Two Die As Car Strikes Power Pole

Auto Unexplainably Left Straight Stretch Of Highway In Smash-Up

By ROY HARDEE
Bruce, Nov. 21—Two Negro men, occupants of a speeding automobile, were killed early last night near here when their car ran off the highway, and crashed into a electric light pole.

Patrolman Delton E. Perry of the Highway Patrol listed the dead as being: Jimmie Lee Bumper, age 17, of Falkland, and Thomas James Johnson, age 24, also of Falkland. Both of the men died as the result of head injuries received in the accident, Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse stated.

The car, reportedly driven by Thomas Johnson, was headed in the direction of Bruce at the time of the accident. Investigation by Patrolman Perry revealed that the automobile went off to the right, then over to the left side of the highway, and into a ditch. After going into the ditch, the car traveled nearly 80 feet before it crashed into a electric light pole housing a transformer. The force of the crash splintered the driver, Johnson, from the car as it swung back around and faced in the direction of Greenville in a field on the right hand side of the highway. The light pole snapped about eight feet above the ground.

A third person, John Larry Dupree, Negro, who was riding in the car, was thrown from the car when it struck the pole, but he was not seriously injured. The exact position which he occupied in the car at the time of the accident was not known but it was believed to be the right front seat.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch of highway at the height of a brief flurry of wind and rain.

Nearby residents stated that they heard the crash at the same time the lights went out, and upon investigation they found the smashed automobile with its horn blowing. The car had turned on its left side, plowing Johnson, who had been thrown out under the front part of the car. Bumper was still in the car under the wheel, at the time would-be rescuers arrived in an effort to aid the wreck victims.

Broken power lines which were covering the car and general area, hampered the workers for a time, but rescue operations were carried out after the arrival of a Greenville Utilities line truck at the scene. A radio message brought ambulances and the Fire Department's rescue truck in a matter of minutes. One of the victims showed signs of life. He was rushed to Greenville but was dead on arrival there.

Patrolman Perry listed the cause of the accident as being excessive speed and the fact that the car ran off the side of the highway. The entire car was demolished with the top of the car being forced down on top of the occupants in the front seat.

Coroner Rouse this morning stated that he will not hold an inquest into the highway deaths as he believed that they came to their deaths accidentally.

Even as the wreckage was being cleared away, power crews from Greenville were on hand to replace the shattered pole and install another transformer. Power in the area was restored in a few hours.

POSTOFFICE TO CLOSE THANKSGIVING DAY

Postmaster J. Knott Proctor said the Greenville postoffice will be closed Thursday—Thanksgiving Day. Parcel post service will be discontinued on that day. There will be no rural or city delivery.

Far West Flood Damage Mounts

Thousands Of Persons Driven From Central California And Nevada Homes; At Least Nine Dead In Flood Torrent

By The Associated Press
Torrents of mountain-fed flood waters ripped through northern and central California and Western Nevada this morning, driving thousands of persons from their homes and doing untold amounts of property damage.

At least nine persons are dead from the floods, which started on its third day of rampage with added force from mountain rains and melting snow.

Here is how the situation stacks up at the moment:

Nevada—The main section of Reno is a tumbled mass of mud, debris and torn paving after the swirling Truckee river, normally three to four feet deep at this time of year—roared 20 feet deep and three blocks wide through the center of "the biggest little city in the world."

The Truckee burst its banks with crushing force at 10:30 last night flooding swank hotels and gambling casinos. For hours the downtown section was under six to eight feet of water, but the flood was receding today. One death was attributed to the racing waters.

California—Governor Earl Warren declared a state of emergency over the raging floods in the central valley. The Yuba county sheriff's office ordered the evacuation of an estimated 3,500 residents from East Linda near Marysville, in the face of the threat of the flooding Yuba and Bear rivers. The muddy torrent, which has already smashed through levees in three places and inundated the towns of Hammon and Mari-gold, continues to rise.

The American river burst its banks near Sacramento and flooded thousands of acres of suburban land, driving 1,000 people from their homes.

Eight California deaths were attributed, directly or indirectly, to the floods.

meant that only the one day holiday be observed. The body also recommended that for the convenience of the public, all stores remain open until eight o'clock at night for four days before Christmas beginning Wednesday December 20.

The matter of inconvenience to the public and the business houses caused by bank holidays on Saturdays when the holiday is not observed by other businesses was discussed and a motion requesting that the banks refrain from such holidays was unanimously adopted.

Judson H. Blount, state director of the North Carolina Merchants Association, reported on a recent meeting of the state directors. The local organization adopted a resolution urging the state association to use its efforts and influence in the interests of no new state taxes and increases in state tax burdens by the next General Assembly.

Mr. Blount and Secretary Cora S. Powell were instructed to present this matter before a meeting of the state directors being held in Raleigh today.

Ballots for election of 1951 directors of the local association will be mailed out to members around the middle of December and all ballots must be returned by December 30. A committee composed of Wesley Harvey, Bancroft Moseley, V. C. Fleming and Clifton H. Edwards will tally the ballots and report the election at a special meeting of the board to be held early in January.

Me, while, the members of the county draft board held their regular meeting last night to personal requests for a change of classification.

Most of the requests were made due to dependents or were hardship cases. The board listened to eight in all. No action was taken, pending further investigation.

Hints New Purge In East Germany

Berlin, Nov. 21—(AP)—Communist Boss Walter Ulbricht bluntly warned party leaders in East Germany today that a new purge may be just around the corner.

Ulbricht has engineered two widespread purges, ousting hundreds of party workers, since he seized control as general secretary last summer.

The new threatened house-cleaning stems from the October 15 elections in the Soviet zone.

Direct improvement in the real wages of European workers is urgently necessary—for the welfare of European workers and their families, and to strengthen the Democratic alternative to the propaganda promises of the Communist movement.

More than incidentally, the socialists also gave the communists a terrific beating. Not one Red candidate was elected, and the result is hailed as a complete rejection of Moscow's policies.

Of course this socialist rejection of German rearmament isn't necessarily the final word, though it's a clear-cut indication that the pro-servations because of Germany's past transgressions. Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German regime had announced that his government was prepared to cooperate. It looked as though that ticklish problem had been solved.

Then last weekend elections were held in the states of Hesse and Wuertemberg-Baden, in the American sector, and socialists blew the lid off. The socialists, who had been fiercely opposing German rearmament to support western defense, won a smashing victory. They forthwith claimed the result and endorsement of their position to rearmament and a protest against Adenauer's policies.

U.S. Production Near Goal Once Figured For '55

Annual Rate Of $284 Billion Attained For Third Quarter Of This Year

Washington, Nov. 21—(AP)—The nation's total output of goods and services is within about five per cent of a goal President Truman once set for 1955. And it's growing fast.

An annual rate of $284,300,000,000 was attained during the third quarter of this year after a $14,000,000,000 upsurge from the preceding quarter, the Commerce Department reported yesterday.

Last January, President Truman spoke of a prosperity goal of a $300,000,000,000 gross national product "within five years." Gross national product is a term-economists use to sum up the output of all goods and services.

The $284,300,000,000 rate of the July-September period may not be as close to the President's goal as it seems at first glance, however.

Mr. Truman specified he meant $300,000,000,000 worth of goods and services measured by the prices prevailing last January. The gross national product has spurred $30,500,000,000 since then, but a big part of the dollar-volume gain can be attributed to price increases.

The Commerce Department said that the swelling output was brought about largely by record spending. Consumers went on a spree in 1950's third quarter, tossing their money on retail counters at a rate of $198,400,000,000 a year.

Consumer spending shot up $12,300,000,000 between the second and third quarters, the greatest jump registered in so short a period. But the department said price increases accounted for one-third of the consumer spending advance.

Annual Public Exercises Staged Last Night In Courthouse

By JOHN D. SPINKS JR.
The county 4-H clubs brought down the curtain on another successful year of work as they held the annual Achievement Day exercises last night in the courthouse.

The 18 clubs combined to present a program for the benefit of their parents and the public, a program designed to show the progress the clubs and members have made to ward their motto, "To Make the Best Better."

Awards and certificates were presented to those members and clubs making outstanding achievements in 4-H club work during the past year. The outstanding event of the program was the awarding of the annual Junior Chamber of Commerce plaques to the boy and girl who have showed the most improvement during the year.

This year's awards were given to Julia Stokes, a member of the Belvoir Senior club, and to Edgar Latham, a member of Grimesland Senior. Julia presided over the exercises in her capacity as vice president of the County Council, which office was a part of the basis for awarding her the plaque. She was also installed as new president of the Council at installation ceremonies later in the program.

Latham won his award on the basis of his participation in several 4-H projects since he has been a member of the club. Recently he won county honors in tractor maintenance and also in better methods of doing things in the home and on the farm. During the program he reported on his attendance at the state tractor school.

The plaque presentations were made by Bancroft Moseley, president of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Toward the latter part of the exercises, the officers of the County commission, but will be discussed in the next week or two weeks. He explained that another engineer has been engaged by the utilities commission to come here and make an operational study of the local power plant for a week or more if necessary to see if there are any ways in which the operation of the plant can be improved to alleviate the condition of smoke and fly ash.

After this third engineer has completed his study, Martin said, he will meet with the utilities commission in a special meeting to discuss his report and the reports of the other two engineers. "In that way we will have the benefit of all three points of view by the engineers," Martin stated, "and we will be able to decide what can be done at the utilities plant."

One of the reports received by the local utilities commission came from Carl A. Weston, district engineer of the Thermix corporation, who was sent here by the Prater-Daniel corporation to investigate the efficiency of the plant equipment which is supposed to reduce the amount of smoke and dust emitted by the plant. The other report was sent to the utilities commission by H. B. Lammers, chairman of the Coal Producers committee for smoke abatement, who was here several weeks ago to survey the situation.

A summary of the seven-page report by Lammers and the three-page report by Weston will appear in tomorrow's edition of The Reflector.

A delegation of approximately 20 residents of the Third Street school area appeared before the local utilities commission at its meeting last week and petitioned the commission to take steps to remove the smoke and ash condition in that particular section of the city.

A witness at the inquest told the jury that a stop sign which should have been up on Highway 903 had been taken down prior to the accident when road crews starting working on the highways.

Reports from two engineers who surveyed the smoke conditions of the Greenville power plant have been made public by the local utilities commission.

The engineers agreed in their reports that the smoke and ash which have been prevalent over the residential section near the power plant could be coming from trains and other sources as well as the power plant. Both engineers suggested other smoke sources be considered in the matter of removing the condition, and both recommended methods by which the smoke and ash emitted from the local plant should be reduced.

J. Roy Martin, chairman of the utilities commission, said this morning the reports of the two engineers have not yet been discussed by the commission, but will be discussed in the next week or two weeks. Doughboys Gain Manchurian Border After Epochal Push; Not Impressed

Awarded Plaques For Achievements During Year

4-H COUNTY CHAMPIONS—Julia Stokes and Edgar Latham are this year's recipients of the Jaycee award for the most achievement in 4-H club work during the past year. Both are shown above receiving the plaques from Jaycee president Bancroft Moseley. Julia, a 17-year-old member of the Belvoir senior club, won her plaque for her work as County Council vice president during the year and also for her project on room improvement. Edgar, 18, is a member of the Grimesland club and won on the basis of his projects in tractor maintenance and farm home better methods improvements. Only The Ice-Coated Yalu River Between Americans And Manchuria; Border City Deserted; Feats Would Have Done Credit To Paul Bunyan

Seoul, Nov. 21—(AP)—Tank-supported U. S. infantrymen walked into deserted Hyesanjin on the Manchurian border today. Not a shot was fired.

Only the narrow, ice-coated Yalu River lay between them and Red Chinese territory. The troops—of the 17th Regimental Combat Team—were the first Americans to reach the Manchurian boundary.

U. S. war planes swooped low over the smoldering, bomb-wrecked town as weary infantrymen slogged the last two miles through snow.

The only humans around were 15 villagers, garbed in black. They stood outside the town as the unsmiling Americans marched by. Hyesanjin itself was deserted. Buildings that had survived the bombing were boarded up.

Commanding generals were jubilant. But the infantrymen who reached the banks of the much-talked-about Yalu River boundary were not impressed.

"Well, I'll be damned. So this is the Yalu. Well how do you like that?"

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond, 10th Corps Commander, said the feat of the 17th Combat Team "divided enemy held territory and isolated all significant forces east of the 127th meridian east longitude."

Reds still held a Japanese-built network of military roads on both sides of Hyesanjin. They were reported reorganizing in the mountains and north of the border.

In the northwest, the Reds also were reported building defenses. U. S. 94th Division cavalry patrols ran into light enemy machine-gun fire on the western front Tuesday.

But U. S. First Cavalry patrols six miles away found no reds north of Yongbyon. The south Korean first corps advanced as much as two miles without opposition on the cavalry's right flank.

Far south of this front guerrillas attacked three villages and Fifth Air Force fighters "virtually destroyed" the red-held hamlet of Yongpo, 55 miles south of Seoul.

The day's greatest and most peaceful feat was the conquest of Hyesanjin by the Seventh Division's 17th Regimental Combat Team. Officers said a military government would arrive in a few days and organize a free election.

Maj. Gen. David Barr, commander of the Seventh Division, expressed thanks "we got here with a minimum cost in lives and equipment."

The infantrymen arrived in clear weather, and the comparatively warm temperature of 30 above. They had made a heroic march through 6,000 foot mountains, made possible by engineering feats "which would have done credit to Paul Bunyan."

A 10th Corp spokesman said the 13th Engineer Combat Battalion and the 18th Engineer Combat Team winched vehicles across streams the Reds thought were impassable, built 14 bridges, and bulldozed airstrips from earth frozen so hard the blades would rip off only an inch or two of soil at a time.

Eleven tanks and rolling anti-aircraft batteries were in the column that covered the final two miles.

PLANS QUIET HOLIDAY
Washington, Nov. 21—(AP)—President Truman today cancelled his customary Thursday news conference in order to spend a "quiet Thanksgiving" with his family at the Blair House.

Slowness In Preparing

Western Europe, And The United States, Have Been Talking Defensive Rearmament For Many Months; Couldn't Stop Russia Right Now; Cause For Delay

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The slowness of Western Europe in responding to the needs for defensive rearmament is causing concern among the Democracies. While observers generally aren't expecting any attack from Eastern Europe at this juncture, the cold fact is that right now the western allies probably couldn't stop Russia if she suddenly decided to send her powerful armies through the English Channel.

Potentially the allies have the power for the job, but practically the defensive organization has been marking time. This has been due in part to indecision in some quarters, and in part to lack of accord on vital points.

One of the major problems has revolved about the sensational proposal to rearm Western Germany and make her a part of the defensive force. The allied military experts reluctantly decided that, despite the original firm decision to keep Germany under wraps for a long time, her rearmament was essential to protection of this key position of central Europe.

France and Britain finally agreed to this, with misgivings and reservations because of Germany's past transgressions. Federal Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of the West German regime had announced that his government was prepared to cooperate. It looked as though that ticklish problem had been solved.

Then last weekend elections were held in the states of Hesse and Wuertemberg-Baden, in the American sector, and socialists blew the lid off. The socialists, who had been fiercely opposing German rearmament to support western defense, won a smashing victory. They forthwith claimed the result and endorsement of their position to rearmament and a protest against Adenauer's policies.

Miss Catherine Spearman Honored At Buffet Supper

Miss Christine Jordan and Miss Edith Bowles were joint hostesses at a barbecue supper and bridge at the home of the former on Friday night at 7:30.

The party was a compliment to Miss Catherine Spearman, who will be wed on Saturday to Mr. Herbert McKim.

The home was beautifully decorated with white and green flowers and candles. The table in the dining room was covered with a bridal green linen cloth and centered with a crystal bowl in which white carnations and chrysanthemums were gracefully arranged. White tapers in double crystal holders were placed on either side of the centerpiece.

A two-course barbecue supper was served buffet style. After the supper, the guests played bridge. During the game Coca-Colas and peanuts were served to the players.

High score prize was awarded to Mrs. W. C. Whitehurst, Jr., while Miss Joyce Corbette was recipient of second high. Miss Jane Dail Laughlinhouse was winner of the floating prize. Miss Spearman was given a corsage of white chrysanthemums upon her arrival and was remembered with gifts of china in her chosen pattern by the hostesses.

Mrs. C. C. Hilton and Mrs. George Spearman were guests for the supper hour.

Book Reviewed At Clio Club Meeting

Mrs. W. J. Stell graciously entertained the Clio Book Club on November 14, at her home on the Ayden Highway. Varied shades of chrysanthemums arranged throughout the house, added to its attractiveness. Mrs. J. L. Page was a guest of Mrs. Stell.

Upon arrival, the hostess, assisted by Miss Agnes Fullilove and Mrs. Jack Gates, served a delicious dessert course, with coffee and nuts.

Following this, Mrs. Gates, vice-president of the club, presided over a short business session, at which time it was agreed that each member of the club would bring to the next meeting two Christmas ornaments to be used in decorating at Camp Lejeune. Mrs. Stell extended to the club an invitation to the meeting of the Garden Club on November 17.

School Pageant Offered Tonight

"Of These Freedoms" will be the theme of a Thanksgiving pageant presented tonight by the combined music and dramatic groups of the High School. The program will be presented in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m.

The pageant, which is the forerunner of the Christmas pageant, will be under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler, James Rogers and Claude B. West, leaders of the vocal group, the band and the dramatic group, respectively.

The 100-voice mixed chorus will open the pageant with a rendition of "The World's a Stage," followed by the National Anthem and "A Prayer of Thanksgiving." It has been rehearsing its role in the program for a month with last minute rehearsals last night and this morning.

The band will render the music accompanying the dramatic group in the pageant program.

Assisting West in the dramatic part is Miss Kathryn Clark, stage manager who will be in charge of the costumes.

Dance Group Is Presented For Lions' Meeting

The Greenville Lion's Club last night at their weekly supper meeting were entertained by a dance group from Marie's School of Dance.

The program included a variety of tap dance numbers with feature acts by Al Smith and acrobatics by Hannah Proctor. Christine Smith accompanied the group at the piano. Tyson Ellbro was in charge of the program.

A report from the White House Conference held recently was made by Jimmy Harris. President Larry Averette announced that the Art Department of East Carolina Teachers College wants toys to repair for the Christmas season. The service will be rendered free of charge.

The local club had as its guests last night Glenn Scott, Junior Lion from the high school and Preston Cannon.

Circle No. 2 met at the home of Mrs. Carl Crawford. The meeting opened with the singing of "Lo! Here is Fellowship," the national hymn of the C.W.F. Mrs. Amos Evans had charge of the program. After the scripture reading by Mrs. Leroy James, Mrs. Evans gave a short devotional reading after which Mrs. George Haddock led in prayer.

Mrs. Wm. May, chairman, presided over a business session. The secretary gave the minutes of last meeting and they were approved as read. Eleven members answered to roll call, after which dues were collected. Money from the sale of vanilla was turned into the treasury and also anniversary dues. Committees were reminded of their duties and definite plans were made for the family nite party to be held at the community building Wednesday night, at which time a cooked turkey will be given away. Come out and help this worthy cause as there will be fun for everyone.

This circle is promoting a Thanksgiving service at the church on Thursday morning at eleven o'clock. Everyone is invited and urged to attend. Dr. Leo Jenkins of ECTO will be the speaker. Mrs. William May will lead the singing with Mrs. B. L. Tyson at the piano. Mrs. William May announced that she would be glad to help in getting up a Christmas pageant. Everyone in the church who is interested in getting up a good Christmas program is asked to write Mrs. May a card saying that you would like to help in the Christmas program and which night of the week would suit you best to practice for the next week. She will choose the night that is most convenient for the majority of persons.

Mrs. Crawford assisted by her daughter, Pattie Jean, served delicious banana sundaes after which we adjourned to meet December 18 at the home of Mrs. William May in Winterville.

Dr. Leo Jenkins of East Carolina Teachers College will be guest speaker at our Thanksgiving Service at Red Oak Thursday morning, November 23, at eleven o'clock. It is a real privilege for us to be able to secure such a good speaker and everybody is cordially invited to attend. Members of Circle No. 1 will sing a special number. Circle No. 2 has charge of the program. All members are asked to bring a small gift of food from their pantry shelf to this service.

Circle No. 2 is sponsoring a "Family Night" at the club house Wednesday night, Nov. 22. Fun, good entertainment, and refreshments will be provided and a drawing will be held for a Thanksgiving turkey already baked, with dressing and gravy for good measure. Take your family and come, help a good cause, and have a good time. Proceeds will be used to help pay for a carpet sweeper for the church.

Twenty-nine members and their guests assembled at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman

Page last Sunday night for the Thanksgiving meeting of Circle No. 1. It was a real inspiration to hear the singing of the old hymns by a quartet chosen from those present.

Mrs. Page presided over the meeting and Mrs. James Allen called the roll and gave a treasurer's report. The circle voted to transfer forty-two dollars from their treasury to the "Pew Fund."

Mrs. John Crawford is our chairman of the "Crusade Fund" and she urged us to try to get this behind us by our next union meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Fenner Allen will be hosts to our minister, Rev. Harold Tyer in December.

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson will be hosts to the December circle meeting at their home.

Many matters of business were discussed and disposed of. Milton May, chairman of the board, urged us to try to have enough funds on hand to pay for the altar set which we hope will be installed before Christmas.

Jello and punch in the Christmas colors and cakes and nuts were served by the mascot of the circle, Little Miss Nesa Anne Page. All departed at a late hour expressing their joy at being together on this wonderful occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Oia Kittrell had as their guests last Sunday Rev. Harold Tyer, Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Tyson and Mrs. James Allen.

Seek Reduction Of Prison Terms

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—Efforts are underway to reduce the prison sentences of two convicted Fayetteville slayers, Wall C. Ewing and Raymond D. Hair.

Dr. T. C. Johnson, State Paroles Commissioner, said yesterday a group of Fayetteville businessmen had appealed to him to commute the 19-20 year sentence of Ewing. Johnson added that "an organized and systematic drive" is being made in behalf of Hair.

The bride elect was given a gift of silver by Mrs. Whitehurst and a gift of crystal by Mrs. Beatty.

Wartime Leader In Japan Freed From His Prison

Tokyo, Nov. 21—(AP)—Japan's wartime foreign minister, Mamoru Shigemitsu, was released on parole from a seven year prison term today despite Russia's strenuous objections.

It was the first parole granted a principal defendant in the war crimes convictions growing out of World War II. Shigemitsu was convicted at the Tojo trial in 1948. War launching Premier Hideki Tojo was convicted and hanged. The seven-year sentence given the veteran Japanese diplomat was the lightest imposed by the international tribunal. He was paroled because of good behavior.

WD TRACTOR TWO-CLUTCH CONTROL

In heavy crops, his tractor power flows steadily to Corn Harvester, ALL-CROP* Harvester, ROTO-BALER* or Forage Harvester. A push on the transmission clutch lever lets him stop forward motion to clear overloads without clogging, breakage or crop waste.

Ask any owner of an Allis-Chalmers WD Tractor to show you the many places where you need two-clutch control. Let him demonstrate the safety and convenience of this system where the foot-operated engine clutch stops all power outlets — pulley, hydraulic lift, power take-off and rear wheels, and the transmission clutch stops forward motion only.

Watch your neighbor's WD — it will be time well spent.

Civic Clubs Rely On Cooperation

By WYATT BROWN
"No civic organization can succeed without the cooperation of all the other civic organizations," declared Lions District Governor Oren E. Dowd last night as he struck the keynote of the remarks of three speakers on the Rotary Club program last night. Dowd was followed by S. O. Worthington, member of the state board of control of the Exchange Clubs, and Howard McGinnis, district governor of Rotary.

His remarks showed that each has a special project in community service but all help wherever they can to promote community betterment. The Lions have the blind for their special number one project in North Carolina. In commenting on the blind District Governor Dowd said that the blind are about to be taken off the street; none of the blind need to beg today for the Lions and the State Commission for the Blind take them for training for self-supporting occupations.

The Exchange Club, according to board of control member Worthington, have the hard of hearing as their special charges. Locally their other project for now is the Midget athletic program.

Rotary District Governor McGinnis pointed to crippled children as the Rotarians' pet project.

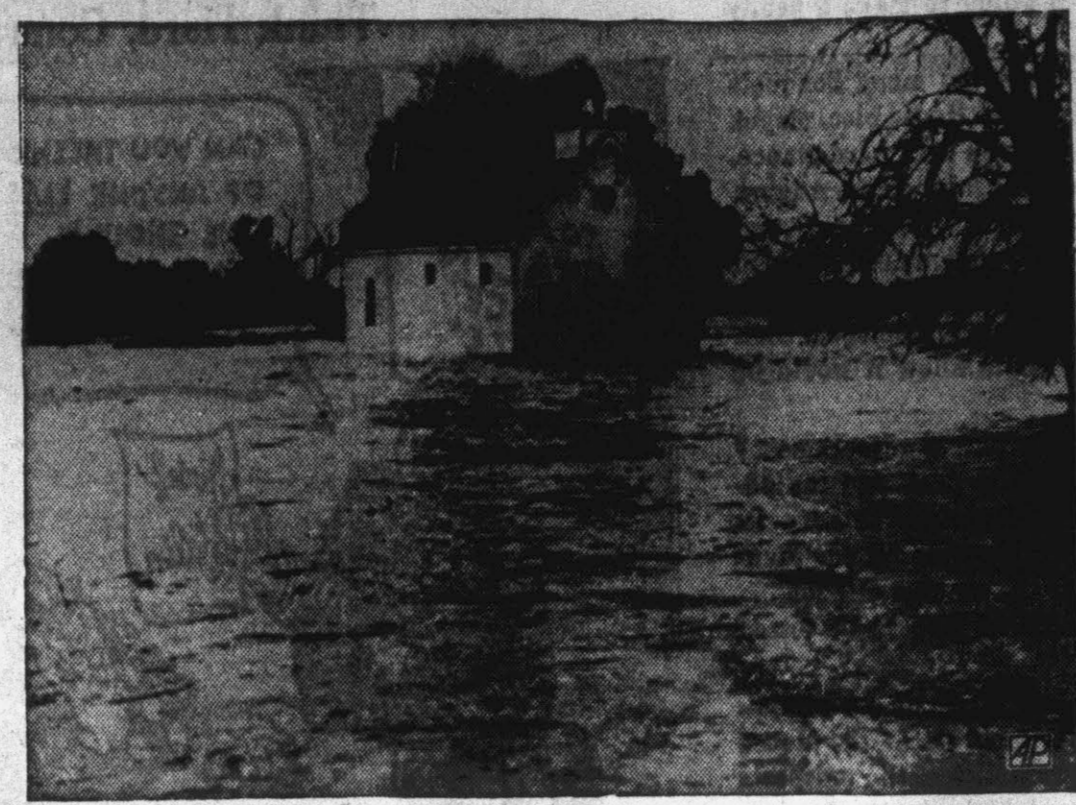

The Exchange Club is a strictly national organization, having been founded in Detroit, March 1911, and started in Greenville a year ago, thus being the youngest civic club in the city.

The Lions International Club was founded 33 years ago in Dallas and is found in 29 countries today with 8,163 clubs throughout the world. Their newest country is Finland. Dowd's district reaches from Creedmore to Manteo.

Rotary International now has clubs in 83 countries with a total of 1,750 clubs and 342,000 members. It was founded in Chicago in 1905. Jack Hogarth was a guest of the club last night. John Lewis, Walter Jones, Elbert Moyer and Bob Rouse of the Farmville club and Garland Bullock of the Ayden club were visiting Rotarians last night. Lyman Ormond Jr. was greeted as Junior Rotarian last night. The program was presented by Karl Pace. Howard McGinnis presented each speaker. Jasper Winslow and Phil Goodson took care of finishing up the Rotarians' Christmas tree decorations for Camp Lejeune wounded.

Women In The Church

St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church, New York City, now houses a child health clinic operated by the New York Diet Kitchen Association, Miss Marguerita Sanchez, director. There are nine sessions per week with four doctors serving in rotation. Parents must accompany the children. "We are emphasizing what we call 'anticipatory guidance,'" says Miss Sanchez. "We not only give the parents the advice they need for the immediate care of the child, but we also give advice and warning about what they may expect in the near future." St. Michael's church is in a rapidly changing section. Under the guidance of the rector, Dr. William F. Corker, it attempts to meet community needs by housing service facilities.

A plea for women to "follow, support, and aid the work of UNESCO," was made before the International Federation of University Women, in Zurich, Switzerland, by M. Jaime Torres Bodet, director-general of the UN educational body. He said: "Throughout the world, adult experts are only a handful of men and women overwhelmed by the sheer vastness of their task. Who will help them, if not you? If our generation resigns itself to a wicked indifference toward these maledjusted children (600,000,000—many resulting from the war), it must also abandon every hope of peace and justice; for these, the unfit, ignorant, destitute and desperate, are the citizens of tomorrow."

Alarmed by the continuing high rate of divorces in the United States, the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ has joined the movement of the American Bar Association to adapt juvenile court principles and procedures to the divorce courts. In such procedures, said the Council in a recent statement, "difficulties between married people are approached through the informed insight of a third party, sympathetically helpful of salvaging the marriage, authoritatively established and socially approved. The courts should have access to expert testing, counselling and psychiatric personnel." Present systems of procedure, it was stated, "often aggravate the bitterness and tragedy of family disintegration."

"Just a tribute to your cooking, darling." Another soldier asked that his card read: "Here's that china you always wanted Mom." Troops are remembering each other through "Operation Santa Claus" too. Buddies had the same idea for each other—candy. One directed this message: "This will sure taste good wherever you are." The other said "Merry Christmas, pal. Try this with your beans and sausage." Even in Japan—where men can do their own shopping—the services of "Operation Santa Claus" are in demand. One young soldier nervously cleared his throat and asked a shoppers advice in getting pajamas "for a girl just about your size, the way I figure." Anyway, if you receive a Christmas presents from your man in Korea along with a card written in feminine hand, don't be alarmed. He's done it all by remote control.

Report Filipino Leader Relieved Of His Command

Seoul, Nov. 21 (AP)—The commander of 1,200 Filipino troops who protested against the manner in which his force was being used in the Korean War has been relieved of his command, reliable sources reported today. He has been ordered to return to Manila. The protesting leader, Col. Mariano Asurin, will be replaced by the battalion's executive officer, these sources said. Asurin had asked that the battalion be withdrawn, charging: 1. His men were not being used as a single fighting unit. 2. They had not been supplied with adequate winter gear and the Korean winter was too cold for fighters from the tropical Philippines.

C-Of-C Calls For Non-Defense Cut

Washington, Nov. 21 (AP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce called on Congress today to cut government spending for non-military purposes by at least $6,000,000, before it considers taxing excess profits of corporations. Ripping into administration proposals for a 75 per cent tax on abnormal business profits, Ellsworth C. Alvord, C. Irm haofetanh Chamber's finance committee, declared it was impossible to devise a workable excess profits tax to produce the $6,000,000, yearly asked by President Truman.

Alvord set forth the Chamber's views in a statement for the House Ways and Means Committee, which is winding up hearings on the profits tax proposal which Mr. Truman says is necessary to finance the expanding defense program. As business wheeled its biggest guns into the hearings, Democrats on the tax-writing ways and means committee continued to hold firm rein on Republican efforts to discuss substitutes for the administration plan. ## We Give Thanks

On this truly American holiday we give thanks for the many blessings He has designed to deliver on us. We give thanks for the strength He has endowed us with, enabling us to preserve those liberties we have inherited. We thank Him for the rich fields and bustling factories that bring us great wealth and comfort. And we thank Him especially for revealing His Truth to us, giving the greatest wealth of all.

"No Sir, no one is going to make a penny out of the war."
But before we toss too many bouquets to the boys in the White House bloc, maybe we'd better take just one backward glance. Congress, before it adjourned in August, had time to set up a new war tax law. Everyone had a good idea what was in store for the economy of the country — especially the administration . . . rearmament is their baby and the big shots knew it would be costly.
But why no tax law before adjournment? Obviously politics came first, and the administration was too anxious to have its boys in Congress make sure no one muddied the waters for the coming election . . . so the nation's business had to be tossed aside.
Even with the fast work of the administration and the Democrats of the House Ways and Means committee, the prospects of any real action on major legislation during the lame duck session of Congress is faint.
Would it not be far better for the committee to start from scratch on a war tax program for the next Congress? It would be silly to think that the present excess-war profits tax outlined is perfect, or that the alternatives offered by Republicans can't be any good just because they came from the opposition.
Haste is needed in this program, by all means; but it takes time to implement any tax program and it is best to have the most effective program available.
We can't go around changing the tax structure every year . . . or can we?

Strength for the Day

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS
POWER OF THE LAITY
Many people complain today that Christianity has become a clergyman's religion. Clergymen are in charge of the Church. Christian work has become an organization with full-time professional Christian workers operating the machinery. What is there left for a layman to do?
Firstly, we need to bear in mind that the Founder of our religion was a layman. Every one of the original disciples was a layman. The people who spread the Christian faith throughout the first century of the Church's history were practically all laymen. Throughout the history of the Christian Church laymen have played such an important part in church work and leadership that it is safe to say that the Church would long since have perished had it not been for the Christian consecration of laymen.
If Christianity has become a clergyman's religion, the layman can blame nobody but himself. He has left to the clergyman many duties with which the clergyman should not have been burdened. Ministers are set aside for a certain type of spiritual work which they, with their professional training, are best able to perform. But the greater part of the work of every church must be done by laymen and laywomen who clearly see their duty and try with all fidelity to perform it.

Who Will Attend To The Farmers' Business

There are a lot of people in the world who spend a good portion of their time attending to other people's business. But on the other hand, there are also a lot of people who sit back and are willing for their business to be attended to by other people.
Even though the situation has not been widely publicized, there is a real threat developing to the tobacco program as the farmers in Pitt county have known it for a number of years. The prices for tobacco have been high for several years, and the farmers have truly reaped a golden harvest from the weed. But with the golden harvest, there has come an increasing amount of overplanting of acreage allotments.
So far the overplanting has not been widespread enough to seriously affect the price of tobacco by oversupplying the demand. Reports from various sections, however, indicate that a large number of farmers who grow tobacco under the allotment program are making preparations to over plant large areas during the coming season. If the condition develops, it will create a major threat to the tobacco prices as we have known them for a number of years, and may well knock the props from under the tobacco program.
The farmers of Pitt county have called a meeting in the Austin auditorium at ECTC Friday night at 7 o'clock to discuss this overplanting and other problems which are threatening the tobacco program.
The tobacco program is the business of practically every farmer in Pitt county. The farmers who attend the meeting Friday night will be attending to their business as they should. Those who stay away from the meeting will be leaving the way open for someone else besides the farmer to attend to the business of the tobacco program.
Would that be a wise step?

The Tax Program—Then And Now

The solons of the House Ways and Means committee are busying themselves during the few days before congress reconvenes with the problem of writing a new tax law.
The activity of the committee has reached a frenzied pitch in an effort to have the program ready for the Lame Duck when he arrives in Washington next week.
In the committee so far the Democratic majority has behaved much like a fullback with his head down, running at full steam. The Demos have refused to listen to substitute proposals originated by businessmen and offered by Republican members of the committee. The administration is in such a hurry to get its excess profits tax program through committee to offer it to Congress by December 1, it hasn't time to stop and listen to what may be good ideas from other people.
The zeal of the administration and the Democratic majority of the committee is commendable. Heavier taxation of war profits is recognized as a necessity. . . .

National Whirligig

News Behind The News
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The Gray proposal to expand President Truman's famous "point four" plan from a $34,000,000 to a $900,000,000 project of world development under American financial sponsorship has been made necessary because of the crackup of another United Nations agency that had been widely advertised as a solution to the eternal problem of hunger—the Food and Agriculture Organization.
This step, which has just moved its headquarters from Washington to Rome, was originally designed as an international clearing house for major food and allied products. The inspiration for the exchange or barter of surplus commodities came from Henry A. Wallace, who was a prominent figure in the Roosevelt Administration when the U.N. was first proposed.
Mr. Wallace envisaged FAO as the international extension of his insurance system for domestic crops. Worried over surpluses of wheat, corn, cotton and other commodities in normal times, the former Secretary of Agriculture figured that FAO would provide an outlet and a market for them.
IOU's—Under his scheme, which both Franklin D. Roosevelt and President Truman embraced, nations blessed with surpluses would turn them over to FAO, receiving in return that organization's IOU's. Then, whenever famine or shortages developed in China, India, South America or elsewhere, these supplies would be shipped there at extremely low prices or in return for raw materials not produced in this country.
Like so many of Mr. Wallace's well-meant schemes, the business details of these international transactions were worked out only vaguely. Again, in accord with his dream of a "quart of milk for every Hottentot," the United States would have ended up as the chief contributor to the common pool of goods.
KILLED—This expansive program, however, was killed at a recent relatively unpublicized meeting of FAO executives held at Washington, the last to be staged here before the transfer to Rome. Almost its only proponent was Norris E. Dodd, director general of the organization and former Under Secretary of Agriculture.
A group of nations generally described as the "British bloc" opposed the Wallace idea of making FAO an international food cooperative. London's spokesmen figured that it would upset trading conditions throughout the world at her expense. Argentina wanted no competition from low-price or bartered American wheat, meat, corn etc. India and Egypt had the same fears with respect to cotton.
THREAT—Producers of raw materials like natural rubber, especially Britain and The Netherlands, saw the barter plan as a threat to the excessively high prices they are getting from purchasing agents for the American stockpile of war supplies. In short, our foreign competitors refused to do business with us on the Wallace basis.
As a result, FAO will simply become a research and statistical bureau, duplicating the activities of agencies which almost every member nation carries on in its agricultural, commerce, trade and treasury departments. Indeed, the last act at the Washington conference was to reduce the annual budget from $5,000,000 to $4,500,000, and to extend Mr. Dodd's term for only one year.
REPUDIATED—Ironically, the Brannan bloc showed strong sympathy with the British group, for the Washington meeting was held coincidentally with the elections in which he and his two-price plan were repudiated by the voters.
Mr. Brannan apparently figured that it would not help the Administration if he agreed to world distribution of Commodity Credit foodstuffs for which the American people are still paying inflation prices.
The Gray scheme, incidentally, has almost no chance of Congressional approval. It is doubtful if the legislators, now that so many Marshall Plan beneficiaries are on their way to recovery, will okay the $900,000,000 expenditure, in view of the fact that they cut the funds for Mr. Truman's "bold, new" scheme to develop backward nations to a mere $34,000,000.
DEAL—The Democrats' recent rebuff at the polls had a curious effect on the score of party Senators and three-score Representatives, mostly from the South, who joined with the GOP in two sessions to scuttle most of his domestic program—FEPC, national health insurance, the Brannan Plan etc. Mellowed by their legislative and political triumphs, they are in a mood to make a gentle deal with him.
Mr. Truman's intra-party foes, outside of Congress, do not like the Republicans any more than he does. They want no breakup of the Solid South, for that might interfere with their machine's local power and patronage. They will lose committee chairmanships and other perquisites if the current trend results in election of a Republican Congress in 1952. They prefer a bad Democratic President to a good Republican Chief Executive.
STUBBORN—If he will abandon his demand for FEPC and his general Civil Rights program and concentrate on defense and foreign appropriations and increased taxes at the next session, he will have their support.
According to this theory, the party and administration can then make a good record on these issues as the basis for the 1952 presidential campaign. The strategy would be to brand the Republicans, especially if they adhere to the Taft-Capehart-Wiley-Hickenlooper-McCarthy line, as "isolationists."
The proposition appeals to practical White House advisers like National Chairman Boyle. But it is probable that Mr. Truman will withhold his answer until he delivers his message on the state of the union, early in January. And HST is a stubborn man—that is, of late.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
Last night at eight o'clock Wife Rachel and I were listening to the radio when a familiar voice said: "A woman driver is one who does the same things a man does, but gets blamed for it." The voice was that of Father Maurice Tew, the minister at St. Gabriel's Catholic Church on West Fifth Street. His broadcasts from WGTC in Greenville, called "At the End of the Day," have been a feature program for about 10 years.
Last night Father Maurice started a new series of broadcasts, which will be heard regularly on Monday night at eight o'clock. Since the station has increased power from 250 to 5,000 watts since Father Maurice broadcast, last night he re-introduced his program to the new listeners covered by the seventy-five miles the station reaches with its increased wattage. Actually, WGTC's power is decreased to 1,000 watts at sunset, but at that, Father Maurice's program is covering new territory.
Father Maurice is the kind of speaker who gives you the impression that there's no such thing as radio script. He seems to be just talking off the cuff. He never fails to warm his audience up, getting his audience in the mood to listen. Last night he did it with this story:
One day a minister was walking down the road with his two attractive daughters. When he came to a bridge he saw a boy fishing. "How's your luck?" he asked. "Rotten," the boy replied. "Well," the minister said, "just be patient. Remember that persistence always wins the crown." "But I'm not fishing for a crown; I'm fishing for fish." The minister laughed and continued his conversation with the boy. "You know," he said, "I'm a fisherman too."
"You don't look like it. With that black suit you have on you look more like a preacher or an undertaker."
"I am a minister," he said, "but that makes me also a fisherman. I'm fishing for men, trying to catch their souls."
The boy rolled his eyes at the preacher's two young daughters. "Well," he said, "all I got to say is, if you're fishing for men you sure are totting some swell bait."
In this particular story the minister couldn't seem to make a point with that boy. In that respect that minister was different from Father Maurice, who always makes his. Last night he said, "During this half hour you won't hear any tips on how to play bridge or canasta; in fact, I can promise you that you won't even hear 'Good Night, Irene.' Some of you won't like what you hear, because it'll stir up your conscience." By hitting the nail on the head, Father Maurice often does that.
And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau
By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, N. C.
READY—All parties at interest are just waiting for the calendar to get right to complete certification of votes in the recent general election, and the swearing in of Senator Willis Smith, Associate Justice Jeff D. Johnson, Jr., and Congressman Woodrow Jones. These are the three men elected who are concerned with special oath taking ceremonies. Waldo Cheek, commissioner of insurance, can take another oath of office by reason of his election, but since he will succeed himself (he has been serving for more than a year under executive appointment) the exact time is not important. Returns from each of the 100 counties have been received at the state board of elections, blank certificates have been prepared for the newly elected officials and for the five constitutional amendments. Everybody knows now what the count with respect to each contest is, but under the law the state board of elections cannot meet before November 28 to formally certify results.
DATES—If congress had been called into session before next Monday, the state board probably would have met to canvass the vote in the eleventh district which resulted in election of Woodrow Jones for both the unexpired term of the late A. L. Bulwinkle and for the regular term beginning in January. Since congress was not in session and an earlier meeting of the board would have saved only a day in seniority for Jones and in giving that district a vote in the congress, it was decided to dispense with the special congressional district canvass.
ALTERNATIVES—The statute says the governor must issue such commissions to a representative to congress upon certification of his election. That has been construed to include members of the senate as well as the house. However, the governor's statement is simply that the person has been elected, and most legal authorities hold he can sign that statement at any time when he is himself convinced the person has been elected. So it is believed a commission signed before the governor leaves the state will be valid. In that event, both Smith and Jones could be sworn in on opening day of the special session of congress next Monday. Another alternative to prevent delay is for the senate or the house, or both, to suspend the rules requiring a commission signed by the governor. That course was followed in 1946 when Miss Jane Pratt, elected in a special election to succeed William O. Burgin in the eighth district, took the oath of office before the state board of elections had certified the vote. Most people apparently feel that the saving of a few hours in seniority of congressmen does not justify the extra trouble of speeding up action, particularly since no important vote is likely to be called on the first day of the session.
DEFINITIONS—There is continuing need for clarifying definitions of many words. Right now a good many folks would like to know what constitutes a contingency or an emergency, as contemplated in the appropriation of a million dollars year by the general assembly and council of state for "contingencies and emergencies." The common dictionary definition of the words implies they mean conditions or situations arising unexpectedly and which regular legislative appropriations are being considered. That would include fire, flood, outbreak of war, rioting and numerous other events which in normal course of things could not be anticipated.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

DESIROUS OF RESULTS (Greensboro Daily News)
Provisions of natural gas for eight Carolina cities and towns moved a step closer Friday with a Federal Power Commission examiner's order that the right to provide this service be awarded Piedmont Natural Gas Corporation.
Just low far off consumption of this order may be an entirely different matter, though, as competing companies have 20 days in which to appeal or the commission itself may institute a review within 10 days. Should the controversy be carried into the courts, the time involved might become incalculable.
What the Daily News particularly likes, however, is Examiner Marsh's own admission that a decision be expedited so that no more time than necessary would be lost. Certainly the FPC has an obligation to recognize its public responsibility and to act in accord therewith. The big interest of the area concerned is not who will supply it with natural gas, but that somebody bring this gas in, without needless delay, in the benefits, advantages and saving which it will effect. All along there has been the fear that construction might be delayed until materials are unavailable and that the area might be made to suffer just when it needs additional fuel worse for both heating and industrial purposes. We are thinking in terms of the national economy as well as defense.
What goes for natural gas in our own areas applies with equal force and cogency to the construction of that Roanoke Rapids power dam where once again a decision has been rendered in favor of a private power company which is ready and waiting to go ahead with immediate fulfillment of a need. Here too progress is bogged down in red tape bureaucracy with one agency of the government fighting what another has approved and holding up construction in the name of a project for which it has no funds and upon which it has no idea when it might proceed, if ever.
The public in both instances wishes results, and it has every right to expect and demand that government agencies which are supposed to protect its interests and effectuate its wishes move to this end rather than persistently block its attainment.
THEY'RE SHOOTING HIGH (Kinston Free Press)
Washington dispatches say that the CIO and the AF of L will urge Congress to seek $6 to $7,000,000 annually through excess profits from corporations.
These labor unions are shooting too high. They haven't a chance in the world to perpetrate any such monstrous outrage upon the industrial life of this country. Their leaders in making such demand show a glaring and conspicuous disregard for the solvency and continued successful operation of American industry. As a matter of fact their leaders living on the fat of the land, so to speak, expected in high fees from their membership, don't give a "d" for anything or anybody except themselves. They are utterly lacking in any appreciation of the mutual interests and essential cooperation between employer and employee.
If President Truman should be able to get any such levy as is proposed by Murray and Green through the forthcoming "lame duck" session of Congress it ought to be revised and cut to the quick when the 82nd Congress comes into power January 1.

Business Today

Consumer credit controls are having a definite effect on sales. The effect is uneven. Retailers who have depended on easy terms to keep stocks turning over have been hard hit. Those who have offered instalments as a convenience and to extend sales to the upper fraction of the low-income group have not been so severely affected.
The reimposition of credit controls on September 18 did not have much effect. There has been a suspicion that these were more intended to "prepare the public" more than to reduce credit. It was reported then that the "real" controls would be postponed until after election. But less than a month later, and so hurriedly that the legality of its action has been questioned, the Federal Reserve Board increased down payments and shortened terms, effective October 18.
Department store sales for the four weeks ending October 14 were 9 per cent higher than for the corresponding weeks a year ago. But in the next four weeks they were only 5 per cent higher. This is not a clear measure of the effects of controls, because other factors entered into the change and only 12 per cent of department store sales are on the instalment plan.
In the used car market, the effects were more noticeable. Automotive News reports that 1850 models in July averaged $2,088 at auctions all over the United States. The same models brought only $1,652 early this month. Seasonal influences and normal depreciation were important factors; nevertheless dealers attributed the drop of more than 20 per cent mostly to the reduced demand resulting from Regulation W.
New car sales have fallen off and although there has been no general reduction in prices, the prices of 1951 models are less than was expected in view of higher prices for materials and labor.
Appliance and furniture sales have also been affected. Definite figures on sales before and after credit controls are not yet available, but furniture manufacturers report some cancellations of orders. There have been fewer in the appliance field, where shortages are feared soon.
In some sections the effects have been much worse than others. A new car dealer in Dallas has cut prices up to $500 a car because, he said, Regulation W. had "paralyzed" business. A Shreveport, La., appliance firm said its sales dropped from $70,000 a month to $2,000 because of credit controls. It isn't kidding—the statement was made in connection with a voluntary action for receivership.
IDEAS MAY BE BORROWED BUT AD COPY CANT
Retailers constantly read ads from other cities for ideas. There's at least one flourishing clipping service specializing in supplying merchants with ads published in other cities.
But getting an idea from an ad is one thing; copying an ad outright is another. One large store, finding its ads copied in every detail except the store name, has begun copyrighting them and has announced it will sue the pants off plagiarists.
CLEANSE SALES SHOOT UP SHARPLY
Sales of soap in the third quarter was 32 per cent above those in the second quarter and detergent sales were up 16 per cent, according to the Association of American Soap and Glycerine Producers. Either Americans are scrubbing themselves more or some retailers and consumers have been building up stocks.
CHANGING FISCAL YEAR CAN HELP SAVE MONEY
Many businesses can save time and money by closing their books on other than December 31, Edward Mesner, certified public accountant, writes in the November Journal of Accountancy. In very few cases is there any good reason for making the fiscal year match the calendar year and there are usually good reasons not to.
Closing books at other times can avoid taking inventory when bad weather makes it harder and more costly; it can avoid extra work in the weeks that are shortened by holidays and already jammed by preparing government reports; it can provide for better outside assistance because accountants are already overworked in December, and it can ease the year-end pile-up in banks.
NEW AND HOT ANTHISTAMINE: An antihistamine for children will shortly be introduced with extensive advertising. (It's by Serutan Co., 390 Jelliff Ave., Newark, N.J., which calls it Histaline. Spelled backwards that would be Epilastin.)
SCALERS: For quick scaling or cropping of photographs, designs, etc., a new device is being made of die-cut laminated board by Straight-Line Products Co., 45 Dodd St., Montclair, N.J.)
PILLOW: For people who don't like pillows stuffed with feathers, there's one that can be stuffed with air. It's made of Vinylite plastic and can be inflated or deflated with valve. Greater comfort is claimed for it by the makers (U.S. Fiber and Plastics Corp., Union St., Stirling, N. J.)
PROMOTES IMPORTS
The Beer-of-the-Month Club, which distributes imported brews on a club plan, expects sales of more than $1,000,000 the first year. It is arranging to handle also handling advertising appropriations for all of the beers, thereby providing broader coverage than any one foreign brewery could afford.
SERVER: Cake may be cut and served with a new utensil. It has a vertical V-shaped blade which cuts a wedge of cake; slight pressure on the handles permit the wedge to be lifted to a plate untouched by hands.

Hal Boyle's Column

By BARBARA BRINES
(For HAL BOYLE)
With U. S. Troops In Korea—(AP)—A woman should go to war.
It can make her feel 10 to 12 years younger. She can come away feeling pleasantly spoiled.
A woman is an oddity—and apparently a pleasing one—to the foot soldier going up to the front. She may look like a potato sack tied in the middle. But if she wears bright lipstick and a big smile, the wolf calls and whistles from 18 and 20 year old men will make her feel like a real life pin-up girl.
And it doesn't hurt her vanity—even if she should have to run for miles around tables to keep away from Colonels with glints in their eyes.
But there is another side of it, too. Instead of making her feel 10 years younger, war can make her feel 60 years older.
She rides in a jeep slithering at five miles an hour through a mud-smeared road. It's lined on both sides by infantrymen. She can tell they are weary by the way their backs are bent.
As they plod along through the mud, some are bent more than others, depending on the burden they carry. It may be a new 3.5 inch bazooka, a box of ammunition, a machine gun, or a mortar base plate.
She feels ashamed riding in the jeep while they slog along on foot. She hunches her shoulders and pulls down her helmet. She looks at the soldiers out of the corners of her eyes, not daring to look them square in the face.
Her jeep gathers speed as it leaves the infantry behind and she sits upright again. The jeep takes her to a town which has just been knocked out by artillery and air strikes.
She was cold. But now she is warmed by the heat from the burning houses and smouldering rubble.
She is comforted by the thought there is no enemy alive here—unless he could live in hell.
With this thought in mind, she decides to look her womanly best when she passes the infantry again on the return trip. She redoes her lips, pushes off her helmet and lets her hair blow in the breeze.
This time the infantrymen see her, all right. And she knows it. At first they don't believe it. Then smiles break the crusts of dirt around the corners of their mouths. They whistle and wise crack—real American style.
"Hey, a woman! And she's a woman! And she's white, too."
"Say, baby, what were you doing up there, anyway? Trying to get killed or something?"
She yells back, and then: "Hey, what the hell kind of an Army is this getting to be? Do we get women, too?"
"Hey, baby, want to share my dinner with me? calls another, waving a can of beans. "hey, baby, what's it like up forward?"
She wants to get out and talk to them. She wants so much to march with them. She wants to do something to help lighten their burdens. But she can't.
She just laughs at their jokes, wise cracks back at them, hopes they don't see the tears streaming down her face, and feels truly young again.
WASHINGTON LETTER
By JANE EADS
Washington—Dr. William T. Mann, curator of the National Zoological Park, has taken his nourishment in jungles and deserts, on mountain tops, in swank restaurants and banquets and quite often at home. He's a bear for game food and eats bear. He thinks eland (a type of antelope) is the best game food in Africa, wild boar in Europe, mountain goat in the southwest United States.
"After you've been out in the sticks anything tastes good, however," he tells me.
Perhaps the strangest dinner he ever sat down to, he says, was in the Dutch East Indies.
"They serve a dish called restafel," he said—"a plate full of rice with many different kinds of side dishes. You're supposed to eat them all. Some are sweet, some sour, many of them hot as as blue blazes with spices and stuff. Accompanied by lots of beer."
"And, how did you feel afterwards?" I asked.
"Went to sleep," Dr. Mann replied with a little-boy grin. "I try to eat my big meals on Sunday so I can nap afterwards."
During the winter months, when Dr. Mann stays close to his animals at the Zoo, he makes much ado over the big game lunches served to members of one of the capital's most unique organizations, the Anteaters Association. Host to the Anteaters is L. G. Leech, manager of the National Zoological Park Restaurant.
Members include big-wigs in Washington from every profession—congressmen, military brass, business executives, newsmen, big game hunters, diplomats, socialites.
They eat such things as bear, buffalo, turtle, reindeer, elk, wild duck, pheasant, sturgeon. Mr. Leech tells me that this season members will dine on lunches of buffalo barbecue, European venison, Northwest black bear, Dakota pheasant. They have two bears that came from Minnesota, with their hides left on. Mr. Leech plans to have the hides tanned and maybe given them to a friend who would like bear hides.

Churchwomen Show Interest In National And World Issues

Women are interested in a great deal more than just getting the kids off to school or helping out at the church bazaar, according to Mrs. Dink James, of Greenville. Mrs. James, who returned today from the fifth national Assembly of the United Council of Church Women, reported that the more than 2,000 Protestant women meeting in Cincinnati expressed a very practical concern on issues that affect their homes, the nation and international affairs.

For example, Mrs. James said, the women passed a number of resolutions on problems arising from the present world crisis. They deplored hoarding and profiteering, contending that women should work for government controls to combat inflation and increased taxes to help pay for "the high cost of peace," she said.

They realistically faced the fact that "in the present world situation, sacrifices are unavoidable," Mrs. James said. "They know that the cost of overseas relief and reconstruction and our own defense program are going to cost money and they want to make sure the costs are evenly distributed among our citizens."

The women for the first time related the missionary efforts of their churches, our delegate said, to the work carried on through UNESCO, the World Health Organization and the Point IV program, besides stressing missionary work in their own communities.

The women's support of the United Nations, she continued, was underlined by their approval of the UN flag in churches, schools and public buildings as "a symbol of the nations working together for peace."

They urged immediate Senate ratification of the U. N. Genocide Convention and commended the U. N. General Assembly's resolution on collective action against aggression. They warned, however, that our own government should not emphasize spending for military preparedness at the expense of measures that will raise the standard of living at home and help promote "freedom throughout the world."

Freedom at home was of equal concern to the women, who urged vigilance against any abrogation of civil liberties, and recommended careful study of the recent McCarran Bill to see whether it violates "the basic freedoms for which we stand," Mrs. James said.

Paraguay has no sea coast.

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurensen

AP Newsphoto

Chapter 27
 "How long after the train passed before you got here?"
 "Oh, maybe five-ten minutes. I set on soon's he passed Perkins."
 Marc locked his arms under his coat behind his back and rocked from heel to toe.
 "When you were at Perkins, were you where you could watch the train as it passed?"
 "Yeah," replied Morrison, pulling a tattered paper packet from his pocket and gnawing off a piece of plug tobacco. "Soon's I showed, I got in the clear and watched him go."
 "Did you notice the last car?"
 Morrison massaged the stubble on his jaw reflectively. "Well, I did kinda look that car over. Johnny told me old Dick'd be riding on the tail, so I was watching for him. Couldn't see much, though. That hoghead was really wheeling it!"
 "Could you see anything that was going on? Think hard, Morrie. It's very important. There was a murder in progress while you were standing beside the tracks. Perhaps you were a witness to it! Did you see anyone on the car?"
 Morrison's brow was creased with the furrows of intense concentration. "The back half was lit up bright like a Christmas tree. The only guy I could swear to seeing was a fellow in the glassed-in part. There was light coming under the blinds of one, or maybe two of the windows forward. Couldn't be sure about that." He thought a moment and then continued, "I think there was someone on the back platform."
 "Man or woman?"
 "A man, I think, but I wouldn't wanta swear to it. That platform was pretty dark. Just as the rear end passed, he straightened up, and I saw his shadow against the light."
 "What do you mean, straightened up?"
 "Well, you know. Maybe he was getting up from a chair, or maybe he leaned over to spit, or tie his shoe. I dunno. Anyhow, the shadow came up like he'd been bent over."
 Marc nodded. "How about the other end of the car? That's where the murder was committed. Anyone out there?"

The furrows on Morrison's brow deepened. "It's awful hard to say, Mr. Jordan. If there was anyone on that platform, I didn't see him. I was looking at the train, but like I say, he was running like a bat outa hell and I can't say for sure."
 Marc puffed thoughtfully for several minutes, while Morrison watched him.
 "What do you make of it, Mr. Jordan?"
 Marc shrugged. "It's queer, Morrie. The train was reported at this point at ten-fifty-eight. We can assume that the murderer didn't stand around and admire the tooling on the axle after he—or she—swung so expertly. Therefore, the presence of the axe at this precise spot seems definitely to fix the time. Then in a matter of minutes, you bust along and find it. Does that make a difference, or doesn't it? I'm darned if I know. It's very peculiar!"
 Marc paused, and then added irrelevantly, "How'd you say the dog died?"
 Morrison stared at him in surprise. "Huh? Why, run over. Hit by the train, anyway. She's all cut up, and her head's about off."
 "Hm, yes. Looks that way. Well, let's head for Calumet."
 With his hat cocked at an angle and his hands thrust deep in his pockets, Marc picked his way through the maze of tracks of the freight yard. The control tower made an oasis of light in the gloomy pall of smoke. Arriving at the steps, he slowly climbed to the tower room. He twisted the broken-down chair around with his foot, dropped into it wearily and propped his feet

WHY DO STOCK PRICES CHANGE ?

Imagine a typical auction. The auctioneer is calling for bids on some early American chairs. He points to one.
 "I hear $40. Forty-five! Thank you, sir!"
 "Will someone make it fifty? Forty-five I have—a lady bids $50. Fifty-five over there—and sixty!"
 "Sixty, a bargain at $60. Sixty-five! Do I hear sixty-five? ... Sold for $60."
 On the New York Stock Exchange there is a continuing auction... in stocks. But unlike the country auction, the Stock Exchange is a market place for securities in which thousands of investors, from all over the country, participate daily. Their orders are serviced by its members, acting as their agents, every business day.
 Actually, it's a double auction, working both ways. Bidders want to buy their stock from sellers at the lowest possible price. Sellers want to get the highest price for the shares they are offering. When a buyer's bid and a seller's offer arrive at a mutually acceptable price, a purchase is completed, a sale is made... at the best price available in this national market, at that moment.
 That's the kind of give and take going on all the time at the Exchange, in the 1,500 stocks that are listed. That's why stock prices change. A buyer whose bid is too low can raise it. An offer to sell that is too high can be lowered. It's an auction market... for buyers and sellers.
 All kinds of factors influence people to buy or sell... earnings and dividends... purchasing power of the dollar... new production records... a war won or threatened... a change in tax laws... strike news... other factors.
 The Exchange does not set prices. Prices are determined by the public's appraisals of the attraction of stocks in terms of benefits offered and risk assumed. The Exchange does, however, see that prices are arrived at openly and fairly, and published promptly.
 When you buy or sell a share of stock, you buy or sell a share of a business, an interest in everything that company has. Information about any corporation's operations and financial condition, its earnings and dividend record—facts essential to an investment decision—are yours for the asking, without obligation, at offices of member firms of the New York Stock Exchange. They are located in 377 cities.

Mrs. Laura Norris, 1325 A South 6th St., St. Louis, Mo., says doing the family washing and housework is no longer a chore. She says she can do her work in a breeze now. She thanks wonderful HADACOL for her feeling of well being. She had deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Norris' exact statement: "It was such a long time since I was feeling 'OK.' Couldn't sleep either—just roll and toss all night. I couldn't hardly do my housework—and I was always cross and irritable. One day I heard about how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. I tried HADACOL, and after the 2nd bottle I began to feel better. I sleep like a top—in fact, I feel wonderful, thanks to marvelous HADACOL."

Yes, HADACOL is Marvelous in the way it has helped thousands of folks whose systems were deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. HADACOL can help you, too, if you have such deficiencies. If you will just give HADACOL a chance. If you are suffering from certain nervous disturbances, insomnia when due to an upset stomach, or a general rundown condition, caused by such deficiencies, let HADACOL help you as it has helped others all over the country.

HADACOL is not a quick-acting product which gives only symptomatic relief — HADACOL is so successful because it relieves the real cause of stomach disturbances and a general run-down condition when caused by deficiencies of Vitamin B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin. So if you're troubled this way, don't keep on putting off relieving the real cause of your trouble. Remarkable improvements are often noticed within a short time.

Get That Wonderful HADACOL Feeling
 Go right now to, or telephone, your nearest drugstore for HADACOL. Start taking it today. Trial size bottle costs only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitute. There is only one true and genuine HADACOL which everyone is talking about. (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation.

 Finishing the business of the moment, O'Conner spun about and favored Marc with a grin.
 "Howdy, shylock!"
 Marc grunted. "Shylock, eh! Have you mixed your characters, or are you being nasty? Howdy yourself."
 "You been doin' a mess of traipsin' around this man's railroad, Marc. You birds really clipped in here from Zola, this evenin'. What's the idea? You figurin' on takin' up the signal business?"
 "I didn't go for the pleasure of the ride, I assure you," said Marc fervently. "They ought to spring-mount and air-condition those darn cars. What a way to travel!"
 O'Conner nodded. "Yep. Them fellers can have the whole ball o' wax. Me, I'll take a nice, warm, sittin' down inside job."
 "Marc, you better get Mr. Richards' murder cleared up pretty quick," continued O'Conner, turning away from the machine. "Nora says you ain't fit company for a self-respectin' squirrel. You'll be losin' a nice gal friend, if she is my daughter."

Housewife Adds To Art Quality

Los Angeles—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Fry, a housewife who has never had an art lesson, spends her spare time improving on the work of professional painters.
 Mrs. Fry specializes in renovating statues and religious objects in churches, convents and monasteries. She touches up paint faded by the passage of time or if necessary removes the old pigment and applies a complete new coat. She got the idea "while putting on my makeup one day" and has been doing it for several years.

New Flagpole Is Nearly Installed

The new 30-foot steel flagpole erected on the Evans Street lawn of the Greenville Post Office during October was being readied today to bear aloft the American flag every day except Sunday.
 The flagpole on the roof of the Post Office was taken down.
 Post Office officials could give no special reason for removal of the flagpole from the top of the building to a place on the lawn. One person familiar with government contracts ventured the opinion today that the federal government in Washington is changing the flags because an American flag on top of a building would indicate it as a government building and a prominent target for enemy airmen in event of war. Another opinion passed along was that the tall flagpole on the building, whipped by the wind, would strain and damage the roof and ceiling.
 Installation of the flagpole is being done under government contract by L. B. Gallimore, building contractor, Greensboro. D. E. Basham is superintending the work. The flagpole is supported in a six-foot cement base. It is eight feet at the base and is encased in a 10-inch steel cylinder. The pole is grounded to protect it from lightning.

Array Of Drunks Faced Judge In Police Court

Five defendants charged with being drunk faced Judge J.W.H. Roberts in Police Court Monday. The docket was the lightest the court has had in a long time.

Francis Dancy, an old offender, police testified, was fined $15; David E. David paid $15; Albert Lee Smith, colored, (and disorderly), three months in the county jail; Gladys C. Padgett, $15; Martin T. Stewart Jr. (and disorderly), $15.

Allen Smith Jr., colored, was not guilty. Linwood Raginton, assault with a deadly weapon (a knife) on Eva Mae Reddick, colored, was fined $20. The court gave him three months in jail, suspended and Raginton was ordered not to visit any cafe or dance hall for 90 days and not own a knife of any kind.

Gilford Webb, colored, was given 30 days in jail for assaulting a female or pay $15 fine.

Herman W. Hicks, reckless driving, called and failed. A capias was issued for him.

Hatcheries Set All-Time Record

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 21—(AP)—North Carolina commercial hatcheries set an all-time record last month by producing 4,750,000 chicks.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said yesterday this was three times larger than the 1,584,000 chicks hatched during October, 1949.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin from the RECTOR KITCHENS

The holiday week is here! What feasting there will be! Juicy, tender Wilson's Certified Turkey and wonderful, flavorful Wilson's Certified Smoked or Tender Made Ham will make mighty fine feasting. Then for those last tasty tidbits. What to do? Really, they are far too tender and tasty, far too good to go into the turkey 'n' bones soup kettle, and a little too irregular in shape to cube nicely for a de luxe salad. Our taste testers at the Rector Kitchens went all out for this "day-after-the-feast" Creamed Turkey and Ham. We think you will like it.

CREAMED TURKEY AND HAM TIDBITS

Dilute contents of: 1 can condensed mushroom soup with: 1/4 cup milk or cream. Mix and heat. Then add: 2 cups boned turkey, cut up; 1/2 cup ham, cut up; 1/2 cup pimientos, shredded; 1/2 cup canned peas, drained. No salt or pepper is needed as the soup is already a seasoned sauce. Merely heat over hot water. Do not boil as that would toughen the meat. Serve hot in toast baskets to four.

Wilson's Co. The Wilson label protects your table.

The bus will leave at 8 a. m. Travelers may stay as long as they want to. Parents and teachers of the Fleming Street School P. T. A., let us remember to meet tonight at 7:30 for the regular meeting at the school. The president expects each of the standing committees to make their report.

Carver Library

The library is proud to announce a very successful Book Week. One of the ways we observed Book Week was with the Story Hours. Among those participating in telling stories Tuesday afternoon were: Mrs. L. R. Taylor, Miss G. M. McElrath, Gloria Nimmo, Barbara Gaines, Peggy Lofton, and Gloria Porter.

On Thursday afternoon the Story Hour was conducted by Miss F. A. Phillips. At this Story Hour awards were given to members of the Summer Reading Club for having read the largest number of books. These awards were tickets to a movie through the courtesy of Mr. P. Cohen, manager of the Roxy Theatre. The Library Board wishes to thank

Mr. Cohen for this courtesy. Persons receiving awards were: Jacqueline Reaves and Arvis Davis, first place; Lois Porter, Genevieve Porter and Grace E. Davis, second place; Gloria Nimmo and Aris Knox, third place. It is our desire for more to become members of the Summer Reading Club. Refreshments were served at each Story Hour. We wish to thank the members of the Library Board for furnishing refreshments. There were approximately 120 children attending the Story Hours.

Army To Be Terrific In 1951 Grid Season, Too

By FRANK ECK
 AP Newfeatures Sports Editor
NEW YORK—If you think Army has a great football team this year wait until 1951—if you can. Without reservations (no pun intended) West Point should have one of its greatest grid machines in history next fall.

Coach Earl (Red) Blaik will lose six regulars from his offensive platoon but he has brilliant replacements. Only two Cadets in the current defensive setup will be missing.

Can you imagine a backfield with Bobby Blaik at quarter, Gene Filipki and Vic Pollock at the halves and Al Pollard at full?

This will be Army's 1951 backfield on the attack. Off what it has shown this fall this new unit could go on to surpass the feats of the combinations sparked by Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis of a few years ago.

Blaik Comes Through
 Bobby Blaik, 21-year-old son of the coach, has more than lived up to expectations as a quarterback. He can pass and punt with the best, runs well when the occasion demands and is just about everything when it comes to running a team. His calls have been an inspiration to the rest of the club.

Now take Pollard, 22, from Los Angeles. He played for Loyola University during 1948, using up one year of varsity football. Thus, 1951 will be his final grid year at the Point. Pollard gave an indication of his pigskin prowess last fall when he scored 14 touchdowns and made 24 conversions for the Plebe eleven.

In the first six games this season,

Pollard accounted for 87 points on five TDs plus 27 out of 39 extra point attempts. The first time Pollard carried the ball he ran 47 yards like a scared rabbit for a touchdown against Colgate. Against Columbia he tallied on a 67-yard run and in the Harvard game made two TDs and 101 yards on eight carries. He also scored against Michigan.

Filipki Has Speed
 They refer to Filipki as "Little Gene" but the 19-year-old sophomore from Sacramento is five-feet-eleven. The 178-pounder was the big gun against a fighting Pennsylvania team when he scored on runs of 73 and 29 yards. His only previous score was against Penn State.

Pollock scored in each of Army's first six games this fall for a total of nine touchdowns and 54 points. One of his dashes was 94 against Colgate.

Captain Dan Feldberg will be difficult to replace as an offensive end. However, his understudy, John Weaver, six-three from Kingston, N. Y., showed in the Penn game that he was a fine pass catcher.

N.C. Housewives Advised To Buy Turkeys Early

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—Plenty of turkeys are available for Thanksgiving but Tar Heel housewives are urged to buy them early.

That was the advice yesterday of Ralph B. Kelly, Poultry Marketing Specialist of the State Department of Agriculture. Kelly warned that a last-minute rush might create local shortages and push the prices up.

Dressed and drawn hens, he said, are selling at 61 to 65 cents per pound, depending on the size and quality, and toms at 49 to 55 cents per pound.

Call 3356

City consumers who do not receive their electricity by six p. m. are requested to report same by telephoning 3356 between six and six-thirty p. m.

After that hour the distribution department will be closed and deliveries will be made of paper ahead.

Now As Then

Today, as our forefathers did, we celebrate Thanksgiving with a deep appreciation for His generosity. But now, as then, we are faced with the necessity of carrying arms to protect ourselves from forces of darkness that threaten to smother the light of liberty. Yet, with faith in Him we are certain that liberty will conquer, as it did then.

Clemson Slated For Gator Bowl

Daytona Beach, Fla., Nov. 21—(AP)—Clemson's unbeaten football team definitely is set to play in the Jacksonville Gator Bowl game, a bowl official said here last night.

George Olson, assistant manager of the bowl, told Daytona Beach Quarterback Club members that the Tigers would meet either Kentucky or Tennessee in the Jan. 1 game.

Two years ago Clemson defeated Missouri in the Gator Bowl. The team has won seven games and played a 14-14 tie with South Carolina. It ranks 11th in this week's Associated Press ranking of the nation's teams. Clemson winds up its season against Auburn Saturday.

Tennessee meets Kentucky this week. Kentucky, winner of 10 straight, has been mentioned as a Sugar Bowl choice, while Tennessee has figured in Cotton and Orange Bowl speculation. Clemson also has been mentioned in connection with the Orange Bowl.

Wants Accuracy In Playing Game

South Bend, Ind.—(AP)—Jerry Groom, Notre Dame's captain and center, is a stickler for accuracy. Press box observers spotted Groom in the thick of action during the Navy game every time they looked up. It was the press-box impression that Groom had played the entire 60 minutes of the game. One scribe asked Jerry if he had been in all the way.

"Why no. I didn't play the full game," said Jerry. "I was out for two of the kickoffs."

Patrolmen Quit; Protest Move To Other Offices

Asheville, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—A second State Highway Patrolman resigned today in the wake of a wholesale transfer of members of Troop D, with headquarters in Asheville.

There were reports in law enforcement circles that a half dozen or more other patrolmen planned to quit in protest to the shifts. Resigning today, effective Dec. 1, was PFC Dwight Ray, who was scheduled to go to Fuquay Springs. PFC Roy Owen stepped down yesterday.

Sgt. William Nall, a veteran of 19 years with the SHP, 15 of them in Asheville, is scheduled to be transferred to Kingston. PFC Roy H. Rector has been reassigned to Louisburg.

Troop Commander Capt. C. A. Speed termed the transfers "routine."

There is little cause for Nebraska football coaches to worry about Bob Reynolds, the Cornhuskers' sensational sophomore, getting a "swell-headed" because of the way he has dominated the picture. The youngster is as level-headed as he is tow-headed. Reynolds has had his ups and downs in high school and junior legion competition and has managed to take the applause of the crowds in stride.

Reynolds has confidence in his own ability to go places on the gridiron, but he realizes full well that he isn't getting away on long, scoring runs unless his blockers spring him. At Grand Island (Neb.) high school he blocked as often as he

Winterville Girls Top Walstonburg

Winterville's basketball sextet opened their 1950-51 season with a rousing 73-52 win over Walstonburg girls last Friday night.

The game was well-matched during the first half, but in the second half, the Wolverines exploded to cruise to an easy victory.

The offensive trio of Winterville—Betsy Castelleo with 31 points; Jean Ann Liverman with 19; and Ann Speer with 16—spelled the defeat for the Walstonburg sextet.

Ruth Hazelton, stellar guard for Winterville, was outstanding on defense.

The tables were turned, however, in the boys' clash, as Coach Henry Andrews' Wolves went down in a close, 59-52, battle.

The two teams played to a 26-26 deadlock during the first half, but Walstonburg went ahead in the second half play, and staved off a Winterville rally for their margin of victory.

M. Shirley was high scorer for Walstonburg with 18 points, while E. C. Averette led Winterville with 12 points. Thomas Nobles was runner-up to Averette with 11 points.

Nobles and Buck played good defensive ball for Winterville.

Five Colleges In Swimming Meet

Chapel Hill, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—Five colleges will participate in the annual Thanksgiving swimming meet for southeastern colleges at the University of North Carolina Bowman Gray pool here Thursday and Friday.

Competing this year will be Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina, Duke and North Carolina State. Miami University, which took four first places last year, is not entered this year.

Malayan Railroad Job Dangerous

Kuala Lumpur—(AP)—It's a mighty tough job working on the railway in Malaya. No one knows at what moment he may be blown sky-high.

Communists by day and night emerge from the thick jungle bordering rail lines. They plant mines to blow express passenger and freight trains off the tracks. They burn railway stations and murder workers. They fire upon just about every train that makes the run from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur.

Report U. S. 'Gouged' By Jacked-Up Rubber Prices

Washington, Nov. 21—(AP)—The United States is being gouged unmercifully in its purchases of rubber from friendly foreign nationals, a Senate committee said today.

The Armed Services Preparedness Subcommittee said in a report that rubber prices have more than quadrupled since October, 1949, advancing from about 17 cents a pound then to more than 75 cents a pound today. It added: "We are constrained to comment on the fact that the nationals of friendly nations, made more secure by our mobilization program, are obviously taking advantage of the tight situation created by our and their national emergencies to sabotage the preparedness effort by gouging unmercifully on their sales of rubber. X X X "What we would freely give for foreign aid and mutual assistance we would not have extorted from us."

Noting that the United States is "not unique in its rubber poverty," the report added: "The position of our allies is even more precarious because no other nation except Canada has synthetic-rubber-producing facilities."

This situation must be considered in the build up of United States rubber resources, the report said. So far, the build up has not been done on an adequate scale, it said.

Buccaneer Statistics Rose In Atlantic Christian Finale

Roger Thrift, Frank Maennle and the entire East Carolina offensive unit rang down the curtain on their 1950 pigskin season in a blaze of glory last Friday night as they romped ACC, 54-7, in their finale.

Thrift's passing, Maennle's pass-snatching and Johnny Smith's running finished out in the lead of the individual Pirate statistics, with such fellows as Dwight Shoe, Tom Swain, Bill Darby and Jack Britt coming in close.

Little All-American candidate J. Smith failed to reach his 2,000 yard mark in passing, but with his passing 233 yards last Friday night for five touchdowns, he came within 93 yards of securing it with a tremendous 1,907 yards in 124 completions out of 257 attempts. Thrift passed for twenty TDs during the season, and had an amazing 482 percentage with an average of 15.3 yards per pass.

Big Frank Maennle also ended a spectacular college football career as he scored four times to soar way out front for individual scoring honors for the season with 66 points, second in the state, and mounted his pass-receiving mark to 639 yards in 39 catches, which is good for an average of 16.4 per catch.

Maennle's running mate, Dwight Shoe, who is only a sophomore, came in close to the raw-boned senior's figures, as he snagged 36 passes for 579 yards for a 16.0 average per pass. Shoe was second in the Pirates' scoring with 42 points.

Little Johnny Smith, consistently in the lead in the rushing department since taking over the fullback duties, closed out his football playing days with a creditable 5.2 average per carry as he ran up 364 yards.

New York—(AP)—It took seven years for pro football owner Ted Collins to record victories over every one of his nine old-line rivals in the National Football League. # Young Legion Commander Was Left For Dead By Nazi Guards

By CHARLES BARRETT
AP Newsfeatures

Atlanta—Riddled and left for dead by Nazi machine gunners a few months before, the big, brawny guy with the broad grin was coming home.

He was helped off a plane from France to join his dad and mother.

Their "How are you son?" brought the reply, "I'll be well enough to go to the Legion convention this year."

That was Erle Cocke, Jr., back in 1946.

A lot of hospital operations and four years later, still only 29 years old, Cocke is the youngest national commander of the American Legion in history.

His election in Los Angeles last Oct. 12 was by the biggest margin in years, one of the biggest ever.

Cocke says his goal is to sell not only veterans but all Americans on the Legion program of "peace through strength," including universal military training.

If his next year is like the others, the U. S. A. is in for a lot of legionizing.

Started as a Cripple

Cocke has been a whiz at everything he tries. His young life includes a crippled boyhood, zooming business and civic success, and a hair-raising, almost incredible World War II adventure.

He's a six-foot-two, 210-pounder with a rugged countenance, bright brown eyes, wavy brown hair, hearty handshake and plenty of smooth talk. Despite his glum and good looks he's a bachelor.

Even when he was 27, political posters had tagged him as a good prospect for governor of Georgia. Now some friends are really booming him. But Erle is sticking to business and the Legion, so far.

His story began in the little Southwest Georgia peanut town of Dawson. The boy crippled at the age of 18 months and wore casts or braces on his left leg until he was nine. Today he wears a size 11 shoe on his left foot, size 12 on his right.

Versatile in School

Young Cocke became president of the literary society at the University of Georgia in Athens. At the same time he was manager of the football team. Coach Wally Butts called him the nation's "All-America manager."

Then came the war. Maj. Gen. A. C. McAuliffe, who said "nuts" to the Nazis at Bastogne, told an Atlanta friend Cocke was "the best individual soldier I saw during the war."

Gen. McAuliffe's citation tells the story of Cocke's exploits during April 22-24, 1945.

Capt. Cocke set out with a corporal, a jeep and a carbine to contact a cut-off U. S. battalion near Beuren, Germany. First he ran into a column of 80 German soldiers, opened fire and "put the entire enemy column to flight," capturing three Nazis and liberating five French prisoners.

At Balzholz, he was pinned by machine-gun and small-arms fire and both he and the corporal were wounded and captured.

Cocke was lined up with 17 other U. S. prisoners and marched to Oberwilkingen. Left with two guards, Cocke clubbed the guard while other GI's jumped the other. They escaped.

The little band marched up to the Burgomaster (mayor) and Cocke persuaded him the town was surrounded by the Allies and resistance was futile. Oberwilkingen and two little nearby towns were surrendered to the ex-prisoners.

But Nazis Came Back

A Nazi artillery battalion, two rifle platoons and other German soldiers gave up their arms. Finally Cocke sent all but four of his men back to Allied lines—taking 592 prisoners with them, by official French count.

Then a Nazi panzer division rolled into Oberwilkingen, and the odds were a little too great. Cocke and his tiny group opened fire but were captured again. Cocke was questioned by the same Nazis who had questioned him two days before, after his first capture.

"He didn't like my looks and I didn't like his," says Cocke. He swatted the Nazi in the jaw and German guards opened up on him at 20 feet with tommy guns.

The captain fell and was left on the spot, believed dead. Finally two old women hauled him to a hospital in a hand-pulled, wood-wheeled cart.

A German doctor gave him the first of 27 operations that took him to 27 hospitals over 14 months. He was decorated with the French Croix de Guerre, the U. S. Silver Star, Purple Heart with three clusters and the bronze star with clusters.

After his recovery, Cocke received a master's degree in business administration from Harvard and became assistant general manager of the largest peanut butter manufacturing plant in the world, at the age of 25.

In 1948 he became general industrial agent for the Central of Georgia railway and recently became assistant to the president of Delta Airlines. He is a past commander of the Legion in Georgia.

Would Develop Poorer Counties

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 21—(AP)—North Carolina should make a concerted effort to industrialize its undeveloped areas, says State Treasurer Brandon Hodges.

Hodges asserted in an interview here yesterday that in recent years the state's rich counties have become richer and the poor counties poorer.

He pointed out that while the nation is undergoing a vast industrial boom, the state should seek to attract industries to its poorer counties.

He suggested dividing the state into districts, each with centrally located offices. The offices would be manned by personnel familiar with the area and would work to attract new industries.

The poorer counties, he declared, are unable to promote their own industrial expansion. "The state should be concerned with their plight," he added.

He singled out five southwestern counties, Clay, Graham, Cherokee, Macon and Swain, as an example of an undeveloped area with great possibilities.

Warns Youngsters

Police Chief Guy C. Langston today issued a warning to children at the West End School who are flying model airplanes on the school grounds and elsewhere in the neighborhood to seek a larger field.

He said the youngsters take a big chance of being injured in traffic chasing their toy airplanes. The chief suggested the parking area near Guy Smith Stadium.

Adoptions Bring More Children

NEW YORK—(AP)—Childless couples frequently have a baby after they have adopted a child. Some of the reasons may be that after the adoption the wife becomes freer of tension, fears and hostilities, and accepts a feminine and maternal role, says Dr. Abraham Stone, director of the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau.

He said that about 30 per cent of married couples who seek advice about inability to have a child have no apparent physical troubles. The desperate desire to have a baby may sometimes apparently interfere with conception.

Deer Is Greeter Of Passengers

Grand Canyon, Ariz.—(AP)—Official greeter at the Grand Canyon airport is a deer. He extends a welcome to all passengers alighting from Trans World Airlines flights.

He makes friends readily, but is a bit of a "character" too. For instance, he is fond of eating lighted cigarettes and will snatch one right out of your hand. He's a little too young to have horns, but he is most proud of the beginnings that he is sprouting. Turn your back on him and he'll give you a nudge. Just testing, you know.

Hot Rod Racing Cuts Accidents

Santa Ana, Calif.—(AP)—Traffic officers have greatly reduced the number of hot-rod accidents hereabouts by heeding the old saying, "If you can't lick 'em, join 'em."

A little more than a year ago the California highway patrol, alarmed by the lawlessness and high accident rate of teen-age racing jolopy drivers, assigned two men to the problem. Charles Follard and Ezra Ehrhardt figured out the solution was to let the boys work off steam at organized races. The officer attended club meetings, gained the confidence of the drivers and ended up supervising week-end races for cars and motorcycles at an abandoned air port. Now as many as 5,000 turn out Sundays to watch members of the racing clubs—boasting such colorful names as Lancers, Clunkers, Full-Idlers, Ma-rod-ers—rip over the course at more than 100 miles an hour. The Sheriff and the highway patrol say hotrod speeding complaints have declined 90 per cent since the airport races began. The motorcycle accident death rate dropped seven per cent in a year while registrations rose 30 per cent. Automobile statistics show similar accident declines.

Driver Charged With Improper Brakes On Car In Street Mishap

Police reported today that a warrant had been issued against Leamon Dixon, colored, Route 2, Greenville, charging him with driving a motor vehicle without proper brakes. The case will be tried in Traffic Police Court Wednesday morning. The investigating officer said Dixon's car collided with the rear of a car driven by Oliver G. Seymour, Kingston farmer, when Seymour stopped for a red light. The collision occurred on Dickinson Avenue at Manhattan Avenue Saturday.

Valued Relics In Western Rivalry

Portage La Prairie, Man.—(AP)—The west must be getting old. There are indications of inter-provincial rivalry over the custody of its relics. Ben Richardson, vice-chairman of the Portage La Prairie Museum, says Manitoba is losing many valuable pieces because of the Manitoba government's "wait and see" policy. Richardson said an official of the Saskatchewan Museum recently carted off carloads of historic relics from Manitoba and added: "It is apparent Saskatchewan is building up a well-stocked museum with articles from Manitoba."

Atomic Reactor Near Completion

Idaho Falls, Idaho, Nov. 21—(AP)—The first atomic reactor on the west, new Snake River Plains site of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission is nearing completion. On this new even depend the main hopes for atomic power and possibly most of the heralded blessings of an atomic age.

This reactor, called a breeder pile, is designed for a brilliant, daring and still somewhat doubtful scientific venture, namely to create fuel. At present there is not enough atomic fuel in the entire world for more than transitory power.

The spectre of defeat which the breeder will try to correct showed up in the great Hanford Works plants in Washington. There uranium atoms of atomic weight 235 split to convert ordinary uranium into plutonium, which is new atomic fuel. The spectre is the fact that the uranium-235 at Hanford creates less plutonium than the amount of 235 which splits.

There isn't much uranium-235, not enough to keep up this losing race. Somehow the uranium-235, before it is all gone, has to be forced to breed like animals—where one sire produces two offspring. In this case, one atom must breed more than one.

Funeral Wednesday For Jack P. Dawson

Jack P. Dawson, 45, died at Duke Hospital in Durham at one o'clock Monday afternoon following two weeks illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the home of his father, J. P. Dawson, near Ayden, at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by the Rev. W. H. Brunson, Christian minister of Ayden, and burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery.

Mr. Dawson was born, reared, and spent all his life in the Ayden community. He was married to Lottie Barrow of near Ayden in 1934, and she survives with three daughters, Mary, Jean, and Barbara Ann Dawson; and two sons, Robert and Jack Dawson, Jr., of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Dawson, near Ayden; two brothers, Raymond T. Dawson of the home and Roland C. Dawson of the U. S. Navy, now stationed in Norfolk; and a sister, Mrs. Jesse Hooten of near Kinston.

Declares Soviet Agents Dominate China's Affairs

Lake Success, Nov. 21—(AP)—Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang told the United Nations today 45,000 Soviet agents completely dominate the political, economic and cultural life of Communist China.

Events of the past 12 months, Tsiang said, have fully proved his charges that the Chinese civil war was engineered by Russia and that the Peiping regime is the stooge and tool of Moscow. He spoke before the General Assembly's 60-nation political committee.

Tsiang told the committee Russia has completely ignored the Assembly's 1949 appeal to all nations to refrain from interfering in the internal affairs of China. He blamed Russia for the intervention of Communist China in the Korean War and said Russian imperialism was responsible for most of Asia's unrest.

Home Endangered by Blazing Trash Pile

A pile of trash, which apparently became ignited from a spark of a coal heater, did only slight damage to the home of Lester Dixon, negro, last night in Greenville.

Occupants of the house had put the fire out by the time the fire department arrived on the scene, and had kept the fire from doing much damage.

The box alarm, 157, was turned in from Fifth and Tyson streets. It was the seventh call for the local firemen this month.

Windows Broken By Strong Wind

Strong northwesterly winds prevailing in this section yesterday afternoon and until past midnight crashed heavy plate glass window at the Wagner-Marshburn Motor Company and Page's Serve U Station, at the junction of Dickinson Avenue and the Farmville highway.

No damage was done inside either of the buildings, the owners stated. Greenville policemen patrolling that neighborhood shortly after midnight notified the owners of the buildings.

Smith's Aide Is Believed Chosen

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—Senator-Elect Willis Smith has offered the post of Administrative to Assistant Attorney General J. E. (Hap) Tucker of Raleigh.

It was learned today that Tucker is considering the offer and may decide during the day whether or not to accept the $10,500 a year post.

Lower Freight Rate For Autos

Washington, Nov. 21—(AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today ordered an average 12 per cent reduction in railroad freight rates on new automobiles.

Officials estimated the cut, dated to become effective Feb. 20, will involve savings of $10 and up for new car purchases.

State Is Leasing Mineral Rights

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—The state is leasing mineral rights on land in eastern North Carolina to insure availability of limestone or marl for the manufacture of cement. Governor Scott told his news conference today.

Too often in the past, Scott asserted, private companies have bought up such land or obtained options to avoid competition.

Santa In Early Call On Lad Who Lies Near Death

Durham, N. C., Nov. 21—(AP)—Santa Claus has just made an early call on a nine-year-old Durham lad whose life may ebb away before Dec. 25.

The grief-stricken family of Eugene Henry watched as he opened gaily wrapped packages containing a toy electric organ, a small road-grader, a few shiny 50 cent pieces, and most important to Eugene, a table-size Christmas tree.

It could have been his last Christmas morning.

His one-time healthy body is wasted away to less than half its normal size by a dread, creeping muscular disease so rare that only one other case is known in the United States at present.

Librarian Plans To Resign Jan. 1

Miss Irene Hester, librarian at Sheppard Memorial Library many years, has tendered her resignation, effective January 1. T. I. Wagner, chairman of the Sheppard Memorial Library Board, announced today.

Miss Hester is giving up her work here in Greenville to go to Greensboro to be with her mother, she stated.

Chairman Wagner said "Miss Hester has done a wonderful job here." Library officials and the public generally appreciate her efficiency, courtesy and faithful service.

4-H Club . . .

Council were installed to serve until next November and another Achievement Day program. Installed as president was Julia Stokes. Serving with her will be Franklin Garris, Belvoir, vice-president; Wooty Manning, Belvoir, secretary; Howell Bone, Pacolus, treasurer; and Sara Hudson, Chicod, reporter. Miss Helen Hicks, assistant home demonstration agent and 4-H club worker, conducted the installation ceremonies.

Four reports were made, in addition to Latham's, by members who attended the respective camps open to members during the summer. Vance White, Bethel, reported on the state wildlife camp; Shirley Anne Hardee, Bethel, 4-H camp; Wesley Manning, Belvoir, farm and home safety; and Hazel Garris, Farmville, state 4-H short course.

The main part of the program was devoted to the awarding of certificates to members for one-seven years' achievement, given for membership and also for completing a project; certificates to county champions in individual projects; and to the clubs for the most outstanding work among the 18.

The Belvoir Senior club took top honors for the most outstanding club, given for the completion of members' projects, attendance at all meetings, work in community activities, and records made by individual members. The Fountain Junior club won second place certificate, based on the same prerequisites.

The Grimesland Senior club won the attendance prize and Fountain Junior placed second. The prize is given for the highest percentage of club members at each meeting. Achievement certificates awarded

...IT'S COLD OUTSIDE but it's WARM INSIDE with DUO-THERM

See how little it costs

The Big, Beautiful SHERATON

DUO-THERM TRAILER HEATER with bigger, more powerful POWER-AIR BLOWER!

Cut Fuel Costs up to 25% with a DUO-THERM

Why track coal and ashes through the house when you can heat without work or dirt, as you cut fuel oil costs up to 25%? Here's how the Duo-Therm Royal Heater does it:

1. Power-Air Blower keeps more warm air in circulation—saves up to a full gallon of fuel oil out of every 4 you burn! Only Duo-Therm has Power-Air.
2. Duo-Therm's Exclusive Burner mixes air and fuel oil in just the right amount for clean performance. You get more heat from every drop of oil. No moving parts. It's utterly silent!
3. A Special Waste Stopper is built right into every Duo-Therm. This fuel saving device helps transfer more heat into your home.
4. Finger tip control dial assures you workless, dirtless heat. You just twist the dial and get heat to order. A real money-saver in changeable climates.

In addition to the Royal model we have a fine line of furniture style cabinet models, made exclusively by Duo-Therm. Drop In. Select the Duo-Therm that will do the best job for you.
