Higher City Tax Rate In Prospect

Aldermanic Finance Committee Concludes Either Departmental Budget Requests Must Be Cut Or Taxes Will Have To Go Up; Rate Of $1.82 Suggested

By JOHN SPINKS JR. Prospects of a higher city tax rate for the next fiscal year loomed large today as a result of a meeting of the finance committee of the board of aldermen.

Either the taxes will have to go up or the departmental requests will have to be cut. That was the upshot of the meeting at which time the mayor and committee members considered a tentative budget for 1951-52.

According to the figures submitted by the departments for the committee's approval, the requests stand out above the money receivable by more than $50,000.

And according to Mayor Stafford, the rate will have to rise to $1.82 to meet the requests or the requests will have to be curtailed.

"I anticipate getting $353,548 from all sources," the mayor stated today after meeting with committee members Ed Waldrop, R. Rogers and Robert Elks yesterday. The tentative budget for the next year amounts to $404,668.16—a difference of $51,120.16, he said.

"Instead of the $1.50 rate on the overall levy," Stafford stated, "we'll have to jump the rate to $1.82 if we comply with all requests." The committee has made no final decision concerning the budget, he said, but one will have to be made before the June meeting of the board at which time the final budget will be approved for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

All departments in the city government have increased their requests this year. Largest requested increases came from the Police Department, Street Department and the newly-formed Recreation Commission. Police funds request jumped from $80,000 this year to $105,000 for next year, the Street Department funds jumped from $82,000 this year to $122,000 next year, and the Recreation Commission jumped from $12,000 to $25,000. All increases were based on anticipated needs during the next 12 months beginning July 1, Stafford said.

One reason for the increase in the Street Department request is the note due on the new street sweeper which was bought recently with the understanding it would be paid for in next year's budget. That amounts to $10,000.

The Police request was due to the addition of three new men on the force, new uniforms and other equipment. Also this year the Recorder's Court fund has been divorced from the operation of the Police Department and has been put on its own budget which will amount to an estimated $7,750.

Stafford stated he wants it made plain that he is not trying to scare the people with a higher tax rate. But, "if we are to have the police protection we want, an up-to-date Fire Department and good streets, we've got to do something about getting more money," he said.

"A lot of people have asked me about the Powell Bill funds," he continued. "I can't obligate the new board to spending those funds in next year's budget because we won't get any until October. So we can't count on that money."

If the tax rate is raised for next year, it will mark the fourth time since the war the tax payer has been asked for an increase. In 1947 the rate was raised from $1.00

Further Atomic Tests Pave Way For New H-Bomb

AEC Reveals Successful Experiments At Eniwetok Testing Grounds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The United States announced today it had "successfully" carried out atomic tests at Eniwetok including some experiments that may lead to H-bombs.

The AEC's announcement said "in furtherance of the president's announcement of Jan. 31, 1950, the test program included experiments contributing to thermonuclear weapons research."

The term "thermonuclear" refers to reactions involving the release of atomic energy through the fusion of hydrogen atoms.

On Jan. 31 President Truman gave the go-ahead for development of the super H-bomb so that the United States may defend itself "against any possible aggressor."

"I have directed the Atomic Energy Commission to continue its work on all forms of atomic weapons, including the so-called hydrogen or super-bomb," the President said then.

"Like all other work in the field of atomic weapons, it is being and will be carried forward on a basis consistent with the over-all objectives of our program for peace and security."

Today's AEC announcement indicated that the tests at the secret Pacific proving ground were aimed also at providing new information for use in civil defense against atomic attack.

The commission said the program "also included comprehensive measurement of blast and thermal effects on structures, aircraft and various other items."

The reference to thermonuclear weapons research was the first made by the commission in connection with an actual testing program.

But there was nothing in the AEC's announcement to indicate whether or not an actual H-bomb of any appreciable size had been exploded.

Heat of many millions of degrees would be required to detonate a hydrogen bomb. While atomic bombs exploded so far have generated tremendous heat, there has been some question about whether the older type of nuclear fission could produce sufficient heat to "trigger" the hydrogen bomb.

Navy Reveals 23 Sailors Missing After Accident

NEWPORT, R. I.—(UP)—The Navy announced today that 23 men were listed as missing after a motor launch sinking in which two other sailors were known to have perished yesterday in Newport harbor.

It was not known immediately whether the list included men who were AWOL from their ships and who may not have been involved in the accident, which occurred when the launch capsized during a nor'easter.

O'Connor Hits Socialism And Organized Rackets

Maryland Senator Reviews Twin Dangers To Nation's Fabric; Reminds Listeners Gov't Does Not Owe Anyone A Living

Senator Herbert R. O'Connor (D-Md) last night lashed out at organized crime in the United States, and the socialist trends in the federal government as he addressed the members of the Pitt County Executives club.

O'Connor, chairman of the famous Senate Crime Investigating Committee, declared the alliance between organized crime and public officials in some sections of the nation "will break down eventually the whole fabric upon which this nation is built" if it is not stamped out by the people.

"The criminals throughout the nation could not operate as they do," O'Connor asserted, "unless the state and local officials had closed their eyes to the facts. Those conditions are nationwide in many large centers of population. I urge your continued interest in regard to one of the most alarming situations which poses a challenge to every decent citizen in the country—the alarming increase in the use and addiction to narcotics, particularly among the young people."

O'Connor said his committee had discovered a child only 13 years old who has become a narcotic addict. Turning to domestic spending by the federal government, the senator stated, "The government does not owe anyone a living. Nor can we agree with the doctrine now preached so vigorously by some, that government can do a better job in supplying public service for all its people than can private enterprise."

"Conditions in socialist England are the answer to the cries for a paternalistic form of government. It was not through the worship of the state that we became a great nation."

O'Connor called for an elimination of "pork barrel expenditures," more efficiency in the federal administration, and an overcoming of partisan politics in conducting the government's business.

In the realm of foreign affairs, the senator attacked Britain and other members of the United Nations for continuing to ship supplies to communist China, and likewise the American shippers who continued to send goods to communist China for months after the fighting had started in Korea.

Send Paratroops To Middle East

Crack British Unit Departing For Area Within 10 Days

LONDON—(UP)—Britain announced today that 4,000 paratroopers will be sent to the Middle East within 10 days because of "unsettled conditions" there.

The 16th Paratroop Brigade probably will be stationed in Cyprus, only a little more than 500 miles from Iran, whose government has just nationalized British-owned oil interests over British protests.

The official announcement gave few details. But other sources said Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, commander in chief in the Mediterranean, probably would send the brigade to Cyprus.

An official said the brigade would have aircraft available for training at its destination and "will be fully equipped in other respects."

Although the brigade has been alerted for more than a week, the announcement followed by only a few hours Iran's ultimatum to the Anglo-Iranian Oil giving it one week in which to appoint representatives to discuss the government's take-over.

If the company fails to comply, the Iranian announcement said, the property will be seized immediately.

All sides concede the crisis may start another world war if it deteriorates much further.

General Escapes Chinese Ambush

Two Soldiers With 7th Division Commander Killed

WITH 7TH DIVISION, Korea—(UP)—Maj. Gen. C. B. (Fireball) Ferenbaugh, commander of the 7th Infantry Division, escaped unhurt from a Chinese machine gun ambush late yesterday, but two soldiers accompanying him were killed.

Ferenbaugh's jeep and a military police escort armed with 50 calibre machine guns were riddled and wrecked by enemy fire during the four-hour ordeal on an exposed hillside on the central front.

The general, his aide and his driver escaped with only scratches and bruises, suffered in crawling over the rough terrain. The seat of Ferenbaugh's trousers was torn out by the rocks and underbrush.

The two soldiers who were killed were believed to have been military policemen riding in an accompanying jeep.

"Our jeep was in the lead," Capt. C. P. Chandler related. "When we rounded the curve, the machine gun on the hill in front of us opened up. The slugs went over us and sprayed the MP jeep behind us."

Eighth Army Pursues Swiftly Fleeing Reds

Believes Russians In Korean Air War

Gen. Collins 'Convinced' Russians Flying Some Of Communist Planes In Korea; Much Soviet-Made Equipment

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Gen. J. Lawton Collins said today "We are quite convinced" that Russians are flying some of the communist planes in Korea.

Collins, Army Chief of Staff, also said that equipment captured from the Chinese Reds is "mostly Russian."

Collins was testifying at the Senate inquiry into foreign policy and the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

In a general discussion of the situation as to air war, Collins said "the Russian air has never come down below this river up here in any strength."

He was using a map and the river was not immediately identified in the stenographic transcript. Presumably it was the Yalu, the river forming the boundary between Korea and Manchuria.

Then Collins said his use of the word "Russian" was a slip of the tongue "because they have not been in at all."

He added: "But the Chinese air, some of which we are quite convinced is flown by Russians is what I am talking about."

Briefing the Senators generally on the Korean situation as of this time, Collins said the Allies have moved to the counter-offensive and the Red Chinese "are in pretty complete retreat along the front."

He also said the Red Chinese suffered tremendous casualties in the opening of their spring offensive.

Collins, in his first appearance before them, was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Miles Reber, chief of legislative liaison for the Army, and Lt. Col. M. F. Gilchrist, an aide. A big map of the fighting area was set up for his use in discussing the general tactical situation in Korea.

As did earlier witnesses, Collins testified behind closed doors. A stenographic report of his testimony was given reporters after being combed by censors for removal of matter they thought should not be made public.

At the outset Chairman Russell (D-Ga) suggested that Collins bring the committee members up to date on the fighting in Korea, briefing them on the latest front line reports.

What Collins said in response was heavily censored.

At one point after 220 words had been deleted by the censor, Collins said:

"Now, one of the British brigades was thrown in aid did a perfectly magnificent job in holding that breach, while General Van Fleet shifted his reserves in order to contain this penetration."

That was successfully done, and the Chinese then were brought to a halt, and with a tremendous number of casualties; so, they had to fall back again."

The censor then blanked out another 70 words.

Corporation Set To Build Grifton Homes

By MURIEL SHOTWELL GRIFTON—Grifton Homes, Inc., a newly organized corporation, will begin immediately on the construction of 41 houses in Grifton Heights.

The corporation was organized by E. N. Richards and W. E. Witt of Raleigh, both of whom attended the community welcome for DuPont officials several weeks ago. They were impressed at that time with possibilities for the rapid expansion of Grifton, and began to make plans for the local housing development.

Construction of the houses in Grifton Heights began this week with the laying out of batten boards and yesterday the digging of the foundations began. Witt was in Grifton Wednesday and stated he expects to complete the buildings within 90 to 120 days.

The Town of Grifton has had several meetings arranging for the installation of the water main which will cost approximately $3,000 and for the installation of a sewer outfall line at approximately $5,500, to serve this project.

In addition to the town officials, Grifton Homes, Inc. was assisted in the planning of their project through the cooperation of the Stallworth-Nelson Realty Company, and the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company of Greenville, who will handle the FHA loans on the housing project.

Grifton Heights is located in the eastern section of the town, adjacent to the school property and between the new and old Vanceboro highways. The two and three bedroom houses will be attractively designed and built to conform to Federal Housing Administration specifications.

Roger Johnson, Grifton's mayor, stated the project was one of the finest things that has ever happened to Grifton and it will be an asset to the town.

Costs U. S. $10 To Buy Anything

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The government still spends $10 every time it buys anything—even if the article purchased only cost a few pennies.

Jess Larson, general services administrator told a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee in testimony just made public, that the government is "attacking" the problem and hopes eventually to cut the cost to $2.

The bulk of the expense in buying things, he explained, goes into the paper work required and salaries of persons to keep the books.

Attempt To Destroy Chinese Army In North Korea As Fighting Force; Van Fleet Says Troops Will Go 'Wherever The Situation Dictates'

By EARNEST HOBERECIT TOKYO, Saturday—(UP)—United Nations forces smashed savagely at the fleeing Chinese Communist army in North Korea Friday in an effort to destroy it as a fighting force.

"We have a good chance to eliminate a good chunk of the Chinese army in Korea and we are going to exploit it to the hilt," a regimental executive officer said.

Allied warplanes hit two fleeing Red divisions clogging the roads in clear daylight north of Chunchon and estimated they killed 2,000 in four smashing fighter-bomber strikes.

A second American tank task force ramed across the 38th parallel on the main Seoul-Uijongbu highway in pursuit of the disorganized Reds.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet issued a general order to his 8th Army to "find and kill the enemy."

But he cautioned against the hope of trapping the main Chinese Communist force.

One of the main targets of the Allied pursuit was a Chinese Communist force of two army corps attempting to escape from their breakthrough into South Korea on the eastern front.

Allied artillery thundered continuously against a fleeing Chinese column on the west-central front. The column contained 3,000 men, 150 pack animals, eight artillery pieces and 20 trucks.

Van Fleet crossed into Communist North Korea and said his 8th Army would "go wherever the situation dictates in hot pursuit of the enemy."

The 8th forged ahead four miles and more all across Korea on the heels of the retreating, beaten Communist armies.

South Korean patrols stabbed over the 38th parallel in the west above Seoul. U. S. units northeast of the former capital pushed within three miles of the parallel.

On the central front, motorized columns of Allied infantry crossed the Saying and Pukhan rivers north of recaptured Chunchon, eight miles below the parallel. They reported the enemy fleeing in disorder.

"Some groups were running," a front dispatch said. "Vehicles pulling field pieces used the road in daylight, unusual for the Communists. There was no semblance of order among the Reds."

The 2nd Division tank-infantry spearhead which swept across the parallel yesterday forded the Soyang River today and rolled on virtually unopposed to the outskirts of Inje, two miles farther north-east.

American reinforcements swarmed across the frontier behind the vanguard. Other units drove Chinese from the mountains on both sides of the Hongchon-Inje road in bitter fighting.

Van Fleet, commander of U. N. ground forces and of the 8th Army, spiked once and for all suggestions that his forces might pause at the parallel to give the enemy a chance to negotiate a settlement.

Dangers All Around

Soviet Cold War Tactics Thus Far Dependent Largely On Satellites; Iran A Different Story; Russia Taking Chances; Other Areas Where Reds May Act

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

General Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, told the Senate committee of inquiry yesterday that while Iran is a danger point he is "not too sure the Russians are going to start something in Iran before they start it somewhere else."

Last weekend Admiral Forrest O. Sherman, Chief of Naval Operations, said in a speech the United States might have to fight a whole series of "relatively small wars" if it intends to defend the free world.

These two rather general statements strike me as fitting in with the idea that, instead of early development of world conflict, the "cold war" may continue indefinitely. In any event, these appraisals don't conflict with the idea of a continuation of present Bolshevik tactics.

Of course one hastens to qualify this thought with a reiteration of the ever-present dangers of a major explosion. So long as communism continues to juggle with peace, just so long will those dangers exist.

Still, the "cold war" in Moscow's

In Terms Of Billions

Billions Of Dollars For Almost Any Purpose Has Lost Its Impact On The Public Mind; It's A Vast Sum, And Here's Why It's Going To Mutual Aid

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington—(AP)—The word "billions" is almost common; billions for defense, billions in taxes, billions for running the government. It's almost lost its power to surprise.

That's one of the reasons, perhaps, why yesterday there was no particular surprise when President Truman asked Congress for $5,500,000,000 in round figures to send arms and economic help abroad.

The other reason was simply that he was not springing something new. He only asked Congress to approve for next year about as much money for the same purposes as it had voted this year.

For the 1951 fiscal year—which began July 1, 1950 and ends June 30, 1951—Congress voted $8,600,000 for arms and economic help for other countries.

The $8.5 billion which Mr. Truman asked for yesterday, to carry out the same kind of aid program, is for the 1952 fiscal year beginning July 1, 1951 and ending June 30, 1952.

(This, of course, is in addition to the $60,000,000 which Mr. Truman asked Congress to approve for this country's own defenses in the 1952 fiscal year. He asked for that a couple of weeks ago.)

Mr. Truman's name for this arms-economic help plan is the Mutual Security Program. His explanation why he thinks it's necessary can be stated this way: "Although we're the strongest nation in the world, the world is a lot bigger than we are. And we can't stand alone against the rest of it if the rest of it turns to communism or is conquered by communism."

So, to have allies and keep them out of the grip of communism, we must join with some of them in arming for our mutual defense; we must help others re-arm; and we must extend economic aid.

To the question—why don't we spend the money re-arming ourselves? Mr. Truman's answer is: "For the dollars we spend this way, we get more strength and security than if we spent the same amount in national re-arming."

Army Estimates Red Casualties Over One Million

WASHINGTON—(UP)—The Army reported today that the communists have suffered an estimated 1,025,404 casualties in the Korean War in the period through Wednesday of this week.

This is an increase of 20,616 over the last report which covered the period from the start of the war through May 7.

For the first time, the Army did not divide the enemy casualties for North Koreans and Chinese Communists.

A spokesman said prisoners of war through May 23 totaled 150,075.

In contrast the United States casualties through May 18 totaled 66,816.

Truman Only Candidate As Demos Select Site

DENVER—(AP)—President Truman was the only candidate in sight today as the Democratic National Committee met here to pick its 1952 presidential nominating convention site.

The meeting was set for noon eastern standard time.

Although Philadelphia still was bidding, Chicago led the inside track for the convention, expected to be held the week of July 21, 1952, two weeks after the Republicans meet there to name their nominee.

Philadelphia raised its bid to $367,000 in cash and benefits. Miami offered $300,000.

National committee members made it plain individually in interviews and collectively in cheering approval of his programs that Mr. Truman has but to lift his finger to win nomination for a new term.

The President said again yesterday he is going to do in 1952 but isn't telling anyone his decision. This has been variously interpreted as indicating that he will—or will not—run. If he should run, the President told a Washington news conference yesterday, he would regard it as a try for a second rather than a third term. Although he went to the White House in 1945, Mr. Truman was elected to his first four-year term in 1948.

Study Of Christian Science Presented At Aries Club

As the concluding study on the theme of "Believers and Creeds of the World," Miss Elizabeth Hyman talked to members of the Aries Book Club Thursday night when it met with Mrs. John Reynolds in the parlor of Wilson Hall.

Miss Hyman read a paper prepared by the Committee on Publications for the Christian Science Church, designed especially for use among non-Christian Science groups. The paper stated the purpose of Christian Scientists was to save the sinners and heal the sick through proper scientific applications of the principles as taught by Jesus, the Apostles and Old Testament prophets.

A brief biographical sketch of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of the principles of Christian Science, was followed by an account of the organization of the church. At present there are more than 2900 Christian Science churches throughout the world. "Mother Church," the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., was organized by Mrs. Eddy in 1822.

They were actively engaged in work with the service men in the army camps.

The talk by Miss Hyman was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A lively and interesting discussion followed in which the members posed questions concerning this often misunderstood branch of the Christian faith.

Miss Grace Outland presided over the meeting in the absence of the president. New year books were distributed, and the club was high in its praise of the covers, which were painted by Mrs. W. C. Goodwin. During the business session the club voted to add the duties of an historian to those already being performed by the reporter.

The hostess served an ice course with cakes and nuts at the conclusion of the meeting. Special guests for the evening were Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, Mrs. Warfield Syrett, Mrs. Lloyd Bray and Miss Hyman.

There are no ordained priests or preachers, stated Miss Hyman, and in each church there are two readers, elected by the membership for a period of two years, who conduct the Sunday services. These readers use for their sermon topics prepared and sent out from the Mother Church and used simultaneously throughout all the churches on a given Sunday. The lesson-sermon consists of readings from the Bible and the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

During their midweek services, there are readings from the Bible, textbook, pamphlets and personal testimony from members of the congregation. A Sunday School is maintained in each church for young people under the age of twenty.

Miss Hyman mentioned the practitioners of the church, those people who are elected by the Mother Church to aid others in healing experiences. There is a reading room in each church where periodicals, pamphlets and books about Christian Science are available for the use of anyone who is interested in them.

In addition to the work in the churches, the Christian Science church maintains a large publishing house where weeklies, monthlies and quarterlies are printed for use throughout the world. They also publish a daily newspaper, the Christian Science Monitor, which rates high in the publishing field. They maintain two sanitariums, a home for the aged, a welfare fund for use in time of natural disasters, and during the war, they were actively engaged in work with the service men in the army camps.

Emily Rice Feted At Bridge And Kitchen Shower

Miss Emilie DuPree entertained with a bridge and kitchen shower at her home on Friday night, May 18, in honor of Miss Emily Rice, who was married on last Sunday.

Upon the arrival of the guests were invited to find their places at card tables which were placed in the living room amid a setting of lovely summer flowers.

During the card playing, iced drinks were served. At the conclusion of play, prizes were given to Miss Rice for high, to Miss Dorothy Wilson for second high, and to Miss Ruth Page for the floating prize.

The honoree was given a novelty corsage and china in her selected pattern by the hostess. She was also the recipient of many lovely shower gifts of kitchen articles from the guests who were present.

After the opening of the shower gifts, the hostess, assisted by her mother, served bridal ices, cakes and nuts. Mrs. C. B. Rice, mother of the honoree, joined the guests at the refreshment hour.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Brown and little daughter, Jane, left Sunday for Silver Spring Md., to spend a few days with Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Tom Denaney.

There are no ordained priests or preachers, stated Miss Hyman, and in each church there are two readers, elected by the membership for a period of two years, who conduct the Sunday services. These readers use for their sermon topics prepared and sent out from the Mother Church and used simultaneously throughout all the churches on a given Sunday. The lesson-sermon consists of readings from the Bible and the textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

During their midweek services, there are readings from the Bible, textbook, pamphlets and personal testimony from members of the congregation. A Sunday School is maintained in each church for young people under the age of twenty.

Miss Hyman mentioned the practitioners of the church, those people who are elected by the Mother Church to aid others in healing experiences. There is a reading room in each church where periodicals, pamphlets and books about Christian Science are available for the use of anyone who is interested in them.

In addition to the work in the churches, the Christian Science church maintains a large publishing house where weeklies, monthlies and quarterlies are printed for use throughout the world. They also publish a daily newspaper, the Christian Science Monitor, which rates high in the publishing field. They maintain two sanitariums, a home for the aged, a welfare fund for use in time of natural disasters, and during the war, they were actively engaged in work with the service men in the army camps.

The talk by Miss Hyman was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A lively and interesting discussion followed in which the members posed questions concerning this often misunderstood branch of the Christian faith.

Miss Grace Outland presided over the meeting in the absence of the president. New year books were distributed, and the club was high in its praise of the covers, which were painted by Mrs. W. C. Goodwin. During the business session the club voted to add the duties of an historian to those already being performed by the reporter.

The hostess served an ice course with cakes and nuts at the conclusion of the meeting. Special guests for the evening were Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, Mrs. Warfield Syrett, Mrs. Lloyd Bray and Miss Hyman.

Jean Cherry Honored At Shower Party

Miss Jean Cherry, who will be married in June to Joe Clark, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower party given on Wednesday night by Mrs. H. L. Lewis Jr. and Mrs. W. T. Coghlin at the home of the former on East Sixth Street.

The home was decorated with profusions of lovely roses. The hostesses greeted the guests at the door and welcomed them into the living room, where they enjoyed the playing of many games, under the direction of Mrs. Chas. Jackson.

At the conclusion of the game hour, the hostesses served iced drinks, sandwiches, nuts, mints and fruit cake.

Miss Cherry was the recipient of many lovely shower gifts from the guests present. The gifts were arranged on an attractively appointed table, and the occasion of opening the packages was one of much merriment and pleasure.

Miss Cherry was given a corsage of white carnations by the hostesses. Also remembered with similar corsages were three recent brides, Mrs. Lois Edwards Fleming, Mrs. Edith Holley and Mrs. Alice Jones Singletary, who were also given gifts.

W. S. C. S. To Install Officers

Officers for the year 1951-52 in the Woman's Society of Christian Service will be installed at the conclusion of the regular church service on Sunday morning at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church.

All officers are urged to be present for this impressive ceremony, which is to be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Leon Russell.

Community Sing at Winterville

There will be a community sing at the Winterville elementary-school auditorium fourth Sunday night, May 27, at 7:30. It will be sponsored by the Fortines Christian Workers class of the Winterville-Free-Will Baptist Sunday school. Guests from at least three counties have been invited to sing. There will be a number of quartets, duets, soloists, a trio, and one choir who will sing. Rev. N. D. Beaman, pastor of the Winterville Free Will Baptist church will be master of ceremonies. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Pocahontas And Red Men Convene In High Point

The Great Council Degree of Pocahontas and Improved Order of Red Men held their annual meeting in High Point May 13 through 15th with the Sheraton Hotel as headquarters. Officers and representatives from all parts of North Carolina were in attendance, among them the following from Greenville:

Mesdames Cassie Sawyer, Bruce Hemby, Stella Fleming, Geneva Webb, Essie Barrow, Betty Nobles, Callie Rue Williams and Dora Bozeman, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Hemby, Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Worthington and Mr. Floyd Mills.

The Death Benefit Meeting of the Great Council was held in the ball room of the hotel on Monday morning. Officers were elected for the coming year and other business attended to.

The Pocahontas held their meetings in the Baptist Church and the Red Men held their meetings in the hotel ballroom, both opening their meetings on Monday afternoon.

Great Pocahontas, Pauline Hurd of Cramerton, opened the meeting with a beautiful and most impressive ceremony with all officers dressed in white. Talks by all elective officers were enjoyed very much. All officers and committees made very good and interesting reports of the past year activities.

Monday evening the memorial service was held in the hotel ballroom with all state officers attired in white formal attire. As the roll of deceased members was called flowers were placed in a large tomahawk (the symbol of the degree). This was a beautiful service and very impressive.

Great Pocahontas Pauline Hurd asked all state officers to meet at the Princess Ann Cafe for breakfast on Monday morning. At this time she presented a hand painted program and breakfast plate to each of her officers. These officers later presented her a beautiful wrist watch and fountain pen.

On Tuesday morning both Red Men and Pocahontas met in their respective places for their meetings at which time routine business was attended to. Second Scout Essie Barrow at the left hand of the presiding officer was quite busy assisting her during the meetings.

Betty Nobles, chairman of State Finance Committee, was busy with her committee auditing the books, records and expenses of the year and meeting. This committee gave a very good and detailed report along with several recommendations which were accepted and adopted.

Callie Rue Williams, as one of the color guards, assisted in the meetings and her work added much color to them.

The Past Great Pocahontas and Past Great Sachems of North Carolina held their annual banquet in the Princess Ann Cafe on Monday evening preceding the memorial service. According to Betty Nobles, a member of this group, the banquet and entertainment was a most enjoyable affair.

At a public installation of officers for the Degree of Pocahontas for the next year the following officers were installed. Mrs. Gladys Wynne of Washington, N. C., Great Pocahontas, Mrs. Jennie Hawkins of Gastonia, Great Wagonah, Mrs. Pauline Hurd of Cramerton, Great Prophetess, Mrs. Marion Vincent of Winterville as Great Minnehaha, Stella Fleming of Greenville, Great First Scout, Dora Bozeman of Greenville, Chairman of Great Board of Appeals, Cassie Sawyer of Greenville, District Deputy, and Callie Rue Williams of Greenville, Great Council Deputy Pocahontas. This installation was most impressive. As a climax to this Great Council meeting a banquet was held in the hotel ballroom followed by a dance.

Bridge Party Given For Lucille McGowan

Mrs. George A. Brown was hostess at three tables of bridge on Thursday night in honor of Miss Lucille McGowan who will be married May 26th.

Various arrangements of flowers were used in the living room, on tables and on the mantel, to lend grace and beauty to the home.

The place of the honoree was marked with a bridal tally and a white carnation corsage. Upon arrival the players were served a dessert course, and during the progression of cards iced drinks and salted nuts were passed.

High score was won by Miss Eleanor Norris while Alef Collins was declared winner of low score.

At the conclusion of play, the honoree was presented a gift of crystal by the hostess.

Benefit Dinner Planned
There will be a benefit dinner given at the Community Building in Pactivol on Sunday, May 27, from 12:30-2:00 p. m.

The members of the Pactivol Baptist church, the Home Demonstration club and the Ruritan club are co-sponsors for the event. Tickets may be purchased from the Dinner committee or from Mrs. J. P. Davenport, Mrs. C. J. Satterthwaite or Mr. James Chauncey. A post card mailed to any of the above will reserve a plate for the dinner, and the committee is asking that everyone planning to attend make a reservation.

Diners may have a choice of barbecue, chicken or country ham, complete with all kinds of country vegetables and cakes.

Celebrates Birthday

On Wednesday evening Ebern Earl Allen delightfully entertained 23 of his young friends celebrating his 11th birthday. Bingo, the donkey game and drop the pins were enjoyed by the young group. Following the games refreshments were served which consisted of ice cream, nuts, cookies and minis. At the conclusion of the party Ebern opened his gifts and thanked each of the guests. Among those present were Betty Lane Evans, Myrtle Mills, Carolyn Rogerson, Carolyn Smith, Songie Godwin, Darden Phillips, Jo Ann Parks, Nannie Sue Crawford, Clara Faye Crawford, Ganet Allen, Iona Jones, Ben F. Singleton, Billy Forrest, Bobby Evans, Kay Smith, Bobby Hemby, Maylon Edmondson, Eugene Gurganus, Franklin Steinbeck, Tommie Malden, Andy Peacock, Kenneth Allen and Phil Davis. Also present for the happy occasion were Ebern's grandmothers, Mrs. Onan Allen and Mrs. W. A. Eilers.

Churches of Christ, Scientist "Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon for all Christian Science churches next Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Isaiah (26:8). "In the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee."

Passages from the Bible include: "For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heav-

Washington Kiwanis Club Here Tonight For Supper Meeting

Members of the Washington Kiwanis Club will join with the Greenville Kiwanis Club for a supper meeting here tonight at 6:30. Bill Dole, football coach at East Carolina College, is chairman of the Inter-Club Relations Committee, said an entertaining program will be presented.

Dr. H. Glenn Haney is president of the Greenville club.

Roland B. Modlin is president of the Washington club. The Greenville Kiwanis Club sponsored the organizing of the club in Washington about four or five years ago. Arthur Tripp, now a past president of the Greenville club, was the leader in the movement to organize the club in the City on the Pamlico River.

The movement of the solar system, so Christian Science reverses the seeming relations of Soul and body and makes body tributary to Mind. Thus it is with man, who is but the humble servant of the restful Mind, though it seems otherwise to finite sense. But we shall never understand this while we admit that soul is in body or mind in matter, and that man is included in non-intelligence." (p. 119-120)

Christian Church Announcements
Mr. Louis W. Gaylord Jr. and Mr. Spruill Spain will be the main speakers on the program at the Christian Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service when the church observes its "Laymen's Day." The entire service will be in charge of the laymen of the church. The men will conduct the worship and the communion under the direction of Mr. Milo H. Smith, chairman of the board and an elder of the church. Mr. T. I. Wagner will be in charge of the program. Brief remarks will be made by B. B. Sugg and the intercessory prayer will be led by Mr. W. E. Hooker. The elders in charge of communion will be Mr. J. Roy Martin and David Evans. An octet of men from the choir will sing "O God, Our Help In Ages Past" by Craft. The whole congregation of men will be led by James Ray Pittman in the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." All the men of the church and Sunday school and any interested friends are cordially invited to this service.

The Chi-Rho group will meet at the church at 4:30 Sunday afternoon for initiation of new members and supper will be served to the youth groups at 6:30. Their program will be short giving to all an opportunity to attend the baccalaureate occasion at the Greenville High School.

Young people interested in the annual young people's conference held at Wilson during the week of June 2-8 will secure application blanks immediately and register.

Strength for the Day

FACING THE PSYCHIATRISTS
The little publican Zacchaeus, described by the evangelist Luke, is one of the most interesting figures in the Bible.

The psychiatrist would have exclaimed over Zacchaeus. He was everything that a psychiatrist likes to work on. He had an inferiority complex. He was little of stature. He was maladjusted to such an extent that everybody hated him. He had plenty of wealth but it got him nowhere.

But Jesus saw in this unhappy, introverted little publican the possibility of real manhood. When Jesus passed through Jericho, Zacchaeus, because he was little of stature, climbed into a tree that he might see the great Man. And Zacchaeus in the tree is a symbol—he was above the crowd in every way. He had the stuff in him out of which God could make a man.

The saints are the sinners who keep on trying. Zacchaeus had been slapped down by the people of Jericho until he was sorry for himself and as mean and unscrupulous as the rest of the publicans. But Jesus took an interest in him, and there was something in the little man which responded. At the end of that eventful day in the life of Zacchaeus, he had become a figure of such unselfishness, a man mastered by such a deep love, that Jesus spoke of him in terms of enthusiasm and praise.

A Wide-Awake Campaign In Kinston

When the public conscience is stirred, you get results; at least that appears to be the conviction of the Kinston Daily Free Press.

That newspaper has been conducting an editorial campaign against gambling in Lenoir County. In addition to stressing the moral penalties involved in the condoning of gambling the paper has quoted statutes relating to the conditions it seeks to combat.

Seeming apathy and indifference by local organizations and officials have been noted and dissatisfaction expressed.

To date, the paper's determined campaign has won general approval and a letter of commendation from J. Edgar Hoover. The targets of criticism have remained silent, apparently in hopes the "tempest" will wear itself out.

We don't think it will; the Free Press is fulfilling the responsibility of a good newspaper with the perseverance and alertness to the needs of public welfare.

Tighten The Belt Another Notch

The individual taxpayer may as well take up another notch in his money belt to pay the across the board 12 1/2 per cent income tax boost levied by the House tax writers.

Just like everything else, taxes already are sky high and apparently are going higher. The policy of the men who draft the tax laws, however unpleasant it may be to the individual citizen, is sound. There is a surplus of money in circulation in this country. If the surplus dollars are not taken out of circulation through increased taxes, they will cause an even more inflated economy than the country already has.

The trend toward greater inflation must be curbed. The government expenses must be paid.

But one of the most important items which the government officials have tended to overlook through the years, is that a dollar's worth of value should be received for each and every one of the tax payer's dollars spent by the government.

With the national mobilization, the government expenses are growing by leaps and bounds. Unfortunately the efficiency in the government is taking exactly the opposite course.

If the officials would place the government spending on as sound a policy as they have placed the taxing program, the nation would be a great deal better off.

The Defense Picture Is Definitely Brighter

This week's issue of U. S. News and World Report carries an article calling attention to America's military might, and flatly says that "fears of U. S. weakness can be dismissed now. American armed might is the world's greatest today—and growing rapidly."

Further, cold facts are supplied to back up this assertion which seems at variance with oft-repeated statements by governmental and military leaders who paint the darker side of our condition for defense.

The facts are impressive and awe-inspiring . . . but should not yet be taken too literally.

The facts of global strategy are just as awe-inspiring, and they pose a severe handicap for any military policy we might follow. Conditions are such that the forces we now possess should, in wartime, be dispersed to a hundred fronts . . . a weakening process for even the greatest of military machines.

It is good to know that the day is approaching when we can meet with our enemy without the necessity of pacifying him . . . that time is on our side . . . that the dangers of armed aggression against an unprepared people are lessening.

The overall picture is not yet "bright," but the clouds are lifting.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—A partial explanation for the sharp Congressional cuts in the Administration's multi-billion, tax and appropriation requests is a determined, bipartisan attempt to prevent the White House from spending rearmament and foreign aid funds to further its peacetime program of social and economic change.

"We will give them all the money we decide they need for national defense," says Representative Daniel A. Reed of New York, a veteran and the ranking Republican man on House Ways and Means Committee. "But not a cent for frills or backdoor reforms."

As a result of this dollars-and-cents attack on Mr. Truman's "fair deal" platform, the 1951 Revenue Bill will fall short almost $4,000,000,000 of White House figures. The 1952 fiscal year's money total will be reduced by about $5,000,000,000, according to present estimates. It is possible that the eventual savings may reach $10,000,000,000.

FACTORS—Several factors give special significance to this economy drive. It differs in many respects from earlier efforts in this field. It is directed not so much toward the mere saving of money as to preventing its use for purposes not specifically approved by the legislative branch.

In the first place, it was initiated by the two House committees which are top-heavy with experienced and trusted Democrats supposedly immune to an emotional stampede—Ways and Means and Appropriations.

The full floor membership has supported or increased committee cuts by overwhelming votes. Hardly an anti-Truman amendment in the House has been defeated, even though sponsored by ultra-conservative Republicans.

REVERSAL—Even more significantly, Capitol Hill is indulging in this penny-pinching spree with respect to money that will be spent in a year when every member of the House and one-third of the Senate must face the voters.

Since the handling of these bills will be under Democratic management, the willingness of so many majority members to economize suggests a cold disregard for the fate of the national ticket.

It is almost impossible to overemphasize the importance of these pre-election overruns of the federal pocketbook. In such periods, no matter which party is in control, it is axiomatic for both sides to shell out the political mazzama with a free and generous hand.

This reversal of form, it seems, reflects Congressional recognition that, besides MacArthur-Truman differences on foreign policy and despite the Ke-fauver-Pulbright scandal, heavy taxes and high prices—in effect, money troubles—will be a major issue in next year's campaign.

BELIEVERS—A careful analysis of the reductions already approved by the lower chamber reveals that they were aimed at specific Administration targets. These targets are President Truman, Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, Labor Secretary Maurice J. Tobin, Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing—and, of course, Dean Acheson.

With the exception of the Secretary of State, whose department suffered pocketbook-wise largely because of his general and growing unpopularity at the eastern end of Pennsylvania Avenue, the five were singled out because they are regarded as the only working and sincere believers of the New Deal-Fair Deal philosophy of government at Washington.

Almost every other key figure in the Administration, in the opinion of the legislators, feels that Uncle Sam should spend his time and money in winning the "cold war," especially the Korean phase, and in preparing for possibly a hotter version of our conflict with Russia.

WITHHOLDINGS—President Truman suffered so severely from these withholdings that slight twinges of remorse may afflict the legislative money men before the final measure is hammered through the Senate and conference committees. As against the $300,000,000 emergency fund given Franklin D. Roosevelt to be spent without any accounting, Mr. Truman's request for $12,500,000 was shaved to a mere million.

Almost a round billion dollars was refused him for staffing executive units and independent agencies which he controls in fact, if not in name. Together with the Jensen rider, which has been attached from the floor to almost all appropriation bills, this reduction is designed to block the employment of patriotic Democrats between now and the 1952 election.

The Jensen rider's general acceptance by the House furnishes the best evidence of the Congressional temper. It provides that no more than 25 per cent of all vacancies may be filled in downtown departments. It is expected to save a billion dollars, and to get rid of from 300,000 to 500,000 federal workers, if retained by future Congresses.

VICTIMS—Public power, federal housing, Social Security and Labor expansion were other economy victims. Funds for government power projects were cut by $50,000,000, with a proviso that Secretary Chapman may build no new lines in areas now served by private power. Mr. Truman's request for money for 75,000 housing units was sliced to the financing of only 5,000.

Administrator Ewing and Secretary Tobin will have to economize to the extent of $100,000,000 between them. Until Mr. Acheson improves Voice of America's propagandizing job overseas, he will have to get along with $10,000,000 instead of the $97,000,000 he asked.

VIRGINIA, MINN., MESABI DAILY NEWS: "Social security and public assistance programs are a basic essential for attainment of the socialized state envisaged in democratic ideology," says a pamphlet published by the Bureau of Public Assistance, Social Security Board.

"The Government Printing Office has the document for sale. The pamphlet adds after its boost for Socialism, that the socialized state is 'a way of life which so far has been realized only in slight measure.'"

"For the better part of a generation there has been far too much talk about 'security'—about wage floors and work-week ceilings and pensions and unemployment insurance. All this has implanted a false feeling that somehow somebody in Washington was going to take care of us. Now there is a threat to our real security. We won't lick that by any negative attitude of curtailment. This is a time to emphasize the positive—and get out the goods."—Wall Street Journal.

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

A Reg Manning cartoon in the Reflector some time ago showed a group of Americans squabbling, with Joe Stalin and Uno-who standing on the side. Uno-who told Joe, "But there's one thing we all agree on, and that's what we do in case you strike."

Another thing we all agree on is that America is a great place to live. Last January a man from Ohio by the name of James N. Gape received a letter from his cousin's widow, saying that he had been named heir to an English estate that had been in the family for 500 years. It was worth $270,000. Gape has a wife and two children, and is making a comfortable living working as a salesman for a valve company. But this new fortune looked good. There were two houses: Caxton Manor, with 16 rooms, 1,000 acres and three farms in Cambridgeshire; St. Michael's Manor, a 14-room job that was built in 1568. Both houses have central heating and servants to look after them.

The will gave Gape six months in which to make up his mind. It said he would have to live in England. It would be hard to leave Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio; in fact, he might even lose his U. S. citizenship. Death tax in England and other debts would take more than half of his estate, leaving him "only" $112,000 and an income of around $5,000 a year. Income tax would take about half of that. Upkeep of the two estates would be very expensive, and Gape even wondered if the four servants would be enough to keep the place up. The biggest problem of all to Gape was England itself. He was worried about rationed food and Socialist government.

Last week, just one month before the deadline, Gape was still trying to make up his mind. He said, "We're very much on the fence. It's the children. Life is different in England. The system is different. The schools are different. It isn't easy to make that kind of decision."

If Gape turns down the estates his younger brother will have a chance at them. But Brother Kenneth has already made up his mind. "There's nothing in England now," he says. "The Socialists have ruined the country—one egg a week, a couple ounces of meat and all the business. I don't want to be an English gentleman and sit around and have tea and crumpets."

It looks as if this estate will go to the third heir, a distant English cousin, who may have it if the others reject it, and provided he is willing to change his name to Gape.

And I thank you.

Daily Reflector Bureau

CLOSED—Governing boards of several hundred cities and towns in North Carolina are now in process of re-organization. In some instances there are completely new boards. In others there are one or two new members. Even in those cases where the entire membership of previous boards was re-elected, there are re-adjustments of committees and alignment of duties. It is natural that board members should like to have some of this re-arranging done in executive session behind closed doors. It can be done that way, but it cannot be done legally.

IN—Offices of the attorney general and the League of Municipalities receive inquiries almost every day about how "executive" sessions of governing boards can be held. Because newspapers generally protest public business conducted in secret, several inquiries have been received from editors and publishers by William C. Lassiter, general counsel for the North Carolina Press Association, on this same point. The inquiries are similar in import and the answers almost identical. It can not be done legally. All meetings of county commissioners and of municipal governing boards are required by statute to be open to the public.

STATUTES—In a letter to one of his newspaper clients Attorney Lassiter cites the statutes, GS Sec. 153-8, dealing with county commissioners has a sentence which reads: "Every meeting shall be open to all persons." GS Sec. 160-269, treating meetings of town boards, has a sentence reading: "The governing body shall not by executive session or otherwise consider or vote on any question in private session." By reasonable inference, if not specific statutory provision, the same rule would apply to state boards and commissions. Not only are meetings of public boards required to be open to the public, but the statutes require that full records be kept and made available for inspection. The law says minutes of municipal boards shall be open to the "inspection of any qualified registered voter of the city," and county records shall be "free for the examination of all persons."

EXCEPTIONS—While there is no statutory authority for closed sessions of public boards, there are prohibitions in law as to publication of certain items. It is illegal to publish the names of recipients of payments from the welfare department for old age assistance, aid to dependent children and other beneficiaries of welfare funds. Some phases of adoption proceedings are privileged. Reports of the State Bureau of Investigation are also protected from public dissemination. Newspaper men have repeatedly questioned the wisdom and propriety of secrecy in some of these areas. At the same time they have co-operated fully in other instances by withholding publicity on matters when it was possible that publication might not be for the common good.

TYPICAL—The United States department of state is producing and expects to give wide distribution to a movie depicting the daily life of the John Hall family. It is one of six films being produced by the state department to help convey the American idea to other lands. Since primary objective of this particular phase of international publicity is to portray the freedom and independence of individuals and families in America, it wasn't too easy to find subject material. The Hall family comprising three generations of active workers as a unit and in co-operation with relatives and neighbors, but without loss of individual initiative and ideas, and with the John C. Campbell Folk School at Brasstown as background, seemed to fit the bill.

PRODUCTION—"Shooting" of the film began last week under direction of rs. Eliza Hartley of Hartley Productions, Inc., for the state department. The process will go on for weeks getting in scenes of the home and community, including the craftsman's fair at Asheville in July and the tobacco harvest festival in Murphy in the fall. When completed, cut and edited the film will run for about one hour. It will not be generally available for showing in this country, but arrangements have been made for the participants to see themselves in several showings in the mountain area.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

BRIDGES NEED ATTENTION (Henderson Daily Dispatch)
Several recent accidents, one of them fatal, on bridges across Eastern North Carolina rivers, serve to focus public attention on the crying need for improvements on many structures not only in that area but probably elsewhere as well in the State.

Last week a truck plunged through a temporary bridge across the Roanoke river near Scotland Neck and the driver was drowned. A week or two before that, another truck ran off a bridge near the span across the C- an river not far from Edenton, but the driver fortunately managed to escape with his life.

The Chowan river bridge at Edenton is in such poor condition that signs have been erected at the approaches warning of the roughness of the structure. Not long ago there were hints that it might be condemned. It is understood that the State is preparing to build a new, crossing there. At Manteo, the old bridge spanning an arm of the sound between Roanoke Island and the Outer Banks is extremely narrow, largely because it is dangerous for the best in safety. Vehicles can barely pass on it. A new structure, however, is now being erected there, but not before being long overdue.

Much is said about highway safety, and properly so. State authorities themselves are among those placing the greatest emphasis on the subject. But the State Highway Commission is responsible for construction and maintenance of highways and bridges, and in the main is doing a good job. However, too many risks are assumed as to bridges, especially the longer ones.

So far as the State is concerned, adequate maintenance of existing roads and bridges ought to have priority over new work, for they are already there, the money has been spent, and unless the investment shall be protected it will largely be lost. Dangerous bridges particularly ought to be either put into sound condition or closed to traffic. Whatever the cost, they are not worth a single human life. And we do claim here in North Carolina to be sufficiently civilized to place a high value on human beings, even if individuals do at times seem to be negligent on the subject.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Unnecessary quits by employees cost American retailers a quarter of a billion dollars last year, according to calculations by Dr. Earl P. Strong, Illinois University professor of management. Dr. Strong gave the mid-year convention of the store management and personnel groups of the National Retail Dry Goods Association in Washington this week the results of the survey by the university.

He said that there are 9,000,000 persons employed in retail stores and that last year 3,500,000 quit their jobs. Seventy-five per cent of the quits could have been prevented by proper management action, he said.

Each quit costs money to hire and train replacement, and often involves loss of sales. At $100 a quit, an extremely low estimate in the opinion of Dr. Strong, last year's quits represent a loss of $282,500,000.

An amazing fact developed by the survey showed that most employees who left their jobs took a similar job in another business at no increase in pay.

The survey also disclosed only one out of five gave the true reason for quitting. It found that individuals usually quit for a combination of reasons, and the most common factors appeared to be these: no chance of promotion; wanted a better job; wages too low; poor supervision; not placed on the right job, and job lacked interest.

Final resignation did not come until after negative attitudes had been developed, and these were found to be as important as the "reasons" for quitting. They included: supervisory problems (39 per cent); company problems (13 per cent); dislike for the job (11 per cent); dislike for the company; inequitable work load, and poor working conditions.

Now that defense plants are competing with retailers for labor, the ratio of quits is likely to increase, thereby increasing a drain on profits.

Obviously, it will be cheaper for employers to spend more money to keep employees than to meet the costs of high turnovers.

Dr. Strong's recommendations are these: Improve communications to employees; improve training; improve supervision; introduce standards of work to avoid inequitable work loads; establish a planned personnel program; establish a program to build up the status of retailing jobs and retailing employees, and establish a plan to provide security, job satisfaction and personal recognition.

WILY CUSTOMER GIVES A FREE DEMONSTRATION
A customer who bought an expensive new lamp each week and then returned it created a problem with a happy solution for an Atlanta store, Retailing Daily reports.

Investigation disclosed the customer had an expensive home and used the lamp in a picture window. Now the store helps the customer select the finest lamp in stock. And when any member of the store staff drives by the home, they take pains to point out to anyone with them that the lamp came from their store.

PRICES RISE HIGHER IN OTHER COUNTRIES
The cost of living has risen more in 13 other countries than in the United States since the start of the Korean war, the National Industrial Conference Board has found. The increase from June, 1950, to the price freeze was 8 per cent here and was 19 per cent in Iceland. Wholesale prices have risen more in Finland, France, Austria, Western Germany and Italy than in the U. S. A.

HUNDREDS OF DELICACIES OUTSIDE OF CONTROLS
The Office of Price Stabilization's first amendment to General Overriding Regulation 7, widely publicized because it exempted ratemake meat from price controls, actually covers hundreds of products of thousands of manufacturers.

In general, it frees listed "specialty food items." There are 23 categories listed and categories include many items. Among them are water-grown corn meal, canned clam juice, canned caviar, brandied fruits, cocktail slices, wine jellies, maraschino cherries with stems, pickled rind, canned wild game, canned turtle meat, sherry-flavored turtle soup, cocktail mushrooms, canned snails, Easter egg dye, truffes, capers and many other delicacies.

Food processors, wholesalers, grocers and delicatessen men should get a copy of this order, available at local OPCS or Department of Commerce offices. It offers a large area of operation outside of controls.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK—(AP)—Our town gets all kinds of ambassadors. The prettiest that showed up this week was "Miss Chicken-Of-Tomorrow." She is Joan Walters, an Ozark lass from Rogers, Ark., and she is lovely enough to pose as "Miss Chick-Of-Today."

She is 18 years old, stands five feet four inches, weighs 118 pounds—and to employ a poultry term—has a 34-inch keel.

I went to call on her at her hotel. She said frankly that her main queenly task was to drumstick up interest in the national Chicken-Of-Tomorrow Week being held at the University of Arkansas June 11 to 16. This annual festival is part of a long-range program to get hen's eggs to grow into fatter chickens quicker than they used to.

Miss Walters opened a paper sack and pulled out a wax model of a dressed chicken. It was a scrawny thing, and she looked at it with hazel-eyed disdain.

"That is the chicken of six years ago," she said. "It doesn't have the new plump look."

Two members of her retinue immediately whipped out two other sacks containing the carcasses of two frozen Chickens-Of-Tomorrow. Miss Walters daintily selected one.

"See, it is almost square. It has a bigger drumstick. The meat around the keel bone is rounder and there's more of it."

She pointed at the chicken's frozen chest and spelled: "K-E-E-L. Keel!"

A faraway look came into the queen's eyes as she went on: "It's like the difference between the automobile of today and the automobile of yesterday. A chicken 12 weeks old—it used to weigh only two or three pounds and all you could do was fry it. But a 12-week-old Chicken-Of-Tomorrow weighs up to four or five pounds and you can cook it any way—fry it, broil it, bake it—just any way. It looks like a small turkey. Everything's better but the feathers."

"Most people think a chicken has to be small to be tender. That isn't so. It has to be young. The queen lowered her lashes modestly and added a sweeping generalization:

"Age determines the tenderness of anything."

Well, that seemed to dispose of the chicken-of-tomorrow. Back in to its sack it sank. How did the queen like our big city?

"The Statue of Liberty impressed me more than the Stork Club," she said. "But it seems like I've spent most of my time here in taxicabs."

The cabs had been racing her, the tired wax chicken of yesterday and the frozen chickens-of-tomorrow from one television studio to another.

Miss Walters wore a new diamond engagement ring. And all interest in poultry died out of her eyes as she talked of her romance. Her fiancé is a home town boy, a 20-year-old Air Force Private now stationed in Texas.

"Everybody in town knows him," said the young queen. "He is quite respected. He played football, basketball and track at the high school and was president of the student body and the senior class. He was quite busy."

"I've had my ring just 20 days. I got it by remote control. His aunt, his mother and my aunt helped me pick it out."

"He called me from Texas and said to pick it out. I didn't think it was right for a girl to pick out her own ring, but in wartime you have to do things that aren't right sometimes—I guess."

She wanted him to come and escort her to the ball next month at which she will be formally crowned "Miss Chicken-Of-Tomorrow." But his duty prevented.

"I thought it would give some advertising to the Air Force," said the young queen sadly.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—It's easy to picture Elder and Mrs. L. E. Halliwell, honey, middle-aged folks, sitting on the front porch of a neat little cottage in their native Kearney, Neb.

But for 29 years the Halliwells, Seventh Day Adventist missionaries, have lived in Brazil. They're spent 21 years of this time along the mighty Amazon River administering to the physical and spiritual needs of the natives.

They say they get lost in big cities, but "We never get lost on the Amazon," Mrs. Halliwell, a soft-spoken, motherly woman told me. "We just throw over the anchor and we're at home."

The Halliwells' work is centered around five 36-foot cabin cruisers which Elder Halliwell, a University of Nebraska, designed and built with native help. The couple spends four to five months a year on their own diesel-powered cruiser the "Luzero," meaning the "Light Bearer." Each of the boats carries two nurses.

Mrs. Halliwell, a registered nurse, shows films on health and sanitation provided by the U. S. Government and synchronized into Portuguese. A thousand to 2,000 natives come to see them nightly. The Halliwells estimate they have treated more than 200,000 people for malaria and other tropical ailments. Mrs. Halliwell many times has served also as midwife.

"Someone is sick in 'most every home we come to along the river, principally with malarial fever, from which thousands die annually," Elder Halliwell explained. He now carries around a bottle of 1,000 tablets of anti-malaria medicine. . . enough, he says, to treat 500 victims.

The natives know just about when to expect the Halliwells and sign their boat when there's sickness at home. "We treat their infirmities, help them clean up, then teach the Gospel," Mrs. Halliwell said.

Mrs. Halliwell told me about the Amazon, about the two seasons ("the hot one and the hotter one"), the 200 inches of rainfall each year, their home life on the "Luzero," the food they eat.

Then he dragged from a leather bag the skin of a 23-foot anaconda snake and skins of a bushmaster snake and a small alligator. Another curio he cherishes is a "wedding glove," which is one tribal ceremonial bride. The glove is filled with stinging insects. It is worn or cries out the wedding deal is off.

"Some men say it's better to get stung before than after," he said.

Girl Scout Camp To Hold Opening June 17

Plans are being made by the Greenville Girl Scout Council for the opening of Camp Hardee for the summer.

Campers from almost all parts of North Carolina will be pouring into Camp Hardee for the first period of camp, beginning on June 17, with an air of anticipation for the weeks of camp ahead.

Applications have already been received from young Brownies and Girl Scouts from Linden, Grimesland, Smithfield, Goldsboro, Robertsville, Fayetteville, Bethel, Farmville, Ayden, Greenville, Raleigh, Elizabeth City, Charlotte, and one camper from Maryland.

Camp Hardee is providing numerous types of recreation, arts and crafts, and camp crafts for the campers. With a well-trained and adequate staff, the campers are assisted in swimming, boating, archery, ball games, tennis, badminton, ping-pong, art and crafts, campcraft, and the popular campfires where the campers end the day with singing, dramatics, and dancing.

The camp staff is not completed as yet but many scout leaders and young girls interested in scouting will be on hand when the camp opens to serve as counselors and recreation assistants.

Mrs. Knott Proctor will serve as the Brownie unit head; Lillian Bennett of Lumberton will be the intermediate counselor and in charge of games; Iola Carowan, dietitian at Camp Hardee and unit School for the Deaf, will serve as dietitian at Camp Hardee and unit head for the seniors; and Dorothy Nell Henderson will be waterfront director.

Kathryn Hill of Deep Run will instruct the campers in arts and crafts and assist Lillian Bennett with the Intermediate group; Dot Stauffer will have charge of the music, assist at the waterfront, and assist Mrs. Proctor with the Brownie group; Kent Lee is to assist at the waterfront and drive the truck; and Mrs. E. L. Henderson will serve as camp director, business manager and help with the arts and crafts.

The prospective camp staff will go to Camp Hardee on June 13 for pre-camp training which includes instruction in camp activities and make plans for the summer at the camp.

Reserve Unit To Gather Tonight

The Air Force Reserve unit that was recently organized here will meet tonight at Austin Building on the East Carolina campus at eight o'clock. This is a weekly meeting and all officers and enlisted men are invited to attend.

According to Lt. Col. T. K. Fountain a program of interest to all Air Force men has been planned, including latest information on Air Force and Defense Department plans. Movies will be shown on the subject of latest planes and air tactics.

Sgt. William H. Jones has been assigned to this area for the purpose of conducting these meetings, Col. Fountain said. The purpose of the meetings, he stated, is to give both officers and enlisted men the opportunity of keeping in touch with what the Air Force and other branches of the military service is doing.

Sergeant Jones' office is the recruiting office in the Post Office. Any matters pertaining to active duty assignments, the point system or any other question can be explained by Jones. His office hours are 12 p. m. to five p. m. Friday.

'Scrubbing Bee' Held By Parish

QUEBEC (AP)—The people of Quebec City's Notre Dame de la Garde Parish take pride in having their little church spotless and twice a year they hold a scrubbing-bee. Out come the pails of hot water, cakes of rough yellow Canadian soap, hardbristled brushes and wash rags. Men, women and children scrub and polish for two days, and the job doesn't cost the parish a penny. It will be repeated just before next Christmas.

Cool Last Night

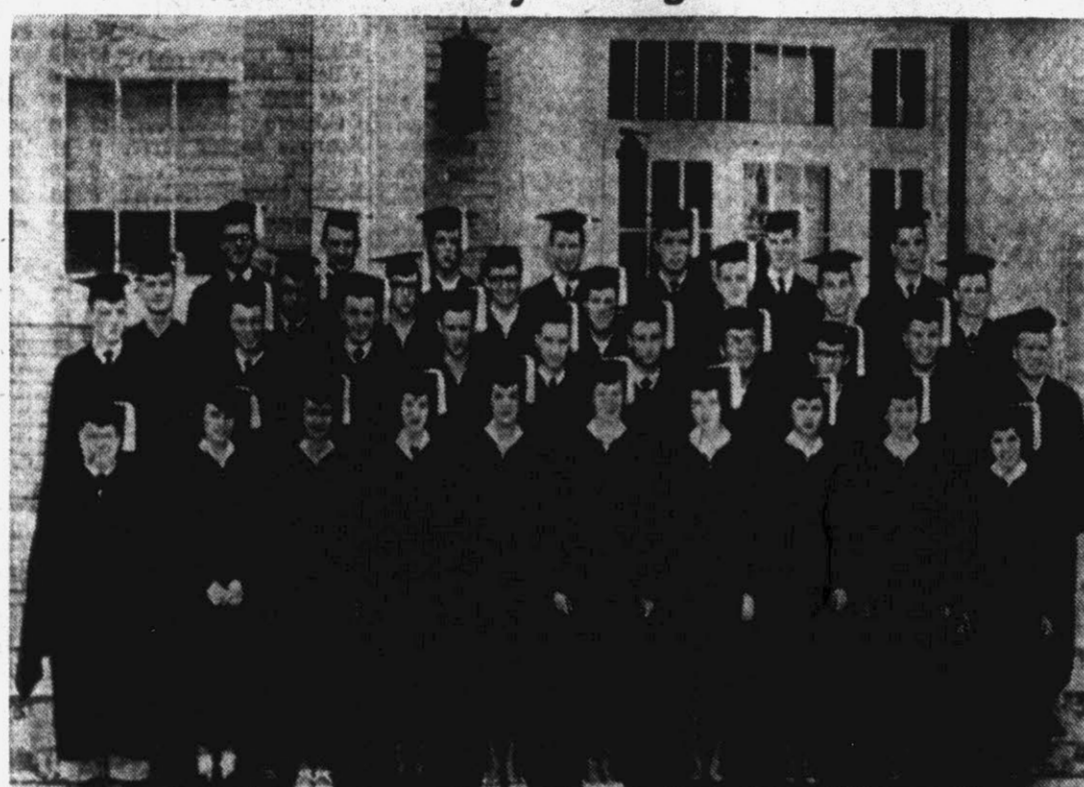

The highest temperature here yesterday was 75 degrees. Lowest last night, the mercury was at 49 degrees, a considerable drop from the night before. At 8 a. m. today the temperature was 63 degrees.

Robins Lose 6-5 Decision To Visiting Goldsboro Nine

Eighth Straight Set-back For Locals As Cardinals Score Winning Run In The Ninth; Umfleet Is Shelled From Box For First Time

The Robins lost another one-run decision last night to Goldsboro 6-5 to mark their eighth straight loss. And with it came rumors of the club's folding from the league.

Last night's loss gave Goldsboro a sweep of the two-game series. They did it in the ninth inning off Bobby Harrison when Thomas tripled to score Mitchell after the Robins had come from behind in the eighth inning to tie the count at 5-5.

The Cards' win marked the third successive ninth-inning uprising that clubs in the league have handed Robins' pitching in as many nights.

Wednesday night the Cards also went ahead in the ninth to win the 4-3 decision.

The Robins pulled into the 5-5 tie in the eighth with the help of two mighty home runs by Pete Piestrak and Vince Lautato, both of whom had been in a batting slump in the past several games.

Piestrak led off with a homer over the leftfield wall for the Robins' third run. Then Manager John Strea got on via an error and scored when Lautato aimed his ball for the leftfield fence.

The Robins' eighth was responsible for Bob Umfleet, the Cards' no-hit pitcher, being knocked out of the box for the first time this season.

Previously he had shut out Strea's club and also had chalked up the first no-hit game in the league this year against Wilson.

Mitchell relieved him in the eighth after Lautato's homer and set the next three Robins down in order.

Tonight they travel to Roanoke Rapids for the first of a two-game series. Kovalchick will start for the Robins, making his third appearance on the mound this week.

Robins' Future May Be At Stake

Greenville's chances of continuing as a member city of the Coastal Plain League are fast diminishing and a meeting today with league President Ray Goodmon in Williamston will determine somewhat the future prospects of baseball here.

The meeting with Goodmon was called by the management of the Rocky Mount club, which at present is holding eighth place in the league, for the purpose of talking about the chances of withdrawing the franchise from Rocky Mount and moving it to Wilmington.

Robins' business manager John Pringle stated this morning he will meet with Goodmon also to talk about the club's poor showing, both on the field and at the box office.

"There isn't any talk about the club's folding right now," Pringle said. "We'll go along until the end of the month and see what happens." At that time the club's owners from Connecticut will be here to determine if the baseball effort is worth the money, Pringle said.

He said the club is operating "terrifically in the red" with the average attendance less than 300 each night. Before the season opened, he said, he figured an average crowd of between 900 and 1,000 would allow the club to just break even.

He estimated that the club is losing close to $150 a day. "I hate to see the club fold because that will mean Greenville won't have any organized ball for a period of five years," he said.

And according to the minor league rule, any club that withdraws its franchise from the league is not permitted to re-open at the same stand in that period of time.

Pringle described the club's poor showing on the field as "bad breaks." It has lost the last eight games, the last two by one-run decisions to Goldsboro.

Baseball Scores

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Williams takes his lightweight title out of the deep freeze tonight for a long-deferred sixth defense against James Carter, a little known Negro from New York's Bronx.

Chances are Ike will have his toughest battle on the scales at 11 a.m. (EST) making the 135-pound class limit. Last time he fought, April 11, he weighed 145 1/2. But he'll make it by drying out. He weighed 135 1/2 yesterday and will take no liquids until the weigh-in.

Nobody seems much disturbed about Williams weakening himself making the weight for he's 3 to 1 favorite with no takers. The boys know what Ike can do. They're not so sure about "mystery man" Carter.

The 15-rounder, starting at 9 p.m. (EST) at Madison Square Garden, will be carried on network radio over the Royal Porthcawl course to stifle the ambitions of Sammy Urmatta of Rochester, the present American champion, 3 and 2.

Chapman was almost equally sharp as he turned back squadron leader Cecil Beamish of Northern Ireland, 4 and 3. He was four under fours for the 15 holes, and at one point on the back nine shot three consecutive birdies.

Coe's opponent in the afternoon semi-finals was Albert Evans, a Welsh farmer, who defeated J. E. Gent of England, 6 and 5, in his quarter-final match.

Chapman found himself facing Joe Carr of Ireland, who yesterday trounced defending champion Frank Stranahan and today eliminated John de Bendorf of England, 3 and 2. The winners will clash in tomorrow's 36-hole final.

Coe, Chapman Still In Running

PORHCRAWL, Wales — (AP)—Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N.C., carried the American challenge into the semi-finals of the British Amateur Golf championship today against a Welshman and an Irishman.

Coe, who won the U.S. Amateur title two years ago, shot brilliant sub-par golf in the morning round over the Royal Porthcawl course to stifle the ambitions of Sammy Urmatta of Rochester, the present American champion, 3 and 2.

Jethroe Benched For Poor Play

NEW YORK — (UP) — Louis Marques replaced Sam Jethroe as the Boston Braves' starting center-fielder today because of Jethroe's poor offensive play.

Manager Billy Southworth told Marques to start the night game against the Dodgers after Jethroe lost Nippy Jones' fly in the sun during the fourth inning of the game against the Cardinals Wednesday.

Bantam Ben Off To Fast Start

FORT WORTH — (UP) — The summer golfing merry-go-round was off and running today, running after Ben Hogan, as usual.

Little Ben, the hometown boy playing his home course in the $15,000 colonial National Invitational tournament, displayed his mechanical-perfect golf yesterday as he stepped out in front with a two-under-par 68.

Play Sunday

ORMONDSVILLE — The Ormondsville baseball team will seek its sixth victory of the season Sunday afternoon when it plays host to the Macclesfield nine in a Tobacco Belt League game.

Douglas Bruton has been designated by Manager Garland Little for the mound duties for Ormondsville Sunday afternoon. Game time is 3 o'clock.

"We have a good looking ball club and all the players are in good shape for Sunday's game," Little commented. Ormondsville has won four games and lost one so far this season.

Farmville Club To Play 3 Contests Over Weekend

FARMVILLE — Norm Clark's Bright Belt team will play three games this weekend, the first one tonight against Pinetops.

"Tonight's game is scheduled for eight o'clock and is a continuation of a rained-out game with Pinetops played several days ago. At that time the rains came in the first inning with no score.

Tomorrow the home club goes against Sandy Cross, the league's newest entry, in a game there tomorrow night. Then Sunday the teams come here for a three o'clock contest.

Carl Shirley, a pitcher for Farmville last year, will start on the mound tonight. He was recently released from the Wilson Tobs in the Coastal Plain League. Buck Hardee, who handled the catching chores last season, will work the plate again tonight.

Clothiers Wallop Lions By 21-6

Hill's Clothiers yesterday walloped the Lions Club in the City Softball League, 21-6, to win their second game of the young season.

Home runs accounted for the majority of Hill's runs. Crawford, Scott, Minges and Eilers all hit fourbaggers with the bases loaded.

Lions' runs were scored in the first, third and fourth innings with Worsley accounting for two. They committed two errors to aid Hill's scoring.

Score by innings:
Lions 000 102 2-6 3 2
Hill's 196 5-21 25 0

The court said soldiers need a drink once in a while to boost their morale.

Outstanding pitching by Catlette in three innings, then was tagged for singles by Averette and Cox in the fourth inning, and for a double by Edwards and a single by Barnhill in the fifth inning.

Catlette was tagged for a single in the first frame by Roebuck, and another single in the third inning by Heath.

The Lions committed two errors, the Kiwanis none; the Kiwanis had four runners left on base and the Lions left seven runners stranded.

Players Will Ask For Bigger Share

NEW YORK—(AP)—Big league baseball players will demand a bigger slice of World Series revenue this fall, Fred Hutchinson said today.

The Detroit Tiger pitcher, who is American League player representative, said World Series income has gone up, with television and higher admission prices. But, he said, the 1950 player share was about the same as 25 years ago "with the cost of living about three times as high" now.

Hutchinson said the request will be put to the owners' committee at their annual meeting in Detroit in July. Hutchinson will meet shortly with Ralph Kiner, newly-appointed National League representative.

Hutchinson also said he plans to renew discussions concerning distribution of the radio and television money earned in the All-Star and World Series last year.

"I am only acting on orders of the players," he said. "They believe the players' current share of the World Series receipts, compared to those of previous years, is not large enough."

"They've got a point, too. More than 25 years ago the players' share was just under $6,000 for the winners and over $4,000 for the losers. Last year, with the cost of living about three times as high, the players' cut was about the same. In 1946, the losers' share was only $2,100."

Condemned Germans Get Another Stay Of Execution

LANDSBERG, Germany—(AP) A second stay of execution for seven condemned German war criminals brought new hope today to their families and to West German officials that they might yet escape the gallows.

The men—convicted of mass murder under Adolf Hitler's Reich—were sitting red-jacketed and gruff in a death row last night when they received word that U.S. District Judge Walter M. Bastian in Washington, D.C. was holding up the executions for five days while he studied the case. They were told of the stay only one hour and one minute before they were to hang.

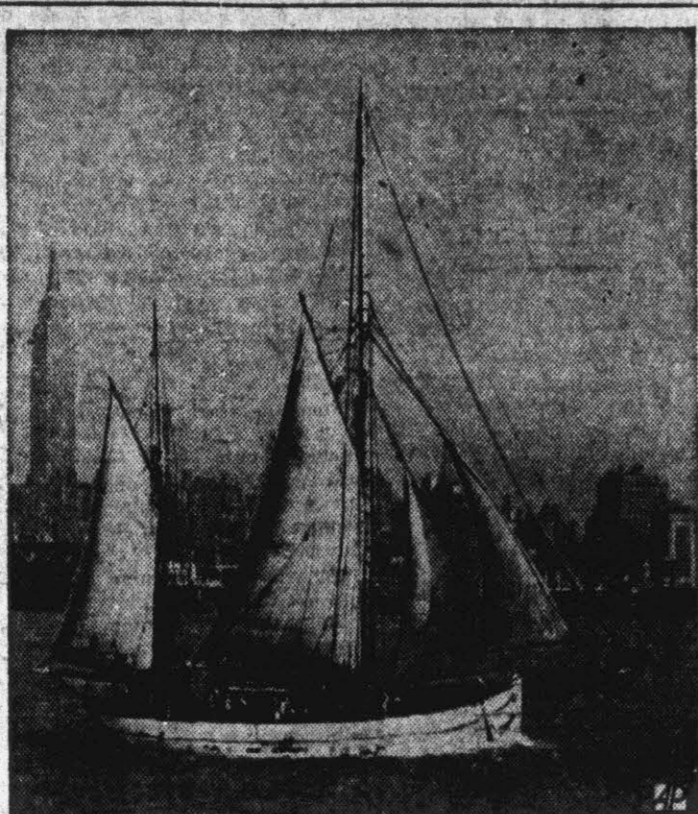

The weeping wives who had said final farewells only a few hours earlier, knelt in thankful prayer at a little hotel near the American war crimes prison when they heard the news. None of them could believe their husbands would face the gallows a third time.

German officials in the West German capital of Bonn also voiced hope the new stay might lead to lessening of the sentences.

Many high German officials and newspapers have bitterly criticized the death sentences.

The first stay of execution was granted while the U.S. Supreme Court studied a request for an appeal in the case. The Supreme Court refused to review the appeal.

The seven prisoners, convicted by a U.S. War Crimes Court in 1946 and 1947, are: former S. S. General Oswald Pohl, convicted of disposing of the destruction of the Warsaw ghetto and of being in charge of Nazi concentration camps; Georg Schallermair, sentenced for concentration camp atrocities; S. S. Col. Paul Blobel, convicted of having ordered the killing of 60,000 persons in a Kiev massacre; Werner Braune, convicted of a massacre of Jews and Gypsies; Eric Naumann, commander of a unit which exterminated 3,539 persons on three weeks; Otto Ohlendorf, chief of an extermination team charged with having killed 90,000 Russians; and Hans Schmidt, former adjutant of Buchenwald.

Mrs. Forrest Mallard and daughters, Edith Ann and Julia, of Burgaw are spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Carson Jones. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wooten and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Newton of Tarboro were dinner guests in New Bern Sunday night.

Harvey Bradshaw, a student at U.N.C., Chapel Hill, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Milton Moore.

Mrs. Gladys Warren Loveall of Mount Airy visited Mrs. Maude Warren and Mrs. J. B. Newton Monday.

Mr. Edward Mayo is home from McGuire Hospital in Richmond, Va.

Mr. Leslie Chadwick and Mr. W. J. Little went to Winston-Salem Monday on business.

Mrs. Eleanor Newton spent Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Newton in Tarboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wooten spent Sunday in Goldsboro with Mr. and Mrs. Norwood Wilson.

Miss Trebe Lee Smith of Bell Arthur is spending some time with Mrs. C. H. Mayo.

Miss Beatrice Moore of Tarboro was here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Langley of Farmville visited Miss Mattie Little Wednesday.

Bible School is being held each afternoon at the Falkland Presbyterian Church and the school building. A good attendance of around 100 boys and girls are attending each day. Mrs. Charlie Tyler is in charge with Mrs. Ruth Watson, Mrs. King Mayo, Mrs. Fannie Garris, Mrs. Howard Garris, Mrs. Katie Peaden, Miss Betty Jean Brown, Mrs. J. B. Waters, and Mrs. Phil Corey as teachers.

The Falkland Home Demonstration Club met Monday afternoon with Mrs. David Morrill and Mrs. G. H. Mayo as hostesses.

Mrs. Morrill gave a most interesting demonstration on Sweet Potato souffle. Plans are being made for a bazaar to be held in September, for the benefit of the community building which is to be built.

Delightful refreshments were served.

Italy's Pint-Sized Navy Is Ready For Expansion

AP NEWSFEATURES
TARANTO, Italy—It takes about 30 minutes for the whole Italian Navy to pass in review—and that is steaming along at a pretty fair rate.

Because the pre-war fleet with which Mussolini tried to make the Mediterranean once more "Mare Nostrum," (Our Sea) has dwindled from sixth biggest navy in the world down to 36 ships.

That includes everything down to the vest-pocket-sized motor torpedo boats with six-man crews. It also includes three clean-lined, former United States destroyer escorts, just turned over to Italy under the arms aid program.

But American naval observers here are not too discouraged over prospects for that pint-sized fleet, now a part of the Atlantic Fleet force of western defense.

WELL ORGANIZED
The latest full fleet review here was described by these high officers as "a well-organized show," and they said that although Italy could show "a strong and well-trained naval personnel ready to man a bigger fleet as fast as it can be formed."

That can start now—after five years. The Peace Treaty did not allow Italy any new naval construction until 1950. It takes time to build warships. And even more than that, it takes money. But Italy has begun a naval construction program—and to fill in the gap she is receiving surplus United States fighting ships.

Besides the three destroyer escort vessels already received, it has been announced in Washington that Italy will get the "Woodworth" and "Nicholson," two of the fastest destroyers of the American navy. And after them, it is likely that still other ships may follow until Italy's own new naval construction begins sliding down the ways.

AIR POWER BOOSTED
Probably equally important; at the long-deserted naval air field just north of this big naval base, there now sits a long row of blimp-winged, blue-painted navy fighter-bombers. They're former American Curtis hell-divers, sent here also as part of the arms aid program intended to help Italy guard her part of the Atlantic Pact's western line. Until they arrived, the Italian Navy had no air arm.

Under the Peace Treaty she is not allowed aircraft carriers, and her only planes were obsolete land force models.

The Peace Treaty—which the United States Senate has now proposed freeing of its military limitations—also allows Italy no submarines, and no assault craft. She is allowed two battleships. She has afloat the ancient Doria—grim ghost of 1913 and World War I. The twin battleship, Duilio, also exists,—on paper. In reality, however she is docked and under half-hearted repair and modernization. That the old ship will ever be put afloat again until new modern ships replace her.

PAPER NAVY
Italy has—again on paper—five old cruisers. Of these the Giuseppe Garibaldi, Duca degli Abruzzi and Montecitorio passed in review. The Luigi di Savoia and Luigi Cadorna, laid up for repairs, were not in shape to put to sea.

There also are five destroyers, again not all of them seaworthy at the moment. The rest—12—are little corvettes and still tinier torpedo-firing motorboats, and only about two dozen in all.

Broadcasts From Abroad Favored

BRUSSELS—(AP)—Belgians prefer foreign commercially-sponsored radio programs to their own government-controlled radio.

A recent survey by an opinion-testing organization showed that the most popular station with Belgians is Radio Luxembourg. This station broadcasts exclusively commercially sponsored programs in French, Flemish and English.

Reports from ROTO-BALER owners say that weather-resistant rolled bales contain more leaves. Livestock eat rolled hay better because it is soft, sweet and retains its natural color.
Here are some of the things farmers wanted to know:
Would rolled bales really shed showers? Would they handle and transport easily? Would livestock eat them without waste, fed whole or unrolled? Could straw for bedding be rolled out without shaking?
The ROTO-BALER has answered "yes" to each of these questions, satisfying farmers everywhere. Stop in and ask us for a free booklet on rolled bales and the ROTO-BALER.

The SIREN of SILVER VALLEY

By PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 20

Jeff spent the day in the hills near the Star, picking his horse on grass. He moved down the slope towards the Star buildings, fixing the lay of the land in his mind, choosing the course he must follow in the darkness. There were men about the place the whole time and once he saw Diana when she came out to take a short stroll. When it was quite dark he saddled his horse and led him as close to the house as he dared, then made his way on foot, slowly, cautiously, alert every second.

At the fringe of trees near the house he waited until he was sure no guards had been posted near at hand, then ran quietly to the shadow of the house and circled to the gallery. He stole up on this, ducked beneath the light of a window, straightened at the door. He raised the latch gently and found the door unbarred. He opened it swiftly, stepped inside and closed it behind him. Diana was seated in a big chair near the table, reading by the light of a parlor lamp.

He walked quietly to a chair just outside the circle of light and sat down. He said softly, "Good evening, Mrs. Denton."

She dropped the book, stiffening. Her head turned slowly and she saw him and opened her lips. His gun covered her. He said, "Don't make a peep or I'll put a slug right through that lovely body. I'm not going to hurt you if I can help it. I just want to talk."

He could not read the expression on her face because the lamp was behind her, but he could feel the intensity of her stare and knew her eyes were not cornflower-blue, but pale and cold like ice on glass.

He said, "I called to pay my respects to the biggest suckermaker in these United States. Yes, darling, you sure played it cute; so cute that my anger at you has slowly changed to admiration. Admiration and amusement. Wait and Ben and me—all suckers. And now it's Sam Cooper."

"You're crazy!" Her voice was not sweet. "W. I. gratid. Sam Cooper's my lawyer."

"I know. That's where you're making your money, trying to play a lawyer for a sucker. Lawyers are smart and not at all trusting. They're trained to think, to reason, to plan. And they don't wear their hearts on their sleeves like poor, dumb cattlemen. It was a nice scheme you cooked up between you. Or I suppose it was really Sam who did the cooking."

"What plan? I don't know what you're talking about."

"Yes, you do. The plan to marry old Dan Denton then bump him off so that you inherit."

He heard the slight gasp she gave and knew he had scored a bulls-eye. He went on quickly, "Oh, don't worry. Nobody can prove it. Nobody even suspects it but me, and you've got me pretty well sewed up. But you can't keep it for yourself, darling; you can't make a sucker of Sam. Instead he's going to make one of you."

"What do you mean?" It was almost a snarl, but he caught the hint of fear in her voice.

"Why, Sam's a lawyer; a smart one. Do you really think he meant to share all this wealth with a second-class showgirl? If you do, it's you who's crazy. I'll bet you Sam had it all fixed to get rid of you before you even married Dan Denton. He'll probably try to buy you off, and if you turn down the petty offer, he makes, he'll pin Dan's murder on you."

"He can't. I didn't kill Dan Denton." Her voice was scornful now.

"Sure you didn't. But you were alone on the ranch with Dan; Sam might be able to show that you killed him right there and then moved his body out on the range where it was found."

"That's ridiculous. I can't ride, I can't drive. I wouldn't even be able to hitch a horse to a wagon."

"We have only your own word for that, darling. Anybody with any sense at all can back a horse into the shafts. You might even have had Dan hitch up for you before you killed him. You might even have had him drive you to the place where he was found."

"He was riding!" She was a little panicky now.

"Was he? The way I heard it they found his horse grazing on the range." He got up. "Well, I'll be ambling along. I'm going to stand outside the door and watch you for a while; if you move or let out a yell I'll certainly plug you and take my chances. I don't want to do that; I'd much rather wait and see Sam hand it to you. Goodnight, dear. Pleasant night, mares!"

A seed had been planted. If only it took root!

He rode to the trail which followed the crest on the west side of the valley and camped there for the night. At dawn he was up and watching. He watched until late in the afternoon, allowing himself only time enough to make Silverstone by dusk. He entered the town at supper time, rode down the alley and tied behind the marshal's office, circled to the front and looked inside. Sander was not there; he was probably at supper. Jeff made his way to Cooper's office, knowing that the lawyer would be at supper also. The front door was locked, but he found an unbarred window in the room where Cooper slept and got in by that means. He had to see Al Sanders and tell him of the plan, but this was too good an opportunity to pass up. He would find Al after he had talked with Sam.

He went into Cooper's office, pulled down the shades and seated himself by a window. He saw diners come from the hot club dispensers come from the hotel and kept sharp lookout for Al but did not see him. Cooper came out and struck Jagonally across the street towards the office, and Jeff heard the rasp of a key in the lock. Sam came in, went to his desk, struck a match and lighted the lamp that stood there. When he sat down and took up some papers to examine Jeff pointed his gun at him and said, "Sit right still, Sam."

The lawyer froze, then slowly raised his eyes. He could just make out Jeff's dim form by the window. Jeff said, "I dropped in to talk with you. I know you have men planted around town looking for me, so don't raise your voice too high and don't make the mistake of going for a gun." He got up and went over to the desk.

"Maybe I'd better make sure. Put up your hands."

Cooper stared at him stonily but obeyed. He said, "You can't get away with this, Payne."

"I'm doing all right. Stand up."

Cooper stood up and Jeff circled the desk and took the .45 from its holster. He patted Cooper under the arms and felt the holster of the shoulder gun. He reached around and drew it.

"Derringer, huh? Handy little little gun." He stepped back, broke the gun and removed the two .41 slugs, then tossed the Derringer on the desk. He carried the .45 around the desk with him, pulled his chair closer and sat down.

"You can be seated now, Sam; but keep your hands on the desk. I just want to talk to you." He studied the man for a moment, figuring the best line of approach. "You know, Sam, I haven't any

Singapore Haven Of Draft Dodgers

SINGAPORE (AP)—The lodging houses in Singapore—there are hundreds of them—are overflowing with "draft dodgers."

Thousands of young Chinese are flocking into this British crown colony city from the Federation of Malaya, all hoping to get quick passage to Red China. Most of these are Chinese between the ages of 18 and 24.

The Federation Government a few months ago ordered a manpower registration of all within these age classifications. The government hoped to raise 20,000 men, some of whom would be assigned to fight against Communist terrorists in the dense jungles of Malaya.

Every lodging house here is jammed. Chinese are crowding halls, passageways and dining rooms. They sleep on camp beds and planks besides gunny sacks, bulging baskets and suitcases which contain their baggage.

A year ago, only 50 to 100 Chinese came to Singapore each month seeking passage to China.

It is estimated that people living in Asia (1,250,000,000) are more than twice as numerous as those living in Europe and four times as numerous as those living in the Western Hemisphere.

Directs His Own Funeral Service

BURLINGTON, Colo. — (AP) — J. W. Gernhart 75, doesn't expect to die for several years, but he wants to be sure he has the funeral service he wants.

With that in mind, the Burlington man will direct a trial run here June 3. He has asked a Colorado Springs minister to deliver the sermon. He made arrangements for a singer four years ago. He has designated eight regular and 24 honorary pallbearers. The entire service will be recorded. "Then I'll know what's going on," Gernhart explains.

Irishmen Like Bachelor's Life

Dublin—(AP)—Although Ireland once had a reputation as a land of romantic lovers, statistics show the marriage rate is far below most European countries.

Official are noting that this year's census will show that marriage is staging a comeback.

The 1948 census showed that only two out of five Irishmen between 20 and 34 years old were married—the lowest proportion in the world.

NOTICE OF BETHEL SCHOOL DISTRICT SPECIAL ELECTION AND NEW REGISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that the question of the approval or disapproval of the levy of a special tax of not to exceed twenty (20) cents on each One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, located in the Bethel School District, to provide supplemental funds with which to operate schools at a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both, will be submitted to the voters of the Bethel School District at a special election to be held on June 16, 1951. The resolution adopted by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County calling said special election and ordering a new registration therefor is published in full below as a notice of such special election and the new registration therefor.

A RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR AND ORDERING A SPECIAL ELECTION IN AND A NEW REGISTRATION OF ALL QUALIFIED VOTERS IN THE BETHEL SCHOOL DISTRICT ON THE QUESTION OF LEVYING A TAX TO PROVIDE SUPPLEMENTAL FUNDS FOR THE OPERATION OF SCHOOLS IN THE BETHEL SCHOOL DISTRICT OF A HIGHER STANDARD THAN THAT PROVIDED BY STATE SUPPORT, OR TO EMPLOY ADDITIONAL VOCATIONAL TEACHERS, OR BOTH:

Whereas, the Bethel School District has heretofore been established by regular proceedings and the boundary lines of said district have been defined and the said boundary lines and description of said district and the action of the Board of Education with respect thereto duly appear on the records of Pitt County; and

Whereas, the Bethel School District Committee, in lawful meeting assembled, resolved to petition that an election be held and had in the Bethel School District to determine whether there should be levied in said school district a tax of not to exceed twenty (20) cents on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, within said district, in order to provide supplemental funds for the operation of schools on a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both; and

Whereas, the aforesaid petition of the Bethel School District was duly made to and considered by the Board of Education of Pitt County and was duly approved by the said Board of Education of Pitt County; and

Whereas, the said petition of the Bethel School District Committee, together with the approval of the Board of Education of Pitt County, was received by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, and after due consideration the same has been approved by the said Board of Commissioners; and

Whereas, the aforesaid petition of the Bethel School District, together with the approval thereof by the Board of Education of Pitt County and the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, has been approved by the State Board of Education; and

Whereas, the Bethel School District has a school population of one thousand (1,000) or more, as has been certified by the Board of Education of Pitt County and the said Board of Education of Pitt County has requested the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County to provide for an election in the Bethel School District upon the question of levying a special school tax of not more than twenty (20) cents on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property in the Bethel School District in order to provide funds with which to operate schools in said Bethel School District of a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Commissioners of Pitt County, and it is hereby ordered that:

1. An election shall be held in the Bethel School District to determine whether there shall be levied a tax of not to exceed twenty (20) cents on each One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) of assessed valuation of all taxable property, both real and personal, located within said Bethel School District, to provide supplemental funds with which to operate schools in said district of a higher standard than that provided by State support, or to employ additional vocational teachers, or both.

2. The said election shall be held on Saturday, June 16, 1951, and the polls shall open on said date at the hour of 8:30 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and remain open to the hour of 6:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, and each person who is duly registered and who is otherwise qualified to vote shall be qualified to vote in said election.

3. For the purpose of said election the territory comprising the Bethel School District and embraced within the boundaries of said school district, which said boundaries are as follows:

"Beginning at the common corner of Edgecombe, Martin and Pitt Counties on the Dal Baker Farm 1.5 miles northeast of Bethel, including the Dal Baker Farm and continuing east by southeast along the Martin-Pitt line to Gum Swamp Church; thence southwest along the Stokes School District line on the Greenville-Robersonville highway by way of Hickory Grove Church to Grindle Creek; thence northwest along the Belvoir-Falkland School District line to the Old Station Place on the Edgecombe County line; thence east and north along the Edgecombe-Pitt County line to North Carolina Highway No. 11 to a point 1.5 miles north of Bethel, beyond and including the J. T. Nelson Farm, continuing east by southeast to the point on Dal Baker's Farm, where Edgecombe, Martin and Pitt Counties have common corner, which point is the Beginning, this including all lands in the extreme northern part of Pitt County which is contiguous to and within the district and not formerly claimed by the Belvoir-Falkland and the Stokes School District," shall be and the same hereby is designated, comprised and created as one precinct, and the polling place for said precinct is hereby designated as the Town Hall in Bethel, North Carolina.

4. A new registration of all qualified voters in the Bethel School District is hereby ordered for the purpose of the aforesaid election and for the purpose of said new registration and the holding of said election the following persons are named as and are hereby appointed as registrar, judges of election and alternate judge of election, to-wit: Registrar—Miss Olive Jones. Judges of Election—E. G. Ward and E. O. Burroughs. Alternate Judge—Clara Roberson

5. Notice of said registration shall be given by publication in The Daily Reflector, a newspaper published in and circulating in the Bethel School District in accordance with the rules governing elections for school and local taxes, as set out in Section 115-188 of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

6. The registration books for said new registration shall be kept open between the hours of 9:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and 6:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time on each day (Sundays and holidays excepted) from Saturday, May 26, 1951, up to and including Saturday, June 9, 1951. On each Saturday during the period of said new registration, the registrar shall attend with the registration book, at the polling place herein designated for said election, namely: the Town Hall in Bethel, North Carolina, Saturday, June 9, 1951, shall be challenge day for said election, and the above designated registrar shall attend at the above designated polling place on said date between the hours of 9:00 a.m., Eastern Standard Time, and 6:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, for the purpose of affording an opportunity to all interested parties to challenge any registration in accordance with the law governing general and special elections.

7. The ballots to be used in said election shall be mimeographed and shall be in the following form:

Kindergarten Students Presented In Operetta

Mrs. C. D. Smith presented her kindergarten students in a fairy operetta, "If You Believe in Fairies," at the Teen-age Center on Wednesday night, May 23.

The story of the operetta was centered around two children, Tony and Linda, who ran away from their playmates and spent the night in the edge of the forest, where they had been gathering flowers. Morning brought true Linda's dream of fairies singing and dancing and Tony's doubts about fairies were swept away when a fairy took them to Fairyland. The Queen of the Fairies was in deep distress because of children who don't believe in them.

The second act takes place in Fairyland where Tony and Linda are crowned King and Queen of Children who dream of the magic and beauty of Fairyland. They are entertained by the fairies and are given presents to take back to their playmates.

Taking part in the operetta were Tom Campbell, Peggy Anderson, Ted Martin, Van Everett, Judy Bachelor, Roy Johnson, Tommy Taft, Betty Johnson, Martha Hoot, Billy Turcotte, Nancy Roebuck, Jackie Smith, Sharon Sellers, Judy Bennett, Peggy Bentley, and Mickie Carmichael.

Assisting Mrs. Smith were Mrs. M. P. Hoot, Mrs. D. F. Johnson, Mrs. E. L. Martin, Mrs. H. D. Jefferson, and Mrs. C. L. Lupton. The scenery committee was Mrs. H. E. Anderson, Mrs. Thomas Bently, Mrs. L. F. Johnson, and Mrs. Hoover Taft. Hartwell Campbell introduced the students to the audience and some former students of Mrs. Smith, Mary French Haves, Joanne Smith, and Ruth Cotton Clark, served as marshals. The piano for the operetta was furnished by Howard Bodkin.

The operetta was presented by the students of Mrs. Smith as an accumulation of work, such as singing, dancing, and rhythms, done during the year.

The sturgeon has become so rare today that it is a novelty in a large part of the world.

ALLIED BULLETS SPEED RED RETREAT:—Allied soldiers fire from a ridgetop position at fleeing Chinese Communist troops in retreat on the central front in Korea. Reds began withdrawing from half of the central front Monday after losing nearly 60,000 men, by Allied estimates, in their five-day offensive. On Sunday alone, the Communists were reported to have lost 24,700 men. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo).

Addict Relates Horrors Of His Long Binge On Heroin

PITTSBURGH—Did you ever wonder what it would be like to take dope? Here's how one drug addict described his horrible ordeal during a two-month-long binge on heroin. Haggard and stooped, the 21-year-old former athlete said he became an addict after meeting other addicts and a drug peddler while working at a used car lot.

more I took the more I needed and the worse my nerves got. Pretty soon I began to feel other symptoms. "For instance, I couldn't sleep. I got addicted to sleeping pills, too. —lost my appetite. The first thing I got up in the morning, I had to have some. While the stuff was working I would sulk and want to be by myself or in the company of other dopeheads.

Fire Is Brought To Fire Station

MORGANTON —(AP)— The mountain came to Mohammed so to speak—firemen reported here today.

An automobile with Virginia license tags pulled up to the front door of the Morganton Fire Department.

Car's on fire, the driver said. "Okay," said fireman R. A. Hennessee, "we'll take care of that. Always glad to have our fires brought to us."

Firemen quickly doused a blaze on the front seat.

Pile of Pennies To Pay His Bill

OBLONG, Ill. —(UP)— Salesman Earl Gazell had to call a truck to collect a bill from 67-year-old W. R. Wall.

When Gazell presented an $825 bill for insulating material, Wall waved to a pile of 110,000 pennies and said "help yourself."

Gazell went back for a truck, weighed out 550 pounds of pennies on a scale, and drove off with them.

Comedienne Is Dangerously Ill

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— Fanny Brice, radio and stage comedienne, is critically ill.

The creator of the radio character, "Baby Snooks," suffered a cerebral hemorrhage yesterday at her Beverly Hills home. She was taken to Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Brice, 59, has been in show business since she was 13. She said she planned to retire some time this year "because it's too much work."

Evangelist Will Try Korea Trip

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(UP)— Evangelist Billy Graham says he plans to visit Korea next year to share "the experience of soldiers on the front line so that I may know what a minister should say to them."

Graham, who is conducting a revival here, said he would make the trip at his own expense to find out "what it feels like to be in combat." The 32-year-old minister said he would go "as far up in the front lines as I can get."

"I'm telling this story so others won't kid themselves, as I did, into thinking they can handle any kind of narcotics."

More Manpower

WASHINGTON—(AP)— Gen. J. Lawton Collins was quoted today as saying it would require "five more divisions" to carry out General Douglas MacArthur's proposals for fighting the Korean war.

A senator, asking not to be quoted by name, told reporters Collins made the estimate at Senate hearings on the dismissal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Higher City . . .

(Continued from page one) to $1.15, in 1948 it was raised to $1.25, and it 1949 it was raised again to the present $1.50.

According to the tentative budget, money received in the collection of ad valorem taxes will amount to $182,482.10 based on the City's total valuation of $13,000,000.

Forty-seven cents of the $1.50 is allocated to paying off the bonded indebtedness and maintaining the schools. The total amount of taxes thus collected on the remaining 1.03 rate on each $100 of valuation.

Funds received from other sources will amount to $171,066.04, tafford said. Those sources are parking meters, ABC funds, cemeteries, court fines, and intangibles—all of it based on the estimated figures for next year, he said.

Send Paratroops . . .

"Iran won't sit back in the face of a British show of force, but will hit back," he said in an interview.

"If a single shot escapes the barrel of any gun in the Persian Gulf area, there will be world war within 24 hours."

Under the 1921 Soviet-Iranian treaty, Russia has a right to enter Iran if another power invades the country.

General Escapes . . .

(Continued from page one) "I grabbed the radio. I tried every channel including the disaster channel which is used in dire emergency. I couldn't raise anybody. The radio had caught a burst."

The captain's next concern was for the two-star general plates on the front and rear of the jeep.

"I just knew some Harvard grad on those hills would recognize them and send a whole swarm of Chinese down to capture us," he said.

The captain grabbed the plates from the rear and Sgt. Allen Bralley grabbed them from the front as a burst of bullets cut under Bralley's arm. They climbed the hillside under fire.

They found protection in the shadow of a jutting cliff. For three more hours they dared not move or talk. Finally two tanks and a half track arrived after dark and rescued them.

Speaks Sunday

Rev. Leonard Topping, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating seniors of Greenville High School on Sunday night, May 27, at 8 o'clock in the high school auditorium. The public is invited to attend the sermon.

O'Connor . . .

2. Avoid government invasion further in fields of free enterprise except in extraordinary circumstances.

3. Business methods must be installed in government administration.

4. Taxes that will eliminate venture capital must be avoided.

5. Insure small business an adequate share of government contracts.

6. Government must reduce its spending on dubious projects.

7. Experimental socialized services must be shelved.

8. Federal government should refrain from intervening in matters of education which should be controlled by local authority.

9. No appeasement, specifically to Red China either by formal recognition, yielding Formosa or communist participation in drafting Japanese peace treaty.

10. Announce straightforward that the U.S. will exercise every effort to prevent Red China's entrance into the United Nations.

President John D. Messick presided at the meeting of the club, and Senator O'Connor was introduced by Jack Spain of Greenville and Washington, D.C., administrative assistant to Senator Clyde R. Hoey.

Miss Allison Hearn was several Negro spirituals for the club members and their guests following the dinner.

In Terms Of . . .

(Continued from page one) His Mutual Security Program actually wraps up, under one name three programs which already have been in operation: sending arms to Europe and other friendly countries; the Marshall Plan help; and the point four program for helping backward countries develop and improve themselves.

His message to Congress yesterday didn't say specifically how much of the $8.50 would go to Marshall Plan aid and how much into Point Four. (For this year, out of a total of $3,000,000,000 in economic help, Congress approved only $38,000,000 for Point Four.)

Mr. Truman said the arms we send will include tanks, guns and planes. The economic help will range from machinery and materials with which to make weapons, to seeds, medicines, and experts to help other countries, particularly underdeveloped ones, grow better crops and fight disease.

You'll notice that the biggest share of our help, military and economic, goes to Europe. Mr. Truman emphasized that Europe, which we've been helping with the Marshall Plan, will particularly need economic help since it's turning so much of its economy to defense and arms-making.

The President said it won't be all money going out, for he said this country and its allies will get particular benefit from some of the backward countries which can in turn send them supplies of strategic materials.

Dangers . . .

(Continued from page one) lite force to act for her if she should want to intervene in Iran. And direct Russian intervention militarily probably would mean a major conflict with the western powers.

Therefore one would expect Moscow to proceed with exceeding caution in Iran. She may find it more profitable to continue fifth column activities, thus strengthening the position of communism there and weakening the position of Britain, which is dependent on Iranian oil to maintain her position in the strategic Middle East.

However, while Russia might not consider it profitable to strike in Iran now, there are numerous other places for a continuation of the "cold war". Among these are British Malaya, with its wealth of rubber and other resources, and French Indochina, where costly strife long has been raging. If Russia were completely ready for another world war, and were bent on launching it in the immediate future, one would think she might march her armies first in the immediate future, of course, that simultaneously she would send into the skies her warplanes carrying atomic bombs against the "enemy".

But there is no indication that Moscow thinks this is the appointed hour to make the big gamble of all-out war.
