UN Now Awaits Veto By Russia

Security Council Action Expected To Be Blocked When Resolution Calling For Withdrawal Of Chinese In Korea Comes To Vote Late Today

Lake Success, Nov. 30—(AP)—A Russian veto today was expected to block Security Council action on Korea—and the western powers planned to indict the Chinese Communists within 24 hours in the U. N. General Assembly.

The assembly has scheduled a plenary session at Flushing Meadows tomorrow to consider several social items. It thus will be available to take up at once United States charges that the Chinese communist aggression in Korea gravely threatens the world's peace.

While the Assembly can only recommend, its powers in that direction are limitless. It could urge the 60 member governments to apply economic and diplomatic sanctions against Mao Tse-Tung's Peiping regime. It also could call on the members to rush more men and arms for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's hard-pressed United Nations forces in Korea.

Even if it avoided taking such firm steps at this stage of the crisis, the Assembly still could record the majority's condemnation of the Chinese Communists. Chief American delegate Warren R. Austin appeared to foredoom such a condemnation yesterday when he told the Security Council the Chinese Reds have defied two-thirds of the world. He warned the communists to take heed lest "all men's hands" be turned against them.

The council has before it a six-power resolution calling for withdrawal of Chinese communist troops from Korea, and giving Peiping assurances that U. N. forces will not cross the Korean-Chinese border. The Soviet delegation already has made plain it will veto the resolution. That would clear the way for losing the whole matter to the veto-free Assembly.

The council probably will not reach a vote on Korea until late this afternoon.

Austin issued this warning yesterday: "The United Nations will not submit to threats. The United Nations stands against aggression."

Asking whether there will be peace or war in the Far East, he said: "The world waits anxiously for the answer." He called for prompt council action on the six-power resolution.

Law Enforcing Officers Meet

Charleston, S.C., Nov. 30—(AP)—Members of the North Carolina and South Carolina Law Enforcement Officers Association opened their semi-annual meeting here today. More than 1,000 delegates and guests are expected to attend the two-day session.

The program includes firing demonstrations by FBI agents and a pistol match in which 14 teams from the two states will compete.

Cold Subsides

Milder weather prevailed in the Greenville area today in the wake of nearly a week of frigid weather.

The highest temperature yesterday was 46 degrees. Lowest last night, 27, and at 8 a.m. today it was 32 degrees.

During the forenoon the wind shifted and was coming from the southwest at noon.

Social Security Tax

Paying Of Social Security Tax On Household Workers Has Been Simplified For The Housewife; An Outline Of What, When, Where And How To Do The Job

By MAX HALL

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Some people are getting a bit wild-eyed over paying social security taxes on household workers next year. It's not so much the money they must pay as the mathematics and red tape involved.

One housewife was heard to exclaim: "I'd never be able to figure it out! I do believe I'll have to let my maid go!"

Now just relax, lady. A group of government officials had a press conference yesterday and explained what has to be done by all concerned. And it really isn't so bad.

If you have in your regular employ a household worker (maid, laundress, housekeeper, cook, nursemaid, gardener, furnace man, valet, chauffeur, and the like) you should do certain things.

First, send your name now—or as soon as you can—to the Collector of Internal Revenue in your district and tell him you employ a household worker.

The easiest way to do this is to visit a post office and pick up a small blue booklet entitled "Do You Have a Maid?" It contains a card that you can fill out and

Expanded Atomic Facilities Ahead In U.S. Planning

Growing War Crisis Pressuring Up Move; AEC Preparing Fund Request

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—The growing war crisis appeared today to be pressuring up a tremendous expansion of atomic facilities for which congress may be asked to lay out $1,500,000,000.

This was indicated today in advance of a closed meeting of the Atomic Energy Commission with the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Earlier congressional reports had set at $1,500,000,000 the amount President Truman would ask the present session of congress to provide for atomic bombs and hydrogen weapon development.

Regardless of the size of the figure, two things appeared certain: First, that an alarmed congress would provide the money and, second, that another whopping AEC money request will be made to the new congress which convenes Jan. 3.

Both the figures mentioned are likely requests this year are unofficial, but there were significant signs that mighty and costly developments in the atomic-hydrogen field were in the offing. These included:

- 1. The threat of a new world war posed by the entry of the Chinese communists into the north Korean fighting, termed open aggression by the United States.
2. The AEC announcement Tuesday that a South Carolina site has been selected for new facilities.
3. The prediction of Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) that he anticipates "very large supplemental requests" for money for an expansion of atomic and power facilities to be carried on "within the Tennessee Valley Authority distribution territory."

4. An unconfirmed report which circulated around Capitol Hill yesterday that the AEC will seek funds to build a new atomic plant in southeast Kentucky. Rep. Golden (R-Ky) told reporters he had no official information that the Kentucky site was under consideration for an atomic plant. But he added that a government survey was conducted in the area last summer.

Civic Industrial Body Discussion Set For Tonight

Members of the industrial committees of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce, Merchants Association and the various civic clubs of the city will meet tonight at 7:30 in the City Hall to discuss the formation of an industrial development corporation for Greenville.

Manager W. T. Kyzer of the Chamber of Commerce said the public is invited and urged to attend the meeting along with the representatives of the business and civic organizations of the city.

J. E. Waldrop, chairman of the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside at the meeting. The Chamber of Commerce committee will make a report of a study which has been made of the various industrial development corporations that have been formed in the cities of North Carolina and throughout the nation.

Dick King Files For Pitt Office

An application for the office of Register of Deeds has been filed by R. W. "Dick" King, former deputy sheriff of Pitt County.

King submitted the application to Charles Gaskins, Register of Deeds, who is clerk for the Board of County Commissioners. Gaskins has submitted a letter of resignation from the office, effective December 15, which will be acted upon by the board at its Monday meeting.

King's application came several days after Gaskins' statement that he will request resignation from the office to go into private business. The letter from King is the only one on file in the clerk's office to date. He was deputy under former sheriff Knott Proctor who took office in 1938, and served in that capacity for more than three years, leaving to go into the army during World War II.

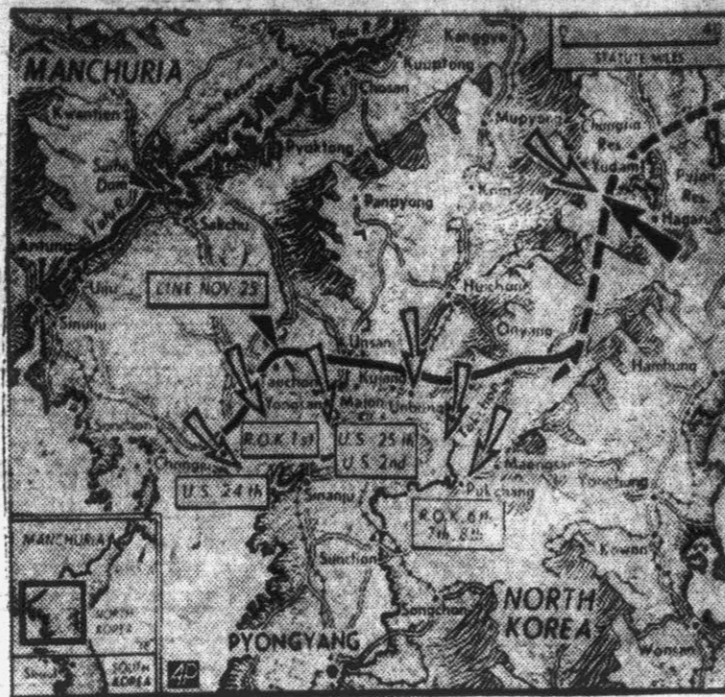

Although no application other than King's has been submitted, John Clark Jr. has been prominently mentioned for the job. Clark is a former employe in the diplomatic service of the State Department and is now owner of The House On Fourth, a women's apparel shop in Greenville.

Clark stated this morning he is considering asking for the job and will submit an application to the Commissioners this afternoon.

M. Brown Hodges, chairman of the board, stated this week he had been approached by Clark concerning the possibility of getting the job. Hodges stated Clark's name will be considered along with those of any other applicant who files in the meantime.

The chairman stated the board would definitely appoint a man to fill Gaskins' unexpired term at its Monday meeting.

Allies Meet Bitter Reverses

This map locates major U. N. units whose "end the war" offensive has been turned into a bitter retreat along the northwest front in North Korea. The solid line locates the approximate front just before the Chinese Reds launched a powerful mass assault. Open arrows locate areas of the Red drives along the Chongju-Tokchon sector and in the northeast where the Reds have blunted a Marine attempt to push westward from the Changjin reservoir. Gen. Douglas MacArthur describes the Red assault as "an entire new war." (AP Wirephoto Map).

Use Of A-Bomb Is Being Considered

President Says Use Against Chinese Being Considered If That Step Is Necessary; Strongly Backs MacArthur

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—President Truman said today active consideration is being given to use of the atomic bomb against the Chinese Communists if that step is necessary.

The President spoke of this possibility at a news conference in which he also expressed continued hope that a third world war can be averted.

Mr. Truman also made clear he is strongly backing Gen. Douglas MacArthur who has been under some criticism chiefly from abroad. The President sharply denounced a complaint by three Republican senators that Secretary of State Acheson had been critical of MacArthur, the United Nations commander.

In a statement, the President said that the Chinese Communist attack, made in great force, may lead to further reverses but "the forces of the United Nations have no intention of abandoning their mission in Korea."

He said if the Chinese aggression is successful in Korea, "we can expect it to spread through Asia and Europe to this hemisphere, and added: "We are fighting in Korea for our own national security and survival."

Mr. Truman announced he is calling Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to the White House tomorrow to ask "urgent consideration" for heavy increases in appropriations.

The President plainly laid on Russia the responsibility for the Chinese Communist attacks in Korea.

He said: "We hope that the Chinese people will not continue to be forced or deceived into serving the ends of Russian colonial policy in Asia."

Western diplomats in this capital assume that would mean the United States and her friends. They base their assumption on the tone and content of Soviet press articles which in recent weeks have stressed that an American-Japanese alliance exists and that the two countries have agreed on a program of Japanese rearmament.

The British have sought assurance from the United States that the American action in branding Chinese intervention in Korea "aggression," would not be accompanied by immediate demands for U.N. enforcement action. This assurance apparently was provided.

As a result Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was able to tell the House of Commons Britain still hopes to "stabilize" the military situation in Korea and to talk peace with the Chinese Communists.

TB Seal Sale 'Off' For Past Few Days

Service League officials reported today the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas seals in Pitt county has slumped badly during the past several days.

Mrs. J. Bryan Brown of the Service League reported this morning replies from the 3,975 Christmas seal letters mailed in the county on November 20th came in readily for the first week following the mailing, but since then replies to the letters have been slow.

Each of the letters which were mailed to individuals throughout Pitt county contained a sheet of Christmas seals, and requested a donation to the annual TB drive be mailed to the county headquarters.

Mrs. Evans said no seals will be offered for sale by county school children this year. The only participation the school children will have in the drive, she explained, is that they will be given TB bangles and asked to contribute to the TB fund if they desire.

The county chairman urged those who have not yet mailed their donations to do so immediately.

Mrs. David A. Evans, chairman of the TB fund-raising program in the county this year, pointed out that TB Christmas seals are not being sold by the white school children on occasions in the past.

She said some of the letters received by the TB headquarters here stated that the writers intended to purchase Christmas seals from the school children of their communities rather than making a donation direct to the county headquarters.

Chinese Horde In Sudden Shift To Northeast Front

Acheson Warns Free World To 'Prepare For The Worst'

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson's declaration that the free world must "prepare for the worst" heralds an administration drive to speed an even greater arms program in both the U. S. and Western Europe.

Officials said today that will be the government's initial response to the new global crisis created by Communist China's intervention in the Korean conflict.

The gravity of that crisis was pointed up by Acheson's warning to the nation and the world last night that "no one can guarantee that war will not come."

Linked to this immediate danger, Acheson pictured the free world as being under dark threat of Soviet military powers with "capabilities for conquest and destruction."

The intention of free men, he said, is to preserve their institutions by peaceful means but history has proved that "if we must, we will fight for them."

"We must hope and strive for the best while we prepare for the worst," he declared in a speech delivered from his office to the National Council of Churches of Christ, meeting at Cleveland, and broadcast by radio and television. He had canceled plans to go to Cleveland because of the crisis.

Acheson himself called for the arms speedup which appeared to be in the making. Declaring that the only test of defense preparations is whether they are adequate to meet the danger the free world faces, he said:

"So measured, the defense efforts of the United States and other free nations are inadequate. "A greatly increased scale and tempo of effort is required on the part of all free nations to enable them to overcome this inadequacy at the earliest possible moment."

There was little direct comment from congressional leaders on Acheson's speech. But three Republican senators—Wherry of Nebraska, Bricker of Ohio and McCarthy of Wisconsin—accused the secretary of trying to out-Gen. Douglas MacArthur as commander of U. N. forces in Korea.

In his speech, Acheson did not hint at any criticism of MacArthur. The three senators gave their views in separate interviews.

Seven Sent Induction Center By Pitt Board

One Hundred To Be Called For Pre-Induction Examinations Next Monday As State Board Asks Larger Group

Five Pitt County men and two transfers from other draft boards were sent to induction centers this week. The seven inductees sent from the Greenville board marked the lowest number sent to Raleigh for induction since the draft began operation last summer.

Those from the county are: Oliver Glen Tucker, Rt. 2, Greenville; Lionel Richard Barker, Stokes; Charles Edward Hooten, Greenville; Gene Hope Lewis, Rt. 2, Greenville; and Elbert Lee Barnes, Negro, Rt. 4, Greenville.

Two transfers from other boards were: James Stasinos, New York City; and Wilbur Grey Eilers, Laurinburg.

The board announced that 15 more men in addition to 25 will be called for pre-induction tests next Monday. An order from state draft headquarters requested that the contingent of 85 be raised to 100 to be sent to Raleigh for the examinations.

During December, also, 55 men will be ordered to report for induction. Those men will be drawn from the number who have taken the mental and physical examinations prior to now. They will report to Raleigh for dispersal to induction centers December 20.

Pitt will send its first "special category" group to pre-induction December 7. It was announced yesterday two doctors and one dentist will take the examinations for induction in Raleigh at that time.

The three will form the first contingent drawn from the medical, profession in Pitt to be sent for possible service in the Armed Forces. They are men who did not serve in the last war more than three months and who studied under the auspices of government schooling programs.

Court Postpones Lanier Hearing

A preliminary hearing for J. Con Lanier, Greenville attorney, indicted for the highway death of a Grifton resident Saturday night, will be postponed until next Friday afternoon, it was learned here this morning.

Lanier was formally charged in Kingston Tuesday by the State Highway Patrol with the death of W. H. Henry Tripp, 62-year-old Grifton man who was killed while walking on the highway Saturday night at Grainger Station.

The hearing was originally scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 before Judge Albert W. Cowper of Kingston Recorder's Court. Albion Dunn, Lanier's attorney, stated this morning the postponement was at the request of the State. He stated he did not know why it was being postponed.

Lanier's bond, which was posted Tuesday, was reduced yesterday by Judge Henry Stevens in Lenoir County Superior Court. It was reduced to $500 from the original $3,000.

Dunn stated yesterday his client knew nothing about Tripp's death until he read in Monday's newspapers an account of a hit-run highway death on the Kingston-Grifton road. Lanier, Dunn said, rendered during yesterday's court are: Arthur Lee Payton, reckless driving; no pros. Louis Smith, larceny; plead not guilty, judged guilty, sentenced to six months on the roads, suspended on condition he pay $50 and costs and appear in court the first day of each criminal term during 1951 to testify concerning his good behavior and gainful employment.

Worried British Would Prevent Attack On China

London, Nov. 30—(AP)—A worried Britain wants the United Nations to set up a firm defense line in Korea well short of the Manchurian frontier and to begin early peace talks with Red China.

The cabinet, meeting today for the second day in a row, reportedly decided that the whole weight of British influence must be used to prevent any attack by U.N. forces on Chinese territory.

In the view of official sources who reported this, such an attack on Red China could—and probably would—touch off World War III.

Russia has a treaty of friendship and defense with China. Its most important known clause binds the Russians automatically and immediately "to give military and other help by all the means at their disposal" if China is attacked by a state or states "directly or indirectly" united with Japan.

Western diplomats in this capital assume that would mean the United States and her friends. They base their assumption on the tone and content of Soviet press articles which in recent weeks have stressed that an American-Japanese alliance exists and that the two countries have agreed on a program of Japanese rearmament.

The British have sought assurance from the United States that the American action in branding Chinese intervention in Korea "aggression," would not be accompanied by immediate demands for U.N. enforcement action. This assurance apparently was provided.

Give 'Go-Ahead' On Building Of New Highways

Raleigh, N.C., Nov. 30—(AP)—The Highway Commission today gave the go-ahead signal on $4,144,767.03 worth of new highway construction.

The commission approved awarding of contracts to low bidders on 20 projects. Bids on the road jobs were opened Tuesday.

The list of projects includes three major jobs, one for grading and structures on a new highway between Durham and Chapel Hill, another for grading and structures for a new lane to highway 29 between Charlotte and Concord, and a third for a new bridge over the French Broad River at Hot Springs.

Gardner Given 25-To-30 Years In Peyton Slaying

Judge William I. Halstead in Superior Court sentenced William Gardner, Grimesland Negro, to 25-30 years in the state penitentiary for the murder of Lester T. Peyton, also of Grimesland, last June.

Gardner entered a plea of guilty of second degree murder and the trial and sentence were carried out in an hour's time. Originally, Gardner had appeared for trial in the August term but was committed to State Hospital in Goldsboro for observation to determine if he was mentally able to stand trial. Doctors there stated in a letter to the Clerk of Superior Court Gardner's condition was such that he was capable of going on trial.

The sentence was the maximum allowed under a plea of second degree murder.

Other cases heard and judgments rendered during yesterday's court are: Arthur Lee Payton, reckless driving; no pros. Louis Smith, larceny; plead not guilty, judged guilty, sentenced to six months on the roads, suspended on condition he pay $50 and costs and appear in court the first day of each criminal term during 1951 to testify concerning his good behavior and gainful employment.

Rent Control Extension Set For Senate Debate

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—A two-month extension of federal rent controls beyond Dec. 31, headed today for senate debate with predictions it will be approved speedily.

The extension legislation cleared the Senate Banking Committee late yesterday by a 10-2 vote. Chairman Maybank (D-S.C.) later predicted to reporters it would clear the Senate by a wide margin, adding:

"I am convinced that this is necessary so we can keep faith with the men who are fighting in Korea and their families." The ease with which the resolution cleared the committee evidently dispelled the gloom which Maybank had expressed previously about senate acceptance of continued controls. Prior to the committee meeting, he had forecast "plenty of opposition" in the senate. The present law is due to expire Dec. 31, except in communities which vote to keep them in effect to June 30. The resolution would set a Feb. 28 expiration date, while leaving unchanged the community extension period.

Eighty Thousand Participate In New Offensive; Curious Lull On Previous Battlefront; Units Near Big Reservoir Surrounded

Seoul, Nov. 30—(AP)—Eighty thousand Chinese Reds on a new offensive were reported attacking United Nations forces in northeast Korea today.

A curious lull fell on the frozen bloody battlefronts in the northwest.

Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond told war reporters six to 10 Chinese divisions "suddenly confronted" his 10th Corps forces in the northeast.

Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker's Eighth Army in the northwest was similarly faced with 200,000 Red Chinese at the outset of the communist offensive last weekend.

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Army reported today that U.S. Marines around the Changjin reservoir in northeast Korea are holding their line and are not in a hopeless position.

American marines and infantrymen around the Changjin Reservoir were surrounded in Almond's area. They were battling fiercely but the Marine supply route was cut. Intelligence officers said probably six of the divisions mentioned by Almond were in the forward attacking force. Some red tanks were in use there.

In the northwest, a Hal Boyle reported observation that American troops protecting the winter retreat of the U. S. Eighth Army pulled the icy Chingchin River across back safely through Haming Kumu.

Fighter planes strafed Chinese moving toward the town. American vehicles crunched over the frozen brown road westward toward Anki, postal communications lines, to join over United Nations forces retreating to a safe and sharply constricted line.

An Eighth Army spokesman said wintry quiet prevailed over most of the northwest front throughout Thursday. This was confirmed by correspondent Boyle who—flying low over the front—could spot no Chinese movements.

The lull came after Americans, British and Turks checked communist efforts to unhinge the right flank and pin the allies against the yellow seashore of west Korea.

The spokesman said the Chinese continued to pour men and equipment toward U. N. forces but that little ground contact was reported.

In the northeast, AP correspondent Tom Stone reported Chinese in overwhelming force continued their assaults on the U. S. First Marine Division and American infantrymen around Changjin Reservoir.

The heaviest fighting was northwest of the reservoir, three miles west of Yudam. Elements of the Fifth and Seventh Marine Regiments were encircled. Also under heavy attack and isolated was the First Regiment, on the south.

Red roadblocks were wedged between the leatherneck regiments and clamped on their 51-mile overland supply route to Hamung on the east coast.

On the east side of the reservoir, a spokesman said, elements of two U. S. Seventh Division regiments were under "moderate attack," but supplies were reaching them.

Marine and carrier-based U. S. Navy fighters gave the doughboys and leathernecks close support. One flight of Marine Corsairs strafed Chinese dug in only 30 yards from the GIs.

The 'Big Stick' Today

Western Powers Are Looking For Any Loophole China Or Russia May Offer To Reach Honorable Settlement Of Issue; Talking Softly, But No Appeasing

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The attitude of the gravely concerned western powers toward the terribly dangerous Korean crisis seems generally to follow the line of Teddy Roosevelt's famous warning of an old adage:

"Speak softly and carry a big stick; you will go far."

All the chancelleries have engaged in a ceaseless search for a solution which might prevent the Far Eastern explosion from developing into another world war. No breath of "appeasement" has been apparent but there has been a diligent effort, without loud bluster, to discover a "political" method of settlement. British foreign secretary Bevin summed the matter up like this after long hours of research:

"If the Chinese want to avoid general war and if they show the slightest signs of willingness to cooperate in exploring a solution by peaceful means, I am satisfied a solution can be found."

Bevin said he had consulted Washington and the purpose of the two governments was the same, namely, "to resist aggression, to localize hostilities and to settle the Korean problem on a basis satisfactory to the United Nations."

Obviously Bevin's hope was based on a big "if" regarding Communist China's intentions. In United Nations quarters there was gloom because of the belligerent attitude adopted by the Red Chinese delegates.

And of course the effort to read the Chinese mind has to take into account the fact that Peiping speaks in agreement with, and likely by order of, Moscow. Therefore the puzzle which the western powers must solve is whether Russia wants to get the western powers—and especially the United States—engaged in a major war with China, or whether Moscow may even contemplate precipitating a world war for the final showdown between communism and democracy. China is one of the pawns in this struggle of the East.

The consensus of western observers is that Russia isn't yet ready for another world war. If that estimate is correct, then the

Mrs. Joe Lupton Speaker Before Semi-Centi Club

The Semi-Centi Book Club met with Mrs. Earl Kittrell at her home on East Fourth Street Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, at 8:00.

The president presided over a business session during which there were lengthy discussions regarding the club's Christmas supper. The agreement was unanimous that the husbands of the members be invited to attend this supper, the tentative date for which is December 16. At the close of the business discussion, Mrs. Straughn turned the program over to Mrs. Joe Lupton.

Mrs. Lupton chose as her topic "The Origin of Poetry." This was a subject with which the speaker is familiar as she is known among her friends for her ability to sing, and often, songs are but poetry set to music. No one knows actually when the beginning of poetry took place, but one can imagine that it may have had its beginning many, many years ago when all the rhythm and music was beat out on a drum made of dried skins stretched across a hollow vessel. A hunter may have beat out a time on his drum and chanted words which he made up as he went along telling of his kills in the dense woods. In reading a poem, one can feel the definite rhythm in its lines, and hear the rhyme and harmony contained in them. The poet expresses in his verse the beauty and feeling that an artist paints on his canvas. Mrs. Lupton read a verse of her own composition which was published a few years ago as Today's N. C. Poem in the News and Observer.

After the books were exchanged, the hostess served a light refreshment course, and the meeting was adjourned.

Mrs. Dail Is Hostess To Sans Souci Club

The Sans Souci Book Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. H. Dail at her home on West Fourth Street.

The home was decorated throughout with red berries and greens, giving a reminder of Christmas cheer.

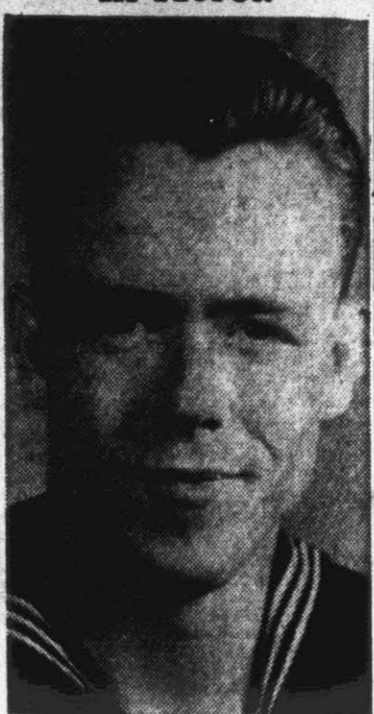

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hugh Ragsdale, after which minutes were read by Mrs. Sugg. Nineteen members answered to roll call. The club was glad to have Miss Jane Hall from Raleigh as a visitor. After the routine of business, Mrs. L. W. Gaylord, who had charge of the program, delightfully entertained the club with a very interesting and instructive talk on "Thanksgiving."

She reminded the members it is the time of year for each to acknowledge her many blessings and to recognize the difficulties which still lie ahead.

In her talk she gave impressions of the value of individual freedoms, from slavery, education, property and many other phases of government.

In closing, she suggested all give thanks to almighty God for his wonderful care through the years that have passed and pray earnestly for the continuation of the blessings he has so eagerly bestowed upon us. After the passing of books, Mrs. Dail, assisted by Mrs. Scales, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

Woman's Club Plans Anniversary Tea

Ayden—Plans for a tea to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the organization of the Woman's Club are being made according to announcement made by Mrs. C. Y. Griggin, president of the local club. The affair will be held in the community building on December 5, from 4 to 6 p. m. The ten past presidents are to be honored guests. The citizens of Ayden, both men and women, are cordially invited to attend this celebration.

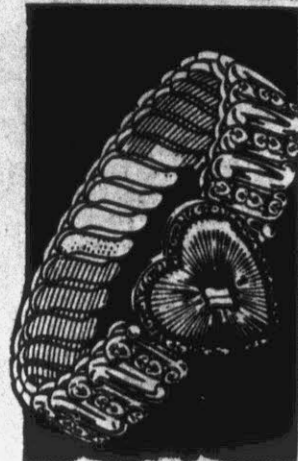

The Ayden club was organized on November 14, 1925, in the auditorium of the primary building. Mrs. H. E. Austin, vice president of the Greenville club at that time, headed the delegation of Greenville club women who helped with the organization. Twenty-five charter members were enrolled in the Ayden club meeting at that time. Mrs. M. T. Frizzelle was the first president. Many civic improvements have been made under the sponsorship of the club during the twenty-five years of its existence.

Under the new regulations which come into effect January 1, any person employed in a home for as many as 24 days in any three months and who, is paid as much as $50 during that period of time, must pay social security taxes. It is up to each housewife to collect the taxes for the government from her servant or servants.

In any three-month period in which the servant does not meet both the 24-day and the $50 requirements, no social security payments are required. For those who do meet both requirements, the housewife is required to deduct one and one-half per cent of her servant's wages to send to the federal government. In addition to the one and one-half per cent which comes from the servant's wages, the housewife herself must dig into her family budget and shell out an equal amount of her own money to send to the federal government.

It just makes us realize we have to pay the federal government a privilege tax for having a job, and a privilege tax for having someone work for us.

Each housewife who has a servant who meets the day-salary requirements must, at the end of each three month period, send the social security tax along with a report of household wages to the collector of internal revenue.

You may as well get ready, ladies. Come January 1, and you'll begin keeping books for Uncle Sam along with hundreds of thousands of other people throughout the country.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—The Denver political lawyer who heads the Department of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, has virtually scrapped the 15-year-old farm support program in response to producers' and consumers' indignation that expressed itself most vociferously in the elections early this month.

It should mean a saving of several hundred millions to the government, but more especially to housewives, and without too severe a reduction in farm income.

Despite denials, it amounts to a major retreat on the "Truman fair deal front." It is the first of many marches to the rear the Administration will undertake in the next two years to minimize the effect on the voters of hostile charges of "socialism."

WITHDRAWN—Although it is not generally realized, the only perishable foods which now enjoy Truman-Brannan support through government purchases of surpluses at an artificial price are butter, cheese, honey and milk, which do not constitute the heaviest drain on the pocketbook.

In view of oleomargarine's tremendous gain in sales since the federal tax on the colored variety was removed, butter is practically off the support list, insofar as federal absorption affects the retail purchaser. Forthcoming figures on these two commodities' movement will be sensational.

Mr. Brannan has withdrawn subsidy payments from eggs (after January 1), from hogs, from turkeys and chickens and from potatoes. Congress, of course, forced him to eliminate subsidies from his program, but he may renege them if he dares to brave growers' wrath by insisting on strict production controls. He doesn't.

ACUMEN—The Denver legalite shows his political acumen by his handling of a program which threatens to embarrass the Administration on the farms and in the cities between now and 1952, a presidential year.

He has removed supports from the very commodities on which government aid is reflected directly in the cost of a market basket at the corner grocery store. A housewife, practically, does not have to be an agricultural economist or marketing expert to know when she is paying excessively high prices for such everyday goods as eggs, pork, potatoes and poultry. She can see where and how and why her weekly budget buys less of these foodstuffs.

DEMAND—But while reducing these costs insofar as the factor of government subsidies enters into the total, Mr. Brannan does so with his tongue in his cheek. He counts on high wages and increased demand to maintain these prices at a level which will still mean a good income to the farmer.

Studies of eating habits by Agriculture's dietetic experts show that when people are making good money, they indulge heavily in meat, poultry, eggs and vegetables. When hard times strike, they buy cheap but filling stuff like potatoes, cereals, and inexpensive cuts.

STORABLE—But the fact is that price supports will continue for such storable products as cotton, wheat and tobacco, and for two good reasons.

In the first place, the legislative friends of these three crops really dominate the farm bloc on Capitol Hill. It is a bi-partisan group that includes Representatives and Senators from enough states to compose a majority in House and Senate. Mr. Brannan dare not antagonize them by asking Congress to terminate price supports.

Moreover, these commodities reach the consumer in processed form, as bread and cereal products, as clothing and as cigars. It is impossible for the retail buyer to lay the blame for high prices on Truman-Brannan interference with the laws of supply and demand.

Thus, and give him credit, Secretary Brannan aims to placate both the millions of city customers and the most powerful farm groups in the wheat belt and on the cotton-tobacco plantations.

CONCERN—European leaders' apparent inability to understand the fundamental purpose of Marshall Plan expenditures has caused grave misgiving around the White House and State Department, although their concern is an official secret for obvious reasons.

At a recent Washington meeting of foreign bankers and industrialists, high ECA officials and American labor leaders, the difficulty developed vividly and controversially. U.S. spokesmen, especially the labor experts, expressed their interest in improvement of European workers' conditions through operation of our foreign aid program.

DISAGREEMENT—Communist infiltration, they pointed out, can be resisted most effectively, if millions of European workmen are won to free enterprise by high wages and low prices—in short, general economic betterment. Former ECA Administrator Paul Hoffman has frequently labored this theory with European bigwigs, as have his successors in the foreign-aid agency.

The Americans were amazed when several overseas visitors expressed sharp disagreement with this view of management-labor relations. Remarked C.P.H. Groenendael, a Dutch banker:

"You say that we have to reduce prices and increase wages. This same sentence is a well-known slogan of the Communists."

"Lowering prices and raising wages may be a Communist slogan," retorted a prominent labor official. "But we believe in it and we have proved that it will work."

Somebody Told Me

By J. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

This column usually steers away from cold facts, but there are times when all of us should face them. With the international picture so grim, it's worth a minute to consider the possibility of all-out war with Russia.

First, here's a reason why Russia might want to delay war with the U.S. for about ten years: A big factor is manpower. Russia's WW II losses reduced her manpower in the 24-55 age bracket to that of the U.S. The Russian military men are of lower quality than ours because the level of Russian education is lower, and the Russians have had less experience in handling mechanical devices. Not only is the quality lower on the military front, but at home also. More than half of all Russians are farmers, yet a Russian can turn out only one-fourth of what the American farmer produces. In the factories, the Russian can turn out less than one-quarter of what the American can.

Washington estimates that Russia has anywhere from five to 60 atomic bombs. A good guess would be from 20 to 25. The same guessers say that we have several hundred. There is no doubt that Russian's uranium ores are low grade; therefore, Russian atomic bombs are inferior.

Russia has 175 military divisions, and the experts say she can mobilize 300 divisions in 60 days. We have 15 divisions, and we are organizing three more now. Russia has about 500 TU-4 planes, which is a copy of our B-29. These planes could bomb most U.S. cities in one-way missions. She also has several hundred four-engine bombers and jets which are equal in speed to the latest jets we have.

In case of all-out war, would all the Russian people fall in line? There is no doubt that millions of Russians hate Stalin's regime. Dr. Merle Fainsod of Harvard University recently published a study of interviews with 100 Soviet citizens who have deserted their country. The interviews revealed that the Russians had slowly grown fed up with the collective farms and factories, they were tired of such rigid control.

If Russia fights all-out, she will probably fight a two-phase war. The first phase: Russia would hold together under U.S. atomic bombing while the Red army took over Western Europe and the Communist parties consolidated Red power in Asia. Meanwhile, Russian atomic bombing of the U.S. would try to force an armistice or, at least, throw the U.S. off balance so that its offensive strength could not be brought to bear.

Second phase: Russia, controlling Western Europe and with help from Asiatic satellites, would have a productive base far stronger than that of the U.S. today. Most of Russia's weaknesses could be overcome in a few years. And I thank Time.

Around Capitol Square

Daily Reflector Bureau By LYNN KISSET Raleigh, N. C.

EMPTY—The Shelby Daily Star has a more than usually appealing title on its Christmas charity campaign. Most newspapers sponsoring Christmas aid to the needy call it the "Empty Stomach Fund." The Shelby paper has it the "Empty Stomach Fund." Whether the idea is original or borrowed from somebody else, it will probably attract more dollars and dimes than the usual appeal.

BICYCLES—Good roads cost Miss Nora Edmondson her job as a school teacher in the mountains. Now her new teaching job on Ocracoke Island is threatened by the same factor. In the mountains it was a school bus; on the island it is bicycles. Remember the story of the Road of 99 Fords, and the redheaded school teacher who pleaded for a better road for her community? The highway commission built a road, and the school authorities abandoned the one-teacher school, consolidated the district with another, and transported the children by bus. Then "Miss Nora" moved down east to another isolated place. Now good roads have made it possible for the kids to use bicycles—which they could not use in the sand—an error from Ocracoke are that the most popular thing Santa Claus can bring this year to any school child is a bicycle. Maybe these bicycles won't necessitate another move for

"Miss Nora," because the children are still there and will continue to come to the same school. But if the surroundings get too cluttered up with wheels, the doughty school marm who has devoted more years than she cares to admit to improving conditions in communities where she taught may seek further adventure in other isolated areas.

ISOLATION—She may find such places hard to locate now. Asphalt and wheels and radio have made such effective assault upon isolation during the past few years that once remote places now are easy to contact with the rest of the world.

UNJUSTIFIED—Eagerness to find something to criticize in the conduct of public officials sometimes leads editors, newspaper reporters and radio commentators into untenable situations. One such instance occurred this week when Raleigh's morning newspaper editorially castigated the state board of elections for failure to certify the November 7 vote on the constitutional amendment changing responsibility for assigning superior court judges from the governor's office to the office of the chief justice of the supreme court. Before that editorial was written members of the elections board had already signed the official abstract establishing the fact that the amendment was ratified by popular vote — along with the other four amendments and all candidates for state and district offices.

EFFECTIVE—The legislative acts submitting this and the other amendments embody the provision that when vote has been determined as favorable "it shall be the duty of the Governor of the State to certify the amendment under the Seal of the State to the Secretary of State who shall enroll the said amendment so certified among the permanent records of his office, and the same shall be in force and every part thereof from and after date of such certification."

TIMING—The statutes fix the date for the election and the date for the board of elections to canvass the result. There is no specific date set for the governor to make his certification. Customarily that is done within a very few days after the vote has been officially determined. Reasonable assumption is it should be done as soon as practicable. The election was held on the day set; the state board of elections met on the proper day and announced the official result of the voting; the governor has already delivered to Senator Willis Smith and Congressman Woodrow Jones their commissions, and probably before this item gets in print the other four amendments ratified will have been certified to the secretary of state and formally enrolled as a part of the state constitution.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

AN $88 MILLION PEST (Henderson Daily Dispatch)
Manifestly one of the major tasks of the agricultural scientists just now is to do something about the hundreds of millions of dollars annual loss to the South's cotton crop from boll weevil ravages. Poisons have been discovered which will kill the weevil, but difficulty in applying them is so great that desired results have not been achieved.

There may be room for argument as to whether or not it is worth the time, the effort and the cost to dust and spray on as large scale as apparently is necessary in order to whip the weevil. The insect is the type which, when seemingly eradicated, bounces right back to begin all over again in a few short weeks where it left off in the first place. Farmers who live in areas where other and more profitable money crops can be produced, are inclined toward the conclusion that cotton is not worth the effort.

Big producers, who do much of their work on so large a scale that they can plant enough cotton for themselves and the weevil, too, stand a better chance than the small producer. Their loss may be relatively as much but they will still have some sort of a crop. The small grower loses nearly all when he loses. His discouragement with the present situation is readily understandable.
With respect to statistics, the National Cotton Council estimates that the two Carolinas alone lost $88 millions to the weevil this year. For the entire cotton belt, the damage was placed at a tiny fraction under $600 millions, or 16.8 percent of the potential. It was the second largest toll on record, exceeded only by the crop of 1948 at $617 million. This year's greatly curtailed acreage is what makes the situation so serious now, and which has contributed substantially to the prospective world shortage.

Would it not, therefore, be worthy of consideration to attempt to "preach the problem of the weevil from the standpoint of developing a stalk which would be repellent to the insect? Something, for instance, on the order of tobacco plants that will resist disease. The difference, to be sure, is that with tobacco the fight is against a disease and not a pest, as with cotton.
This may be impracticable. But is it more challenging or more hopeless than the tobacco problem at one time appeared to be? Agricultural scientists may already have toyed with the idea. But whether they have or not, it appears that a new approach to the problem of fighting the weevil is worthy of thought. Certainly something is going to have to be done if the South's big money crop is not to be surrendered to these pests.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Almost no other single advertisement ever got as much kicking around as that one about "some things your son or daughter won't tell you." The theme, both printed and broadcast in television areas, was that children whose homes didn't have television sets would be "bruised deep inside." While the ad didn't say so, it carried the deductible warnings that parents who didn't keep up with the Joneses, video-wise, might be rearing awfully neurotic brats.

No sooner had it hit the air and print than women's clubs, civic leaders and even the advertising press itself was denouncing the theme. It seems that it is a "fears" approach, an approach to parents through their children, and was in "bad taste" that these people were attacking an industry already groggy from credit controls, a new excise tax, allocations of material and confusion over color is beside the point.

The fact generally overlooked is that the technique is quite common, probably going back to the time when Noah tried to sell salvation with a fear story about a flood. In more recent times, fear has been used to sell mouth washes, body deodorants and tooth pastes, as even the objectors' best friends will tell them. It has been used to sell garters, hats, shaving stuff, hair dressings and weight-reducers.

In fact, some of the text of the ad might have been adapted from the pitches of door-to-door sellers of children's books who have told parents — probably without the publishers' authorization — that their children would be bruised deep inside if they didn't have the particular book the seller was selling.

The criticism that the ad attempted to reach parents through their children is not such a novel approach as to cause surprise. Some of our finest charities send children home with requests that their parents contribute. And what about the hired Santas in stores?

The most curious thing about all the criticism was that all the protests were empirical. The protesters said it was fear, bad taste, or harmful. But no one, as far as we know, said the ad was untrue. Nobody surveyed a thousand children to find out if they felt like outcasts because their parents didn't have a TV set. Nobody applied psychological tests to a typical group to find out if they were bruised inside, deep or shallow.

If the ad was untrue, it was very bad and unforfeitable. If it was true, perhaps parents ought to have been told the facts, even though it frightened them or hurt them deep inside.

But if we are defending the ad, we don't know why. S. J. Schwinn, chairman of the Board of Ruthraff and Ryan, which wrote the ad, has said it was "out of bounds as far as taste was concerned."

POLYSTYRENE SHORTAGE THREATENS MOLDERS
The shortage of polystyrene plastic molding powder is threatening a third of plastic injection molders with financial ruin, the Society of the Plastics Industry reports.

Suppliers are allocating polystyrene materials on a basis of 1949 purchases. Since then there has been a great expansion in molding capacity. Added facilities are lying idle, tying up capital in productive machines.

GOVERNMENT BOOK HAS GOLD FRONTISPIECE
Most people think of the Government Printing Office only as the printer of the Congressional Record and 10-cent booklets on the love life of the gypsy moth. It is, however, in the limited editions business now, offering "The Neksel-Lipcos Bible" at $24.

"Here is a book which, because of the beauty of its illustrations, format and text, stands out above all of its contemporary volumes," says a government ad. The text was hand set and 20 of the 63 illustrations are full-page, full-color plates. Frontispiece is a reproduction of the first page of Genesis from the Neksel-Lipcos manuscript in the Library of Congress, and it was first stamped in pure gold to simulate the hand-brushed appearance of the original.

Hal Boyle's Column

With U. S. 24th Division, Korea—(AP)It is a frontline position that has been under heavy fire. The troops are nervous. Panic rumors are spreading that the enemy is about to overwhelm them.
A jeep crawls to a halt near the command post in the valley. Out of the jeep bounces a stocky, wide-shouldered figure in a worn combat uniform.
A doughboy takes one look at him and calls out:
"Why, it's the Big Six!"
The "Big Six"—Col. Richard W. Stephens, commander of the 21st Infantry Regiment—turns and nods cheerfully. All the doughboys nearby grin back and their tension begins to disappear. They have faith in their "Big Six."

American GI—whom he calls "Willie Spratt."
"The American soldier is no different than he ever was," Stephens said. "He had a lot to learn about combat here, and he did it quickly. He used his weapons well."
"On occasion I have wished he had more desire for hand-to-hand combat. But only a few rugged individuals are like that."
"More than the soldiers of other countries he likes to rely on his equipment to do his job for him—artillery, tanks, airplanes."
"But I'm for him. Why should you lose your own soldiers when you can kill the enemy with bombs or shells?"
It is for this attitude that the troops under him have developed a personal affection for their "Big Six" that is deeper than their admiration of his soldierly skill. They know he will never waste their lives because when the going is tough he is usually right there with them.

Washington Letter

BY JANE EADS
Washington—Capital newswomen, accustomed to listening to male big-wigs, were completely captivated by two members of their own sex at a luncheon they tossed for two famed females.

The guests were Mrs. Perle Mesta, U. S. Minister to Luxembourg, a favorite hereabouts as former No. 1 Party-Throver of Washington, and willowy, fair-haired Marguerite Higgins, the New York Herald Tribune's top-notch Korean war correspondent.
We listened with interest and respect, but I couldn't help sizing up the women's looks and clothes. Mrs. Mesta wore a black ensemble with a white hat boasting a spray of white feathers. Miss Higgins also wore black with a white pill-box hat.

White hats must be ultra-ultra, we figured. Mrs. Mesta buys all her hats at Fauteux's in Paris. We don't know where Miss Higgins got hers since she had been wearing GI gear and sleeping in foxholes near the front for many weeks.
Mrs. Mesta spoke briefly of the relief felt in Luxembourg when positive UN action followed the invasion of Korea. She also talked about the exchange of students as a great step toward universal peace.

Miss Higgins said that if Chinese Communists refuse to withdraw from Korea we may well be in World War III. She said we should make it plain that if they do not pull out we will use every means at our disposal—possibly even atomic weapons—to force their retreat.
"Appeasement," she said, "will work no better in the Orient than it did at Munich."
The correspondent talked about the time at the war's beginning when she was nearly thrown out of the theater. "All the time my only complaint with life over there was that the communications set-up for correspondents was lousy," she said. "The Army wanted me out because they complained accommodations for women at the front were lousy."

As a result his regiment has become a chief fire horse of the Korean campaign. It has traveled more than 1,000 miles and been in contact with the enemy almost constantly since July 5. The men of the 21st are proud that their regiment has "never failed to take its objective or do the job assigned."
At 48, the "Big Six" looks more like a general, holding sales executive than the public's idea of a professional soldier. But he is rugged. This war has been rough on regimental commanders. Stephens is one of only two who have remained in charge of their units throughout the entire campaign.
In the evening he likes to sit in his command post singing or whistling "cow music"—he is from Pierre, S. D.—or talking over military campaigns. He was Chief of Staff of the famous 30th Infantry Division in Europe during the last war and particularly enjoys re-fighting the battle of the Bulge.
The great loves of his life are the American Army and the Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS GUIDANCE
From the beginning of time philosophers have been inquiring about the meaning of life. Why are we here in this world, and being here, what are we supposed to do?
The Biblical answer to such questions is comparatively simple. Taken as a whole, the Bible teaches that we are here in the world to grow souls. We are given a set of circumstances and told by the Great Master to go to work and see what we can do with them. Can we handle poverty? Can we endure the spiritual desolation of wealth? Can we submit to pain without getting bitter? Can we face disappointment and keep our courage? Can we fashion our conduct on the basis of certain ideals and accept the narrow road of self-discipline, while all the rest of the world appears to be going joyfully along the broad highway that leadeth to destruction?
The poet puts it this way:
"I go to prove my soul!
I see my way as birds their trackless way.
I shall arrive! What time, what circuit first,
I ask not; but unless God send his hail
Or blinding fireballs, sleet or stifling snow,
In some time, his good time, I shall arrive;
He guides me and the bird. In his good time!"

Your Hospital Depends On Your Cooperation

It will not be many weeks now before the new Pitt county Memorial hospital opens its doors. The hospital will be the finest and most modern medical institution in the eastern part of the state. It is the largest hospital in North Carolina built under the county, state and federal program.

And most important of all—each of the 63,700 men, women and children of Pitt county owns a portion of the hospital. The hospital is owned by the people of the county, it will be supervised by a board of trustees made up of representatives of each township in the county, and it will be run to serve the people of the county.

The Reflector is neither foolish enough nor optimistic enough to believe that all the people of Pitt county will be anxious to see the new hospital open its doors to afford better health to the people. Since the movement for the new hospital began long years ago, there have been certain groups who have opposed the idea. When interest was renewed in the project and the people voted three years ago on a bond issue to furnish the county's portion of the money for the hospital, there were some people in the county who fought the bond issue and would liked to have seen it defeated.

The vast majority of the people of the county are anxious for the hospital to open its doors. They realize what a great asset it will be not only to the people of Pitt county, but likewise to other people in this section of North Carolina, who will continue to fight the idea of the county hospital, and will seek to plant seeds of ill will against the hospital.

The success of the new Pitt County Memorial hospital depends upon the cooperation the people of the county give their new hospital. No expense has been spared to make it the best medical center in this section of the state. The equipment in the hospital will not be surpassed by that of any other hospital in the state, and few will be able to match the equipment which is being installed in the Pitt County Memorial hospital.

The Reflector, along with many thousands of people in every section of this county, anxiously awaits the opening of the new hospital. The hospital belongs to you, a citizen of Pitt county, and its success as an institution depends upon the cooperation which you as an individual give the hospital.

Lady, Taxes Are Coming Into Your Kitchen

Federal taxes are and have been striking close to home for some time. When the first of the year rolls around, the new federal social security tax is coming right into the kitchen with the housewife—provided, of course, she's one of the lucky ladies who happens to have a household servant.
A lot of housewives during the past years have watched their husbands scratch their heads over the federal taxes in their work or business. Now the housewives are going to have their own hand at the art of collecting Social Security taxes for the gov-

Powerful Units Of Russian Army Kept In East Germany

By DANIEL DE LUCE
 Berlin, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Six Soviet armies are in winter quarters in East Germany today but allied intelligence rates them strong enough to seize most of western Europe in a single blitz action. This potential sweep from the Elbe River to the Pyrenees is regarded here as Russia's ace card in the mounting world crisis. It is an action which many European observers dread may be touched off if the United States resorts to atomic warfare against Red China.

Military sources agree that Western Europe is practically as defenseless now as at the outbreak of Korean hostilities last June. There has been a small buildup of allied occupation forces in West Germany. But the four U. S. Divisions that were to have tripled the combat strength of the American army on the Rhine in a few months are still committed in Korea or pinned down as a strategic reserve at home. The six Soviet armies in East Germany are authoritatively estimated to total 33 divisions, of which at least 10 are heavily armed.

Their tanks, the Joseph Stalin Mark Three, are superior to any in the West. The total manpower of these armies is put at 320,000, exceeding the manpower of the allied armies in West Germany by about 100,000. However, the allied forces have a much higher proportion of service troops, making their overall combat effectiveness correspondingly lower. The allies, moreover, are still spread out in occupation posts and subposts, thereby exposed to piecemeal annihilation in case of sudden attack.

Deer Apparently Has Fallen In Love With Cow

Carthage, Mo., Nov. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Claire Jackson says a four-point buck deer apparently has fallen in love with a two-year-old heifer on her farm five miles southeast of here. While hunters in 26 Missouri counties are enjoying an open season on deer, this buck pursues his courtship unbothered. The nearest place where deer may be shot this season is 50 miles away. Mrs. Jackson says for the past two days he has remained by the side of the shorthorn heifer and occasionally chases her about the pasture but never bothers the other cattle on the farm. She backs up her story with pictures.

Basic Business Training Analyzed In White Article

James L. White of Scotland Neck, faculty member of the department of business education at East Carolina Teachers College, is a contributor to the November issue of "The Balance Sheet," a nationally circulated magazine for teachers of business and economics. His article, entitled "The Supervisor and Basic Business," is an analysis of business training for students and of the duties and responsibilities of the supervisor of business education, especially as he lends aid in planning and organizing the business program in the public schools. In his article, Mr. White emphasizes the need of better business training for all students, the courses which are desirable, the values to be derived from them, and the growing demand by the public for such instruction. "As our society becomes more complex," says Mr. White, "the need for basic business training for all students is being realized. Parents are asking why it is that only those students following the business course are allowed to study general business, economic geography, business law, or consumer education. Business men and general educators alike stress the value of such a course for all students." As to the values of business training for all students, he concludes, "The development of a sound basic business program in our schools is a vital factor in training our students to be economically competent, competent consumers, and competent to find a job and understand its relation to business generally and specifically."

Nothing goes better with economical fall vegetables than Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage. Whether you use the link style or the sausage roll, you get pure pork and all pork. There is no cereal in Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage. You'll find it deliciously seasoned with imported spices. Wilson's Research Kitchens constantly check to see that the spice blend is just right. Whether you bake Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links in cored potatoes or Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Roll in hollowed acorn squash, you will be serving a timely and economical sausage treat your family will go for.

BAKED SAUSAGE POTATOES*
 (You'll have a new respect for meat and potatoes when you taste this savory team.)
 Select baking potatoes—short ones with a big waist-line. Scrub and core with an apple corer. Inset one or two Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links into each potato. (See picture) Bake at 350° F. for 45 to 50 minutes until potatoes pinch soft. Serve with extra Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Links, fried.

BAKED SAUSAGE FILLED ACORN SQUASH*
 Cut 3 acorn squash in halves. Remove all seeds and the stringy portion. Season with a dash of salt and fill halves heaping full using:
 2 Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage Rolls
 1/2 lb. in each half squash. Bake in a covered pan in hot oven (400° F.) for 30 minutes. Remove cover, drain off excess fat and bake 10 minutes more, until squash is fork-tender. Serve hot to six.
 *Link style or Sausage Roll may be used interchangeably in these two recipes, just use Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage!

Travel Troubles Tie Up Would-Be Ship Passengers

Singapore —(AP)—Singaporeans and residents of the Federation of Malaya who want to go to England by sea any time soon are in for a long wait unless they've booked many months ago. Travel agencies say every steamer is sold out up to the end of next June. They add, that there simply are not as many liners or freighters coming into Singapore port as before World War II. Travelers to the United States don't face any difficulties. There's plenty of space aboard liners and freighters. That's because so few people travel from here because, under currency restrictions, they can't get enough dollars for their trip. So American citizens make up most of the travellers going to the United States.

Israeli To Fish In Iceland Water
 Tel Aviv —(AP)—Two partly Belgian and partly Israeli manne trawlers will be based this fishing season at Aberdeen, Scotland, to net fish for Israel in the Gulf stream waters near Iceland. The trawlers are of the mainly Israel-owned Ezra Deep Sea Fishing Co. Ltd. which has promised the Israel Government to provide 3,000 tons of fish this year. The yearly fish consumption of Israel is about 22,000 tons a year. This plays an important part in the austerity ruled, almost meatless local diet. The shortest international street car line in the world runs from El Paso, Texas, to Juarez, Mexico.

Iowa Farm Land Boom Cause Of Real Concern

AP Newsfeatures
Des Moines—Good Iowa corn land—and that's about as good as you can find—is riding a price teeter-totter these days.
On one end is demand. It's strong. On the other is supply—which is quite limited. Very little choice farm land is offered for sale.

Occasional deals, upsetting the standoff, are at high figures for top producing land.

Could this situation explode into another land boom-and-bust similar to 1920 when farms sold for as high as $700 an acre?

That is what economists are asking as they study such reports as these:

Bankers and brokers, according to an Associated Press survey, estimate land prices have increased from 8 to 20 per cent, much of the price jump coming in the months since the start of the Korean war.

One Iowa farm sold for $365 an acre. Another went for $478 and still another for $400. A farm appraised at $75 an acre five years ago sold recently for $175 an acre.

A Mason City banker advised Iowa farmers:

"If you don't want to sell your farm, don't price your land at what you consider an unreasonable price just to get rid of the buyers. The speculators might buy."

In terms of dollars, real estate men report prices up in the last year from $5 to $30 and acre on poorer farms up to $50 an acre on good farms.

W. F. Wahrer, secretary of the North Central National Farm Loan Association which serves four north Iowa counties, says the average farm price is up 60 to 70 per cent over five years ago.

In the 1920 land boom, 10 per cent of Iowa's farm land was sold during the year ending March 1, 1920. In one county alone 516 farm sales were recorded, twice as many as for any single year for the 10 previous years. The average sales price was $289 an acre.

The grim harvest was reaped first with the break in the 20s and then with the general mortgage foreclosures in the 30s. In 1933, eight per cent of the state's farm land was owned by corporations. This mounted by 1939 to 12 per cent. Insurance companies held the greater part of this.

By 1946, most of this land was back in private hands. Farmers who were wiped out in the 30s, today own farms again and are in a good financial position.

Since 1940, the average per acre price of Iowa farm land has been steadily rising. In 1940 it was $79, and as of Nov. 1, 1949 it was $177.

William G. Murray, professor and head of the department of economics at Iowa state college, buying today that there was in there is not nearly the speculative 1919-20 boom.

Murray, who has made a study of land prices in Iowa says the buyers in the Iowa farm land market today—and they greatly outnumber the sellers—consist generally of two classes: investment buyers seeking a hedge against inflation, and the farm tenant forced to buy when the owner of the farm he is operating sells. This dweller forced to buy a home in a tight housing area.

The capital gains tax has pretty much deterred persons from selling one farm and buying another to make a profit.

Murray said the high per-acre prices some farms bring today can be misleading because they are often not average size farms.

"The great demand today is for small tract, well improved," he explained. "When one of these is sold, it brings a very high price because improvements (home and outbuildings) are very expensive today."

The difference in the farm mortgage debt now and in the 1920s is also indicative of a more healthy economic situation. Iowa's farm mortgage debt reached a peak in 1924 of $1,567,032,000. Today it is only about one third of that.

Local Cap Cadets To Join In Sunday Anniversary Ceremony

Cadets of the Greenville Civil Air Patrol will take part in ceremonies Sunday afternoon dedicating the Patrol and its activities on the occasion of the ninth anniversary of its founding.

The dedication will take place at Warren Airport in Washington at 2:15 in the afternoon. At that time the American flag and the CAP flag will be raised to commemorate the work of the Patrol since its inception during the week of Pearl Harbor Sunday, 1941.

Taking part in the ceremonies will be the Greenville National Guard unit, the Washington chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Boy Scouts and the Washington High School band. Speakers for the occasion will be Mayor Swindell of Washington and Mayor Stafford of Greenville.

A highlight of the day will be a "breadfast" flight of light planes from airports of eastern North Carolina. The planes will be piloted by members of the Carolina Aero Club with headquarters in Raleigh. Accompanying the pilots will be Carl Goerch, editor of the State magazine who is president of the flying club.

Twenty cadets from the Greenville part of the Patrol and 30 from Washington will conduct the dedication ceremonies. During the day the cadets will demonstrate the new radio equipment the Patrol has obtained from the federal government to carry on its rescue activities.

Wars, the Boy Scouts and the Washington High School band. Speakers for the occasion will be Mayor Swindell of Washington and Mayor Stafford of Greenville.

Madison Demo Favors Recount

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 30—(AP)—Now a Democrat wants a recount in Madison county's battle of the ballots.

The post-election squabble in the western mountain county started right after the Nov. 7 general election.

Republicans claimed two of their candidates had been counted out of winning the race for sheriff and state house of representatives by devious means. The county is traditionally Republican.

On Tuesday, the State Board of Elections listened to the charges and counter-charges in the fight. The meeting was ended with the state board recessing its hearing until Dec. 6—two days after candidates are slated to be sworn in.

Republicans were told that the state board has no power to grant their request for an order to prevent E. Y. Ponder and W. A. Sams from being sworn in as sheriff and representative, respectively. However, a court order might be obtained delaying their swearing in, the board intimated.

Meanwhile, Democrat Hilliard Teague opened up with a demand for a recount in the race for Clerk of Superior Court in Madison. Teague lost to a Republican.

He said he filed his petition for a recount for himself and in behalf of "all Democratic candidates running in said election."

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Dixie Democrats claimed a tactical advantage today in their fight to block twin administration bills to grant statehood to Alaska and Hawaii.

They greeted with delight the senate banking committee's swift approval of a bill proposing extension of rent controls.

One southern strategist who didn't want to be named told a reporter his group hopes now to sidetrack the statehood issue for debate on rent controls. The hope of the bills' opponents is that the statehood fight ultimately will get lost in the shuffle.

President Truman has urged that congress, in this brief "lame duck" session which must end not later than Jan. 3, pass the statehood and rent control bills, and, among other things, provide more money for the defense effort.

Administration leaders fighting for the statehood bills conceded that the southerners may have gained some advantage through quick committee approval of the rent bill, but said they are far from beaten yet.

They are fighting now to have the statehood issue placed on the senate calendar ahead of all other pending legislation, and hope to get a vote on that motion by tomorrow (Friday).

Swift Current, Sask.—(AP)—The Civic Voters Association donated $35 in prizes to school pupils making the closest estimate of the number of civic votes cast. A contestant had to prove his parents voted, and the result was nearly 1,000 more votes than usual.

Mrs. Kabrie Aucoin, 915 North First St., Eunice, Louisiana, is all smiles these days because she feels so good. She says she feels so good because she is taking HADACOL.

Mrs. Aucoin was suffering from a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is what Mrs. Kabrie Aucoin says about HADACOL.

"I have been taking HADACOL for over a year. Before I started taking HADACOL I had been sick for a long time. My neck, my arms, my legs ached most of the time; in fact, I was miserable all over. Night time I dreaded because I knew it was time for another restless night. Even when I did sleep I would twist and turn all night.

"It was my 54th birthday the exact year I heard about the wonders of HADACOL that I started taking it. After the third bottle of HADACOL I felt better than I had ever felt in my life. The most wonderful thing about HADACOL is that I actually rest when I sleep—and I do mean sleep. No more lying awake nights. I could rave about the wonders of HADACOL for days on end, but this is enough to let other folks know how really marvelous HADACOL is. The only regret I have about HADACOL is that I did not have it when I was 25 years old."

You, Too, Can Be Helped

as it has helped thousands of other fine folks if you have a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body.

Give HADACOL a chance today to help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Refuse substitutes. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk is involved... because HADACOL is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel better with the first few bottles you take or your money will be refunded. Trial size, only $1.25; Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50.

Gasoline Fire

Burlington, N.C., Nov. 30—(AP)—Fire raced through gasoline storage sheds, exploded three tank trucks, burned one other, and threatened a 35,000 gallon gasoline dump at the Pure Oil storage center near here last night before firemen brought the flames under control.

E. B. Foley, general manager of Oil Sales, Inc., regional supplier for the Pure Oil Co., estimated losses of $50,000.

All Burlington fire and police department personnel rushed to the scene after the plant area was rocked by several explosions.

The firemen stopped the fire within 10 feet of the large gasoline dump. There were also 20,000 gallons of kerosene and 20,000 gallons of fuel oil nearby.

Billy Branch Now On Kentucky Leaf Mart

Billy Branch, veteran tobacco auctioneer of 25 years' experience on the bright leaf markets and 19 years on burley markets, is today chafing on a warehouse floor in Owensboro, Kentucky.

Branch is selling for six different warehouse firms on 11 warehouse floors at Owensboro. The burley markets opened and got into full swing today, reports from the markets stated. The burley tobacco markets will close about February 1.

Branch sells for the Growers Warehouse in Greenville during the bright leaf season. He has auctioneered tobacco in four states since he started the work—North Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia and Kentucky.

Mrs. Branch and Joyce and Dorothy and Kirby Branch accompanied the auctioneer to Kentucky.

Britons Discard Costlier Pipes

LONDON—(AP)—Britons, from Bond Street gentlemen to gruff Cockney dockworkers, are laying aside the pipes which once were closely linked to their way of living. An ounce of tobacco costs 56 cents, 7 cents more than a pack of 20 cigarettes. So more men are smoking cigarettes.

The men who make and sell pipes and tobacco are highly disturbed. They've formed the national pipe smoking conference from representatives of associations of retail tobacconists, pipe and pipe tobacco manufacturers and other allied industries.

Hart, Field Scout Executive, is in charge of the Inter-Racial Work of the Council, and Ralph H. Mozo, is Scout Executive.

Local Residents Won 2 Washers

Two Greenville residents will have their weekly washdays made easier after winning Bendix automatic clothes dryers offered by the Colonial Stores Incorporated in town.

Mrs. J. W. Hassell, 910 Cotanch Street, and A. Tilley (no address) submitted the best entry of all customers in Colonial Stores branches on Dickinson Avenue and E. 4th Street.

The two local winners are among 110 other North Carolina recipients of machines who are being simultaneously announced. The chain store gave away 365 dryers North and South Carolina and Virginia, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, and South Carolina.

Cars In Collision; Arrest One Driver

Cars driven by Louis H. Roberson of near Greenville and Herman J. Clark of Aurora, colored, collided at 14th and Charles Streets Tuesday. Both cars were considerably damaged. The drivers were not hurt. Police arrested Clark and charged him with making a left turn on oncoming traffic. The case will be tried in Police Court Friday.

Going-Home Day For Nina Warren

Sacramento, Calif., Nov. 30—(AP)—This is "going home day" for Nina (Honey Bear) Warren—the spunky 17-year-old daughter of Gov. Earl Warren. In 23 days she has won her battle with polio. Dr. Junius B. Harris, spokesman for six specialists, reported: "There are no paralyzed muscles in her legs. She will be able to walk and be a normal child again."

Charm School Is Conducted By J. Arthur Rank

London—(AP)—British movie mogul J. Arthur Rank has opened a charm school to turn his cinema managers into perfect gentlemen. Starting from the bottom—the boiler room—24 fledgling managers are learning the niceties of separating the customers from their shillings graciously in a suburban Rank movie house that has been turned into a combination school and dormitory.

Gadget Provides Desired Action

Chicago—(AP)—A new people-detector can give you one-man shows in store windows, watch the baby, guard safes, or open doors. It goes into action if anyone comes within a few feet of it, and can be rigged for various duties. The detector consists of a long wire, finer than a human hair. A tiny electric current runs through it. Let a person approach close enough, and the current increases, tripping switches to operate lights, motors, or to ring alarms. The detector, properly called the Electron-O-Scav, was developed by E. R. Stagg, A. J. Hoehn and V. H. Disney of the Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology.

Indian Claims Right To Hunt

Darmouth, Canada—(AP)—An elderly Micmac Indian is appealing his conviction for hunting deer illegally on the basis of a 17-year old treaty. A copy of a treaty, signed by the governor, says in part: "It is agreed that the said tribe of Indians shall not be hindered but have free liberty of hunting and fishing as usual."

Sees No Rush To Control Industry

Washington, Nov. 30—(AP)—Civilians may feel fairly certain that the military reverses in Korea will not bring a rush of home front controls, a National Production Authority (NPA) official said today.

Telephones For Newer Elevators

New York—(AP)—Telephones for passengers are being installed in all elevators of the new Sutton Terrace luxury apartment project on New York's fashionable east side.

A cut in civilian use of copper announced late yesterday and the other industrial mobilization controls already issued have been drawn up "as if we were preparing for the worst," a spokesman for the agency said.

The phones are being hooked up to the house switchboard in the three structures that comprise the project. Convenience and safety are the purposes.

David Tishman, one of the builders, explains that a tenant who has forgotten to call the doorman to order a taxi before leaving an apartment, will be able to call from the elevator and have a taxi waiting at the curb.

A sharp speedup in the Defense Department's rearmament timetable could affect NPA's schedule of home front controls, the spokesman told a reporter, but it is unlikely the effect would be felt immediately.

NOTICE OF SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Under and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by the Superior Court of Pitt County, as Administrator of the estate of Robert Lee Hardee, I will on the 7th day of December, 1950, at 10:30 a. m. at the G. W. Hardee Home Place, RFD Ayden, North Carolina, offer for sale for cash to the highest bidder, the following described personal property:

One Ford tractor, one cultivator, one disc, one corn planter, one fertilizer sower, one terrace grader, one stalk cutter, one scoop, one two-bottom turning plow, one transplanter, one weeder, 7000 tobacco sticks, one cub tractor, plows and harrows, one mowing machine, one 1948 KD-81 International truck, one tobacco curer.

This is the 18th day of November, 1950.

R. P. Hardee, Assistant Trust Officer of Guaranty Bank and Trust Company, Administrator of the estate of Robert Lee Hardee.

P. W. H. Roberts, Attorney.
Nov. 20-25-30 Dec. 6.

"We have taken some criticism on grounds that our industrial controls were running ahead of the military production program," said this official, who asked not to be named. "But a lot of minds have been changed in the last 48 hours. Events are catching up with us."

NPA yesterday ordered a 15 per cent cut in civilian use of copper and brass for January and February, and a 20 per cent curtailment in March.

The order will be effective on the same day—Jan. 1—as a more drastic 35 per cent reduction in non-defense use of aluminum ordered recently. In both cases industry is limited to a percentage of its average monthly use in the first half of 1950.

Nearly Complete Business Section Yule Decorations

By Chester Walsh
Christmas decorations, now being installed on Evans and other streets in the business section of Greenville, will be completed by Friday.

Stores already are decorated for Christmas. Toys and novelties feature the shelves and display windows. Christmas shopping is expected to get into full swing by the end of this week, a Merchants Association official stated.

The Santa Claus parade will be held here Wednesday afternoon, December 6, at 3:30. Santa Claus will ride on a fire truck at the head of the parade and there will be three brass bands in line. East Carolina Teachers College band, Greenville High School band and C. M. Eppes Negro High School and play for the Yuletide celebration.

This is the day that Santa Claus will greet the children of Pitt county. The Merchants Association is sponsoring the parade. The association also is offering cash prizes for the best decorated floats entered by civic, educational, religious organizations.

It is offering cash prizes for children entering the parade with pets or on decorated bicycles, etc.

Persons planning to enter the parade should go to the Merchants Association offices in the City Hall and get entry numbers. No entrants will be accepted after December 5.

First prize for the best float, $25; second, $15; third, $10.

Cash prizes also will be given for children entering pets in the parade.

Judges for the parade will be L. W. Allen, Ernest Petteway and Sam Bundy.

The parade will form at Ninth and Dickinson avenue. The line of march will be down Dickinson avenue to Evans street and thence to the courthouse.

The following prizes will be offered for contestants in the parade:

Pony—First prize, trophy; second, $5; third, $2.50.

Saddle horse—First prize, trophy; second, $5; third, $2.50.

Buggy, surry, or hack—First prize, $5; second, $2.50.

Teams—Best team of mules or horses, $1.

Decorated floats—Prizes will be given to schools, churches, PTA, civic clubs, fraternal and similar organizations. First prize, $25; second, $15; third, $10.

Dogs, (white children)—First prize, trophy; second, $5; third, $2.

Pets—First prize, $3; second, $2.

Decorated bicycles—(girl): First prize, $5. Boy, $5. Second prize $2.50. Boy, $2.50.

Best costumes in the parade—First prize, $3; second, $2.

The same prizes will be offered for colored children participating in these events.

Negro Woman Dies Following Stroke

Mrs. Nancy Brown, 84-year-old Negro woman, died Wednesday about noon at the home of her son, David Brown, tenant on the S. M. Harris farm, near Belvoir. She had been ill several weeks. She had suffered three strokes of paralysis and had had the attendance of a physician. Her death was expected. Pitt County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said there will be no inquest.

Surviving are four children, David Brown of Belvoir, Archie Brown and Raymond Brown of New York City, and Mrs. Annie Lee Worthington of near Belvoir.

Continue Probe Of Robbery On Tuesday

Pitt County Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson said today that his department is continuing investigation of the Tuesday night robbery at Barfield's Garage, at Gardner's Cross Roads, near the Craven county line.

The sheriff said robbers removed staples holding a heavy wire screen over a window in the rear of the garage to enter the building. They carried away an acetylene torch and a cylinder of oxygen gas and an electric drill.

The Romanbuilt city of Dunwich England, destroyed by North Sea waves, once was an important shipping center.

Partial Mobilization For U. S. Is Urged By Marshall

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall says the Korean situation calls for a partial mobilization in this country keyed to become full mobilization "almost instantaneously."

Marshall spoke last night at a fund-raising dinner for three educational institutions in Israel.

Terminating the turn of events in Korean "crisis," Marshall urged an immediate but partial U. S. mobilization organized to "set itself automatically and almost instantaneously to full mobilization if that becomes necessary."

He recommended a "rapidly expandable" system for building up

Five Found Dead In Garage Of Gas Poisoning

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 30—(AP)—Three civilians and two soldiers were found dead in a Fayetteville garage early today. Police said carbon monoxide gas caused the deaths.

Police listed the victims as: Pvt. Harold R. Knarr of the 82nd Reconnaissance Company, Ft. Bragg; Pvt. William K. Crawford, Company C, 307th Airborne Engineers, Ft. Bragg.

Sylvester Eagan of nearby Lakedale, a mechanic at the Frank R. Bailey Auto Company garage, where the bodies were found in the repair department.

Samuel M. Ridings of Goldsboro, N. C. James V. Cary, whose clothing contained two addresses: 3410 Gibson St., Houston, Texas, and 1332 LeVeda Terrace, Los Angeles.

contacted authorities in Kinston concerning the possibility that he may have been the driver of the car. Lanier found his car slightly damaged on inspection after reading the account in the newspaper.

The possibility that Tripp's death may have been the result of foul play rather than being struck by the car was nipped in the bud this morning by Griffon police chief Herbert Adams. Adams stated Tripp had been beaten about the face in a filling station scuffle Saturday night but was last seen walking on the highway toward Kinston, five miles away.

Adams stated Tripp, in company with two residents of the St. Johns community, visited two filling stations Saturday night prior to Tripp's death. At Buddy Moore's station, Adams said, Eugene Williams and Thebert Edwards, Tripp's companions, got in a fight with Tripp and beat him with their fists. However, they put him in their car, took him to another station closer to Griffon, and left him in the back seat of the car while they went in-war supplies — a system of tools and assembly lines "that will enable us quickly to increase production as it is needed, and not just setting about building up great piles of things and having them grow obsolescent."

Full mobilization now, he said, would be "ill-advised" and he urged that "we look with the most intense interest to the consideration and decision of the United Nations."

The Defense Secretary added: "I say at the very best we have to face a long period of tension. That is something the American people has never been called upon to do."

Sour Reunion

Oklahoma City, Nov. 30—(AP)—A couple of long lost cousins bumped into each other yesterday but it wasn't a happy reunion.

After their cars collided, they were arrested for not having drivers' license.

Chris H. Rains, 29, Washington, Okla., said he hasn't seen his cousin, Mrs. Carole Dodson, 32, Oklahoma City, for many years.

side. Adams stated a person at the station saw Tripp get out of the car and head up the highway toward Kinston in "a dazed condition."

Patrolman Taylor of the Kinston Highway Patrol office, one of the investigating officers, stated today no charges have been brought against Williams and Edwards.

Lanier will be represented at the hearing by Dunn, Jesse Jones and Fred I. Sutton, the latter two from Kinston.

The 'Big Stick' . . .

would expect Moscow's immediate objective to be the fostering of an all-out struggle between China and the democracies. The point of such a conflict, as you know, would be to bleed the western nations white, both militarily and economically, in preparation for a subsequent world war which would be launched at Russia's convenience.

Then there is another possibility in this complicated situation. There is a chance that Russia might seize on this Asiatic imbroglio as a distraction under which she would strike a quick military blow in Europe. Such a move would be based on the fact that western Europe isn't yet militarily set to withstand an onslaught by Russia's mighty army.

Neither the United States nor the other western powers could afford to get drawn into an all-out war with a Russian-backed China, while the Soviet sat on the sidelines, fostering its strength. This being so it rather forces one to the conclusion that if the democracies couldn't avoid a Chinese war, they might well prefer to see the world war develop at once and get it over with.

That may seem like a gloomy

Social Security . . .

a week you must pay the government. But you don't pay it until the end of the quarter.

Since there are 13 weeks in a quarter, your quarterly payment will be $5.85.

Your first payment must be made by April 30, for the January-February-March quarter.

Now, as for filling out forms. That will be easy.

If you—or your husband or wife—have any business employees on whom you are already filing social security tax reports, the household worker may be simply added to those reports.

Otherwise, you will use a special household report form.

When you send your postcard to get on the mailing list, you should indicate which method you prefer to use.

The household report form is dandy. It's in the form of an envelope. There are only a few blank spaces to fill out—mainly the worker's name and social security number, the cash wages paid in the quarter, and the amount of tax included.

When you get it filled out, you put the money in the envelope, seal it, mail it.

Not all household workers will be covered by social security. You send no tax on a worker unless you have paid the worker at least $50 in the quarter, and unless she (or he) has worked for you on some portion of at least 24 different days in that same quarter, or 24 days in the quarter just before it. That means about two days a week.

If you are a household worker, your only task is to get a social security card.

Chances are you already have one, because of previous jobs in industry. If so, all you do is give your employer your social security number. If you have no card, you must go personally to a social security field office and get one.

Bullock Leads In Voting By Conference Coaches

By BILL LLOYD
Reflector Sports Editor

Unbeaten, untied Ayden, crowned Coastal conference champions for the second straight year, grabbed the lions share of glory on the 1950 Daily Reflector All-Conference team.

Coach Stuart Tripp's strong Tornados placed six players on the first team pickings by the conference coaches. South Edgecombe and Robersonville shared the honors with two apiece, with Farmville naming one.

Heading the "cream of the crop" squad is heralded Teedy Bullock. Ayden's triple threat quarterback, who received a unanimous vote from the coaches. Bullock has been named honorary captain of the mythical team.

End Mac Whitehurst and Tackle Troy Jackson also received a major portion of the votes along with Bullock. All three players are repeaters from last year's all-conference team.

Center Greg Davis, Ayden's stalwart lineman, is the fourth repeater from last season's squad.

Walter Meeks, a guard, and Mac Hardee, fullback, round out Ayden's six choices on this year's all-circuit squad. Meeks edged Farmville's Ray Flora for the guard position, while Hardee bested Brooks Webb of South Edgecombe in close voting for the fullback slot.

Douglas Eason, South Edgecombe's high scoring flankman, was a top choice at the other end spot as he made the first club honors with teammate Dudley Whitley, brilliant halfback runner for Coach Wiley Parker's eleven.

Robersonville's Fred Matthews, an all-season spark at guard, and halfback Bobby Bullock, are the two Martin county lads who were first team choices.

Tackle Bobby Fulford is the only Farmville representative on this year's club.

All-Stater Thrift

East Carolina's Roger Thrift, already surmounted with grid honors this year, added a superb one today.

The Pirate quarterback was placed on the North Carolina All-State football second team. Thrift has already received the North State conference "most outstanding player" award, along with an all-conference unanimous selection.

Making up the second team backfield with Thrift are Wake Forest's Guido Sarton, Davidson's Auburn Lambeth, and Appalachian's Jack Groce.

Frank Maenne, East Carolina end, received honorable mention on the All-State squad.

Marty Marion Gets St. Louis Managing Job

St. Louis, Nov. 30—(AP)—"He asked me did I want the job, and I said, 'Yes, sir, I want the job.'"

And that's how, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, Martin Marion, "Mr. Shortstop" to the St. Louis Cardinals for 11 years, became their manager.

The announcement to the press came at 5:30 p.m. (EST).

President Fred Saigh said Marion had been the leading contender all along. Marion succeeds Eddie Dyer who resigned earlier this fall.

The tall, slim South Carolinian smiled and said he thought being manager of the Cardinals was the greatest honor in baseball.

Although Marion was billed as the first player-manager of the Cardinals since the days of Frankie Frisch, there were some indications that Marion's playing would be limited.

"I would like to play. I don't think I'm through as a player. But if I can't play, I'll manage from the bench."

He said he had been advised to have a cartilage removed from his right knee and that he might have that done right after the major league meetings—if at all.

Marion said Red Schoendienst probably would be regular shortstop if Marty can't play.

Grifton Teams Get Fast Start; Play Winterville

Both the boys' and girls' teams at Grifton have already got off to a flying start in their annual hardwood campaign, defeating Ft. Barnwell in their season's opening twin bill.

The boys registered a 42-22 victory, while the sextet posted a 50-28 shellacking.

Grifton's Bulldog quint is paced by Donald Rhodes, who gathered in 12 points in the first contest, followed by J. R. Hooten, who scored eleven points.

Six lettermen on the girls' team form the nucleus for this year's team. Forwards Nell Mumford, Edna Braxton and Guard Peggy Barfield are the monogram leaders.

Grifton plays Winterville in a home game doubleheader tomorrow night, with the girls' scrap starting at 7:30 p.m.

Grifton's remaining 1950 schedule is as follows:
Dec. 1, Winterville, here; Dec. 5, Ft. Barnwell, there; Dec. 8, Belvoir, here; Dec. 15, Stokes, here; Dec. 19, Southwood, here; Jan. 5, Farmville, here; Jan. 10, Ayden, here; Jan. 12, Chicod, here; Jan. 16, Belvoir, there; Jan. 19, Ayden, there; Jan. 23, Grimesland, here; Jan. 30, Chicod, there; Feb. 6, Arthur, here; Feb. 9, Winterville, there; Feb. 14, Maury, there; Feb. 20, Stokes, there; Feb. 22, Maury, here; and Feb. 27, Grimesland, there.

Greenville Lifts Lid On Basketball Play Tonight

A seasoned Greenville Phantom quint opens its 1950 basketball slate tonight against Rocky Mount's Class AAA Blackbirds.

Tip-off is scheduled for 8:00 p.m. in the Rocky Mount high school gymnasium.

The Phants have been working out only nine days in preparation for tonight's opener, but with four of last year's regular starters returning, a well-balanced club is expected to be floored in tonight's clash.

Jimmy Dillingham and Virginius Haynes, two forwards from last year's starters, will provide much of the scoring punch for the Phantoms tonight. Center Sydney Briley, rangy six-footer, will be counted on heavily for the rebound work, with playmakers Johnny Aman and Larry Flye, handling the floor work at their guard positions.

The Farley men hoopsters have been greatly strengthened in reserves this season by such players as Leon Moore, Glen Scott, Eddie Farley, Fletcher Murray, Billy Wooten, Jake Higga, and Wallace Conway coming up from last year's strong junior varsity squad.

Greenville faces a rough sixteen-game slate this season, twelve tilts coming from conference foes and four with outside opponents.

"It's hard to tell yet what we will do," commented Coach Bo Farley, "but we have come a long way in the few days, and a couple of games should give us the answer."

Greenville plays its first home game here, December 9, with Wilson's Cyclones as the opponent.

El Paso, Texas, is the largest city on the Mexican border.

Farmville Opens Basketball Slate In Twin Bill With Grimesland Tuesday

Farmville, November 30—Farmville High School's 1950-51 basketball schedule was released by Principal Sam D. Bandy yesterday.

Eighteen tilts are slated by the Red Devils, and include both the boys and girls games.

The Red Devils open their season next Tuesday night, December 5, with a home twin bill with Grimesland.

Farmville's quint and sextet were runners up in last year's Pitt County tournament held here.

The schedule is as follows:

Dec. 5, Grimesland, here; Dec. 12, Vanceboro, there; Dec. 19, Winterville, there; Jan. 2, Walsenburg, here; Jan. 5, Grifton, there; Jan. 9, Bethel, here; Jan. 12, South Edgecombe, here; Jan. 18, Walsenburg, there; Jan. 19, Vanceboro, here; Jan. 23, Belvoir, here; Jan. 26, Robersonville, here; Jan. 30, Bethel, there; Feb. 2, Ayden, there; Feb. 6, Chicod, here; Feb. 9, Robersonville, there; Feb. 13, Arthur, here; Feb. 16, South Edgecombe, there; Feb. 20, Ayden, here.

Coastal conference tournament will be held at Farmville during the week of February 26. The Pitt County tournament is slated for the week of March 5 in Greenville.

Ted Daffer Named Lineman Of Week

New York, Nov. 30—(AP)—Ted Daffer, star guard on Tennessee's Cotton Bowl bound eleven, is the lineman of the week in the final Associated Press poll of the season.

Daffer's fine play helped the Vols upset Kentucky last week. His constant rushing of Kentucky's star passer, Vito Parrilli, brought Daffer a major share of the credit as Kentucky was ousted from the ranks of the unbeaten and untied.

Daffer is the fourth guard to win the weekly award this season.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Standards, mineral wool insulation in a house will hold back fire in an ordinary plaster wall at least an hour.

Leatherneck Quint Plays Hosts To Bucs Tonight

Midst the glory being bestowed on Roger Thrift, East Carolina's hoopsters raise the curtain on their regular 1950-51 basketball season.

They face Camp Lejeune tonight there, with the tip off set for 8:00 p.m.

The Pirates have already played two pre-season games against George Gamack's pro club, and the Naval Air Station at Norfolk, Va.

Although losing both, Coach Howard Porter's eagles looked impressive, with a freshmen crop showing up well.

Charlie Huffman, 6-2 rugged freshman forward from Thomasville, has broken into the lineup tonight, playing alongside All-Conference Sonny Russell at the forward slots.

Toddy Fennell, a junior from Wilmington, will hold down the pivot position for the Pirates, with letterman Ben Bauer starting at one guard position, and John Postas, rangy sophomore, rounding out the starting quint.

Veteran Forward Lou Collie and Freshman Paul Jones, All-Piedmont star last year, will be held in reserve, with letterman Jim Blake at center, and Richard Blake, frosh star last year.

Strength and height was also added with All-Stater Bobby Hodges, 6-4 prep standout from Kinston, joining the hardwood forces since football has been concluded.

East Carolina plays its first North State Conference game Saturday night against Guilford at Greensboro.

Joe Louis Beats Cesar Brion In Comeback Scrap

Chicago, Nov. 30—(AP)—Joe Louis still is wearing boxing gloves, but whether he'll ever use them again in a title bout was as big a question today as ever.

A slim Chicago Stadium crowd of 8,866 which saw former Heavyweight Champion Louis score a methodical 10-round "comeback" win over Cesar Brion last night, could agree with Joe's admission that "my timing was off."

Louis, as a matter of fact, isn't even talking about a return match with title-holder Ezzard Charles, who gave him a 15-round trimming at New York last Sept. 27.

"I want two or three more fights, and I want them right away," Louis said after his unanimous, but plodding decision over Brion, 13 years younger than the no-longer dreaded Brown Bomber. "I want to be in tip-top condition before I even think about Charles."

The International Boxing Club, which again took its lumps at the gate because last night's bout was televised, was to confer today over Joe's next foe.

Clemson's Hendley Receives Jacobs' Blocking Trophy

Clinton, S.C., Nov. 30—(AP)—This year's Jacobs Blocking Trophy for the outstanding college football blocker in the state goes to Dick Hendley of Clemson.

This was announced here today by William P. Jacobs Jr. and Hugh S. Jacobs, sons of the late William Plummer Jacobs, Presbyterian College president and athletic enthusiast who founded the trophy years ago.

Hendley, a senior, has been the key man in the swift running plays that have shot Clemson through without a defeat this year and into the Jan. 1 Orange Bowl against Miami.

He will get the award trophy at a dinner, tentatively scheduled for sometime in January at Durham, N.C., when the Jacobs Trophies to the Southern Conference and Southeastern Conference best blockers, yet to be announced, also will be awarded.

Snow Prevents Drills For Pythian Bowlers

Salisbury, N.C., Nov. 30—(AP)—Heavy snows are preventing Appalachian and West Liberty Colleges from working out for their Pythian Bowl football game here Dec. 9.

There are 39 inches of snow at the West Virginia home of the Hill-toppers and 13 inches at Boone, where Appalachian is located.

TO HONOR SETTLERS
TEL AVIV—(AP)—The 66 families—the first who settled 40 years ago in what is now Israel's largest city, Tel Aviv: 350,000 inhabitants—will be honored by a monument bearing their names. It will be set up in front of the Tel Aviv Museum. Aaron Freiberg will be the sculptor.

Robersonville Schedules Eighteen Tilts For 1950-51 Hardwood Season

Robersonville, Nov. 30—An eighteen-game basketball schedule for Robersonville High School for 1950-51 was released by Coach Bob Lee yesterday.

Robersonville opens its season Friday, December 8, against Vanceboro's quint in a home game.

With the ending of the football season on Thanksgiving Day, Coach Lee immediately started drills for the oncoming cage season.

The 1950-51 schedule is as follows:
Dec. 8, Vanceboro, here; Dec. 12, Farm Life (Williamston), here; Dec. 15, South Edgecombe, there; Dec. 19, Stokes, here; Jan. 2, Stokes, there; Jan. 9, Farm Life (Williamston), there; Jan. 12, Ayden, there; Jan. 19, South Edgecombe, here; Jan. 23, Bear Grass, here; Jan. 26, Farmville, there;

Your Best Bet: View Army-Navy On Television

Philadelphia, Nov. 30—(AP)—People who see the Army-Navy game at Municipal Stadium Saturday may have to sit through an afternoon of sleet.

The weatherman said the long range forecast is for mixed rain and snow Saturday or Sunday.

Preparations went on, nonetheless, for the Army-Navy football viewers are hardy souls, would probably sit through the game even under the most adverse circumstances.

A spokesman for the hotelmen's association said that nearly all the hotel rooms in the city have been sold for this weekend.

And there are no tickets to be bought. Most of the tickets go to members of the Army and Navy football associations, and if you don't know any of those gentlemen, your best bet is to reserve a television set to watch the show beginning at 1:30 p. m. EST, Saturday.

Hardware Bowlers Win League Lead

Classic Bowling League
Hodges Hardware 23 16 589
Wagner-Waldrup 22 17 564
Carolina Dairy 17 22 435
Bilbro Wholesale 16 23 410

Hodges Hardware swept through three games over Wagner-Waldrup Tuesday night, to take over undisputed first place in the Classic Bowling League.

Bob Matthews, Hodges Hardware, posted a new individual high three game score with 540 pins, four more than Gene Ward's 536.

Bilbro Wholesale also moved up the league ladder with three wins over Carolina Dairy, placing them only one game behind the Dairy.

B. Bilbro walked off with individual honors for the night in this particular match, with a single game score 184, and high three game score with 527 pins.

MacArthur Target Of Critics In West Europe

London, Nov. 30—(AP)—Criticism of Gen. MacArthur came from several sections of western Europe in the wake of United Nations reverses in Korea.

There was talk in official circles at Paris of making an "informal suggestion" that MacArthur be replaced. French criticism centers around what is described in Paris as MacArthur's "tendencies to mix military and political affairs."

In Britain's House of Commons, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin said there had been "some misunderstanding" about MacArthur's actions. He added:

"The objectives of Gen. MacArthur are no more and no less than the objectives of the United Nations."

"It cannot for obvious reasons be it would not be in the public interest—disclosed in detail the directives issued from time to time to the United Nations commander."

"It has been necessary to leave control of operations very much in the hands of the United Nations commander, provided always that where his plans might involve questions of general policy there must be proper consultation on such matters."

Bevin added that this practice had been followed.

Some British newspapers have commented that Gen. MacArthur's recent offensive, which ran head-on into Chinese communist armies, was a mistake.

One informed source in Paris said MacArthur's decision to launch an offensive a week ago was against the advice of both the French and British diplomatic missions in Tokyo. The informant said MacArthur ignored the advice of British and French diplomats with a statement that once U. N. forces were on the Yalu River, separating Manchuria and Korea, the Chinese communists would peacefully negotiate.

A highly placed spokesman at Paris said the French have been tendencies to "mix" military and political affairs for some months. The events of the past few days only serve to make that criticism more pointed."

of Pitt County, the undersigned will offer for rent, and rent for the year 1951 to the highest bidder for cash at the Pitt County Courthouse on December 22, 1950, at 12:00 o'clock noon, the following described farm property located in Carolina Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, more particularly described as follows:

Tract No. I: Beginning at a persimmon tree, T. C. Moore and George Outlaw corner; thence running northeast 94 yards to a small oak on a ditch; thence northwest up said ditch 53 yards to a light-wood post; thence S. 100 yards with a ditch to the beginning, containing (1) one acre more or less. Being the same property as described in deed from T. C. Moore to George Outlaw dated December 8, 1924, and recorded in Book C-25 at page 411 of the Pitt County Registry.

Tract No. II: Beginning at G. T. House corner in G. N. Mooring line and running W. 55 poles; thence north 66 poles; thence east 50 1-4 poles; containing 16 acres more or less, said two tracts constitute Lot No. 1 in the survey and plot of the G. H. Mooring lands made by L. H. Ross, surveyor, in November, 1936. It being the tract of land conveyed to George Outlaw by C. G. Little and wife, Maggie J. Little by deed dated December 6, 1927, recorded in Book G-17 at page 126 of the Pitt County Registry.

Tract No. III: Beginning at a stake on the County Road; thence running S. 16 1-2 W. 51 poles to a small ditch, a dividing line between T. C. Moore and A. O. Meek; thence with said ditch S. 68 1-2 E. 31 poles to a pine in the aforesaid line; thence S. 48 1-2 E. 42 poles to a ditch; thence S. 83 E. 23 1-2 poles; thence N. 78 1-2 E. 16 1-2 poles to a gum, a corner; thence S. 51 E. 15 poles; thence S. 26 1-2 E. 6 1-2 poles to a corner in A. MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

THE RAILROAD MURDER CASE

By R. M. Laurenson

Chapter 35
 "However, when it came time for the pay-off, he tried to take advantage of some unexpected breaks. He did some improvising in an attempt to provide a likely suspect or two, in addition to his alibi.
 "When he got off the train at Hastings to buy cigarettes, whom should he spot slipping on board but Dorene Johnson, under a very thin disguise? Now, Arnold knew Dorene intimately, and understood every facet of her character. Aware of her mood and predicament, he could easily deduce that she was up to no good.
 "During the course of the bridge game, further proof of his surmise materialized in concrete form. Cliff delivered a note to Mr. Richards. Richards read the note and dropped it into the ash tray. Flecks of ash were still stuck to it when I found it. At the first opportunity, Arnold retrieved the note. This told him that Richards could be expected to leave his room shortly after eleven o'clock. This was a beautiful chance, because it narrowed down the time for the crime, and made it possible to do the actual killing on the platform, thus admitting all the passengers on the train to the select list of suspects.
 "As soon as Richards and Linden retired, he started his program moving. He casually strolled out on the back platform, allowing Cleo to go out too. He killed the dog and planted the axe at Zola Crossing. Then he wandered back into the lounge and sat in the end of the davenport where he could watch Richards' door in the window reflection. As soon as he saw Richards, he got up and stretched, telling Johnson that he guessed he'd go to bed. Johnson, being subconsciously time-conscious, obligingly looked at his watch and commented on the time.

 "Victory number one.
 "Then he slipped out to the platform and chopped Richards down, disposing of the real weapon by hurling it beyond the limits of the right of way into the woods, dropping the incriminating note into Johnson's wastebasket and the towel under the bunk, and went to his own room. He watched his wife carefully as he came in, and noted with satisfaction that she glanced at her clock.
 "Victory number two, and his alibi was complete.
 "The beautiful part of it was that he never once mentioned time, or seemed at all interested in it. His soul must have swelled with pride and satisfaction at his good luck, and a job well done!
 "But he made one—just one—fatal blunder. The implication of that nebulous haze from the first, didn't sink in until yesterday. How could it be possible, as indicated by the position of Richards' body and the line of blood drops—probably deliberately furnished—for the murderer to drop the axe out of a window at the front end of a speeding car in such a way that it'd pass under the car, and end up in a corner of the crossing rails, with the handle partly over one rail in position to derail a following motorcar? It can't be done. Therefore the axe that we found must have been dropped from the rear of the car! In his preoccupation with having the decoy axe found at Zola, Arnold made the mistake of dropping it between the rails. If he had dropped it to one side, his whole plan could easily have worked. Therefore, the person on the back platform when the train passed Zola must be guilty—namely, Arnold.

 "I borrowed the axe and towel from you yesterday, Jerry, so that Dr. Lindstrom could analyze the blood. It turned out to be animal, as I knew it would. Being methodical to a degree, Arnold had the towel in his pocket, along with his real weapon, so that he could wipe up any blood that spattered about on the rear platform. The strange disappearance of Cleopatra has puzzled me from the beginning.
 "One thing had me stumped, and that was how Arnold knew the precise second to go after Richards. Cliff solved that one unwittingly last evening by coming out of Richards' door while I was sitting on the end of the davenport. From that position, a reflection of Richards' door is faintly visible in the window at the side of the car. Arnold sat there until he saw Richards come out, and went after him. As simple as that. And, there, Inspector Anderson, is your murder case."
 Anderson sat staring at his desk top for several minutes. Then he said slowly, "Jordan, I take my hat off to you and take back any uncomplimentary remarks made during the investigation. That's a nice piece of work, and I'll admit I'd probably muffed it."
 "I don't think so, Jerry. I know a little more about railroading than you, and spotted the weak points. You'd have gotten him in the end." March stretched luxuriously.
 "Nora, darling," he said, "it's been quite an evening. Let's go and pick up some food."
 "How can you be so smart?" she murmured. "I'm proud of you, Mr. Jordan."
 Marc grinned down at her. "I'm rather proud myself, if you want to know the truth. Holy smoke!" he exclaimed, slamming on the brakes and skidding to a stop at the curb.
 "Marc, what's the matter?" gasped Nora, stiffening in surprise.
 "You know that dead cow I was going to ask your father about? Forgot all about it!"
 Nora sank limply into the corner of the seat, peals of laughter rolling from her lips.

ville, N. C., or mailed to P. O. Box 124, Greenville, N. C., up to 12:00 o'clock, Noon, on December 14, 1950, for the following timber which is offered for sale:

All timber of every kind of the size of 10 inches or more in diameter 12 inches above the ground on approximately 340 acres of woods land located in Pactolus Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, and owned by the heirs of the late John R. Overton, deceased. The lands upon which the timber is located is described in special proceeding No.
5348 in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County.
The said lands have recently been surveyed and Mr. J. M. Dresbach, R.
S., is now preparing maps of the property. Shade trees near residences and barns are excepted from sale.
All bids, to be considered, must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check in an amount equal to 5% of the bid made payable to R. B. Lee, attorney-in-fact; all checks will be returned to the makers if their bids are not accepted.
The successful bidder will be required to pay cash for the timber upon delivery of the deed, less the 5% on deposit. A term of two years will be allowed in which to cut and remove the timber from the land.
All persons interested in purchasing the timber are invited to appraise and inspect the said timber at any time.
The owners reserve the right to reject any and all bids made, or to accept any bid which they may deem to be their best interest.

Call 3356
City subscribers who do not receive their Reflector by air p. are requested to report same by telephoning 3356 between six and six-thirty p. m.
After that hour the circulation department will be closed and deliveries will be made of pe-per missed.

Address all bids to R. B. Lee, Attorney-in-fact, P. O. Box 124, Greenville, N. C.
