Nation Again Teeters On Verge Of All-Out Price-Wage Controls; Order Expected Almost Any Hour

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The nation teetered again today on the verge of all-out price and wage controls. The latest information from harassed and haggard officials was that: 1. Saturday afternoon is the likeliest time for issuing the two orders, but don't count on it. They may come later. They could come today. 2. Officials now are considering a price rollback to the highest levels of the period Dec. 15 to Jan. 15, but they are waiting until the last possible moment to insert the rollback date. 3. A general wage formula, which would permit lagging wages to come up to a certain standard, cannot be completed this week, and therefore a temporary flat freeze of wages may be ordered as a stopgap. 4. But the flat freeze of wages has been delayed—and the price freeze with it—because the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) has been unable to get a unanimous vote. Hesitate To Vote The three labor members of the nine-man board hesitated to vote for a freeze. Chairman Cyrus S. Ching felt that it would disturb labor-management peace if he ordered a freeze without a unanimous vote. This led to the possibility that a higher authority, Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston, would have to issue the wage freeze himself. That's the current status of the off-again-on-again effort to check the rising cost of living. Officials weren't kidding themselves: everything was subject to change on short—very short—notice. Leaders Determined The government's economic chiefs, from Johnston up to Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, and from Wilson up to President Truman, were apparently determined that prices and wages must be brought under immediate controls and simultaneously if possible. The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS), headed by Michael V. DiSalle, was ready with its price freeze—or practically ready. The impact is expected to fall upon all goods except new automobiles and cowhides, and except those things that cannot legally be controlled under the defense production act, like pork and most other farm products. Prices Already Fixed Prices of automobiles and cowhides have already been frozen by separate orders. The hides order came only yesterday. Effective Jan. 29, it forces hide producers to return to the highest levels of last November. OPS officials said the order should prevent further boosts in retail shoe prices. The wage control picture was less clear.

GI Morale Mounting In Advance

Foot Soldiers Shocked By Scene Of Death; Push Deep In No-Man's Land By JIM BECKER Western Front, Korea, Jan. 26—(AP)—A United Nations column pushed on north today in its drive into territory held up to now by Communists. The infantrymen had dismounted from trucks and tanks. They slogged down the road and in ankle-deep snow in the fields as they pushed to the outskirts of Suwon. Enroute they passed, the twisted, broken bodies of Korean refugees blasted from the air more than a week ago when intelligence learned that Chinese soldiers were hiding among them. The bodies lay in awkward postures of death, limbs twisted and the look of fright they carried to their death frozen on their faces. There had been no one to bury them in the wide no-man's land. The sight shocked battle-hardened infantrymen. "It's terrible to see them like that but this is war and we couldn't very well let them smuggle those troops right up to our lines," said Sgt. Jasper W. Driver of Wilson, N.C., a mortar man who threw many rounds into Red positions. Frontline morale soared with every step the foot soldiers took forward. "It's great to be going north instead of back," said Sgt. Carl Bates of Dallas. All the infantrymen I met felt the same way. And it is strictly an infantry show. The first serious resistance today came when an estimated Chinese regiment was met five miles southeast of Suwon. After being driven back the Reds counterattacked, but were again driven north. An undetermined number of Reds who blew bugles during the night were camped six miles west of Suwon.

Truman Seeks To Reassure World On China Policy

Hasty Punitive Action Ruled Out, But U. S. Firmness Is Emphasized Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Diplomatic officials expressed hope today that President Truman's latest policy statement on Red China would reassure other nations about American aims in the Far East. Although the President personally branded the Chinese communists as aggressors, he also in effect ruled out any hasty punitive action against them. "Obviously," Mr. Truman told his news conference yesterday, "this is no time for rash or unwise action. This is a time for clear thinking and firmness." Britain particularly and the European allies of the United States generally have been apprehensive lest this country take, or insist upon the United Nations taking, steps against the Chinese communists, which would bring on a general war in the Far East. Along with his note of caution, which administration officials said would apply to Americans favoring drastic measures against the Chinese Reds, Mr. Truman also sought to remove any doubt which might exist here or abroad about the firmness of U. S. policy for branding the Red Chinese as aggressors in Korea. He declared that the views of the United States on this point "have the solid support of the Executive, the Congress and the People." "Each member of the United Nations must make its own decision on this issue," he said. "For my part, I believe in calling an aggressor an aggressor." He added, that the question "of what can and should be done about the aggression in Korea of course must be discussed with all other friendly nations." And he pointed out that the American resolution now pending in the United Nations, while branding the Chinese communists as aggressors, would leave the way open for further efforts to end the Korean fighting and reach a "peaceful settlement of outstanding issues."

Strong U.N. Patrol Drives Northward Towards Seoul

Allies Drive Deeper Into Red Territory Recapture Town 17 Miles South Of Burned Out Korean Capital; Naval Guns Pound Inchon Harbor; Air Force Pounds Entire Seoul Area; Few Reds Met Tokyo, Jan. 26—(AP)—A strong United Nations patrol today retook Suwon, 17 miles south of burned out Seoul, without firing a shot in the town. The patrol, moving through what once was strong communist territory, ran into varying opposition two miles from the western front town. It was looking for the main communist strength in that sector. The patrol, supported with armor, may be on its way to Seoul or as near to the old South Korean capital as it can get. The U. S. 27th Regimental Combat Team—the famed Wolfhounds—fought into and out of Suwon last week. But since then intelligence officers suspect the 90,000 Chinese Reds reported south of Seoul have pulled back. Associated Press correspondent Jim Becker on the western front reported the allied entry into the subdued, walled town. For 36 hours, all news of allied activity in the western part of Korea had been blacked out by the U. S. Eighth Army. But the curtain was lifted enough today to show that at least two U. N. patrols were working their way into the Red territory south of Seoul. Bayonet Fight Our patrol beat off a Red Chinese attack with bayonets. Tanks drove the Reds off a hill in another sector. Naval guns of the U. S. heavy cruiser St. Paul and accompanying destroyers lit up the Inchon Harbor and silenced Red batteries on Woomi Island, off Inchon. Navy, Marine, and Air Force planes pounded the whole area. The patrol, which had a heavy mortar platoon, blasted 37 towns in the Seoul area and hammering at two huge enemy road convoys winding down through the mountains in the Kumchon-Daesong sectors, north of Seoul. Bayonet and hand to hand fighting took place in the vicinity of Suwon. After the doughboys drove off the attacking Reds, a Chinese bugle sounded a charge but no charge came. Hide-and-Seek It was a wary, deadly game of hide-and-seek all along the front for ground troops. Western area intelligence officers yesterday expressed the opinion the Red Chinese had made a large-scale withdrawal because of supply shortages, the cold weather or possibly for political reasons—hoping for a U. N. cease fire order. The U. S. Eighth Army communique spoke of light contact with the enemy in the Osan, Suwon and Kumyangsang sectors, northwest of Wonju on the central Korean warfront, and southeast of Tanyang. Tanyang is 40 miles southeast of Wonju. The communique said there was little or no contact on the east central front except a minor skirmish seven miles north of Yongwol, the tungsten mining town retaken by the allies some 14 miles east of Chechon. Naval Shelling The naval shelling of Inchon harbor was marked by the firing of shore batteries on the St. Paul from Woomi, the island where the U. S. First Marine Division landed Sept. 15 to start the Seoul invasion. A helicopter from the St. Paul later reported the Red batteries on the island were silenced by the guns of the cruiser and the Canadian destroyers Cayuga and Natook, a part of the naval raiding force. Fifth Air Force planes blasted at 33 towns in the Seoul area during the day.

Work Starts On Annex For School In Pactolus

Foundations Poured For New $32,000 Auditorium And Gymnasium; Architect Looks For Completion In Mid-Summer Pactolus, Jan. 26—Construction work began this week on a new $32,000 auditorium and gymnasium for Pactolus school. The ground has been broken and the foundation poured for a new addition to the school which was completed less than two years ago. The addition will house a combination auditorium and gymnasium for the use of the students of the school. It will be connected to the present building by a covered walk-way. The new auditorium and gymnasium will be of fire-proof brick and concrete block construction, and is to have a concrete floor covered with wood. The building will be 84 feet long and 44 feet wide, and at one end of the building will be a stage 44 feet wide and 20 feet deep. In addition to the stage, there will be a space 64 feet long and 44 feet wide which will be used for seating the audience when the building is used as an auditorium, and will be used for athletic events when the building is used as a gymnasium. Although there will be no team dressing rooms in the new building which may be put to use during athletic events, the building will contain three off-stage dressing rooms which will open directly onto the stage. The new auditorium and gymnasium is being added to the southwest end of the present Pactolus school building. It will have hot air heat, and will have four large emergency exit doors. Architect James W. Griffith expressed the belief that obtaining materials necessary for the building may cause some delay in its completion, but said the building should be completed by mid-summer at the latest and ready for use when the fall quarter of school opens in late August or early September. Principal Ralph Picklesimer of Pactolus school said plans are being made to have basketball teams during the coming school year, and to enter the Pitt county conference competition. In past years the Pactolus school has not entered teams in the county basketball circuit because the students had no indoor facilities in which to practice. The principal added that farm bureau to vote on officers annual election tonight; dues hike to be discussed The annual election of Farm Bureau officers for Pitt will be held tonight during a meeting of the county membership at the courthouse. Time is 7:30. Another matter on the Bureau's agenda tonight that promises to bring a large crowd for the discussion is the possible raising of membership dues. If the members vote tonight to recommend a hike in the yearly dues, that recommendation will be taken to the State Convention in February for passage or veto there. Such action can only be taken by the State body, after it has been recommended by the 100 county groups. Present officers of the Pitt Farm Bureau are W. A. Allen, Farmville, who succeeded Dr. Paul Frizzelle and has been president for a number of years; W. A. House, Bethel, first vice-president; Floyd Hendrix, Greenville, second vice-president; and M. O. Speight, Winterville, secretary-treasurer. All officers are eligible for re-election. Two other matters to be discussed for possible recommendation to the convention are a program of automobile insurance sponsored by the State Bureau and appointment of representatives to the commodity committees at the convention. The voting tonight will be done by those persons present. There does not have to be a quorum of members.

Absentee Voting Ban Sent Senate

Measure Has Backing Of N. C. Board Of Elections Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 26—(AP)—Legislation to do away with voting by absentee ballot in general elections was sent forward in the state Senate today. Senator Julian Allsbrook of Halifax tossed in the measure which has the backing of the State Board of Elections. The legislature abolished voting by absentee ballots in primaries many years ago, but it has consistently refused to eliminate absentee voting in general elections. Allsbrook's measure provided for a continuation of absentee voting by persons in the military service and by disabled war veterans in veterans hospitals. The Board of Elections in asking for abolition of absentee voting in general elections said that it was the cause of most elections squabbles.

Delay Report On Coliseum Probe

Raleigh, Jan. 26—(AP)—A special committee investigating advisability of the state going through with construction of a $1,350,000 coliseum at the State Fair grounds has postponed its report until Tuesday. The committee had planned to make its report to the State House and State Senate today. Members of the committee would give no hint as to what their recommendation will be, but Capitol observers were predicting it would recommend that the construction of the huge, ultra-modern structure be continued.

Sweet Potato Meeting Planned

Goldboro, N. C., Jan. 26—(AP)—A statewide meeting of sweet potato growers will be held here Feb. 2. The meeting was called to establish a North Carolina Sweet Potato Growers Association. The State Farm Bureau is sponsoring the gathering.

Final Arguments In Daniels' Appeal Are Set For February 14

Tarboro, N. C., Jan. 26—Final arguments in the Bennie and Lloyd Ray Daniels' appeal here in federal court will be heard in Tarboro on February 14, Judge Don Gilliam has announced. Attorneys were given until February 10 to file their findings in the case. Lawyers for the Daniels cousins are seeking to prove "systematic discrimination" in the selection of the Pitt County jury which sentenced the youths to die for the killing of a Greenville taxi driver. They also claim confessions allegedly made by Negroes were obtained under duress.

WAGE INCREASE

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—Hard coal operators today agreed to give their miners the same $1.60-a-day wage increase granted by the soft coal industry.

WORK AS USUAL

Tokyo, Jan. 26—(AP)—General MacArthur celebrated his 71st birthday today with work as usual. Well-wishers visited him throughout the day.

March Of Dimes In Farmville Nears Goal

Farmville, Jan. 26—Farmville's March of Dimes drive has passed the half-way mark and is well on the way towards topping its assigned goal, Chairman Sam D. Bundy announced today. At the present time, $750 has been turned in by the Farmville March of Dimes workers, with a considerable sum having been turned in but not officially reported, Bundy stated. "We have actually solicited more than $750, but just how much is not known yet." The goal set for Farmville this year, as its part of the county's drive, is $1,500. Last year, Farmville raised $1,571 which was an all-time high for the March of Dimes drive. In Farmville the dimes drive is being spearheaded by the school children who are doing a fine job, Bundy said. In addition to personal soliciting, coin collection boxes are in various business firms in the town, in the rooms at the schools and other places. With the drive scheduled to end on January 31st, Bundy appeared confident that the local drive would go above the top, even though a little extra time might be required. "Farmville in the past years has been steadily increasing its goal each year, with the first goal for Farmville being set at $600, upped the next year to $1,200 and then to the $1,500 mark, Bundy stated.

Sergeant Breaks Ranks For Last Kiss

Sgt. Edward Ratigan of Birmingham, Ala., breaks ranks for one last kiss from his wife as his three-and-a-half year old son, Eddie, Jr., looks on. The sergeant was marching to the railroad station in Birmingham where his regiment, the 167th Infantry, was leaving for camp. The regiment, which has been called into federal service as part of the Dixie Division, was famous in 1861 during the War Between the States as the Alabama Fourth. (AP Wirephoto).

Top Government Folks Stage Show For U.S.O.

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The men and women who run the government put on a rollicking show in Constitution Hall last night to raise money for the U.S.O. A 25-year-old GI in a wheel chair was introduced by Secretary of State Acheson as the "most important man" in the packed house. And President Truman said "it was a grand show, well worth the price of admission."

Asia For Asiatics

Back Of Nehru's Antagonism For Ideas Of Western Powers Is A Great Pride; He Does Not Love Communism But Likes Western Intervention Much Less By DeWITT MacKENZIE This column yesterday reported that Indian Prime Minister Nehru's speech attacking America's Asiatic policy was regarded by many observers as a disservice to Democracy's fight against Bolshevism. Naturally that has brought me inquiries as to what is back of this great Asiatic leader's antagonism to the ideas of the United States and similarly-minded western powers. As one of my inquirers put it: "What makes Nehru adopt such an attitude—what makes him tick?" Well, that's not an easy question to answer. However, I think we must begin by noting that Nehru is a genius (and no mistake about that) endowed with a mass of complexes and having fixed ideas on many subjects. He is a hard man to change, once his mind is made up. Among his most powerful aspirations long has been that of purging Asia of western colonialism, or, as many Asiatics term it, "imperialism." He has held that the great colonial powers like Britain, Holland, and France should clear out and leave Asia to the Asiatics. It's fairly obvious, I should say, that this enters heavily into his opposition to America's stand regarding Red China. He certainly gives the impression of being highly resentful of western intervention in Far Eastern affairs. There is no sign that Nehru is advocating recognition of Red China and her admission to the UN because of love of communism. It probably is not that he loves communism the more but that he likes western intervention in Asia the less. Whether India's Prime Minister fully recognizes that he is juggling with high-explosive when he lends support to Bolshevism is his own secret. One of his characteristics is possession of vast pride—and he will disclose his thoughts as

Weary Senators Seek Elevator

Raleigh, Jan. 26—(AP)—Members of the Senate decided today they were tired of climbing the long flight of steps to their chamber on the second floor of the Capitol. The Senators received a bill to appropriate $7,500 for installing an elevator in the Capitol. It suspended its rules, passed the measure and sent it to the House by special messenger. Senators R. Grady Rankin of Gaston, Julian Allsbrook of Halifax and R. E. Little of Anson introduced the bill.

Internal Security Body Proposal Drawing Fire

Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—President Truman's plans for his new internal security Commission touched off strong protest in congress today—especially regarding policy on access to secret files. Mr. Truman late yesterday named the eight other "distinguished citizens" who will serve on the commission under Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, appointed chairman earlier in the week. The commission will study the problem of protecting the nation's internal security without sacrificing the people's freedoms. Part of the presidential assignment calls for an analysis and report on the loyalty program covering government workers. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) commented that if Mr. Truman holds to the policy he has applied to congress with respect to files, the commission "will get no place," he added.

This will also usher in more conflicts and bickerings. No one is balking enough to think this upcoming price-wage freeze will automatically stop the rise in living costs, which have been spurting upward. If it puts a real brake on them for a while, slowing down their rush, it will be doing well. But the order freezing prices and wages is just the beginning. One Dead, Six Injured In Pitt Highway Wreck

Martin County Man Instantly Killed On New Stokes Highway Last Night When Car Left Road, Hit Pick-Up Truck By ROY HARDEE A Martin county man was instantly killed and six other persons seriously injured last night in a collision on the new Stokes highway involving a pick-up truck and automobile, around 10:15. Killed, was B. B. Wynn, 36, of Route 1, Robersonville, occupant in the right front seat of the automobile. Highway Patrolmen Cpl. Morrow and R. C. Holt gave this account of the accident. A car driven by Cecil B. Keel, of Route 1, Robersonville, was traveling on highway 33 in a northern direction, when it ran off the right shoulder of the highway striking a pick-up truck which was parked on the shoulder of the road, off the pavement. The force of the impact pushed the truck backward for 80 feet, while the car traveled a few feet and turned over on its side. The truck was operated by Floyd Lee Clemons, Negro, age 25, of Route 5, Greenville, and two other persons. For the county it was the first fatal accident of the 1951 year and the 25th traffic accident in the past 26 days, making a one-a-day average. So far this year 11 persons have been injured in Pitt highway accidents. Last year a total of 18 persons lost their lives in fatal crashes. Wynne died of severe head injuries, the officers reported. Persons injured in the Keel automobile, were listed by the officers as being: Cecil B. Keel, driver, severe cuts and bruises; Willie Thomas Roberson, age 14, Route 1, Williamston, lost a left thigh, bruises and cuts; Bob Keel and Roberson's conditions were listed by Pitt General Hospital as being critical today. Plans have been made to remove Roberson to a Raleigh hospital sometime today, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse said. James David Rogers, age 18, of Route 1, Robersonville, lip injuries and shock, not requiring hospitalization. Rogers was riding in the left rear seat behind the driver. Injured in the pick-up truck: Floyd Lee Clemons, severe cuts and bruises and a possible fractured back; Mamie Randolph, age 66, of Route 4, Greenville, broken leg and shock; and Walter Little, age 38, of Pactolus, slight injury to left knee. Little was treated at the hospital and released. Both of the vehicles involved in the tragic accident were demolished, Patrol officials stated. Coroner Griffin Rouse this morning stated that plans for an inquest have not been made yet, pending the outcome of the condition of the other patients now in the hospital listed on the critical list.

France Invites Eleven Nations To Paris Meet

Paris, Jan. 26—(AP)—France today invited 11 European nations to meet in Paris Feb. 6, to form a single European Army out of their present and planned armed forces. The nations are the 10 European members of the Atlantic Pact plus the Western German Federal Republic, a Foreign Office spokesman said. Canada and the United States have been invited to send observers. The conference will be opened by Premier Rene Pleven, who leaves tomorrow at midnight by plane for Washington, where he will outline his plan for a European Army in detail to President Truman.

While The Government Moves Closer To A General Price And Wage Freeze, You Can Look For The Move To Usher In Another Period Of Complaints, Protests By JAMES MARLOW Washington, Jan. 26—(AP)—The government today moved toward a new, but long delayed, era: general price and wage controls. This will also usher in more conflicts and bickerings. No one is balking enough to think this upcoming price-wage freeze will automatically stop the rise in living costs, which have been spurting upward. If it puts a real brake on them for a while, slowing down their rush, it will be doing well. But the order freezing prices and wages is just the beginning. Luncheon And Coffee Hour Honor Miss Mary Leah Thorne Farmville—Mrs. T. H. Joyner, Jr., and Mrs. J. Irvin Morgan, Jr., were luncheon hostesses at the D. A. R. chapter house Tuesday at 12:30, honoring Miss Mary Leah Thorne.

Guests were greeted by the hostesses and introduced to the honoree and Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner, Jr., recent bride.

Mrs. John T. Thorne, mother of the honoree, served tomato juice and cheese straws.

The pink color scheme was carried out on the first floor. Mantels were ornamented with pink anemones and pink candles. A bowl of pink snapdragons and gladioli was placed on the table.

Music on the solo was rendered by Mrs. M. V. Jones.

In the banquet room on the second floor, yellow candles and margarines were placed on the mantels. The table centerpiece was a bowl of yellow gladioli and snapdragons, flanked by five-branched candelabras holding yellow tapers. Mrs. J. I. Morgan served barbecue. Mrs. Larry James, mother of Miss Thorne's fiancé, presided over the coffee service.

The small tables, at which the approximately 100 guests were seated,

Training School Notes

The cooking class is proving a great success. Much pleasure as well as profit is being derived from the work.

Class spirit has developed rapidly since the completion of the class organization under faculty advisors. The classes are planning for various social affairs during the spring. Two members of the senior class have recently done substitute work in the Greenville graded school.

Persian Native To Conduct Joint Mission Study

Mr. David S. Chalabie, of Charlotte, North Carolina, will address a joint meeting of the women of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the Eighth Street Christian Church, and the First Presbyterian Church, at the sanctuary of the First Presbyterian Church, Friday morning, February 2, on the subject of the interdenominational world mission study book, "Introducing Islam."

According to plans announced by Mrs. I. B. Koonce, chairman of World Missions for the Women of the Presbyterian Church, the women of the First Presbyterian Church will be hostesses to the other churches in the city for this meeting which begins at 10:30 o'clock. At twelve o'clock the meeting will adjourn to the Assembly Room of the Church for a covered-dish luncheon for those who wish to participate.

Mr. Chalabie is a native of Persia where the Islamic religion is predominant and he will share with the groups his first-hand experiences with the content and expressions of this religion. At the present time, Mr. Chalabie resides in Charlotte where he operates the Tabriz Persian Rug Company and is a member of the Myers Park Presbyterian Church of that city. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Trends In House Designs Topic At Semi-Cent

The Semi-Cent Book Club met on Tuesday evening at the attractive home of Mrs. C. E. Fleming on River Drive. During the business discussion presided over by the chairman, there was some question brought before the club regarding Book Club Day, which is usually held in May.

After the business session, Mrs. Straughton turned the program over to Mrs. Earl Kittrell, program leader for the evening. Mrs. Kittrell had chosen as her topic, "The Modern Trend in House Design." She stated that in gathering information for her talk, she found the field much too broad to be sufficiently covered in a short time. She opened her review with explanations and pictures illustrating the wide range of designs, including modern, contemporary, and colonial. She outlined briefly the trends which are tending to make homes of today better planned, more attractive, and more livable than the homes of some twenty years back. Rather than generalizing, Mrs. Kittrell took the house as it is planned, room by room, and brought out the major improvements being made in each one. She used mounted pictures to illustrate some of her points.

At the close of the program, books were exchanged, and a very delightful refreshment course was served by Mrs. Fleming.

The next meeting will be held on February 13 at the home of Mrs. Mackie Frye on Dickinson Avenue.

Winterville FFA Wins Contest In County Meeting

At the first regular meeting of the Pitt County Federation held at the Grimesland High School recently, the Winterville Future Farmers of America club won the parliamentary procedure contest.

The meeting was opened by the County's Future Farmers' officers, followed by introductions and the contest.

Winners were awarded a banner, and plans for the next contest were discussed. The topic chosen was "Tool Identification," with the Bethel High chapter in charge.

Clubs winning the first three places, were: Winterville, Grimesland and Ayden.

Officers present were: Bobby Craft, President; William Watson, Vice President; Ralph Riggs, Secretary; Rex Vainright, Treasurer; LeRoy Faulker, Reporter; and Ralph McLawhorn, acting advisor.

G. C. Alumnae Chapter Meets With Mrs. Brooks

The Greenville Chapter of the Greensboro College Alumnae Association met at the home of Mrs. F. P. Brooks on Wednesday afternoon. A good attendance was recorded and three new members joined the organization, Mrs. William Turcott, Miss Carolyn Clark and Miss Joyce Duke.

Mrs. Ralph Tucker had charge of the recreation for the afternoon and led the group in several fun-provoking games. Several small prizes were awarded to games and contest winners.

During the business session conducted by Mr. W. C. Harris, acting president, a motion was made and passed to increase membership dues from $2.00 a year to $2.50 in order to enrich the local treasury. All money but 10% of the former dues is turned in to the general Alumnae fund in Greensboro.

A letter was read from Miss Mary Brock, alumnae secretary, suggesting that the local chapter plan a banquet for G. C. alumnae when the W.S.C.S. conference meets in the spring for their annual conference to be held this year at East Carolina Teachers College.

Mrs. F. P. Brooks was elected president to serve the rest of the year.

Following the business and social hour, the hostess served individual pies with whipped cream, coffee and nuts.

Guests for the evening were Miss Frances Aman and Mrs. Williams, sister of Mrs. J. C. Galloway.

Graduate Nurses Surprise Member By Gift Shower

The Greenville Graduate Nurses Club met in monthly session on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Roger Jones on Eastern Street, with Mrs. C. D. Bass as assisting hostess.

In the absence of the president Miss Martha Bunn, who has resigned, the secretary, Mrs. Dan Johnson, conducted a brief business session. Reports concerning the new Pitt Memorial Hospital were heard and some discussion followed as to the date of opening. Also during the business meeting a new president, Miss Frances Harvot, was unanimously elected.

During the social hour that followed, Miss Mabel Farmer, a director, was given a miscellaneous shower. She was the recipient of many useful and beautiful gifts, among which were pieces of crystal and china in her chosen patterns, linens and other small household furnishings.

At the conclusion of the meeting the hostesses served an ice course to the 16 members present.

Strength for the Day

BY EARL L. DOUGLAS
AND RIGHT NOW
Some automobiles are equipped with a light which, as soon as one turns on the dashboard lights, begins to flash, thus announcing that the handbrake is on. And it continues to flash until the brake is released. This prevents the driver from trying to drive the car with handbrake on.

Every one of us has discovered at times that he has driven his car a number of miles without fully releasing the handbrake. It is a disconcerting experience to discover this. We think of the energy wasted and the fuel eaten up.

And yet many a person goes through life with the impediment of some careless or bad habit keeping him from his full efficiency. The person who pays no attention to his health, the man who continually spends more money than his income justifies, the people who smoke too much and those who lean on alcohol, the people who just won't put themselves out to be nice to their associates and so are not on the boss' list when promotion day dawns—these are people who are going through life held back by some handicap which is thoroughly unnecessary.

It would be a good thing if the personalities of all of us were equipped with something corresponding to the flashing light under the dashboard—something that would say to us, "Brother, you are going through life with your brake on. Do something about it; do it now."

A Plea Which Should Have Been Unnecessary

We'd like to call to the attention of the people of Greenville a letter which appears in "The Voice of the People" column on this page today.

It is an open letter to the people of Greenville from the students at Greenville high school. It is a last resort request for the citizens of Greenville to support the athletic events at the high school.

In the letter the student body of the high school is not asking for money, for uniforms or for anything else of that nature... the kids at the high school just want moral support from the people of Greenville for their athletic teams. That's little enough for the boys and girls to ask.

It is unfortunate that interest in high school sports here has lagged to the extent that the students have to beg the people of Greenville to attend the athletic events at the high school.

It is true that the high school teams for the past few years haven't taken any state championship trophies. But for the most part the Greenville high school athletic teams, especially in basketball, have placed themselves well up in the Northeastern conference standings.

Greenville, it is true, is blessed with having college athletics in our midst as well as high school athletics. But The Reflector doesn't believe one should be sacrificed completely for the support of the other.

The students of Greenville high school are begging the people of Greenville for their support. The boys and girls are due the support of the people of their home town. We hope they receive it without further pleading.

Cooperation In Law Enforcement

Cooperation between the various branches of the law enforcement system of a community and the state is a great asset which not all areas of North Carolina enjoy.

In the area surrounding Pitt county, however, the people are fortunate to have one of the most cooperative groups of law enforcement officials anywhere in the state.

Evidence of the close coordination between the law enforcement divisions was amply displayed yesterday in the concerted effort which was made to apprehend the robbers who broke into the Pinetops ABC store. The ABC officers of five eastern North Carolina counties dashed to the scene of the robbery to join in the effort to capture the criminals. Although it was by no means a requirement for the sheriff's departments of the counties around Edgecombe to send men to aid in the emergency, representatives of the sheriff's departments from four of the five counties joined in the hunt for the men who broke into the store.

In addition to the ABC officers and the members of the sheriff's departments, the highway patrolmen of this area and likewise the State Bureau of Investigation officers in this area quickly took part in the project of bringing the criminals into captivity. Although it may seem almost incredible for an area as sparsely settled as eastern North Carolina, and with as few law enforcement officers as we have to patrol hundreds of square miles, within three hours after the alarm was sounded between 40 and 50 well trained law officers were putting their skills into practice around the little town of Pinetops.

The cooperation which was exhibited yesterday is the kind which makes law enforcement really effective. The people of this section of the state are indeed fortunate to have that sort of cooperation and coordination between the law enforcement branches.

A Young Man Of 71 Years

One of America's greatest military commanders today celebrated his 71st birthday at his headquarters in Tokyo.

General Douglas MacArthur, the man who has directed the United States military operations in the East during the past decade, asserted there will be no turning back in the conflict between freedom and communism. Now that arms have been committed to the conflict, the battle must be pushed until victory is attained.

MacArthur, as a military commander, ranks with the finest the United States has ever produced. Although he has been the object of much criticism for the early reverses of the United States in the Pacific theatre during World War II, and the reverses the United Nations forces have more recently suffered in Korea, he remains one of the best generals this country has ever had.

Unfortunately, MacArthur has been tagged with the role of statesman as well as military commander. In the statesman's role he has attracted more criticism than he ever had as a military leader. But in the Far East the military maneuvers and the diplomatic maneuvers are so closely related, it is difficult to completely separate the two.

MacArthur has attained a creditable record in his profession as a military leader, and he has done a better-than-average layman's job in his diplomatic assignments.

He is truly one of the United States' most valuable leaders in this time of unrest.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26—Central Intelligence's latest figures on the opposing forces in Korea tend to corroborate General Douglas A. MacArthur's earlier estimates of the large size of the Red Army that is striving to drive the United Nations military representation off the peninsula in another Dunkirk.

His figures had been branded as "highly exaggerated" by certain antagonistic Pentagon spokesmen, British correspondents and his political enemies at Washington. Moscow's overseas agents have relayed this criticism to Russian and satellite newspapers in an effort to discredit western prestige in a contest for Asiatic support inside and outside the United Nations.

900,000—It is now believed that there are approximately 900,000 Red soldiers in all of Korea, and that about 700,000 of these are so-called "Chinese volunteers" from the mainland. Half of the total, or 450,000, are reported to be on or near the front lines, while the rest are being held in reserve, or are fed into battle as conditions require.

The present withdrawal strategy to shorter lines, possibly to the old Pusan beachhead, is designed to make it impossible for the foe to maintain maximum and persistent firepower and manpower opposite our numerically inferior fighters.

Despite their vast numbers, the enemy has suffered severely. As his supply lines lengthen, they become more vulnerable to air attack and to infiltration tactics which our youngsters have had to master. Moreover, the hard core of veterans of the Chinese and Japanese wars have been reduced in the furious battles of the last few months.

OBSERVATIONS—These new estimates are credited because they are based on the questioning of captured units, a study of the papers of enemy living and dead, and on more detailed aerial observations. It was not possible to obtain this kind of checkup before the Reds crossed the Yalu River from Manchuria.

As General MacArthur has hinted, both sides are now revising their plans with one eye cocked on the United Nations debates in New York, especially on our demand that Communist China be branded as an aggressor.

The Reds seek to influence the diplomatic decision by making our position untenable as soon as possible. MacArthur wants to maintain a foothold, and to repulse the attacking hordes, in order to swing the British-Asian bloc behind our strong anti-Chinese Communist stand.

SCALP—An unexpected demand for the scalp of Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson has arisen during the current conference of 200 leaders here for discussion of 1952 presidential strategy. Although his friends insist that he is completely neutral, the sharp clash between the Taft and Dewey forces has placed him on an embarrassing spot.

Mr. Gabrielson was named as a sort of compromise, a stopgap, when the New York Governor's national chairman, Hugh Scott Jr., was ousted in the bitter consequence of the 1948 election. Although Taft votes helped to elect the New Jersey industrialist, he was not the Ohioan's first choice.

FACTION—Now, rightly or wrongly, Mr. Gabrielson has been linked with the eastern faction that opposes Mr. Taft's views on foreign policy. Even though the national chairman has eschewed any part in the great debate, many of his industrial, financial and social friends have committed themselves and he suffers from that fact.

Their candidate, of course, is General "Ike" Eisenhower, whose most vocal political sponsor happens to be Governor Dewey. With understandable logic, the Taft people figure that, if the military hero is unavailable next year, Mr. Dewey will (1) throw his strength behind an "interventionsist" or (2) try to capture the nomination himself.

ASSETS—Most of the anti-Gabrielson chatter came from southern G.O.P.-ers, and it is in this section that the Ohio Senator has always been most popular. They warn to his attitude on domestic problems, and they approved his demand for Senate abandonment of any presidential move to ship troops abroad.

Figuring it is time to give their favorite a pre-1952 buildup, they want him to try to gain control of the National Committee, as he has strengthened his grip on Capitol Hill.

Mr. Gabrielson has several assets, however. Many veteran, and influential G.O.P.-ers urge against an internal row on the eve of 1952. They also note that, although no shining light as a politician or orator, the New Jersey man has made good as an organizer and a money collector. And it was under his leadership that the party scored last November's sizable gains.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Back in school when they told me "X" and "Y" were unknowns to be used in math, I never dreamed that the terms would appear in the news as "unknowns" concerning the survival of freedom. Newsmen now use these letters to indicate:

X: the date when Russia will have enough atomic bombs to cripple us and thus be ready to attack.

Y: the date when Europe, with help from the U.S., would have enough divisions to protect herself, thus making Russia think twice about her plans for world conquest.

It looks as if X might well be some time in 1952, and Y some time in 1954. With this situation staring us right in the face, we are still without a consistent world policy. General of the Army Dwight Eisenhower has been entrusted with the most important military-diplomatic mission ever given an American soldier: that is, urging Western Europe to start mobilizing for its defense.

While Ike is in Europe telling the countries to get prepared, we are doing it over here, but about as fast as a not rod snail. Right now rearmament is taking a mere 7 per cent of the national output; next year it may take as much as 18 per cent. In WW II, rearmament took 45 per cent of all the nation's wealth and prosperity.

Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois says, "Total expenditures of the Department of Defense for the six months up to January 2, 1951, were $7.9 billions as compared to $7.2 billions during the comparable period of the year before. This was an increase of only 9 per cent. Yet the military situation is certainly more than 9 per cent more serious than it was a year ago.

With the government taking such a small amount from civilian production, why have civilians already been hit by shortages? One reason is hoarding by the profiteers, and another one is that the government has bought up the raw materials before they have organized the production. You might call it getting the cart before the horse.

The country's leaders of the Pentagon building believe that with sufficient cadres of trained men it can expand its armed forces fast enough to meet any crisis. As for industrial mobilization, that was being carried out about as rapidly as possible, or so the Pentagon thought. Industry, the leaders say, could expand overnight into an all-out war program.

It's easy to sit down here in Greenville and give the boys down in the country for lagging. And it's rather difficult to understand why they don't get on the ball, too. And I thank you.

CONFLICTING—Mention has been made of the conflict in committee meetings which prevent some legislators from attending all committees where bills in which they are interested are pending. The same kind of conflict occurs in connection with entertainment scheduled for the legislators. There were two bar-becue dinners staged Wednesday night of this week, both of which had been postponed from the previous Wednesday because of the planetarium show at Chapel Hill. Several members were invited to both and had difficulty in deciding which to attend.

PARTIES—Arch Allen and Jimmie Little, Wake county representatives in 1949, were joint hosts to about fifty of their former colleagues at Milburnie Club near Raleigh, where they served barbecued pig and chicken. W. P. (Bill) Johnston and his associates in the beer control set-up were hosts to about thirty western legislators and others at the Sir Walter Hotel. The menu was also barbecued pig and chicken. The hotel affair resulted from a challenge issued during the Democratic itinerary last fall. At the twelfth district rally at Sylva in October there arose debate about whether eastern or mountain barbecue was better.

WIDOWS—The senate has a special widows' subcommittee composed of three of the younger and more handsome members of the body. Senators William Copeland, William Medord and Laurence Fountain are taking a bit of ragging from their colleagues. The sub-committee was named by Chairman John Larkins of the appropriations committee to study effects of a proposal by Senator Julian Allbrook to reduce from ten to five years the time a woman must have lived with a Confederate soldier as his wife in order to qualify for a pension as his widow. Tentative estimates are the bill would add about ten thousand dollars a year to the pension roll.

SYMPATHY—Legislators have been free to express sympathy for bona fide widows of Confederate veterans who are in need, but there is growing disposition to screen the widow list carefully because it is evident that in many cases very young women married very old veterans in order to qualify for pensions. Classic example of this attitude was disclosed when the advisory budget commission visited the Confederate Women's Home at Fayetteville in 1949. One resident there, admitted as the widow of a Confederate soldier, was also drawing compensation from the federal government as the widow of a World War II soldier. It appeared she had, as a very young woman married an old Confederate veteran and then as an old woman had married a very young soldier of the second world war.

COMPROMISE—Contract for the agricultural building annex in Raleigh was approved Thursday under a compromise agreement that could have been effected without all the furor and commotion over the matter. The required additional amount of $175,000 was transferred from another item in the board of buildings and grounds permanent improvement budget, and the building will be carried along under terms of contract bid of November 7, plus some escalator clauses increases on price of materials. Similar transfers have been made in connection with numerous other building projects, where funds appropriated for some item not so badly needed were "borrowed" to complete the more acutely needed buildings costing more than original allocations for them.

ROUND-ABOUT—Instead of following this simple plan through

The Voice Of The People

Dear Citizens of Greenville: The student body of Greenville high school has been greatly disappointed up to now in your failure to attend the home basketball games of our team. We feel that you, who are quite sure have an interest in the way your high school is carried on, are not giving the activities sponsored by it your support.

At the last home game on November 12, in which our Phantoms entertained the powerful Elizabeth City team, only 12 adults from this town attended the contest. We realize that this day and time there is nearly always something going on to occupy your time and that just about every thing is always calling upon you for money. However, since the school is the training ground for your children's future, shouldn't the support of the school and its activities come first? It is true that during the past two or three years the athletic teams of Greenville high school have not fared too well in their encounter with other schools. Because of this many of the adults of this town do not attend our sports events. It has been proven time and time again that the only way to build a winning team is to support a loser until it becomes a winner. Our basketball team this year, even though it has lost two games by very close scores, still has a

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Government and economic pressures are making 1951 the moving-year for industry. Hope of escape from rising local taxes and traffic congestions, shifts in population and fear of atomic bombs are also factors.

Decentralization of industry has been a government policy since early in the last war. Breaking up physical concentrations of industry makes the country less vulnerable to bombing and invasion. It also taps new labor pools and spreads industrial prosperity.

Now the government has two new tools with which it can encourage dispersal. It can grant or withhold priorities for materials and it can grant or refuse faster amortization, which tends to reduce tax liabilities. The government can't compel a company to move, but if the company wants to add a new plant, the government holds an impressive veto power over the location.

One of the oldest site locating firms, the Fantus Factory Locating service of New York, reports that it has never been so busy. As of today, it is conducting surveys for 46 companies that are planning to move or planning added plants. This represents a 47 per cent increase since the Korean June. There has been an increasing trend for companies, when needing additional facilities, to build new plants in distant locations instead of adding to present plants.

Other locating services report increased activity and many of the giant corporations have increased the staffs of their permanent site investigating departments. Some corporations keep as many as 30 men constantly studying places for proposed new establishments.

Transportation, taxes, and the supply of labor, water and power are basic factors in selecting new sites. But a successful plant locating service must go behind the superficial aspects of each factor.

A community, for instance, may offer a very low tax-rate. But investigation may disclose that it has been starving its roads or schools, or that it has made commitments for large future spending, and the tax rate is certain to skyrocket later.

Ample labor supplies are encouraging, but most industries need skills rather than bodies. It sometimes develops that while a community has a large number of men available, all with certain skills are already being employed.

Water is usually an asset. But in at least one case a company all ready to move discovered that water in the new location carried slightly different minerals than the water it had been using, and this would have affected some delicate operations.

TRAILER SUBSTITUTES FOR BUILDER'S SHANTY
When a builder starts a new project, the first construction is usually a shed for tools, blueprints and paper work.

Ever wonder how much those structures cost? Well, a New York company did and promptly bought a used trailer as a substitute. It cost $6,000, but the company figured it had saved that by the second job. In addition, it sold the original trailer furnishings for $400.

GOVERNMENT TELLS HOW TO PROTECT PLANT
"Vital to industry," says the Department of Commerce of a new 24-page booklet on "Principles of Plant Protection." It is available for 15 cents at field offices of the department and is recommended for defense contractors and sub-contractors.

TAX ON GAS HIGHER THAN TAX ON FUELS
Twenty-seven per cent of the money New Yorkers spent for gasoline in 1950 went for taxes, the Empire State Petroleum Association says, noting that the rate is higher than on furs and jewelry. The state tax alone is 4 cents a gallon; motorists in states with higher taxes pay even higher rates.

SIMILAR NAMES, SIMILAR PRODUCTS
The Mitchell Optical Co. wants it known that it hasn't moved from Waynesville, Mo. The trouble arose when it was announced that the Mitchell Manufacturing Co. of New York, is manufacturing glasses for television viewers. The confusion was compounded because the Waynesville company also makes television glasses. Neither company is to be confused with Mitchell's Tavern in Brooklyn. It doesn't make glasses. Just fills them.

FIRM CUTS LINE BY HUNDRED ITEMS
That some companies would reduce their lines under pressure of shortages was recently reported here. Now a Chicago company has announced it is discontinuing about 100 items in its line of cookware.

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops, Korea
—(AP)—The war in Korea has boiled down again to the same old military problem: there aren't enough doughboys to hold the hills.

The unusual sound effects of the massive Chinese force—its bugle calls, blowing whistles and clashing cymbals—have created no hysteria in the American battlefield. It is the number of rifles the Chinese can concentrate at will that disturbs frontline officers.

"As it is now, they can send men in faster than we can kill them," said a Major. "We run out of small arms ammunition shooting them down."

"But if we could put about 50 divisions in a line across this country—50 divisions of the same strength we used in Europe in the last world war—we could then kill them faster than they could reorganize and bring fresh units against us."

"And we could hold that line until hell froze over, even if they attacked us with five million men."

The viewpoint of the Major is held by many an officer and enlisted man weary of withdrawal. But a number feel the peninsula could be held with far less than 50 infantry divisions—which at 18,000 men to a division, would make up an army of 900,000 troops.

The North Korean Army was destroyed last fall by a United Nations force whose units—revealed in action by General MacArthur—were about 18 divisions. And 10 of these were ROK (Republic of Korea) divisions, which are only about two-thirds as large as a full strength American division.

Lt. Col. Robert G. Ferguson of Carmel, Calif., saw his wife for the first time in six months—on a movie screen.

Just before leaving for Korea last July, Ferguson served as technical advisor for "Breakthrough," a Warner Brothers film based on the Normandy campaign. Recently he attended a showing of the completed movie at Eighth Army headquarters. One scene showed two Red Cross girls serving refreshments to the troops. Ferguson looked closely at one of them and then said aloud: "Why, that's my wife, Charlo."

Mrs. Ferguson had been given a small role in the film after her husband's departure. New fellow officers are telling the Colonel he is wasting his time in Korea—with a movie star in the family back home.

New 4-H Club Organized For Four Communities

A 4-H club for the boys and girls from the Greenville, Winterville, Ayden and Grifton areas was organized last Saturday morning at a meeting at the agricultural building in Greenville.

Although there were 19 junior and senior 4-H clubs already active in the county, none of the four communities mentioned had 4-H organizations. There are approximately 950 members in the 19 4-H clubs of the county—600 girls and 350 boys.

An explanatory talk on 4-H club work was given by Assistant Home Agent Helen Hicks at the meeting Saturday morning, and a short discussion of project and club work was given by C. J. Goodman, assistant county agent.

Temporary officers elected Saturday for the Greenville-Winterville-Ayden-Grifton club were: President, Jean Ann Liverman of Winterville; Vice President, William Arthur Rouse of Ayden; Secretary-treasurer Jennie Worthington of Winterville; Reporter, Jo Ann McLawhorn of Winterville; and Song Leader Rachel Speight of Winterville.

New members of the club include: Greenville: Sylvia Satterthwaite, Dee Hux and Jeanette Moye. Winterville: Roselyn Waters, Alice Waters, Jeannie Worthington, Polly Ann Nobles, Maggie Castello, Jo Ann McLawhorn, Rachma Speight, Jean Ann Liverman and Alice Thompson. Ayden: Van Smith, Bobby Rouse and William Arthur Rouse. Grifton: Carol Adams and Kenneth Garris.

Adult leaders who were responsible for the attendance at the meeting Saturday morning were: Mrs. Brantley Speight, Renston Nobles; Mrs. Wiley Waters, Winterville; Mrs. R. N. Rouse, Grifton; and Mrs. R. H. Smith, Ayden.

The average retail price of wheat flour jumped from 3.8 cents per pound in 1939 to 10.1 cents per pound in 1948.

The Railroads RESPECT...

The Union Leaders seek to REPUDIATE...

this agreement!

What is the TRUTH?

At various stages in the present dispute with the brotherhoods of railroad operating employees

- ... the railroads agreed to arbitrate. The union leaders refused.
- ... the railroads accepted the recommendations of President Truman's Emergency Board. The union leaders refused.
- ... the railroads accepted the White House proposal of August 19, 1950. The union leaders refused.

Finally an Agreement was signed at the White House on December 21, 1950. Now the union leaders seek to repudiate the Agreement.

The railroads stand ready to put the terms of this Agreement into effect immediately, with back pay at the rates and dates indicated.

The Agreement is given in full below.

MEMORANDUM OF AGREEMENT
Washington, D. C.
December 21, 1950

- Establish 40 hour week for yardmen with increase of 23 cents effective October 1, 1950, and additional 2 cents effective January 1, 1951.
- Set aside 40 hour week agreement until January 1, 1952, and establish 6 day work week for yardmen. Effective with the first pay roll period after 30 days from the date of execution of the formal agreement, yardmen required by the carrier to work on the 7th day to be paid overtime rates except engineers who shall receive straight time rates for the 7th day. This does not create guarantees where they do not now exist. On and after October 1, 1951, three months' notice to be given of desire to go on 40 hour week. Provide for consideration of availability of manpower and 4 cents per hour if and when the 40 hour week actually becomes effective.
- Settle rules for 40 hour week and 6 day week.
- Grant yard conductors and brakemen other rules such as daily earnings minimum, car retarder operators and footboard yardmasters as recommended by Emergency Board No. 81.
- Settle following rules: Initial Terminal Delay (Conductors and Trainmen) Interdivisional Runs Pooling Caboose (Conductors and Trainmen) Reporting for Duty More than One Class of Service Switching Limits Air Hose (Conductors and Trainmen) Western Differential and Double Header and Tonnage Limitation (Conductors and Trainmen, all Territories)
- Road men to receive 5 cents per hour increase effective October 1, 1950, and additional 5 cents per hour increase effective January 1, 1951.

- Quarterly adjustment of wages on basis of cost of living index (1 point to equal 1¢ per hour. First adjustment April 1, 1951. Base to be 176).
- Agreement embodying principles applicable to yardmasters to be entered into for benefit of yardmasters.
- Effective October 1, 1950, the basic hours of dining car stewards shall be reduced from 225 to 205 hours per month; no penalty overtime to accrue until 240 hours have been worked, the hours between 205 and 240 to be paid for at the pro rata rate.
- Effective February 1, 1951, overtime at time and one-half shall accrue after 220 hours have been worked. The basic monthly salary to be paid for the 205-hour month shall be the same as that now paid for the 225-hour month. Except that four dollars and ten cents ($4.10) shall be added to the present monthly rate effective January 1, 1951.
- In consideration of above, this agreement to be effective until October 1, 1953, and thereafter until changed or modified under provisions of Railway Labor Act. Moratorium on proposals for changes in wages or rules until October 1, 1953, as follows:

No proposals for changes in rates of pay, rules or working conditions will be initiated or progressed by the employees against any carrier or by any carrier against its employees, parties hereto, within a period of three years from October 1, 1950, except such proposals for changes in rules or working conditions which may have been initiated prior to June 1, 1950. Provided, however, that if as the result of government wage stabilization policy, workers generally have been permitted to receive so-called annual improvement increases, the parties may meet with Doctor Steelman on or after July 1, 1952, to discuss whether or not further wage adjustments for employees covered by this agreement are justified, in addition to increases received under the cost of living formula. At the request of either party for such a meeting Doctor Steelman shall fix the time and place for such meeting. Doctor Steelman and the parties may secure information from the wage stabilization authorities or other government agencies. If the parties are unable to agree at such conferences whether or not further wage adjustments are justified they shall ask the President of the United States to appoint a referee who shall sit with them and consider all pertinent information, and decide promptly whether further wage increases are justified and, if so, what such increases should be, and the effective date thereof. The carrier representatives shall have one vote, the employee representatives shall have one vote and the referee shall have one vote.

11. If the parties cannot agree on details of agreement or rules they shall be submitted to John R. Steelman for final decision.

The usual protections for arbitrators, miscellaneous rates, special allowances, and existing money differentials above existing standard daily rates will be included in the formal agreement.

The foregoing will not debar management and committees on individual railroads from mutually agreeing upon changes in rates, rules and working conditions of employees covered by this agreement.

Jesus—the Great Teacher

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 3:13-4:24.

Jesus went up into a mountain and there He ordained the twelve apostles; that they should be with Him, and that He might send them forth to preach.

Jesus and the twelve went into a house, but multitudes followed, so that they could not even eat, and Jesus' friends tried to get hold of Him.

The scribes said of Jesus that "He hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils He casteth out devils." Jesus said: "How can Satan cast out Satan?"

Jesus told the multitude the parable of the sower. After the crowd left, He explained its meaning to the apostles.

JESUS --- THE GREAT TEACHER

HE TALKED TO HIS LISTENERS IN PARABLES

Scripture—Mark 3:13—4:34.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WHAT MAKES a great teacher? He (or she) should have what we call a magnetic personality—that is one that attracts people and makes them want to listen to what is said.

A good teacher must make the thing he is talking about interesting enough to hold his listeners' attention; he must draw pictures in their minds, so to speak—make them see the things of which he speaks.

He may tell stories to illustrate the points he makes. Above all, he must be a sincere person who believes in what he is teaching, and he must be interested in the people to whom he is talking so that they can feel the warmth of his personality and be more willing to listen and able to believe the truths he tells.

Jesus had all of these qualities. He was kindly and gentle, but firm. He believed so much in His mission and message, that He was willing to antagonize the most influential people of His day in order to tell the multitudes not stand," he told them. Then Jesus warned them that they were blaspheming, and that for that sin against the Holy Ghost there was no forgiveness.

Jesus also proclaimed at this time that He no longer considered His mother and other members of His family as closer to Him than others. He had been told that His mother and brethren were without, seeking Him.

"And He looked round about on them which sat about Him, and said, Behold My mother and My brethren."

So eager were the people generally to hear the Master, that when He went again to the seaside they followed Him in droves. The beach was so crowded that Jesus entered a boat and taught the multitude from there. Here He began to illustrate His teaching with parables.

He said a sower went out to sow; some of the seed fell by the wayside and was eaten up by the birds, some fell on stony ground where they began to grow, but not finding enough earth in about it. People "listened to Him gladly."

Going up into a mountain, Jesus called those He wished to be His fellow-workers to Him. There He called the twelve, and ordained them to preach His word. They also were given the power to heal sicknesses and to cast out devils.

After that Jesus and the twelve went to a house, but the multitudes came to them in such numbers that they were not even able to eat.

Opposition to Jesus was growing. Some scribes who had come down from Jerusalem said "He hath Beelzebub, and by the prince of the devils casteth he out devils."

It seems impossible that anyone who had seen the Saviour, beheld the work He had done among the poor and afflicted; and heard His words, could ever think that He was in league with the devil.

Jesus called these men to Him and said, "How can Satan cast out Satan?" He pointed out that if Satan was working against himself, his kingdom couldn't last. "And if a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand," he told them. Then Jesus warned them that they were blaspheming, and that for that sin against the Holy Ghost there was no forgiveness.

Jesus also proclaimed at this time that He no longer considered His mother and other members of His family as closer to Him than others. He had been told that His mother and brethren were without, seeking Him.

"And He looked round about on them which sat about Him, and said, Behold My mother and My brethren."

So eager were the people generally to hear the Master, that when He went again to the seaside they followed Him in droves. The beach was so crowded that Jesus entered a boat and taught the multitude from there. Here He began to illustrate His teaching with parables.

He said a sower went out to sow; some of the seed fell by the wayside and was eaten up by the birds, some fell on stony ground where they began to grow, but not finding enough earth in which to develop roots, when the sun came up they withered and died. Some seed fell among weeds, that smothered them. However, some fell on good, rich soil, and they grew and flourished and produced fruit abundantly.

Most of His listeners doubtless lost the point of the story—just as children and young people in high school and college often hear what is said but it makes no impression on them.

Others grasp a part, but other things seeming more important to them, they forget the message; or they allow other matters to crowd them out of their minds, as the weeds smothered the plant.

However, others doubtless remembered what Jesus had said and tried to learn the lesson He would have taught them.

The apostles, however, were fortunate. When they were alone with their Master they asked Him the parable's meaning, and He explained it to them.

"And with many such parables spake He the word unto them, as they were able to hear it... and when they were alone, He expounded all things to His disciples."

VOYAGE TO EDEN

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 22
Bert listened indifferently while Molly told him what Elsie had said about the refugees. He was sympathetic and understanding up to a certain point. He thought it was splendid that Elsie Merritt was taking such an interest in the unfortunate people, doing such a fine job of keeping the well ones occupied and out of the way of the sick.

"It has another advantage too," he chuckled. "It keeps your friend Elsie out of our hair. I know she means well, and she was darn nice to you when you were laid up with your ankle. But as far as I'm concerned, she's the world's worst pest. I can see her teaching wrestling, but the idea of her teaching English makes me laugh."

"She does say they're picking up all the wrong words. But I'm not going to let you laugh at her," Molly put a hand over Bert's lips. "For all her incessant chatter, she is one of the kindest people I know."

Bert took her hand in his and kissed each finger separately. "Sure thing," he said. "I said she means well. And I think it's pretty wonderful of her to pitch in and help those poor wretches."

He thought it was even more wonderful of Molly to agree to go down and help out, he went on to say. It proved that he, Bert Hasbrook, had picked a pretty wonderful girl, one who would meet with his father's instant approval. He himself wished he could do something for the D.P.'s. He was very much ashamed that he hadn't thought to buy gifts in Algiers for the youngsters.

But there Bert's understanding seemed to stop. He began to ask questions. Whatever gave Molly the idea that she was needed when there were sufficient nurses who were hired to take care of the sick? Was Molly sure she wasn't being presumptuous, dashing down in the middle of the night to offer her services as a nurse's aid—services that might not even be wanted? Had Peter O'Malley asked her, sent for her?

Had anyone besides Elsie suggested that O'Malley and his staff might welcome a volunteer helper? Too, wasn't Elsie an alarmist and definitely on the push-and-shove side? Was there any sensible reason she couldn't wait till morning, speak to Peter O'Malley or Captain Rosario, and go about it in a less melodramatic way?

He caught her arm and pulled her close to him. "I need you, Molly-o. I couldn't feel lower. Going to let me down?"

Molly laughed. "But you aren't sick," she teased. "You've just had a run-in with the captain, and you're sore. You're just a great big spoiled baby, Bert. If I weren't so fond of you, I'd say you were a brat. Anyhow, I'm going. I promised."

Bert didn't answer immediately. Instead, he made a sour face and kicked at the rail, much in the manner of a spoiled child on the verge of a tantrum.

Further conversation on the subject was made impossible by the arrival of Mark Norwood and Clayton Howell, who came out of the bar and wanted to hear all about the day's misadventure. Molly apologized for the trouble they'd caused, but the two men were inclined to belittle their part in the incident. It was nothing, they insisted. The important thing was that Molly and Bert were back on board, none the worse for their experience.

They talked for a while about other things, but Bert continued to sulk and Molly began to get embarrassed. He did not join in the general conversation, answering only in monosyllables when directly addressed.

Presently, feeling that she could bear the strain no longer and knowing that Elsie would be getting impatient, she got up. Clay Howell was on his feet instantly and Norwood started to get up, but she motioned them back into their chairs when she saw that Bert had made no move to follow suit.

"Don't get up, any of you," she said, hoping that no one besides herself had noticed Bert's small breach of courtesy. "It only makes me feel like I'm breaking up a party, doesn't it, Bert?"

"How would I know?"

"Well, it does. I'll have to say good night now and run," she raced on. "I promised Elsie I'd help out with a little project she has. Thanks again for being so kind as to go looking for us. I'm sorry we caused such a to-do."

Bert was on his feet now, catching her arm in an effort to detain her.

"But I promised. Elsie's waiting for me. She says they need help very badly. If that's the case, then I can't let her down. I'd only be letting myself down."

He released her. "I suppose it doesn't mean anything to let me down," he said coldly. "All right. Go ahead and make a fool of yourself, if you must. Nobody's stopping you."

Molly, her cheeks flaming, turned and fled. She could feel the of humiliation—or was it anger?—welling up in her eyes. Her main thought was to get to her stateroom as quickly as possible. There she could bury her face in the pillows of her berth and cry her heart out.

Once inside her stateroom, she glanced longingly at the berth. Then, setting her jaw hard, she washed her face in cold water until the burning had subsided and all traces of tears were removed. Hurriedly, she changed into the white linen dress, fastened a ribbon around her blonde curls, and ran down the corridor to the doorway leading to the lower decks.

For a moment she stood staring at the formidable iron grating that now replaced the accustomed plush rope, thinking she had come to the wrong place. Then she knew. She had waited too long. The exit had been closed for the night.

She returned to her stateroom in a chastened frame of mind. For all her good intentions, she had done a thorough job of letting people down. Bert was not the only one. She had not fulfilled her promise to Elsie. She had failed to answer an emergency call, an obligation all the more binding because it involved voluntary services to others. She had let everyone down, including herself.

Bob Lee Band To Play For March Of Dimes Dance

Bob Lee and his orchestra will play for the annual President's Birthday ball which will be held in the Wright auditorium at East Carolina Teachers College Wednesday evening. The dance will begin at 9 p.m.

The proceeds from the annual dance will go to the Pitt county March of Dimes campaign. Larry Averette, chairman of the committee which is putting on the dance, urged the people of Green-will to purchase tickets for the affair and attend the dance. The slogan of the dance, Averette said, is "dance so others may walk."

Red Oak News

The folks at Red Oak hope that many of their friends will ride out and have dinner and supper with them Sunday, January 28. A good wholesome country dinner and supper will be served—and the proceeds will be used for a good purpose.

The Martha Jolly Class of Red Oak held its January meeting at the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Pate on the Farmville highway last evening. Twelve members and ten visitors were present.

Newly-elected officers for the year were Willie Pate, chairman; James Sydney Allen, vice-chairman; Mrs. Odell Evans, secretary and treasurer.

It was discussed and voted upon to have during the year a wicker roast, a picnic and a Christmas party.

Mrs. James Allen carried us on a trip through the jungle with lions and tigers and high water encountered.

Mr. Pate led us in a contest in which some one lost his "shirt," a pair of socks, some hair, etc. Much fun was enjoyed.

This meeting was closed with a hymn and a prayer and we hope that this will be a beginning of an organization that will do much good in our church.

A salad plate with a soft drink was served by the host and hostess. The meeting adjourned to meet in February with Mr. and Mrs. James Sydney Allen on the "Allen Highway."

'See A Preacher' Is Court Order

A man in City Recorder's Court this morning had his case continued for two weeks provided he becomes acquainted with a preacher between now and then.

Judge J. W. H. Roberts told Warren Herring, indicted for being drunk, that if he could show evidence of having talked with a preacher — any preacher — during the two weeks period, the case would be continued. Herring asked the judge for continuation so he could get a job in the meantime to pay the usual court fine for being drunk.

In addition, Roberts asked him if his children attended Sunday School. Both of them did, Herring said. He sends them to Sunday School each week, he stated.

"Well, don't send them," Roberts advised. "Take them yourself. Because they'll just as long as they have to go." One of these days, the judge elaborated, the children will think they need not attend Sunday School so long as they are being "sent" from home.

Superior Court Hears 2 Cases

Superior Court reconvened this morning after a day's layoff yesterday. Only two cases were heard during the session with the juries still out by noon. They were indictments against Cleveland Little and William H. Dancy, Negroes, for drunk driving.

Caplases issued this morning are for: Charlie Beachum, drunk driving; Ulysses Howard, disorderly conduct; and Rufus Stancil, worthless check.

Cases continued this morning are: Ruffin Carr, liquor; Olivia Andrews, liquor; Sam Moore, larceny; Dallas Taylor Jones, reckless driving and speeding; Leon C. Scott, Sr., drunk driving; Clarence B. Fuller, drunk driving; Harvey Evans, disorderly conduct; and Carrie Williams, assault with deadly weapon.

Sponsoring Barbecue Supper At Farmville

Farmville, Jan. 26 — The senior class of Farmville High School is sponsoring a barbecue supper to-night in the High School cafeteria from 5:30 to 7:30.

All proceeds from the supper will go to benefit of the senior class.

TV Classes

Minneapolis, Jan. 26 — (AP) — It was television classes again today for Minneapolis school children.

Children kept from classes by a strike of school janitors seeking higher wages got their first lessons from television screens yesterday. And so enthusiastic was the response—even from the kids themselves—that officials of station WTCN-TV said the instruction broadcasts would be continued throughout the strike.

Light Flurry Of Snow For County

Snow flurries in Pitt County early this morning gave way to clearing skies and a bright sun at mid-morning accompanied by slowly rising temperatures expected to reach the high 30's during the day.

Snow flurries covered most of the county between 6 and 7 o'clock this morning, Weather Observer Mrs. C. E. Maiden reported. The flurries were light, however, and none of the snow stuck to the ground.

It was the fifth snow of the winter recorded in Greenville, and the first snow of 1951. The local weather station recorded other snow flurries on Nov. 11, Nov. 25, Dec. 4 and Dec. 22.

The low temperature recorded by the local weather station last night was 29 degrees. At 8 o'clock this morning the mercury stood at 30 degrees and by 10:30 this morning had risen to 33 degrees. Mrs. Maiden said the temperature here today is not expected to go as high as 40 degrees.

A comparison with temperature readings for January 26, 1950 showed a sharp contrast between weather conditions in Greenville today and weather conditions here a year ago. On January 26 of last year the Greenville weather station recorded a high of 79 degrees and the previous night a low of 56 degrees. At 8 o'clock in the morning a year ago the temperature stood at 59 degrees. It stood at 30 degrees at the same hour today.

Big Cuban Fraud Case Dismissed

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 26 — (AP) — Charges against former president Ramon Grau San Martin and his Finance Minister of involvement in misappropriation of $174,000,000 in government funds were dismissed yesterday.

Special Judge Frederick Justini held that "there are no reasonable proofs of criminality" against the ex-president and Florentino Martinez, accused of financial irregularities between 1944 and 1948.

Settle Suit On Death Of Girl

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 26 — (AP) — A damage suit against the Carolina Power and Light Company involving the electrocution of a high school girl has been settled.

Eugene Neville, father of the victim, 15-year-old Dorothy Mae Neville, had sued for $50,000. It is understood the settlement, in Wake Superior Court yesterday, was for $3,000.

The girl was sitting on a bench near the base of a flag pole on the Cary High School grounds last January when an 11,000 volt power line fell against the pole.

Funeral Rites For B. B. Wynne Sunday

Mr. B. B. Wynne, 48, was instantly killed in an automobile accident near Pactolus Thursday night at about 10:30 o'clock. Funeral services will be conducted from the home near Robertsonville Sunday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. Ralph Ferguson, Missionary Baptist minister of Robertsonville.

Mr. Wynne, son of the late Asa and Mary Jane Robertson Wynne, was born and spent all his life in Martin County and was a farmer. He was married to Leslie Ayers of Martin County.

Surviving are his wife; two sons, Noyar and W. Marvin Wynne, both of the home; three daughters, Misses Shirley, Janie May and Louise Wynne, all of the home; and four sisters, Mrs. Lonnie Wynne of Gold Point, Mrs. Charlie Gardner of Tarboro, Mrs. John Roberson of Williamston, and Mrs. John Wynne of Crossroads Community near Everetts.

SEES BIG GAMBLE

Washington, Jan. 26 — (AP) — Senator George (D-Ga.) said today that Prime Minister Nehru of India was "making a tremendous gamble" in opposing American efforts to brand Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

Pitt Home Ec Teachers Meet

The Pitt county vocational home economics teachers held their regular monthly meeting in the Flanagan building at East-Carolina Teachers College Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Nora Lee Hinnant, chairman. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by the secretary, Mrs. Sara Edwards, the speaker of the evening, Miss Mary Brice Deaver, state nutrition specialist, was introduced. She gave an explanation of how the nutrition experts carry on their work in our state in collaboration with the county health departments.

She explained how surveys are made to determine the eating habits of individuals in the different parts of the state. This information was revealed by charts showing the per cent of inhabitants who eat citrus fruits and green leafy vegetables and drink milk daily.

After a short business session during which time Miss Lacy made several important announcements, the meeting adjourned to meet again in February.

Work Starts . . .

(Continued from Page 1) the completion of the new addition to the school will make possible a general expansion of the school's athletic and physical education programs, as well as provide a place for assemblies, school programs and other activities.

Storm Signals . . .

If you doubt any of this, just remember how it was in the days of the OPA when the conflicts and bickerings never stopped and OPA never was able to keep living costs absolutely frozen, although it kept them down.

Already living costs are almost five per cent higher than they were last June 15, just before the Korean war.

They've been climbing steadily ever since. By last October they had broken all records. They kept right on climbing, and still are.

Why then all this delay in imposing price and wage controls? For one thing, the White House has moved slow-ly in even setting up enough machinery to slap on the controls.

Even now the machinery is far from complete but under the double pressure of rising costs and public outcry, the decision was made to go ahead and order the freeze, and hope for the best.

Asia For . . .

(Continued from page one) he sees fit. In this matter of pride, the 61-year old Nehru can claim one of the world's most proudest birthrights. He is a Kashmiri Brahmin—the highest caste of all Hindus—and was the only son of one of India's wealthiest and most influential families where he soon became influential.

Young Nehru was educated at Harrow and Cambridge University in England. Then after studying law in London he returned to India where he soon became immersed in nationalist politics and a devout follower of Mahatma Gandhi. This brings us up to a point, which I believe, must have a great bearing on Nehru's attitude towards western policies in Asia.

Nehru's nationalist activities brought him into fierce opposition to Imperial Britain. He was sent to prison several times, spending more than 13 years in jail, as the result of his efforts to drive Britain out of India.

Robinson High School PTA News Fifty-five parents and teachers were present Tuesday night, January 23, at the regular meeting of the Robinson High School PTA in Winterville.

Parents, representing all sections from which the children are transported, were present and expressed gracious remarks for a continued successful school term.

Mrs. M. F. Jones, teacher, and Rev. H. B. Evans, parent, discussed the topic "Helping Children to be Cooperative and Self-Controlled." Mrs. Lizzie Henderson, our delegate to the District PTA Congress held in Rocky Mount, distributed copies of several PTA songs, which were sung by the group under the leadership of Miss R. L. Harris, chairman of the program committee.

The PTA is sponsoring a Choir Festival at the school the fourth Sunday night in February beginning at 7 p.m. for the benefit of the newly purchased electric unit in the Home Economics department.

INTO THE INTERIOR OF THE LABRADOR WILDERNESS FLEW THE PLANE DIRECTED BY "SPY-DAR". IT LANDED SAFELY, BUT...

MY INSTRUMENTS SAY IT IS 12° BELOW ZERO OUTSIDE YOUR PLANE, WITH THE HEATER LASTING 45 MINUTES! SO DON'T WORRY ABOUT INFLATION — EVERYTHING'S GOING TO BE FROZEN! THIS IS SPY-DAR ON THE SHIP SIGNING OFF

WHEW, 12° BELOW OUTSIDE! WE'VE GOT TO THINK UP SOMETHING HOT IN THE NEXT TWO HOURS...

LET'S GO THROUGH THE SHIP, DICKIE, FIND OUT WHAT WE'VE GOT TO WORK WITH...

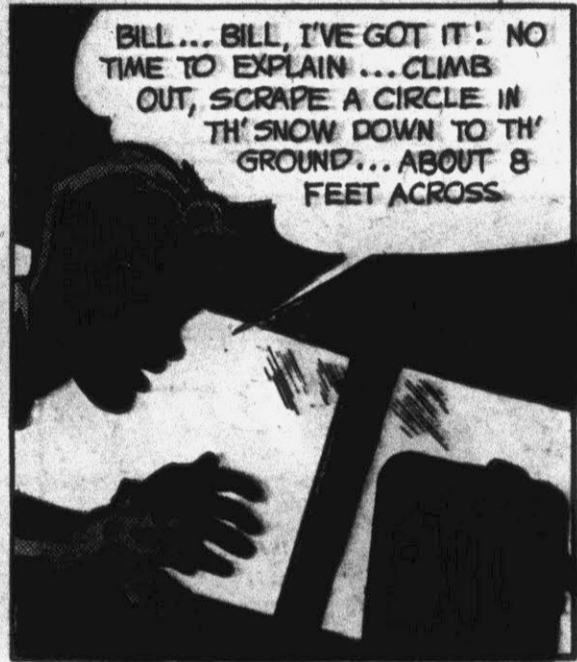

NOTHIN' IN TH' SHIP, TOM COD! I'VE GOT A SHEATH KNIFE 3 MATCHES, COUPLA FISHHOOKS, HANKA TWINE

AND I'VE GOT A POCKET KNIFE, 37 CENTS, AN OLD BAGGAGE CHECK AND AN APPETITE. LOOKS LIKE WE'RE LICKED...

I AIN'T A MAN T' GIVE UP! BUT WHO COULD LIVE IN THIS CRAZY PLACE EXCEPT HE WAS AN INDIAN...

INDIAN? GOSH, IF ONLY... HEY!!

BILL... BILL, I'VE GOT IT! NO TIME TO EXPLAIN... CLIMB OUT, SCRAPE A CIRCLE IN TH' SNOW DOWN TO TH' GROUND... ABOUT 8 FEET ACROSS

NOW CUT SIX THIN POLES WITH YOUR SHEATH KNIFE... 'BOUT 15 FEET LONG

B'R-R-- OKAY, TOM COD, HOPE YOU KNOW WHAT YOU MEAN... YOU STAY INSIDE AN' KEEP WARM

NOW TIE 'EM TOGETHER ABOUT 3 FEET FROM TH' TOP... STICK 'EM UP AROUND THAT CIRCLE

SAINTED MACKEREL! AIN'T THAT ONE O' TH' PLANE'S PARRY-SHOOTS?

YEP, I CUT IT TO FIT! PLENTY ROPE, TOO! IT'LL SAVE OUR LIVES, PODNER!

YOU GET FIREWOOD WHILE I'M FINISHING THIS, BILL... DRY STUFF, BIRCH BARK, LITTLE DEAD TWIGS

I SEE SOME LIGHT NOW

TH' SMOKE GOES UP LIKE WE HAD A CHIMBLY!

I LEFT A HOLE ON TOP! Y'SEE, BILL, I SAW AN INDIAN BUILD ONE OF THESE ONCE... THEY CALL THEM TEEPEES

SQUIDS! THERE WAS CENTRAL HEATING BEFORE TH' WHITE MAN CAME?

SURE, BILL, SOMEONE HAD TO KEEP THE CONTINENT WARMED UP WHILE THEY WERE WAITING FOR US!
