Join Battle With 83,000 Entrenched Reds; Attempt To Throw Off Balance New Offensive By "Puppet" Army Including Germans And East Europeans

TOKYO (UP)—The U.N. revealed today that three U.S. divisions have been thrown into battle against 83,000 entrenched Communist troops to knock off balance a threatened Red offensive in Korea by a Soviet "puppet" army including Germans and other East Europeans.

The U.S. Army's 7th and 2nd Divisions and the 1st Marine Division are in the bloody fight against the Communists in the east-central and central front, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, United Nations ground forces commander, disclosed.

Van Fleet said that the Red forces in Korea now number 850,000 men backed by 1,000 planes, 500 tanks and heavy artillery and armored car units.

The announcement followed a statement by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. supreme headquarters here, that a "large number" of Soviet Caucasian troops, including specialists and technical personnel from East Germany and other European nations, are in North Korea and that a Red and ground offensive is "strongly suspected."

Until now, only South Korean troops have been identified as being in action against the Reds.

Van Fleet said at 8th Army headquarters that at the start of the present hot action in Korea Aug. 12, Red units included one Chinese Communist corps and elements of three North Korean corps for a total of 83,000 troops.

Van Fleet said the scope of the Allied drive was to throw the enemy off balance "by reducing materially his potential for any contemplated offensive."

The 8th Army chief said Monday that the Reds can launch "all-out offensive within two weeks."

At Ridgway's headquarters, an official announcement said enemy activities suggest a forthcoming offensive and said the Soviet Caucasian "volunteers" are backed up by more than 1,000 fighter planes, light bombers and ground attack aircraft based in Manchuria.

Van Fleet said the three U.S. divisions and their South Korean Allies had taken a toll of 10,500 Reds, including 800 prisoners, in the furious fighting since Aug. 18.

Their "magnificent effort," he said, "has cost the Communists a loss of terrain, troops and materials which seriously decreases the Communist potential to wage an offensive operation in the near future with this (east-central and central) sector."

Warmed-Over Red Protests Rejected

Repetitious Complaints And Curt Reply Further Snarls Cease-Fire Stalemate; Ridgway Writing New Proposal

TOKYO (UP)—Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy coldly rejected today three warmed-over Communist protests against alleged U.N. violations of neutrality in the Kaesong cease-fire zone.

The rapid-fire order of the repetitious Communist complaints and Joy's curt, quick rejection of them snarled still further the cease-fire stalemate.

But Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.N. supreme commander, was drafting a top-level note to the Red high command which may cut through the words Communist propaganda barrage and open the way for resumption of truce negotiations, perhaps at a new site to get away from troubled Kaesong.

Optimism over the resumption of the talks was believed based on the assumption that the Communists—particularly the Chinese—want an end to the fighting more than they want a political victory.

Ridgway's awaited message will be sent to the top Red commanders, North Korean Premier Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Gen. Peng Teh-huai. It will reply to their message of Sunday which demanded that the U.N. give guarantees against further alleged violations.

Six-Hour Schedule Is Approved For Schools

By MURIEL SHOTWELL
Reflector Staff Writer
The Pitt County Board of Education passed a regulation Monday for all the schools in the county to go on a six-hour schedule instead of the five-hour schedule which they are now on.

The new schedule was set by the board to go into effect after the first three weeks of school. If the school children are needed for labor, it is permitted by law for the school district to make an application to the county board for a shorter school day.

An application from Pacolus School requesting a part-time program for instructing boys in agriculture was discussed by the board. The suggestion was made that the Stokes School agricultural department cover Pacolus on a part-time basis.

The board also discussed a letter from the Bethel School District requesting them to petition the Town of Bethel to install a fire hydrant closer to the Bethel Negro C-Of-C Groups.

Two committees of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce are scheduled to meet this week.

Jails Are Target Of Grand Jury

Conditions Found In County And Three Community Jails Criticized

Conditions of the ten separate jails in Pitt County apparently were the target of the Pitt grand jury whose report was submitted yesterday to the county commissioners.

Of the ten jails of the county, the City County Jail, the Ayden Jail, the Grifton Jail and the Winterville Jail were the ones which drew fire from the grand jury report.

The report said the grand jury found the Ayden Jail "in the most insanitary condition and in desperate need of repairs."

In contrast, the report said the Bethel Jail is in "very clean condition" and the town is in the process of building a new jail.

The grand jury report complimented Capt. Paul Crawford on "the sanitary and excellent conditions" of the entire state prison camp near Greenville.

The grand jury in its report expressed its appreciation to Judge G. K. Nimocks, Solicitor W. J. Bundy and to county officers for their cooperation.

All-Time High

By UNITED PRESS
Traffic fatalities for the long Labor Day weekend mounted to a new all-time high for the holiday and the National Safety Council today blamed "moron motorists" for most of them.

Between 6 p.m. Friday and Monday midnight, 707 persons were killed, 445 on streets and highways. There were 118 drownings. Nineteen persons were killed in airplane crashes. Other mishaps killed 125.

The council estimated that more than 15,000 persons were injured in weekend automobile mishaps. Of these about 133 will die of their injuries, council statisticians said.

Author Louis Found Dead, Gun In Lap

FLEMING, N. J. (AP)—The body of author Louis Adamic was found this morning in his burned farm house at Milford, N. J., with a shotgun lying in his lap.

Fire chief Walter Ellis of Riegelsville, Pa., whose department covers fires across the Delaware River in New Jersey, said a barn and house at Adamic's farm had been set on fire with kerosene-soaked rags. Milford is 10 miles west of here.

Allied Diplomats Count 48 Nations Ready To Sign Japanese Peace Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Allied diplomats today counted 48 nations ready to sign the Japanese peace treaty at the conference to be opened tonight by President Truman.

Overwhelming support for the liberal peace pact was assured despite certain Soviet-satellite maneuvers to block treaty action by threatening a bigger war in the Far East.

The treaty of some 6,000-words causes some apprehension because it does not bar Japanese rearmament. It does not provide heavy reparations for nations devastated by Japan during World War II.

The grand jury found the Winterville Jail "in need of plumbing repairs," and the Grifton Jail "very dirty and in need of installation of additional water facilities."

During a lengthy discussion it was brought out that with the town growing and bringing new housing developments into the city limits that there would be need for additional water supply.

At the present time the entire supply of water for the town comes from one well with a pump capable of pumping 150 gallons per minute.

The town will vote later this month on a proposed $28,000 bond improvement program, with most of the issue being allotted for fire equipment and water works improvements. A total of about $10,500 will be allotted for the buying of a fire truck for the town.

Sheriff Reports Death Is Suicide

Jack Creech, 49-year-old farmer, who lives on the Cobb-Dale farm near Bell Arthur, committed suicide at his home early today, Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson, who investigated the case, reported.

Creech had been in declining health for some time. He arose early today and went to a tobacco barn, but returned shortly. He sat on the side of his bed and shot himself with a shotgun. He died instantly.

His wife, who was working in the kitchen, heard the shot and hurried to her husband, she said. He died before medical assistance could be obtained.

Hostess Gives Dinner Party For Newlyweds

Miss Carolyn Clark was a dinner hostess on Thursday night at her home on East Fifth Street when she entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spilman Jr., a recent bridal couple. The gracious home was never more lovely than it was for this occasion. Assorted summer and early fall flowers were gracefully and beautifully arranged in the living room and den, while the spacious porch was a bower of beauty with its many potted plants. Mrs. J. B. Smith underwent an operation for appendicitis last night in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR September 4, 1911 Mrs. J. L. Little and children returned Monday evening from Seven Springs. Edward Hearne left this morning for Raleigh to take a business course. Yesterday about sunset, the whistle of a boat up the river was heard. It was blowing for the draw of the Greenville bridge to open for it to pass. It was the steamer Shiloh that had been enjoying a quiet berth at Tarboro for three months or more. The recent rains have caused a good little rise in the river and the whistle of the Shiloh sounded as of much gladness.

Ice Cream Party Given By Friends For Bride Elect

Mrs. William Flanders, the former Eloise Tucker, was feted on last Friday before her marriage on Sunday when three of her friends entertained for her at an informal afternoon party. The joint hostesses were Miss Ann Oakley, Miss Martha Conway and Mrs. Louis Collier. The party was held at the home of Miss Oakley on East Fifth Street. A dozen close friends of the honoree were invited for ice cream and cake at the hour of 4:30 p.m. Brownies and salted nuts accompanied the ice course. The hostesses presented the guest of honor with a silver and crystal cigarette urn as a gift.

Youth Crusade Continues With Tuesday Meeting

The Methodist Youth Crusade will hold the third in a series of services at 7:15 tonight. The subject for discussion will be "Faith In a Time of Crisis—But In What and Why." The devotional leader will be David Whitchard III. Classes will be held for the Intermediate, the Senior and the College Age group following the joint worship service. The classes will be followed by a period of recreation. All young people of the community are invited to attend.

Myer Hahn Funeral Planned Wednesday

Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Episcopal Church in New Bern by his pastor, the Rev. Mr. Williams. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lucille Worthington Hahn, formerly of W. W. Hahn, one daughter, Celia Hahn, and a sister, Mrs. Carl Morton, and his mother, Mrs. F. M. Hahn, all of New Bern. Also a sister, Mrs. Rudolph Jackson and a niece, of Atlanta, Georgia. TWINS PARTED CHICOPPEE Mass.—(UP)—Mary and Katherine Moylan, identical twins, will be in separate schools this fall for the first time in 16 years. Together they attended the same grammar school, high school and college but were assigned to different schools in their first teaching jobs.

Share Honors When Hostess Entertains

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies extended to Mrs. William Flanders, the former Eloise Tucker before her marriage on last Sunday, was an informal morning party which was given last Tuesday morning. The hostess, Miss Frances Bendall also honored her house guest, Miss Pat Neblett, from Bardonia, Ky. when she had a few friends in for refreshments and a social hour at her home on Biltmore Street. Both of the honor guests were presented with corsages. The bride-elect was also given a gift of china in her chosen pattern and Miss Neblett was presented a gift of linen. Mrs. Durward Tucker, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. W. P. Moore, aunt, assisted the hostess and her mother in serving lemon drinks, pastries, assorted sandwiches, potato chips, pickles and sweetened the guests from a table decorated with white flowers and laid with a white cloth. Around 16 guests were present to enjoy this delightful affair.

Beauty Reigns In Atlantic City ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Beauty takes over the boardwalk today as 51 hopefuls for the title of Miss America go on display. The 25th gala parade ushering in the five-day contest has never been called off because of rain. Pageant officials, scanning cloudy skies, drew some consolation from the weatherman's compromise—no sun but no rain. The overcast skies resulted yesterday in one of the most drawn-out registrations in Miss America history. But despite grounded planes and hectic Labor Day weekend travel, all the entries from 44 states, four major cities, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Canada were clocked in at 8 p.m. Contest rules keep the girls virtually under plate glass—you can look all you want but they are prohibited from even talking to you. Dates? That's out of the question.

Welfare Dept. Notes

Some forty of the smaller counties in North Carolina have closed their county homes. What few inmates they had are being boarded out in the larger County Homes or in licensed boarding homes. The County continues to operate a home for a selected few who have no place to live. The population as of August 31st was 24. Mr. H.C. Hill is the superintendent and Mrs. E. J. Condlin is the matron. The admittance and discharge is done by the Superintendent of Public Welfare, under the County Commissioners, to whom a report is made each first Monday. In this report to the Commissioners a check of the home is made one or two times each month, covering items as to care, cleanliness of the premises and person of inmates and complaints of inmates. The composition of the population as of August 31st was as follows: 11 white men, 6 white women, 4 colored men and 3 colored women. The trend now for caring for those who would otherwise be admitted to a County Home is to board them in licensed boarding homes. In this way they may continue to receive benefits from State and Federal funds for their care and the expense of their maintenance.

Discusses Advancement Of Rotary Fellowships

John C. Proctor in an address to the Greenville Rotary club last night declared that 284 men and women of 42 countries of the world have studied in foreign universities and colleges through the Rotary Foundation Fellowships.

Since the movement was inaugurated in 1917 more than $2,700,000 has been contributed to it in an effort to further international understanding.

Proctor, who chose as his topic Rotary international service, pointed out there are 31,000 foreign students now studying in American institutions of higher learning. "These students come here as strangers," Proctor said. "We must be sure they leave as friends." The speaker named several men who are high government officials in foreign countries who formerly were students in American universities and colleges.

The Rotary Foundation Fellowships are open to not more than one student from each Rotary club each year. To be eligible for a fellowship a person must have completed work for a bachelor's degree, must be between 20 and 28, have a working knowledge of the language and history of the country in which he intends to study, be of high moral character, and have shown the qualities of leadership.

Dr. Howard McGinnis, past district governor, stated during the discussion of the Rotary Foundation Fellowships that the Greenville club is now working on a possible candidate for a fellowship for the school year of 1952-53.

In addition to addressing the club last night, Proctor also presented a brief biographical sketch of himself in "Who I am and Why." He was born in Grimesland, a member of a family of 13 children, and attended school in Grimesland before entering Carolina Maritime Military Academy, and later Blackstone Military Academy. Proctor was a student at Davidson College for two years, and in December 1928 graduated from Eastman Business School in New York.

He worked for a New York accounting firm for nine years and in 1937 became a Certified Public Accountant in New York. The following year he returned to Pitt County and opened his accounting office in Greenville.

McGinnis reported to the club that an invitation has been sent to the president of Rotary International inviting him to be the guest of the Greenville club and this district.

The club endorsed by voice vote the project of a blood bank for Greenville which is being sponsored by the local chapter of the Red Cross.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were Dr. Grady Dixon and Snodgrass Edwards of Ayden, Joe Rasberry and Manly Liles of Farmville.

President Charles A. White presided at the meeting.

Nutrition Expert To Aid Schools

Carolyn Flewellen, nutrition consultant, will be associated with the Pitt County Health Department for sometime to work primarily in the schools.

Miss Flewellen's services were requested by the Pitt County Board of Education, the city school board, and the health department. She is on loan from the nutrition department of the State Board of Education.

Her work in the schools of the county and city will start with refresher courses for the teachers in nutrition. She will assist teachers in teaching nutrition in their classes and provide demonstrations along with the classes.

While here Miss Flewellen plans to make a survey with the school children on dietary habits and will present her findings to the teachers. She will also do some work in surrounding counties.

Miss Flewellen is available through the health department for talks to groups on nutrition. The health department is hoping to use her services in clinics and supervision.

Douglas S. Deans Jr. Funeral Wednesday

Douglas Scott Deans Jr., 27, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Monday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock after having been critically ill for a week. Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapel of the S. G. Wilkeson & Sons Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock by his pastor, Dr. H. G. Haney, pastor of the Eighth Street Christian Church, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Deans was born and reared in Nash County and attended Cooper's School near Rocky Mount. He came to Greenville two and a half years ago and was manager of Esotane Plant and Store. He was a veteran of World War II and served in the Pacific theater. A son of the late H. S. and Arabella Vick Deans of Nash County, he was married to Miss Eva Ricks of Rocky Mount in July 1947. He was a member of the Eighth Street Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife; a daughter, Deborah Deans of the home; two brothers, N. B. and Nurney Deans, both of Rocky Mount; and five sisters, Mrs. R. C. Cockrell, Mrs. J. I. Bone, and Mrs. A. R. Bass, all of Rocky Mount, Mrs. P. L. Ledford of Tampa, Fla., and Mrs. Stephen Bityk of Detroit, Michigan.

Strength for the Day

LIBERTY OF SPIRIT
We have often heard the statement that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance. This is true. But it is even more true that the price of liberty is eternal exercise. When people cease to exercise their liberties, the same thing happens which happens to a sluggish, poisoned body. Their liberties sink into progressive deterioration and decay.
We exercise political liberty by taking advantage of the privilege to vote, by taking an interest in public affairs, and by seeing to it that office holders attend to their business. Every time we come down hard on political corruption, we do our country and our own consciences a good service.
Spiritually, we exercise our liberty when we harken to the words of Holy Writ: "Now the Lord is that Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." Spiritual liberty begins with the surrender of the human will to the divine will. When that takes place, the whole of one's personality is suddenly lifted to new heights of power and joy.
One has to surrender his personal liberty to find spiritual liberty. And in the continual exercising of that spiritual liberty, one enters into the joy and privileges of a life lived to its fullest capacity.

It's More The Quality Than It Is The Price

Eastern North Carolina this tobacco season is casting a somewhat discontented eye at the average prices on the tobacco auctions after having had an exceptionally good tobacco crop along with unusually high prices in the middle grades last season.

There are a great many farmers who are not the least bit happy about the price their crop is bringing this year, and many folks are wondering just where the fly is in the ointment.

Why isn't tobacco selling this year like it did last year? The Reflector was confronted with the same question, delved into the matter and came up with the conclusion tobacco, grade for grade, is selling just about like it did last year. The principal difference is that this year the quality of leaf is much poorer than last year. We took 38 grades of tobacco and compared the official grade-for-grade prices paid during the early part of the 1950 season with the price per grade paid on the eastern belt through Thursday. Tobacco this year is averaging about 50 cents a hundred pounds under what it did last year, according to the grades used in the comparison.

Considering the 14 per cent acreage increase in tobacco allotments this year, an average price drop of half a cent a pound on tobacco is not too much of a drop. But what hurts the market average and the amount of money in the farmer's pockets is that much more of the tobacco this year is in the lower grades and is bringing a lower price than the bulk of the 1950 crop.

The weather conditions in many sections of this tobacco region this year were not as favorable as they were during 1950 and a generally poorer quality of tobacco developed. In the leaf grades which the Reflector compared with last year's prices, seven grades were off one cent a pound from last year's price for approximately the same time of the season; three grades were off two cents, three grades brought the same price and one grade was up two cents.

In the smoking leaf two grades were the same, two were off two cents, one was off three cents and one was off four cents. Two grades of cutters brought the same price as last year, and one grade was off two cents. In the lugs X1L was up two cents, X2L was the same, X4G up 3 cents and X5G up one cent. Two grades of lugs were off one cent, one grade off two cents, one grade off three cents and two grades off four cents.

The primings showed one grade bringing the same price as in 1950, three grades off three cents, one grade off four cents, one grade off five cents and one grade off seven cents.

The figures lead to the conclusion that grade for grade tobacco prices are off slightly from last year, but they are not off enough to entirely account for the difference between the average of $50.31 for the belt for the first nine selling days this year and the average of $56.98 in the belt for the first nine selling days of 1950. The quality of tobacco on the market is playing a greater part in the total price differential this year than the difference in the grade for grade prices being paid for the tobacco this year compared with 1950.

Peace With Japan - In Spite Of Russia

Fur will begin to fly at San Francisco tonight as representatives of 52 nations meet—some to sign the Japanese treaty; Russia and a few others to do all they can to wreck the attempt to bring World War II in the Pacific to an official end.

Great Britain and the United States have worked out with other democratic nations a peace treaty for Japan which both gives the converted imperialistic power the sovereignty of an independent state, and at the same time inserts the necessary fetters which will prevent Japan from again playing the role of military aggressor.

To a great extent the Japanese peace treaty is the key to peace and security in the Pacific. It is a powerful diplomatic weapon which of necessity will strengthen the cause of freedom or the cause of oppression in the Pacific. As the treaty is now framed, it will be a weapon for freedom, democracy and world peace.

If the treaty is amended as the Communists will propose at the San Francisco conference it will render Japan a nonentity among the nations of the world. It will pave the way for further Communist aggression through the Pacific quarter of the globe.

The Russian delegation will rant and rave at the conference in an effort to block every move of progress toward a more stable foundation for world peace. Their tactics must be fought at every turn by the nations genuinely interested in peace.

The Russians have carried their cloaked dagger long enough in international diplomacy. Their bluff too often has gone uncalled. The Japanese peace treaty as it now is written should be executed with Russia included among the signers if possible. If Russia refuses to sign the treaty as it now is prepared, it should be executed by the other nations who are working for world peace.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Although no veteran European statesman or diplomat would pretend to interfere openly in American presidential politics, the leaders of several allied governments abroad have indicated to touring members of Congress that they want General "Ike" Eisenhower to remain in his present post instead of progressing to the White House as the GOP's nominee next year.

This indirect intervention is a tribute to the American military leader, even though it goes counter to the schemes of his political promoters on this side of the water.

Indeed, the attitude of his foreign associates in reaffirming Europe may affect "Ike's" own decisions on shifting more or less permanently from a uniform to partisan garb. Naturally, he is cognizant of the existence of this feeling toward him.

CONSIDERATION—Although "Ike" alone can make a final choice with respect to a problem involving both his personal ambitions and world affairs, it is not unlikely that he will give as much consideration to the attitude of European prime ministers, diplomat and military leaders as to those of such pro-Eisenhower politicians as Messrs. Dewey, Duff, Darby etc.

He must, in short, decide whether he prefers to gamble for the presidency of the United States, or write his name in history as the possible savior of western civilization against the most serious threat since Attila the Hun. Ironically, there is no assurance as of today that he can attain either honor.

WARNING—The theme of European warnings against an Eisenhower elevation to the American presidency is that no other American can persuade, inspire or bully our continental allies into making the necessary sacrifices for a firm resistance to Russian attack.

Even Generals Marshall and Bradley are only names over there, and both were involved in World War II strategy decisions that antagonized foreign politicians and militarists.

"Ike" has informed Congressional visitors that he is not yet satisfied with Europe's war preparations. He has given the same notice to European leaders in more blunt terms than any other American would have dared to use.

On his surveys, he has not spared the feelings of the Home of Foreign Offices or commanders in the field. He has even lectured their industrialists and labor groups.

In more delicate language, he has almost paraphrased Herbert Hoover's warning that, if the Old World did not show sufficient courage or spirit or action for preparing to defend itself, he would recommend a radical change in this country's overall foreign policy and defense program.

TESTIMONIAL—No other American has enough prestige or good will overseas to enable him to talk so boldly to leaders of nations which once controlled the known world, including our own continent. It is a testimonial to "Ike's" kind of grinning diplomacy that, instead of resenting his harangues, the Europeans cite his blunt behavior as the main reason for not removing him from the alien scene.

The Right Man In The Wrong Place

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If there is any man in the world who is not superstitious, it's me. Ignoring that cats and walking under ladders is a standard procedure with me. However, there is a story in the news that will almost make you believe that there is such a thing as a jinx.

To make the cover of Time magazine is quite an honor, but for some of the nation's top athletes, it has spelled doom. The former middleweight boxing champion of the world Sugar Ray Robinson, lost his title three days after his picture appeared on the cover of Time.

The most recent story was released this morning. Dick Savitt, the favorite to win the U.S. tennis championship, was featured on the cover of the August 27th issue. The next day the newspapers told the story that he had an infected leg, which might cause him to lose the championship. Vic Seixas, former University of North Carolina star, beat Savitt to earn a place in the finals.

There are other sports stories to bear out the Time jinx. Joe DiMaggio was on the cover of Time July 13, 1936. The same week, he played with the American League All-Stars, made no hits in five times up, fumbled two ground balls. The National League won, 4-3.

On November 6, 1939, Tom Harmon, Michigan's All-America back, made only one touchdown the week his picture was on the cover and Illinois beat Michigan for one of the season's biggest upsets.

The hardest hit of all was Ben Hogan, 1948's golfer of the year and favorite for most of the top 1949 tournaments. The same week he was on the cover he lost his $15,000 Los Angeles Open tournament and three weeks later was in an automobile wreck that almost killed him. Of course, his comeback is one of the greatest sports stories of all time.

Leo Durocher, in April, 1947, was the highest-paid manager in baseball. The day before his picture hit the cover of Time he was suspended for the entire season. Last week's cover features none other than Smithfield's own Av Gardner. There had been so much printed about the affair of Av and Frank Sinatra that it got boring. Managing Editor Dave Whitchard III hit the nail on the head with his editorial about Av and Frankie headlined "Who Cares?" However, the Time cover story upped Av's stock by saying that she's got the closest thing to "it" since the days of the real "oomph" girls.

Up to now the Time jinx seems to have been confined to athletes. Will it engulf '50? Time will tell. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYN NIBBET

AUTHORITY—From time to time some effort is made to prove that the government of North Carolina has less authority than most other state governments, for that he does not have veto power over acts of the legislature. Whatever that failure detracts from his real authority is more than compensated by certain other prerogatives conferred by statute upon the Tarheel chief executive. The executive budget system in effect here for the past twenty-odd years gives the governor more specific direct authority over state business than even the president of the United States has over national affairs. The North Carolina budget act in practical operation gives our governor larger control over activities of elected state officials than many governors have over comparable officials whom they have the privilege of appointing.

BUDGET—True, there is an advisory budget commission of six members; two of whom are appointed by the governor. The other four are elected members of the general assembly. But this is an advisory group, with great privileges and little actual authority. Under the law the governor is director of the budget, and in practice administration of the budget is in the hands of an assistant director named by the governor and responsible only to him. In other words, the budget bureau is an integral part of the governor's office.

Business Today

Business men face a re-examination of a lot of every-day practices and procedures. Rate rises in pennies for many common services can pile up added costs unless management takes a new look at incidentals. Railroad freight rises of 2 per cent east of the Mississippi and north of the Ohio Rivers, and 6 per cent in the rest of the country have been authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Rises in telegraph rates from 5 to 50 per cent have been approved by the Federal Communications Commission. Increases in parcel post rates approximating 26 per cent have been made effective October 1 by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Congress is working on increases in rates on post cards and first and second class mail.

Telephone companies in many, if not most, sections of the country are seeking higher tariffs. For most businesses, these higher rates will mean a few cents here and a few cents there but there are so many "here's" and "there's" that the total can be staggering.

The totals will create pressure for many price rises. Price Administrator Michael V. Disalle has announced that increases will be granted when rail freight increases affect costs, and it is certain that other higher costs can be used as a jack to lift ceilings.

But that is not an easy way out. Getting action on an application for a higher ceiling takes time. It may be difficult to allocate the higher costs of phone, telegraph and mail services to each can of peas or to each pair of shoes. Furthermore there is such a thing as price resistance, as many merchants have found, to their anguish during the summer months.

A more direct attack may be a review of office habits, customs and systems. Changes to be made will depend upon individual circumstances. In some offices, it may be worth while to answer fewer letters, especially when the answer is, "We don't want any." Or it may be advisable to use more of the probable two-cent postcards instead of letters, phone calls and telegrams. In some instances, airmail (at a possible 8 cents) may be as satisfactory as a telegram (up 50 per cent).

It may also be advisable to consolidate shipments and reduce weights of packaging and containers. Under the new rates, one pound to some 5 costs 27 cents, 10 pounds $1.53. Ten-pound shipments therefore go at almost half the per-pound rate of pound shipments. There are hundreds of other ways in almost every business in which compensatory economies can be found to offset higher charges. Mabel not to call her boy friend on the office phone. BILL WOULD HELP PROTECT TRADE MARKS A bill revising the trade mark laws has been introduced in Congress by Senator Alexander Wiley (R., Wis.). One of its principal provisions would be to help trademark owners in preventing their marks from slipping into common usage. Creators of more than 200 trade marks have lost their rights because their invented work has become common words, including aspirin, tabloid and nylon. Under the Wiley Act, trademark owners could bring suit or damages if their words are misused. Newspapers, magazines and dictionaries could not be sued for damages, but they could be enjoined.

AD ON CREDIT ASKS OFFICE ON CREDIT Interim report on Daniel Pinow, the Bronx promoter, who is trying to organize a million-dollar plastic industry on a contingency basis. He's just obtained a full-page ad in a leading industrial magazine on a contingency basis. He will pay it and when the magazine gets going to persuade a materials or machinery company to stake him to 1,000 to 1,500 square feet of presentable office space in return for a large account, if and when. Pinow has already obtained a site and plans on the same contingency basis.

NEW PRODUCTS WAX—A wax for furniture, autos and other surfaces, and which is said to make wallpaper washable, is being marketed by Sterling Value Co., 225 Northern Blvd. Great Neck, N. Y. SAMPLER: Pressing a button on a new device brings a sample of crank-case oil into a viewing chamber on an auto dashboard, enabling the driver to see whether oil is low or dirty. he's determined to stamp it out at any cost. There's been a lot of fresh flowers in the cemetery lately. Can't tell for sure whether it's a result of general prosperity or just an attack of memory. Old Ed Weatherly is going around claiming he just saw the first robin. He's been getting March and September mixed in his mind lately. Well, that's all the news from Cornob Heights except that nobody was born here. That makes six consecutive weeks without a birth, and the Chamber of Commerce is plenty worried. They are going to take up the problem at the next meeting.

Washington Letter

By MORRIS J. HARRIS (For JANE EADS) WASHINGTON—"American life," says Mrs. Mounir Nassef, "is a hard life—but rewarding—if you can take it and live to 'enough." Mrs. Nassef, wife of the press attaché of the Egyptian embassy and mother of three children, has lived here about five years. Before she came to the U. S. she worked on an Alexandria newspaper and did a weekly radio broadcast from Cairo. She views American women as victims of "1,001" labor-saving devices. "As a housewife and mother," she writes in the summer issue of "Egypt," an embassy publication, "I've been amazed by the amount of work an American woman can pack into a day." Yet, she adds, "In spite of all the logical improvements for the betterment of the home, the American woman, in keeping up with an ambitious ideal, can no longer cope with the work."

Mrs. Nassef says she has learned to run a home and raise children without any help whatsoever, although when she lived in Cairo she had a "hired girl" to do the scrubbing, washing and cooking. "I'm lagging behind American women," she writes. "Somewhere along the line she finds time to join the P.T.A., a bridge or garden club, take an active part in community work and entertain personality at home."

She observes that one of the favorite American expressions, "take it easy," is among the least followed bits of advice. "The Oriental woman puts it into practice," she says. "She knows for sure that she can't be a perfect wife, mother and pal and a perfect housekeeper. She can't visualize an Egyptian woman," she says, "around five or six o'clock in the afternoon, when the sun is setting low and we relax on our balconies, breathing the cool evening breeze. Nothing tooasting except ourselves in the sun. No rush, fuss or perpetual motion."

"We do not try as hard as the American people to reach our goals in the shortest possible time. Modern times have not completely erased for us the peaceful philosophy of the good old days. We do not wish so to the most in our lifetimes, but only the best."

What Other Papers Are Thinking

REBELLING HOUSEWIVES (Washington Daily News)

The housewives of Marshall, Texas, have torn a page from the book of Vivian Kellems, a Connecticut manufacturer who years ago refused to collect withholding taxes for the government. The Texas housewives are refusing to collect social security money from the servants in the households. Of course the government has been threatening Miss Kellems now for a long time, but nothing definitely has been done. And it is likely that nothing will be done for a long time. The government seems a bit afraid to bring the Kellems issue to a head. The Marshall women are disturbed over efforts of the government to force them to collect taxes from household servants. And they are refusing to do so. There is a side to all these collection controversies which many people do not stop to think about. Collecting taxes is the job of the Internal Revenue collector. But the "bro" scope of thought lies in the belief of the employee that he is only making so much money, looking only at the amount in his envelope. The employee doesn't stop to realize that the employer, at government direction, is taking out taxes and social security, et seq. "To purchase or contract for all telephones, telegraph, electric light power, postal and any and all contractual services and needs of the state government, or any of its departments, institutions, or agencies." "To rent or lease all grounds, buildings, offices, or other space required by any department, institution or agency of state government." "To have general supervision of all storerooms and stores operated by the state government, or any of its departments, institutions or agencies."

That language would seem to include operations at state parks, state test farms, showings of the "Lost Colony" and "Ulio These Bulls" dramas, performances of the symphony society and exhibitions staged by the art society. Maybe somebody has been overlooking some sets.

SATISFACTORY—These various operations have been non-legal rather than illegal and have proven generally satisfactory. Truth of the matter is the director of purchase and contract has been pleased to be relieved of the responsibility of handling details of some of these transactions, and there has been no intimation of malfeasance, misfeasance or other failure on part of those handling them. Furthermore, many citizens have been pleased that here are some governmental functions that the governor and his immediate appointees have not directly handled. It just happens that the statutes say they should be channeled through the division of purchase and contract or the budget bureau. And even if that Shakespearean character was right in saying "the law is a ass," it is still the law.

So long as we continue to make business collect the taxes, and pay them, then we will continue to have the same situation we now have. Perhaps the day will come when congress will pass a law requiring the department of internal revenue to collect its own taxes. Those independent owners of Marshall, Texas, are doing their part toward this end.

Industry Spending Big Sums To Tell Its Story

NEW YORK (UP)—American industry is spending millions to tell its story to school children. Through motion pictures, slides, maps, charts and field trips, manufacturers and trade groups explain the impact of their products on America's high standard of living. Educators say this type of information is a progressive form of learning. Now a survey has been made to determine whether these materials—motion pictures, etc.—actually meet the needs of education or is much of the effort and the millions spent, being wasted. In a study financed by the American Iron and Steel Institute, questions and above all for their timeliness in providing up-to-date information not available in regular text materials. The survey pointed out, however, that much poor material presently is in circulation and has had to be thrown out because it is not adaptable to classroom needs. The survey said that industry in general must take greater care in preparing its programs. For example, it said that prize and essay contests are losing their popularity. The survey said: "Too often, contests detract from the regular school program. They seldom encourage real research or advance real learning. It is significant that (school) administrators rated contests lowest in value among sponsored programs." Films Criticized Visual materials are increasing in demand among the educators, the survey showed, but many teachers complained that some films are prepared with no knowledge of school needs. One recommendation: entertainment and advertising should be subordinated to instructional purposes. At the moment, very few sponsored radio or television programs lend themselves to school use but the survey called for "daring and enterprising" program sponsors to come up with something to fill the gap. Field trips to industrial plants were held to be extremely useful. Among its recommendations, the survey said that industry should learn more about new methods in education, and industry and business should support educators in developing improved techniques in the schools.

Annie Oakley's Cabin Is Saved

MINISTERS, O.—(UP)—It has taken a lot of maneuvering but a tiny log cabin, in which the sharpshooter Annie Oakley spent much of her girlhood, will be saved from the inroads of progress. The cabin, 15 feet wide and 27 feet long, had to be moved because of the widening of a state highway. It had been out of the Oakley family since 1908 and appeared headed either for an historical society or destruction. The state bought the cabin, where Annie, as a girl of about 16, lived with her family, but could find no society which was willing to foot the cost of moving it. However, a niece, Mrs. Annie Fern Swanson, finally took the relic off the state's hands for $75 and plans to move it near her home. Even after the cabin is moved, a mermaid will remain to mark the spot where the one-time circus performer and co-worker of Buffalo Bill spent her early years. A plaque, donated by the Hollywood actress Barbara Stanwyck, who starred in a film based on Annie Oakley's life, "Little Sure-shot," will mark the spot after the modern highway is put through.

Couldn't Bark, But Gives Alarm

BRAINTREE, Mass.—(UP)—The barking dog that arouses the sleeping family is a commonplace feature of fire stories. Here's something new. When Charles Laneau's home caught fire it was his pet rabbit that spread the alarm. The rabbit's squeals were mistaken by neighbors for the crying of a baby. They arrived in time to rescue the hare and put out the blaze. All persons are competent to make a will except idiots, persons of unsound mind and infants.

Indians Take Over First By Winning Two; Yankees Divide Two With A's

Cleveland Leads New York By One Percentage Point; Bosox Making Regular Late Season Bid

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press-Sports Writer

A three-way brawl involving the same batters as in the mad finish of 1948 seemed to be in the making in the American League today.

One dinky percentage point separated the pace-setting Indians from the runner-up Yankees after the Labor Day madness. But the Red Sox, who never get mad until September, were just 1-2 games off the pace with three big games in New York coming up.

Cleveland has a chance to improve its lead a little tonight in a game with the White Sox—the only one scheduled for the day in the majors. But the Red Sox, who have nine games left with the Yankees, have to be given renewed consideration.

They swept 3 to 2 and 8 to 4 victories against Washington yesterday, hitting opportunely behind the adequate pitching of Mel Parnell and Chuck Stobbs, that picked up a full game over the Yankees, who were knocked out of the lead in a split at Philadelphia.

The Indians, hitting sharply again after their prolonged slump, topped the White Sox 5 to 3, as Bobby Feller won his 21st game, and 6 to 1 behind a fine three-hitter by spot pitcher Steve Gromek.

Detroit's also-rans topped the Browns 5 to 5 on Gerry Priddy's 13th inning double, while the "never was" boys from St. Louis took the nightcap 3 to 2 on Fred Sanford's five-hitter.

Brooklyn pulled to a commanding six-game lead in the National with twin 7 to 3 triumphs over the Braves. At the same time the Giants lost 6 to 3, then won 3 to 1 from the Phillies. The Cardinals took over third place from the Braves with 7 to 1 and 4 to 1 victories over Cincinnati as lefty Max Lanier won his 100th big league game in the opener and reliever Al Brantle—in a rare start—pitched three-hit ball to win the second.

The Cubs edged the Pirates 11 to 10 when Roy Smalley singled home the winning run in the 12th. Then they lost 4 to 3 as another relief artist, Ted Wilks, pitched six-hit ball when pressed into starting service in the darkness-shortened seven-inning finale.

Wallopin' Walt Dropo's two-run first inning homer took the pressure off Parnell, who held Washington.

Two-Way Search Begins In Death Of George Flores

NEW YORK (UP)—A two-way investigation was launched into the ring death of middleweight George Flores today.

The New York County grand jury planned one probe to determine if any laws were broken, and the New York State Boxing Commission planned another to seek ways of preventing more ring killings.

Flores, 20-year-old New York slugger, died yesterday of injuries suffered when he was knocked out in the eighth round of the Madison Square Garden semifinal Wednesday. He never regained consciousness after he collapsed in his dressing room after walking dazedly from the ring.

A spokesman for the district attorney's office said Roger Donoghue of Yonkers, N. Y., who knocked out Flores in the last round of their rousing bout, would be questioned as well as ring officials who supervised the fight. However, the investigation was described as "routine" with no grand jury action expected.

ington scoreless until the ninth inning as he won his 16th game. Dom DiMaggio, with a double and two singles, and Aaron Robinson with a home run set the 11-hit pace for Boston in the second game.

The rollicking seventh place Athletics, who are about to overtake the Senators, knocked a team out of first place for the fifth time in six weeks and picked on the Yankees for the third time in 22 days.

It looked like a "Sain" holiday for the Yankees when big John pitched brilliantly for his first American league victory in the opener, but he needed a two-run homer by Hank Bauer in the fifth to sew it up. The A's got only two hits after the second.

Feller, now three games ahead of the next closest big league hurler with his 21 wins, was bolstered by a 12-hit attack that included at least one safe blow by everybody in the starting lineup except Bobby.

Roy Campanella, who now has 31 homers to equal his entire output of 1950, was the show in Brooklyn's opener, driving in five runs with a pair of round trippers, as Carl Erskine won his 15th game.

A three-run homer by Richie Ashburn, followed by a two-run blast by Bill Nicholson in the fifth inning, gave Robin Roberts just what he needed to win his 18th game, a six-hitter over the Giants in the opener.

Alvin Dark and White Lockman hit homers to provide lefty Dave Kosko with a nine-hit, second-game Giant victory.

Tough Slate Seen As Carolina Beign Preparations For 1951

CHAPEL HILL —(AP)—Head coach Carl Snavely of the University of North Carolina sums up the football outlook for his Tar Heels this season in three words: "Too much schedule."

A quick glance at the list of opponents shows he is justified in making the statement. The schedule includes such giants as Tennessee, and Maryland.

Despite the tough schedule, North Carolina appears on the way back after hitting the skids last season with a record of four losses, three ties and three wins.

There's a tremendous depth of talent. The squad numbers 96. Of these, 35 are freshmen, including such former prep stars as backs Larry Parker of Charlotte and Connie Graville of Roxboro. Heading the guard is Duke of Hazelton, Pa.

Snavely figures his club will stack up well in southern conference play. He added: "We'll have an interesting team, one that can move the ball. We proved that during the Blue-White intra-squad game last spring."

In that game the two teams rolled up more than 1,000 yards on the ground. Opponents likely will find it difficult to map a defense against the three offensive formations the Tar Heels will employ. The team will line up for all plays in a T-formation with an un-balanced line.

Thomas Wins In Darlington Race

DARLINGTON, S. C.—(AP)—I just went out there and stuck my foot on it—and the car held up."

That was Herbert Thomas' explanation of how he won yesterday's 500-mile strictly stock car race here before 35,000 fans.

The heavy-footed Olivia, N. C., racer gunned his 1951 Hudson Hornet over the asphalt track to cover the distance in 6 hours, 30 minutes, .05 seconds, for an snail-paced average of 75.4 miles an hour.

Victory meant $5,500 in prize money for Thomas, with about $3,200 extra thrown in to represent lap prizes. Second prize money of $2,800 went to Jesse James Taylor of Macon, Ga., who also drove a 1951 Hudson Hornet. Buddy Shuman of Charlotte, N. C., won third prize money of $1,500 in his 1951 Ford six.

Five bad spills and collisions marred the race but all drivers escaped serious injury.

Dodgers Fined For Bad Conduct

NEW YORK (UP)—Manager Charley Dressen, second baseman Jackie Robinson and pitcher Don Newcombe of the Dodgers all were fined by Ford Frick, National League president, yesterday for run-ins with umpire Al Barlick Saturday.

Robinson and Newcombe were ejected from the game against the Giants at the Polo Grounds, and Dressen, to show his objections, sent the rest of his bench to the clubhouse.

Vic Seixas Again In Role Of Underdog In National

Curandero Wins Richest Payoff

CHICAGO—(AP)—King Ranch's 5-year-old Curandero made his second victory of the season the richest payoff for a mile race in history by winning the $158,150 Washington Park Handicap before the largest Chicago crowd since 1948.

The son of Brazado-Cienca, deftly ridden by Aveino Gomes of Havana, Cuba, nudged Old Capitol by a nose yesterday to collect first prize of $115,850. This boosted his lifetime earnings to $238,650.

Curandero's only other victory this season was in the Equipole Mile at Arlington Park. But the Labor Day throng of 41,065 made him the favorite at the mutuels as an entry with To Market. He paid $8.80, $4.80 and $3.80 for his mile performance of 1:34 3-5, only 4-10 of a second off the track record held by Bernwood.

The largest crowd in five years was on hand to watch the richest mile race of all-time.

Race Tracks Haze Record Crowds

NEW YORK (UP)—Record-breaking crowds thronged to the race tracks and the tennis matches yesterday, but baseball attendance tumbled in the American League and showed a gain in the National.

Seventeen race tracks drew 328,948 who bet $15,996,626—a rise of 20,800 and $2,447,751.

Wheeling Downs broke an attendance record with 11,028 fans. Timonium Race Track had a mutual handle of $550,000 which is a new Labor Day record. Centennial Park at Denver set records with 13,827 betting $531,941. The 23,245 at Del Mar was the third largest in history.

At Forest Hills 15,000 saw the national tennis semi-finals—the largest crowd since 1948.

The National League attendance jumped from 92,401 for Labor Day last year to 103,078 yesterday. But the American fell from 152,201 last year to 104,613. The major league total fell from 244,602 to 207,681 as a result.

BORROWER BURNED UP

FALLS CITY, Neb.—(UP)—H. A. Hewell was annoyed when C. B. Sheehan wouldn't lend him any money, according to testimony Hewell hit Sheehan with a shoe, kicked him out the door of a railroad section hand bunk car and then threw a bucket of cold water on him. Hewell didn't get the money but he got 15 days in jail.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

OMAHA—(AP)—Roy Betts, Omaha printer, whammed out an extra long one during a baseball game at the typographical union picnic near Omaha and heard the shattering of glass as the ball came down among several hundred parked cars.

Betts rushed up to offer to make amends and found it was his own car that had been hit.

Turpin Starts His Training For Bout

GROSSINGER, N. Y. (UP)—It was apparent today in this very confident training camp that middleweight champion Randy Turpin will concentrate on a body attack when he fights wasp-waisted Sugar Ray Robinson a week from tomorrow night.

The muscular champion from Leamington, Eng., has been making the body his chief target during sparring sessions. And trainer Bill Hyam admitted that Randy's body-smashes had broken up Robinson's vaunted attack in their first fight at London July 10, when Dusky Turpin surprised the world by wrestling the 160-pound crown from "unbeatable" Sugar Ray.

Although Randy will not reach the peak of training until Friday, he was impressively sharp during eight rounds of sparring yesterday. He contented himself with five miles of road work today. His schedule calls for boxing every other day.

Turpin's performances in training here indicate he plans to wear down slender Ray with a body attack then knock him out in the later going.

Should 23-year-old Turpin succeed in weakening 31-year-old Robinson, he has the explosives to knock out Sugar Ray.

FINES, FINES, FINES!

SALT LAKE CITY—(AP)—Coach Joe Stydhar of the Los Angeles Rams has fined 26 players in his squad of 42 a total of $7,900 for breaking training rules after their 31-26 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in Little Rock.

The wholesale paycheck penalty was one of the heaviest ever assessed against a National Football League team, 26 players being fined $300 each and two others $50.

A Day Worth Waiting For!

There are but few times in a man's life when he gets a thrill that matches the one he gets when he takes delivery of his first Cadillac.

We've watched it happen many, many times—and it never ceases to be a heart-warming experience.

You see—a man isn't simply buying a motor car when he gets his first Cadillac. He is marking a milestone in his life.

For years, he has been saying to himself that, some day, he would step up to a Cadillac.

All this time, he has seen it as something he wanted to do for his family... and as a sort of personal reward for the effort and planning that have gone into his own work.

And when you watch him slide over behind the wheel—well, it's a thrill just to be there. He's a proud and happy man as he turns the key in the ignition switch—and hears the deep-throated answer of the powerful engine.

If you are one who has been looking forward to a Cadillac—we think you would be well advised to come in and place your order now.

There's a little delay these days before a Cadillac can be delivered—and obviously, the sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll get your car.

And when the great day comes, you'll know at once that it was well worth waiting for—because all the things you've heard about a Cadillac are doubly true.

It isn't just a motor car. It's a wonderful contribution to a wonderful way of life!

Rare Beauty Added To Tulips By X-Ray

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UP)—Dr. Willem E. De Mol van Oud Loosdrecht is working on the creation of new and often wonderfully-colored and shaped tulips.

In his laboratory Dr. De Mol directs the X-rays from his Roentgen apparatus at the buds in the bulbs of tulips and produces his new varieties.

During nearly thirty years this scientist developed the technique of X-raying tulips to such a degree that the results stun the experts.

His latest variety is a red tulip of extraordinary size on a strong and heavy stalk.

No Surprise
"Mutations in flower buds are no surprise," De Mol said in an interview.

"X-rays appear to cause the same mutations as those which may originate spontaneously in the bulb but they work much faster."

Family Plagued By Annual Prank
PORT WAYNE, Ind. (UP)—The Charles Jensen family is under an unrelenting service and merchandise siege again.

Last year, unknown pranksters ordered and the Jensens refused two tons of coal, a truckload of crushed stone, and 100 pounds of sheep manure.

This year, mysterious phone calls brought an unordered sack of groceries, four wayward taxicabs, men to clean the furnace, and another group to move the family's furniture.

Hit Jackpot And Presents His Bill
INDIANAPOLIS (UP)—A plumber spotted a slot machine in the basement game room of a home where he had been called to fix steam pipes.

He dropped in a dime, pulled the handle, and out clattered the jackpot.

The plumber scooped up the dimes, then handed the dismayed home owner a $23.95 bill for his work.

Elderly Couple Routed Bandit
JAMESTOWN, N. Y. (UP)—A 70-year-old gasoline station owner and his wife foiled a holdup attempt by throwing boric acid powder in the bandit's eyes and threatening him with a chair.

Melville F. Clark and Mrs. Clark routed the bandit after he had fired two shots at them, one the bullets striking Clark in the foot.

Clark picked up a plate of boric acid and hurled it at the intruder, while Mrs. Clark grabbed a chair and yelled: "I'll brain you."

That was enough for the bandit. He ran.

Rescued After Tumble Into Well

NEWBERG, Ore. (AP)—Rescuers brought two-year-old Marie Anne Payne back up into the sunlight, four hours after she tumbled into the darkness of a narrow well shaft.

Workmen, digging frantically, sank another hole alongside the well and reached her at 6:13 p.m. (PDT) yesterday. She fell in at 2 p.m. while playing in the yard of her home.

She was conscious when brought up, but in a state of shock.

Early today Dr. C. A. Bump reported she apparently had suffered no ill effects other than being chilled and shocked.

She was waist deep in thick mud when rescuers got to her.

The little girl had fallen in feet first, her hands over her head.

Oxygen was pumped down the narrow hole—only eight inches in diameter—as the crew sank the rescue shaft two feet away.

Negro Pedestrian Collides With Car; Slightly Injured
A police report states that William Bynum, 51, Negro, of Saratoga, who was knocked down when he walked into the path of an automobile last Friday night, was not seriously injured.

The investigating officer said Bynum walked in front of a car driven by Zack Taft, 18, of 811 East Second Street. He was given medical attention. No arrest was made.

The President of the United States is usually addressed as "Mr. President."

Hit 95 Degrees

The Weather Bureau thermometer continues to range in the upper 90s, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer, reported.

Highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday was 95. Lowest last night, 73, and at 8 a.m. today it was 76. No rain.

A year ago yesterday the mercury lacked one degree of reaching the 100 mark. Highest temperature that day was 99 degrees. Lowest that night, 74, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 78. No rain that day.

A year ago today an inch and a half of rain fell in the Greenville area.

Unperturbed By Missing Treaty

NEW YORK (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur—and the Japanese Peace Treaty.

Once they seemed synonymous. Friends have said the old soldier who fought the Japanese, took their surrender in Tokyo Bay and guided their post-war rebuilding, expected the signing of the treaty to climax his career. Then he would retire.

That was before President Truman ousted him as Far East commander last spring for his outspoken views on policy.

Today, as delegates from many nations gathered around a San Francisco conference table to include the Japanese pact, MacArthur worked at his desk in New York.

He appeared outwardly unperturbed at the lack of an invitation to the ceremonies. An aide has said the General felt ignored, but MacArthur has not commented. At his desk, he composed a speech he will deliver Thursday in Cleveland.

Labor Day Quietly Observed In City; Few Places Close

Monday—Labor Day—was quietly observed in Greenville. The post office, banks and state offices, city offices and ABC stores and several firms were closed.

All county offices and those at the courthouse were open for business as usual.

The next generally observed holiday will be Thanksgiving Day in November.

NO FALSE ALARM
NEWTON, Mass. (UP)—Fireman F. Lawton Swett, a fireman, dislikes false alarms. When lightning struck his home while he was off duty, he telephoned fire department headquarters that "if somebody tells you my house has been hit, never mind—there's no fire."

OUTCAST OF DESTINY

PAUL EVAN LEHMAN

Chapter 30
 Bub arrived in Destiny shortly before noon to find the town practically deserted. Everybody and his brother were out combing the hills for the man called Tex. Uncle Jim Ferguson was standing in the door-he gets away. What does Jack want him for?"

 "You can search me," said Bub. His wasn't telling anybody anything, not even a friendly cuss like Uncle Jim.
 He rode down to the store and made his purchases, putting them into a gunny sack. He rode to his shanty and put his horse in the dilapidated stable, then climbed to the loft, carrying the sack of provisions with him. The loft was a storage place for odds and ends of all kinds. Bub arranged discarded tools and implements and furniture to form a protected nook and buried the sack in a pile of rubbish. The loft extended over only one end of the stable, and at its rear was a small window with a shutter which hung by one hinge. Through this opening came just enough light to permit moving about without stumbling over obstacles.
 Satisfied that he had done everything possible to make the hiding place secure, Bub sat down by a window in his shanty and waited until he saw Lil and Judy come out of the Palace and walk towards the restaurant. He followed them into the place, took a seat at the counter and ordered a plate of bacon and beans and a cup of coffee. He timed himself to finish as Judy and Lil got up from their table. As they passed him on the way out, the friendly Lil thumped him on the back and said, "Hi-yuh, Bub!"
 "Howdy, Lil," answered Bub, and followed them to the street. Outside the restaurant, he stepped between them and walked with them along the street. He said in a low voice, "Don't act surprised at what I'm going to say; keep right on walkin' and actin' natural." He paused a moment then said, "Tex is safe."
 Judy gave a little gasp and said in a whisper, "Oh, thank goodness!" then began talking brightly to Lil. When they reached his shanty Bub told them good-by and went inside. He stretched out on his bunk and proceeded to catch up with his sleep.
 Bub ate his supper and returned to the Palace. By this time all the searchers were in with the exception of those led by Jack Roselle. They had probably gone clear to Juniper and could not be expected back until the next day. Ferguson came over to sit beside Bub. He said, "Well, it looks as though he got in the clear."
 "Sure does," agreed Bub. "Got any idea who it was that helped him?"
 Ferguson gave him a shrewd look. "I was hoping you'd be able to tell me that."
 Bub shook his head. "I figured it was that Purdy feller."
 "They checked up on him right away. He was all present and accounted for."
 Bub glanced about him, then lowered his voice. "Sure it wasn't you, Uncle Jim?"
 Ferguson looked astonished. "No, it wasn't me. The first I knew anything was going on was when I heard the shooting."
 Bub did not stay until the Palace closed because he did not know when Brent would try to sneak into town. He went home early and hung a bit of white cloth in the loft window.

 It was nearly dawn when Brent halted his horse in the brush a hundred yards behind Bub's stable. He had traveled cautiously, taking his time, although he was fairly certain that the search for him would not continue throughout the night. He waited, squatting on his heels and smoking, his horse standing beside him over trailing rein.
 The sky began to lighten and a faint glow stole over the eastern hills. The drab shacks which lined the alley began to take form and his gaze settled on the barn with the broken roof. A bit of white hung limply from the loft window. He got up, took the rein and started walking towards it. He was in the open but he had no alternative. His eyes stabbed at the mist which clung to the town, looking for movement. He saw none. He reached the rear of the building, saw a doorway in the back. Bub's cautious voice reached him. "All clear! Come on in."
 He led the horse into the stable and the old man took the rein behind the trash. I'll take care of the hoss."
 A period of inactivity dragged by, the more irritating to Brent because of his close confinement. His hope of learning the identity of the mysterious big boss still lay in his knowledge that the gang leaders reported after each raid and must eventually lead Brent to him.
 Biff was still combing the hills, but the trail was cold and there were a lot of hills. The efforts to find Tex fell from boiling hot to simmer, and from thence to dead cold.
 The Cockeyed Kid was the source of Brent's information, reporting her dark each day when he feigned Brent a hot meal prepared by himself. Judy, he told Brent, was keeping her chin up and still drinking tea; she tolerated Biff, who was tiring of buying double shots without getting any return on his investment and could no longer scare her with threats of what would happen to Brent if she wasn't nice to him. Uncle Jim Ferguson had gone on another buying trip, and Lem Purdy still hung around awaiting the chance to go on a raid.
 One night, tiring of inactivity, Brent sent Bub to locate Cliff Durham and upon learning that the marshal was at the Palace saddled up and rode into the hills. He circled Destiny and came out on the Juniper road a mile from town. Here, in a tree, he had hidden the black robe the night he had returned to Destiny, and now he recovered it and took it back to the barn with him. Wearing it impeded his vision, but it offered one advantage. Seen without it, he was a dead duck; covered by it, nobody but Cliff Durham would shoot without first learning the identity of the wearer. To lessen the danger of entanglement in its folds Brent cut it off so that it fell only to his knees.

Report Cards Rate Abilities And Efforts

CLEVELAND, O. (UP)—Roman Catholic parochial schools in this area are using a new type of report card designed to show parents more than just how their children stand in their studies.
 Teachers will give each pupil ratings, showing where he should be and also where he stands in relation to the class average. The old-style general marketing also will be listed.
 Mrs. Clarence Elwell, superintendent, said the card will show parents whether their children are doing better, through laziness or lack of ability.
 Many parents found their children's grades beyond their ability, he said.

ONE BORN EVERY MINUTE
 SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP)—Residents here have been warned to be on the lookout for a bunco artist who pulled the wool over the eyes of his intended victims with "imported" cloth. One of his victims paid him $135 for "Canadian woolen." The material was worth only $15.

Betty Lou Returns From Stay In Florida

Betty Lou Worthington of Ayden, Pitt County's Harvest Queen, returned from Florida last week full of stories about her stay there and a good suntan.

She was guest of the Escape Hotel in Fort Lauderdale, which arranged a full program of entertainment for her. She arrived in Fort Lauderdale Saturday night and the activities began Monday morning when she had lunch with a newspaper reporter and photographer. Monday afternoon, Betty Lou cruised around the jungle everglades and was interviewed on a radio program.

Tuesday she was taken on a tour of Fort Lauderdale and spent most of the day posing for pictures and swimming in the hotel pool.

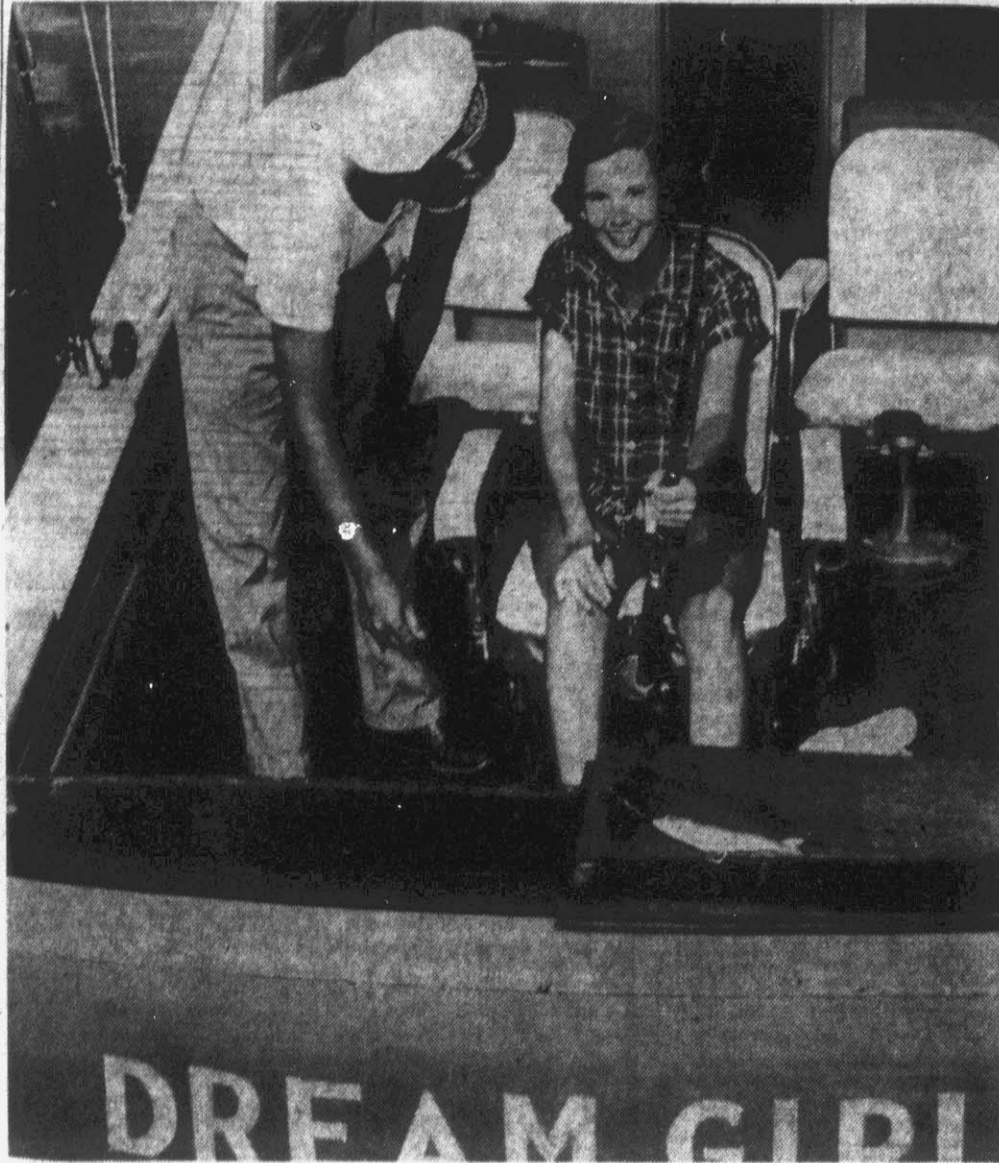

A deep sea cruise was on the schedule for Wednesday morning and Betty Lou was the lucky fisherman catching a fish about a foot long during the three hours out on the water. She appeared on a television show in Miami over station WTVJ later on in the day and was the honor guest at a supper dance.

She topped her trip off with Thursday morning in Miami but claimed she like Fort Lauderdale best. Betty Lou said she wished to express her appreciation to the members of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce for making such a wonderful trip possible. "I hope they continue sending a girl down to Florida as it is really a worth while trip," she said.

Betty Lou was crowned Queen of Harvest at the Farmer's Day celebration here in August and was awarded the trip to Florida as the first prize. Accompanying her on the trip was Ivan Armstrong of Raleigh and her sister, Mrs. James Abernathy of Ayden.

Betty Lou Went Fishing, Too

Sunshine and fun have been the watchwords for Pitt County's 1951 Harvest Queen while at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., as can be seen in the above picture. Here Betty Lou prepares to take a fishing cruise in the cabin cruiser Dream Girl.

Assistant . . . commissioner heard the report of the grand jury, and drew four jury lists for use in coming terms of Pitt Superior court. A criminal term of court is set for the week of October 8, a civil term for the week of October 22, a mixed term for the week of October 29, and a criminal term for the week of November 19.

Near Council . . .

Some of the Allied nations have been reluctant to take the gamble. Australia and New Zealand fear, for instance, that a revived Japan is a short cut to another world war. They fear the day when another Japanese army and fleet, seeking revenge, once more will be loose in the Pacific. The United States attempted to reassure them by signing a mutual defense pact. Similar assurance has been given to the Philippines.

The best hope of the free world is that the Japanese people have learned from experience since Pearl Harbor. They have learned that democracies, when aroused, can strike with terrible force. And, in more recent years, they have been indoctrinated with a way of life that built the greatest industrial power the world has ever known—the United States.

Craven Man Is Held For Larceny

James Lee Foy, 21, Craven county Negro, was arrested yesterday on the charge of breaking, entering and larceny at T. G. Wall's Service Station, in the Clay Root community, last Wednesday night.

Deputy Sheriff Loyd E. Manning and S. Bowen Dorsey of the Greenville police department and Craven county officers arrested Foy at his home in Craven county. He is being held in Pitt county jail without privilege of bond.

Foy was paroled from prison last May, where he was serving a term for a similar offense, an officer said.

Fingerprints and peculiar automobile tire tracks near the scene of the robbery provided the clue that led to Foy's arrest. Officers said he gained entrance through a side window and then unbarred the front door and carried the cash register outside. The cash drawer was prized open and $25 or $30 in currency was missing.

The U. S. Army says the median age for all enlisted and officer personnel is between 22 and 23.

Douglas Claims Credit For Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said today he has won Senate approval this year of amendments cutting $228,102,000 from appropriation bills.

He said he had made 70 proposals for reductions totaling $714,388,000 in non-defense items, and the Senate adopted nine for a saving of $228,102,000.

Douglas made the report to the Citizens Committee for the Hoover Report. He did not say whether the savings were retained by conference committees which compromise differences between Senate and House bills.

Jamaica Lashed By Heavy Winds

MIAMI (UP)—High winds and heavy seas lashed Jamaica today as hurricane "Dog" roared in to give the rum-rich British island its second beating of the season.

Far to the east, new hurricane "Easy" churned westward across Atlantic shipping lanes apparently bound for the Caribbean.

The Miami Weather Bureau said hurricane-force winds would strike Jamaica about 11 a.m. (EST). "Dog's" center, located about 220 miles southeast of Kingston, Jamaica, at 5 a.m. (EST), was expected to pass a short distance south of the island capital in the early afternoon.

New Bond Drive Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government's biggest savings bond drive since World War II started rolling today on the twin themes of "beat inflation" and "help America rearm against a new aggressor."

From both President Truman and Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder came appeals for Americans to chip in with their personal savings to help the government pay for a new defense buildup.

Mr. Truman, opening the drive in a speech broadcast last night from San Francisco, urged Americans to buy bonds as their "personal" answer to Communist aggressors who threaten a new world war.

Jenner Objects To Treaty Terms

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. William E. Jenner (R-Ind.) said today the Japanese peace treaty looks like the 1945 "peace" in China before the conquest of that country by communism.

Jenner called the Japanese treaty an "impending catastrophe" and demanded that Nationalist China be invited to the treaty conference. He asked also that the signing of the separate mutual aid treaty with Japan be delayed.

Accident Victim Improving Today

David Smith, 24, of Wilson, college student, whose car collided with a parked pickup truck Saturday about midnight at 13th and Charles Sts., was improving today at Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

Smith and seven other occupants of his car were injured in the crash. The car was practically demolished, police said.

The parked truck, driven by Shadie Lee Clark, of near Greenville, was damaged to the extent of $700. After colliding with the truck and knocking it 125 feet along Charles Street, Smith's car traveled 121 feet and crashed into an oak tree, the investigating officer reported.

A checkup at the hospital revealed that Smith received a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

Florence Smith, possibly fractured hip.

Barber Smith, possibly fractured jaw.

Marie Roebuck's condition is still uncertain, pending further diagnosis.

Clara Price received fractured ribs.

Delbert Smith, Mack Smith and Helen Roebuck, who were given treatment for minor injuries after the collision, were released from the hospital.

Fishing Film Is Shown To Lions

The Greenville Lions Club last night was shown a movie on various types of fishing in Florida.

Ben Rouse was in charge of the
