

Candidates File For Mayor, Judge And Aldermanic Post

C. H. Bryant In Race For Mayor's Office; Charles Whedbee Files For Municipal Court Judge And Alderman R.E. Rogers Files For Reelection

Political activity waxed fairly hot today and yesterday as three candidates filed for three different city offices as the Saturday deadline draws near.

Clarence H. Bryant, 44-year-old manager of the Dixie Bargain Store, 915 Dickinson Avenue, filed for the job of mayor; Charles H. Whedbee, solicitor of County Recorder's Court, and a Greenville attorney, filed for the position of judge of Greenville Municipal Court; and Alderman R. E. Rogers filed for the second term as alderman from the second ward.

Whedbee is the only candidate for the three positions of city government who has any opposition. Judge J. W. H. Roberts filed for his present job last week.

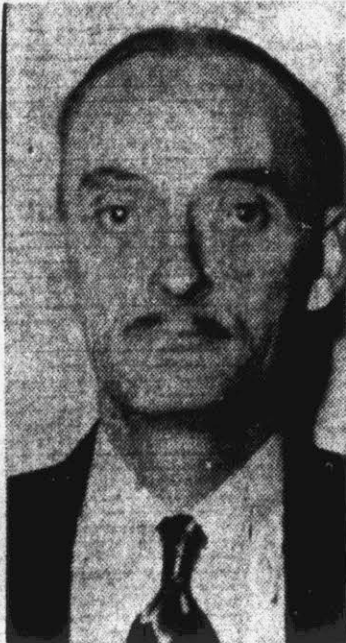

Late yesterday Bryant became the first official candidate for mayor of Greenville subject to the election of May 7.

He is a native of Petersburg, Va. and moved to Greenville 12 years ago. He worked as a painter and a painting contractor for several years, and during the war did construction work at a number of military installations in the Virginia coastal area, eastern North Carolina and Florida. He became manager of the Dixie Bargain store in Greenville when it opened last June.

"I'm a poor man," Bryant said in an interview this morning, "I came up the hard way. If I get elected I'll try to be as good a mayor as I have been in this town. I won't show partiality to anybody. I've always been a Democrat and I re-son I always will be."

Bryant lives with his wife at their home at 1318 N. Greene St. They have an adopted son, Bobby, seven years old.

Mayor W. S. Stafford, incumbent for the office of mayor, had not announced officially at noon today whether or not he will seek reelection to the office. The filing period for the city election closes Saturday afternoon.

Whedbee is now in his seventh term as solicitor of county court. He was elected for the first time in 1937, succeeding Jack Spain who was solicitor for four years.

He was born and reared in Greenville and is the son of the late superior court judge H. W. Whedbee who served on the bench for several terms. He attended Greenville public schools and graduated from the University of North Carolina and later attended the University Law School, leaving it in 1932 to take the North Carolina bar examination. Since 1932 he has practiced law in Greenville in addition to his duties as solicitor. During the early 1940's he became affiliated with radio station WGTC as announcer and sportscaster and has been a member of the staff ever since.

When asked today about the prospects of his election to the position of judge, Whedbee did not comment on that possibility. However, he said, "I shall not run an 'anti' campaign."

Alderman Rogers is now completing his first term of office as representative of the second ward. In the May elections two years ago he defeated D. D. Garrett, Negro insurance salesman, as alderman from the ward.

He is co-owner of Harris-Rogers tobacco warehouse on Greene Street and has been a Greenville tobaccoist for a number of years. Alderman C. B. Mayo, the second ward's other alderman, does not come up for election this year.

Rotation Near For Korea GI's

Army Secretary Pace Announces Relief For Troops To Start This Month

Washington, April 5—(AP)—The Army will begin about the middle of this month to bring back from Korea men who have been long engaged in the fighting there. They will be replaced by fresh troops.

Secretary of the Army Pace announced the "rotation" plans today. He said Gen. Douglas MacArthur will decide policy on selection of men to be sent home. The first battle veterans should sail from Korea within a few weeks, Pace said.

In a statement, Pace emphasized that the rate of rotation will depend upon both the flow of replacements to the war theatre and upon the necessity to maintain the combat effectiveness of all units now in Korea.

The exact number of men to be rotated in the early stages of the program has not been determined, Pace added.

He said the exchange of fresh men for battle veterans will eventually run to about 20,000 each month. The Army said this rate may be reached by early summer.

The rotation plan calls for the return direct to the United States of as many troops as possible, particularly in the early phases of the program.

Later, some men from Korea may be re-assigned to garrison duty in Japan or other parts of the Far East command, such as Okinawa. Even these garrison troops will eventually be brought back to the United States when the outward movement of troops is flowing smoothly.

The Army said returning veterans will disembark either at Seattle, or San Francisco.

All veterans returned to the United States will be given a chance for home leave before proceeding to their next duty stations.

The Army Department has had the rotation scheme in mind for months. Putting it into effect had to be held up because of the need for fighting men in Korea, especially after the military setbacks and losses late last year.

There are some men who have now been in Korea since the outbreak of the fighting last June.

Aldermen Due To Meet Tonight

Greenville aldermen will meet tonight at 7:30 in the city hall for their regular monthly meeting.

Mayor W. S. Stafford said this morning he did not know of any matter to be given consideration by the board other than routine city business.

'Bee Sting' Was A Rifle Bullet

Baltimore, April 5—(AP)—Four-year-old William McGreevey Jr. complained to his parents yesterday that a bee had stung him.

A doctor's examination disclosed that the "bee sting" was a .22 caliber slug in the boy's thigh.

Neither the child nor his parents could give any explanation for the bullet.

Fuel For Controversy On Truman Intentions Grows

Washington, April 5—(AP)—A quick White House denial that President Truman wants to change the rules for electing members of Congress apparently squelched what might have been a political bonfire.

But there still was fuel for controversy today in the statement attributed to the President—and thus far not denied—that he is "saving up four or five good, hard punches on the nose" for persons who have written "lies" about his family.

John Hersey wrote in the New Yorker magazine that the President said in a conversation with him: "And when I'm out of this job, I'm going to run around and deliver them personally." Hersey said that on an early morning stroll together, the President told him: "When you come down to it, there's just one thing I draw the line at and that's that kind of attack on my family."

"I don't care what they say about me. I'm human. I can make mistakes. Any man can make mistakes, even if he's trying with all his heart and mind to do the best thing for his country."

"But a man's family ought to be sacred." "There was one columnist who wrote me he about my family when I was in the Senate and instead of writing him a letter I called him on the phone and I said 'You so-and-so, if you say another word about my family I'll come down to your office and shoot you.' He hasn't printed a whisper about them since."

Hunt Influence Peddling In Sale Of War Surplus

Washington, April 5—(AP)—House investigators, aroused by accounts of high-profit deals in hand-to-hand military surplus, hunted today for possible evidence of "influence" in the disposal of mountains of World War II supplies.

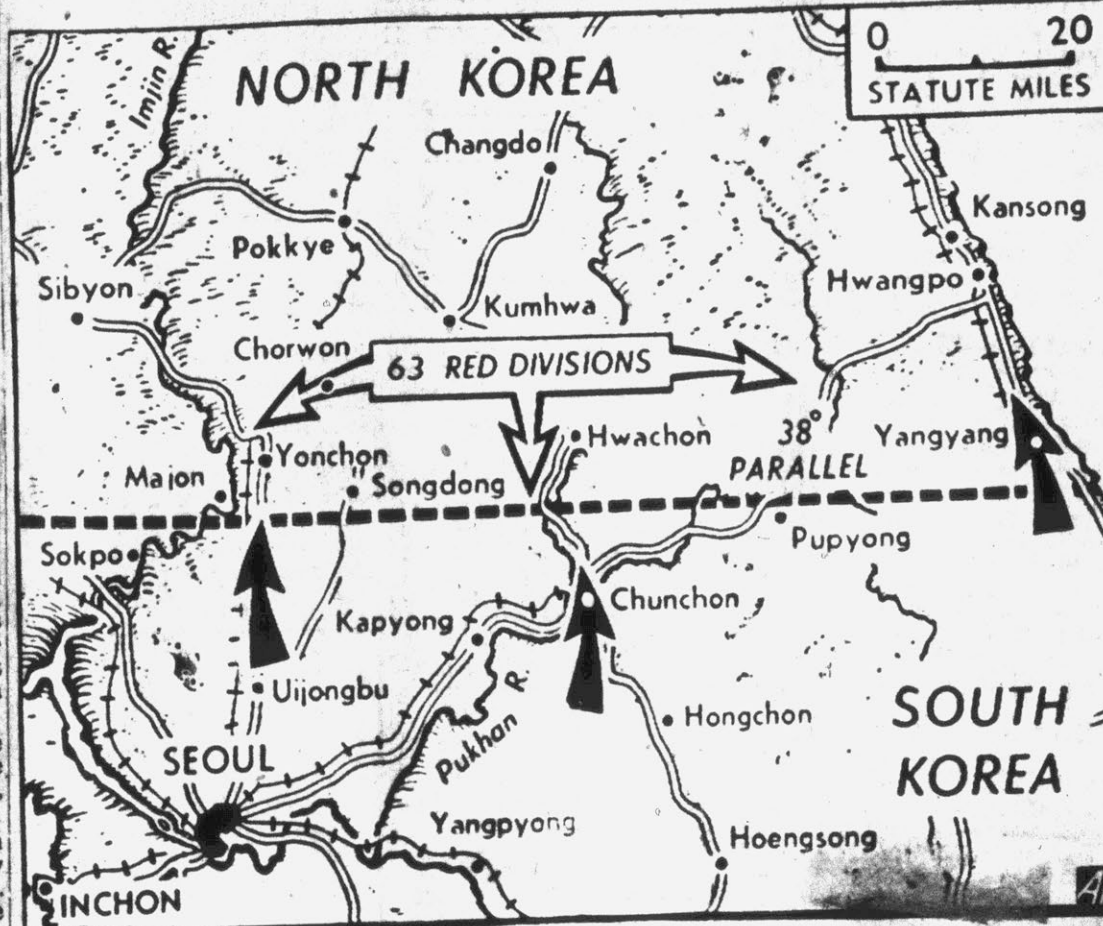

Rep. Bonner (D-N.C.) told newsmen he planned to hear, among others, John Maragon, the former Kansas City bootlegger found by Senate "five per cent" probes to have had entry to the White House.

Bonner also said his investigating group planned to look more closely at a surplus truck sale by the Philippines government which netted a Chicago firm a $425,000 profit.

Bonner called "morally wrong" evidence that the Army and dispos-

Yanks Cross 38th Parallel Into Red Korea

Black arrows on this map show how the fighting is shaping up in Korea. In the western sector, American troops crossed the 38th Parallel in force and rolled into Red Korea along a 10-mile front. Field dispatches said they met only light resistance at the start. Reds were reported massing about 63 divisions (open arrows) for an assault on U. N. positions. On the eastern front, Gen. Douglas MacArthur jeaped 13 miles inside North Korea to visit South Korean troops. He rode within 500 yards of the Main Red line north of Yangyang. (AP Wirephoto Map).

OPS Spokesman Here Tuesday To Talk Rules

State Director Announces Representative From Raleigh To Discuss Regulations With Local Businessmen

Officials of the North Carolina Office of Price Stabilization will be in Greenville Tuesday night to explain the OPS regulations to the businessmen of Greenville and surrounding towns.

Mrs. Cora S. Powell, secretary of the local Merchants Association, said OPS Director John G. Clark advised her in a telephone conversation this morning that representatives of the Raleigh OPS office would be here to speak to local businessmen.

The meeting with the OPS officials has been scheduled Tuesday night at 8 o'clock at the city hall. Errell Webb, president of the Greenville Merchants Association and chairman of the Volunteer Emergency Stabilization Cooperation committee for Greenville, urged all businessmen of Greenville and surrounding towns to make plans to attend the meeting. Webb said the OPS officials are expected to give a general interpretation of the price stabilization regulations as they affect various fields of business and industry, and then they are expected to answer specific questions about the regulations from those people present at the meeting.

"We'd like to have everyone who is interested in knowing more about the OPS regulations to attend the meeting Tuesday night," Webb stated. He emphasized that the meeting is being held for the businessmen of Greenville.

Half Of Cancer Goal Is Reached

With April's cancer crusade well underway reports from the special gifts committee state their quota is about 50 per cent completed.

Committee chairman Harvey Anderson reported today his workers have collected a little more than that amount on their $1,000 quota. He said several persons who gave generously to the crusade last year are out of town at the present time. Therefore the committee will continue its solicitation through next week, he said.

Meanwhile, at the same time next week the house to house canvass will begin the collection of the remainder of the county's goal of $5,000. The private solicitation of the homes throughout the city will be conducted by the Junior Woman's Club under the direction of Mrs. Bill Sermons and Mrs. J. R. Jackson, co-chairmen.

Daniels Still A Welcome Visitor

Washington, April 5—(AP)—President Truman said today Jonathan Daniels, whose magazine article about his views on congressional tenure was denounced by the White House, is still a welcome presidential visitor.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short yesterday described the Colliers article as a "misleading distortion" of a "casual, joking" comment on congressional reform which the President had made in a private and confidential talk with Daniels.

Mr. Truman wouldn't comment further on the article except to back up everything Short said.

Urge Action To Keep Fly Infestation Down

The Street Department today warned Greenville residents the fly season is fast approaching and steps should be taken to combat fly infestation by adequately disposing of garbage.

Garbage collectors have reported many cans rusting out due to rainy weather and should not be used for disposal of waste matter. Garbage cans of adequate size with tight-fitting lids are recommended for each home.

Spies To Die

New York, April 5—(AP)—Convicted atom bomb spies Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, were sentenced to death today in federal court.

In sentencing the Rosenbergs, Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman ordered them executed some time in the week beginning May 21.

The court did not specify the method of execution but stated the execution should be carried out "according to the law."

Approve Hiring Negro Policeman

Police Commission Acts On Proposal At Session Today

The Greenville Police Commission in a call-meeting this morning authorized the hiring of a Negro police officer starting May 1.

The officer would be used to patrol the Albemarle Avenue section of Greenville, though the exact location of his beat nor the hours which he would be on duty have not been worked out, Police Chief Guy Langston says.

At the meeting in Chief Langston's office, the Chief reviewed the overall police protection plan for the city and cited need for a Negro officer.

Following a brief discussion, the commissioners and Mayor Stafford gave unanimous approval.

One application is presently resting on the Chief's desk, it was pointed out, and efforts are being made to secure a competent officer for the post.

Langston stated that the hiring of a Negro police officer "will greatly aid the city and fill a gap which has existed in the city's enforcement program."

Present for the meeting today were: Mayor W. S. Stafford, Aldermen J. S. Jenkins, W. M. Polard, and J. E. Waldrop.

College Deferments

Practically Every High School Graduate Can Now Go To College In The Fall If He Wishes And Is Able; An Explanation Of Selective Service Draft Order

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, April 5—(AP)—Practically every high school senior graduating this spring will be able to go to college in the fall, if he wishes, and be draft-proof at least until the end of his freshman term in 1952.

There may be a few exceptions to this, but they'll be very few. Those two statements come from Selective Service Headquarters.

An explanation will be given in a moment. But first here is what the draft bosses also said about draft deferments for college students:

1. Anyone finishing his freshman term in college this spring—provided he's among the upper half of the male members of his class—can go back to college in the fall for his sophomore year without fear of being drafted for the next full college year.

2. Suppose a freshman finished below the upper half of his class this spring but wants to return for his sophomore year in the fall. How can he avoid being drafted?

Communists Make Stand From Strongly Fortified Positions; Ridgway Joins Troops At Front And Reports Progress As Satisfactory

Tokyo, April 5—(AP)—An American task force thrust nearly eight miles inside Red Korea today at the spearhead of an allied drive along 40 miles of the western and central fronts.

This was the deepest penetration into Red Korea of the current allied drive.

A U. S. Eighth Army communique reported the force met only light resistance in its patrol to the vicinity of Chail, nearly eight miles north of Parallel 38 on the Uijongbu-Kumhwa road.

The communique said the force dispersed an estimated enemy company near Chail at midday Thursday.

The United Nations ground commander, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, joined his border-crossing troops. Ridgway wore a live grenade, banging from his familiar paratrooper harness.

Allied artillery blasted a path toward the biggest communist troop mass of the war. Warplanes rocketed and firebombed the fiercely resisting Reds.

The communists fought back with mortars, small arms and small units. On the western front they were defending a densely fortified area.

A divisional staff officer commented: "The enemy changed his tactics today. Instead of rolling with our punches in the last few days, he was determined to stay in his positions."

AP correspondent John Randolph reported the Red positions were "laced by trench lines on every hill and anchored in long-planned and well-built dugouts. Some of these dugouts have concrete walls nearly two feet thick."

Steep hills barred the path for the advancing allies both on the western and central fronts. Dugouts here had the roofs of at least one every beat.

In two days of grueling attack that carried four miles, the main body of the allied army drove two and one-half miles inside the Red northland.

Allied patrols ranged as much as five miles inside Red Korea. On the east coast, where opposition was light, two South Korean divisions were 13 miles deep in enemy country.

Ridgway joined his troops on the central front north of Chunchon.

"Things are progressing very smoothly," the allied ground commander said.

The last Red defenders in the Chunchon sector had pulled out of South Korea under the impact of the allied drive.

British troops cracked a hard stubborn Red force northwest of Chunchon Thursday but had not crossed the border late in the day.

Takes Post With Sanitation Dept.

Eugene E. King, junior sanitarian, resigned from the Pitt County sanitation department last Saturday to assume similar duties in Craven County.

He was replaced Monday by John D. Zeh, former science teacher at Bell Arthur, and will work under the supervision of the sanitation department until someone can be gotten from a sanitation school.

Zeh is a native of Hopewell, Va. and a graduate of East Carolina Teachers College, with a B.S. degree in science. He served three and a half years in the Navy and is married to the former Joyce Dixon of Vanceboro.

State Accepts Assault Plea By Quintet Accused Of Kidnaping

Judge To Pass Sentence This Afternoon As Trial Closes; Other Cases Are Taken Up

After three full days of testimony concerning the kidnaping indictment against five Pitt and Greene County white men, the quintet this morning pleaded guilty of assault with a deadly weapon and conspiring to assault two Negroes they allegedly had kidnaped.

Solicitor W. J. Bundy accepted the pleas and also the subsequent plea of not guilty to the kidnaping charge.

Judge Henry Grady, who was to have charged the jury the first thing this morning, stated he would pass sentence later in the day. After a conference with the solicitor and defense counsel Albion Dunn, Grady came back into the courtroom and informed the jury of the guilty pleas.

"I am very happy to inform you, gentlemen of the jury, that this case is at an end," he said. "The defendants have pleaded guilty to assault and the State has accepted."

Each of the defendants, who have been on trial since Monday in the first kidnaping indictment in the county in recent years, pleaded guilty to two charges of assault with a deadly weapon and two charges of conspiring to assault with a deadly weapon. Maximum sentence in each charge is two years.

Although Grady could not be contacted before noon today, it is expected he will pass sentence during the early part of the afternoon. He said after instructing the jury on the pleas that he wanted to get on with some more cases on the court calendar before passing sentence.

Yesterday's cases for trial were continued until today, due to the length of the kidnaping trial. Dunn and Bundy spent the better part of the afternoon in making their plea to the jury for the defendants, Her-man Newell, Fennie Croom, Earl Everett, Thad Braxton Jr. and Robert Earl Stocks. After Bundy's plea, which he wound up after five o'clock, Grady dismissed the jury until this morning before making his charge.

After the pleas were made, the court disposed of six other cases on Wednesday's and today's calendar. They are:

Leroy Talton Cherry, reckless driving; pleaded guilty, judgment suspended on payment of costs.

Henry Glenn Norman, drunk driving; pleaded guilty, $100 and costs and driver's license revoked for 12 months.

Mabel Ray, assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill; sentenced to two years in Women's Prison.

Sam Wilson, worthless check;

War Hero Urges Renewed Faith

San Angelo, Tex., April 5—(AP)—Famed flyer Eddie Rickenbacker urged renewed and strengthened faith in God, saying "We must recapture and sustain a living Christianity in all things if we are to be victorious."

He was honored last night with the Christian Athletes Foundation Award.

He did not, however, budge from his position on the big issues still separating the East and West.

Russia insists that the Foreign Ministers first talk about the demilitarization of Germany. Western powers say this is an effect of international tensions and that the Ministers first should examine the cause—meaning Russia's aggressive foreign policy, backed by huge armies in the Soviet Union and in satellite communist countries.

The House, meanwhile voted Speaker W. Frank Taylor authority to name a calendar committee, such a committee usually is named near the end of legislative sessions to take over the work of regular committees.

As the debate began, Sen. Julian Alilbrook said he planned to offer three amendments. One of these would increase pay of teachers and state employees if state revenues permit.

The House, which debated the spending measure for several days, rejected amendments to boost the pay of teachers and state workers. The bill provides a $15-a-month raise for state workers and retains a $2,200-$3,100 pay scale for teachers.

Gradually Move Near Agreement

Gromyko Concession Marks Progress In Paris Parley

Paris, April 5—(AP)—Word by word and phrase by phrase, delegates of the Big Four powers are moving gradually toward agreement on a program for the proposed meeting of their Foreign Ministers.

Agreement is not yet in sight, but progress is evident. The Foreign Ministers' deputies in five weeks have met for 33 formal sessions. They may complete their job in another week or 10 days.

Andrei Gromyko, Russian Deputy Foreign Minister, entertained the representatives of the United States, Britain and France at lunch today. The deputies held another meeting in the afternoon.

Gromyko made two minor concessions yesterday. He changed slightly the wording of his proposed item calling for Foreign Ministers' discussion of international tensions to conform with western suggestions.

He did not, however, budge from his position on the big issues still separating the East and West.

Senate Takes Up Budget Measure

Raleigh, N. C., April 5—(AP)—The Senate today began consideration of the $502,000,000 bill to operate state government during the next two fiscal years.

The bill, which already has passed the House, was expected to clear the Senate during the day.

Growing Bitterness

Tensions Between India And Pakistan Continue; Anti-American Feeling Fanned By Nehru; United Nations Hopeful Despite Dark Prospects; Implications

By DeWITT MacKENZIE

The dispute between India and Pakistan over possession of the rich principality of Kashmir has reached a state of bitterness which bodes no good to peace.

Unhappily this trend also has been marked by a surge of anti-American feeling among Indians. This hostility is due to two things:

One is the participation of the United States with Britain in sponsoring a U. N. Security Council resolution which included arbitration of the Kashmir question—the Indians being strongly opposed to any arbitration. The other is the fact that the American Congress hasn't voted a gift of grain needy India.

Prime Minister Nehru himself gave this feeling a decided fillip by a speech in which he not only condemned the arbitration proposal but declared he shared "the resentment of the people of Kashmir."

His statement was interpreted by observers as meaning that India would not give up any area it holds in Kashmir. In fact one official nailed the thing down like this:

"So far as Nehru is concerned the problem is settled—Kashmir is India's."

If this does represent the final word from India, the situation is indeed grave, for there is no indication that Pakistan will meekly accept any such ultimatum, especially since she regards her own position as strong.

The quarrel over Kashmir is based on a peculiar circumstance which one must know in order to understand the situation. When the two nations of India and Pakistan were created they were formed largely on the basis of race and religion. Pakistan is chiefly Moslem while India is largely Hindu.

At that time the some 600 principalities, ruled over by princes, were permitted to choose the nation which they would join. It so happened that the rich and powerful state of Kashmir was ruled by a Hindu prince—Sir Hari Singh—whereas most of his people were Moslems. He elected to join Hindu India, without any reference to the wishes of his subjects—and the fight between Pakistan and India

Mr. And Mrs. Larry James Jr. Honored At Buffet Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Larry James, Jr., were guests of honor on Tuesday night when Mr. and Mrs. Will Lapscomb and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Moore entertained at a buffet supper at the home of the former on West Fourth Street.

The guests were greeted informally at the door by the hostesses and presented to the honorees. Spring flowers were used in many attractive arrangements in the hall and rooms where the guests assembled for a social hour before they were invited into the dining room. In the hall a punch table was placed, on which was a silver bowl containing a lovely assortment of spring flowers. From matching crystal punch bowls, James and Moore served a delicious fruit drink, while Miss Muriel Shotwell and Edwin Clark served tomato juice with cheese accompaniments.

In the dining room the buffet featured a profuse arrangement of sprays of Judas tree flowers, which were placed in an antique silver oblong tray which was reflected in the large wall mirror directly behind it. The dining table was centered with an unusual crystal centerpiece with four small flower baskets attached to each side with silver chains. These were filled with tiny pastel blossoms, while the upper portion held white candles. Tapers in hurricane globes were used elsewhere on the mantel, buffet and side tables.

Mrs. Ken Phillips Gives Luncheon For Lector Club

Mrs. Kenneth Phillips was hostess to the Lector Book Club when it met at her home on Harding Street on Tuesday, March 27.

The meeting was a luncheon affair. For decorations the hostess used many attractive arrangements of spring flowers on side tables and mantels.

A brief business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ray MacKenzie, prior to the luncheon. The hostess invited the members into the dining room, where a chicken chow mein luncheon was served buffet style from a table laid with a white cut work cloth and centered with a bowl of jonquils. Mrs. O. Y. Kirkpatrick, mother of the hostess, assisted Mrs. Phillips in serving.

Mrs. R. M. Garrett Jr. was a special guest for the meeting.

Joint Hostesses Honor Miss Vincent

Honoring Miss Katie Lou Vincent, whose marriage to Mr. Robert Kirtrell will take place April 8, Mrs. James Adams and Mrs. Connie Ribbes entertained at a floating miscellaneous shower Friday night at the home of Mrs. Adams.

Early spring flowers decorated the home. The mantel in the living room was decorated with a centerpiece, consisting of white gladioli and white hurricane lamps burning at each end. The central floral arrangement on the dining room table consisted of white carnations and white jonquils arranged with fern in a crystal centerpiece with white candles.

Upon arrival, the honoree was presented a lovely corsage of white Callagials.

Bridal cakes, mints, nuts and lime ice was served. Miss Peggy Carson presided at the punch bowl.

The hostesses remembered Miss Vincent with a serving spoon in her chosen silver pattern.

Many friends called during the evening, and the honoree received many beautiful, useful gifts.

Miss Dorothy Stauffer and Mrs. J. J. Stauffer were hostesses on Tuesday night when they entertained at a dinner party as a compliment to Miss Barbara Ann Larkins.

Guests were members of the families, out of town guests here for the wedding and Miss Larkins' bridesmaids.

Greeting them at the door were the hostesses, who presented them to the honoree. Miss Larkins was given a corsage of candy tuft and baby iris to compliment the color of the gown she was wearing.

Profusions of spring flowers were used throughout the rooms where the dinner guests assembled. White gladioli, white azaleas, jonquils, red roses, violets and candy tuft formed beautiful arrangements on tables and mantels.

In the dining room, where places were laid for thirteen, the table formed a "T." They were covered with white linen cloths and there was a centerpiece on each table composed of dainty arrangements of candy tuft in silver bowls, flanked on either side with low single candle holders bearing white tapers. On the buffet was an attractive miniature bridal scene.

Guests found their places marked with bridal place cards. A three course turkey dinner was served.

The honoree was given a silver cake dish as a gift from the hostesses.

During the social hour Mrs. Turnage served marshmallow salad and ritz crackers to fifteen members.

At the conclusion of the dinner hour, the guests were entertained by Mrs. Harvey Ward, who played many selections on the piano for them.

Stag Party For Groom Elect On Tuesday Night

James Harvey Ward Jr., SR. USN, who will be married this week to Miss Barbara Ann Larkins, was the guest of honor on Tuesday night when joint hostesses entertained for him, his groomsmen, his father and the father of Miss Larkins.

The supper was held at the home of Mrs. T. W. Watson, and the other hostesses were Mrs. J. D. Aman, Mrs. Boley Farley and Mrs. P. L. Goodson.

The home was beautifully decorated with profusions of spring flowers and shrubs. The men were served tomato juice cocktails in the living room before they were invited to find their places at the dining room table. The places were marked with tailored name cards, and a centerpiece of varied spring flowers added a festive touch to the table.

A two course fried chicken supper was served family style. During the supper hour, the guests enjoyed many toasts that were made to the honored guest.

Over 86 Percent ECTC Students Plan Teaching

Over 86 per cent, 26,365 students at East Carolina Teachers College who are taking work preparing them for careers in education comprise 86.12 per cent of the total number of those registered at the college for the school year 1950-1951, Registrar J. K. Long states in a recent analysis of this year's enrollment.

Dr. Long's report indicates that 2075 different students are included in the enrollment at East Carolina during the third quarter of the present school year. Of these 1064 are women, and 1011 are men.

Classifying these students according to the types of work in which they specialize, Dr. Long states that 86.12 percent have been enrolled in courses in teacher-training; 9.93 percent in the liberal arts curriculum; and 3.95 percent in professional work, including pre-dental, pre-engineering, pre-legal, pre-medical, pre-laboratory techniques, and pre-nursing courses.

Among the 1787 students taking teacher-training courses during this school year, 998 are women and 788 are men. These numbers include 273 students registered for graduate work, which at East Carolina is offered only in the field of teacher-training, including elementary and secondary education, educational administration, and school supervision. Graduate students make up 15.29 percent of the total in education.

A further classification of those in teacher-training courses at the college this year indicates, according to Dr. Long, that 23.33 percent of them enrolled for work in elementary education at the undergraduate level. The total of 417 students in elementary education includes 401 women and 16 men.

Students majoring this year in secondary education at the undergraduate level, Dr. Long states, number 1097. This category includes 61.38 percent of the total number of students registered in teacher-training courses.

Men outnumber women among students taking work in both the liberal arts curriculum and the pre-professional courses. The liberal arts enrollment includes 166 men and 40 women; the pre-professional enrollment includes 57 men and 25 women.

Basketball Teams Entertained
The mothers of members of the basketball teams and cheerleaders sponsored a party at the Community Center Friday night, March 30, in honor of the teams, the cheerleaders and the coaches.

Punch, sandwiches, peanuts, cookies and cornets were served from a table decorated with flowers and candles in purple and gold, the school colors. The decorations of the reception room were of the same color scheme.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Tyson directed square-dancing. Games and contests were also enjoyed during the evening.

There were approximately 75 people present, including the basketball teams, their mothers and fathers, the coaches and their wives, and the cheerleaders.

PTA Meeting
The monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held at the school Friday night, March 30. The meeting began with a short business session, with President J. E. Hoyle presiding. A committee was appointed by the president to nominate officers for the coming year. The committee consists of Mrs. D. W. Worthington, chairman, Mrs.

W. A. Forbes Jr. and J. D. McArthur.

At the close of the business session, the elementary grades presented an operetta entitled "The Land of Dreams Come True."

Scouts Prepare for Camporee
The Boy Scouts of Troop 200 are very busy getting ready for the camporee which will be held in Greenville April 13 and 14. They are conducting various projects to raise money to finance the trip.

The Flaming Arrow patrol has planned a paper drive and a scrap iron drive. The paper and iron will be sold and the proceeds used by the patrol to get camping equipment and groceries for the pre-camporee and the Camporee.

The troop is also organizing patrols and electing officers, planning menus and grocery lists. They are making a totem pole to be used as a gateway to the troop's quarters.

Both patrols, the Flaming Arrow and the Panther, are preparing exhibits on nature-lore, safety, and first aid, which will be taken to the Camporee.

The troop now has a collection of two blue ribbons, one red ribbon, and one white ribbon, all received for outstanding achievements in Camporee events in previous years.

Troop 200 was the only troop from the Pitt district to receive a blue ribbon in the 1950 Camporee.

The 1951 Camporee will be held in Wilson April 27, 28 and 29.

Ethiopian DPs Behind Dispute

Addis Ababa—(AP)—The Ethiopian Government has complained that certain displaced persons in Ethiopia have been engaged in "subversive activities" within the country and "have maligned Ethiopia abroad." The charge was made in an official statement, which said:

"It is regrettable that such humanitarian efforts (on the part of Ethiopia in accepting them) should have been recompensed with calumnies on the part of certain groups of these refugees who so readily accepted our hospitality. They have not only sought to malign Ethiopia abroad, but also have engaged in subversive activities within."

In Cairo, last January, an informant reported about 100 DPs established in farms in the semi-wild interior south of Addis Ababa had fled to the capital after demonstrations by shouting natives brandishing spears, sickles and other weapons. The informant said IRO was seeking exit visas and transport back to Europe for the DPs.)

Junior Chamber Meets Tonight

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will have its regular bi-weekly meeting tonight at Respass-James Barbecue House.

According to President Dan Saleed there will be no planned program. However, several important business matters must be acted upon by the club at large. Meeting time is at 6:30. Board of directors meeting is at 5:45.

Malayans Fear Tin Price Curbs

Singapore—(AP)—Tin brokers here say Malaya would suffer a staggering financial loss if the United States government attempts to depress the price of tin for as long as a year. They estimate this loss would total $43,300,000 in that period of time.

The United States has taken over as sole buyer of tin for Americans and suspended purchases for stockpiling until prices reached what is considered a "reasonable level."

Hunt Goes On

Asheville, April 5—(AP)—Civil Air Patrol planes from four states combed the mountains of western North Carolina today, looking for a plane that disappeared in an overcast four days ago.

Yesterday some 50 CAP planes from the Carolinas, Tennessee and Georgia covered large areas of the Tennessee Smokies in search of the missing National Guard F-51 fighter plane.

The fighter, piloted by Lt. Robert Hartman, 28, of Medina, O., disappeared Sunday on a flight from Macon, Ga., to Dayton, O.

Purple And Orange Sawdust In Extravaganza Circus Opening

New York, April 5—(AP)—The circus "came to town" last night—but at times it was a little hard to recognize.

The sawdust was purple, except where it was orange in the three center rings. Dancers dressed like pineapples hung by one foot 20 feet in the air and played xylophones. Metropolitan Opera star Lauritz Melchior led a parade with strip-teaser Gypsy Rose Lee in the last float. (No, Miss Lee didn't.)

And that parade ended with everybody singing "White Christmas" while imitation snowflakes sifted down from overhead.

It all happened in Madison Square Garden, with dozens of stars of the entertainment world popping in and out among the glamorous, glittering gals and the marvelous mastodontic mammals (elephants, to you.)

The "Greatest Show On Earth," as the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey modestly described their circus, began its 1951 season with a benefit performance for the New York Heart Association. Stars of state, screen, radio and television helped enthusiastically, occasionally turning the circus into a Hollywood extravaganza. Sometimes it became a rather roomy nightclub, as when Jimmy Durante and his oldtime partner Eddie Jackson sang "Bill Bailey Won't You Please Come Home," while Lauritz Melchior conducted a ten-piece band.

Some of the celebrities who helped put $100,000 in the Heart Association money chest donned clown costumes (Don Ameche, Buddy Rogers, Tony Martin, Bert Lahr, Jack Dempsey); some like Bob Hope, Frances Langford, Sid Caesar and Arthur Godfrey just spoke a few words.

The circus itself—when it showed up in between the stars' appearances—was more "elaborate" than usual, an official admitted. Hollywood camera crews are traveling with the show, making a picture of the orange and purple sawdust and the Broadway-type production numbers.

But The Great Morituri was there. Suspended some 40 feet in the air, he holds a huge steel perforated sphere from his teeth. Inside the sphere is a gorgeous girl. She rides a bicycle while he's holding the sphere.

Air Reservists To Meet Friday

All Air Force Reserve men will meet in the Austin building Friday night at 8 o'clock for a special meeting, it was announced this morning.

Air Force Reserve officers and airmen were urged to be in attendance for the meeting of the newly organized outfit.

An interesting program will be provided, including motion pictures dealing with the various Air Force activities.

A special invitation has been issued to all former service men who are not now attached to a reserve unit to attend the meeting and join if they desire to do so.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
VARIETIES OF WEAPONS
One of the most glorious facts of history is the growth of the Christian Church during the first three centuries. During this time, the Church conquered the Roman world and did this without drawing the sword.

This demonstrates what we could do by Christian faith in our only world. During these generations the Christians were a group of plain people. "Children of God" without blemish in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation, among whom they were seen as lights in the world, "holding forth the word of life." As generation followed generation and persecutions mounted to almost insupportable intensity, the followers of Jesus Christ throughout the Mediterranean world grew closer and closer to one another, and their devotion to their Lord and to one another deepened. Even the Roman Emperor was at last so impressed by them that he capitulated and proudly put the cross of Christ on his banners.

This historic situation is full of suggestions to us today as we confront a world of hostile enemies trying to encircle us. Armament has its place and a very important place, but there are more ways to fight than with rifles and bombs. The sword of the spirit has its place alongside the sword of steel.

Lack Of Candidates Lack Of Interest

The apathy which the people of Greenville have exhibited toward the city government offices that are to be filled during the coming election is indeed a self-indictment of poor citizenship.

In this nation where one of our most cherished privileges and obligations is the right to select our own governing officials, the people of Greenville, through indifference to the coming election, are ignoring the privilege—and the obligation.

There are eight important offices to be filled in the city government in the coming elections. Through noon yesterday candidates had filed for only five of those offices, and there was only one office for which more than one candidate had filed.

Good, active government, whether it be on the local or national level, must be spurred by public interest. The lack of interest which the people of Greenville are showing in the officials who will hold offices in the city government for the next two years surely points to the possibility of the reelection of the same apathy by the officials who are elected.

Through noon yesterday there were seven men in Greenville who had filed for public office in the city election. There remained the post of mayor and two aldermanic posts for which no person had seen fit to file. They are very important posts in the city government, and yet no candidates had filed. Perhaps those who are interested in having the posts are waiting until the last minute to file their candidacies, but the fact that the potential candidates for the offices have waited so late to file makes it appear the candidates will be few and far between.

Surely Greenville has a large number of citizens who are well qualified to hold the offices in the city government. There can be no doubt that better public officials can be chosen by the people if the voters have a choice in the officials they elect. If there is only one candidate for each office, then the people usually elect the candidate who has filed, whether or not the candidate is well qualified for the job.

It seems incongruous that a city like Greenville which took such a vital interest in the senatorial election a year ago should have such an indifferent attitude toward the election of its own city officials.

There can be no election without candidates. If the people of Greenville are interested in electing good city officials, they must first of all see that good candidates make bids for the public offices. And the more good candidates who are running for offices, the more likely the city is to have the best officials possible.

The filing period for the city election closes Saturday afternoon. The Reflector sincerely hopes there will be a sharp indication of renewed interest in the city election between now and the time the filing period closes.

The Less Courteous Of The Two

It is not the purpose of the editorial columns of The Reflector to evaluate the performances of artists who visit Pitt county; but it is a function of the editorial column to point out the shortcomings of our own people.

When Oscar Levant presented his piano concert at East Carolina Teachers College this week, his renditions of the musical selections were superb. His stage manner, we feel, was less pleasing than his music.

But the most unpleasant thing about the whole concert was the disgraceful behavior of the audience. It may be termed anything but polite and considerate of the artist who was presenting the concert.

People sauntered in during the time the pianist was playing his selections, and those who felt like it sauntered out while Levant was playing. Regardless of the impression made upon the audience by the Levant personality, the audience should have been more courteous.

Granted that Levant's stage manner at times bordered on rudeness, the rudeness of the artist was without question surpassed by the rudeness of the audience.

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Apr. 5—A program of almost television-like publicity in the negotiations of all future loans has been recommended to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation by Eugene Kelley as a means of preventing further scandals. Mr. Kelley is a veteran public relations consultant hired by the lending agency in the midst of the furor created by the Unbright Committee's disclosures.

Mr. Kelley attributes most of the organization's current difficulties to the extraordinary secrecy which has surrounded its operations from its birth during the Hoover Administration.

Together with the Interstate Commerce Commission, the RFC rarely gives out word of its decisions. When it does so, it merely states the amount of the loan and the name of the recipient.

SOUR—Most of the transactions so severely criticized by the Senatorial investigators received hardly any publicity or notice until a few newspaper correspondents became curious about them, and insisted on full details. This was true of both the Texas Petroleum and the Lustron advances, which have gone sour for a total of approximately $45,000,000.

There was, of course, no public notice of loans to swank hotels, to gambling palaces, to firms enjoying hidden political influence, and to corporations already on the rocks.

Nor did the RFC give out the names of lawyer-lobbyists, including former government officials, who drew down fat fees because their friendship and former connections with RFC members enabled them to obtain special favors.

"FIXER"—When Donald S. Dawson was transferred from RFC to the White House as presidential personal director, with the now obvious purpose of strengthening the Truman-Boyle grip on the multi-billion-dollar agency, there was no announcement of the fact.

Until "smoked out" in this column more than a year ago, and subsequently by Senator Fulbright, this official "fixer" and his crony, E. Merl Young, were men of mystery.

PUBLICITY—Secrecy was undoubtedly necessary in RFC's earlier days, but it has been carried to an unnecessary and irrational extreme, according to Mr. Kelley's written memorandum. Except in rare cases, he believes all hearings should be open, and that complete details of the amount, purpose and arguments for and against a loan should be given to the press.

In the early thirties, when RFC was established to save or salvage great corporations on the brink of disaster, publicity might have been dangerous. It would have been bad psychology to let a frightened people know how near to a crack-up were the industries, railroads, banks and insurance companies in which they had placed so much trust.

CONSIDERATION—During World War II, when the agency financed munitions factories, it was impossible to publicize advances for fear of tipping off the enemy to our preparations. The same consideration will apply again, if RFC is called upon to supply funds for expansion.

But in an era of seeming prosperity, when RFC can afford to subsidize palaces of pleasure, notorious gamblers' hangouts and service trades like beauty parlors and restaurants, there is no reason, according to Mr. Kelley, why it should not let the taxpayers know what it is doing with their money.

POLICY—Herbert Hoover's friends report that the former President is fully satisfied with the reaction inside and outside Congress to his controversial radio discussion of the question of rearming Europe. It had the effect he wanted and anticipated, which was to focus public attention on this radical change of foreign policy—namely, sending troops overseas in time of peace.

He believes, too, that it prompted even pro-Truman Democrats to accept the provision that, although Congress okayed the shipment of four more divisions to Germany, it feels the President—any President—ought to obtain prior Congressional approval for the dispatch of large-scale reinforcements.

MEANING—Mr. Hoover's new mellowness is reflected in his refusal to reply to critics of his speech. Most pro-Truman writers emphasized the "American Gibraltar" aspect, forgetting that he had conditioned a withdrawal from Europe on our Allies' failure to show a determination and courage to rearm and fight.

The old Hoover would have denounced this misinterpretation as a "hair-shirt" that he must wear. But when his group begged him to make a second speech clarifying his first proposal, he concluded it wasn't necessary.

In his belief, the American people, the Truman Administration—and Congress got his meaning. And, he believes, so did our European Allies.

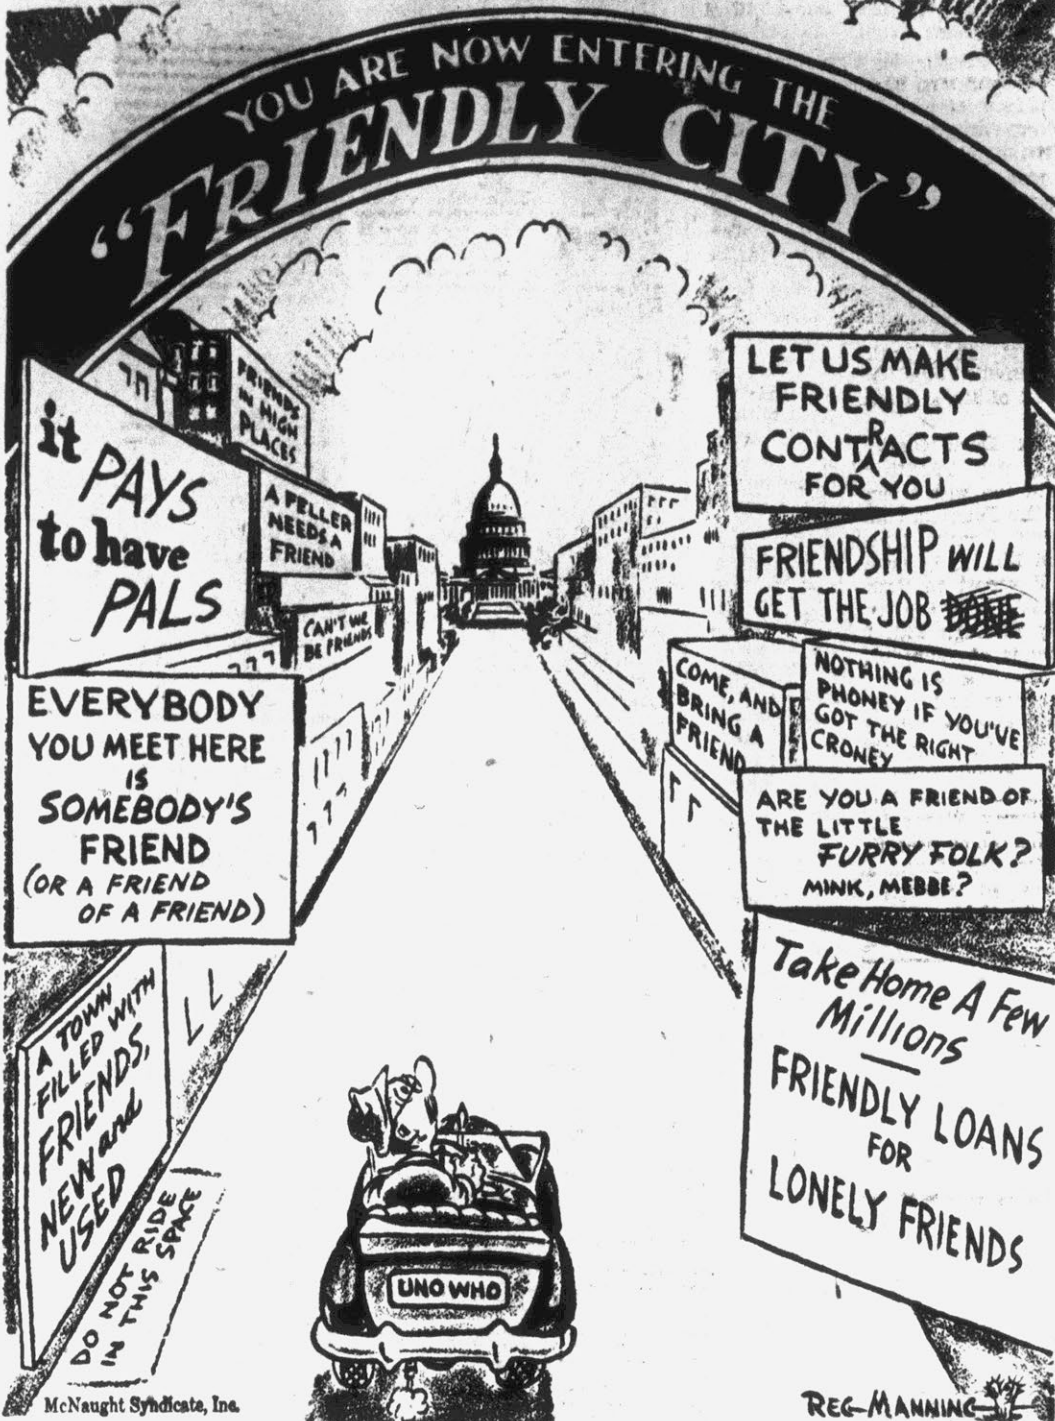

Selected Shorts

FITZGERALD, GEORGIA, LEADER: "A governmental chamber may be empty of all save one lone newspaperman. And so long as a reporter for an American newspaper is there, the American people are there, too. The newspaper is there as their ear, and sometimes as their tongue."

RADFORD, VA., NEWS-JOURNAL: "The institutions founded by the early settlers of New England were distinguished by their practicality. Excepting as the Founding Fathers had, from a tyrannical government imposed from above, their first move on being faced with the problems incident to living together in a new country was to give everyone a voice in decisions. This reliance on the integrity and common sense of the individual lies at the base of the American way of life."

DUNDEE, N. Y., OBSERVER: "Since the abolition of the gold standard in 1933, there has been no easy method of computation, no fixed standard by which to measure the real value of the dollar. Every unnecessary expenditure by the government makes the matter worse. We do not like to admit that our money is worth less than its face value, and so we say that prices have gone up, which indeed they have."

Welcome To Our City

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

It's strange that some man in Rollinsford, New Hampshire, can demand enough attention to attract comments from all over the nation. The reason is that his name is talked about is that he has only one name: Tift.

When Mr. and Mrs. Alanson Herbert Tift couldn't agree on a given name for their baby boy, they started something. Mr. Tift didn't want a "Junior," so he suggested, "Let the boy choose for himself."

That baby boy is now 72, and still goes by one name only, "Tift." When he was old enough to choose his own name, he decided that he didn't want one. Years later, when he went into business, he found out that his one-name-only was an asset because of the attention it attracts.

It was better than all the advertising he could have bought.

As nearly as he can find out, Tift is the only person in the country with only one name. He found one other one, a Doctor Gatewood, of Chicago, with whom he corresponded often. The doctor died several years ago, and now lies under a tombstone labeled "Gatewood."

Tift has to defend the fact that his name is simply Tift, "first, last and always." Twice he has had to defend that fact sternly. Once a Brooklyn registration clerk refused to let him vote until he showed a driver's license and a telephone directory listing, both simply stating Tift. The clerk let him vote, but an insurance company wouldn't let him be a one-name man. They made out his policy as "A. Tift." He said, "That's fair enough, as I am a Tift, although they could just as well have said 'The Tift.'"

When Tift started a wooden-box business in Brooklyn he found that letters signed with his name attracted as much attention as advertising circulars. Before long, a customer in the Azores Islands addressed a letter to "Tift, U.S.A." and it was delivered without delay.

When he moved from Brooklyn to New Hampshire to set up a greeting-card business a newspaper mentioned the disappearance of Tift from the new phone directory. The news item was promptly forwarded by a man that Tift hadn't heard from in thirty years.

Tift has two sons, "both with the usual collection of three names," and several grandchildren. He now wishes that one didn't, so there could be three generation reunions of Tift, Tift II and Tift III.

The family lives at Tift-Top on the Tift Road, in Rollinsford, New Hampshire. For Mrs. Tift, that's a little too much of the same. So she has given her husband the only nickname he ever had, "Tift."

And I thank you.

SUMMARY—With enactment of revenue and appropriations bills the general assembly of 1951 is approaching sine die adjournment. Indications are that it will adjourn Saturday night of next week, with possibility of a day earlier or a day or two later. Enactment of the big money bills and disposal of most of the other highly controversial measures means that from here out the legislature will be coasting, with sine die adjournment dependent not upon vital issues but upon the degree to which leaders apply the brakes. There remain a good many public bills and a multitude of local bills to be acted upon, but none of them can be classed as important to the welfare of the state at large. So it may be appropriate and not too premature to summarize accomplishments of this session.

INTACT—Most significant in this summary, in opinion of your reporter, is the fact that this general assembly to greater degree than any in recent years, has preserved integrity of the three distinct branches of state government—legislative, executive and judicial. Pursuant to constitutional amendments ratified by vote of the people last fall the legislature enacted several laws transferring to the chief justice of the supreme court some functions heretofore performed by the governor, with respect to the ordering courts and assigning judges. At the same time, it declined to enact proposed laws seeking to invade what are and have always been regarded as peculiar functions of the executive, with respect to appointments in the judicial and executive branches and other administrative functions.

As result of the constitutional amendments and legislative action, the distinction between legislative, executive and judicial areas of responsibility and service are more clearly drawn than ever before. And it is one of the anomalous things that happens sometimes, each division of government has been strengthened rather than weakened, and each has more prestige now than before because there is less doubt who is responsible for what.

GOVERNOR—The constitution places the legislative branch first and to considerable extent makes the executive and judicial branches subservient to it. In popular concept the governor is the first consideration. So for purpose of this analysis the order of preference is changed. How did Governor Scott stack up with this legislature? The answer is obvious from study of the record. He got more than he asked for, a lot more than he expected, but he did not get it in exactly the way he wanted. He wanted and asked for more money for municipal streets, with additional tax levies to provide the money. He got the street aid under the Powell bill, but without additional taxes. In his budget message to the assembly in mid-January he asked for appropriations of thirty-eight million dollars above recommendations of the budget commission which he as director of the budget had signed in December, and suggested necessity of new tax levies to provide the money. The appropriations bill already adopted and the permanent improvement bill now pending, provide forty-three millions above budget recommendations without additional tax levies. The governor with full support of public opinion throughout the state successfully resisted proposals to deprive the executive department of long recognized authority over contingency and emergency allocations and disposition of surplus highway funds. So the record shows that the governor lost nothing now or in the future, and incumbent Governor Scott got five million dollars more than he suggested in his budget message, but without indicated tax increases.

JUDICIAL—The judiciary also came out all right. Some of the bills proposed by the judicial council failed of enactment, but in majority of the cases where there was judicial-executive-legislative question, the judiciary won the bout. From now on special terms of court and assignment of judges is responsible of the judicial rather than the executive department. Most folks, including members of the executive branch, concede that is proper.

BALANCED—The state budget is in fair balance, with respect to both dollars and services. Taxpayers will pay more taxes but at the same rates; employees will get more salary dollars but they will represent no real increase in scale of living because of higher prices. There has been achieved a more accurate balance of authority among the three major functions of government, and more equitable distribution of highway funds to all public roads, urban and rural. The assembly has made mistakes, both of omission and commission. When record is totaled and evaluated it will be one of which members of the 1951 legislature need not be ashamed.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

THOSE BRIGHT BOYS

(Wilson Daily Times)

Repeatedly The Times has objected to the army standards which turn back boys who can't pass normal mental tests. It has always felt that they can be of some service to the country even though they can't qualify for positions of leadership. For the army isn't as technical as that. Strong backs and weak minds can be as useful in the service as they can be in civil life. But, by the same token, The Times looks with disfavor on any program which would defer the bright boys, keeping them at home on the theory that their brains are needed now or later to run the nation.

If we're to have conscription, and we have now, why not conscript everyone alike? Does the bright boy, because he can make "A's" in college want to escape service? Would he not be more cheerful about the whole thing if he were treated as everyone else? For does he not want to take part in veteran activities on his return? Does he not feel that he'd be derelict if he were a good student, he managed to dodge service when others less fortunate had to go?

In the first war it was said that the sons of some influential men arranged to stay out. If they were looked on as slackers, it did them more harm than good. Do we want to put our present crop of bright boys in that position? For one, they wouldn't like it. For who likes to think, when duties are to be performed, that they shirked? If we go through with some of the programs that are being proposed, however, we'll be doing that very thing. It doesn't seem like a fair proposition.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

Most states and thousands of cities and towns are now on the make for new industries. Inducements are being stepped up so much that some of them resemble radio jack-pots in the variety and many are worthy vastly more in cash.

Community desires to lure new businesses, or attract established ones from other communities, stem from desires to increase employment and thereby increase opportunities for its own workers and its own merchants, and to increase tax rolls. Some communities have calculated that granting almost complete tax exemption to an incoming industry pays off at the city exchequer since new employees bring both taxable property and incomes, and the immigration adds to the taxables of the local stores, the local landlords and even the local book-makers.

How much communities are interested in getting new industries is shown by this fact: Some time ago this column mentioned a company specializing in locating and relocating plants. The company received more than 100 letters from chambers of commerce, municipalities, etc., offering sites and facilities to the company's clients.

A fundamental practice in seeking new industries is to gain diversification. There's a double reason for this. A community built around a shoe factory, for instance, usually seeks a new industry in an entirely different line, preferably one that sells to other industries instead of consumers. For one thing, this guards against local depressions, since when the shoe factory is shut down the new business may be humming. For another, the shoe factory will probably do everything in its power to torpedo any incoming industry that will steal shoemakers away, or even be attractive to the kind of apprentices that may become shoemakers.

DESPERATION MARKS

SOME TOWNS' BIDS

Other communities are not so selective. These are the ones in regions where mines or fields are exhausted, where timber is cut over, or where industry has passed by. Some of these communities are so desperate that they will make almost any kind of offer: tax concessions, cheap land, cheap power, changes in laws, and interdictions against unions. In desperation, they offer to become prostitute towns in two senses of the word.

In general, defense industries are less sought than non-defense plants. Defense operations may wane some time in the future and communities realize this may leave them with unemployed masses and uncollected taxes that can ruin them.

Among the inducements most frequently offered by communities seeking new enterprises, according to the American Society of Planning Officials, are these:

Free land, in erecting buildings, for utilities, financial assistance in moving, tax exemption, issuance of bonds to help financing, creation of favored industrial districts, housing aid and improvement of the community.

Tax exemption is a potent bait. Even the United States government has approved this in an effort to build up the economy of Puerto Rico. Scores of companies have moved to the island and the amount of taxes they escape are being made up, brother, by you and me.

But this allurement is being used widely on the mainland, too. While small communities cannot grant dispensations against income taxes, they can waive all kinds of local taxes and provide free services that go far in offsetting the federal bite.

MILIONS OF OLIVES

FOR U. S. COCKTAILS

There's good news today for martini drinkers. The crop of Seville olives, earlier reported poor, is turning out quite good, according to word received by the Department of Agriculture. While the total crop is somewhat smaller than last year's, production of the cocktail-size Manzanilla is estimated at 57,000 hogsheads, compared with 56,500 last season. MANUFACTURERS SEEK

FIRMER NYLON RULES

There has been so much misbranding of fabrics containing nylon that the National Association of Shirts, Papas and Sportswear Manufacturers has appointed a committee to work with the Federal Trade Commission on regulations to correct the situation.

Hal Boyle's Column

By BELMAN MORIN

New York, April 5—(AP)—"This is a diseased generation—but the next one, if it isn't destroyed by war, will be better."

That is the opinion of Dr. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of the Interdenominational Church of New York since 1907. In more than 40 years of church work, he says, he has never seen moral standards in America so low as they now are.

People have lost the ability, literally, to distinguish between right and wrong," Dr. Holmes told me. "In this age, anything goes."

These are the causes, Dr. Holmes said, in an interview, underlying recent disclosures of corruption in government and the stories of graft, bribery and influence uncovered by the Kefauver and Fulbright committees. The clergyman said he believes the present condition of public morality in America is new and aggravated, rather than an ever-present situation which has suddenly been brought to wide public attention.

"Something very serious has happened to the moral fabric of this generation," Dr. Holmes declared. "Like a human body, a society can fall victim of a disease and die of it, as Tynbome and other historians have demonstrated."

"This country is in mortal danger today. It could die as other societies have died."

"Americans are trying to live without God and it can't be done. They have been trying it for about 30 years. But the laws of morality are as exact and inexorable as the laws of physics or chemistry. When they are violated, things go wrong—even to the extent of a terrible explosion."

The great corrosive agents, Dr. Holmes said, have come directly from the two world wars in which the United States was engaged.

"War is an evil that embraces all other evils. It sanctions murder, permits theft, and condones sexual license. A man is concerned solely with survival. All other bars are down."

"It is impossible—without tremendous moral strength—for the civilian population, far removed from the front, not to be affected by these standards of conduct."

An implacable enemy of war, Dr. Holmes said the influences distilled from the vast world convulsions of 1917 and 1918 "have become a cancer eating into the structure of our lives."

The presumably corrective influences in American life, he continued, have not been equal to the task that confronted them. "We are all at fault—the churches, the schools and the parents in the home."

"As a clergyman, I recognize our degree of responsibility."

"The churches have of been very rigorous in teaching or practice or moral truths. They have become interested in raising money for pleasant little things around the community, and in having a beautiful service on Sunday."

"The churches have not been with theology in those years when the world was crying for guidance."

Statistics have indicated that attendances in churches in this country has grown, markedly, since the war.

"I have some doubts about those figures," Dr. Holmes replied. "But even assuming they are accurate, they do not necessarily mean people are more spiritual. Yes, God is for Sunday, they think, but not for the other six days of the week.

There should be instruction in ethics and morals in the schools, he said.

"Parents haven't been doing the job. They have become too completely associated with buying a new gadget to amuse them or a machine to make house work easier. A home, today, is a place of entertainment, not of instruction."

Nevertheless, Dr. Holmes said, there is more hope for the generation of people still in high schools and colleges now.

"There is an earnestness among these youngsters, a searching. They seem to sense that things are not right, and that they could be better."

"I get many different evidences of this, not only from my own observation but from what people tell me. 'It may be simply that these young people feel they are going out into a world that may destroy them. It may be only the instinct for survival. But there is real hope in that direction.'"

"If these people are not reduced to barbarians by a third world war, they may create something much better than what we see now."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

Washington—Make an inventory of the clothes the family has at home before you go shopping for new ones. Government clothing specialists warn against stocking too much ahead.

"Sizes and tastes change, styles change, materials deteriorate," says Miss Clarice Scott, specialist with the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics. "If you plan to wear an outfit a long time you will want something that you and those about you won't tire of. The simplest is always best. Other things to consider when buying clothes are climate—it affects not only the fabric you pick, but the style. Certain features help keep you warm or cool. Transportation—Clothes get harder wear on street cars, subways and buses and in lots of going and coming. Maybe you don't get out much except to church or social gatherings. You won't need such hard-wearing clothes as your husband and children."

Before buying a suit or coat consider what you have or hand to go with them and what else you will have to buy in the future—shoes, hats, purses, gloves. If you have all brown, for instance, don't buy navy.

Clothes that aren't cut accurately are not likely to fit well. Miss Scott says the grain of the goods should run straight down the front and back and straight down the sleeves. The cross-wise threads should run straight at bust and hip levels. In low-grade clothes, she explains, the maker might juggle pieces a little to make what goods he has fit the pattern.

Shoppers should also look for ample seam allowances. Things can be let out for growth. This is especially important in children's clothes. Whenever possible, try an article on at the store when you buy it. This saves taking things back, something some of us don't bother to do.

"Watch out for 'bargains,'" warns Miss Scott. "You don't often get anything you don't actually pay for. In good clothes are hidden qualities we don't often know are there."

Krupps Director Vows 'No Arms'

Essen, Germany, April 4—(AP)—"Krupps will never make another gun—not even if we are accused of sabotaging the European rearmament program."

This assertion was made today by Dr. Friedrich Wilhelm Hardach, director of the huge Krupp firm that helped arm Germany for two world wars.

"After twice getting our fingers burned building arms for two wars no one can justly complain if we say 'never more,'" Hardach said in an interview.

"We are so much opposed to any more arms making that we are even refusing contracts to make trucks which might turn up some day in some army," he added.

Although Alfred Krupp, heir to the big Krupp steel empire, was released from prison recently and had his property rights restored, Hardach actually runs the Krupp business.

Despite the pounding it took from wartime bombings and the dismantling of several plants by the allies, Krupp still is a rich concern.

Average Retail Food Prices In Stable Period

Washington, April 4—(AP)—Average retail food prices remained unchanged between Feb. 26 and March 15, the Bureau of Labor Statistics estimated today on the basis of a survey in eight cities.

This is the second successive two-week period in which food prices as measured by the bureau did not increase. The overall stability was attributed to sharp declines in prices of some fresh fruits and vegetables, offsetting small price hikes for other foods.

On the basis of its study, the bureau estimated that the retail food price index for March 15 was 225.6—or 125.6 percent above the 1935-39 average. That was 0.2 percent below the figure a month earlier but 11 percent above the level just before the Korean war started.

U. S. had the greatest number of horses on her farms in 1915—21,430,000.

Golfing Clan Gathers For Masters' Tourney Opening

Ferrier's Putting May Give Him Edge; Three-Time Winner Demaret Counted Out By Virtue Of Poor Showing In Winter Tour

Augusta, Ga., April 5—(AP)—The golfing clan rallied here today to watch the opening of the race for 1951's first major title—the Masters.

For the next four days 48 professionals and 16 amateurs compete against each other as well as against the Augusta National Course, a versatile layout which makes a golfer stop, look and think before he fires away.

The National is a 6,000-yard course which many golfers and course architects consider the finest inland layout in the country. Par is evenly broken between the nine—36-36-72.

Who will win this 15th Masters? The winner probably will be the guy who shoots a 280 or 281 during the 72-hole program.

Last year Jimmy Demaret took the title for the third time and gave the National another name—Demaret's Dreamland. Jimmy won with a 283, but in a way he backed into the championship.

Jim Ferrier had the Masters just about sacked and tied until it slipped out of the bag on the last six holes when he blew sky high.

Now Big Jim Ferrier again is a pick just as he was before the final round last April. He is the hottest "reak of golf in many years. In five tournaments he's won three times and finished second twice.

And Australia Jim might win this one. He's a putter of the Bobby Jones and Horton Smith rank and putting is important here.

Defending champions usually get a lot of notice as the favorite to repeat. But jovial Jimmy Demaret isn't getting much this time. The memory of his poor golf this winter tapers and his chances of winning again are slim.

Amateurs are getting more notice than usual in such a fast field as this. That may be because 16 amateurs are the most ever to play in a Masters or because the Walker Cup squad is here with the exception of Al Mengert and Bud Holcher.

The sixty-four golfers were ready to tee off starting at 11 a.m. (EST) today. Sentimental backing goes strongly to Ben Hogan and Byron Nelson, and either could win. Hogan won the National Open last summer at Merion and Nelson won the Bing Crosby in California in January.

Must Still Wait For Outlook On Derby Candidate

New York, April 5—(AP)—The horse racing world—including Jockey Eddie Arcaro—will have to wait a bit longer to find out about such things as Battledore and the Kentucky Derby.

While the two-year-old champion of last year remained in his barn, Mrs. Nora Melli's Virginia-bred Repertoire went out yesterday and hung it on a dozen three-year-old rivals in the $22,600 experimental Handicap No. 1 at Jamaica. Arcaro was to have ridden Battledore, the horse he'll probably go with in the Derby if the colt is good enough to start.

There was no doubt Battledore would have reigned the favorite yesterday for he proved his class a year ago at the sprint distances. Repertoire won four of 11 starts last year—all at six furlongs—before he failed at the longer routes twice.

Big Jump Possible

New Orleans, April 5—(AP)—Rookie Righthander Bill Koski, 19, of the Pittsburgh Pirates might make a jump from Class D baseball to the majors.

At any rate, Koski is with the Pirates on the eastern swing. He won eight and lost two with the Class D Mayfield farm club last year.

Busy Busby:

Jim Busby is making a determined bid to win a regular berth in the White Sox outfield with his booming bat. Busby established himself as a fine flied, but he has yet to prove that he can hit big league pitching well enough to stick.

A year ago, Busby figured he had earned a spot with the Chicago team when he batted .423 in spring training exhibition games and made no effort to hide his disappointment when he was shipped off to Sacramento for further seasoning. He batted .310 in 111 games against Pacific Coast League pitching and sent 78 runs across the plate to earn another trial with the White Sox.

Busby was rated one of the best fielders on the Coast last season when he handled 300 chances and made only two errors for an average of .993. His development since leaving Texas Christian three years ago has been phenomenal. A couple of years of service ball with established major league stars helped his development considerably. Jim was a hurdler on the T. C. U. track team in addition to starring in baseball. Actually, Busby had a football scholarship but he passed up the gridiron game to concentrate on baseball.

Dukes And Deacs Settle Lead Saturday At Durham

Richmond, Va., April 5—(AP)—The lead in the southern division of the Southern Conference's baseball race will be determined at Durham, N.C. Saturday in a game between Wake Forest and Duke.

The Deacons of Wake Forest moved into a tie with the Blue Devils yesterday by trouncing North Carolina State, 6-2. Duke bowed to Yale, 11-9, in a non-loop game.

Duke and Wake Forest now have two wins each and no losses in conference play. But the Deacons, defending division champions, have a spottless record of six victories and no defeats for the season. Duke's loss yesterday was its second this year.

Three other conference nines played yesterday against outside foes. The University of Richmond bowed to Delaware, 6-2. Maine licked George Washington, 6-3, while Clemson downed Erskine, 4-1.

Circuit teams take a rest today with no games scheduled. In tennis matches yesterday, Navy walloped Maryland, 7-1; North Carolina whipped Williams, 8-5; Duke ran all over North Carolina State, 8-1; and Davidson trounced Harvard, 12-4.

Five loop teams see action on the courts today: Williams visits North Carolina, William and Mary goes to Wake Forest, and The Citadel plays South Carolina.

In yesterday's only golf contest, George Washington disposed of Baltimore University with ease, 7-2. Three links matches are scheduled for today: The Citadel at South Carolina, Virginia at Maryland, and Williams at Duke.

Kyle Rote Plans Baseball Career

Corpus Christi, Tex., April 5—(AP)—Kyle Rote, famed Southern Methodist University football star and No. 1 draft choice of the New York Giants in the National Professional Football League, is going to play pro baseball.

Rote and Corpus Christi owner George Schepps came to terms yesterday. Rote will report here to the Class B Gulf Coast League team Monday.

In college, Rote played baseball as a catcher and as an outfielder.

Hit By Baseball, Boy Dies Later

Zebulon, N. C., April 5—(AP)—A 12-year-old youth, Douglas Gordon Raper, died yesterday from injuries received when he was hit by a baseball.

The boy was struck on the head Tuesday at Wakeford School. He appeared dazed momentarily, classmates said, but he continued to remain in school. That night he complained that his head hurt. The family physician was summoned and diagnosed the injury as concussion.

Drop To Play In Season Opener

Boston, April 5—(AP)—Encouraged by a doctor's opinion he should be able to start the American League season April 17, Walter Dropo left today to rejoin his Boston Red Sox teammates in Augusta, Ga.

The big first baseman suffered a hairline fracture in a wrist bone last Sunday and first reports were that he would be out for four to eight weeks.

However, Dr. Ralph McCarthy, team physician and Dr. Paul Butler, an x-ray specialist, revised that opinion yesterday.

In the United States, eight counties and more than a dozen towns are named after Lafayette, the Frenchman who helped America fight the Revolution.

Publicity Forces New Draft Check

El Paso, Tex., April 5—(AP)—The publicity given Mickey Mantle in the past month has, in the opinion of manager Casey Stengel, forced the remarkable youngster's draft board to call him in for another look-see.

The Yankee pilot just had been notified by Mickey that he had been ordered to report to his board at Miami, Okla., Next Wednesday. He was classified last winter as 4-F because of a bone infection in his left ankle which apparently is permanent.

"I can understand it," said Casey, though the news plainly came as a blow to him. "People have read all these write-ups about him, and they ask why isn't he in the Army if he can do all that. They write letters, too."

"What they don't realize is that we aren't trying to keep any boy on our roster if he should be in uniform. The last time I heard we already had lost 93 players out of our organization, including minor league clubs."

Mantle, a quiet, modest youth of 20, said he had seen one letter "of that kind," but did not say to whom it had been addressed. He said he thought "maybe they just want to ask me some questions." It is understood that the Army will under no circumstances accept men with infections such as Mantle has.

Kinston Golfers Swamp Farmville

Kinston, April 5—Kinston golfers scored their third straight Coastal Golf Association victory of the season by taking a visiting Farmville link team to the tune of 110-6 in Kinston yesterday afternoon.

John Farabow Kinston champion, turned in low medal honors for the day with a two-under par 68. Bob Fisher's 78 and Frog Picchetti's 79 were low for the visiting Farmville linksters.

Ben Hogan practices on the Augusta National Golf course in hopes that this time he'll win the Masters' Golf tournament. The 15th annual event starts Thursday. Ben has never won the Masters' title. Early spectators watch him get out of a sand trap approaching the 9th green. (AP Wirephoto).

Robersonville Trims Farm Life By 15-4 In Error-Filled Game

Vanceboro, April 5—Coach Bob Lee's Robersonville High School baseball team walloped the Farm Life High School, 15-4, here yesterday afternoon in a Coastal Conference contest, the first outing for either team.

The Martin County boys held the Vanceboro nine hitless, with them sending across four runs by way of errors and walks.

Joe Johnson started on the mound for Robersonville but after loading the bases in the bottom of the fourth was replaced by Bobby Fleming who finished the game.

Wesley Gladson opened for Vanceboro, but was knocked from the box in the third inning after Robersonville had sent across five tallies, and was replaced by Doug Norman who was sent to the showers after only one inning. Billy Butler came into the game at this point and finished the game.

Robersonville opened by scoring two runs in the first inning on a single by Bobby Bullock, who scored on a double by Bobby Fleming, the big gun for Robersonville at the plate yesterday as he collected two for two, scoring five runs for the visitors.

Vanceboro's scoring came in the bottom of the second inning when they pushed across one run as the results of errors and walks; followed in the bottom of the fourth when they sent three men home, as the bases were loaded, the second run being walked in, then a fielder's choice scored the third with another fielder's choice and error accounting for the final tally, the stanza ended with Vanceboro trailing by only one run.

Errors on the part of the Vanceboro team enabled the visitors to score ten runs in the last three innings to run the count to 15-4.

Both teams will square off again Friday for a second Conference encounter, with Robersonville taking on Farmville at Robersonville and Vanceboro playing Ayden at Ayden.

Cherry Pointers Whip East Carolina By 10-1

A strong Cherry Point Marines baseball team sent three East Carolina Teachers College pitchers to the showers yesterday afternoon as they trounced the collegians 10-1 at the college stadium.

For East Carolina it was the fourth loss of the year against seven starts. The Marines reached the offerings of the four ECTC pitchers for 15 hits while the boys from East Carolina could muster but five scattered safeties.

Marine Pitcher Petkovich held Coach Jack Boone's diamond nine under control all the way and never was in any serious danger, as the first and only scoring by East Carolina came in the bottom of the first inning.

Second Baseman Hoskins led East Carolina at the plate with two hits, Gull (5), Tatlock (6), Vainwright in two attempts, matched by Marine Pitcher Petkovich with two for four.

Stanley started on the mound for East Carolina, replaced by Gull, who after relieving in the fifth by Tatlock after giving up two runs, and Tatlock was removed in the sixth when the Marines broke loose to send across five additional scores. Julian Vainwright followed Tatlock on the mound in the seventh to finish out the game.

Coach Boone's boys will be seeking another conference victory here Friday afternoon when they meet the strong Gullford College ball club. Game time is set for 2:45.

Score by innings:

The 47-state boxing body last night rated the former champion as the only logical contender for Bernard Charles' heavyweight crown.

This is the same place he stood in 1937 when Jimmy Braddock was champion. Louis won the title that year from Braddock and never moved down in the rankings until he lost to Charles while trying to regain his title. Charles had won Louis' crown in an NBA-recognized bout with Joe Walcott after Louis had abdicated.

Joe was only an outstanding boxer in the NBA's last quarterly rankings. With him then was Lee Savold.

Now with Louis back in the logical contender slot, Savold, Jersey Joe Walcott and Rex Layne are listed as outstanding boxers.

It was a step forward for both

George Kell Isn't Superstitious, He Will Wear His Old Number This Year

Lakeland, Fla.—Nobody can say George Kell is superstitious. The hard-hitting Detroit Tiger third baseman, a 300-plus hitter the last five years, will switch from uniform No. 21 to No. 7 when the American League season opens.

No. 7 last season was worn by Eddie Lake, utility infielder who failed to hit once in seven official trips to the plate over a period of 20 games.

Kell wore No. 7 his two years with the Athletics but in Philadelphia he never hit above .300. When the A's traded him to the Tigers for Barney McCosky in mid-May of 1946 he took McCosky's 21.

No. 21 proved a good omen for Kell. His marks the last five years were .322, .320, .304, .343 and .340 respectively. His .343 in '49 led

from the RECTOR'S KITCHENS

Here's a bit of appetite news you will appreciate. A dish that makes mouths water and lips smack. Know what I mean? Wilson's Certified Franks and Mac. The "Mac" being macaroni, of course. It's a Wilson's Certified Cheese 'n' Frankfurter dish your family can go for with gusto because it's so low in cost.

Of course the "hit" you make with this dish will depend a lot on the franks you use. Be sure you buy Wilson's Certified Frankfurters as they are dependably the last word in quality, flavor and juicy tenderness. . . in casing or skinless as you choose, cut 'em in half or leave 'em whole! Here's a budget team-up even beginners can't spoil. You'll agree Wilson's Certified Frankfurters just can't be beat once you've eaten Wilson's Certified Franks in savory partnership with either Wilson's Certified American Cheese or Wilson's Of Fashund (natural cheddar) Cheese and good old macaroni.

*The former is milder, the latter is richer in flavor. . . choose to your own taste.

Wilson's Frankfurter Mac

Cook:

1 cup broken up macaroni in 1 quart boiling water with 2 teaspoons salt.	and 2 tablespoons flour. Gradually stir in 2 cups milk keeping mixture free of lumps.
When just tender, drain and rinse. Blend to a smooth mixture: 2 tablespoons Wilson's Certified Margarine or Wilson's Clearbrook Butter	Add: 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Cook and stir until slightly thickened.

Add: 1 cup shredded Wilson's Certified American or Of Fashund cheese. Place macaroni in casserole with the cheese sauce. Top with split open Wilson's Certified Frankfurters placed cut side down. Garnish the franks with a slice or shreds of Wilson's Certified American Cheese or Of Fashund (natural cheddar) cheese.

Bake at 350° F. for 25 minutes. Serve hot, surrounded with additional hot Wilson's Certified Frankfurters. To prepare them, drop franks into boiling hot water. Cover pan and turn off heat. Let stand 7 to 8 minutes to heat through. Wilson's Certified Frankfurters are ready-cooked. Drain and serve hot.

The Wilson Label protects your taste.

Former Greenville Girl Unhurt In Air Accident

A former Greenville girl, now a resident of Eureka, California, narrowly escaped death with her husband recently as the plane in which they were flying crash-landed in the desert of Lower California.

Mrs. Victor Blanc, the former Josephine Flanagan, daughter of Mrs. John Flanagan and the late Mr. Flanagan, and her husband Barney were flying with another couple in a chartered plane enroute to a vacation spot in Lower California.

The two couples took off from Tijuana, Mexico, in a small passenger plane piloted by a non-English speaking Mexican pilot. A week and two accidents later the four were back in safe and sane California, thanks to the presence of mind of Barney who was a former Marine pilot.

Six hours out of Tijuana the plane had to set down for fuel at La Paz. The pilot, who had never made an over-water landing before, managed to bring the ship into the approach to the runway but an apparent up-draft caused the plane to ground loop just as the wheels touched the concrete, shearing off the tail wheel.

The vacation was spent at La Paz while the plane was being repaired. Then they took off again, this time toward home. However, the engine began throwing oil and the pilot started to set down in the desert. But Blanc then intervened and instructed the pilot to head back for La Paz, 75 miles distant.

A downwind landing was required because other planes were taking off and the result of that second landing was a shorn off landing gear, a broken prop and a broken wing strut that came flying through the cabin, narrowly missing the other woman.

No one was hurt during the two crashes but the two couples will probably think twice before taking off with a Spanish-speaking pilot in his private plane again.

The vacation wasn't a total loss, however. Mrs. Blanc writes that between crashes they did enjoy their stay at La Paz.

Tar Heel Farmer Receives Record Sum During Year

Raleigh, N. C., April 4—(AP)—With tobacco receipts topping the list, Tar Heel farmers received an estimated $786,028,000 from the sale of farm products last year—a new high in dollar volume.

The Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said yesterday this was an increase of 11.4 per cent over 1949. The big percentage gain led the nation. But in the dollar volume the state remained in 14th place.

The $786,028,000 figure represented gross sales, the crop reporting service said, and because of rising production costs Tar Heel farmers probably had little gain in net income.

Cash receipts from the sale of tobacco totaled $485,000,000 last year, a 35 per cent gain over 1949. This big increase more than offset heavy losses in cotton caused largely by boll weevil damage.

North Carolina farmers received an estimated $42,518,000 for cotton and cottonseed last year. This was 44.3 per cent less than the year before.

In all, farmers received $644,405,000 from crops and $141,623,000 from livestock and livestock products.

Found 299 Fish In Hollow Log

Clinton, N. C., April 5—(AP)—This fish story sounds pretty tall, but its authenticity is backed up by State Highway department workers.

A highway crew repairing a bridge 12 miles from Clinton noticed an abundance of fish in the water below. Deciding to try their luck at catching the fish with their hands, the workers waded in. They saw that many of the fish were gathered around a log.

The highway workers examined the log and found that it was hollow and literally jammed with fish. The log was dragged to the bank and out came 299 fish ranging from one to one-half pounds in size.

The office in Kinston has been opened on the corner of Vernon and College Streets and 10 of the key construction personnel are on hand now. Twenty or more will arrive shortly and a major part of the equipment is en route to the site now.

Plan To Fight Deduction Of State Cigarette Tax

Washington, April 5—(AP)—The Revenue Bureau doesn't intend to allow smokers to deduct any state cigarette taxes on their federal income tax returns without a fight. Officials said today the bureau has refused to "acquiesce" in a U. S. Tax Court decision ruling that the deduction is allowable in a state where the tax is applied in a certain way.

That mean the bureau will appeal to a circuit court of appeals and likely, if the bureau loses there, to the U. S. Supreme Court, a time-consuming process. The bureau will not allow deductions pending final decision.

The tax court ruling added up, in general, to saying that a deduction may be taken for state taxes that are "separately stated" and passed on to the cigarette buyer. It gave Oklahoma's tax specific approval in this respect.

The tax court ruling upheld William I. Thompson, an Oklahoma cement finisher who personally argued his case, in deducting $39 in cigarette taxes—among other things—on his 1947 income tax return.

The bureau "acquiesced" in the court's ruling on matters other than the cigarette tax, assuring Thompson of no trouble on his other deductions.

Chapter 17
Most of the houses were new, but here and there Ray recognized one that had been in place in 1950. He could tell by Joe Ashford's face that he recognized these familiar landmarks too.
They were coming to where the old office building had been. A skyscraper stood there now, visible from blocks away. Joe had seen it too.
They didn't talk. There was no need to. Each knew what was in the other's mind. Ray stared up at the third floor windows in the space his own office had occupied forty-nine years before.
The windows stared back at him without hint of expression. The bus started. Ray fought an impulse to jump up and leap off the bus at the next corner.
The Vargians knew he was there. They MUST know he was riding the bus and had been looking up at that third floor line of windows. But they were carrying on the pretense of not knowing, just as Val Nelson was carrying on the pretense of not being their guard and warden. Would that pretense be kept up any longer if he were to jump off the bus and try to reach those offices? Probably not.
What would happen, then, if he precipitated things? Ray considered the possibility. It might be the only way of getting ahead in his search for Nelva. Or may be at the underground office of Arthur Granger tonight they would give him a suggested line of action.

He decided to wait and see. Tomorrow he could still come here and precipitate things by a "foolish" impulse. But also, tomorrow a less foolish plan might be apparent. Also, there were new questions clamoring to be answered.
They reached Arthur Granger's underground office at dinner time. A table had been brought in and plates laid out in anticipation. Craig Blanning and Neal Smith were there also.
When Val Nelson brought them in he excused himself and was gone nearly half an hour. Ray wondered if he were reporting to the Vargians. He listened to Joe take the conversational ball and tell enthusiastically of the day's events, and was secretly glad he had left Joe in the dark as an innocent buffer against suspicion.
Arthur Granger was quite definitely hamming it when he showed concern over his "daughter," Nelva. It was well done. Ray realized that if he had not been looking with suspicious eyes he would never have spotted it as deception.
He listened, and speculated on the connection between these men and the Vargians, and what role Nelva might be played in all this. The possibility had returned that she might be a Vargian herself, now that it was fairly certain Arthur Granger was not her father, but the prospect was not hideous any more. Vargian women lacked the sex appeal of a small woman, but what they lacked in pettiness they made up for in grace of bearing and intelligence.

Val returned casually. It was a signal for them to begin eating. This time there were surprises. Fresh tomatoes and delicious steaks. They created in Ray a deep homesickness for his own age, 1950, trailing along behind the Varg Throft which apparently made the United States a colony of some unknown world peopled by Vargians.
He recalled what he mentioned to Joe so long ago; that they might be still living in this age somewhere, and they could possibly drop in and see themselves as they would be at seventy-five years of age.
The idea took hold. Who, of all the people alive in 1999, could he and Joe trust implicitly? Only themselves. If they could find themselves—actually their physical selves—they could find out what it was all about.
Or could they? Suppose he could find Ray Bradley 75 and talk to him. Could Ray 75 tell him, Ray 25 that tomorrow he would do this and that, because he remembered doing it? If so, then Ray could remember what he himself would be doing tomorrow because as Ray 25 he had watched him do it! That would make causes and effects entirely circular and repetitious.
"Tell me something," he spoke up. The other stopped talking to listen. "Are either Joe or I old? Joe said before we started here into the future that he's like to drop in on himself and talk over old times together."
That brought a general laugh. Joe brightened up and thought it would be wonderful. Arthur Granger opened his mouth, as if to begin to talk, when his face winced in pain. Ray felt sure Neal had kicked Arthur under the table. Evidently, he thought, they have had experience with Arthur Granger being foolish before.
"It's a very interesting possibility," Neal said, his eyes twinkling without any sign of his having kicked Granger to quiet him. "But are you sure you want to do that? Suppose the records show that both of you died in—say—1951? The you would know that when you go back to your own time you will be going to your death!"
Very adroit, Ray thought admiringly. Probably Arthur was about to explain to me the impossibility of my finding myself at the age of seventy-five because it would involve a cyclic trap, and Neal has conveyed just the right touch of seeming ignorance.
He decided to pursue the subject.
"It would be worth the risk of finding out such a thing," he said eagerly. "That would be an experience, to actually meet myself as a separate individual! What do YOU say, Joe? Should we look into it?" "I'm for it," Joe said enthusiastically.
"I suppose I'll have to confess," Val Nelson, who had just come in, spoke up, making a rueful expression. "I thought of that myself and looked up the records without saying anything, so if it turned out something like Neal suggested I could keep still."

"What did you discover?" Ray asked.
"Nothing," Val replied. "I found your birth records. I found evidence of a search for you on suspicion of having caused an explosion that wrecked a building. That's all. No death record, no current evidence of residence anywhere. Of course that doesn't mean you're dead now. It just means that if you're still alive, either one of you, there's nothing in the directories to tell where you live."

Un-American Probers Link Hundreds To Red Movement

Washington, April 5—(AP)—The House Un-American Activities committee has linked several hundred prominent Americans—among them movie Academy Award winners Jose Ferrer and Judy Holliday—with what it described as a communist "world-wide peace offensive."

At the same time last night, the committee intimated that many so named may have been unwitting dupes of the Red campaign, which it described as "the most dangerous hoax ever devised by the international communist conspiracy."

In a forward to a 166-page analysis of communist "peace" tactics, which it declared was intended to destroy American morale and shield Russian military intentions, the committee made provisions for disclaimers by innocent persons. It said:

"The committee having no desire to charge any innocent person with having communist affiliations, will therefore publish the names of any individual who has so withdrawn from these organizations or whose name was used by these organizations without permission or knowledge in a future report, if such person will communicate with the committee, giving the circumstances in his particular case."

A prompt denial came from Miss Holliday, whose portrayal of the dumb blonde in "Born Yesterday" won her this year's movie Oscar. In a statement issued in New York, she declared she was "not a member of any organization listed by the Attorney General as subversive. In any instance where I lent my name in the past, it was certainly without knowledge that such an organization was subversive."

Miss Holliday said she previously had made a sworn statement "to the effect that I am not now and never have been a member of the communist party."

Both Miss Holliday and Ferrer were named among the sponsors of the Scientific and Cultural Conference for World Peace, held in New York in March, 1949. The committee called this an American front for a campaign which had its origin on a world-wide basis in 1947 with creation of the Communist Information Bureau—successor to the Communist International.

Among sponsors with alleged "communist affiliations," both Miss Holliday and Ferrer were listed as having been associated with from five to 10 communist-front organizations.

Ferrer, whose role in "Cyrano de Bergerac" won him the male Academy award was also named among 49 sponsors who have "given their open support to communist candidates in election campaigns."

Ferrer has been subpoenaed for an appearance later this month in the committee's current investigation of communist influences in Hollywood. He had denied being a communist.

Other movie folk whose name appeared in the report were Charles Chaplin, Howard Da Silva, Gale Sondergaard, Artie Shaw and Karen Morley.

Rockwell Kent, the magazine illustrator, was listed as having been affiliated with "at least" 85 front groups. Three other sponsors of the New York Peace Conference—Langston Hughes, Robert Morse Lovett and Donald Ogden Stewart—were credited with from 71 to 80 front affiliations.

Paul Robeson, Mary Van Kleeck, James Waterman Wise and Harry F. Ward were listed as having affiliations with 51 to 60 groups. Thereafter, the number of affiliations dropped sharply, and the number of names in each group went up.

As a witness in a lawsuit in New York yesterday, Kent testified he once headed sponsors of a fund drive for the communist newspaper, The Daily Worker, but said he "didn't do a darned thing."

He added, however, that in his opinion The Daily Worker presented the news more accurately than some other papers.

To Fill Seats On Education Board

By LYNN MISSET
Raleigh, April 5—Governor Scott has before him the obligation to name two members of the state board of education. Terms of A. S. Brower of Durham and Harold Lineberger of Belmont expired on April 1. The constitution requires that these appointments be confirmed by the general assembly in joint session, so it is expected they will be made within the next few days. The governor has not indicated whether he will reappoint or replace the retiring members. Appointments will be for eight years.

Senate confirmation is required of numerous executive appointments to boards and commissions, but usually this is a perfunctory item handled during the early days of the session validating all appointments made since the assembly adjourned. The board of education is different, and it is definitely the spirit if not actually the letter of the constitution that appointees for full terms must be confirmed before they can serve. Governors Broughton, Cherry and Scott have observed that policy since the consolidated board of education was set up in 1943.

There has been suggestion that members of the state board of education be nominated in the primary, as are members of the county boards, without making the nomination binding upon the appointing authority. The suggestion has met very little favor and there is little prospect the established procedure will be changed any time soon.

Legend says that when a name was sought for the capital of Switzerland, the people organized a great hunt and the city was named after the first animal slain, a bear—Berne.

might be back home. With men outnumbering women—especially single women—she receives most of those courtesies which women love.

Still, she misses many of the simplicities which make living a joy. Movie-going in Rangoon, for instance, is no casual affair, especially for a girl. It is generally planned with the same meticulous care the Smythe-Brownes of Washington give to the opera.

Because you never know who is going to be there you must always be seen with the right people, wearing the right clothes, and never be caught in your loafers. This sort of thing helps, make life in Rangoon as artificial as a Hollywood movie set.

The American girl contrasts vividly with the Burmese. According to Ann, girls here are more leisurely in their ways, more casual in outlook. The do not have the same self-reliance, the aggressive spirit of the American girl. But their practical dress sense which allows them to wear sheer materials in a steamy climate makes a sharp impression on girls from the USA.

Chicago Demos Retain Control; Kennelly Wins

Chicago, April 4—(AP)—The Democratic party's 20-year rule of Chicago's City Hall remained unbroken today with the reelection of Mayor Martin H. Kennelly.

Kennelly won his second four-year term in yesterday's city election, defeating his Republican challenger, Robert L. Hunter, by 152,545 votes. He took the lead from the start and never trailed during the counting of the 1,265,074 votes cast.

The mayoralty race, watched with interest nationally for political trends, drew 60 per cent of the city's registered voters to the polls.

Kennelly, the handsome, 63-year-old bachelor, polled 687,871 votes. Hunter, 52, a lawyer making his first bid for a major elective office, received 545,326 votes.

Hints At Date For Atomic Test

Washington, April 4—(AP)—The final atomic test in a series at Eniwetok apparently will be held between May 4 and 9.

This was indicated today by a remark of Rep. Hebert (D-La.), ap-

Canada Keeps Up Census Record

Ottawa—(AP)—When Canada launches the 1951 census in June she will be striving to maintain a leadership in census-taking captured almost 300 years ago. Then, in 1666 an obscure little French colony hacking her way out of the wilderness, she lay claim to the title of the first country to take a name-by-name census in modern times.

ANN ECKSTEIN... State Department employee.

By DOUG LACKERSTEIN
AP Newsfeatures

Rangoon—A former script girl, now in Rangoon, said she quit Hollywood because she "wanted to do something worthwhile."

Manhattan-born Ann Eckstein and her notebook were beside the cameras when Hedy Laman and Paul Henreid emoted in "The Conspirators." She also played hawk-eye to make sure other actors did not slip up on costume detail.

Six months later Ann decided there was no future in it. She joined the Women's Auxiliary Corps in 1944 and served two years in Europe.

War's end found Ann looking for a job. A graduate of Hunter College, New York, she also held a Bachelor of Arts degree in languages. She went to work for the State Department and came here in 1

President Says Danger Of New World War Has Not Lessened

Washington, April 5 — (AP) — President Truman said today the danger of a third world war is just as great as it ever was.

The President told a news conference, however, he hopes there never will be a World War III and he is doing all he can to prevent it.

The President would not comment on a speech yesterday by Speaker Rayburn that large numbers of troops are massing in Manchuria and that they are not all Chinese.

As to the remark by Rayburn there is "terrible danger" of another World War, Mr. Truman said he had no further comment.

Then, pressed as to whether he thought there is still danger today of a third World War, Mr. Truman declared there was still as much danger today as there has ever been. He recalled there was danger at the time America had to institute the Berlin air lift, danger at the time the Greek-Turkish aid program was started, and danger since the time the communists invaded South Korea.

We are still faced with that situation in Korea, Mr. Truman went on, but he said that situation is being constantly worked on.

Mr. Truman was asked whether Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been authorized to bomb communist bases in Manchuria.

That, he replied, is a question that cannot be answered because it is a military strategy question.

However, military leaders here left no doubt that if Reds enter the air war in Korea in strength their bases will be subjected to bombing.

Rayburn made his remarks about the danger of World War during House debate yesterday on the draft-Universal Military Training bill.

Music Festival Time Is Changed

There has been a change of time for the Pitt County Music Festival tonight to be held in Winterville. The time was formally set for 8 o'clock but has been changed to 7:30.

Ayden, Winterville, and Stokes schools will be represented at the festival tonight in the Winterville high school.

The program will include songs by the mixed choruses of each of the three schools, a girls' trio from Winterville, and also the primary grades and elementary grades from the three schools will have a part on the program.

Funeral Set Friday For William Smith

William (Bill) Smith, 88, died at his home in Bethel at one o'clock Thursday morning after several years of declining health. Grave services will be conducted at Henry Jordan Williams Cemetery near Greenville Friday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. Ralph R. Johnson, Pentecostal Holiness min-

Ayden Class In Reflector Tour

The Daily Reflector office and plant was visited this morning by 22 members of the seventh and eighth grades of the Ayden Negro school.

Mrs. Linwood Woodard, teacher, brought the two grades to Greenville to visit several places of interest. Other than the Daily Reflector, the grades went to the fire station and Carolina Dairy.

Senate Defense Policy Vote Hailed By Turman

Welcomes Support For North Atlantic Treaty On Troops To Europe Issue, Disregards Suggested Limitation

Washington, April 5 — (AP) — President Truman today described the Senate's troops-to-Europe resolution, as "further evidence that the country stands firm in its support of the North Atlantic treaty."

Mr. Truman hailed the resolution endorsing his plan to send four additional army divisions to the western European defense force in a statement.

He read it at a news conference and then brushed off questions about a provision his leaders in the Senate fought against bitterly. This was the declaration that Mr. Truman should not deploy more than the four divisions to Europe "without further congressional authority."

The President has taken the stand he has full constitutional power to send American troops wherever he believes their presence will best serve the nation's interest.

In effect, the Senate declaration that he should get congressional approval amounted to a challenge of that position.

But the President was in no mood at his meeting with the reporters to press the issue.

In response to questions, he said he always has consulted with both houses on all major foreign policy steps.

The only thing under consideration by the Senate was the question of providing the four divisions, Mr. Truman added.

The four divisions—about 100,000 men in all—are expected to start moving to Europe soon. They will join the two already assigned from occupation forces to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's North Atlantic defense force.

Reveal Concern Over Production Of Feed Grains

Washington, April 5 — (AP) — The government gave evidence today of its concern over food production prospects this year.

Secretary of Agriculture Brannan arranged an emergency conference of midwestern farm officials at Des Moines, Ia., Saturday to discuss a disturbing survey of spring planting plans for corn and other livestock feed grains.

Made by the department two weeks ago, survey indicated farmers did not plan to plant enough feed grain to maintain present levels of production of meat, dairy and poultry products.

Subsequent inquiries by the department tended to bear out the survey. Consequently Brannan arranged to fly out to the corn belt to start an "immediate and intensive campaign," the department said, to impress upon farmers the need for more grain.

Head Of Mormon Church Dies In Salt Lake City

Salt Lake City, April 5 — (AP) — George Albert Smith, the kindly, soft-spoken eighth president of the Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) Church, died last night at his Salt Lake City home.

Death came on his 81st birthday as members of the mighty Mormon empire flocked into Salt Lake City for the church's 121st annual conference.

President Truman commented that this nation has "lost a great man."

Church president slightly less than six years, Elder Smith had been ill for most of the winter following a virus infection attack. His health ebbed since he returned from hospital confinement in February.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at the famed, oval domed Mormon Tabernacle on Temple Square, a short distance from the family home where President Smith was born April 4, 1870.

Israeli Police Killed In Clash With Syrians

Tel Aviv, Israel, April 5 — (AP) — Seven Israeli police were killed last night in a bloody clash with Syrian troops near the frontier, and United Nations observers expressed fear today that broad-scale fighting might erupt.

The Israeli government was reported taking an "extremely serious" view of armed clashes on the southeast shore of the Sea of Galilee, charging that Syrian troops invaded Israeli territory and took up a post at the village of I. Hamma in the demilitarized border zone.

The U. N. armistice observers expressed fear that Israeli troops might decide to drive out the Syrians by force.

In Damascus, a Syrian army spokesman said the seven Israelis were killed and one other was captured after an Israeli unit, armed with light automatic weapons, penetrated Syrian territory and opened fire on a Syrian post.

Both nations have their armed forces in Kashmir and there has been some fighting. However, a "cease-fire" statute was achieved by a United Nations team. The safety of that team is now feared in some authoritative quarters to be jeopardized by the anti-American feeling among Indians.

Inquiry in U. N. circles at Lake Success indicates the peace organization has by no means abandoned hope of a settlement, either by arbitration or through a referendum. However, many anxious on-lookers fail to find much encouragement in the present position.

Probably the greatest concern will revolve about the attitude of Nehru himself. He is a powerful figure in the vast Asiatic theatre, and consequently in world affairs.

Should the Kashmir imbroglio result in war between India and Pakistan, it might produce an Asiatic conflagration which would have no limit. Communism most certainly would take immediate and full advantage of such a catastrophe, and all Asia might shortly be in flames.

Winterville FHA Group Nominates Candidates For Office In Meeting

By MARJORIE BOYD
The Winterville Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met on Friday, March 30. President Betsy Castelleo presided.

Mrs. E. G. Cole was the speaker and used for her topic "Five Rings and a Bracelet." She developed her subject through the use of the Bible verse: "Whatsoever things are good, think on them."

The five rings were symbols of sweet temper, "tidableness," unselfishness, tender — heartedness and industry. The bracelet was a symbol of Grace—"What God gives to take the heart good."

The Rally to be held at High Point, April 21, was announced and discussed. This chapter is allowed five delegates.

Under present law youths 19 through 25 can be drafted, unless they get a postponement because they're in school or for some other reason.

But no board can take a man between 19 and 20 before taking those 20 or over. The boards so far have had to take every few youths under 20.

That leaves a big pool of those between 19 and 20 still untapped.

But Congress shortly will pass a new draft law, probably lowering the draft age to 18 or 18.5. At first glance that might seem to indicate that a lot of youths 18 or older would be then taken.

No. The rule still holds: boards must take older men before taking younger ones. Since there's still a big pool between 19 and 20. Drafting of those 18 or 18.5 is still a long way off.

Further, if draft calls remain at their present number, about 80,000 men a month, the draft boards generally will still be taking men mostly 20 to 21 by next fall without still having made much of a dent in the 19-year-old group.

Most high school graduates are under 19. So it will be many months, after they get out of high school in June, before the boards will start looking at most of the new high school graduates. They'd have to take those 19 or over first.

Further, it takes a board about three months to process a man for the draft: from the time it classifies him, notifies him, orders him to take a physical examination, and then orders him inducted.

When you put all these factors together—plus the fact that it's hardly three months before youths getting out of high school go into time for the boards to tap them.

And once they're in college, starting as freshmen, they can't be drafted until next spring at the end of their freshman year, and then only if they are not in the upper half of their class or fail to make a grade of 70 in the aptitude test.

A couple of questions arise here: 1. If all these youths are going to college and thus become undraftable, who'll be left for the draft? The National Education Association says only 45 per cent of high school graduates go onto college.

2. Suppose a high school graduate this spring is 19 or close to 20 and his supply of older men and wants to draft him. Can he take the aptitude test, make 70, and go on to college, draft-proof?

Selective Service at this time has no plans for these youths. But it points out the number of them would be very small.

All Signs Point To Red Assault

An allied Headquarters, Korea, April 5 — (AP) — Allied commanders expect the communists to launch a major offensive in Korea any day now.

All signs point to it. But allied commanders aren't waiting for the Reds to strike.

Strong forces have crashed across the border into Red Korea at several points along a 40-mile stretch of the front. They are driving straight for the rugged central Korean terrain where the communists are massing their armies.

Sixteen Red Army Corps—48 divisions with 350,000 men—are concentrated behind the western and central Korean fronts.

General MacArthur reported the Reds have a total of 63 divisions—441,000 men—they can throw into action at once.

Three-year-old Freddie Thompson (right) was born without arms or legs. But that doesn't dim his birthday celebration in his home at Magnolia, Ark. Freddie is happy over birthday gifts piling up in the home, and his mother, Mrs. Herschel Thompson, shares his joy. Their birthday anniversary comes on the same day. Dr. Henry J.
