

Gives Choice In Acquiring Power

Swartz Says City Must Decide Now Whether To Add Generating Equipment To Utilities Or Tie-In With VEPCO If We Are To Have Adequate Power

Utilities Board In Special Meet On Power Move

Five-Man Commission Gathers Tonight To Discuss VEPCO Plan

Martin Swartz, superintendent of the Greenville utilities, told the members of the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce last night the city must immediately choose between two alternatives if it is to have sufficient power in the near future.

The five-man utilities commission will meet tonight in the city hall to discuss the proposed tie-in with Virginia Electric and Power Company for the exchange of power.

Swartz said the city must either add additional generating equipment to the present power plant at a cost of approximately $1,500,000, or it must get an interconnection with a power company for an exchange of power.

As proposed the project would call for an extension of VEPCO power lines to the Greenville area whereby a hookup could be made with the local utilities' lines.

The superintendent of the utilities said he favors getting the additional power the city needs by executing the proposed interconnection contract with Virginia Electric Power company because:

As stated by utilities superintendent Martin Swartz, the project is not a move by the Greenville plant to "sell out" to the power company. It is only to avail the Greenville area of a source of power if an emergency arises in the future that would make the local steam plant unable to serve all its customers with a full power load.

The matter of issuing bonds for the city to provide its own additional generating equipment is practically out of the question because the city already is bonded almost to the limit for favorable interest rates.

The same goes for supplying VEPCO with power from the Greenville plant. The current if needed by the Virginia company, would be only the excess power generated here-over and above the amount generated for home consumption.

To make the interconnection with the 110,000 volt line the private company proposed to build into Greenville, Swartz said the city would have to make a capital outlay of approximately $75,000 for equipment to take the power from the private company's lines and transmit it to the local power plant.

Tonight's meeting was called by the commission after it had postponed its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night. If the proposal is approved by the members, a joint meeting with the board of aldermen will be held May 18.

Swartz said the proposed interconnection with VEPCO will afford the city the equivalent of a 7,500 kW generator, and will give the city sufficient standby power to have the full generating capacity of the local plant for producing firm power for the city.

Dewey Attacks Firing General

Urges Policy Of 'No Retreat' And 'No Appeasement'

NEW YORK (UP)—Denouncing the "midnight dismissal" of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey says the United States should follow a policy of "no appeasement of communism and no retreat anywhere in the world."

Dewey upbraided the Truman administration last night for lacking a "real foreign policy" in the Far East.

He said the anticipated demand for power on the Greenville plant is expected to reach 14,900 KW in 1952, and by the fall of 1953 the demand will be even higher.

Addressing the Republican state committee last night, Dewey urged creation of a United States of Europe and said Turkey, Greece, Spain and Yugoslavia should be admitted to the North Atlantic Alliance.

The present peak demand on the local power plant is approximately 9,000 KW daily, the superintendent stated.

Dewey said he supported MacArthur's views on using Chinese Nationalist troops and protecting Formosa from communism, but deferred judgment on the general's desire to bomb Manchurian bases because "I am not a military expert and I do not have access to the intelligence reports."

By the fall of 1952 we will need additional power from somewhere to meet the demand," Swartz declared.

The twice-defeated Republican presidential candidate said the American people had "suffered patiently under the administration's politics-as-usual, or should I say, its more-politics than ever, frightening incompetence and its continued waste of billions of dollars."

Spurred by pressure both at home and abroad, the British government announces that it is cutting off all rubber exports to Communist China for the balance of this year.

Mothers' Day Party Monday

Britain's Move To Ban Portion Of Trade To Communist China Is Welcome News For Americans; Few Crumbs Better Than None; Move Helps To Clear Air

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

That is to say, Britain agrees to eschew this vastly important phase of what is in effect trade with the enemy. For Red China, has joined with Bolshevik Russia in an unholy alliance to destroy the Democracies.

The annual Mother's Day party sponsored by The Daily Reflector and the Pitt Theatre for mothers over 55 years old will be held Monday afternoon at one o'clock at the Pitt Theatre.

L. W. Herring, owner of the AA Taxi Company, will furnish transportation to the party for any mother in Greenville, carriages will be presented to the mothers by the Greenville Floral Company, a cake will be presented to the oldest mother by Morton's Bakery and Carolina Dairy will serve ice cream to the mothers present as they leave the theatre.

The movie for the party will be "I Can Get It For You Wholesale" featuring Susan Hayward, Dan Dailey and George Sanders.

All mothers 55 years old or older are cordially invited to attend the show in their honor, sponsors of the party said.

The coupon below, properly filled out and presented at the box office, will be a free admission for all mothers of the required age.

Certainly Britain's action may be expected to help "clear the air." After all, nothing could be more illogical than for the democracies to lend support to a nation like Bolshevik China which is making war on the United Nations forces in Korea.

Reds Promised Aid If Lines Are Held

Chinese Communist Commanders Tell Troops Help Is On Way; Allies Push Ahead, See No Red Reinforcements

TOKYO (UP)—Chinese communist commanders used battlefield loudspeakers to encourage their hard-pressed forces on the east-central Korean front today, promising reinforcements if they would hold their lines.

United Nations troops overran mountain-top positions and recaptured Inje, an important highway town five miles north of the 38th parallel, without firing a shot.

Elsewhere along the 100-mile Korean front there was an ominous stiffening of enemy resistance.

Allied troops probing towards suspected communist build-up points on the western front north of Seoul were blocked by red forces apparently thrown out to screen the main Chinese armies.

The reds put special emphasis on the central front. They were reported massing west, north and east of Kapyong and Chunchon, giving indications they may be about to pull the trigger on round two of their spring offensive.

The enemy loudspeakers were heard east of Inje while South Korean troops were knocking two companies of communists off a hill.

"Hold your positions at all costs," the loudspeakers blared in Chinese. "Reinforcements are on the way."

But the Allies found no immediate sign of the promised reinforcements. Field dispatches said there were even signs of a new withdrawal between Inje and Yanggu, 10 miles to the northwest.

Fifteen miles northeast of Seoul, on the opposite end of the front, Allied patrols were halted by tank traps protected by heavy rifle and machine gun fire.

Allied fighters and fighter-bombers ripped into troops moving up to the front in the Kapyong-Chunchon area. A 5th Air Force summary said most of the day's close support missions were flown on the central front, with an estimated 300 reds killed or wounded there.

Some of the enemy troops were attacked while moving toward the battle lines, returning pilots said. In one area, a communist battalion

Doubts Dawson

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) told White House aide Donald S. Dawson today his denial of using political influence on government loans are "a little beyond my belief."

Fulbright and the President's patronage adviser debated at length the propriety of Dawson's conduct. Dawson insisted firmly "I did nothing improper" and Fulbright contended that he did, though possibly not consciously.

Their clash came at a hearing before a Senate Banking subcommittee which contends Dawson was a member of a clique which influenced affairs of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC), huge government lending agency.

"You over-emphasize my importance," Dawson said. "You are a very modest man," Fulbright retorted with heavy sarcasm.

Philippine Reds Ordered To Die

Six Top Party Members Sentenced For Numerous Crimes

MANILA (UP)—Six top members of the Philippines Communist Party were sentenced to death today for murder, arson and robbery in a plot to overthrow the government.

Nine others were sent to prison for life and nine more given sentences ranging from four months to 17 years. A boy and a girl, both under 18, were ordered into a reformatory.

Judge Oscar Castelo, passing sentence in a heavily-guarded courtroom, held that the Communist Party and its armed Huk forces "are engaged in an armed revolution" to set up a Soviet-type government in the Philippines.

He accused the defendants, among other crimes, of murdering Mrs. Manuel Quezon, widow of the first president of the Philippines, her daughter Aurora, and a number of other prominent Filipinos in a mountain ambush in April, 1949.

He said they also had slaughtered hospital patients, doctors and nurses in a raid on a Filipino army camp in central Luzon last year.

The defendants heard their sentences calmly. They were taken to the sweltering packed courtroom from a Philippines navy ship, where they had been confined to prevent a Huk rescue attempt.

The sentencing climaxed a six-month trial of 29 defendants. Castelo freed three for lack of evidence, but convicted all 26 others of membership in the outlawed Communist Party.

Those sentenced to death or life imprisonment were convicted in addition of "the complex crime of rebellion with multiple murders, arsons and robberies."

"Were cases of this nature allowed to pass without condemnation and heavy punishment... the lives of mankind would be constantly imperilled and there would be no security in this country," Castelo said.

Six women were among the convicted defendants. One was sentenced to death and another sentenced to life imprisonment.

Heavily-armed troops guarded the courthouse. There had been rumors that the Huks would try either to free the prisoners or assassinate the judge.

City To Prosecute Those Not Paying Business Tax

For the first time in the city's history those persons who engage in business in Greenville and do not pay their license tax will be prosecuted.

By an ordinance which was passed by the board of aldermen during this month's meeting, all persons who do not pay their business license taxes during six months after the first of the fiscal year will be penalized. Non-payment of such taxes during the six-month period will constitute a misdemeanor and the business can be closed up by the tax collector.

Text Of President's Message Giving War Policy Read To Senators; Marshall Opines War Risk With Russia More Acute In Far East Than In Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman told Sen. Douglas MacArthur last Jan. 13 that Korean war policy must be designed to keep the support of allies whom "we would desperately need" in case of war with Russia.

This was contained in a message sent by the President as a follow-up to a set of 16 possible courses of action the Joint Chiefs of Staff had dispatched to MacArthur the previous day.

The text of the President's message, in paraphrased form, was read by Secretary of Defense Marshall today to Senate committees inquiring into MacArthur's dismissal as Far Eastern commander.

At the outset, the President said his telegram "was not to be taken in any sense as a directive." He added that "its purpose is to give you something of what is in our minds regarding the political factors."

At one place the presidential message read:

"Our courses of action at this time should be such as to consolidate the great majority of the United Nations. This majority is not merely part of the organization but is also the nations whom we would desperately need to count on as allies in the event that Soviet Union moves against us."

Earlier, Marshall told the senators the risk of war with Russia in the Far East is "more acute by far" than the hazard of Soviet intervention in Western Europe.

This estimate of the comparative risks was given in response to a question from Senator Hickenlooper (R-Ia.).

Hickenlooper had suggested the United States was "in a clash with Russia by sending troops to a Western European defense force. He wanted to know why "a similar calculated risk" was refused in the Far East—meaning why not adopt the MacArthur program of stepping up the war against China.

Since Marshall first referred earlier in the hearings to the President's Jan. 13 message, some members of the Senate committees had pressed to get the text.

They contended the communication was of major importance in relation to the question of how much information was given to MacArthur as to the thinking and decisions of Washington policy-makers.

Because the message had been sent in code, its text could not be released until it had been paraphrased—a precaution against aiding any potential enemy to break the U. S. codes.

The President told MacArthur that "in the worst case, it would be important that if we must withdraw from Korea, it be clear to the world that that course is forced upon us by military necessity and that we shall not accept the result politically or militarily until the aggression has been rectified."

British Still Favor Formosa For China

Foreign Secretary Says Government Still Subscribes To Cairo Declaration; Peace In Korea Prerequisite

LONDON (UP)—Britain still favors restoring Formosa to Republic of China, but only after peace has been restored in Korea, Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison said today.

Morrison told Commons that the government still subscribes to the Cairo Declaration of 1943 awarding Formosa to the "Republic of China" after World War II.

But, he said, the first step was to obtain a Korean peace settlement. Then the United Nations might "usefully" consider

Emily Rice Complimented At Buffet And Bridge

Emily Rice, bride-elect of this month, was the guest of honor at a buffet supper and bridge party when Miss Dorothy Stauffer and Mrs. James Harvey Ward Jr. entertained for her at the home of Miss Stauffer on Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Guests were greeted at the door by the hostesses and their mothers, Mrs. J. J. Stauffer and Mrs. E. D. Larkins. The honoree was presented with a white iris corsage upon her arrival, and Miss Eleanor Norris, bride-elect of June, was also given a corsage of white carnations.

The guests were invited into the dining room where a delectable two course buffet supper was served. The table was centered with a miniature bride and groom, while matching bowls of roses, purple iris and yellow iris, interspersed with mock orange blossoms, were placed on either side of the bridal centerpiece. Wedding bells were suspended from the crystal chandelier above the table.

Mrs. Ward served chicken salad from one end of the table, while Miss Stauffer poured iced tea from the opposite end. Guests served themselves to the accompaniment.

Following the supper, bridge was played at three tables. During the Several hundred people—men, women and children of all ages—turned out with hungry appetites and a zest for fun and fellowship at the Methodist family picnic, which was held on the lawn of the Third Street School on Wednesday afternoon.

Several long tables were spread with all kinds of delectable delights, which are to be found at all good old fashioned church picnics. Fried chicken, devilled eggs, sandwiches, potato salad, biscuits, ham, rolls, carrot curls, pickles and quantities of all varieties of homemade cakes disappeared swiftly as two long lines of hungry people formed and picked and chose from the bountifully laid table.

Gallons of lemonade were furnished and served by members of the Carson Memorial class. Sack races, wheelbarrow races, jumping and running contests were held prior to the supper hour. Balloons and other favors were passed out to the children both before and after supper.

Clyde Landing provided "dinner" music for the occasion by means of his loudspeaker and record player.

The meeting was opened with the group singing of "America the Beautiful," and a timely devotional was given by Mrs. T. H. Eaton.

Mrs. J. F. Arthur thanked all the committees that have participated in any way in the year's activities. The treasurer reported that during the year $398.57 had been turned in, and at the close of the year, there was a balance of $78.44 in the treasury.

In her report, the president stated that the membership had increased by 98 members, and she summed up the various outside activities that had been sponsored by the association during the year.

Miss Frances Wahl, principal, thanked the P.T.A. for the purchase of the bicycle racks which were bought in the spring, and Mrs. Ellen Carroll expressed gratitude for the books that were given. Special recognition was made of the splendid job which the seventh grade had done in running the school supplies store during the year.

Mrs. James then read a list of the chairmen for the new year. They are as follows: program, Mrs. J. O. Howard; legislative, procedure and by-laws, Mrs. Louis Tebeau; year books, Mrs. Dallas Clark; budget and finance, Mrs. John Reynolds; publicity, Mrs. Harry Forbes; publications, Mrs. Troy Merritt; membership, Mrs. L. W. Edwards; hospital-ity, Mrs. Ercell Webb; pre-school clinic, Mrs. Belton Newman; safety, Mrs. L. S. Ficklen; recreation, Mrs. George Clapp; health and summer round up, Mrs. E. D. Griffith; clothing and scrap book, Mrs. M. P. Hook; room representative, Mrs. E. O. Parkinson, Jr.

A report on the State P.T.A. convention was made by Mrs. J. O. Howard.

For a brief program, students from the Third Grade, under the direction of Miss Eunice McGee, presented a short skit taken from the P.T.A. magazine. Those taking part were Lou Ficklen, Lee Lang Harrell, Mary French Hawes, Ruth Little, Pat Evans and Vicki Avery.

The attendance chairman, Mrs. Bill Sermonts, reported that there were 89 members present at the meeting, with Miss Sally Klingenschmitt's second grade as the winner with the most parents present.

The meeting was concluded with a brief installation ceremony during which a new vice-president, Mrs. J. W. Griffith, and a new recording secretary, Mrs. J. O. Derrick, were given the oath of office by Mrs. L. W. Tyler.

The recently organized men's group of the Christian Church, styled Christian Church Men, will be in charge of the entire morning service Sunday morning, May 20, at 11:00. Mr. Milo H. Smith, chairman of the board and elder of the church, will preside through the communion service, and Mr. T. I. Wagner, president of the Christian Church Men, will be in charge of the program. An octet of men will form the choir for the morning. Every man of the church will want to be present for this service.

The Men's Sunday School Class has been invited by the president, Frank Jolly, to enjoy an afternoon and evening of fellowship and fishing at the cottage on Bath Creek next Wednesday afternoon, May 16, and supper will be served at 7:00. Mr. B. B. Sugg Jr. will teach the class Sunday morning.

Mrs. Earl Forbes Hostess To Chatham Club

Members of the Chatham Book Club were delightfully entertained by Mrs. Earl Forbes at her home on East Eleventh Street on Tuesday afternoon.

Graceful arrangements of Japanese iris, roses, peonies and pansies were used throughout the home. On arrival of the members and guests, a delicious dessert course with coffee and candy was served by the hostess.

After a short business period, the program for the afternoon was given by Mrs. J. B. Spilman, who chose for her subject "Progress of Women Under the Democratic Administration."

Outstanding women mentioned in their chosen and respected fields were Helen Ganagan Douglas, Clare Booth Luce, Jessie Sumner, Mary F. Norton, Chase Going Woodhouse, and Congresswomen Bolton of Ohio and Bosone of Utah.

Highlights of their public life and glimpses of their personality were humorously and effectively given by the speaker. Mrs. Spilman stressed the work of Anna Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of Defense, as particularly outstanding and the interesting story of Mrs. Perie Mesta, minister to Luxembourg, was heard with pleasure and admiration, since she is and has been a successful business woman in her own right. Her appointment has been most gratifying to the citizens of Luxembourg. Mrs. Spilman further stated that approximately four hundred women had been appointed by President Truman on policy making commissions, to posts, and as board members of various institutions.

In conclusion the speaker urged each member present to consider seriously her high privilege of being an American citizen and said that each, though she may not ever hold a public office, should be grateful for what the women in government are doing to raise their status in the American way of life.

Guests for the afternoon, in addition to Mrs. Spilman, were Mrs. Ernest Williams, Mrs. J. A. Bunting and Miss Hilda Jacobs of New Bern.

Marston-Nichols Vows Spoken Sunday

FARMVILLE — The wedding of Miss Myrtle Nichols and Billy Marston was solemnized Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Farmville Baptist Church. The bride's pastor, Rev. E. W. Holmes, officiated using the double ring ceremony.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. C. L. Langley, organist, and Mr. Elbert Holmes, soloist, sang "If God Left Only You" and "Because" by d'Hardelot.

The vows were spoken before an altar background of Oregon ferns and centered with two seven-branched candelabras holding lighted tapers. Floor baskets of white gladioli were used alternately.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Thadus Howard Nichols. She wore an original suit of silk shantung with matching accessories. She carried a prayer book showered with lilies of the valley and topped with a spray of white phalaenopsis orchid and a white hybrid.

Mrs. Lowell Lyles, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a lilac shantung suit with matching accessories, and carried a nosegay of yellow roses and spring flowers tied with yellow satin ribbon.

Miss Delphia Parker was bridesmaid. She wore a yellow shantung suit with matching accessories and carried a nosegay similar to the matron's of honor tied with lilac satin ribbon.

John Mitchell Marston of Quantico, Ky., brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Lowell Lyles of Fayetteville, N.C. and Chester Outland of Farmville.

The bride's mother was attired in a sheer navy crepe dress with an orchid corsage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thadus Howard Nichols of Farmville. She is a graduate of Farmville High School, and is now employed as secretary to the Florence Mayo Co.

The groom is the son of Mr. William Marston of Quantico, Ky. and the late Mrs. Marston. He is associated with R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

May Day Action Presented By Second Grade

The second grade of the Training School, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Christine Johnson, presented a May Day pageant in the gymnasium of the Training School on Thursday afternoon.

Invited guests were the parents of the children, Mr. J. H. Rose and Miss Frances Wahl.

The children presented a short skit about spring, which they had worked on in connection with their classes in rhythms. They showed in action, song and dance the awakening of Spring, who was portrayed by Barbara Allen. Other children took the role of trees swaying in the early spring air, rabbits hopping about in the new meadow, the gentle spring breezes, the soft spring rain, the warm sun, and the final awakening of the flowers from their long winter's nap.

In pantomime and recitation the little skit was cleverly presented and charmingly executed.

The children performed a number of rhythmic dances and games, and the finale was a May Pole dance in which all the children participated.

As they marched out of the gymnasium, the parents were asked to fall in step with their children, who directed them into the classroom, where cookies and lemonade were served to the parents.

Flower bouquets were presented to each mother by her child as a remembrance of Mother's Day.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

THE MEANING OF HOLY
The Sabbath is a holy day. The Bible is a holy book. The Church is holy. What is the meaning of this word "holy"? People use it every day, and yet many who use it probably have no real idea what it means.

A thing is holy if it belongs in a special way to God. Or another definition would be that a thing is holy if it is set apart from the world and dedicated in a very special sense to God's use. The Bible is in a very special way God's Book, for in it we learn more about God than we can learn in any other book. The Sabbath is a day particularly set aside for worship, good works, and all those relationships which will draw us nearer to God. Therefore it is a holy day—one which belongs in a special way to God.

The Church is holy because it is separated from the world's selfish interests. It is the institution by which God makes known in a particularly effective fashion His will for man. It does not stand apart from the world disdainfully. It separates itself from everything in the world which is held apart from God's will and glory and dedicates itself to everything which will advance the spiritual kingdom which Christ came to establish.

Anything is holy which belongs in a special way to God.

What Does It Take To Make A Veteran?

There are few Americans outside the government officials who do not readily admit the men fighting in Korea are engaged in a full fledged war. Yet the VA has refused admission to a Korean veteran to one of its hospitals on the grounds that he is a "peacetime" soldier and as such is not qualified for government treatment for a condition which was not service connected.

What does it take to transform a "peacetime" soldier into a war veteran? Is the transformation made in fact by an act of Congress or by a baptism of fire on a shell-scarred Korean hillside?

The ruling by the Veterans Administration which has been upheld by President Truman is another example of government red tape blocking the steps which rightfully should be taken.

The veterans who have faced the communist fire in the Korean conflict and have slogged their way toward an undetermined goal across the rice paddies and the rugged hills are surely entitled to all the benefits which were given the young men who not many years ago fought through the Pacific isles and the hedgerows of Europe.

Congress last night rushed through an emergency measure to allow the Korean veterans the same medical, hospital, burial benefits and compensation and pensions for the veteran and his dependents. But the action was taken only after the issue had been forced when the above-mentioned incident came to light.

The whole incident is another example of the lack of foresighted planning by the administration and by Congress.

The Time Is Ripe For A Crackdown

The indictment of 77 New York policemen for accepting bribes to protect a book-making racket in the Empire State city under Mayor William O'Dwyer's administration should bring home forcibly to the people of the United States what organized crime is doing throughout the nation.

The indictments name not only the run of the mill cops who took payoffs from the gamblers, but likewise the higher-ups in the department who with one hand took the taxpayers' money for enforcing the laws, and with the other hand took the gamblers' money to allow unlawful activities.

The more facts that come to light as the result of extensive investigations, the more tainted the over-all picture becomes.

Now that the first step in the court action against the government officials and employes connected with racketeering has been taken, they should be prosecuted vigorously. The people should not be content with the prosecution of just the petty officials who have collaborated with the criminals. The high officials who have waded deep into the muck and mire also should be brought to trial.

The anger of the American people has been aroused by the facts that have been revealed in connection with the racketeering which is going on. The time is ripe for a complete crackdown on the criminal syndicates of the nation.

If the heat of public opinion is allowed to cool, or if the key figures in the corrupt alliances between the rackets and government are allowed to escape prosecution, the country's hopes for stamping out the crime syndicates may be lost. And with them will be lost the possibility of removing the underworld influence from politics.

Substituting Action For Words

An incident on a New York pier Wednesday pointed out in its own small way two things of significance: (1) Things on the domestic scene in Russia must not be as rosy as painted by Pravda, and (2) It is not difficult to invoke an embargo on goods going to the Communists if you set your mind to it.

The stubborn AFL longshoremen refused to load the baggage of a group of minor Russian diplomats who were returning to their home country. As a result the Russians left on the New York pier 17 crates of American made television sets, washing machines, refrigerators and other items.

The longshoremen probably did little talking in deciding on the action which they took. They doubtlessly gave not a second thought to a retaliation move by the communists. They made up their minds what they were going to do, did it, and let the communists shift for themselves.

Perhaps a little more of that sort of attitude on the part of our American diplomats would go a long way toward forming and carrying out a positive foreign policy for the United States.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News
By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The Republicans' remarkable faculty for fumbling a perfectly passed political football has been exemplified so vividly in their handling of the MacArthur affair that they may derive no ballot-box benefit or prestige from it in next year's presidential election. The story behind the decision to investigate the General's dismissal shows their incredible stupidity.

On the morning after President Truman's midnight order of recall, G.O.P. members of the Senate Armed Services Committee urged Chairman Richard B. Russell of Georgia to ask General MacArthur's appearance before that body. The minority had previously overplayed their hand by trying to transform a disagreement over a grave national and international problem into a partisan sideshow.

After conferring with Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, a co-leader of the southern bloc and a close friend of the ousted commander since the latter kept in trim by skimming Old Dominion hillside on spirited Army horses, Senator Russell assented to the proposal.

ARRANGEMENT—Both the Republican promoters and the Democratic managers agreed on closed hearings, unless General MacArthur asked for open doors. He immediately said that he would abide by the committee's action.

Senator Russell then worked out the present arrangement for furnishing transcripts of the testimony to the press. Incidentally, the system has operated quite satisfactorily except for slight delays involved in multigraphing hundreds of copies for the reporters, the White House, State Department, Pentagon etc. On the day when questions and answers totalled 55,000 words, only 3,600 were deleted by the censors.

In these preliminaries, as in the conduct of the hearings, Senator Russell has matched those other two fine chairmen—Messrs. Kefauver and Fulbright—in his display of tact, fairness and impartiality.

DEBATE—But hardly had the Russell-Byrd group completed these plans before the hitherto satisfied Republicans began to demand wide-open hearings. Mr. Russell refused to demand wide-open hearings. He permitted representatives of the Kremlin's newspapers and propaganda agencies to buy copies of the testimony at twelve cents a page. He saw no reason for letting Stalin's snipers sit in on a discussion of military and diplomatic secrets.

The minority then decided to make a national political issue of what they characterized as "star chamber hearings." In an almost unprecedented move, they introduced resolutions "instructing"—in effect, "ordering"—the Armed Services Committee to throw open the doors. They suffered a spanking defeat.

INEPTITUDE—Although Minority Leader Wherry led the parade in bumping the GOP's head against a stone wall, the full Republican membership fell in behind him, voting solidly for the "open door" on Korea and China controversies. Burying their many and bitter differences, the Democrats stood together save for Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, who has a "hate" on Truman.

The ineptitude of the Republican move becomes clear when it is realized that Senators Russell and Byrd are the recognized leaders of the anti-Truman bloc. The Georgian was the field marshal in the defeat of the Administration's Civil Rights program, making all negotiations for swapping votes with the Republicans.

Mr. Byrd has headed the fight for economy under both the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations. His attacks on executive spending have been so frequent and so effective that Mr. Truman once said "there are too many B-y-r-d-s" in the Senate.

DUBIOUS—It is probable that the coalition will resume business at the old stand when and if controversial features of the Administration's domestic program come before the Senate.

Politically, however, the split appears to make dubious the success of certain Republicans' scheme to enter into an alliance with Southern Democrats for next year's presidential election.

Unless the G.O.P.'s leadership on Capitol Hill shows more astuteness and common sense than they did in this episode, as well as in the 1940, 1944 and 1948 campaigns, the canny men from Dixie will prefer to settle their differences within their own family.

ARTIFICIAL—General MacArthur has shown his awareness of the G.O.P.'s attempt to "use" him and the Far East issues for political advantage. He has nearly sidestepped them, as he told friends he would do if the question were raised in naked form. He did so by repudiating both the Hoover and the Taft proposals that the United States needed no overseas allies.

Unless the Republicans profit from this experience, they may lose rather than gain from the MacArthur-Truman dispute, and a few of them realize it. By overreacting and straining themselves to raise artificial rather than fundamental issues, as they did in the "open door" matter, they may antagonize the honest and independent millions looking for real leadership at Washington. In their anxiety to "beat Truman," they may beat themselves.

Such an outcome may be the more probable because eventually the Truman Administration may have to carry out the MacArthur recommendations in Korea and elsewhere, thereby removing this question from partisan politics. Moreover, with so many issues at hand—Pendergastism, corruption, low ethical standards in high places, delay in framing an anti-inflation program—it seems that the G.O.P. may fall a victim to "MacArthuritis," too.

Somebody Told Me

By J. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR

Yesterday I was talking to Robert Tunnell of Quinn-Miller and Stroud Furniture Company. Before moving to Greenville, Robert lived in Swan Quarter, the county seat of Hyde County. Still loyal to his home town, Robert emphasized that the land there is as rich as any in the world, including the Nile River territory. The yield of corn there is 100 bushels per acre, with about one-tenth of the fertilizer that we use here.

But today's column is not a sales talk on Hyde County. Instead, it's the story that Robert told me about a man from Fairfield by the name of Pat Simmons. In addition to farming, Pat is widely known as a hunting guide. Year after year hunters engage Pat for bird or goose hunting.

At the time of this story Pat was engaged by two hunters from Asheville, who were repeat customers every season. However, this time Pat and the hunters had spent three days looking for birds without success.

Pat is very conscientious about his job, and certainly hated to let the hunters go back to Asheville without even taking a shot. That would have been bad advertisement for him and his community. To prevent such a thing, Pat went to see George Carter as a last resort. Everybody in Fairfield knew that George Carter didn't allow any hunting on his farm, but Pat was desperate.

Pat asked the Asheville hunters to wait in the car while he talked to Mr. Carter.

"Well, Pat," Mr. Carter said, "you know very well it's against my rules, but today I'll do it provided you'll do me a favor."

"What's that?"

"See that old grey mule out there?"

"Yep."

"Well, she's been on the farm 22 years, and he's so old and feeble that it's all she can do to get in and out of the stable. It looks like we're going to have to put her away. And she's been here so long that I just can't make myself shoot her. I've talked to the tenants about the mule, and none of them want to either."

"Sure, Mr. Carter," Pat said, "I'll be glad to shoot your mule. And much obliged for permission to hunt on your farm."

On the way back to the car Pat decided to play a joke on the Asheville men who were waiting for Mr. Carter's answer. Pat noticed that the mule was only a few feet away from the car.

"Have any luck?" one of the men asked.

"Nope," Pat answered, "that ornery old cuss wouldn't let us go to get even with him. I'm going to shoot his mule." Pat grabbed his gun out of the car, took a bead, and shot the mule.

The Asheville hunters were so flabbergasted that they slammed the car door and drove off, leaving Pat to walk home. Later, when they heard it was all a joke, they had no regrets for leaving him. "Serves him right to walk," they said, "any man that would play a joke like that."

And I thank Robert Tunnell.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYNN NISBET Daily Reflector Bureau

By LYNN NISBET

CLEAN-UP—The stuff that accumulates on a working newspaper man's desk can be described by only one word—amazing. At insistent demand of the office boss-lady, your reporter finally got around to moving some of the cumulative material which had been for several weeks stacked up on one corner of the desk for future reference. After the clean-up process the desk admittedly looked a lot better, but unfortunately it was still loaded with stuff regarded too valuable to throw away and not adapted to permanent files.

UNTOUCHABLES—There are some untouchable items, untouchable that is, so far as any attempt to get rid of 'em. These include the bookshelf with the thesaurus, a dictionary, an out-of-date copy of the general statutes, a three-year old World Almanac, a twenty-five year file of the official State Manual, the Institute of Government bulletins issued daily during the recent general assembly and several copies of senate and house rule books with committee assignments. These are the main working tools for the job. Also untouchable—for more than one reason—is the disorderly array of an even dozen smoking pipes. There are some other items, susceptible to moving around but undesirable to the job, such as the telephone directory and several small calendars.

TRANSIENT—It was the stack of transient material that proved most interesting and occasioned the problem of what to keep and what to throw away. This pile contained a few unused hand-out press releases and copies of speeches by big shots. These went to the waste basket pronto. Several unread copies of Kiwanis and Elks magazines were also, but more reluctantly, consigned to the trash can. With them went some old newspaper tear sheets, the reason for keeping long since forgotten. Some out of date publications of the Department of conservation and development, the highway commission and other state departments were moved from the desk to another unsightly pile on top of a filing cabinet, because, forsooth, they might come in handy sometime—if anybody could remember where to look for them when needed.

PERIODICALS—That left about a dozen pamphlets or booklets. A copy of Popular Government and an Employment Security Quarterly went into permanent files, where they ought to have been all along, because they are not particularly interesting as reading matter, but are highly valuable reference material. Several copies of "Wildlife Resources Commission, which had been hastily read when received were also discarded, but not until the front covers had been torn off and replaced in the desk stack to preserve the color drawings by Win Donat of beavers, raccoons and frogs. By way of editorial comment and advertising plug, it should be written into this casual piece that while the wildlife resources commission is assisted by a state law enforcement and regulatory agency, the job of education being done by Rod Amundson's typewriter and Win Donat's paint brush is a distinct contribution to the natural history of North Carolina. Only reason full copies of all issues are not filed is lack of room. After all, this is just one office, not a library.

PAMPHLETS—There was the 1951 spring issue of North Carolina Cancer News, regarded worth keeping—so it went back into the desk corner pile. So did a pamphlet issued by the Travelers Insurance Companies of Hartford, devoted to the cause of highway safety. This little book's cover page has the cartoon of a careless automobile driver, under the caption "R. I. P." and is filled with humorous cartoons and serious text driving home the thought you will "rest in pieces" if you continue to violate rules of safe driving. Pamphlets about Camp Lejeune and Cherry Point marine bases, picked up on legislative visits to these points, were also put back in the pile. Laid aside for top place when the revised stack was completed was the first issue of a new bi-monthly "Inventory," published by the N.C. Alcoholic Rehabilitation Program and edited by Sanford Martin, Jr. This publication is a serious attempt to educate public thinking to the fact that alcoholism is a disease which can be cured—by laughing at the antics of drunks.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

GONE WILD (Williamson Enterprise)
If stories reaching this cluttered desk are to be accepted, the world will have to take less than a leap before going crazy wild.
For years it has been pointed out that there wasn't sufficient money to provide necessary buildings and equipment for school children, that public libraries are needed, that we are still living partly in the dark ages when it comes to sanitation. We say there isn't sufficient money to remedy bad conditions and advance improve ments.
And comes along story after story telling how the youth of our land are spending big money for high school social events, taxing the over-taxed John Does to keep up with the other John Does.
The youth is not to be denied legitimate needs and claims, but our leaders are not treating them right by giving them all cake and no substantial foods that can sustain them in a hard world.
Frankly, it would be better to dispense with such events and let the youngsters feel a bit peevish than it would be to allow them to fall into a vacuum of faillites just to have their bodies and souls crushed when the pressure of a crazy world is applied. And that pressure will be applied sooner or later.
It is time to apply common sense to our actions, and if the educational institutions and educational leaders along with the parents can't apply it, then let's stop spending for so everlastingly much theory.
"I don't want it to happen to my boy, but it would be better for him to be dressed in a pair of paid-for overalls than to have to borrow money to rent a 'monkey suit' for his high school graduation," a financially strapped father commented a few years ago at graduation time. And the story makes more sense than the foolish course our young people are being allowed to pursue today.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

Except for speeches by General MacArthur and President Truman, no talk has aroused as much comment in business circles as the recent statement by Beardsley Ruml on the excess profits tax.

Mr. Ruml, economist and former chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, spoke before the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association meeting in Chicago. His conclusion was that the payment of an excess profits tax by a corporation was "a presumption of managerial inadequacy."

He declared that business now has two kinds of dollars, the normal profit dollars, worth 53 cents, and the excess profits tax dollars, worth 23 cents. Business, he suggested, would do well to spend the cheap dollars—not in waste—but to improve the position of the company. Bear in mind that an under-expenditure of as little as $100,000 will cost you $77,000 in taxes," he warned.

Among the outlets for EPT dollars he suggested are research on new products and designs; tooling up for new markets; reorganization of production flow; testing of old and new products; importation of experimental skills, materials and machines; advertising; extension of branch offices; more intensive cultivation of customers; more extensive public relations, and adequate staffing at the managerial level.

Since these expenditures would tend to build up the worth of a company, they could produce capital gains for both the company and for the holders of its stock.

Mr. Ruml's theory is not new, as he himself noted. During the EPT era of the last war, many companies spent with lavish hands the profits subjected to the EPT. But he did round up the "spend excess profits" theory clearly and forcefully. Many business men have called in their controllers and accountants to determine how much of the Ruml plan they can put into effect.

Not all economists and business men agree with the theory. Some hold that minimizing taxes, however legal, is neither patriotic nor wise while communism threatens the world. Others hold that the excess profit dollars are not cheap but expensive, since it is necessary to make four of them to keep one. Still others feel that spending to minimize taxes would contribute to inflation.

But there is another important consideration: If all business accepts Mr. Ruml's advice and the Treasury collects no EPT, Congress will be forced to increase other taxes to offset the loss of expected revenue. If this is made necessary by a policy adopted by business, it is very likely that it will be the corporation tax rates that are lifted.

WASHINGTON SAVES HALF ONE SALARY
One way little things count was related to the National Retail Dry Goods Association conference now going on in New York, by Robert G. Brown, executive of a Detroit department store.

Previously, the clerk receiving parcel post deliveries dictated a record to a stenographer, got a number from her and wrote it on the parcel. Now he dictates the information into a machine and attaches a numbered label to the parcel with a plastic device.

This saves the receiving clerk 7 seconds a package and the stenographer 14 seconds. Not much? It adds up to 8.6 hours saved a month. Figure that out in terms of today's wages.

PREMIUM OFFERS NOW UNDER PRICE CONTROL
Premium coupons, as well as prices, are frozen.

Any changes in premium offers must be reported to the Office of Price Stabilization. When the cost of a premium rises, an advertiser may increase the number of coupons or box tops required, but only in proportion to the actual increase, under a supplementary regulation in effect today. A company collecting cash with coupons can increase the sum by the amount of the increased cost of the premium, but it may not decrease the number of coupons required at the same time. And a company cannot abandon coupons without O.P.S. permission, and then only if it adjusts the price of the goods carrying the coupon.

NEW AND HOT TV-SPECS: Glasses scientifically designed to ease eye strain from prolonged television viewing are being market-tested in Philadelphia by Bausch and Lomb, Syracuse, N. Y., and will be introduced in other markets later.

PLUG: An electrical plug that can be attached to a cord without tools or mechanical skill is being made (of Bakelite plastic by Gilbert Mfg. Co., 24-20 46th St., Long Island City, N. Y.). The top of the plug is opened, wires laid across to brass points, and top slid back.

Hal Boyle's Column

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Every one likes to be a big shot once in a while. Everyone likes to see the red carpet rolled out in front of them.

That was the theory on which Bill and Charlotte Murphy have built a substantial business: selling services and performing odd jobs, some of them very odd, indeed.

"When I was in the Navy during the war," Murphy explained, "I saw the way very important people reacted to the special treatment the armed services vices gave them. I figured there was a civilian buck to be made—and so we started VIP Service."

At war's end, hotel rooms were at a premium in New York, so the Murphys' first special services consisted mainly of finding rooms and picking up hard-to-get theater tickets for visiting industrial brass. VIP has expanded since then and their chores have infinitely more variety.

They do Arthur Godfrey's Christmas shopping, for instance, a wholesale sortie into the market which sets the red-head back $15,000 to $20,000 a year.

They set up New York holidays for thousands, ranging from production giants to local quixotic winners.

They set up—on request—backstage meetings of clients with favorite stars, with photographic evidence of the occasion.

They arranged the sale of 60 surplus U. S. planes to the government of Pakistan—and the same day fixed it for an out-of-town girl to dine, without male escort, in the restaurant of her dreams and see the celebrities. She had saved her money for the blowout for a year.

"Sometimes our clients just tell us frankly that they want to impress someone," Bill Murphy said. "The other day it was the European representative of an American corporation who wanted to impress a cute blonde in the home office."

He knew what he wanted: Third-row aisle seats for "Guys and Dolls," a choice spot for dinner at "21" where he was to be greeted by name, and a ringside table at the Copacabana where the manager was to drop over for a friendly little talk. We got him the full treatment, and he got the girl."

An out-of-town pair asked VIP to make complete arrangements for a Manhattan wedding. Murphy complied and then—in the absence of family and friends—stepped up to give the bride away.

All of their assignments are not gay ones. The wife of a client, dying of an incurable disease, requested a bottle of rare wine of certain vintage. Murphy finally located one bottle in the cellar of a wealthy Mexican. It was flown to its destination.

Big Crosby once asked for emergency help. Crosby, who hates height was given a suite, high up in a New York hotel which was "bursting" at the seams. VIP cajoled, pleaded and finally wangled a second-floor room for the crooner.

Some clients have given him a little trouble. There was the Indian potentate who was preparing to build a fire on the floor of his suite so that his goat

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—Miss Ruth Brien, who likes pipe organ music and started studying law winding up with a degree, is receiving a high award in an entirely different field.

For her leadership in providing industry with a scientific basis for sizing women's and children's clothing, she is receiving the Distinguished Service Award, top honor of the Department of Agriculture. Only one other woman, Miss Lucie Alexander, specialist in the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, has achieved this distinction.

Now assistant chief of the BHNHE, Miss O'Brien for 20 years directed textile and clothing research for the department. Concerned because misfit clothing cost consumers and trade much trouble and millions of dollars yearly, she sought realistic measurements. For long, clothing groups and pattern people had their own separate measurements. Some still do. But Miss O'Brien after working 10 years to arouse interest in her project, was finally rewarded in 1937 when funds and personnel were provided to help her do the job.

Leading the first scientific study she took 36 measurements of 17,000 boys and girls all over the country, on farms and in cities. Later, she was requested to take women's measurements. She took 59 measurements of some 15,000 women from 18 to 80 years of age. The results showed that height and hip girth were better predictors for sizing children's garments than sizing by age, and that height and weight were better for women's garments than that measure.

Miss O'Brien told me that when she was writing the report on the women she indulged in an "exercise in arithmetic" taking results of 34 measurements of all kinds of figures of various heights, weights and shapes and came up with an "arithmetic mean" average woman. She was about 63 inches high, had a 29 inch waist, 35 inch bust and about a 38 inch hip.

A native of Taylorville, Ill., she received BS and MA degrees from the University of Nebraska in textile chemistry. Before coming to Washington she taught and directed research in textile chemistry at Iowa State College. Wartime and post war research included studies of mending and make-over techniques and the development of women's functional factory and farm garments.

During the summers Miss O'Brien got first hand information from jobs in dry cleaning plants and textile mills.

Health Dept. Reports On Work Through April

Following is a report from the different departments of the Pitt County Health Department for this year through April 30. A similar report will be issued at the end of each quarter.

From the nurses department, which covers a report of nursing activities, x-rays for T. B., and vital statistics, there are seven nurses on the staff which have conducted clinics in designated schools and assisted other nurses at their clinics. Each month there were Maternity and Infant Clinics held at Bethel, Ayden, Pactolus, Grimesland, Farmville, and Greenville.

The entire nursing staff attended an institute on child growth and development held in April by Jean Rebenitsch and Dr. Sidney Chipman of UNC.

X-rays given through March totaled to 220, with 65 x-rays for whites and 155 for colored. Twenty white people and 20 Negroes were referred to the health department for x-rays by doctors; 14 whites and 78 Negroes were x-rayed for the first time since they came in contact with tuberculosis; re-checks for patients and ex-sanatorium patients, 16 whites and 34 Negroes; food handlers, 16 whites and 19 Negroes; referred by welfare department, one Negro; and referred by draft board, three Negroes.

Vital statistics for this first quarter came to a total of 509 live births, 90 deaths, and 18 stillbirths. For January there were: Live births, 72 white, 79 Negro; deaths, 19 white and 10 Negro; stillbirths, four Negroes. For February: Live births, 88 white, 99 Negroes; deaths, 21 white, 29 Negroes; stillbirths, six Negroes. For March (Live deaths, 20 whites and 20 Negroes; stillbirths, eight Negroes.

The Sanitation Section of the Pitt County Health Department is composed of three sanitarians which are responsible for the sanitary supervision of 74 restaurants, 96 meat markets, 14 soda fountains, 4 frozen food locker plants, five hotels, five abattoirs, two poultry processing plants, two hospitals, five tourist homes, 10 sandwich manufacturers, 16 school rooms, 20 dairy producer farms, and one pasteurization plant. All of the above mentioned establishments, except the dairies, display grade signs which indicate its sanitary rating.

All of these places are inspected at least once quarterly except the dairies, which are inspected monthly and a sample of milk is collected for laboratory examination once a month. All sewage disposal units and water systems, both public and private, are supervised by this department and rodent and insect control take a considerable amount of time as well as complaint investigation.

In addition to all of these duties, the sanitarian is an educator, who gives demonstrations and promotes better living standards was related to the above duties.

During the quarter, the sanitarians have issued 27 pamphlets on health education, attended three professional meetings, made one formal talk in which 26 persons attended, made 8 rabies inspections, one scarlet fever visit, inspected one school, approved 27 septic tanks, 49 inspections of sewage disposal facilities on private premises, condemned two privies, visited eight drink stands and grade six, and inspected five frozen food plants and made three consultation visits.

They also graded 87 meat markets and made 59 consultation visits, graded 55 restaurants and made 130 consultation visits, revoked permits in two restaurants, visited seven school lunchrooms and graded 11, made seven hospital visits, graded three hotels and visited one, made one rat proofing and rat eradication, graded five abattoirs and made eight consultation visits, and inspected one poultry processing plant.

Also during the quarter, the sanitarians graded one sandwich manufacturing plant and made one consultation visit, inspected two garbage disposal systems, investigated five complaints, made ten fish pond visits, taken water samples for seven analysis, approved one water supply, and for milk inspections they inspected 11 milkplants, made 27 additional visits, visited three private premises, and have taken milk samples from 42 plant producers, and taken milk samples from eight pasteurization plants.

For the first three months of 1951 the activities of the venereal disease program was as follows: 59 patients admitted for syphilis to Rapid Treatment; four patients sent to Rapid Treatment for treatment for gonorrhea; 36 patients admitted to the health department for gonorrhea; and 12 patients referred to private physicians for gonorrhea. The diagnostic observations completed were: Number infected, 50; number not infected, 422; dropped or transferred, two; field visits to contacts and suspects, 319; field visits to lapsed patients, 98; and patient interviews, 25. Twenty-four spinal tests and 667 blood tests were made by the State laboratory for the local health department.

Barkley Reports Losing Weight
CHICAGO (UP)—Vice-President Alben W. Barkley says he has lost 35 pounds in four months and has never felt better.

Barkley told reporters here that doctors told him to get rid of 25 surplus pounds.

"I told them I'd go another ten," Barkley said, so he lost 35 pounds by dieting.

Solid Wall Of Dislike Built Up In Paris Talks

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Foreign News Editor

Ten weeks ago four men sat down in a pink palace in Paris to talk about war and peace. They are deputy foreign ministers of America, Britain, France and Russia.

The Russian delegate is Andrei Gromyko, an intense, dark-haired man who at one stage of his career was the world's best known pedestrian. He attained that eminence by walking out of sessions of the United Nations any time he heard something that displeased him.

The purpose of the Paris meeting is to try to draw up a program for discussions which will search out and correct the conditions that keep East and West at swords points in the cold war.

The net result to date is that nothing has been accomplished in a positive sense. In a negative sense things are worse than when the conference convened.

A solid wall of dislike has been built up between the Russian on one side and the delegates of America, Britain and France on the other. Then why not break it up and let everybody go home?

Because neither side wants to assume the blame for torpedoing a conference whose stated objective is peace. That would give the other side too much propaganda ammunition. The Moscow radio would have enough material for two weeks.

Nevertheless the four men may be getting to the end of the road. Every avenue has been explored and re-explored, but as far as the western world is concerned the avenues have turned out to be blind alleys.

There always comes a time when Gromyko, in some fashion or other, says "nyet"—no. The bitter lesson is that the Russians have no intention at the present time of negotiating in good faith about anything.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson indicated yesterday that the United States can detect little light in the intense heat of the arguments at Paris. He said the Russians were asking too high a price, and that can be put down as a calculated underatement by an experienced diplomat. What is really going on is that the Russians refuse to come to any agreement until the West grants all of Moscow's demands and withdraws all of its own.

More specifically, Gromyko would be happy if America, France and Britain would break up their western European army, send Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower back to Columbia University and promise never to alarm the Kremlin again by massing soldiers and weapons between Berlin and the English channel. Nothing would be said about Moscow disarming.

As Acheson says, that is a high price, a prohibitive one for the safety of the western world. And, it is communism's world price; the same demands are made by Peiping in the Korean War.

The bargaining will probably continue in Paris for some time, but unless the Moscow price comes down to bargain sale level there isn't going to be any business done.

Ridgway Friends Long Expected Four-Star Rank

TOKYO (UP)—Five World War II friends of Matthew B. Ridgway never doubted he would make the grade as a four-star general.

They purchased a four-star collar insignia in Europe seven years ago while serving under the 18th Airborne Corps commander. He was then known as "the jumping general" for his four parachute descents behind enemy lines.

Two of the five prophetic friends marched into Ridgway's Tokyo office as soon as news of the Senate's confirmation of his new rank reached here. Lt. Col. A. D. Surles and F. W. Moorman proudly offered the long kept insignia.

Ridgway put it on immediately.

Light Crop Of Wheat Adequate

WASHINGTON (UP)—There will be plenty of wheat to meet domestic needs despite the gloomy 1951 winter wheat outlook.

The Agriculture Department yesterday estimated this year's winter wheat production at 682,000,000 bushels, smallest crop since 1943.

"If there's any belt-tightening to be done to conserve wheat supplies for defense," a department spokesman said, "it will have to be done in foreign countries which buy wheat from the United States."

MacArthur Plane Enroute Back To Gen. Ridgway

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Bataan, a four-engine Constellation formerly assigned to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, was enroute back to Tokyo today for use by Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, the new Far East commander.

It took off last night for Travis Airbase, Fairfield, Cal., first stop on its return flight. It is scheduled to leave Travis at midnight tonight.

An air force spokesman said the plane probably will stop at Honolulu and then probably will fly directly to Tokyo.

All of its crew except Lt. Col. Anthony F. Story, the former commander, are returning with the plane. Maj. William E. Gregg is serving as both first pilot and plane commander.

Bond Is Provided Accused Forger

Wayne Canady, 16-year-old Fayetteville youth, who was arrested here several days ago on a charge of forgery, provided $300 bond yesterday and was released, Chief Guy C. Langston said.

Canady was arrested on complaint of the Globe Hardware Company that he had cashed a forged check there. The youth's father, G. C. Canady, Fayetteville carpenter, came to Greenville and arranged for the bail. There are numerous charges of issuing worthless checks against Canady. Warrants were issued at New Bern, Kinston and Fayetteville.

Korean General Is Found Dead

8TH ARMY HQ, KOREA (UP)—Maj. Gen. Kim Paik II, missing commander of the South Korean 1st corps, has been found dead in the wreckage of his private plane. It was disclosed today.

Kim had not been seen since he took off in threatening weather last March 28 after a conference with Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, then 8th Army commander.

Ordered To Post Ceiling Prices

WASHINGTON (UP)—Barber shops, parking lots, repair shops, filling stations, amusement parks, laundries and the like were ordered today to post their ceiling prices publicly by June 15.

The order, issued by the Office of Price Stabilization, applies to more than a million service establishments doing more than $10,000,000 of business a year and to thousands of amusement and recreation facilities.

All establishments must report their ceiling prices to the OPS. The agency said the new regulation will furnish data for development of price regulations for particular service trades.

Exempted from the order are transportation services of contract carriers, defense services, hospital services, theater tickets, and other items exempted from controls or covered by other OPS regulations.

Brother-Sister Reconciliation Move Overruled

TOPEKA (UP)—The Kansas Supreme Court overruled a lower court's order yesterday which required a divorced couple to live together "as brother and sister" in hope of a reconciliation.

Phyllis Campbell and Robert Campbell of Wichita were granted the divorce on April 27. They had been married 27 years.

Judge Ross McCormick ordered Mrs. Campbell to prepare a room for her divorced husband and "perform for him all the duties of a sister toward a brother." The judge explained he hoped to bring them together again.

Record Cargo For Huge Plane

Four Pitchers Demonstrate Mound Staffs Lead Batters

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

Big league pitchers apparently received the break of their lives when they were sent to spring training a couple of weeks ahead of the hitters this year.

Day after day, the hurlers are turning in top-flight jobs, reviving the adage that "in the spring the pitchers usually are ahead of the hitters."

There was a general demonstration of old-fashioned bear-down pitching yesterday as three veterans—little Murry Dickson, big Don Newcombe, and skinny Ewell Blackwell—plus one rookie, lefty Roger Bowman, stood the batters on their collective heads.

Not one homer did this strong-armed quartet give up, and in the only four major league games that were played, they yielded a total of just 17 hits, not bad for 33 innings and pretty spectacular for this era of the bunny ball and the shock-suey circuit clout.

Dickson, winning his fourth game against just one defeat, pitched a four-hitter as Pittsburgh topped the Phillies, 2 to 0. Blackwell, also scoring his fourth triumph, gave seven hits and no earned runs in a 4 to 1 Cincinnati triumph over the Braves. Newcombe, pitching his first complete game in three weeks, also yielded but seven hits in Brooklyn's 6 to 1 trouncing of Chicago. Bowman, working six innings against the Cardinals, was touched for just four hits and a lone run in the Giants' fourth straight victory, 3 to 2.

What's more, none of the losers turned in bad pitching jobs. Dickson had to be at his best to shade Bubba Church and reliever Jim Konstanty. Church was touched for six hits while Konstanty yielded none in the inning he worked.

Blackwell had the better of it in besting veteran Johnny Sain. He struck out six including Sam Jethroe three times. And the Cincinnati beanpole also delivered two key hits, one a long double. Sain gave up nine hits but wasn't disgraced even though it was his fourth defeat against only one win.

Blackwell would have had a shut-out, too, but for a muffed fly ball that let in the only Boston tally.

Newcombe, who has had his usual spring arm trouble, turned in his first complete nine-inning stint in three weeks and appeared to be strong at the finish. He struck out five batters, walked only two, and, like Blackwell, contributed to the Brooklyn to go 83 days ahead of attack with two timely singles. Gil Hodges hit his ninth home run for Brooklyn to go 83 days ahead of his 1950 time table when he got 22 homers.

Bowman, a tall curve-throwing lefty, gave the Cards trouble for six innings but when he began to get wild, manager Leo Durocher sent in Dave Koslo to preserve the victory. Hank Thompson sent Bowman out in front with a 2 to 0 margin on his homer in the second and Alvin Dark scored the third run in the third when he doubled and came home on Rafe Noble's single.

All American League games were rained out.

The Arm.....
Carl Furillo

There may be faster outfielders operating in the National League but none give the opposing teams more trouble than Carl Furillo. The Brooklyn right fielder rates with the very best defensively. He is a dependable fly-catcher and his arm is strong and accurate. Even the most daring base runners refrain from taking liberties with Carl's rifle-like arm.

So outstanding is Furillo's arm that his able batting is too often overlooked. Time was when Carl wasn't supposed to be able to hit right handed pitching. First it was Leo Durocher, and later Bert Shotton, who kept Carl out of action when a right hander was working against the Dodgers. When, through necessity in 1949, Carl was

Farmville Splits Against Tarboro, Robersonville

FARMVILLE — Coach Elbert Moye's nine got back into the win column last night as they turned in a 6-0 victory over Robersonville in a Coastal Conference contest. The victory moves the Farmville team into the third place position in Coastal Conference standings which were won this year by Ayden High School.

Webb, on the mound for the Farmville boys, turned in a neat two-hit performance as he held the visitors under control at all times which enabled the locals to move on the victory. The win last night gives the Farmville team a 6-6 record for the year.

Both teams played errorless ball all the way, with the only scoring by Farmville coming in the bottom of the first and second innings when they pushed across three runs in each frame to take the 6-0 victory.

Webb for Farmville and Fleming for Robersonville each struck out 13 men in the seven inning contest.

GHS Track Team Goes To Meet In Chapel Hill

The Greenville High School track team, some 14 boys strong, left this morning to take part in the annual State High School track meet which opens today in Chapel Hill.

A field of more than 200 students from 19 different schools over the state will be on hand for the annual event.

Durham High School, winners for the past four years, has more than 20 entries while Charlotte Central, High Point, Raleigh and Reynolds of Winston-Salem also have 20 entries in many of the events, with special emphasis on the mile, half mile, broad jump, discus and other running events.

Team members making the trip today are: Glenn Scott, J. D. Mayo, Billy Wooten, Joe Rowland, A. Joseph, Fletcher Murray, Wallace Conway, Bobby Langston, Kent Lee, Guy Smith, Johnny Russell, John Jorgenson and Cletus Oakley.

The team was accompanied on the trip by Coach Bill Kittrell.

Middleweights Clash For Possible Shot At Crown

NEW YORK —(UP)— Eugene (Silent) Hairston and Walter Cartier, two of the brightest youngsters in the middleweight ranks, tangle at Madison Square Garden tonight with a possible September title shot as the stake.

Hairston, the dusky deaf-mute, was a 7-5 favorite to beat his fellow New Yorker, although Cartier wrested a 10-pound decision from him in their first meeting a year and a half ago.

The scrap signals the return of boxing to the Garden after a five-week absence while the circus was in town. And it starts an ambitious program by the International Boxing Club, which next week stages the welterweight title bout between Johnny Bratton and Kid Gavilan.

Hairston was a principal in the last Garden bout five weeks ago, losing a narrow decision to Gavilan. And on April 30, he knocked out Paul Pender of Boston in the third round.

The winner probably will be hailed as the top U.S. challenger for the middleweight crown now worn by Ray Robinson. The way is clear, now that ex-champion Jake Lamotta has gone into the light heavyweight ranks and Ray Barnes of Detroit has gone into the army.

New Bern Edges Robins By 6-4

By BERT MOYE

A two-run homer by Centerfielder Walt McJunkin in the bottom of the eighth frame provided the New Bern Bears with a 6-4 win over the Greenville Robins in New Bern last night to even the two-game series between the two clubs.

McJunkin's homer came after Frank Tepedino had been issued a free pass to first. The Robins had knotted the count at 4-4 in the top half of the eighth with a three-run rally.

Johnny Kovalchick went the route for the Robins and gave up a total of 10 hits, including a single, triple and a homer. He walked three men and struck out a like number. The loss for Kovalchick was his second of the current season.

Red Benton went the route for the Bears and scattered 11 hits very effectively to gain his second win of the season. Only one of his hits was for an extra base—that being a double by Sandy DeMartino.

Manager John Strela led the 11-hit attack for the Robins with three singles in four trips which drove in two of the Robins' runs.

The Robins travel to Kingston tonight to meet the Eagles in the first of a two-game series and return home Saturday night for the second contest.

Grimesland Tops Winterville Nine

GRIMESLAND—Grimesland High School brought down the curtain on its 1951 baseball season yesterday afternoon after taking a 9-7 victory over Winterville High School.

Grimesland scored one run in the first inning, bouncing back in the bottom of the second frame to collect six big runs for the margin of victory, and adding one more in the sixth frame.

Winterville scored once in the second, once in the third, two in the fourth and three in the seventh as a last inning rally failed.

The victory yesterday brings Grimesland's record for the year to seven victories against four defeats.

Gaskins opened on the mound for Grimesland and was later relieved by Hunt, with Gaskins receiving credit for the win.

Watson and Roberson shared the pitching chores for the losers.

Leading batters for the Grimesland attack were Bobby Ray Ward, with two for three, Billy Boyd, with three for four, and McRoy with two for three.

Butts led Winterville with two hits in four trips at the plate.

Saad's Shoe Shop	37	44 .469
Norris Texaco	27	54 .333

Carolina Grill, after laboring hard and long in the pursuit of State Highway, pulled up even this week with the league leaders after they have its usual marksmanship as beat Saad's in two games. The Grill's tying mark was aided by Norris' two wins over the highway.

Bob Rath led the Grill with a 445 mark on games of 134, 172 and 139 for the three. His teammates backed him up considerable as all rolled totals over the 400 mark. However, G. Harris of Saad's copped the season's third high singles score when he rolled 221 in his second game. His three-game total was 514 and would have been even higher had he not slipped in the third outing to 119.

Leading last place Norris in its two game win over the Highway was S. David with 467, one of the three being a 205 game. Highway didn't have its usual marksmanship as only one player broke 400. That was G. Taylor with 453. He started out well with a 191 but dropped back in the next two games to 140 and 122.

The league has two more nights in which to complete the season of 88 games. They will wind up play May 24.

Other Mickey Mantles In History Of Baseball

By SYD KRONISH

AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Baseball fans from coast to coast have been hearing the "Cinderella" story of Mickey Mantle, the 19-year-old switch hitter, who made the jump from the Class C Joplin, Mo., Miners to the New York Yankees.

But there have been other players who have made the big jump from a low minor league to the majors.

The first to jump from a Class D league to the "big time" was Miguel Gonzales. In 1941 he came directly from Long Branch, N. J., in the New York-New Jersey League to the Cincinnati Reds. Gonzales became the team's regular catcher.

Rogers Hornsby bounced from Denison, Tex., in Class D to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1915. He played 119 games at shortstop for Denison that year and batted .277. On Aug. 20 the Cards purchased the Texan for a reported $500. He then finished the '15 season with the Red Birds and hit a lowly .246 in 18 games. The next year, his first full season with the Cards,

Lopez Says His Indians Now Have Winning Combine

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Manager Al Lopez said today the acquisition of outfielder Sam Chapman "definitely gives us a winning combination" but indicated the Cleveland Indians are still seeking to strengthen the team.

Chapman was acquired yesterday in a straight deal with the Philadelphia Athletics for Allie Clark and Lou Klein. It was the Tribe's third deal within 10 days with the Athletics. They had previously obtained pitchers Lou Brissie and Charley Harris.

Lopez conceded the latest trade greatly strengthened the Indians but said the Yankees "still are the team to beat."

He said Chapman will be his regular right fielder.

MacArthur Plans To Attend Game

NEW YORK—(UP)—Gen Douglas MacArthur will attend tonight's game between the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phillies at the Polo Grounds.

MacArthur will be accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney and Lt. Col. Anthony Storey. His 13-year-old son Arthur will not attend.

The general's visit to the Polo Grounds will be his first informal appearance since he was relieved of his Far Eastern commands by President Truman.

Three Cardinal Pitchers Ailing

NEW YORK—(UP)—Three sick St. Louis Cardinal pitchers and Coach Mike Ryba will have to follow their team's game in Cincinnati tonight by radio.

Ryba and pitchers George Munger, Howie Pollet, and Harry Brecheen were left behind for treatment of their flu last night.

Scout Excited Over Play Of Chisox Rookie

FORT WORTH, Tex. —(AP)— Frank Bridges scouts for the Brooklyn Dodgers but he's really excited with the showing of Jim Busby, Chicago White Sox rookie.

It isn't treason at all. It's just the pride of a fellow who assays diamond gold.

Bridges signed Busby to his first professional contract.

Frank was a scout for the White Sox then—three years ago while Busby was a student at Texas Christian University.

Bridges was so convinced that James Franklin Busby had talent that he prevailed on the White Sox to make the fleet outfielder a better offer than any other club.

Busby has been the sensation of the majors and Bridges was the guy who put him there. Why should not he feel good about it?

The SIREN of SILVER VALLEY

By PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

AP Newsfeatures

Jeff wheeled his horse and stared. A column of smoke was rising, growing in denseness as he watched.

His first thought was of Diana and it seemed as though his heart had leaped into his throat, choking him. A shout of alarm coming directly to her had not entered his head; now suddenly he remembered Shag Dolan and the hatred he bore her.

He wheeled his horse again, his face tight. "Get your men! Get them down there as fast as they can travel!"

"But, Jeff, we can't save the place. By the time we get there—"

men who he guessed were from the Lazy K and the 88, and he picked out the forms of Jose and Maria. When they drew still nearer he saw two figures stretched out on blankets and knew they were Walk Kirk and Ben Dowd. But no Diana!

He was sweating and swearing when he pulled up in the yard. He dropped from his horse and ran to Maria and seized her by the fat shoulders and shook her. "Where's Diana? Where is she?" Maria turned her stolid face to him and blinked. "Hug?"

"Where's Diana? Damn it, talk!" The Senora Denton ees go to the hotel. Too much mans.

He let her go and drew a deep breath of relief. He was weak and trembling. Diana was safe in Silverstone. He stumbled over to where Walt Kirk lay on his blanket. He said, "What happened?"

"Shag and a bunch of his men come bustin into the house. They was lookin' for Diana but she'd gone to Silverstone. They got mad and fired the buildin's. Jose and Maria got me out."

Jeff's men were arriving, but there was nothing they could do. Their horses were tired from the fast run and they loosened cinches and squatted on the ground. Jeff sat on the edge of the watering trough and mopped his forehead. Shad had planned to seize Diana, he felt sure, and when he had found her gone he had fired the building in his rage.

Gradually the weakness of reaction wore off and he was able

"Take my orders, damn it! It's Diana I'm think of. Get your men and ride down there fast!"

He sped away towards the creek before Tombstone could answer. The cowboy shook his head worriedly, then went scampering back towards the hills.

Jeff shouted to his men as he ran, pointing to the lower end of the valley. "Everybody on his horse! Back to the ranch house! They've fired it and Diana's there!" They ran for their horses and Jeff continued to the creek. He routed out the flankers and sent them down the valley, then followed as rapidly as his horse could travel. The hell with the fence! The hell with everything but Diana!

As they neared the place Jeff could see figures moving about through the binoculars as best he could at an all-out gallop. He saw to think and reason coherently. Perhaps this raid was designed to draw them away from the fence. Perhaps—

He sprang to his feet, flung a quick order to his men. "Hit the saddles, boys, we got work to finish."

They mounted listlessly and followed him out on the range. They rode slowly, the horses still lopy. Half way up the valley they sighted a cloud of dust in the sky and presently they felt the earth beneath them tremble. Jeff flung a hand in the air and halted them, then got out the binoculars.

Tombstone said sharply, "Ain' no use lookin' I know what they sound means. 'It's a stampede, Feilers, I'm headin' for the hills.'"

He swung his horse to the left and sent it leaping for the range of hills at the side of the valley, and the others lost no time in following him. Jeff uttered a despairing oath and sent his horse in their wake.

Ruth Starr had outfoxed him. The raid on the Double D, he was sure, had been designed to draw them away from the fence; then she and her crew had stampeded the cattle right through both fences. The work of days had been undone in a couple of hours. He would have Jeff sat his horse a little way it all to do over again.

up in the hills saw watched the stampede run itself out on the wide stretch of range below. At the same time by looking across the creek he could see the flames as the buildings collapsed one by one and became piles of smoldering rubble. Ranch house, bunkhouse, mess shack, all were gone.

But Diana was safe and not that he was infinitely thankful.

His men had loosened cinches and were squatting on their heels near their horses. He said to them, "Well, boys, we have to go in the hard way. Make camp here. I'm going to Silverstone. When the critters have quieted down a couple of you ride up the valley and see how cookie made out. If the cowboy wagon's in one piece drive it down."

He set out riding slowly, pondering plans as he rode. In Silverstone he went directly to the hotel, got Diana's room number and went upstairs to tell her the bad news.

She was reclining on the bed reading a novel when Jeff knocked and in answer to her soft, "Come in," entered. She was genuinely surprised to see him so far from the seat of operations and knew by the grim cast of his features that something dire had happened. Her face went cold and she said, "Well?"

It wasn't a very warm reception but Jeff realized that the news he brought did not warrant one. He said, "The one thing, the only thing, I feared happened. While we were running our last line of fence the Star sent Shag and some men around to the lower end of the valley. They were looking for you and when they didn't find you they fired the buildings. The house, bunkhouse and mess shack are gone."

She sat up suddenly and he saw her face go white with anger. For a moment she simply stared at him, then she released her breath and some of the chill went out of her features. "It doesn't matter. We'll simply take over the Star buildings. I've always liked their location better."

He made a despairing gesture and sank into a chair.

"You haven't heard all of it. When we saw the smoke I thought that they were going to attack us from the rear. I couldn't let that happen, especially if they had seized you. I had my men drop everything and race back there as fast as we could travel. And while we were doing it, Ruth Starr stampeded her whole herd right through our fences and they've scattered all over the valley again."

He had expected a certain amount of anger, perhaps some sharp criticism of his action, but certainly not the threads which poured from her lips.

"You fool! You senseless fool! You should have known better than to leave. Where were your wits? Didn't you realize that as long as you had your cattle penned in the hills they were beaten? My God, I thought you were intelligent!"

No Power Shortage In State, Declares CPL

By SALLY WOODHULL
United Press Staff Correspondent
RALEIGH—(UP)—Carolina Power and Light Co. took up the feud today that Gov. Kerr Scott touched off when he said there was a power shortage in the state.

"We don't want to get into a controversy with the governor, but several people have called us and we want to put out the facts," L. V. Sutton, CPL president, said at a news conference.

Sutton said the fact that there is not enough surplus power in the state to handle requirements of a large aluminum plant does not mean there is a power shortage.

He apparently referred to Scott's statement that an industrial concern turned down the state for a new plant location because of the lack of power. Scott did not name the industry.

"If an aluminum plant were to want to locate in North Carolina, the generating capacity necessary to take care of it could be installed by the time the aluminum plant itself was constructed, provided power companies were given the same priority for materials," Sutton said.

He said, W. Stuart Symington, then chairman of the National Security Resources Board, asked if his company could supply a large aluminum plant. He said he could, but that the abnormally large amount required would make it economically unfeasible for such a plant to locate in North Carolina.

Scott asked the Utilities Commission for a survey of power capacity in the state and plans for expansion during the next five years. He said private companies looked "only into the immediate future, whereas public development takes a long-range view."

Sutton said he was amused at the description of the government power project at Buggs Island as "utopian and gigantic." He said his firm's nearly-completed Goldsboro plant, operating only 85 per cent of the time, could produce five times the amount of dependable power and more than twice the average power of Buggs Island when completed.

"The Interior Department is trying to socialize the power business," he added. "Private power companies can build plants faster and cheaper than the government. If the Virginia Electric Power Co. had been allowed to start building the dam at Roanoke Rapids when it first put in the application, it would be well along by now."

Warning

Complaints have been made to police about motorists passing other vehicles on the right on the avenue. The law provides that all vehicles shall pass other vehicles on the left, except in the few making a right turn.

Firm Will Fight Hearing Delay

RICHMOND—(UP)—Virginia Electric and Power Co. officials said today they will fight an effort to postpone a hearing scheduled in June on a Roanoke Rapids, N. C., power plant.

The Interior Department is seeking postponement of court review of a Federal Power Commission order granting VEPCO permission to build a dam and power plant at Roanoke Rapids.

The Interior Department said it wants the hearing set back to the fall session of the federal circuit court of appeals to give more time to study the firm's brief.

Company officials said the department has had sufficient time to file its answer before May 22, and they will ask the court to refuse postponement.

Car In Accident; Driver Unhurt

Johnnie G. Buck, white farmer of near Greenville, had a narrow escape from injury last night, police said, when his car collided with the rear end of a big Norfolk Southern freight truck parked on a private driveway back of the Railway Express office.

The radiator on Buck's car was crushed backward almost to the windshield. A police officer estimated the damage at about $250. Buck was not hurt. The freight truck was not damaged.

Police arrested Buck on the charge of being drunk. There is no law against driving a motor vehicle on private property, an officer said.

'Peeping Tom' Gets Two Years; Caught At Woman's Window

In Police Court today, Judge J.W. H. Roberts found David Tyson, 28-year-old Negro laborer, guilty of being a "peeping Tom" and gave him two years on the roads.

Mrs. Lenard O. Burt, 207 Grande Avenue, testified that she was preparing to go to bed when the "peeping Tom" was seen at her bedroom window. Ruby Lee Boyd, colored, testified that she saw Tyson peeping in Mrs. Burt's window. The police officer investigating the case testified that he found a cigarette stub of a popular brand on the ground under the window. It was the same brand Tyson smokes.
