Americans Enter Red Stronghold

Tank Force Moves Into Chunchon As Chinese Withdraw To The North; Allies Meet Strong Resistance North Of Seoul; Fresh Chinese Corps On Western Front

Tokyo, March 21—(AP)—An American tank force today rumbled into the former Chinese stronghold of Chunchon. It met only flag-waving Korean civilians.

The Chinese, who had made the central Korean road center their troop massing point in South Korea, apparently had withdrawn north of parallel 38.

Chunchon is 8 1/2 miles south of the Red Korean border.

It was from Chunchon that the Chinese mounted their two massive offensives in January and February against Wonju, deep in central Korea.

On the western front, South Korean and American tank forces ranging up the historic invasion route of Korea, bumped into bitter Communist resistance north of Seoul.

An American tank patrol on the road to Uijongbu ran into a heavy mine field.

"The small arms and mortar fire were so intense that it was impossible for the men to leave the tanks and remove the mines," an operations officer said.

On the east coast South Korean units were officially placed within 8 1/2 miles of the old border between North and South Korea. Patrols may have reached or crossed the imaginary line.

AP Correspondent Tom Bradshaw reported from the central front that United Nations troops were unopposed by the vanishing enemy. He said armored patrols were probing the area between the main allied lines and parallel 38.

Earlier reports placed American units five miles south of Chunchon.

From Eighth Army headquarters AP Correspondent Bradshaw reported: "In pulling back from Chunchon, the Chinese Communists apparently have withdrawn their main forces back north of the 38th parallel."

On the east-central front, American artillery and planes decimated a small enemy concentration forming for an attack northwest of Pusan. About half the 200 Reds were killed.

A British general told Eighth Army correspondents the Reds would not regain the initiative in Korea. Lt. Gen. Richard Nelson Gale, director general of training in the British army, said the U. N. forces are slowly and methodically pursuing their own course.

He did not say whether the allies planned to cross the politically significant border, but said British troops in the Eighth Army would carry out any orders given them.

Erickson reported fresh Chinese troops were digging in on the western front north of Seoul. This may indicate the Reds are trying to slow down or halt the allied advance up the center by posing a serious threat on the U. N.'s western flank.

A fresh Chinese Army Corps, the 38th, has moved into position about 30 miles northeast of the battered old South Korean capital. It was screening the withdrawal of other Red troops.

This shift of forces, allied officers said, may be the start of a maneuver by which the rested Chinese Third Field Army may replace the Chinese Fourth Field Army all across the front.

Costello Again Defies Probers On Wealth Issue

New York, March 21—(AP)—Underworld Boss Frank Costello today defied Senate crime investigators for the fourth time in their efforts to find out his net worth. He said he wouldn't answer the question.

With the same sullen stubbornness he has displayed when the matter came up previously, Costello said the committee was asking for information it had no right to.

"I refused before," Costello said. "I'm not going to answer that question."

The gambler, labeled by the committee as head of a national crime syndicate, pictured himself to the committee as one now engaged in purely legitimate business.

And he said he wasn't going to talk about what assets he has.

Costello pictured himself as a promoter of jet broilers for the benefit of housewives with small apartments.

He conceded before the Senate Crime Committee the jet broiler business hadn't taken up much of his time so far.

"It's in its infancy," he said. "It's just started."

Meanwhile, Senate crime investigators issued a second invitation to New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey to testify before them about gambling at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Dewey had brushed aside a previous invitation, suggesting instead that the senators come to the State Capitol at Albany to hear his views. But the committee rejected this idea.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), committee chairman, renewed the committee's invitation at the opening of the final and eighth day of the sensation-packed New York public hearings.

"It is unfortunate that Governor Dewey has not seen fit to come down and give us any information he might have," Kefauver commented.

He added that it wasn't a practice of the committee to command governors to appear, so he said the committee would say again; it hoped Dewey will show up for subsequent hearings in Washington.

The Tennessee senator said the committee "appreciates greatly" that it was invited to come to Albany but that "it is manifestly impossible for us to go."

He said the committee will be holding hearings in Washington the latter part of this week and the first of next.

Last week, the committee heard testimony about wide-open gambling at the fashionable horse racing and resort area at Saratoga, and it was then Dewey's appearance was suggested. Kefauver said the committee felt "the Saratoga matter" should be cleared up by Dewey.

Gambler Claims Legitimate Business; Dewey Again Invited To Testify

Oklahoma City, March 21—(AP)—William E. Cook, Jr., 26, today was sentenced to terms totaling 300 years in "Alcatraz or another safe prison where he has no chance to escape" for the slaying of the five members of the Carl Mosser family of Alwood, Illinois.

U.S. District Judge Stephen Chandler gave Cook 60 years for each of five counts in the kidnap-murder of Mr. and Mrs. Mosser and their three children.

"Society stands indicted for permitting this child to grow up in inhuman conditions that permitted these crimes," Chandler said.

Cook showed no emotion.

Acquits Field Of Contempt Charge

Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who presided at Field's trial without a jury, granted a defense motion for acquittal.

The judge held Field was within his constitutional rights in refusing to answer questions of a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee on grounds his answers might incriminate him.

Field was charged with contemptuously refusing to answer 32 questions during an investigation of charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that communists had infiltrated the state department.

Field, great grandson of Cornelius Vanderbilt, was linked with communism in testimony from Louis Budenz, a former communist.

Judge Goldsborough commented: "The court is of the opinion that if the defendant (Field) had answered all these 32 questions in the affirmative—in a certain way—it would have taken very little more evidence to put him in the penitentiary."

McClellan Proposes Truman Withdraw His Plan For RFC

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Expenditures Committee proposed today that President Truman withdraw temporarily his hotly disputed plan to revamp the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

He said Congress should be allowed to work out its own solution to the fate of RFC, huge government lending agency. A Senate Banking subcommittee contends the RFC has fallen under the control of an influence ring with White House contacts.

McClellan made his suggestion as his committee opened public hearings on the President's proposal to abolish the five-man RFC board of directors and put the agency under a single administrator.

"This plan should be withdrawn temporarily," McClellan said.

Senator Maybank (D-SC), chairman of the full Banking committee who spoke as the lead off witness, said he thought that "might be a good idea."

Maybank said he considers the President's plan in any event would not be a final solution, and that his committee wants to work out ideas of its own on what to do with RFC. He said he intends to call hearings immediately on several proposals to abolish the agency.

Actor Says He Was Once A Red

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Movie actor Larry Parks said today he was a communist ten years ago but later quit the party.

Parks was the first witness in a renewed hunt by the House committee on Un-American Activities for communist influence in Hollywood and movie making.

He is best known to movie goers for his lead role in "The Jolson Story."

Germany Are Restive

Widening Gulf Between Germany And The West; Bickering And Distrust Among Allies And West German Government Mounting; What Does America Want?

By BRACK CURRY

Bonn, Germany—Some allied officials fear that a gulf is widening between Germany and the West which is strengthening the hand of Soviet Russia.

Forty-seven million West Germans in the center of Europe are becoming increasingly restive under allied occupation controls, these officials say.

Behind-the-scenes bickering and distrust between allied officials and German leaders is reported mounting. In Bonn, the capital, a drum-fire of criticism against the allies is heard.

Allied officials say Western Europe's growing confidence in its ability to defend itself against the communist threat is not matched in Germany.

They concede that West German leaders sincerely hope to align the nation with the West, including an eventual German armed contribution to the Atlantic army. But German leaders tell allied chiefs in private that they cannot pass rearmament legislation until the last shackles of occupation are scrapped. They are prodding the allies to place allied-German relations on a basis of equality now.

They claim thousands of Germans write: "Why should we fight for the Allied High Commission? Give us freedom and then we'll fight the Russians if they come."

The Germans have proposed a convention guaranteeing the rights of alien troops in Germany. But direct talks with the Germans on winding up the occupation have not started. The allies argue that the complexities of the "contractual arrangement" promised them by the Brussels foreign ministers conference last December.

"We can't just put the Germans out in a nice green pasture and let them alone," an allied official commented. "The Germans have offered us in general all the necessary rights. But we must have a precise arrangement spelling out the rights of our troops as individuals and as armies. Otherwise there will be chaos when the occupation ends."

By allied estimate, 18 months will

Fourth To Enter Aldermanic Race

Harry Spreitzer, co-owner of Carolina Plastic Products, filed as a candidate for alderman for the fourth ward in Greenville yesterday afternoon.

Spreitzer will oppose James H. Little, former member of the police force, who announced earlier his candidacy for the post of alderman from the fourth ward. Walter M. Pollard, incumbent from the fourth ward, has not yet publicly announced whether he will seek reelection in the city balloting on May 7.

Spreitzer was the fourth candidate to officially file for the city elections in May. The two who have filed besides Spreitzer and Little are Alderman Heber B. Tripp of the first ward and Alderman R. E. (Yank) Howell of the third ward, both of whom filed for reelection.

The voters of Greenville will elect five members of the board of aldermen and a mayor in the May election. This year for the first time, the election of the aldermen will be on a city-wide basis. All the voters of the city will have the opportunity to vote on the candidates for aldermen in each ward. Defense Loan Practices Spur House Investigators

Washington, March 21—(AP)—House investigators spurred by a proposed loan of $7,800,000 to a group which put up only $600 cash were off today on a new hunt for "questionable practices" in government lending—this time by the defense setup.

The House probers aimed their queries at the National Production Authority (NPA), blaming it for approving a loan turned down by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC)—which itself is under heavy fire from Senate investigators.

Directly involved are a number of the 19 defense loans approved by the NPA since the start of the national emergency.

The investigation stemmed from committee testimony that NPA—overriding a strongly adverse recommendation of the RFC—okayed a $7,800,000 loan application by a Hazleton, Pa. group which put up only $600 of its own money.

The loan was approved although responsible NPA officials conceded they made no independent check of the background or credit rating of the applicants.

The loan was for the Hazleton Steel Tubing Co. on application of its three principal stockholders—Benjamin S. Dowd, Martin C. Charles and James H. Hopkins.

Although approved by NPA, the loan has yet to be made because the principals have not yet put up another $1,000,000 of private capital to meet NPA requirements.

Chairman Hardy (D-Va.) of the House expenditures subcommittee charged it was a $600 venture which would make the applicants "multi-millionaires" with a paid-up plant after five years.

Spring Is Here, Though Weather Isn't Any Clue

The first day of spring has arrived and with it came cloudy and rainy weather, gloomy faces and a few murmurs of disgust. But on the bright side of the day were found many evidences of spring: Anyone just joy-riding around Greenville and not having too many wild affairs on his mind, will find the yards covered with a multiple array of pink, blue and white hazy, yellow, jonquils, narcissus and other spring flowers.

Another evidence of spring can be found downtown at the high school. Preparations for graduation are in

Communities Of Pitt Prepare For Elections In May

Falkland Is Only Town That Will Be Politically Quiet Through 1951

By JOHN SPINKS, JR.

Elections this year in the towns of the county will fan the fires of political activity while those of the national scene are just beginning to glow.

All but one of the nine incorporated towns in Pitt will have elections during May and although no one has filed for this or that office the approaching deadlines of the respective towns will bring out the candidates soon.

Falkland is the only town that will be politically quiet through 1951. The mayor and three commissioners were elected last year for two-year terms and will come up for re-election next year.

Among the others outside Greenville—Farmville, Grimesland, Bethel, Grifton, Ayden, Winterville and Fountain—all will hold their elections in May. Most of the town officials in those towns, with the exception of Winterville and Ayden, come up for election this year and must file either in April or early in May.

In Ayden two commissioners have terms remaining in their present terms but three others have to run. If they want to, as does the mayor and judge of Recorder's Court. The filing deadline is May 2, five days prior to the election.

Winterville, like Ayden, has its aldermen's term staggered. This year only the mayor and one of the three aldermen will have to run for election. Election there is also May 7 with April 21 the filing deadline.

In Bethel, it is understood, the voters will see a more than familiar name on the ballot. That is J. W. Rook who has been mayor of the town for 25-30 years, all of them in successive two-year terms except one term in which Rook was beaten. In addition to the mayor's office, the voters will cast ballots for five commissioners, also. The election will be held May 7 with filing deadline set for April 24. All offices are for two-year terms.

In two of the towns the present mayors are undecided as to whether to run again or not. Mayor J. L. Peele of Fountain, who has held that office for four years, stated he is on the fence and can fall on either of two sides.

"If I do it," he said, "I've been mayor for two terms and have done a little street work that I wanted done. Some of 'em didn't like it though."

Fountain will have a town convention prior to the May 1 election. That will be the night of April 24 at which time the candidates will be nominated. Those who aren't nominated will have to file by convention time due to the 30-day

No Clemency For Condemned Pair

Raleigh, N. C., March 21—(AP)—Two white men will be executed Friday for murder.

Governor Scott announced today he would not extend clemency in the cases of Curtis Shedd, accused of killing three members of a Georgia family, and James Richard Hall, convicted of murdering his sister-in-law.

The Governor said that the two men had been interviewed by Patrols Commissioner Dr. T. C. Johnson and examined by psychiatrists.

To Discuss Pitt Fat Stock Show

Members of the agricultural committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and the vocational agricultural teachers of the county will meet tonight at the J. W. Fountaine home to discuss the arrangements being made for the Pitt county fat stock show.

The show has been scheduled for April 19, and is expected to attract 30 or more fat beef calves. It will be the first fat stock show held in Pitt county.

New Approach To Auto Inspection Given Approval

Raleigh, March 21—(AP)—Legislation calling for a new approach to the problem of motor vehicle inspection won the okay of the Senate Roads committee today.

The committee action came on a close vote with Chairman Junius K. Powell of Columbus breaking a seven-all tie to give the bill a favorable report.

The bill would require motorists to present certificates of inspection each year when they get their automobile license tags. These would certify that the car had been inspected within 12 months. Patrolmen, local peace officers and approved garagemen would be authorized to make these inspections.

The bill was prepared by a subcommittee and contains features of bills introduced by Sens. Carl T. Hicks of Greene and Hawley Poole of Moore.

GRANTED PAROLE

Raleigh, March 21—(AP)—Governor Scott has paroled 16 prisoners, parole commissioner Dr. T. C. Johnson announced today. All had served one-fourth of their terms which ranged from 12 months to 15 years. Among those paroled was Albert Ellis, 31, sentenced in Pitt to 2-4 years for armed robbery.

Union Leaders Charge Congress For Squabble

Weak Defense Production Act Said Cause Of Mobilization Squabble; Claim Law Larded With Privilege

Washington, March 21—(AP)—The heads of the AFL and the CIO today accused Congress of being to blame for the mobilization squabble. It enacted a weak Defense Production Act, they charged.

AFL President William Green, addressing a conference of AFL, AFL-CIO machinists and rail union officials at a precedent-making nationwide rally, said Congress had "failed the people."

"In adopting the Defense Production Act last year," Green said in a prepared speech, "Congress went out of its way to lard the law with special privilege for business interests. Under that law, which expires on June 30, it is virtually impossible to stabilize the cost of living."

"In deference to the real estate lobby, Congress acted to decontrol rents. In obedience to the financial interests of the nation, it adopted tax laws that soak the poor and spare the rich."

"Second, the administration became intimidated by the reactionary coalition that rules the roost in Congress. Apparently, it decided to appease Congress in order to get some cooperation from Congress."

"This policy of appeasement x x x resulted in the appointment of big business executives to almost every significant position in defense agencies."

"The results speak for themselves."

Not a single recommendation by labor representatives in the defense program was adopted. Our views were either ignored, or the exact opposite of our proposals was put into effect. x x x

"We decided, therefore, to take a dramatic step. We voted unanimously for the withdrawal of labor representatives from all defense agencies in which they were serving. We felt that this was the only way we could effectively impress upon the American people the shocking failures and the gross inequities of defense policies."

The labor meetings here yesterday and today are aimed at enlisting the support of community groups, through the local and state leaders attending, behind the United Labor Policy Committee's fight.

New Air Force Will Be Activated

Headquarters Site Announced For Greenville, S.C.

Langley Air Force Base, Va., March 21—(AP)—The Eighteenth Air Force (Troop Carrier) will be activated March 26 with headquarters at Greenville, S.C.

Lt. Gen. John E. Cannon, commanding general of the Troop Carrier Command, announced today.

Activation of this entirely new Troop Carrier Air Force will bring the total of the active air forces in the United States Air Force to 13, Cannon told a news conference.

The Eighteenth Air Force will combine under one organization all troop carrier units stationed in the continental United States.

Cannon said it will provide one headquarters whose primary mission will be to carry out the troop carrier responsibilities of the Air Force in conjunction with all other armed forces of the national military establishment.

The commanding general of the Eighteenth Air Force will be announced by Cannon in the near future.

Cannon said security reasons prevented any disclosure concerning the number of troop carrier units now in service.

He said that some troop carrier units being recalled to active duty are using obsolescent equipment carried over from World War II.

Turnpike Bill Is Given Go-Ahead

Raleigh, N. C., March 21—(AP)—Legislation to create a State Turnpike Authority cleared its second hurdle in the legislature today after rigid inspection by a Senate Judiciary committee.

The measure, which has the backing of Governor Scott, would create an authority empowered to build super-toll highways and bridges through the issuance of revenue bonds. The bonds would be repaid from tolls and other revenue without pledging the credit of the state.

WALL FALLS ON CHILDREN

Milan, Italy, March 21—(AP)—A high garden wall toppled over today on a group of 50 children seeking shelter from a sudden 65-mile-per-hour wind, killing 13 and injuring 29 others. The age of the victims ranged from four to six and 12 of the dead were girls.

College Deferment

An Explanation Of, And Events Leading To, The Suggested Test For High School Graduates For Deferment From Military Duty; Uncertain Fate For Proposal

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, March 21—(A)—There's still nothing definite about the plan proposed by Selective Service to give high school graduates draft-deferment for college if they can make 70 in a special test.

This plan was disclosed last week. Since then Selective Service has said nothing about it. Nor has it offered even an explanation of what is meant by "70" in a test. This is an attempt to give an explanation, obtained from a completely reliable source other than Selective Service.

It's generally agreed that some youths should be deferred from the draft so they can complete their education in college and beyond because of this country's continuing need for a supply of college-trained men.

At present, under the draft law, only men 19 through 25 are draftable and many of those in school have had their induction postponed because they're in school.

But Congress at this moment is considering changes in the law, perhaps to permit drafting of youths as young as eighteen or eighteen and one-half years. Final congressional decision on this has not been reached.

Under the law the President can lay down rules—its called issuing a directive—about deferment of youths, such as those in school.

For many months many educators have been working with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey and his selective service people to find some fair and reasonable system for deferring men who want to go to college or are in.

Brain and willingness to work in school are the two main factors. So Hershey proposed that high school graduates be deferred for college if they can make 70 or more in a special test.

(Once they were in college, their continued deferment under this proposal would depend on their standing in their class.)

Hershey sent his recommendation to Charles E. Wilson, boss of mobilization, and Arthur Flemming, who serves under Wilson and is chairman of Wilson's special board on manpower policy. This board is made up of top govern-

Peggy Edwards Honored At Shower Party

Miss Peggy Glenn Edwards, who will be married on Easter Sunday to James Clifton Paige Jr., was complimented on Wednesday night when the hostesses at the Guaranty Bank entertained for her at the home of Mrs. Heber Forehand.

The party was held between the hours of 8:00-10:00 p.m. The guests were invited into the living room, which was lovely with spring flowers consisting of arrangements of carnations and daffodils. The gifts were arranged in an attractively covered white basket which was tied with pink ribbon.

The dining table was covered with a mint green organdy cloth and the centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of narcissus. On either side of the arrangement white tapers were used in crystal candle holders which were tied with ribbon and fern. Mrs. J. G. Paige Sr. served lime ice from a crystal punch bowl placed at the end of the table, while silver compotes contained nuts and Easter eggs as bridal cakes. Attractively cut sandwiches were used to serve the 20 guests present for the shower party.

Sings was played as entertainment and was enjoyed by everyone. Several amusing prizes were awarded the winners.

Miss Edwards was given a corsage of pink carnations upon her arrival and was presented a silver bread tray as a remembrance from the hostesses.

Series of Meetings Reported From Fountain Churches

Circles 1 and 2 of the Presbyterian Church met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Philip M. Cory.

The president, Mrs. Ben H. Owens, called the meeting to order. Mrs. G. E. Trevathan, program, chairman, was in charge of the devotional, and was assisted by Mrs. Lillian Mercer and Mrs. Lalar Owens. The subject of the Bible Study was: "Paul's Prayer for the Family of God." The title of the article read by Mrs. Meror was: "The Stewardship of Saturday Night," written by Bob S. Hodges, Jr.

During the business meeting, it was discussed and decided to have the revival meeting at a later date than in April as first planned, because the repair work inside of the church can't be completed in time to have the revival at the church this month.

There were twelve members present and two visitors. The visitors were Sarah and Sandra Smith.

At the conclusion of the business meeting the hostess, Mrs. Ben H. Owens, assisted by Mrs. Philip M. Cory and daughter, Sarah and Sandra, served refreshments.

There were nineteen members present at the March class meeting of the Young Adult Sunday School Class of the Fountain Presbyterian Church, which was held on Wednesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Everett, with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Baker co-hosts.

Twelve members attended the Youth Fellowship meeting of Fountain Presbyterian Church at the home of Mrs. C. L. Owens, Sunday, March 18.

Rev. Philip M. Cory was the speaker.

The Youth Fellowship of the Fountain Presbyterian Church will meet in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Owens Sunday, March 25, at 5:45 p. m.

The Fountain Presbyterian Church Choir rehearsal will be held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harris, Wednesday of this week at 7:15 p. m.

The Fountain Presbyterian Church Easter Service will be held in the Fountain School auditorium at eleven o'clock. Rev. Philip M. Cory, pastor, will be the speaker.

Thursday, March 22, at two o'clock, Mrs. J. E. Fountain, Presbyterian president, of Leggetta, N.C., will conduct the officers training class, with the women of Grace Presbyterian Church, Route 1, Maclefield, in the church.

The officers are: president, Mrs. Guy Moore; vice-president, Mrs. Jesse Deans; secretary, Mrs. Jonas Deal; treasurer, Mrs. Stephen Deans; historian, Mrs. W. Jenness Moore; circle chairman, Mrs. Joe Moore; chairman of stewardship, Mrs. William Baker; chairman of annuities and relief, Mrs. Eddie Strickland. The remaining chairmen will be elected at this meeting of the Women of the Church officers' training class.

Circle 2 Young Women of Fountain Presbyterian Church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Carter Smith.

Mrs. Paul Burnette gave the Bible Study.

A large crowd attended the Aspin Grove Free Will Baptist Church prayer service, held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Webb, Sunday evening.

Mr. Miller of Grimesland was the guest speaker.

Sponsors For Annual Pika Ball

43rd ANNUAL

The forty-third annual Pika Ball is scheduled to begin this weekend with active members and alumni participating in three days of festivities. The Pika Ball is a tradition on the State College Campus, and it always comes on Easter Monday.

This year the Pikas have made plans for many activities. Starting the weekend off with a bang, the Pikas have planned a social hour on Saturday afternoon to be followed by the traditional banquet at the S. and W. Cafeteria on Saturday night.

On Sunday morning church will be attended. Some even plan to attend Sunrise Services. Late Sunday afternoon there will be a picnic at Crabtree Creek which will end the festivities for Sunday.

Monday afternoon the Fraternity members will welcome back old timers and many faculty members.

Chancellor Harrelson, Dean Cloyd, and Dean Wood are among those who have been extended invitations. The festivities of the weekend will come to a close on Monday night with the formal ball in the Virginia Dare Ball Room of the Sir Walter Hotel. Bob Lee and his orchestra will provide the music for the dance.

The Pikas will be decked out in white dinner jackets to distinguish them from the guests present.

WANT STATE FLAG
Goldsboro, N.C., March 21—(AP)—Goldsboro has been asked to provide a North Carolina state flag to be raised on the 38th parallel in Korea.

That request came yesterday to the Goldsboro Chamber of Commerce, according to Manager James W. Butler.

Two Senior Students In Music Recital Monday Evening

Two senior students were presented Monday night in their graduating recital by the department of music at East Carolina Teachers College. Louise Brooks of Falcon, mezzo soprano, and Nell Dean Owen of Asheville, pianist, appeared before an appreciative audience in the Austin auditorium in a joint program of songs and compositions for the piano. Marietta Hooper of Elizabeth City was Miss Brooks' accompanist.

Three groups of numbers were presented by Miss Brooks on the evening's program. Among selections were "The Spring with her Dowry" from Saint-Saens' "Samson and Delilah," "Pur dicesti o bocca bella" by Lotti, and a group of modern songs by Faure, Edwards, and Curran. She is a pupil of Dan E. Vornholt of the department of music.

Miss Owen's selections included works by Beethoven, Chopin, and Debussy. As her opening number she played Beethoven's "Sonata in C Minor, Opus 13," and gave as other numbers a Chopin nocturne and waltz, Debussy's "Arabesque No 1 in E Major" and his "La fille aux cheveux de lin." She is a student of Elizabeth Drake of the college music faculty.

The stage of the Austin building was attractively decorated for the occasion with arrangements of gladioli. The audience included friends of the student performers from both the campus and the city.

Marine Recruiter To Be In Greenville For One Day Each Week

Sgt. E. C. Wooten from the U. S. Marine Corps Recruiting Station, Rocky Mount, N. C., will be in the Post Office building of Greenville, from 12:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. each Wednesday during the remainder of March and the month of April, for the purpose of interviewing applicants for volunteer enlistments in the regular Marine Corps and the Marine Corps Reserve.

Many men who previously applied for enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps and were rejected for enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps and were rejected because of dental defects, will find that under new regulations, they are now qualified to enlist in the regular Marine Corps for a period of three or four years or in the Marine Corps Reserve for an indefinite period.

Choir Of Emmanuel College Appears In Program At ECTC

The Choir of Emmanuel College, Franklin Springs, Ga., appeared in a program of sacred music Tuesday at noon at East Carolina Teachers College. The music group is making this spring its first extensive tour.

The Emmanuel Choir sang at the weekly chapel program at East Carolina. Dr. Robert Holt, director of religious activities on the campus here, introduced the group to an audience of several hundred faculty members and students.

Members of the Choir were dressed for the program in blue robes. Directed by Prof. Harold Paul, they sang hymns and other sacred music appropriate to the Easter season.

Dr. Drum, president of Emmanuel College, accompanied the group to Greenville.

Last Rites Thursday For Mrs. R. Ormond

Mrs. Elizabeth Ormond, 75, died in a Camp Butner Hospital at Camp Butner, N.C. Tuesday morning following a long illness. Funeral services will be conducted at the Pentecostal Holiness Church in Vanceboro Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. R. H. Bradford, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Dave Fulcher, Pentecostal Holiness minister of Vanceboro, and burial will be in the Chandler family cemetery nearby.

Mrs. Ormond was born and reared at Bath. She was married to R. A. Ormond, who died in 1948.

Surviving are two sons, Wherry C. Ormond of Vanceboro and Jesse R. Ormond of South Norfolk, Va.; 10 grandchildren; 16 great grandchildren; a brother, Andrew Mason of Baltimore; four sisters, Mrs. Maggie Adams, Mrs. Della Woolard, and Mrs. Josephine Bowen, all of Washington, and Mrs. Nona Poole of Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans and son Eddie, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Evans and Bobby Evans visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Moseley in Fountain Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carraway and daughter of Newport News, Va., visited their parents in Farmville and Snow Hill during the weekend. Jimmie Rae remained for an extended visit with her grandparents and Mr. Bruce Cobb returned with them to Newport News.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bateman and children of Goldsboro moved last week into the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Carraway on 412 E. Church Street.

Robert Barrett Jr. spent the weekend with his family.

Cpl. Harvey L. Davis Jr. has been transferred from the Hawaiian Islands to the Marshall Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Tyson and children, Stanley and Olivia, were recent visitors in Norfolk, Va. with Mrs. Tyson's sister, Mrs. Garland Edgerton.

Billy Weatherford of Rocky Mount spent a few days recently with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams and Mrs. J. C. Wilson and daughter of Greenville and Mrs. G. S. Williams were recent visitors in LaGrange with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. P. Smithwick.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Keels and daughters Betty and Esther of Cheraw, S.C. spent the weekend with Mrs. E. N. Petteway, Mrs. Keel's sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Paylor of Raleigh spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Paylor.

Mrs. Willie Gray Allen Sr. underwent an operation at Pitt Memorial Hospital last Tuesday.

Mrs. A. J. Green spent several days recently in Sanford and Dunn with relatives.

M. E. Dixon is a patient at Duke Hospital.

Mrs. George Edwards of Snow Hill visited her mother, Mrs. J. A. Mewborn, Sunday.

Miss Janet Sianell, student at ECTC, spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stancell. Miss Jean Easley, teacher at Warsaw, spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Cherry Easley.

Pre-Easter service began at the Christian Church Sunday. Rev. Z. B. T. Cox, pastor, will do the preaching each evening at 7:45. John D. Holmes, former minister of music at Tabernacle Baptist Church in Raleigh, will be song leader at the Sunday morning service.

The Farmville choir of the Presbyterian Church sang a special at Falkland Presbyterian Church Sunday night, where Mr. C. F. Baucom will be song leader during this week's revival. Rev. Patterson of Meadowbrook is doing the preaching.

Meadowbrook Women Meet
The Circle of the Meadowbrook Women of the Church met on Monday night, March 12, at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Oscar Roebuck. Mrs. Bill Sullivan, president, called the meeting to order and opened it with silent prayer by the group.

Fourteen members responded to the roll which was called by the secretary, Mrs. J. E. Speight. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Mrs. Sullivan announced the Presbyterian meeting to be held in Washington, N.C. on April 3rd and 4th. Mrs. Jack Russell Jr. was appointed as one of the delegates to represent Meadowbrook at this meeting.

The report of the nominating committee for new officers for the year was read by Mrs. W. G. Sullivan. No other nominations were made; so it was moved and seconded that these ladies be accepted.

Mrs. L. C. Powell Jr., chairman of spiritual growth, reminded the group that Spiritual Enrichment Week will begin April 1 with the revival following the business session. Mrs. C. D. Patterson led a very interesting Bible study of "Paul's Prayers" or "Great Bible Prayers." It was concluded by seasonal prayers from the group.

Because the group had failed to have their Bible study in December, it was suggested that there be an afternoon meeting Tuesday, March 20, at 2:30 p.m. so as to complete the study book for the year.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. J. W. Anderson.

Farmville Planning For Farmers Day On May 9

Farmville, March 21.—Plans have been formulated for Farmville's first annual Farmers Day celebration to be held on Wednesday afternoon, May 9th.

A beauty contest, parade, including many musical bands from Eastern North Carolina and a warehouse dance after the day's activities will be included in the program for the day it was announced today.

Work is moving forward rapidly under the supervision of Chamber of Commerce Secretary Fred Moore, President of the Merchants Association Eli Joyner, Jr., and Sam Bundy, general chairman.

Committee assignments have been made and local civic clubs have been asked to handle specific features dealing with the parade.

Direction of the beauty pageant will be handled by the Rotary Club members while the Kiwanis Club will be in charge of the plans for the holding of the parade.

A varied selection of valuable prizes have been collected for distribution during the day's events for the persons taking part. Awards will be given to the winners in many of the events which will be staged in addition to the parade and dance.

One of the officials in charge of the planning stated that it has long been the aim of the Farmville merchants to have such a celebration in order that the local merchants would show their appreciation for the citizens who have been doing business in Farmville. The event which is being staged for the first time this year is planned to become an annual affair.

Injunction Order Closes Station

A temporary injunction has been brought against operators of Veterans Service Station 2116 Dickinson Avenue, by Solicitor W. J. Bundy and the place has been ordered closed.

The injunction was brought against Leland (T-Bone) Stancil and Jinx Haddock, operators of the station. The injunction order states there is "carousing, drinking, gambling and fighting" at the station, that wine, beer and liquor are sold illegally, and that the place constitutes a public nuisance.

Haddock and Stancil have been ordered to appear in Superior Court to show cause why the station should not be closed. The injunction was ordered without bond.

SKINNY GIRLS GAIN WEIGHT

and improve your figure in 30 days or money back
If you're deficient in Vitamins A, D, B₁ and Iron
Are you slender or just plain skinny

Skinny girls (and even too) troubled with such Vitamin and Mineral deficiencies—here's your chance to gain needed weight and fill out upsy hollows and round out that scrawny figure—Take the Real McCoy Tablets—

The Real McCoy Tablets (also a wonderful monastic tonic) are full of healthful elements. They increase your appetite so that you eat more nourishing food, and it's better digested and absorbed. The Real McCoy Tablets also contain IRON to help build up red blood in simple anemia. If after 30 days you don't gain weight, strength and energy—feel and look better, your money back. Only 98c, six dozen.

Taxes Cut Into British Smoking

London—(AP)—Taxes on cigarettes are cutting Britain's smoking. With a pack of 20 costing three shillings and sixpence (48 U. S. cents)—about two shillings and ninepence of that tax—demand is falling off, manufacturers report. But the demand is still greater than the supply.

Efforts to produce a cheaper cigarette but with the same tobacco by using filter tips are described as "pretty discouraging."

Dollar restrictions are forcing some firms to increase their proportion of non-dollar tobacco. A few years ago the proportion was 30 per cent non-dollar tobacco to 70 per cent dollar, but now the ratio is nearer 40-60.

Oil Sought In Mojave Desert

Western oil men are keeping an eye on drilling operations on the vast Mojave desert across the mountains.

While no one has struck oil there yet in commercial quantities, some experts believe it's there to be found. In several areas derricks now point skyward among the yucca and Joshua trees. Test wells are being drilled near Barstow, Victorville, Oro Grande, Healdale and Harvard.

Walls 40 feet thick encircle and divide Peiping, China.

Foresters Urge Fire Prevention

State and Federal foresters of the Southern Region have issued a plea to all citizens to help make the 1951 cooperative Forest Fire Prevention campaign a success.

State Forester W. K. Belchler states "Our war against this prime home-front enemy is unrelenting" and since the threat of wars overseas against communist forces, may develop into a long struggle, requiring heavy drains on all our natural and other resources, it is vitally important that the forests be protected."

The production of wood cannot be maintained or fully increased to meet essential needs so long as careless or malicious people, burn more timber each year than is used by the pulp mills.

Belchler also stated that the new campaign would follow a pattern similar to that of last year in which special posters, publications, stamps, blotters, bookmarks and car cards would be given out in various sections of the region.

Special programs have been prepared for use on the radio and also spot announcements.

The forest department official stated that it was his belief that woods burning would diminish only as people became aware of the real and potential value of timber products.

For further information about the preventive program, the State Forest Service in Raleigh or the local fire warden should be contacted.

In Pitt County, N. S. (Kid Tyson can be reached for information dealing with the program.

Yugoslavs Plan Exhibits Abroad

Belgrade—(AP)—Striving intensively to boost its commercial exports, Yugoslavia is going all-out this year to present its products to the world at international fairs and expositions.

The first big showing abroad is planned at the International Fair in Utrecht, the Netherlands. Under the direction of Mirko Rifer, grade official in the Croatian government, exhibits have been gathered for this fair and a special group of exhibitors and salesmen will accompany them. Other exhibits are planned in Belgium, France and Italy.

The population of Russia is a third more than that of the U. S., according to the National Geographic Society.

High School News

"The Willow and I," a drama in three acts, by John Patrick, author of "The Hasty Heart," is being rehearsed by a group of seniors at the Greenville high school under the direction of Kip West, dramatics teacher, and under the sponsorship of the Black Masquers. The play is to be presented on April 25 at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium.

Open tryouts for the seniors were held about three weeks ago for this play which is one of the highlights of the year. The principal parts are being taken by Linda Ippock and Margaret Fleming who will portray the part of Mara Suro, Carolyn Clapp and Charlie Ann Sutton take the part of her sister, Bessie Suro, and Lyman Ormond handles two parts, that of Robin Todd and Kirkland Todd. The plot of "The Willow and I" centers around the love of the two sisters for Robin Todd.

Assisting with the play are Ann McCrary as student director and "Suggie" Sugg as technical director.

R. B. Staring, advisor of the national Forensic League, is planning to take a group of his students to Maryville, Tenn. to the Southeastern Speech Tournament.

Miss Ona Shindler is planning an Easter program Friday at 8:50, during homeroom period. Thirty glee club students will participate in the program.

NO MAN'S LAND

Rangoon—(AP)—Law and order in Burma is restricted to town limits, according to Myochit Party executive Ba Maung. He told the Burmese press the countryside still belongs to rebel groups and government control does not extend beyond two miles of the municipal limits of any town.

The National Geographic Society says Sarajevo, capital of the Yugoslav state of Bosnia, has become a manufacturing center.

Spaghetti 'War' Is Raging In Old Rome

By ALBURN WEST
A Newsfeature

Rome.—A spaghetti "war" is raging around tourists to Rome, Naples and Italy's other big cities. There are no casualties and prices are not involved. The fighting is confined to the chefs and menu writers who try to see who can contrive the most appetizing variation of the centuries-old king of the Italian dining table.

Their strategy seems to be a pincers movement around the familiar, unadorned dish of spaghetti with tomato and meat sauce. To fight the war, the tourist-happy restaurateurs have called to the colors a host of enticing dish names to trap the unwary gourmet. Given a little time and publicity, the conflict may one day become a postscript to the famous and fantastic hostilities recounted in a 15th century poem between Sicilian macaroni and Tuscan vegetables.

A Roman monk and professor of elocution, Bernardino Stefino, is author of the heroic and comic classic titled "Macaronis."

In the story, two armies called "maccherone" (macaroni) and "fagiolo" (macaroni and bean) were aligned against each other. Of course, macaroni won.

Pasta (dough) is the general term for macaroni, spaghetti, vermicelli, etc. A formidable aggregation is arrayed against just plain old spaghetti—which you can have with butter or tomato-meat sauce in any popular restaurant for 180 lire (about 30 cents).

This does not mean that there is widespread opposition to standby spaghetti. It just means that the "pastasciutta" (pasta) family is so big that there is an almost inexhaustible pool of manpower.

One good example is "maccheroni alla cocottesca" which in plain English would be "macaroni a la flirt." The dish is a spiced up concoction which includes fresh tomatoes, olive oil, garlic, origin (oregano), anchovies, olives, capers and red peppers—all added to the macaroni.

There are a dozen others such as spaghetti alla papalina (skull cap), linguette alla campagnola (country style), linguette alla cartelliere (cart driver), cannelloni all'amalfitana (Amalfi a town noted for fine pasta), maccheroni alla siciliana.

According to the better sources, there are at least 500 recipes for pasta dishes. Modern machines now in use for making the dough base turn out about 180 different types—long, short, cylindrical, and stamped or pressed.

Unofficial but reliable statistics say that 1,500,000,000 kilos or a million and a half metric tons of pasta are consumed annually in Italy.

Science Club Elects Officers For Term

Jennie E. Cannon of Wilmington will serve as president of the student Science Club at East Carolina Teachers College during 1951-1952. This year she was secretary-treasurer of the group.

Other officers chosen in recent elections are Hilton Biggs, Williamson, vice president; Dolores Eisele, Statesville, secretary-treasurer; and Waylen Upchurch, Sanford, publicity chairman. Dr. Theodore H. Eason of the faculty will be the advisor of the organization during the coming year.

ANCHOR IN DRY LAKE

Lone Pine, Calif.—(AP)—A century-old ship's anchor has been dug from the dry bottom of Owens Lake. The hand-forged, 400-pounder was probably lost by one of the clamshell bottom boats that ferried silver ore across the lake for shipment by mule train to Los Angeles.

Legionnaires Hear First Pitt Casualty In Korea

Marvin Mobley of Greenville, first Pitt county casualty in the Korean war, spoke last night at the monthly meeting of Pitt County post 38 of the American Legion. Under a recent provision of the Legion, veterans of the Korean war are eligible for membership in the veterans' organization, and Mobley is the first Korean veteran to join the local post under the new provision.

He related to the Legionnaires some of his experiences during the early days of the fighting in Korea before he was wounded when a group of American soldiers were ambushed by a Communist unit. Mobley told of the conditions in Korea, described the topography of the country and the problems which face the fighting men in Korea.

Commander Howard Moye, who presided at the meeting, announced the post is 116 members short of its membership quota of 150 which was set for this year. He urged the members of the post to seek new members to bring the post up to its membership quota.

A motion was carried by the post that at the next meeting a contest for attendance will be held between the World War I veterans and the World War II veterans. According to the motion the group which has the most members present at the next Legion meeting will receive their meals free, and the group which has the least number of members present will pay for the meals.

A discussion of universal military training was held at the meeting last night, and a number of the Legionnaires joined in the discussion pointing out "inequities" under the present draft law. Commander Moye announced to the group that the national organization of the Legion has gone on record as favoring universal military training, and he urged the members of the local post to contact their representatives in congress urging the universal military training legislation be passed.

Aircraft And Submarines Play Cat And Mouse Game In Atlantic Waters

(Editors note: The writer of the following dispatch has been on a four-day, underwater training cruise aboard a U. S. Navy snorkel submarine in Atlantic waters.)

BY ELTON C. FAY
Aboard Submarine Grampus, March 17 (Delayed)—(AP)The Navy is playing a cat and mouse game out here in the restless Atlantic.

This submarine is the Mouse, waiting to pounce if their human or electronic eyes and ears spy the quarry.

It is a small but tremendously important exercise, this practice of the technique of undersea and anti-submarine warfare.

From it, the firm learn what they must look for, when on some tomorrow, sub hunting becomes again a real and grim necessity.

The American submariners also get the opportunity to sharpen their skill, to develop or perfect evasion technique or to steal toward a theoretical enemy convoy guarded by aircraft or surface ships.

As part of the anti-submarine warfare program, Navy airmen make cruises aboard the undersea boats. And submariners go on search missions with the planes and blimps.

Gathered around the table of the tiny wardroom today are Commander George F. Sharp, Philadelphia; Lt. Cmdr. James B. Osborn, who called Stockton, Mo., his home before he went to sea, and Lt. J. D. "Digger" O'Dell of Norfolk, Va.

Sharp is skipper of the Grampus; Osborn, the Executive Officer. They are veterans of wartime submarine patrols in the Pacific. O'Dell is a blimp pilot, operating out of the Naval Air facility at Weeksville, N. C.

This is shop talk. No landsman could understand it; probably no surface sailor. These are specialists in a specialized business. In a way, the skipper and "exec" are on one team, the flier on the opposing side. But now Digger is a member of the sub's company.

He just grins when the submariners mention "Sommies," "the Air Force" and "Fly Boys."

Both sides—air and submarines—have a collection of gadgets for either locating the enemy or evading him. Some of them are better versions of World War II equipment, some of them new and secret devices.

Among the former there is the Sonobuoy, the automatic listening device-radio transmitter. Dropped by parachute from plane or blimp, it goes into operation upon reaching the water. Hydrophones on the floating buoy pick up the sound in the tiny radio transmitter for relay to the aircraft.

The World War II technique is to drop these floating "fence posts" in a pattern around an area in which it is suspected a submarine might be lurking. The increasing or diminishing signal from each buoy shows whether the submarine is moving toward or away from that buoy, giving a clue to the direction.

One of the surprising things about a submarine is its excellent concealment from searching aircraft when operating on snorkel. A submarine's hull and superstructure is not far below the surface when the snorkel breather is working, but it is deep enough to escape detection in anything but an absolutely calm sea.

Except at fairly close range and in mill-pond calm water, the radar or an aircraft or ship has trouble spotting the submarine's snorkel, a small object less than a yard in diameter at the top. Radar waves will not penetrate water.

Through the periscope (which can be used at snorkel depth) planes and blimps can be seen close in, sometimes at less than 1,000 yards, looking vainly for the tell-tale snorkel or the dim, elusive underwater loom of the sub's hull. Because this is a training exercise, the Grampus sends a radio message to the hunting aircraft to help them find the target. Or she may send up a smoke flare or release a big air bubble to show her position.

Even when surfaced, the guppy submarine is difficult to locate at any distance. In an average sea condition, nothing remains above water for more than a few seconds at a time except the dull grey conning tower and mast housing structure, a comparatively low silhouette.

Usually, the submarine is almost impossible to see even on a clear, starlit night at sea. Part of this practice out here is to locate the submarine by flares. From the submarine's bridge, the planes can be seen banking around to make a "run" over the boat. Suddenly the sea, which until now has been a dark, surging blanket in the night wind picked out here and there by the phosphorescent crest of a comber, is revealed in brilliant white light. And so is the submarine.

The crew of a merchant ship must have been surprised the other night. The freighter was steaming along with only her running lights visible when a plane, searching for the submarine, apparently mistook her for quarry. Flares came floating down around her. The Grampus, seeing what was happening, radioed her an explanation and reassurance.

Child's World Is Wonderful

Carmelita Plonka

The world that children live in is mighty wonderful... filled with little daydreams and hopes and joys that make the older folks sometimes wish they were school-age again. But boys and girls have their ups and downs, too, particularly when they are not feeling well. Ten-year-old Carmelita Plonka, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Plonka, of 3202 S. Aberdeen, Chicago, Ill., was not feeling good recently and was just too listless to get the most out of her school days. Fortunately for Carmelita, though, her grandmother suggested that her mother give her HADACOL, because she had heard how much it was helping children deficient in Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. Now Carmelita feels fine and her mother says she has a big appetite.

Here is Mrs. Plonka's statement: "My daughter Carmelita, who is 10 years old and in the fifth grade, had always been underweight and I had to positively force her to eat. She had no interest in food whatsoever, but I knew that she had to eat. When we were visiting my mother in Missouri over the Christmas holidays she suggested I give Carmelita HADACOL. I bought a large bottle of it that same day and was amazed at the change in Carmelita. Her appetite picked right up and she now eats three hearty meals a day plus in-between snacks. I have really praised HADACOL, and highly recommend it for everyone."

HADACOL can help you if you suffer such deficiencies. Ask your druggist for HADACOL today.

Chapter 4
 Forgotten amid all these wonders of advertising developed into a fine art were the reasons for their being here, and the threat of the mysterious and now unreal Varg Thrott. They gazed enraptured as country people visiting a city for the first time.

At last they came to a window in which a gentleman dummy filled a glass of water from a real faucet, dropped a seltzer like tablet into it, held it until the tablet dissolved and then actually drank it—every thirty seconds. Gyrating in the background yet somehow preserving their order of spelling, were letter announcing that South-a-Seltz dissolved eight-tenths of a second faster than any other brand.

"Ah! A drug store!" Joe said. "You know, with all this movement of stuff in store windows I'm beginning to feel seasick, Ray."

"Then take a South-a-Selt," Ray said, grinning. "I'm beginning to like all this."

"Like it?" Joe said, pulling up short in the doorway of the store. "I think it's ghastly—a horrible monstrosity created by fifty years of hundreds of shrewd schemers thinking up more and more ways to make you advertising conscious."

He shuddered realistically and pushed into the store. Ray Bradley followed him. Inside, it looked much like an ordinary drugstore of the modern 1950 type. There was a string of phone booths at the far end. They started toward it, walking down the aisle next to the lunch counter.

They were directly in front of the picture on the wall behind the lunch counter before they noticed it. They stopped abruptly and looked up at it—frozen.

It appeared to be a twice as large as life, three dimensional photograph in color of the type that portrait photographers all over the country were beginning to feature in 1950.

It was the head and naked shoulders of a seductively beautiful girl; but one thing after another leaped from that picture into shocked awareness. Her pointed chin and smooth curve of jaw were dainty and elfin. Her skin was creamy perfection in texture.

Her hair was a billowing dream of rich golden clouds. But—her forehead was high and wider than it should be, and in its center slept a dreamy eye of milky blue, resting above two slanting lines of eyebrows. Beneath those lines, as on another face almost, were two eyes awake, normal in size where that other was enormously large and one of them twinkled with merriment and laughter from blue-green depths, while the other stared with cold gray frigidity and inhuman cruelty—arrogant.

The face—each of the two awake eyes seemed to sound the spirit of each side of that superhumanly beautiful blend of feature. The red lips brought into juxtaposition two spirits, one smiling and innocent, resting lightly on the upturn of the lips under the mischievously twinkling eye, the other cruel and sardonic in the slight downward quirk. The whole was monstrously beautiful.

In vivid crimson above the head, seemingly far in the distance and large, were letters of melting strokes, saying, VARG THROTT.

"God!" Ray heard himself mutter. He became aware that people around him were looking at him and Joe uneasily. The normal conversational noises were suddenly hushed. The silence seemed to hold fear—and menace. He felt his eyes drawn back to the picture on the wall. By an effort of will he forced himself away and dragged Joe with him, on toward the phone booths.

"Snap out of it, Joe," he muttered. "People are beginning to notice us." Inside he felt a growing, icy numbness. There was no possible question of doubt—that three-eyed Varg Thrott was a woman and not human.

He glanced back across the store and saw the dozens of eyes upon him, fear and suspicion lurking in their depths. Across the store at the entrance people were crowding out, whispering to those who were coming in, who then turned and joined those leaving.

"Cripes," he heard Joe grumble at his back. "How can I find the address of that number? You have to know the name."

At the front of the store the tide of escape was suddenly reversed. People were stumbling and falling as they were pushed back by uniformed men—men a foot taller than those they were pushing, and in whose foreheads rested that third, tumorlike eye of milky blue.

Ray felt a tug at his coat. He turned. A hand was motioning for him to follow from the depths of the phone booth. He didn't hesitate or question. He jerked Joe out of his concentration on the phone book. The arm in the booth vanished. The back wall of the booth was an open door.

"Come on, Joe," he whispered, and stepped through. Joe followed. The secret door closed and heavy

Representative Student Teachers

James Rattledge of Advance and Patricia Williams of Wilmington have been selected as "Mr. and Miss Representative Student Teacher" at East Carolina Teachers College this year.

They will represent the college at the annual convention of the North Carolina Education Association to be held in Asheville April 12-14. Along with other students selected for similar honors by various teacher-training institutions of the state, they will be presented to delegates in special ceremonies, and will be entertained at a luncheon.

The project of choosing students in North Carolina institutions of teacher-education who show great promise of becoming outstanding teachers is sponsored by the state Future Teachers of America organization and the Division of Higher Education, both groups within representatives were chosen from bars dropped over it. They were in a narrow passage between walls. "That was awfully close," the man who had rescued them said grimly. "The Vargian police will probably tear the store down to find this passage now. What was the matter with you two? Don't you know better than to act suspiciously on the front of a Vargian spy screen? There's certain to be a monitor watching." He pulled his lower lip angrily. "Lucky you had sense enough to guess your only escape would be back by the phone booths, though. Otherwise you'd be on your way to the local torture center and blabbing your guts out."

Joe opened his mouth to say something, caught the slight warning shake of Ray's head, and remained silent. The man who had rescued them turned and led the way along the narrow passage to a dead end—which slid aside when he touched his toe to a spot in it. They passed through and made a right angle turn into another passage between walls, so narrow they were forced to turn sideways.

At the end of this second passage they climbed down the rungs of a metal ladder to the basement level. Their rescuer lowered the cover back into place and bolted it, then, without a backward glance, crossed to the wall of the basement and touched a spot that opened part of the concrete wall into a brick lined tunnel.

The tunnel was short, opening into a round concrete bore barely five feet in diameter that stretched ahead into darkness.

Floggings Still Legal in Colony

Singapore—(AP)—Punishment by flogging is going to stay on the law books in this British crown colony. A government spokesman said there is no intention at present of introducing legislation to abolish whipping.

He said Singapore was not among the 10 colonial governments which had agreed in principle to rule out corporal punishment. Whipping, in addition to sentence, can be ordered in Singapore for conviction on charges of rape and grievous hurt.

Photography Aid in Discovering Ancient History

London—(AP)—New light is being thrown on the Dark Ages in Britain by aerial photography. Sites of a 2,000 year old Roman camp in south west Scotland have been revealed for the first time by the photographs. Previously, no one knew that the Romans had been there.

Dr. J. K. S. St. Joseph, curator in aerial photography Cambridge University, explained to the Royal Society of Arts that differences in color and growth of vegetation shown in low altitude air photographs enabled ancient sites to be discovered and their character and period established.

He showed aerial archaeological photographs of Roman and earlier sites in Britain.

 Winnipeg—(AP)—Planned and actual building construction in Winnipeg reached $1,007,000 before the end of February with 179 buildings involved. The total in the same period last year was $683,700.

Three Arrested in Raid On Still

Pitt County ABC officers J. M. Ward and Claude Manning assisted Beaufort County ABC officers Clyde Stubbs and William Patrick, yesterday morning in ransacking an illegal liquor still in Beaufort county, which resulted in the seizure of a 150-gallon submarine type still.

The still, along with 800 gallons of fermented mash, was found in operation and about 15 gallons of bootleg booze had been run off when the officers arrived.

Three Negro men of the Old Ford section of Beaufort County, were arrested at the still site. They were: Milander Smallwood, 49; Will Kinlaw, 40; and Alfred Smallwood, 40. The three men ran from the still when the officers approached but were overtaken. The three men were given a hearing before Buck Taylor, at Washington and released under bond of $300 each, pending the next term of District Court.

New York—(AP)—"You leave your personality behind you when you leave a room," says Frank Allen, arson expert for the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

It may be inevitable to the average person, but not to detectives.

"It consists of things like fingerprints that cannot be seen," Allen explains, "but that can be induced by a special powder; footprints on a linoleum floor; a fallen hair which can be magnified 500 times to show its color, thickness and other characteristics; a cigarette smoked in a certain way or stained by a certain type of lipstick; book matches torn out in a peculiar sequence or from a particular side."

Four Days Old, And Had A Tooth

Lynchburg, Va.—(AP)—Four-day-old Cynthia Ann Cash sprouted a tooth here to the amazement of her doctor, nurse and parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cash.

But there will be no corn on the cob this summer. The tooth was loose and Dr. Edwin A. Harper pulled it because there was danger the baby might swallow it.

Testing Bureau To Give Two Exams During May

Two tests given to aid students of the eastern section of North Carolina who wish to enter medical or graduate schools will be given at East Carolina Teachers College during May. Dr. Hazel Taylor, director of the Testing Bureau at the college, will administer the examinations.

The Graduate Record Examination will be given Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5. The Medical College Admission Tests will be given Saturday, May 12. Application blanks and bulletins of information may be obtained from Dr. Taylor, Room 303, Graham Building, East Carolina Teachers College. Application for the Graduate Record Examination must be made by April 4, and for the Medical College Admission Test by April 28. Students who wish to take either test should apply to the Educational Testing Service, P.O. Box 592, Princeton, New Jersey, and should inclose fees with the applications.

Anyone in the eastern section of North Carolina who has made proper arrangements may take the tests when they are administered at East Carolina. Dr. Taylor has announced. Similar tests have been given at the college here for several years under her direction, and East Carolina has become a testing center where residents of this section may conveniently take the examinations required for admission to graduate and medical colleges in this country.

Farmer's Chores Put Into Miles

Des Moines, Iowa—(AP)—How many miles does a farmer walk doing chores? Ross Childs, farming north of Manchester, found that he traveled 491 miles a year while taking care of 13 cows plus young stock. The study was made by Herb Howell, extension farm management specialist.

Since then, Childs has remodelled the barn which was a conventional stallion-type. Now he has a loafing area-milking parlor structure. With the new setup he is walking 319 miles annually and taking care of 20 cows and additional calves.

Mystery Light Still Unsolved

Buffalo, Va.—(AP)—Reports of a mysterious light on the highway reached the sheriff's office. Deputy Sheriff Hurley Jones went out to investigate.

On a dirt road through a wooded area, Jones reported finding it. It looked like a single automobile headlight about six feet off the ground. But it always fades out before passing—and there is no automobile on the road. It is still unfinished business for the sheriff's office.

Named Senator

Thomas Rust Underwood (above), 53-year-old Democratic representative from the Sixth District of Kentucky and editor of the Lexington, Ky., Herald, was appointed to the U. S. Senate today by Gov. Lawrence Wetherby. Underwood will replace Virgin M. Chapman who died of injuries received in an automobile accident in Washington last week. (AP Wirephoto).

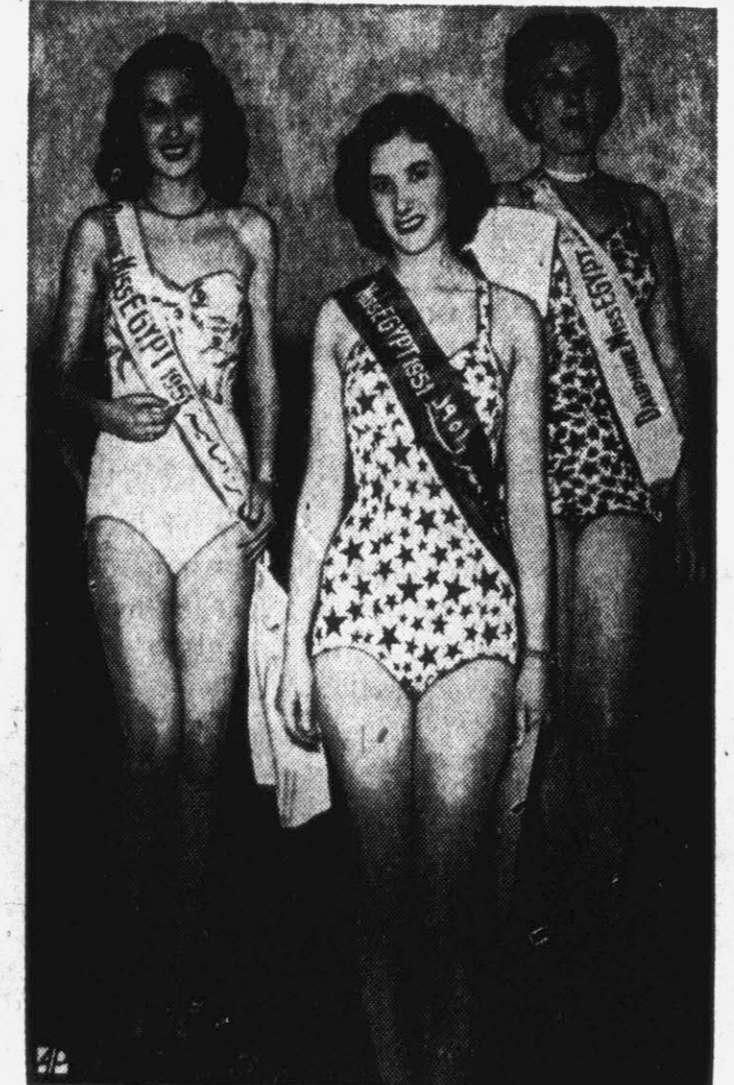

"I HATED THE THOUGHT OF CHANGE OF LIFE"

but Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proves wonderful to relieve hot flushes

"I had heard so many tales about women going through 'change of life' which is usually between 38 and 42 years—I really dreaded reaching middle-age for fear I, like so many women, would suffer from hot flushes and nervous irritability due to this functional period peculiar to women. I tried to laugh it off but all of a sudden I found myself suffering from these embarrassing symptoms! Then believe it or not—my mother-in-law told me how wonderful Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is to relieve such symptoms. I started taking Pinkham's Compound and I find I get amazing relief from hot flushes and flighty, high-strung, nervous feelings—when due to this cause.

In fact I take Pinkham's Compound regularly—to help build up resistance against such middle-age distress. I suggest if you suffer this way to give it a trial. P. S. Pinkham's Compound tastes sweet in fruit juice or water.

N. C. State And Kentucky In Eastern NCAA Semi-Finals

Underdog Wolfpack Came From Behind To Edge Out Villanova, While Wildcats Won As Expected In Stirring Game

Raleigh, N. C., March 21—(AP)—Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 basketball team, and North Carolina State held berths today in the eastern NCAA semi-finals following victories in the quarter-finals here last night.

The lineup for Thursday's semi-finals in Madison Square Garden will find Kentucky pitted against St. John's and N. C. State matched against Illinois.

High-scoring Kentucky won as expected in defeating Louisville 78-68. But was given the battle of its life until the last eight minutes. The Wildcats then rallied to win going away.

Underdog N. C. State, playing without three of its top stars because of an NCAA ban on four-year varsity men, came from behind to defeat Villanova, 67-62.

Kentucky held a 4 point half time margin over Louisville after a rough first half in which 24 personal fouls were called. Then Louisville threw a scare into the high-scoring Wildcats by taking the lead, 55-54, after five minutes and 41 seconds of the second half.

The Cardinals stayed ahead until eight minutes to go when superior Kentucky reserve power asserted itself.

N. C. State's Wolfpack, with four sophomores and a junior in the lineup, did something it had been unable to do during the regular season: beat Villanova. Two of N. C. State's four defeats were to Villanova.

N. C. State's big hero was sophomore forward Bill Kukoy of Gary, Ind., who filled in for All-American Sam Ransino.

Kukoy banged in 37 points to take top scoring honors for both games. In addition to Ransino, the Wolfpack was without the services of center Paul Horvath and guard Vic Bibbs. Kentucky played without captain Walter Hirsch, and Louisville was minus reserve forward Jim Edwards. All were affected by the NCAA four-year rule.

After the double-header event, N. C. State coach Everett Case was presented a new Cadillac by Wolfpack fans and assistant coach Butler Anderson was given an Oldsmobile. The presentation was made on the coliseum floor.

Olympic Pool Site

Melbourne—(AP)—The Olympic Games Organizing Committee decided to recommend the acceptance of the Melbourne Showground as the site for the 1956 Olympic Games. The committee considered slight variations in the plans submitted by the Royal Agricultural Society of Victoria which owns the showground. An Olympic swimming pool may be constructed at the site.

Slight Falling Off

Tucson—(AP)—Attendance at 1950-51 University of Arizona home basketball games showed a drop of some 2,000 under last season. During the season just concluded, the Wildcats played before 40,559 spectators at 14 home games as compared with 42,913 for the same number of games a year ago.

Conciliatory Outlook Towards Player-Vote

Baseball Executives Assure Players Their Interests Will Be Protected No Matter Who's Commissioner

By The Associated Press
Baseball's front office executives generally adopted a conciliatory attitude today towards the idea that the players, as well as the successor to A. B. Chandler as owners, be given a vote in naming Commissioner.

Will Harridge, president of the American League, assured the players their interests will be protected "regardless who is commissioner."

"The major league clubs put the pension fund and revised player contracts in operation and will continue to carry them out," added Harridge.

Freddie Hutchinson, Detroit pitcher and player-representative for the American League, broached the player-vote-for-commissioner idea on Monday. He said that a petition will be presented to the owners at a meeting in Detroit in July.

Nine Lives And Evereadys Add To Percentages

Carbon League Standings

Evereadys	37	32	336
Penitents	34	36	493
Black Cats	34	38	493
Nine Lives	33	36	478

In Monday night's games last place Nine Lives won two games from the Black Cats to notch eight percentage points on their last week's games. On the other alleys the front-running Evereadys took three from the Penitents to push further ahead of the second-place team.

Bill Wells, bowling for the Evereadys, again walked off with individual scoring honors as he paced his team to their three wins. Wells' scores for the set were 178, 151 and 160 for a total of 478. Leading the Penitents was Fred Edwards with 362.

Bill Bryan of the Lives rolled 469 for high mark for his team and second high score for the night. His games were 147, 165 and 187. Leading the Cats in their lone win was Nan Crawford with 401.

Top ten averages to date are: Bill Wells, 154; Bill Bryan, 152; Sam Brooks, 137; Gordon Berry, 131; Charles Braswell, 131; Rommie Malison, 127; Fred Edwards, 128; Ken Whiteley, 120; Ernie Beaman, 118; and Bruce Hester, 117.

Love-Smitten Hurler Released

Washington Pitcher Carlos (Potos) Pascual, smitten with a love bug, got a free ticket to Havana today.

The stocky little Cuban wants to be near his senorita. Manager Bucky Harris, with president Clark Griffith concurring, announced he would be sent home on option.

Harris watched him go with no apparent sense of loss. "I don't want to be troubled with any home-sick Cubans," he said.

If the owners reject the petition, the players may hire a commissioner of their own, Hutchinson said, perhaps the deposed Chandler himself at $40,000 a year.

"It's a bad situation," he asserted, "if the players have no more confidence in the owners than to want their own commissioner. Somebody should get in another business, the players or the owners."

Joe Cronin, general manager of the Boston Red Sox, said "Hutchinson and the players shouldn't have any fears about what may happen under a new rule commissioner. For our part, Tom Yawkey was a member of the committee that set up the pension fund. Regardless of who the commissioner is, the ball players should have no fears."

Chandler, in Chicago, declared it's "wonderful to think the players still possess that confidence in me. They always have been my pals and this proves they are not going to forget me even if the club owners did."

Deacon Nine Is Winner In First Game Of Season

Wake Forest, N. C., March 21—Defending Southern Conference baseball champion Wake Forest College opened its regular season yesterday with a 6-4 win over Indiana.

It was the Deacons 70th win in regular play against 12 losses in three years.

Stanley Johnson pitched the entire game for Wake Forest. In the first three innings he gave up four runs on five hits, but then he settled down, holding the visitors to two hits and no runs the last six stanzas.

Big gun for Wake Forest was third baseman Willis Murphrey of Roanoke Rapids, playing his first college game. Murphrey slammed a double and two singles in four trips and knocked in three runs.

"We were born on the same day—Jan. 29, 1919—and were shipped to Springfield, Mass., in the International League the same day," says Voiselle, a 21-game winner for the Giants in 1944. "Frankie Frisch treated me swell last year but I couldn't get going for the Cubs, losing four decisions without winning one."

"I weighed 240 as a Cub but now I'm down to 220 after working in a machinery warehouse at Ninety-Six, S. C., all winter. Now I can afford to eat and I'm stronger. I felt great at Springfield, too, because on the first day I beat Syracuse a nine-inning game in one hour and 18 minutes. We had to win that game to finish fifth."

"I lost too much weight all at once last year and I believe that's why."

DiMaggio Having Hitting Trouble

(AP)—Joe DiMaggio, chief drawing card of the New York Yankees, is having a tough time at the plate. The great Yankee center-fielder has collected only two hits in 18 trips to the plate for a .111 average.

Superstition On Ice

New York—(AP)—Pat Egan, veteran New York Ranger defenseman, has a pet superstition. He shoots the puck into the empty Ranger goal before the start of each game. Egan, always one of the first Rangers players to skate on the ice at the start of the game, has been doing this stunt for many years.

Keeps On Rolling

St. Louis—(AP)—Marty Marion, manager of the St. Louis Cards, has oft times been called "Mr. Shortstop." He has played 11 years in the major leagues and despite various back and knee ailments played 106 games last season. His fielding average of .978 was good enough to lead the National League in that spot.

A NAIL DID IT
St. Louis—(AP)—Al "Red" Schoendienst of St. Louis Cardinals became a switch hitter in 1942 to overcome the handicap of a left eye injured by a ricocheting nail in a CCC camp.

4-H Dairy Food Contest Starts

All over the county 4-H club girls are beginning work this month on Dairy Foods Demonstrations. These demonstrations are to be given individually or in teams of two girls and are designed to teach two things: (1) The importance of the daily consumption of milk, and (2) the development of poise, self-confidence and self-reliance in the girl.

The demonstration may be any simple food prepared with milk whereby a way can be shown of eating, rather than drinking milk. The girl or team making the demonstration will explain the importance of milk and show the preparation of a single milk product, summarize the work and allow the audience to sample the finished product.

Girls may choose any dish made with milk for their demonstration but no duplication of choice are allowed. Demonstrations are judged on a countywide scale as to the best junior team, the best junior individual, and the best senior team and senior individual. The winners of this contest will be eligible to compete in the Northeastern District prize. The district eliminations will be held on June 19 and 20.

Seventy-five entrants have applied for the dairy foods contest which are to be given at the home demonstrations clubs during May.

Sport Slants By Pap

Jack Mayo, former Notre Dame captain, is determined to win a place in the Phillies outfield. To accomplish this, Mayo must break into the regular trio which includes Richie Ashburn, Del Ennis and Dick Sisler as well as Bill Nicholson in reserve. In addition, Jack is certain to get plenty of competition from Dick Whitman and Stan Holm.

Mayo was brought up by the Phillies early last September. He was made eligible for the world series against the Yankees when Bill Nicholson was hospitalized with diabetes. Jack is an exceptional fielder—fast, dependable and has an adequate throwing arm. He has yet to prove that he can add power to the Philadelphia lineup.

Jack has hustled every second since he reported at the Phillies' Clearwater training camp. He moves with the confidence of a real big leaguer and is making Sawyer's problem of settling on his outfield plans a difficult one. Mayo's hustle is bringing out the best in the other candidates for outfield posts — to the complete satisfaction of Manager Sawyer.

Couple Of Castoffs Are Sticking With Brooklyn

By FRANK ECK
A Newfeatures Sports Editor
Miami, Fla.—Pitcher Bill Voiselle and Outfielder Hank Edwards, a couple of castoffs who were born on the same day 32 years ago, figure very largely in Charley Dressen's plans. Though both are Montreal property, opening day may find them on the Brooklyn Dodger roster.

"We were born on the same day—Jan. 29, 1919—and were shipped to Springfield, Mass., in the International League the same day," says Voiselle, a 21-game winner for the Giants in 1944. "Frankie Frisch treated me swell last year but I couldn't get going for the Cubs, losing four decisions without winning one."

Coach Is Staying Close To Home

Port Arthur, Tex.—(AP)—One thing about Nick Frankovic — he doesn't have to move out of his tracks to get a coaching job.

He has been in this area just nine years and has had five head coaching jobs — all within a radius of 16 miles.

Frankovic has coached at French High School, Port Neches High School, St. Mary's High School, Bishop Byrne High School and has recently been named coach at St. Anthony's High School.

Erv Palica Gets Call Into Army

Miami, Fla., March 21—(AP)—Erv Palica, who developed into an important cog in Brooklyn's pitching staff late last season, will leave the Dodgers camp today for Brooklyn.

Palica received notice yesterday to report for induction into the armed forces by his Los Angeles draft board March 30.

Palica, who was turned down for high blood pressure and then accepted after a second three-day examination, said he hopes to have his induction papers transferred so that he can enter the service in Brooklyn.

Spring Rains And Gridiron Drills Delay GHS Program

By ROY HARDEE
With the prospect that the rainy weather which has prevailed for the past several days is due to let up, the newly expanded sports program of Greenville High School is ready to swing into full operation. Athletic Director Boley Farley announced this morning.

While football candidates have been braving the bad weather to continue spring drills under the watchful eye of Coach Bill Kirtrell, the other sports of the spring and summer program have ground nearly to a standstill.

In addition to the bad weather, Farley pointed out that a sizeable number of the boys who will form the ranks of the track, tennis and golf teams are busy with the spring football drills, and will not be able to get to practice in earnest in the other fields until about the first of April. Schedules in any of the sports are now being worked out but the only definite game so far will pit the Greenville baseball nine against the Tarboro High School team here on April 10.

In any event, the local diamond team will have the benefit of about only one week full practice at the most. So far this season the locals have been able to practice only about four days, mostly in limbering up exercises.

Other teams which are set to be on the locals' schedule this year will be Kinston, and possibly Rocky Mount.

Again this year, one of Coach Bo Farley's weak spots, as far as baseball is concerned will be the pitching staff. Only one regular is back from last year team, with the loss of two regular starters from last year by graduation.

However, Farley will probably rely on the ball handling of Sid Briley, for pitching chores and any other candidates which show promise.

"We will have a pretty good infield, as most of the boys saw action last year, Farley said. We just going to have to work others in at pitcher and hope for the best."

Another loss to the Greenville's nine hopes this year, was the report that Leo Moore, starting catcher for the locals last year, will be unable to play this season due to an injury suffered in football play.

To fill this vacancy, Coach Farley is expected to use Bobby Dunn, a newcomer, while the outfield is expected to take care of itself.

As soon as the weather and spring football drills end, plans are ready to go ahead with other sports for the spring season which have been placed in the high school athletic program for the first time since the war.

In golf, and tennis, efforts are being made to arrange for four matches each, two to be held in Greenville and two away.

Charles Rice, East Carolina student has taken up the reins of the newly formed tennis team and will start work with the students as soon as the stadium courts which have been under repair are fixed. Some eight to ten students have signed up for the team.

As yet no regular instructor has been found to coach the golf team which has some eight high school students trying out.

Members of the Greenville track team, which will be assisted in part by Ed Waldrop, has been putting in some few days of practice in the high school ravine with around 15 boys practicing. All of the sports are expected to have larger ranks as soon as the spring football drills end.

This year marks the first time that Greenville has had spring football drills.

While no eastern Carolina high schools have regular track teams, efforts are being made to have a triangular meet with Raleigh, or some other team, in order to give the trackers some preparation for competition in state meets later if any of the teams show promise, Farley stated.

East Carolina Still To Start Baseball Season

Tommy Holmes To Manage Club

Bradenton, Fla., March 21—(AP)—Boston Braves Outfielder Tommy Holmes, one of the most popular baseball players in club history, is the new player-manager of the Tribe's Hartford, Conn. farm club in the Class A Eastern League.

The 33-year-old veteran of nine seasons with the Braves decided to take the job offered by Boston Owner Lou Perini rather than try to make it ten straight years in the big time.

Holmes will assume his new duties at the Myrtle Beach, S.C. training camp of the Tribe's minor league club in about a week. The Hartford Chiefs' managerial post opened up when Ripper Collins quit to take a radio broadcasting job in Baltimore.

The holder of a lifetime major league batting average of .304, Holmes led the National League in homers with 28 in 1945, the same season he batted .352 only to place second for the batting crown to the Cubs' Phil Cavertta. Last year he hit .298 in 105 games, mostly as a pinch hitter.

Top-Flight Golf Stars Compete In One-Day Event

Alken, S. C., March 21—(AP)—A field studded with name players from the winter tournament circuit teed off at Alken's Palmetto Golf Club today in the annual one-day pro-amateur tournament.

Scheduled to compete for the $1,500 pro money were Jim Ferrier, Cary Middlecoff, Lloyd Mangrum, Clayton Heafner, Johnny Palmer, Jack Burke, Lew Worsham and some 40 other players.

Ferrier, winner of his last three major events on the winter tour, was a slight favorite to take first prize money. Lawson Little toured the 6,676-yard course in 66, five under par, for top money last year. Pete Cooper and Alken's Bobby Knowles were the No. 1 pro-am combination.

After today's round the pros were scheduled to move on to Greensboro, N. C., for the annual $10,000 open which runs from Friday through Monday.

Not Alarmed By Detroit Showing

Lakeland, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Despite the Detroit Tigers' mediocre showing at the plate in spring drill, manager Red Rolfe isn't alarmed.

He says over-anxious hitters are swinging at bad balls but that "these things will get straightened out."

"We have a veteran ball club and I'm not worried too much," he said.

Wet Grounds Cancelled Out Tuesday Opener; Pirates Try Again Friday Against Wilson Teachers College

East Carolina's Pirates are still waiting to open their 1951 baseball schedule after having yesterday's tiff with Upsala College wet-grounded out.

Monday's all-day rain set the college diamond awash and both coaches agreed to the cancellation of the game.

But if the weather is agreeable the Pirates will try again Friday when they take on Wilson Teachers College of Washington, D. C. The game will settle a best-two-out-of-three dispute between the two schools. Wilson having won one game of a doubleheader last season. It was the first time the two colleges had met on the baseball field.

And the weekend will be a busy one for the Pirates. Between Friday and Tuesday they will play three games, all in the Norfolk area. Saturday's game will be with the Navy Receiving Station, one of the perennial opponents of the Pirates in Norfolk. Then Monday and Tuesday the Pirates will play a split doubleheader with the Naval Air Station, another home-and-home opponent.

The team will return here Tuesday to prepare for the Wednesday game with Montclair (N.J.) Teachers College.

Brownies Edge First Victory

Burbank, Calif., March 21 (AP)—Fresh from their first victory over another major league club this year, the St. Louis Browns tangle with the Cleveland Indians again today.

The Browns beat the Indians, 6-5, yesterday on Tom Poston's 11th inning homer with Hank Airt on base. Cliff Fanning and Bill Kennedy were scheduled to hurl for the Browns.

Scout Leaders Hold Quarterly Meeting

Approximately 20 white and Negro scout leaders of the East Carolina council Monday night attended the quarterly meeting of the divisional chairmen of the council which was held at C. M. Eppes high school.

M. D. Williams of Wilson, chairman of the council divisional committee, presided at the meeting.

The principal portion of the program was devoted to a talk by Harry Haysbert of the field services division of the National Scout Council who discussed the functions of scouting and what the scouting organization is attempting to do in training youngsters in better citizenship. Haysbert also discussed briefly first aid work for scout leaders, which will be discussed more thoroughly on May 3 when Haysbert is here for a training course which will be given to the Negro scout leaders of the Pitt district.

During the discussion of the business session of the meeting, it was announced that the camporee for Negro scouts of the East Carolina council will be held at the Pattillo high school in Tarboro on May 3, 4 and 5. It was likewise announced at the meeting that Dall Holderness has made a camp available for the use of Negro scouts of the

One Act Comic Opera Scheduled By Boys' Choir

"The Opera Rehearsal" by Albert Lortzing, a comic opera in one act, will be a chief attraction of a concert at East Carolina Teachers College tonight by the Vienna Choir Boys, internationally famous music organization. The choir, including more than 20 boys from seven to twelve years of age, will appear in the Wright auditorium at 8:00 o'clock under the sponsorship of the college Entertainment Committee.

The boys will be dressed in attractive costumes for the gay and tuneful operetta. The plot of "The Opera Rehearsal" is a story of youthful love and the romantic adventures of a young count who disguises himself as a traveling singer. Tonight's program will begin with a group of sacred songs. Following the operetta, folk songs and other selections will make up a closing group of numbers, including Schu-

Scout Court Of Honor Saturday

A court of honor for boy scouts of the Pitt district will be held Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the court room of the city hall.

H. F. Steinbeck, chairman of the court of honor for the district, said today approximately 50 scouts are expected to be presented advancement awards at the event. He said the awards will be presented to the scouts by members of the court of honor and other scout leaders of the district.

In addition to the presentation of the badges, arrangements are being completed to have a brief talk made to the scouts.

Steinbeck urged all the scouts of the district, their parents, members of troop committees and other scout leaders and persons interested in scouting to attend the court of honor. He requested scouts wear their uniforms and bring their troop and patrol flags to the court of honor.

Not A Court For Damages: Judge

"Most people in North Carolina are not interested in driving drunk, and careless and reckless driving charges that result from traffic accidents, but are more interested in collecting damages to property, and allowing the guilty persons to roam the highways free", commented J. W. H. Roberts during the trial of one case in city Traffic Court this morning.

"While traffic courts are not set up to collect damages, that is what most people in this State are interested in", the judge stated, "and not the preventing of other accidents by the arrests of the guilty persons."

Cases disposed of this morning during traffic court: Careless and Reckless driving, Robert Barrett, Negro, given 60 days suspended sentence on payment of $50 less court costs. Reckless driving: Mary W. Carroway, paid $15.

Driving drunk: Blanche M. Swain, paid $100 and costs, and the court recommended that her license to drive be revoked for a period of one year.

Failure to stop for a "Stop" sign: Coy Evans, paid $15; Woodrow Wynn, paid $10 for the same offense.

Good Response In Seal Campaign

Approximately 4000 envelopes of Easter seals have been sent to individuals in Greenville and Pitt County and the response has been reported as very good. Close to $900 has been received from the sale which ends on March 25, but there is no set goal.

The sale of the Easter seals is sponsored by the Greenville Lion's Club and under the direction of H. B. Williams, chairman of the health and welfare committee. All the seals were sent out and there was no house to house solicitation.

Aiken Addresses Gem Convention

Senator George D. Aiken, speaking last night at the 16th annual convocation of the American Gem Society, declared, "Another world war is unlikely for a considerable period of time and may never arrive at all."

The senator was addressing the annual meeting of the registered gemologist and jewelers of the United States and Canada in Washington, D. C. George Lauaier of Greenville, a member of the society, was among the people who attended the convocation.

Senator Aiken in his address, which was highly critical of the trend the U.S. government has taken in recent times, said war does not appear as imminent now as it did six months ago. "Scarcely anyone believes Russia... will fight us of her own free will until her industrial capacity more nearly equals our own," the senator asserted. "Barring any inflammatory incident, the outcome of the present struggle between the democracies and the totalitarian states is unlikely to be decided either economically or militarily for some years to come." He added it will be necessary for the United States to maintain a three million man military force and a $75 billion budget for some time, but he did not specify the number of years it would be necessary.

Communities . . .

before-election deadline. Three commissioners also have to file for reelection if they want to remain in office.

In Griffin Mayor Roger Johnson is undecided, too. He has been mayor for one year, the regular length of his term, but hasn't expressed any opinion one way or the other, concerning his running again. Also, the five town commissioners' terms expire this year. Election in Griffin is also May 7. Nominations and filings for office will be carried out at a town meeting which Johnson will call soon.

Colored News

The family of the late Joab Gay, Sr., wishes to thank both colored and white for your kindness during his illness and death. We appreciate everything that was done for us.—The Family.

D. D. Garrett, local insurance salesman, told cosmetologists of Local 24 and 25 here Monday that where the Negro race stands at the present time is not so important as the direction in which it is moving.

The extent to which the race can interweave itself into better business of the community is measured only by who owns the dollars of the economy, he pointed out. He illustrated his point with the names of Negroes who have become big business men on a national level, such as Horace Suddeth, president of the National Negro Business League; C. C. Spaulding, president of the North Carolina Mutual Insurance Company; and Johnnie Brown, large landowner in Mississippi.

"I mention a few of the men and women in our race who have gone to the top for two reasons," he said. "First, to prove that we are not inferior and second to impress upon you that nothing stands between us and the top of the ladder except a little planning and hard work."

Local 24 was guest of Local 25 at its meeting March 19 at 210 E. 3rd Street. Miss Susie Williams was hostess.

Miss Wymer Eton presided. The speaker was presented by Mrs. Hatfield Streeter. A poem was read by Mrs. Whitehurst.

Expressions were made by two co-eds of Howard University, Miss Betty Price of Greenville and Miss Evelyn Williams of Harrisburg, Pa. A delicious repast was served.

There will be a quarterly meeting at Brown's Chapel on Sunday, March 25, with Elder R. A. Griswold, of Hertford conducting the service. The clubs unions will turn out at 3 o'clock. The Y. P. H. C. will have a short Easter program at 6:30. Services will continue all day and night. The public is invited to hear the gospel songs at Brown's Chapel Holiness church on Belvoir highway.

Says Newspapers Pay Own Way In Use Of Mails

Washington, March 21—(AP)—Frank A. Daniels, general manager of the Raleigh, N. C., News and Observer, told the House Postoffice committee yesterday that daily newspapers presently are paying their own way through the mails.

Daniels is chairman of the Postoffice Committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. He made the statement in an argument against Postmaster Donaldson's proposal to double postal rates on newspapers over a three-year period.

"The newspapers are ready to pay an increase that is necessary for the proper and economical operation of the Postoffice Department," Daniels declared.

But he added, "up to this time the newspaper believe that on the rates now in effect the postoffice department is not losing money on the handling of daily newspapers."

Spring Bows In, But It's Chilly

Spring bowed in on Greenville this morning with temperatures hanging in the chilly forties, accompanied by a cold drizzling rain beginning around eight o'clock this morning with overcast skies.

The highest temperatures on record for the past 24 hours reached up to 60 degrees with a low reading of 41 degrees.

No frost was noted in this general region last night as cloudy skies were general from late yesterday afternoon.

No Charges Placed In Accident Yesterday

Cars driven by Thad Nobles, 109 Harding Street, and John Gus Stokes of 1109 West Third Street Greenville, were involved in a traffic accident on Cotanche Street yesterday afternoon around two o'clock.

Greenville Police Department records show that damage to the two cars was estimated at around $150. There were no charges placed against the drivers.

Winterville Fire Is Seen Early, Put Out

Winterville, March 21—A fire discovered about 11:30 Monday night at the Do Drop Inn here was extinguished after an unknown person turned in the alarm.

The fire was discovered in a small upstairs room. The alarm was turned in by a person who said he was walking along the road and noticed the blaze.

REDUCED ACREAGE

Raleigh, March 21—(AP)—The Federal-State Crop reported today sharp reductions in potato acreages are in store for North Carolina. The decrease was attributed to the withdrawal of price supports by the federal government.

Sum Stolen From Ayden Business

Ayden, March 21—About $100 was stolen from the Sky Light Inn here Monday night when thieves broke into the place sometime during the night.

The money was taken in cash and change from the cash register and juke-box. Investigating the theft are members of the police department and the sheriff's department.

Germans Are . . .

falls of the "contractual agreement," although the present occupation system has apparently outlived its usefulness and become a political liability for the West in Germany.

It is also a liability to the German government. Allied surveys indicate that a majority of West Germans distrust their existing political parties and acutely dislike having the Bonn regime under the thumb of allied controls.

Bonn leaders complain Germans have been confused particularly by apparent contradictions in American policy toward German rearmament, they assert six months ago the U.S. was calling for full speed ahead. Then it tacitly accepted go-slow tactics initiated by the French and British.

Germans have asked Americans here: "What do you Americans really want us to do?"

College . . .

ment officials.

This board will meet Thursday to consider Hershey's recommendation. It probably will approve. If so, Wilson seems sure to approve. He'll tell Mr. Truman so Mr. Truman can issue an order putting it into effect.

But the President at this time may put only part of the Hershey recommendation into effect. That's the part providing for derment of men already in college or graduate schools.

He may refrain from saying anything about deferring high school graduates, who want to go to college, if they make 70 or more in the special test — at least at this time.

Why? Because Congress hasn't acted finally on changing the law. For example: If it should let the law stand—that no one under 19 can be drafted—there'd be no reason to require a high school graduate under 19 to take the special test.

That's why it is still uncertain whether this part of Hershey's recommendation will be ordered into effect by Mr. Truman if he issues his directive on the rest of the Hershey recommendation any time soon.

But just what is this mark of "70"? Is it an intelligence test, an aptitude test, or what? Experts in college tests might explain it another way, but this is the layman's explanation.

It's simply a test to show whether a youth could be expected to do college work successfully.

LIFE Magazine

SAYS: Charlie Chaplin's masterful comedy, "City Lights," is one of the biggest hits of this year, although it was made two decades ago. Picked as the "Movie of the Week" in its May 8, 1950 issue, LIFE magazine calls it "the best movie of 1936."
