War-Worn GI's Will Get Relief

Troops On Korean War Front To Be Replaced By Fresh Men From U. S.

By JIM BECKER
Western Front, Korea, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Battle-worn American troops on the Korean front will be taken out of the lines and replaced by fresh soldiers from the United States, Gen. Mark M. Clark said today.
Clark, Chief of the Army Field Forces who is now touring the Korean front, said the rotation plan was "in the mill" and would be announced soon.
He said a stepped-up training program is in progress in the United States to bring relief to many veterans of the Korean war who have been overseas for a long period. He gave no details.
"Our men have their tails up and their morale is high," Clark said. Commenting on the fighting spirit of the GI's in Korea, Clark attributed it to the leadership of Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, saying: "That's what I expected from Matt. I have known him for 32 years and I knew he would instill in these men the will to fight on."
Clark visited two American divisions and a British brigade today. He stood at an allied command post 1,500 yards from the Han River and watched American artillery shell Seoul.
As he watched American shells being fired into Seoul, Clark turned to Ridgway and remarked: "Remember, Matt, when we crawled up a ridge (in Italy) to see Naples? We wanted it so bad we could taste it."

Can Verify It Doesn't Pay To Stop On Highway

Bethel, Feb. 19.—A local man will verify that it doesn't pay to stop his car on the highway to change stations on his radio dial.
Billy Lee Whitehurst, 25, did that yesterday morning on the Bethel-Tarboro highway and in doing so was struck by a taxi from the rear. The accident occurred at four o'clock and was caused mainly by heavy fog that enshrouded the highway.
Whitehurst told Patrolmen D. E. Perry he had to stop his car in order to change the radio stations because of a malfunction in the dial. The taxi, driven by John Allen Frazier of Rocky Mount, ran into the rear of his car, causing $400 damage to it and $600 to the taxi. Whitehurst suffered a cut over one eye but was released from medical care shortly afterward.
The accident occurred one mile west of here.

Gifts In Excess Of $1,000 To Be Listed In Filing

In filing the state income return the public was reminded today that all gifts in excess of $1,000 value given during 1950 must be reported by the donor in his return.
R. E. Minis, deputy collector of revenue for Pitt and Greene Counties, stated the requirement applies to all gifts whether to individuals, corporations, institutions or other donees. He stated donors who are subject to this levy should obtain forms for making returns and file reports for all such gifts or any gifts unreported since the law came into effect in 1939.
Prescribed forms for use of donors may be obtained from the local deputy revenue office in the courthouse. Deadline for filing is March 15.

Attlee's Socialist Government Has Narrowly Squeaked Through A Steady Series Of Confidence Tests Under Winston Churchill's Guidance; More Coming

By DeWITT MacKENZIE
Four times this month British Prime Minister Attlee's Socialist Government has avoided, by a slim majority, a parliamentary defeat which would have forced its resignation.
Naturally Mr. Attlee is glad his regime still lives—but he hardly can be happy. His position is too precarious to permit of satisfaction in face of the blistering offensive being led by wartime Prime Minister Churchill, leader of the Conservative Party.
Underlying this touch-and-go conflict in Commons, in the view of many British political observers, is lack of public confidence in government policies. These experts go even further and say that if there were a new general election now the Conservative Party would win.
Why? Well, for one thing it would be surprising if Mr. Attlee, as skipper of Britain's first outright Socialist regime, had run into some very tough luck. Like a lot of other countries, Britain has been hard hit economically by

Truman And Lawmakers Confer On Crisis Resulting From Labor Dispute In Mobilization Plans

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—President Truman talked over with congressional leaders today the crisis growing out of the dispute between his mobilization planners and labor union leaders.
House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) told reporters after the White House meeting the controversy was discussed "in a general way." He added that he imagines Mr. Truman is keeping in close touch with Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson on the matter.
Mr. Truman may have to step in to mediate the wrangle which threatens to snarl the nation's defense program. Rayburn reported, however, that nothing was said at today's meeting about any conference between the President and the labor union chiefs.

Organized labor's support of the present program—with possible political significance as well—was in the balance. A meeting of the major labor groups—the AFL, CIO and railroad unions—cooperating as the United Labor Policy Committee (ULPC) was set for this afternoon.
The President had not invited the labor chiefs to the White House, but AFL President William Green said the ULPC might decide to go to Mr. Truman with the problem after its session, if he did not invite them first.
There was strong sentiment among the ULPC members, representing nearly all of the 16,000,000 workers in labor unions except John L. Lewis' miners and four railroad unions, to ditch the whole administration program.

That could lead to widespread striking and disruption of defense planning.
An apparent minority of the labor committee prevailed at a meeting Friday, and the unions were persuaded to wait until today before deciding the next move beyond pulling the three labor members off the Wage Stabilization Board. That came as a result of the 10 per cent wage increase formula voted by the industry and public members of the board Thursday night. The labor members had wanted 12 per cent, without the strings which were attached to the 10 per cent ceiling.
The board's make-up is in question as a result of the labor bolt. It could become a stabilization board of only public members.

Author-Traveler To Address Club

ROBERT KAZMAYER

Executive Club Meeting Slated For Saturday Night

The second Executive Club meeting of the year will be held at the East Carolina dining hall Saturday night at seven o'clock.
Speaker for the meeting will be Robert Kazmayer, author, traveler and lecturer who will speak on the subject "Uncle Sam At Home and Abroad." N. C. Brooks, secretary of the Greenville club, stated today the program will be the most entertaining of all meetings held to date.
Kazmayer's views on world events and their significance for the United States in the post-war period are backed by wide travels in recent years in the Far East, Europe, and Russia. He is author of "Things to Watch and Watch For," a business-man's news letter, and although he is still a young man he has gained a national reputation as a speaker and writer on the problems, opportunities and duties which confront the United States today.
Brooks today urged all club members to notify him by Wednesday whether or not they plan to attend the Saturday banquet. He stated the college authorities have to know by that time how many to arrange for due to students leaving school for end-of-term vacations.
Kazmayer has recently completed a world-wide tour, gathering facts for his news letter. The trip was one of 12 that have carried him to many capitals in Europe, South America and the Far East. Drawing information from his trips has enabled him to lecture to nearly 1,200 audiences in the United States, Canada and Mexico.
In addition to his current news letter, he is author of "Travel Today and Out of the Clouds," a courthouse. Deadline for filing is March 15.

Limit Sought On Taxing Of Liquor

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—House tax writers sought advice today on how a big boost in liquor taxes can be put into effect without touching off an era of bootlegging and rum-running.
Some members of the House Ways and Means Committee have said they fear a widespread increase in illicit liquor-making and sales if Secretary of the Treasury Snyder's tax plans are adopted.
"Cheaper liquor taxes may very likely make collections much more difficult to enforce," Doughton said. "I think it will depend on how closely we can keep after the moonshiners. It may be that we will have to have a great many more enforcement officers."
Snyder has proposed boosting the tax on whiskey from $9 to $12 a gallon, on beer from $8 to $12 a barrel, and various increases for types of wines. The Secretary estimated the added levies would raise $710,000,000 toward the Administration's $1,500,000,000 tax goal.
Rep. Dingell (D-Mich.) is among committee members feeling that higher liquor taxes will encourage moonshiners, bootleggers and smugglers—on the theory tax evasions become all the more lucrative.

Diplomats Think Stalin Blast To Backfire On Him

Three-Way Reversal Anticipated By State Department For Red Premier

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Diplomatic officials predicted today that Premier Stalin's blast at the United Nations and the free world generally will backfire in three ways.
These authorities speculated that it may have these effects:
1. To tighten up, rather than divide, the West in its determination to build military strength against Soviet expansion because, despite his avowals of seeking peace, the overall tone of what Stalin said was tough and uncompromising.
The first concrete reaction along this line is expected to be quick Western agreement on a note to Moscow calling on the Russians to say if they are willing to hold Big Four talks on the real causes of world tension.
2. Inside Russia where Stalin's words are universally read, reread and debated for months or years, his descriptions of the array of nations against the communist bloc—though not so intended—may give the Russian people a new idea of what they are up against.
The State Department's reply Saturday night, mildly denouncing the Stalin comments as "misstatement," expressed hope that Stalin's attack on the United Nations and all U. S. members who voted against the communists in Korea "will awaken the Soviet people to the dangerous road down which they are being led."
3. Stalin's personal prestige has now become involved in Russia's diplomatic and propaganda battle more directly than ever before. Previously he had held aloof from the East-West conflict in most of his public pronouncements.
The State Department opened an attack on this point last night. Its "Voice of America" began telling the world Stalin had taken over from "puppets and stooges" the task of propagandizing the world with "fake charges and claims."
The "Voice" broadcast added that Stalin "has now put himself on record and on trial before the world by lending his own name to the Soviet deception."

Farmville Fails To Make Polio Goal

Farmville, Feb. 19.—Final reports from the Farmville March of Dimes Drive, reveal that the drive failed to make its assigned goal by the sum of $50, Chairman Sam D. Bundy said today.
A total of $145,000 has been collected as of the last official report, but contributions are still being accepted, and the goal may yet be reached, Bundy stated.
Last year the town of Farmville raised over $1500 for the Pitt County March of Dimes drive.

Gov't Revises Copper Controls

Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The government today lifted its ban on the use of copper for water systems in homes after March 1.
At the same time it banned or limited the use of copper after April 1 in more than 50 other products—among them coffee makers, home and farm freezers, waffle irons, and refrigeration and air conditioning equipment.

Plan Court Test Of Georgia Law

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 19.—(AP)—The National Association for Advancement of Colored People plans a court test of a new Georgia segregation law.
A. T. Walden, Atlanta attorney and member of the NAACP legal staff, said last night the organization works "for a realization of a true Democracy through the courts X X X."
The law, enacted by the 1951 Georgia General Assembly, requires halting of appropriations to a school for white students if a Negro is admitted, even if by court order.

Extra Pickets In Textile Walkout

Boston, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Picket reinforcements were ordered out today as a strike of 70,000 CIO local and worsted workers went into its fourth day to enforce a demand for a 15-cent an hour pay boost.

Estimated Tax For '51

March 15 is Also Deadline For Certain Group To File A Report Giving Their Estimated Income For 1951 And Payment Of Income Tax For Year; Review

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—(That payment will be in four quarterly installments. The first is due by March 15, when you file the estimated return. The next three are due June 15, Sept. 15 and the last on Jan. 15, 1952.)
This year Congress is expected to increase everyone's taxes and this may cause, when the increase finally is passed into law, some changes in the size of your estimated tax or the payments you have to make.
But that's months away and it's a bridge you can cross when you come to it. Meanwhile, if you're one of those required to file an estimated tax return for March 15 and make the first payment on it, it's sensible to go ahead and do that.
You shouldn't have any trouble figuring out pretty quickly whether you're in the "estimated" group. You know how much tax—if any—is being withheld from you now, figure out what your income for 1951 will be.
Then figure what the full tax would be for the year.

Rail Union Fined In Contempt Case

BRT Pleads Guilty To Contempt Of Court In 'Sick' Strike; Fined $75,000 By Federal Judge In Washington
Washington, Feb. 19.—(AP)—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen pleaded guilty to contempt of court today in the recent "sick" strike in railroads and was fined $75,000.
Federal Judge Edward A. Tamm ordered the fine in U. S. District Court here immediately after the surprise plea.
He said he was fining the union $50,000 for criminal contempt as a "punitive" penalty for the strike which occurred despite Army operation of the railroads.
The other $25,000 for civil contempt was intended to compensate the government for the cost of bringing the legal proceedings against the union.
Judge Tamm said it would require "a firm of accountants working for years" to determine the actual damage suffered by the public in delayed service, missed connections or the blocking of shipments of munitions and supplies to Korea.
The union already had drawn a $25,000 fine in Chicago for the stoppage there.

Two Accidents In Farmville Area

Farmville, Feb. 19.—Two highway accidents in the Farmville area over the past weekend placed one man in the hospital with injuries and resulted in heavy property damage to motor vehicles involved.
Patrolman Ernest Guthrie of Farmville listed John Horne, Negro, of Route 3, Farmville, as the injured person. Guthrie stated that Horne was injured when his automobile which he was driving, was struck by a tractor and trailer oil tanker which jackknifed as the driver lost control.
The driver of the oil tanker was listed as George Franklin Lewis of Morehead City. The driver stated that he lost control of his truck during a rain storm.
Horne suffered a broken left arm and a crushed chest. He was taken to a Wilson hospital. The accident occurred just east of the Farmville city limits on highway U. S. 264, around 11:45 a.m. Saturday. No charges were placed against the drivers.

One Man Hospitalized When Car Hit By Oil Tanker In Rain

A car operated by Dalton Earl Russell, 18, Route 1, Fountain, heard west on highway 222, ran into the rear of a car parked on the road preparing to make a left hand turn.
Guthrie stated that the Russell car did not stop because the driver was meeting another car.
Damage to both cars was placed at several hundred dollars by the Farmville officer.
No one was injured, but investigation of the accident is still under way.

Rail Crisis Now Facing Britons

London, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Fifty million Britons, already shivering through a winter of too little coal and not enough meat, are now facing the new crisis of a threatened national railway strike.
The rail walkout began shortly after a midnight in Manchester, where 3,500 freight handlers stopped work in protest against a proposed five per cent wage increase they consider too small. Other rail unions made plans to join them.

Allied Lines Jammed Solidly Up To South Bank Of Han River; Chinese Defeated, But Have Strong Force In North Korea; Parallel 38 Decision Is 'Next'

Tokyo, Feb. 19.—(AP)—Counter-attacking Americans smashed four miles into the heart of a Korean Red stronghold in east-central Korea today. Hundreds of Communists were killed.
On the central and western fronts, the badly mauled Chinese withdrew from the battlelines.
U.N. troops established a small bridgehead on the north bank of the Han River five miles east of Seoul but were driven back by Red mortar and machinegun fire.
The allies advanced all along the western front, as much as four miles in some areas. Their lines were jammed solidly up to the south bank of the Han near the ruins of the Korean capital.
Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said his allied forces had won a decisive victory on these fronts. But he said the Chinese Reds have successfully massed troops to prevent a breakthrough allied crossing north of parallel 38 if the Reds commit them.
This action covered a two and one-half mile front about six miles north of Choson. By nightfall the doughboys had captured the mountains town of Kumna and on the Reds from three hills.
Swinton said a furious battle in progress for a fourth day's main action, he fought in a huge natural crater ringed by pine-covered hills.
An estimated 3,000 Reds had made light attacks in Sunday, but these were repulsed.
It was quiet between the front and the west coast. The Reds pulled back along the 70-mile front falling—as tremendous—to crack the allied line in a fit drive.
Ridgway credited a magnificent stand by American and Free forces at Chipping with smothering the Red drive Thursday. He said the Chinese were so hard hit that his patrols have been unable to make contact for 36 hours.
Ridgway, commander of the Eighth Army, told a news conference that although the Chinese have been beaten south of parallel 38 they have enough massed manpower to prevent an allied crossing of the old north-south boundary.
"I have not given the 38th parallel a thought," said Ridgway. "As far as I am concerned it has no significance."
Ridgway said the Chinese had five armies on the line when they began their central front attack last week after a limited allied offensive carried from Suwon to the gates of Seoul, former South Korean capital.
"Whenever they attacked on a 20 mile front they had the potential of a powerful attack," Ridgway said. "The attack could have been sustained for a long time."
But the Reds lost thousands of men daily, particularly around Chipping, 20 miles northwest of Wonju. Some of the Reds were carrying only primitive weapons.

Early American Gardens Featured At Garden Club

At the February meeting of the Greenville Garden Club on Friday afternoon at the clubhouse, Mrs. J.H.B. Moore gave an interesting and informative talk on "Early American Garden Traditions," with particular emphasis on the gardens of Pitt County and North Carolina.

"In the story of creation from Genesis," began Mrs. Moore, "after God had created the earth and all the things in it, He created man and put him in a garden. Therefore from the beginning of mankind we have had gardens."

Mrs. Moore briefly sketched the earliest attempts at gardening and stated that women the first gardeners, planted primarily to provide food for the family. It was later that the food gardens were supplemented by gardens for beauty—after people began to build permanent homes, domesticate animals, and live in settled communities.

In the colonial gardens of America, she stated, after provisions for food in vegetable gardens, the colonists began to plant shrubs and flowers reminiscent of their homes in the Old Country. "It was the beginning of the 18th century before we find many of the colonists turning their attention to pleasure gardens," she said.

Mrs. Moore described many of the lovely colonial gardens and spoke of the botanical experiments which were developed by many gardeners in the colonies. She listed particularly the lovely places developed along the tidelands of North Carolina and Virginia and spoke in glowing terms of some of the elaborate plantation gardens of the Cape Fear section and in South Carolina.

She described in detail three of the most lovely colonial gardens in Pitt County, sketching their arrangements and listing the shrubs and plants which distinguished each place. These places were the Harding garden, a small front yard country garden; the Fleming garden, a larger town garden; and the Grimes estate, an example of a plantation garden.

In summing up her talk, Mrs. Moore raised the question, "Why has America invented its own style in gardens?" The auto has changed our living habits. Twenty-five years ago we abandoned our gardens for a Sunday drive; today we seek refuge from bumper-to-bumper traffic. So we convert our own backyards into comfortable areas for relaxing, eating and entertaining. God grant that we may plan well and that as we relax and commune with our family and our Creator in the safety of our gardens, we may help develop a sane, calm, determined but courageous leadership which this troubled world so much demands.

Mrs. W. J. Stell, Garden Club president, presided over the business meeting. She emphasized attendance at a Garden Clinic to be held in Kinston on March 1, at which time Dorothy Biddle will be the instructor.

A nominating committee was appointed by the president, composed of Mrs. B. McK. Johnson, chairman, Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. M. L. Wright.

Mrs. Ed Batchelor announced dates for the Southeastern District Garden Tour to be taken to Bel-Air, Florida, from March 26-April 5.

Mrs. R. E. Hardaway invited guests to a tea table arranged with daffodils and narcissi and yellow candles for the refreshment hour. Ice cream in meringue shells with nuts and coffee was served by Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. L. B. Garris. Assisting hostesses were Mesdames T. T. Hollingsworth, C. C. Hilton, R. C. Deal, F. J. What value would you place on your telephone?

What value would you put on your telephone if you were to name your own price? What value would you place on those errands your telephone runs all over town, in good weather and bad? What is it worth to chat with friends and relatives whenever you please . . . or to make a date for bridge or golf?

What value would you put on that hurry-up call to the family doctor . . . or on those important business calls you sometimes receive at home? What's the price tag on a familiar voice wishing you a heart-warming "Happy Birthday."

Probably you'd find it almost impossible to estimate the full value of constant dependable telephone service. When you think how much it does for you compared to what you pay, telephone service stands out as one of today's real bargains.

THE PENALTY BOX

At a hockey game the other day I was interested to observe the important place that the penalty box plays in the game. If a player violates any rule, the referee opens a gate and, after calling to the offending player, vigorously points to the penalty box and tells him to go in and sit down. There he has to remain for some minutes, and during that time his team is without his support.

Have you ever sat in the penalty box? I have, lots of times; not in a hockey game but in the game of life. There that grim umpire called Conscience relegates us frequently. And as we sit there we ponder, do we not, how foolish we have been, because we said a certain thing or did a certain thing or entertained a certain attitude. We thought we could break the rules in the game of life and get away with it, but the umpire caught us up. And once we have a foul called on us, there is little we can do but to sit it out in the penalty box until our time comes to get back again into the game—until our anger cools or our sanity returns or our self-control manifests its superiority to our petulance.

In the penalty box we are punished for our lawlessness. The mistakes we make keep us out of the vigor and excitement of the game of life. They deprive others of the service we could render. The human race is created in such a way that when one sins, all suffer.

The bill for the ratification of the proposed constitutional amendment has been introduced in the General Assembly. The North Carolina lawmakers would be serving the interest of the people of the state if they ratify the amendment.

Don't Disparage Our Campaign In Korea

In our opinion there has been too much disparagement of the leadership and capabilities of the U. S. Eighth Army.

Each seeming reversal inspires gloom in our Monday morning quarterbacks who have taken up military analysis as their new avocation. Hope and doubts rise and fall with the fortunes of war.

There have been few decisive battles in Korea. We won them. The Pusan breakthrough and Inchon landing clinched the victory against the North Korean aggressors. The successful evacuation of the Tenth Corps at Hungnam (an heroic accomplishment if there ever was one), bolstered the retreating Eighth Army and gave it the strength to start a new advance against the Chinese, was the only other decisive action to date.

Retreat is no disgrace, and in a space so limited it is remarkable the amount of maneuvering the Eighth Army has accomplished in best coping with a foe vastly superior in numbers. The quality of leadership, planning and aggressiveness equals or surpasses the best in military history. The natural obstacles endured and overcome by the American soldier and his officers were staggering. Add to these a fanatic enemy, always outnumbering our army, and you have added cause for pride and confidence.

If there have been mistakes (and who ever heard of a war without them?) they were predominantly of a political nature. American fathers, brothers and sons doing the actual fighting in Korea made very few.

There may be other retreats required as conditions change. But the enemy will always pay dearly for this dubious satisfaction. The Eighth is going to stay in Korea until ordered out; not by Moscow or Peking, but by Lake Success or Washington.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—In the face of opposition from the Rayburn-McCormack leadership, Representative Clarence Cannon has regained one-man, dictatorial control of federal appropriations by a ruse which even his friends regard as questionable.

Chairman Cannon's inside manipulation of the Appropriations Committee's organization procedure promises as stormy a relationship between him and his group as another stubborn Missouriian—Harry S. Truman—suffers from in his contacts with Capitol Hill. Intra-committee muttering against the veteran chairman matches presidential invective at its best—or worst.

It has created bitter feeling among the three top leaders of the House—Speaker Rayburn, Majority Leader McCormack and the holder of the federal money bags. It may mean defeat for House-Senate efforts to reduce the White House budget by six or more million, for Mr. Cannon forgets his pledges of economy when his fellow-Missourian does him favors or puts the squeeze on him.

CHAGRINED—The Rayburn-McCormack movement to strip Mr. Cannon of power got off to a good start. Their operators within the committee were Representatives Albert Thomas of Texas and John E. Fogarty of Rhode Island, respectively. They rounded up eighteen of the twenty Republicans and about ten Democrats, giving them a majority of the 50-man group.

Chairman Cannon postponed the reorganization meeting several times in an attempt to twist a majority in his favor. When he could stall no longer, he agreed to take his chances, doubting that certain Democrats would dare to oppose him.

He was chagrined when they deprived him of his authority to name the key sub-committees and barred him from sitting on these sub-committees. By claiming, and using this power, he had blocked many economy moves in the past.

MANEUVER—Although this vote was supposed to be final, Chairman Cannon refused to accept it. He called a second organization meeting at which Representative W. F. Norrell of Arkansas moved to restore the power that had been taken away from the man from Missouri. Again, the Cannon faction lost out. It seemed that the question was now settled once and for all.

But Mr. Cannon still persisted. This time he resorted to a maneuver which, although it succeeded, has made him the most unpopular chairman on Capitol Hill.

Without proper notification, he called for a third reorganization meeting for a Monday morning, a day when many members from New England, New York, Pennsylvania and other nearby states do not return to Washington. Only routine matters are brought up in the House on Monday, and many men defer return from week-end visits home until late Monday evening or Tuesday.

TACTICS—As a result, about ten anti-Cannon men were not present to vote against him. His friends, of course, had been given notice of the meeting. So he won what might be called a Pyrrhic victory. He has more enemies now than he ever had before, and more bitter ones.

Moreover, his tactics have delayed by almost two months serious consideration of the biggest budget in peacetime history. It will also mean delay and doubt on tax and other important legislation, including the rearmament program.

But Cannon won!

GRIEVANCE—Organized labor has been literally stunned by recent "kicks in the face" from the once friendly Truman Administration. Several leaders used profanity in their recent meeting with Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, when he refused to delegate manpower jurisdiction to Labor Secretary Tobin. They resent Mr. Truman's reference to striking switchmen as "Russians."

Now, however, they have a fresh grievance against Secretary Dean Acheson. When they learned that a U. S. delegation planned to negotiate at Mexico City for importation of seasonal laborers in the defense effort, the AFL, the CIO and the Railway Labor Executives asked that one of their men be made a member of the American group. They got a flat "No" from Mr. Acheson.

So, they sent two representatives, a railroad and a farm executive, to observe proceedings from the sidelines. They asked that they be kept informed of the negotiations, and that their unofficial advice be taken into consideration.

Instead, the Mexican Government, with American acquiescence, forced a seven newspaper discussion of the conference for seven days. The labor emissaries, therefore, could obtain no information. And when the major Mexican unions planned to hold a welcoming mass meeting for the two outside-looking-in Americans, the government arrested the leaders and forced them to call off the welcome.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYNN NISBET Daily Reflector Bureau

NO GUARANTEE—Strangely enough none of the bills offered to date for state aid to municipal streets carries any guarantee or assurance that whatever solution is found will last more than two years. Despite protestations of Governor Scott, members of the senate and house, officials of the League of Municipalities and others interested in the subject that they want the issue "settled" so that it won't bob up every session of the legislature—not a suggestion has been made to tie down any of the funds beyond the biennium for which the legislation is proposed.

CONTRAST—That is not the case with nearly all the construction money and most maintenance funds for highways outside cities and towns. Proceeds of bond issues thirty years ago and thereafter for a state primary highway system were devoted solely to that purpose, and full faith and credit of the state was pledged to pay the bonds as they come due. There was written into the act authorizing the secondary road bond issue in 1949 that one cent of gasoline tax should be devoted exclusively to retirement of these bonds, and full faith and credit of the state was pledged to provide as much as might be required for bond interest and principal payments. It was further written that so long as any of the secondary road bonds remained unpaid, none of the highway funds, from whatever source derived, should be diverted to any purpose other than those for which highway revenue was being appropriated at the time the bonds were voted and issued.

That clause tied down the money so tight it is being used now as an argument that increasing allocations for roads inside towns would depreciate the bonds. The same people argue, however, that to increase amounts spent on primary highways would not have the same effect. Regardless of arguments for or against any method, fact is none yet proposed legally obligates the state after another general assembly convenes.

MORAL—There is recognized a moral obligation upon succeeding legislatures, and Governor Scott told his press conference Friday afternoon that while there is no written guarantee he felt sure future assemblies would honor commitments made if this session provides enough money to do the job by levying new taxes. He indicated he wasn't sure whether they were not protected by additional tax levies. That no general assembly can bind its successors by statutory enactment is well known. The "permanent" revenue act of 1938 has been amended at every session since. The permanent improvements bills of 1947 were changed in 1949 and the 1951 session now has a special committee studying how other changes, adjustments, increases and decreases can be made. The constitution prohibits monkeying with sinking funds for bond retirement, but not with current appropriations. Any of the bills introduced to date could be repealed next session. The executive budget act empowers the governor, when necessity arises, to reduce appropriations.

prations when the general assembly is not in session. In view of these facts, some of those concerned with "settling" the street aid problem would like to see written guarantees comparable to those safeguarding primary and secondary road funds.

VACANCIES—Further effort will be made to provide for filling vacancies in the general assembly by some method less cumbersome than a special election. The 1951 senate has only 49 instead of 50 members because of the death of Senator-elect W. B. Reeves of Ashe county after the assembly convened, but before he could take his seat. A special election ordered for the 29th district to be held on February 16 was called off, because of cost, trouble and the fact that the man elected could not take his seat until near the end of the session. Admittedly, there was legal or constitutional authority for canceling the election but Democratic and Republican leaders in the district agreed upon the request and nobody challenged it.

PROPOSAL—A bill now in preparation, similar to one given an unfavorable report by a senate committee earlier, would submit to the people a constitutional amendment providing for appointment by the governor to fill the vacancy, upon nomination of the executive committee of the party to which the deceased or disqualified member had belonged. Numerous objections have been raised, least of which may be that the proposal writes into the constitution recognition of political parties.

The Voice Of The People

What About Tomorrow?
By R. W. Wechter

It seems to me that we are likely to have an explosion in race relationships at any time. We seem to be sitting on a powder keg waiting for a spark to set off the greatest tragedy our nation has ever known.

Now I have no crystal ball to help me foresee the future or coming events but base my statements on personal observations made over a number of years.

It seems to me that tensions mount between people until the situation becomes almost unbearable and then an eruption takes place. As a boy I lived in the Dakotas and we had to contend with the Wobblies. These men were members of the International Workers of the World. Today they probably would be branded as communists. These people attempted to control the labor situation in the western states. Some workers who would not join their organization were killed. Sabotage took place when an employer refused to hire members of that organization. Finally the tension got so bad that fights broke out all over and the various states had to call out the National Guard to protect property.

Later on we had bread lines and the veterans march to the capitol of the nation. This was broken up by order of President Hoover who used the army to disperse the mob. There have been other demonstrations through the years. What worries me now is the unrest and the smoldering looks I see passing between the white and colored races. This is not something new. We have had lynchings and demonstrations for many years. To let things go on as they have been, the negro today is not satisfied. He wants equality with the white man. There are elements in our country who are willing to grant him equality on a limited basis. This is the case in most of the southern states. For example, in North Carolina we have two systems of education. One for the white children and one for the colored children. The facilities are supposed to be equal and in some cases they are, in others there is definitely a discrepancy in favor of the white race.

We probably could solve this problem without too much trouble if time were allowed to produce the solution. I fear that there are elements at work who for selfish reasons do not want to see the problem solved in that manner. I refer to the fact that the Communists in the United States have been at work among the colored race and among other groups of so-called underprivileged peoples. Last year in New York City the Federal Government placed on trial a number of communists. I noted among them a large proportion of Jews and colored people. I have been told that the Communists have been at work in the Southern States spreading the gospel of communism to the illiterate colored race.

Just recently, the Chief of Police in Greenville, N. C., asked for a law to stop the importation of tear gas by private individuals. I have wondered why law abiding citizens would want or need tear gas and "can't" see that they have use for it. Therefore it must mean that someone is stocking it for use at some future period. Certainly such items should be under government control.

I favor registration of all firearms. That will not hurt anyone nor deprive anyone of their constitutional right to possess arms. It will give the Government definite knowledge which probably would be useful in time of trouble.

As I see the picture today, we are sitting on a potential powder keg which can be exploded by those who wish to exploit the feelings of the underprivileged peoples. What about tomorrow? I wish I knew the answer to that question.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

Calls for Individualism
(Hertford County Herald)

Hertford Countians heard a call for self reliance and individualism from two different sources in opposite ends of the State this week.

Farm Bureau delegates in Asheville were told to stop being critical every time something did not go to suit the farm block. Criticism of the "growing American tendency to depend on the government" was made and farmers were asked to work for a solution of their problems through their own organizations.

These remarks came from Mrs. Charles W. Sewell, administrative director of Associated Women of the American Farm Bureau.

Last Tuesday night a group of Asheville businessmen heard Duane Strawbridge of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce warn several times of the encroachment of socialism and the restriction of individual rights through governmental power and agencies.

Both of these speakers could have summed up their remarks with the short and to the point theme that... loss of our individual rights and freedoms, if it does come, will come gradually and as we are willing to surrender them. We shall be willing to surrender them by our failure to live up to individual responsibilities required of a Democracy.

Thus without a lot of "hollering" and talking we—the people of America—can best protect our fight against socialism by living up to the responsibilities that our Democracy demands.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

Barter is playing a bigger role in business these days. It has been increasingly common ever since the Korea trouble first caused shortages and it is being made more common by price ceilings.

Barter has always been fairly common among steel users. When one manufacturer finds he has an excess of one type of steel and can't readily find another type in the market, it's a normal practice to try a trade with other steel users.

Now it is spreading among users of other products, among wholesalers and among the retail and service trades. Firms with an extra supply of one kind of chemical are finding that they can get other chemicals quicker by making a swap. Builders, always frequent borrowers among themselves, are turning more to trades. An unneeded keg of nails can often be swapped with another builder for needed hardware. Among other suppliers, a case of fluorescent lamps may be traded for a dozen toasters, a gross of grommets for a dozen neppherans.

The reasons for the rise in bartering are these:

Some materials and supplies are so short that they are difficult to obtain unless the user can find someone with an excess.

Because of delays in filling orders these days, a swap may be the only means of obtaining an immediate delivery.

Swapping avoids price ceiling trouble, since goods may be swapped on a basis of ceiling or pre-ceiling values.

A Department of Commerce executive recently suggested, unofficially, that there was a need of setting up exchanges for trading scarce goods for needed scarce goods. The National Better Business Bureau is working out a swap plan with the Radio-Television Manufacturers Association whereby local television and radio-repair men will exchange scarce parts to keep sets working. A meeting to work out details will be held in Chicago February 27.

There is need for similar plans in many other fields. Local, regional and national trade associations, chambers of commerce and boards of trade, and trade publications may do both business and the public a service by fostering swap plans.

TAX INVENTIONS
NEED NO PATENTS

The inventory of tax-payers is boundless, the Tax Foundation believes. Texas and Kentucky levy a tax on bank night awards; Florida and Vermont tax sales and receipts from copyrighted music and Nebraska on copyrighted compositions. South Dakota has a "delinquent hall insurance" tax, whatever that is. Georgia levies a mattress inspection tax. Idaho has a tax on punch boards and Arkansas on pool tables. Kansas has a quail tax stamp and Michigan a tax on sausage manufacturers. Maine has a blueberry tax and Idaho a "beans excise tax."

NO BRIGHT SPOTS IN CONTAINER SCENE

The container situation is serious, according to the National Association of Purchasing Agents. Lee R. Foraker, chairman of its container committee, reports, in part:

"Plastics involved in packing are in short supply... Glass container stocks in producers hands are very low... Certain widths and weights of kraft are in exceptionally short supply... Textile bags made of burlap or cotton have never been more difficult to purchase... Steel shipping drums, 28 gauge and heavier, are in extremely critical short supply, with no sheet steel allocation made by Washington for the drum industry... Metal can demand is very strong and supplies are being allocated for shipment to contract customers."

CONVENTION BUREAUS SEE CLOUDY FUTURE

Convention bureaus in many cities are worried. Shortages of goods will make some conventions less attractive to business delegates, and the possibility of a government campaign to discourage unnecessary travel—still far in the future—will be a worse blow.

On top of that, some companies are experimenting with sales conventions held over closed television circuits.

NEW AND HOT SUPPLIES: A long, new line of supplies made of Uralite for textile mills has been announced by U. S. Rubber Co. Rockfeller Center, New York 20. The material is said to combine the hardness of plastics with the toughness of rubber, making it desirable for rollers, tubes, rolls, belts, butts, cots.

COFFEE: A new high-vacuum process for concentrated coffee produce tiny, instantly soluble crystals. (It is made by Holiday Brands, Inc., Walpole, Mass.)

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—The United Nations forces in Korea have one major consolation—they haven't made as many mistakes as the enemy.

And if the Russian High Command provided the generalship for the North Koreans, Joe Stalin may be considering retiring a few of his field marshals with the Order of the Leather Medal.

A look at the boxscore shows they made the errors that could have given them a first inning victory.

What were the major military mistakes of the war? Historians may later find some that don't show now, but enough are already apparent to show that Napoleon wasn't the only soldier who had his bad moments.

Let's take our own bobbles first. Many professional soldiers say—and they may be wrong—these were our two greatest military mistakes:

1. Getting into the fight in the first place.
2. The retention by Gen. MacArthur of a divided command in the field after the landing at Inchon instead of putting all allied forces in Korea under the American Eighth Army.

American career soldiers felt at the time—last June—it was unwise to commit ground forces in Korea because they knew they had too few troops for the task. Another objection they raised was the fact the country is a peninsula. Professional soldiers traditionally dislike fighting wars on peninsulas, because they normally limit maneuverability.

But while entrance into the war was a military liability, United Nations diplomats felt it was a political necessity. Their argument: The spread of communism by force in Asia had to be stopped by force somewhere, and Korea was the place to begin.

Now, as to the second "mistake." After the brilliant landing of the Tenth Corps behind the enemy lines at Inchon last September, the Eighth Army broke through the Reds from the south and linked up with it.

Ordinarily, in such a situation, the Corps would have immediately come under command of the Army leader—the Lieut. en. Walton H. Walker. It didn't. Instead, it was left to the command of the Tenth Corps commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Enemy magnetic mines in the harbor kept the Corps floating at sea for five days. South Korean troops who had meanwhile fringed up on land and seized Wonsan were waiting to welcome the red-faced Marines when they landed.

The Eighth Army marched up the west coast under The command. The Tenth Corps remained a separate force as it marched up the east coast. Liaison between them was poor. And down the corridor between them the Chinese filtered. Some MacArthur adherents deny that his divided field command was wrong. But it is significant that there is only a single command now—and the Tenth Corps is under Eighth Army commander Matthew B. Ridgway.

What about the North Korean mistakes? They were far more expensive. Here are only a few of many:

1. Invading South Korea at all. The price: almost total destruction of an army of 300,000 men it had taken North Korea five

Washington Letter

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
(For Jane Eads)

Washington—Although the Senate often is called the world's most exclusive club, Tom, Dick and Harry are members.

Veteran Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.) uses the short form, but newcomer Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.) uses the full handle. Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) and freshman Sen. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.) are the "Dicks" and there are Senators Harry Flood Byrd (D-Va.) and Harry F. Cain (R-Wash.).

Most senators enjoy calling each other by their first names, but this can cause some confusion. There are no fewer than seven Johns and five different Bills. There are trios of Eds, Jims and Bobs.

The list of Johns includes Senators Bricker (R-Ohio), Butler (R-Md.), McClellan (D-Ark.), Pastore (D-R.I.), Sparkman (D-Ala.), Stennis (D-Miss.) and Williams (R-Del.). Bills are Benton (D-Conn.), Fulbright (D-Ark.), Jenner (R-Ind.), Knowland (R-Cal.) and Langer (R-ND).

Eds: Johnson (D-Colo.), Martin (R-Pa.) and Thyne (R-Minn.). Jims: Kim (R-Mo.), Murray (D-Mont.) and freshman Duff (R-Pa.). Bobs: Hendrickson (R-N.J.), Kerr (D-Okla.) and Taft (R-Ohio).

Sen. Charles W. Tobey (R-NH) is the only "Charlie" listed. "Pat and Mike" are represented by veteran Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), who lists it that way, and new Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.), who changed his name to include the "Mike."

Senators with the same last name have more trouble than those with the same first name. For many years Senators Elbert Thomas (D-Okla.) and Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) were confused by the public.

The last election added another Smith to put five in the Senate. The newcomer is A. Willis Smith (D-NC), who joined H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) and Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me.), only woman senator.

Another trio who confuse mailmen and reporters are: Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina, all Democrats.

ACE District Meeting Scheduled Here March 3

The Northeastern District of the Association for Childhood Education will hold a conference at East Carolina Teachers College Saturday, March 3. Members of the organization, teachers in the district, parents, and others interested in childhood education are invited to attend. Millie Moore of Rocky Mount is district director.

The program announced for the day includes a number of reports and addresses by speakers prominent in educational work; a luncheon sponsored by the Greenville Branch of the ACE; and a panel which will occupy the afternoon hours.

The program for the morning, which will begin at 10:30 in the Flanagan auditorium, will stress national aspects of the education of children. President John D. Messick of East Carolina will welcome those attending the conference. J. E. Miller of the State Department of Public Instruction, Raleigh, and Willaway Benbow, North Carolina teaching fellow, ACE Headquarters, Washington, D. C., will be the principal speakers.

The luncheon will follow the morning session and will take place in the cafeteria of the campus Training School. The Greenville Branch of the ACE, of which Elizabeth Hyman is president, will sponsor this meeting and has arranged the program for the occasion. Mrs. Ellen Carroll of the Training School faculty will serve as program leader.

Frank G. Fuller, guidance counselor at East Carolina, will lead a panel on "How We Can Meet the Emotional Needs of Today's Children," which is scheduled for 2:30 in the afternoon in the Flanagan auditorium. The discussion will deal with the roles of the home, the church, the school, and the community in influencing the lives of children. Speakers will include Mrs. Theodore H. Eaton of Greenville; the Rev. Grey Temple of the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rocky Mount; Frances Lacy, supervisor of city schools, Raleigh; and Dr. Malene Irons, Greenville pediatrician.

Dr. Edward J. Carter, chairman of the department of education at East Carolina, will conclude the day's program by summarizing the activities and discussions of the conference.

Those who wish to attend the luncheon are asked to make reservations with Miss Elizabeth Hyman, East Carolina Teachers College, by Monday, February 26.

Pirates Score 106 Points In Defeating Old Rivals For Second Time This Season

The East Carolina Pirates ran roughshod over their old rivals, Atlantic Christian College, Saturday night, handing the Christians one of their worst lickings of the year, 106 to 70.

In retaining their mastery over the Bulldogs, the local collegians ran up their biggest score of the season, and hit the century mark for the first time in many a day. It was the second time this year that a North State Conference team has scored over 100 points against the Christians. The other team to do it was High Point. They beat the Bulldogs 119 to 70.

Although the Pirates held a 15 point lead at halftime, the first half was an even contest between the two bitter rivals. The Bulldogs played a good brand of ball throughout most of the first half and it had the atmosphere of any contest between the two neighboring schools. The Portermen pulled away in the closing minutes, and led at halftime, 47 to 32.

Most of the Pirate team got into the scoring act, but again it was Sonny Russell that held the scoring spotlight when the smoke settled. The all-conference forward led the Pirate scoring with 26 points. Five other Pirates hit in the double figures, as they had one of their best nights of the season. Hodges collected 18, Toddy Fennell hit for 15, Charlie Huffman for 12, Lou Collier for 11, and Postas added 14 to his total for the year. All of the Pirate reserves saw action and turned in a good performance. Richard Blake played a good floor game and contributed five points to the Pirate cause.

Gilbert Ferrell, freshman guard, led the Bulldog scoring with 21 points, followed by Jack Allbrook who bucketed 20.

In defeating the Bulldogs for the second time this season, the Pirates retain possession of the famous Bohonkus bucket that is at stake

Fred Cone Winner Of Teague Award

Clemson Football Star Chosen For Leading Tigers To Two Undeclared Seasons And Two Bowl Victories

Charlotte, Feb. 19—(AP)—Fred Cone, Clemson football star, has been chosen winner of the annual Lewis E. Teague Memorial Award as the outstanding male amateur athlete of the Carolinas for 1950.

The winner of the Teague Award for women will be announced today. Both will get the trophies at a banquet in Charlotte next Monday. Sportswriters chose Cone over 16 other nominees representing every major sport.

He is a 24-year old senior from Coosada, Ala., who helped lead the Tigers to undefeated campaigns in 1948 and 1950. Coach Frank Howard lovingly calls the 195-pound star "my old horse," and says he is "the best fullback I have ever seen anywhere." As a sophomore, he scored two touchdowns in Clemson's Gator Bowl victory over Missouri in 1949. Last New Year's Day he closed his career in glory as Clemson defeated Miami 15-14 in the Orange Bowl. Cone scored the first Tiger touchdown and hit the Hurricane line for 93 yards in 31 tries. His teammates call him "Pineapple," perhaps because he explodes like a racketeer's bomb. Pretty good for a fellow who never played football before coming to Clemson.

Cone won over these other nominees: Sammy Ranzino, Billy Cox, Steve Wadiak, Irv Holdash, Dick Dickey, Corren (Ceep) Youmans, Tom Powers, Ray Mathews, Jimmy Thomas, Bobby Sisk, Bill Albans, Oliver (Bo) Roddey, Steve Gabriel, Jerry Deluca, Charlie Teague and Arnold Palmer.

The awards are in memory of Judge Lewis E. Teague of High Point, National AAU delegate at large and until his death an active figure in the Carolinas A.A.U.

Midgets Beat Kinston For 6th Win Of Season

Greenville's Midgets, coached by Bill Kittrell, posted their sixth win of the season Saturday night by handing the highly regarded Kinston midgets a 52-40 defeat on the locals home court.

It was the battle of the year for both teams, as neither had suffered before but one loss this season. Both teams had been defeated earlier by the strong Raleigh Midgets.

Coach Kittrell's Mighty Mites flashed their best form against the Red Imps, jumping off to a first quarter lead, and was never headed by the scrappy Kinston five. The locals held a 33-17 lead at the half.

H. Edwards was the big gun for the locals, as he racked up 18 points to take scoring honors for the night. T. Saied was a big point maker for the Mighty Mites, hitting on 8 field goals for 16 points to share scoring honors with Edwards. B. Howell got 8 and Sawyer 6 to round out the scoring for the local midgets.

Cranz dropped in 17 points for the Kinston five to lead them in the point making department. He was followed by Whaley who got 7.

The Mighty Mites now have a 6-1 record for the current season and have won 26 and lost 2 over the last three years.

Mexican National Open Quarrel To Come To Head

Harlingen, Tex., Feb. 19—(AP)—Principals in golf's latest controversy—the forbidden jaunt of nine players to the Mexican National Open—are converging on Houston today for the showdown.

There were indications that the Mexican Golf Association will get into the discussion. Raul Valdes, secretary of the association, was scheduled to arrive in Houston today by plane.

The Rio Grande Valley Open, "the man in the middle," closed here yesterday but it still figures in the dispute that has taken on international implications. The nine players have been fined or suspended or both but just what won't be announced until tomorrow when Lawson Little, co-chairman of the PGA Tournament Committee, arrives in Houston.

Hoosier Guard Is Deadly Shooter

Chicago—(AP)—Little Sam Miranda, Indiana's brilliant junior guard, is one of the deadliest marksmen in Big Ten basketball circles this season.

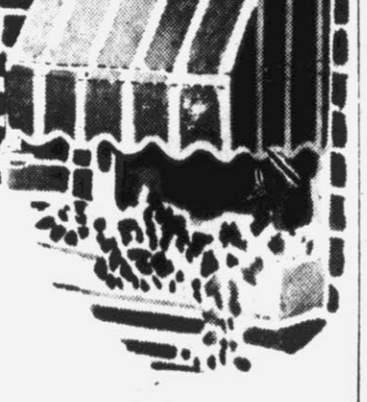

At the midseason mark Sam was hitting his field goal shots at a remarkable .438 average and also his free throws at an .875 clip.

Miranda, five-foot ten inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, comes from Collinsville, Ill. He is a phenomenal dribbler and a deadly two-hand set shot. For his first five Western Conference games, the little Hoosier averaged 11.2 points per game. He hit on 21 of 48 field goals.

Jay Handlan Sets SC Scoring Mark Against Furman

Lexington, Va., Feb. 19—(AP)—"Don't tell me he's going to have a bad night."

That was Washington and Lee basketball Coach "Scotty" Hamilton's remark here Saturday night when his ace point-maker, Jay Handlan, missed his first seven shots from the floor against Furman.

He needn't have worried.

Handlan caged his eighth attempt and went on from there to rack up 66 points, a new Southern Conference record for one game and the third highest total ever scored in a major college basketball contest.

If Handlan was surprised at the result, the rest of Lexington definitely wasn't. Lexingtonians have been waiting for three years for the 6-foot, 2-inch junior from Wheeling, W. Va., to break loose.

As a freshman—Handlan played varsity ball by virtue of his three years in the army—the flashy forward scored 370 points in 32 games, an average of 16.8 per contest. He dumped in 406 points in 20 contests last year for an average of 20.3 points per game.

Handlan this year now has scored 564 points in 22 games, an average of 25.6 per contest. He leads the Southern Conference with 464 points in 17 circuit contests, a 27.2-points-per-game average.

By halftime Saturday, Handlan had scored 49 points, passing the 47-point single-game conference record set earlier this year by Sam Ranzino, of North Carolina State.

Hamilton left him in all the way to try for the national mark of 85 points, scored in 1945 by Paul Arizin, Villanova All-American.

Despite three Furman players guarding him all the way, Handlan hit seven of 20 attempts in the second half. Added to the 23 of 34 tries he connected on after missing his first seven before intermission, the seven gave Handlan a record 66 for the night of 30 goals in 61 attempts—49 percent.

Three CCNY Stars Arrested In Basketball Betting "Fix"

New York, Feb. 19—(AP)—College basketball was rocked to its foundations today by the second big betting scandal in a month and by disclosure that "fixes" are being investigated on a nationwide scale.

After three members of City College of New York's national tournament champions and three other persons were taken into custody yesterday on bribery charges, there were these swift developments:

1. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said the U.S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee has been probing this and similar fixes in other cities. "New York is not an isolated case," he said.

2. Dr. Hugh C. Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said the matter is of "great concern" and will be taken up at a meeting of the NCAA council in Chicago March 1.

3. Ned Irish, director of Madison Square Garden, called the situation "deplorable" and added: "Gambling isn't confined to the Garden or New York City."

The three CCNY players caught in the web of the latest scandal are

Ed Roman, Ed Warner and Al Roth, stars of the amazing team that swept to the National Invitation and NCAA championships last year for basketball's first and only "grand slam."

District Attorney Frank Hogan said they admitted accepting up to $1,500 each per game to fix three games—played in the Garden. The games were with Missouri, Arizona

Musial's Salary Contract Signed

St. Louis, Feb. 19—(AP)—Outfielder Stan Musial and President Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals agreed today that Stan is going to receive a mighty fat salary this season.

But both were mum on the exact amount, which may be near $100,000. After Musial, the National League's batting champion, signed his contract yesterday, Saigh said the salary "probably is higher than what any other player in either league."

and Boston College. CCNY lost all three.

Arrested also were Harvey (Connie) Schaff, a substitute on the New York University team; Edward Gard, a Long Island University senior who played last year, and a jeweler, Salvatore Tarto Sollazzo, described by the district attorney as a gambler who inspired the scheme.

Sollazzo and Gard were accused of offering the bribes and the three CCNY players were charged with accepting them.

HADACOL Supplies Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. In Which Her System Was Deficient.

Mrs. Lottie F. Edwards, who lives on Route 1, Inverness, Miss., has two careers... she is a registered nurse and also a wife and mother of a new baby. After her baby was born, Mrs. Edwards felt run-down; she knew she had to do something to help overcome this condition so that she would feel up to her many duties.

Mrs. Edwards began taking HADACOL and says it really helped her. Mrs. Edwards was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains.

Here is what Mrs. Edwards says: "I have taken one bottle of your HADACOL and am now on my second bottle, and I can say it has really helped me. After my baby came I didn't feel like walking around. I had headaches and was very nervous, and even one bottle has helped me so much. I want to keep on taking your wonderful HADACOL. I will certainly recommend it to all patients I come in contact with. If I think HADACOL is just the formula needed for Vitamin and Mineral deficiency."

Registered nurses, in increasing numbers, are showing a keen interest in HADACOL and in the results that are being secured with this great modern formula. Requests have been received from many of these nurses for professional bottles of HADACOL and many of them indicated that they recommend the HADACOL formula to their patients. HADACOL has helped folks of all ages when their condition was due to a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, elements which are contained in HADACOL.

And suddenly... all other cars seem tame!

You can't trace the magic to any single feature... You breeze along, cradled by a Limosine Ride that's as relaxing as a lullaby—and gradually you remember you've been missing the old kick-up at railroad crossings, the jab of the front-breaks, the side-thrust of winds.

You flash a wish to the new Packard Thunderbolt engine—and to its team-mate, Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive—and the road ahead is suddenly behind you... with a silent smoothness that can't be matched.

And bear in mind: Packard precision-built quality will keep this enchantment alive for years to come. So come in—drive the greatest Packard ever built! Within ten minutes, all other cars will seem tame!

A FIEND IN NEED

By MILTON K. OZAKI

Chapter 10
Caldwell brushed back the unruly lock of hair which insisted on clinging to his forehead, cleared his desk, and went into action. He took a sheet of paper and drew a rough cross-section of the building where Lawrence Straw's body had been found, and then he filled in the names of the tenants, indicating their activity and approximate position at six o'clock the previous evening. Then he stared at it. For half an hour.

Then—as I expected he would—he began dictating a series of jobs for me:
1. See Bonquist, the janitor. Where was he and what was he doing between six and six-thirty?
2. See Mrs. Ross. Who is her physician?
3. Check on Don McGregor.
4. Verify Edelson's alibi.
5. See Elaine Ruhl and June Hanson. Why did J. H. lie?
6. Check financial condition, etc., of Dentino's night club.
7. Ascertain everything possible about Flecker.
8. Visit Straw's apartment. Get list of accounts.
9. Get medical and dab report from Phelan. Fingerprints on knife? In elevator? In any of the apartments?
10. Whom did Douglas visit? What time did they arrive? Leave?

"Begin with those, Bendy," Caldwell instructed briskly. "We'll demonstrate to Lieutenant Phelan that a modicum of intelligence is more effective than an organization of unimaginative detectives."
"Did you say we?" I asked.
"Yes, certainly, Bendy."
I looked at the list, and then I looked at Caldwell.
"Thank you," I said.
I closed my eyes, wiggled a finger, and jabbed it toward the list—then I slowly opened my eyes: Visit Straw's apartment. Pushing the list into a pocket, I boarded a State Street trolley and rode it north to Cedar Street. Then, suddenly inspired, I went into Solomon's drugstore on the corner.

vids plopped into a nearby chair and lazily watched me. I found a folder containing the duplicate copies of Straw's income tax returns, and I scanned the one for 1946. Gross income for the year —$2,315. The estimate for 1947 was higher: $2,810.
"He had to do better than that. Most of the clothes in that closet are fairly new. Each of those suits cost at least ninety bucks. That's $1,080. Rent at seventy-five a month is another $900. That's two grand for suits and rent, leaving less than twenty bucks a week to cover the rest of his expenses! Something is screwy."

Under Constant . . .

(Continued from page one) Naturally Winston Churchill has capitalized each item of public discontent. The old maestro on Feb. 1 led the charge in Commons against the government's handling of the coal situation, and the government survived a vote of no-confidence by a margin of 11. Churchill followed on Feb. 7 with an assault on steel nationalization and the government pulling through with 10 votes. Next came the ticklish subject of the meat shortage, when the government had a majority of only 8, and this was followed Feb. 15 by the vote on Churchill's charges of mismanagement of the defense program, the government winning by 21 votes. Nothing daunted, Churchill wound up last week's attack by filing another motion of censure which is scheduled for debate tomorrow. This has to do with the government's huge—but so far ill-fated—scheme for raising peanuts in Africa to get food fats. This much advertised peanut scheme already has piled up a monetary loss equivalent to $102,000,000. The government is asking parliament to write this loss off, and proposes to substitute a smaller scale peanuts project.

You can do it easily enough—but this is important—you must do it on Form 1040-ES, a special single sheet in blue ink for people filing an estimated tax. If you don't have it, get it. There'll be more about Form 1040-ES in a moment. If your income will be under $5,000, find your tax in the table on the back of form 1040-ES. PTA Valentine Social

Members of the Eppes PTA were entertained at a Valentine social last Wednesday evening. Hostesses for the occasion were members of the Hospitality and Program committee.

A revival of games and dances reminded everyone of childhood days. At the height of festivities, prizes were given to the best dancers. Mrs. Julia Barnhill and Mr. Willie J. Hester won first prize in a waltz contest. Mrs. Olga Myers and Mr. Leroy Foster won first prize in a "Jitterbug" contest. The hostesses served a delicious repast carrying out the Valentine motif. A general sense of brotherhood was felt among all present. The vice president, Mrs. Julia Barnhill, presided over the meeting. At the end of the discussion period, Mrs. Anne Davis made brief remarks. Meetings are held every second Wednesday in each month.

formula on the back of Form 1040-ES.

If you find the full tax will be withheld from you, then forget this whole business.

If you find you'll owe more tax than will be withheld from you in 1951, then you're supposed to file an estimate by March 15 and start paying the first of those four quarterly installments on the difference between the tax to be withheld and the full tax you'll owe.

Remember: You must use Form 1040-ES. It has a table and formula similar to—but not at all identical with—those you used with Form 1040 in figuring your 1950 tax.

Don't make the mistake of figuring your tax on Form 1040 and then just filling in Form 1040-ES. The figures in the table on Form 1040-ES are different from the regular Form 1040.

And the formula used with Form 1040-ES is different from that on Form 1040. In both cases—the table and the formula—on Form 1040-ES your tax will be higher than on Form 1040. Why?

Because taxes, although raised last year, were raised only on the last quarter of 1950. So your total tax this year will be a fair bit higher than your total 1950 tax. And the table and formula on Form 1040-ES were revised to take care of that boost.

The internal revenue collector has mailed a form 1040-ES to those who have been paying on their estimated tax in previous years. If you didn't get it but need it, you can get it from the collector for your district or from a bank or post office.
