Swartz Confident REA Loan 'Safe'

Sees Little Likelihood Agency Will Ever Exercise Proposed Mortgage On City Electric System; Financial Report Shows Adequate Revenues

Superintendent Martin Swartz of the Greenville utilities in an interview with the Reflector yesterday asserted there is very little likelihood the REA will ever have to exercise its proposed mortgage on the urban electric lines of the city system to collect money for the loan to the Greenville utilities commission.

"If it ever comes to that, we're gone anyway," Swartz declared. The commission for the past 15 months has been seeking a loan from the REA for the construction of 300 miles of rural electric lines throughout the area now enclosed by the existing rural lines of the city's electric system. At the meeting of the commission last Friday night, the commissioners deferred action on an REA proposal that the federal agency be granted a first mortgage on the revenue from all the city's rural lines and a second mortgage on the revenue from the city's urban lines as security for the proposed loan.

The REA proposal for the mortgages was approved by the board of aldermen early last week.

Explaining the matter, Swartz stated, "Before the REA will approve any loan, the anticipated earnings from the lines built from that amount of money must be enough to retire the loan. That is the only basis upon which any loan is made."

"It is customary for the REA to take a mortgage only on lines built by a loan, but since these are not lines in a completely new area, but are additions over all our system; and due to the difficulty in separating the revenues from the new lines from that of the existing rural lines, the REA asks a first mortgage on the revenue from the rural system only. The local government commission raised the question that the outstanding tax anticipation bonds for utilities (which are to be paid from utilities earnings) may have a first mortgage on the lines."

"The REA, taking that to be true, came back with the amendment that they take a second mortgage on the revenue from the urban lines also."

Swartz explained further that the stipulation in the loan would give a mortgage on the revenues only after the operating expenses, debt service and other overhead of the system had been paid. "After these obligations have been paid," he said, "the remainder of the net revenue will be obligated as security for the payment of the REA bonds."

According to the figures of the engineers who made the survey for the proposed extension of the Greenville rural lines, there are 2284 new customers which would be served by the lines. Swartz said yesterday over 80 per cent of these potential customers already have made applications to the Greenville utilities for connection to the power lines when they are completed. The existing 600 miles of rural lines already operated by the Greenville utilities carry power to approximately 3,790 customers in rural areas.

"The gross revenue from the new extension will exceed $150,000 annually," Swartz stated. According to the financial report of the utilities for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1950, the rural customers on the electric lines paid $251,119.86 for electric current. The total operation

Court Reversed

Richmond, Va., March 27—(AP)—The University of North Carolina must admit Negro students to its all white law school, the United States Court of Appeals for the fourth circuit ruled here today.

The Appeals Court reversed the Durham (N. C.) District Court and ordered remanded to it a suit brought by students of the North Carolina College for Negroes.

The appellate court said that the trial court must grant the relief sought by the Negroes—an injunction against the University and its officials to prohibit them from denying Negro admission to the law school of the 157-year-old institution.

Another Murder Indictment Drawn

Grand Jury Returns True Bill For Slaying In April, 1949

The grand jury yesterday returned a true bill against a former Greenville Negro for the alleged murder of a Negro woman April 16, 1949.

The murder indictment was drawn against Willie Black for the death of Ella Louise Hemby who he allegedly stabbed in the back of the neck during an argument. The stabbing occurred in a house on Railroad Street. Black has been out of the county since the day of the murder.

According to police testimony after the incident Black walked into the police station and reported he and his wife had an argument. Police subsequently investigated the "argument," leaving Black at the station. After they had gone, he walked out and has never returned here since. Upon investigation the police found the Hemby woman dead.

The murder indictment against Black was accompanied by one for assault with intent to kill his wife. She was found in the house beaten badly. Lieutenant M. E. Corbett stated today the authorities in other states are looking for Black with the help of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. As yet he has not been found.

It was learned the warrant was drawn to speed up the process of bringing Black into custody of local police officials, provided he is found elsewhere.

Other true bills returned yesterday were: R. Leigh Anderson, three bills for forgery; James Madison, forgery; Woodrow W. Jones, two bills for possession of burglary tools and receiving stolen property; Robert Chase, larceny; Paul Suggs, forgery; and Bruce Jones, breaking and entering and larceny.

Cases heard with judgments handed down were: Marion O. Blount, drunk driving; $100 and costs with license revoked for 12 months; Rufus Stancill, worthless check.

War Bride Accused Of Once Being Czech Spy

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Mrs. Ellen Knauff, German war bride, detained since 1948, has lost a major battle in her fight to win permanent residence in the United States.

A special immigration service board of inquiry ordered the 36-year-old woman barred from the U. S. yesterday after listening to testimony that she was a former Czechoslovak spy.

Mrs. Knauff said she would appeal the board's decision. Attorneys on both sides agreed the case may continue many months. Mrs. Knauff is free under parole to her attorneys.

For the first time in the long veiled case, the government lifted the curtain on a part of the evidence it always has claimed it had against the slight, dark-haired woman. She is the wife of Kurt Knauff, veteran working for the U. S. occupation forces in Germany.

Two Czechs—one a former major in his country's mission in Frankfurt, Germany, and the other a former woman employee in the mission—testified Mrs. Knauff made periodic visits to the mission to give information. At the time, she was employed in the civil censorship office of the U. S. Military Government.

Mrs. Knauff denied that she engaged in spying. She said she visited the mission every three months to get her Czech passport renewed.

Wilson Reveals Great Progress In Arming U. S.

Power To Deter Aggressor 'In Sight'; New Price Curbs Wanted

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson said today the country has "in sight" the military power to deter any aggressor.

Wilson also told a news conference the inflationary spiral has been "moderated." But he said the government may have to "put on the brakes a little harder."

"We still have the internal enemy of inflation that we must lick if we are to win the whole fight."

Wilson indicated his Office of Defense Mobilization will seek further power to curb prices, including revision of the Defense Production Act's restrictions on price ceilings for farm products.

But he said that precisely how this should be changed has not been decided.

The mobilization chief expressed hope that the Wage Stabilization Board, now out of business because of labor's walkout, soon will be reorganized and functioning.

The nation's progress in rearmament will be made plain in ODM's first quarterly report to Mr. Truman, due next week-end, Wilson said. He gave this clue to its contents: "If I were a principal enemy, I would be frightened by our progress."

It was Wilson's first meeting with reporters in 12 weeks. Even before it, he had been reported by aides to be much more optimistic now than earlier over progress.

O'Dwyer Before N. Y. Grand Jury

New York, March 27—(AP)—Former Mayor William O'Dwyer had another date today with a Brooklyn grand jury probing alleged ties between racketeers and corrupt police.

O'Dwyer, now ambassador to Mexico, spent 4 1/2 hours with the jury yesterday. No official comments were made on his testimony.

Half-Holidays Begin Tomorrow

The Wednesday afternoon half-holiday of the various business firms in Greenville will become effective tomorrow afternoon.

Most places of business will close at 12:30 but some of the grocers and dry cleaners will remain open until 1 p. m. to serve those employees who leave their work at 12:30.

Sales Were Up, But Profit Down

Kannapolis, N. C., March 27—(AP)—Cannon Mills sold a lot more towels and other products in 1950 than in the year before, but the firm didn't make as much money.

This was disclosed today in the firm's financial statement sent stockholders along with a call for the annual meeting to be held here April 10.

Anybody Want To Buy A Lion?

Sheba, a 10-month-old African lioness, gets a good scrubbing from George Fletcher in Chicago—just in case any interested buyer should call. Fletcher gave the animal to his wife for her birthday last summer, but the novelty has worn off with the rapid growth of Sheba. Besides, the Fetchers have 10 children to feed. And so they inserted the following classified ad in the Chicago Tribune: "African lioness, Sheba, 10 mo. old. for sale. Hand raised, very tame. $500. Lincoln 9-5833." (AP Wirephoto)

Senator Indicts Laxity And Public Corruption

Fulbright Offers Commission On National Morality As Means Of Coping With Failure Of Individual Integrity

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Senator Fulbright declared today that moral corruption beyond the reach of the law is eating away the foundations of American democracy. He called for revival of the precepts of the Pilgrims and founding fathers.

The Arkansas Democrat who heads the sensation packed probe of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) said it was not a condition to be remedied by politicians or policemen. He said it calls for the wisdom of the nation's most respected private citizens acting as a Commission on National Morality and led by an individual public.

In a speech prepared for Senate delivery, Fulbright offered a list of ten names of jurists, educators, religious leaders, a labor chief and a former senator as men of "integrity beyond reproach" who might make up such a commission.

In his passionately stated indictment of public morals, Fulbright included the nation's athletic-minded colleges and universities, blaming the "cynical, immoral doctrine that one must win at all costs" for scandals such as bribing of basketball players.

Fulbright said investigation after investigation has shown a evil that is "beyond the reach of the law." Now, he added, it is time to seek remedies.

He protested that "among so many influential people, morality has become identical with legality" and called it "a tragic plight" if that is to be the measure of integrity.

It is a condition, he said, which he found widespread in an investigation of political favoritism in big government loans by the RFC. But it is not peculiar to the RFC, he declared, and called it "a reflection of what may be seen in many other phases of our national life."

"What should be done about men who do not directly and blatantly sell the favors of their offices for money?" and can't be convicted of graft, the Senator demanded.

"How do we deal with those who, under the guise of friendship, accept favors which offend the spirit of the law but do not violate it?" he continued.

"What of the men outside government who suborn those inside it? xxxThey operate through lawyers—men who are known as clever lawyers; a cleverness which is like the instinct of the rat that knows how to get the bait without getting caught."

"Many businessmen, ostensibly reputable businessmen, employ these knavish lawyers to circumvent the law and enrich themselves at government expense. Too often the law cannot touch them."

"Who are the bribers?" Fulbright asked. "They are often men who walk the earth loudly and secure xxx respected citizens in their communities. xxx It is too much to ask of them, the favored few of our country, that they behave 'with simple honesty; with that honesty which looks not to the letter of the law, but to its spirit.'"

"False propaganda, and the 'big lie' of demagogues," he charged, "have created doubt in the minds of men."

Latin America Urged To Share Burden Of Defense

Chinese Carry On Rearguard Action

American Troops Trap Three Battalions; Reds Massing Just North Of Parallel 38; Allies Moving Up To Border

Tokyo, March 27—(AP)—American troops fought through a Chinese regiment today on the western front in a slow advance toward the Red Korean border. They killed 350 communists.

Nearby another U. S. unit battled three battalions of rear-guard Chinese. By late Tuesday afternoon the American had squeezed the Reds into a trap. United Nations warplanes dropped surrender leaflets.

An American division staff officer said he did not believe the Chinese would put up another major stand south of Parallel 38. But he added: "I think if we hit them above the parallel we'll find them fighting like sons of guns."

Elements of six Chinese armies were reported massing just north of the border. A report said Reds defense positions were built directly in front of the present U. N. line about two miles north of the parallel.

The Chinese 26th Army Corps has pulled back across the Imjin River. An American spokesman said the Chinese regiment mauled by the Americans Tuesday was part of the 7th Division. He said the division could no longer be regarded as an "effective, organized fighting force." The second Chinese force was not identified.

On the American's left flank, South Korean troops by sundown Tuesday were within five miles of the parallel in force. They dug in along the Imjin River east of Munsan. To get there they marched across Korean foothills without opposition.

Allied planes Tuesday supported western front ground action. They hit gun positions, pill boxes, tanks and vehicles.

Although the main U. N. line is within small arms range of 38, only one penetration in force has been reported. On the east coast, Republic of Korea troops occupied the small village of Yompo.

On the east central front U. N. troops encountered rain and mud but no enemy as they advanced to within six miles of 38.

The Red buildup was reported on the central front around Kumhwa. This is a road and rail center 20 air miles north of 38. Communist troops have been spotted south of the town and in the hills to the east and west.

Heavy traffic also was spotted on the roads around Pyongyang, the North Korean capital, and Sunchon.

The Air Force said it destroyed or damaged about 100 vehicles, 60 railroad cars, 930 Red-occupied buildings and 30 supply and fuel dumps. It also claimed 450 Red soldiers wounded or killed.

Aiming At Meat Ceilings In April

Price Experts Admit Meat Situation Is Top Problem

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Fixing of dollars and cents ceiling prices on meat and pork chops by mid-April is the target at which government price experts aimed today.

Frankly acknowledging the meat price and supply situation is their No. 1 problem, Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) experts are working feverishly on a solution.

Both Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston and Price Director Michael V. Disalle have said the ceiling is not ordered as soon as possible. But they haven't given any indication as to the probable date.

One OPS meat expert said, however, he didn't think he was being too optimistic in making the mid-April forecast.

Previously OPS authorities had indicated regulations covering live hogs and dressed pork would come first, to be followed by ceilings on dressed beef and live cattle.

The aim now is to get the emergency meat situation settled at one time or at least with the regulations on beef following closely those on pork.

OPS officials arranged to confer with livestock representatives today.

Charles White Elected Rotary Club President

Charles A. White last night was elected president of the Greenville Rotary club in the club's annual election of officers.

Other officers elected by the club were: Hugh Winslow, vice president; Wendell Smiley, secretary-treasurer; and L. A. Stroud, sergeant-at-arms.

Fitz Duncan, Dr. Fred Irons, J. Knott Proctor and Bob Thompson were elected to the board of directors of the club.

The new officers will be installed at a later meeting of the club.

In addition to the election of officers last night, the principal portion of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the progress which has been made toward the District Rotary meeting which will be held in Greenville April 12 and 13.

J. B. Kittrell, chairman of the steering committee for the convention, outlined the tentative program for the district meeting, and called on the various committee chairmen of the Greenville club for reports of the progress which has been made by the committees.

Mrs. J. L. Winstead, Mrs. K. E. Pace, Mrs. H. L. Ormond, Mrs. E. R. Browning, Mrs. F. L. Hendrix and Mrs. J. H. Thomas represented the Rotary Annals at the meeting.

Those Dragging Feet

After Being In Session For Three Months Congress Has Not Yet Acted On A Single Piece Of Major Legislation; Record Of Accomplishments Is Small

Washington, March 27—(AP)—to vote next week. This is the important issue of approving U. S. troops for Europe to help our allies.

Taxes—President Truman asked Congress to increase taxes by $16,500,000. This hasn't reached the floor of either house and probably won't for many weeks or months. And if, and when, it does act Congress probably will cut the figure in half.

Draft—The Senate approved changes in the draft law, particularly to permit taking 18-year olds and set up universal military training after the present emergency. This hasn't come up in the house for a vote yet. Debate is scheduled next week.

Appropriations for Defense. It did authorize a Navy ship construction and conversion program to cost about $3,000,000,000 but hasn't voted the money as yet.

Here are the more important items which both houses of Congress have acted on:

They extended the present rent control law until June 30; approved

Face Fines For Not Appearing

Asheville, March 27—(AP)—Because they did not report for jury duty, three Buncombe county residents today faced fines of $20 each.

The fines were imposed by Superior Court Judge George B. Patton on Raymond C. Conner, A. R. Rhodamer and G. M. Hill yesterday on the first day of a civil court term.

OPS To Send Spokesman To City When Available

President Ercel S. Webb of the Greenville Merchants' Association contacted John Clark, Office of Price Stabilization, today requesting that someone who is well versed in regulations be sent to Greenville to make interpretations for local business concerns.

Clark stated that as soon as possible he would send someone who could provide the businessmen with help on the problems relating to the OPS program. Though he has at least nine in the 1951-52 season.

NBC did not disclose how much Miss Truman will be paid. But it previously was reported unofficially that she would get $2,500 for each television show and $4,000 for each TV appearance.

He promised, however, that at the earliest possible moment he would have a representative from his Office of Price Stabilization and other interested persons to answer any questions that might arise.

"We readily understand the handicap under which Mr. Clark is working," said Webb, "and realize that it will require time for him to assemble competent assistants, especially in this true as the whole program is new to everybody."

President Webb said that Mrs. Cora Powell has rendered valuable assistance to many merchants and has copies of the regulations available.

Frontiers In Europe

Events In Europe Vitaly Affect The Livelihood And Freedom Of Nations In The Western Hemisphere; They Know It, And Their Ministers Are In Session

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

It was the late Stanley Baldwin, noted British statesman who, as the Hitlerian menace was rising in 1934, coined the then sensational line: "Britain's new frontiers are on the Rhine."

Since then America has recognized that her own defenses are not confined to her shores, but lie in Europe with those of her allies. And what is true of the United States also is true of the other nations of North and South America.

So it isn't strange to find this historic claim in effect (though not actually) the key-note of the important meeting of the Foreign Ministers of 21 American republics in Washington. President Truman, in opening the first session yesterday, urged the nations represented to strengthen and coordinate their defenses against the great perils threatened in the "aggressive expansion of the Soviet system toward our own hemisphere."

"We must consider," declared the President, "how we may best use our strength to support the cause of freedom against aggression throughout the world."

There are those who are inclined to discount the danger of invasion of the western hemisphere across the wide reaches of the Atlantic. That is a very dangerous thought to entertain in these days when ships travel by air as well as on the sea and beneath it.

Appropos of this my A. P. colleague, Mark Barron, who was a war correspondent with Italy's Marshal Graziani during the Italian invasion of Ethiopia in 1935-6, says the Marshal told him Mussolini at one time had the grandiose idea of invading Brazil. Graziani asserted that the Italian dictator had his plans laid for Brazil but abandoned them when he became convinced the United States would back up the Monroe Doctrine. It Duce felt that he had to invade some country, as a matter of prestige, and so compromised by picking on little Ethiopia.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson, as America's representative at the Washington conference, is said to be aiming chiefly at achieving an agreement that the other

Miss Rowlette Is Hostess At Tea To Honor Miss Larkins

Miss Carolyn Rowlette was hostess at a come-and-at tea on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at her home on E. Fourth Street to compliment Miss Barbara Ann Larkins, bride-elect of April.

Easter lilies and jonquils were used on the mantels and occasional tables in the living room.

In the dining room the table was spread with a cut work Madeira cloth. An arrangement of white gladioli, pearl bush and dwarf floss in a crystal bowl, flanked with white tapers in three branched crystal candelabra centered the table. The floral arrangement was repeated on the buffet.

Mrs. C. B. Rowlette Jr. of Bethel poured tea. With the tea, cheese biscuits, scones, party sandwiches, salted pecans and bridal cakes were served.

Miss Rowlette presented her honor guest a dinner plate in her chosen pattern.

Funeral Wednesday For W. J. Everett

Mr. William Jesse Everett, 63, died suddenly at his home near Belvoir about 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. He had been in failing health for about two years. Teen Talk

(Dear Judge)

AP Newsfeatures
There's nothing to beat practical experience when seeking a job, as most girls find out.

Girls studying home economics at Saegetown H. S., Pa., are going to be slightly ahead of their competition this year, however, when they graduate and seek jobs or go to college—they're part of a fine job training experiment, which gives them some business experience in between classes.

Each Home Ec. senior spends two weeks working at four different jobs. She gets no pay, but in return for work her temporary employer teaches her as much about his business as can be crammed into two weeks.

It is the kind of a program which should appeal to any girl. And besides giving her a whiff of the business world, she can decide whether she is suited to the grind.

Work in a frozen food locker plant might seem a little far fetched but not to these girls who consider that the same general process used in the plant applies to deep freezing food in home devices. They also learn how to process meat from the time it is slaughtered until it is ready for the table. They can cut steaks and other meat.

The general store has lots of appeal and gives good training, as it has everything from "nails to harness" as one girl puts it.

Hardware terminology is another thing again, and while the girls do not pretend to know everything about hardware after two weeks, they've learned a lot.

At a home furnishings store the girls even do book work and sit in on sales conferences.

And of course the piece de resistance two-week assignment is at Cal's dairy bar where the girls master the fine art of concocting a sundae or flipping a hamburger.

Every once in a while we learn that teen-agers drum up a new vocabulary, not quite as gay and colorful as that in vogue a few years back, but descriptive nevertheless.

Houston, Texas, students have a little new lingo other young people might like to hear about:

"Hoist a flag" is a phrase used in a somewhat scornful manner to someone who is proclaiming a fact which is fairly common knowledge.

"Well, send up a rocket" is a rebuff to a boastful friend.

"What's to it, dumplin'?" replaces "Whatcha know, Joe?"

"Sure, Bert" is another shush-up for a smart-aleck friend.

"Hot Rocks" are right guys.

Romance often is indicated by a girl and boy exchanging their identification bracelets. "Going steady" sometimes is subtly announced by wearing matching sweaters.

Too much jewelry is considered junky. Suede loafers rate a "fine-o". Heavy cosmetics are taboo for girls "in the know," a dash of lipstick and a bit of powder sees Betty Co-ed through even the most important social events.

TO ERECT PLANT

Sanford, March 27—(AP)—Burlington Mills, Inc. of Greensboro has announced plans for erection of a plant on 113 acres near the Lee County Home.

Social and Personal

Miss Sarah Adams has returned from Richmond, where she spent the Easter weekend with Miss Alice Goodall.

Friends of little Ann Elks will regret to know that she is in Pitt Memorial hospital after undergoing an appendectomy on Sunday.

Miss Lillian Cayton of Richmond spent Easter with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Cayton of Winterville. She had as her weekend guest Miss Trellis Detwiler.

Miss Betty Ann Young of Durham will arrive tomorrow to visit Miss Carolyn Rowlette.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe E. Joyner have returned from Fort Campbell, Ky., where they visited their son, Cpl. Max Joyner.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Cahoon and children and Mrs. Ruth C. Jones have returned from Baltimore where they spent the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jones.

Birth Announcement
Mr. and Mrs. C. Stuart Carr of Kinston announce the birth of a daughter on Monday, March 26, in Pitt Memorial hospital.

Church Family Get-Together
A unique service will be held in Immanuel Baptist church Wednesday night at 7:30, when the whole church family will meet for the purpose of rallying its spiritual forces in preparation for the coming revival April 2-8. Every man, woman, boy and girl, who is interested in the church is invited and expected to attend.

The meeting is unique in that it will be carried on by the laymen of the church in the absence of the pastor, who will be in Durham with the Rev. C. N. Royal, pastor of the Angier Avenue Baptist church, leading a revival.

40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
March 27, 1911

Mrs. Nana Brown and Mrs. J. W. White went to Bethel this morning.

Mrs. L. M. Savage went to Weldon Monday morning.

Mrs. F. J. Forbes returned today from Baltimore.

Mrs. I. F. Lee and Company's spring millinery opening will take place on Friday. It is something the ladies cannot afford to miss.

W. E. Hooker returned Monday night from a trip to New Bern and other points.

With the number of new houses going up and others in prospect, this is going to be a good building year for Greenville.

Greenville loses citizens sometimes because they can find nothing to do. Another argument that the town needs more manufacturing enterprises.

Free Will Baptist Church Scene Of Hooks-Branch Wedding

MRS. LEE ARNOLD HOOKS

On Sunday afternoon, March 25, at 5:30 o'clock in the Free Will Baptist Church in Greenville, Miss. Eleanor Branch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Branch, became the bride of Lee Arnold Hooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hooks of Winterville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. L. Patrick of Grifton. Wedding music for the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Elbert Davidson, organist, and Miss Ruth Little, soloist.

The church was tastefully decorated in bridal greenery consisting of Neanthe Bella and Areca Lutescens palms, Monstera Philodendron and plumbous ferns. Large standards of white gaudioli and garza mums, seven and nine branch candelabra holding cathedral candles were used. Single candle stands holding cathedral candles were placed at the kneeling bench.

Mrs. Jack Branch of Kinston, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a green slipper satin formal, with fitted bodice, off-the-shoulder neckline and very full skirt. Her headress was of matching green net with spring flowers. She carried an arm bouquet of varied colored tulips, Dutch iris and garza mums tied with rainbow satin ribbon.

Little Miss Judy Davis of Hamlet, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed identical to that of the matron of honor, carrying a basket of spring flowers.

Master A. T. Hooks of Winterville, nephew of the groom, was ring-bearer.

Marvin Boyd, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man and the Art Festival To Be Held In April

Plans are being made for the Community Art Festival which is to be held in Greenville during the week of April 9 through 16. The theme for the festival will be "Arts In Our Community and State" and the main exhibit will include 50 etchings of North Carolina buildings and beauty spots done by Louis Orr. Orr has been working on the etchings since 1939 and this will be the first showing of the complete series. He will also be the featured speaker at the festival.

Also on exhibit will be the work done in the city schools by art students. Work by the white students will be on exhibit in the high school auditorium, under the direction of James Walker, art teacher at the high school, and work done by the colored students will be on exhibit in the C. M. Eppes high school, under the direction of Mrs. Allen.

Local artists and artists whose work has received recognition throughout the state will have numerous paintings on exhibit at the Woman's Club and will include work by Hobson Pittman, North Carolina's best known artist.

Other interesting highlights of the program will be folk songs, folk dancing, North Carolina music, dramatics, singing by the Duke University glee club, and flower arrangements and table settings by Mrs. H. G. Hastings of Atlanta, Ga.

Special Service
The First Presbyterian church will have a special service tonight at 7:30 in the Sunday school assembly room in preparation for the evangelistic services of next week. All members of the church are asked to be present. The officers of the church and their families are urged to attend.

During the service Mrs. T. R. Husk, field secretary of the American Leprosy Mission, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Divine Architect."

Shower and Card Party Honors Barbara Larkins

On last Thursday evening at eight o'clock, Miss Emily Jean Rice was hostess at a card party in honor of Miss Barbara Ann Larkins, who will be married in early April.

Lovely arrangements of assorted spring flowers were used in profusion in the living and dining rooms. Miss Larkins was presented a white bridal corsage upon her arrival.

Three tables were set up for bridge, and after several progresses, prizes were awarded to Miss Emma Sue Larkins for high score, to Miss Lytle Batchelor for second high and to Miss Eleanor Norris for floating prize.

During the refreshment hour, the card tables were laid with white cloths and centered with small vases of pastel flowers. The hostess, assisted by her mother, served a dessert course of bridal ices, decorated cakes, nuts and mints.

At the conclusion of the refreshment hour, the hostess brought in a basket attractively covered with pink, white and blue paper and containing a number of gifts of linen shower presents for the honoree from the guests. The hostess gave Miss Larkins a gift of silver in her selected pattern.

Mrs. E. D. Larkins and Mrs. James Harvey Ward, mothers of the honoree and her fiancé, were guests for the refreshment hour and the opening of the shower gifts. Miss Emma Sue Larkins of Kinston and Miss Marian Ward of Washington were out-of-town guests present for the delightful party.

Red Oak News

The Circle meeting of Red Oak Church Circle No. 2 met on Monday night, March 19, at the home of Mrs. James Sydney Allen. Despite the rough weather, seven members answered roll call and we were very happy to welcome Mrs. Charles Stuart Allen as a new member. Mrs. James Allen and Mrs. Cox, who has recently moved into the community, were visitors and we were delighted to have them.

The meeting was presided over by the chairman, Mrs. Wm. May. The secretary, Mrs. Travis Crawford, read the minutes of last meeting, after which she called the roll and collection was taken. Since there was no business to come before the meeting, after a few minutes of conversation concerning the sick members of our church and community, we went right into our Bible study period. At the conclusion of the study the hostess served doughnuts, toasted pecans and iced Coca-Cola.

The meeting adjourned to meet April 16 with Mrs. W. G. Jenkins.

Red Oak folks will broadcast from station WGTC on Wednesday night, March 28, from 7:45 until 8:00. Tune in; we have some good news for you.

The Sunrise Service at Red Oak Sunday was outstanding because of its simplicity and dignity. A large crowd attended, many of them visitors from nearby towns. Lawrence Tyson made a talk which those who attended will long remember.

Mr. and Mrs. Fenner Allen and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Stocks and son Lenwood spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stocks in Windsor.

Strength for the Day

TAKE NOTHING FOR GRANTED
A wood fire on a winter's night is pleasant and comfortable. We have been building them in our open fireplace almost every night this winter. By the time we retire, the logs are burned down to embers. The next morning there is nothing but ashes.

The Record Indicates Loan Is Safe And Sane

It seems to The Reflector that a resolution from the Greenville Utilities Commission concurring in the action of the Board of Aldermen to secure an REA loan for the construction of new rural electric lines will be a good investment for Greenville.
The principal point of contention among the commissioners apparently is whether or not to grant the REA a second mortgage on the revenue of the entire system of lines of the Greenville Utilities. As long as the loan apparently was to be made on the basis of a mortgage only on the revenue of the lines which would be constructed with the money from the loan, the commissioners seemed to be in favor of the idea.

year . . . a profit of slightly over 20 per cent on its gross revenue from its rural lines.
According to the engineers' surveys of the proposed area into which the new lines would go, there would be 2,284 new customers for these lines. And of these potential customers, the utilities officials say more than 80 per cent already have applied for connection to the Greenville power lines.
In the light of those figures, it seems to The Reflector that the city electric system of lines is maintained. And on the other hand it will give the plant a more efficient operation.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, Mar. 27—President Truman has been placed in a peculiarly embarrassing predicament by the tremendous public demand that the Kefauver and Fulbright Committees be permitted to carry on with their sensational exposures of political corruption throughout the nation and crooked influence at Washington.
Although the lives of both committees expire within a few weeks, there is a bipartisan demand on Capitol Hill that they be continued with all the funds they need to increase the size of their staffs and detective forces.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
There's a writer by the name of Helen Lawrenson whom I had never heard of until she wrote the article "American Women Are Lousy Wives." After reading her article I still don't know where she's from or anything about her, but I'll give to one odd that she's an old maid. Any American that thinks American wives are lousy must be bitter because she isn't one.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
INTERFERENCE — Numerous members of the general assembly during consideration of the street-aid bill were heard to protest against efforts of the highway commission personnel to influence their votes. That gave double meaning to a quip by a member of a committee holding a public hearing on an important bill in competition with the riveting machines on the new highway building under construction adjacent to capitol square. When business had to be suspended for a minute or two because of the ungodly clatter of the riveters, one fellow observed with serious mien: "The highway commission certainly has interfered with the orderly procedure of this general assembly—in more ways than one."

What Other Papers Are Thinking

EDUCATIONAL THINKING (Raleigh News Observer)
An increasing problem is certainly presented in the fact that military plans want younger men while the educational system gets them ready to earn a living at a later and later age.
Greenville School Superintendent J. H. Rose has been contributing more to the fundamentals of educational thinking in this State in recent months than almost any other man. He performed a valuable service when he scrutinized the Army's rejections of many men for mental reasons. That study not only emphasized the necessity for some real meaning in North Carolina's pretention about compulsory school attendance and universal education. Also it demonstrated clear flaws in the Army's testing methods.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
How to preserve the nation's small manufacturing businesses is one of the toughest problems facing Washington today. There's a serious awareness of the dangers confronting small plants in the Department of Defense, the National Production Authority and Congress. But there is no easy formula to assure survival.
Small industry is threatened because it cannot get enough materials for civilian production and it cannot get an equal amount of defense work.
Some defense contracts can be awarded to small firms. But the very nature of most of them makes them jobs for giant organizations. The bulk of contracts for guns, tanks, planes and other material has been going to large corporations. As was the case during World War II, the largest part will probably go to the Du Pont-General Motors empire, simply because it has the plants and facilities to get the job done.

Hal Boyle's Column

New York—(AP)—I love a girl who loves a man who is man enough to smoke a cigar in the presence of girls who don't love a man who smokes a cigar.
That sounds a bit confused I know. But it isn't. It merely expresses my deep admiration for a gal who some enchanted evening bellows across a crowded room:
"Don't apologize, Golden Boy, light up another cigar. It's a pleasure to see you through your own smoke."
These girls, said to add up, aren't as many as I'd like. Most women just don't have the same boyish carefree attitude toward nicotine indulgence that men do. They are tobacco snobs.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
Washington Congressional wives, who will admit their husbands had to "politic" to get to Capitol Hill, from "politic" amongst themselves in their busy social life.
"There's no middle aisle separating Democrats from Republicans in our own organization like there is between our men folks in both houses of Congress," explains Mrs. James C. Davis, wife of the Democratic congressman from Decatur, Georgia. The new president of the wives' very active Congressional Club told me, "By retaining Republican and Democratic presidents every two years we keep up our bi-partisan policy."
Mrs. Davis, who some day is going to write a book on her experiences as a congresswoman's wife, which she says will be called "Drop in the Bucket," has outlined a busy regime for herself.
For one thing, she has set up a new committee to help entertain veterans from nearby hospitals. The idea is for wives to take the boys who can't move about to the Capitol for lunch.
To interesting committee hearings, to meet representatives from their own districts, to sight-see Washington.

TV Makes Passes At Girls Who Wear Glasses

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Let the critics scream all they want about television. I think it's a fine medium because it's made eyeglasses popular.

So many performers on TV are wearing glasses that glasses are in vogue. I hear that some fashion-conscious women with 20-20 vision are having spectacles made up with clear lenses just so they can get those lovely dark, heavy frames on their chic noses.

The oculists, opticians and others interested in vision have been trying to accomplish this end for years. It has managed to inter Dorothy Parker's lethal line about "men seldom make passes at girls who wear glasses." And it was this couple, more than anything else, that the better-vision people were fighting.

TV has produced, in the first place, a number of male performers who habitually wear glasses. They openly, flagrantly and without apology wear glasses—real glasses to see through. This has never before happened in the movies or on the stage. Then, it appears, a number of theatrical luminaries find it necessary to take along their glasses when they appear on those infomias, ad lib TV shows where there isn't acting to do or memorized lines to read. A number of the women stars have boldly placed specs on their noses in full sight of the cameras. This seems to have assured thousands of people that even famous people need some eye assist.

I think that glasses, as a matter of fact, give these performers some assistance. I've noticed that many of the male stars fool around with oversize, unlighted cigars, to give them something to do with their hands. And I've noticed that the women who are glasses wearers—none of them leave them on all the time—fiddle with their spectacles. It gives them something to do with their hands.

The main thing is that the cosmetic stigma is being removed from eyeglasses. Through the years, women who couldn't identify the person sitting across the table have been wandering around in a blurry world just because they thought glasses would immediately turn them into dowdy, unglamorous frumps. So now—if Gloria Swanson, Kyle McDonald and others can get away with them and need them—the heat is off.

Before the miracle of TV, the eye-glasses people had tried all sorts of lures. First they tried to make glasses inconspicuous—rims—so that people would scarcely notice you wore them. This didn't work too well. The rimless glasses carried an implication that you wore glasses all the time, a shocking confession.

Then they brightened up glasses. You were supposed to wear them proudly, like costume jewelry. And they prettied the frames up with colored stones. They pushed the frames into odd shapes and talked about looking piquant, elfin and pert. No go.

For a while women who were practically blind without glasses took to wearing dark lenses all the time. The theory behind this, I suppose, is the general public would think (a) that you were a movie star incognito, or (b) that you had something acute the matter with your eyes like conjunctivitis, infinitely preferred to simple chronic myopia, far-sightedness or astigmatism. This vogue fell off when the medical men warned that dark glasses in dark rooms frequently hurt the eyes permanently.

I think the whole glasses situation—now that we have TV on our side—is hopeful. There's a juvenile lead in a Broadway hit who not only gets the girl although he wears glasses, he also croons hit songs with specs on his nose.

Maybe this pioneering new medium will oblige.

His formal request to Congress for a third supply of funds or authority to spend in the year ending June 30 was expected in March but probably won't be ready before next month, officials said today.

When President Truman announced on Dec. 15 the plan to build the forces up to a 3,500,000-man goal, guesses were that this would require another $10,000,000. Whether these initial estimates finally will be reflected in the third supplemental appropriation is not clear.

The regular appropriation bill with which the Defense Department started out the fiscal year was a modest sum, compared with the point at which it now stands. Approved by Congress shortly before the communist invasion of South Korea compelled a quick and huge upward revision of military spending, the regular bill provided $13,272,000,000.

By September the first supplemental bill added another $11,724,000,000 to meet the requirements of the Korean War and get started on a general armed force expansion program. A second supplemental bill, providing another $16,794,000,000, was adopted early last January. Prepared before Mr. Truman made his mid-December decision to enlarge the mobilization effort again, it did not contain enough funds to go forward with the newly revised program.

Of the total $41,791,000,000 provided to date, $16,411,000,000 is for the Army, $10,749,000,000 for the Navy, $13,946,000,000 for the Air Force and $684,000,000 for the Defense Department's own program, including research and development, administration, industrial mobilization work and similar projects.

Defense Department fiscal officials say the three armed forces are keeping within their individual fund limits in writing checks, except possibly in some "subsistence" spending. Under law, they are allowed to incur deficiencies for foods, clothing and similar items of the subsistence category.

Americans Are Quitting Prague

Prague—(AP)—A diplomatic survey just completed here shows that only four American firms and agencies are still in operation on a permanent basis in Czechoslovakia. This compares with 50 or so two and a half years ago.

These four are the Associated Press, the United Press, the Motion Picture Export Association and the buying office for eastern Europe of the R. H. Macy Company, New York department store.

They employ 42 Czechoslovak citizens. All have American resident managers, but Macy's manager went back to New York last fall and has not returned.

Defense Dept. Is Still Figuring Budgetary Needs

By ELTON C. FAY
Associated Press Military Affairs Reporter

Washington, March 27—(AP)—The Defense Department is still trying to estimate exactly how much more than $41,791,000,000 it will need this fiscal year to carry out its regular operations and the armed forces expansion program ordered by President Truman last December.

With Armed Forces Day, May 19, slightly less than two months away, Col. Bonnewitz and his staff are now appointing project officers in principal Tarheel towns and cities to coordinate activities between the State Project Officer and local civilian committee which will be named in the near future.

Personnel representing all branches of the Army, Air Force, Navy and Marine Corps are scheduled to participate in Armed Forces Day festivities throughout the state, Colonel Bonnewitz said.

Emphasizing the 1951 Armed Forces Day theme, "Defenders of Freedom," will be parades, military band concerts, military equipment demonstrations and displays, aircraft fly-overs, and courtesy calls at port cities by Navy vessels.

When officers and fire equipment roared up, he explained he was testing the "what to do in an emergency" lesson he learned at school.

Plans For Armed Forces Day On May 9, Progress

Raleigh, March 27—Preparations for 1951 Armed Forces Day celebrations in North Carolina are progressing rapidly, according to Colonel H. P. Bonnewitz, USAF, Armed Forces Day project officer for North Carolina Military District.

When President Truman announced on Dec. 15 the plan to build the forces up to a 3,500,000-man goal, guesses were that this would require another $10,000,000. Whether these initial estimates finally will be reflected in the third supplemental appropriation is not clear.

A second supplemental bill, providing another $16,794,000,000, was adopted early last January. Prepared before Mr. Truman made his mid-December decision to enlarge the mobilization effort again, it did not contain enough funds to go forward with the newly revised program.

Of the total $41,791,000,000 provided to date, $16,411,000,000 is for the Army, $10,749,000,000 for the Navy, $13,946,000,000 for the Air Force and $684,000,000 for the Defense Department's own program, including research and development, administration, industrial mobilization work and similar projects.

Cattle Thriving On Citrus Waste

Jacksonville, Fla.—(AP)—Tons of citrus fruit rinds, pulp and seeds are now being made into a new cattle feed. The history of the new development is told by Edgar Andrews, field engineer here for Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., whose electronic controls are used in systems for making both the feed and various types of concentrated fruit juices.

"When processors first started turning out citrus juices," said Andrews, "they faced a mounting problem in the disposal of rinds and pulp which were too wet to be burned. If dumped, they made an objectionable odor over large areas and for long periods. A new process has been introduced which grinds the seeds, pulp and rinds into a dry feed that has the appearance of cereal flakes. This high vitamin content cattle feed has been found to build resistance to

When President Truman announced on Dec. 15 the plan to build the forces up to a 3,500,000-man goal, guesses were that this would require another $10,000,000. Whether these initial estimates finally will be reflected in the third supplemental appropriation is not clear.

The regular appropriation bill with which the Defense Department started out the fiscal year was a modest sum, compared with the point at which it now stands. Approved by Congress shortly before the communist invasion of South Korea compelled a quick and huge upward revision of military spending, the regular bill provided $13,272,000,000.

By September the first supplemental bill added another $11,724,000,000 to meet the requirements of the Korean War and get started on a general armed force expansion program. A second supplemental bill, providing another $16,794,000,000, was adopted early last January. MERCURY WINS AGAIN IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN!

1951 MERCURY WITH OVERDRIVE IS DECLARED "ECONOMY CAR OF ITS CLASS"

THIS year it's the 1951 Mercury with Touch-O-Matic Overdrive* that won first prize in Class "C" in the Mobilgas Economy Run!

Proving its pound-for-pound gasoline economy, this stock Mercury scored amazing 59,868 ton-mile performance over a grueling 840-mile course staked out by the AAA. Virtually every kind of weather and road condition—7,000-foot ice-ridden mountain passes . . . sweltering, sand-swept roads of Death Valley—put the car to the test. But still, the new 1951 Mercury delivered the best ton-mile gasoline economy of any car in its class.

That's something to think about when you go to buy a 1951 car. It's good to know that the new 1951 Mercury can save you money for years to come—no matter where you drive it!

As if this amazing economy weren't enough, Mercury also offers new styling that's more than just skin deep. New riding comfort that's designed to give you a smoother ride longer. New value that can't be surpassed by any car.

Once again the facts have proved it—the new 1951 Mercury is "the buy of your life!" So drop in at our showroom and get the complete story.

*For "the drive of your life," Mercury offers you a triple choice in transmissions. Merc-O-Matic Drive, the new, simpler, smoother, more efficient automatic transmission—or Touch-O-Matic Overdrive is optional at extra cost. There's also direct-cash synchronized standard transmission.

Fulbright Says Use Of 'Hired Players' Makes Mockery Of Amateur Sports; Raps 'Win At Any Price' Attitude

Washington, March 27—(AP)—Senator William Fulbright (D-Ark.) accused the colleges today of corrupting their "hired" athletes and student bodies with "the cynical, immoral doctrine that one must win at any cost."

He criticized the schools and their alumni alike, showering on them blame for the recent college basketball bribe scandals centered in New York.

The Arkansas senator charged colleges use "hired players," "make a mockery" of the whole spirit of amateur sports and must share the blame when scandal results.

How I Relieve Distress of Monthly Female Complaints and nervous feelings several days before... with Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—truly 'the woman's friend'

Several days just before my period I'd feel so nervous, irritable, so restless, easily upset at the slightest thing—due to female functional monthly disturbances. I asked my druggist for something to take, and he told me Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Now I get simply amazing relief from this distress. Pinkham's Compound also relieves monthly headache, backache and those miserable 'bearing-down' pains—due to this cause. Taken regularly—it helps build up resistance against such distress.

What also impressed me about Lydia Pinkham's Compound is that it's made strictly from nature's roots and herbs (plus Vitamin B). There are no harmful drugs in it. This is really a great comfort. I wish you girls troubled this way would give this great medicine a fair trial. P. S. Pinkham's Compound tastes swell in a little fruit juice or just plain water. Or you may prefer Lydia Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron—pleasant to take and easy to carry in your purse.

WHAT DO I OWN WHEN I OWN A SHARE OF STOCK?

When you own a share of stock, you own a share of a business.

Let's say you own just one share of common stock in an automobile company. Then you are an owner of an interest in that company, in its factories, materials, products, reputation, even in the skill of its workers and management.

Or let's say you own a share, or ten shares, of a company in a different industry—a railroad, a drug and chemical concern, a public utility, a food processor, an airplane maker. Again you own an interest in everything that company has—its laboratories, supplies, patents, know-how.

You have a certificate showing that you are one of the legal owners. That certificate is registered in your name on the books of the company. You have the right, with other stockholders, to elect the men who run the business and who report to you on the company's operations.

The number of shares you hold measures your part of the company—your part of the profits it may earn, the dividends it may pay, the ownership risks you have assumed. Whether you own one share or seven or 1,000, you own a share of a business... and to that extent it is your company.

Shares in hundreds of different companies are bought and sold daily on the New York Stock Exchange by people all over the country. These companies are "listed." They met certain requirements when they placed their shares on the Exchange.

Information about prominent corporations, including earnings and dividend records, is available without obligation at offices of member firms of the New York Stock Exchange.

TIME TRAP By ROG PHILLIPS

Chapter 9 Quickly Ray told the whole story, starting with the telephone calls, made so he could calibrate the controls of his invention for contacting other-time energy patterns in a wire, of the voice in his mind warning him out of the building seconds before the explosion, and of the subsequent dream in which that voice called itself Nelva.

As he talked Arthur Granger became more and more agitated. When he finished the man questioned him, had him repeat parts of the story. Then he did a strange thing. He covered his face with the palms of his hands and sobbed, his shoulders shaking, heartbroken sounds coming from his lips.

Ray and Joe watched this spectacle, amazed. Craig Blanning said in an undertone rumble, "Nelva is Mr. Granger's daughter. She was taken away from him by the Vargians when she was seventeen years old—five years ago."

"I—I haven't had any news of her since they took her away," he said. "I didn't know whether she was alive or dead—or which would be the worse for her to be—until now."

"But why?" Ray asked. "I had gathered from what you said that the Vargians weren't interested in things like that."

"No one knows," Val Nelson spoke up. "So far as is known they haven't taken more than a dozen human beings into their buildings; and there was no cause for the ones they did take, so far as is known. With Nelva there certainly couldn't have been. She was beautiful for a girl of seventeen—but no more so than dozens of other girls. At the time we thought it might be because her father was the president-by-appointment of the underground, and that they would use her as a threat to force him to turn on us; but they never contacted him—never molested him. Every attempt we've made to find out something about what happened to her has met with a blank wall silence. Until now."

There was a deep silence. Each of them was deep in his own private thoughts. Finally Joe Ashford broke the silence, almost timidly: "One thing that struck me at the time," he said, "how could she speak to you directly in your mind from the future? I've thought a lot about it. Not many people can read minds. There's no use saying she did it through the circuit you had hooked into the telephone, Ray, because she contacted you later when you were asleep—after that circuit was blown up. And remember what she said? She said, 'Varg Thrott can trace me back and locate me,' or something like that. Just what was it she said, Ray?"

"She said, 'Varg Thrott can trace my thoughts back to me from you,'" Ray said slowly, "and as I remember it, it seemed not so much that she was afraid Varg Thrott would find where she was, as that he or it would find out it was she who was contacting me and had saved my life. And who is Varg Thrott? Their ruler?"

"No," Neal Smith said. "Thrott is the equivalent of the English 'territorial government' and Varg is of course what they call themselves, like our term, American. So the Varg Thrott is the collective Vargian population."

"And that three-eyed female whose picture is in the spyscreen in the drugstore?" Joe asked. "I was thinking Varg Thrott was her name. Who is she?"

"As nearly as we can gather," Neal answered, "she is their queen or ruler. She must be something like that because her picture is plastered all over the country."

"So Nelva is in the hands of the Vargians," Ray Bradley said softly.

Joe looked intently at Ray, his eyes softening at what he saw there. He looked up at Arthur Granger and winked cheerfully.

"If the Vargians only knew it," he said brightly, "they're in for a hard time of it. You don't know what a sly and devious mind lurks behind those eyes of his. Once he sinks his mental teeth into anything he never lets go."

Ray didn't seem to hear what Joe said. His eyes were half closed, his fingers toying with the empty glass in his hand.

"He looks that way now," Val Nelson said. "I'd almost say he looks sinister."

"He doesn't hear a word you are saying," Joe said with a broad smile.

After an interval of silence Ray's eyes shot open. "Is there such a thing as a map of the city? If you have one, bring it to me."

"I have one in my desk," Arthur Granger said. "Also maps of other cities and of the whole country, right up to date."

"Just bring the one of the city," Ray said brusquely.

Mr. Granger hesitated, then rose and left the room. Shortly he returned with a folded map. Ray took it and spread it open on the floor. Joe got down beside him and studied the map.

Accidents Are Number One Killer Of Children

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Education Editor Ordinarily, when we think of crippled children, we envision those who have been damaged by polio, arthritis, rheumatoid heart disease and so on.

But there is a rarely considered preventable condition which accounts for more deaths in childhood than the next six most common causes—death combined, and certainly more permanent crippling than any of the conditions mentioned above, says Dr. Harry F. Dietrich.

Dr. Dietrich, who is with the Children's Hospital and Department of Pediatrics, University of Southern California Medical School, Los Angeles, and Beverly Hills Clinic, Beverly Hills, California, says that accidents are the number-one killer of children, destroying over 12,000 annually and permanently injuring between 50,000 and 50,000 children in this country each year.

Writing in the magazine "The Crippled Child," Dr. Dietrich, says: "During the first year of life, before an infant can duck, dodge or run, it is at the mercy of its custodians... The prevention of crippling accidents in this age period is obviously easy. Now swing across the diagram to five years of age. Both school and play are going to take the child away from the protective devices of the home, and only what it has learned will accompany it. In the four short intervening years the completely protected, totally dependent, one-year-old infant must be transformed into a secure, self-confident school child armed with safe behavior. Protection will be attempted only against incomprehensible or subtle and serious hazards."

Continuing, Dr. Dietrich says: "This remarkably rapid change is not accomplished by chance, nor by edict in the last six months before the school bell rings. Long before we can reason and debate with our eager offspring we can help them learn through minor painful experiences."

The runabout child of 18 months can and should acquire a backlog of experience that will introduce him to concepts of pain, heat, gravity and no-edibility, he says. "Instead of forbidding him (which teaches him nothing but resentment) to touch commonplace hot objects, we should simply and objectively state, 'That is hot. If you touch it, it will burn you.' He does, it does, and a valuable lesson is learned. Interestingly and yet naturally, the parent gains stature in the child's eyes because of the parent's prophetic ability, and on future occasions the parents' opinion is accorded greater respect," he says.

NOTICE OF SALE Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a judgment in a Special Proceeding entitled: "N. O. VanNortwick, Sr., and wife Zida W. VanNortwick, W. O. Lost Son Found After Ten Years Singapore—(AP)—A mother has found her son after a 10-year search, but it may still be a long time before she sees him. The woman is Fukuyae Kaniko, a Japanese who married an American dregdmaster attached to a British tin dredging company in the little village of Tanjong Tualang in Perak state of Malaya. The boy is John Palmstrom, who was born a fortnight after the death of his father 15 years ago.

With the outbreak of World War II, the mother was arrested and interned. The boy later went to a Japanese school in Singapore until 1945. He then was evacuated with other school children to Japan. After the war, the mother started an intensive search for her son. Finally, she learned her son was alive—but in Japan, living in Furuveda Machi, Sazaken, with an uncle and under the name of Kodako Kaniko.

Fukuyae Kaniko would be a happy woman were it not for the fact her son lost his American citizenship through non-residence in the United States. Now she has a problem of trying to get to Japan to see him or for him to be sent over to her.

In the United States about 43,000 people are admitted to hospitals each day.

If Dissatisfied With Tithing, Re-Fund Is Ready

Santa Ana, Calif.—(AP)—There's a $100 on deposit in a bank here which can be claimed by anyone. Anyone, that is, who tries tithing for one year and finds that God does not keep His promise to take adequate care of the giver. In five years there have been no claimants.

The Rev. DeWitt Safford, who deposited the money, recently renewed the offer and promised to include the five years' interest. A tither is one who gives 10 per cent of his income to the church. Safford rep his church has 178 tithers out of a communicant membership of 481. None of them, he says, has shown an interest in his $100.

Romantic Twist To Snake Story

Madras—(AP)—Natives of near-by Calicut give a romantic twist to a tale of the cobra and the lady. The story tells of daily visits by the six-foot reptile to the house of a villager named Narayanan. The snake faithfully follows Narayanan's wife Narayani wherever she goes.

Narayani went from fright at first sight to her current attitude of respectful resignation. Popular belief runs that the snake is making love to the woman. It does not hesitate to slither into her bedroom, darting off only on the entrance of another human.

The Aztec name "cacao" was contracted by the Spaniards to "cacao" and corrupted in English to "cocoa."

The Record That Means the Most to You! Nash Rambler SETS ALL-TIME RECORD 31.05 MILES PER GALLON IN 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN! Here is proof positive that the Nash Rambler is the most economical full-size car on the road... official proof that you can expect to go farther on every gallon of gas in a Rambler Airflyte. In setting this all-time record, the Rambler carried 4 passengers with driver, averaging over 41 miles an hour. The course covered all types of terrain—deserts, mountains, city and highway driving... with snow, rain and head winds. Yet never before had any car in this event gone so far on so little gasoline! Every Nash Airflyte entrant—Statesman, Ambassador and Rambler—was a trophy winner in its class. Real evidence that Nash is your best bet for the years ahead!

UN Challenges Soviet To Allow Slavery Probe

By JOHN FISHER... Washington has put Moscow on the spot. We again have challenged the Soviet Union to allow United Nations investigators to study slave labor in the U. S. S. R. and elsewhere.

American charges against the inhuman system were recorded at the U. N. Economic and Social Council, meeting last week in Santiago, Chile. In Lent while the Christian world was recalling the suffering of Calvary, delegates were told of millions of people today plodding the Via Dolorosa to Arctic Europe and Siberia, in many cases because of their religious faith.

The Lithuanian American Catholic Congress recently declared: "Since June 1940, Lithuania was transformed into a land of martyrs for Christianity. The hierarchy is entirely eliminated. Most of the clergy are either dead or are suffering with their flocks in Soviet prisons or Arctic Siberia."

"Families are deliberately separated in order that Catholic Lithuanian children be brought up as Russian heathens." Protestant East Prussians, Latvians and Czechs are enduring a similar fate.

Old Russian Custom Say Apologists Apologists for the Soviet Union argue that United States officials never lodged official complaints against the political exile system of the czars and that the present "corrective labor service" is but a projection of the old imperialist punishments.

Humanitarians never condoned the former penal setup. Stories of the anguish of the Poles, tramping on foot in the snow across Russia and Asia, still shock decent people. But in 1914 there were at the most 15,000 political exiles in Siberia. The American delegate at Santiago declared that estimates of Soviet slave labor run from 2,000,000 to 20,000,000.

"Czarist Russia was free," he added, "in comparison with Soviet Russia," where the official plan for 1941 showed 14 per cent of original construction was carried out by forced labor. Czarist despots never made a pretense of human rights and liberated workers, as do the Communists.

Those who excuse this phase of Communism maintain that in its end result, the slave system is a blessing. They say current bondage gives future generations vast public improvements to enjoy forever.

Planting Oaks for Stalin Right now forced labor is employed in a new construction project, officially described as the "changing nature" campaign. The "remaking nature" plan calls for a belt of trees to protect farm lands from wind and to retain moisture in the topsoil. Slaves are collecting acorns and planting oaks from the Crimea to the Caspian Sea.

Other geographical plastic surgery is enormous irrigation works in the Ukraine Caucasus and Central Asian republics, the Volga-Don canal, Kubyshev and Stalingrad electric power plants and highway networks in the Lena River basin in Siberia.

Moscow papers are crammed with enthusiastic predictions about these enduring "Russian pyramids" for fabulous food and power resources in peace and war. But, like the triangular rock piles of the Pharaohs, built by the sweat and blood of ancient Israelites in the first Passover days and by other prisoners, these monuments will bear age-long witness to the misery of slaves and the cruelty of Russian taskmasters.

No one behind the Iron Curtain is immune from deportation to concentration camps. Any Russian political suspect or labor delinquent—guilty of slackness, absenteeism etc.—is liable for "corrective labor." Thousands of German POW's are still in Northeastern Asia. Some of the evidence on camp conditions, presented by American delegates, came from Japanese prisoners of war.

Former Allies Now Slaves Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia now copy Russia on slave camps.

Polish political prisoners have been shipped to Soviet coal mines. French, Dutch and Belgian girls, first captured by the Nazis and later "liberated" from farm and factory work in Germany by Soviet troops were sent to the Urals and are held there even today, as members of forced labor units.

This is what life is like under Communist Simon Legree: The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Gerhard A. Fitzkau, Director of the St. Boniface Society, New York City, was a pastor in East Prussia, when the Russians took over. He and 55 of his townspeople were earmarked for deportation to the slave colony in the Vorkuta Peninsula, in Arctic Russia, north of the Urals.

"We were kept standing 14 days in a tiny pen," he said, "without water for the first four days. We were fed a sour potato soup. Finally we were placed in a freight in a tiny pen," he said, "without car for a journey that lasted 21 days. Three times we were let out; twice to unload corpses. No one knows if the dead were buried or left to be eaten by wolves."

Seven of 300 Survive "At camp our task was to dig canals to develop the area. Three hundred Ukrainians and Poles had started the work. Only seven were alive when we arrived. Our daily ration was a soup of frozen turnips and lukewarm water. We had a gruel of grain with a few drops of grease for the mid-day meal and bread for supper. "I grew so weak that I couldn't say the whole rosary at once. Then, for no apparent reason, I was sent back to my native village a physical wreck. Later a kind-hearted Russian army sergeant smuggled me out of the Soviet zone in a cart loaded with 13 dead bodies. I escaped to West Berlin and freedom on a British supply train."

Official Soviet documents from the Ukhta-Pechora camp in the Arctic Circle, presented to the United Nations meeting in Chile, revealed similar starvation tactics. Basic rations were as low as 1,300 calories per day. Extra food could only be secured by exceeding the work norm set by the MVD. Discipline rations were under 1,000 calories.

The daily ration for police dogs was 1,183 calories. Communist Russia treats beasts better than human slaves.

BRIDE PRICE RAISED Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.—(AP)—The bride price was raised from 20 to 50 spears each, worth about $10, at the annual chiefs meeting of Zande district in the southern Sudan. The chiefs also agreed the price must be paid in full by the prospective husband before the marriage becomes legal.

"We've driven our 5 Dodge cars over a million miles"

Says GEORGE ORL, Taxicab Fleet Operator, Red Bank, New Jersey

"When five standard Dodge sedans cover a million miles you begin to realize what Dodge dependability means. Four of our Dodges are still going strong. One, after 400,000 miles, was finally retired from service. All those miles were safe, dependable, comfortable miles for our passengers—amazingly economical and trouble-free miles for us."

Depend on it! This great new Dodge will see you thru the long pull ahead!

STYLED TO THE MINUTE, extra roomy with wonderful new "watchtower" visibility, more comfortable to ride in, easy to park and handle—this year's great new Dodge is the car to see you through the long pull ahead.

SPEND 5 MINUTES WITH US Come in today. Five minutes is all it takes to check and compare... to learn how much more Dodge dependability can mean to you. We'll be glad to show how you could pay up to $1,000 more for a car and still not get all the extra room, ease of handling and rugged dependability of today's big Dodge.

Describes Work Among Lepers And The Disease

Under the sponsorship of the Greenville Council of Church Women, Mrs. Thomas R. Husk, field secretary of the American Leprosy Mission, gave an illustrated lecture at the First Presbyterian Church this morning on the "No-Place People" to more than fifty ladies who were present.

Mrs. Husk is related to Rev. and Mrs. C. D. Patterson of the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church and had come to Greenville to spend the Easter holidays with them. While in the eastern part of the state, she will also help with interdenominational youth rallies in their plans to do something for the victims of the disease of leprosy.

In her lecture, Mrs. Husk, who has been in this kind of work for more than seven years, stressed the fact that leprosy is a disease caused by a bacillus that attacks the skin and the nerve tendons but never attacks the vital organs of the body. Most of the victims of the disease are not residents of the United States, though there are records of about 5000 cases here in this country. The government supports a leprosarium in Carville, La., where anyone who has leprosy is admitted free of charge for treatment of the disease. Cases have been reported every year that records have been kept from the states of Florida, Louisiana, Texas and California, though some cases have developed in 44 of the 48 states at some time or other. There has never been a case reported as developing in North Carolina.

Leprosy is the least infectious and least communicable disease known in public health work," stated the speaker. "It is not a disease of fifth or sixth, but possibly one of the most chronic ones ever treated. Patients have been known to break out with the skin lesions as much as twenty years after contact with it. It is hardly ever fatal and can be successfully cured. Children who contact leprosy more easily develop other complications and the fatality among them is higher than among adults. Adults may live years and years with leprosy and seldom die as the result of leprosy itself, but as the result of other things that develop.

"One of the most tragic things about the disease is the fact that patients are forever shunned by society because of the public's misconception of the disease and proper treatment for it," continued Mrs. Husk. "I am more interested in breaking down the prejudices and correcting the misinformation about leprosy than in any other phase of the work," she concluded.

Mrs. Husk showed dozens of colored slides which were taken at the Leprosarium in Carville. She explained in detail the treatment for the disease, the administrative setup there, and the religious work which is a vital part of all work with the victims of this tragic menace.

Mrs. Husk will speak again tonight to another group at the Presbyterian Church, and all interested persons are cordially invited to attend.

County And Home Agents Discuss 'Better Living'

The Greenville Lions Club last night heard a talk, illustrated with slides made on Pitt County, by Sam Winchester, county agent and Miss Sue Brickhouse, home demonstration agent for Pitt County, entitled, "Objective Planning for Better Family Living."

Opening comments by Winchester told of the progress which has been made in the state of North Carolina in the past several years among the rural population of the various counties in spite of the fact that the state has more farming population than any other Southern state for its size.

Corn products which have been pushed for several years have added more than $35 million dollars yearly to the income of the farmers and will add more in the coming years. Comparing the Gold Rush of '49, the county agent pointed out that there is more potential "gold" in the farming land around a 20-mile radius of Greenville than was taken from the land in the early gold rush.

With the addition of the permanent pasture project and increased livestock production, the state is well on its way to coming from the 29th position which it holds now on a national level to very near the top.

While low-ranked as far as the production of livestock, the state stands third from the top in the production of crops and progress being made in improving various types of varieties being used.

One fact which the people of the state can be justly proud is the fact that North Carolina has more 4-H Club members and F. H. A. members than any state in the nation.

In other ways of advancement, the number of electrical units installed in rural areas now stand at 87.7 per cent of all persons instead of 7 per cent 15 years ago.

While these improvements have raised the standards of living of the people of the state and Pitt County, there is much room for increased advancement, said Winchester.

By means of a series of slides made in various rural homes of the county, the County and Home Agents, presented the needs for improvements in the home and the planning to make the program successful.

Careful planning and management will raise both the living standards and health and welfare of the county people, the agents pointed out.

The results of careful planning would mean added savings which can be transferred into improving another portion of the farm program. Home improvements which not only improve the appearance of the home but add to the health of the family as a whole.

"A rural family should plan to raise everything which it will need for placing on its tables, with the exception of items, few in number, which must be purchased in the stores," they stressed.

By canning and saving the surplus resulting in the summer months, the cost of food stuffs in the winter months will be cut heavily, it was pointed out.

Guests of the club last night were County Commissioners, Marvin Smith and Brown Hodges.

Second Vice President Jimmy Harris presided over the business meeting.

Psychiatrist To Speak Thursday

Dr. Leslie B. Hohman, professor of neuro-psychiatry, Duke University, will address the Greenville city school teachers Thursday, March 29, at 7:30 in the training school auditorium.

The meeting is being held in the auditorium so that members of the faculty of East Carolina Teachers College, teachers of the county schools, and the parents of Greenville can have the opportunity of hearing the eminent psychiatrist.

Dr. Hohman is a surgeon at Duke hospital and came to Duke from Johns Hopkins. He is recognized as a leader in his field in America and spends his spare time working for and with maladjusted children. He is the author of a book, "As the Twig is Bent," as well as the author of several articles.

He served in World War I and World War II in the psychological division and at the present time he is consultant for the Veterans Administration.

Preceding the 7:30 meeting there will be a dinner meeting in the training school cafeteria for the teachers of the Greenville city schools.

Superintendent Rose emphasized that the 7:30 meeting is open to the general public and the teachers in the schools are very anxious to have a large group of parents present for this meeting.

Three Accidents On Pitt Highways

Three Pitt highway accidents were reported by Greenville Highway Patrolmen over the past 24 hours.

Yesterday afternoon, around four o'clock, a car operated by Kenneth Wardell, was going east on the Black Jack highway when it struck a tractor and scoop which ran onto the highway in front of the car.

The tractor was being operated by Curtis Mills, Route 1, Greenville, to grade a front lawn of a house near the road.

Neither of the drivers were hurt, but an estimated damage of $150 resulted to the car, and the tractor was heavily damaged.

Investigating officer Dick Chadwick stated that the accident occurred as the operator turned around to look at the scoop with the tractor coming onto the highway into the path of the car.

No arrests were made in the accident.

A Greenville man was charged with driving drunk and hit-and-run driving early last night following a highway accident about one mile from Greenville on Highway N.C. 11 around 7:30.

Arrested was Lindsey Forbes, 202 West Fifth street, Greenville.

Patrolman Dick Chadwick who investigated the accident gave this account:

A car driven by J. B. Meeks, of 317 Pitt Street, Greenville, was traveling north on N.C. 11 and was meeting three other cars, at the time the middle car in the line pulled out and sideswiped Meeks' car, hitting him and running.

The third car in the line followed the driver until he stopped and phoned Greenville police officers who came to the scene and arrested the man in the city limits.

Around $100 damage was reported to the Meeks car, Chadwick said.

An accident involving a "driverless" automobile was reported by Patrolman R. C. Holt of Ayden yesterday afternoon.

According to Holt, the accident occurred Sunday night near the Pitt county line on Highway 102, west of Ayden.

A truck driven by Robert L. Lane of Ayden was traveling east when a car came onto the highway in its path.

The driver told the officer that he did not have time to stop as he was too close on the vehicle.

The car was owned by S. Joyner of Route 1, Ayden, Negro, who stated that he was standing by the car when an eight-year-old child inside the car pressed the starter causing it to move onto the highway.

A 14-year-old Negro child in the front seat of the car fell out of the car as it began to move and was injured slightly, Holt stated. The girl, Hazel Gray Groom, 14, was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for observation and x-rays.

Holt stated that investigation of the accident is not yet complete.

Hotel Losses On 'Jumpers' Light

New York—(AP)—The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers"—a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists for 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of 1 per cent.

Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

American nations build up their military strengths so they can assume a bigger share of hemisphere defenses. These are now borne largely by the United States.

In this connection it was made known prior to the opening of the conference that the United States is urgently considering a record military aid program of $80,000,000 for Latin America. That's emphasizing the gravity of the position in a practical way.

The conference really is refurbishing the weapons prepared by the Rio de Janeiro 1942 conference for hemispheric solidarity and cooperation. America now is in pressing need of more raw materials which the Latin Nations can provide. They in turn need manufactured products.

All this—it should be emphasized—can be achieved within the terms of the United Nations charter which sanctions such regional arrangements.

and maintenance expense for the rural lines was $195,591.03; which gave the utilities an operational profit of $53,528.63 from the rural lines for the fiscal year.

Revenues on the present installations in rural areas had a gross increase of 14 per cent during the last 12 months," Swartz stated.

Under the terms of the proposed loan, the utilities commission would be allowed to borrow up to $910,000 from the REA. The commission, however, would borrow only the amount necessary to construct approximately 300 miles of rural lines.

"Hardly any of the lines will be over five miles long," the superintendent said.

Estimates which engineers made in October 1949 on the cost of the proposed lines set the construction cost at $334,500. Swartz said the cost probably will be somewhat higher now, but he expressed the belief that the construction cost would not run too much over the estimate.

The REA loan would be granted to the city on a basis of 35 years at an interest rate of two per cent. According to the loan terms, only the interest on the money would be paid during the first five years, and the payments of the principal plus the interest would be divided over the last 30 years of the loan.

The superintendent asserted that the addition of the rural customers to the power lines of the local electric plant will make no additional investment necessary at the plant. "It will increase the operating efficiency of the plant because the farmer electric load factor does not correspond with the load factor of the urban area," Swartz said. "It will give a more diversified load factor. The increase in the peak demand will be very little if any. The machines are running anyway, and an increased power plant capacity will be needed just as quickly without these new rural customers as it will with the new customers."

Approximately 500 Rotarians and their wives are expected to be here for the district meeting. The registration will begin at 10 o'clock on April 12, and the first session of the convention will be called to order at 1:30.

The convention will be highlighted by a fellowship dinner in the north dining hall on the ECTC campus at 7 p.m. on April 12 at which Dr. Sylvester Green of Chapel Hill will deliver the principal address. A luncheon for the Rotary Anna has been planned at 1 o'clock on April 13 at the country club at which John E. Watson of Dunedin, New Zealand will be the principal speaker. The Governor's banquet will be held at 7 o'clock that evening in the Wright building on the ECTC campus. District Governor Howard McGinnis of Greenville will preside at the meeting.

Chairman Kittrell of the steering committee said the complete agenda for the two-day district meeting will be announced within the next few days.

The meeting here will be the first Rotary district meeting ever to be held in Greenville.
