Early Survey Of Health Dept. Had Few Bright Spots

By JOHN SPINKS, JR.
1928 was a bad year all around for the Pitt County health department.
In the fall of that year an extensive and thorough survey was made of health conditions in the county and all phases of the program were found lacking. The study was made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at the invitation of Dr. Charles O.H. Laughlinhouse, a long-time Greenville physician, and then State Commissioner of Health. Recommendations made after the survey was completed resulted in a reorganization of the department staff, the addition of more funds from the county and the ultimate advancement of the public health program throughout the county.
In that year the department budget amounted to $1,350 which, the impartial surveyors thought, was much too low for a county which had a total income of $14,000,000, a property valuation at nearly $45,000,000 and a tax rate at $1.33. The county's share in the department budget was $7,500 or a per capita expenditure of 18 cents, with the remainder being provided by state funds which brought the overall per capita expenditure in the county for health purposes to 25 cents.
One of the recommendations made was that the county should begin spending more money for public health and the tentative budget proposed for the fiscal year of 1929-30 was $17,000 from the county budget, not including the money that would come from the state.
With the recommendation for more money, it was pointed out that additional funds would have to be made to the department staff to justify the added expense of operating it. It was recommended that one nurse and a sanitary officer be added to the staff which during the previous years had included a health officer, two nurses, a part-time sanitary inspector, two part-time milk inspectors (one for Greenville and another for Ayden), and one clerk.
The recommendations brought forward hit hard at the department facilities and also at the services rendered by the staff. It was found that the several clinics held by the department did not have adequate space anywhere in Greenville to operate properly. One outstanding example of the lack of clinic space was the venereal disease clinic which was held each week in the grand jury room of the courthouse. In the one room the diagnosis, taking of blood and treatment were performed for both men and women. It was also found that no adequate follow-up of treatment was conducted nor was there any particular effort to check social histories of the patients or to make a study of possible contacts.

So it was recommended that suitable quarters be obtained, that the clinic be directed in quarters more closely related to the department, that a more extensive case history program be inaugurated and that a follow-up service be established to assure that no further contacts would be made during the treatment period.

Tuberculosis clinics and treatment and reporting of the disease came under the surveyors' red pencil also. It was found that reporting of TB was not done to the department but to the State Sanatorium, which fact more or less obviated any attempt by the department to find TB cases in the county. There were of course no facilities for treating the tuberculous patient in the county while waiting to get him into the sanatorium, nor was it possible to isolate the patient dying from the disease during his most infectious period.

The recommendations for the county concerning the TB program overlapped into the state-wide program. It was recommended that all patients be reported first to the local department rather than to the sanatorium, a method which was adopted in the meantime. Also, an effort to report TB cases was urged, as were the holding of examination clinics for suspects or those in the primary stages of the disease, a nursing service for patients in their homes.

Potentate Dethroned

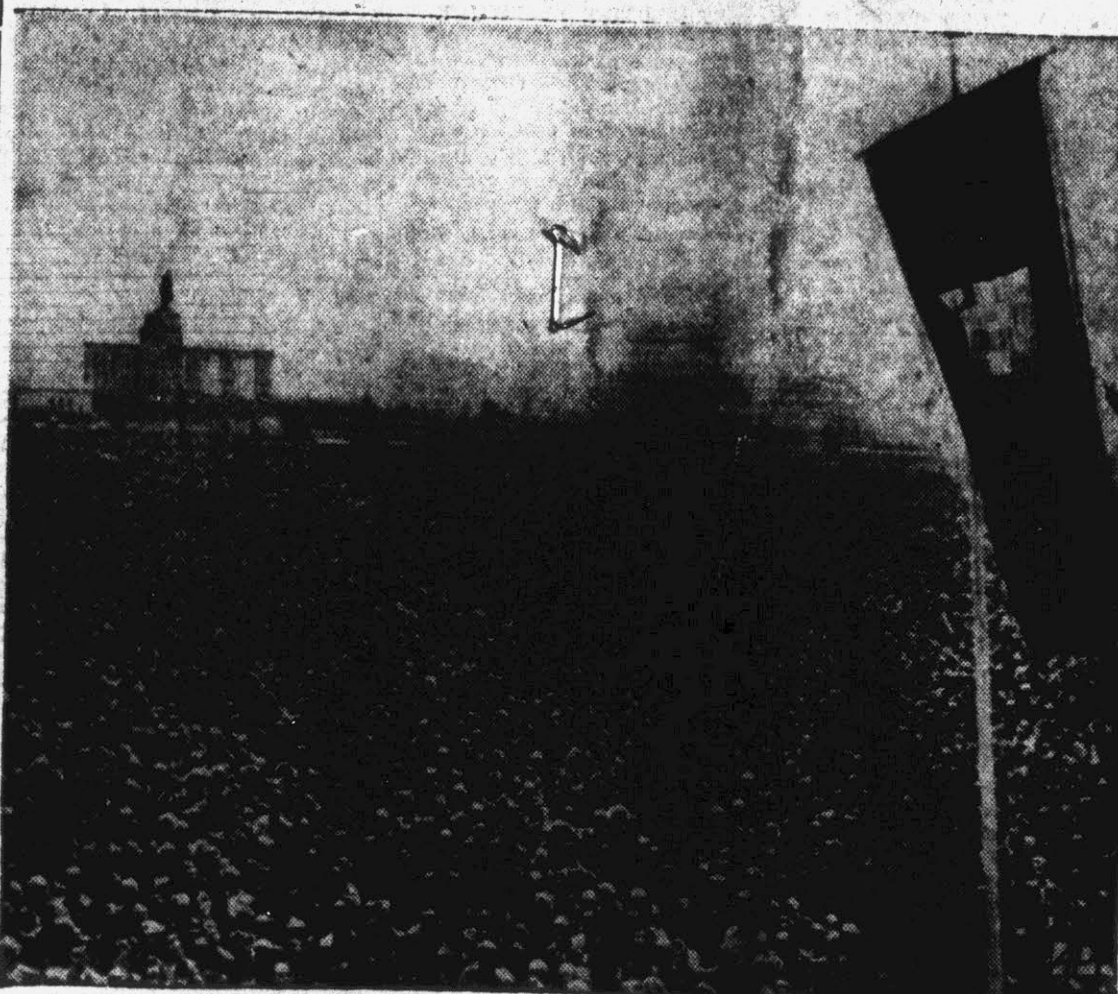

A One-Time Great Indian Prince Stripped Of His Titles And Pensions By Nehru Regime; How And Why Princes Are Retained Under A Republican Gov't

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Prime Minister Nehru's warning to India's hundreds of deposed princes to cooperate with the government gives rise to the query of just what has happened to these bejeweled potentates since the establishment of the republic.
Nehru's rebuke came in connection with the affairs of the 44-year-old Gaekwar of Baroda—formerly one of the greatest of the princes. The Premier told Parliament that a few of the rulers haven't appreciated the obligations that rest upon them under the new regime, and he cited the Gaekwar as being one of them.
The government is stripping the Gaekwar of his titles, privileges and $556,000 annual pension as punishment. And that is likely to hurt his Highness mightily, for money runs through his fingers like millet seeds through a funnel. He is appealing his case. Meantime his pre-rogatives have been turned over to his son.
Well now, how does it come about that the princes still retain some of the trappings of royalty under the republic? There were about 600 of these rulers under the empire,

500,000 Celebrate May Day In West Berlin

UN Patrols Push Into Red Build-Up Area; Skirmishes

Two American Jets Downed; Ground Forces Probe Communist Sector Where New Attack Being Prepared; General Lull On Front

TOKYO, May 3 — (AP)—Sharp skirmishes broke the quiet of the Korean front today as United Nations patrols probed Red forces building up for new offensives. The fights were fierce, but small scale.

Two U. S. F-80 Shooting Star jets were knocked down by enemy fire in Korea.

The Air Force said both pilots were presumed killed.

Four ground clashes involved allied tanks rumbling north from Seoul. An armored column drove back a Chinese regiment after a two-hour skirmish northeast of Seoul, shooting it out with Red infantrymen over the last two miles.

A third tank column opened its guns on Reds northwest of Seoul. To the east, in the Pukhan River bend, tanks won a brief clash with Communist troops.

On the central front allied ground troops fought a six-hour skirmish with 150 Reds dug in atop a hill. Communists kept the hill. But an estimated two thirds of them were killed.

This fight was southeast of Chuncheon, about 45 miles east of Seoul. Allied warplanes strafed Communist positions caught in the same area and to the northeast.

Most planes flew north to blast the Red build-up for a new assault along the western and central fronts.

Action up to dusk Thursday was light—as on the preceding day, one of the quietest of the war. The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at 435. Air strikes accounted for about that many more. The figures were unusually low.

Ground troops took advantage of the break to swim, play and rest. "This lull has done wonders for our morale," one front line officer said.

But the Reds were busy—out of range of allied artillery. Intelligence officers reported three Communist divisions were preparing to strike at Seoul from the northwest. Other forces were building up in the hills around Hwachon Reservoir, north of the central Korean plain.

The buildups emphasized the warning of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army, that the Reds were capable of striking another heavy blow at U. N. forces and probably were preparing one.

The wild hilly country north of Seoul and to the east, leading from the Hwachon area to the central plains, offers the Reds their favorite type of battleground.

They may come tumbling down from these ridges within 72 hours of a week or a month. Nobody knows for sure, except their leaders. The hills afford natural cover, and make it easier to infiltrate at night. On the plains, U. N. guns and planes rock them back on their heels.

The UN command estimated the Reds lost more than 75,000 men in casualties of the 300,000 used in their vaunted spring offensive started April 22. They have another 300,000 available. These have not yet been thrown into the fight.

New Bus Schedule Is Started; Rates Rise

Bus Service Is Extended To Memorial Hospital And Hillside Section With Changes Effective Today

Buses of the City Bus Lines of Greenville went on a new schedule this morning which will enable the bus company to furnish hourly service to the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital and to the Hillside section of the city.

Neither the new hospital nor the Hillside section of the city has had bus service from the City Bus Lines. Under the new schedule the buses will leave Five Points ten minutes before every hour for the trip to the hospital beginning at 6:50 a.m. and will arrive at the hospital on the hour. The last bus to the hospital in the evening will leave Five Points at 6:50.

On the schedule to Hillside, the buses will leave Five Points ten minutes after the hour from 7:10 a.m. until 6:10 p.m.

Along with the new schedule for the buses, and the service to the new territories which previously had not been on the bus routes, the company announced an increase in fare which was authorized by the Greenville aldermen at their meeting on April 5.

The new bus fare will be 15 cents instead of the 10 cents fare which has been in effect for some time. The bus company officials said, however, that books of bus tickets will be sold for $1 and will contain eight tickets, thus giving regular bus users a fare of slightly more than 12 cents a ride.

C. D. Ward, manager of the Pitt County Memorial Hospital, hailed the new bus service to the hospital as a great asset, and he expressed his appreciation for the company's making the bus service available to the hospital. "Their coming here at 7 in the morning and running until 7 o'clock at night is going to help a whole lot," Ward declared.

The regulations would roll retail beef prices back from eight to nine cents a pound by fall. They would also reduce the prices that slaughterers can pay farmers for beef by 18 per cent.

The Senate committee said the controls will result in a reduction of meat production and already have caused farmers to market their livestock before they reach their best marketable weights.

Disalle maintains that his whole price control program will stand or fall on meat, and already has ordered investigators into stockyards to see that the regulations are enforced.

BALTIMORE — (UP) — This city has become the center for a new kind of defense industry — canned water.

"G.I. Water" is canned here in extra-heavy-duty containers by the American Canning Co. for emergency use on life boats and rafts. A company spokesman said the low chemical content of Baltimore water makes it ideal for packaging in metal containers.

MacArthur Repeats Joint Chiefs Backed War Plans

Issue Unsettled By Revelations

Administration's Account Of Wake Island Talks Between Truman And General Still Fails To Clarify Import

WASHINGTON — (AP)—The Administration's newly-published account of the Wake Island talks between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur left unsettled just what sort of reassurance the General gave about Chinese Red intervention in Korea.
To Mr. Truman's question about the chances for "interference" by the Chinese or Soviets, MacArthur replied "Very little."

But he went on immediately to discount the chances of success if they should intervene, leaving the possibility that when he said "very little" he may have been speaking of the Red's chances for success rather than actual intervention.

A 5,000-word summary of the talks in transcript form, some portions of which had been deleted, was made public last night by two senate committees on the eve of a closed inquiry into MacArthur's ouster and Far East policy.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's aide, said in New York the document had about as much bearing on the present situation in Korea as would "a report on the military operations on Bunker Hill."

In a letter to Senator Russell (D-Ga.), presiding at the inquiry, Gen. Omar Bradley said the account was pieced together on the return from Wake from longhand notes made by a number of those who took part, plus a stenographic record of some portions.

Bradley said Ambassador Philip G. Jessup's secretary, Miss Vernice Anderson, was in the next room and took down in shorthand what she could hear. He added that was "a large part of the conversation."

The record did not purport to tell anything that went on between Mr. Truman and MacArthur in their hour-long private talk. It covered only that portion of the conference which also attended by the committee.

Bradley said five copies of the record were sent to MacArthur in Tokyo shortly after the conference, and so far as he knew MacArthur had not suggested any changes. Whitney said "no attention" was paid to the copies when they were received in Tokyo.

Work Steps Up On DuPont Plant
GRIFTON — The tempo of work on Du Pont's new $33,000,000 DuPont plant is gradually increasing as construction forces near the end of the second week of work on the mammoth project.

The activity on the building location at the present time is centered around the grading of building sites, laying of water and sewerage lines, the stringing of electric power lines, and work on the temporary construction office buildings.

A spokesman for the Du Pont company said this morning the construction officials are in hopes the construction office buildings on the location will be completed and ready for occupancy within the next two to three weeks.

Approximately 90,000 yards of dirt is being moved in the grading operations which are being carried on at the construction location. Grading is being done in the areas which have been staked out for the individual buildings of the project, and clearing and grading is being done on the spur track which will connect the Du Pont property with the Atlantic Coast Line railroad.

This week the construction crews began pouring the first footings for the main factory building. A Du Pont spokesman said this morning approximately 100 construction workers are employed on the project at the present time. The official pointed out, however, that additions to the construction force of the plant of necessity are being made slowly. "We can't possibly hire all the people who come in to go to work," he commented.

The labor force will be built up very gradually over a period of time.

At the peak of construction, approximately 2,000 workers are expected to be employed on the project.

Political Involvements
Party Lines Again Raise Their Ugly Heads In Matters Of Public Welfare; Inquiry Into The Truth Of Foreign Policy Dispute Enmeshed In Political Maneuvers

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP)— This was the day when we were supposed to begin to get our thinking straightened out on the Truman-MacArthur dispute.

The General was to start off the day by being first to testify at the inquiry of the Senate's Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees.

But even before the day began there was good reason to believe the public may wind up more confused than it was before the inquiry started.

For before the General could appear and swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth there was a brand new dispute: Should the inquiry be open to the public or be held behind closed doors, with the public and newsmen barred?

The decision to make it a closed-door hearing was taken earlier this week when a majority of the 35 senators on the two committees voted for it that way.

But a majority of the 35 are Democrats, and because they had a majority, they were able to out-

Testifies Staff Recommended Basic Portions Of His Program Last Jan. 12; Opines Few Extra Troops Needed For Victory If Policy Followed; Doubts Soviet Ready To Strike
WASHINGTON — (AP)— Gen. Douglas MacArthur testified today the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended last Jan. 12 a naval blockade of Red China, air operations over Manchuria and supply support of Chinese Nationalists.

MacArthur told Senators in testimony behind closed doors that the Joint Chiefs had presented to the Secretary of Defense on that date the exact recommendations he made to Congress April 19 for prosecution of the Korean war.

MacArthur testified to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees. They are making an inquiry into his dismissal and into Far Eastern policy.

In his testimony, MacArthur also predicted that a few ground troops could wind up the fighting in Korea if backed up by the air and naval effort against Red China which he was urged.

MacArthur said the Jan. 12 views he attributed to the Joint Chiefs were arrived at in conferences between his headquarters and Washington, adding:

"I was in full agreement with them and now."

MacArthur said that "as far as I know, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have never changed those recommendations. If they have, I have never been informed of it."

Although MacArthur testified behind closed doors, a stenographic report of his testimony—first edited by a military censor—was given to newsmen.

As he has before, the General protested that the United Nations forces are not permitted to carry out the "great strategic concept of stopping the supplies of troops of preventing the build-up" of enemy troops and the disorganization of supply lines.

"If you would take off (the prohibitions) and permit them their full capacity, I do not believe it would take a very great additional component of ground troops to wind this thing up," he said.

If this isn't done, MacArthur said, "you would not be able to supply enough ground troops in Korea to be able to safely clear North Korea."

MacArthur was questioned earlier whether there was any great threat of Russian action. He said he does not believe Russia is in position to "launch any predatory attack from the Asiatic continent."

The General said he believes Russian forces in Siberia "are largely defensive."

In this connection, MacArthur observed:

"I believe that the Soviet has so often repeated the incorrect statement that we are planning to attack him that he has finally begun to believe it himself."

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the combined committees, called for an estimate by MacArthur on Russian strength in the Far East.

Part of what MacArthur had to say on that was deleted from the transcript given reporters.

In that connection, Senator Hugh Butler (R-Neb.), on leaving the hearing earlier, had told reporters MacArthur also said he doesn't believe Russia could move more troops eastward because the trans-Siberian railroad already is taxed to its limit.

vote the Republicans who wanted open hearings.

And last night anyone who thought the Truman-MacArthur dispute henceforth might be saved from politics must have been slightly disillusioned.

For last night the Republicans in the full Senate (not just on the committees) demanded that today's hearings be opened to the public.

Standing just as solidly together—except for McCarran of Nevada, who voted with the Republicans—the Democrats beat down the Republican demand.

Although this was strictly a political performance, a legitimate question can be raised by both sides:

1. Should the inquiry be behind closed doors?

There's an answer in favor of that: The public has been around Arthur and the Joint Chiefs of Staff who will follow him some questions may be asked, and answers given, deeply involving this country's security.

Wesley Philathea Class Meets With Mrs. V. C. Fleming

The Wesley Philathea Sunday school class of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church met for its April meeting at the home of Mrs. V. C. Fleming Sr. on Monday night.

Mrs. J. B. Smith, president, presided over the business session. At this time the secretary read her minutes, the treasurer's report was given and dues were collected.

Mrs. R. F. Allen, one of the assisting hostesses, gave the devotion. Miss Lill Wilson, chairman of the Welfare Committee, told of the work done by members of her group during the past month.

After the routine reports were made, there was a lengthy discussion concerning plans for furnishing the new class room, expected to be occupied during the summer. Twelve people donated money for individual chairs. A committee composed of Mrs. V. P. Scoville, Mrs. K. T. Futrell and Mrs. J. R. Baker was appointed to appear before the Board of Christian Education in order to find out about the location of and needs for furnishing the class room.

During the social hour which followed, members enjoyed the singing of several hymns before refreshments were served.

The hostesses for the evening were Madames V. C. Fleming, R. F. Allen, J. B. Smith, Alice Keel and Leon Evans.

Miss Michalik Feted At Shower Party

Miss Phyllis Michalik, bride-elect of this month, was honored at a surprise shower party on Tuesday night when Miss Davey Fleming, Mrs. J. M. Forbes and Mrs. Royce Jones entertained for her at the home of Mrs. Leon Fleming at 8:00 p.m.

The house was lovely with profusions of flowers in green and white and the predominating colors. The numerous shower gifts were tied in similar bridal paper and ribbon and were arranged on the piano amid a setting of white roses and satin ribbon.

The refreshment table was centered with a miniature bride and groom, who were placed in the middle of a circle of ivy and white rock roses. Candles in silver holders that were tied with dainty flowers were used on either side of the bridal scene.

A large tiered wedding cake was placed at one end of the table. After the serving of green and white bridal ice, nuts and gaily decorated mints, the cake was cut by the honoree.

During the social hour which followed the guests enjoyed party games and contests, after which the gifts were opened and admired.

Miss Michalik was the recipient of many lovely pieces of crystal, china and silver in her chosen patterns from the more than 35 fellow nurses who were present. She was also presented a white shoulderette from the hostesses.

The home was beautifully decorated with profusions of assorted spring flowers. The members were greeted at the door by the hostess and invited into the living room.

Miss Alya Ray Taylor gave a devotional, using as her theme "Watch." She inspired the members with a pointed discussion about watching one's words, actions, thoughts, companions and habits, and concluded by saying, "Being careful of these things will enable us to live a life of great influence and one that would be pleasing to God."

Mrs. Reynolds Supper Hostess For Guests

Mrs. Charles Reynolds was a supper hostess on Tuesday night at her home on Biltmore Street in honor of her house guests from London, Kentucky.

Mrs. J. H. Rose presented the program for the evening. She told of a trip to New York which she enjoyed during the winter, and spoke in detail of the International Flower Show which she attended at Grand Central Palace. She also reviewed briefly some of the outstanding current Broadway favorites which she was fortunate enough to see, and mentioned other places and scenes of interest which she enjoyed.

The various committees gave their monthly reports, and the president, Mrs. George Smith, appointed a nominating committee to select a slate of officers for the coming year.

Plans for another bake sale were discussed, and it was decided to hold one on the Saturday before Mother's Day. The purpose of the sale is to raise funds for the furnishing of the new class room, and baked products made by class members will be offered for sale at Lautner's Jewelers store from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

A frozen salad course was served by the hostesses before the meeting adjourned.

Faculty Lecture Club Elects New Officers; Hear Dr. R. Simonini

Members of the Faculty Lecture Club of East Carolina College at a meeting Monday evening heard a talk by Dr. R. C. Simonini of the department of English and elected new officers for the 1951-1952 term.

Dr. H. A. Coleman of the department of social studies at the college was chosen as president of the organization for the next school year. Since last spring he has been vice president and program chairman of the club. He succeeds J.O. Derrick of the department of science.

Other officers are Agnes Barrett, vice president, and Dr. George Pasti, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Barrett will be chairman of the program committee, the members of which are Elisabeth S. Walker, Wendell W. Smiley, and C. A. Scruggs.

Dr. Simonini discussed before an audience of approximately sixty club members and guests "The Poetry of Dante in the Divine Comedy." He developed the idea that the power and beauty of Dante's poetry can be appreciated through "auditory imagination" even by the reader who has a limited knowledge of the Italian language.

Hope For Early Legislation To Beat Racketeers

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) said today Senate Crime Investigators hope "within a couple of weeks" to introduce bills to carry out their proposed shackles on underworld syndicates. Stressing the iron is hot, O'Connor said committee lawyers will set work immediately with Senate bill-drafting experts to whip their anti-crime proposals into shape.

O'Connor, the new committee chairman, said decisions on further lines of inquiry, such as the narcotics traffic, prostitution and the fixing of basketball games and other sports events, will be made later.

The Crime Committee, in its report to the Senate, accused O'Dwyer of contributing to "the growth of organized crime, racketeering and gangsterism in the nation's largest city."

In Mexico City, O'Dwyer declared in a statement last night that his critics are trying to discredit him "for reasons unknown to me." He said he had "no fear" and referred to "achievements" as mayor of New York City and to "amazing Murder Inc." while he was district attorney in Brooklyn. Murder Inc. was a gang which took on murder assignments for hire.

O'Dwyer said "a few minor and isolated incidents" have been blown up into exaggerated proportions. "reaching the fantastic conclusions that somehow I am to blame for not having wiped out all vice in my community... not having removed the human impulse to gamble, and for not having eradicated the defects inherent in our political system."

Secretary of State Acheson told a news conference yesterday there has been no impairment of relations between the U.S. and Mexico as a result of the report.

Wealth Concealed In Man's Mouth

FORT DODGE, Ia.—(AP)—Henry Macken, 47, literally coughed up the dough when he was taken to a hospital here for treatment after an attack by two would-be robbers.

He had suffered cuts and bruises on his neck and chest. After the wounds were stitched, he started coughing. Out came two fives and two one dollar bills. He had secreted the money in his mouth when he was assaulted.

Plans have been made for an electronic system which will keep ice off TV sending antenna while programs are on the air.

Mr. Neel Discusses Modern Art Before Cosmos Club

Mrs. W. M. Scales, Jr. was hostess to the Cosmos Book Club Thursday, April 23. The house was lovely with spring flowers. Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Richard Gaylord, Mrs. Larry James, Jr. and Mr. Francis Neel, of the E.C. faculty. A delicious dessert course and coffee were served to the guests and members was presided over by the president, Mrs. Scales, after which she introduced Mr. Neel as her speaker for the day. Mr. Neel's topic was "Modern Art". As he spoke, explaining the various phases of Modern Art, Mr. Neel also showed some pictures of the various schools. "Modern Art" is a movement which was begun in 1860, and which started first with a group of Frenchmen. Cezanne was the originator of the first school, which was the Impressionistic School. These people were the ones who made a scientific study of color. A second school was that of Cubism. These people would take a particular shape and break it down into planes, and show several sides at once.

After these two schools, came the Post Impressionists. They painted with small dots of paint, sometimes no larger than a pin head. Serat belonged to this school, and painted only five pictures in his lifetime. The peculiar thing about him is that all five of his paintings were formerly in the United States, but one was given to France.

VanGogh, also a Post Impressionist, lost his mind, and stayed in government institutions. He painted in long streaks of paint—sometimes with no brush, just a tube of paint.

Gauguin paintings were the greatest decorative ones ever painted. Bonbois was a primitive painter. His paintings were stiff, and stilted. He had a strange perspective—his figures were painted from the side or front, and were flat, and pattern-like.

Pickett was an American painter who enlarged important things and diminished the unimportant things and Ryder's was a mystic art. — paint was thick and lavishly used. Portrait painters must be realistic or their paintings would not be purchased.

In the Abstract School of painting, the adherents arrange objects in interesting patterns on their canvas. There is no sense of light and dark, but their intent is more to show shape.

Grant-Wood was an exponent of Regionalism, and based all his paintings on Iowa. The advocates of Surrealism try to put together totally foreign bits. They say they are painting their subconscious.

In closing, Mr. Neel showed one of his abstracts. In all his abstracts, he has three things which he tries to show: namely, color scheme, pattern or design, and texture.

Mr. Neel was bombarded with questions about his own paintings as well as how an amateur might become a "Sunday painter".

Gift Of Grain Is White Elephant

MINNEAPOLIS—(AP)—A group of college students, stuck with two tons of wheat they planned to donate to India, made a last-minute appeal today for a truck to transport it to Washington.

"We just want a truck—any kind of a truck," one of them said.

However, they were prepared for disappointment, should their appeal go unheeded. They said they planned to leave for the capital at 9:30 a.m. (CST), "Truck or no truck."

The students from Macalester College, the University of Minnesota and the College of St. Thomas said they might have to settle for a "token offering" and take a 100-pound sack of wheat in each of the passenger cars in their caravan.

Five passengers will travel in each vehicle and the students said they hoped others would join them along the way.

Their pleas for a truck to transport the grain to Washington were broadcast over three local radio stations last night. There were no takers.

The students, however, went ahead with their plans and said they hoped to "get some action" before departing.

Lucky Misfit Missed Burial

RANGOON—(AP)—Relatives preparing to bury Ma Khin Nyunt, 18, of Mandalay, found the grave too small to admit her burned body.

The superstitious, regarding this as an omen, demanded the coffin be opened. Removing the lid, they saw Khin Nyunt's eyelids fluttering. The girl was taken to a nearby Buddhist monastery where she is reportedly progressing, a Mandalay report said.

Naming A Baby Has Its Own Odd Angles

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON (UP)—How did you go about naming your child?

A movie outfit and a department store in our town recently sponsored a contest in child-naming, and some of the winning answers are worth recording.

The judges concluded with considerable logic that many of the parents, grandparents and aunts and uncles sit down and look at books of names which range from Aaron to Zhiranda.

The survey brought out some interesting facts. One is that the Biblical preference still is strong, with the prophets and disciples ranking on top of the list.

In this contest there were three winners. Each won a 74-piece layette set, including all sorts of nipples, bottles, and whatnots that keep a baby from howling.

One of the winners was Mrs. Ann

Mrs. G. didn't want to get into an argument with the in-laws, in naming her baby boy. So she left it up to the crew in her office. Each deposited a name and a penny and after she got enough in business, a name was drawn. Now the Gibbons call their young one "Michael Campbell."

Mrs. Jessie B. Scott, Southdown Shores, Edgewater, Md., had an even greater problem. There were aunts and uncles and grandparents and a few other people who wanted to go down in history with somebody carrying their name. So Mrs. Scott made a big chart to show how the name she wanted at least two letters from each kin's first name. Out of all this came the name "Roselyn Jean."

Miss Harriett R. Beane of Washington like to tell how she won her prize. She is responsible for christening her niece.

It was like this:
The baby's grandmother was a fond admirer of Patrick Henry, that great patriot. Since the baby was a girl, the best name would be the Liberty Bell that symbolized Patrick Henry. So the child is Liberty Bell Caskins.

Another lady named her child after the first man to enter her hospital room after she came through the ordeal.

One child was named after a street sign.

50-Pound Pack Doesn't Hamper Student Swimmer

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Ever try to swim with a 50-pound pack on your back? It isn't as hard as it sounds, say the swimming instructors at the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology.

They have freshmen and sophomore students at the two colleges swimming with the 50-pounds packs and most of them negotiate 100-yards without a rest. The course is sponsored by the colleges and the Red Cross in a joint effort to encourage safety for this summer's vacation activities. Dr. Homer D. Butts Jr., Red Cross water safety chairman, declared:

"Any active person will find this training invaluable as a safeguard against accidents while on fishing trips and boating excursions."

In The Services

Thomas E. Arnold, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Arnold of Route 1, Grimesland, N. C., has been advanced in rate to metal-smith, first class, while serving aboard the submarine tender USS Orion with the Atlantic Fleet.

Arnold, who entered the Naval service September 27, 1944, is a former student of Grimesland High School.

Pvt. Robert E. Flye (above), son of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Flye, Greenville, is completing his Air Force indoctrination course at Lackland Air Force Base.

Paul B. Conway, Greenville student at Duke University, is among 130 Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps midshipmen who will participate in the annual Navy training program this summer.

Conway will sail from Norfolk, Va., June 4, on an eight-week cruise to Europe and Cuba.

Sergeant First Class Joseph O'Neal (above), whose wife, Mrs. Ruth O'Neal, resides in Greenville, is currently in Camp Zama, Japan. Sergeant O'Neal spent six months in Korea with the 25th Infantry Division as platoon sergeant. There he received a bronze oak leaf cluster for gallantry in action. Later he was evacuated to a station hospital in Japan. Upon his release from the hospital, Sgt. O'Neal was assigned to supervising Training Aids and Ranges with the 34th Infantry Regt. at Camp Zama. He is also platoon sergeant of Headquarters Platoon.

Ferry Boats In Need Of Paint

NEW YORK (AP)—Industrial designer Howard Ketcham claims the thousands of harbor craft that ply the nation's waterways, —ferries, excursion boats and tugs,—need a face-lifting. His solution: a new paint job.

"Gay exterior colors can set a cheery mood and increase safety in busy ports by offering greater visibility," he declares.

Ketcham has already taken the first step toward putting his idea in general practice. The Jersey Central Railroad has introduced a new color scheme on a ferry built for the Hudson River crossing between New York and Jersey City. The new boat has a deep red hull, bright green lower deck, light green upper deck, and white superstructure and funnels.

FISHERMEN CATCH ROCK IN RIVER NEAR CITY

Carlyle Lupton and Benny Shoe, fishing in Tar River near Big Bend yesterday afternoon, caught three good size rock fish in a few minutes. The smallest weighed about three pounds. The anglers said fishing for rock upstream is excellent and many good catches are being reported.

THE LATEST ON ALCOHOLISM

by Alton Blakeslee

MORE THAN 300,000 AMERICANS DRINK TO EXCESS, AND SOME 750,000 ARE PROBLEM DRINKERS, OR ALCOHOLICS. THE ATTITUDE TOWARD ALCOHOLISM HAS CHANGED RADICALLY IN RECENT YEARS NOW THEY ARE BEING REGARDED AS SICK PEOPLE, NEEDING HOSPITALS, NOT JAIL CELLS, AND THERE IS MUCH RESEARCH INTO CAUSES AND TREATMENT OF ALCOHOLISM.

THERE'S EVIDENCE CHRONIC DRINKING MAY BE DUE TO EMOTIONAL PROBLEMS OR MALADJUSTMENTS, SO PSYCHOTHERAPY OFTEN IS USED IN TREATMENT.

ALCOHOLICS ANONYMOUS GIVES MORAL SUPPORT TO STOP DRINKING

ONE KIND OF TREATMENT IS DRUGS THAT MAKE A PERSON SICK IF HE TAKES AN ALCOHOLIC DRINK LATER.

SCIENCE IS TRYING TO LEARN MORE ABOUT THE REASON WHY SOME PEOPLE BECOME ALCOHOLICS, HOW THEY CAN BE CURED, OR ALCOHOLISM PREVENTED.

NEW STUDIES INDICATE ALCOHOLISM MAY BE DUE TO UPSET IN GLANDS, AND THAT GIVING CERTAIN HORMONES CAN OVERCOME THE CRAVING TO DRINK.

Reds Kidnapping Chinese Recruits

Communist terrorists are now kidnapping youthful Chinese to serve in their war of murder and sabotage against the British in Malaya. A British army spokesman said that in some parts of Malaya the Communists could not enlist replacements to fill the gaps of those killed and wounded in clashes with British security forces. He added that the Communists have resorted to kidnapping young Chinese, spiriting them off to the dense jungle, and forcing them to fight against the British.

(Dear Judge)

AP Newsfeatures

If a recent poll by the YWCA is any indication, most young people disapprove of mother working outside the home. More than half the members of the Y-teens of America, who recently were surveyed, frowned on working Moms. Fifty-five per cent of the darling daughters think they get too little of a mother's thoughtful care and guidance when she goes to work. Sixty per cent believe this situation creates too much household responsibility for younger brothers and sisters, and 51 per cent say that a balanced diet and needed rest are sacrificed, unfair to mothers as well as children.

Teen-agers also disapprove of relatives and outsiders living under the family roof. They like the closely knit relationship of mom, Pop and two children, which they consider the ideal family. Only a small percentage would take in grandma and grandpa and a still smaller percentage favor roomers.

The kids indicate they aren't trying to shirk their own responsibilities to the family roost by insisting that Mom stay around the house to help with household chores whether the lady of the house works or not. Ninety-three per cent of the girls recognize they should keep their own rooms clean, the majority would help clean up after meals. They also vote high on marketing and planning for meals and 79 per cent believe they should help care for little brothers and sisters. They do not believe they should get extra compensation for these assists.

The little women also favor a family council for making big decisions which affect the entire family—such things as a car television, vacations, clothing and personal allowances.

But when it comes to leisure-time doings and personal appearance, the girls think they should decide. The majority believes that Mom and Dad should taper off their responsibilities to daughter by junior high school at the latest for such points as movies, lipstick and bobby-socks.

When it comes to dating, the girls want to do their own picking. They don't believe parents should meddle when it comes to choosing boy friends, although they are perfectly willing to listen when it comes to establishing date standards of where to go, what to do, how often to go and when to come home.

Seventy-two per cent of the girls queried feel that their parents give them adequate instruction on sex education and preparation for marriage. They do not find their parents reticent in providing help on spiritual values and moral codes, either.

This helpful survey in answer to a questionnaire sent from YWCA national headquarters in New York City as part of the nation-wide observance of YWCA week held each year (April 22 to 28) proves that most young people know what they want—at least in their homes.

Sometimes parents do not give their young people a chance to speak up, which is too bad. Some mothers think of their daughters as babies up until the time they don their wedding dresses, and some even then. If children could sit down and tell Mom and Pop exactly how they feel about a situation, many indifference could be ironed out. As matters stand in some households, every time a youngster attempts to explain her side of the case to a parent, they are shunted to the other parent or told they are too young to know what they are talking about, or else completely ignored.

Much better understanding would result all around if parents would think of their teen-agers as young adults instead of "the older children."

Reds End Jungle Love By Hanging The Accused Man

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—Chan Fung lost his head for love. Fung, president of the rubber workers union of Sepang Salak in Selangor State and a Communist, met a pretty girl of 20 in 1948 and fell in love. She returned his affection. The love affair soon became known to his comrades. They set to work to get rid of him. They accused him of corruption, saying he had used his office as president of the union to make money. They also declared he was planning to quit being a Communist and surrender to the police. He was seized by his comrades and taken before Hung Po, the Communist district chairman for the Sepang Salak area. Charges were made and Chan Fung, the "deviationist," was condemned to death. Hung Po denied his requests to see the girl he loved and that he be shot instead of hanged. He was quickly strung up to a tree.

Office Is Hub For Epidemics

SINGAPORE (AP)—A neat, two-story office in Singapore is the hub for a vast network of communications which sends information on smallpox and typhus epidemics to 82 countries and 310 sea and air ports. It is the office of the epidemiological intelligence station of the World Health Organization. Its director is Dr. W. W. Yung.

The area the office serves includes all countries and territories bordering the western Pacific and the Indian Ocean. The office collects and collates epidemiological central, local and port health administrations. This information is distributed by wireless and cable.

Puerto Rico Gets New Labor Office

NEW YORK (AP)—With an eye to easing the expected labor shortage on the mainland, as well as one the island, Puerto Rico has established a territorial Employment Service affiliated with the United States Employment Service. This move is intended to make the island's pool of 75,000 to 100,000 surplus workers more easily available to mainland agricultural and industrial employers. With headquarters in San Juan and field offices in seven major Puerto Rican cities the new organization will be regarded, for administrative purposes, as part of the New York region of the United States Employment Service of the Bureau of Employment Security, U. S. Department of Labor.

Fifteen States Moving To Put Heat On Crime

CHICAGO — (UP) — Fifteen states are trying to put more heat on crime with their own "Little Kefauver" committees.

The Senate Crime Committee, headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) yesterday said "a committee might well be appointed in each state to make a thoroughgoing investigation of the problem of organized crime."

And, because crime operates on an interstate basis, the Council of State Governments here announced it was prepared to act as a "clearing house" for information.

Positive action to set up state investigations was in progress in New York, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Florida and California. The Kefauver committee turned up evidence of large-scale criminal operations in each.

But in Louisiana, where the senate group found links between criminals and politicians, there were no such plans.

Investigations following up the Kefauver disclosures were also

Talkative Bird Is Fowl Genius

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — (AP) — "Come on baby, sing," says Caesar. Then he sings. Caesar is talking to himself, of course, but in Caesar's case it's all right. He is a parakeet.

The bird's mistress, Mrs. Lois Bellinger, says he is a very unusual parakeet indeed—perhaps a genius among fowl. All parakeets can talk, if they want to, (many of them don't) but Caesar talks as if he knows what he's saying, and he has an extensive vocabulary.

"Most parakeets can only say about a dozen words," says Mrs. Bellinger, "but Caesar knows at least 80." As an example of Caesar's seeming knowledge of the meaning of words, Mrs. Bellinger says that whenever she gets him ready for a visit to her sister, who also has a parakeet, Caesar will say:

"Come on, hurry up, hurry up—let's go by-bye, see Tony." Then he adds rather archly, "the pretty baby."

Tony, of course, is the other parakeet. Mrs. Bellinger isn't sure, that sort of thing is hard to tell, but she thinks Tony is a girl.

New methods of canning strained fruits and vegetables are expected to retain all the original flavors and nutrition.

New Gunsight Is On U.S. Planes

NEW YORK — (UP) — A new triple-threat computing gunsight is helping American fliers to shoot down enemy planes in Korea.

The new sight, developed by Dr. Stark Draper of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and now produced by the Sperry Gyroscope Company, saw its first combat action on American Thunder-jet fighters.

A report from the 27th Fighter-Escort Wing disclosed triple action features. It computes for gunnery, rocketry and bombing.

In one nine-day operation, according to the report, the 27th's Thunderjets were credited with five MIG 15's destroyed, one Yak destroyed, and nine MIG 15's damaged.

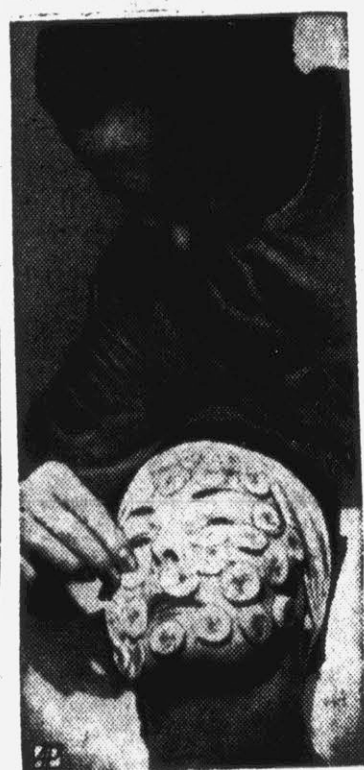

In 7,500 sorties the Thunderjets also have claimed more than 10,000 enemy troop casualties and some 11,000 buildings destroyed or damaged, since Dec. 7, 1950.

The new sight device has numerous advantages, including low maintenance problems. Such problems, as pointed out by Sperry engineers, include condensation caused by dampness, vibration from rough runways, dust in such quantities that the sight must be opened only inside shops, and the training of gunsight specialists.

Association For Blind Help Lead Sightless Group

NEW YORK — (AP) — "Let the blind lead the blind." That is the motto of an organization made up entirely of blind people including the board of directors, officers, and members. It's called, "The Associated Blind, Inc."

The organization was founded 14 years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Irving Selis, both blind, who were annoyed by blind groups which had sighted people as leaders. They believed that sighted people couldn't fully appreciate the problems of the blind and started their own organization.

At the headquarters of the organization a shop sells items made by blind people all over the world. The senders are paid upon acceptance of the article.

Austrian Youth Is Kidnap Victim

VIENNA —(AP)— "Political" kidnappings in Austria occur weekly. One of the latest was a six-year-old boy.

A divorce court awarded the mother custody of the child. The father successfully appealed, claiming the mother was a Communist and a drunkard. Deprived of the child, the mother went to the Russian Kommandatura. Russian officers ordered the father to hand the child back.

When the father was separated a second time from his son against the law, he decided to "kidnap" the child. He did so, and now is living as a "refugee" in western Austria, out of the reach of the Russians and his divorced wife.

Garden Experts Think Hoe Often Overworked

PROTECTION — Straw keeps dirt from damaging tomatoes.

By ROBERT E. GEIGER
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Probably the most overworked tool in the home gardener's kit is the hoe.

That comes straight from headquarters, and it should cheer the city gardener who has a minimum of time and effort to spend on his turnips.

The garden experts of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say cultivation—the main small-garden chore performed with the hoe—usually is necessary only to kill weeds.

Some amateur gardeners believe it necessary to get out and hoe the ground vigorously after every rain. They believe that gardeners cultivate to keep the soil soft and that rain causes it to pack. That's partly true. But hoeing too often and too deep can harm the roots of vegetables. Most vegetable roots are close to the surface. They should be disturbed as little as possible.

Of course the ground must be kept loose and "open" in a garden so moisture will be absorbed and not run off. Occasionally it may be necessary to hoe, very lightly, to loosen the soil. But usually, experts say, the only hoeing necessary is that done to keep the weeds down.

If the soil of a garden is too clay-like and packs hard after rains, some coarse sand or light gravel should be mixed with it when it is spaded, manure and other materials may be added to give it texture.

After the seeds are planted the garden may be covered with a light litter of straw or similar material. After the plants are up and growing well, additional straw or compost may be placed in the spaces between the rows of vegetables. This has two advantages. It helps keep the weeds from growing and it also shades the ground. This helps keep it cool and conserves moisture.

To be effective in dry areas, where moisture is at a premium, this "mulch" must be applied early in the season, before the land dries out.

The soil cover is especially good around non-staked tomato, cucumber, bush squash and similar plants because it keeps the fruit from touching the ground. When these fruits come in contact with soil they rot or become more susceptible to disease.

The ground cover should not be more than two inches thick and a much thinner layer is sufficient in many areas. When the cover is too thick it may absorb the storm moisture instead of letting it reach the soil.

If a crop is harvested and the gardener plans to put another into the same ground immediately, the mulch should be raked away and not spaded into the soil. If it is spaded in it will temporarily rob the ground of nitrogen, and the gardener will have to fertilize to make up for the loss.

Coastal Plain League Opens Fifteenth Season Tonight

Seven New Managers For Eight Loop Teams

By the Associated Press

With seven new managers at the helm, the Class D Coastal Plain League launches its 15th season of pro baseball tonight.

Opening games find Rocky Mount at Roanoke Rapids, New Bern at Kinston, Goldsboro at Wilson and Greenville at Tarboro.

Tomorrow night the teams swap playing sites: Roanoke Rapids at Rocky Mount, Kinston at New Bern, Wilson at Goldsboro, and Tarboro at Greenville.

Harry Land, who led New Bern to the playoff championship last year, is the only hold-over manager. New skippers include Joe Antolick at Wilson, John Stresza at Greenville, Jim Mills at Rocky Mount, Smut Aderholt at Roanoke Rapids, Wes Livengood at Kinston, George Ferrell at Goldsboro, and Joe Rullo at Tarboro.

Roanoke Rapids is pennant winner. The Jays, led by Aderholt, former Wake Forest college star, have an almost entirely new squad.

For many years the Coastal Plain operated as a semi-pro circuit before joining organized baseball in 1937. Ordinarily the league begins play before May 3. During the past winter the directors voted to cut the schedule from 140 to 136 games. At the same time, the number of veteran players permitted by each team was increased from two to four.

"We have one of the most compact leagues in the country, a factor in our favor," he pointed out. "Unless world conditions grow worse, I feel confident we will have a good season and that all teams will finish their schedules."

Robins To Open Season Against Tarboro Tonight

By BERT MOYE

Manager John Stresza and his Greenville Robins will open play in the Coastal Plain League tonight when they journey over to Tarboro in the season's opener.

The two teams will renew activities at Guy Smith Stadium on Friday night with game time being at eight o'clock, in order that those attending the civic club banquet may attend the game.

Although it has not been officially announced as to who will start tonight's game for the Robins, it is believed that Pete Braun will be Manager Stresza's choice. However it has been officially announced by Joe Rullo of the Tarboro Athletics that Tony Napoles will be on the mound for the Athletics.

Bulldogs Edge East Carolina By 6-5; Pirates Meet Catawba Here Friday

Atlantic Christian College's Bulldogs, the arch rivals of the East Carolina Pirates, edged the Bucs here yesterday afternoon, with a ninth inning rally, to take a 6-5 count from the fourth place Pirate nine.

The win yesterday not only knocked the Pirates out of a chance to gain a third place berth in the North State Conference standings but also saw the much fought over Bohunk trophy return again to the Wilson college campus after remaining in the possession of the Pirates since the football season.

ACC's Bobby Tart's ninth inning single drove in the winning run after the game had been deadlocked at 5-5 since the eighth inning. Up until the seventh the Bulldogs had led Coach Jack Boone's team, but a mighty home-run off the bat of Graybill knotted the count at 5-5 in the bottom of the eighth.

The fateful ninth inning winning run came as East Carolina's pitcher, Piner, issued two bases on balls to Fleming and Colombo, with Fleming streaking home from second base on Tart's single to put the Christians out front.

The Pirates were held scoreless up until the seventh inning when four runs were scored as the Pirates rallied and moved within one run of tying the leaders.

Then Graybill's round-tripper in the bottom of the eighth brought the Pirates back into the game with the score all tied up.

A Pirate rally in the ninth opened

Friday afternoon at 2:45 in an important loop battle.

Ayden Wins Coastal Conference Crown

FARMVILLE — Ayden High School's baseball nine copped the 1951 Coastal Conference championship here last night as they turned back a fighting Farmville diamond team by a score of 4-0 in a game played under the lights in the Farmville ball park.

By virtue of the win last night, Ayden now sports a 6-1 record in conference play, to take undisputed lead in the Coastal loop. The game last night also closed out the regular season's play for the Ayden boys until the start of a three-game play-off series which gets underway in Ayden on the eighth.

A three-way tie, yet to be broken, between Farmville, Robersonville and South Edgecombe for second place will have to be played off before the team which Ayden will face can be selected.

Ayden combined seven well-placed hits and four Farmville errors to score the victory. The winners scored in the first and fifth frames and two additional runs in the top of the seventh.

Pacing the winners at the plate were Randall Harrington with two for three and David Manning with two for four, one being a triple, the longest extra base blow of the game.

Farmville's Oakley and Vick collected one hit each for the losers. On the mound for Ayden, Dal Worthington struck out 14 batters to go all the way as did Lee Webb, who racked up 12 strikeouts.

Winterville Scores 9-7 Victory Over Bethel Nine

WINTERVILLE—Winterville scored a 9-7 victory over the Bethel High School ball club here Tuesday behind the seven-hit hurling of William Watson.

In the third inning Buck of Winterville, dropped an outfield fly with two men out and Bethel proceeded to score five runs and tie the ball game up after trailing from the opening frame.

A timely hit by Averette of Winterville in the sixth inning drove in the winning run for the locals. The victory gave the Winterville nine a season's record of five wins against three losses.

It was Bethel's first loss of the year, which has seen Bethel field a baseball team for the first time in recent years.

Winterville got nine hits, paced by Averette with two hits in three appearances at the plate and Hobgood with two for four.

Both teams committed several errors with Winterville making five miscues and Bethel being charged

The two runs in the seventh were unearned, as Willis Manning led off by reaching first on an error ball, and two singles by Dave Manning and Worthington loaded the bases.

A free pass issued to Teddy Bullock walked in the first run of the inning and a wild pitch by the pitcher sent home the second tally.

Would Legalize Spitball To Give Pitchers 'Break'

BURLINGTON, Vt. — (AP) — Legalizing the spitball again to create a better balance between pitching and hitting is urged by Larry Gardner, onetime American League star and now Vermont's baseball coach.

"Every change that has been made since the 'spitter' was ruled illegal back in 1920 has been to the hitter's advantage," Gardner contends.

"The way the game is rigged today, the pitcher is inclined to take a morbid view of his job," Gardner continued. "I think that is why he is in such a hurry to look for help from the bullpen. If they'd give him back the spitter, it could bolster his confidence."

Leading hitters for Bethel were John Nelson and Whitehurst with two for four.

Earl Johnson pitched for the losers all the way, striking out six men and allowing nine hits.

Athletics Cut Their Squad To Twenty-Eight

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics have reduced their squad to 28 players, three over the player limit as of May 15.

Two were sent to other clubs yesterday when Pitcher Charlie Harris was traded to the Cleveland Indians for a minor league infielder and Second Baseman Eddie Samcoff was sold to Memphis of the Southern Association.

For Harris the Athletics received Ronald Gifford of the Wichita, Kan. club of the Western League and an unannounced sum of money. Gifford, second baseman who batted .312 with Tacoma, Wash. last season, was assigned to the A's Lincoln, Neb. farm club.

Teachers Entertained By Training School Class

The third grade of the Training School, under the leadership of their teacher, Miss Eunice McGee, entertained their college teachers and a few other invited guests at a luncheon in their classroom on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m.

During the spring the students have planted and cared for a garden in which they grew lettuce, radishes, turnip salad, carrots and onions. They planned the luncheon for their guests from the food gathered in their garden. On Monday they began to gather the salad, and picked for two days to get enough to cook for the 40-odd people who were served. Yesterday the vegetable was cooked in their room on an electric plate, and each child had a part in "watching the pot."

Carrots were gathered and washed, scraped and cut by the children, as were also the onions and radishes. Various parents prepared deviled eggs, sent pickles, and made cornbread. Orange juice was poured by the children, and cup cakes were bought and served.

The children set the tables, made place cards, served the plates, poured the drinks and passed the bread. Those whose birthdays occur in the summer were allowed to serve and help with the cleaning up, as their birthdays are not observed during the school year.

The special guests of the class were Mrs. Robert Mays, Mrs. Louis Collie, Miss Barbara Eisele, Miss Virginia Blalock, Miss Ernestine Bradshaw, Mrs. Jeff Warner—all student teachers—Miss Beatrice Chauncey, music supervisor, Mrs. Harry Forbes, and Miss Dora Coates. Mr. James Walker, Miss Joan Dow, and Miss Frances Wahl were invited but were unable to attend.

Courses in Home Nursing Formed

Home Nursing courses are being organized in Pitt County by the local Red Cross office in cooperation with the Civil Defense Program.

Two classes have already been organized and meet once a week. There is a class in Grifton being taught by Mrs. Thomas Gower and one being taught by Mrs. Paul Walldrop for Negro women at the Epps High School. Another class is being organized by Mrs. Howard Grady and will be taught at the college infirmary, beginning Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Gower, Mrs. Walldrop and Mrs. Grady attended a school for instructors at Wilson taught by Mrs. Loretta Roberts, Red Cross nursing field representative, and they are certified to teach home nursing.

"The Pitt County Red Cross chapter is seeking to train as many women as possible in home nursing. In the event of a national emergency, professional nurses would be scarce and for this reason one person in each family should know how to care for the sick or injured at home," said Mrs. Walter F. Taylor, local Red Cross official. "Also we are trying to get all home economics teachers in the county to teach home nursing and during next year we hope to have home nursing taught in every town and rural area in the county."

Mrs. Taylor said the classes would be open to any woman having need of home medical knowledge and if interested call 4222.

Father Charges Assault By Sons

In Magistrate J. Frank Brook's court yesterday, trial of a case in which Jasper W. Bowen, 52-year-old tenant farmer and storekeeper of year Scuffletown, charged three of his sons with assaulting him, attracted considerable public interest. Testimony at the trial was that a family row was at the bottom of the legal action. It was testified that the father had forbidden his three sons, J. R. Bowen, Thomas H. Bowen and Willie Earl Bowen, to enter his store. When they went in, the elder Bowen was armed with a stick or some other weapon. The three sons disarmed their father and tried to quiet him. Testimony showed that J. R. Bowen and Willie Earl Bowen were guilty of assaulting their father. Thomas H. Bowen was not guilty, the judgment stated.

Magistrate Brooks placed J. R. Bowen and Willie Earl Bowen under $250 peace bonds. They promptly released the bonds. The magistrate warned the three sons to attend to the farm and not to go about their father at the store.

In connection with this case, a civil action seeking a writ of ejectment of Jasper W. Bowen from the store he operates on the farm, was heard. D. G. Bowen, Virginia, Jasper W. Bowen's brother, owner of the place, is seeking the ejectment. Magistrate Brooks granted the writ. The defendant gave notice of appeal.

Advices Care Of Stenographers.

RICHMOND, Va. — (UP) — W. I. Hall, director of the Virginia Merit system, advised department heads today to coddle their stenographers if they want to keep them.

Stenos are getting very scarce around Capitol Square because of better-paid jobs elsewhere, he said. He suggested keeping the girls happy by reducing their work as much as possible.

If they were blurted out for all to hear, including the Russians, this country might suffer real damage. Further, the "earings" will not be completely closed.

Except for statements which military officers or senators think involve security, a full question-and-answer record of all that's said will be made public promptly.

2. Should the inquiry be open to the public?
There is an answer in favor of that: The public has been aroused to a great pitch of interest over the dispute and has a right to full information, except what truly involves national security.

If a security question arises the witness—whether he's MacArthur or a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—can answer that one later behind closed doors.

But at least a public hearing would be assurance to everyone that nothing was being withheld or covered up — except security questions.

Those, mainly, are the two arguments.
At the time this is being written — early today — it would seem, from the turn of events, that now only a miracle can save this dispute from being thoroughly fouled up in politics.

Thieves Break In Falkland Store

FALKLAND—Evidence that cigarette thieves are back in this vicinity again this year was proven today when about $100 worth were stolen from K. R. Wooten's store last night.

The break-in was discovered by Woodrow Wooten this morning when he found one of the rear windows had been broken. He reported between 60 and 65 cartons of popular brand cigarettes were taken from a fresh shipment that came in yesterday.

Aside from the smokes and about $2 in small change taken from the cash register, nothing else was reported taken. However, Wooten said some of the piles of clothes had been "worked over" but he found no evidence of anything having been taken.

The sheriff's department and S. B. Dorsey, fingerprint specialist of the Greenville police department, are investigating.

and the segregation of all suspects or contacts among the school children.

So much for the clinics. Sanitary conditions in the county were found wanting and recommendations for alleviation of the problem were so many that the idea of pointing decided to junk the idea of pointing out individual items that should be included in the cleaning up process. They summed the entire situation up in a short paragraph which stated that a "sanitary inspection service" covering the county be provided in the Health Department to include water, milk, foods, excreta disposal and mosquito control.

As for the school health program, which today is one of the brightest spots in the department's year-round program, it was recommended that a county school health council be organized for the purpose of "awakening the community to the needs with full community support." Under such a future school health program it was recommended that (1) a person trained to supervise health education be employed to guide the development of the health promotional and educational program, (2) provision for recreation for all young people be made, including adequate space, equipment and supervision, (3) adequate medical and nursing personnel be instituted for effective health service to all county and city schools, (4) sanitary improvements in the schools be provided with the provision that all future plans meet desirable standards, and (5) an analysis of the health hazards in the schools be made with particular emphasis on transportation to and from the schools, the long day for the young pupils and the schools' sanitation and water supply.

The board of health and the county commissioners in 1929 were evidently moved by the recommendations for they made an earnest effort to increase the budget in the following years. However, the depression nipped the undertaking where it hurt most, necessitating a cutback in expenses in the health department as in all other county departments. It wasn't until 1934 that an increase was made in the county's share of the funds, although those complemented with the state's share didn't approximate the 1928 budget. In '34 Pitt contributed $9,800 while the state contributed $11,000. As the 'thirties wore on the county's allocation gradually increased—$10,000 in '35, '36, '37 and $11,000 in '38. In 1939 the state and federal funds began increasing from the $3,000-odd that had been contributed during the previous three years until the fiscal year of 1939-40 when the contribution was close to $7,000.

In the meantime Pitt had opened its liquor stores and began receiving funds from those sales which helped to alleviate the flow of money directly from the tax collections.

The biggest jump in total budget occurred between 1938 and 1939 when the figure was raised from $14,000 to $22,000. From that year through the next 11 the budget was raised gradually from year to year until in 1948 it took its greatest jump since the department was founded in 1918—$8,000 worth. That particular raise was more than duplicated in this year's budget when it was raised from last year's $49,000 to the present $58,000.

Such raises in funds during the past three years have been warranted by the increases in personnel in the department. Under health officer Dr. T. G. Basnight the nursing staff has increased from four to eight and the sanitation staff from two to three.

The nurses handle all the clinics, both in the department's quarters and in the county towns, including all the increased services which the original recommendations called for.

Such clinics have moved from their stationary position in Greenville in 1928 to the towns of Ayden, Farmville, Bethel, Grimesland and Pateolus for maternity and child hygiene, and to Ayden, Farmville and Bethel for general disease, TB, immunization and orthopedic clinics are held in the department from once a month for the latter to twice a week for immunization and once a week for TB X-rays and examinations. Today all TB cases are reported directly to the department and from there to the sanatoria; the department immunizes every disease native to this section including typhoid fever, diphtheria, whooping cough, small pox and tetanus; and all bone diseases and crooked limbs are treated by a physiotherapist and a physician who visit the department each month.

And in the sanitation department the outlook is the brightest it has been in many years. More inspections have been made in the past three months than were made during the past three years, all dairies in the county have been regularly inspected each month and have been brought up to Grade A requirements, and at least $50,000 has been spent in the county during the past quarter for making necessary improvements in eating places and other foodhandling establishments.

Through the work of the sanitarians about 95 percent of the establishments that are inspected in the county meet State Board of Health requirements, whereas during last year two-thirds of them failed to meet the minimum requirements.

All of these improvements, both in the personnel and in the resulting services performed, have come about through the increase in money allocated by the county. Of course each salary is prescribed by the merit system but the increase of money from the contributing agencies has allowed the department to increase its personnel, although the number of employees and the money spent are not up to U. S. Public Health recommendations as yet.

It has been stated by health authorities that "if you pay a mediocre salary, you get a mediocre employee who does a haphazard job." Such has been the case with Pitt in the past and probably in many more counties in the state. But the emphasis is on an increase ing public health program throughout the county and Pitt is slowly profiting from the education received.

governor, an arrangement which also is in effect in other similar cases.

The state of Baroda was merged with Bombay province in 1949. The major charge made against the Gaekwar grew out of this merger. He is accused of having challenged the constitution and engaged in disloyalty in contending that this merger was effected without his concurrence and wasn't warranted by the terms of his agreement with the Indian government.

The principality of Baroda has kept well in the lime-light over the generations. The most famous of all the Gaekwars was the grandfather of the current prince, who was ruling at the time of World War One. His philanthropies were international, and he did much for his people.
