South Koreans Stage Raid On Seoul's Port

Landing Party Of Sailors In Commando-Like Action; Return Unharmed; Tank Column Drives Closer To Korean Capital; Resistance Light

Tokyo, Jan. 27—(AP)—Toting South Korean sailors drove ashore at Inchon in the cold grey dawn today and raided the port of Seoul for four hours. To the east, allied tanks and troops drove through ankle deep snow within less than 13 air line miles of the old South Korean capital. The tank column leading off two allied corps of American, Turkish, British and South Korean foot soldiers thrust four and one-half miles north of Suwon, site of Korea's best airfield. At its northernmost point of advance, the column was only 14 road miles—less by air—from Seoul. South Korean commandos killed 40 Red Koreans at Inchon and captured two. They met no Chinese. The raiders swarmed ashore under the guns of the American cruiser St. Paul, the Canadian destroyer Cayuga and the U. S. destroyer Hank. The swift-striking raiders suffered no casualties. Thrust North The northward thrust along the main road to Seoul, "Heartbreak Highway," began Thursday morning. Two U. S. Eighth Army Corps—the First and Ninth—jumped off in a limited offensive and recaptured Suwon and Komyangjang. An A. P. field dispatch said the column was meeting only moderate resistance. Allied troops forged ahead along a 40 mile front. "We have hit fairly good enemy positions but apparently have not yet run into their main line of resistance," a divisional officer said. United Nations troops fought in the pre-dawn darkness Saturday with Red patrols that had sneaked back into Suwon. Guns flashed in the night but the town was rapidly cleared of Reds by daylight. Allied warplanes and artillery pounded small pockets of Reds in dug-in hill positions. The Ninth Corps on the right flank ran head-on into two Red battalions near Inchon. Fighter bombers roared in as close as 100 yards in front of the battle line and allied artillery rocked the ground. Other allied forces routed Red Pockets with cold steel. Central Front Along the central front, action was slow. A field dispatch said allied patrols fanned out north and east of Yongwol, a center of Red Korean resistance earlier this week, and occupied Pongchang. This village is 25 miles east of Wonju and 13 miles north of Yongwol. This sweep lengthened the advance along the entire Eighth Army front to about 100 miles. South of Tanyang, about 30 miles behind the new front line, allied forces steadily chewed away at Red Koreans who had infiltrated United Nations lines during the Wonju stand of early January. A. P. correspondent Tom Stone said an estimated three Red Korean divisions—about 30,000 troops—has been cut down 50 per cent.

Standing Pat On Aggressor Vote U. S. Delegation In United Nations Backed By President And Congress In Opposition To Changing Resolution

Lake Success, Jan. 27—(AP)—The United States stood pat today on its demand for a quick United Nations vote condemning communist Chinese aggression in Korea, despite a bewildering welter of new "peace plans." Backed publicly by President Truman and both the House and Senate, the U. S. delegation said it would oppose any substantial changes in its resolution which, as now constituted, tags Red China an aggressor; asks the U. N. Collective Measures committee to conduct a three-man commission to seek ways of ending the Korean fighting and achieving U. N. aims in that country by peaceful means. Both Canada and Israel offered new ideas yesterday designed to bridge the gap between this view and a 12-nation Arab-Asian plan for a seven-nation conference, including Red China, to work out a cease-fire and decide other Asian problems. These are expected to be the subject of debate in the 60-nation political committee today if nothing else, this debate will delay any vote until after the weekend.

New Slate Of Officers Named By Farm Bureau Members Of Pitt County Group Raise Membership Dues, Recommend State Bureau Avoid Car Insurance Business

By JOHN SPINKS JR. Members of the Pitt Farm Bureau last night elected an entirely new slate of officers for the coming year, voted to raise membership dues one dollar and recommended to the State Farm Bureau not to go into the automobile insurance business. The annual meeting for the election was attended by a relatively small group of the 3,600-member organization. The group present, numbering close to 150, unanimously approved the slate as drawn by the nominating committee. President for this year will be J. B. Bunting of Bethel who succeeds W. A. Allen, Farmville, president for the past three years. First vice president of the Bureau is William E. Little, agriculture teacher at Grimesland; second vice president is Arch J. Flanagan, chairman of the nominating committee and this past year's membership drive chairman; and J. B. Speight, Winterville, secretary-treasurer. The four will serve until next January. The members also voted to raise the annual membership fee from $3 to $4, the increase coming because of the necessity of hiring a full-time director of Farm Bureau information and education. The increase was proposed by F. F. Hendrix, last year's second vice president, who stated the extra dollar was needed to allow the county organization to "do more for the farmer than it is now doing." The education director will help the Bureau to achieve that end. It was also voted by the members to instruct their delegates to the State Convention not to vote for automobile insurance as sponsored by the State Farm Bureau. It was the opinion of the persons at the meeting that it is unwise for the State Bureau to go into any business outside of what it is now doing for the farmer-members. The insurance program will either go into effect or die on the basis of instructions from the 100 county bureaus. Hendrix, in his proposal to raise the dues, stated other counties have done it in North Carolina and the service of the education director obtained through the raise has proved effective in dispensing Farm Bureau information to the members throughout the counties. The increase will be broken down as follows: an additional 25 cents to the national Farm Bureau, 25 cents to the State Farm Bureau, and 50 cents to the county organization. The latter portion will be used entirely to help pay the salary of the director who will be employed for a one-year period. Another proposal by Hendrix was to raise the dues to $5 which would enable the county to hire a permanent director. The $4 membership fee as voted last night enables the county to hire a director only for a one-year period. Presumably, he will be re-hired at the end of that year. The hike in dues will go into effect when next fall's membership drive begins. The director will probably be hired prior to the drive. Uphot of the dues-raising discussion was whether the Bureau could profit more by maintaining the present $3 dues and getting more members or raising the dues and getting more and better information. Hendrix reported Edgecombe and Nash Counties had raised their dues to $4, also got more members during the recent drive. Directors of the Bureau voted for one year terms are: W. C. Chauncey, Woodrow Wooten, S. L. Dilda, Z. V. Bunting, Tom L. Perkins, Julius Parker, Vernon Cox, Hugh C. Winslow, Alton Barrett and Noel Lee. Directors elected for a two-year term are: Mrs. Mattie Hardee, Mrs. W. I. Bissette, Dr. Mark T. Frizzelle, W. Jesse Moye, Oscar Lee Erwin, W. T. Thigpen, W. L. Buck, Jamie Dail, Elwood Davenport and Mrs. Paul Davenport Jr. Delegates to the State Convention are: Mrs. Mattie Hardee, Mrs. W. I. Bissette, W. C. Chauncey, W. Jesse Moye, Oscar Lee Erwin, R. A. Fountain, B. M. Lewis, Julius Parker, Carl Scott, Mrs. Mary Louise Fleming, J. Burton Bunting, W. E. Little, J. B. Speight, Vernon Cox, Jamie Dail, Noel Lee, Mrs. Paul Davenport Jr., and Hugh C. Winslow.

Gen. Eisenhower Is Home Again

West Point, N.Y., Jan. 27—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower landed today at 11:23 a.m. (EST) at Stewart Air Force Base near here returning from a 21-day military fact-finding tour of Western Europe. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Western European forces of North Atlantic treaty nations, will spend the next four days at the United States Military Academy.

One European Army Churchill's Idea Of One Army, In One Uniform, To Withstand One Enemy Has Echoed In French Actions; Most Significant, West Germans Are Invited

By DeWITT MacKENZIE Western Europe yesterday gave further dramatic evidence of its heightening fears of war, and its grim determination to meet any assault head-on, with battle flags flying. France appealed to the countries of western Europe to muster their soldiers into one army, in one uniform, to withstand one enemy. This force would be intended to fit into the Eisenhower Command under the Atlantic Pact plan. Across the English channel British Prime Minister Attlee warned his people that they must prepare for further serious sacrifices for defense against Russian imperialism. The idea of a European army was advanced originally by former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill at a Council of Europe meeting in Strasbourg last August. France now has furthered the proposal by inviting the nations of western Europe to meet in Paris February 6 to discuss implement-

Registration Of First Aid Class Slated Monday

A registration for standard and advanced first aid classes for those persons wishing to participate in the Civilian Defense program will be held Monday night in Flanagan Building at seven o'clock. The classes will be held in conjunction with the present country-wide defense effort and will be conducted by Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, head of the physical education department at East Carolina. In making announcement of the scheduled classes, Eugene King, first aid chairman of the county Red Cross chapter, urged every one interested in learning fundamentals of first aid to enroll in the classes. He stated it is important to begin the classes immediately. (Continued on page eight)

Court Winds Up Criminal Cases

Yesterday's windup of a week's term of criminal cases in Pitt Superior Court brought the first conviction by a jury of a drunk driving indictment that was pleaded not guilty. William H. Dancy, Negro, was fined $100 and costs with license revoked. Judge John J. Burney suspended a six-month sentence on payment of the fine. Previous to Dancy's trial every person indicted for drunk driving who pleaded not guilty was found not guilty by jury. Three pleaded guilty to the charge during the week and were fined and four pleaded not guilty and were exonerated by the jury. Other judgments rendered yesterday were: Raymond Moore Jarvis, illegal possession of non-taxpaid liquor; 18 months. Cleveland Little, drunk driving; not guilty. John Ivey Allen, speeding; $25 and costs. A divorce was granted Mrs. Minnie Ballinger from W. W. Ballinger on grounds of two-year separation. (Continued on page eight)

A-Bomb Is Exploded In Nevada

AEC Spokesman Says It's A Periodic Test; Blast Felt For 50 Miles Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today that "one of the periodic tests" of atomic explosions was held today at the Air Force bombing range near Las Vegas, Nev. A spokesman for the AEC would not add any details. He was asked about reports that an atomic burst was seen in the Las Vegas area. Beyond saying it was "one of the periodic tests" he would not elaborate. He did recall, however, that it was announced on Jan. 11 that such tests would be held. The commission was authorized to use the Air Force facilities for the trials. Citizens of Las Vegas saw and felt today's explosion. It was believed to be the second testing detonation of the desert base. "It really lit the sky like a big sunburst," said one citizen. Ronald Gardner, circulation manager of the Las Vegas Review-Journal said the blast "awakened L.V.N."

Wallace Johnson, a Las Vegas printer, said he saw the flash and felt the concussion in his Henderson home, which is 50 miles away from the testing ground. Literally hundreds of people saw and heard the blast. Many of them were Southern Californians in town for the usual week-end tourist influx. The blast was timed at approximately 5:30 a.m. to 6 a.m., Pacific Standard Time. Gambling casino run full blast through the night in Las Vegas and many people are up at that hour.

Says U. S. Taxes Can Be Increased

Philadelphia, Jan. 27—(AP)—Asserting that Americans can afford to pay "far greater taxes," the Federal Reserve Board chairman put before Congress today a plea for quick enactment of higher taxes. "Never has our economy been more prosperous," said Thomas B. McCabe. "Never have we been in a better position to absorb higher taxes without impairing that economy." In his address before the American Academy of Political and Social Sciences last night, McCabe hinted also that "further restrictive action" can be expected on credit buying. He said existing curbs on installment buying and mortgages might not be adequate to head off inflation. McCabe, who formerly headed the Scott Paper Co., in Chester, Pa., warned Congress not to delay imposing new taxes. "When I read that it may be the end of summer before a tax program can be enacted," McCabe said, "I think strongly we are wasting six or seven months we can ill afford to lose in the battle of inflation."

Head Of Federal Reserve Board Advocates New Boost

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson has assured Congress that American-French talks starting here Monday won't be for the purpose of entering into any formal agreements. Senator Connally (D-Tex.) said Acheson made that point clear in a statement yesterday to the Senate Foreign Relations committee. A similar statement was given to the House Foreign Affairs committee. Acheson went to Capitol Hill to "brief" the committee members on the two-day conversations which President Truman and other top U. S. officials will have with Premier Plevin of France. Connally, who is chairman of the Senate group, indicated that Plevin will tell America wants France to build up her defenses quickly and will stress that U. S. aid will depend a lot on how and when that is done. "The Secretary and members of the committee agree that it is important that France as well as the United States and the other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should move more rapidly than ever to increase their collective military strength," Connally told a news conference. The French, in turn, are expected to want to discuss U. S. military and economic aid, as well as France's position in the tense political situation in the Far East arising out of the Korean and Indo-China communist fighting.

Wage-Price Freeze Goes Into Effect; No Roll-Backs

Alabama Mother Sees 4 Of 6 Sons Off To War Mrs. Arthur Alms, Sr. of Eiberta, Ala., manages a cheerful smile for four of her six sons as they leave home for active military service. The brothers, left to right, are Lt. Leon C. Alms, 25; Sgt. Fred W. Alms, 23; Sgt. Raymond Alms, 21, and Sgt. John D. Alms, 23. Fred and John are twins. Leon, a World War II veteran, is married and has a 16-month-old daughter. The brothers are members of the newly activated 200th Infantry Regiment with the 31st National Guard Division assigned to Fort Jackson at Columbia, S. C. (AP Photo).

Prompt And 'Ruthless Enforcement Ordered; Prices On Many Items Permitted To Rise; Union Leaders Protest Wage Freeze, Ask Flexible Controls By MAX HALL Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The government last night ordered an immediate freeze of prices and wages. Wages were stabilized at rates in effect last Thursday midnight, prices at their highest levels during the period of Dec. 19, 1950 to Jan. 25, 1951. Price Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said that rationing is not planned in the near future and maybe not at all. The long-expected price and wage freeze is designed as a temporary dam against inflation, to be maintained until permanent ceiling formulas can be drawn up. Enforcement Officials turned today to the mountainous task of making it work. The Office of Price Stabilization, headed by DiSalle, sent an S.O.S. to the FBI and other bureaus for help in enforcement. President Truman ordered all federal agencies to pitch in a needed. One official said the OPS plans a "ruthless enforcement effort at the outset." Oddy, at the same time, the OPS enforcement chief, suddenly resigned. He is Rear Admiral John H. Hoover, retired naval officer. His reason for quitting was not clear, and repeated phone calls to his home got no answer. Another official somewhat hesitantly quoted Hoover as saying he had "completed his job of setting up the enforcement organization." Unions Protest The twin freezes were welcomed by many union men in congress and labor leaders but labor leaders raised a big protest over the wage freeze. They want flexible controls that will permit lagging wages to catch up. The Wage Stabilization Board (WSB), which didn't order the wage freeze and took no responsibility for it, renewed its work today on a flexible formula to replace the freeze. Limited Application The price freeze does not apply to all prices. A long list of items, including many foods, will still have leeway to rise. But most prices were frozen at the highest level of the period from Dec. 19 through Jan. 25—day before yesterday. Since very few things have dropped in price during that period, the general effect is to freeze Jan. 25 prices. Wages and salaries were simply frozen as of Jan. 25, and no exemptions were listed in the order. Board Under Pressure Thus, the wage board was under frightful pressure for speed. Officials believe that the faster the board completes its general wage policy, the better chance of keeping labor-management peace. Board chairman Cyrus S. Ching told reporters, "now we'll be forced to act as quickly as possible." Ching announced the wage freeze to the press but he was careful to point out that it was signed by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston who handed him the order just ten minutes before the announcement was made. DiSalle's and Ching's agencies are technically branches of Johnston's Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA) and they are subject to his policy decisions. The price freeze is only a stop-gap, too, and will melt gradually away as soon as separate orders can be prepared for various kinds of goods. (Continued on page eight)

Total 'Freeze' On Steel Is Indicated Coming On June 1

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 27—(AP)—A total freeze June 1 on steel for projects on high-priority lists, is expected to be ordered soon by the federal government, it was learned today. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey reportedly has been advised informally by the U. S. Defense Mobilization Board that the drastic order virtually will halt construction for 18 months after June 1 on most highways, college buildings, schools and similar facilities. Hospitals probably will be exempt. The order may be effective only 30 days, and then be changed from month to month as the international situation changes, a reliable source here said. The 18-month limit on such restriction will be based on the premise that war will not spread, he said. "However, it is expected there will be steel enough for certain projects having top priorities," such as mental and other types of hospitals and highway maintenance work, he added. Word of the impending steel curtailment reportedly came to Dewey as a result of a letter the Governor wrote recently to Charles E. Wilson, Defense Mobilization Chief. Dewey asked Wilson for advice on what types of state construction projects were likely to be affected by pending building restrictions.

No Formal Pacts In Parley With France Acheson Assures Lawmakers That Conferences With Premier Plevin Are To Discuss Defense, Economic Issues

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Economic Stabilization Agency lists certain "exceptions and exemptions" in its order freezing prices. These include: 1. Prices or rentals for real property. 2. Rates or fees for professional services. 3. Prices or rentals for press association and feature service materials for publication; books, magazines, motion pictures, periodicals or newspapers. 4. Advertising rates of newspapers, radio and television stations, theaters and outdoor ad firms. 5. Insurance rates. 6. Commodity exchange margin requirements. 7. Rates charged by common carriers or other public utility. 8. Sales of used personal or household effects by a private owner. 9. Sales or deliveries of commodities made or produced by the seller at his home...without the assistance of hired employees. 10. Any raw or unprocessed agricultural field range from live animals, wool and cotton through seafood, game and hay to abassu kernels and whale oil. Commercial exceptions range from stocks and bonds, through stamps and coins to Indian and eskimo handicraft objects.

Drastic Order To Virtually Halt Construction For 18 Months On Most Colleges, Highways, Schools And The Like

Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—The spirit of the old west was just too much for Bert Phillips, 36, and his horse. He paid a $25 fine in police court because his horse ran a red light, blocked traffic and was on the wrong side of the street. Phillips pleaded guilty to riding a horse while intoxicated.

Collect $134 In House-To-House Dimes Campaign

A total of $134.30 was collected Thursday by members of the Commerce club of ECTC in the house canvas of Greenville in behalf of the Pitt county March of Dimes campaign. March of Dimes Chairman Elmer R. Browning expressed his appreciation to the members of the Commerce club for the canvassing done for the March of Dimes fund. The campaign for funds for the local chapter of the National Infantile Paralysis foundation enters its last week Monday, and the week's activities will be highlighted by the annual Birthday Ball in the Wright auditorium on the ECTC campus Wednesday night. Browning and dance committee chairman Larry Averett urged the people of the county to attend the affair and "dance so others might walk."

Somebody Stole Little Iron Lung

Greenville police today are searching for clues which may lead them to the person who stole an "iron lung" full of March of Dimes funds. The Mary Ann Soda shop reported to the police this morning that a cardboard iron lung in which patrons had been depositing coins and bills for the March of Dimes was taken from the soda shop counter sometime before the shop closed last night. Police Chief Guy Langston said the local authorities are investigating the theft.

The Freeze Will Melt

The Economic Stabilization Agency Has Left Room For Adjustments In Its Freeze Of Prices And Wages; Many Angles Considered, But Haste Needed By JAMES MARLOW Washington, Jan. 27—(AP)—Relax and hope for the best. The freeze on prices and wages isn't a frozen freeze. It's quarantined to melt a bit. For example: wages for some people will be allowed to go higher although they were frozen at where they were on Jan. 25. And the prices of some foods are going to be higher, too. This was all understood when the freeze was put on last night. The government acted in a desperate rush to stop the mad dash of living costs. Congress and the public were yelling for action. So the ESA—Economic Stabilization Agency—didn't have time to work out what was fair for every item and every person in detail. It decided to slap on the freeze first and worry about the details later, hoping the freeze, incomplete as it is, would put a big brake on inflation. Now, although living costs may still go up a bit, they'll probably inch along where before they were galloping over fences without a bridle. Start with wages. Eric Johnston is boss of ESA, which has two branches—the Office of Price Stabilization and the Wage Stabilization Board. So Michael V. DiSalle, the price boss, and Cyrus S. Ching, chairman of the Wage Board, are under Johnston. Ching's board has nine members representing business, and three representing the public. A number of workers haven't been raised since living costs began to go crazy. And they couldn't get one under a flat freeze. So how do you take care of workers who might suffer an injustice, with wages frozen, when businessmen were making bigger profits through hiked prices? Work out some kind of formula which says something like this: "Anyone who didn't have a wage increase of so much before price-

Musical Notes

On the Western Korea Front, Jan. 27—(AP)—Something new has appeared on front line battle maps—musical notes. A puzzled officer asked what they meant. Replied Lt. Col. Ned V. Royle, of Huntsville, Ala.: "These are places where the Chinese have blown bugles."

Korea Campaign Aply Described

On the Western Korea Front, Jan. 27—(AP)—The back-and-forth surge of opposing forces in Korea was aptly described by one Alabama GI. As PFC John Morrison, of Florida, Ala., trudged through the rubble-strewn streets of Suwon Friday, he said to AP's Jim Becker: "This is the third time I've been through this town. I'm beginning to feel like a yo yo."

Wins Grange Speech Contest

Hillsboro, N. C., Jan. 27—(AP)—Katherine Millsaps, 16, of Alexander County, yesterday won the $100 first prize in the state Grange oratorical contest. The contest was part of a Grange leaders conference which ended at Schley Grange Hall today.

The Abundant Life

What some people take for granted, others are thankful for! That's why some people never find happiness, and others never lose it!

Years ago, a Teacher amazed his contemporaries with the statement that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." And His followers, through the centuries, have discovered that only spiritual awareness can enable us to appreciate physical and material blessings.

"I am come," said this Jesus of Nazareth, "that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly." His Way of life, and the Truth He taught—these, then, are the foundations of an abundant life.

The churches of our community are today's teachers of His Way and His Truth.

Some people may take those churches for granted, but you can be thankful for them. One of them is going to enrich your life—whichever one you choose.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Ione Hooker Bradsher To Wed Grover C. Maxwell In March

MISS IONE HOOKER BRADSHER

Colonel and Mrs. Owen Meredith Marshburn announce the engagement of her daughter, Ione Hooker Bradsher to Mr. Grover Cleveland Maxwell, junior, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Cleveland Maxwell of Augusta, Georgia. The wedding will take place on March 17.

Miss Bradsher is the granddaughter of Mrs. Travis Emanuel Hooker, and the late Mr. Hooker of Greenville. She is the greatniece of Dr. J. Y. Joyner of La Grange. She is a graduate of Greenville schools and of Salem College in Winston-Salem; and later studied at the Traphagen School in New York. She made her debut at the Terpsichorean Club Ball in Raleigh in 1948.

Mr. Maxwell is the grandson of Mrs. George Franklin Meares and the late Mr. Meares of Westminster, South Carolina; and Mr. Gilbert Motter Maxwell, and the late Mrs. Maxwell of Seven Springs, North Carolina. He is a graduate of Richmond Academy in Augusta, and Georgia Institute of Technology in Atlanta where he was president of Phi Delta Theta social fraternity. Since then he has been associated with Maxwell Brothers in Augusta. During World War II he served with the Army in the Pacific Theater.

Plans were made and discussed for the spring board meeting which is to be held in Rocky Mount on Feb. 17 and 18 with Rocky Mount and Greenville being co-hostesses.

The following sponsors of the club are invited to attend the next meeting which will be February 10 at 7:30: Mr. F. G. Copeland, Mr. John Clark, Mr. A. C. Tadlock, Mr. Charles Blair and Mr. Walter Harrington. The sponsors are also expected to attend the spring board meeting which is to be held in Rocky Mount.

Valentine Motif Used At Party

Grifton.—On Thursday night Miss Bert Johnson entertained at an enjoyable party at her home on Church street for members of her contract club and invited players to make up four tables of bridge. A St. Valentine motif was noted in tallies, decorations and table appointments. Before the bridge games a delectable barbecue supper was had. During the games Mrs. H. F. Quinerly was high scorer, runner up was Mrs. Robert Mewborn. They were remembered with gifts as was Mrs. Walter Murphy who was a visitor.

Other players were Mrs. Thurman J. Williams, Mrs. Richard A. Nelson, Mrs. Vance Wall, Mrs. L. L. Mewborn, Mrs. Eleanor Gower, Mrs. J. L. Quinerly, Mrs. Alton Chapman, Mrs. Jack Chapman, Mrs. J. L. Tucker, Mrs. Albert Tyson, Miss Hazel Patrick, Miss Louise Mewborn and Miss Marie Chapman.

Presbyterian Radio Hour The Presbyterian Hour is presenting "The Call of Christ and His Church" during January, February and March. On Sunday, Dr. T. K. Young will speak on the subject, "The Current Missionary Challenge." These programs are heard each week over Radio Station WPTT, Raleigh, at 8:30. Music for Sunday's program will be furnished by the choir of Stillman College, Tuscaloosa, Alabama. Beginning February 4, Dr. W. T. Thompson of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia, will be the speaker for The Hour.

By MARTHA S. FORBES A new exhibit of oil paintings was hung in the Art Gallery at the Sheppard Memorial Library Thursday and will be on display during the month of February.

These pictures, representing the work of two American artists, are among those that are being shown during the current year in a traveling joint oil group.

In Gallery 1, oil paintings by Alice Bevin, a native of Easthampton, Connecticut, are being shown. Miss Bevin married a Frenchman and lived in France for fifteen years, during which time she became interested in painting Brittany peasants. Many of these studies are included in her exhibitions. Paris street scenes are also featured along with other subjects picked up in her travels. She has held several one-man shows in New York City and is represented in Group and One-Man shows sent on tours.

Among her paintings in the Art Gallery are the following: Brittany Widow, Bucket of Blood, Virginia City, Basque Country, La Vendage, The Rodeo, Reno; Rue De Passy, and Ville Franche. Her portrait of the Widow shows an elderly woman, whose face is finely drawn and full of warmth and tenderness, sitting on a wharfside plying her knitting needles against a background of fishing boats seen in the nearby harbor. The Bucket of Blood painting has a misleading title, for it is a skillfully drawn interior scene of an early frontier saloon. The blending of colors in this picture is very attractive to the eye.

A careful shading of tones in neutral colors makes the Rue de Passy an interesting street scene study. One can almost feel the mystery and glamour of a deserted Parisian sidewalk as viewed in the hours of early dawn. The La Vendage is an outdoor scene of field workers, and there is a pleasing blend of colors used in the gay costumes of the peasant workers. The two oils—Basque Country and Ville Franche—are outdoor scenes typical of the lovely French countryside, while The Rodeo, as the title implies, is a bit of the American West.

Mrs. Caroline Clark Marshall was born and reared in Hartford, Connecticut. Her forebears settled in Hartford in 1835. Her grandfather owned and edited the Hartford Courant for many years, and her father founded the Aetna Life Insurance Company. For years she has lived in New York City and while there she was a Drama and Art critic for the Hartford Times. When she married Ernest Marshall they moved to Redding Ridge, Connecticut, where she now lives. For four years she has been the Director of the National American Art Week for the state of Connecticut, a member of the National Arts Club, the Pen and Brush Club, a member of the National Pen Women and also of the Author's League.

There are nine paintings by Mrs. Marshall in the art show now being shown. There are five snow scenes, two other outdoor scenes—two typical of her native state—and two still lifes. Her subtle use of blues and greys in her snow pictures is the result of loving study and close association with her environment. One particularly attractive picture shows a corner of her kitchen with her large old-fashioned wood stove glowing with a warm fire. Through the kitchen window can be seen the snow piled high in drifts. Another "inside-looking-out" scene pictures a snow covered hillside at sunset. One still life is a Chinese study and the other is a vividly bold painting of Mexican still life. Her two nature scenes reflect her love for Spring fields and streams, and the soft greens are carefully blended to produce harmonious patterns very pleasing to the eye.

The names of her paintings, which are indicative of her subjects, are as follows: Clear and Colder, Mexican Souvenir, Sea and Garden, After Snow, Chinese Still Life, The Creek, Winter Woods, Wood Stove and Sunset Hill. The public is cordially invited and urged to visit the Art Gallery during the month of February to study the attractive oils by these two well-known contemporary artists.

Strength for the Day

By HARRIET DOUGLAS

A few days ago at a lovely luncheon I met a group of old friends. And I mean old. They were holding their fifty-fifth college reunion. Practically every man was past 75 years of age.

They were accompanied by their wives, and I noticed that one woman was wearing an orchid. I have known her and her husband for many years. As she sat there, now past 75 years of age, it was quite evident that fifty years ago she was a woman of conspicuous beauty. Some of the beauty still remained in regularity of feature and in firm lines which showed the maturing of character.

It is beautiful to see this sort of continuing love and respect in a day when the number of divorces each year is fast approaching the number of marriages. Here were two people who had in their souls the stuff which makes marriage successful. Romantic love and mutual respect were evident more than fifty years after they had been married.

Get Rid Of That Vote-Getters' Gold Mine

The North Carolina General Assembly would do well to pass the bill which will do away with the absentee voting in the general election.

The practice of absentee voting has been a bone of contention in state elections for a number of years... and not without grounds.

It is true that there are a number of people throughout the state who conscientiously cast their absentee ballots in general elections year after year. It is difficult to pass a law which will virtually take the privilege of voting away from invalid and older people who cannot get to the polls.

In some cases the ballot is properly used. But it is more abused for the benefit of vote-grabbing office seekers than it is properly used.

The state board of elections has recognized the fact that the ballot is being misused and has asked that the ballot be done away with except in the case of men in the armed forces and those in veterans hospitals.

The fact that the absentee ballot was being misused in the state was recognized by the members of the General Assembly many years ago when the body did away with its use in the primary. But since that time, the legislature has not mustered the necessary strength to take the bad practice out of the general elections.

The absentee ballot in the general election is an evil which is by no means necessary. The members of the General Assembly have toyed around with the problem through an ample number of sessions. There is no better time than the present to do away with the absentee ballot.

More Property Protection Where It Is Needed

should go the obligation of having sufficient financial backing to pay for damages resulting from automobile accidents.

The Stoney bill now before the General Assembly in effect would make financial responsibility a prerequisite for owning or operating a motor vehicle once a person or his vehicle is involved in an accident.

The bill does not call for compulsory liability insurance; but it provides that in case of an accident, financial responsibility sufficient to cover damages shall be assured by the operator of a vehicle involved or the owner thereof before the vehicle may be operated further or the driver may operate another vehicle.

Under the proposal of the Stoney bill, a person would have to give evidence of his financial responsibility immediately following the accident, or forfeit his right to operate a vehicle until the matter of the responsibility for the damages in the accident is settled by the court.

As it is now in North Carolina a person can damage another's property in an automobile accident and not be able to pay for the damages. Yet the person is allowed to continue to operate a vehicle on the highways, perhaps doing additional property damage, until the original case comes before the court and the responsibility is placed.

The bill is backed by good, sound reasoning which will give greater property protection to the people of the state, even if it does not assure a decrease in the number of accidents.

For all practical purposes the bill meets the public demand and public need for compulsory liability insurance without bringing with it the increased insurance rates the people of the state would have to bear if a compulsory liability insurance law were in effect.

The passage of the Stoney bill by the General Assembly will give the people of North Carolina a form of protection they sorely need.

Division In Britain

The question of whether or not to recognize Communist China as an aggressor has brought some unexpected results. Governments of Great Britain and the United States have divergent opinions on the matter; and even the British Commonwealth of Nations has sharply split on the issue.

It is worth noting that this division has reached into Great Britain itself; with the Tories generally taking a similar view of Peiping's activities as the United States. In today's "What Other Papers Are Thinking," The Reflector carries an editorial from a strongly Conservative newspaper, The Recorder. This by no means "small voice crying in the wilderness" strongly urges the people of Great Britain to awaken to the dangers now existing in the world of today.

News Behind The News

Every Saturday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—Who is responsible for the employment of fifty or sixty Communists by United Nations members at New York? inquires Mrs. A.T. of Houston, Tex. "I think it outrageous that they be given an opportunity to spy on us, to discredit our institutions and to pick up valuable information for Moscow. Why not send them packing?"

ANSWER: Many of my readers agree with Mrs. A.T., but the suggestion is hardly practicable. Full authority to pass upon foreign countries' staff was given to the Secretary-General when the organization's charter was framed at San Francisco. He, naturally, must accept the credentials presented to him by foreign capitals.

INTERNATIONAL—Many readers see something sinister in this arrangement because Alger Hiss and some of his fellow-travelers in the State Department performed the heavy work in organizing the U.N. at San Francisco. They think these officials "planned it that way."

But it is not generally realized that U.N. headquarters is international territory, not United States soil. Its employees are international rather than national figures.

Washington cannot question the character, the ability or the ordinary decency of the clerks, stenographers, interpreters etc. whom other nations send to New York, although we do so with respect to Ambassadors and Ministers and other diplomatic representatives.

Had we tried to reserve that right, there would have been no U.N. at all. It would have been regarded as a trespass on their sovereignty.

Finally, it must be remembered that the international body was formed in a postwar period of sweetness and light, when Harry S. Truman was calling Stalin a "good old Joe" instead of a Louis XIV or Charles I.

ANSWER—Mrs. H.A.W. of Springfield, Mass., presents an aspect of the proposed 18-year-old draft which sets forth, in simple terms, the philosophy behind the Marshall-Rosenberg plan. It is an answer to a letter from a Brooklyn mother and school-teacher, deploring the interruption which 21 or 27 months of service would mean to the youngsters' education and careers.

"I have two boys," writes Mrs. H.A.W., "whose education was interrupted by World War II, although they were lucky enough to return and get their degrees. The youngest is 31, and the oldest 33. Both got jobs last July, and both have been notified to settle their affairs."

"If this war lasts four years, the youngest will then be 35 and the other 37. Is that fair? My impression has been that in this country, everyone must do his share."

DRAFTED—"Did any of our other presidents ever send drafted men into foreign fields?" asks H.M.N. of Chambersburg, Pa. "Wasn't it the regular army and enlisted men that were sent, and isn't there a great difference?"

ANSWER: Several Senators have made the point in debate that it is a "citizen army" which the Administration proposes to ship overseas, and they think that its composition does make a great difference. But, as General Bradley testified, we may face an enduring menace, possibly for twenty years, and the experts do not believe we can meet it with a so-called professional force.

TENURE—"What has happened to the constitutional amendment limiting presidential tenure to two terms?" inquires S.R. of Los Angeles. "Are the politicians ganging up against it?"

ANSWER: The amendment will die unless 36 states ratify by March 27, 1954. As of today, 25 have approved it. But twenty-three legislatures meet this year, and they may provide the required number.

Interest seems to be languishing. The amendment got off to a flying start, with 18 approving in 1947. Only three joined up in 1948, two in 1949, one in 1950 and one this year. If Mr. Truman runs again, however, as the polls desire but Mrs. Truman doesn't, there may be a revival of the ratification rush.

EGG-RAISING—"Not that it's important," quips T.E. of Lansing, Mich., "but what has happened to Henry Wallace and Harold Ickes?"

ANSWER: I had to do some heavy research on this puzzle. Oddly, both men are now in the egg-raising instead of the trouble-raising business. Henry is in Connecticut and Harold in Maryland, a few miles from my home.

Both tried their hands at writing for the mags and newspapers, but flopped quickly. Mr. Ickes, you may remember, came out of hiding to campaign for Mr. Truman, but has received no reward. Mr. Wallace resigned from the Progressive Party because, believe it or not, it was too slavish in its support of Russia's imperialistic policies.

It's An Ill Wind That Blows Nobody Good

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Last night at the supper meeting of the Young Couples Class, Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the preacher, Leon Russell, came by as the girls were washing dishes.

Mr. Russell remarked that he had been rehearsing a wedding, so the young couples within range perked up. In most cases, it was only a few years ago when they had been through the same thing.

Mackie Frye of the Greenville High School faculty claimed that the Baptists framed up on him. He was married in his wife's home by a Baptist preacher. Mackie says, "That preacher held the book in front of him, but he didn't look at it. He looked right at me, over his glasses, and I repeated the vows after him."

Mackie was so excited that he probably wouldn't have known the difference, except that after the wedding one of his friends said,

"You know, that preacher hardly said a word to Frances. He directed all of his attention to you."

At this point in our conversation last night Frances broke in to say, "Well, he asked me if I would take you to be my husband, and I said 'I do.'" But Mackie still kides the Baptists about that ceremony.

Mr. Russell says his wife saved the day for the preacher who married him. The preacher was performing the ceremony without the script. Mr. Russell said, "As well as I know the ceremony, I would never do that. It just pays to keep the book in front of you." As proof of that fact, Mr. Russell said that the preacher who married him forgot his lines right in the middle of the ceremony. The bride, who's supposed to be completely flustered, saved the day this time by saying, "I do." That gave the preacher time to collect himself and carry on.

"Whose wedding was rehearsed tonight?" I asked Mr. Russell.

"Nina Abernathy of Rocky Mount and Rodney Roberts of Greenville," he replied. "They are getting married tomorrow afternoon (this afternoon now) at four o'clock." Nina is a graduate of East Carolina and is now teaching, and Rodney, also a graduate of East Carolina, is in the Navy, directing a military band in Washington, D.C.

No sooner had we finished those words than Rodney walked in. "Can anyone tell me where my wedding is being rehearsed?" Mr. Russell said, "Sorry you missed it, Rodney, it's all over." Everybody says that the groom is the most neglected person in the world, but when he's left out of his own rehearsal, that's a blow. In this case Uncle Sam's Navy detained Rodney.

And I thank Uncle Sam for an incident that led to a column.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYNN NISBET Daily Reflector Bureau

SECRECY—Members of the 1951 general assembly seem more disposed than their predecessors to do business in secret. North Carolinians have come to expect that deliberations of the advisory budget commission leading to preparation of the biennial report and money bills should be held behind closed doors. That is because the budget commission has previously visited state institutions, held on premises public hearings during those visits and other public hearings at Raleigh where detailed needs of the state departments and agencies are presented. In these budget instances the situation is comparable to courts, where evidence and arguments are presented in public, and the jury retires to weigh the evidence and decide upon a verdict. When the subcommittees charged with studying all unexpended permanent improvement funds, and particularly the coliseum at the fairgrounds, conducted the hearings and investigation behind closed doors there was a different situation.

APPROPRIATIONS—Decision of the joint appropriations committee to close the doors for consideration of items after the period of public hearings has perhaps more justification in theory, less in actual fact, than the subcommittee staff chamber proceedings. In case of the big appropriations committee the evidence will be given in public. Theoretically, the committee can consider it in executive session. As a practical matter, no group of nearly a hundred men can keep that kind of secret. Alert reporters will get the story and publish it. Trouble is that the report will not be as accurate as if the reporters had been in on the meetings.

PEEVED—Reporters and the general public feel they are entitled to know how public business is being conducted, but the newspaper men are not as peeved as members of the general assembly who complain they cannot find out what goes on behind the locked doors, and some who are not privileged insiders are beginning to express resentment at being asked to vote on questions they have not heard discussed.

CUSHIONS—Members of the joint appropriations complained so much about hard bottoms in the chairs furnished the committee room, the board of buildings and grounds got busy and found enough foam rubber cushions to go around. Then the finance committee boys raised a squawk about favoritism and were promised equal consideration. There is no doubt about it, those straight hard chairs can get extremely uncomfortable after about three hours steady sitting. But, here again the legislators paved the way for other institutions and agencies to ask for larger appropriations to meet their needs. Fact is, the assembly has been pretty generous toward itself and its employees. The cushions were borrowed from stock rooms and from other offices, but nonetheless their use means addition of several hundred dollars to overall cost of the general assembly.

CANCELED—Out of respect to the late Roy Hampton, chairman of the board of conservation and development, the Raleigh chamber of commerce has withdrawn invitations previously issued for a dinner honoring the board upon occasion of its midwinter meeting in Raleigh Monday and Tuesday. Other entertainment features scheduled in connection with the board meeting have also been canceled.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

Mr. Grim—or Mr. Hopedul (The Recorder, London, England) Of the two "Daily Express" characters, Mr. Grim and Mr. Hopedul, which are we?

We are both. We think war is possible this year. We think it can be pushed off for ever.

The Russian note agreeing to a conference on their terms is not one of peace—it is the bellying of men who still think they can bully the world.

As soon as they decide they cannot get more by bullying they will be ready to fight—unless by then they are sure they cannot win.

Their view today is that now they have conquered China they have the balance of power in the world. This is typical Russian stupidity. But until they are convinced otherwise their stupidity will order their acts.

We are at war with China—a China under the direct orders of Russia. Our purblind "statesmen" who forsook Chiang Kai-shek and then "recognized" the Russian-appointed conquerors have neither the brain nor the spirit to realize that in killing British soldiers the Chinese Communists have declared war on us. We have to show the Chinese Reds actively, and Russia by example, that war against the British Empire never has paid and does not pay now.

China can still be brought to our side—but not under our present leaders.

First action, then propaganda. There is the programme for China and the world.

We have to stop playing at rearmament and act as though Russia will start war this year.

Stop-political schemes; bureaucratic waste (put the parasites to production); the idling of miners under blackmailing leaders.

Build-jet fighters and bombers, submarine destroyers, atom bombs; turn our forces into fighting forces.

Reading and Riding (Raleigh News and Observer) The proposal of Senator Julius K. Powell that no illiterate applicant be granted a license to drive in North Carolina makes good sense in terms of both education and safety.

In a State which has had compulsory school attendance laws throughout the lifetime of any persons now coming to the age at which such licenses can be secured, illiteracy presents not only failure by the State but also a stubbornness in stupidity on the part of those who can't read but want to drive. There may be some fantastic exceptions but in general those who have not at eighteen learned to read are too dumb to drive. Even in the case of a fantastic exception, he would be cut off from many safety directions on the roads.

However, this law would serve education as much as safety. If the State has not been able to force education on some people by compulsory school attendance laws, the universal desire to drive automobiles might provide the incentive needed where compulsion fails.

Business Today

Small manufacturers, harassed by shortages, controls and lack of rearmament orders, are demanding that Congress do something to help them. Many a Congressman's mail is faster these days because of the protests of manufacturing constituents.

As a consequence of these protests, it is likely that a Small Defense Plants Corporation will be authorized by Congress. It will be patterned after the Smaller War Plants Corporation of the last war.

Bills to create an SDPC have been introduced by Senator John Sparkman (D-Ala) and Congressman Wright Patman (D-Tex) and have the unanimous backing of the Senate and House Small Business Committees. The bills provide $500,000,000 for loans to smaller plants to finance defense contracts.

Whether the SDPC is enough to solve the problems of small manufacturers is doubtful. Since it is a defense measure, it will pretty much leave non-defense firms to shift for themselves in a sea of shortages.

These shortages will tend to grow more serious as more materials are prioritized to defense plants. Furthermore, suppliers will be inclined to favor the bigger manufacturers. During shortages, many suppliers look on their available supplies not as something to sell, but something with which to win the customers they have hungered for years.

The situation is worsened by the fact that many civilian plants are trying to shift to war orders, increasing the competition among smaller plants for government business. SDPC aid may not be enough even to solve small defense plants' problems. Several have been forced to surrender government contracts because, even with priority assistance and sufficient capital, they have been unable to get enough equipment and materials.

The Smaller War Plants Corporation was not enough during World War II. During the war, 67 per cent of the war contracts went to 100 big corporations. Subcontracts were not much more help; in 1943 only 34 per cent of contract values were offered for subcontracting, and only 25 per cent of these were to plants employing less than 500 persons. During 1944 and 1945 a total of $5,000 manufacturing businesses were discontinued.

VALENTINE GIVING SEEN AT NEW HIGH A lot more than cards and nosegays will be bought for giving this Valentine's Day, the National Valentine's Day Council reports. Participating in promotions intended to make the day link with Mother's Day and Father's Day as a merchandising event are 670 department stores, 240 men's stores, 380 children's shops, 648 drug stores, 785 women's specialty shops and untold candy, florist and gift establishments. This has prompted Joseph Broslaw, Council vice president, to predict sales far in excess of the 1950 season.

EPT IS TOUGH ON $30,000 MEN "Know any Chinese Communists?" asked the Old Promoter as he swaggered in. "I've fought the Indians, the Spaniards and the Kaiser and I want to take them on!"

"Why the sudden belligerency?" we asked, adding, "Not that we disapprove." "They have forced us into this excess profit tax," the O.P. said. "I've just read about this Biddle survey which shows that when a man has been making $30,000 a year and owns 60 per cent of his company's stock, if he increased his company's earnings from $100,000 to $120,000, he would increase his own income only $350 a year."

"That's tough," we said. "If we can catch a yellow red, we'll sit on his head until you come. But how long is it since you've made $30,000 a year?"

When we looked up the Old Promoter had tipped out. CITY PROMOTING GARBAGE DISPOSERS Some towns have outlawed electric garbage disposers in fear they would overload sewage systems. But not Mount Dora, Fla.

The city fathers are urging householders to install them, are offering them for sale at the City Hall for $99.50, and have arranged with the bank to finance the purchases.

The town is not afraid the sewage system will be overloaded because 90 per cent of the houses have septic tanks.

Hal Boyle's Column

By JOHN RANDOLPH (FOR HAL BOYLE)

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea—(AP)—If you're not an Old Army hand, you might be surprised to learn that some of the Bronze Star Medals awarded in the Korean war.

These particular medals have to do with non-commissioned officers in an Ordnance Medium Maintenance Company. Ordnance companies like that are not usually expected to deal in valor. Their job is to stay safely and efficiently in the back areas, repairing Army equipment from wrist watches to 10-ton trucks. The only guns they usually handle are the ones they are fixing.

But that was before Korea. The 38th Ordnance Company goes around with rusting bullet holes in its shop trucks, two decorated GIs, and a battle story worth telling.

It happened early in the morning of Sept. 20, when U.N. forces were sweeping out from the old Pusan perimeter to drive north and join the landing force from Inchon and take Seoul.

Everything was rush, rush, rush. An Ordnance company usually has from 20 to 50 crippled jeeps and trucks on hand, all kinds of broken down equipment to service, and great masses of its own shop equipment to move, shop equipment to move.

While the mobile combat troops swept north, the 38 th started frantic packing to get into the parade up the mall road next day.

It was located along the banks of a river near Chongdo on the old Pusan perimeter. Ridges rose above the position in gentle slopes.

It was 2 a.m. and most of the men were getting their last sleep before their move north.

Suddenly there was a blast of rifle and machinegun fire from the ridge and grenades crashed among the parked trucks. One hit the truck that carried the acetylene gas for welding.

"Then they tossed in a fire grenade and it went up like the fourth of July—that was lit up the camp like high noon—I'm sure they must have had us spotted for they knew exactly what and where to hit to get light to shoot by," said Lt. William Harris, of Omaha. "Then they started pouring it in."

A bypassed pr et of North Koreans had worked back, marked down the unsuspecting Ordnance company and, while the main U. N. force rolled onwards, attacked with little fear of quick retaliation.

The Ordnance men, about 150 of them, were a signal for a burst of fire. The situation was bad and getting worse.

ous mission, he again travelled the length of the front and evacuated wounded men to safety—completely exposed in all his movements and having to pass within a few feet of exploding oxyacetylene tanks," his Bronze Star citation related.

One man in the fight—PFC Thomas P. White of Brooklyn, Five were wounded. Korean National Police rushed to the scene and followed the marauding band, killed the leader and wounding 11 North Koreans.

The 38th evacuated it's wounded, repaired its damage and went back to work on the trucks and wrist watches.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS Washington—The nation's housewives are being asked to make greater use of the produce of the country's largest group of agricultural workers—some 250 billion bees.

The honey bees, or "white man's flies", as they were called when first brought into this country from Europe, are considered essential to the pollination of some 60 crops by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. They are more important in recent years, since the ground nesting or solitary bee has been killed out by spray poisoning and clean cultivation of shrubbery where they used to thrive.

But there's that honey the honey bee whips up in addition to the pollination job. Last year, Harold J. Clay, principal marketing specialist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, says some 234,000,000 pounds of honey were produced in this country by approximately 5,800,000 colonies of bees during the busy season.

The department, under its diversion assistance program, has been trying to help build up completely new outlets and uses for honey. There's a new honey baby food, for instance, the application for which has already been approved. It's in the form of a fortified cracker. There's a new honey ice cream, chocolate syrup, and all kinds of different flavored spreads.

A program also is under way in the Kansas State Experimental Station to develop new uses for honey in the baking industry. This is partially financed by the Department of Agriculture and the industry.

The O.I.'s two-year project, but we hope that when it's completed a large number of outlets will be developed," Mr. Clay told me. Under its price support program, the department since mid-September also has taken over about six and a half million pounds of honey, for use mostly in the school lunch program. Through its honey export program, the department has assisted exporters to move 11,000,000 pounds to about a dozen approved foreign countries.

"In view of the surplus, we are going slow in recommending an increase in new colonies," said Mr. Clay, "but about two billion mounting baby bees will be shipped to the nation's 500,000 beekeepers next March." These bees, he says, are produced in Alabama, Louisiana, Texas, Mississippi and other southern and central states and in southern California.

Farmville's Coastal Gold Medal Tourney Is Growing

Jaycees' Tournament Gives Athletics A Boost

By BILL LLOYD
Reflector Sports Editor

Three years ago, amidst the 1949 winter basketball months, in the town of nearby Farmville where the folks spell their basketball with a capital "B", there came an idea.

The idea was thought four-fold in purpose by the sports-minded group of men making up the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce, who began immediately working on their "pipe dreams."

The scheme was to organize and stage an early basketball tournament in Farmville, secure top-flight basketball teams from Pitt County and surrounding counties to participate in the tourney, give the people of the community an added taste of good basketball, and in return let the financial proceeds go to bettering the athletic program at Farmville High School and Farmville in general.

How It Started

It didn't take such energetic fellows of the Jaycees as Bill Candler, Jack McDavid (now a First Lieutenant in the U. S. Army), Marvin Speight, and Job Rouse, Jr. long to arouse interest in their first annual dribble derby—the COASTAL GOLD MEDAL TOURNAMENT.

The first annual Gold Medal tournament held in 1949, with McDavid as the tourney chairman, met with immediate and widespread success.

Seven schools, including both boys and girls teams from each school, entered the initial tourney, and capacity crowds of nearly 700-800 cage fans filled Farmville's High School gymnasium nightly, to watch their favorite clubs in action.

Meeting with financial success in their first tournament endeavor, the Jaycees promptly drew up plans for the construction of a Farmville Athletic Park, which was to be the site of all outdoor athletic contests such as football and baseball for Farmville High School, and the semi-pro baseball club at Farmville. The park was built in the spring of 1949, and was put into full time use during the following summer.

Event Grows

Last year, the tournament in its second year, met with equal success as in its inaugural year; and this year, going into its third year with an attempt for success, the Gold Medal tournament has surpassed all previous engagements in keen competition, thrills and excitement.

This year's Gold Medal tournament, which has been running three days this week with the finals scheduled for tonight, has seen the Farmville gymnasium every night, with teams representing nine schools from six different counties giving an every minute thrill and sensation.

"It's getting bigger and better every year," stated Marvin Speight, tournament chairman for the past two years, as he viewed the teams in action on the court in this week's play.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce pays all expenses of the teams participating in the tournament, including travel and feeding fares, and rule it a non-profit organization for the club, except as a community athletic-supporting club.

Players Approve

Said one unidentified woman attending the tournament.

"I'm from a rival town of Farmville, but this tournament is a smooth-working and beneficial event, and all the tournament hosts are very courteous in every way."

"I have a son playing in the tournament, and he says he's been treated more cordially here than any other tournament he has participated in," continued the non-chalant spectator.

Past champions of the Gold Medal tournament over the two-year period are Ayden's boys and the Bell Arthur girls in 1949, and the boys and girls teams from Farmville last year.

Trophies Awarded

Trophies will be presented tonight to this year's boys and girls champions of the tournament, with individual trophies being presented to the most valuable player from the boys and girls divisions.

In addition to the above awards, the Jaycees present each player chosen on the All-Tournament team a medal noting his being chosen on the tournament mythical team.

Yes, the enterprising project of the Coastal Gold Medal tournament is truly a high tribute to a group of sports-minded, community-benefitting organization such as the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Farmville's star forward, Raye Hathaway, at left, and Ayden's Alice Jean Cox, right, look over the Coastal Gold Medal tournament's championship and individual trophies which will be presented tonight after the tourney's finals.

"We won, we won!" That's the way Farmville's cheerleaders expressed themselves after their favorite set pulled a major upset in downing arch-rival Ayden in the third annual Gold Medal tourney at Farmville. One boy at right is just simply overwhelmed for lack of words from a covered up mouth.

"I'm happy, but not too much so," says Farmville's girls coach, Johnnie Dunn, "cause this game is close." Dunn's Farmville lassies won a 52-51 thriller from Ayden in the semi-finals of the Coastal Gold Medal tournament.

Principal and Coach E. F. Johnston of Ayden High School can't bear to look, and a scene of gloom rises over the Ayden bench as they watch their favorite girls team go down in defeat, 52-51, at the hands of arch-rival Farmville in the Coastal Gold Medal tournament.

Here's a view of the jam-packed crowds that have filled Farmville's High School gym to overflowing capacity during the third annual Gold Medal tournament, sponsored by the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce. (Reflector Photos by Roy Hardee).

Ayden's Alice Jean Cox (15) tries desperately on a one-handed push shot against Farmville in the Coastal Gold Medal's semi-finals. Cox is one of the tournament's high-scorers in the girls' division.

"Listen, boys, that scoreboard says they're closing the gap on us," tells Coach Red Bennett, cage mentor at Snow Hill, as he gives last minute instructions to his surprising boys team who are in the finals of the Coastal Gold Medal tourney at Farmville tonight. Bennett is a former cage star at Carolina.

It's always a tough and rugged struggle when two Pitt County bitter rivals get together. Here, Farmville's Al Cannon, at right, pulls for possessions of the ball with Ayden's Mac Whitehurst (8) in Thursday night's semi-finals tussle between the two teams. Ayden won, 65-58, to enter tonight's finals against Snow Hill in the Coastal Gold Medal tournament at Farmville.

"Let's go, Red Devils!" Here we see Farmville's cheerleaders in a ready action pose as they help the cheering section which has filled the Farmville High School gymnasium to capacity throughout the third annual Coastal Gold Medal tournament's four-day running.

Phantoms Bow Before Kinston's Third Period Spurt, 45-41

John Aman's Fourteen Points High For Locals

Bitter Rivals Play On Even Terms Except For Third Stanza; Phillips Leads Kinston With 16 Points; JV's Win, 35-34

By BILL LLOYD
 Reflector Sports Editor

A third quarter scoring spurt by Kinston's Red Devils proved fatal to a spirited, underdog Greenville Phantom quint last night, as the second-place Red Devils eked out an exciting 45-41 Northeastern win here, before a near capacity crowd in Wright gymnasium.

Last night's rivalry game between the Phantoms and Red Devils was played in the traditional bitter, close fashion, with Kinston's 14 points in the third period proving the difference between the two equally-matched rivals.

Kinston's rangy center, Graham Phillips with 16 points, was the individual scoring leader for the night, while Guard Johnny Aman, sinking 14 points, was the top point-getter for the locals.

In the first quarter, the lead changed hands five times, and was knotted three times before Phillips' hook put the Red Devils in a short-lived lead, 13-11, at the end of the quarter.

The Red Devils jumped into the lead 3-0, with Briley's lay up knotting the count 3-2. Wickham put the Devils in the lead again, with Aman hitting on a set shot, tying it up 4-4. Another set shot put the G-men out front for the first time, 6-4, but Phillips quickly closed the gap, 6-4.

Glenn Scott's free throw made it 7-6, and a long shot by Jim Dillingham scored the locals out front, 9-6. Briley dipped in a score for the Phantoms, and Aldridge dittoed the act for Kinston making it 9-8, with only three minutes remaining.

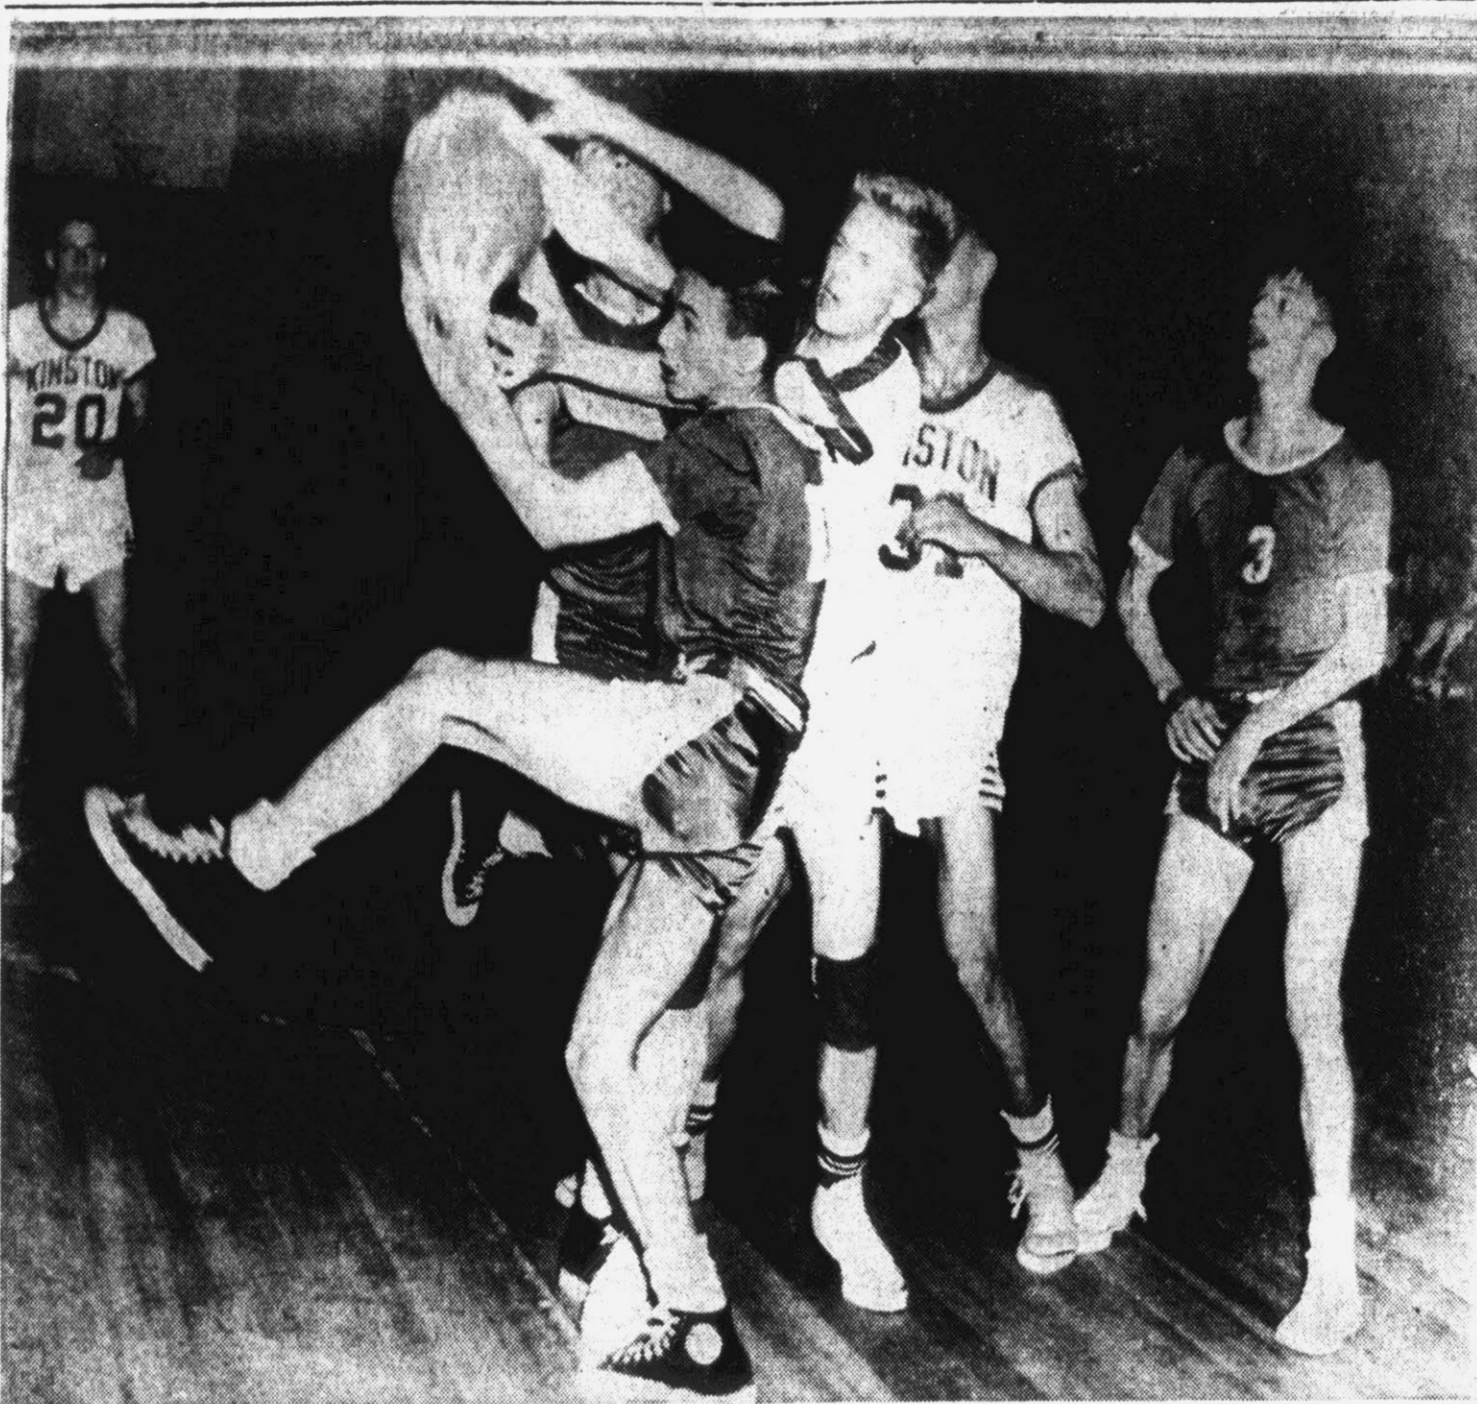

Another lay up by Briley pushed the score to 11-8 in favor of the Phantoms, but two quick hooks by Phillips made it read 12-11.

The second quarter was equally as hectic, with the score changing hands six times, while being tied six, with Dillingham's push shot putting the score in a deadlock at halftime, 22-22.

Jerry Trotts' free throw at the beginning of the third quarter put the Red Devils out front 23-22, and they never relinquished their lead throughout the rest of the contest.

Greenville roared back midway of the third stanza on a set shot from way out by Aman and a charity toss by Scott, making it 33-31, but at this point Kinston slowed down

No. 36 May Retire

Fabulous No. 36 may retire! Football jersey number 36, worn by East Carolina's great passing quarterback, Roger Thrift, during the past two years, may be retired from the football ranks at East Carolina.

The motion was made last night by Paul Casey, student at East Carolina, at a dinner meeting held by the college's Veterans' Club.

Charles C. Self, president of the club, stated that it would be brought before the student legislature, governing body at the college.

Thrift led East Carolina through its most successful football season during the past year with his heralded passing, and signal-calling.

Honors were heaped on the Pirate passer during 1950 as he made two All-State eleven at quarterback, was named the North State conference most outstanding player, and was mentioned on the Little All-America team.

Thrift was among the 44 All-State players honored at the annual Touchdown banquet held at Greensboro, N.C. earlier this week.

Both Teams Have Impressive Winning Streaks; Meet In Coliseum Feb. 24

Two undefeated Midget cagers clash here tonight, as Greenville's Mites play host to Raleigh's undefeated five.

Game time is 7:30 p.m. in the Greenville High School gymnasium.

Tonight's game should prove to be a very exciting ball game, as an underdog Greenville quint will be striving for a terrific upset of the Tims from the Capital City.

These same two teams will meet in the State College Coliseum, February 24, preliminary to the State-Greentown game.

Raleigh is led by their center, John Taylor, who is averaging 20 points per game thus far this season. The Raleigh quint is averaging a little better than 50 points per tilt, and have won 39 out of 41 games played over a two-year period.

Raleigh lost two contests in the Midget tournament held here last year, for their only losses, and have a string of 12 straight victories this season.

The Caps have practically the same team they had last year, therefore ruling a slight ten-points favorite over the locals tonight.

Coach Bill Kittrell stated last night, "Lack of practice will hurt us tonight. Not taking anything from a fine Farmville team last week, we just missed a lot of shots and easy layups because our timing was off from lack of drills."

Greenville's Mites have been having difficulty finding a suitable place for workouts since the college has taken over the new Training School gym with intramurals.

The local Tiny Tims, winners of 25 out of 26 contests over the last two years, will put their terrific record on line tonight with Hal Edwards, bigcenter, expected to lead the starting five with Bob Howell and Pat Sawyer at the two forward positions, and Tommy S. and Harry Scott at the guard spots. Reserve strength will be led by Ike Riddick and Edgar Moore.

Hogan Out With Flu; Open At Phoenix Led By Harbert

Phoenix, Ariz., Jan. 27—(AP)—The big gun of the Phoenix Open, Ben Hogan, was silent and sidelined today and the man in charge of the situation going into the third round of the $10,000 tournament was long hitting Chick Harbert.

Hogan, who lost a decision to a fast traveling bus departing from this tournament two years ago, got it from a flu bug this time.

Far less serious than the accident which nearly cost him his life, of course, the sudden strike of intestinal influenza none the less put him out of the competition, robbing Hogan of a chance to win the event for the third time and removing much of the color from the entire affair.

Hogan led the field with a six under par 65 after the first round. He tried to resume play yesterday but finally surrendered and went to bed on doctor's orders.

The major result of Ben's absence was to tighten the field and point to a rousing, close windup of the 72-hole event tomorrow.

Harbert, former Ryder Cup player from Northville, Mich., and a veteran of 11 years around the pro circuit, added a 67 to his first round 66 and at 133, led the way into today's third round with a two stroke edge on his nearest challengers, Lloyd Mangrum and Lawson Little.

Mangrum, still nursing a painful back injury, had a 68 for 135 and Little, the 40-year-old, former amateur and pro king, matched the total with a 69.

Tied at 136 were Smiley Quick, former national public links champion from Los Angeles, who had a 66, and John Bulla of Verona, Pa., with a 69.

Play is at the Phoenix Country Club, a course that measures 6,696 yards, with a par of 36-35-71.

Pack Faces Tar Heels At Raleigh

Richmond, Va., Jan. 27—(AP)—Tonight at Raleigh, N.C., North Carolina's White Phantoms will take another crack at North Carolina State in basketball.

Ten times during the past four seasons, the Phantoms have tangled with State—and lost. They have not been able to whip the Wolfpack since Coach Everett Case ushered in a new cage era at State in 1946-47.

North Carolina has lost three of its past four Southern Conference starts and, with a 4-4 circuit mark, is battling for its accustomed place in the conference tournament. Handicapped in recent weeks by injuries to key players, the Phantoms should be stronger after a week-long layoff.

State, unbeaten in nine conference outings, will be over the hump of its family schedule after tonight's game. After North Carolina, the Pack will have to face only four more conference foes—all of whom, with the lone exception of North Carolina, it has already beaten.

Foxx, Ott Placed In Hall Of Fame

New York, Jan. 27—(AP)—Two of baseball's greatest home run sluggers—Mel Ott and Jimmy Foxx—are new members of the game's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y.

Ott, 41, who spent 22 years with the New York Giants as outfielder and manager, and Foxx, 43, who spent 20 years as a first baseman and catcher with the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox, were elected yesterday by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

Top-Seeded Clubs Enter Finals With Darkhorses

Farmville Lassies Scrap Top-Seeded Snow Hill Sextet At 8:00 p.m.; Snow Hill Boys Face Strong Ayden Quint

The third annual Coastal Gold Medal tournament at Farmville goes into the finals at Farmville tonight, with the tournament's top-seeded clubs facing two scrapping darkhorse teams.

Snow Hill's heralded six, led by their two high-scoring forwards, Dixie Waters and Lois Dobson, will have a battle royal on their hands, as they play Farmville's defending champions in the first round 49-18 and then topping Vanceboro Thursday night 40-36.

Ayden's smooth-working five had little trouble in gaining their final berth, winning over Nahantia 23-17 and then romping over Farmville's lads in the semi-finals, 65-38.

Snow Hill, with its two potent scoring threats in Ham and McCoy experienced trouble with Walstonburg Wednesday night, finally winning in an overtime 42-40, then edging Stauntonburg in the semifinals Thursday night 31-26.

Immediately after tonight's finals, trophies to the tournament's champions will be awarded by the Farmville Junior Chamber of Commerce, with two individual trophies being awarded to the most outstanding boys and girls player.

In addition, the Jaycees will choose an All-Tournament team in both the boys and girls divisions, and medals will be presented to each member chosen.

Pirates Play Bears At Hickory Tonight

Bucs Scrap Apps At Boone Monday

East Carolina's cagers, ranking fifth in the North State Conference race, departed today for an all-important two-game road trip that could either make or break the Pirates in the league standings.

Tonight the Pirates play the potent Mountain Bears of Lenoir-Rhyne at Hickory, and Monday night the Bucs move over to Boone for a tilt with the towering Mountaineers from Appalachian.

East Carolina currently has a 5-4 record in the North State standings.

Lenoir-Rhyne defeated the Pirates in a previous game here January 13, 62-51, while they downed the Apps handsily in another previous tilt here 71-55.

Expected to lead the Pirates' scoring punch in their trip westward is Charlie Huffman, 6'4" frosh sensation at forward who has scored 211 points in 15 games this season for an average of 14.1 points per game.

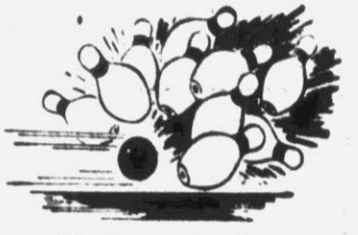

Along with Huffman will be All-Conference Sonny Russell, who has registered 201 points in 15 tilts this year, with a 13.4 average per game.

Bobby Hodges, who sank 25 points against Eion here Tuesday night, is expected to handle the backboards for Coach Howard Porter's quint, while Toddy Pennell and Lou Collier will round out the starting five.

by 18.

A halftime ceremony of interest will be the presentation of "Most Valuable Player" trophies to a member of the Duke and of the Durham High football teams.

These men have been selected by vote of their teammates and their night when Noble Arnold of Atlanta makes the presentation of the "Noble Arnold" trophies. Arnold is a former local theater man who was recently transferred to one of the biggest theater jobs in the Blue Devils won by 10 points and at Wake Forest it was the Deacons' south.

City League Standings

State Highway	28	11	717
Carolina Grill	21	18	538
Saad's Shoe Shop	19	20	487
Norris Texaco	10	29	256

Everything went topsy-turvy in the City Bowling league Thursday night, as one team record was shattered by Carolina Grill, another individual mark was moved up, and one lower half team made an extreme effort to climb in the league's ladder.

Carolina Grill, although losing two games to an up and coming Saad's Shoe Shop bowling team, bested its own record for team high for a single game Thursday night with a 801 pins.

John Warner of the Carolina Grill also bested his own runnup record to G. A. Taylor in the individual high for three games with a torrid 514 pins. Taylor still holds the record with 520.

Joe Smith of Norris Texaco posted the top individual scoring for the night for a single game with 216 pins in his second game, while Warner's 514 was high for a three-game series.

State Highway, the current leader in the league, continued their pace with two wins against one loss over Norris Texaco.

WAYNESVILLE STOPPER

Waynesville, Jan. 27—(AP)—The 49-game winning streak of the Waynesville High School girls basketball team has been snapped.

Fines Creek High defeated them 51-49 last night for their first loss in three years.

Hurlers Strenthens Braves Hopes In '51

By BILLY SOUTHWORTH, Mgr.
 Boston, Jan. 27—(AP)—The Boston Braves expect to be improved this year because our pitching will be strengthened.

That's what we lacked last year—pitching. We had Vern Bickford, Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain, and then prayed for rain. Max Surkont, who joined us late in the season, winning five and losing two, is a fine addition. We also will have Jim Wilson, purchased from Seattle where he was a 24-game winner. We are taking a number of other young pitchers to spring training who have fine records.

Injuries greatly hampered our progress in finishing higher in the National League race last year.

Second base presented a problem. Connie Ryan, Sibby Sisti and Gene Mauch failed to come through. However, Roy Hartsfield plugged with second base position after much valuable time had been lost.

Willard Marshall's failure to hit was another blow. I have great confidence that Marshall will return to his old time form in 1951.

The Braves have obtained the services of Edward St. Claire, a catcher with Atlanta last season. He had 117 runs batted in to his credit. Luis Marques, outfielder purchased from the Pacific Coast League, comes highly recommended. A full list of 40 players will represent the Braves in spring training and from this number I hope to select an improved 1951 team.

The military draft won't affect us to any major degree, as in my opinion, we have the best veteran club in the league.

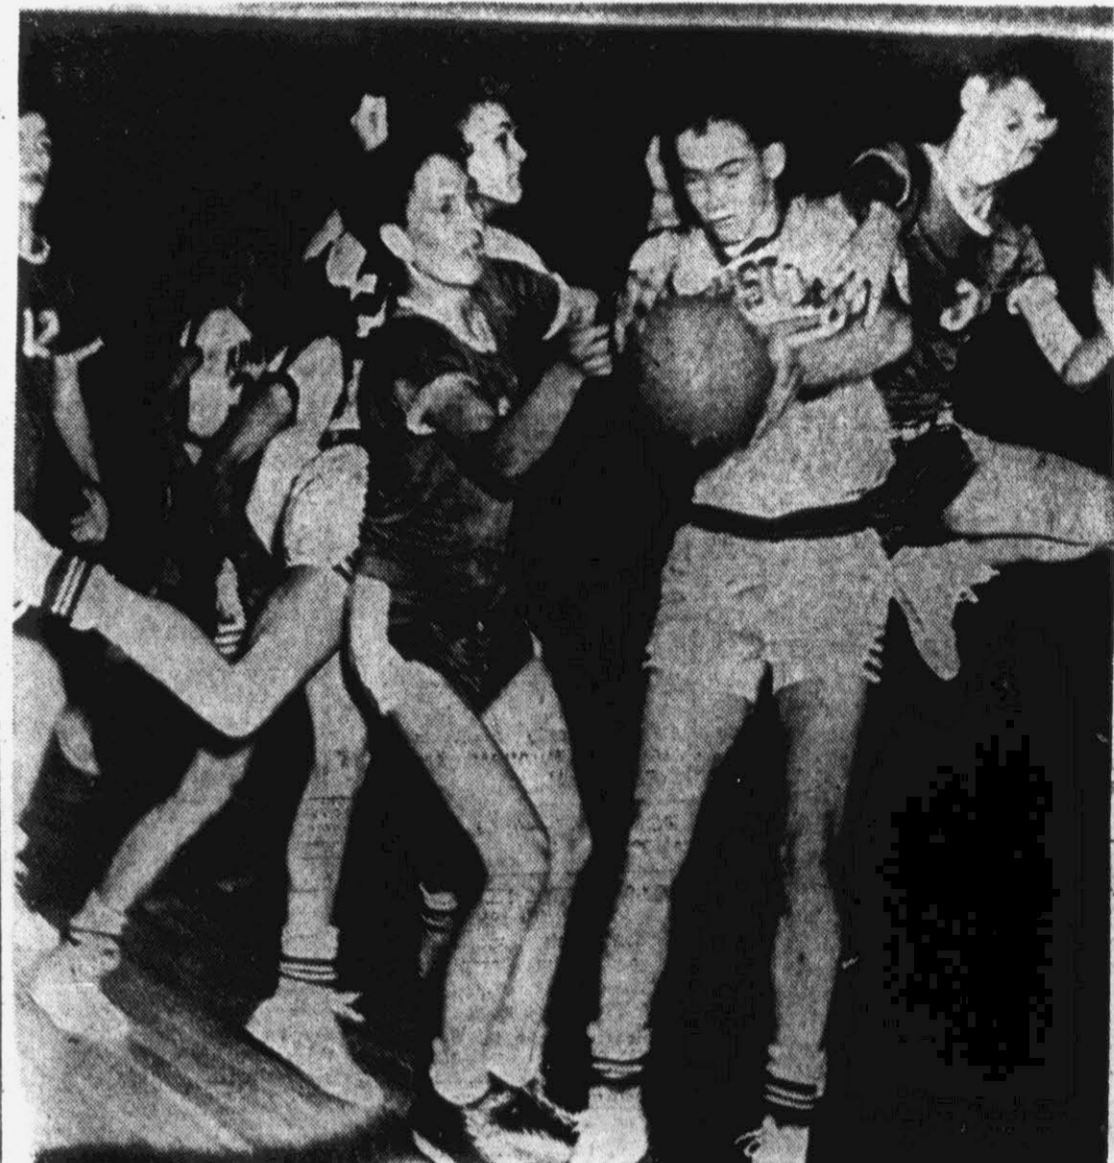

As to the evaluation of the rest of the league, that poses a tough question. However, Brooklyn, St. Louis and Philadelphia again will present top clubs.

VOYAGE TO EDEN

By Bennie C. Hall

Chapter 23
It was four days later and Molly stood on the lower deck breathing in the invigorating sea air, absently watching the scene opening up before her. Below lay the restless Atlantic, its waves lashing against the sides of the ship, as if resentful of any intrusion into its rightful domain. But just ahead, to the left, lay the green Azores, warm and friendly in the morning sunlight. The effect was that of a quiet garden, serene and undisturbed in a turbulent world.

The Continental was sailing fairly close to the shore and Molly could see the colorful houses in varying shades of pink and orange and blue on the Island of Saint Michael, the largest of the group. She could see the surrounding green fields, the huge yellow prison that didn't look like a prison at all, and, in the distance, the volcanic cone of Pico rising up to meet a cobalt blue sky.

It was a peaceful scene, but strangely unreal to Molly. Because of its incongruously restive surroundings, it seemed as intangible, as incomprehensible, as the peace that reigned in her heart. There was no reason she should feel peaceful; none that she could think of. There was every reason she should feel disturbed, even unhappy. Her romance with Bert Hasbrook had reached a kind of impasse. Bert, although denying it steadfastly, was definitely angry with her, as she supposed he had a right to be. She had neglected him; had seen very little of him since Algiers. He had found a temporary playmate in Marcia Collins, the movie star.

Moreover, she was doing precisely the thing that she had vowed never to do again, the thing that she had left Milledgeville to escape. She was nursing the sick, and for free. And, oddly enough, she was liking it. It was almost as though, having lost her way, for a little while, she were beginning to find herself.

The morning after leaving Algiers, having gone through a sleepless, introspective night, she had come directly down to the ship's hospital and found Doctor Peter O'Malley, determined to vindicate herself in her own mind. She had been shocked by his haggard appearance.

There was a baffled expression in his eyes that struck Molly as peculiarly ominous. She had seen it in her father's eyes when all of his efforts had failed and a beloved patient had died. Therefore, it had been easy enough to dismiss her prejudices against Peter O'Malley, the man, and say to Peter O'Malley, the doctor, "Elsie tells me there's an emergency, and I'd love to help out. Of course I'm not very good, she'd added frankly. 'But I did help my father a lot. He was a country doctor, you know. I was in training, too, for a while, so I wouldn't be altogether useless as a nurse's aide.'"

His lips parted in a forced smile. "That's very kind of you, Miss Leonard. I'll speak to Miss Meacham, the head nurse. Maybe she'll find something for you to do."

At first Molly had believed this to be a polite brush-off, but a moment later he was saying, "Excuse me if I seemed abrupt. I lost a patient an hour or so ago. A baby. I knew all the time there was a chance. And I know you've got to expect such things. But I—well, if your father was a doctor and you worked with him, you must know how I feel."

"Oh, I do," she said. "He ran a hand through his dark hair, trying to pull himself together. 'I don't know why I'm letting this get the best of me,' he said impatiently. 'I did everything anybody possibly could. And I've seen plenty of people die. But...'"

Cases Tried In Recorder's Court

Seven cases involving charges of drunkenness dominated the docket in Greenville recorder's court yesterday, and Judge J. W. H. Roberts found each of the defendants guilty.

Clarence H. Powell, Negro, was found guilty of larceny and sentenced to six months on the roads.

Judge Roberts ordered the probation judgement of Sylvester Vick, Jr., which was pronounced last May, revoked and the sentence of 30 days on the roads be served by the defendant.

Leon G. Gible was found guilty of careless and reckless driving and ordered to pay a $15 fine. Thomas H. Conway was found not guilty of the same charge.

Theodore Anderson was found guilty of drunkenness and failing to pay a taxi fare and ordered to pay a fine of $15 for each offense.

Alton Harrington was found guilty of assault and sentenced to six months on the roads. He gave notice of appeal to Superior court.

Joe Frank Hopkins, Negro, charged with non-support of an illegitimate child, was found not guilty.

Johnnie L. Norris, Negro, was found guilty of drunkenness and using vulgar and profane language and sentenced to 30 days on the roads suspended on payment of $25, cost deducted, and the further condition that he not drink any intoxicating liquor, beer or wine for 12 months.

Other defendants found guilty of drunkenness and fined $15 each were: James Moye, Negro; J. E. Beaman, Charlie McLawhorn, Negro; Clayton Williams, Negro and Earl Venters.

Banquet Friday Night For Veterans Club

Members of the Veterans Club at East Carolina Teachers College enjoyed a banquet given last night at the Respass-James restaurant in Greenville. President Charles Self of Greensboro presided and welcomed members and guests who were present for the social event.

Dr. Richard C. Todd of the social studies faculty at the college was speaker on a program given during the evening. His talk on "The Korean Crisis" was followed by a period of discussion from the floor.

Kiwanians Note 36th Anniversary

By WYATT HIGSMITH

The program at last night's meeting of the Greenville Kiwanis Club commemorated the thirty-sixth anniversary of Kiwanis International.

Ed Rawl, chairman of the committee on Kiwanis Education had charge of the program. The manner in which he presented the program impressed upon the members present the history of Kiwanis from its inception thirty-six years ago in Detroit, Michigan on through the organization of the Greenville Club on October 14, 1915 down to the present time.

Chairman Ed Rawl had a unique way of weaving his program around the induction of Dr. Orval L. Phillips into the club as a new member. In giving advice to Dr. Phillips and all the Kiwanians he used the mythical Janus, with his ability to see both in front of him and behind him, as an example. With this illustration he gave the history of Kiwanis looking back and gave some of the objectives of Kiwanis and some of the problems to be solved in looking to the future.

The theme of Kiwanian Rawl's talk was expressed in this quotation in a letter he read the club from Don H. Murdoch, President of Kiwanis International:

"Today is that tomorrow of which yesterday we hoped so much. If tomorrow we would not be disappointed, we must act today."

President Glenn Haney presided over the meeting. The attendance prize was won by N. C. Brooks; and Jimmy Brewer and Henry Andrews, as a result of having had birthdays, paid a nickel for each year in their age.

Air Rifle Teams Planned To Curb Gun-Totin' Kids

Plans are being made for the establishment of air rifle teams in four Greenville grammar schools and Eppes high school, Police Chief Guy C. Langston announced this morning.

Langston said preliminary steps already have been taken to organize a .22 calibre rifle team at Greenville high school.

The police chief asserted in his statement today, "We have been getting numerous complaints about kids throughout town shooting air rifles. The parents are going to have to stop the children from going around promiscuously shooting birds and family cats."

The police department already is having portable target stands constructed, and arrangements are being made, Langston said, to set up air rifle ranges at the Third Street school, West Greenville school, Training school, Fleming Street school and Eppes high

Funeral Rites Sunday For Mrs. Ray Hemby

Mrs. Effie Smith Hemby, 47, wife of Ray Hemby, died at her home near Chicod School at 5:15 o'clock Saturday morning. She had been in failing health for two years and critically ill since last Saturday. Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson Sons Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Zeph DeShields, Christian minister of Bell Arthur, and burial will be in the Nichols cemetery at Earl Hemby's Store.

Mrs. Hemby, daughter of the late C. D. and Florence Willoughby Smith, was born, reared, and spent nearly all her life in the Bell Arthur community. She was a member of the Free Will Baptist Church of Bell Arthur and was married to Ray Hemby in 1922.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters: Mrs. R. C. Allen of Greensboro, and Misses Clara Louise and Johnnie Hemby of the home; two brothers: Jim Bob Smith of Hamilton and C. D. Smith, Jr., of Greenville; and seven sisters: Mrs. Nannie Moxing, Mrs. Carrie Bell Joyner, and Mrs. T.H. Nichols of Farmville; Mrs. Andrew Taylor and Mrs. Guy Sutton of near Greenville; Mrs. Luther Moxing of Bell Arthur, and Mrs. Carlton Jackson Jr. of Greenville.

A. B. Cox, 81, of Winterville, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. B. F. James in Winterville Saturday evening, Jan. 20, at 7 o'clock.

Funeral services were conducted from the Winterville Baptist Church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Jan. 21, by the Rev. E. J. Cole, and burial followed in the Ayden cemetery, with graveside Masonic rites.

The deceased was survived by five daughters, Mrs. B. F. James of Winterville, Mrs. T. B. Roper of Wilmington, Mrs. Eula Carpenter, Mrs. J. R. Willis and Miss Elsie Josie Cox, all of Greensboro.

The Freeze . . .

But Ching's board wasn't able to work out this formula before Johnston decided there couldn't be any further delay in freezing prices. Yet the law says when prices are frozen, wages must be frozen.

So what to do? Johnston took the ball away from Ching and simply said prices and wages were to be frozen as of midnight, Jan.

MORE AMPHIB RAIDS

with which to fight. Prime Minister Attlee's warning to his people was made in a speech which evidently was an eye-opener for a program which he expects to propose in parliament next week. Defense spending for the next year or three years may run to the equivalent of $14,000,000,000.

Attlee charged that Russia doesn't want things to settle down. Her policy "seems rather to be to ferment trouble x x x our way of life is in danger." The communist aim is "the destruction of all creeds that believe in freedom."

The Prime Minister then flung some staggering figures of Soviet war-power at his audience. Said he: "The Soviet Union today has 17 active divisions with supporting artillery. These divisions include mechanized and tank divisions comprising 25,000 tanks. She has in all 2,800,000 men under arms and this number could be doubled on mobilization. She has an airforce of nearly 20,000 aircraft, and the largest submarine fleet in the world, yet she is threatened by no one."

Those are the facts which France also has in mind in her call for western Europe for armed units.
