Ducks In Spotlight As Homestretch Drive Begins

Coming into the home stretch, pushing for first place honors are some of the ducks and their jockeys in one of the races held last night at East Carolina Teachers College Wright auditorium, as a part of the first Greenville Duck Derby. Proceeds from the event, went to provide an elementary scholarship loan fund for college students. A large crowd was on hand to witness the event. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee).

Wage Hike Given To City Employees

Ten-Percent Across-The-Board Increase Effective Yesterday; Question Of Application To Some Workers Unanswered

A ten per cent across the board wage hike effective yesterday was announced last night for some 150 employees of the city of Greenville and the Greenville Utilities commission.

Meanwhile the question of whether the same wage increase would apply to some 30 other regular employees and 36 temporary employees of the utilities commission remained unanswered today.

The decision to grant a ten per cent wage increase to all city employees except the elective officers was made by the board of aldermen last night at their regular meeting. The action was taken following the recommendation of the finance committee that all salaries for hired employees be boosted ten per cent.

Chairman J. E. Waldrop of the finance committee told the other members of the board his committee had found "a very definite need for an increase in the pay of city employees," and he added that barring any unforeseen difficulties, the city will have enough money in its general fund to take care of the extra salaries for the remaining four months of the fiscal year.

The decision by the aldermen will cost the city of Greenville approximately $5,881 in additional salaries between now and the end of the fiscal year on July 1 for the 83 employees on the city payroll.

In the utilities division of the city's operation, the ten per cent wage hike was effective yesterday for approximately 70 regular salaried workers. General Manager Larry Brown told the aldermen last night the five-man utilities commission had agreed to grant the utilities employees a ten per cent wage increase if the other city employees were granted the increase by the aldermen.

The ten per cent increase in utilities salaries will cost the department approximately $1,450 per month in addition to the regular $11,500 monthly payroll already in effect.

Brown said this morning the commissioners in their decision to grant the ten per cent increase to the salaried employees of the commis-

Aldermen Meet For Busy Session

Many Items On Agenda Acted Upon Thursday Evening

The granting of a ten per cent wage hike for city employees highlighted the meeting of the Greenville board of aldermen last night, but appointments and routine matters were disposed of by the board.

The board approved and forwarded to Senator Paul E. Jones and Representative Sam O. Worthington a resolution asking that the possession of tear gas be prohibited in Greenville for "personal services." The resolution asked that the General Assembly pass an act prohibiting the possession of tear gas except the specified purposes.

The aldermen also approved two additions to the resolution requesting an act of the General Assembly permitting the Tar River Port Commission to issue revenue producing bonds. The resolution last night would give the commission the right to condemn property through the right of eminent domain, and authorize the commission to mortgage the physical property of the port in addition to the port's revenue as security for the issuance of revenue producing bonds.

A standard taxi fare in the city was authorized by the board after Attorney J. W. H. Roberts presented a petition from local taxi operators requesting a flat fee of 50 cents for any trip in the city. The fee would cover up to four passengers, and no additional charges would be made for above four school children in a taxi. An additional charge would be made for more than four adult passengers on a single trip.

Mayor Stafford informed the board that he has been "assured" by Senator Jones and Representative Worthington that the proposed legislation changing the city's system of voting for aldermen will be passed by the General Assembly in time to be effective for the city elections in May. The bill specifies that every voter in the city will vote for all aldermen, and that the final filing date for candidates be set for 30 days prior to the city election date.

Acting on the Mayor's recommenacted into bands of outlaws who made their own laws and carried out their own edicts, including death sentences. These were the foundation of the Mafia.

As the Mafia grew in power it spread to other countries. It was introduced into America about 1860 and developed until it produced an event which shocked the whole country.

In 1890 David Hennessy, Chief of Police in New Orleans, was murdered and legal inquiry pinned the crime on the Mafia. This killing was an act of revenge growing out of warfare between two gangs, one of which was Mafia. Stern police measures brought about revenge against Hennessy. Then, to quote the Encyclopedia Britannica:

"Eleven were indicted on suspicion of being implicated in the murder; but the jury was terrorized and acquitted six."

Duck Derby Has Large Audience

Ducks Have Their 'Day', Then Fashion Shows Took Spotlight

Sixty-nine ducks held full sway last night over an audience estimated at more than 1,500 when the Association of Childhood Education sponsored a duck race and fashion show at East Carolina's Wright auditorium.

Yesterday morning's rain indicated a good day for ducks and any other water-acustomed fowl but definitely not for the annual Spring Opening that merchants in Greenville mark each year. But although a parade held in the afternoon was successful concerning the elements, the ducks wound up in the limelight again last night.

The Lions Club entry in the Derby was Let's Roar and Jockey Ann Osborn from Salisbury, student at East Carolina, brought the mount down the stretch ahead of all other entries, and in good time, too.

Dr. Ed Carter, head of the Department of Education at the college, reported between $500 and $600 were turned over to the scholarship fund for which the Derby was sponsored. Proceeds from the admission-free event came from merchants' entry fee for their ducks. The money will be given out for loan scholarships for students interested in entering the primary and elementary education field.

About 40 models participated in the fashion show that climaxed the evening's entertainment. They modeled new spring and Easter styles being offered by 12 merchants in Greenville who sponsored the show.

The afternoon parade, which heralded the merchants' spring opening, moved from the high school down Evans Street and disbanded at Second Street. Many children participated in the parade, among them the Girl Scouts, Brownies, and Cub Scouts. Three prizes were awarded the children dressed in the most appropriate Easter costume. First prize of $5 went to Madeline Hill, 167 Chestnut Street; second prize of $3 went to Andrea Whitchard, 1607 Chestnut Street; and third prize of $2 went to Linda Phillips, 204 Manhattan Ave. Willard T. Kyzer and O. E. Dowd were judges of the parade.

N. C. Lawmakers Urge Resumption Of Cotton Trade

Raleigh, N. C., March 2—(AP)—The Senate passed a resolution today urging federal officials to take action to permit a resumption of trading in cotton.

The resolution, introduced by Sen. J. C. Eagles of Wilson, is expected to come up in the House later.

Eagles said that cotton exchanges have been closed for over a month because of confusion resulting from cotton price freeze order.

The resolution asked for an immediate removal of the "present unworkable order in order to permit the resumption of normal distribution and processing of raw cotton X X X."

The bill approved by the House Committee on Conservation and Development spells out in detail the procedure that a seven-member state Stream Sanitation Commission would follow in regulating pollution.

Industry had strongly objected to the original bill, similar to ones killed by the last three general assemblies.

State Dept. Has Little Hope For Real Peace Talks

Diplomats Convinced Paris To Be Stage For New Red Propaganda Drive

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The State Department heavily discounts chances that real "peace talks" with Russia will result from Big Four negotiations beginning in Paris Monday.

Officials here are convinced that what the Soviets want to do in Paris is set the stage for a new diplomatic and propaganda offensive against the western defense effort if and when the Big Four Foreign Ministers meet in Washington at a date not yet set.

Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, representing Secretary of State Acheson, arranged to leave here today for New York with a group of assistants and advisers. They will fly to Paris tonight.

Jessup will be American spokesman at the Paris meeting with representatives of the British, French and Russian Foreign Ministers. The Paris session is expected to last about two weeks. Its purpose is to decide on subjects and complete the arrangements for a session of the ministers themselves, probably in April.

The State Department statement yesterday cautioned the world not to expect that any meeting of the Foreign Ministers will be really productive—that it will result in the serious "peace talks" by which the western powers and the Soviet Union might end their conflict.

Noting that in agreeing to the Paris sessions the Soviet government had reaffirmed its insistence that the West is to blame for the world's troubles, the State Department said:

"The Soviet note does not suggest any real change in attitude on their part which would encourage the hope that the four ministers will be able to reach useful agreements."

Pitt Soldier Is Listed 'Missing'

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Dickerson, Route 1, were notified Wednesday by the Secretary of Defense that their son, Dallas W. Dickerson, has been missing in action in the Korean fighting since February 15.

A letter from Dickerson to his parents was written two days before he was reported missing.

The 23-year old infantry private was in the first group drafted from Pitt County. He left October 23 for Armed Forces duty and received an eight-day leave at which time he came home prior to going overseas November 9.

Dickerson was born in Martin County where the family lived for some time before moving to their present home five miles from Greenville on the Falkland highway. He attended the Falkland school before being drafted.

The Dickersons have three other sons and four daughters.

C-of-C Area Conference Opens In Greenville Today

The Chamber of Commerce's Eastern Area Conference got underway here this morning with a discussion of agricultural products for the individual chambers in the eastern part of the state.

Thomas J. Pearsall, former speaker of the House of Representatives from Rocky Mount, delivered the opening talk of the conference. In discussing the programs on agriculture the chambers can undertake, he pointed out that the chambers are not in competition with each other in the development of agriculture in the state.

"If 75 percent of the farms in North Carolina would apply the latest farm methods, the agricultural income of the farms in the state would increase 75 percent," he stated. He described North Carolina as having the best brains of any agricultural state in the nation "except for Iowa. But this beauty is we have young fellows, and in ten years we'll have the best."

Following Pearsall's talk, Lester Rose, general manager of the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce, spoke on "effective Methods of Scheduling Amounts and Collecting Dues" for the chambers of the state. Following Rose's talk, the group adjourned for luncheon at the Proctor Hotel at which time Brigadier General John T. Selden, deputy commander of the Camp Lejeune Marine Base, spoke on the military needs in Eastern North Carolina.

The schedule for the afternoon programs, held at the City Hall, was: 2 p.m.—talk by Dr. Ernest Stockton, president of Cumberland College and consultant to the Small Business Committee of Congress, on "Congressional Support of Small Business and Government Procurement"; and What Industry Wants in Eastern Carolina, by J. H. Lines, general industrial agent of the Atlantic Coastline Railroad. Following the talks a discussion period was held.

The dinner session tonight at Rappess James Barbecue House will be held at 6:30 with an address by W. Frank Taylor, present speaker of the House of Representatives. He will talk on "Our Legislative Program."

Logging Truck And Car Collide, Shambles Remain

The twisted wreckage of a log truck and automobile which were in collision on Highway N. C. 11 north of Bethel yesterday afternoon is shown above. Two men were taken to hospitals, one in a critical condition. Investigation of the accident is not complete, as the conditions of the men have made it impossible to question them, Patrolman Delton E. Perry of Bethel reported. (Photo by D. E. Perry SHP).

Crash Results In Traffic Fatality

Injured Truck Driver Succumbs In Hospital Thursday

Greenville's first traffic fatality to be recorded in more than a year was chalked up yesterday with the death of Thad (Junior) Woolard, age 24, who died in the hospital of injuries sustained earlier in the day.

As yet it was not known whether an inquest will be conducted, as Coroner Griffin H. Rouse could not be reached for comment today.

Woolard died in Pitt Memorial Hospital around eight o'clock last night.

He was injured when his asphalt truck, traveling on West Fifth Street, skidded and crashed into a house. Woolard was pinned in the wreckage but was released by prompt work on the part of a Fire Department rescue crew which was summoned to the scene.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Woolard was born, reared, and spent all his life in Pitt County, and had been employed by L. R. Manning of near Greenville as a

Two Are Injured In Road Collision

Car And Logging Truck Collide North Of Bethel Yesterday

Bethel, March 2—Two men were seriously injured near here yesterday afternoon when a car and log trailer were in collision on highway 11 north of Bethel about 4:30 p.m.

Patrolman Delton E. Perry, who investigated the accident, listed the injured as Fred Mayo, 33, of near Bethel, driver of the car, and George Robert Riddick, 21, of Bethel, operator of the logging truck.

Mayo was taken to Edgecombe General Hospital in Tarboro where his injuries were listed as: both legs and arms broken, chest injury and a cut over the left eye. His condition was termed critical. Riddick suffered bruises on his back and lower chest, the full extent of his injuries not known as yet, Perry stated.

Neither of the drivers has been able to tell the patrolman how the accident occurred, it was learned.

The car in which Mayo was driving went off the highway, with the truck across the road, totalling and demolishing the car and doing damage estimated as nearly $1,000 to the truck. Mayo was found pinned in the wreckage of the car and a chain from the wrecked logging truck was fastened around the portion of the car, pinning the man in. It was pulled free by another truck.

Investigation of the accident is incomplete.

Alderman Tripp To Be Candidate

Alderman Heber B. Tripp last night became the first member of the Greenville board to announce his candidacy for reelection to the local Board of Aldermen.

Tripp has served two terms on the board and will be seeking his third term.

Of the five aldermen up for reelection this year, only Tripp has made public his indication to run again.

Rise In Living Costs

A Summary Of Governmental Statistics On Living Costs Since That Important Date, Jan. 15, 1950; Labor's Protest On Wage Ceiling Based On This

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 2—(AP)—What has happened to prices, wages, and business profits since Jan. 15, 1950? The date is important.

This week the government said employers can't raise greater than a general pay raise greater than 10 per cent of what they got on that date.

In protest against that 10 per cent limit and other things, labor leaders walked out of the defense program.

Briefly—and these figures come from government agencies—this is what has happened since Jan. 15, 1950:

Living costs—up at least 2.9 per cent, probably up 8.5 per cent.

Business profits after taxes—up 30 per cent over 1949.

Leathernecks Sweep Through Hoengsong; Reds In South Korean Uniforms Fight GI's Hand-To-Hand; U. S. Jets Challenged; Defenses Stiffen

Tokyo, March 2—(AP)—U. S. Marines swept through abandoned Hoengsong today and stabbed deeper into the heart of Red defenses on the central Korean front.

Communist resistance stiffened all along the allied line. On the east-central front, Korean Reds wearing South Korean uniforms knifed inside American positions fought the doughboys hand-to-hand.

Red jets again challenged U. S. jets near the Manchurian border.

Tank-led Marines of the First Division drove into Hoengsong opposed at 2:40 p. m. (12:40 a. m. EST) after smashing Chinese Reds in a two-day battle on dominating ridges nearby. Infantrymen followed the Leathernecks.

Field dispatches said they found the rubbled-highway hub littered with the frozen bodies of earlier allied casualties and scores of wrecked army trucks and jeeps. Hoengsong was virtually deserted. Only a few South Koreans remained—those had escaped the Chinese.

The leathernecks were on the approaches to Hoengsong, Chinese stronghold 15 miles to the northwest. It is regarded as the key-stone of Red defenses along the winding 60-mile central front.

On the western front, U. S. patrols in rubber boats slipped across the Han River and probed at communist defenses of Seoul, the burned out former Korean Republic capital.

On the east-central front, U. S. Seventh Division spearheads which had thrust three miles north of Amidong Thursday were forced by anti-tank fire to withdraw Friday. At the northernmost point, the armor patrol was within 25 miles of the 38th parallel.

It was in this area that an estimated 60 Korean Reds disguised in Korean Republic uniforms slipped inside American positions northeast of Amidong.

A. P. correspondent Tom Stone, with the seventh Division, reported the Reds went up to the GIs in their foxholes and fired upon them.

"The Americans wheeled about and returned the fire," he added. "Other Americans charged the enemy with fixed bayonets. Between 35 and 40 of the Reds were killed before the others scattered after an hour-long clash."

Stone said the bayonet fight was only one of a half dozen counterattacks on the division's positions. Each attack was hurled back.

Allied fighters and bombers swarmed over the battlefield and behind it in close support of United Nations forces.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force reported several flights of F-80 jets ran into Russian-type Red jet fighters near the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria. Twelve to 15 Red jets were seen.

No damage to either side was reported. In each instance, the Reds broke off the dogfights and streaked north into Manchuria—their haven from retaliatory action. Thursday they attacked B-29 Superforts.

Truman Departs On His Vacation

Washington, March 2—(AP)—President Truman left today for a three-week vacation in Key West, Fla.

His plane, "The Independence," took off at 1 p. m. EST for the three-hour flight to Boca Chica Airport, about 8 1/2 miles from Key West.

Mafia Is Operating

Senate Probers Reveal 'Black Hand' Is Involved In Nationwide Crime Syndicate; Background Of Dead Secret Society; An Extreme Case That Rocked The U. S.

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

It's bound to shock a lot of people to learn from the U. S. Senate Crime Investigation committee that the dread Mafia, or "Black Hand" Society, is operating on a nationwide scale and is "the adhesive between the major crime syndicates."

Of course most folks have heard of the Black Hand, but it's a highly secret organization which works under cloak of darkness. Its deeds of terrorism have been all too real, but its organization has been too real to the general public.

As a matter of fact the details of the Mafia have been an enigma to its own membership. It has been organized in units, on the basis of the left hand not knowing what the right hand was doing.

The Mafia was born in Sicily in the Napoleonic era. Because of lawlessness, big landowners placed their estates in charge of toughs who had almost despotic power over the peasants and terrorized them.

Sanitation Bill

Raleigh, N. C., March 2—(AP)—With scant protest, a House committee today stamped its approval on a lengthy re-writing of the substitute measure embodied the recommendations of Tar Heel industry, which in the past has opposed other sanitation legislation.

The bill approved by the House Committee on Conservation and Development spells out in detail the procedure that a seven-member state Stream Sanitation Commission would follow in regulating pollution.

Industry had strongly objected to the original bill, similar to ones killed by the last three general assemblies.

Defense Dept. Planning Six Divisions In Europe

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The Defense Department was reported today to have told Congress it expects to have only six American divisions in Europe by July 1, 1952, unless war breaks out.

This information bore out statements by Secretary of Defense Marshall that there are no present plans to increase U. S. commitments to the North Atlantic defense force being formed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Senators told newsmen the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees were told, in answers to a series of questions put by Senator Knowland (R-Calif.),

OPS Lifts Lid For Auto Makers

Washington, March 2—(AP)—Auto makers were free to raise their prices 3.5 per cent today—and this boost of a little more than 2.5 per cent as soon as the high-priced cars begin arriving in the show windows.

The rise in ceiling prices of new passenger cars was ordered last night by the OPS—office of price stabilization—and it officially went into effect today.

Test Vote Set On Draft Limit

Washington, March 2—(AP)—The Senate agreed today to a test vote Monday on the controversial issue of lowering the draft age to 18 years and 6 months.

The present Selective Service Act allows induction at age 18.

A pending bill approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee would allow calling up of 18-year-olds.

College Art Class Visits With Mrs. White

Last Thursday morning, February 22, Mrs. Sam T. White entertained the members of the Art 220 Class at East Carolina Teachers College at her home on Seventh street.

This class which was devoted to the study of different forms of art found in the United States, were shown Mrs. White's extensive collection of lustre pitchers and dolls from all over the world.

As the class arrived they were shown the upstairs of the White House, in which was displayed a number of pieces of antique furniture Americana. As they descended the stairs, which are made of solid walnut, they were served light refreshments and then shown into the dining room.

Here on exhibit were a number of pieces of old silver, including different kinds of candelabra and a silver service. In the front hall there was a display of souvenirs which Mrs. White had collected on her trip to Mexico, and of special interest to the class, were the oriental rugs and grandfather's clock. Miss Dora Cirio, the instructor of the class, expressed thanks to Mrs. White and her daughter, Mrs. Helen White Hawes.

During the past quarter, the class had a number of speakers appear before the group and talk on different phases of art which appealed to them. Among these were: Dr. Mary Caughey, who spoke on old glass; Miss Lilah Gaut, who spoke on the pottery of the Southwestern Indian; Mr. Francis Neel, who told of his trip to Mexico last summer; Mr. Ralph Rives, who spoke on "Architecture of the Old South," and Mrs. Nell Wise Wechter, who spoke on art in North Carolina and specifically in Dare County.

Three Kiwanians Provide Program At Semi-Cent

Mrs. Bob Russ was hostess to the Semi-Cent Book Club on Tuesday evening at her attractive home on Willow Street.

During the business session prior to the program, Mrs. Joe Brown was voted into the club as a new member and Miss Ola Ross was appointed by the chairman to act as temporary librarian until the spring election of officers.

Mrs. Ike Straughn introduced Mr. Eli Bloom, who in turn, introduced Mr. Cecil Ellington, saxophonist, and Mr. Frank Casey, accordionist. Messrs. Ellington and Casey entertained the group with several popular numbers, some of which were used in the recent Kiwanis Minstrel.

Mr. Bloom rendered his ever-popular and amusing version of "A Jewish Wedding." He also gave a very interesting account of the trip which the Kiwanis Minstrel troupe made to Camp Lejeune. They performed before an audience composed of only the wounded boys from the large Marine hospital at that base. He stated that one of the highlights of the day was the tour made through the wards by approximately fifteen members of their group, playing for and entertaining the boys who were unable to attend the 2:00 show in the auditorium. These boys were the frost-bite victims, amputees, etc., from the Korean war. Mr. Bloom unknowingly brought the realities of war just a little closer to each person present.

Following Mr. Bloom's account of this trip, the two musicians played many more numbers by request. The evening's program was greatly enjoyed with many thanks to these gentlemen.

Books were exchanged, after which Mrs. Russ served a refreshment course. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 13, at the home of Mrs. Paul Waldrop, Elm Street Extension.

PTA Of Fountain Holds Monthly Meeting Wednesday

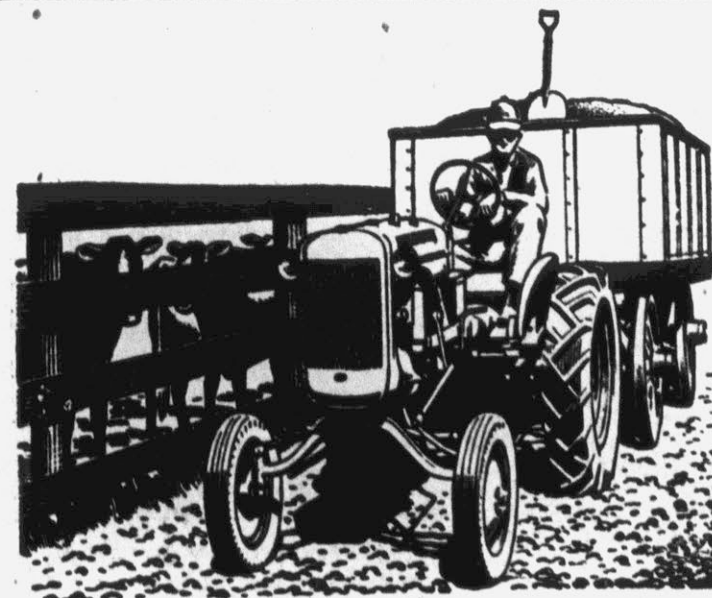

Fountain—The Fountain Parent-Teachers Association met Wednesday evening in the school auditorium with Mrs. Jasper Morgan, president, presiding. Mrs. Mary D. Horton displayed the UN flag that Mrs. Hardy Johnson made for the Fountain school, assisted by Mrs. B. H. Owens. All sang "Carolina," gave the Pledge to the Flag, and joined in singing the rounds "Row, Row Your Boat," and "Three Blind Mice." The program was given by the third grade under the direction of Mrs. Emily S. Mercer, third grade teacher. Lili Dilda was in charge of the devotional, which was followed by a play, "Tell It to Judge Encyclopedia," with three scenes. Students in play were: Bobby Corbett acting as judge, Bernice Moore acting as teacher, and the children representing the books were Edward T. Smith, Parmie Moore, Jerry Little, Jerry Sumner, Jessie Mae Baker, Betty C. Tugwell, Betty Ann Langley and Carlton Gardner, Jr., and the other children were: Lili Dilda, Jerry Weisner, III, Kathryn Gardner, Wayne Owens, Douglas Gay, Steve Moore, Carlton Owens, Kathleen Butts, Gerald Owens, Marshall Stepps, Stuart Harris and Robert Bruce Jones. After the Parents-Teacher Association meeting, Mrs. Morgan announced the third grade, Mrs. Emily S. Mercer's room, won the attendance prize, and the meeting adjourned.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 9:2-30.

Jesus, taking with Him Peter, James and John, went up into a high mountain, and there was transfigured, and Moses and Elias were with Him. A cloud shadowed them, from which a voice said, "This is My beloved Son: hear Him."

Suddenly the vision disappeared and the three disciples found themselves alone with the Master. As they walked down the mountainside, Jesus charged them that they tell no man what they had seen and heard until He was risen.

A multitude met them. A scribe came to Jesus and told Him of his son who was possessed of an evil spirit. Jesus expelled the spirit but the child lay as one dead; but Jesus lifted him up and he was well.

Finding the disciples arguing as to which of them would be greatest in heaven, Jesus took a little child in His arms, telling them that he who would be great among them must be the servant. MEMORY VERSE—Mark 9:7.

GLORY AND SERVICE

JESUS SERVED HUMANITY AND WAS TRANSFIGURED

Scripture—Mark 9:2-30.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. WE NOW are approaching the last part of Jesus' life on earth. The events of this lesson took place in the autumn of A. D. 28. More and more frequently the Master told His followers of His approaching death and resurrection, but they were only puzzled and bewildered at what He told them.

Taking with Him Peter, James and John—those nearest to Him, Jesus went up into a mountain (thought to have been Mt. Hermon) to pray.

Suddenly, before the apostle's eyes, the Lord was transfigured. His countenance grew shining, as did His clothes—"exceeding white as snow; so as no fuller on earth can white them."

With Him appeared two figures, one on each side of Him, whom Peter recognized as Elijah (Elias) and Moses. As the disciples gazed, awestruck and frightened, a cloud overshadowed them, and out of the cloud came a voice, saying, "This is My beloved Son: hear Him."

Coming down from the mountain after this dramatic experience, Jesus charged the disciples of men, and they shall kill Him, and after that He is killed, He shall rise the third day.

"But they understood not that saying, and were afraid to ask Him."

At Capernaum Jesus came upon His disciples disputing, and they refused to tell Him what the argument was about. He knew, however. It was who should be greatest among them.

The Lord sat down and called the twelve to Him, and said, simply: "If any man desire to be first, the same shall be last of all, and servant of all."

Then Jesus took a child, took him in His arms, and said to them, "Whosoever shall receive one of such children in My name, receiveth Me: and whosoever shall receive Me, receiveth not Me, but Him who sent Me."

The disciples reported to Jesus—with evident indignation—that they found a man who was casting out devils in His name, but he did not belong to their band. They had forbidden Him to do so.

Jesus rebuked them with the memorable words, "Forbid him not: for there is no man which

MEMORY VERSE

"This is My beloved Son: hear ye Him."—Mark 9:7.

to say nothing about it to anyone, "till the Son of man were risen from the dead."

"And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another, what the rising from the dead should mean."

A great multitude met Jesus and His disciples, and when they saw Him they saluted Him. Scribes were among the crowd, and Jesus asked the scribes, "What question ye with them?"

One of the scribes answered that he had a son possessed of a dumb spirit, which had tormented him since childhood. He had spoken to the disciples, but they could not cast him out.

Jesus diagnosed their failure as lack of faith and prayer. With faith, He said, all things are possible. The child's father cried out with tears, "Lord, I believe: help Thou mine unbelief."

The boy was brought to him, in agony, and the Lord called for the spirit to come forth—which it did—but the boy lay as one dead. Jesus took him by the hand and lifted him up, and "lo, he arose"—cured.

Once again Jesus tried to tell the disciples that "The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men, that can lightly speak evil of Me. For he that is not against us is on our part."

"For whosoever shall give you a cup of water to drink in My name, because ye belong to Christ, verily, I say unto you, he shall not lose his reward."

"And whosoever shall offend one of these little ones that believe in Me, it is better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he were cast into the sea."

Service—that is the word for us. Are you in deep trouble or grief? Put it behind you and do something for someone who needs help, comfort, or sympathy.

If Jesus, His Son of God could, in His brief earthly life, serve all who came to Him in affliction, even in such humble ways as, for instance, washing His disciples' feet, why cannot we, His humble followers, do the same?

"Why do we not strive and strive until it becomes second nature, to forget ourselves, our personal woes and disappointments, and do our very best to help make the world—God's world—a better place in which all mankind can live?"

It is true that the nationalization of industry ceased when the socialist governments were removed from control in Australia and New Zealand; but even now, more than a year after the people have changed their governments, the movement to place industries back in the hands of free enterprise is just beginning.

Under the new anti-socialist governments the people of New Zealand and Australia have felt their nations' economy surge again to heights they had not known since the socialists had been in power. Although many of the socialist policies are still seen in the government agencies, the business of the countries is booming, and wages have risen 15 to 20 per cent.

After falling into the hands of the socialist labor government it took the people of New Zealand 14 years to realize their mistake and revert to an anti-socialist regime. The people of Australia needed only eight years under their socialist labor government to realize their folly.

But the 14 years of socialist government in New Zealand and the eight years of socialist government in Australia are periods from which neither country can recover in a short period of time.

The people have become accustomed to the government's freely passing out its money through one sort of boon or another. The return to the period when the major portion of the socialist practices are not present in the governments of New Zealand and Australia will be gradual indeed.

But even if the progress is slow, the people have begun their struggle back up the road of sound government. Their trial and error, and the trial and error which we watch every day in the socialist government of Great Britain should stand as vivid testimonies to the people of the United States.

We should clamp down on our socialist tendencies before we find ourselves enveloped in the web of socialism which has been spinning in the federal government for more than a decade.

News Behind the News

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2—The Administration's compromise with organized labor over a wage freeze will not end President Truman's difficulties with powerful, political groups which believe that they have been treated unfairly by the Wilson-Johnson-Disalle formula for stabilizing living costs on the rearward front. It will be only the beginning of another battle of the pocketbook bulge.

Professional and Capitol Hill spokesmen for the nation's farmers, especially in the South and the Midwest, now insist, as the Green-Murray-Lewis trio did, that they be given a representative in the war cabinet headed by Charles E. Wilson.

They maintain that no firm agreement on wages, ceilings or profits can be fixed without greater participation in backstage councils than they now enjoy.

LAWYER—Mr. Truman did not satisfy their grievances when, in a recent conference with a Congressional delegation at the White House, he argued that the food producers were represented fully and ably among his advisers.

"I get my advice on these matters from Secretary Brannan," he snapped.

Now, the Brannan name is extremely unpopular among the dirt farmers and their influential friends on Capitol Hill. Congress has shown its disregard for his theories by refusing to consider his two-price scheme, based on federal subsidies from the farm to the grocery store.

FARMERS—Once labor has been placated, the farmers fear that they will suffer major blame for behaving as "economic hogs," in view of the heavy slice which food costs impose on a housewife's budget. And the fact is that Capitol Hill's complaint files contain more letters criticizing the farmers than labor unions. This may be natural, since the great majority come from the cities, where the husbands are union members.

The farm leaders' sharpest gripe is that neither President Truman nor Secretary Brannan, nor any other Administration spokesman, has taken the trouble to present their side of the price difficulty to the public. Indeed, in one of his press conference fireups, Mr. Truman blamed them for the soaring cost of the housewife's food budget.

He intimated that he would ask Congress to eliminate provisions from the Defense Production Act that prohibit price-fixing on farm commodities until they have climbed to parity or to the highest figure reached in the month before the Korean outbreak. But he quickly backed away from this idea after he was warned that it might lose the farm vote for the Democrats.

SMALL—A closeup view of the farm price situation lies behind the belief that no wage freeze, whether it be fixed to permit a 10 or 12 per cent advance, can be effective. It will have to be unfrozen sooner or later because food prices are bound to increase by far more than the 5 per cent envisaged by Price Stabilizer Disalle.

It also shows why the farmers think they have been discriminated against in the Administration's failure to involve them in the responsibility for high retail costs. But if the White House did give them a clean bill of health, it would have to accept primary responsibility for the pressure of food prices on the urban budget.

It is not generally realized, but the Administration's food price-fixing program is a pitifully small thing, by the terms of the original order. It fixes ceilings on only 34 per cent of a family diet, and most of those are at unprecedented peaks. Twenty per cent of foods are exempted by the presidential order and the remaining 46 per cent are not affected because present prices are far below the legal parity figure.

FAILURE—Thus the presidential freeze of food prices applies to only one-third of the articles which make up the housewife's daily order cabinet basket. Under the parity formula, the other two-thirds can increase by from 10 to 30 per cent before ceilings may be applied. It is Mr. Truman's failure to explain this unpleasant prospect in A-B-C language which antagonizes the growers.

On an average, all food prices are now about 10 per cent above the parity levels. Beef stands at about 141, and lamb at 142, with pork slightly lower. But not all farmers produce these above-parity products. Many earn their living from commodities which have not yet reached the return rate guaranteed by law.

INFLATION—These include such regular items as poultry and eggs, wheat, butter, milk, potatoes, oranges and most citrus fruits, and vegetables. Indeed, it is not too much to say that the only food that will not rise sharply under present fixations, political and economic, is the meat course.

Now it is a dietetic fact that when meat's soar in price the eating public turns to cheaper but filling things like poultry, bread, potatoes, cabbages, eggs, vegetables and fruits. Then, as a result of demand, these once inexpensive items soon join the upward trend.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

"Rachel," I said to the wife last night, "I'm going to find out if coffee is harmful or not. Some say it is, others say it isn't, and we ought to know."

W. R. replied, "Well, it would be nice to know, but if you find out that it's harmful, I doubt that it will stop you from drinking it; that is, unless you find out that it's very harmful. You like coffee so well that it would be hard for you to give it up."

The girl is right! But since coffee is about a dollar a pound, it's a good time, psychologically, to look into the matter. The truth is that coffee seems to be harmless to 97 per cent of those who drink it. Three per cent are troubled by it, the same percentage that are bothered by milk, eggs, and certain fruits.

Coffee is the most popular beverage in the world; it even tops whiskey. The bean is so complimented that chemists disagree about the analysis of it. They all agree that it stimulates caffeine, but they say that the amount of caffeine can vary as much as 250 per cent.

Caffeine, of course, is a stimulant and is sometimes used by physicians to stimulate the heart. When used, the amount required equals the amount in about three cups of coffee. Enough caffeine would kill you, but it would take about 100 consecutive cups of coffee to do it.

In one investigation of the effect of caffeine on wakefulness, large doses did not interfere with sleep unless the drinker was worried about something before he drank the coffee. And if you have the idea that coffee will keep you awake, it will. If you think a cup of coffee will put you to sleep, it will. In other words, it's all in your mind, brother.

The stimulating effect of coffee is naturally lessened by the use of sugar and cream, and it's greater on an empty stomach. Most doctors will not let their patients with high blood pressure drink coffee, because caffeine stimulates the heart. Doctors say that five cups a day is enough for anybody, and any beyond that is an excess and should be checked.

The experts of the coffee industry say that the drip method of making coffee is the best. A percolator sends the liquid coffee, at too high a temperature, through the grounds again and again, and draws out too much of the soluble solids. The vacuum method also draws out more than is needed, and boiling spoils the flavor.

W. R. was right; even after checking up I'm still going to enjoy at least one cup a day. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C.

By LYNN NISBET

Daily Reflector Bureau

GAMBLING—The joint senate-house appropriations committee is willing to gamble on getting a good job done earlier, as manifested by action Wednesday afternoon. The committee heard with obvious approval a statement signed by chairmen and vice chairmen of the two separate committees pledging enough additional money for public schools to assure a $2200-$3100 teacher salary scale and purchase additional school buses; to provide some pay increases for state employees; and to afford some protection against institutional shutdowns because of rising fuel and food costs. Opinion was generally expressed that continuing increases in revenue under existing schedules will provide funds for these needs without new taxes. That's one phase of the gamble. If state revenues do not continue their upward trend, the situation may become desperate.

SUB-COMMITTEE—Another phase of the gambling game came when the joint group authorized appointment of a sub-committee to rewrite the biennial appropriations bill, rather than have long drawn discussions in the full committee over every item involved—which has been the policy for nearly twenty years. The gambling element here lies in the prospect that the sub-committee can do a sufficiently satisfactory job as to obtain endorsement of the whole group and of the general assembly itself. If so, the 1931 session might be shortened from one to three weeks. If not, the session might be unduly prolonged. Oldtimers recall that the four and a half months sessions in 1931 and 1933 were caused by refusal to accept sub-committee and conference committee reports. Leaders in both branches and among all factional groups think they have a good bet in the sub-committee deal and rate chances for shortening rather than prolonging the session at ratio of approximately one hundred to one.

PERSONNEL—Selection of the subcommittee is not an easy job for the chairmen, and it is obvious that personnel of the group will have a lot to do with the kind of job turned in and willingness of the overall membership to accept it.

COMPLEX—If it were simply a matter of Chairman John Larkins or the senate and Chairman Larry Moore in the house picking the ablest or best informed men on their committees, there would be enough difficulty in making the selection. The problem is much more complicated than that. There should be representation of public schools and higher educational institutions; of hospitals and correctional institutions; of manufacturing and agriculture; of health and welfare. Then, politics being the kind of animal it is, there must be consideration given to physical geography. To state a hypothetical case: Suppose the best senator available for one of these classifications came from the same county where lived two or three of the best representatives for other phases of government service. Every body knows there would be a howl if three or four members of such a powerful committee came from one county. So the respective chairmen not only have to check their own committee membership, but they must co-operate closely with each other.

(Your reporter knows for a fact that these chairmen were studying and comparing notes until well after one o'clock Thursday morning, seeking the best possible personnel under all the circumstances for the sub-committee.)

DOCTORS—There are nearly three thousand doctors eligible for membership in North Carolina medical society. About half this number are classed as "general practitioners," the others being specialists in particular fields. These general practitioners, most of whom are better known as "country doctors," formed the N.C. Academy of General Practitioners about three years ago. This group, or those doctors who have affiliated with the organization, will hold a convention and a refresher course at Duke this week, Sunday afternoon through Tuesday night. Upwards of 500 doctors are expected to attend, and according to Dr. W. A. Sams, immediate past president and currently representative in the general assembly from Madison county, the program is well apportioned between socializing at a intense study and observation of approved bedside practices.

N. C. FIRST—North Carolina has copied another "first" by reason of a revised rate on fire insurance premiums for coverage of farm and non-farm rural dwellings. For many years the "three acre rule" has applied to insurance premium rates on property outside corporate cities and towns. In laymen's parlance that means a dwelling house located on a tract of land of three acres or more devoted to agriculture was insured at farm rates.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

A VOTE FOR DEMOCRACY (Henderson Dispatch)

By almost a two-to-one decision, the House completed the North Carolina General Assembly's ratification of the proposed twenty-second amendment to the Federal Constitution, limiting all Presidents to two elected terms. The Senate previously had approved the amendment by a much larger margin, or 33 to 8. The State, therefore, gives its vote in favor of a move designed to help perpetuate the principles of democracy in America.

The only argument—and a tremendously weak one at that—was that it was a slap at the memory of President Roosevelt. But a move in favor of preserving constitutional government could not justly be described as aimed at any individual. The American people want no royal family in this nation. And if the precedent set by Mr. Roosevelt were followed, of keeping the chief executive in office for life as in his case, a definite start would be made toward such a status.

Longer tenure than eight years for a president is a menace to the free functioning of democratic principles. Those who opposed ratification evidently overlooked the fact that North Carolina's Constitution forbids the governor to hold office more than a single four-year term. It is far more dangerous to have a President remain for life, with all the powers of patronage and other prerogatives that go with the office, than for the governor of any single State in the Union.

North Carolina became the thirty-fourth State to approve the amendment to the Federal Constitution. Thirty-six, or three-fourths, of the States are required to ratify to make an amendment part of the organic law of the nation. That means that only two more are needed, and these are expected to be added within a matter of days—or weeks at the most.

It is a wholesome, healthful development, and one that has long been needed. It will now be possible for new blood to be added at stated intervals in the executive branch of the government.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Leasing equipment, instead of buying it, may become much more prevalent in business enterprises as a consequence of the higher corporation taxes.

Even under 1950 tax rates, renting equipment had many tax advantages over outright purchase. E. K. Lasser, noted tax authority, in a recent book reported the cases of three men who opened service stations. Two were experienced in the business, the third was an accountant. It was only the accountant who made a satisfactory income. While others knew about gaskets, he knew about income tax laws.

The other two bought their equipment. They payments sharply reduced their income. The accountant leased his. His payments on his leases were deductible, for income tax purposes, from his gross. The payments the others made were not deductible. They were capital expenditures.

Assuming that a business needs a tow truck costing $2,000, and assuming that the business nets $10,000 a year, if the truck is bought out of profits, the management still must pay taxes on earnings of $10,000 a year. In the second year, it may charge off depreciation of the truck, possibly $500.

But if the business rents the truck, the full amount of the rental may be deducted as a business expense, for income tax purposes. If, at some time later, the business sells the truck at a higher figure than the cost minus the depreciation, it will still have to pay a capital gains tax on the difference. But if the business rented the truck from an agency specializing in that service, the rental would be deductible in full from gross earnings.

Even before the recent rise in corporation taxes, many firms sold their delivery services to delivery companies, thereby minimizing, legally, their income tax liability.

With the higher corporate taxes, the advantages of leasing autos, business machines, fork-lift trucks and other machines are increased. It comes down to this: if you buy a typewriter, the amount you pay for it comes out of taxed profits. That can be reduced, in the case of typewriters, by 10 per cent of the cost price for each of ten years, and then you are liable for a capital gains tax on the residual value of the machine. But if you rent a typewriter, the full rental cost is deductible for each year in which it is paid.

This situation will tend to create more profitable fields for businesses engaged in renting business machines, trucks and other equipment to high-income corporations.

FREEZE PUTS CHILL ON U. S. IMPORTS
The difficulty in freezing prices of commodities largely produced abroad is illustrated by the lead situation. The price in the United States is frozen at 17 cents a pound. So foreign producers are willing to sell to other nations at higher prices.

That's just what they have been doing. According to trade reports, Mexico has just sold 10,000 tons of lead to Great Britain for 19 cents a pound.

It will not be surprising if the British, some day in the future, sell back to us the same lead at 21 cents a pound. Plus shipping, of course.

SERVES CAMERAS WITH THE SOUP
One magazine has discovered that a week of lunch-hour shopping is greater than a Saturday morning's purchases.

Moved by similar thinking, an unusual shop will shortly open in New York. It will sell lunches—and photographic equipment. The promoter has discovered that a large part of photographic sales are made to people who can shop only during lunch periods.

The idea—if it works—is applicable to far more than the shutterbug trade. If you sell nylon, why not put in a lunch counter? Or if you sell lunches, why not put in a nylon bar? And so on, endlessly.

COURT RULING HITS SALES BY BRANCHES
A U. S. Supreme Court ruling, dished out with an armful of other rulings last Monday, may have escaped the attention it deserves from interstate business firms.

The court held that an out-of-state corporation with a retail outlet in the state, is subject to state taxation on all sales channeled through the outlet.

Thus, the sales any company makes through a branch office are subject to the taxes imposed by the state in which the branch exists, even though the sales are promoted and consummated in another state. It is presumed that this applies to city sales taxes, since those taxes are levied with authority of the state.

It will mean higher state levies on branch offices or, more likely, withdrawal of branch offices and more dependence on mail orders.

NEW AND HOT

Washington, March 2—(AP)—President Truman flies off to Key West today and peace-of-a-sort descends on the White House.

The White House can use some peace. It's been a rugged week. There's a last day-school atmosphere in the executive offices every time the President goes away. This time it was worse than usual. The President's going to be gone three weeks and everybody and his brother wanted to get in a last word.

Most of them succeeded, too. The White House lobby looked for a while like Grand Central Station, New York, with the Shriners leaving and the American Legion just getting into town.

You should have been here. You'd have enjoyed it.

Waiting to see Mr. Truman at one time were Girl Scouts, Socialists, Negro Leaders, half the population of Detroit (well, it seemed like half, anyway), Legionnaires with buddy poppies, and a few quiet types who turned out to be government officials.

By anybody's way of looking at it, the Girl Scouts were the cutest.

There were three of them, each 12 years old, bouncing and giggling on one of the roomy brown leather davenport.

They were just old enough to know that the President of the United States is a pretty important fellow, but not old enough to be overly impressed by any mere adult. This was their big day and they were enjoying it. Every body was enjoying them, too.

Well, they skipped into Mr. Truman's office in due course, attended by some well-groomed lady Scouts, and the President gave them a big hello and made a nice speech about Girl Scouts, and pretty soon they skipped out again, grinning like baby foxes.

"What did you think of the President?" a reporter asked, with rare originality.

"We-el," said one of the moppets deliberately, "he was sort of different from what I expected."

"Different? How?"

"He was just like the man next door."

Then the Negro leaders, a dozen of them, came and went. They were very serious, bent on getting a strong new anti-discrimination policy. Mr. Truman was sympathetic, they reported—said he was doing everything he could.

By the time the White House lobby, with the huge round mahogany table in the center, was jumping—people were trickling out the well-guarded double doors, more people were flooding in. Hands were pumped, fist-bumps were shouted—Hats and coats piled up on the table.

Michigan arrived, almost in a body—big boyish Gov. G. Mennen

Williams, and U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson, with a delegation of eminent Detroiters. They wanted the President to come out and make a speech on Detroit's 250th anniversary. He said he certainly would if he could.

Backed into a corner between a brass floor lamp and an ash-tray, one reporter looked over the confusion in the lobby and delivered a three-word verdict: "Democracy in Action."

He wasn't kidding, either.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

Washington—Capt. Mary E. Shull was just beginning to thaw out after a chilly, windy 18 months' tour of duty in Newfoundland with the U. S. Air Force when she was warmly serenaded with a new assignment.

One of the first women to put on a uniform back in 1942, as a member of the old WAAG, she has just been made adjutant of the Air Force Band. She is the only woman assigned to the organization.

"One of the greatest thrills I ever had was walking up the Champs Elysee in Paris for the first time but this is even greater," Capt. Shull exclaims. "It's quite a wonderful surprise—music is so different from anything else."

Capt. Shull doesn't play in the band. Her job is mostly administrative. She'll help plan concert tours, radio and television broadcasts and handle correspondence for the big, 120-piece band as well as the Air Force's symphony orchestra, dance band and drum and bugle corps. Through she's already seen a good deal of the world, she's looking forward to further travels with the band, which has covered some 18,000,000 miles since its organization in 1944.

Capt. Shull, 33, and pretty well over seas with the European division of the Air Transport Command (ATC) in 1945, spent 18 months around Paris and was sent to Rome for another 18 months.

She took the first squadron of WAFs (women in the Air Force) up to Newfoundland on the U.S.S. Kelly, sailing from Brooklyn in 1949, and was stationed for awhile at Peperrell Air Base at St. John's. Last April she activated the first WAF squadron at the Ernest Harmon Air Base at Stephenville, on the west coast of the island.

"The weather in the States is mild compared to what we had up there, but the boys are still blaming me for bringing down the cold wave," she told me. "It's not so much the cold. The wind blows and blizzards circle around and you have to stick to your woollies and parkas."

Catholicism Is Paper Topic At Book Club

Catholicism was the religion under discussion at the Aries Book Club when it met last night with Mrs. Fred Saue at her home on Rotary Avenue.

The club is making a study of the religions of the world and previous programs have dealt with the history of Christianity and the growth of Protestantism. Miss Grace Outland, leader for the study of the Catholic religion, presented an informative and well-prepared paper on the history, doctrines and the secular work engaged in by the Roman Catholic Church. "The Roman Catholic Church is a name applied to the large body of Christians, united in doctrine and worship under the supreme jurisdiction of the Pope, the Bishop of Rome. . . . They believe that the Pope has jurisdiction over all believers, the right to govern with three-fold power over the Church—that is, legislative, judicial and executive—in matters pertaining to the church," began Miss Outland in her opening remarks.

She listed and explained the seven sacraments that the Catholics practice. They are the rite of Baptism, the rite of Confirmation, the rite of the Holy Eucharist, the rite of Penance or Confession, the rite of Extreme Unction, the rite of the Holy Orders and the rite of Matrimony.

In tracing the history of the Catholic Church, the speaker mentioned the three epochs into which it is commonly divided. They were that of Christian antiquity, covering the first seven centuries, the Middle Ages from the 8th to the 16th century, and the modern ages from the rise of Protestantism to the present day.

At the conclusion of her paper there was a general discussion of the traditions and practices adhered to by Catholics and many interesting things were learned about the training of the priests, nuns and monks and their work in schools and hospitals.

Prior to the program a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Harry Forbes. At this time new officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Leo Jenkins; vice-president, Miss Grace Outland; secretary, Mrs. Howard Moyer; treasurer, Mrs. T. G. Basnight Jr.; librarian, Mrs. A. W. Bryan; and reporter, Mrs. Harry Forbes.

During the social hour which followed, the hostess served Coca-Cola, sandwiches and date bars to club members and Miss Marjorie Harris, guest for the evening.

TERRORISM CONTINUES

Kuala Lumpur (AP)—British armed forces are killing an average of two communist-terrorists daily in Malaya. But while the terrorist death toll is rising, so is their activity. In a recent seven-day period, terrorists slashed more than 5,000 rubber trees, destroyed many buses, and murdered seven civilians.

In theory it is possible to produce 11,132,544 different kinds of lenses.

Current Affairs Discussed At End Of Century Club

The End of the Century Club held its regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 27th, with Mrs. Ficklen Arthur at her lovely suburban home.

The president, Mrs. C. A. White, held a brief business meeting after which the club was delighted to have Dr. A. D. Frank from East Carolina Teachers College, who gave a most interesting talk on world affairs.

He discussed first present government problems, touching particularly on the State Department and R.F.C.

In bringing up foreign affairs he gave many interesting sidelights on the Korean situation. He explained the North Atlantic treaty organization and then discussed at length the spread of nationalism throughout the small countries of central Europe.

As always Dr. Frank showed such a deep knowledge of his subject that the club would not let him close his talk and continued the discussion with many questions and lively debate. The entire program was truly enjoyed by everyone present.

After the books were distributed the hostess served a bountiful and delicious salad course.

Presbyterian Announcement

Dr. John Pemberton, pastor of the Cape Island Baptist Church, Cape May, New Jersey, will be guest preacher this Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. Pemberton is the leader of our Visitation Evangelist program of this week, sponsored by the Greenville Ministerial Association.

The pastor, Leonard W. Topping, will conduct the Morning Worship service.

The Visitation Evangelist schedule for this week is as follows: Sunday, Methodist Church, 5 p.m.; Monday—supper at First Presbyterian Church, 6:30; Tuesday—supper at Memorial Baptist Church, 6:30 p.m.; Wednesday—supper at Christian Church, 6:30 p.m.; Thursday (no supper) 7:30 p.m.—Immanuel Baptist Church: All visitors are urged to bring the new members to this union inspirational and instructional meeting on Thursday night.

Dr. John Pemberton will preach this evening at the 7:30 union service at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church for those who are not visiting. At 7:30 p.m. Monday through Wednesday Dr. Pemberton will conduct prayer meetings for the non-visitors. These services are held in interest of the visitation program, and as a means of undergirding the entire program with interesting prayer.

Wesley Players To Present First Play In Drama Festival

The Wesley Players of the Methodist Student Center will present the opening play in the East Carolina Drama Festival Friday at 7:00 p.m. "What Men Live By," the play to be presented, is a dramatic adaptation of the story by Tolstoy, in which a humble shoemaker and his wife entertain an angel unaware and learn of the three things by which men live. The Alpha Zeta Chapter presenting this play is a member of the National Society of Wesley Players, the only drama group in the United States, which has as its purpose the presentation of religious plays.

Members of Wesley Players taking part in this production are Donald Roebuck, as Simon, a cobbler; Ophelia Kirven, as Matrena, Simon's wife; Larry Williams, Michael, an apprentice; Charles T. Robbins Jr., Trofimoff, a debtor; Ernest Sylvant, Baron Aveditch, a wealthy landowner; Waylon Upchurch, Thedka, the baron's footman; and Joan Edwards, Sonia Ivanich, a lady of means. Nikita, her little girl, is played by Anne Barbre, of Greenville. Hazel Burke and Marian Chesson play the parts of Anna, friend of Matrena, and Ulka, a maid.

Hubert Bergeron of Spring Hope, a graduate student of East Carolina Teachers College, is director of the production. The following students are on the technical staff: stage manager and lighting, Charles Cherry; scenery, Hazel Burke, Treva Yow; costumes, Mattie Huber, Dorothy Howard, Catherine Coston; properties, Elaine Smith, Betsy Ocker, makeup, Betsy Hobgood, Billy Rogers.

Christian Church Announcements

Those who have agreed to assist in the visitation program this week will assemble at 5:00 Sunday afternoon at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church for the hour of instruction by Dr. John Pemberton, Jr., the director of the campaign for this year. Supper will be served at 6:00 and after a brief period of devotion and motivation, the visitors will go out at 7:00 Sunday evening. Supper will be served at the Presbyterian Church on Monday evening at 6:30 for those who are planning to visit in the campaign; on Tuesday evening at 6:30 at the Memorial Baptist Church; and at the Christian Church Wednesday evening at 6:30.

The young people of the Disciple Student Fellowship, Christian Youth Fellowship, and Chi Rho Fellowship will have charge of the service Sunday morning at 11:00 with the theme for the national organization "For Thine Is the Glory." Mrs. H.

L. Carter will sing as a solo "The Lord's Prayer" by Malotte.

The Chi Rho Fellowship will meet at 5:30 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Mills at 404 Rotary Avenue for their weekly meeting. The CYP-DSF will meet at the church at 6:30 p.m.

ARMY GOES MUSICAL

Prague (AP)—A contest for literary and musical works with military themes is being held in the Czechoslovak army.

Fashion Show Given Between Laps Of Duck Derby

At the fashion show which was presented during the intermission of the Duck Derby, which was held in Wright Auditorium last night, the newest and most attractive spring styles were modeled by 33 young men, women and children wearing clothes from 11 stores.

The styles which were featured ranged from casual play clothes, for both men and women, to a few formals. Particularly popular were the new spring suits in soft gabardines, linens and light weight wools. Navy seemed to be the predominant color, with tones of lavender running a close second. Cotton casuals also scored a big hit.

Light pastels were the popular colors selected for the outfits worn by the men, with accents on the desert tones.

Eli Bloom, Bancroft Moseley and

Mrs. J. B. Spilman served as master of ceremony, and music for the fashion show was provided by Miss Dolores Matthews.

Because bird migrations were not fully understood, the belief that many birds hibernated in winter persisted well into the 19th century.

Pitt County Tournament Opens Monday In ECTC Gym

Twenty Teams Battle For County Titles

The annual Pitt County Conference Basketball Tournament will get underway in the East Carolina gym Monday night, March 5, and will run for five nights, with the finals slated for Friday night, March 9.

Four games will be played Monday night, with the first game scheduled for 6:00 between Bethel and Stokes in the girls division. The other games in the girls division for Monday night will see Grimesland play Bell Arthur at 8:30.

In the boys division it will be Chicod playing Belvoir at 7:15, and Grimesland will meet Bell Arthur in the last game of the night at 9:45.

Six teams in each division draw byes in the first round of play. Teams drawing byes in the boys division were: Bethel, Stokes, Winterville, Ayden, Farmville and Grifton. Teams drawing byes in the girls division were: Winterville, Farmville, Belvoir, Ayden, Chicod and Grifton.

The Winterville girls and the Bethel boys stack up as tournament favorites this year, by virtue of first place finishes in the conference. Winterville finished regular season play with a 14-1 record, and Bethel finished on top of the boys division with a 5-0 record.

Ayden's girls and Bethel's boys won the annual marathon last year.

Ferrier Leads St. Petersburg Open; Tie For Second

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2—(AP)—For a tournament that figured to be dominated by youngsters of the "golf tour," the $10,000 St. Petersburg Open had a look of "36" about it at today's beginning of the second round.

Jim Ferrier, big Australian who plays from San Francisco, held first place with a near-record seven under par 64. His age—36.

Tied for second place were Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra Beach, Fla., age 36, and Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., aged 36. Each of them went around the 6,285-yard Pasadena course in 67.

Youth was still around, though. Tom Talkington, 24-year-old linksmen of Royal Oak, Mich., playing in his second major tournament, was one of 10 players tied for fourth place with 68.

That bracket also included Chuck Kiehn of San Antonio, Glenn Teal of Jacksonville, Max Evans and Walter Burkemo, both of Detroit, Al Zimmerman of Portland, Ore., Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N.C., Joe Pessullo of North Providence, R.I., George Fazio of Washington, and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, the leading money winner of the year.

Jack Burke Jr. of Houston, Tex., defending champion, made a slow start with a 72.

Argentina Holds To Top In Pan-Am Meets

Buenos Aires, March 2—(AP)—Argentina matched cycling victories against United States track triumphs to hold on to the unofficial leadership in the first Pan American games.

Athletes entered the fourth day of competition today.

However, whatever humiliation the U. S. may suffer when all the returns are in has been considerably softened by Mal Whitfield's leading his teammates to the first grand slam of the games in the 800-meter run, and Bob Richards' pole vault performance was like nothing ever seen before in South America.

But Fred Wilt is missed. Ricardo Braio of Argentina won a race that could have been Wilt's when he outstaggered Jim Twomey of the U.S. in the home stretch of the 5,000-meter run.

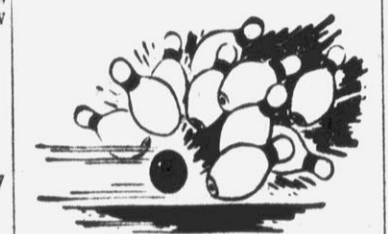

This sent the crowd of 35,000 into ecstasies. They lit paper torches in the gloom of the vast River Plate Stadium, cheered unrestrainedly, hugged everyone in sight, carried Braio on their shoulders and showed they felt Curtis Stone's narrow defeat of Braio in the 10,000 meters had been fully avenged.

The unofficial point totals now stand:

Argentina 221, United States 179, Mexico 59, Chile 55, Brazil 48, Peru 43, Cuba 15, Colombia 11, Ecuador 7, Trinidad 5, Jamaica 4, Panama 3, Guatemala 2, and Paraguay 1.

Immediately ahead lies the finals in the hop step and jump, which

Car. Cleaners, WGTC Post Wins In Womens League

Carolina Cleaners swept three games from Double N Grill on Wednesday night to bury them deeper in the cellar in the Women's City League standings, and to strengthen their own grasp on second place.

G. Norris of Carolina Cleaners took all scoring honors for the night, posting a single game score of 156 and a three game total of 421.

In the night's other games, first place WGTC continued to set the pace by taking two out of three games from College View Cleaners. Edna Branch of the winners carried away all scoring honors in this game, with a single game score of 119 and a three game score of 316.

Each Time Dick Groat Scores, A Record Grows

Every time Dick Groat of Duke scores in the Southern Conference basketball tournament at Raleigh, he adds to his national records.

At the end of the regular season, he had 746 points, including 236 free throws, both records for major colleges.

He made 23 points on nine field goals and five free throws last night as Duke whipped Virginia Tech 64-61 in a first round tournament game. The star guard will have another chance to pad his average when Duke plays William and Mary tonight.

Groat was fourth in scoring among major college players in the latest statistics of the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau, covering games through Feb. 24. He had an average of 24.9 points in 30 games. Tournament games also are counted in the bureau statistics.

Deacons Defeat Brazil By 23-4

Buenos Aires, March 2—(AP)—Frank Wehner had a perfect five for five, including three home runs, as Wake Forest, the U. S. baseball representative in the Pan-American games, trounced Brazil 23-4 here yesterday.

Wehner, from Flushing, N. Y., played centerfield and also pitched three innings in relief, allowing three hits.

Max Eller of Statesville, N. C., started on the mound and was the winning pitcher, giving up only one hit in four innings.

Three Solid Hits For Ted Williams

Sarasota, Fla., March 2—(AP)—Ted Williams connected solidly against only three of the 38 pitches tossed him in his first 1951 batting practice but his Boston Red Sox teammates were impressed by his performance.

"He was facing Ellis Kinder and Harry Taylor and they were really throwing," manager Steve O'Neill pointed out. After watching Williams take all of his swings, trainer Jack Fadden was certain Williams' fractured left elbow would be as strong as ever inside a month.

Light Heavies Battle Tonight

New York, March 2—(AP)—Irish Bobby Murphy and Harry Matthews, a pair of slugger light heavyweights with imposing knock-out records, clash tonight in a Madison Square Garden ten rounder that may earn the victor a title shot with champion Joe Maxim.

Murphy, a southpaw thumper who has been belting his rivals out in jigtime around here for the last six months, is a 10 to 13 favorite.

Finals Tonight

The Coastal Conference Tournament finals are set for tonight in the Farmville high school gym.

Both Ayden teams have advanced to the finals and will be favored to win.

The girls' game will see Ayden take on Farmville at 7:45, and the last game of the night will bring together the Ayden and South Edgecombe boys at 9:00.

State-Maryland Duke-W&M Meet In Semi-Finals

Raleigh, N. C., March 2—(AP)—North Carolina State and its only conqueror in Southern Conference basketball play this season, William and Mary, appeared headed for a showdown battle in the conference tournament finals tomorrow night.

Of course, there was the little matter of semi-final opponents tonight, Maryland for State at 7:30 (EST) and Duke for William and Mary. But from the record-wrecking scoring punch they flashed last night, State and W. & M. looked like the solid choices.

Twice in as many hours the conference team scoring mark for a single game was broken as a record crowd of 11,700 cheered the mass point production.

State started it by routing South Carolina, 83-53, topping by four points North Carolina's two-year-old record made against Maryland. Then William and Mary came along to trounce second-seeded West Virginia, 88-67, in what figured to be a tight game.

The afternoon program produced a pair of sizzlers, Duke coming from 14 points behind to nip Virginia Tech, 64-61, and Maryland outlasting Clemson, 50-48. The twin bill drew 10,500.

Musial Casualty In Cards' Camp

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 2—(AP)—Stan Musial is the St. Louis Cardinals' first casualty of the spring training season. He was struck by a line foul ball that broke a blood vessel in his left ankle yesterday.

The National League batting king regarded the injury as minor. Trainers said he would be out for at least two or three days.

Although woven glass textiles are comparatively new, glass fibers were combined with silk to make fabric centures ago.

NCAA Denies Request Making Four-Year Players Eligible

Chicago, March 2—(AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's Council, the policy-making body, yesterday denied the Southern Conference permission to use four-year varsity players in NCAA championships. This struck a blow at North Carolina State which last night at Raleigh, N. C., defeated South Carolina, 83-53, in opening its bid for a fifth straight Southern Conference title.

North Carolina State has three regulars who are four-year men and thus ineligible to compete if the school gains a berth in the NCAA playoffs. They are captain and forward Sam Ranzino, center Paul Horvath and guard Vic Bubas.

North Carolina State coach Everett Case said he had "absolutely no comment" when advised of the NCAA action. The team already has accepted a bid to New York's National Invitation Tourney in Madison Square Garden.

The council was drafting a statement on gambling and the basketball scandal in New York which has rocked the collegiate sports world.

The NCAA, after discussing the case "fix," expose in opening a three-day session yesterday, announced through president Hugh C. Willlet of Southern California that such a statement was planned.

Such discussions would involve Madison Square Garden. NCAA withdrawal from the Garden of its eastern basketball divisional meets March 20 and March 22 must be considered a possibility.

Last night at Kansas City, the Big Seven Conference faculty committee instructed its members to restrict teams to home grounds of one of the schools involved. Off-campus competition can be made if under the supervision of one of the competing schools, the Big Seven Conference faculty committee instructed its members to restrict teams to home grounds of one of the schools involved. # A FIEND IN NEED

By MILTON K. OZAKI

Chapter 20
It was still Friday night—or was it Saturday morning? Anyway, the hands of the cuckoo clock indicated one o'clock. I had not spent much time with Elaine. We'd rushed to the lab, given Stinky a few delicacies from the canine snack bar, and then I hustled Elaine back to the apartment.
When I pounded into the house at ten-thirty, Caldwell was in the study and, as soon as he saw me, he said, "Come in, Betsy," and then gestured me toward the study.

but his voice as steady. "I was hoping to hear from you."
"Well," Phelan shook his head. "Thomson's murder merely complicates things, but we did find one thing that may interest you." He pulled a paper from his pocket and showed it across the desk. "It clears up the question of his connection with the Anchor Book Store. We found it in his desk."
Caldwell read the paper carefully and then laid it on the desk. "I don't mind doing it again. It was a letter, dated two years previously, on the stationery of the Anchor Book Store, inviting John Niles Thomson to become an honorary official of the firm, to serve in an advisory capacity and to receive in compensation for such services a small annual stipend and a wholesale discount on such books as he might care to purchase. It was signed by John Faraday."
"I apologized once tonight, Professor," Phelan said glumly, "and I don't mind doing it again. Your friend obviously had nothing to do with the management of the store. I'm afraid that, with him dead and everybody else with an alibi, it's going to be a tough case. In fact, it looks to me like the murders are a part of a conspiracy."
"Look, Phelan," I interrupted. "That letter you just showed us was signed by John Faraday. That means that Straw wrote to Professor Thomson, and that—"
"That's another thing," Phelan growled, "and he isn't dead. I found out that John Faraday is not only alive but could hardly be confused with Lawrence Straw."
"In that case," Caldwell began slowly, "this John Faraday is the only person even remotely connected with both Lawrence Straw and Professor Thomson."
"That's right," Phelan raised his hands helplessly. "But M. doesn't help a bit. Faraday is a tall, old, bald-headed man. He runs the book store, all right, but there isn't a particle of resemblance between him and Straw. Not a particle!"
"You're sure the old guy's name is really John Faraday?" I put in.
"I questioned him personally, and he's been in business there for close to ten years. Furthermore, even though Straw owned an interest in the store and might have been sypping him along with the others, Faraday couldn't have committed the murders."
"Why not?"
"He was in Michigan."
"Oh?"
"He took the boat across to St. Joe on Thursday morning and did not get back until late Thursday night."
"Did you check on it?"
"Of course. The purser checked him on—remembered him distinctly—swears he didn't see the boat." "Okay," I said, "I just wanted to make sure."
Caldwell filled his pipe and lit it. "Where did you go when you left Thomson's apartment this evening, Betsy?"
"I went across the hall to see Elaine Ruhl."
"Yes?" He raised his brows slightly.
"Do I have to tell you all about it?"
"Please—and in detail."
I exhaled wearily and started in. He listened to me and nodded from time to time. I tried to avoid telling him that I had the photographs of June Hanson, but he fixed his eyes on me and, seemingly, looked through my clothes and saw them in my pocket.
"May I see the photos?" he asked.
I sighed and handed over the envelope. He opened it delicately and took the pictures out one by one, his eyebrows at a curious angle. Then he put them back in the envelope and returned it to me.
"Thank you," he said, eyeing me thoughtfully. "You may go to bed now."
(To be continued)

Alumni Officers Elected In Meet

James T. Little was elected president of the Pitt County Chapter of the University of North Carolina Alumni Association and Lee H. Folger was elected president of the county chapter of the Education Foundation at a joint meeting of the organizations at the country club here last night. Other officers elected were Dr. H. W. Gooding, Ayden, vice president, and D. C.

Moore, secretary-treasurer of the Alumni Association and Bill Speight, vice president, and H. L. Hodges Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Education Foundation. The meeting was presided over by J. D. Cannon of Ayden, retiring president of the association.

Speakers for the occasion included "Chuck" Erickson, George Hogan, Jim Camp and Jim Gill, members of the athletic council and football coaching staff at the university, and J. C. Lanier of this city. Each of the speakers told of the fine service being rendered by the alumni and members of the foundation in behalf of young athletes who would find it impossible to get an education except for the scholarships.

The members of the coaching staff outlined prospects for this year's university football team and expressed optimism over the possible outcome of the year's activities.

At the conclusion of the meeting a movie of last year's Carolina-Duke freshmen game was shown.

Cases Heard In Recorders Court

Cases heard and disposed of in Wednesday's continuation of County Recorder's Court:

Jessie Bud Williams, assault with deadly weapon (two counts); pleaded guilty, six months, sentenced to run concurrently; carrying concealed weapon, pleaded guilty, sentenced to six months to run concurrently with other two sentences.

Christine Evans Padgett, disorderly conduct and carrying concealed weapon; pleaded not guilty, sentenced to 60 days, suspended on payment of $50 and provided not to go on filing station premises for period of two years; assault with deadly weapon, pleaded not guilty, same judgment as in other case.

Mayell Moore Hassell, abandonment; pleaded not guilty; six months in jail, suspended on payment of $6 per week for support of three children.

Lum Boyd, non-support; pay $20 immediately and $5 per week until balance of money ordered paid in previous court is caught up.

William Fornes, careless and reckless driving and assault with deadly weapon; not guilty to second charge; pleaded not guilty to reckless driving, sentenced to 60 days on first count, suspended on payment of costs and drivers license revoked for 18 months or until victim's hospital bills are paid.

Funeral Held Today For Mrs. O.C. Noble

Mrs. O. C. Noble, 75, died at her home in Ayden Wednesday afternoon about 3 o'clock, following a few hours illness.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Robert N. Johnson of Ayden, and Miss Daphne Noble of Thelie, New York; a son, Osborne C. Noble of Greenville; 2 stepsons, S. F. Noble and John C. Noble, both of Ayden; 1 brother, R. H. Burnette of Bethel; 6 sisters, Mrs. L. H. Belle of Waycross, Georgia, Mrs. D. C. Swindell of Norfolk, Va., Mrs. J. L. Matthews, Mrs. J. J. Wells, Mrs. J. J. Thigpen and Mrs. J. B. Thackston, all of Rocky Mount; 6 grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted from the home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by her pastor, the Rev. W. A. Cade, Methodist minister, assisted by the Rev. W. H. Brunson, Christian minister, and burial followed in the Ayden Cemetery.

Engineers Meet Here Yesterday

Engineers of the first and second highway divisions in eastern North Carolina convened in Greenville Wednesday for a half-day lecture and movies on the making and laying of asphalt.

About 70 employees of the Highway Commission attended the combination lecture and dinner meeting at Respass-James Barbecue House. The engineers represented 26 counties from Onslow north to the Virginia line and from Pitt east to the coast.

Sponsor of the program was the Barber-Green Equipment Company of Aurora, Ill., and Carolina Tractor and Equipment Company of Raleigh. Both companies' factory-trained personnel were present to demonstrate newest types of equipment for construction of North Carolina highways.

R. Markham, division engineer of the Greenville office, was host for the meeting.

Rise In Living . . .

Following are figures on various items, showing how much they increased in cost to consumers between Jan. 15, 1950 and Dec. 15, 1950 and, in parentheses, how much they've increased since the 1935-39 period before the war:

Food—9.9 per cent (115 per cent); wearing apparel—6.2 (96.4); rent—26 (25.8); fuel, such as coal and oil, and electricity—2.9 (44.1); house furnishings—8.8 (104.8); miscellaneous, such as prices paid for transportation, recreation, medical care, and so on—4.4 (62).

As of Dec. 15, 1950 living costs had risen 78.4 per cent since the 1935-39 period.

Crash Results . . .

(Continued from page one) truck driver for the past three months. He was the son of George M. and Rosa Lee Jones Woolard of near Greenville.

Surviving are his parents; four brothers, H. Cabert Woolard of near Greenville; L. Marshall Woolard of Corpus Christi, Texas; Dewey D. Woolard of near Bethel; and Lester Lee Woolard of the home; and two sisters, Mrs. Vernon Everett of near Belvoir and Mrs. Dott Adams of near Beaufort.

Wage Hike . . .

(Continued from Page 1) sion did not clearly specify whether a similar increase would apply to some 30 laborers regularly employed by the utilities on an hourly basis, and some 36 other laborers who are now employed by the utilities for special construction work.

Toy Martin, chairman of the commission, could not be contacted this morning to clarify the question John G. Clark, vice chairman of the commission, and a member of the utilities committee which recommended the increase to the commission, said he was of the opinion the question of hourly workers was not covered in the committee's discussion on the wage hike. "The only thing we covered was men on regular salaries," Clark stated.

The matter of increased salaries for city employees was raised at the aldermen's meeting in February when Chief of Police Guy C. Langston requested the aldermen to grant a ten per cent increase in salaries to the members of the police department. His request was followed by a similar request from Chief George Gardner of the fire department. The finance committee of the aldermen was instructed by the board to make a study of the entire salary structure of the city employees and make a recommendation to the board.

When asked this morning whether the salary raise would be affected by the recent federal freeze on wages, City Attorney R. B. Lee said the question had not been raised before, and he could not give an opinion immediately.

Local Red . . .

(Continued from Page 1) names of the Negro workers under chairman W. H. Davenport who will solicit funds from the Negro sections of Greenville. Davenport's plan is to break the city up into zones for easier solicitation. His co-workers will be: John Bizzell, Leroy Barnes, T. T. Mitchell, D. D. Garrett, Mrs. M. B. Allen and Mrs. Fannie Jackson. Additional workers will be recruited in an effort to contact each colored person, Davenport said.

Mafia . . .

When I first embarked on newspaper work over 40 years ago I frequently ran across the many trails of the Black Hand. This was true both in New York and in provincial cities. Many Italians lived in terror of this terrible secret society which used its power for extortions.

The Mafia apparently got its other name of "Black Hand" from the fact that blackmailing demands, warnings and death sentences bore that chilling symbol—the picture of a hand in black. It was something of this sort which was used against the New Orleans jury.

Aldermen . . .

(Continued From Page One) dation, the board authorized the city clerk to issue an election call for the May 7 city elections in accordance with the proposed changes to be made in the city charter by the proposed legislation. In the May election the voters of Greenville will elect a mayor and five members to the board of aldermen.

Instructions were given Chief of Police Guy C. Langston to enforce immediately the city ordinance which requires the display of city tags on local automobiles.

The board reappointed W. H. Woolard for another term on the city utilities commission, and reappointed H. H. Duncan for another term on the firemen's relief fund committee. The respective terms of the
