Blue Mold Reported In Pitt Plant Beds

Tobacco Farmer Reports Severe Damage; Mold Attack In County Follows By Ten Days Reports Further South

First reports were received today of the entry of blue mold into the county's tobacco beds and came about 10 days after such reports were made in counties farther south.

Harvey Branch, tobacco farmer who lives about two miles east of Winterville, reported yesterday his plant bed has been severely damaged by blue mold in several places scattered throughout the bed.

Weeks stated Branch's bed was the first report of the mold this year and he warned other farmers in the county to begin treating their plants immediately with remedial dusts and sprays.

The mold attack this year is about a month later than it was reported in 1950. Last year's early attack was due mostly to a warm winter that maintained a temperature agreeable to the spores for several weeks.

In Branch's bed several of the plants, which are about the size of a silver dollar, Weeks said, have been burned severely. Although the spores have not as yet migrated to other plants in the bed, there are enough on those plants that have been damaged to burn the rest of the bed, he pointed out.

Many farmers have already begun treating their plants, he said. But those who haven't begun yet should do so immediately. Recommended treatment should be doses of parage, or dithane Z-78 in either dust or spray form.

During the agent's inspection he also found the plants were being injured by vegetable weevil worms which were eating the leaves in Branch's bed, indicating the earliest arrival of the worms during recent years. The worms are about a quarter inch long and eat holes in the leaves the size of a dime, similar to grasshopper injury.

Recommended treatment for the worm is liberal dustings of five percent DDT or one percent parathion dusts. Weeks reported the plants this year are the smallest size that the worm has attacked in the past few years. Usually they begin eating when the plants are well off the ground, he explained.

Between 7,000 and 10,000 Reds were reported dug in along the central front south of the border. At least 80,000 more stacked them up along a 20 mile deep stretch of Red Korea.

In the air, 16 F-86 Sabre jets of the U. S. Fifth Air Force tangled Thursday with 23 Russian-style MIG-15 jets in three separate encounters over northwest Korea. No damage was reported to either side.

The breakdown of the results to date is as follows: Fountain has collected 92.1 per cent of their quota; Farmville, 87.9 per cent; Greenville, 75.5 per cent; Ayden, 70.0 per cent; and Bethel 53.8 per cent.

Winterville, 28.5 per cent; Pactus, 21.4 per cent; and Chicod, 8.5 per cent.

There has been no report from Stokes, Belvoir, Bell Arthur, Grifton, Grimesland and Falkland.

If there is anyone in the county who has not been seen by a solicitor but wants to make a contribution, they are asked to forward the contribution to "Red Cross, Box 586, Greenville, N. C."

Seven distinguished ministers will be the guest preachers in seven Greenville churches next week in the simultaneous evangelistic services and preaching mission which will begin Sunday.

The Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the Immanuel Baptist Church, the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church, the Pentecostal Holiness Church, the First Presbyterian Church, the Eighth Street Christian Church, and the Memorial Baptist Church will participate in the week of simultaneous worship services.

The four guest preachers whose pictures appear in today's Reflector are the Rev. John Booth who will preach at the Eighth Street Christian Church, the Rev. C. N. Royall who will preach at the Immanuel Baptist Church, the Rev. Harry C. Smith who will preach at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and the Rev. J. Blanton Belk who will preach at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and president of the Greenville Ministerial Association, said the series of simultaneous services by the seven churches "is another evidence of the cooperation on the part of the churches in Greenville. It means they are cooperating and emphasizing a new spiritual life for the churches and the community. It is the hope of the Ministerial Association that other meetings and other programs for the week will be put aside so the people of the city may attend the series of simultaneous worship services."

New System Of Food Price Controls Ordered By OPS

Retail And Wholesale Grocers Ordered To Complete Change-over Between April 5 And April 30; Many Contingencies Involved

Washington, March 29—(AP)—The nation's retail and wholesale grocers today set about shuffling a huge volume of food items—costing the public $20,000,000 a year—to a new method of price controls.

They are under government orders to complete the transfer between April 5 and April 30.

The Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) announced three regulations last night, putting about 60 per cent of all foods under fixed "markup" percentages which the agency said are those in effect before the Korean outbreak. A grocer adds the "markup" percentage to his cost in order to determine his selling price.

There is what the new system means to the country: First, it means a great many up and down movements in food prices, depending on the store, the locality, and the kind of food. Price Director Michael V. Disalle said "We are sure that there will be more decreases than increases."

That was cheerful news for the housewife, but Disalle added that "a large part" of the net reduction in prices may be cancelled out if farm prices continue to move up.

Under present law, the wholesale and retail prices of most food products must be allowed to rise when necessary to reflect higher farm prices. Disalle, facing reporters at a news conference, was asked whether he intends to recommend a change in the law to permit tighter food controls, and he replied, "We're not ready to answer that."

Second the new system means that Disalle's OPS now has paved the way for definite dollar-and-cents ceiling prices, figured by the district OPS offices and posted on big charts in the stores.

OPS officials said this was "the single most important aspect" of the new system.

Court Clears Way For Closing Stokes Station

Big N.C. Budget Is Before House

Committee Clears Measure And Companion Legislation

Raleigh, N. C., March 29—(AP)—A record breaking biennial budget bill and a small companion measure—given swift approval yesterday by the Joint Appropriations Committee—were slated to begin their way through the House today.

The two bills, drawn up by a special appropriations subcommittee, may be placed on the House calendar today so that consideration may begin tomorrow.

The measures call for total state spending of more than $502,000,000 to operate state agencies during the next two fiscal years, and $335,000,000 for permanent improvements.

The total spending figure represents an increase of some $46,000,000 over the budget proposed by the Advisory Budget Commission, including $42,778,018 in the general fund.

In approving the appropriations bills, the Joint Appropriations Committee gave its endorsement to a proposal which would take away some of Governor Scott's authority by shifting control over two large state funds.

Most legislative observers agreed that the move was designed to clip some of the Governor's authority. Proponents of the proposal, however, said it was merely a way of "tightening budgetary controls" over the million dollar-a-year contingency and emergency fund and the much larger highway fund surplus.

Find Little Change Would Result In Pitt Services If Railroad Station Closed; Past Decisions Reversed

The North Carolina Supreme Court yesterday reversed both the decisions of the State Utilities Commission and a ruling by Judge Chester Morris, making it possible for the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad to close its station now in operation at Stokes.

The North Carolina Utilities Commission had held that the closing of the station could not be done without working a hardship on Stokes and Pitt County residents.

The Supreme Court ruling said the evidence indicated little change would result in the Pitt rail services if the station was to be closed.

The main point on which the railroad based its reason for closing the station was that yearly the company was losing an estimated $572 on the operation of the station.

It listed the salary and expenses involved in employing a station agent at $3,339.14 a year.

The railroad stated that rail service to the town would be afforded by Parmele, some seven miles northwest of the town, and Washington, located 16 miles southwest.

At the present time there is no passenger service maintained on the line through Stokes.

Actually, the only effect which would result from the ruling allowing the closing of the station would be that all incoming freight would have to be prepaid and that notice of arrival would be mailed from Washington instead of Stokes and that way bills and receipts for freight from Stokes would be handled by the train conductor.

The same freight service would be available and the freight trains would be stopping at the present schedules allow, the court ruled.

Last year, a ruling by the State Utilities Commission blocked an attempt by the railroad to close the station and a later attempt was stopped by Judge Chester Morris.

This morning in a telephone interview with W. F. Stokes, one of the supporters who went to Raleigh last year in an effort to have the station kept open he said that the closing of the station will mean a lot of inconvenience for the local merchants though the freight trains will stop at the Pitt County town.

"Comment is varied on the closing of the station," Stokes stated this morning, "with only a very few people actually knowing that the station will be closed."

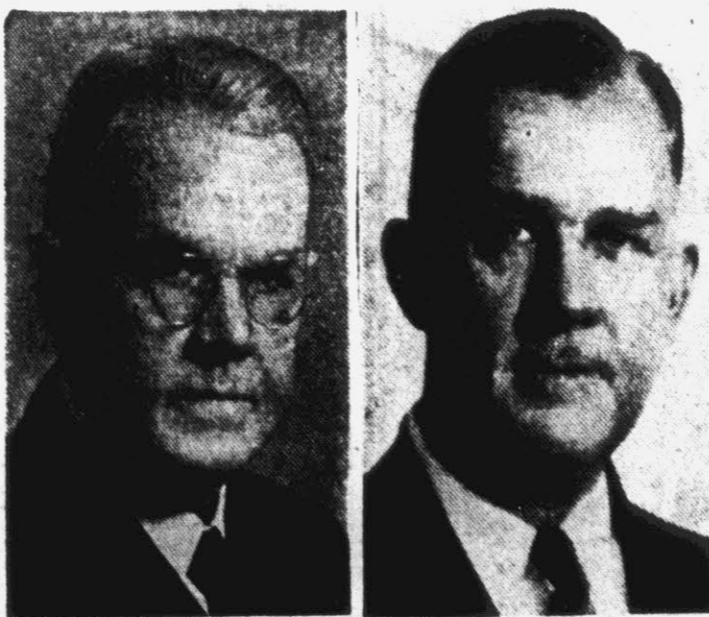

"The closing of the station will mean that local merchants will turn to trucking companies over the state to supply their needs instead of the railroads as they have done in the past," he concluded.

Concern Growing For Yacht, Crew

Miami, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The weather churned up the Gulf of Mexico today and concern increased over the plight of an eight-girl crew and the male skipper of the missing schooner Tropicaire.

Coast Guard planes searching for the ship reported rough seas and a 20-knot wind, equivalent to about 25 miles per hour. A 900-foot ceiling and visibility of four miles hampered the air search.

But the several planes engaged in the hunt continued their monotonous crisscrossing of the area.

The erratic bat zoomed from the rafters during an aria by Prima Donna Jar Mila Novotna and delighted an audience of 3,000 persons with a series of fancy spins and Immelmann turns.

State Prisons Show A 'Profit'

Raleigh, N. C., March 29—(AP)—The State Prisons Department is recapturing more men than it's losing by escape.

Prison Identification Bureau chief Charles Snow reported yesterday that so far this year 86 prisoners have made their getaway and 95 fugitives have been apprehended.

Reds And The Farmer

Out Of Korea Comes The First Official Report Of How Communists Treat The Farmer; Land Redistributed, But No Titles Given; Taxes Made Them Slaves

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Out of Korea comes the first official report of how communists treat farmers. It is written by Robert A. Kinney, an officer for the Economic Cooperation Administration who followed United Nations troops into North Korea last summer.

He talked to North Korean farmers who had lived under both the Japanese occupation and the communist government which started in 1945.

He also talked to South Korean farmers who lived under the American occupation and then under the government of the Republic of South Korea.

Washington has had reports on how the Soviets treat their own farmers and farmers in the middle European satellite nations. But those reports were always sneaked out by refugees. Never before has a U. S. government official had the chance to walk into former communist territory and actually talk to the men who had tried to till the land under the Red flag.

Kinney found that the Reds made a hurried gesture in 1945 to carry

Tokyo, March 29—(AP)—Red China rebuffed General MacArthur's peace bid today as impertinent, insulting and "worth only a single laugh."

A communist broadcast from Peiping said "the entire Chinese people will...fight unrelentingly until the aggressor is completely driven from Korea."

It gave the Chinese a distorted version of MacArthur's statement of last Saturday.

The broadcast said MacArthur "has declared that the United States and Britain are preparing to directly invade China."

MacArthur, in offering to talk peace with the communist commander in Korea, warned that China would face military disaster if the United Nations should try the war to its shores.

The U. N. top commander already was in hot water with Washington administration officials for what were called political aspects of his peace talk offer.

MacArthur had emphasized that a peace settlement must fit into U. N. objectives for a unified, independent Korea.

Twisting his proposal into a propaganda boomerang, the communists called on China's millions to fight to the finish.

For the first time, China spots of the entire Chinese people as committed to a "sacred struggle for the defense of their state."

Previously Red China has called her troops in Korea "volunteers."

The Chinese language broadcast said the "Chinese Committee for the Defense of Peace" had termed the MacArthur bid "insulting to the people of Korea and China."

"MacArthur's statement is impertinent and insulting to the Chinese people," said the broadcast, "issued in Tokyo by the Kyodo News Agency."

It has declared that "the United States and Britain are preparing to directly invade China..."

"The entire Chinese people will step up its sacred struggle for the defense of their state and will continue to fight unrelentingly until the aggressor is completely driven from Korea."

This belated reply to General MacArthur's March 24 statement came after it has stirred up critical reaction both in Washington and London.

The Truman administration was reported to have asked the U. N. Commander-in-Chief to clear future statements of a political nature with the State Department.

MacArthur, before departing March 24 for his 14th visit to the Korean front said in effect:

Red China is on the ropes in Korea. Her war-making potential has been cut down by allied planes and warships. She lacks the industrial know-how. Any extension of the war to China's own shores would be disastrous for the communists. He's willing to meet the Red Commander-in-Chief in the field and bring an end to the bloodshed—but only in the U. N. pattern.

Peiping's broadcast called MacArthur's theoretical mention of extending the war to China an outright invasion declaration.

CONDITION UNCHANGED Grand Rapids, Mich., March 29—(AP)—The serious condition of Sen Vandenberg (R-Mich.), ill at his home here, was unchanged today.

political favor with the North Koreans. They redistributed the land—took it from absentee landlords and gave it to tenants—in 25 days.

That lasted until 1948, when the Reds suddenly redistributed the land again, giving all the best to communist party favorites. It seemed the communists had only given farmers "use rights" rather than title to the land. When they wanted to throw a farmer off his land they simply took away his "use rights."

Kinney says the farmers realized that the system made them "merely tenants of the state and reduced them to the status of slaves."

In 1947 the communists decreed a "production tax in kind." Farmers were forced to turn in 27 per cent of their rice and 23 per cent of their other crops. The farmers thought this was high enough, but they found in some cases they actually had to pay the Red government as much as 80 per cent of what they produced.

The percentage tax was not

Bickering Over Korea

Disension Among The Democracies Over Conduct Of Korean War Is Worth Plenty To Moscow; British Paper Sums Up Problem, Putting Issue To Diplomats

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

The head men in Moscow may be rocking with belly laughs over the complaints among the Democracies about the political and military conduct of the Korea War.

Such dissatisfaction perhaps is worth more to the Muscovites than legions on the battlefield. It not only may help them in his military sense but it could provide propaganda for the spread of communism.

Rather typical of recent criticism was that voiced yesterday by Prime Minister Nehru of India in Parliament. He characterized General Douglas MacArthur's recent peace-talk offer to the North Korean and Chinese Reds as an "extraordinary development fraught with grave consequences for all countries concerned."

"Certainly no field commander is going to lay down the policies of the government of India," declared Nehru. "Political policies are laid down by governments, not commanders in the field."

The Prime Minister had in mind MacArthur's recent statement that he was ready to confer with the enemy commander "to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the United Nations in Korea xxx might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

One can't dismiss lightly such a statement coming from the head of an Asiatic nation of 300,000,000 people. His views are bound to sway a host of folk, especially since his influence extends beyond the borders of his own country.

The London Daily Express sums the situation up in an editorial declaring "it is time the bounding of MacArthur was brought to an end." The Express says the real quarrel between the General and his critics is over their proposal that he should halt at the 38th parallel. He maintains that isn't sensible as a military proposition.

"A halt on the parallel," declares the Express, "would simply mean giving gratuitous advantage to the enemy which might be paid for with allied lives. In a military sense the parallel does not exist, but in the political field it looms and the other ends. This is why

Miss Frances Bendall was hostess at an informal bridge party at her home on Biltmore Street last night as a compliment to Miss Barbara Ann Larkins, who will be married next week to James Harvey Ward Jr.

The hostess greeted the guests at the door and invited them to find their places at three tables set for bridge. She had the bridge of the honoree marked with a bridal pink corsage.

The home was charmingly decorated with arrangements of assorted spring flowers. In the dining room a miniature ball scene was featured on the buffet and was lighted by white tapers. On the dining table lilies and tapers graced the center.

Following several progressions of cards, prizes were awarded to Miss Larkins for high score and to Miss Dorothy Stauffer for second high. A gift of china in her selected pattern was also presented to the honoree as a remembrance from the hostess.

For the refreshment hour, the card tables were laid with white covers and centered with small vases of pastel flowers. A frozen fruit salad course with coffee and nuts was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, to the players and to Mrs. E. D. Larkins and Mrs. J. H. Ward, who were present for the social hour.

Cannon-Farra

Mr. Raymond Cannon and Miss Elizabeth Farra were married Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the Catholic church of Elizabethtown, N. C. Those attending the wedding from Farmville were Mr. and Mrs. K. Cannon and family, Mr. Nassif Cannon and family, Mr. A. Nichols, Mr. Happ and Miss Annie Nicholas, and Father Benson, pastor of the groom.

Junior Woman's Club To Sponsor Bread Sale

The Junior Woman's Club of Greenville has completed plans for "bread day" to be held on Sunday afternoon, April 1, beginning at 12 noon and throughout the afternoon club members will make a house to house canvass of Greenville with loaves of bread in exchange for donations. All donations will benefit the Watson Memorial fund.

This memorial is the main project of the local junior club and was established in 1944 soon after the death of Dr. Watson. Since its establishment this fund has provided much needed equipment for the Dr. T. M. Watson Memorial Wing of Pitt General and Pitt Memorial hospitals, hospitalization, drugs, food and various examinations and operations for underprivileged children of Greenville and Pitt county as recommended by Dr. C. F. Irons and Dr. F. B. Haar, local pediatricians.

During the past year funds have not been spent for equipment since the new hospital was nearing completion. However a total of $1,186.79 was spent for hospitalization, drugs, tonics, ointments, eye operations, X-rays, food, milk, books and toys.

This was made possible by the cooperation of the people of Greenville and Pitt County in helping the club through their annual tag day, parcel post sale, talent show, bridge tournaments, and bread sale.

The Dr. T. M. Watson Memorial Wing has now been moved to the new Pitt Memorial hospital and during the past month a record player with 21 records and some washable toys have been purchased by the club for that wing.

Each member of the club has a great pride in the work that has been accomplished by this fund and a deep appreciation of the public's donations which have made it possible. So again on Sunday afternoon, April 1, a Junior Woman's Club member will call at each home and ask housewives to help them never to be without funds when called upon to help a needy child of Pitt county.

Last Rites Friday For Frank B. Aycock

Mr. Frank B. Aycock, 68, died at his home in Fremont at 11 o'clock Wednesday night after having been critically ill for the past month. Funeral services will be conducted at the Fremont Methodist Church at 11 o'clock Friday morning by the pastor, the Rev. W. E. Howard, and burial will be in the Fremont Cemetery. The body will lie-in-state at the church for one hour prior to the time of service.

Mr. Aycock, son of the late Frank M. and Louise Newsome Aycock, spent all his life in Fremont and the surrounding community. He had been engaged in farming and the livestock business until his failing health caused him to retire about three years ago.

Surviving are his wife, the former Mattie Morgan, to whom he was married in 1903; three sons, Frank B. of Currituck, Jesse N. of Harrisburg, Pa., and Dr. E. B. Aycock of Greenville; 10 grandchildren; a brother, Jesse B. Aycock of Fremont; and a sister, Mrs. E. J. Overby of Washington, D.C.

Airlift To Alaska For Battalion In War Game

Fort Bragg, N. C., March 29—(AP)—Suppose Alaska were invaded—and this fort received a call for a battalion combat team to engage the enemy within three days.

Just what might happen in such a case will be demonstrated sometime next month.

A battalion combat team of 1,000 men will be airlifted from Pope Air Force Base here to meet a hypothetical enemy in Alaska.

The maneuvers, to be executed between April 12 and 25, will be known as Operation Firestep, "designed to explore the potentialities and requirements of a division of men and material under rigid Arctic conditions."

Lt. Col. R. D. Burns of the 1st Battalion of the famed 82nd Airborne Division will lead the men. They will be flown to Alaska in 20 C-19 Fairchild Packets and two Douglas C-124 Globemasters.

The overall operation will be under the eye of the Tactical Air Command. One TAG spokesman said speed and time are the essential elements in Operation Firestep.

Only three days are allowed for the combat team to engage the aggressor after being alerted at Pope Air Force Base. The TAG spokesman said the time limit would hold regardless of weather or other difficulties.

The operation also will combine elements of the 433rd Troop Carrier Wing at Donaldson AFB at Greenville, S. C.

The airlift will proceed by way of Scott Field, Ill., Rapid City, S.D., Great Falls, Mont., and Edmonton and Whitehorse, Canada.

Fighter planes of the Alaskan Air Command will support the defending troops after they made contact with the enemy.

So-called suction is actually a push. When you suck on a soda straw, air pressure on the surface of the liquid pushes part of it up the straw and into your mouth.

Addresses Educators and Parents

Dr. Leslie B. Hohman, professor of neuro-psychiatry at Duke University will address Greenville city school teachers this evening at 7:30 in the Training School auditorium. Members of the East Carolina Teachers College faculty and teachers of county schools, as well as parents of Greenville, will have an opportunity to hear him.

Nine To Compete In Speech Event

Nine students from Greenville high school will take part in the NFL speech tournament on March 30 and 31, at Millegan college, Tennessee.

Those students from Greenville high school are: Rodney Fulcher, debate and oratory, Jonnie Simpson, oratory and humorous declamation, Betty Small, debate and oratorical declamation, Douglas Mitchell, dramatic declamation and boy's extemp.

The second place trophy was won by speakers from Greenville high school last year and R. B. Starling, NFL advisor, said: "We have a group participating this year that's capable of repeating this honor."

Last report of schools entering the Appalachian district meet at Millegan college include Johnson City, Maryville, Elizabethton, Erwin, and Roan Mountain, Tennessee, Princeton and Bluefield, West Virginia, Asheville, Concord, Marian, Belvoir, and Greenville, North Carolina.

Robert Bright of Belvoir will take part in oratorical declamation.

Births Exceed Deaths Among Legislative Bills

By LYNN NISBET
Raleigh, March 29—Committees are giving unfavorable reports to many bills, and through process of combining several bills dealing with the same subject matter into committee substitutes are disposing of many others. At that, the birth rate exceeds the death rate.

Exact figures are not at hand on committee action, but it is estimated that about two dozen bills were given the axe Wednesday. Meantime, the house received 64 new bills and the senate 24. Perhaps of more interest is the fact that 15 of the senate bills and 48 of the house were classified as "local," leaving nine in the senate and 16 in the house classed as "public" or having statewide import.

Fourth Estate Goes Interstate

Needles, Calif.—(AP)—The publisher of the Desert Rat Scrap Book has leased the southeast corner of California and the southwest corner of Nevada. He plans to set up his press on the state line so half of the papers will be printed in each state.

Harry Oliver acquired the lease from the Fort Mohave Indian tribal council. It covers a 1000-foot strip of land one mile long. With Arizona a stone's throw away, Oliver believes he has found the ideal location for telling tall tales of the three states.

Big majority of the local bills had to do with fixing salaries of county or municipal officials, regulating election procedure in small communities and other matters of no concern to anybody outside the county. Yet, each bill had to be entered on the legislative journals, referred to a committee and accorded the same kind of treatment given to bills designed to collect and appropriate half a billion dollars of tax money.

One of the public bills was what is generally known as the "omnibus justice of peace bill." It names nearly five hundred persons in some eighty counties as justices of the peace. Many of these appointees will never take the oath of office, many of them will. And any one of them can send any citizen to jail for contempt of his court. The idea of a legislator from Cherokee county naming a justice of the peace in Currituck county doesn't make any sort of sense, but it is the way North Carolina—under present laws—handles the basic phase of the whole system of courts.

Four men were arrested around four o'clock this morning by Pitt County ABC officers and other enforcement officers on charges of possessing materials designed for the purpose of manufacturing illegal whiskey.

Arrested in the early morning raid were: Wardell Eason, 22, and Fennie Croom, 32, both white, of near Ayden, and Joe Nathan Jones, 35, and Vernon Toon, 26, Negro men of the Cove City region.

Seized with the men was a 1942 Chevrolet truck and a 1951 Pontiac sedan, loaded with the materials.

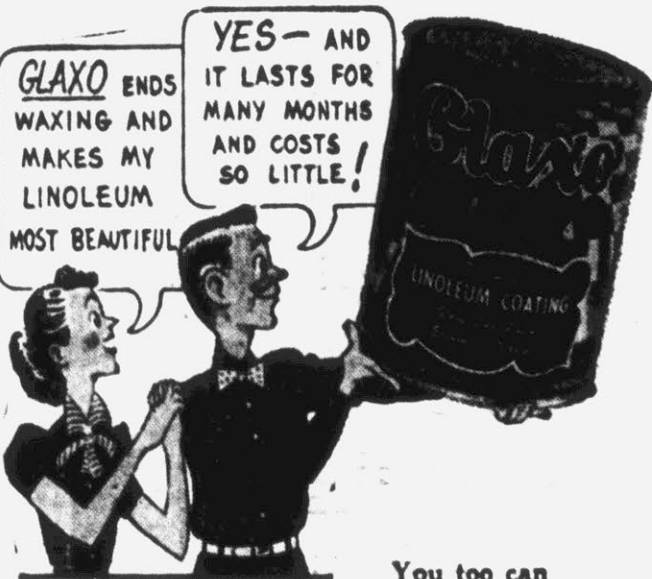

All defendants were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Bill Thomas of Kinston, after which they were released under bonds of $500 each pending the next term of Federal Court in Washington, N. C.

Literary Review Of A Comic Book

Leave it to the Navy to add a new wrinkle to the traditional methods of recruiting future Admirals.

Posters, advertisements, radio programs and buttonholing of the individual . . . together with the usual patriotic fervor in times of national emergency, have proven adequate in the past. Now, something as modern as electronics has been brought into the picture.

It's a comic book.

Not just an ordinary killer-thriller, and it isn't intended to be funny, but a literary and artistic gem that combines a reasonable plot . . . adventure . . . far-off places and Navy tradition. In general, it resembles the logical outcome when a recruiter, psychologist, salesman and adventure-story narrator would collaborate in writing.

Despite our limited experience as book reviewers, we'll go out on a limb and opine that the sample we saw will start psychological wheels turning in the minds of its readers; wheels that might roll right toward the recruiting office in the Greenville Post Office.

The comic book idea is just clever enough to encourage the suggestion that, if properly handled (said condition thereby eliminating nine-tenths of those now being sold) they possibly do have a place in some aspects of twentieth century cultural life.

Our average citizen may be weak spiritually (that point is subject to argument), but if he can "get right with God," strength will come to do right by men. Fear, whether of poverty, discomfort, or even death, then has no further paralyzing power.

We must willingly give up some of the froth and frills of life. To live on memories of good times past and on hopes for better things for our children through our sacrifice is far from an impossible state. Our hardy forefathers succeeded in it. Are we so softened that we will be confused to national weakness by the bullying of a pack of clever criminals?

DECISIONS—Oddly, but quite correctly, they do not figure that his role in World War II will be a major asset. For one thing, many of his decisions, and especially his failure to oppose top-level policy with regard to the Russians, have been proved utterly unwise by postwar developments. Furthermore, the results of that victory have not been too happy for the United States.

Many Roosevelt-Truman decisions, which he executed, were responsible for making Moscow so strong that she is in a position to start a World War III. Otherwise, he would not have had to exchange his professional "civies" for a uniform only six years after Germany's surrender.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29—The actual and titular leaders of the Democratic and Republican Parties—Harry S. Truman and Thomas E. Dewey—have been wooing "Ike" Eisenhower as a possible presidential nominee of their respective organizations in 1952.

The basis of their balcony scenes, and their muted or noisy cries of love for their political Romeo, is their belief that his accomplishment in organizing a European defense force, and possibly preventing a Russian attack in the meantime, will so endear him to the American people, regardless of party, that he could walk into the White House almost unopposed.

CHALLENGED—Thus it will be Eisenhower's actual accomplishments between now and next March, when primaries and planning for the 1952 nominations and campaigns get under way, that will decide his status as a politician.

It will boil down to the size and the power of the Western European force which he has been able to build, and to the relative strength between the democratic and the communistic forces.

It is doubtful if a presidential candidate's fate ever depended so completely on how he met such a single and compact challenge. Moreover, unlike conventional candidates of the past, his success or failure can be scored as easily and as simply as the results of a World Series or a Rose Bowl game. It cannot be hidden or explained away by political publicists.

TOKEN—Seen against this background, General Eisenhower's presidential prospects do not look too promising to the realistic politicians at the Pentagon Building, or among military circles generally. While wishing him the best of luck, they have reasons to believe that he has been given both a thankless and impossible assignment.

The western allies, under the Truman-Eisenhower program, are expected to have at least forty divisions in being (not on paper), well trained and equipped, by midsummer of 1952. Although that may seem like a formidable force, it will still be only a token army, as compared to Moscow's might.

PROMISES—The Reds—now, not next year—have at least thirty divisions in Eastern Germany and Poland, with approximately 200 that can be mobilized quickly on Russia's western frontier. That does not include the fifty or more divisions she has among her satellite states, such as those which now encircle Tito's Yugoslavia.

However, it is doubtful if General Eisenhower will have as many as twenty full and fighting divisions under his command twelve months from now, unless the United States furnishes far more than are now scheduled for overseas.

The French, the Dutch, the Belgians, and even the British, are far behind their promises and schedules. It is doubtful if they will have fifteen on European soil a year from now.

DISAGREEMENTS—It will not be General Eisenhower's fault, of course. It will be due to political differences, lack of funds, parliamentary difficulties (in France, especially) and war weariness among our allies.

It will also be due, partially, to the lack of strong and decisive leadership in the United States, including disagreements about reinforcing Europe on Capitol Hill.

But if this condition prevails a year hence, as most military experts fear, the man caught in the middle may be General Eisenhower. And a man so caught will hardly appear in the gallant role of man on horseback.

STAR—Conservative Republicans on Capitol Hill mourn the day when Senator Charles W. Tobey was named a member of the Kefauver Committee. In view of their deep hostility toward him because of his many pro-Administration votes, the television popularity he has achieved places them in a bad light.

Next to Chairman Kefauver, whose quiet charm, southern drawl, smile and exemplary fairness captured the public fancy, God's angry man from New Hampshire has been the star of the senatorial cast. While others developed vital evidence through legal and technical questions, his outbursts of Yankee indignation expressed the thought and reactions of millions in the television audience.

Senator Tobey was the stern voice of duty and morality, a Wordsworthian and Miltonian figure. He was the Greek chorus that echoed in its refrain the sorrow and the tragedy of the drama of the grand alliance between the nation's most depraved criminals and its most "honorable" politicians, including friends and appointees of the White House.

He was the spoken conscience of the American people when that sometimes fiftful and forgotten spark is stirred beyond endurance.

MARION, ALA., TIMES-STANDARD: "The people of this country, while devoted to the ideal of individual liberty, understand that they can delegate authority to officials for a limited time and for a particular purpose without endangering the permanence of their free institutions. Nevertheless, they should be alert, now as always, in order to safeguard the liberties that individuals cherish."

WORTH CONSIDERING (Kinston Daily Free Press)

A proposal by local health authorities to add sodium fluoride to the municipal water supply as a deterrent to dental decay, is an interesting one and deserves the study of medical and other authorities, we believe. The chemical is now being used in Charlotte and Durham with satisfactory results, according to reports from those cities.

Kinston's artesian water supply has been one of its major assets since the community was a mere village. It may well be that its water is far more beneficial minus the chemical, than some other cities' supplies are with the chemical, but the matter will bear scrutiny.

Dental research men have found sodium fluoride as a deterrent to decay and one county in Texas claims to enjoy virtual immunity to tooth decay because of its artesian chemicals in its soil and water.

The reaction to such an experiment as use of the chemical here provides an overwhelming approval from the small fry who have no great desire to have dental fillings installed. But many elders whose nature-provided dentures have long since given way to the store-bought variety probably would not seriously object to the plan, if it did not detract from the taste or purity of our wonderful water supply.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

IMPROVING OUR STREETS (Wilson Daily Times)

The controversial Powell bill, which hands the cities of the state $5,000,000 a year from the highway funds, is now a law. It means that Wilson, in the course of another year or so, will receive $78,000 a year for city streets alone. Now, as citizens of Wilson, let's see that that $78,000 is added to the $80,000 the city is currently spending, swelling the total to $158,000 a year. In time, one would think, we can pave many of the streets that are badly in need of paving, getting many of our people out of the mud.

The Times recognizes that the cities, in plugging for the bill, had much on their side. For they claim that 35 per cent of the gasoline that's burned in cars is used solely on city streets. Why, then, should the tax on that gas go to the state? Why should the money be used to build state roads when half of the state's population lives in the cities? Why should the man who lives one block beyond the city limits

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

The more you learn, the more you find out your ignorance. Up until yesterday I had no idea that:

1. Minnows are commonly known as roaches.
2. There is a good living to be made by selling minnows.

Kenneth Stator of the Friendly Furniture Company told me about the minnow industry. When he called minnows "roaches" I thought he was talking about cockroaches, and had visions of a good column on the cockroach industry.

Since the minnow story was Greek to me, Kenneth knew that I wasn't a fisherman. "No, sir," I said, "fishing is a sport that I'm almost afraid of. As much talk as I hear about fishing, it must be a great sport. If I got started at it, then I'd want to fish all the time and never work. The solution to that problem is never to start fishing."

Kenneth says he's seen a line of cars several blocks long waiting for minnows. "One morning," he says, "I saw a man sell six quarts of minnows for $98." You can order minnows from Baltimore or buy them at one of the mill ponds near Wilson for about $2.50 a hundred. Then you sell them for 50 cents to $1 a dozen.

Although it is generally agreed that minnows are better bait than worms, there is also a great market for earth worms. A small Vienna sausage can full of earth worms sells for a buck, so you can imagine the profit there.

After learning about the minnow industry, I thought that maybe I had picked up enough information for one day, so I went out to our new house to dig a ditch for underground wires. When I borrowed the shovel from Frank Brown he warned me, "Don't teach that shovel any new tricks. My shovels have been accustomed to work, and you have to keep at it."

But I refused to promise Frank that the shovel would remain in action, and went on to tackle the ditch.

About an hour later Frank was riding down Maple Street, so he stopped to see how his shovel was progressing.

"Never before," he said, "have I seen a man with any sense at all that didn't know how to dig a ditch."

Since I was proud of my accomplishment, I challenged him. "Wait a minute; what's wrong with this ditch?"

"At least two things," he replied. "For one thing, it's more of a trench than a ditch, and another thing, you're digging it the hard way. If I wrote a column I could surely take off on that ditch."

It about killed me, but Frank was right. Of all things, I was ditching from the side of the ditch, instead of from the end. When Frank started telling me how to dig, I thought surely I could get him to demonstrate. But instead, he told me how without lifting the shovel. If you ever need help in digging a ditch, I'll be glad to tell you how, also without a demonstration.

And I thank you.

CONTROVERSIAL—The appropriations joint sub-committee handed to the parent full joint committee a highly controversial report. Oddly enough, the chief controversy is not over dollars and cents but over proposed changes in long-standing practice with respect to administration of state government. Amounts had been pretty well estimated in advance. It had been reasonably certain for two weeks that school teacher pay would be pegged at the $2200-$3100 scale; that state employees other than school personnel would get a small raise in pay; that welfare and service agencies would get a boost—and that all of this would add up to between 35 and 45 million dollars above budget recommendations last fall. The actual figures in the sub-committee report are $39,578,018—plus $3,350,000 for permanent improvements. Of the thirty-nine million approximately twenty-eight million goes for salary increases—twenty-two millions to school teachers and six millions to all other state employees.

PROCEDURE—There has been and will continue some protest that these increases are not enough, but the main controversy arises out of unexpected proposals to change state policy with respect to handling appropriated money when the general assembly is not in session. In some respects it would seem the sub-committee was seeking to keep control in the legislature, and in others it would seem to be relinquishing to special appointive boards much of the authority heretofore vested only in elected officials.

HOSPITALS—The proposal to transfer from the medical care commission to the state board of welfare responsibility for handling state contributions for indigent patient care in hospitals, was surprising—especially to those who have heard legislators openly resent increasing spread of welfare activities and fear of a "welfare state." Obviously the lure here was prospect of getting about a quarter million dollars from the federal government to supplement state appropriations for indigent patients care in hospitals.

HIGHWAYS—The sub-committee substitute bill adds a few lines to the statutes authorizing the governor to allocate surplus highway funds, or excess revenue above specific budgeting for definite projects, and would require approval of the advisory budget commission for such executive allocations. Not much objection has been heard to that proposal, because it has been recognized for years that the system which has

New York. —(AP)—Baseball is no longer the national pastime. Borrowing is.

Take the average business office, for example. Aren't there at least twice as many eager borrowers as there are eager baseball fans? Actually, borrowing is today perhaps America's biggest indoor industry.

Some people still frown on borrowing as if it were something immoral or showed a lack of forethought and character. However, that is an old-fashioned view and is dying out.

The reason is simple. Roughly half the people in the nation now borrow from the other half one week—and the next week the second half borrows from the first half. So that doesn't leave anyone who can point the finger of scorn. Who wants to be an ant any more in a neighborhood of grasshoppers?

And there is certainly one nice thing about being a borrower. You associate with a better class of people—people with money. Borrowing also develops in a man the power of imagination, the art of narration, and the ability to act.

How more stirring than Barrymore in Hamlet is the tale of woe given by a horseplayer trying to borrow five bucks to bet on a "sure thing" race! He epitomizes the hopeless struggle of all brave men to win in a forlorn world ruled by chance. And I, for one, can rarely say him nay. It is all I can do to keep from breaking into applause.

Over the years I have made quite a study of office borrowers because I love to hear all their odd adventures. Why wear out your eyes reading a magazine story at home when you can sit at your own desk in the office and hear a real life story—on the boss's time.

The borrowers seem to fall into certain pigeonholes:

1. The Wet-Eyed or Emergency Borrower. This is the type that is in deep trouble. "Our family cat just has to have an operation," he says, "and the veterinarian refuses to lift a scalpel unless I plunk down $25. Please, please, help me save our dear old Tabby. If she ever has kittens, I promise to name one after you."
2. The Get-But-You're-Lucky-To-Have-The-Chance-To-Do-Me-A-Favor Borrower. If you lend this gent enough to buy his children a television set, he also thinks you ought to buy them glasses so they won't hurt their eyes. He is back right away with a suggestion that you finance his new car and help send his mother-in-law away on a good long vacation. When it comes to paying you back, he has a memory like a herd of elephants—all stricken with amnesia.
3. The Robin Hood Borrower. This type has a heart too big for one chest, and he goes around borrowing for other people. "Old Joe Doakes hit me up for $200 to buy some store-teeth but I'm strapped myself," he says. "Lend me the $200 and I'll give it to Good Old Joe." But when you try to collect it back you find Robin Hood is somewhere deep in Sherwood Forest.
4. The It-All-Adds-Up Borrower. This is usually a weathered little character who goes around borrowing nickels, dimes, quarters, and dollar bills each week from as many people as he can. He has no intention of repaying, but everyone knows

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

Washington—Alice Lee Parker lives with some 5,000,000 etchings, lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, fine prints and engravings—"Everything from pin-up girls to reproductions of paintings by the old masters."

Miss Parker is acting chief of the Prints and Photographs Division of the Library of Congress, created in 1870 after copyright was extended to engravings and photographs and copies had to be "deposited" with the library. The division now collects pictures of all kinds aside from those submitted for copyright.

Among the first important collections were thousands of Currier and Ives lithographs of the 19th century. The collection is one of world's largest. Miss Parker tells me. There were also valuable photographs of Civil War days by Matthew Brady and photographs of Crimean War battlefields scenes by Roger Fenton.

First big venture into the fine print field came in 1900 with a collection of 2,700 items from Gardner Greene Hubbard, son-in-law of Alexander Graham Bell. His widow gave the division $20,000, the income from which was used to increase the collection.

In 1926 Joseph Pennell, famous American etcher, lithographer, illustrator and author, died and left his estate to the library. This included not only his large fortune and his own works but a valuable collection of material about the painter James McNeill Whistler. Pennell and his wife, Elizabeth, whose collection of cookbooks was given to the library, were close friends of Whistler and were authorized by him to write his biography.

The Pennell money, to be used for purchasing new prints, amounts to $10,000 a year. Miss Parker meets with "an eminent lithographer," as specified in the will, once a month to select new items for the Pennell collection.

Besides this the committee conducts an annual print show—this year's is the ninth—in which artists submit their own work. No prizes are given for those selected, but a certain number are bought for the Pennell collection. Six hundred were submitted in 1950 contest; 84 were purchased.

Miss Parker, born and raised in the Oranges of New Jersey and a Bryn Mawr graduate, majored in the history of art in French. She had only one other job before coming to the library in 1930.

"I worked six weeks in Macy's book shop," she told me.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

If you don't want to go bug-house in a few weeks, this is a good time to start getting your screens ready. That means a paint job, unless you were wise and did it last fall.

Almost all screens need painting. About the only exceptions are those made of aluminum or plastic mesh—both of which are expensive and now going the way of the dodo under defense restrictions.

Iron-wire mesh—the most common type—whether galvanized or not, needs paint to prevent it from rusting. Galvanized will stand up much longer without paint. But why take chances. A single break in the mesh can ruin an entire screen and rust will do just that.

Copper and bronze screens call for paint to prevent stains resulting from corrosion. Rain dripping from these screens can cause permanent stains if your house paint contained zinc. On straight lead paint, it is possible to wash off the stains with ammonia, but that's another job. Prevention is better.

If you want to lighten up your house try a thin coat of white paint on any screen. It will stay white longer on copper if the mesh is varnished first.

Before painting a screen it should be carefully cleaned. Whisk off all loose dirt with a stiff brush. Then wash the mesh by brushing it with strong soap and warm water. Rinse it thoroughly with clear water. Dry well with a cloth and let stand for further drying.

Some painters wash the mesh with benzine. If you do this, do it in the open! Don't smoke! It's dangerous as blazes.

For painting iron mesh use a good grade of screen enamel. You can get this at your hardware store or local paint supply house. The best time to paint iron screens is in the fall when you take them down, because this will protect them from dampness through the winter and save you the job now when the lawn, garden and golf may demand your time.

THE FALL OF A VICTIM OF PROGRESS—The giant chimney of a refuse-burning plant at Ilford, England, crashes to the ground during demolition of the property to conform with development of the area as a residential section.

If you want to preserve the natural color of copper or bronze screens paint them with thin varnish. Use only top quality spar varnish. Mix it with an equal quantity of thinner composed of a half-and-half mixture of turpentine and linseed oil. A coat of varnish on each side is enough for a season, but if you don't mind black screens you'll find screen enamel lasts longer.

The trick in painting screens is to avoid filling up the meshes with paint or bubbles. That's why it's important to use a very thin mixture.

There are two ways to paint screens. In both cases lay the screen flat—on the floor, on a large table, or across saw horses.

One method is to pour the enamel or varnish in a broad, shallow pan. A pie tin often is used. Hold this pan under the screen, or place it under a screen on floor or table. Dab the brush through the mesh into the paint. As the brush works up and down the screen is painted.

Another way to get the paint on evenly and economically is to use a screen applicator. If you can't get one at your paint store you can make one out of a block of 2x4 about the size of a big cake of soap. Tack a piece of carpet over one face of the block with the nap out. Place the tacks in the overlapping ends to keep them from tearing the screen. The applicator is dipped into the paint and brushed over the screen. If you brush both sides, using care not to use too much paint, the mesh should not clog.

Screen frames need painting only every three to five years—about the same as your house.

'Farm Cleanup Week' To Get Under Way April 2

Raleigh, N. C., Special: March 28.—Call for North Carolina's annual "farm cleanup week" to begin Monday, April 2, was issued here today by the American Foundation for Animal Health and cooperating groups.

Theme of this year's cleanup week is: "Clean up for more profits through fewer livestock disease losses."

Here are some of the farm pointers suggested for the week in the bulletin issued today by the Foundation:

"1. Buildings in which livestock and poultry are housed should be cleaned and disinfected to kill disease germs and parasites.

"2. Mud holes and stagnant ponds which may harbor parasites and germs should either be drained or fenced off.

"3. Old strawstacks, common sources of infection, should be spread and plowed under.

"4. Holes in foundations, where pigs or poultry could burrow under, should be walled up.

"5. Nails, glass, wire and other objects which cattle might swallow or step upon, should be picked up. Protruding nails in managers or partitions should be removed.

"6. As soon as possible, young livestock should be moved to pasture that hasn't been used by the same species for two years."

Authorities estimated that the annual loss from common barnyard diseases and parasites totals more than half a billion dollars.

"Much of this loss could be prevented by proper sanitation and disease-prevention measures," the Foundation said. "Cooperation of farmers, veterinarians and all livestock health authorities is urged in this annual clean-up week starting April 2."

God's Wonderful Creation

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Genesis 1-3; Psalm 104; John 1:1-3.

By Alfred J. Buescher

In the beginning the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep.

God said, Let there be light: and there was light, and God divided the light from the darkness.

And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit.

And God made the beasts of the earth, and everything that creepeth. MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 104:24.

GOD'S WONDERFUL CREATION

HOW MANIFOLD ARE THE LORD'S WORKS!

Scripture—Genesis 1-3; Psalm 104; John 1:1-3.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. THIS LESSON gives us the dramatic and dignified Bible story of the creation of our beautiful world. To be truly religious, it seems to this writer that children should be taught very early to appreciate what a truly wonderful world it is in which we live. An illustration taken from life illustrates the point. It is that of a 3-year-old child who, while out walking, called his mother's attention to a gorgeous sunset.

Those who live "close to nature," enjoying all its beauties, feel more keenly God's great goodness. While we deplore the miseries men bring on themselves and their brothers and sisters, and the destruction of earth's beauties by thoughtless men, we still gain a greater faith in God and His power to eventually, in His own time, bring brotherhood, happiness and peace to all mankind.

"In the beginning," we read, "God created the heaven and the earth."

"And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was

The waters were peopled with life and the fowls of the air were created—"whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind; and God saw that it was good."

"And the evening and the morning were the fifth day." The beasts of the earth came next, cattle, and every creeping thing. Last, God made man "in His own image, in the image of God created He him; male and female created He them."

"And God blessed them, and said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth."

Thus ended the sixth day, and on the seventh God rested from His labors, blessed this day and made it holy.

The second chapter of Genesis gives a more detailed account of the making of man and woman and then tells us of the beautiful garden in which God put this man upon the face of the deep. And the spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters."

Then God created light, and saw that it was good, and divided the light from the darkness. The light He called day, and the darkness night. That was the work of the first day.

On the second day the firmament was made and the waters under the firmament were divided from those above, and "God called the firmament Heaven."

The third day saw the gathering of the waters together and named seas, and the earth appeared and was given its name. "And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after its kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth; and it was so."

On the fourth day "God made two great lights, the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night; He made the stars also."

"And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth."

Wilmington, N. C., March 28 (AP)—This "City of a Million Azaleas" let down its hair today, spread its bunting and dusted off the welcome mat for the opening of the annual Azalea Festival.

More than 100,000 visitors and townspeople are expected to join in the festivities by the time the festival has run its course Sunday.

The flaming azaleas were in full bloom at Greenfield Park, Airle Estate and Orton Plantation, gardens famous throughout the country.

Today's highlight was the first round of the 4th annual $10,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament. More than 120 top professionals are participating in the four-day competition.

This afternoon the annual southern checker tournament began. And later today, Margaret Sheridan, RKO motion picture star, who will reign as queen of the festival, was scheduled to arrive.

She will be escorted throughout her reign by Pfc. Willie Tipton of Swannanoa. He was wounded fighting with the Marines in Korea. Also scheduled to arrive today were Ted Malone, roving reporter for the American Broadcasting Company, and Harry Wismer, ABC sportscaster.

Tomorrow's program includes a street dance, music festival and concert.

Saturday, Wismer, Malone, and two football greats, Charlie (Choo) Justice and Otto Graham will be the principals in a special golf match. The winner gets to crown the festival queen.

The festival parade, including 30 floats, 17 bands and a number of military units, also will be held Saturday.

The festival winds up Sunday with the final round of the golf tournament. Miss Sheridan will award the prize money.

Lost Spirit Of Dead Rainmaker Causes Trouble

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—The villagers in Tonj, Bahr El Ghazal province, lost their local rain-maker. He died. In the southern Sudan it is believed that when a rain-maker dies, his spirit enters into the body of someone else in the neighborhood. So the Tonj villagers wanted to see who would inherit his magic powers. Days passed and nothing happened. Then one villager got the idea: What if the spirit entered the body of a passing stranger and left the village altogether? That brought action. A number of people passed by were set upon with sticks and spears. Twenty people were injured. Police called in to restore order reported the rain-maker's spirit was still on the loose. The four petals of mustard flowers form a cross.

December To See Millionth Death On Highways If

Chicago.—The millionth U. S. traffic accident fatality probably will occur in December, the National Safety Council estimates—unless drivers and pedestrians unite to postpone the date. The Council, national clearing-house of accident statistics, says that a careful check of the records shows that 963,369 persons had died in traffic accidents at the end of 1950. Even a 5 per cent increase over the 1950 toll 35,000 traffic dead, if sustained through the year, would mark the millionth victim for December. The possibility of such an increase was threatened by the death toll for January alone, which went up 17 per cent. "At this rate, the nation may give itself a terrible Christmas present this year," said Ned H. Dearborn, president of the Council. Mr. Dearborn was quick to point out, however, that the fateful date can be postponed several months if every motorist and pedestrian makes a personal pledge to avoid only one accident—the one that involves him. A nationwide educational campaign behind the slogan "Don't YOU Be One in a Million" already is underway, according to the Council, and it is hoped that everyone in the nation can be made "million conscious."

"We fear the atom bomb, but the 'auto bomb' already has gone off in our midst," Mr. Dearborn said.

Trim Roster Of First Basemen

El Centro, Calif., March 28—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs, who had five first basemen on their roster at the start of spring training, have clipped this load down to 1—rookie Dee Fondy and veteran Phil Cavarretta. 4 The fleet-footed Fondy, obtained from the Brooklyn chain, has won out over Chuck Connors, temporarily at least. Connors has been optioned to Los Angeles subject to 24-hour recall.

Board Of Review For Scouts Held

Eleven Greenville Boy Scouts appeared before the regular monthly Board of Review held Monday night at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church with Mr. Wyatt L. Brown presiding. Advancements made Merit Badges: Charles E. Godley, firemanship, Troop 30, and Kelley Barnhill, of Troop 33. First class: Robert Harrison and Robert Johnson of Troop 33. Second class: Whichard Ormond, Troop 30, and Tommie Saieed and David Zieour of Troop 36; William T. Nichols, Abner Eason, Harold Edwards and Raymond L. Smith of Troop 33. Serving on the Board of Review in addition to Chairman Brown: J. B. Kittrell, J. B. Newman, Ray L. Smith and Jack Dowdy, Scout commissioner.

Skilled Men Are Going To Canada

Toronto—(AP)—A heavy movement of technical and skilled workers from England to Ontario is under way by sea and air and is expected to be in high gear by mid-April. Ontario officials dealing with immigration said eight ocean liners have been mustered to bring the immigrants across the Atlantic Ocean in groups of 400 and 500. One United States ship has been diverted to call at Halifax to handle the traffic. Trans-Canada Air Lines is landing about 150 persons a week and has a waiting list of about 1,400.

Snackbar Of Ice And Snow Opens

Have a hot dog and a couple of drinks served on an ice buffet in Germany's loftiest snackbar built of snow some 6,700 feet high in the Bavarian Alps. An enterprising bar keeper of Mittenwald had a 30-foot tunnel dug through a wall of snow and ice.

Here, in a "snow room" he set up a big buffet and ice tables. On his biggest day, more than 3,000 skiers dropped in. The sun eventually will close the restaurant for the season by melting the buffet and all the other snow furniture. The sharks are believed to be the largest fish, some species reaching a length of 60 feet.

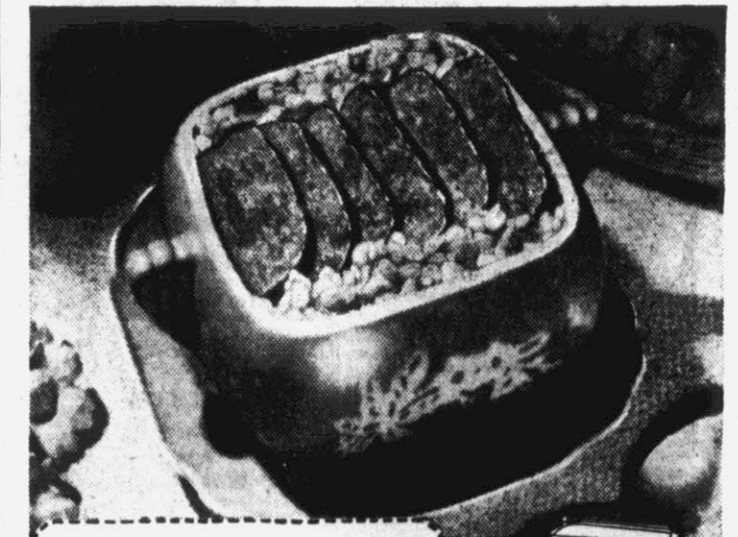

Has His Trouble On Home Front

Tripoli, Tripolitania—(AP)—Mohammed El Balizi borrowed a pair of silver earrings for his bride to wear on her wedding day. Two weeks later he asked his wife to give them back. She refused. Mohammed is now serving a seven year sentence for seriously stabbing his wife and mother-in-law.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the RECTOR KITCHENS Today's recipe is a team-up of that famous-for-flavor Wilson's B-V and the new Wilson's MOR with that WONDERFUL ham aroma and flavor. Combined with sweet corn (plain or Mexican), green peppers and onion, here's the perfect yet budget-minded answer to, "What's for dinner tonight?"

Quick in Cooking Long in Taste Appeal yet Low in Cost! For a d-e-l-i-c-i-o-u-s lunch for family or party lunches... a tasty emergency skillet dinner or a casserole that'll call for more, more... yes, and for quick, good eating on a low budget, keep these three flavor-mates handy on your quick shelf: Wilson's MOR, Wilson's B-V and Mexi-style canned corn. Either skillet-served or casserole, here's a trio to boost your reputation as one who cooks well on a budget, in a jiffy—yes, ma'am, the recipe is a three-star winner!

Skillet or Casserole MOR with Corn Lightly cook together until savory and soft: 3 tablespoons Wilson's Certified Margarine or Clearbrook Butter 1/2 cup sliced onion and 1/2 cup minced green pepper Add and brown until crusty: 2 cups drained canned corn or Mexican style canned corn and 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon pepper Dissolve: 1/2 teaspoon B-V in 1/4 cup milk Stir into corn mixture. Partially bury slices from: 1 can Wilson's MOR in the corn. Cover and steam 10 minutes in skillet on top of the stove or bake in a 350° F. oven in casserole.

TIME TRAP

Chapter II
Ray Bradley and Joe Ashford were awakened in the morning by a knock at the door. Ray called out that he was coming as he slid out of bed. He was half awake and the door before he was fully awake. "Who is it?" he asked sharply, coming to an abrupt stop. "It's me," a low voice said. "Val Nelson."

Ray opened the door quickly and looked in.

"I brought you some clothes," Val said from behind his armload of boxes. "All modern. It wouldn't do for you to be picked up with 1950 vintage sox on, you know."

"That's right," Ray smiled. "Our clothes would give us away."

Joe rolled over and opened one sleepy eye, closed it in thought, then opened it again. He sat up and yawned widely then planted his feet on the floor and stood up. "Hi, Val," he yawned, stretching and scratching his mussed up head. "What's cookin' outside?"

"The Varg Throt is trying awfully hard to find you," Val said lightly. "They've blocked off the streets around that drug store and taken down the streets around that drug store and taken down the wall in back of the telephone booths."

"Then they'll find the tunnel into the street!" Ray said.

"I don't think so," Val said. "They'll find the first door leading into the other wall, and the place where we went down into the basement. From there they'll find the very obvious avenue of escape into the alley by the basement steps and assume that's the way you went. We're hoping they'll come to the conclusion that if you were the two they were looking for you wouldn't have had time to know about secret doors in the back of telephone booths. By the way, you didn't, did you?"

"No," Ray said. "We were going to try to find the address of that telephone number we called and start looking from there for some trace of Nelva."

"That's really all you came into your future for, wasn't it," Val said, looking queerly at Ray. Ray shrugged. "Perhaps," he said. "Maybe half of it was to try out the time travel machine. Did I tell you fellows that it was Nelva who told me how to build it?"

"No!" Val exclaimed. "That means she knew then."

"She asked me first to describe my hookup. That could have been to find out—or to make sure I knew what I had done rather than stumbled onto it by some freakish circumstance."

"Val relaxed in the lone armchair in the room while Ray and Joe bathed and dressed in the new clothes. The styles weren't much different than their old clothes, but the materials were vastly different to the touch.

"The Vargians have let us develop pretty much undisturbed," Val said conversationally. "Aside from their ever-present spy screens—which we can never know are operating or not operating, by the way—they stay away from us except in cases like the present where they have to interfere for some reason. I've brought you some money. Not too much, but there's plenty more when it is gone."

"Also, I've instructed to tell you that we are all to co-operate with you two in every way. There'll always be someone within view of you. Dig into your ear with your little finger when you want to know something, and shortly after someone will stop and talk with you. Whoever it is, you can be sure it is one of us."

"And who, exactly, are you?" Joe asked, smiling. "I didn't get that quite straight last night."

"We're the heirs of government," Val said seriously. "The Government at Washington realized that the Vargians were going to eventually take over the whole country. They figured that sooner or later the human race would find a way to fight them successfully, and when that time came there should be some sort of historical continuity of authority to take over. We call ourselves the Cus-dians."

Ray and Joe inspected themselves critically in the dresser mirror and marvelled how styles had come back to those of 1950 so exactly in 1999. Or perhaps they had never changed.

"The latest styles," Val grinned. "Two years ago you would have stood out like two lights in the dark if you had walked down the street in your own clothes."

Breakfast was something new and surprising. There was a thick purple juice that tasted like meat, three capsules, and perfectly brewed coffee. The capsules, Val explained, were an expanding gelatin that would provide exactly the right amount of solid for good health.

Everything had come from coin operated vending machines in a cafeteria. There was nothing so surprising about that, but it was the flavors of things that was the surprise. Especially the coffee. Val Nelson couldn't explain that.

"Maybe our sense of taste was altered in coming here," Joe suggested.

"No," Ray said. "How about yesterday? Things tasted normal then. It must be something they add that brings out the full flavor."

More Air Strips Sought in Malaya

Singapore—(AP)—Rubber planters in Malaya are being asked to build air landing strips on their estates.

The Malayan Airways needs more landing places in line with the expanded program and the potential military value is being considered. All airstrips, however small, in many cases could be adapted for use as emergency landing grounds for fighter aircraft.

Boone's Buccaneers Top Montclair Teachers College By Margin Of 9-6

Strain Of Road Tour Shows As Pirates Commit Eight Errors; Piner Goes Route While Graybill Bats Out Another Homer

East Carolina's Pirates evened their season's record yesterday afternoon when they beat Montclair (N.J.) State Teachers College 9-6 on the home field to bring the game count to two wins and two losses.

Appearing before the home crowd for the first time since they began their two-game road trip, the Pirates belted the ball to all fields in a nine-hit attack on two Montclair hurlers.

Slim Jim Piner, a righthander from Beaufort, handled the victors pretty much to his liking throughout the game, except for the sixth inning when he gave up three hits including a double that drove in two of the three runs scored in that frame. However, the Pirates committed four errors behind Piner that enabled the Teachers to score.

Throughout the game the Pirates showed the effects of an extensive and tiring road trip, committing eight errors that accounted for most of the Montclair runs. Piner went the route for the Pirates and demonstrated to Coach Jack Boone that he is a likely starter in games to come.

George Graybill, the Pirates' rightfielder, hit the longest ball of the day when he romped on one of starter Durkee's pitches and lofted it to the deep centerfield fence for a home run. That third inning blow scored three runs and put the Pirates farther into the lead.

For Montclair the loss was their first during their current five-game road trip. Their most recent win was over Norfolk's Receiving Station Tuesday which they beat 14-7 in a game that was called during the ninth inning because of darkness.

Tomorrow the Pirates travel west for two games tomorrow and Saturday.

Kentucky's 1951 national NCAA basketball champions join in a dressing room celebration at Minneapolis after beating Kansas State 68 to 58. This victory in the title game gave the Kentuckians the championship for the nation. Left to right: Roger Layne, Frank Ramsey, Cliff Hagan, Dwight Price, C. M. Monday with Guilford and Elon. Next week they return here for a game Tuesday with the Cherry Point Marines. Coach Jack Boone expressed the opinion before yesterday's game his lineup is pretty well intact for future games. He thought the team worked pretty well against the Air Station in their two games Monday and Tuesday, particularly so since several former Triple-A ball players were opposing them.

Sports Gambler To Give Name Of 'Fixed' Official

Chicago, March 29—(AP)—A Milwaukee sports gambler says he will tell Big Ten commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson the name of a western conference basketball official he accuses of "irregularities," and back up the charge with "iron-clad proof."

The admitted gambler is Sidney A. Brodson. He testified before the Kefauver crime committee in Washington, D. C., last Saturday about his, and other gamblers' suspicions of a Big Ten official.

Wilson said he is willing to meet Brodson in Chicago to discuss the allegation. He has asked the crime committee for a copy of Brodson's testimony made under oath to review before the meeting.

"The fact that the 'suspicions' of an admitted gambler have been given wide attention and distribution is very regrettable," said Wilson in a prepared statement. "I, as commissioner, am determined to investigate the entire matter as rapidly and thoroughly as possible and I am already in contact with the senate committee."

Brodson said in Milwaukee last night that he is willing to disclose the official's name to Wilson and "would like to cooperate as much as possible."

The Big Ten uses 27 or 28 "varsity" officials during the basketball season.

Brodson told the Chicago Tribune he can "supply iron-clad proof to Mr. Wilson of this official's irregularities."

"I prefer to delay the meeting for a week or two—I am on the front page right now and would like to get off," Brodson said.

Brodson explained one reason for his suspicion.

"Although it was almost impossible to learn until late in the day of a game what Big Ten officials were assigned to work," he said, "I noticed that always around 4:30 p.m. there was a lot of betting on the game the suspected official was working."

"Most of the money came from the 'last. This happened so often when this referee was assigned a game that I became suspicious and would lay off his games. There were many other gamblers who did the same."

Son Of Coach Is Struck By Bat

Los Angeles, March 29—(AP)—Hit by a flying baseball bat, Don Herman, son of former major league slugger Babe Herman, suffered a broken jaw and the loss of eight teeth yesterday.

Herman plays outfield for the University of Southern California. His father is a coach with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Competing With Tehran Athletes

Tehran, March 29—(AP)—The Penn State soccer team, which has split in two games played in Iran, meets the Tehran Soccer Club here Friday.

Large crowds turned out Sunday when the Isfahan Soccer Team defeated Penn State, 2-0 and Tuesday when the Americans won at Shiraz, 3-0.

Campanella Out For Two Weeks

Miami, March 29—(AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn Dodgers catcher, probably will be out of action 10 days to two weeks because of his injured thumb.

"He could get back a bit sooner if there was any urgency but there's no sense taking chances now," said trainer Harold Wendler.

All Work And Plenty Of Play

Orlando, Fla., March 29—(AP)—The Washington Nationals start an all work and plenty of play schedule which will carry them without a break to April 16 when they officially open the season with a ball tossed out by President Truman.

Al Rosen Is Proving Consistent At Plate

By RALPH RODEN

Associated Press Sports Writer Al (Flip) Rosen, Cleveland third baseman, is demonstrating that his brilliant 1950 performance was no flash in the pan.

Rosen started the rail birds last year by belting 37 home runs to lead the American League. It was the Miami, Fla., slugger's first complete season. Previously, he had operated in the shadow of Ken Keltner.

This spring Rosen is making merry in Grapefruit League play with his bat. In a recent spurge he banged out 11 hits, including two homers, a triple and four doubles, in 14 trips to the plate.

Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg draws an assist for Rosen's spectacular batting rampage. Greenberg suggested that Rosen

Detroit Acts Like Contender For Boxing Title

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29—(AP)—One spot where St. Louis Cardinal manager Marty Marion doesn't have many worries—at least not right now—is behind the plate.

Joe Garagiola, out much of last season with injuries, pounded out two triples and two singles in four trips yesterday, and acted right at home catching.

Joe came to camp this spring saying his shoulder separation was cured. He has acted like it. With yesterday's showing, he has produced 10 hits in his last 16 times up.

The 22-year-old Detroit booster's reputation by winning a unanimous 10-round decision over stiff-punching Chuck Hunter of Cleveland here last night.

But Barnes, who has lost only three of his 37 fights, faces the problem of finding opponents among the top-ranking middleweights.

Manager Pete Marudas said they shy away from him because they can't solve his unorthodox, boring-in style.

Prize Rookie Is Hitting At .434

Phoenix, Ariz., March 29—(AP)—Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees prize rookie, is hitting at a .434 clip in spring training.

Mickey got a single and double, and drove in three runs, but the Yanks were beaten by the Chicago White Sox yesterday, 10-8. Earlier, Mantle signed a Kansas City Blues contract. This was merely a formal gesture, as the 19-year-old youngster will remain with the varsity.

Braves Shine In Pre-Season Play

Bradenton, Fla., March 29—(AP)—Boston's battling Braves sported the best winning record in Florida's Grapefruit Circuit today as they went after their 13th victory—against the Philadelphia Phillies here.

Billy Southworth's squad has shown great late inning strength in taking a number of close games and yesterday's 3-3 win over the Phils was the 10th in the last 12 games. Boston has lost eight.

Hotel Man Tells About The Smartest Move He Ever Made

It certainly gives you an awful sinking feeling to wake up and discover you're losing interest in your work and in life in general. That's enough to make anyone start worrying, and that's exactly what happened to Tommy Allen, Hotel Peabody, Memphis, Tennessee. But he acted quickly, got himself back on the track in a hurry, when he heard how HADACOL was helping folks who were rundown due to a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

The wonderful results prompted him to write us a letter about his experience. Here's what he had to say: "I am a young man twenty-nine years old and have been engaged in hotel work for the past four years. I had no appetite and was losing weight. I was constantly sick at my stomach and nothing I ate agreed with me. After eating, my stomach would become bloated and feel uncomfortable. My condition was so bad that I began to lose interest in my work and life in general. I kept hearing about HADACOL and I decided to try it. Believe me that was the smartest move I ever made. After taking two or three bottles, I began to feel better and now after taking HADACOL for two months I feel fine. No more am I tortured with stomach distresses. Truly I can't begin to tell enough about HADACOL. I intend to keep on taking it for a long time."

Thousands have found real help, real hope for tomorrow, by relieving the cause of their sickness when due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, with today's great HADACOL.

These precious elements are supplied in a quantity greater than the minimum daily requirements. And HADACOL provides helpful quantities of Phosphorus and Calcium, too. They're all in a special, liquid form, already dissolved for quick, easy, absorption in the system.

Lucky Lou

Even when Lou Boudreau isn't playing, the former manager-shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, is likely to help the Boston Red Sox in their pennant bid. Just being around is certain to make the Red Sox regulars hustle to keep their jobs. Boudreau is 33 years old, and his legs may not be what they were, but he is in excellent physical condition and can do a good job in any infield post. One of the great shortstops of the game in his prime, he is ready to give the Boston club a lift at the plate and in the field.

More Severe Penalty For Personal Fouls And Quarter System Studied

Baseball's law makers are studying possible rules changes today that would increase the severity of the penalty for a personal foul and also would change the college game from two 20-minute halves to four 10-minute quarters.

The joint rules committee, which establishes the code for the game, is made up of representatives from the NCAA, the High School Federation, AAU, YMCA and the Canadian basketball group.

A questionnaire sent out by the committee brought answers to show that college and AAU coaches, where the game is played in halves, preferred the quarter system which prevails in high schools, the pro ranks and in some YMCA contests. The rule is expected to be changed sometime today.

Action is not expected on increasing severity of the penalty for a personal foul although J. Mark Good of Williamsport, Pa., chair-

Jim Ferrier And Mangrum Duel In Wilmington Open

Wilmington, N. C., March 29—(AP)—Jim Ferrier and Lloyd Mangrum, a couple of Dead-eye Dicks when it comes to nailing down golfing prize money, carried their rivalry into Wilmington for the $10,000 Asalea Open Tournament which began today.

Ferrier, who has picked up $7,400 this month with three victories in Florida and a second at Greensboro three days ago, has passed Mangrum in the race. The big San Franciscoan, long a top Australian amateur before turning pro a decade ago, has won $9,652 this year to $8,811 for Mangrum, who plays out of Chicago.

While dueling each other, however, they'll have their hands full with the rest of the sharpshooters, who include such handy fellows with a golf club as Gary Middlecott, Lew Worsham, Johnny Palmer, Clayton Heafner, Marty Furgol, Ed Furgol and Art Deering, winner of the Greensboro Open on Monday.

Scenes of action is the par 72 Cape Fear Country Club course, 6,785 yards of trouble.

Four 18-hole days will carry through Sunday, with $3,000 top money to the winner.

A field of between 100 and 150 was expected to answer the call to action.

The list will be trimmed to 60 for the third round on Saturday. The PGA clinic will be held that afternoon, with demonstrations of proper use of clubs and techniques by leading circuit players.

With the exception of Sammy Snead and Jackie Burke, who are resting up for next week's Augusta Masters, most of the regular tournament stars were on hand.

Thoroughbred Is Sentenced To Die

Arcadia, Calif., March 29—(AP)—The sentence of death has been passed on Your Host, the 1950 Kentucky Derby favorite, and as game as thoroughbreds come.

Four veterinarians have examined movie executive William Goetz's four-year-old colt since he was injured at Santa Anita Jan. 13. All have recommended that he be destroyed.

Top Contenders Absent As Oscar Awarded Tonite

Hollywood, March 28—(AP)—This is the night of the Motion Picture Academy Awards, and it looks as if everybody will be there except a sizable batch of the potential winners.

The usual extravagant preparations include a list of distinguished guests among them Gov. Earl Warren and even a couple of United Nations dignitaries.

But at least nine top Academy nominees are out of town. Their Oscars, if they win will be sitting on the shelf. Standins will pick them up.

In the best actress category, Betty Davis has gone to England. Judy Holliday and Gloria Swanson are in New York. All are leading contenders.

Miss Swanson and Jose Ferrer, who seems to be pacing the field for best actor, are in the same Broadway play, "Twentieth Century."

Likewise tied up in New York are Louis Calhern, another best actor candidate; Celeste Holm and Thelma Ritter, best supporting actress nominees; and Sam Jaffe, a possible winner as best supporting actor.

Erich von Stroheim, another in the supporting actor list, is in Paris.

Apart from the nominees, Hollywood's elite will be out in force. Also in furs and jewels. Searchlight will paint a veritable air raid picture in the sky. Cops will struggle with an appalling mass of traffic, and teen-agers will squeal in ecstasy from sidewalk bleachers as their favorite stars arrive for the great event.

Cases Heard In Traffic Court

Cases tried this morning in City Traffic Court are as follows:

Gambling: Joe Nathan Brown, Negro, given 30 days, suspended on payment of $25 less court costs.

Drunk: Joe Ebron, Negro, paid $15, while Snodie Little, Negro, and W. G. Phillips were given a 30-day suspended sentence on payment of $15.

Shoplifting: William W. Purvis, Negro (two charges) given six months on each charge.

Possession of non-tax paid whiskey for purpose of sale: Rosa Lee Warren, Negro, sentenced to twelve months in jail, sentence appealed to superior court.

Improper license plates: William O. Robinson, Negro, 60 days suspended on payment of $15 and costs and further condition that he not drive a motor vehicle for a period of 60 days.

Assault on female: Joe Nathan Brown, Negro, paid $15.

Driving drunk: Jack Cox, Negro, given a six months suspended sentence on payment of $100 and costs of court and pay $150 to the use of Lloyd Sloan Jr. for persons injured as result of highway accident, with recommendation that license to drive be revoked for a term of one year. The case was appealed to superior court for trial.

Careless and reckless driving: Robert Lee Vandiford, paid $15 while Jessie R. Wilson, Negro, was not guilty of the same charge.

Seven Rescued In Mountain Storm

Denver, March 29—(AP)—Snow weasels plowed through five miles of drifted snow today to rescue seven persons, including two children, who were marooned by a mountain storm two days and nights.

New Irrigation System Is Demonstrated

The sprayer above is being demonstrated for possible use in parched tobacco fields during the summer or for any other crop that needs water. It is of the two-nozzle type that shoots a spray of water around a 100-foot area of land. It is shown above connected to a three-inch line of jointed aluminum pipe with the intake connected to a small pump that takes the water from any handy water supply, preferably a stream or pond. The above demonstration was made on Allen Mazingo's farm on the Grimesland highway this week by the manufacturer. Other artificial rain-making appliances were demonstrated, including a larger sprayer that covers over 200 feet of land and perforated pipes that spray tobacco beds or other small plots of ground. (Staff Photo).

Warming Up

A high of 66 and a low of 58 was recorded yesterday by Mrs. Carl Maiden, weather forecaster, and it was 65 this morning at 8 o'clock.

There will be more rain tonight, with possibility of thundershowers, and continued raining tomorrow until late afternoon. It will still be warm tomorrow.

Jap Peace Draft Distributed To Fifteen Allies

Washington, March 29—(AP)—The State Department is distributing to 15 nations this week a completed American draft of a Japanese peace treaty. These nations are being invited to state their reaction and propose, as soon as possible, any changes they may want.

State Department officials hope that within about three months an agreed treaty draft may result from the formal negotiations now getting underway.

Some difficulties are foreseen, however, since Australia and New Zealand are worried about possible future Japanese rearming, the Philippines have insisted on reparations and Britain would like to curtail the Japanese shipping industry.

Russia is one of the countries receiving a copy of the U. S. treaty draft but is not expected to accept it as a basis for negotiation.

U. S. Casualties Now At 57,120

Washington, March 29—(AP)—Announced American casualties in Korea rose to 57,120 today, an increase of 1,306 since last week.

The total, representing casualties reported to the next of kin through March 23, included 8,511 killed, 37,918 wounded and 10,691 missing in action.

The wounded figure included 1,004 who have since died and the missing total included 87 known dead, raising total combat deaths to 9,602.

Lawyer Gives Up License After His Conviction

Winston-Salem, N. C., March 29—(AP)—S. E. Edwards, a lawyer here for more than 20 years, yesterday gave up his license to practice in North Carolina because he was convicted of stealing four cigars from a blind woman.

Judge Leroy Sams handed Edwards a 30-day sentence and said he would suspend the sentence if Edwards turned his law license over to the municipal court.

Yesterday Sams turned over his license to the judge with a written statement saying "I agree to surrender my right henceforth to practice law in North Carolina."

Better Reading Habits Is Goal

"To get women to read more proper material" was the main objective set up by the education leaders of home demonstration clubs when they met yesterday at the Sheppard Memorial library.

After a discussion of this objective, Mrs. Bess Scott showed a map of Pitt county indicating the bookmobile stops. There are already 96 places in the county where it stops, but suggestions were made for more stops.

Mrs. Scott also gave a sample book review on how one should be given at club meetings.

Mrs. Brantly Speight discussed with the leaders requirements for book certificates and the advanced seal. Members are required to read two fiction books and one non-fiction book before they can receive a certificate, and four non-fiction and one fiction book before they can receive the advanced seal.

Miss Sue Brickhouse, home demonstration agent, summarized the program and thanked Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Speight for the effort put forth in giving the program.

The education leaders were asked to take back to the various clubs the information they received at this meeting. They also took some of the books that were on display for the members to read.

Clubs from Littlefield, Ballard's Cross Roads, St. Johns, Sweet Gum Grove, Bethel, Fountain and Rensselaer-Nobles were represented at the meeting.

New System . . .

They said this system of "community pricing" may be reached in about six months. They said they'd like to order it immediately, because it is the most effective and enforceable system of price controls. But they said food prices, in reflecting fluctuations in farm prices, will keep going up and down so rapidly for a while that the posted ceilings might be out of date before the poster could be printed and tacked to the wall.

Reds And . . .

The North Korea farmers were astounded to learn of the land reform program which had been put into effect in South Korea under the American occupation and the Republic of South Korea.

In South Korea farmers were given the chance to get title to their land in five years in return for a third of their major crop for five years.
