and Pitt Streets—an ideal location, being near churches and the downtown area. The King's Daughters plan for the house to be remodeled and adequate baths and other facilities installed.

The applicants will be carefully selected. Under the supervision of a capable, Christian woman, aged men and women will be given a real home—a place of companionship, religious services and care.

The response for funds to enable The King's Daughters to exercise the option has been grand—$9,100 to date—but the time for raising the balance of the $25,000.00 is limited. When the home is established it will be self-supporting; this is not a charity home that will use the City or County funds or necessitate solicitations for the operation.

But it is primarily for citizens of Pitt County who can meet the necessary requirements, and they do not necessarily have to be members of The King's Daughters. The fees will be reasonable, no applicant will have to agree to donate anything or in any way be financially obligated to The King's Daughters. A nominal monthly sum will have to be guaranteed but at any time they are at liberty to leave the Home.

With the full support of every citizen of Pitt County this Home can be established. There will be a meeting of the Patient Circle next Tuesday night—November 14. Reports will be given on the funds raised. All contributions should be mailed to Miss Martha Lee Cowell, treasurer.

ILO Reports On Cost Of Living In 34 Countries

GENEVA—The cost of living has risen during the past year in 22 countries and dropped in 12 others, the International Labor Organization (ILO) reports here.

Most recent statistics from 34 countries show increases or decreases over the 12-month period ending in some cases, in August and in others, in June or July.

Countries where living costs increased more than 2 per cent in July or August 1950 compared with the same period a year ago include Austria, 9 per cent; Canada, 4 per cent; Ceylon, 7 per cent; Denmark, 5 per cent; Finland, 15 per cent; France, 10 per cent; India, 6 per cent; Mexico, 4 per cent; the Netherlands, 10 per cent; Norway, 5 per cent; Paraguay, 55 per cent; Peru, 11 per cent; Northern Rhodesia, 4 per cent; Southern Rhodesia, 8 per cent; Union of South Africa, 4 per cent.

The cost of living increased by 11 per cent in June 1950 compared to June 1949 in Chile, Costa Rica and Spain, the report says.

Countries where living costs decreased by more than 2 per cent for July and August 1950 compared with same two months in 1949 included Bizonal Germany, 6 per cent; Burma, 19 per cent; Israel, 8 per cent; Iran, 23 per cent; Japan, 10 per cent; Lebanon, 7 per cent; and Uruguay, 7 per cent.

The other nine countries surveyed schowed a rise or fall of 2 per cent or less. There was an increase in the Dominican Republic, Sweden, United Kingdom, United States, and a decline in Belgium, British Honduras, Italy, Luxembourg and Switzerland.

Official Leaves Doubts As To His Daily Diet

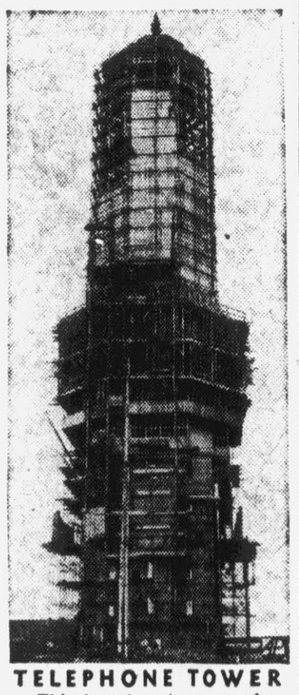

New Delhi—(AP)—Congress President Purushottamdas Tandon's address on diet to a recent nature cure conference here left many wondering what was left for him to eat. Tandon advised against salt, milk, honey, sugar, butter and meat, among other things.

Boiled potatoes and fruit form the main part of his diet. Breakfast is a handful of wheat soaked in water overnight and a little fruit. Occasionally, a few almonds and "tulsi" leaves ground into a thick paste form an additional course.

His two other meals consist of boiled vegetables, potatoes, raw ginger, and a piece of pancake. Half-boiled rice sometimes replaces the pancake. No salt, pepper or fat is used in the preparation of his meals. He drinks water only.

His Temporary Stay Was 49 Years Long

Downs, Ill.—(AP)—When Dr. E. C. Williams came to Downs 49 years ago, he was going "to make some money and go back to Bloomington." But he stayed. To show how they feel, the 300 residents of Downs held a party in the high school gymnasium to honor the practicing physician.

Rescued Pilot In Spite Of Fire And Bomb Hazard

With the 1st Marine Air Wing in Korea—(AP)—Seconds before the plane burst into a mass of flames, Navy Hospital Man Third Class, Charles B. Stalcup, rushed in despite the cries of warning and dragged out the Marine pilot who had collapsed by his fighter.

The pilot had just taken off from Kimpo Air Field with a full load of bombs and ammunition for a combat strike when he noticed his plane was leaking oil. He crash landed and jumped out of the burning plane, managing to get several feet away before he collapsed.

HM-3 Stalcup pulled the pilot up on his back and carried him out of danger. They made it just in time. A couple of seconds later the bombs exploded along with a number of rockets.

Shakespeare's Play In Malayan Setting

Singapore—(AP)— Shakespeare's 'Hamlet," in sarong, baju and turban and speaking Malay—the national Malay dress and language—will be staged in Singapore next year.

Shakespeare's characters will assume Malay names, dress and language of the 16th Century. The accompanying music will be by the famed Indonesian Gamelan Orchestra.

Helicopter Fails To Aid Walnut Harvest

Hemet, Calif.—(AP)—Farmers hereabouts thought a helicopter might be just the thing to blow the walnuts off their trees. They brought in a 'copter for an experimental flight and it hovered over the trees, the downdraft from the huge rotors rattling the branches. The nuts, however, wouldn't play. A few peppered down but most of the crop was still out of reach after the ship had landed.

More than 9,800 trips from Boston to San Diego! You'd have to go that far to equal the miles travelled in July, August and September by drivers on the 6-month, nationwide Ford Truck Economy Run!

In every State! On every job!

East Point, Ga. Walter C. Jeanes of Armco Drainage and Metal Products, Inc., in his Ford F-6 Tractor-Trailer. He says he knows now he gets more mileage with his Ford F-6. The record proves it.

Houston, Tex. Russell R. Brient of Nursery Service Co. has used Ford Trucks since 1920. This is one of his F-5 Dumps. He says he's found them more economical than any other trucks in their price field.

Des Moines, Ia. Carl Nissly, Superior Oil Co., states that these Ford F-8 tank-trailer Big Jobs average six miles per gallon under heavy load. No repair expenses since they were bought!

Alexandria, Va. The Metal Distributing Co., Inc., placed the Ford F-7 in nationwide Economy Run. Records of its daily operation are demonstrating Ford Truck economy in this industry, too!

OFFICIAL NATIONWIDE FORD TRUCK ECONOMY RUN

Look for this sign on Ford Trucks—thousands of them—all over America! Trucks bearing this shield are in the famous Ford Truck Economy Run!

Hyattsville, Md. Ernest Maier, Inc., pauses midway in a hauling job to show their fine, economy-minded Ford F-5 under load. The records prove the outstanding economy of this Ford model!

Over 5000 Ford Truck drivers log 30 MILLION MILES DEMONSTRATING FORD TRUCK ECONOMY

PATSY NARCISE, owner of Narcise Produce Company, Huntington, West Virginia, says:

"My Ford F-8 is the finest of the six or seven different makes of trucks we have owned. It outpulls them, outruns them, costs less to operate—and the Ford Truck Economy Run is proving it! With an average payload of 11 tons, gas costs me only 1¾c per mile!"

First 3 months of history's greatest economy demonstration pile up convincing evidence that Ford Trucking COSTS LESS!

Every kind of truck job is represented many times over on the giant, nationwide Ford Economy Run! Phantoms, Roanoke Rapids Clash In Greenville Tonight

Gala Festivities For Homecoming Event Begun; Locals Expected To Take To Air Against Strong Visiting Eleven

Kickoff is slated for 8:00 p.m. in the East Carolina college stadium.

A large throng of returning alumni is expected to be on hand to witness tonight's contest, as the Phantoms will be striving for their first Northeastern conference win this season.

Coach Bo Farley has made several changes in his starting lineup for tonight due to injuries which hit the Phantom camp this week.

End Johnny Aman, consistent pass-receiver all season, will miss tonight's clash due to a bad ankle, and Farley has moved Fullback Leon Moore to the starting offensive flank post.

Tackle Bob Strickland will also be sidelined because of injuries, and Wallace Conway, who has been seeing some action from an offensive end position, will get yeoman duties at the tackle slot tonight, both offensive and defensive.

The Phantoms are expected to take to the air again with uarterback Eddie Farley chunking to Moore and Wiley Gardner.

Fullback Sydney Briley and Halfbacks Walter Goor and Bob Perry Perry will share the running chores. Kent Lee, the Phantoms ace kicker, will only see limited action tonight due to an ankle injury.

Gala festivities have already begun for the Homecoming celebrations with a mamouth pep rally being held in the high school auditorium this afternoon, with a parade through downtown Greenville. This afternoon's pep rally was topped off by the selection of Homecoming King and Queen.

Four sponsors will be on hand for tonight's tilt. Roanoke Rapids monogram club has chosen two sponsors for their club, with Greenville's varsity club selecting two. They will take part in the pregame ceremonies with the two team captains.

Greenville's High School band, under the direction of James Rogers, will highlight the halftime festivities with several nifty maneuvers.

Ayden Homecoming Game Highlights Coastal Play

A large Homecoming crowd is expected to fill Ayden's newly-lighted field tonight as the undefeated Tornadoes put their record on line against a fierce Fuquay Springs eleven.

Coach Stuart Tripp's talented crew has rolled to seven straight victories this season without a loss, while rolling up 222 points compared to their opponents 21.

All-conference Leonard "Teedy" Bullock, who has received an invitation to participate in the Optimist Bowl at High Point Thanksgiving Day, is again expected to fill the overhead with passes to Ends Mac Whitehurst and Willis Manning.

Ayden's running attack will be led by Halfbacks B. L. Byrd and Darrell Worthington, along with Fullback Mac Hardee.

All-League center Greg Davis will form the nucleus in the line play, along with hefty Troy Jackson at tackle.

The Falcons from Fuquay Springs will be the bitter test for this year's Coastal Conference champs, as they always boast a strong Class A eleven.

Elsewhere in the Coastal Conference, Farmville's Red Devils play hosts to formidable LaGrange in a night game.

South Edgecombe, after an open date last week, gets back into the thick of things as they travel to Mt. Olive in another nightcap. Vanceboro, with two straight victories, strive for their third straight against Beaufort in the se.. coast city, and Robersonville journeys to Plymouth, to round out this week's Coastal Conference schedule.

Midgets Clash

Greenville's undefeated Midget eleven play Farmville's mites November 18, in the first county bowl game here.

The Exchange Club of Greenville and Farmville's Junior Chamber of Commerce are the co-sponsors of the first annual event which will decide the champions of Pitt County's midget elevens.

Plans are now being made to hold the bowl tilt in East Carolina's college stadium, since the Pirates close out their season on Friday night, November 17.

West Coast Rose Bowl Entry At Stake Tomorrow

Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 10—(AP)—Championship standings and Rose Bowl chances will be at stake here tomorrow when the undefeated California Bears and the once-beaten University of California at Los Angeles Bruins clash in their all-important coast conference football classic.

It's the "game of the year" for the two powerful rivals.

A capacity crowd of 81,000 is expected to watch the contest.

Traditional rivalry of the keenest sort adds color to the annual encounter. The Bruins were once the "baby brothers" of the Bears. They've grown up long since. Under Henry "Red" Sanders, the former Vanderbilt coach, they have been downright formidable the past two years.

Texas U. Hunts New Grid Coach

Austin, Tex., Nov. 10—(AP)—The University of Texas is in the market for a new head football coach—the tenth since it became a member of the Southwest Conference in 1915. Blair Cherry, headman of the Longhorns for four seasons, will retire to the oil business when the current campaign runs its course.

Cherry said yesterday he would resign at the end of the season. He will become associated with his brother, Alton Cherry, of Dallas, who said he had been trying for five years to induce Blair to give up coaching.

But business reasons were not the sole factor in Cherry's retirement. He has tired of the gridiron wolves who have been after his scalp because he hasn't won a Southwest Conference championship.

This year, however, he seems on the way to that title. Texas is the only undefeated team in the conference race with three games to go.

Oddsmakers Put Dauthuille Over Paddy Young

New York, Nov. 10—(AP)—Laurent Dauthuille, the capable Frenchman who missed winning the middleweight title by 13 seconds, is a strong favorite to whip tough Paddy Young tonight in a Madison Square Garden 10-rounder.

Sight unseen, the odds makers have set up Dauthuille at 1 to 2 over the game youngster from New York's Greenwich Village. This is Dauthuille's New York and television debut after a series of winning efforts at Montreal.

Detroit knows all about the blond Frenchman. It was in the Olympia that Dauthuille almost lifted Jake LaMotta's middleweight crown, Sept. 13. Leading on the cards of all three officials, Dauthuille was knocked out with 13 seconds to go in the 15th and last round.

Eddie Waitkus Is Baseball's 1950 Comeback King

New York, Nov. 10—(AP)—To Eddie Waitkus, skinny first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies, goes the title of baseball's "Comeback King" of 1950. And it was a story of courage in its rawest form.

The award was not given to Edward Stephen Waitkus because he had hit .284 last summer. Or because he was the best fielding first baseman in the league. Rather, it was given because of his determination to win the biggest battle of all: th ebattle for life.

It was only 17 months ago that Waitkus tottered on the brink of death, critically wounded by a bullet fired by a crazed girl in Chicago. Fed thought he would live, much less play baseball again.

Eppes Plays Snow Hill In Homecoming Tilt Tonight

Kickoff is slated for 8:00 p.m. in Guy Smith Staduim.

The Eppes grid charges dug in for hard tackles in yesterday's final practice session in preparation for tonight's clash.

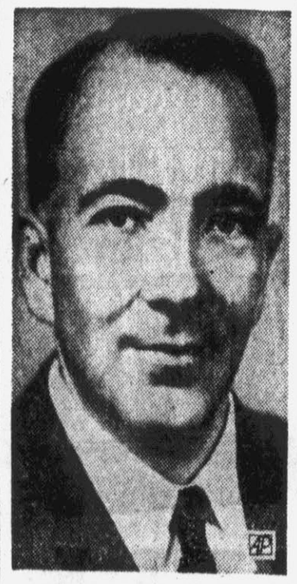

Coaches Daniels' and Crowder's gridsters are anxious to take the field again and redeem themselves after being defeated by Elizabeth City last Friday.

All the Bulldogs' regulars are in top shape for tonight's scrap.

Such linemen as Bennie Williams, Simon Hemby, Joe Whynne and Randy Dupree have been outstanding all season and are expected to lead the Eppes' defensive line.

Eppes has only one more game to play after tonight's contest, and the squad is keyed up in trying to obtain victories in their last two scraps. The Bulldogs travel to Clinton next Friday.

Gala Homecoming festivities have been planned tonight during the halftime period, with the high school band making various formations after which the Homecoming queen will take the field.

WRITE-IN WINNER: — The name of Russell O. Morrow (above) of Palm Beach, Fla., wasn't even printed on the ballots—but he was elected to the Florida state senate by 5,362 write-in votes. He defeated former Judge E. B. Donnell, the official Democratic nominee for the senate post, who was chairman of the state Democratic Executive Committee. (AP Wirephoto)

Light Signal Drills Today Wind Up Pirates For High Point Tilt

Light signal drills this afternoon will conclude East Carolina's preparations for High Point's Purple Panthers here tomorrow night.

Coach Dole sent his charges through a fairly light practice session yesterday as the Pirates drilled on timing of their plays, punting under pressure, and place-kicking under pressure.

Pass defense also received some attention yesterday, as the Pirates readied themselves for their six conference tilt.

East Carolina has a fourth-place record of three wins against two losses, while High Point are the cellar-dwellers of the league with six straight defeats.

By way of High Point, Coach C. Q. "Tex" Smith, the Panthers' new grid mentor this year, has accentuated his efforts in an attempt to stop the Pirates' heralded passer, Roger Thrift, who has passed for a total of 1,566 yards this season, with fourteen touchdown completions.

With the exception of Guard Jesse Aldridge who suffered a dislocated shoulder, East Carolina should be in fair physical condition for tomorrow night's game here.

Plans have been reported by head cheerleader, Jack Everton, for a mamouth pep rally tonight on the East Carolina campus, with the spirited rally ending with a "snake" dance around a huge bonfire.

New Leaders In Women's League

Women's Bowling League

College View Cleaners	15	10	.583
WGTC	13	11	.542
Carolina Cleaners	11	13	.458
Double N Restaurant	10	14	.417

College View Cleaners moved into the lead in the Women's League this week by beating WGTC in three games. In doing so College View knocked the radio team out of the leadership which it had held for three weeks running.

Barbara Weir continued to be a ball of fire with a duckpin ball in ringing up a score of 406 for the series. The East Carolina student continued to pace the averages in the league with 137, two points less than her three game average set last week.

Dot Rawls paced Carolina Cleaners to a three game win over Double N Restaurant which shot the latter team into the cellar from its former third place. Rawls rolled games of 131, 139 and 126 for the total and finished with a series score that was 50 pins better than any other on her team.

Although Double N lost the series, Pearl Windham made it difficult going for Carolina when she rolled 362 for the three. Eloise Warren finished one pin behind. She rolled the night's high game with 154.

Same Records, But Ohio Rules

Columbus, O., Nov. 10—(AP)—They have identical five-won-one lost records, but if Ohio State doesn't defeat Wisconsin Saturday in the big ten's top tilt, you may as well throw away the form sheets for future frays.

Comparative scores say the Buckeye pack of point producers are a cinch. But more than 82,000 fans—third largest crowd ever to overflow the Ohio horseshoe—will be on hand to watch 'em prove it.

New Cage Coach For Duke Univ.

Oneonta, N.Y., Nov. 10—(AP)—Hartwick's Harold Bradley has been appointed basketball coach of Duke University, and Thomas Greene succeeds him as athletic director and basketball mentor at Hartwick.

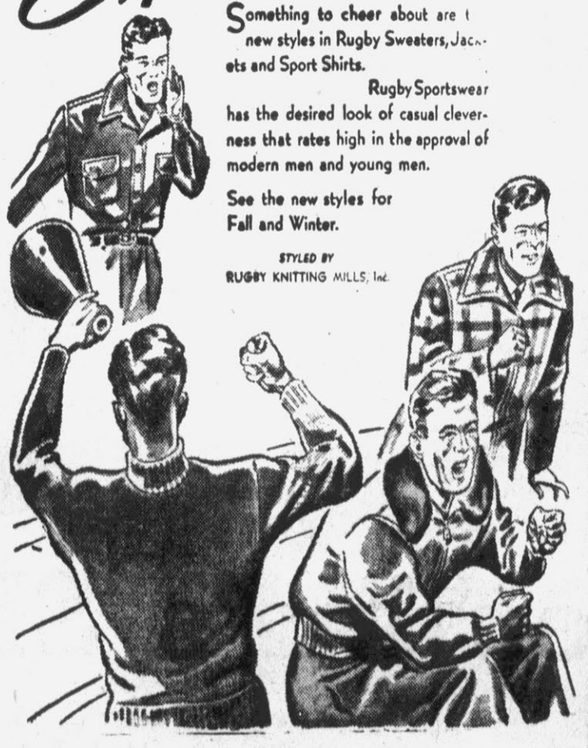

Bradley is taking over the job of Kenneth C. (Gerry) Gerard, who has left Duke because of illness.

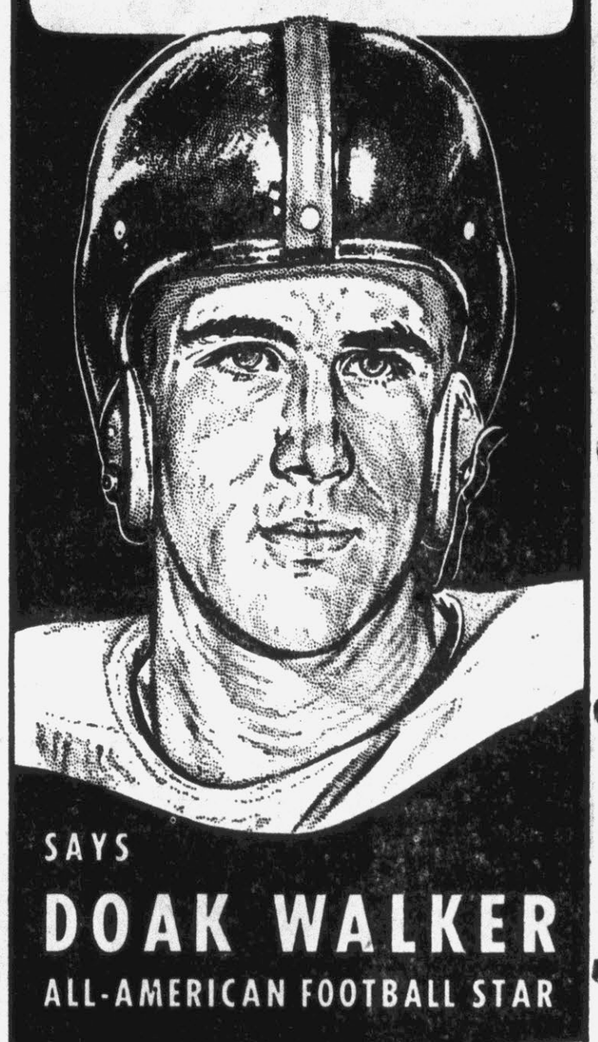

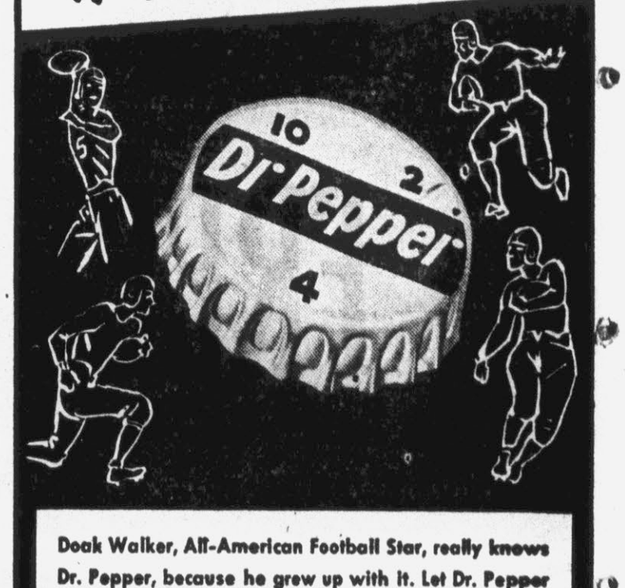

Bradley's Hartwick basketball teams won 50 out of 68 games. His appointment to Duke was announced yesterday.

Plan Quarterly Report On N. C. Retail Food Prices

Raleigh, Nov. 10 —(AP)— The State Department of Labor is going to make quarterly reports on retail food prices in seven North Carolina cities.

Questionnaires will be sent to 1,300 food dealers next week in Asheville, Salisbury, Greensboro, Raleigh, Greenville, and Wilmington.

Food prices also will be reported in Charlotte, either by the State Labor Department or the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Labor Commissioner Forrest Shuford said the reports will be made quarterly, beginning next month. They will be comparable in every respect with the retail food price reports issued for 56 U.S. cities by the Federal Bureau of Labor Statistics, Shuford declared.

Last Rites Saturday Set For Will Haddock

Will Haddock, 70, died at the home of his nephew, Paul Nelson, near Belvoir, at 5:30 o'clock Friday morning after having suffered a stroke of paralysis five weeks ago. Funeral services will be conducted at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at two o'clock by the Rev. D. W. Alexander, Free Will Baptist minister of Bethel, and burial will be in the Hardee cemetery near Stokestown.

Mr. Haddock, son of the late Burton and Martha Hardee Haddock, was born, reared and lived in the Stokestown community until he moved to the Belvoir community with his nephew ten years ago.

Surviving are three sisters, Mrs. J. R. Nelson and Mrs. Myrtie Evans, both of Ayden, and Mrs. Minnie Harris of near Grifton; five nephews, three nieces and several great nieces and nephews.

Funeral On Saturday For J. R. Whichard

Bethel, Nov. 10—Mr. J. R. Whichard, life long resident of Bethel and the Bethel community, died at his home here early this morning. Mr. Whichard had been in declining health for several years and had been seriously ill for two weeks.

He was born in Edgecombe county on October 17, 1879, the son of the late J. M. and Betty Mayo Whichard. He received his education at the Bethel Academy and at the Greenville Academy. On December 9, 1908, he was married to the former Ludie Grimes of Edgecombe county. Mr. Whichard was a member of the "Modern Woodmen" and was engaged in farming.

Surviving are his wife, one daughter, Mrs. J. H. Andrews, and a granddaughter, Betty Lou Andrews of Cherry Point; a brother, Walter Whichard of Bethel, and two nieces and one nephew.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. Officiatnig will be the Rev. W. M. Cassell, pastor of the Bethel Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. J. P. Harris, a former pastor of the church. Interment will be in the Bethel cemetery.

County Insurance Exchange Meets

The Pitt county insurance exchange met for its regular monthly meeting at the Respess Barbecue place across the river last night.

The meeting was called to order by President Thomas Webb, and the minutes of the last meeting were read by J. S. Woolard.

The group then discussed various items dealing with the state insurance matters, in addition to routine business matters.

The Pitt county insurance exchange is made of insurance men from all over the county. The group meets once a month for a supper meeting.

STASSEN INTERPRETATION

Allentown, Pa., Nov. 10 —(AP)— Harold Stassen said last night that re-election of Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio indicates 'labor leaders should go back to being labor leaders and not politicians."

SIGN TELLS STORY:—U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft flashes a big victory smile at his headquarters in Cincinnati with a huge sign proclaiming his overwhelming re-election Tuesday. An admrer stands beside him. The staunch Ohio Republican defeated his Democratic opponent, Joseph Ferguson, Ohio's state auditor, by a "landslide." (AP Wirephoto).

LATEST FROM PARIS—Models wear masks dreamed up by Paris hairdresser Fernand Aubry and fashioned in forms of a bat and dragonfly. They are intended to give a new twist to masquerade balls, and it looks like they will.

Excess Profits Tax Idea Assailed

Washington, Nov. 10—(AP)—An important section of big business closed ranks today against enactment of an excess profits tax.

With the tax-writing House and Ways and Means committee starting hearings Wednesday, more than 100 business executives announced formation of an "emergency" committee to oppose an excess profits levy and to urge in its place "sound emergency corporate taxation."

The committee, in a statement, called the excess profits tax a breeder of "inflationary waste and extravagance" which, it said, was "demoralizing to prudent managerial judgment."

Acknowledging that business profits "must bear their fair share of increased taxation," it suggested a "defense tax" increase in the level of corporate taxes and prevention of "undue profits" from defense contracts by "effective negotiation and negotiation procedures."

Beardsley Ruml, author of the present income tax withholding plan, was one of those active in formation of the business group. Leon Henderson, former OPA chief, is one of its consulting economists.

Ruml, in a separate statement, called the excess profits tax "inequitable and inflationary," and said no excess profits tax "has ever been devised that will not do more harm than good."

Man Is Dragged Along Highway

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 10—(AP)—A truck driver was alive today although he was dragged accidentally at the end of a tow chain for 2½ miles over a cement highway near here.

The driver, George Stump of Marion, Ind., was in serious condition in a hospital. He was dragged behind another truck yesterday after his leg became entangled in the hook on the chain.

Collazo Indicted For Killing Guard

Washington, Nov. 10—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Oscar Collazo, 37-year-old Puerto Rican, for murder in connection with the November 1 attempt on President Truman's life.

The charge is based on the killing of Leslie Coffelt, 40, White House guard, when Collazo and Griselio Torresola tried to shoot their way into Blair House, the President's temporary residence.
