Long And Costly Railroad Strike Appears Dying Out

Threatened Army Action Regarded As Main Factor In Breaking Up 'Sick' Walkout; Switchmen Quick To Abandon Tactics In Key Cities

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS
One of the longest and costliest nation-wide railroad strikes in many years appeared virtually ended today.

The Army's threat to fire striking switchmen was regarded as the main factor in breaking up the 10-day "sick" walkout.

The work stoppage continued in a few spots across the country. But generally there was a full-scale return to work—notably in Chicago, the country's No. 1 rail center.

Indications were that all strikers will be back on the job before the 4 p.m. (EST) deadline set by the Army in its "work or be fired" ultimatum.

Thousands didn't wait for the deadline to return to work. The switchmen—who also were promised a pay raise—flocked back to their jobs in large numbers, joining the thousands who had returned to work earlier this week.

The Army's demand to switchmen to get back on the job or lose their job and seniority came after President Truman's instructions to the Army to take "appropriate action immediately" to get the roads in full operation.

The Army has been in technical control of the carriers since the government seized them last Aug. 27 to halt a threatened strike.

The reaction in Chicago, one of the major hold-out areas, was swift. Nearly 100 per cent of the striking switchmen reported for work last night, compared to about 20 per cent on the early morning shift Thursday.

The early morning shift today on 25 railroads in Chicago also had nearly 100 per cent working crew. The Army's railroad control board said. Of 1,588 men normally on the job, 1,507 reported for work.

An Army spokesman said the 81 off duty was "about normal."

There were similar reports from many other cities where the work stoppage had continued during the week. Only a few scattered points reported switchmen planned to remain away from work today.

The switchmen returned to work faced with the gigantic task of helping to unscramble the jammed freight yards. An estimated 700,000 of the nation's 2,000,000 freight cars had been tied up during the walk-out, which started in Chicago and Detroit on Jan. 30.

In Chicago, the end of the walk-out opened the gateway to cross-country traffic, and the movement of vital freight log-jammed in the city's immense yards.

Industry also joined in getting back to full production. Thousands of workers awaited back-to-work calls. Some 250,000 workers in rail-related industries, notably automotive, steel and coal, were laid off by the strike, which halted delivery of materials and cars used in shipping.

New Members

This morning the Greenville Board of Aldermen at a call meeting appointed five new members of the City Recreation Commission with five members at large.

The new members were: Schools, J. H. Rose; Health, Emily M. Johnson; Welfare, K. T. Furelle; Ministerial Association, Leonard Topping; and Board of Aldermen, Heber B. Tripp.

Members at large: J. G. Clark (3 years), Dr. N. M. Jorgensen (3 years), Lester E. Turnage (2 years), Carrie H. West (2 years), and J. H. Donaldson (1 year).

Communist Dissidents

Differences Between Deductions For Personal And Business Expenses; A List Of Permissible Deductions And Items You Cannot Consider As Legal Deductions

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

Signs of dissidence in the leadership of the communist parties in satellite states continue to multiply, with resultant purges and other sharp action by Moscow.

The difficulty revolves about the tendency among the satellites to follow the lead of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. Tough Tito has declared for nationalism. That is, he has refused to place the sovereignty of his country in the hands of Moscow.

This modified brand of Moscovite Communism has come to be known as "Titoism." It has the Soviet signs not only furious but apparently badly worried.

As a result Moscow for a long time has been summoning a procession of Red leaders from the satellite states to the Russian capital for "medical treatment." Some of them seem to be mighty ill, judging from their protracted stay. As a matter of fact there has been at least one incurable case in Georgi Dimitrov, Red Bulgarian Premier, who died in the Russian

Taft Troop Quota Idea 'Impractical'

McMahon Raps Senator's Plan To Pin Down Number Of American Troops In Europe's Defense; Motives Questioned

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) called the "unworkable and impractical" today a plan by Senator Taft (R-Ohio) to pin down American troop quotas for Europe's defense.

And senator Sparkman (D-Ala.) wondered if Taft was laying down "a challenge for 1952" in criticizing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's report on the West's military prospects and questioning the General's status as North Atlantic commander.

Both Taft and Eisenhower have been mentioned as possible GOP presidential candidates next year. The Ohio Senator took sharp issue with the General in a Senate speech yesterday. He said Eisenhower submitted a "hazy" report on European defense and exaggerated "the danger of an unsuccessful war in Europe."

Taft accused President Truman of claiming dictatorial powers to send troops to defend Europe against communism. And he said the administration was concealing from the people and congress just how many troops the U. S. and other nations are to furnish for the international defense army headed by Eisenhower.

Taft proposed that the U. S. contribute only one division for every nine put up by European nations. McMahon, a Foreign Relations Committee member who proposed that congress make a peace gesture to the Russian people, called the ratio proposal "a typical Taft approach."

"We're talking about the security and safety of this country, not the convenience of anybody else," Sparkman said in an interview that if it comes to a contest between Eisenhower and Taft on military recommendations, he will follow the General and not the Senator.

McMahon, who proposed that congress make a peace gesture to the Russian people, called the ratio proposal "a typical Taft approach."

He termed asinine a Senate banking subcommittee's report on RFC loans that seemed to reflect on one of his assistants, Donald Dawson. He cracked that Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the committee had left town when Fulbright knew the President wanted to see him.

"Not true," Fulbright retorted. Not content with this, the President took a sock at rail brotherhood chiefs. He said they had run out like a bunch of Russians on an agreement they had signed to end the rail strike.

It took a special White House statement to put everybody straight on the latter point, since Mr. Truman's news conference remarks had been interpreted as referring to the striking railroad men themselves.

The union heads—J. P. Shields, D. S. Robertson, R. O. Hughes and W. P. Kennedy—replied in a statement that they were "badly shocked" by the remarks that characterized us as "Russians."

They said all that had happened was that their rank-and-file "recently exercised their democratic rights by rejecting an undesirable proposal of settlement in open voting."

Despite the smiling countenance with which the President delivered the blows, all of this added up in the minds of some politicians to the kind of political slugging Mr. Truman and some of his friends credit with bringing him victory in the 1948 campaign.

The Democrats nominally control the lawmaking branch, but Mr. Truman didn't let that stop him in defending his budget as so tight that he dares congress to try to squeeze water out of it.

Pitt Demos Still Short Of Quota
Pitt's quota for the Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner tomorrow night in Raleigh lacks $150 through noon today. It was reported by County Executive Board Chairman John G. Clark.

To date only seven tickets have been purchased by interested Democrats for the annual party frolic in the state capital. Two have been bought in Greenville, one from Winterville, and two each from Grifton and Farmville. Most have been bought by many more persons than the seat at the Sir Walter Hotel banquet will accommodate. However, the money has been collected and is ready to be forwarded to Raleigh, whether or not the quota is raised.

Clark stated he hopes this year doesn't see the county going below its requested $500 quota. But there is a little more interest this year than last year, which indicates, he said, the money will be raised.

Truman Tactics Suggests He May Run Again In '52

Political Punch At Congress-And Rail Brotherhood Chiefs Revive Talk

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—President Truman's political one-two punch at congress and rail brotherhood chiefs revived reports today he may run again in 1952.

Although Mr. Truman hasn't made his plans known, a close associate told a reporter he thinks the President is leaving the way open to become a candidate if there is no marked change for the better in world conditions.

Whether he has any such idea in mind, the President demonstrated that he is ready for a fight when one crops up.

With something of the old-time fire of the 1948 campaign, Mr. Truman yesterday dared congress to cut his $71,600,000,000 budget.

He termed asinine a Senate banking subcommittee's report on RFC loans that seemed to reflect on one of his assistants, Donald Dawson. He cracked that Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the committee had left town when Fulbright knew the President wanted to see him.

"Not true," Fulbright retorted. Not content with this, the President took a sock at rail brotherhood chiefs. He said they had run out like a bunch of Russians on an agreement they had signed to end the rail strike.

It took a special White House statement to put everybody straight on the latter point, since Mr. Truman's news conference remarks had been interpreted as referring to the striking railroad men themselves.

Tax Listing Has Deadline Feb. 10

Saturday Is Last Day To Avoid Payment Of Penalty

Tomorrow is the last day in which to list 1950 taxes without paying a 10 percent penalty.

By action of the County Commissioners during Monday's meeting the penalty will definitely go into effect Monday morning. It was to have been charged February 1 but an extra ten days leeway was granted to those persons who had not listed during January.

Meanwhile, auditor Allan T. Powell stated all but four of the townships are pretty well complete—as complete as is possible, he stated. The four are Beaver Dam, Chicod, Bethel and Swift Creek. Those four are still a bit behind the other nine townships and are behind last year's listing at this date.

In Greenville, where the turnover of incoming and outgoing persons is largest in the county, the listing is about 90 percent complete.

Powell stated the listers will be (Continued on page ten)

Man-Of-Year Award Is Given Reflector Editor

Dr. John D. Messick Presents Annual Jaycee Award To Dave Whichard, III, At Special Meeting Last Night

Dave Whichard, III, was presented the annual "Man of the Year" award last night by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the distinguished service award each year.

The award was presented to 23-year-old Whichard by Dr. John D. Messick, president of East Carolina, at a special meeting of the Junior Chamber held primarily for presentation of the award to Greenville's outstanding young man during 1950.

Whichard's award came through his activity during the year with the young people of Greenville. As chairman of the Jaycees' committee on recreation, which recently succeeded in having the Aldermen raise the city recreation fund allocation; as scoutmaster of the American Legion Boy Scout troop; and as Sunday School teacher at Memorial Baptist Church, he was selected by the committee of four representatives from the civic clubs above all other nominations for the yearly award.

In presenting the award to Whichard, Messick urged him not to digress in his service to the community. He stated that through the pages of the Daily Reflector, of which Whichard is managing editor, his service to the community could continue "by motivating and building the thinking of the citizens in this great commonwealth in a manner that will bring peace and enlightenment where doubt and indecision now prevail."

He stated the selection committee had had many names presented to them for possible nomination for the award but only five were considered to have achieved enough to be candidates for the honor.

"After a great deal of consideration," he said, "it was decided that the individual's activities should not consist of one great achievement, but should be such as to be consistent throughout the entire year. One man definitely fulfilled all specifications."

On receiving the award, Whichard, who is as the custom, did not know he was the recipient, stated his community service could not have been accomplished "without the help of many others."

He is a native of Greenville and graduated from Greenville High School prior to entering the University at Chapel Hill. Shortly afterward in early 1945 he enlisted in the Navy at Bainbridge, Md., from which duty he re-entered college at the University of Mississippi in the Naval ROTC program. After discharging in 1946 he re-entered the University and continued his studies in the Department of Journalism. He graduated in 1948 with an AB degree in journalism and also membership in the Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

Pitt County's members of the General Assembly, Senator Paul E. Jones, Representative Frank Kilpatrick and Sam O. Worthington, will be present at the meeting and given an opportunity to participate in the discussions.

A spokesman for the United Forces committee working on the meeting said members of the Farm Bureau, the State Grange, the School Board Association, the Federation of Women's Clubs, and the NCEA will participate in the meeting.

The public is cordially invited to attend the meeting, he said.

Dogwood Time Near; Jaycees Taking Orders
Greenville's Jaycees have begun taking orders for dogwood trees which will be sold to citizens of Greenville for $1 each, planted by members of the club.

Jimmy Wells and Lester Turnage, co-chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce committee for planting the dogwood trees, announced last night that orders will be taken immediately for the trees, and the planting will begin next week-end.

Last spring the Jaycees planted approximately 300 dogwood trees in Greenville as a part of the clubs project of city beautification.

Orders for the trees may be given by calling either Jimmy Wells or Lester Turnage, or contacting any member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Taking Of Ground Now Of Secondary Importance As Allies Aim To Cripple Communist Forces; Buildings In Suburb Of Seoul Sighted

Tokyo, Feb. 9—(AP)—American forces swept to the banks of the icy Han River near Seoul today. Allied shells poured into the burned-out old Korean capital.

Chinese Red resistance in western Korea seemed shattered. A lean and lanky westerner, Capt. A. W. Myers of Lander, Wyo., sent back word to U. S. Third Division headquarters:

"Task Force Myers now is wetting its feet in the Han."

It was a dramatic climax to a Red "mopping up" offensive that began Jan. 25 some 35 air miles south of the former Korean Republic capital.

Taking ground was only of secondary importance. The allies aimed to hurt the Chinese and Korean Reds and they did—more than 61,000 killed, wounded or captured.

Two Miles From Seoul
Other armored task forces were within two miles of Seoul, on the left flank of the Third Division. One rammed within six miles of Incheon, Yellow Sea port for the capital, and then withdrew to allied lines.

U. S. and Puerto Rican infantrymen moved up behind the tanks. The U. S. 25th Division's Task Force Dolvin punched up the main road to Seoul, sent patrols to within one and one-half miles of Yongdongpo, the ancient city's industrial suburb on the southwest banks of the curving Han.

Fight In West Section
Only on the right end of the western sector and on the central front were the Reds putting up a scrap. Early morning counterattacks in those areas were hurled back.

Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. S. Eighth Army commander, waved on Task Force Myers in its plunge to the Han. Ridgway praised his soldiers of many lands.

"The relative losses inflicted to those sustained by us is a very, very high ratio," he said. "That's what we want."

The ratio of Red losses was figured at about 100 to 1 several days ago.

No Red Opposition
But Task Force Myers had no chance to inflict losses in its punch to the Han. The Chinese had either been killed already or had fled. The task force drove to Karang, a village on the south bank of the stream about five air miles southeast of Seoul.

In the armored column were Puerto Ricans, U. S. Negroes, and aircraft units and other attached troops.

Several miles to the left of Myers' column, a column led by Lt. Col. Tom Dolvin of Columbus, Ga., shelled the ruins of Seoul from the flatlands directly south of the city.

Can See Buildings
AP Correspondent Jim Becker, with the Dolvin Task Force, said he could see the buildings of suburban Yongdongpo. Becker said the 25th Division outfit drove three miles swiftly from its overnight position.

The advance was over mine-infested roads but there was little opposition except for sporadic mortar fire.

To the west of Task Force Dolvin, a column led by Col. William Bartlett of Washington, D. C., shoved ahead without opposition.

The weather turned bitterly cold. Snow and thick overcast virtually ruled out ground-support aerial operations.

The bad weather also prevented General MacArthur from landing at U. S. Eighth Army headquarters on his 10th trip to Korea from Tokyo.

Your Tax Deductions

Evidence Of Nationalist Tendencies In Red Bloc A Source Of Concern To Moscow; Red Leaders In Satellite States Taken To Russia For A 'Cure'

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—This is a brief explanation of what—making your 1950 income tax return—you can and can't deduct as personal expenses and what income is taxable and tax-free.

Remember: There's a difference between deductions for personal expenses—like charitable contributions, medical care, or interest on a home mortgage—and business expenses of a professional man or a man in business for himself.

The man in business for himself must list his business deductions on "Schedule C," a single sheet. He is allowed both business and personal deductions. He lists the latter on Form 1040, page 3. So he uses both Schedule C and Form 1040.

A person who is an employee of someone else uses Form 1040 and, if his deductions are larger than the standard deductions allowed anyone for personal expenses, he itemizes them on page 3.

This a reporter working for a newspaper may want to deduct interest on his mortgage or what he paid for professional magazines he needs for his work. He'd list those deductions on page 3.

All that follows deals entirely with personal, not business, deductions: You can deduct for medical and dental expenses only that part which exceeds 5 percent of your income. And you can't exceed 15 percent of your income in deducting for contributions to charitable, religious, fraternal, veteran and scientific organizations or to non-profit hospitals and educational institutions and societies like those for tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease.

But here are deductions you can claim without limit: State income and personal property and real estate taxes except those which, like paving assessments, tend to improve the value of your property.

Junior Woman's Club Endorses U.F.E. Program

The Junior Woman's club, meeting for its regular monthly business session on Wednesday night at the club house, endorsed the legislative program supported by the United Forces for Education.

These resolutions were presented by Mrs. Vernon Tyson, chairman of the Education committee of the Junior organization. The United Forces are advocating appropriations for adequate measures in enforcing school attendance laws, appropriations for health education and the correction of physical defects, provisions for the education of the exceptional child, funds for the purchase of school buses for the state, reduction of the teacher load, additional funds for school buildings and vocational education, provisions for sick leave for teachers, and an increase in a certificate teachers' salaries with a minimum of $2400 a year.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Sam Weeks presided. Plans were made for the Junior club members to attend the briefing conference on world affairs which is to be held in Chapel Hill on February 18. Mrs. J. B. Spilman, Sr. advisor, Miss Marian Perry, president, and Mrs. Godfrey Oakley were elected as representatives to attend. Plans for the opening of the Wilson Memorial Wing at Pitt Memorial hospital were discussed. The business, Mrs. Sam Weeks, Mrs. Aubrey Taylor and Mrs. Malcolm Williams, served a sweet course with coffee when the meeting adjourned.

Junior G.A.'s of Immanuel Church The Junior G.A.'s of Immanuel Baptist Church will meet Saturday morning at 10:00 at the home of Sarah Bailey.

Radio Talk By Miss Hage For Allied League

In her radio talk last Saturday, Miss Sarah Jo Hage, a student at ECTC from Winston-Salem, discussed the bill boards found on the scenic highways from Maine to California and from Canada to Mexico.

She said these bill boards glamorize, popularize and glorify the use of alcoholic beverages. She also referred to the smooth, mellow, sweet advertisements found in newspapers and magazines.

The wets are very hush mouthed, she said, about the results of the use of alcoholic drinks. She went on to state that the public does not see behind these bill boards, but the ministers and social workers see behind them.

Miss Hage gave a dramatic illustration of how alcohol causes the majority of all highway accidents. She said all who voted to legalize whiskey are responsible for these accidents.

She spoke in behalf of the Pitt County Allied Church League.

Red Oak E. D. Club
A program concerning budgeting the farmer's income was presented to members and their husbands of the Red Oak Home Demonstration club Wednesday night by County Agent Sam Winchester and Home Agent Miss Sue Brickhouse.

Both agents stated the farm family must have a planned income to take care of medical and dental bills, educational advantages for the children, transportation, good housing, repairs and upkeep, telephones, electricity, well-planned recreation and a chance for each member of the family to contribute financially to the needs of the community. The agents placed emphasis on the contribution by members of the family to the spiritual needs of the family and the community.

Accompanying the talk were colored slides, presented by C. J. Goodman, assistant farm agent, depicting the categories for which farm incomes must be allocated. The slides included pictures of Pitt county places and people, including home demonstration club women.

Guests of the Red Oak club were Mrs. Fred T. Langford, former county home agent, and Mr. Langword; Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson, home agent's secretary, and Sheriff Tyson; Mrs. Pate, county sanitarian, and Mrs. Pate; Mrs. Alton Gardner, county council treasurer, and Mr. Gardner; Miss Hazel Garris, past state president of 4-H clubs; and Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Kittrell from the Red Banks club.

Mrs. James Allen, president of the Red Oak club, presided. The welcoming address was given by Mrs. Odell Evans and Milton May presented the response. Mrs. B. L. Tyson introduced the agents.

Water furnished by the U. S. Reclamation Service irrigated 5,000,000 acres in 1950.

Illinois Woman Is Enthusiastic About Hadacol

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron Which Her System Lacked

Mrs. L. Crifasti, 327 N. 14th St., Springfield, Ill., is showing a lot of enthusiasm these days. Her enthusiasm is for HADACOL. Mrs. Crifasti says she is elated over the wonderful results obtained by taking HADACOL. She is no longer bothered with stomach distress since taking HADACOL. She was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Nicotin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is what Mrs. Crifasti says: "I am elated in the wonderful results obtained by taking HADACOL. Really, I had emotional indigestion, which is stomach distress and makes a person feel down and out. HADACOL seemed to be prepared for my ailment for it certainly made me feel fine again."

Farmville Board Confers On Expansion Problems

Farmville, Feb. 9.—The Farmville city fathers held their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday night which was adjourned early and a business session set for Wednesday night.

At the Wednesday meeting, discussion was held on the installation of water mains and fire hydrants in new areas of the city, recently added to by the extension of the city limits in certain sections.

City Attorney John B. Lewis was asked by the board to prepare an enabling bill, which would allow Farmville to expand one mile in any direction. The plan was not to take advantage of such a measure at the present time, but to make it feasible at some future date, whenever the board considers it advantageous to do so.

The board further decided to ask Senator Paul Jones, Senator from Jones, Chief of Police Lucas and City Clerk C. M. Paylor.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the board is set for the first Tuesday night in March.

Ex-Lodge Rulers Honored By Elks

Celebration of Past Exalted Rulers night by the Greenville Elks lodge at its regular meeting last night was one of the highlights in the Elks program of activities for the year.

The first meeting in February of each year is set aside by the organization as an occasion for honoring the past exalted rulers of the lodge.

During the meeting last night J. C. Lanier spoke briefly to the Elks complimenting the past exalted rulers of the lodge on their continuing interest in the work of the order, and extolling the members of the lodge to continue in their democratic ideals.

Officers of the lodge for the meeting last night were all past exalted rulers of the Greenville Elks. Albion C. Dunn presided as exalted ruler; Charles E. Blair was esteemed leading knight; W. J. Bundy was esteemed loyal knight, and J. Alvin Bunting was esteemed lecturing knight.

The impressive Lodge of Sorrow was conducted in memory of the late C. L. Russ, a member of the Elks. The eulogy was delivered by W. J. Bundy.

John Lautares Jr. was initiated as a new member of the Elks lodge at the meeting.

Prior to the meeting last night a chicken and pig barbecue dinner was served to approximately 75 members of the lodge.

Former German Tycoon Is Dead

Buenos Aires, Feb. 9.—(AP)—Fritz Thyssen, once one of Germany's richest tycoons and the financial backer of Adolf Hitler's rise to power, died here yesterday, "a man without a country."

The 77-year old ex-industrialist, his health broken and his fortune gone, died at the home of his daughter after a heart attack.

The man whose money helped sweep Hitler into office and whom Hitler later consigned to a concentration camp, came to Argentina a year ago to visit his daughter, Countess Zichy. He had planned to stay only briefly, then go on to Belgium, but illness and an operation forced him to remain.

Thyssen will be buried in this country where once he had vast industrial holdings after funeral services this afternoon in the German cemetery at Chacarita, a Buenos Aires suburb. On his arrival here last year he called himself a man without a country, since Hitler had taken away his German citizenship after the two broke.

Born to riches and power, he was the son of August Thyssen. The latter was regarded as the creator of Germany's modern iron industry.

Thyssen was a financial genius in his own right, however, and shrewdly augmented the family fortune until he became one of the richest men in Germany.

To Make Clothes Harder To Soil, Easier To Wash

By OVID A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer.

Washington, Feb. 9.—(AP)—A cotton clothes harder to soil and easier to wash may soon lighten housewives' work.

The treatment is to add a small amount of a commercial compound—carboxymethyl cellulose—to the final rinse water each time cotton goods are washed.

The process has been developed at the Institute of Textile Technology at Charlottesville, Va., in cooperation with the Agriculture Department.

The effect of the treatment on the cotton finish is much like that of ordinary starch. But the compound does not make the fabric noticeably stiff.

Studies showed that soiled particles are entrapped in the spaces between fibers in each strand of yarn, between the strands themselves and in the irregularities of the fiber or cloth surfaces.

Reduction of soiling was sought by selection of fabric-treating materials that would reduce the fiber and fabric irregularities and being the soil particles into suspension during washing.

Samples of cotton cloth which had been rinsed in the compound were black when washed again, they returned easily to their original whiteness. Untreated fabrics similarly soiled could not be washed cleaner than a dull, dirty gray.

The rinsing compound has been used for some time for textile printing plants, as a detergent for fabrics. It is available commercially, but only in wholesale lots.

Worship Service For Negro Boy Scouts Sunday

A worship service for the Negro Boy Scouts of Greenville will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Selva Chapel Free Will Baptist Church.

Scoutmaster Leroy Barnes said all scouts and their friends are invited to attend the worship services which are being held in conjunction with the celebration of National Boy Scout Week.

Rev. J. D. Harris, pastor of the Sweet Hope church, will be the speaker. Raymond Brewington Jr., Herbert Harper, James Betts and Joseph Roberson also will be on the program of the worship services.

Howard Pritchard Jr. will speak over radio station WGTC at 4:15 Saturday afternoon on the scout activities.

"It helps the city—and makes my income tax that much less."

Urge Legislation Aiding Turnpike

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Legislation which would permit the setting up of a State Turnpike Authority is the main recommendation of Governor Scott's Turnpike Study Committee.

The committee reported its findings yesterday on a proposal to build a toll road in the Piedmont section of the state. Building of the road would be financed by self-liquidating bonds.

Orton A. Boren of Greensboro, chairman of the study committee, turned over the survey committee's findings to Scott.

A preliminary study of the proposed toll road, said Boren, shows "the financing of the project on a self-liquidating basis would probably not be feasible."

However, he added that a turnpike is being built in West Virginia and will have a short connection through Virginia. When this is completed, he declared "the traffic situation in the Piedmont section would be materially different and it is believed... that a toll road or turnpike would prove, in further studies and investigations to be financially feasible."

For this reason enabling legislation to create a State Turnpike authority was recommended.

Christian Church Announcements

Dr. Virgil A. Sly of Indianapolis, Indiana, will speak on his recent trip to the Philippines at the church this evening at 7:30 and the public is cordially invited to hear his message on that part of the war-ridden world.

At the morning service Sunday the choir will sing the anthem entitled "Onward Christian Soldiers" by Gould and the pastor will speak on the theme, "The Eternal Law."

Closing a week of observance with people of the church and Sunday school will sit down to their annual banquet on Sunday evening at 6:30 in the social room of the church.

The speaker will be Mr. Thomas P. Inabinet, popular young peoples speaker, director of young peoples work for the Disciples of Christ in North Carolina.

The ministers of the Disciples of Christ in North Carolina will convene in their annual retreat at Atlantic Christian College in Wilson this coming week on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

The young people of the Christian Union will meet in Kingston on Friday and Saturday, February 16 and 17 for the annual World Fellowship meet with emphasis on missionary education.

The regular Sunday afternoon coffee hour of the church will be held at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

to suffer? Would the municipalities be able to get the work they want and need done if the maintenance is placed under the Highway Commission?

The Reflector is of the opinion that funds from the state highway system should go to help to maintain the municipal streets. After all the streets in the towns are used by folks who live outside the corporate limits as well as those who live within corporate limits.

The Reflector is not in agreement with Governor Scott's proposal that the streets be taken over by the Highway Commission and additional gasoline tax be levied to pay the expense. Neither do we believe a plan at the other extreme should be adopted by the General Assembly until it has been carefully studied and worked out.

From the activity in the two committee meetings on the matter this week, indications are that the bill isn't receiving the careful consideration it should have.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9—A rugged North Carolina Democrat with tremendous influence on Capitol Hill has chosen this psychological moment to enter the Congressional battle against President Truman's unprecedented high budget-and-tax program.

In an F.Y.I. letter to every member of Congress, where he served for sixteen years as a Democratic authority on financial and taxation problems, Controller General Lindsay Carter Warren has served notice that his accounting experts "will continue to keep a watchful eye on civilian spending to ferret out those extravaganzas and frills, which our country should not and cannot now endure."

In another paragraph reciting how his office has reduced the size of both personnel and expenditures for its upkeep, Mr. Warren expresses the opinion that in recent years "the government has been expanding beyond all reasonable comprehension."

TABS—This is harsh and critical language for the former Chairman of the House Committee on Accounts, and for a man who was one of the leading Democrats of his state until he forewore partisan politics to accept his present assignment by appointment of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It is especially significant because the office of Controller General was created specifically by Congress to keep tabs on executive spending, and to report to the legislative rather than to the executive branch. He is a creature of Congress and responsible solely to that body.

The present Administration has made several attempts to relegate this agency to a subordinate and subservient role, as it has apparently succeeded with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Reserve Board, but Mr. Warren has successfully resisted presidential invasions of his authority.

DEFENSE—Mr. Warren, whose checkups on World War II expenditures returned hundreds of millions of dollars to the federal treasury, has also served warning that he will scrutinize carefully the billions that will be spent under the current rearmament program. His term runs until 1956. He cannot be removed or reappointed.

"It is essential to our economic survival," he continues, "not only that the national defense be strengthened, but that it be done as effectively and as economically as possible. On this score, the General Accounting Office bids fair to make a real contribution."

"We will not only audit defense spending, but we will also concentrate to seek out excesses, waste and extravagances in the defense program. . . . This letter is for your information, and in reply is necessary."

Congressional proponents of economy rejected receipt of this communication at this critical time. They believe it will reinforce their efforts to take six or seven billions of what they call "fat" from the $17,600,000,000 budget, and to impose only $10,000,000,000 of new taxes instead of the $16,500,000,000 requested by the White House.

POLITICS—Official and unofficial Washington, where he was a boisterous but popular figure and sonster, has thrown its weight behind ex-Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler's desperate attempt to be renamed as baseball's czar. The big league moguls may not appreciate the fact, but there are many baseball as well as ballot-box politicians around the Capital.

Three Supreme Court Justices are reported to have frowned upon tentative but unofficial suggestions from Commissioner Chandler's enemies that they take the job. They are Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, an old professional baseball player, Justice Robert H. Jackson and Justice William O. Douglas. It is also understood that Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois has rebuffed an indirect offer.

The Congressional and White House attitude on exemption of baseball stars is not entirely unrelated to the Chandler fracas. Contrary to the attitude of the owners and managers, President Truman and Defense officials approved his statement that, in the event of all-out war, baseball might have to fold up. As a fan, Mr. Truman doesn't like the idea, but it is a possibility.

FARLEY—His political friends don't think "Happy" has been too smart in his moves to hold onto his $65,000 job. They believe he should fight harder instead of whining.

But they are solidly behind him, especially as the attack on him has been inspired by New York City's sports writers. For many non-New York members of "the Hill," it wins votes whenever they thumb their noses at the city slickers in Manhattan.

Many pro-Chandler men might be mollified if James A. Farley could be persuaded to shift from soft drinks to his old pastime as the big boss. He is reported to be the not so secret favorite of several New York baseball reporters.

MACHINE—Readers of this column should not be surprised by the Fulbright Committee's condemnation of political domination of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by the White House and Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr.

In a series of articles in December, 1949, and January, 1950, the writer named the very individual the committee has identified as President Truman's agent in running the R.F.C. He is Donald S. Dawson, former personnel executive at R.F.C. and now a presidential secretary. His wife still has charge of the lending agency's files.

It was at about the same time the White House took over the R.F.C. as a politico-economic annex that Mr. Truman proposed to expand its authority. In several proposals to Congress, which were rejected, he tried to transform this supposedly independent organization into what a former chairman called "the Bank of the United States."

Had he succeeded, in view of his attempted control of the Federal Reserve Board and the $200,000,000,000 planned for defense expenditures, the Truman-Boyle political machine would have become the best oiled, most streamlined and the wealthiest in all American history.

REYNOLDSVILLE, PA. STAR—"Those who are raising the cry today that the Federal government is rapidly entering every phase of this country's economy, can only ask themselves one question, 'How many times did I invite it to do that very thing?' The less we cry piteously in both our state and local affairs, the more this trend of benevolent control from the Capital will diminish. It is time to choose our masters."

TAYLORVILLE, ILL. DAILY BREEZE-COURIER—"Tyranny, like hell, is not easily conquered. These stirring words were uttered during our Revolution by that undaunted fighter for liberty, Thomas Paine. They are worth remembering in dark days. Despite many discouragements, tyranny was finally conquered then, and so it will be again."

Don't Throw Away Your Mittens

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Last night at a special meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Greenville's Young Man of the Year was presented the distinguished service award in the form of a gold loving cup.

As I walked into the JC meeting I ran into the Reflector's managing editor, D. J. Whichard III, who was rushing all over the place with the camera and flash bulbs, preparing to get a candid shot of the Young Man of 1950.

"Who is it?" I asked Dave, with the idea of planning my interview.

"Beats me," Dave said. "A few minutes later Dr. John Messick of East Carolina was making the award, and in his regular newspaper style Dave took notes on the man Dr. Messick had not yet named:

Scoutmaster
Sunday school teacher
Ensign, U. S. Navy
UNC graduate
Phi Beta Kappa
It wasn't until Dave had reached the end of the list that he realized that Greenville's Young Man of 1950 must be him. He probably would have decided sooner but two items on the list were a trifle incorrect. True, Dave taught a Sunday school class last year, but now he's assistant superintendent of the young people's class. And in the Navy Dave attained the rank of Seaman Second Class, not ensign.

But when Dave knew he was it, he stopped taking notes and began blushing. Never have I seen a man with a redder face.

Ironically enough, the chairman of the JC committee that picked the Young Man of the Year was John Spinks, Reflector newsman. But the committee that did the picking consisted of representatives of the civic clubs other than JC's: Wyaft Brown of Rotary, Henry Swain of Lions, Don Conley of Kiwanis, and John Clark of Exchange.

Since this column is a hobby with me instead of a vocation, it was probably easier for me to interview Dave than it was for his employee, Spinks, who wrote the news story on the YM of the Year.

"What I want to know," I insisted, "is this: in the process of all the work, did you do a normal amount of courting?"

"I would say so," Dave said, and repeated, "a normal amount."

For Dave, 1950 was a busy year. Since he has been Managing Editor of the Reflector, he has been directly associated with its forward strides: a Saturday feature page, a photograph and engraving plant, an enlarged sports and society staff, and increased local coverage. Dave has been a spark plug in the city's drives, like Red Cross, Community Chest, and Stadium Fund. Probably Dave's most important achievement was his leadership in the drive to get Greenville underway on development of a recreation program.

Dave gets up at about six-thirty or seven, and usually hits the sack at about quarter after twelve. Those hours are packed with news and editorial writing and gathering and participation in Greenville's civic activities.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYNN NISBET Daily Reflector Bureau

SCHOOLS—The public school system of North Carolina is not in as good condition as it could be, or as good as many public spirited citizens sincerely wish it to be. Neither is it in the deplorable state of near disintegration pictured by some over zealous speakers on public programs sponsored by the United Forces for Education at numerous points throughout the state. It can be stated with assurance that the public schools will operate this year and next on approximate level of operations for the immediate past school year. With equal certainty it can be predicted that the current general assembly will appropriate sufficient money to carry on at approximate levels, which means the school appropriation will be substantially above recommendations of the advisory budget commission and far below the admittedly fantastic goals set by some of the school folks.

APPROPRIATION—While conceding that some items must be increased, even if new tax levies are required, members of the advisory budget commission and legislators seeking to hold down state spending as low as possible without damage to state progress, cannot agree that budget recommendations for public schools are niggardly. They submit that appropriation of $211,761,694 for public education during the next two years, out of total estimated general fund receipts of $292,753,528 is generous. That is more than 72 percent of anticipated total revenue going for public education.

DISTRIBUTION—The educational money is proposed to be distributed as follows: Support of the nine months school term, $172,812,768; vocational education, $5,091,400; purchase of free textbooks, $2,340,000; purchase of school buses, $4,391,000; administrative costs of department of public instruction and state board of education, $944,529; a total of $185,579,704 for the public school system. The educational institutions, from schools for deaf and blind up through the university are allotted $28,181,990.

BUILDINGS—In addition to the $211,761,694 appropriated out of current revenue for operating the state's educational system during the next two years, there remains to be spent nearly half the approximate hundred million dollars for buildings authorized by previous legislatures. This included fifty millions for public school houses ($25,000,000 out of general fund accumulations and $25,000,000 bonds voted by the people) and about fifty millions for the various state-supported educational institutions.

BILLION—Another way to illustrate the state's attitude toward public education is to note that since the end of World War II North Carolina has spent out of accumulated and current general fund revenues in excess of one billion dollars for the education of public school pupils and college students. This has not been considered too much. It is regarded as a good investment, and there is justification for the argument that larger expenditures would have yielded present and future dividends in geometric ratio. At the same time, it is hard to see how charges can be made that the state has been stingy or niggardly in its support of education.

AHEAD—Further analysis shows that North Carolina is more generous with public school appropriations out of state funds than most other states. Only Delaware and New Mexico, both very small states, pay larger share of total school operating costs. Report of the National Education Association under date of November 1, 1950, shows that North Carolina this school year is spending from all sources $154 per pupil in average daily attendance, of which 78 percent comes from state general funds. The national average is given at $213 per pupil, with $44.8 coming from state funds. In other words, the state of North Carolina is paying $120.12 for each pupil, while the national average is $95.42. Delaware, a very rich little state with only three counties, spends $270 per pupil, with the state paying 97.5 percent of the bill. New Mexico spends $220, of which the state puts up 85 percent.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

Death is a Bit Inconvenient, Too (Herald County Herald)
House legislators last Friday apparently voted away a nifty chance of enacting a vehicle mechanical inspection law during this General Assembly session.

This turn of events came when the House Roads Committee overwhelmingly voted to unfavorably report two bills before it which would have set up modified forms of inspections.

It is regrettable that such action was felt necessary. We are convinced that a form of vehicle inspection, with little inconvenience to the owners, can be established. Such inspections, we believe, would help considerably in the curbing of motor vehicle accidents on our highways.

Captain L. R. Fisher, head of the Highway Safety Division of the Motor Vehicle Department, has commented that "there's no doubt in my mind that either one of them (types of inspection) would have saved at least 100 lives in the next year."

But mechanical inspections were looked upon very unfavorably by the people and so they are voted down. As we understand it, many people didn't like the inspections because they were inconvenient and, of course, there sometimes was a garage bill to be paid because of required improvements.

It was a little inconvenient to leave work and line up for an inspection. But there will be a number of deaths on our highways this year caused by some rattle trap vehicle or some imperfect machine. When that happens, death will be a little inconvenient, too.

Convenience Unto Death (Williamston Enterprise)
One of the repeated arguments against motor vehicle inspections is inconvenience, the opponents weeping about a day lost going through the lanes. The argument has been worked overtime, the opposition forgetting that little or no delay was experienced by those who visited the lanes early and did not wait until the last day.

It is vividly recalled that the lanes were idle week after week, the procrastinators, choosing to wait for the last-minute rush apparently to have something to gripe about.

Procrastination marks the listing of taxes, the examinations for drivers' licenses and just about every other scheduled event. There are those who report late for church. Some get left by the train or bus.

As for vehicle inspection, we apparently prefer to gamble with life itself rather than inconvenience ourselves just a little bit. It has been reliably pointed out that inspection will save lives. Even if it will save but one life and that life is yours, inspection will be worth all the trouble and inconvenience it requires.

Business Today

U. S. PEANUTS DOWN, WORLD CROP UP
While last year's American peanut crop is down, the world crop of peanuts may be the largest on record, the Department of Agriculture estimates. The United States crop is estimated at 886,000 tons, compared with 937,000 tons two years ago. The record-breaking world crop is estimated at 3,300,000 tons, compared with 7,785,000 tons in 1949.

EMERGENCIES KEEP BEMUSING RETAILERS
City-wide emergencies have become so frequent that the National Retail Dry Goods Association set aside one session of its January meeting to discuss what can be done in event of trolley and bus strikes, newspaper strikes, power failures and potential newspaper rationing.

When truckers struck in Pittsburgh recently, one large Pittsburgh store met one phase of the emergency by putting a large ad in trade papers asking all resources to forward goods by parcel post.

SAME HEADLINES BUT NEW STORIES
Consumer credit controls have dampened the sales but not the ardor of stores specializing in credit sales. Some grades are frozen at lower prices than those of lesser quality. The reason is that the freeze is as of "delivered" prices and during the base period some high-quality yarns were being delivered at prices quoted much earlier.

DISPLAYS DEVICES MOVE AND TALK
Displays that flash light, move and speak to customers featured the Point of Purchasing Advertising Institute's show in New York this week. There was large interest in devices which play a recorded sales talk after customers pass in front of electric eyes. Many new devices that go through long series of motions, light up messages at customers' approach, and flash sales messages on viewers were also on display.

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—What is it like in Korea? How do the boys really feel about it all over there?

These are the questions most often asked of one who has just come back from "The Land of Morning Calm."

But a fighting man is in better position to give the answers than a correspondent.

For example, let's take Whitley. He is a big strapping marine who made at least three amphibious landings in the last war. He thought he was through with military service forever soon after the Japanese surrendered.

But for one reason or another—including maybe a little domestic trouble—Whitley signed up last year for another hitch with the Leathernecks. And hardly was the ink dry on his enlistment papers before Whitley, rather dazed, found himself in Korea chaperoning an ammunition truck—with the wheel in one hand, his carbine in the other.

He's still there, too. Whitley's views on Korea are given in the following letter, written to his favorite bartender:

"Why in the hell don't you ever write? Wh... I take my gloves off long enough to write, I almost freeze my hands."

"I wouldn't say it was cold here, but if I didn't I sure would be a (censored) liar. I tell you the truth, this place would freeze the ears off a brass monkey."

"If it isn't thirty below here, I'm crazy. I don't think I have ever seen such cold weather."

"I have been meaning to write to you for quite a while, but something else always comes up. Right now we are expecting a gook attack. They got the word somewhere the gooks were going to try to take back Wonsan. I'm all for giving it back to them. I sure as hell don't want it."

"I say they can have all of Korea. I just don't like to argue with the gentlemen. I guess they are getting pretty (censored) chilly up in the hills."

"Well, how is everything at home? You sure could do a big business here. You could just about name your own price. I haven't even seen any whiskey since I left home. I got to California and they wouldn't let me out of camp. Then they put us on a plane—and we'd had it."

"That's right," he said. "From my wages. During the base period I was working free to help an attractive widow get her business affairs in order. Now she says I have to go on working for her at the same rate. Its slow starvation."

UPSIDE-DOWN PRICES CAUSED BY FREEZE
The price freeze has created some inequalities in the yarn market. Some mills report that some grades are frozen at lower prices than those of lesser quality. The reason is that the freeze is as of "delivered" prices and during the base period some high-quality yarns were being delivered at prices quoted much earlier.

"Tell everybody I said hello, having a wonderful time, and wish they were here instead of me."

Your Pal,
WHITLEY."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
Washington, "Official Society," which is touched off by the First Lady each season, has been definitely curtailed by Mrs. Truman because of the international situation and the present emergency.

Mrs. Truman's social secretary, Mrs. James M. Helm, announced the other day that the First Lady had "temporarily postponed" even the series of small teas which she customarily dined for wives of members of Congress and other government officials. This follows the announcement last Fall that there would be no program of "large-scale" state dinners and receptions, customs followed by the Trumans since they moved to Blair House.

The First Lady did give a few teas before the holidays at Blair House and entertained at luncheons for Cabinet and Supreme Court justices' wives. The President has honored a number of visiting dignitaries at banquets in a nearby hotel.

Officially, society is curtailed, but even with the calling off of several large private, or semi-official functions, it seems partying will go on just the same. It did, and with a vengeance, when President and Mrs. Roosevelt cancelled the customary receptions and state dinners right after Pearl Harbor.

As a local society editor recalls, "there was 'official' entertaining no less, from the White House on down the line of precedence."

I remember the great dinners and receptions given for visiting presidents, prime ministers and other dignitaries, the lavish food and drink offered at the embassies, the glamorous private parties. We used to wonder where all the beef and other delicacies came from during those days of rationing. Hostesses around town contend partying is a morale-builder, and that after all, caterers, musicians, florists and dressmakers must make a living, emergency or no.

Currently, the "season" is kept blooming mostly with the coming out parties for the town's top debutantes, with wedding receptions and all sorts of functions given by groups for members of the 81st Congress.

Local citizens, however, still recall with nostalgia the big goings-on at the White House a pre-World War II days, the annual formal receptions for the Supreme Court justices, the military, congressional and departmental groups and the very formal state dinners.

Jesus Meets Human Need

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 6:7-13.

Jesus called the twelve disciples to Him and sent them out two by two, to preach, and He gave them power over unclean spirits.

King Herod heard of Jesus (for His name was spread abroad), and the king said Jesus was John the Baptist risen from the dead.

Jesus and the disciples went to the desert to rest, but the multitudes followed them; Jesus felt sorry and preached to them.

From the sea shore Jesus saw His disciples rowing hard in a boat, so He walked on the water to them. MEMORY VERSE—Mark 6:34.

JESUS MEETS HUMAN NEEDS

HE THOUGHT OF THE PEOPLE AS SHEEP WITHOUT A SHEPHERD

Scripture—Mark 6:7-13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. COMPASSION is a beautiful word. It means sorrow or pity excited by the distress or misfortunes of others.

In spite of the cruelties and terror borne by so many people in the world today, there is so much blessed compassion which manifests itself in sending food, clothes, encouragement of all kinds to those in distress in other lands.

When we know of such acts—in which the Christian church has a leading part—we take heart and feel that eventually the powers of good will surely prevail over those of brutality, and we can yet all be brothers in God.

Our lesson begins with Jesus calling to Him the twelve disciples—afterwards apostles—and sending them out two by two to preach, and giving them the power to heal.

They were to dress simply, and to depend upon the hospitality of those to whom they brought the gospel for food and places to sleep.

The disciples did as they were told, and they preached that men should repent, and they cast out until the disciples came to Him and told Him that it was meal-time, and the people should be told to go and find food for themselves.

Jesus said, "Give ye them to eat." How? asked the disciples, as they had little money, and there were five thousand people in the multitude.

Jesus told them to go and see how much food they had, and when they reported only five loaves and two small fishes, Jesus told the people to sit down in orderly fashion.

When they did so, He "broke the loaves, and gave them to His disciples to set before them; and the two fishes divided He among them. And they did all eat and were filled, and there were twelve baskets full of fragments and of fishes left over! Always as Jesus broke the bread there was more which grew in Jesus' hands.

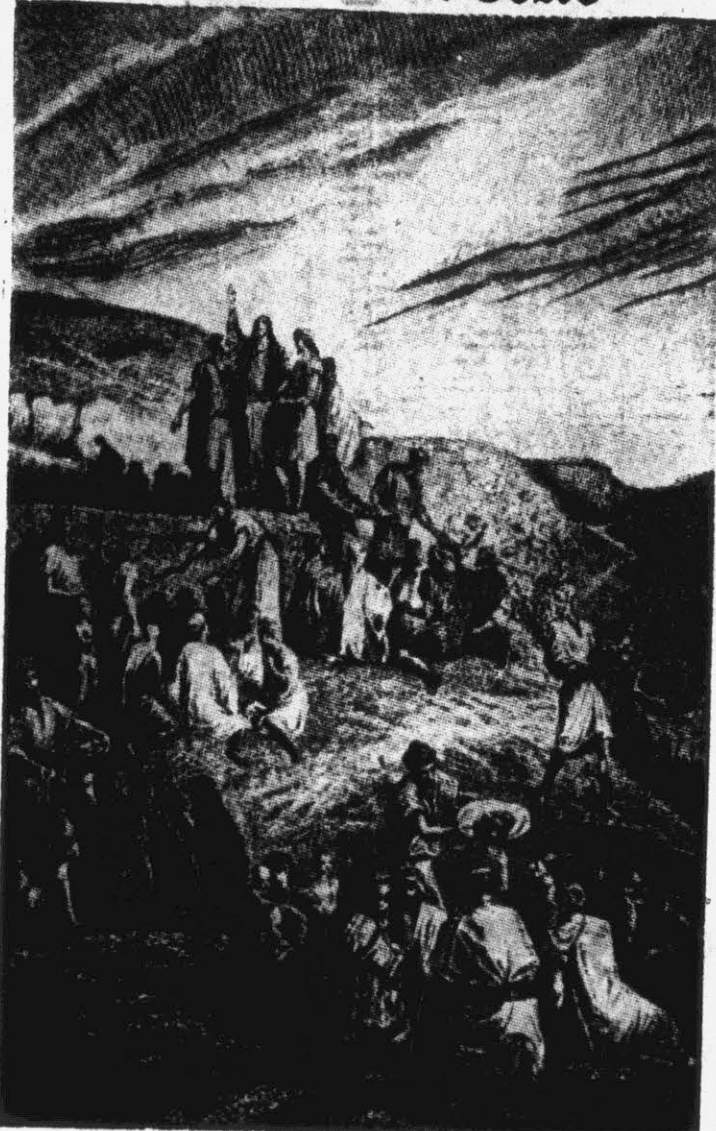

After this miracle, the disciples took boat to go to Bethsaida on the other side of the sea, but Jesus Himself went up into a mountain to pray.

When He came down to the shore He saw the disciples trying hard to row against wind and

Evangelist Irked By Criticism Of Big Donations

Chapel Hill, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham, irked by criticism of donations and love offerings made to him, says he may go on a salary.

He added in an interview here yesterday, "I'd welcome a look at my income tax return."

Large amounts of money have been collected by local committees sponsoring his campaign during the 20-months or so in which he has become one of the nation's top evangelists.

Graham, interviewed before he addressed religious groups at the University of North Carolina here, said his weekly radio broadcast costs $10,000 alone.

A complete team of auditors will be engaged to keep a cent-by-cent check of his campaign's income, the North Carolinian asserted.

During a recent six-week Graham campaign in Atlanta, local sponsors kept all but the last three days' contributions. The money collected in the last three days went to Graham's party. An auditor then reported that Graham got about $9,000 for his share, an average of about $1,500 a week, and his song leader, Cliff Barrows, got approximately $8,500.

Graham said here that his personal needs are modest, but he is a contributor to various causes. He maintains a home at Montreat, where his wife and three daughters live. He said the rest of the money, after expenses, goes to Northwestern Schools at Minneapolis, Minn., of which he is president, and to various charities, missions and radio work. He added he is helping support three missionaries in Formosa, where conversions are "amazingly high."

Graham's parents were Presbyterians but he was ordained in the Baptist church. He now places little emphasis on denominations.

He says that today two great forces, Communism and Christianity, challenge each other, each demanding great devotion and obedience.

Gifted North Carolina Actress In Playmaker Production Here

ANNE MARTIN, Cherokee, N. C., as Juliet

Youthful and talented Anne Martin of Cherokee, North Carolina, and Donald Treat of Waterbury, Connecticut, will play the feature roles of the young lovers in the forthcoming ROMEO AND JULIET, to be presented at the New College Theater on Tuesday night at 8.

Tickets to the production, being sponsored by the Greenville Music Club, will be on sale Saturday, Monday and Tuesday at Bissett's Drug Store.

Miss Martin, considered by many the most naturally gifted actress ever developed in North Carolina, will be attempting her most difficult role in a short, experience-packed career. A veteran of many Playmaker productions, "Merchant of Venice," "Rain," and last season's touring production of "Angels Full Front," she was given the Playmakers Mask Award in 1949 and the Master Award in 1949 and the Master Award in 1950 for her outstanding work in the theatre. Last summer she was active in "Unto These Hills," a drama of the Cherokee Indians presented in pageant form at Cherokee, North Carolina.

She is an accomplished vocalist, having a beautiful soprano voice and a profound knowledge of musical theory. Director of Music for "Unto These Hills," she has also given recitals at Winthrop College, throughout North Carolina, and in South Carolina. Although her future plans are not definite, she hopes to continue her studies in music and dramatics in New York and England.

Don Treat, playing Romeo, is also a stage-wise veteran of many plays in both the north and south. Before coming to Carolina, he had accumulated a rich acting experience with the Civic Theatre of Waterbury and the University of Connecticut Players, having performed with success in some fifteen plays. In 1950 he too was given the Playmakers Mask Award for his work in "Androcles and the Lion," "Night Must Fall," and "Medea." Residents of Chapel Hill, who have followed his developing career with interest, consider him to be one of the most promising discoveries in recent years.

Both leading players know their present roles to be the most difficult ever undertaken, and have devoted themselves closely to rehearsals. A measure of their success is revealed by critics who witnessed the premiere last December in Chapel Hill. Said Walter Carroll in the Durham Morning Herald, "As the tormented and love-torn youngster, Juliet, Miss Martin is playing one of her finest Playmaker roles." Of Treat, Carroll observed, "He is a handsome fellow...and looks like almost anybody's version of Romeo."

REA Loans For State Members Are Approved

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 9 (AP)—Loans totaling $3,557,000 have been approved by the State Rural Electrification Authority for three of its member cooperatives. The money, approved yesterday, will go for improvements and expansion. Blue Ridge Electric Member-

Rex Layne, Fourth Ranking Heavyweight, Is Moving Up

Fights Cesar Brion Tonight; In Line For Shot At Title If He Can Win At Garden

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Utah's Rex Layne is out to show the world his stunning upset of Jersey Joe Walcott was no mistake.

In the curly haired farm boy from Lewiston, Utah, hurdles Cesar Brion of Argentina tonight at Madison Square Garden he will have a sound selling point.

Brion, who went the route in a losing battle with Joe Louis and has dropped only four of 36 pro fights, is a rugged test for 23-year-old Rex.

Their 10-round bout, starting at 10 p.m. (EST) gets full radio and television network coverage. A crowd of 8,500 and receipts of $35,000 are expected.

Layne leaped out of nowhere into the No. 4 spot among the heavyweights by his surprising win over old Jersey Joe. But he needs more than one important victory before he can talk about fighting Champion Edward Charles.

They liked Rex's courage the night he asked Jersey Joe with right hand body punches, despite a badly cut left eye. They liked the way he built inside, carrying the fight to cagey

Joe, noted for a right hand sneak punch. They cheered the blood sploshed youngster when he got the unanimous decision. But they want to see more.

Layne has been fighting less than two years. Not too long ago he was fighting around the Utah fair circuit with the prize a free ticket to the harvest ball. His manager, Mary Jensen, was criticized for rushing him when he took the Walcott match. But Jensen was so right.

Now comes Brion, a kid like himself with limited experience. Cesar has had only 36 fights. Only 20 of them were in this country. He lost to Louis, Roland La Starza, Vern Mitchell and Bernie Reynolds but reversed the defeats by Mitchell and Reynolds. In fact his sensational one-punch knockout of Reynolds started him on his way to the big time.

Brion has stopped 17 of 36 foes, just below 500. Rex bombed out 20 of 30 for a fine .667 average. Despite these fine KO records, most experts expect the bout to go the limit. Layne, a 5 to 1 underdog against Walcott Nov. 24, now is a 5 to 8 favorite. The pick here in Brion.

Oklahoma Aggies Lose First Game

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Only basketball team to whip the Oklahoma Aggies all season is Oklahoma, and the Aggies took care of that last night.

A&M won its 20th game, 48-45, in a battle of the country's two leading defensive fives. The victory averaged 60-44 upset on Oklahoma's home court last month.

The Aggies jumped into an apparently safe 10-point lead midway of the first half on the shooting of Tom Johnson. Then Oklahoma caught fire and pulled to within two points with 21 seconds left before A&M froze the ball and added a free throw from the buzzer. Johnson led the No. 3 ranking Aggies with 14 points.

Western Kentucky (14-6) ambushed visiting Cincinnati, 75-70, for the Ohioans' second loss of the season. Cincinnati, No. 11 ranking nationally, couldn't quite make it with a late rally. The Bearcats have won 12 games.

Jack Turner scored 23 points for Western and Jim Hoistain 19 for Cincinnati.

Bob Zawoluk scored 36 points in sparking St. John's of Brooklyn to a 68-61 victory over helpless John Carroll. The 6-5 ace dropped in 12 goals and all 12 free throw attempts to tie the Cleveland Arena record held by Charley Share, formerly of Bowling Green.

Zawoluk also went one point over the thousand mark for a season and

Bears Hold Top Spot In NS Race

By The Associated Press

North State Conference basketball teams got a breather today with only Western Carolina Teachers scheduled, at North Georgia. However, seven of the nine teams will be playing, with only Elon and Guilford idle.

There were three games last night. Lenoir Rhyne solidified its hold on first place by beating Guilford, 60-43. Tony Sellar collected 16 points for the winning Bears.

In another league game, Bill Wais made 27 points to lead High Point to an 86-78 overtime victory over Elon. The regulation time ended 71-all. High Point really won from the free throw line, hitting 32 of 38 foul shots to 16 of 29 for Elon.

Catawba went to South Carolina and tripped Newberry 67-55. Catawba overcame a 10-point deficit in the final two minutes. With only a second or so remaining, the score was tied 65-all. Then Bill Hunsucker made the winning field goal.

Jake And Ray In 'Perfect' Shape

Chicago, Feb. 9—(AP)—Jake LaMotta and Sugar Ray Robinson are in "perfect physical condition" for their middleweight championship boxing match here next Wednesday night.

They were no pronounced yesterday by Dr. J. M. Houston, Illinois Athletic Commission physician, who examined them.

LaMotta, middleweight titleholder, and Robinson, welterweight champ, have met five times previously, with Robinson winning four.

Four Newcomers In Top Bracket In Texas Open

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 9—(AP)—Four comparative newcomers to the golf tour, headed by chunky Lionel Herbert, Verona, Pa., were in the top bracket today when the $10,000 Texas Open pushed into its second 18-hole round.

Herbert (pronounced Aber) jumped in front yesterday with a five-under-par 66. He furnished him a stroke lead over E. J. Harrison, of St. Andrews, Ill. veteran, and a trio of fellows who have only a few tournaments behind them—Doug Ford of Briarcliff, N.Y.; Felice Torza of St. Charles, Ill.; and Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass.

A field of 261 battled for 90 spots in tomorrow's third round.

Par 71 on the windy, 6,426-yard Fort Sam Houston Country Club course took a lustrous trimming in the opening round. The big names of the tour all played there and of the 27 par-busters for the day, 25 were on that course. The lesser lights were on Brackenridge Park's 6,400-yard par 71 stretch. The spillfields changed courses today.

Most of the heralded stars were within striking distance of the lead. These including Jimmie Demaret of Olat, Calif.; Cary Middlecott of Memphis; Dave Douglas of Newark, Del.; Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, and Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa. Demaret and Middlecott shot 68s, Douglas had 69, Burke 70 and Worsham 71.

Jenkins Cleared In Highway Death

Colorado Springs, Colo., Feb. 9—(AP)—Sgt. Lew Jenkins, former lightweight boxing champion, was exonerated by a coroner's jury in the death of another soldier but he faced a $50,000 damage suit today.

The jury found Jenkins, 34, blameless at an inquest yesterday into the death of Cpl. David L. Dexter, a military policeman, was manning a road block south of Colorado Springs when Jenkins' car hit him last Sunday. Military police were looking for a car stolen at Camp Carson.

Grid Fans Present Wilkinson New Car

Muskogee, Okla., Feb. 9—(AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson of the University of Oklahoma's 1950 championship football team is driving a new $4,000 Cadillac today, the gift of grid fans over the state.

The red and gray auto was presented Wilkinson here last night at the annual banquet of the Muskogee Quarterback Club. Money for the car was raised by $1 contributions from Oklahoma followers.

Milky Keeps Up Scoring Pace

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Bill Milky, the nation's leading major college basketball scorer, remained at the top of the list today—still well ahead of the all time season high set by Ernie Calverley of Rhode Island State seven years ago.

In games through Feb. 3, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau said Milky had scored 452 points, for an average of 28.3 per night. Calverley's record is 267 points per game.

Basketball Has Its Platoons, Too

Chicago—(AP)—Indiana University, currently the Big Ten's top basketball team, led the pylon system in basketball to win five straight Western Conference games, in defeating Illinois, Purdue, Michigan State and Ohio State, the latter twice, the Hurryin' Hoosiers from Bloomington averaged better than 12 players per game. Indiana's top substitution night game against Illinois when Coach Branch McCracken used 11 different players. The top night for the Hoosier bench came against Purdue when 14 players had action.

Mellowed With Age

East Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—Two gymnasts, 34-year-old Arnold Nelson and 30-year-old Dick Richter, are the oldest men competing in inter-collegiate sports for Michigan State. Both are older than their coach, George Szypula, who is only 29.

No Daily Schedules

New York—(AP)—Daily schedules were not existent when the National League was formed in 1876. The teams generally played on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The first game in the league was played between Boston and Philadelphia in Philadelphia on April 22.

Swimming Misses Are AAU Hits

These charming mermaids won double awards when they were chosen by the Amateur Athletic Union on its women's All-America team. Jackie Lavine of the Chicago Town Club was selected for both the 100 and 200 yard freestyle events. Maureen O'Brien, also of the Chicago Town Club, was picked for the 100 and 200 yard backstroke. Patricia McCormick of the Los Angeles A. C. was named for the three-meter springboard dive and the platform dive. Miss Lavine and Miss O'Brien shared in relay honors, too. Jackie's name appeared on five different teams.

Scoring Records Take A Beating

If you think this has been a crazy case season for the old North State, and that the guys who keep the records aren't going whacky, then take a look at some of the scoring records that have been added to the ledger.

Of course, most of the fuss has been about State's Sammy Ranzino and Duke's Dick Groat, but those two are not in this thing by themselves.

Ranzino has set a new Southern Conference scoring record, a big five and State College record for a single game, set a new State College career scoring record, and became the first player in big five history to score more than 500 points in more than one season.

Turning a page we find that Groat has done a little damage to the books also. He has already set a new Duke single season individual scoring record, set a new Southern Conference season scoring record, and became the third player in big five history to score more than 500 points in a single season. Groat now has 562 points in 23 games for an average of 24.4. If he keeps this pace he will end the season with a total of 732 points.

State College has set a big five Southern Conference and national record for points in a single game, 114 against Virginia Tech. High Point has set a new North State Conference and state collegiate records

Frisch Predicts First Division Finish In '51

By FRANK FRISCH

Chicago, Feb. 9—(AP)—At the risk of going out on the limb, I'm going to predict a first division finish for my Chicago Cubs this year. I'm not going to be satisfied with first place.

I agree with all these opposing managers who think we are going to make it rough on them next summer. I'm glad they know. It will save me the job of telling it to them. Not that I expect to win the pennant, mind you. But no club is going to get far on us—like the Giants did last year. I'll tell you why.

We're going to be a young club—world conditions permitting. We finished seventh last year because we played out the string on our youth movement. We could have done better. Maybe finished a place or two higher, but only at a sacrifice of rushing our kids, whom we knew we had to develop this year.

We didn't get jittery, despite the mistakes our kids made, even in the face of serious injuries that sidelined men like Preston Ward, Phil Cavarretta, Hal Jeffcoat, Walter Dube and Warren Hacker for long stretches.

Now we're ready to go higher with that extra experience under our youngsters' belts. Take our infield—Preston Ward, 23, at first, Wayne Terwilliger, 25, second base; Roy Smalley, 24, shortstop; Bill Serena, 26, or Ransom Jackson, 24, at third. If I can keep that unit together for the next couple of years, it will become the talk of the league.

Not a bad outfield, either. I don't think you will find many outfielders in the business who outlast Andy Pafko. Then there is Hank Sauer who slammed 32 homers and drove in 103 runs.

Sure the Cubs could use some more pitching. But who can't? It was our biggest problem last year. However, I sincerely believe we will be stronger there this year. They will be that Bob Schultz, a left-hander

State Second In Team Offensive

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—North Carolina State is second in basketball team offensive among the nation's major colleges.

Through last Saturday the Wolfpack, rated the 10th best team in the country, averaged 77.7 points a game in 23 games. The leader is Cincinnati with an average of 78.9 in 12 games, says the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Duke is second in free throws, having hit 70 per cent of its charity shots. Virginia Tech is first with 70.4 per cent.

Oklahoma A. and M., No. 2 team in the country, leads in defense—OHIO'S GOV.

Cleveland, Feb. 9—(AP)—Ellis Ryan, president of the Cleveland Indians, said today Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, is "definitely one of the candidates" to succeed Baseball Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

"But it would be wrong to say we rank him No. 1," said Ryan, a member of the screening committee that drew up a list of about 100 candidates. "He is in the same classification as three or four others."

Ryan would not say whether that meant the field had been cut to three or four.

"Besides," he continued, "it isn't our job to recommend any one individual."

Greenville Ousted From Sally League

Macon, Ga., Feb. 9—(AP)—The South Atlantic Baseball League has ousted Greenville, S. C., and replaced it with Montgomery, Ala.

Directors of the Class A league decided unanimously here yesterday that "Greenville Baseball, Inc., still has failed to demonstrate its financial stability necessary for the successful operation of a baseball club in this league."

The Montgomery Rebels, owned by the St. Louis Cardinals, were in the Class B Southeastern League, which disbanded last month. Fans had subscribed $50,000 to back Montgomery for a place in the South Atlantic League.

At Greenville, James B. Gaston, President of the Spinners, said he may try to enter the team in the Class B Tri-State League if another team can be found to make the tri-state an eight-team league. He added that within a month there will not be a dollar's debt against the Greenville territory.

The South Atlantic League will play a 140-game regular season, opening April 18 and closing Sept. 2.

Happy Defends Decisions In Six Years As Top Man

Milwaukee, Feb. 9—(AP)—A. B. (Happy) Chandler last night defended his "six fabulous years" as baseball commissioner and said he had no wish to recall a single decision.

In a speech before the Old Time Baseball Players Association of Wisconsin, the commissioner made no mention of a special meeting of major league club owners called for March 12 at Miami Beach, Fla. But he left little doubt he considered himself a leading candidate to succeed himself in office despite the fact that club owners at their winter meeting failed to renew the current term of his contract which expires April 30, 1952.

"In my six years as commissioner I have no wish to recall a single decision," Chandler told the capacity crowd. "There has been no hint of suspicion or scandal in that time and we have enjoyed six fabulous years."

"We had some union trouble at the start of my reign," he said, "and that was solved. Then Jackie Robinson came along, and I issued orders that he must be treated like any white player."

"There was the Mexican league incident, and I simply had to defend the contracts club owners had on players who jumped. I could do no less."

Bethel Indians Win 18th Game

Bethel, Feb. 9—Led by Bobby Manning, the Bethel boys continued to win here last night as they posted their 18th win of the season over the Snow Hill cagers 62 to 52. Manning scored 23 points to lead the Indians to victory over the scrappy Snow Hill five. Fred Keel dropped in 11 points to come in second in the scoring.

McCoy was high scorer for the Snow Hill team with 20 points, followed by Howard who had 17.

In the girls' game L. Dobson scored 25 points to lead the Snow Hill girls to a 46 to 25 win over the Bethel girls. The Snow Hill sextet led all the way, taking a 16 to 8 lead in the first quarter, never to be headed throughout the game.

Bethel will play Dover here Saturday night. The first game will get underway at 7:00 o'clock.

Score by quarters:

Girls' Game	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	Total
Snow Hill	16	11	9	10	46
Bethel	8	7	6	4	25

Defensive leaders: Snow Hill—Evelyn Perry, Polly Turner. High scorers: L. Dobson, 25. J. Manning 9. Defensive leaders: Bethel—Clarie Wilson, Angeline Harmon. High scorers: Smith 12, J. Beverly 7.

Clemson Will Get Test Tonight Against Cats

Richmond, Va., Feb. 9—(AP)—Showdown time arrives tonight for the Clemson College basketball team.

Perched in second place in the Southern Conference standings with a fine 5-1 record, the Tigers have been a stay-at-home quintet most of the season. Four of their circuit triumphs have come on their home court. Off it, they have been able only to break even.

Tonight, when Clemson meets Davidson, the Tigers begin getting an opportunity to show they can stay with the conference bigwigs outside of home territory.

All of Clemson's seven remaining games are with conference opponents. Six of the games will find the Tigers on the road. After tonight, they move to Wake Forest for a real test tomorrow, then go home to face the Deacons. Then, on foreign courts exclusively, they meet Maryland, George Washington, South Carolina and The Citadel.

To date, South Carolina has been the only team to vanquish Clemson in conference circles. Tonight's foe, Davidson, was beaten by the Tigers, 74-62, at an earlier date.

Three other games are on tonight's card. North Carolina one of the league's hottest members now with four consecutive wins, pays a visit to South Carolina to try to cool off Jim Slaughter. Furman is at The Citadel and William and Mary at George Washington.

A FIEND IN NEED

By MILTON K. OZAKI

Chapter 1
Detective Davis, leading a Nordic-looking fellow in cotton trousers and a wrinkled brown work shirt, pushed his way through the crowd which was beginning to congregate outside the doors. "I got the janitor," Davis announced. "He was in the basement."
"Good," Phelan appraised the janitor speculatively. "What's your name?"
"Alfred. Alfred Bonquist."
"Know everybody in the building?"
"Yes, sir." The janitor nodded vigorously. "I sure do."
"Know this fellow?" Phelan gestured toward the elevator and, with his other hand, pushed Bonquist toward the cage. The janitor stepping in and almost instantly, backed out again.
"No, sir!" he exclaimed, swallowing excitedly. "I n-never saw him before."
"Suppose you give us a list of the tenants. Start with the first floor and give us the names and apartment numbers."
"Well, Mr. Charles Edelson has apartment 1-A," the janitor began cautiously.

"That's the lot?"
"Yes, sir."
"All right, Bonquist. That's all for now," Phelan gave him a shrewd glance. "Not married, are you?"
The janitor looked startled. "Sure I'm married. Why?"
"You seem pretty familiar with the women in the building."
"Oh, that," Bonquist waved one hand carelessly. "That's because I see them around more than I do the men. Most of the men are away all day. It's the women who are always coming around with complaints, things to be fixed, and so on."
"I see," Phelan grunted a dismissal. "Davids, stay here and keep people out of the lobby. Lock the front doors and keep them locked. Don't let anyone in or out—and I mean anyone. Understand?"
"Sure, Lieutenant." Detective Davids nodded agreeably and adjusted the bolt on the front door.

Ballard's X Roads News

Mr. Robert S. Hough of Tarboro gave the Bible study on the Book of Hebrews to the Women of the Presbyterian Church on Tuesday afternoon, February 6. This book was used throughout the church by the women for intensive study this year. About 20 were present for the occasion. The regular meeting of the Women of the Church will be held at the church on Friday evening, February 9, at 7:15. All members are urged to be present.
On Wednesday evening, January 31, Madames Leslie Evans and G. S. Nichols entertained at a miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. Carlton Hyman, a recent bride, at the home of Mrs. Ray Crawford. Upon arrival the honoree was given a corsage of white flowers. Following bingo and other games the guests presented the honoree with miscellaneous shower gifts. Refreshments for the evening consisted of sandwiches, candies, salted nuts, and iced Coca Colas. The Valentine motif was used in the decorations and 40 guests were present.
Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Elks, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Crawford, Mrs. Cora Crawford, Mrs. Annie Flanagan, John Flanagan, W. H. Elks and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wooten attended the funeral of Mrs. J. W. Harris near Roxboro Monday afternoon. Mrs. Harris was the mother of C. C. Harris at Ballards. The community extends sympathy to the family of Mr. Harris.

"What's he do?" Phelan interrupted.
"He owns some restaurants."
"All right, go on."
"Then, on the other side, in apartment 1-B, there's Miss Cyn Claire and Mr. William Dentino. They're—"
"Miss Clair and Mr. Dentino?" Phelan's brows shot up. "You mean Mr. and Mrs. Dentino, don't you?"
"It's kind of complicated, sir." The janitor winked slightly. "Miss Claire is a singer, see, and she and Mr. Dentino used to be married, only she got a divorce about six months ago and now they ain't married any more. But she and Mr. Dentino still live together."
"What does this Dentino do?" Phelan growled.
"He runs a night club on Madison Street. It's called the Rio Suzanna."
"Does this Miss Claire sing in his joint?"
"No, sir. I don't know where she sings, but it ain't in his place."
"All right. Get on to the tenants."
"Well, Mr. Flecker has 2-A on the floor above. That's Mr. Richard Starr Flecker, you know, the writer, and lecturer. You'll have heard of him, I guess."
"Is he the fellow who writes poetry and makes speeches at women's clubs?" Phelan asked.
"That's him, sir." The janitor nodded. "He's a very cultured gentleman. Then, across from him, in 2-B, there's Mr. and Mrs. Don McGregor. Mrs. McGregor's name is Maud. You'll like her, sir." He shuffled his feet self-consciously. "Mr. McGregor doesn't do much of anything, but Maud—that is, Mrs. McGregor—works in a hat store over on Michigan Avenue. She's a clerk."
Phelan snorted. "Tell us about the others."
"That's on the second floor. On the third floor, Professor Thomson is in 3-A. That's John Miles Thomson, you know, of North University. Then across from the professor, there's three girls in 3-B. There's Miss Elaine Ruhl, Miss Barbara O'Neil, Miss June Hanson. Miss Hanson is the real tenant, but Miss Ruhl and Miss O'Neil live with her."
"What do they do?"
"They're stenographers, I guess."
"Pretty ritzy apartment for three stenographers, isn't it?" Phelan asked.
"Well, the rent's one-hundred and fifty a month. Split three ways, it ain't so much."
"Says you," commented Phelan.
"Well, get on to the next floor."
"Mrs. Damon Ross has 4-A. She's old and an invalid. Her husband died and left her a pile of money, and she's got a nurse and a maid in the apartment with her."
"Ross?" Phelan's brow wrinkled into an expression of concentration. "Is that the Ross who owned a coal yard? Died about three years ago?"
"That's the one, sir. Damon Ross. Ross Lumber and Coal Company. She's been very sickly ever since. Hardly ever leaves the building except in a wheel chair with her nurse. It's too bad." He wagged his head sympathetically.
"Go on," Phelan prompted.
"Yes, sir. Across the hall from Mrs. Ross there's Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Dougle in 4-B. He's a contractor. His wife's name is Bertha. She's a lot of fun. Likes to joke—"

Here you see the secret of FirePower's unmatched ability . . . the new Chrysler Hemispherical Combustion Chamber, heart of the finest motor car engine built today. In this dome-topped, clean-walled area, you see the only ideal combustion chamber in a motor car engine today . . . the only way to develop full combustion, full compression, full work and value from every drop of fuel!

FirePower specifications: 180 hp at 4000 rpm; Bore and Stroke, 3-13/16 x 3-5/8; Piston Displacement, 331.1 cu. in.; Compression Ratio, 7.5 to 1.

in the most
of all time!

Chrysler engineering again brings you an entirely new powerplant which will set a new pattern of performance for years to come. FirePower is not only the most powerful engine you can drive today . . . it is the most efficient, too! Exhaustive tests have proved this the mechanically best and most reliable car engine ever built. Only by driving it yourself can you know the new world of satisfaction it opens to you. Its smooth 180 horsepower can outperform, with ease, any other engine in any other car. Yet FirePower uses no more gas than you probably use now . . . uses regular grade gas, too. It will run more carbon-free . . . last longer . . . require less attention and upkeep cost than any other engine built, bar none. And along with FirePower, Chrysler this year presents two other great and basic engineering advances . . . exclusive new Oriflow shock absorbers, on all models, with over twice the shock-absorbing power of any other car's . . . and, optional at extra cost, the miraculous new Hydraguide power steering which does four-fifths of your steering work for you! See all these exciting new motoring wonders tomorrow at your Chrysler dealer's—America's newest new car is now on display.

Municipal Streets Basis Of Major Battle In Legislature

Raleigh, February 9.—Construction and maintenance of public roads inside the corporate limits of cities and towns promises to be the most controversial issue of the present legislature, just as secondary rural roads were two years ago. As was forecast then and again just before the present session convened, the class consciousness created by the rural road issue will have considerable influence on the 1961 assembly.

The house of representatives grabbed a new ball and ran with it Thursday, just after the senate appropriations committee had given a favorable report to the bill pending on that side of the capitol. The senate bill provides for the state to maintain main highways inside and outwards alike, and to distribute five million dollars a year to municipalities for use on other streets.

The house bill, sent up by Fred Royser of Vance and bearing names of twenty other representatives, provides for the state to take over all municipal streets, only if the people at an election to be called prior to July 1 of this year, authorize the levy of an additional one cent a gallon gasoline tax.

In many features the provisions of this bill are similar to provisions in the bill authorizing election on $200,000,000 rural road bonds two years ago. There are some important differences. The new street bill does not set any maximum or minimum amount to be devoted to street work, and does not limit proceeds of the proposed new gasoline tax to that purpose as was the case in the rural road issue. The special tax voted for rural roads cannot be spent inside towns; proceeds of the special tax proposed under the house bill can be spent anywhere. It is presumed the highway commission would act in good faith, but this bill lacks the guarantee contained in the 1949 rural roads vote.

There are other interesting prospects in the developing situation. Conflict between senate and house is not unusual. Numerous times in this and past sessions they have been at serious odds. Seldom has there been as clearcut declaration of war as can be found in these conflicting street maintenance bills.

Two years ago Governor Scott vigorously assailed the idea of submitting a tax levy to vote of the people. He insisted that was the prerogative and duty of the general assembly, and his recognized followers in the legislature opposed coupling the one cent tax with the road bond election. Sponsorship of the bill now, which does not issue bonds or fix amount of appropriation, but actually does nothing more than levy a tax, comes from the recognized "Scott bloc" in the house.

Co-signers of the bill with Royser are George Long of Alamance, Alonso Edwards of Greene, Tom Allen of Granville, John Umstead of Orange, Herman Scott of Chatham, Robert Dairymple of Lee, Byrd Satterfield of Person, Russell Swindell of Hyde, T. J. Collier of Pamlico, E. G. Anderson of Martin, Joe Steed of Montgomery, William P. Elliott of McDowell, Lewis Combs of Tyrrell, Jeter Burleson of Mitchell, F. J. McDuffie of Wilkes, Joe Warren of Caswell, J. E. Tew of Sampson, Troy Page of Johnston, Hayden Wiggs of Johnston, and W. R. Fields of Avery.

Immediate reaction of some veteran legislators and informed observers was that this bill has little chance of passage, but that its introduction will lessen chances of the senate bill to get through. There is little doubt about the senate bill passing that body, but it faces trouble in the house. If the house bill did get through on that side there is practically no chance it would be approved by the senate. In any event, what to do about city streets is the big issue before the 1961 general assembly to date.

Delegates Named Night-Fighting Rangers To Student Meet Route 2 Red Regiments

Greenville, February 9.—Seventeen students at East Carolina Teachers College have been selected to represent the Wesley Foundation, organization of Methodist students at the college, at the State Methodist Student Movement Conference to be held in High Point February 9-11.

The conference is scheduled to be attended by approximately 300 students from colleges and universities in North Carolina. Dr. Lowell B. Hassard, professor of religion at Wesleyan College, Bloomington, Illinois, will be the principal speaker.

Those chosen to represent East Carolina at the meeting in High Point next week are Betty Ann Shaw, Weldon; Anne Jones, Neuse; Billy Vendric, New Bern; James L. Ralledge, Advance; Waylon Upchurch, Sanford; Donald Roebuck, Bicks; Ophelia Kirven, Suten, S. C.; Charles Cherry, Stokes; Jean Edwards, Wilmington; Marilyn Watkins, Middleburg; Levene Midgette, Rodanthe; Charles Robins, Plymouth; Ernest Sylvant, Snow Hill; Hazel Burke, LaGrange; Elaine Smith, Wilson; Treva Yow, Wilmington; and Ethel Parks, Goldsboro. Mamie Chandler, director of the Wesley Foundation in Greenville, will also go to High Point for the conference.

Central Front, Korea, Feb. 8.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Sgt. William Cole of San Diego, Calif., moved through the darkness toward the blacked-out buildings.

His arm flashed and a fragmentation grenade swished through the air and landed in the outer building.

The blinding flash that followed set off a Ranger attack that put an estimated two North Korean regiments into flight northward.

Cole said:

"They boiled out of the building—it was like shooting fish in a barrel."

Ringed around the city was the American force. Lt. Alfred H. Herman of St. Louis, Mo., the company commander, said:

"His (Cole's) frag started the fire. The Commies came bursting out of the doors and began firing in all directions. It was just what we wanted."

Tracer bullets set other straw-tatched buildings afire. Lt. Rudolph Dismor of Gainesville, Ga., said "they poured out of windows and doors like kids out of an apple orchard."

The attack took place two nights ago on Changmal, deep inside enemy territory.

Night fighting, Berman explained, is "right down my boys' alley."

"They ran into the glare and we cut them down—just with hand grenades and automatic weapons. There was no use wrestling them when we could shoot them down."

The old man of the group, Lt. James E. Green, 36, of Erwin, N.C., said the Rangers smashed about 20 or 30 Reds in a draw and a secondary outpost was alerted.

"We blasted them out with some nice Browning Automatic fire and we sneaked up to the outskirts of Changmal in the dead of night."

The Rangers continued to pour their fire into the fear-crazed North Koreans until their ammunition began to run low. Then they pulled out.

Firetruck, Bus Crash In Raleigh

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—No one was injured when a fire truck en route to a fire collided with a city bus here last night.

The bus crashed into a store front, but nine passengers and the driver alighted from the vehicle's back door on to the sidewalk.

The fire truck came to a stop just as it hit the front of a house. One fireman was treated at a hospital and then released. The house was shaken.

Raleigh Girl Is Killed By Stray Bullet In Fight

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Two Negro brothers conducted a running gun battle in Raleigh yesterday.

A half mile away from the shooting a bullet pinged through a schoolroom window. It struck a nine-year-old Negro girl listening to music records and killed her.

Detective Captain R. E. Goodwin is holding the brothers, Norman Giles, 22, and Joe Giles, 37, on an open charge. Police have found at least two pistols and a rifle in their investigation of the brothers' feud and are putting the weapons through ballistics tests.

The little girl was Annie Delores Martin, third grade student.

Cotton Research Clinic Is Closed

Pinehurst, N. C., Feb. 9.—(AP)—Cotton men ended a research clinic here today. The final session discussed such industry problems as increasing military demands, a tight raw cotton supply situation, and higher production costs.

Yesterday a representative of the Army Quartermaster Corps told the 115 delegates from 17 states and Canada that no finish now available fully meets all military demands for fire resistance cotton. Alan J. McQuade of the Philment made the statement in calling for continued cotton research.

GET MORE STRENGTH

If you have SIMPLE ANEMIA

You girls and women who suffer from simple anemia that you're pale, weak, "dragged out"—this may be due to lack of blood-iron. So do try Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS.

Pinkham's Tablets are one of the easiest and best home ways to help build up red blood to get more strength and energy—in such cases. They are a pleasant stomachic tonic, too!

Pinkham's Tablets also relieve painful distress, nervous, weak, irritable feelings of "certain days" of the month—when due to female functional period disturbances. Just see if you, too, don't remarkably benefit!

Wayne Students Club Organized

In an organizational meeting held Tuesday morning in Flanagan Building, East Carolina Teachers College, approximately sixty of the ninety-seven East Carolina students from Wayne County met to form the Wayne County Club.

Jerry Sandford, popular sophomore from Goldsboro, was elected president of the group. Serving with him are Ethel Parks of Goldsboro, vice-president; Mary Olive Owens, New Hope, secretary; and Abbie Jean Porter, Grantham, and Tom Cox, Mount Olive, reporters. A faculty adviser will be named shortly.

The purpose of the newly-formed organization is to promote interest in East Carolina among Wayne high school students, and to further fellowship and recreation among Wayne students at the college. Administration officials heartily endorsing the project, feel that the Wayne County Club will be performing a great service to the school by pointing out the advantages and facilities of East Carolina to high school students preparing to enter college in the near future.

No. 9 DISC HARROW and the Model B

Here is a combination for good tillage. The Model B Tractor and the No. 9 Disc Harrow, a favorite on farms throughout the nation. Look at these harrow features:

Flexible links connect the rugged frame directly to gang bearings, permitting each gang to move up or down independently of the others.

Natural line of draft — straight pull from bearing through hitch gives smoother work and less strain on disc harrow.

Front and rear gangs angle entirely independently of each other — eliminates ridges and furrows in the seedbed.

Get ready for better, faster farming. Let us show you the A-C No. 9 Disc Harrow, available in sizes from 5 ft. to 8 ft.

Second Snow In Greenville Area

Light snow flurries began to fall in the Greenville area around eight o'clock this morning with heavier flurries coming down about eleven today.

However, weather reports indicate that the snow will not continue for long, with clearing and colder weather forecast for Saturday.

For Greenville it was the second time in less than a week that snow had fallen in the city. On last Saturday an inch and one-half of snow fell, turning the city into a slippery icy web of roads and walks.

The lowest temperature of the year yet recorded, came following the snowfall last Saturday, early Sunday morning when a low of 14 degrees was reached.

Yesterday morning the mercury dipped down to 16 degrees and did not go over the 37 degree mark all day long.

At noon today the official temperature in Greenville was a chilling 31 degrees with a cold breeze stirring.

Woman Frozen Stiff Still Alive; Physicians Amazed

Chicago, Feb. 9—(AP)—A young woman, found literally frozen stiff in sub-zero temperatures yesterday, clung to life in a hospital today after her body temperature had dropped to 64 degrees.

Hospital physicians said probably never before in medical history has a person with such a low temperature survived. Today, nearly 24 hours after she was found lying beside a south side apartment building, her temperature had climbed to 100, a little above the 98.6 normal.

When brought to the hospital her pulse was 12 compared to a normal of 70 or 80 beats a minute. She was breathing three to five times a minute. Normal is 18 to 22. Today her blood pressure, physicians said, was close to normal. Scores of physicians visited the emergency room where the woman, Mrs. Dorothy Mae Stevens, 23, a Negro, was being treated.

"It's fantastic that she could still be alive," said Harold Laufman, staff surgeon and assistant professor of surgery at Northwestern University.

Physicians at the hospital described Mrs. Stevens' condition as "critical." Her legs and arms were tightly bandaged to keep her blood in and around the vital organs. If she survives, Dr. Laufman said, it is possible that both her legs and arms will have to be amputated.

City Policemen Complete Course In First Aid

Grades for the 13 members of the Greenville police department who recently took a two-week American Red Cross first aid course have been released by instructor "Snag" Clark.

The report shows that all of the men taking the course passed and that more than 25 per cent received ratings of A.

Police Chief Guy C. Langston stated that he was well pleased with the fine showing made by the officers taking part in the course. "I feel that our men are better trained now to meet any emergency which will arise," the chief said.

Officers taking the course were: J. E. Mills, W. M. Carr, Lt. J. R. Mobley, Sgt. C. H. Christopher, Sgt. P. L. Jewett, Lt. H. E. Wooten, Sgt. W. G. Berg, P. E. Johnson, T. E. Gladson, W. E. McGowan, Capt. R. T. Rogerson, N. H. Byrd, and Capt. S. B. Dorsey.

Upon graduation he entered business with his father, D. J. Whitchard, Jr., editor and publisher of the Daily Reflector, and shortly became Managing Editor.

Commenting on Whichard's past record with the newspaper, Messick stated, after naming the award winner, "May your future efforts transcend all past notable achievements, and may your pen bring wisdom, understanding, enlightenment and inspiration that will issue into spiritual awakenings and intellectual renaissance such as Greenville and Pitt County, North Carolina and the United States have not heretofore realized."

Messick was introduced by John Spinks, chairman of the awards committee of the Junior Chamber. Also present for the presentation was Mayor W. S. Stafford; Willard T. Kyzer, representing the Chamber of Commerce; and members of the selection committee. They were John G. Clark, Exchange Club; Wyatt Brown, Rotary; D. H. Conley, Kiwanis, and Henry Swain, Lions.

All Restrictions On Mail Removed

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The Post Office Department today lifted all restrictions on mail service. An order effective immediately, directed all post offices to resume normal mail service.

Various restrictions had been put into effect during disruption of train service due to the switchmen "sick" strike.

The order gives the nation regular postal service again for the first time in more than a week. A partial ban on bulk mailings, except air mail, was put on Feb. 1 when the walkout of switchmen tied up operations at important terminals.

When the situation worsened, the Post Office Department on last Saturday suspended all non-air mail services except first class daily newspapers, packages of medical and surgical supplies, and money shipments by banks.

Your Tax . . .

—Also— dues to a labor union; interest on your personal note to a bank or individual; interest on a mortgage on your house; interest on delinquent taxes; interest on installment purchases (but not carrying charges.)

You can deduct state or local retail sales taxes, auto license fees (but not auto inspection fees), poll taxes, and state gasoline taxes except in California, Florida, Louisiana, North Dakota, Utah, Wyoming and Hawaii.

You can deduct for lost of your property from theft, fire, storm or other natural causes; and for an auto accident if you weren't fully at fault—"willfully" is the important word there—and didn't get paid for the damage.

And you can deduct for use of your car for business; entertaining for business purposes; subscriptions to professional journals, books and magazines bought for use in your profession; equipment, tools and instruments used on your job; and cost of work clothes and uniforms when they can't be used to take the place of ordinary clothes.

Here are things you can't deduct: Gifts to relatives or friends or other individuals, or to propaganda organizations; political organization or candidates, social clubs, labor unions or chambers of commerce. And, unless you paid out the money for business purposes, you can not deduct for government excise taxes, such as on telephones, telegrams, railroad or bus tickets. And you cannot deduct for federal excise taxes on furs, jewelry or cosmetics.

You can not deduct for your social security tax; for property lost in storage or transit; animals or plants damaged or destroyed by disease; hunting licenses; water taxes; or taxes paid by you for another person.

Eight Teachers Fired In Inquiry

New York, Feb. 9—(AP)—Eight public school teachers were fired by the board of education yesterday for their refusal to say whether they ever were communist party members.

The nine-man board unanimously voted to dismiss all eight on specific charges of insubordination and conduct unbecoming a teacher.

One of the teachers, David L. Friedman, 46, was charged with being an active member of the communist party.

weight Reds, also has been added to the Moscow colony of invalids who are taking the waters—or whatever it is they do take.

Coinciding with all this, the missing ex-Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia, Clementis' brother-in-law, Slovakia, Vlado Clementis, is reported (without confirmation) to have been given refuge in Yugoslavia. Dr. Daniel Kralik, Slovak Commissioner of the Interior, who reportedly helped Clementis escape by airplane, is under arrest. An Austrian report said Communist President Klement Gottwald of Czechoslovakia had been placed under police surveillance for warning Clementis of impending arrest, but Prague denied this.

Highly independent Czechoslovakia has been a cause of worry for Moscow since she came under complete control of her communist party in February, '48. She is one of the most uneasy of the satellites.

It will be recalled that just after the Reds came into full power there, her foreign minister, Jan Masaryk, son of the first president, plunged to his death from a lofty window. The communist government said he committed suicide. President Edward Benes soon sickened and died a broken man.

Strict Controls Are Invoked On Slaughtering

Washington, Feb. 9—(AP)—The government slapped strict controls on livestock slaughtering today in an effort to forestall black markets in meat.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) issued an order bringing all livestock slaughter under a system of "slaughter quotas."

OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle said: "We are determined to keep meat out of the black market, and to see that steaks, pork chops and roasts continue to be available in all sections of the country at a fair price. We believe this slaughtering control order is a big step in that direction."

'Secedes' Over Defense Budget

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 9—(AP)—Two New Hanover beach resorts were on the borderline of secession and one had jumped the fold today of the county's civil defense program.

Wrightsville Beach seceded last night with a loud howl about Defense Director T. G. O'Neal's proposed $12,000 budget for a five month period. Carolina Beach and Kure Beach today joined in the complaint.

The stock dividend will increase the paid in capital stock which will be offered at the present time is being offered to the stockholders, who will be allowed to purchase up to five per cent of the amount of stock held prior to the stock dividend. The $10 par value shares of stock are being offered to the present stockholders at $20 per share.

To the stockholders who prefer cash in place of the 10 per cent stock dividend, the bank is offering $30 cash in return for each $10 par value share of the dividend stock.

The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company was established in 1901 with a capital stock of $10,000. The capital stock of the institution has been increased from time to time since 1901. In the last increase several years ago, the capital stock was hiked from $350,000 to $500,000.

At the end of the 1950 fiscal year, the bank's assets totaled $36,239,139.84.

W. H. Woolard has been president of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company since 1942. He is now completing his 31st year with the bank.

The Guaranty Bank and Trust Company maintains its home office and two branches in Greenville, and has 11 other branches in towns throughout eastern North Carolina. The branches are located at Hamilton, Aurora, Robersonville, Bayboro, Snow Hill, Belhaven, Vanceboro, Bethel, Washington, Elizabeth City, and Williamston.

Seven Men Die In Collision Of Train And Bus

Sudbury, Ont., Feb. 9—(AP)—Seven men on their way to work were killed today in the collision of a Canadian Pacific passenger train and a bus on a level crossing seven miles east of here.

The crash occurred in 47-below zero weather and fog shrouded the region, with visibility down to 100 yards or less.

First reports from the scene said the train, out of Montreal, stopped about a half mile from the point of the accident to let off some passengers and was just picking up speed when it struck the rear of the bus. The train was running late.

Mrs. J. W. Cannon's Funeral On Saturday

Ayden, Feb. 9—Mrs. Mary Ann Cannon, 93, a life-long resident of Ayden, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Launa Haddock, last night at 12 o'clock. Funeral services will be in the Ayden Missionary Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. Burial will be in the Ayden cemetery.

The body will lie in state at the home from ten o'clock tomorrow morning until the funeral service.
