

Suez Garrison Is To Be Bolstered

Troops Told 'Shoot To Kill' If Attacked; Britain Said Willing To Hand Over Zone To Egypt If That Country Accepts Equal Partnership Offer

LONDON (UP)—Britain issued "shoot to kill" orders today to its Suez Canal zone troops but was reported willing to give up bases in that area if Egypt agrees to co-operate in a new international defense plan for the Middle East.

Britain also ordered troop reinforcements into the Sudan and cancelled leaves of all British paratroopers on the Mediterranean island of Cyprus. Maneuvers there were called off, and informed sources in Cyprus said the paratroopers soon would leave to bolster the Suez forces.

British troops in the Suez area, center of a bitter political dispute between Egypt and Britain, were told to shoot to kill if they are attacked.

But authoritative sources here said Britain would formally hand over the Suez bases to Egypt if that country accepts equal partnership in a defense proposal offered by the United States, Britain, France and Turkey against Communist aggression.

Britain would keep only enough troops to provide her share in the joint defense setup, withdrawing the rest. Sources here said Egypt's acceptance of the four-power proposal would "supercede much of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian Treaty."

The treaty allows Britain to maintain troops in the Suez area until 1956 but Egypt has announced plans to junk the pact and oust the British forces.

Authoritative sources said Britain's share in the proposed Middle East defense system would be determined by agreement among the four nations.

They said if Egypt rejects the new proposals the four powers will go ahead anyway with the idea.

A high Egyptian source said in Cairo that any proposal that did not accept "in principle" the evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal zone would be rejected.

Britain moved swiftly on both the military and diplomatic fronts to head off a Middle East explosion over Egypt's threat to scrap the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian Treaty.

Stringent defense orders went out to more than 10,000 British troops in the Suez area. Guard posts were strengthened and men on outpost duty were provided with killer dogs to prevent attack from any quarter.

The War Office ordered the South Lancashire regiment stationed in Trieste to depart for Khertoum, capital of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, by Oct. 25. A spokesman said the move was a "routine" one planned months ago, but admitted the schedule had been advanced one month.

Simultaneously, the Foreign Office said British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson presented a four-power defense proposal this morning to Egyptian Foreign Minister Sakab el Din Pasha.

NO FIRE—JUST FIREWATER. HELEN, Mont. (UP)—Firemen sped to a local mill after a woman reported its fire alarm had been ringing for half an hour.

They found only a man sleeping in a car with his head on the horn button. He was fined $10 for being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Old Craftsmanship Seems Gone, Says Babson; No Pride In Work

By ROGER W. BABSON

ABSON PARK, Mass. A friend of mine has recently purchased an old eighteen-room mansion which he is converting into apartments. Some very interesting observations can be made on that job concerning present-day workmen. As he tells me his troubles, I wonder, if this is the time to do remodeling jobs on old houses, especially as the best of houses always deteriorate even though the land increases in value.

Use Contracts and Read Them. My friend's house is in an area where skilled craftsmen should be available. Some of his jobs have been let under contract, some have been done at an hourly rate. All the workmen were highly recommended. But, though price was not the important factor, few really took pride in the job they did. Certainly, don't start a remodeling job today except by contract; then read your contracts before signing or else employ an architect.

The card of the painter which my friend employed read: "Neat craftsmanlike workmanship." Before the job had gone far, the owner had to remind the painter that neither spattered floors nor carelessly drawn window sashes were acceptable. While the plumber spent considerable time talking about his fine workmanship, his joints and pipes leaked and he carelessly chipped porcelain fixtures.

Therefore, you must be hard-boiled and insist on good work even after you have read and signed your contracts.

Are Craftsmen Gone? The paper hanger said: "Choose plain paper, particularly for the hall; it's easier to match and more economical." Plain paper, for that particular paper hanger, meant he would slap it on as fast as possible—tack it on or lap it, depending on the wall. This may be good advice. One should always consult the paper hanger before buying the paper; but be on the job when it is being hung. The selection of wallpaper is almost as important as the selection of a wife.

It may be unwise to take the lowest bidder for roof work. Better contract with a roofer who has been in business many years. Too many roofers think that the owner will not climb up on the roof to inspect the gutters, etc. Hence, he is to oil the gutters and seal the joints as per his contract. But the one who really took my friend for a ride was the electrician. He used more BX, BC, and Romex cable, connectors, plates, cutouts and clips than you'd suspect it takes to build a battleship! As electricians get a big profit on the material they supply you, they are tempted to use more than they should. What's in the partitions owned by electricians and the mice will ever know!

Insist on Good Reputations. But my friend's carpenter was one in a hundred. He was careful and proud of his work. He acted as if the house were his own. He was painstaking, whether he was laying a course of shingles or mitering a door-casing or putting on hardware. To him there was a right and a wrong way, and he could be trusted to do the job right even though he was working by contract.

Not enough individuals or companies today render good craftsmanship. Wars, government contracts, sellers' markets, and material shortages tend to bring quality standards down. When buying hardware today ask for goods made before June 1, 1950. The quality since then has been losing ground.

Is Remodeling a Good Investment? Apartments are in demand. Old houses can still be bought cheap. Many can be made over into four or more apartments. You can make a contract so as to know just what the remodeling will cost; you can also learn from real estate agents how much rent you can expect.

Then figure what you will get on your investment. This should be over ten per cent annually to cover taxes, insurance and repairs and to have six per cent left for yourself, even with full occupancy. To be on the safe side, you should allow for some vacancies. Remodeling of properly located old houses may be a good investment, but investigate before you invest.

Public To Begin Feeling Pinch Of Shortages Soon

Mobilization Symptoms To Be Felt In First Half Of Coming Year

WASHINGTON (UP)—Americans will feel the "big pinch" of the mobilization drive during the first six months of 1952, but civilian shortages probably will begin to ease in the last half of next year.

As the rearmament program begins to hit its stride next year, the nation will face further cuts in civilian production and construction, some "acute shortages," labor dislocations and perhaps some businesses folding.

Defense Mobilization Charles E. Wilson and Defense Production Administrator Manly Fleischmann gave this somber forecast to a joint meeting of congressional banking and small business committees yesterday.

Wilson said the defense production program should reach its peak on schedule — $50,000,000,000 worth of military goods a year — early in 1953. But in the meantime, he said, the public will face many "pinches" during the first quarter of 1952.

1. A further cut of at least 10 per cent in production of refrigerators, television sets and other consumer durable goods as steel allocations are cut 11 1/2 per cent and aluminum and copper supplies reduced still more drastically. But unless Americans go off on a buying spree, there should be a "sufficient" supply of durable goods because of large stocks now on dealers' shelves.

2. A somewhat larger cut in automobile production, with manufacturers getting enough metal for 930,000 cars, compared with the 1,600,000 manufactured during the three months before the Korean outbreak. But with substitute materials and their present metal inventories, automakers may be able to turn out 1,000,000 cars. Automobile and durable goods production is now at about 60 per cent of pre-Korean levels.

3. There will be enough materials to build elementary schools in defense areas, replace condemned structures and complete schools already started, but builders will have to use concrete instead of structural steel when possible.

4. The steel should be enough materials to complete hospitals already started, but not enough for any "substantial" number of new institutions.

5. The petroleum industry will get enough materials to maintain high production, but construction of some natural gas transmission lines will have to be delayed.

6. Less essential civilian construction will have to be delayed because of the need for structural steel and other construction materials for new steel and aluminum plants.

7. The automobile industry will get enough materials to maintain high production, but construction of some natural gas transmission lines will have to be delayed.

On Schedule

BURRA FIRTH, Scotland (AP)—A Russian fishing fleet, which moves quietly into British waters when the Royal Navy holds its exercises, turned up on schedule today off the Shetland Isles—in the middle of a new naval maneuver.

Thirteen Soviet vessels, presumably in search of herring, anchored in Burra Firth off the Shetland Isles of Unst and refused to get involved in any conversations. There were two parents of about 10,000 tons and 11 smaller vessels all flying the hammer and sickle.

Tobacco Market Keeps Fast Pace

Daily Sales Averages For Week Stay Above $60 Mark

Greenville's tobacco market maintained its high-grade stride this week as daily sales averages stayed above $60 per hundred pounds for the second straight week.

Market average for the week was $62.01. And despite the two days of heavy rain, the market sold over 8,000,000 pounds for over $5,000,000.

Yesterday's sales marked the 11th straight day that the market average has been $60 or better.

W. L. Wheelbee, supervisor of sales here, called attention to that fact, pointing out that only once in its season did the market average that high. That was early in October and the average was $60.17.

"The market last year started in the mid-fifties for 100 pounds and didn't go much above or below that," he commented. "This year the opening average was pulled down a great deal by burned-off offerings which kept the market price low. However, for the past two weeks great quantities of good tobacco have been brought in and the present average reflects it."

Totals for the season thus far are: $7,413,464 pounds being sold for $31,484,727.29. Average: $54.83 for 38 sale days.

Fourth Official Of Bank Held In Fraud Inquiry

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP)—A labor shortage faced the First National Bank of New Kensington today after the Federal Bureau of Investigation arrested a fourth bank official within nine months on charges of misusing bank funds.

The FBI yesterday arrested George Shirella, assistant cashier and brother of Bank Vice President D. C. Shirella, on charges of misappropriating $81,000 over a 12-year period.

Liaison Teams Will Again Try Resuming Truce Talks

Six Divisions In Korea Hit Enemy

Fifty-Mile Front Ablaze As 70,000 Or More Men Advance To Slight Gains; Bloody Fighting On Western Front

8TH ARMY HQ., Korea (UP)—Six United Nations divisions — 70,000 or more men — hit the Communist line on a 50-mile front today and blasted out initial gains of more than a mile.

The two U.S. and four South Korean divisions seized the northernmost peak of "Heartbreak Ridge" for the second time in 12 hours, captured at least two more strategic heights and rocked back the Reds all across eastern Korea.

On the western front, weary U.S. 1ST Cavalry and British Commonwealth divisions mended their defenses after beating off a series of savage Communist counter-attacks during the night. One American battalion was overrun in the fighting, but was rescued before dawn.

The "lost" battalion was said to have suffered heavy casualties before the Red wedge in its line was ironed out. Only "light enemy contact" was reported on that sector later today.

An 8TH Army communique and front dispatches gave this picture, from west to east, of the coordinated Allied attacks along the flaming eastern half of the front:

U.S. 24TH and South Korean 2ND and 6TH divisions — broke through the outer crust of Communist defenses below Kumsong on a 22-mile front and were reported still advancing against light resistance. At least two hills were captured in initial advances of up to 2,000 yards.

South Korean 8TH division — struck into Communist territory northwest of Yangu against light to moderate opposition.

U.S. 2ND division — finally "secured" the northernmost peak of Heartbreak Ridge at dawn after being thrown off by a Communist counter-attack Friday.

South Korean Capital Division — ran into two Communist companies in an advance toward Kumsong, 46 miles north of the 38th Parallel and the deepest Allied penetration of North Korea.

The three-day offensive on the approaches to Kumsong, 29 miles north of the 38th Parallel on the east-central front, was aimed at what is believed to be the biggest offensive concentration of Communist troops and armor in Korea.

Plan Another Meeting Despite Red Charges UN Plane Strafed Conference Area; Not All Of 'Ground Rules' Established; Inquiry Results Secret

MUNSAN, Korea (UP)—United Nations and Communist liaison officers agreed today to try again to arrange resumption of the Korean truce talks despite a Red charge that U.N. planes strafed the conference area.

A U.N. spokesman said the liaison officers will meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow (8 p.m. today EST) "to settle administrative matters deemed essential before the main delegations resume the plenary sessions" at the new site, Panmunjom.

The spokesman said yesterday—before the alleged strafing incident—that all "ground rules" had agreed on at the "ground rules" for resumption of the cease-fire conference except the extent of the neutral area around the Communist truce camp at Kumsong.

The liaison officers spent all Saturday morning and part of the afternoon investigating two Communist charges:

1. That three American jet planes Friday night strafed the Panmunjom-Kumsong road 900 yards north of the conference tent, killing a 12-year-old Korean boy and wounding his baby brother.

2. That the same jets or three others Friday night strafed abandoned Communist hill positions three miles north of Kumsong but within the five-mile neutral zone around the former site of the truce conference in Kumsong. There has been no agreement yet on altering the neutral zone around Kumsong.

The U.N. officers, Col. Don O. Darrow and Lt. Col. Norman B. Edwards, refused to disclose their conclusions. They said only that they would report to their superiors.

However, Edwards at one point during the investigation near Panmunjom snorted and said: "50-caliber machine-gun slugs in the road had not been there Friday night when a U.N. team made a preliminary inspection in the dark."

At the hill positions north of Kumsong, Edwards told Chang he was sure the jets had not been strafed, but said he couldn't tell when.

On completion of the investigation, Darrow suggested that the liaison officers meet later in the afternoon to continue their discussions on resumption of the armistice conference.

However, North Korean Col. Chang Chun San, the chief Communist liaison officer, said he preferred to confer with his superiors before the meeting. Darrow agreed to this and the meeting was put off until 10 a.m. today.

From the father, mother and elder brother of the boy allegedly slain in the strafing came this story:

Three planes approached fast and low from the northeast about 5:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. EST) Friday and strafed the road. The 12-year-old boy was sitting in a small pool in the brook fishing while his two brothers watched.

The eldest boy heard the planes first and dived for cover beneath the bridge. One bullet passed through the 12-year-old and killed him instantly. Another bullet went through the arm of his baby brother, whom he was holding.

Fleeing Indochina Rebels Strafed

HANOI, French Indo China (UP)—French planes loaded with rocket bombs and napalm blasted fleeing Communist rebel columns today in the Nghia region of Hanoi's Red river delta.

A French Army announcement said the bombing through the night by land and carrier-based planes proved "highly effective."

It is expected that the FCC will take final action on the station's permit application early next year and the Carolina Broadcasting System will file its application by that time. As for getting materials for construction and facilities, that is up to the National Production Authority, he said. But outside of a worsening in the Korean war, he said he does not expect any holdup by the NPA.

WGTC has tentatively been assigned Channel 9 for its station and officials of the system have discussed the TV prospect with all four networks. Network officials seem to be interested in bringing their facilities to Greenville, he said.

According to tentative arrangements, the station "will operate with more power than any station in North Carolina" or Virginia, Campbell said. "It will have a signal capable of serving an area with a 50-mile radius of Greenville and the 600,000 persons living in that area."

Possibility Of Television For Area Is Closer To Realization

Possibility of a local television station is a bit closer this week after radio station WGTC announced Thursday that the Carolina Broadcasting System is putting more stock on the market for the purpose of raising funds for a TV outlet here.

Station manager A. Hartwell Campbell announced Thursday night in a studio broadcast that the present stockholders have voted to raise more stock in an effort to raise $300,000 which is what is approximately needed to construct a station and its facilities.

Campbell, who recently was elected president of the North Carolina Tobacco Network, stated in his announcement, "In order to achieve this project, it becomes necessary for the Carolina Broadcasting System to expand its corporate structure. We anticipate the addition of a number of stockholders to the company."

In offering the stock to the public at large, Campbell stated two of the present stockholders are prepared to subscribe approximately ten percent of the needed capital, or about $30,000. Others, he said, will likewise invest in the project.

"So far as I know, no other cities in eastern North Carolina are taking positive steps to bring television to this area," he said. "It seems likely that Greenville will have the first successful television installation in eastern North Carolina."

Campbell said today that since the announcement of the project Thursday, there has been definite interest manifested by investors in this area. However, he thought it is too early to predict what action other persons in this area will take.

So far as time is concerned, he added that it is "theoretically possible that the station will be in operation late next year. Qualifying that, he said successful inauguration of the station depends on three things: (1) financing, (2) the Federal Communications Commission, and (3) availability of necessary materials for construction.

It is expected that the FCC will take final action on the station's permit application early next year and the Carolina Broadcasting System will file its application by that time. As for getting materials for construction and facilities, that is up to the National Production Authority, he said. Grifton P. T. A. Announces Plans For Halloween Party

The October meeting of the Grifton Parent-Teachers Association was held on Tuesday night in the school auditorium with the president, F. L. Cox, presiding. After a word of welcome and the reminder, "Our PTA Is What We Make It," the invocation was said by the Rev. E. W. Downum, Methodist minister. Miss Hazel Patrick, program chairman, presented Mrs. Bunch and Mr. Brown's students, who participated in the program of the evening. A quartet, Hilda Buck, Carolyn Turnage, J. R. Hooten and Bill Burroughs, sang "The Vacation Chair." Mrs. Bunch then presented Miss Georgia Hughes, child welfare worker of Greenville, who spoke on "The Importance of School Attendance."

Miss Hughes reminded the group that a child who is mentally and physically fit is required by law to attend school until 16 years of age. She stated further that there were schools for the feeble minded, blind and deaf, but no place for the delinquent so that the welfare workers were called on in this particular instance to work with the school authorities to correct this. Miss Hughes cited instances where there had been truancy and the ways in which these cases had been worked out. These cases, with names withheld, were told in a most interesting manner, showing that Miss Hughes is an active child worker.

Mrs. A. C. Fletcher gave a report for the Ways and Means Committee, stating that a Halloween Carnival would be held at the school on October 26 beginning with a supper at 5:30 in the school cafeteria and a womanless wedding following this. After this the usual hot dogs, fortune telling, bingo, fishing ponds and other concessions that go to make up a Halloween carnival would open.

Mrs. Edwina Whitley gave a report on the Membership Committee and the recent drive which was won by the third and fifth grades and a party planned as a reward for the work done in this drive.

Principal Albert Tyson made a few remarks about the school insurance, asking that all parents if possible take this for their children. A report on the building was that the general construction was completed and had been accepted and the only thing left up now was the heat and lighting. He also asked that the parents visit the school to see what their children were doing and to see the improvements that had been made during the past months.

Attendance cakes were won on the percentage basis by the third and twelfth grades.

A Tribute To

The Farmer

From the soil comes the sustenance of the world. From the hard-working man who tills the soil comes the fruits of Nature in bountiful array. God loves the Farmer, someone has said, because he is in such close communion with the good earth. He plows it. He plants it. He worries over it. And lo, then his smiling fields are lush and abundant with tassels, tomatoes and all the things we eat. Fat cows and porkers give us milk and meat. And Mrs. Farmer has chickens and turkeys for the market. Without the Farmer there would be no life or living. Let's salute his sun-up to sunset existence . . . and be grateful for his bounty!

Bethel's New Town Hall Building Near Completion

Firemen And Law Enforcers To Have Space In Building

By ROY HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

BETHEL—Completion of Bethel's new town hall, jail and fire department is nearing the final stages. The expansion project, being financed through money on hand in the town's treasury, is the latest addition to the progressive community.

When completed the new structure will replace the old jail and fire house, long a landmark in this area.

Already the building, with the exception of the jail, is being used by the city workers.

Construction of the unit was begun in April of this year and will cost an estimated $15,000 when finished.

Included in the building is a two-door fire department to house the town's two fire trucks, one a modern rural fire fighting pumper valued at over $10,000 as well as the old work horse of the city, a 1936 model Chevrolet truck.

The new fire truck was purchased through donations and insurance fees for fire protection by rural people in the Bethel area.

The fire department is completed with the exception of hanging of the two rolling doors and part of the ceiling.

Installation of the steel roof required over the jail cells to make them fireproof will begin with the arrival of the hard-to-get steel. This is one reason for the delay in completing the building before next month.

Contracts for the work were let by the city board with Walter Grey serving as general superintendent of the project.

The modern cell block, supposed to be escape-proof, cost the town $3,700 and is made up of three four-bunk cells.

In each cell there is a toilet and running water; also there is a drinking fountain for the convenience of the prisoners.

Two large spot lights offer sufficient light in the cell block.

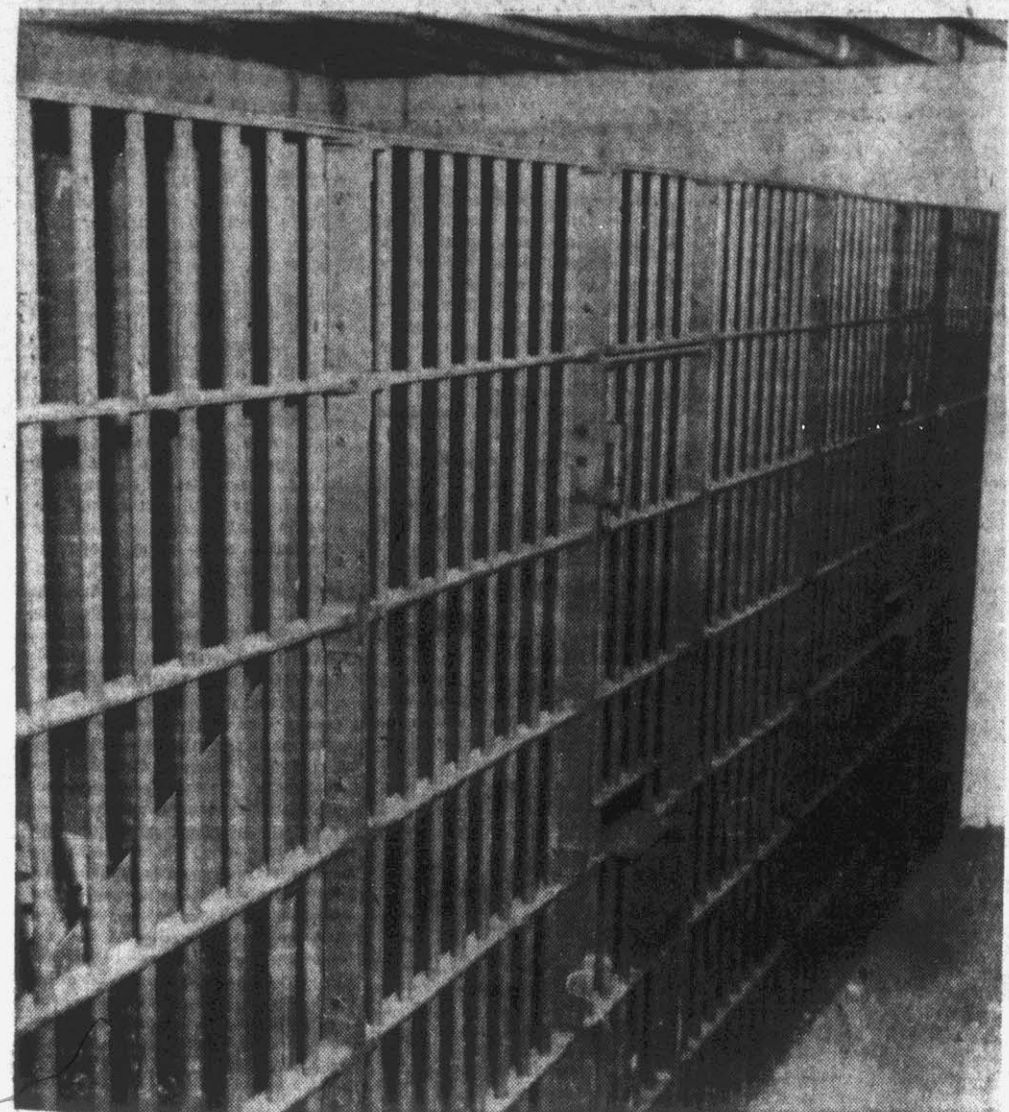

The 52 by 46 foot building, constructed of cement blocks and brick, has cost the town to date a total of $12,975. The total figure will go over the $14,000 mark after the finishing touches have been placed on the building.

A central heating plant will furnish ample heat for the entire building, according to Grey.

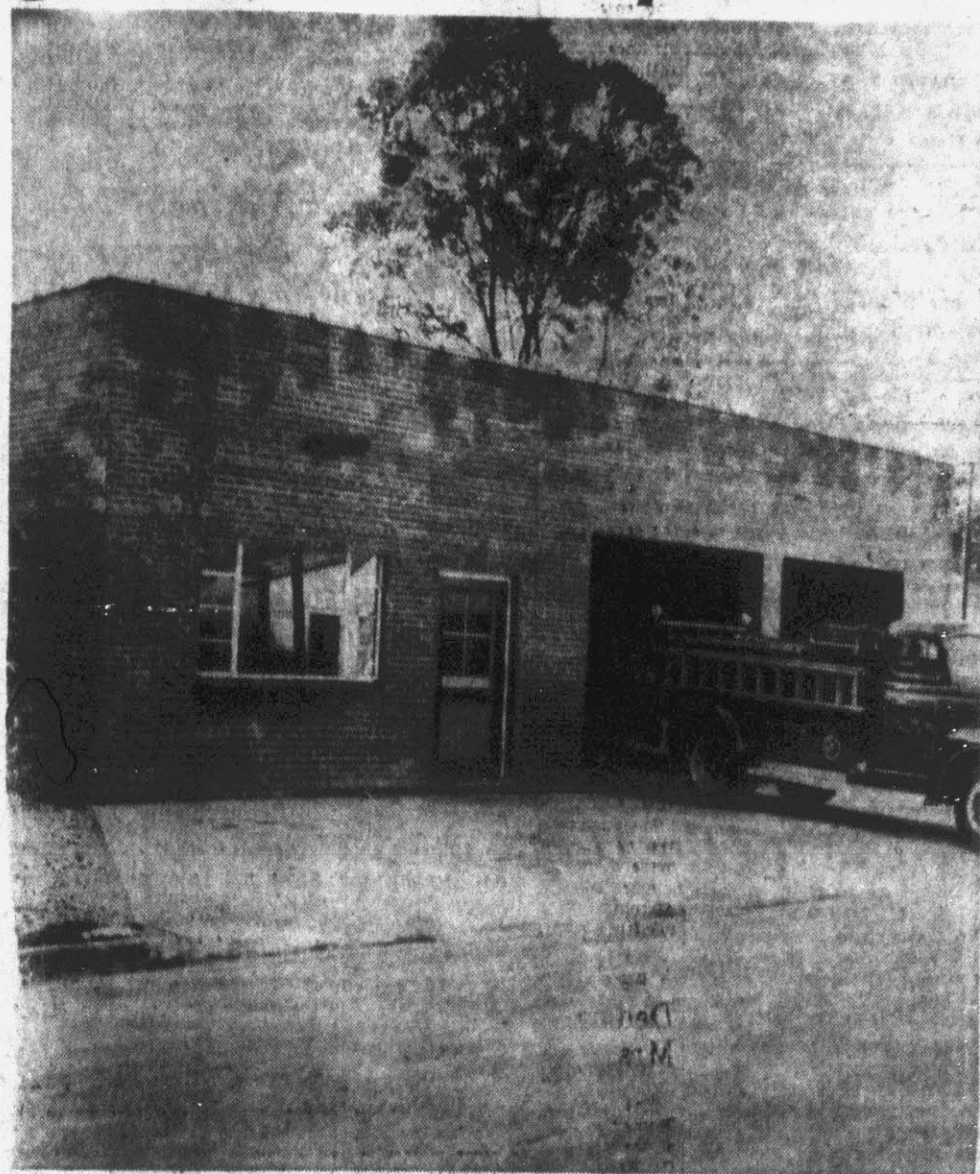

All of the office space has a ceiling of celotex, with asphalt floor tile and white walls.

Modern lighting fixtures adorn the ceiling, covering the working areas in a blaze of light.

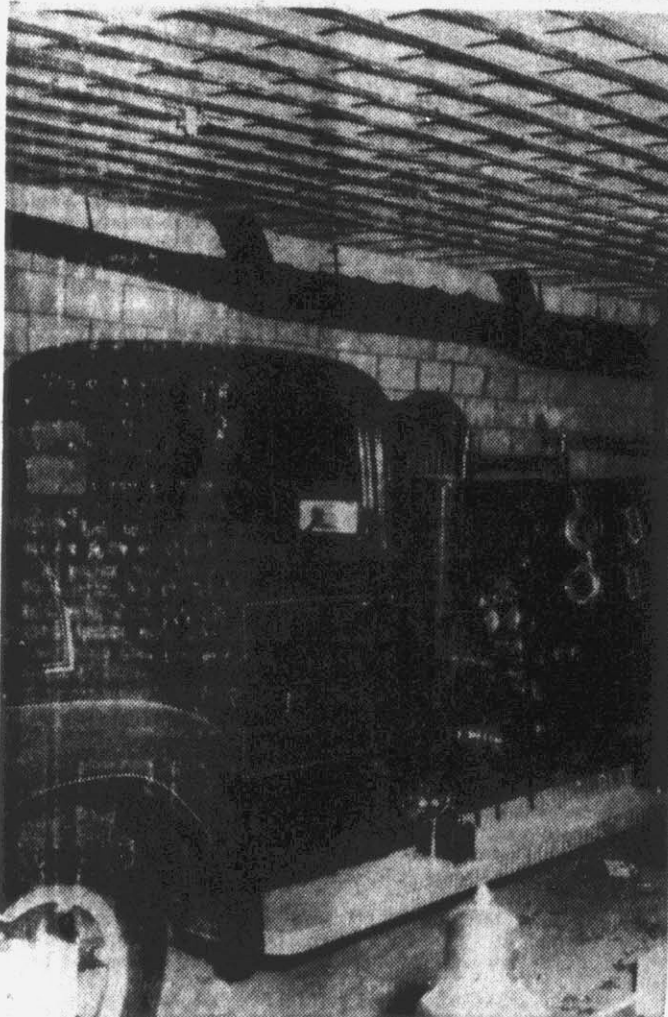

The new building replaces the old Bethel Jail and Fire Department, which has served the city for over 40 years, according to Chief of Police Sam Hemby.

This modern up-to-date cell block will house any future prisoners which might be taken by the members of the Bethel police force or any other law enforcement officers in the Bethel area. A shortage of steel needed for finishing the roof over the cell has been the major delay in completing the project. Each cell houses four bunks and has a toilet, running water and a drinking fountain for the prisoners.

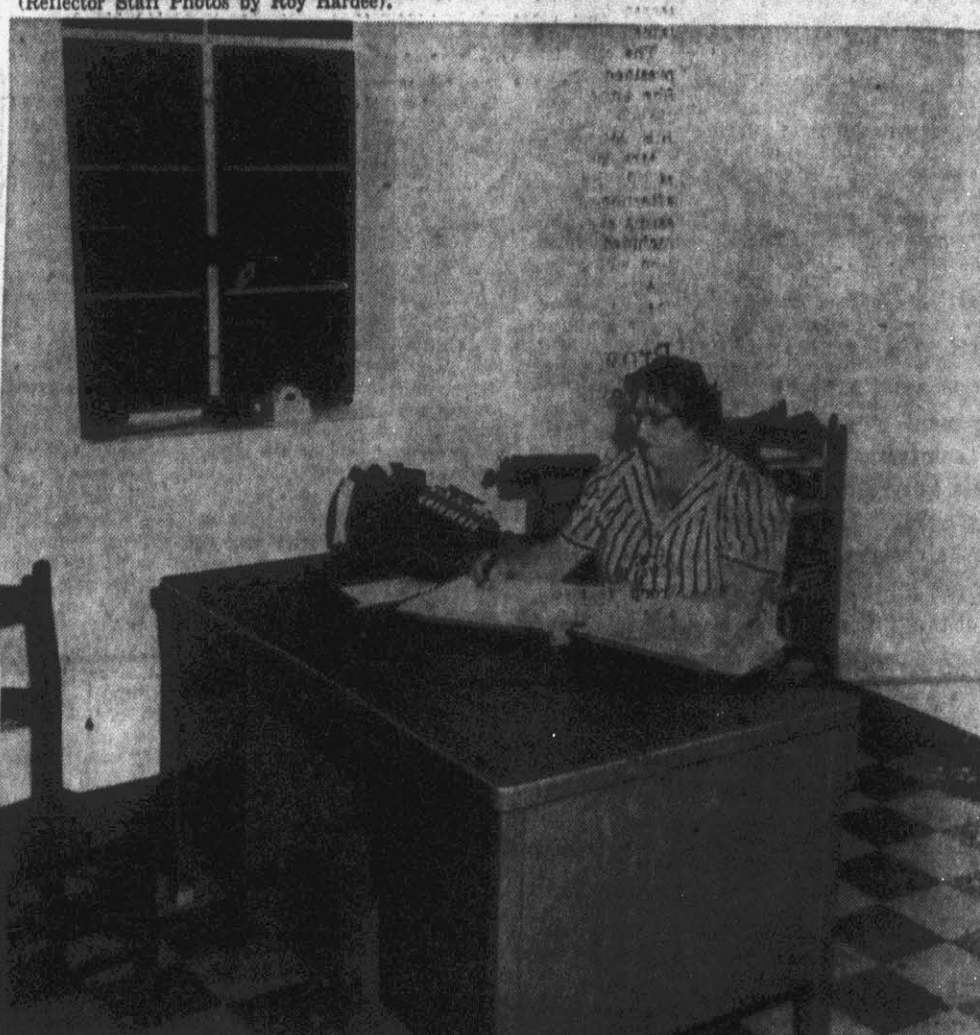

Here is the nearly completed Bethel Town Hall which houses offices of the city government and the town's fire equipment. Started in April of this year, the project is expected to be completed in three or four weeks. (Reflector Staff Photos by Roy Hardee).

Here is Bethel's new fire truck which is now being housed in the nearly completed town hall and fire department. The truck, designed primarily to fight rural fires was bought largely through contributions received from rural families in the nearby counties.

Offices to be used by the State Highway Patrol and the Bethel Police Department have not been overlooked in the new Bethel building. Here Patrolman D. Don E. Perry (left) takes a telephone call while Walter Grey (center) looks on. Chief of Police Sam Hemby, a veteran of 28 years in Bethel, looks over some reports.

Mrs. C. M. Burton, town clerk for the past six years, does some other book work in the new offices of the Bethel Town Hall. The clerk now has a large office area and a meeting room also.

Construction on a new housing project, College View Apartments, incorporated, has begun in the city, located on East 10th Street Extension and being built by Vance "Buddy" Harrington.

The permit issued to Harrington for the building of the apartments was the largest single permit ever given by the City of Greenville.

Construction of the apartments began about the first of the month, after clearing the property which started the 15th of last month. Harrington said the clearing took a long time but since then buildings have gone up fast.

He said some of the buildings would be completed in the next eight weeks and the whole project will be completed the first of March or the last of February depending on the weather. He said the apartments will be rented as they are finished.

Lief Valand from Raleigh, architect, drew the plans for the apartments, which will number 50 when they are completed. Harrington said the apartments would be on the order of duplex apartments, though there will be anywhere from three to six units in each of the 13 buildings. The average number of units in each building will be four. He said the buildings will be separate but will touch. Other than the 13 apartment buildings, a large storage building will be constructed.

When completed, the kitchens in the apartments will be completely furnished with electrical equipment but tenants will furnish the utilities. There is not a central heating unit planned for the entire project.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

The first crossing the Atlantic by dirigible was in July, 1919, when the British dirigible R-34 made the crossing from East Fortune, Scotland, to Long Island, N. Y., in 16 hours.

development since there are so many different buildings but each building will have a floor furnace with automatic oil heat, to be regulated by thermostats.

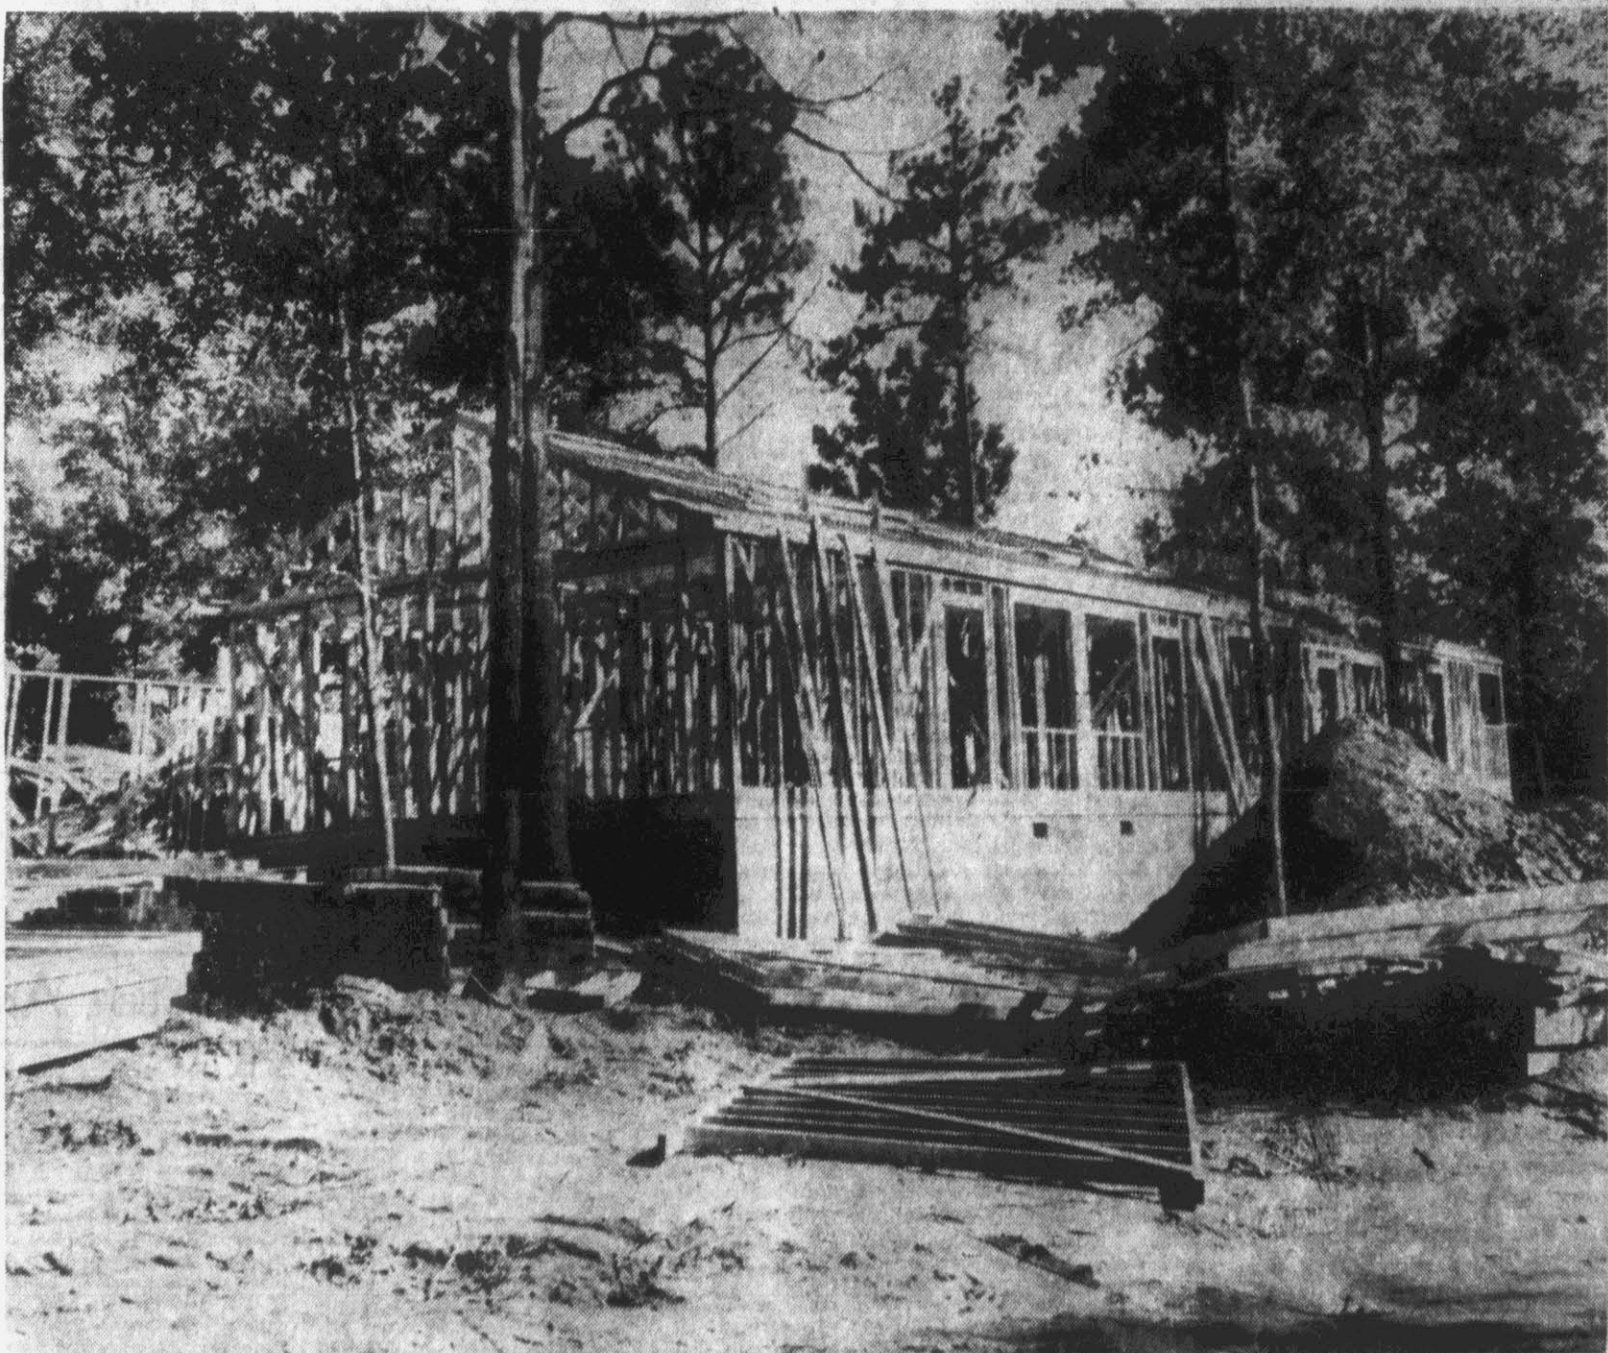

The apartments will have hardwood floors and will be painted both on the inside and outside. They will also have venetian blinds and partially ceramic tile baths. Harrington said that the architect will have charge of the painting of the apartments and decoration.

The grounds will be completely landscaped, complete with a play ground for children of the tenants. Harrington said grass, trees, and shrubbery would be planted. Since there are many trees on the property, he hoped more would not have to be planted and he was trying to save as many as he could that were already there. He stated the apartments and grounds would be managed by the corporation.

The buildings are located on a 10-acre tract and the streets and sidewalks on the grounds will be paved, complete with curbing, guttering, and drainage facilities. Harrington plans to undertake the paving himself which will run around $20,000.00 and the city has promised to undertake the drainage facilities, although Harrington said he had already done some of it. He estimated the completed project would cost around $300,000.00.

The property on which apartments are being built was taken into the city limits in the Spring, soon after the property was bought. Harrington noted the Utilities Commission had promised water and current for the project.

Other than this project, Harrington has built houses in the Hillsdale section, houses in the city, and has undertaken a housing project at Cherry Point, which takes in about 140 houses. He said he still had more houses to build at the Marine base, and the government has recently bought some property from him for a government housing project.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. O'NEILL
MORE GOOD THAN EVIL
We are tempted sometimes to conclude that the world is a cruel, rotten place. There seems to be no spirit abroad but the spirit of getting. Most people appear to aspire to nothing but ease and money and indulgence.

We are tempted to reason thus at times. But wait just a moment. Have you ever thought how much good there is in this world of ours? Take the neighborliness which prevails in most communities, certainly in this country. If a person is sick or in trouble, there are many who are ready to come to his aid. Let the columns of the newspaper carry the account of someone who is in need, and checks and folded money begin to roll in. There are lynchings occasionally. The hoodlums of a Midwest town may break into an apartment house and wreck the apartment of a Negro tenant. But this is not America. America looks with indignation and contempt on this kind of thing.

The people of a certain Spanish city who arranged a bull fight for the entertainment of American sailors whose ship was in port could never understand why the sailors insisted on cheering the bull. But a hundred fifty million people in America understood and approved.

We're always for the underdog—for the bull, not for the matador. Start looking for the good in people; there's plenty of it.

Ever Stop To Notice The Big Difference?

It is a little peculiar that some of the "big men" who make thousands of dollars for themselves by peddling their influence where government money is concerned get congressional hearings and all sorts of fanfare before they are indicted . . . if they ever are indicted.

Yet the "little folks" who have just been picking "peanuts" off the government's money vine get nabbed by the FBI hardly before they realize what has happened.

If it were not for all the politics involved with the "big men" the FBI probably could handle the whole procedure and bring just punishment through the courts to more of the "big men" who do not get their just deserts when the matters have to wander through the political channels.

For some time now the House Ways and Means Committee has been investigating the activities of James P. Finnegan, former St. Louis Internal Revenue collector. Yesterday a federal grand jury in St. Louis indicted Finnegan on charges of bribery and other irregularities while in federal office. About the same time, the FBI announced it has arrested recently 120 people charged with stealing over $1,000,000 worth of government property.

With these "little people" there were no grand jury investigations, no congressional hearings . . . they were just arrested on the basis of evidence found by an efficient, reliable law enforcement agency.

Why would not the same treatment do for the big shots who just as realistically steal from the government through their activities? It would if the politicians would allow right and wrong be determined on the basis of merit in the individual case rather than politics.

Those Chilly Rooms Were Quickly Remedied

In spite of the Grand Jury report citing needs for major repairs in several Pitt County Schools, the school children of the county are not shivering in the Autumn nip which settled over Pitt this week.

As the Grand Jury report stated, the Pitt Schools are in much better shape now than they have been in the past. The chilly snap caught the maintenance crews making repairs to school facilities other than heating plants, but no school was without heat for more than "two or three days" according to Superintendent Conley and the large majority of the schools were not without adequate heat at all.

The school maintenance crews were in the process of affording adequate heating systems for Ayden High School, Post Oak, Sally Branch and the Pactolus Negro schools before the report of the grand jury was made. All have been completed, according to Conley, except the Ayden High School which has one boiler at the present time, and another which is expected to be in operation by next week.

It is unfortunate that any of the school children had to sit in chilly rooms for a single day, but on the other hand, the school officials are to be commended for coping with the problem with expediency and turning on the heat as rapidly as possible where it was inadequate.

Pitt Loses Prominent Native Son's Benefactor

Pitt County lost one of its most prominent native sons and one of its greatest benefactors in the death this week of Harper D. Sheppard of Hanover, Pa.

In 1927 Sheppard gave Greenville and Pitt County Sheppard Memorial library in memory of his father and mother, the late William Henry Harper Sheppard and Elizabeth Turnage Sheppard. Later Sheppard presented the library with additional funds with which to purchase books for its shelves.

Sheppard left Pitt County while still a young man, but through the years as he amassed wealth in Pennsylvania, he never forgot his native community which is evidenced by his philanthropic gestures to Greenville and Pitt County.

Sheppard Memorial library has stood for 14 years as a memorial to Harper D. Sheppard's father, but in the minds of the people of Greenville and Pitt County it will remain a memorial to the native son who gave the county its largest public library as well as a memorial to the elder Sheppard's to whose memory it was dedicated.

News Behind The News
Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Am I correct in assuming that the Administration at Washington is trying to prepare public psychology here and abroad for the use of atomic weapons in the Korean conflict? inquires M.J. of Los Angeles.

Answer: That seems to be the general impression here. It is based on the circumstances under which recent statements by President Truman, Pentagon experts and Gordon Dean, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, were made. There appears to be a concerted and deliberate attempt to depict A-shells (not the bomb itself) as just another weapon.

If the public and editorial response reflects no horror over these covert hints at using such missiles to terminate the Korean war, and if Prime Minister Attlee does not enter another protest, as he did when Mr. Truman first made the suggestion last year, the new type of artillery may be employed in the Far East.

POSSIBILITIES—It must be kept in mind that Chairman Dean's discussion of future atomic possibilities was approved by the White House before delivery. Therefore, it was what is known as a trial balloon on this grave question. Oddly, the importance of his remarks was not grasped until several days after he made them.

The serious and deliberate Mr. Dean, who is an extremely able lawyer, advanced his ideas in logical and syllogistic style. He said (1) that the United States now has a store and volume production of new, tactical, atomic weapons (2) that they can be used against military units in the field without causing wholesale destruction as at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and, finally, (3) that the time has come when we must decide whether we should not bring this power to bear against our enemies.

BLUNDER—President Truman aided the movement to condition American and foreign public opinion with his announcement that Russia had exploded a second atomic bomb. Inherent in his statement was the suggestion that Moscow was catching up on us, and that the Kremlin would not hesitate to use these weapons in warfare.

Ironically, in the opinion of military and diplomatic strategists, Stalin made a bad blunder in confirming the White House statement. They believe that he should have ignored it, permitting the news to reach his people only as a Truman revelation. By his admission, the dictator played into the President's hands.

PROBLEM—An underlying factor in this situation is the fact that letters reaching the White House and Capitol Hill ask why we have not used A-weapons in Korea. Numerous Congressmen are insisting that we should not wait until, perhaps, the enemy first fires them against us.

However, there is a psychological problem of an international character to be taken into consideration. The only other people against whom we have directed A-bombs are the Japanese.

If now we use them against the Koreans, Russia and Asia that, although the western powers are willing to wage atomic war against the colored races—that is Orientals and Asians—they have never used this force against Caucasians.

BENEFIT—Is there a bill pending in Congress regarding the sale of a house? asks Mrs. M. O'B. of West Chester, Conn. "I understand that, if anyone sells their home for a profit, and then builds another home, they do not have to pay the capital gains tax on profit they may have made on the original sale. If they do not build or buy, the profit must be reported and taxed accordingly."

Answer: Such a provision has been adopted by the Senate-House conferees. The House bill provided that the new purchase must be made within twelve months in order to obtain this benefit, but it is believed that the final bill will extend it to eighteen months.

It is not yet clear about the details of the exemption provision. Presumably, there will be a proportional tax if the new home costs less than the amount for which the old one was sold. However, when the measure becomes law, your local newspaper will undoubtedly explain how this important provision operates. If not, phone the real estate editor of your local newspaper.

ONE WAY TO CUT RELIEF
From the Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier
More than 2,000 Georgians were removed from the welfare rolls of that State in July as a result of a law passed earlier this year by the Georgia General Assembly. The new law requires financially able sons and daughters to support indigent parents.

It is a pity that such a law is needed. Parents are required to support their children until the children are grown. Children likewise are morally responsible for the support of indigent parents, once the children become adults and wage-earners.

The Georgia figures indicate that, in spite of this moral responsibility, a law was needed in that State. There is no reason to believe that a similar law, enacted in South Carolina, would not reduce our own relief costs.

No Rest For The Wary

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Greenville is buzzing about the possibility of having television. Yesterday Somebody Told Me: "I don't see how Greenville can support a TV station." Read this column and you will see.

First of all, about 50 per cent of the revenue of the station will come from networks, another 30 per cent from national spot advertising, and 20 per cent from local.

When you say 20 per cent will be local, it's better to outline where that local advertising will come from. First of all, consider that the station will cover towns like Wilson, Rocky Mount, Goldsboro, Kinston, Washington, Williamston and Tarboro.

Then consider the value of co-op advertising. Suppose a local furniture store now buys a $2 spot for radio, of which the Duo-Therm Company pays $1. Maybe the same spot on TV would cost $12, but Duo-Therm would still pay $6, and the other six could be split among furniture stores in several towns in the range of the station that sell the heaters.

There is a world of co-op advertising that could be developed, and remember, that station would only depend on such local advertising for 30 per cent of its revenue!

With good luck, we could have TV here in time to see next year's World Series. $300,000 is needed. By January 1st that figure should be reached and the application filed with the Federal Communications Commission. If approval comes by June, the station should be ready by this time next year.

Stock sold in the station will probably have a par value of $10 a share. Until approval comes from FCC, purchasers of stock will pay only 5 per cent, and that of course will be refundable if the FCC does not grant the station.

One factor is worth plenty of consideration: The stock sold will be sold by the present organization, Carolina Broadcasting System, which is a reputable firm, owned by reputable businessmen. Hartwell Campbell, manager of the local station and President of the Tobacco Network, has visited TV stations in Norfolk, Bloomington, Ill., Erie, Pa., Birmingham, N. Y., and Greensboro. Every one of these stations is making money. The Bloomington station, which does not have the power that the Greenville station would have, cost $150,000 to build and the owners have turned down an offer of $1,000,000. Another station, in Grand Rapids, Mich., cost $350,000 and actually sold for $1,362,000.

The studios and offices of the present station would be used for TV, but the operation of the radio station would continue. The present plant would have to be expanded, but it would be used.

As yet there has been no minimum set on the amount of stock a person may buy. But the money must be raised if we are to have TV here. Let's put it this way: If we don't get a station, somebody else in Eastern Carolina will. For the good it will do Greenville and Pitt County, let's hope we get in on the ground floor. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C.

By LYN VIBBER

OLIVE—Opinion among some Capitol Square folk is the event at Winston-Salem next Monday may determine whether Hubert Olive will be a candidate for governor. The Lexington lawyer and former superior court judge is known to have been giving serious thought to the matter for several months. As chairman of the board of trustees of Wake Forest College he will preside at the ground-breaking exercises at which President Truman is scheduled to make the principal speech. Also in attendance will be Governor Kerr Scott, most of the Democratic and Baptist leaders of the state.

POLITICS—It is not anticipated that the big folks will have much time for serious political discussion. Thousands of just ordinary people will take advantage of the occasion to check with friends from other parts of the state about local sentiment. And it would be completely out of character for either President Truman or Governor Scott to miss such a fine opportunity for a bit of political manipulation. The two men not only share the same political philosophy but they have a common knack getting some mention of that philosophy into every public appearance, whether at straight-out political meetings, religious assemblies or social gatherings.

REASONING—Further reasoning behind the idea that the event will help Judge Olive to make up his mind lies in the fact that absence of some Baptist leaders and Wake Forest alumni may be as significant as the presence of some others. There is by no means unanimity of sentiment among the Baptists for moving Wake Forest College from its century and quarter old setting in Wake county to the proposed new site at Reynolds in Forsyth county. If the key men of the opposing element are on hand, it will be interpreted as indicating they are not disposed to carry the fight into future campaigns. If these key men, among whom are also recognized political leaders and potential candidates, stay away it will be indicative of lack of support for the change in college sites and lack of enthusiasm for the Truman-Scott political ideas.

ANNOUNCEMENT—It is not at all likely that any positive announcement or pronouncement will be made at Winston-Salem. Judge Olive would not do such violence to the proprieties. It is believed that information gathered and sentiment manifested on that occasion will have large influence upon his decision whether or not to enter the race, and that some statement will be forthcoming from him before the end of this month.

C. & D.—The visit of President Truman has stolen the show from the meeting of the state board of conservation and development in the Twin City on the same date. Incidentally, that is the second time the fall meeting of the CAD board got outranked. It was first set for Pinehurst, and moved to Winston-Salem when bookings for out of state guests filled the Sandhills Hotels much earlier than usual. The board has some very important matters to deal with, of much greater significance to North Carolina than how much dirt the President moves in that first shovel-full, but chances for getting headlines or space in the newspapers went glimmering when it became certain Truman would be in North Carolina at the same time. That may prove fortunate for the department of and indirectly for the whole Scott administration, because there was some indication of embarrassing fireworks.

FORESTRY—The fireworks would have been set off, and maybe even the president can't prevent a minor display, by the situation in the forestry division. Additional poppings would have come from developments in the commercial fisheries situation since the July meeting at Morehead City. Both George Ross, director of the department, and W. K. Beichler, state forester, insist there has been no feud, or controversy, or dispute, between them. Without calling upon fine points of meaning in words as found in dictionary definitions or any attempt at fixing degree of responsibility, indisputable fact is there have been not helped the state and departmental program. These "differences" culminated in formal notice from Director Ross to Forester Beichler that a new chief of the forestry division would be named at the Winston-Salem board meeting by the director.

Amusement-parks still have colorful and glamorous Alice in Wonderland and Mother Goose villages. But Geist said only the very young children will have anything to do with them. After a trip in the Flying Saucer, even little girls think that a ride on the miniature train is "silly."

Instead she wants to climb into an atomic jet fighter so she can man the machine guns, or else take a daring spin in a motor torpedo boat.

And she calls for a Flying Saucer and a slug of Atom Juice now instead of a hotdog and a bottle of soda pop. Atom juice is a fruit drink. One old-fashioned ride, however, still appeals to all the children—a trip through a toy Wild West town in a cart pulled by two horned white goats.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Moderate optimism has been reflected at the National Hardware Show in New York this week. Retailers and wholesalers, to whom the show was restricted, showed considerable buying interest and orders were considered satisfactory.

The buying pattern indicated at (1) hardware dealers have not been suffering from top-heavy inventories as have their brothers in the appliance and soft goods fields, (2) that where inventories have been excessive, have been successfully reduced and (3) dealers are willing to risk larger orders as prices against future shortages of metal items.

While dealers are somewhat concerned about the curtailment of home building, they are considerably buoyed up by the millions of new houses constructed since the war. Home owners are among hardware merchants' favorite people.

There is considerable interest in sporting goods and travel accessories. The general feeling is that the high rate of income will guarantee good sales during a coming year.

Manufacturers of metal articles were cautious about promising deliveries; some said they could not hope to make them under 90 days. Very few, however, were declining any orders.

The number of new products was relatively small and most of the exhibitors, instead of their old cry of "brand new!" were saying, "This has been successfully marketed for years!" Of the new products, many were really old ones in which plastic or some other alternate material had been substituted for scarce metals.

A total of 691 exhibitors displayed or distributed literature on some 60,000 products. The 35,000 buyers represented a buying power of about $1,000,000,000 a year.

IT CAN TAKE TRAFFIC
One of the most convincing merchandising stunts has just been staged by a linoleum company. In ten cities it has laid "the world's largest rug" in front of a local store. Since the rug was 9 by 22 feet, it often ran the length of the block and in some cases across a street intersection and into the next block.

The walking of thousands of pedestrians and the pounding from autos and trucks for a week caused only minor blemishes. The rug was made of linoleum tiles, each tile a different color, and in some cases across a street intersection and into the next block. The walking of thousands of pedestrians and the pounding from autos and trucks for a week caused only minor blemishes.

BORROWED ACCESSORIES
POINT UP DISPLAYS
The Old Promoter, on his weekly visit, reported that he had just returned from a trip.

"Ran across one package goods store that really knows how to merchandise," he said. "The law prohibits it from selling anything except bottled glow. But it doesn't prevent it from using imagination in displays."

"When it wants to focus attention on Scotch, it borrows plaids from a near-by furnisher and makes a striking display. In fishing season, it borrows equipment from a neighboring sporting goods store. The display, naturally, featured a bottle sticking out of a creel and a flask in the top of a pair of waders."

"These displays add glamor and attract attention; the merchant who lends the accessories is paid off with a little card telling where they can be purchased. The best part about this idea is that it can be used by retailers of a lot of products. There is no reason why a food shop shouldn't borrow hunting accessories to attract attention to canned delicacies."

WALNUT CROP BIG;
PROMOTIONS INCREASED

An intensive campaign to increase the consumption of walnuts has been launched by the California Walnut Growers Association. Newspapers, magazines and billboards will be used, with the heaviest push just before Christmas.

The walnut crop is larger than last year's, but not equal to the bumper 1949 crop.

DON'T FINANCERS
APPROVE OF LOVE?

"Learn how to get twice as much work from your secretary without working her to death," a dictating machine manufacturer advertises in a financial journal.

"How to work your secretary twice as hard and have her love you for it!" the same company advertises in a daily newspaper.

NEW PRODUCTS
HARDWARE: Among the comparatively new products displayed at the National Hardware Show are a lever-action shotgun, said to be the only one in the world to be made by a gunsmith.

By Kessler Arms Corp., Silver Creek, N. Y.; an outdoor charcoal grill, by Columbus Iron Works, Columbus, Ga.; a line of solid glass trolling rods, by Stream-Line, Inc., South Bend, Ind., and a high-powered electric finishing sander for heavy duty, by Porter-Cable Machine Co., Racine, W. Y.

LIGHT: The bottom of the handle of a new umbrella is a built-in flashlight, which can be turned on and off by twisting a ring on the handle. It is by Ruth Cooper Associates, 100 W. 89th St., New York 24.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK—(AP)—Remember floating with your sweetie through "The Tunnel Of Love?"

Well, the Tunnel of Love at Playland, a million-dollar amusement park at Rockaway Beach, is now called "The Atom Bomb Shelter" and "To Hell And Back."

One section shows a typical atom bomb shelter of the future. In the second section the boat glides through the eerie caverns of Hell, past weird scenes of torture and horror.

"But none of the kids under 14 are scared at all," said A. Joseph Geist, president of the park.

"There is an absence of fear in children today. Nothing frightens them. It shows up more in adults."

The re-naming of the popular old "Tunnel Of Love" is typical of a drastic change going on in the old-fashioned amusement park. The simple thrills that excited the kids of yesterday, bore the children of today. They want something more modern—a la Buck Rogers.

"We are living in an atomic age," said Geist. "And the children are responsive to it. They know all about atom bombs, rockets, space ships and geiger counters. And you can't fight their interest in things like that. It's there."

The problem for amusement park designers is to try to figure out what is in the modern kid's mind. And, believe me, that takes a lot of figuring.

He told of one 4-year-old boy who rode discontentedly on a merry-go-round, then said:

"This is all right, but where is the atomic fire engine? I want to ride on it."

Geist said many small children endure the children's rides only to please their parents, and immediately demand to go on the grownup rides. These now bear such futuristic titles as the A-Disc, the Cyclotron, the Atomic Ray Booster, the Bomb Bomb, and the H-Bomb Rocket, a 40-mile-an-hour whirl for fathers and sons.

A big favorite replacing the gay oldtime ferris wheel is the new Flying Saucer, in which the children are whirled in revolving buckets.

And what happened to the shooting gallery? It's the bascoo gun race now.

Amusement-parks still have colorful and glamorous Alice in Wonderland and Mother Goose villages. But Geist said only the very young children will have anything to do with them. After a trip in the Flying Saucer, even little girls think that a ride on the miniature train is "silly."

Instead she wants to climb into an atomic jet fighter so she can man the machine guns, or else take a daring spin in a motor torpedo boat.

And she calls for a Flying Saucer and a slug of Atom Juice now instead of a hotdog and a bottle of soda pop. Atom juice is a fruit drink.

One old-fashioned ride, however, still appeals to all the children—a trip through a toy Wild West town in a cart pulled by two horned white goats.

"The children still have a love for animals," said Geist, and sighed: "But as for everything else—they've gone atomic."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Eat a good breakfast and get to work on time. These are two of the principal rules for a successful business woman, says Miss Wanda L. Myers, who is just that herself.

Miss Myers, assistant to the general passenger traffic manager of the Southern Railway System here, spelled out the basic rules for success which have been adopted by the District of Columbia Business and Professional Women's Club. The club boasts a membership of 1,000, many of them women with responsible government jobs.

The D.C.B.P.W. says adherence to these rules will enable a business woman to measure up to "full partnership for the job ahead," the slogan set for the recent National Business Women's Week observance.

"In order to start the day with a good disposition it is necessary to eat an adequate breakfast," Miss Myers says. "It's also important to be on the job on the dot, cool and collected, and all set to go right to work."

Other rules: Be especially particular about personal appearance; plan work so as to give the employer the full benefit of one's ability; exercise sound housekeeping in one's place of employment as you would at home; take a positive approach to the daily problems and don't shun responsibility, and practice the Golden Rule.

"Especially important is the one about personal appearance," Miss Myers told me. "A good appearance not only gives you a pleasant feeling and self-assurance, it also makes you outstanding enough to be considered for promotion. It's appeal is No. 1 in anything you do."

Miss Myers was the first woman to hold the job of assistant to the general passenger traffic manager of a railroad.

A graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan University at Buckhannon, W. Va., and an Ohio business school, the tall, attractive, brunette first came to Washington from her home at Washington Court House, Ohio, to work for the Rural Electrification Administration in 1937. She was chief of the voucher order section and the REA's office travel bureau.

When she heard Southern Railway was putting on streamlined trains and wanted women for hostesses she applied for the job and wound up as head of the hostess-training program. Today she hires and trains all women in the passenger traffic department, makes speeches and does other jobs. She's on the road two weeks of every month and travels between 50,000 to 60,000 miles a year.

FRIENDSHIP

Where people are linked by common interests and common purposes, friendships grow spontaneously.

In the churches of our community new friendships are being made every day. Here children learn the lesson of sharing as they work and play together. Here boy meets girl in the most wholesome environment the world can offer. Here wedding bells ring as couples seal their devotion with the sacred vows of marriage. Here people worship and serve together, finding strength in their mutual quest for spiritual realities. Here those in the sunset of life cure the loneliness of old age with happy companionship.

Turn to the Church for the deep, lasting, enriching friendships you need. They are part of the practice of Christianity — part of the riches to which the Church guides us.

It was Jesus who taught: LOVE ONE ANOTHER, EVEN AS I HAVE LOVED YOU.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Pam-Pack Swamp Phantoms 28-6 For Sixth Straight

Perry Scores Only Phantom Touchdown

Red Dixon Stars For Visiting Washington Team As Greenville Drops Third Straight Conference Game

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

The chips fell as expected last night in College Stadium on the East Carolina College campus and when the smoke cleared, Washington High School's Pam-Pack had come through with its sixth consecutive win of the season. Greenville's Phantoms were the boys on the short end of the 28-6 final margin.

For the visiting Pam-Pack, it was a guy named Gilbert Nelson that did most of the scoring but it was a guy named Red—Red Dixon—that did the most toward wrecking the Phantoms' hopes for victory. The Pam-Pack tackle played a superlative game at his tackle spot and was just as much at home in the Greenville backfield as was either Sid Briley or Bobby Perry.

Speaking of Perry, it seems that he is determined not slack off from the pace he set for himself last week against Camp Lejeune High School. He and Briley were practically the entire Greenville backfield and on more than one occasion were nearly the entire team. Perry had one 65 yard run which ended on the 15 yard marker and another 55 yard gallop which was called back. He scored the only Greenville score, from eight yards out, and carried three Washington players over with him despite the fact that he had completed a 23 yard pass completion only two plays earlier.

Washington struck for their first TD in the first quarter when they culminated a 64 yard march with less than two minutes in the period.

Nelson did the scoring, taking the ball over on a 20 yard pass from Dickie Cherry. He added the extra point to run the margin to 7-0 and the Pam-Pack was never headed.

The second tally came in the second quarter on the last play of the period. Washington had gained possession on the Greenville 41. In two running plays, Cherry moved the ball to the 28 and then cranked up his pitching arm. His first toss was to Wayne Woolard and was good for 18 yards to the 10 yard line. Another aerial to Woolard moved the ball to the four and then Cherry rammed the touchdown across the final stripe by moving over his own left tackle.

Nelson added the point and the half ended just after the kick-off. Washington roared out for the second half and after exchanging kicks with the Phantoms, finally found themselves in possession on the Greenville 38. On the first play of the new series, Nelson took the ball on a handoff from Cherry, went over his own left tackle and went all the way. Three members of the Greenville secondary—Sid Briley, Doug Morgan and Bob Conway—had chances at the elusive Nelson but he took full advantage of wet turf to out-manuever them. Cherry ran the extra point over when he could find no potential pass receivers.

Nelson kicked off to Perry who took the ball on his own 12 and returned to the 25 before he hit a slick portion of the grass and skidded just as he was hit by a host of Washington defenders. The ball popped from his arms and when the pile-up was disentangled, the grinning Dixon was on top of the ball.

On the first play, Washington was penalized to the 31 for backfield in motion but they made up for this loss with a 11 yard run by Cherry to the 20. Little Voltaire Abeyounis, a substitute halfback, came into the game for Nelson and rummaged the ball to the three yard line before the dazed Greenville defense could catch up with him. On the next play, Abeyounis squirmed across right tackle for the six points. Nelson kicked the point and Washington had its scoring for the night.

Greenville threatened briefly just as the fourth period got underway when Perry scampered 65 yards before being pushed out on the 15 but four straight plays were stopped by the Washington line and Greenville had to surrender the ball on the 13.

Washington ran five plays and then kicked to Perry who returned to the Washington 42. Morgan, hitting right tackle, carried to the 42 and Perry kept the ball rolling by plunging to the 37. Briley then found Perry in the clear and hit him with a pass that carried to 14 for another first down.

Briley kept the ball on a bit of boot-leg trickery and hustled to the eight before he was downed but Perry took the ball over the next play. Leon Moore came in to kick the point but he never got a chance when a bad pass from center messed things up.

For the Phantoms, the Conway boys—Bobby and Wallace—played terrific football at their end positions with Bobby's play standing out as the brightest. Time and again, he broke through the interference and was personally responsible for over half of the 50 yards lost by the Pam-Pack.

Bobby's performance prompted Washington coach Chippy Wagner to comment that "the (Conway) is the best defensive end in this or any other conference I've had a chance to observe. He was great out there tonight."

The entire Greenville line, led in the mid-section by tackle Bob Tindal, played some good ball in spots but the fatigue of having to play both defense and offense was telling at times as was the play in the defensive secondary.

Even though they were used on both offense and defense, Briley and the rest of the Greenville backs did well. Briley, particularly, looked good on offense and is beginning to smooth out the rough spots in his ball-handling.

The game gave Washington a record of six wins and no losses and Greenville a 2-3 mark.

AYDEN — Coach Stuart Tripp's AYDEN defeated Vanceboro here last night, 34-12, to take their third successive victory in the Coastal Conference. Ayden now has a record of three wins and one defeat in overall competition.

The victors took a 14-0 lead early in the first period and were never headed in the game. Ayden kicked off to the visitors to begin the game, with fullback James Taylor fumbling the kick and Ayden's Riley Tripp recovering on the VHS 12 yard line. Five plays later, halfback Wesley Cannon, a 120-pounder, went around right end for three yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Darrell Worthington connected with end Mac Whitehurst in the end zone for the extra point, to give Ayden a 7-0 advantage after one minute of play.

Delano Cox climaxed a drive which started on the Tornado 41 yard line by going over from the eight on a double reverse for the second touchdown of the evening. Worthington again hit Whitehurst for the extra point.

Worthington decided to run himself early in the second period, and went 55 yards for the TD. This time he passed to left end Willis Manning for the one-pointer, making the score 21-0.

Vanceboro threatened mildly late in the first half, going down to the Ayden 20 before defensive halfback Billy Powell McLawhorn intercepted one of Frank Powell's passes. The half ended a few minutes later, with Ayden maintaining its 21-0 lead.

Second Half

The Tornadoes struck again early in the third period. Delano Cox took the opening kick on his own 18 and carried to the 45. A series of running plays took the ball to the Vanceboro 34. Halfback John Edward Cheek, on a double reverse, went around left end for 34 yards and a touchdown. Hal Edwards went off right tackle for the extra point.

Vanceboro was unable to get enough yardage on the succeeding kick-off and Ayden took over on its own 20 after a punt. Edwards then heaved a long aerial to Whitehurst on the 50 and the lanky terminal eluded two would-be tacklers and went the distance for pay-dirt. The extra point was not good this time and Ayden led 34-0 after eight minutes of the third period.

Jim Taylor scored Vanceboro's first touchdown on the third play of the fourth period. Taylor went off right tackle and 14 yards for the score. The attempt for the extra point was no good.

With Coach Tripp substituting liberally, Vanceboro marched 95 yards in the fourth period to make its second touchdown. James Toler went around left end for the longest Vanceboro run of the night, going 40 yards up the left side of the field. After a series of short gains which took the ball to the 20, halfback Bill Outler passed to Taylor, who lateraled to Toler on the 10. Toler went over for the score.

Defensive Stars

Defensive stars were a dime-a-dozen for the Tornadoes. The most outstanding were Edwards, McLawhorn, Billy Holland, Riley Tripp, and Billy Davidson. Ormond, Werthington, Laughinghouse, and Hel-len led the losers on defense.

The Pirates arrived yesterday minus Doc Smith, their number one lineman, who was severely shaken up in a scrimmage Thursday. Smith spent last night on the ECC campus and is scheduled to arrive by automobile sometime this afternoon if he feels, along with college physicians, that he will be able to play effectively tonight.

Just who will start in Smith's place is a question that doesn't have a ready answer. Coach Dole has several likely prospects but at the latest notice, he was undecided.

Other than Smith, the only other active member of the squad was left behind was fullback Mike Kovack. Kovack is still nursing a knee injury suffered two weeks ago and it is still doubtful as to when he will get back into action. Dole had hoped that he might be able to play this week, but the injury did not respond as was hoped.

Terp-Georgia Is Southern Leader

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two of the Southern Conference's three remaining unbeaten football teams risk their perfect records today against top-notch intersectional opponents.

Maryland's Terps, the nation's tenth-ranking team, carry the conference colors against dangerous Georgia in a night game at Athens. Meantime, Clemson's Tigers, rated 16th in the country — bang up against 20th-ranked College of the Pacific at Stockton, Calif.

The two clashes highlight a conference card which also puts the circuit's only other undefeated outfit — Wake Forest — into action at Richmond against twice-beaten William and Mary. If the favored Deacons win this one, they'll take over first place in the conference title race.

Five other contests are scheduled, three of which are of intra-conference importance. South Carolina's Gamecocks, picking up steam with two straight wins after an opening-day loss, challenge North Carolina at Chapel Hill. North Carolina State, smarting from three successive losses, tries its hand against Duke at Durham. West Virginia takes the field at Morgantown against ineffective University of Richmond.

In non-conference affairs, Washington and Lee is host to undefeated Virginia, while Davidson is at home to Presbyterian.

STAND THAT STANDS

HALLANDALE, Fla. — (AP) — Gulfstream Park here claims to have the only cantilever stand on the turf with no posts to interfere with the vision of more than 8,000 guests. The roof is built on the principle of a huge airplane wing and has withstood many a hurricane.

With Coach Tripp substituting liberally, Vanceboro marched 95 yards in the fourth period to make its second touchdown. James Toler went around left end for the longest Vanceboro run of the night, going 40 yards up the left side of the field. After a series of short gains which took the ball to the 20, halfback Bill Outler passed to Taylor, who lateraled to Toler on the 10. Toler went over for the score.

Scoring Jammed Into Hectic Third Period

By MELVIN LANG

Reflector Sports Writer

FARMVILLE — Farmville's Red Devils edged past Robersonville here last night to make a successful but shaky debut in Coastal Conference play this season, winning out by the slim margin of 7-6.

All of the scoring in the contest was jammed into about five minutes in the third period. Robersonville scored first soon after the opening kick-off of the second half. Tailback Dan Clark took the kick-off and scooted 45 yards to the Farmville 35. Three running plays carried the ball to the 31, and on fourth down, Clark wound up his throwing arm and tossed a perfect strike to end Morris Everett. Everett was waiting for the ball on the five and took it over for the TD. Sonny James' attempted conversion was no good, and the score stood after a minute and a half in the second half, Robersonville 6-Farmville 0.

The Red Devils, who ran up a total of 100 yards rushing the first half, were not to be denied though. Taking the ensuing kick-off on their own 18, Farmville quickly marched to a first down in two plays, carrying the ball to the 40-yard marker. Quarterback Charlie Fitzgerald, attempting to run with the ball, was thrown for a 9 yard loss, and on fourth down James Fountain punted from his own 32.

The kick gained 33 yards for the Red Devils, as the ball bounded off the foot of Clark and Fitzgerald recovered to give Farmville a first and ten on Robersonville's 30. Smith and Jesse Joyner combined to pick up a first down to the 18, where Sigbee Dilda carried to the 13. Dilda turned left end on the following play and went over for the touchdown.

Smith, who was easily the outstanding offensive player on the field, went around right end for the extra point to give Coach Elbert Moye's squad its winning margin.

The two teams battled evenly during the first half after a threat by the Rams early in the first period. On the first series of plays for Robersonville, the Rams marched to the Farmville 25 from their own 15. Clark faded back to toss a pass right into the hands of Farmville's Charlie Fitzgerald on the 20.

As the game ended, Farmville was Robersonville's 40 yard line, knocking at pay dirt once again. Smith had led the drive, which started on their own 30, with a long 30 yard run around left end.

Rough And Tumble

Vicious tackling and hard blocks marked the play throughout the hard fought contest. Robersonville Co-captain William Taylor was knocked unconscious on the next to the last play of the game, as the Red Devils attempted to increase their slim lead.

Taylor and Lang Martin were outstanding in the line for the Rams, while Sonny James and Clark took on both the offensive and defensive burden in the backfield for Robersonville.

Co-captains Paschall Barrett, guard, and James Fountain, tackle, led the strong forward wall of the winners. Tackle Billy Shackelford was also outstanding in the line.

Fitzgerald intercepted one pass and recovered two Robersonville fumbles. Shackelford also covered a Ram fumble for the Devils.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court yesterday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee dismissed the case in which Hubert Weatherington, Negro, was charged with disorderly conduct, and he taxed the prosecuting witness, Jessie Mae Filmore, negro woman, with court costs.

Robert L. Williams, possessing and operating a gambling device, a punchboard, was given 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs and he is not to violate any gambling law for six months.
William Davenport, who lives near Stokes, charged with being drunk and disorderly and damaging personal property at the Mary Ann Soda Shop, Five Points, was found guilty. The court gave him 60 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $15 to W. M. Swindell for damage to furniture and a fine of $25, without costs. He was ordered to be of good behavior for a year. Testimony was that Davenport cut the upholstery on one of the seats with a knife.

Shelley Glenn Lewis, driving drunk, was given 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 fine and costs. His driver's license is to be revoked for a year. The court ordered him not to ride in any motor vehicle except a public bus for six months, or until arrangements are made for settlement for property damage.
Joseph A. Andrews paid $15 for speeding.
The case against Evelyn Bryant, charging assault with a deadly weapon, was dismissed. Katie Mae Lomack, Negro, was found not guilty of a similar charge.
Charles Smith, Negro, was found not guilty of larceny.
Drunk: Charlie Landrum, $20; Jack Woods, Negro, $10; Roscoe Sutton, was found guilty of being drunk and given 60 days in jail. He was not to be committed until 11 o'clock yesterday. Before that time Lockey had left town, police reported.

Tar River Level Low All Summer

A clear sky, bright sunshine and a light breeze from the northeast in Greenville today made this an ideal Indian Summer Day.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 70 degrees. Lowest last night, 41, and at 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 50. No rain.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 80 degrees. Lowest that night, 47, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 60. No rain that day. Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported.
The level of Tar river in the Greenville area has been unusually low during the past six months. The average level is about five feet. The river did not reach this level during the past summer. The river gauge at the highway bridge at 8 a.m. today showed the depth to be three and one-half feet. Mrs. J. L. Mizelle, river observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported.
Fourteen feet is the flood stage for Tar River here. When the stream rises beyond 19 feet it floods the highway across the river.

Tar River has not been low enough to interfere with the supply of water for the Greenville water and electric plants, the records show.

Cars Damaged In Crash Thursday

Considerable damage was done to two automobiles when one driven by Clair Eugene Smith, farmer of Route 3, Greenville, collided with the rear of a car driven by Dorothy Hart Moyer of Farmville.

Police who investigated the collision said Smith stated he was driving too close when he collided with the other car and would settle for the damage. Damage to Smith's car was estimated at $100; damage to the Moyer car, $200. No arrest was made.

Funeral Rites For J. Pilgreen Sunday

Funeral services for Joe Pilgreen, 23, who was fatally injured in a truck accident early Thursday morning, will be held at the Greenville Funeral Home Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. G. C. Nickens will officiate. Interment will follow in the Hardee cemetery.

Surviving are his father, T. G. Pilgreen; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Virginia Pilgreen Adams of Vanceboro; one brother, Clifton, who was also injured in the accident; his stepmother, Mrs. Alma Morgan Pilgreen; and four half-brothers, Robert, Basnight, James and Bruce of the home.

Cases Heard In Superior Court

The following cases were tried yesterday in superior court with judgments and also other judgments written for cases heard earlier in the week.
Rufus Stancil, drunk driving, 60 days, suspended on payment of $100 and costs, license revoked for period of one year.
Harry Waller, larceny, not guilty.

T. G. Basnight Jr., worthless check, continued.

Willie Allen Jr., non-support, pleaded guilty, sentenced to six months, suspended on payment of $10 per month until $150 is paid.
Ernest Brown, disorderly conduct, not guilty.
James Richardson, assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill; previous two-year road sentence imposed this week changed to two years in county jail to work under direction of jailer.

Bombs Missed U. S. Destroyer

TOKYO (UP)—An unidentified but presumably Communist jet plane tried unsuccessfully to bomb and strafe the U. S. destroyer Twining off the Korean east coast Friday, the U. S. Navy reported today.

The plane dropped two small bombs through an overcast and made several strafing runs, but failed to hit the 2,050-ton warship.

At least 75 cents of every dollar consumers spend for pork goes for cuts that make up less than half a hog's liveweight, according to Ohio State University agricultural scientists.

Winterville News

Choral Society Organized
WINTERVILLE—The Choral Society and Junior Chorus were organized very early in the new year, and we really did get off to a good start. We have been fortunate in having as our director Mr. Hayes. Under such brilliant supervision we feel that we are progressing rapidly. At the present time, we are preparing for a concert to be held in the near future.

Coroner Says Death Due Natural Causes

Coroner Griffin H. Rouse, who investigated the death of Mary Jones, 68, Negro, some time Thursday night, said she came to her death by natural causes.
Rouse said the woman, who lived with a daughter, Annie Belle Miller, 1002 Mack street, Greenville, had been sick along time. There will be no inquest.

Colored News

Mrs. Ellen Wells, 82, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital, 6:30 a.m. Friday. She had been seriously ill for the past week.
She was survived by six children: Mrs. Hettie Stokes of Magnolia, Mrs. Truie Stokes of Greenville, Mrs. Cornelia Middleton of Washington, D.C., Primus H. Wells of Fayetteville, John A. Wells of Greenville, and Adia Wells of Dunn; and 18 grandchildren and 26 great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock at Halls Chapel at Burgaw.

Local No. 25 met at the home of Miss Clara Hardy October 9 at 7 o'clock. After the business hour a delicious repast was served which was enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Streeter Monday, Oct. 15, at 5 o'clock. All members are asked to be present.

On October 9 the United Daughters Club met at the home of Miss Bessie Roberson with Mrs. Curly Vines in charge of the meeting. She read the 15th chapter of John for the scripture lesson. Mr. David E. Moore led the group in prayer. A repast was served.
Meeting place for October 14 will be at the home of Mrs. Janie Corey, 1300 W. 3rd Street.
