Kremlin Asserts Will Do Nothing To Break Impasse In Korean Strife

Soviet Discloses It Is Standing Behind North Korean, Chinese Terms

WASHINGTON (UP)— A new chill was cast over world peace hopes today through the Kremlin's revelation that it will do little to break the Korean war impasse.

The Soviet disclosed last night it is standing behind North Korean and Chinese Red efforts to win a Ko.an armistice on the 38th Parallel.

Also dampening peace hopes was the Kremlin's sudden action in revealing recent confidential American-Soviet talks in the Soviet capital on the Korean war and other East-West issues.

The Soviet action was interpreted by State Department experts as rejection of a move by the United States to break the Korean stalemate as a prelude to international negotiations to ease world tension.

But officials said the United States would take every possible action to try again to negotiate with the Soviets in an effort to avoid an atomic showdown with R.ssia.

Atomic bombs in the hands of both sides spurs the search for peaceful settlement of disputes, they said.

The American bid for Soviet support to end the Korean war by getting the stalled armistice negotiations going again was communicated on Oct. 5 by U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinky. Kirk offered a four-point armistice plan.

Vishinsky replied Monday with a "propaganda blast" blaming the United States and Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway for the Korean war and the stalled truce negotiations. He added it was "only barely possible to imagine" that American-Soviet relations could be "worse."

His denunciation was communicated to the United States at almost the same time President Truman was making a new "peace" bid to Russia in a speech.

The fiery Soviet diplomat told U.S. Charge D'Affaires Hugh S. Cummings Jr. in Moscow that Russia wanted an end of the Korean war and offered to discuss improvement of international relations.

But the possibility of Russia actually carrying out these statements was blasted, in the State Department's view, when Moscow last night made public the Soviet-American talks with new attacks c the United States.

An American attitude was summed up bluntly by the State Department's top expert on Soviet affairs, Charles E. Bohlen.

"It is characteristic of Soviet procedure that when they are seriously interested in any subject they do not publicize it," Bohlen said.

The State Department had anticipated the Russian move because of a similar action in May 1948, when former Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith talked over Soviet-A.erican relations with the Russians. The Soviets broke that conversation, too, with their own propaganda slants.

Kirk, paying a farewell call on Vishinsky — he has asked to be relieved from his diplomatic post— strenously objected to the "incomprehensible" actions of the Chinese and North Korean truce negotiators in demanding the 38th Parallel as an armistice line. He said this was "inconsistent" with a statement

UN Troops Smash Forward To Within Mile Of Kumsong

Red Resistance On Western Front Collapses! Infantrymen Move Nearer To Big Central Korean Base Of Communists' Winter Line

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea (UP)— United Nations forces smashed through the outer fringes of the main Communist winter defense line to within less than a mile of Kumsong today.

U.N. infantrymen captured two hills and swept across a valley in a 600-yard advance under withering Communist fire toward the big central Korean base 29 miles north of the 38th Parallel.

On the western front, Communist resistance suddenly collapsed west of Yonchon. Allied troops who had been attacking for two days against fierce enemy opposition spurted northward unopposed and captured four hills and several "additional key terrain features", an 8th Army communique reported.

The three U.N. divisions converging on Kumsong from the southwest, south and southeast ran into stiffening Communist resistance Wednesday night.

A front dispatch said a hail of enemy mortar, artillery and machinegun fire halted one U.N. spearhead temporarily after it had stabbed across a valley approximately three miles south of Kumsong.

Farther south, the Allies tightened their stranglehold on the remnants of five Communist battalions bypassed in the thrust toward Kumsong. Crumbling resistance within the encirclement indicated that the Chinese had suffered greater casualties from Allied artillery fire than first thought.

Legion Calls For Ban On Strikes

MIAMI —(AP)— The American Legion called on President Truman today to prevent strikes and slowdowns in key defense industries which the Legion said have endangered the lives of Americans fighting in Korea.

The action came in adoption of a resolution prepared by the Legion National Convention Security Committee.

Bulletins

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House-Senate conferees agreed today on a new compromise 5,700,000,000 tax bill. The proposed individual income tax increases are slightly smaller than in the bill turned down by the House earlier this week.

PATERSON, N.J. (UP)— The 9,800 striking employes of Wright Aeronautical Corp., producers of the world's most powerful jet engine, bowed to a government appeal today and voted to end the 24-day walkout immediately.

WASHINGTON (UP)—A House-Senate conference committee agreed today on a 10 per cent pay hike for 1,050,000 federal "white collar" workers, retroactive to July 1.

Second Death In Cult Whippings

Husband Held For Flogging Of Wife And Grandmother

ST. PAUL (UP)— Mrs. Ardith Lennander, 35, died today of a frenzied religious flogging administered by her husband who already was held for whipping a 64-year-old grandmother to death.

Mrs. Lennander had been in critical condition since yesterday with patches of skin the size of a man's fist torn from her body.

She was the second victim to die of the whipping rites of a weird religious sect which her husband Curtis Lennander, 33, said prompted the beatings.

The grandmother, Mrs. Anna Marie Halvorsen, was found dead yesterday.

Lennander, was held on suspicion of murder. He admitted the beatings and told authorities all of the persons involved belonged to the sect which believed in "beating the devil" out of its members.

Jailers indicated his remorse didn't keep him from sleeping, but they indicated he blamed himself for having been "impure" when he administered the whippings.

He also had been flogged and his body was covered with welts.

Fourteen persons, seven adults and seven children, occupied the four-room home where the beatings took place. The owners of the home also were jailed. They were Mrs. Marie Doyle and her husband, Pat.

Lennander told sheriff's deputies that he lay in bed Monday night and became "remorseful for his sins." He said he pulled his pajamaclad wife from bed and beat her. Then he said he went into the living room where Mrs. Halvorsen, the Doyles and other members of the cult were gathered.

He said he "started in and beat" Mrs. Halvorsen with a three-foot whip. He said he had bought it a year ago and ordinarily used it on his wife.

"She was standing up," he said. "I knocked her down. She had a dress on. I tore it off. Doyle grabbed me from behind and knocked me down."

Then he said Doyle got a piece of rubber hose and whipped him on the back with it about 40 times.

Other members of the group put Mrs. Halvorsen and Mrs. Lennander to bed. Mrs. Halvorsen's death was discovered by a doctor yesterday who was called to treat her. He summoned police.

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Movie producer Gabriel Pascal said today he will film the life of Mahatma Gandhi, tracing the great Indian leader's career from his work as a young lawyer in South Africa to his assassination in 1948.

Hospital Board Inspects Plant

Trustees Tour Institution In Regular Monthly Meet

The Pitt Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees, at the regular monthly meeting at the hospital Tuesday, made a tour of inspection of the institution in a body.

Chairman Thurman J. Williams of Grifton presided. Twelve of the 15 trustees were present, Administrator Claude D. Ward stated. He also reported that the Pitt County Board of Commissioners visited the hospital in a body on October 1.

Routine financial and medical reports were read at the meeting Tuesday. The medical report stated that the hospital averaged 64 patients a day during September, two more than in August, when the average was 62 patients a day July was the best month, when the average was 66 patients a day.

The patient average is running considerably below capacity. The hospital can take care of 120 adults and 20 children at the same time, the administrator said.

The trustees met in the daytime instead of at night and dinner was served. In their tour of the buildings they had a better opportunity to observe actual conditions at the hospital, Ward stated.

ROACHES ELIMINATED

GALVESTON, Tex. (UP)—Cockroaches have been eliminated as a carrier of the polio virus, Dr. Chin Min Hsiang of the University of Texas' medical branch revealed today. A series of experiments is being conducted to eliminate as many insects as possible as polio carriers.

Second Typhoid Case For Pitt Suspected In Family

The possibility of another typhoid fever case in the county is being investigated and in the same home where the last case was reported.

Another member of the family in which one member was stricken with typhoid fever about two weeks ago has been hospitalized for observation and tests after becoming ill and showing some symptoms of the disease.

Test results have not been received for the other member but agglutination tests of Annie Lee Robinson, 20-year-old Negro girl of the same family from the Belvoir community, showed up as being positive when she was stricken two weeks ago.

Sanitarians from the Pitt County Health Department investigated the sanitary conditions of the home and surrounding property and said they found the conditions at a very low ebb. W. M. Pate, senior sanitarian, said that the families' water supply showed signs of organic bacteria, suggestive of numan and animal waste, after laboratory examinations were made.

Nurses from the health department began work on the case as soon as it was reported by giving immunizations to the rest of the family. Julia Fisner, supervisor of nurses at the health department, said that laboratory examinations of two of the other children of the family showed as positive and the children might be carriers of the disease.

Would-Be Auto Thief Is Nabbed In 30 Minutes

Fast work on the part of members of the Greenville Police force and the Pitt County Sheriff's department resulted in the capture of 21-year-old man of Blount's Creek less than 30 minutes after he had attempted to steal an automobile near the College. yesterday afternoon.

Officers stated that Waldo M. Buck, Blount's Creek, was observed trying to start the car belonging to the building Superintendent at the new E. C. C. gym now under construction on the campus off Tenth Street.

The man might have made good his escape but for the fact that he was unable to work the automatic gear shift with which the car was equipped they said. He was scared away from the car as he was attempting to start it.

As officers arrived on the scene, they set out at once to form a dragnet around the nearby wooded section. Blood hounds from the state prison farm near here were called in on the chase.

In less than 30 minutes from the time the dogs were set on the trail, they had tracked the man to the Green Mill Run in the vicinity of the Little League ball diamond.

When the dogs and runners approached the man was found crouched on the ground sound asleep.

When taken into custody the man had in his possession a bottle of 100 proof corn whiskey, of the "store" variety. Only a small portion of the liquid was still in the bottle.

Buck was taken to city jail where he was charged with attempted auto theft.

It was understood by the officers that the man had just recently returned from serving time in prison up state.

Another Convict Flees Work Gang Of Prison Camp

Fugitive Still On Loose; No Clues As To Destination Known To Lawmen

By ROY HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

CALICO — Another fleet-footed Pitt County prisoner apparently made good his escape from a prison work gang near here yesterday afternoon around 2 o'clock.

The escapee was listed by the county prison farm as being Dayton Watts, 22, 5' 8" in height and weighing 140 pounds.

He has brown hair, grey eyes and was wearing brown prison clothing at the time of his escape.

Calvin Mills, sub-foreman on the work crew of which Watts was a member, stated that the crew was shrubbing and cutting down corn near Calico yesterday.

Mills said that he saw the man making his way around a nearby house.

It was pointed out by Mills that the guard could not have tried to stop the prisoner without endangering the lives of several young children who were near the house.

When notified of the escape attempt, Captain Paul Crawford and his trusty were running dogs on the trail of a man in Greenville who had attempted to steal an automobile on the East Carolina campus. The dogs tracked their man down and then were loaded up and taken to Calico.

The trail of the man led through the woods and thickets in the area where he jumped and he was trailed all afternoon before the dogs lost the scent.

In the meantime, all law enforcement officers in the county were combing the roads and by-ways in the area and radio alarms had been flashed to all other nearby counties.

The hunt went on until early this morning, but the dogs and men were called off around 3:30.

After only a few hours rest, the men took back to the hunt and late today were still stalking the area trying to pick up the trail of the fugitive.

No leads have turned up to give any idea as to which direction the prisoner was headed.

Watts, serving time at the Pitt Prison Camp where he was transferred from Gates County youthful offenders camp, escaped once while at the Gates County Camp.

The escape was the second attempt by local prisoners in the last five days. Two men jumped from a prison work truck as it came into Greenville on Saturday. Both men were recaptured in less than 16 hours from the time they jumped.

So far this year there have been six escape attempts made by prisoners confined at the local prison farm.

All have been recaptured to date with the exception of Watts.

Up until Monday a second prisoner was loose, having made good his escape try from a Bell Arthur work crew about two weeks ago, but Reidsville police took John Carter into custody in that city on Monday.

Carter was serving five to 10 years from Guilford County for attempted robbery.

Having stolen three motor units in Pitt County, in making his escape, one of them a school bus, the man now faces charges of automobile larceny in Reidsville.

British Truck Convoy Fired Upon; Troops Clash Briefly

Reinforcements Reach Suez Canal Zone; Evacuation Of British Women And Children Indicated; Premier Nahas Says Egypt Plans 'Further Action'

By WALTER COLLINS
United Press Staff Correspondent

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—A British army truck convoy was attacked with automatic weapons in the Suez Canal zone today.

The British cut off the zone from the rest of Egypt, blocking all traffic in and out of the area.

Britain rushed her Middle Eastern commander, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, to Suez from London with orders to defend British positions, and prepared to evacuate 10,000 women and children.

The army convoy of three-ton trucks was attacked between Ismailia and Tel el Kebir. It was the second outbreak within 24 hours.

In Limassol, Cyprus, reliable sources said that 10,000 British women and children will be evacuated from Egypt to Cyprus.

The 8,000-ton cruiser Gambia, mounting nine six-inch guns, and the troopship Fowey with 1,500 1,500 British troop reinforcements arrived at Port Said at the northern tip of the canal zone during the morning.

As Britain landed reinforcements to its forces in the Suez Canal zone and Egypt moved ahead with an "action" program to oust the British-Egyptian crisis grew darker to-that the first exchange of fire by troops of the two nations killed two to five Egyptian soldiers.

The Egyptians were killed in a brief, bloody battle when they tried to stop British forces from cutting off the Suez Canal zone from the rest of Egypt.

A British announcement delayed by censorship said two Egyptian soldiers were killed and five were wounded. Egyptian officials said five Egyptian soldiers were killed and 24 others captured by the British in fighting on the approaches of strategic El Ferdan bridge, only span across the canal, 10 miles north of Ismaila. It was the first reported armed clash between the British and the Egyptian armies.

The British seized not only the sole bridge across the canal, but also ferries and key installations throughout the zone. They halted all traffic in and out of the zone and isolated Egypt proper from its territories in Southern Palestine.

Egyptian Premier Mustapha Nahas announced last night his government is preparing "action" against the British.

What the action will be remained a closely guarded secret. Before Parliament adjourned last night until the middle of November, Premier Mustapa Nahas Pasha told it:

"The time for action has come. . . We are crossing the most critical time in Egypt's entire history."

He said flatly that henceforth Egypt will not cooperate with Britain.

As the premier spoke, night-flying British transports brought paratroopers from Cyprus to the canal zone—to swell the garrison there to 13,000 men. The shuttle service for all 3,000 members of the 16th Paratroop Brigade went on through the night and this morning.

Britain has announced its intention to meet force with force if Egypt tries to oust the troops in line with the Cairo government's scrapping of the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian treaty. The treaty permits Britain to station not more tha 1,200 troops in the Suez area.

Storm Warnings For East Coast

NEW YORK —(AP)— Storm warnings were hoisted today along the east coast and the Weather Bureau predicted winds of near gale velocity this afternoon.

Warnings were posted from Block Island, R. I., to Cape Hatteras, N. C. the winds were expected to continue tonight but die down before tomorrow.

Plan To Recruit 72,000 Women

WASHINGTON (UP)—A drive to recruit 72,000 women for the armed services will be opened by the Defense Department Nov. 11, Armistice Day.

The program is intended to increase the number of women in the armed forces to 112,000 by June 1952.

Slight Drop In Duke Enrollment

DURHAM—(AP)—Final fall enrollment figures at Duke University show a total of 4779 students, A. S. Brower, university comptroller, announced today.

This fall's enrollment represents a drop of one-half per cent from the 1950 spring semester total of 4790 and a drop of five per cent from last year's fall enrollment of 5047.

Rising Optimism In Liaison Talks

UN Officers Emerge Smiling From Meeting With Reds And Report Progress; New Compromise Proposal Submitted

MUNSAN, Korea (UP)— United Nations liaison officers for the first time expressed optimism today that Korean armistice talks may be resumed soon.

U.S. Cols. Andrew J. Kinney and James C. Murray emerged smiling from a 105-minute meeting with Communist liaison officers in a tent in Panmunjom and told U.N. newsmen:

1. There are grounds for optimism.

2. The U.N. delegation submitted a compromise proposal designed to eliminate the main obstacle to resumption of the armistice conference — the size of the neutral zones around the U.N. truce camp at Munsan and the Communist camp at Kaesong.

3. The liaison teams arrived "at a substantial agreement on one or two positions which have been in dispute."

4. Col. Chang Chun San, chief Communist liaison officer, agreed there now was "very little difference between us."

Chang is expected to give his reply to the U.N's new compromise proposal at a liaison meeting at 10 a.m. Friday (8 p.m. Thursday). It calls for three-mile neutral zones around both Munsan and Kaesong instead of the five-mile zones sought by the Reds and the 3,000-yard zones originally suggested by the U.N.

Ridgway was believed to have originated the compromise proposal given the Communists by Kinney and Murray Thursday. The supreme commander presumably handed it to Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, head of the U.N. truce team, during the admiral's flying visit to Tokyo earlier this week.

Joy said in an official release that the proposal would more than double the size of the security areas around the two truce camps originally suggested by the U.N.

Truman To Keep Silence On 1952 Political Plans

Hints Mid-January May Be Time For Disclosing Decision; Informs Taft That He's In 'For A Lot Of Fun'

WASHINGTON (UP)— President Truman told reporters today he will make no announcement of his 1952 political plans at least until after he submits his legislative program to Congress in mid-January.

He disclosed at a news conference he has written a letter to Sen. Robert A. Taft, who announced his candidacy for the GOP presidential nomination earlier this week.

He said he told the Ohio Republican that he has heard the senator has thrown his hat into the ring and wanted him to know he is in for a lot of fun.

As for Taft's forecast of the issues for 1952, the President commented wryly that he is against sin, too.

Other highlights at Mr. Truman's weekly news conference:

1. He will reply to Boyle's letter of resignation after the Democratic committee selects a new chairman. Meantime, he said, he is in consultation with Boyle almost every day.

2. He said he would make no decision on an extended "whistle stop" speaking tour until after he announces his own plans for 1952.

3. He said he will not withdraw the nomination of Frieda Hennock, member of the Federal Communications Commission, to a New York federal judgship.

4. He stands by his previous statement that agreements with Russia are not worth the paper they are written on. But he declined to discuss the exchange of views between U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

5. He said Gen. Douglas MacArthur's statement that this government planned at one time to let

That 'Accordion War'

Lack Of Space In Korean Peninsula Prohibits Much Of Classic Military Maneuvering On Ground; Amphibious Attacks Difficult Though Inchon Success

By HARRY FERGUSON

The fighting in Korea has been described as "an accordion war", meaning that the battle line moves up and down the country with neither side being able to score a knockout punch.

The war is being fought on a narrow-waisted peninsula and, for a good part, over terrain that does not lend itself readily to the most effective of all the classic military maneuvers — encirclement and annihilation.

Such a maneuver works occasionally on a small scale in Korea. There was an instance of it day before yesterday when United Nations troops encircled 800 Chinese Reds on the approaches to the big Communist stronghold of Kumsong. It was a sizeable victory, but you don't destroy armies by encircling units of 800 men. You have to trap entire divisions.

A modern example was the collapse of Poland when Hitler started World War II. The Poles were caught with a strong army on one side of them and the unfriendly nation of Russia on the other. Eventually the Russians moved in and carved up Poland with the Germans.

Notable World War II victories resulted from encirclement — Hong Kong, Singapore, Guadalcanal. Patton's tank thrusts through and the German flanks contributed greatly to the collapse of Hitler's armies.

The obvious way to bring about encirclement of the Reds in Korea is to make amphibious attacks north of their lines on both coasts of Korea. If successful and if properly exploited, such landings would cut the Communists off from their Manchurian supply bases and the enemy probably would collapse in a matter of days.

The Inchon landing — even though it was confined to one coast — was an example of how demoralizing the encirclement maneuver can be. With that one blow and the quick follow-up Gen. Douglas MacArthur destroyed the North Korean army that then was in the field. Except for the Chinese Communists, the Korean war probably would have been over shortly after the Inchon victory.

The 82nd Congress

Outside Of Voting Record Peacetime Appropriations, First Session Of Current Congress Accomplished Little New Legislation; Policy Debate Is Keynote

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The record of the first session of the 82nd congress, now grinding to a close, isn't very impressive as far as the number of major bills passed is concerned.

In just one way did congress set a record: it voted more money than any congress in U. S. history ever voted before in a peacetime year. That, of course, was done under pressure of the war in Korea and this country's vastly expanded defense program.

With the record almost complete, it appears congress will appropriate about $91,000,000,000 by the time it winds up the year's work, possibly Saturday. The record high, about $147,000,000,000 was approved in 1943, a wartime year.

To help pay the bill, President Truman asked congress to vote $10,000,000,000 in new taxes. It balked at the amount, trimming it almost in half, and the House so far has refused to approve that finally.

Whether any new tax bill will be passed now isn't certain, but it seems likely that one raising government revenue about $5,750,000,000 a year may get through. A lot of congress members are saying that, given a second chance, the House probably will okay a bill pretty much like the one it turned down Tuesday.

Aside from that and the appropriations bills, the major legislation congress has approved includes extensions of old laws: the foreign aid programs to help this country's allies strengthen themselves against communism; the reciprocal trade program started in the mid-30's; the Economic Controls Act, with some revisions; the draft act, extended until 1955, coupled with a lowering of the minimum draft age from 19 to 18½ years.

Along with the Selective Service extension, congress did another thing which could have a profound and lasting effect on the nation. It laid the ground work for a system of Universal Military Training (UMT).

But UMT won't go into effect unless congress approves it again. All it did this year was to set up

Reports From Committees Feature P.T.A. Meeting

The P. T. A. of the Training School met on Wednesday night at 7:30 in the New Auditorium of the school.

As the members entered, year books were distributed at the door by the Year Book Committee, of which Mrs. Dallas Clark is chairman.

Mrs. Dink James, president, presided at the meeting, which was opened with the group singing of "America the Beautiful." Tyson Bilbro led in prayer, after which the treasurer's report was presented by John Reynolds in the absence of his wife, who is treasurer.

The president called for committee reports as follows: Mrs. R. H. Evans, program chairman, announced that the November meeting would be held in the afternoon. Mrs. L. W. Edwards, membership chairman, reported a good response from the parents on payment of dues, but no exact figures were available.

Mrs. W. W. Smiley, Ways and Means chairman, led a discussion concerning plans for the Hallowe'en party which was held for the first time at the Training School last year. This year the party will be held on Friday night, October 26, from 5:30-8:30 p.m. Parents were asked to donate cakes, sandwiches and money for the purchase of other attractions for the party.

Mrs. Dorothy Johnson, publications chairman, reported on the number of subscriptions handed in for the P. T. A. magazine this year.

Mrs. James extended thanks to the Year Book committee for the attractive books and to W. W. Smiley for mimeographing the monthly letters which she sends to each parent before the regular meeting.

Mrs. James further announced that Dr. Leo Jenkins had accepted the chairmanship of the study course committee. This committee plans the annual study classes which are a requirement of a standard organization, and this year the course will be held in February of 1952.

Further committee chairmen were announced as follows: Health and Summer Roundup, Mrs. E. D. Griffith; Pre-school Service, Mrs. Belton Newman; Room Representatives, Mrs. E. O. Parkinson; Safety, Mrs. L. S. Ficklen; Legislative, Mrs. Lewis Tebeau; Finance, Mrs. J. O. Reynolds; Publicity, Mrs. Harry Forbes; Recreation, Mrs. George Clapp; and Hospitality, Mrs. Ercell Webb.

As the business session adjourned, the parents were invited into the cafeteria for a social hour, under the direction of the Hospitality committee. They then were invited to visit the school rooms and to talk with the teachers.

There were 230 parents present, but the attendance figures according to rooms were not announced.

Little Ladies Club To Visit Fire House

The members of the Little Ladies Club will meet at the city Armory Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in order that the club as a unit will be able to leave for the Greenville Fire Department.

Saturday's program for the club will consist of a guided tour through the fire department.

In order that the "little ladies" might know more about their town and become more civic minded, several such tours of different civic organizations have been planned for the club throughout the year.

The club members and their friends are urged to be at the Armory by 10:00 o'clock. They will leave immediately for the fire department.

The Little Ladies Club is co-sponsored by the Woman's Club and the Greenville Recreation Department.

Mr. Whitford Is Honored On Birthday

On Monday night Mrs. Dallas Whitford gave her husband a surprise birthday party at their home in Maury.

The guests were greeted by Mrs. Whitford, and then entered the dining room, where they awaited the arrival of Mr. Whitford from a business meeting.

The buffet was banked with greenery, and the room was lighted by candles.

The table was spread with a blue linen cloth, and was centered with the birthday cake. Silver trays of colonial cheese sandwiches, salted nuts and mints made a lovely table.

Those attending were Miss Lou Lane, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Howell, Miss Marvel Stokes, Miss Beulah Causey, Mr. Jerry Presson, Mrs. Burnell House and Miss Alma Suggs.

Group From College Present Skit At Faculty Wives Club

The Faculty Wives Club met at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night at the Y Hut on the campus. Decorations carried out the Hallowe'en theme, and a log fire created a cheerful atmosphere in the room.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. H. A. Coleman, president, a plan was discussed for a swap and hobby shop. Among other business items, it was voted that the club contribute to the Community Chest Drive.

After the business session, Mrs. W. E. Dole introduced a group of East Carolina College students who presented an amusing skit for the evening's entertainment. The students were Emily Faircloth, Imogene Faircloth, June Prichard, Anita Gulledge and Dorothy Howard.

While delicious refreshments were enjoyed by the group, music was provided by Bernard Ham, Ernest Black and Bill Hobbs, also students at the college.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Orval L. Phillips, chairman, Mrs. Paul Murray, Mrs. P. C. Scott, Mrs. C. L. Adams, Mrs. R. L. Boone, Mrs. Norman Cameron, Mrs. W. E. Dole, Mrs. Lloyd Bray, Mrs. George Perry and Mrs. James Rogerson.

Cranberry Industry Discussed At Thalian Book Club

On October 16, Mrs. Tom W. Rivers was hostess to the Thalian Book Club at her home in Brookgreen.

Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Hoover Taft and Mrs. Tom Wilson.

Following a delicious two course luncheon the hostess introduced her speaker, Mrs. Wesley Harvey.

Mrs. Harvey gave a most interesting and informative talk on "Cranberries—The First Fruit of America." Beginning before the Pilgrims came to this country, Mrs. Harvey traced the history of the cranberry from the time it provided the Indians with food and medicine up to the present when it is a major industry in the state of Massachusetts. She told of the expense and difficulties in raising New England's 14,000 acres of cranberries. Mrs. Harvey's talk was followed by the showing of a movie which illustrated her paper.

After a short business meeting the books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Mrs Evans Gives Coffee Hour For Joint Honorees

Miss Betsy Nobles, bride-elect of Saturday, and Mrs. Ed Batchelor, Jr., a recent bride, were joint honorees on Tuesday morning when Mrs. David Evans was hostess at an informal coffee hour.

Welcoming guests at the door as they arrived at 10:45, Mrs. Reynolds May invited them into the home, where they were greeted by the hostess, Miss Nobles and Mrs. Batchelor.

Mrs. Ed Batchelor, Sr. and Mrs. Luther Moore poured coffee from a table in the dining room, which was centered with a bowl of white chrysanthemums. Assisting in serving canapes, nuts, mints and pastries were Mrs. E. H. Williford and Mrs. W. H. Taft.

Miss Jane Massey, Miss Lytle Batchelor and Mrs. M. P. Hoot passed additional trays of the refreshments in the living room, where the guests gathered for the social hour.

Mrs. Evans used assortments of fall flowers and leaves for decorations in the living and dining rooms. The honorees were given shoulder corsages and were remembered with gifts from the hostess.

Reynolds Top Man In Naval Unit Firing Practice

John Reynolds, commanding officer of the Greenville naval reserve unit, took top honors at the unit pistol firing practice held Tuesday afternoon at the police department firing range here.

Reynolds and approximately 15 other members of the unit participated in the practice. Reynolds scored 135. J. B. Smith, unit instructor, was second high in the scoring with 126. The firing was done with .22 calibre pistols mounted on .45 calibre pistol frames.

"The firing practice Tuesday was the second practice for the majority of the members of the unit," Instructor Smith said," and under the circumstances, I think the results were very satifactory."

Last Of Apron Sales To Be Held This Week

The last of the apron sales which have been held by the women of Jarvis Memorial Church will be on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Various stores have given some material and many women of the city have given their time and talent in making the aprons which have been offered for sale. The funds derived from this have been divided among the classes of the Church School to aid them in purchasing furniture for the new classrooms.

Tables will be set up at the entrance to several of the downtown stores, and the young people of the Sunday School will assist the ladies in selling them.

All women who have aprons on hand which they have been making for the sale are urged to get them to Mrs. Henry Martin by noon on Friday.

Grimesland P.T.A. Has North Carolina Program

The P.T.A. of the Grimesland school met on Tuesday night at the school auditorium.

The president, B. W. Oakes, presided over the business session, during which time he announced the committees for the year.

Mrs. Lloyd Whichard, secretary, read the minutes of the preceding meeting, which were approved.

The program for the evening was given by Mrs. Lloyd Nixon's eighth grade class. It consisted of two parts, both dealing with North Carolina, which will be the main theme of the class for a year's study.

"Who's Who of North Carolina" was presented in pageant form. Among the notables shown were Virginia Dare, Blackbeard, Dolly Madison, Dr. Susan Dimmock, General Bryan Grimes, O'Henry, Josephus Daniels, Ava Gardner and Norman Cordon.

The second part of the program consisted of a panel discussion on "Interesting Facts About North Carolina." "The Old North State," "Carolina Moon" and "I Hear You Calling Caroline" were sung by Mrs. Frances Madry.

Students who took part in this program were Clarence Elks, master of ceremonies, Noah Buck, Billy Gene Buck, Lissa Buck, Jessie Mayo, Peggy Ann Ross, Mattie Ellen Oakes, Melvin Boyd Jr., Wayne Elks, Josephine Faucette, Ray Wilson, Jane White, Faye Warren, Victor Lewis and Jo Ann Hardee.

Mrs. Frances Madry supervised the music for the group.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Ainsley's third grade, Mrs. Nixon's 8-A grade and Miss Lewis' ninth grade.

The principal, T. R. Ainsley, made an announcement concerning the Hallowe'en festival, which will be held this year on October 26 at the school. Further plans concerning this will be published later.

from the RECTOR KITCHENS

Everyone gathers 'round the family dinner table expecting great things of Mom. Gratifying appetites and satisfying family hunger, especially that of hollow-leg juniors, really takes some doing. So today we bring you more variety—a new and satisfying, super vegetable soup. And to make it—in a few quick minutes—for a few pennies a plate—all you need is a can of Veg-All, Wilson's B-V and seasonings. What a soup! Just see how simple:

Super B-V and VEG-ALL Soup

Step No. 1 Dice 1 onion and saute in 1 tablespoon butter until golden.

Step No. 2 Add contents 1 can Larsen's Veg-All* including liquid. Heat thoroughly.

Step No. 3 Add 1 tablespoon Wilson's B-V dissolved in a little of the hot liquid.

Step No. 4 Add 4 cups boiling water and pepper as desired. Serves 4.

Wilson's B-V meat extract. A combination of meat juices and vegetable flavors—in concentrated paste form.

*Larsen's Veg-All. A nutritional combination of carefully selected green and yellow vegetables.

Here's another tasty dish

B-V and VEG-ALL Casserole

Prepare 1½ recipes of B-V gravy, adding an extra 1¼ teaspoons B-V and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. (See recipe on B-V carton). Add 1 can drained Veg-All, 1 medium onion, minced, and 2 cubed, cooked, unsalted potatoes. Casserole and bake as usual with biscuit or pie crust top. Serves 6. *The drained liquid may be used in the gravy.

Urges Farmers To Store Soybeans

Pitt County farmers were urged today by PMA Office Manager James Meredith to take advantage of the crop loan of $2.39 per bushel for soybeans stored in approved warhouses or farm storage.

"In most years the price of soybeans is much lower during the fall months than it is in the spring and early summer months and it will probably pay soybean growers to take advantage of the loan program and hold their beans off the market until April or May," Meredith declared.

Statistics of the Production and Marketing administration show that in 1949, 45.1 per cent of the soybean crop was marketed in October when the market price was slightly over $2.00 per bushel. The peak price for the beans came the following July at slightly under $3.00 per bushel, but less than five per cent of the crop was marketed at the peak price. During the 1950 harvesting season soybean market prices dipped to the $2.00 mark in October, but had risen over the $3.00 mark by February and continued at more than $3.00 per bushel until June.

"During most soybean harvest seasons the price of soybeans is depressed as it was in 1949 and 1950," Meredith said. "These depressed prices are caused by growers 'dumping' from two-thirds to three-fourths of the total U. S. crop on the market during September, October and November. The price usually recovers later in the year. To carry soybeans over the usual depressed-price period at harvest time many farmers, especially where commercial storage may not be readily available, will find it advantageous to construct additional on their farms."

Bridge Luncheon For Betsy Nobles

Miss Jane Massey and Mrs. Charles Braswell were joint hostesses at a bridge luncheon on Monday at 1:00 p.m. as an extended courtesy to Miss Mary Elizabeth Nobles, whose wedding will take place on Saturday.

Card tables were set for the luncheon when the guests arrived. Places were marked with bridal tallies, and white flowers were used for decoration in the dining and living rooms.

Shrimp cocktails preceded the main course of chicken salad with hot vegetable and bread accompaniments. Cherry tarts with cream and coffee were served as the dessert.

Following the luncheon bridge was played for several progressions. Mrs. Luther Moore was winner of the prize for high score, while Mrs. Ben Harrison was given a gift for low score.

Miss Nobles was given a gift of china from Mrs. Braswell and a casserole in a silver stand from Miss Massey.

Consulate Finds Passports Used For Autographs

BERLIN —(AP)— The U. S. consulate here is irritated with some Americans who are using their passports like high school or college year books—for the purpose of collecting autographs.

The situation has become so aggravated that the consulate found it necessary to publish a warning notice in the "Daily Bulletin" circulated to American personnel. People were warned that the passport is "a valuable document (which) must not be altered or mutilated in any manner and no stamps, statements, notations or other additions should be placed in it other than by officials." Such a warning would be superfluous to any but Americans. Europeans, conscious of their nationality and stateless by the millions, value their passports (if they own one) usually next to their lives.

Iron Bars Replaced Where Prisoners Found Escape

There shouldn't be any more city or county prisoners gaining their freedom from the city jail by climbing out windows where bars have been removed; that is, if they are able to get out of their cells.

Exactly eleven days from the time three Pitt County prisoners jimmied their way out of their prison cell, by using a small piece of cardboard, and out onto the roof of the building by a window, repairs have been made in part.

When the escape was discovered, strong lengths of chains and padlocks were placed around the cells to prevent any other escapes; and two sections of bars removed from a window, to install a ventilator fan for the jail block were ordered repaired on the following Monday.

The escape took place sometime Friday night and was not discovered until Saturday morning at breakfast time. Chief Guy C. Langston then stated that the bars would be replaced the following Monday.

On Tuesday of this week, welders attacked the bars and now they are firmly back in place.

Chief Langston had stated that plans had been made to rework the present jail cells to prevent any other escapes and to make the jail escape-proof.

Today Langston was out of town, and could not be reached for any statement on the proposed plans for improving the jail.

In the way of other improvements in the local jail, new mattress covers, which have been on order for two months arrived, and were placed in all of the cells this morning.

Arrest Suspect In Tobacco Theft

Sheriff's deputies yesterday afternoon arrested Raymond Best, 30-year-old Negro who lives on Hudson Street here, and charged him with theft of approximately 300 sticks of tobacco from the John Ogeary farm Monday night.

Deputy Sheriff's L. E. Manning and Jasper Lee Mills who were working on the case said they found truck tire tracks near the house from which the tobacco was taken, and later identified the truck which made the tracks at a Greenville warehouse. Officers quoted the warehouseman who owned the truck as saying Best borrowed it Monday night. The officers then found approximately 300 sticks of tobacco being graded. The tobacco there matched other tobacco which was not stolen from the Ogeary farm.

The officers picked up Best about 12:30 yesterday afternoon, and after questioning him, the warehouseman and Best's wife, charged Best with the theft of the tobacco. Best denied stealing the tobacco, the officers said, and told them it had been brought to him to be graded by another Negro who worked for the warehouseman. The statements given by Best and his wife about who brought the tobacco to the house, differed, the officers said, and Best was charged with the theft.

Best is being held in jail by the Pitt Officers.

Yesterday afternoon the tobacco was returned to James Mills, its owner.

C-Of-C Campaign Believed To Be 'On Schedule'

No report has yet been turned in from team captains who are calling on prospective members for the Chamber of Commerce but Van C. Fleming, Jr., committee chairman, said he thought everything was working as scheduled.

Fleming said team captains will probably turn in their reports this afternoon or early in the morning. For the past two days, team captains and team members have been calling on prospective Chamber of Commerce members in a drive to increase Chamber membership.

At a meeting earlier in the week of the solicitation committee, team captains were named and five other members were put on the team to see the 74 prospective members.

For the past three weeks the Chamber of Commerce has been putting on a membership campaign and sending out a series of cards explaining the work and purpose of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Workshops Held In Pitt Schools

Workshops in physical education were carried on in the county schools last month with state personnel conducting the workshops.

Taylor Dodson, state advisor of physical education and health, and Helen Stuart, advisor in physical education in the North Carolina schools and Health Coordinating Service, visited schools in the county last month and put on demonstrations for students and teachers in the county schools.

Demonstrations for primary teachers using a second grade was held in the Farmville School September 24 for teachers in the Farmville, Fountain and Arthur schools. The Winterville, Grifton, and Chicod teachers also met the same day at Ayden for a demonstration and primary teachers (grades 1-3) met in the afternoon at Ayden.

Another workshop was held September 25 at the Ayden school for grade teachers. Also on that day teachers from Pactolus, Bethel, and Grimesland met in the Stokes School for a demonstration and Falkland and Bethel school teachers met in Belvoir for a demonstration.

Most of the demonstrations were conducted with children taking part and the teachers participated also. Dodson and Miss Stuart helped with using new material for physical education and planned physical education programs.

The workshop was a result of a questionnaire given by Miss Annie Lee Jones, elementary school supervisor, to the teachers and they asked for such workshops to be held in the county schools.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

FOLLOWING OUR COURSE AS A NATION

When our country was founded more than 150 years ago, great emphasis was laid on the fact that our political experiment here was something new in human history. The founding fathers constantly dwelt on the fact that the life of America and the life of Europe were fundamentally different, built on different foundations.

But what of today? Since the first World War, we have been getting more and more like continental Europe. We have adopted many of its political principles, as is seen in the growth of socialism. In the name of progress we have prided ourselves on the adoption of many European customs. Spiritually and morally, we have been influenced by continental Europe more than we have influenced continental Europe. The theologians of Germany and Switzerland are most influential today among religious thinkers. French philosophy is making great headway at the present time in this country.

All this, of course, has been accentuated by our membership in the United Nations. It looks sometimes as if Uncle Sam is indeed an uncle, a good-natured old fellow with very loose purse strings and a very big heart. America should be leading the world, not following European civilizations which have passed their crest. We have a birthright to fulfill and to live up to. We are making a tragic mistake when we let others dictate our course for us.

What Price Is Being Paid For The Korean War

What price are we paying in the Korean war? Billions upon billions in taxes; many more billions in debts to be paid off by future generations; high prices on every hand; labor shortages here and there?

Surely those things comprise a small portion of the price the people of the United States are paying for the "police action" in Asia; but the real price is being paid in blood, agony, hardships and hell of the shell-ripped ridges of Korea. The price is being paid in anguish and heartbreak here on the homefront where families wait in vain for their loved ones to return from the satanic abyss we call Korea.

For the majority of the citizens of this nation the war in Korea is far removed. To many it means only higher prices, greater prosperity, new jobs and new phenominal figures in the federal budget. When we stop to consider the true price, however, the war comes into focus.

The gallant men of the Seventh Cavalry regiment fought stubbornly up Heartbreak Ridge, and won another hundred yards of freedom for men all over the world. When the smoke of battle lifted half the regiment lay dead or wounded. Does that help to bring the price of war into better focus? It did for those at home who numbered their friends and their loved ones among those who fell on Heartbreak Ridge. It should for the millions of others who number among their creditors the men who have given their lives to preserve freedom.

A passive solemn thought to make amends for that debt which can never be repaid in person is not enough.

The people of the United States must find some alternative to war if as a nation we are to survive—if the world is not to be destroyed in its own lust and folly. Toward that goal we must work diligently. Even though the goal can not be realized today or perhaps tomorrow, diligent seeking will bring it to realization in one of the tomorrows.

A Shadow Behind The Gleaming Picture

Pitt County's labor picture is gleaming with brightness the like of which has not been seen in many years. Practically everyone who wants to work—and perhaps some of those who would prefer to just sit—is employed.

The awful shadow is cast, however, by the knewledge that the present full-employment condition will last only a few more weeks. Then when the tobacco factories close, hundreds of people will be out of work for six months or more. The majority of the women particularly who work in the factories will not be able to find work. The unemployment rolls will skyrocket from the present 10 to 15 persons a week to 300 or 500 persons a week. The income of many families will be slashed considerably and the average buying power in the county will decrease noticeably.

Fortunately, for this year at least, construction employment will be ready to take up most of the men who leave the tobacco factories, so they will have jobs to go to. But there will still be the seasonal lag that Pitt County experiences every year.

The answer to the whole problem was summed up neatly and simply in a statement yesterday by Employment Office Manager W. B. Dillingham: "The answer to the problem as we all know it is some sort of year around employment."

There it is.

Purely and simply that is the answer to one of the most serious economic problems Pitt County has faced through many, many years of busy summers and autums, and slack winters and springs.

Greenville is badly in need of some sort of industry to give year around employment to these women, particularly, who work in tobacco factories for a few months, and remain idle for the rest of the year. Greenville should not dream of some big industry coming in to plop itself in our lap and fill the need. That seldom happens. The city needs to search out small industries which would employ these women and then entice the industries to locate here.

The Reflector, just like everyone else, would like to see large industry come to Greenville and bring with it many new, highly skilled people. But that would do little to solve the immediate problem which is so important in our economic structure.

These small industries exist, and there is no reason why they can not be found and brought here if the city sets its mind to do it. Accomplishing the job would mean a lot of hard work by many local citizens, but the results it would bring would pay big dividends in a more stable, better balanced economy for Pitt County for years to come.

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON—The gallant soldier eulogized by President Truman as "America's most distinguished citizen"—General George C. Marshall—was largely responsible for the controversial White House order instructing non-defense agencies to withhold information from the press if, in their opinion, it involved national security problems.

It is probable that neither President Truman nor General Marshall realize that the executive decree stemmed directly from the latter's divulgement of military data which endangered our troops during a critical moment of the Korean campaign. But it was this incident which led Pentagon officials to persuade the President that there must be a closer guard over distribution of all kinds of news at Washington.

It is understood that the Marshall revelations are included in the famous but suppressed Yale study, which was quoted by Mr. Truman as reporting that 95 per cent of the nation's military secrets had been published in press and magazines, or blared to the public and foreign listeners by radio.

Here are the facts behind the Marshall "bull":

BLACKOUT—When Chinese Communist troops delivered a surprise attack on our forces along the Yalu River last December, General Douglas MacArthur ordered a complete censorship on the identity and movements of American units involved in the desperate battles in this frozen terrain. He had previously permitted publication of this kind of information.

But the crisis was so grave that MacArthur, although never averse to publicity for himself and his men, blanketed all news about our withdrawal action. The slightest bit of information on our forces' plight, as well as naval and aerial attempts to relieve them, would have been helpful to the enemy.

The blackout, however, precipitated a storm of protest in this country. Members of Congress, as well as General Marshall, received thousands of letters from parents, demanding to know where their boys were, and how they were doing. It was a natural and human reaction.

DIVULGEMENT — The sympathetic Marshall quickly reversed MacArthur's secrecy order, although the decision was questioned by several members of the General Staff. They pointed out that it was more important to insure our soldiers' safety than to satisfy domestic and Congressional curiosity as to their current whereabouts.

Although General Marshall's action was understandable, it was based on political rather than military considerations. He sought to relieve parental anxiety as reflected in his mail and Congressional complaints.

But in doing so, he made public the kind of information against which President Truman now inveighs. Indeed, it was far more dangerous a divulgement than news about non-defense activities that the White House seeks to curtail.

INDISCREET—It is interesting that President Truman did not intervene to prevent the Marshall reversal of MacArthur. It was not until after his military advisers belabored him for six months with demands for an oblique form of censorship that he issued his order.

As this and other incidents reveal, including official release of information about new planes, new bombs, new guided missiles and new atomic developments, the military have been largely responsible for almost all the premature and indiscreet revelations which they—and the White House—now blame on the press, magazines and radio commentators.

VIOLATORS—It cannot be repeated too frequently or too forcefully that the actual violators of security safeguards are President Truman's own aides, officials and members of Congress. Were he a more commanding and revered figure, like Franklin D. Roosevelt, he could demand and insure that they take a vow of silence. Instead, he blames it on newspaper reporters he has grown to detest and dislike.

These official handouts on Army, Navy and Air Force weapons, for instance, are not accidental. The recent rash of information on their laboratory progress, significantly, broke out during the period when the three services were scrapping among themselves for the lion's share of the military budget then under consideration by Congress. The "brass" okayed premature publication in order to gain financial favor on Capitol Hill.

Previously, during the period under the Yale survey, the three branches curried publicity in order to obtain the dominant role under unification of the armed services. In addition to these self-serving considerations, individual officers seek to win promotion and commendation by headlining their accomplishments.

VAINGLORIOUS—Members of Congress are equally vainglorious, and, moreover, they are beyond reach of the presidential edict. When an M.C. figures that he needs a headline, he calls in the press and "blows his top." This applies especially to men serving on the Senate-House Armed Services Committee, and to ranking members of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee, headed by Senator Brien McMahon of Connecticut.

Sealing these ambitious men's lips, by presidential ukase or any other means, is tantamount to cleaning the Aegean stables!

Our Neighbors Have Company

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you are bored by the worn-out story about the high cost of living, skip this thing today. But if you are interested, there is one point that I'm trying to prove: even with the high cost of living, we are better off than we have ever been. People are so busy complaining that they won't admit that we are enjoying the greatest prosperity in our history.

In a nut shell, here's the story, based on the increases in the past 10 years:

cost of living: up 73 per cent
retail price: up 86 per cent
wholesale price: up 105 per cent
incomes: up 104 per cent

As a whole, incomes not only have kept up with prices, but they are a little ahead of them. Remembering that the cost of living has taken a 73 per cent rise, take a look at the rises among the various groups:

farmers: up 202 per cent miners: up 190 per cent
construction workers: up 190 per cent manufacturing: up 145 per cent
repair services: up 126 per cent
retail trade: up 120 per cent
wholesale trade: up 112 per cent

Farmers and organized labor have managed to keep well ahead of the cost of living. Teachers, government workers and others in the white-collar group have fallen behind.

Of course an item for plenty of consideration is taxes. They have risen constantly since 1941, and some groups have been harder hit than others. Workers with lowest incomes have had the biggest increases, percentage-wise.

White-collar workers have been hardest hit by inflation and low-income groups have been hurt most by heavier taxes, so if you are a low-income white collar worker, such as a young teacher, brother, you've had it.

One good sign to prove the fact that we are better off can be seen on any street intersection in Greenville. Everybody has a car these days, which is a great thing.

Consider yourself convinced that you're better off. It's so much healthier to think that you are, anyway.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Raleigh, N. C. By LYN NISBET

NON-POLITICAL — Despite the presence of the President of the United States, the governor of North Carolina, seven or eight congressmen, at least two subordinate cabinet officials and an unknown number of other federal, state and local officials, the ground-breaking occasion for Wake Forest's new campus at Winston-Salem was not a political occasion. It was primarily a Winston-Salem affair, with Wake Forest sharing the limelight and members of Baptist congregations from all over the state providing major part of the audience. Fact is that most of the recognized political leaders in North Carolina were conspicuous by reason of absence. Miss Beatrice Cobb, who trebles in brass a publisher of county, as long time secretary and sweetheart of the N. C. Press Association, and as Democratic national committeewoman for North Carolina, proudly displayed a press ribbon and stayed with the newspaper folks. She probably struck the keynote of the occasion when she answered inquiries about why the member of the national committee was not in the official party by saying she understood they were not mixing religion and politics.

PRESS—The press, however, could not take a chance. There was a plane load of Washington newspaper and radio reporters and a special bus assigned for them. Three other large buses were filled with North Carolina newspaper folks. Sepcial direct wires to the White House offices were installed at the airport, at the Babcock home where the presidential party had lunch, and at the site of the speaking and groundbreaking exercises. These facilities were not needed, but With world conditions as they are, the chief executive of the leading nation in the world cannot take the chance of being out of reach for many minutes at a time. At that, the battery of typewriters and telegraph instruments at the new campus had something to do. The president digressed several times from the script of his speech.

APPLAUSE — There were no mechanical applause meters to register reaction of the audience, but several others concur in your reporter's appraisal that complimentary reference to Gordon Gray drew more spontaneous applause from the crowd than any other point in the president's speech, and that University President Gray got more enthusiastic reception than any of the others presented for short talks. Much of that applause was for the person and the message he brought; some of it was for his presentation as spokesman for the family and son of the man for whom the medical college (Bowman Gray) of Wake Forest College was named. The assembled Baptists, who have championed separation of church and state, sometimes to their financial detriment, liked the part of Gray's speech when he said that he brought greetings to the "newest college campus in America from the oldest state university in the United States." They also like his prediction that the enlarged school to be built here will help to preserve those Christian principles for which Wake Forest and America has always stood.

SIGNIFICANT — President Truman and others on the program pointed to significance of these principles when they noted that while this is the beginning of a greater Baptist school, its expansion was made possible largely by benefactions of non-Baptist philanthropists—the Gray and Reynolds families. The president paid tribute to the recognition accorded the state university in academic circles throughout the country, and emphasized the fact that within one generation the substantial endowment of two great universities—Duke and Wake Forest I in North Carolina by persons of great wealth offered further guarantee of freedom through education. It is well known that many Baptists in North Carolina do not approve the removal of Wake Forest College from Wake to Forsyth county, but virtually unanimous opinion of those attending the ceremonies Monday was that it was "a great day for the college, for the Baptist denomination and for the state of North Crolina.

PERSONAL — Whether it is a political or a religious or an educational meeting pesonalities have more popular interest than ideas. It is virtually impossible to separate the man and the office he holds. At Winston-Salem Monday it was Harry Truman, the Baptist layman, rather than the president of the United States. It was Kerr Scott, a Presbyterian, rather than the governor of North Carolina. It was Gordon Gray, citizen of Winston-Salem, rather than president of the State University and former secretary of the army. It was Hubert Oliver, chairman of the Wake Forest board of trustees, rather than prospective candidate for governor. The other members of congress were not jealous of Thurmond Chatham being the only one of their body to ride in the presidential plane, because Chatham was coming home. He was personal rather than political host to the distinguished visitors.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

TAFT-HARTLEY ACT HAS PROVED ITS WORTH

From The Paris (Texas) News

After having invoked the emergency provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act nine times, to prevent national industrial disaster, it would seem that President Truman would recognize a good law when he sees one, and would want to keep it.

Last week, after the copper strike was eleven days old, the President used the Act's emergency provisions to keep 58,000 members of the union of mine, mill and smelter workers in twenty-five States from disrupting the defense effort.

The copper strike, which Defense Mobilizer C. E. Wilson said would cause "irreparable damage" and "drastically curtail production of tanks, guns and planes," resulted from the unions's demand for a general wage raise of 20 cents and hour, and pensions and other benefits costing an additional 10 cents an hour.

The company's offer of 11½ cents an hour wage raise and a pension plan costing 4½ cents more did not satisfy the union.

Finally President Truman acted. Ever since the Taft-Hartly Act was passed over his veto in 1947 the President has let no opportunity pass to assail it.

When it became law he said the Act would be "ineffective, provide for clumsy and cumbersome government intervention, authorize unfair injunctions and probably culminate in a public confession of its failure." He added, "I cannot conceive that this procedure would aid in settlement of disputes."

The veto message that carried these arguments was followed by cries against the law, including the charge that it was a "slave labor law." The administration continues to demand repeal of the law, and thinking people wonder how the President would have

WASHINGTON — Looking behalted strikes that slowed or stopped defense work if that law had not been in force. It is not likely to be repealed.

Business Today

Clothing is getting cheaper. Price cuts of $5 on women's worsted suits for Spring selling recently have been announced by one of the country's largest garment manufacturers Henry Rosenfeld of New York. This first big break on women's woolen apparel follows substantial markdowns by several large men's clothing chains, and previous reductions on many rayon and cotton garments for men, women and children, as well as on cotton piece goods. The cottons have come down more sharply than rayons, since they had risen more abruptly in the late, lamented buying stampede of late year.

The markdown actually returns tags on women's suits to the pre-Korean level, the manufacturer assents, explaining the reductions were made possible by sizable purchases of wool fabrics when the Australian raw-wool market was at a low point. After that the raw wool market bounced up again, but most recently has fluctuated back down.

Work clothing is another important line that has been put through the markdown machines recently. And price-cutting of shoes instituted by several large chains early in the Fall has since been followed by most large brands. One of the largest moderate-priced chains has trimmed its tags twice since August; first from $8.95 to $8.70, and most recently, to $7.95.

Besides the reductions by manufacturers, retailers in many cases have shortened their margins in an effort to stimulate business and pare inventories, so there are some noticeable clothing bargains in the stores. A number of shops, for example, offer women's gabardine suits for a good 25 per cent less than a year ago.

The fact is, clothing is plentiful, and there was no sound reason for the price hikes of last year except the general inflationary psychology of the period. Because steel and beef are scarce doesn't always mean people will necessarily turn to clothing expenditures. They may even spend less for wearables.

The "picture in a minute" technique sparked by the Polaroid Land camera that develops its own print a minute after the picture is snapped, is becoming increasingly popular, not only with camera fans, but businessmen. Among people using such cameras are real estate agents who want to take photos of homes for sale for quick showing to clients, bankers who want to clear mortgage appraisals rapidly, commercial artists and illustrators for eliminating hours of sketching before tackling the comprehensive work, and war plants who need photos of personnel for identification badges.

Moreover, a whole group of new accessories for sale along with such cameras is developing. Matching flash guns are being offered, one the popular capacitor type which is good for a thousand shots or more; also, closeup lenses, special filter kits and carrying cases, and a copy-maker incorporated in the camera which turns out dry, finished copies of documents, drawings, etc., a minute after the shutter is snapped.

Insurance agents are often bedevilled during a period of rising prices by the agrument that insurance is not a good asset to hold during periods of inflation. Professor R. I. Mehr, of the University of Illinois, points out that insurance doesn't propose to be a hedge against inflation, but against premature death. In fact, says the professor, inflation may mean a client should increase at least the term-insurance type of policy carried as pure family protection, because his family then requires more income to cope with rising prices.

Even if a businessman isn't in a postion to get all the new equipment he'd like to have, there's one type of improvement that costs little and adds to effiency, morals and job safety: good housekeeping. Most important points to check, experts advise, are illumination, safety and cleanliness of floors, stairways, exits, storage areas and toilet facilities; efficient arrangement and cleanliness of work areas: repair and cleanliness of machinery.

FUEL PUMP: A pump that fits at one end into the neck of a filler can, and at the other into the fuel tank of a power lawn mower, outboard motor or other gas engine, if offered to retail at $2 by Alva T. Smith Co., Milwaukee, Wisc.

SHELF: A convertible all-purpose shelf with cup or utensil hangers underneath is suggested as a $3.50 retailer by Meli-Hoffcago.

GOLF CLUB: A club with head adjustable to every position from driving to putting, with a retail tag of $22.50, is being marketed by International Golf Products, Chicago.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK —(AP)— People who live all alone on an island usually end up by talking to themselves.

This is particulary true of Manhattan Island, one of the most crowded and lonely islands in the world. More people talk to themselves here than anywhere.

The human trait of self-address is a fascinating thing. It has always interested me. Everytime I see people talking to themselves, I mutter under my breath, "Why is he talking to himself?" and then my brain asks me, "Why are you? You're doing the same thing yourself right now, you dope."

It is often appealing to watch the very young and the very old talking out loud only for their own ears. They do it for different reasons, however. The old folks do it because they have passed beyong the foucs of the present; children do it because they haven't yet entered that focus.

What do they say to themselves? My observation has been that most oldtimers are quarreling with themselves in their monologues. I used to know a nice old lady back in Missouri who would march about her small chores saying crossly, "Now you know better than that. Why did you have to go and do a silly thing like that?" I never could find out what she thought she had done wrong. But she sure did give herself hell all day long.

With children the whole thing is a game, a feat of the imagination to create an ideal world more understandable than the dismal grownup world that surrounds them. But when they talk to a doorknob and call it by a nickname, the doorknob is a very real person to them. Did you ever watch a small girl walk along and pet a row of flowers individually? They no longer are just flowers to her: they are pretty playmates. And she isn't just talking to herself. She hears what the flower-folk say back to her.

What startles me about New York, however, is the number of middleaged people who talk to themselves. You see their lips moving on the subways, on buses, in the streets. What are they saying? Sometimes they are belated rehearsing withering remarks they should have made to the taxidriver who almost ran them down on the way to work. Or they are talking back to their wives—safely. Or else they are talking out their worries to themselves, usually money worries.

The most boring type, however, is found at cocktail parties. These people talk out loud to themselves because of a secret conviction that is the only way to be sure of an intelligent audience. If you reply, they don't even hear you. Your role is to bounce back the echoes from their vocal chords into their own smug ears. The most frightening self-conversationalists are those who are mentally disturbed — drunken bums, senile refugees from reality, younger people whose minds have erupted in chaos.

You see them walking alone in the crowds here, gibbering and gesturing to themselves. And no one bothers them here in the big city where nobody wants to get too involved in anybody else. Even the police pay no attention to them unless they become violent. What does happen to them.

I remember once seeing a trouble-haunted man mumbling to himself as he pushed through a throng near Rockefeller Center. Suddenly he wheeled, lifted his arms as if to sweep everycne in sight into the gutter and gutter and shouted:

"Get ready, sheep, get ready. You won't be here long."

Everyone who heard him turned eyes to the ground and walked on faster, feeling perhaps that the man who talked to himself had said something true of them

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Looking beyond the trees in their backyards to the forests, women the nation over are participating in conservation programs to insure wise use of our national resources.

Organized to do civilian defense and welfare jobs during World War II, many women's groups were eager to continue working on government projects that would really be a lift and a help.

"That's when they got interested in conservation, and that's where I came in," Mrs. Margate Kienast of the U. S. Forest Service told me. Before she went to U. S. F. S. to help women's organizations like the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the D. A. R., the National Council of State Garden Clubs and even the Business and Professional Women's Clubs, she had worked for the Office of War Information.

It was the right time to set up conservation programs, and many clubs now have local state and national conservation chairmen, she said. They go much further than the lecture and film stage; they actually participate in conservation work.

They sponsor planting programs; oppose or support legislation on conservation issues, both on the state and national level; provide scholarships for teachers at summer conservation camps; promote radio programs on local conservation problems, and sponsor camping activities for local children, among other things.

"In fact, there are about 75 different things clubs are doing for conservation—ranging from keeping an eye on a watershed to getting riled because somebody wants to cut a grove of trees to make whiskey barrels," Mrs. Kienast said. "The conservation idea will provoke the interest of any intelligent woman, because somewhere it will touch her."

Mrs. Kienast says her job is NOT one of telling women what to do. She helps with program planning, works on publications for women's groups, advises persons in the Forest Service's 10 regional offices assigned to work with women's groups and gets about the country speech-making.

Junior Red Cross Begins Enrollment In Schools

Enrollment for Junior Red Cross in the Pitt County Schools has begun with Mrs. J. H. B. Moore acting as chairman of the Junior Red Cross again this year.

Mrs. Moore has visited every white and colored school in the county giving out supplies and beginning the organization of chapters in the schools. The American Junior Red Cross is a junior membership of the American Red Cross represented in elementary and secondary private, public, and parochial schools.

Mrs. Moore said participation in the gift box program was one of the most active parts of the Junior Red Cross program. During the past years, students in the county and city schools have sent gift boxes all over the world. Service activities are classified into local, national, and international.

Each elementary classroom enrolled in the Junior Red Cross receives a copy of the American Junior Red Cross News monthly and a first aid kit. Each group in a secondary school receives a copy of the Junior Red Cross Journal once a month and a first aid kit.

The following teachers are sponsors for Junior Red Cross chapters in their schools: Betty Hansinger, Greenville High School; Lillian Sugg, West Greenville School; Mrs. Vance Perkins, Third Street School; Louise Golphin, Training School; and Sister Crescentia, Saint Raphaels.

Mrs. Betty Neal Credle, Belvoir high; Mrs. Billie W. Perry, Bethel, Irene Worthington, Falkland; Mrs. Katherine Adams, Bethel elementary; Mrs. Maude B. Harris, Stokes; Mrs. Minnie J. Stancill, Pactolus; Mrs. Francis W. Madry, Grimesland; Mrs. Rosa Duboise, Chicod; Hazel Patrick, Grifton; Mrs. Nora Lee Craft, Ayden; Mrs. Willie C. Mallison, Winterville; Mrs. Virginia R. Strickland, Arthur; Antoinette C. Darden, Farmville; and Mrs. Emily S. Mercer, Fountain.

Colored Schools: Eddie L. Smith, Bruce; Clarence L. Bemby, Falkland; Isaac A. Artis, Rock Spring; Selena Lang, Shivers; Elmond A. Elliott, Bethel; Mattie K. Strong Sallie Branch; Epa P. Jones, Highsmith; Matthew Lewis, Post Oak; Charles C. McGlone, Harris; Rosalie R. Andrews, Clemmons; and Alfonzo Winslow, Pactolus.

Stephen A. Bowe, Cherry Lane; Lillie D. Alexander, St. Peters; Melville Q. Wyche, Pitt County Training; Lafayette Williams, Simpson; Herman R. Reaves, Grifton; John W. Ormond, Ayden; Mazelle T. Burney, Harpe's; J. W. Mays, Winterville; Charles M. Anderson, Haddock; Samuel E. Hemby, Warren's Chapel; Gaston Monk, Nichols; Herman B. Sugg, Farmville; Charles M. Sugg, Fountain; and William F. King, Shiloh.

Phillips To Talk To Pitt Teachers

Dr. Orval L. Phillips, registrar at East Carolina College, has been invited to talk on the teaching of mathematics before elementary and high school teachers and principals in three Pitt County schools. He spoke recently at Pactolus and Grifton and will speak in Fountain Thursday, October 25.

Dr. Phillips' talks stress objectives in the teaching of arithmetic and methods of presenting the subject effectively. Arithmetic, he says, should be taught so as to enable a child to work on his own level of ability and intelligence. In discussing, the teaching of manipulative processes, he points out that there must be complete understanding of what they are and of how and why they are done. Illustrations clarifying points made by Dr. Phillips in his talks are based on "meaningful division."

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS WASTE

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness may be due to slowdown of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

ECC Republicans Begin Activities

Members of the Young Republicans Club of East Carolina College have begun work for the school year under the leadership of their president, Rudolph Alexander, junior from Goldsboro. The group has scheduled its next meeting for Wednesday, October 31.

Students who spoke on a recent program opening club activities for the 1951-1952 term were Joe W. Stroud of Jonesville, vice president, and Bob H. Hughes of Elkin. Stroud discussed current events with emphasis on Republican activitieis, and Hughes gave a report on the Young Republican Convention in Boston during the past summer.

The YRC was organized at the college last April by a group of students assisted by Dr. George Pasti of the social studies department. Program meetings during the spring quarter of 1951 brought to the campus as speakers Gerald R. Chandler of Wake Forest College, chairman of the N.C. College Council of Young Republican Clubs, and John A. Wilkinson of Washington, N.C., attorney and a leader among Republicans of this section of the state.

Martin Officers Still Hunting Unknown Thieves

Williamston — Martin County Sheriff M. W. Hollowman said yesterday that no progress has been made on finding out who the intruders were that broke into C. F. Harris' Store Sunday morning.

He said he and two SBI agents, Gibbs and Tappings, were still working on the case and that he was sure the robbery was done by more than one person.

Intruders broke into the back window of Harris' Store just outside of Williamston on Highway 17 sometime between 12 and 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Merchandise valued at several hundred dollars comprised the loot taken by the unknown thieves.

Ask Church To Muffle Screams

RALEIGH —(AP)— The city council here has called on the pastor of a Raleigh church to ask his congregation to hold quieter services or face possible legal action.

Persons residing near Emanuel Pentecostal Holiness Church told the council yesterday that the congregation's "screaming" is "nerve wracking." W. I. Wellons added.

23 Persons Die As Airliner Hits Mountain's Side

MANAIMO, B. C., —(AP)— A Queen Charlotte Airlines plane, laboring futilely at full throttle to gain altitude, crashed into the side of a mountain 10 miles from here last night, carrying 23 persons to their death.

The victims were 30 miles from their destination at Vancouver, B. C., nearing the end of a southbound 400 mile flight from Kemano, when the twin-engined craft hit the rocky side of 5,000 foot Mount Benson. All those aboard except the three crew members were believed to be loggers and construction workers.

The accident was witnessed by Keith Price, operator of a power station near this city, which is 150 miles northwest of Seattle.

Price said it was about 6:50 p.m. PST, (9:30 p.m. EST) when the plane circled his station at an altitude of about 50 feet, veered west and narrowly missed 130,000 volt power lines. Then, he related, the plane roared at full throttle toward the mountain in an apparent attempt to gain altitude, crashing into the rocks at the 2,000-foot level.

A sheet of flame leaped up and a loud explosion was heard. That was all.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrived at the scene several hours later and found six charred bodies strewn along the mountainside.

Kemano, where the flight originated, is the site of the aluminum company of Canada Development in north ern British Columbia. Nanaimo is 30 miles west of Vancouver, across Georgia Strait, and the plane apparently was off course on its regularly scheduled run.

Cables laid near shore need to be thicker than those in deep water because of danger from chafing or ships' anchors.

Proclamation

WHEREAS, October 24 has been designated and set aside by the General Assembly of the United Nations as the day to be observed throughout the world as the Sixth Anniversary of the coming into force of the United Nations Charter, and

WHEREAS, it is more than a wish, more than a pretty ideal of well meaning philosophers, THE UNITED NATIONS IS A GOING CONCERN, and

WHEREAS, they have intervened in disputes in Palestine, Kashmir, Indonesia, Iran, Syria, Lebanon, Berlin, Greece and Korea, and

WHEREAS, our forces are fighting and dying at this time in order to uphold the United Nations and its ideas to obtain permanent peace, and

WHEREAS, it is of greatest importance that citizens in every community in this country give expression to and support of the United Nations, and

WHEREAS, the United Nations is the world organization which can be used to maintain peace and good will to all.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Lester D. Page, Mayor of the City of Greenville, North Carolina do solemnly declare October 24 a day of special commemoration as United Nations Day, and further I invite all the citizens of Greenville and Pitt County to attend the county wide ceremony to be held in Jarvis Memorial Church at 7:30 p.m. on United Nations Day as a demonstration to the world that the citizens of Greenville and Pitt County are united in support of this great day and ready to work together to learn how to use its powers to achieve and keep world peace.

IN WITNESS THEREOF, I have, hereunto, set my hand and seal this the 15th day of October, 1951.

Lester D. Page, Mayor

Indian Students Helped By U. S.

NEW DELHI —(AP)— The U. S. Educational Foundation during its first year in India disbursed nearly $63,000 for Indians going to America, education minister Maulana Abul Azad said here.

Replying to questions in parliament, he added that during the same period the foundation, which began functioning in 1950, sent 72 Indian students and seven professors and research scholars to the United States.

To Play Here

Tex Beneke and his well known band will play for a warehouse dance in Greenville on Thursday night, November 15th. The dance will be held in the New Carolina Warehouse on Dickinson Avenue. Beneke, no stranger in Greenville having played here several years ago bfore a large crowd, will bring future singers Shirley Wilson and Bill Raymond along with the band. The dance is being sponsored by the Greenville Lions Club. Sale of advance tickets will start soon.

No Market For Paintings That Are Over-Sized

BOSTON —(AP)— Harvey F. Additon, one of Boston's oldest art dealers, says there's no room in today's smaller homes for anything larger than a 16 by 20 canvas —and in many cases, not even that big.

Addition's shop on La Grange St. here is cluttered with paintings of all sizes including several that are big enough to cover an entire wall of a modern type home, but they are a drug on the market, he says.

"Nobody wants them any more," sighs the 80 year-old dealer. "The bigger they are, the more difficult it is to dispose of them. We have to sell paintings ranging in sizes up to 11 by nine feet for as little as $10 in some instances."

Claims Congress Backed Gouge In Price Curbs

MIAMI —(AP)— President William Green of the American Federation of Labor charged today that congress has sanctioned "ruthless profiteering and price-gouging" in the present price control laws.

He told the final session of the American Legion national convention the twin evils of inflation and housing crisis are threatening to undermine the morale of American defense workers.

Green lav his views in a speech prepared for delivery in the closing hours of the convention which yesterday heard Gen. Douglas MacArthur deliver a bitter attack against the Truman Administration's military, domestic and foreign policies.

The delegates appeared ready to elect Don R. Wilson of Clarksburg, W. Va., as their new national commander to succeed Erle Cocke, Jr., of Georgia. Mrs. E. A. Campbell of Homer, La., will be the new president of the American Legion Auxiliary. She had no opposition.

Green said the American workers are supporting the mobilization effort. But he added:

"If this popular spirit and morale is to be maintained, none must be permitted to exploit the pressures of emergency for their own selfish purposes xxx or to profit from the sacrifices of their neighbors.

Yesterday, the Legionnaries cheered MacArthur's criticism of administration policies and his call for stronger military action to bring about a decision in the Korean War.

The General charged the administration with plunging the nation toward socialism and bankruptcy at home while squandering money and manpower overseas.

Married Couples Switch Spouses

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. —(AP)— Two married couples who switched mates and rearranged their six children in a marital turnabout which was fully legalized, were happily honeymooning in adjoining homes today

The couples met two months ago and started double dating. They were neighbors on Smith's Island, in the Rock River near Rock Island.

Robert D. Irvin, 26 and his wife, Dorothy, 25 had been married eight years and had three children. John Shields, 31, and his wife, Alice June, 26, were married three years ago and had three children.

The women, who had filed suits for divorce charging cruelty, were granted decrees Monday night in nearby Moline, Shields married Mrs. Irvin and Irvin married Mrs. Shields.

The children, who range in age from 3 months to six years, are living with their mothers and new stepfathers.

Condemned Man Wins New Trial

RALEIGH — (AP) — The State Supreme Court has granted a new trial to Ernest Ray Simmons, 17-year-old Craven County Negro under sentence to die for murder.

The court yesterday ruled that Superior Court Judge Leo Carr erred in his charge to the jury which tried Simmons. Judge Carr, the court explained, told the jury it could recommend life imprisonment instead of capital punishment if it wished.

This matter, the court's opinion stated, should have been left entirely to the discretion of the jury.

The court declared: "Any instruction, charge or suggestion as to the cause for which the jury could or ought to recommend (life imprisonment or death) is error sufficient to set aside a verdict made."

Simmons, a farm worker, was convicted last June of slaying Joseph McGhee, farmer and sawmill worker.

Green City Murder Case

By Wm. G. Bogart

Chapter 28

Irma had been brushing her hair, and now it fell in a soft, curving wave across her straight shoulders. Without makeup, she looked very young.

"No," he said. "Why?"

"Why—about Jeannette!"

Johnny said, "Then—you know?"

"That she was murdered last night?" Irma nodded. "Yes! The police were here at the club this morning, questioning everyone!" She leaned forward, touching Johnny's arm. Her hand was shaking. "Wasn't it horrible?"

Johnny aggreed that it certainly was horrible. "What did they ask you?" he demanded.

"I wasn't here. The police did not see me at all. But Steve came up to my place this afternoon. He told me about it!"

She shook her head. "No, but they're looking for you! They want to question you." Her eyes were wide.

Johnny stared. "My God, you don't think I killed Jeannette?"

Impulsively, the girl jumped up and gripped his arms with both hands. "Heavens, no! You're a private detective. Why would you want to murder poor Jeannette?"

He was quite amazed that she knew he was a detective.

"How did you know about me?" he prompted. "Did Steve—"

Irma shook her head. Her soft hair, spilling about her shoulders, gave her a very seducive appearance. "No," she told him. "I knew. Somebody told me who you were."

He decided that Irma was a very clever child. Last night he had imagined her a gigging moron. You never could tell about a woman.

Johnny said confidentially, "Irma, I have an idea you didn't tell us everything last night. Why not?"

Her answer was simple and direct. "Because I was afraid!"

"Afraid? Of what?"

"That man—the one I told you used to meet Jeannette outside night after night!"

"Yes?" He waited.

"I'm convinced he killed her!"

"Why, Irma?"

There was a thoughtfulness in her eyes now that made her seem years older. Staring past him, obviously recalling things that had been stored away in her mind, she went on, "Jeannette was a peculiar girl, but I guess I knew her better than anyone. So one night recently she was telling me about this man who used to meet her. She'd been out with him several times, and after he got to know her real well he made this deal with her."

Johnny was now all attention. Already he had a partial idea of what was coming.

"There's an auction room over in Cincinnati. There was a desk or something there that he wanted. Why, I don't know. And neither did he want to be seen buying it. He gave Jeannette some crazy reason for not wishing to go to the store, and so she was to get the desk for him."

Johnny nodded. "He gave her the money, told her to obtain the desk above everything else, and arranged to see her later."

"Yes, that's exactly it. She told me. But she also learned something else about him!"

"What?"

"She had an idea that he was trying to blackmail someone, and that there was something in the old desk that he wanted or needed. She said that two could play at that game, and that she was going to hold him up."

"Hold him up?" Asking the question, Johnny remembered Steve's remark about Jeannette being too "sharp" for him. It was much clearer now.

"Yes. She was a strange girl. All she wanted was money. Once, she told me that she had been raised in poverty. She said she had a horrible fear of growing old and being penniless. So she made up her mind to get her hands on all the money she possibly could."

Johnny said, "And so she was going to shake this fellow down?"

"Yes, she told me about it. She said she had an idea he, himself, was worth plenty. He was going to give her fifty dollars extra for buying this desk. He was to meet her at her apartment last night, after the desk had been delivered. In fact, she phoned me a little before six. She wanted to know if I thought a thousand dollars was too much to shake him down for—before she let him have the desk."

Johnny whistled. "She was a shrewd one!" He remembered Jeannette's phone call, offering to sell him the desk. She had even planned to collect a little extra from two sources.

He said to Irma, "And now we know why Jeannette was murdered. When she tried to put the bite on this man, he got worried—as well as furious. He figured that maybe, later, Jeannette would expose him. So he strangled her right there in her own apartment!"

The girl shuddered. "That's why I'm afraid. I don't even know the man, and yet he might have seen me with Jeannette some time and figure that I suspect something!"

How right she was, Johnny thought. He remembered Nancy's comment about Ralph Cronk's actions when he had seen Irma, here, passing through the dressing room hallway a little while ago. The guy did know Irma, and was worried. He might try anything.

No doubt about it now, Johnny decided—Cronk was the killer. Yet one thing was still needed in order to clear himself and definitely establish Ralph Cronk as Jeannette's slayer. The guy had to be placed within Jeannette's apartment some time between six and eight P.M. last night, in order positively to connect him with the crime. That was why Johnny had wanted to search Cronk's room this afternoon. There must be something of great value the fellow had removed from the old desk...

Perhaps if he could reach The Colony tonight, ahead of the others, he would have time to do it. At the same time, he was worried about this girl. She really was in danger.

For that matter, Nancy was too! Nancy might inadvertently say something...Hell, Johnny's mind drew up suddenly with a start. The guy did know! He probably had the slip of paper that had been removed from the telephone pad in Jeannette's apartment. So he knew Johnny—and also knew that Nancy was not his wife!

He asked one question. "Irma, do you know a man named Ralph Cronk?"

Ireland Prepares For Atom Bombs

DUBLIN —(UP)— A civil defense officer has been appointed for Dublin. His job is to protect roughly 600,000 people in the metropolitan area.

This move is one of the first concrete steps toward preparing Ireland for a possible third world war and follows Defense Minister Oscar Traynor's announcement that building up the defense forces is a major aim of the government.

The man in charge of the city civil defense is Michael J. Burke, who had the unpleasant task of examinining the ruins of 600 homes leveled during the 1941 accidental bombing by Nazi planes of an area on the north side of the city.

The Nazi bombers apparently thought they were over Britain and dumped their cargo in the wrong country. Burke was given the job of finding new homes for the bombed-out Dubliners.

Ireland, like Switzerland and Spain, was neutral throughout the war.

Burke is to take up a detailed course of study which will include:

1. Preparation of a civil defense plan for his entire area.
2. Recruiting and training necessary personnel.
3. Putting into effect any special plans proposed.

Musical Saws Of Today Not Up To Early Standards

MACKINAW, Ill. —(UP)— One of the foremost musical saw artists of central Illinois thinks the quality of present day saws is killing the art.

Roy Chapman said his 20-year-old rip saw has a range of an octave and a half. Saws made today have an octave range at best, Chapman said.

Chapman, a versatile musician, also plays a "horn fiddle" a fiddle with an amplifying horn; an amplified broom—an ordinary broom equipped with a fiddle spring and played with a bow; and an orthodox violin and banjo.

To make up for playing two orthodox instruments, Chapman manages a few variations with the violin. He can play it under his knees, sitting on top of his head or by stroking the violin over a stationary bow.

Hard To Keep Two Prisoners

CHELSEA, Vt. —(UP)— Law enforcement officials had a tough time trying to keep Walter Habel, 30, and Dallas Melendy, 26, long enough to try them on larceny charges.

In July they were jailed here but broke out a window and escaped, remaining free for six weeks.

While awaiting grand jury action, they were freed from the same jail by another prisoner who escaped through an attic window.

LIZARDS COME FIRST

JOHANNESBURG —(AP)— Mrs. Marion Beatrice Kellett, who died recently, left the interest on $3,920 for the care of seven lizards. As each lizard dies, the capital will be reduced by $560 which will be paid to her husband.

SERVICE ON DEMAND

NEW YORK —(AP)— Lacking a prescription for morphine tablets, a drugstore patron here used a revolver instead. At gunpoint, he forced the proprietor, Jacob Blatt, to give him a whole bottle full of the pills.

Truman's Campaign Car Being Put Into Shape At Repair Shop

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)President Truman's whistle-stop campaign private car has been sent for overhaul and it looks like a swing und the country is in the works.

The car was slipped quietly into the Lexington, Ky., Signal Corps depot a few days ago. It was ticketed for overhaul of the loud speaker system which the signal men installed for Mr. Truman in the spring of 1948.

That 1948 job was known as Operation Hush-Hush around Lexington. Depot officers were forbidden to discuss it with outsiders and were warned especially, against letting newspapers know the work was being done.

The work was the tip-off on Mr. Truman's pre-convention campaign in 1948.

The overhaul now underway suggests that the president plans to go to the country again after Congress adjourns. The end may come this week.

The President had on-again-off-again plans for months for such a rail journey. Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle, Jr., persuaded the President to hold off. Now Boyle is out of office, subject to the formality of national committee acceptance of his resignation, opposition to a whistle-stop journey may have disappeared.

Furthermore, Mr. Truman very likely feels that he has some explaining to do to the country. He will be eager to explain away the circumstances which required Boyle's resignation after a Senate committee had investigated charges that the party chairman practised influence before government agencies.

The president is said to be aware finally that big and little scandals in his administration have built up campaign issues which could be deadly for the Democratic Party next year.

There have been scandals in the White House and in the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Boyle, specifically, was accused of bringing pressure on the Reconstruction Finance Corp. Senate Republican investigators claim this is only the beginning, that other big shot administration figures had their fingers in the pie.

Mr. Truman's defensive method is to attack. He cannot attack the 82nd Congress as such now because it has Democratic majorities. But he can swing at the combination of conservative Republicans and Democrats which controls Congress.

Mr. Truman is not much on the radio. But he can give-'em-hell when he talks off the cuff, face to face with the customers gathered around the end of his train.

Dobbin Fading In South Dakota

PIERRE, S. D. (UP)— Farm mechanization threatens the existence of old dobbin.

The 1951 state assessment figures show South Dakota farmers now have more tractors and combines than horse.s.

There are about 98,600 horses in the state, a decrease, of 21,000 in a year.

There are 85,800 tractors, an increase of 3,000 in a year, and 20,800 combines, an increase of 2,000.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Episcopal Church held its October meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Earl Cleve with Mrs. Abie Cleve, co-hostess.

The president, Mrs. W. E. Cleve, was in charge of the meeting with routine business being transacted. A letter from the Thompson Orphanage was read urging all members to save coupons for the guests at the orphanage. A report on the cook book sale was given by the president, who reminded the members a few books remained to be sold. The United Thanks offering was collected and the Auxiliary voted to sponsor a supper in conjunction with a bazaar during November.

During the social and fellowship hour the hostesses served delicious fruit cake and coffee. The Cleve home was lovely with arrangements of late summer flowers.

The modrn Olympic Games were first held in Athens, Greece in 1896. They are generally thought to have stemmed from Greek athletic gams held during annual festivals around 700 years before Christ.

Separate Story For Fall Swank

MORNING, AFTERNOON OR NIGHT . . . The girl with an ample supply of separates will be well-dressed wherever she goes. Pictured are three examples of the new importance of shirts and skirts, designed by Clifford of del Mar (l. to r.): Bright red jersey fitted top trimmed in gray to match the skirt and flaring tunic, which is embroidered in bright yarn; the casual look in a purple jersey blouse and gold velvet skirt; after-five outfit consisting of beige nylon knit blouse with detachable gold kid collar and belt, worn with a flared skirt of brown bengaline, with dashing and enormous pockets for drama's sake.

Aussie Opposes American Loan

SYDNEY —(AP) Premier John McDonald, of Victoria Province, Australia, advocates that some of the $1,568,000,000 of Australian money in London be spent before money is borrowed from the U. S.

Some officials here have suggested that an Americen loan might be sought to help pay for the country's development program and to combat inflation.

McDonald, however, is strongly of the opinion that Australian credits in London could be used to help development work in Australia. If necessary, he says, dollars now used for luxury purchases should be diverted to more useful projects.

Shaw Woos 7th Wife With Titles

LONDON (UP)— Band leader Artie Shaw was riffling through some song titles for a recording session when his eyes met those of lovely Doris Dowling, film actress and his 7th wife-to-be.

"Longing for you", Artie read with a wink.

He held up another song "Too Young." He put it aside. He's 41, and has been married six times. Doris is over 25.

"Because of you," Artie sighed. "Now, let's tell someone."

So the phone rang for Robert Musel, United Press reporter here.

"I want you to be the first to know," Artie said. "Doris and I are engaged and she's wonderful."

His bride-to-be is a dark, slender, attractive actress who graduated from being a New York night club hoofer the hard way. She went to Italy, studied the language and learned it well enough to play a role in the prize winning "Bitter Rice."

Ball Game Only For Bookmakers

NEW YORK —(AP)— A strange ball game attracted the attention of a Brooklyn patrolman. He saw one man tossing a rubber ball up to a second story window where a second man caught it in a net.

Watching revealed that the man on the sidewalk took several bets from passersby, stuffed the slips into a slit in the rubber ball and tossed it to the man with the net.

Both were arrested as bookmakers. Magistrate John F. X. Masterson observed: "This seems to disprove the district attorney's theory that bookies play ball with the cops. They play ball among themselves.

In China the peach tree is thought of variously as the tree of life and the tree of death. It is also associated with love and with longevity.

Revenue Agents Called To Explain Reluctance

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Four New York Internal Revenue agents were called before a congressional committee today to explain why they refused to answer questions about their income.

The Internal Revenue Bureau said at least three other agents sought to resign rather than respond to a committee questionnaire, now being circulated by the Treasury among some 27,000 bureau employes dealing with the public.

Chairman King (D-NY), of the House Ways and Means Subcommittee, said some of the first tax agents selected for quesioning have refused to supply information about their finances on "advice of counsel" or on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Poker-playing skill, or "infallible" systems for playing the horses, were among sources given by other agents for outside income of $3,000 to $6,000 a year, the committee stated.

Repercussions spread, meanwhile, from committee revelations of alleged tax shakedowns, irregularities and allegations of corruption in the nation's tax collection service.

Developments included:

The assertion by Senator Williams (R-Del) that the Internal Revenue Bureau had allowed a "notorious racketeer" to owe the government $2,230,000 in tax liabilities for more than three years without putting a lien on his property. Williams named the man as William Liss of Wheeling, W. Va., who he said had been referred to as a racket "dictator" in West Virginia and southern Ohio.

In a statement at Wheeling last night Liss said "A jury has tried me and found me innocent of any wrongdoings in connection with my income tax affairs." He added:

"Now that Senator Williams has seen fit however, to drag me and my affairs into the floor of the Senate, I fervently hope that the Senate will go fully into every particular of the case."

Surgeons Remove Unexploded Shells From Wounded GI

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (UP) Army surgeons have s..fely removed an unexploded shell embedded in a GI's shoulder while detonation experts stood guard.

The operation was described as the "most drama-packed moment" in the mobile surgical unit's 13 months in Korea.

A 20-millimeter armor-piercing shell penetrated the left shoulder of Pvt. Arthur C. Barree of San Francisco. It was designed to explode on contact.

"Why it didn't explode inside him is one of those unanswerable miracles," a doctor said.

Barree was reported in good shape after the operation.

The islands of Aruba, Bonaire and Curacao total 354 square miles of land and are locate' about 50 miles off the coast of Venezuela.

The first crossing of the Atlantic tic by airplane was in May, 1919, when the American hydroplane NC-4 crossed from Trepassey, Newfoundland, to Lisbon, Portugal, in 26 hours and 47 minutes.

Bronze Star Presented To Pfc. Elks Of Bethel

Pfc. Guy C. Elks, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Guy Elks of Bethel, recently was awarded the bronze star medal at the Engineer Center and Fort Belvoir, Va. for heroism in Korea during the United Nations winter offensive last year.

Pfc. Elks received the Army decoration from Major General Stanley L. Scott, commanding general of Fort Belvoir.

Pfc. Elks, currently assigned as a driver for the E.R.T.C., was decorated for his bravery and skill in driving a two and one-half ton truck over narrow and treacherous roads close to the fighting front.

Pfc. Elks entered the service in October 1948. He was sent to Korea early in July 1950 with the Second Division to take part in the early phases of United Nations fighting. He served almost a year in Korea before being rotated to the States last summer.

Pfc. Elks worked for the Perkins Oil Co. in Greenville before entering service.

Farmville Plans Chest Campaign

FARMVILLE — Plans for Farmville's first community chest drive were discussed recently at a meeting held in the town hall and is scheduled to open in November.

After much discussion the members present decided that all organizations which depend on the chest for funds will submit an estimate of the amount that will be needed or want from public donations.

These requests will be screened and used as the basis for a budget, and with the budget as a guide the chest officials will be able to set a tentative goal for the city this year.

Last year citizens came together to form a community chest organization and in this manner ease the solication drives which have become numberous in the city. By this means only one giant drive will be staged and the merchants and business officials will not be worried with drives throughout the years.

The east bank of the Seine Paris is connected to the west bank by 33 bridges, according to the American Express Travel Service.

Farmers Urged To Get Scrap Metal To Dealers

A special drive for rounding up farm scrap iron and steel in the state for national defense has been set for the period October 15 to November 15 J. L. Wilson, chairman of the Pitt County Agricultural Mobilization Committee, has announced.

"The makings of tanks, ships, planes and guns to keep America strong ca. be found on nearly every North Carolina farm in the form of iron and steel scrap," Wilson said. He reminded that broken machine parts, outdated equipment and even baling wire are some of the farm items which can yield valuable scrap, an essentail ingredient in the manufacture which can yeild valuable scrap, an essential ingredient in the manufacture of steel.

Many farmers may not realize that new steel is made from approximately one-half scrap and one-half pig iron. Since scrap is already refined, it shortens the refining process and speeds the production of more steel with the nation's current production facilities. The steel industry even now is fighting an uphill battle to raise the steel production rate from last year's 96 million tons to 117 million tons in 1952. Such an aim cannot possibly be attained without a continued and even increased flow of scrap to the steel mills. Meanwhile, supplies of scrap at some mills are dangerously low. Numerous farm equipment manufacturers and dealers already have pledged their help in the current drive to seek out dormant scrap metal.

"Steel," Chairman Wilson said, "is the crux of our defense readiness, the basis of the nation's physical might. And America's enemies recognize no other language but military strength today."

Postal Workers' Wage Increase Near Passage

WASHINGTON (UP)— A wage increase for some 500,000 postal workers today was headed for Senate and House passage before Congress adjourns.

A conference committee has approved compromise legislation that would grant wage increase ranging from $400 to $800 annually.

The bill carries percentage increases ranging from 10 per cent to 20 per cent for postmasters in very small post offices. Postmasters, assistants, and other supervisory employes would receive basic raises of $400 plus extra increases of as much as $400.

WILDLIFE SANCTUARY

HELSINKI —(AP)— Finland is taking steps to preserve its big game. Peter Krott, an Austrian forester, is planning a national park at Padasjoki where elk and other animals will be protected.

Still Looking For Hefty Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (UP)— Democratic leaders said today they still expect Congress to approve a hefty tax increase in the next few days.

But the surprise defeat of a $5,732,000,000 compromise measure in the House yesterday may result in a revenue loss to the government of more than $100,000,000.

And plans for congressional adjournment this week end almost have gone out the window.

Until the House voted down the compromise bill, plans had been made to mak individual income and excise tax increases effective Nov. 1. This effective date will be impossible, at least for the excise increases, unless Congress moves quickly.

The bill must be passed by both houses and signed by President Truman before this weekend if excise tax increases on cigarets, liquor, beer, gasoline and other items are to go into effect Nov. 1. Tax experts said one month's delay on these increases would cost the government from $100,000,000 to $120,000,000 in additional revenue.

Speaker Sam Rayburn and his Democratic associates were surprised by the defeat handed them yesterday, but the consensus was that the setback was temporary.

Pearson Set For Big Damage Suit

WASHINGTON (UP)— Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts has ruled columnist Drew Pearson may proceed with his $5,100,000 damage suit against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, the Washington Times-Herald and seven others.

The Wisconsin Republican and Pearson are expected to resume pre-trial testimony in the case next week.

Glassblowers Inflate Income

KAUFBEUREN, Germany —(AP)— The famous Gablonz glassblowers, expelled from Zechoslovakia after the war, have become Bavaria's largest dollar earners.

Hundreds of them settled near here in 1945 despite local opposition because they were an economic liability and made the housing shortage worse.

Today the exports of the glassblowers is valued at $5 million annually. They are the fifth largest dollar-earning group in Wset Germany.

Migration Of Workers Noted

BUDAPEST, —(AP)— Migration of manpower and lack of "work discipline" is called "real shock" by Social Survey, monthly magazine of the Hungarian Communists.

The number who leave their jobs has been increasing despite severe reprisals. The magazine complains that the workers are only doing six and a half hours work daily instead of the required eight. Absenteeism caused the loss of 40,000 tons of coal in July.

The Sport Reflector

By JIMMY ELLIS

One football game that was, and no doubt still is, of interest to Greenville fans was completely missed by the Reflector sports staff—and that includes me. That game is the Kinston-Greenville junior varsity game that was played in Kinston Monday night.

The Kinston juniors won the ball game 18-0 and according to Yank Stallings of the Kinston Free Press, the little Phantoms never really had a chance in the ball game. Much of the credit for this, Yank says, is due to the Kinston line which played "exceptionally good."

Kinston's first score came on a drive on the first series of downs that Kinston ran. Amos Sexton's team had kicked off to Greenville and the little Phantoms failed to gain. Kinston started their drive on their own 49 yard line and in five plays had their first TD.

The second touchdown came in the second quarter after a 66 yard drive and the final six points came in the last period after a 65 yard march.

Greenville had defeated Kinston 7-0 earlier in the season.

I don't know how many people saw them, but there were some excellent newsreel shots of the World Series and the Giant-Dodgers playoff game at the Pitt Theater Wednesday night.

There was considerable yardage devoted to the playoff game with all the highlights shown and one game of the World Series had its high spots in the film. The movies were really good and it was not difficult at all to trace the course of the ball.

I don't know whether or not they will be in Greenville anymore, but they were really fine shots.

Don't be at all surprised if you go to the Guilford-East Carolina game Friday night and hear a big number of changes in the East Carolina line-up.

After dropping two 34-20 games to North State Conference opponents, Coach Bill Dole has made more than just a few changes in the offensive and defensive units of the Pirates. Details are elsewhere on the page today.

While we're on the subject of East Carolina, how about let's answering one question that has been making the rounds in Greenville Saturday night. That question is, "What happened Saturday night in Cullowhee?"

The pure and simple truth is this: Western Carolina just didn't know how to make any mistakes in the second half. They played good football, spotted the ECC weaknesses in a hurry and took advantage of them to the very fullest extent.

The Pirates didn't play bad football at all for the most part but they didn't have the ball to do much running in the second half. Western Carolina was really alert.

For instance, the Cats threw 13 passes in the first half. They completed just three of these for 50 yards but they also had five intercepted. Most coaches would be content to tell the quarterbacks to quit throwing after such an exhibition, but Tom Young didn't. He told Ralph Singleton to start chunking.

In the last two quarters, Singleton threw seven passes and completed all of them. This netted the Cat cause an even 100 yards . . . and the Pirates failed to intercept a single one of the pitches. On the other hand, Sandy Siler hit a streak of wildness in the final half and only got started when there were just a couple of minutes left to go in the game. Siler had a record of eight out of 20, I believe.

In a talk in Kinston Monday night, Ray Scarborough of the Boston Red Sox claimed that the reason baseball has hit such a sharp decline all over the country is because basketball has taken so much interest among the younger boys.

Scarborough said that where boys used to get together and play baseball, they now prefer basketball. By doing this, the Bosox pitcher said, they aren't learning baseball from the ground as "kids did when I (Scarborough) was growing up."

He concluded his remarks with a statement that "something must be done to correct this and it looks like it's up to us. We must create a revival of interest in baseball in North Carolina."

Scarborough may have something there. There was a time not too long ago when North Carolina had more than its share of men in the major leagues. That number has slowly dwindled until now there are only a few.

These few among them are: Clyde King of Goldsboro who pitched for the Dodgers; Billy Goodman of Concord who played everything for the Red Sox; Scarborough, also of the Red Sox; and Whitey Lockman of Charlotte, the Giants' fair-haired boy—all did well, but, as the saying goes, "it ain't like the old days."

North Carolina basketball has definitely come up in the past few years. But has it really done so at the expense of baseball? Perhaps the best thing that could be done would be get a few Sammy Ranzinos on the baseball fields for the colleges. Dick Groat played shortstop for Duke as well as winning his letter in basketball and I think he did more for Duke's drawing power than anything else.

There was always a pretty big crowd at Coombs Field last spring. And most of them were there to root for "Golden Boy" Groat. He didn't disappoint them.

FSU Cancels Game With Bradley U.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—Florida State University has cancelled a scheduled football game with Bradley University because the Peoria, Ill., team has several Negro players. The FSU athletic department said yesterday neither a game set for Nov. 24 nor a return game next year will be played.

Greenville Jayvees Defeated By New Bern Cubs Yesterday

Fullback Billy Boyd scored two touchdowns here yesterday to lead his New Bern Junior Varsity eleven to a 21-7 victory over Coach Bo Farley's Greenville squad. He shared the Bear Cub spotlight with Quarterback Tommy Prescott, who scored once himself and kicked three extra points.

Boyd scored twice in the first quarter to virtually assure the win for the New Bernians. He went over the first time soon after the game started, going over his left tackle for 15 yards and the touchdown. He switched directions a few minutes later and went off his right tackle for a TD, carrying the ball nearly 20 yards for pay-dirt. Prescott kicked both extra points to give New Bern a 14-0 lead, which stood until midway of the third period.

Greenville scored its lone marker on a 15-yard pass from Quarterback Gene Hudson to End Bobby Conway. Hudson converted to make the score 14-7. The touchdown climaxed a drive that started deep in Greenville territory, covering nearly 80 yards.

Greenville threatened again late in the same quarter when Halfback Bob Howell intercepted a New Bern pass deep in his own territory and ran it back out for 45 yards to enter into the visitors' grounds. Greenville lost the ball when it failed to make the necessary yardage for a first down.

Howell and Bill Arnold, line backer, teamed with Doug Morgan and Conway to lead the losers on defense. Tackle Joe Jenkins led the winners.

The loss gives the local team a 1-3 record for the season. They defeated Kinston in the season's opener, played in Greenville, 7-0; lost to Washington, 21-6; lost a return match to Kinston last Monday night, 18-0; and lost yesterday, 21-7, to New Bern.

Bob Mathias Is Grid Prospect

PALO ALTO, Calif—(AP)—In the eyes of the rest of the world he is one of the great all around track and field athletes of history but to his boyish-appearing Stanford football coach, Bob Mathias is simply a corking gridiron prospect.

Chuck Taylor, at 31, is the youngest mentor in the Pacific Coast Conference. Mathias, at 20, is the Olympic and U. S. Decathalon champion and his country's best bet to repeat at Helsinki, Finland, next year.

Big Bob is playing college football for the first time, although he is a junior at Stanford. The sport isn't new to him, however. He was a backfield star in high school at Tulare where he is the pride and joy of that bustling interior California city.

Mathias, meanwhile, has shown promise as a future great at the fullback position. He had a hand and 200 pounds of running ability in the 21-7 victory over favored UCLA last week. Bob scored two of the touchdowns and helped set up another one with a 27-yard run.

Mathias, a modest youth, stands 6 feet 3 inches. He picks up speed quickly and proved he likes the rough going with his plunges through the line.

With continuing improvement, future Stanfords may come to refer to him as a gridiron great as well as a track and field champion.

Terps Have Jinx Plus Tar Heels To Beat For Win

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (UP)—Mighty Maryland will be battling both North Carolina and a 25-year-old jinx Saturday when the Terps and Tar Heels collide here before an expected crowd of 45,000.

Maryland hasn't beaten North Carolina since 1926, but this looks like the year. Coach Jim Tatum's undefeated 1952 squad — which he calls "the best team I've ever coached" — apparently has only over-confidence to fear Saturday.

"Sunny Jim," who would predict the worst if his boys were playing Vassar, is making with the crying towel over the so-so Tar Heels. Despite North Carolina's 2-2 record, Tatum has been driving his squad all week and terming each workout "lousy."

Tatum is reminding his understandably cocky players they were heavily-favored over Carl Snavely's team last year, only to wind up with a 7-7 tie. But not even Tatum can keep the Terps from fond rememberances of last Saturday night, when Maryland virtually demolished a good Georgia team.

Tatum conceded his squad will be in good shape Saturday, with the possible exception of guard Bob Ward. Maryland's outstanding candidate for All-America honors suffered a fractured finger last week and will be playing with a special cast on his hand.

The Terps have been working on pass defense all week, the only department in which the team has shown any weakness.

So far that weakness hasn't cost the Terps much, because they haven't even been close to defeat in the first three games. Georgia never had a chance, going down 43 to 7.

On the other hand, Georgia whipped North Carolina 28 to 7, in the Tar Heels' second game of the season. The Tar Heels' other loss was to Texas 45 to 20, and they defeated North Carolina State and South Carolina.

GOLF COACH TOO

DURHAM — Duke University football team's defensive line coach, E. P. "Dump" Hagler, is also the school's golf coach. His links outfit captured its 13th Southern Conference title in 16 years last Spring.

Maryland Favored By 14 Over Carolina Tar Heels

NEW YORK (UP)—A group of national oddsmakers installed California a 13-point choice today to further its hopes for a fourth-straight Pacific Coast Conference title by beating Southern California in Saturday's biggest college football game.

In the game to be televised on the Eastern network, Cornell was a 13-point favorite over Yale, while on the Western network, in a Big Ten battle, Ohio State was a 15-point pick over Indiana.

California is rated the nation's No. 1 team, but the oddsmakers foresaw the Southern Cal game as California's "stiffest test to date," because the Trojans have an array of backs as brilliant as the Bears. However, the nod went to the Bears because of superior "depth and experience" in the line.

In the big intersectional games, Illinois was favored by three points over Washington, Kentucky 13 over Villanova, Notre Dame 13 over Pittsburgh, Michigan State 14 over Penn state, Northwestern seven over Navy, Tulsa 10 over Marquette, and Boston College seven over Detroit.

In top conference games, Tennessee, ranked No. 2 nationally, was picked by 14 over Alabama in the Southeastern Conference, Pennsylvania by 13 over Columbia in the Ivy League, Wisconsin by seven over Purdue in the Big Ten, and Texas by seven over Arkansas in the Southwest Conference.

In other games:

EAST — Syracuse 6 over Dartmouth.

MIDWEST — Michigan and Iowa even; Oklahoma 13 over Kansas; Minnesota 13 over Nebraska; Iowa State 10 over Missouri; Colorado 15 over Kansas State.

SOUTH — Miami (Fla.) 13 over Washington and Lee (Friday night); Georgia Tech 19 over Auburn; Florida six over Vanderbilt; Georgia seven over Louisiana State; Maryland 14 over North Carolina; Tulane three over Mississippi.

SOUTHWEST — Baylor 14 over Texas Tech; Southern Methodist 13 over Rice; Texas A&M 13 over Texas Christian.

FAR WEST — UCLA 21 over Oregon; Oregon State seven over Washington State.

SOCCER CAPTAIN

DURHAM — Mal Linstrom, blonde offensive star from Qradell, N. J., captains the 1951 Duke soccer team. Jim Bly is coach of the booters.

Phantoms Play Yellow Jackets Friday In League Game

Kittrell Makes Big Changes In Lineups

Greenville's Phantoms, who had happily looked forward to an open date Friday night, are now faced with the idea of playing another strong Northeastern Conference opponent instead. Coach Bill Kittrell stated yesterday that the Phantoms will travel to Elizabeth City to play a game that was originally scheduled for November 9.

He said that the Elizabeth City officials called him Tuesday night and asked that the game be moved up to Friday because of a conflict in their schedule. The Greenville officials agreed, and placed game time at 8 p.m. in Elizabeth City.

Despite the fact that they now must play a game this week, the Phantoms are in good condition for the scrape. The team received a moral boost Tuesday afternoon with the return of quarterback Glenn Scott, who has missed the last two games with a bad knee that was at first thought to be serious enough to keep him out for the season. Scott received the go-ahead sign from his physician Tuesday and immediately reported for practice. Kittrell said yesterday that he did not know yet whether he would play Scott Friday night.

A big shift in playing positions took place early in the week, with Bob Tindal going to fullback and Bobby Conway taking over one of the halfback slots. Tindal, a tackle, has shown a lot of strength on defense this year and has looked exceptionally good running from his new position in practice this week. He has been replaced in the line by Tommy Smith, who was pulled up from the Jayvees Monday. C - way has been outstanding both as an offensive and defensive end all the year, with his best defensive game coming against Washington last week. This is his first opportunity to play in the backfield.

Kittrell remarked, "I've moved Bob (Tindal) to the fullback hole to add more power in the backfield, I'm expecting him to increase our offensive strength. Conway has shown in practice this week that he is capable of handling the halfback slot and will probably see a considerable amount of action from there Friday."

The Phants have been working all the week in an attempt to increase their offensive power, which has netted only 43 points all year. Defensive assignments have also come in for their share of attention, with emphasis placed in the backfield on the pass defense.

Tommy Evans, Wayne Smiley, and Bobby Langston are still out with illness and injuries. Evans, a first string guard, is recuperating from a mild recurrance of an old attack of virus pneumonia, while both Smiley and Langston are out with broken noses. Frank Brooks, who has dropped from the squad, and fullback Guy Smith have missed practice for two days this week.

Bulldogs Travel To Play Wilson

Eppes High's Bulldogs will travel to Wilson tomorrow night for a conference game with Wilson High School in Wilson Municipal Stadium at 8 p.m.

Wilson will take the field as a heavy favorite over Coach Percy Daniel's Bulldogs. The home club has won three of four games played this season, while Greenville has dropped the only two contests that they have participated in.

Daniels has been working his boys hard this week in an attempt to sharpen the team's ground attack. William Jones, tailback in the Eppes single wing, and Clarence Williams, 175-pound fullback, have been outstanding in the offensive sessions all week. Simon Hemby and Joseph Wingate, starting tackles, have earned Daniels' praise in practice with their aggressive play in two scrimmages that have been held this week.

Dole Switches Men For Guilford Game

Some wholesale line-up changes were announced yesterday by Coach Bill Dole at East Carolina College as he continued to work his charges for their Saturday game with Guilford College. The game will be played in College Stadium and will begin at 7:30.

Most of the changes will come on the defensive team. First of all, Bobby Hodges will be shifted from offensive left end to the same position on the defensive squad with Larry Rhodes taking his place on the offensive team. Rhodes is a freshman from High Point.

Bobby (Tubby) Thomas, the 240 pound freshman from Henderson, has been shifted from defensive guard to defensive left tackle, the team's sort spot all year long. Don MacKenzie, who has been playing offensive and defensive tackle, has been shifted to Thomas' old spot at guard and will be used almost exclusively on defense from here on out. MacKenzie formerly played defensive guard, but was shifted to tackle at the beginning of this year.

Taking MacKenzie's place at offensive left tackle will be Bob Bradley. Bradley is listed on the team roster as a center but he has been used in several spots on the defensive team this season and the tackle assignment will be no stranger to him.

In the defensive backfield, John Daughtry has been shifted to linebacker from defensive halfback and will be used there almost exclusively Saturday night. Daughtry will see most of his action on defense but he will probably be used some on offense since he and Paul Gay have been sharing the offensive fullback duties thus far this year.

Teaming with Daughtry at linebacker will be Claude King, another freshman who hails from Wilmington. King will also be used at left halfback on offense and will handle the kicking off and punting as he has done in the last couple of ball games.

At the defensive halfbacks, Dole has made Jack Benzie and Toppy Hayes the top men. Benzie also plays offense, at right half, while Hayes is strictly a defensive man. Hayes is the same boy who was used for the first time against Western Carolina and who played such a good ball game.

Boyd Webb, a freshman quarterback reserve from Gastonia, will take over the safety position. Webb was used at the spot against WCTC and turned in some good ball playing.

Jessie Aldridge, at guard; Al Auerback, at tackle; and Cecil Winslow, at end, will round out the defensive unit. Aldridge is returning to action after missing last week's game at Cullowhee with a shoulder injury suffered in the Elon game two weeks ago. Auerback only recently returned to the line-up after being injured, in a pre-season scrimmage while Winslow is the only one of the three that has managed to come through the first five games without getting hurt.

The offensive unit will be formed of Rhodes at left end, Bradley at left tackle, George Graybill at left guard, Frank Madigan at center, Doc Smith at right guard, Bill McDonald at right tackle, and Dwight Shoe at right end. Sandy Siler will be at the quarterback spot with Benzie and King at the halfback positions and Gay at fullback.

The Pirates continued to work yesterday on their defensive maneuvers with special attention again going to the pass defense.

There are still plenty of tickets available for Saturday's game according to the college athletic office and can be obtained either before Saturday or at the gate Saturday night.

Vanderbilt Coach Signs New Terms

NASHVILLE (UP)— Football Coach Bill Edwards will remain at Vanderbilt "on the basis of arrangements satisfactory to him and to the athletic committee," according to Chancellor Harvie Branscomb.

Under university policy, terms of Edwards' new contract will not be made public, but sports editor Raymond Johnson of the Nashville Tennessean speculated that it had been extended for "two or four years."

It had been reported Edwards would resign when his present contract expires on Jan. 31, 1952, unless Vanderbilt's athletic committee clarified his "future status."

Sports Minded Citizens Meet Tonight In Armory

Sports Associates, a club formed for the purpose of widening the sports interest in the local community, will hold its organizational meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the Armory on Evans Street. It will be held under the auspices of Recreation Director Warren Carroll and the city Recreation Department.

The club will be similar to the Touchdown Club that was active in local sports two years ago. Carroll stated yesterday that, "We of the recreation department hope to get some idea of the desires of the people of Greenville by forming this organization. It will not be limited to the extent of activities of the department, such as the Little League baseball and football teams, but will be used to bolster athletic interest in all field of sports carried on in the community."

"We have received excellent cooperation and approval from all of the people that we have contacted so far," Carroll went on to say. He said that invitations to attend the meeting have been sent to several business men in Greenville, but that anyone who is interested in sports of any kind is invited to come and take part in the organization of the meeting.

The group will act as an advisory board to Carroll on all sports that concern the department. "Their aid and support will enable the department to increase its programs in the city for both adults and children." Carroll asserted in announcing the sponsorship of the club.

Pictures of the 1951 East Carolina-Elon football game will be shown at the meeting. East Carolina Head Coach Bill Dole, whose home team Pirates lost the contest 34-20, will narrate the film and point out sidelights of the game as it is shown.

A film put out by the A. G. Spaulding Sports Goods Company, "Famous Fairways," will also be seen on the same program.

In parting, Carroll said, "We have done our best to obtain a very good program for the first meeting, so come out and enjoy it with us and take part in the organization."

State-W&M 'If' Clubs On Saturday

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina State's battle at Raleigh with the William and Mary Indians stacks up as the "iffiest" game of the coming weekend in the Southern Conference.

Marvin Bass, whose W & M team upset powerful Wake Forest last Saturday, says the Indians "can win —if our inexperienced boys come up with another fine performance."

Beattie Feathers, the N. C. State mentor whose Wolfpack has dropped four in a row, thinks the Pack "will do all right—if we can get Jim O'Rourke and Alex Webster back in shape by Saturday."

Bass isn't selling William and Mary short.

"But," he said today, "what can you expect of freshmen and sophomores? We may be in for a letdown. If we are, heaven help us. I still don't know what to expect but I know State is a lot better than its record."

Feathers, too, is afraid inexperience will cost the Wolfpack. If O'Rourke, his top fullback, and Webster, the fine tailback, are kept out of action by injuries, youngsters will have to step into their shoes.

The Wolfpack, with Elmer Costa and Bob Paroli the standouts, drilled on defense yesterday against William and Mary's split-T attack.

The Indians, meantime, went to work studying scouting reports on State. Mimeographed copies of the report went to each individual W & M player. Bass expressed a fear of Webster's all-around ability.

Elsewhere around the conference, North Carolina's Tar Heels worked on offense in preparation for the big Saturday clash with Maryland. Bud Carson turned in some fine running along with Jack Cooke and Bob Gantt.

Maryland labored until dark, setting up defenses against Carolina plays while the offensive team worked over attack patterns. Coach Jim Tatum dropped a broad hint the Terps may pass aplenty against the Tar Heels.

Japanese Changes His Mind About Americans

By HARMON W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)— Kenro Hamano, a meek little Japanese from Nagasaki, has changed his mind about Americans. We aren't all pistol-lugging gangsters.

He sure thought we were at first. Kenro is in this country to study at the Foreign Service EEducational Foundation under the program for trading students of friendly countries.

Having seen a few American movies in Japan, he came here with dark forebodings. He expected to find a gat-man behind every mail box and lamp post.

Speaking in halting, nervous but understandable English, he told me his story:

His boat landed and he got as far as Chicago, where he had to change trains for Raleigh, N. C. He started to board another train and suddenly discovered that his possessions, which added up to a large suitcase, were missing.

Those gangsters! He called the Chicago cops. They looked high and low. No luggage. So without so much as a toothbrush or haircomber, he boarded the next train for Raleigh. There he discovered that a countryman, thinking Kenro had missed the train, had loaded his stuff aboard the first train. Now he says:

"America, she is honest — not like they say in the picture."

Incidentally, while getting himself acquainted with our customs, Kenro saw a baseball game between Durham and Raleigh. He was amazed.

"The Babe, Ruth," he told me, "taught us baseball many year before. In Japan we fight to the last drop-out. Here when a team it gets 10 or so runs behind, it give up."

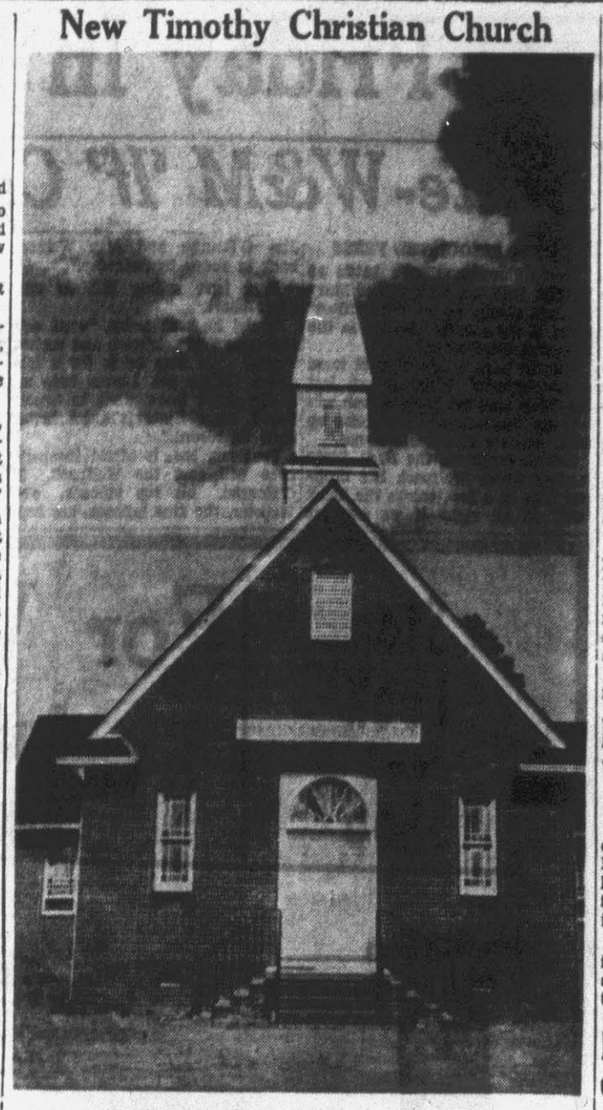
Kenro was not at Nagasaki when the atom bomb fell. He did a short hitch in the Japanese army a little later, though, and wound up a "2nd private," which is supposed to b something a little less than what we in this country call a "yardbird."

The earnest little Japanese is working hard to learn about the American way of life so that he can take some ideas back to his native land. He wants to know about the structure of our government, how a democracy really works — things like that.

Here at the school, Kenro is studying international trade and finance. The school is a source of constan' amazement to him. It is a private, nonprofit organization, which sponsors training in international affairs through the school of advanced international studies at Johns Hopkins University.

"Why is it that every foreigner who comes to America wants to become a U. S. citizen when few people who go to Japan from this land of the free want to become Japanese citizens?"

New Timothy Christian Church



Pictured above is the new $30,000 Timothy Christian Church at Gardnersville in Pitt County which was recently completed. The new edifice was erected across the road from the old wooden church which has become a landmark in the county. A ten day revival was conducted recently in the new building by the Rev. Charles Riggs of La Grange, and a Sunday homecoming celebration was observed at the church. At the candlelight service which terminated the revival the following people were administered the ordinance of baptism: Mrs. Winifred Bogery and son, Tommie Bogery, Misses Janette Reel, Peggy Stancill, Laura Ann Roach, Christine James, and Cecil Speight, Jackie Overman and Willie Ray Scott. Refugee Farmers Are Available For U. S. Farms

WASHINGTON —(AP)— American farmers with labor problems can find a solution in the skilled European farmers now coming into this country from countries under the Communist yoke.

Rigidly tested by U. S. agricultural experts on their practical farming experience, the displaced farmers are mostly of German origin who were thrown off their farms by Communists. They are willing to start at the bottom as American farm workers. The more than 1,000 DP farming fam2ilies are dairymen, poultrymen, cattlemen, wheat and corn farmers, truck farmers and hog raisers, for the most part.

Persons interested in sponsoring a displaced farmer may obtain more information by writing to the Displaced Persons Commission, Washington 25, D. C., or to their state Displaced Persons Commission.

New Crop Looms For West Texas

PALESTINE, Tex. —(AP)— The success of a four-row field of castor beans this year in Andetermine whether the area has another cash crop in 1952.

cording to agriculture officials the castor bean, used not only for castor oil but also important in textiles, plastics, and soap, may be an important cash crop in the southwest in a few years.

Driver Given Two Years Suspended Sentence

In Police Court yesterday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found David G. Smith guilty of careless and reckless driving in connection with a collision with a parked truck at 13th and Charles Streets the night of September 1.

Testimony was that Smith's car collided with a truck owned Shade Lee Clark, farmer of near Greenville, and knocked the truck 125 feet and then catapulted into an oak tree 121 feet further on. The car was wrecked, police officers stated.

Eight persons in the car were injured, three of them slightly.

Smith, driver of the car, testified that he was not speeding and that he was crowded into the parked truck by another car.

Judge Whedbee gave Smith two years on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $50. Smith is to surrender his driver's license for one year and is not to drive a motor vehicle during that time and not violate any law for a year.

The court found probable cause in the case in which David P. King, Enfield Negro who worked with the carnival at the recent fair, is charged with grand larceny. He was ordered held for Superior Court.

Ernest Reeves, Negro, testified that King robbed him of his wallet containing $250 and $300 in government bonds while they were sleeping together in a house on Bonner's Lane on October 13.

Greenville Detective N. H. Byrd, who persuaded King to come back here from Enfield and arrested him here, testified that King showed him where to find King's empty wallet, which he threw into a field on the Bethel-Oak City road. Police did not recover any of the money or bonds.

Robert Moore, Negro, non-support of an illegitimate child, was given 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $6 a week for support of his child.

Redden T. Jones was found not guilty of driving drunk. Leland T. Stancil, paid $20 for careless and reckless driving.

Henry J. McLawhorn, Negro, drunk, 30 days on the roads.

Earl J. Streeter, Negro, paid $15 for speeding. Raymond R. Weidmer, and Robert J. Staton, Negro, also paid $15 each for speeding.

William O. Carmon, Negro, 30 days suspended on payment of $10 and he was ordered to make restitution for damage to Arthur Lee Duncan's car.

Life Improves With The Years

COLUMBIA, S. C. —(AP)— Oldest resident of the Confederate Home here, Mrs. Susan Bush, still has her own teeth at the age of 96, as well as good vision and hearing.

At the age of 95, she typed out flawlessly two short stories and an autobiographical sketch. Her theorgy is that life begins at 50.

Pakistan Hiring German Nurses

KARACHI, Pakistan —(AP)— The Pakistan government hopes to recruit at least 100 qualified hospital nurses from West Germany and Austria to fill vacancies in their country.

exists in Pakistan, due in part to the Moslem practice of Purdah among Pakistan's women. This practice requires the women to wear veils in public and excludes them from contact with other persons, especially males, outside their immediate families.

Suicide Planes Ready For British Ships To Appear

TEHRAN (UP)— Five Iranian planes, packed with high explosives are standing by to suicide dive bomb any British war ships in the Persian Gulf which attempt to reoccupy the huge Abadan oil refinery.

Firebrand Hossein Makki, president of the Iranian mixed oil commission, told Parliament of the planes yesterday.

He added Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh, now in the United States, had instructed security forces to lay mines around the refinery and to destroy it if the British attempt foreceful reoccupation.

Religious Census Figures Stretch

TOKYO —(AP)— A survey by the education ministry places the total membership of religious groups in Japan at 109,508,231, although Japan's total population is only 83,525,000.

The ministry explained that many Japanese claim adherence to more than one faith. Membership in the three main faiths in Japan were Shinto 62,783,810, Buddhist 43,668,139 and Christian 428,701.

RED FOLEY says: "HURRY! HURRY! MY BIG $11,000 CONTEST CLOSES SOON!"
FIRST PRIZE $5000 Cash
PLUS the once-in-a-lifetime chance to
"BE SANTA CLAUS TO YOUR CHURCH, CLUB, OR CHARITY!"
LOOK! YOU WIN $5000 for yourself—and Red Foley and his entire radio troupe will give a benefit performance in your own home town, the proceeds of which will go to any recognized church, club or charity you choose.
509 other wonderful prizes just for telling us why you use SWIFT'S JEWEL SHORTENING.
2nd and 3rd prizes: each, $1000. Next 7 prizes: each, $250. Next 500 prizes: each, $5 plus Red Foley Record Album (78 r.p.m.)
JUST COMPLETE THE FOLLOWING SENTENCE IN 25 ADDITIONAL WORDS OR LESS..."I use Jewel Shortening for all my cooking, baking and frying because..."
Read these hints for help in writing your entry: Jewel, made by Swift & Company, is the one shortening that gives you all three: ONE—Super-shortening power for flaky pastries... light, tender cakes... fluffy rolls and biscuits. TWO—The flavor and texture of costliest shortenings. THREE—Economy. You pay up to five cents a pound less for a carton of Jewel than for costliest shortenings.
Jewel is the original homogenized shortening. Every spoonful is smooth, even-textured. Jewel has been a favorite with good Southern cooks for more than 50 years. Jewel is truly your one best shortening buy.
NUTRITIOUS AND DIGESTIBLE, TOO!
A CONTEST FOR THE SOUTHLAND—WHERE JEWEL IS SOLD! HERE'S ALL YOU DO...READ THESE RULES TO WIN!
1. On the entry blank you see here or on the official entry blank obtainable from your Jewel dealer, or on a sheet of paper, complete the following in 25 additional words or less: "I use Jewel Shortening for all my cooking, baking and frying because....." Add your name and address together with your dealer's name (or his store name) and address, enclose the word "Swift" from the top of a Jewel Shortening carton or part of the unwinding band from a tin of Jewel Shortening and mail to Red Foley's Jewel Contest, Nashville, Tennessee.
2. Send as many entries as you wish, but each entry must be accompanied by the word "Swift" from the top of a Jewel Shortening carton or part of the unwinding band from a tin of Jewel.
3. Get your dealer to help you with your entry. If you win a prize and he helped you with the entry, he may earn as much as $500*. Only one prize will be awarded to members of a single household. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, October 31, 1951, and received by November 7, 1951.
4. Entries will be judged on the basis of originality, sincerity and suitability.
5. Decisions of the judges are final. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties. All entries become the property of Swift & Company.
6. The appearance of Red Foley and his troupe, for which Swift & Company will pay all production expenses, will be made under mutually agreeable circumstances sometime before December 31, 1951. It is understood that all box office receipts from this single appearance, less necessary Federal and local taxes, will go to a legitimate charitable organization of your choosing.
7. Contest is open to anyone, except employees and families of employees of Swift & Company (makers of Jewel), its subsidiaries and their advertising agencies.
8. Approximately within one month after the close of the contest, the grand prize winners will be announced on the NBC Red Foley radio show, after all winners have been notified by mail. For a complete list of winners, send self-addressed stamped envelope to the address in Rule No. 1. Contest subject to all Federal, State and local regulations.

Lost Tombstone Poses Mystery

CHATSWORTH, Ga. (UP)— A stone has disappeared from a hill country cemetery near here, and officials said today the case is as much a mystery as the "face" that made the marble marker famous.

"We just don't know what to make of it," said Murray County Sheriff Henry Butler. He said the Georgia Bureau of Investigation was aiding in the search, but so far no one has turned up "hide nor hair" of the tombstone.

The tombstone became a landmark in the North Georgia mountains in 1899, a year after the death of Smith Treadwell, a cavalry lieutenant in the Army of the Confederacy and wealthy landowner.

The lines in the marble, so the story goes, changed shape to form the face of a man with a long beard. Mountain men said the "face" bore a striking resemblance to Treadwell. Since that time, hundreds of sightseers have visited the grave, three miles west of here, to see the "face."

But this week one of Treadwell's granddaughters, Mrs. Mose Bond, of Dalton, Gal. discovered the tombstone was missing when she visited the cemetery. "It just vanished into thin air," she said.

Mrs. Bond speculated the marker may have been stolen by someone who wanted it for a museum "or a sideshow." But if the tombstone was stolen, the thieves left no trace, according to Sheriff Butler.

Eighty-two churches in eight counties—Nash, Edgecombe, Pitt, Beaufort, Wilson, Martin, Halifax and Washington—compose the Roanoke Baptist Association.

Provides Lesson In Law Etiquette

FAIRBURY, Neb. (UP)—Sheriff Deyo Hughes gave a lesson yesterday in the proper etiquette to be observed while arresting police chiefs.

George Henne, police chief of Rushville, Neb., was jailed on charges of violating "blue sky" laws by selling Oklahoma oil wells stock "under false pretenses."

"I took his badge off before I arrested him," Hughes said.

Hartwell Campbell To Speak Friday Exchange Club

A. Hartwell Campbell, manager of the Greenville radio station, will be guest speaker at the Exchange Club's weekly supper meeting at the Woman's Club Friday night at 6:30.

Campbell is expected to talk about radio and television, President Robert S. (Sweeney) Moye said.

Commenting on excellent programs at recent meetings, Moye said Dr. Lucille Charles, of the English and Dramatics departments of East Carolina College, will be invited to another meeting of the club in the near future. He said Dr. Charles at the last meeting, gave two dramatic readings from the book, "All The Ship's At Sea," by William J. Lederer. The author is known as one of the Navy's most unconventional officers. Titles of Dr. Charles' readings were "Making Annapolis Was Easy" and "Yeoman Major."

Father Of Greenville Priest Dies Yesterday

Thomas McHugh, father of Rev. Berchmans McHugh of St. Gabriel's Church in Greenville, died Wednesday night at his home, 39 Grand Street, Leominster, Mass.

Father Berchmans has been assistant to Father Maurice Tew for the past three years.

Mass will be offered for the deceased on Saturday at 7:15 a.m. at St. Gabriel's Church.

Costume Ball Set For Teen-Agers

A teen-age costume ball and carnival at the armory will be a chief attraction for the young people of Greenville and Pitt county next Saturday night from 8 o'clock until nearly midnight.

Cecil Ellington's orchestra will play and there will be "Gypsy" fortune tellers; spectators in Hallowe'en costumes; booths containing entertainment features; games and stunts and contests; special events costumes and a door prize.

The costume ball and carnival is going to provide fun and merriment and a lot of it, Mrs. Ruth Garner, president of the Greenville Business and Professional Women's Club, sponsor of the event, promises.

The contests and prizes are open to teen-agers from all parts of Pitt County, and special invitations have been sent to the county schools. Boys and girls at the county schools are cooperating by selling tickets for the teen-age ball and carnival. Tickets are being sold at a reasonable price. They will be on sale at the door.

The Business and professional Women's Club's committee arranging the event is composed of Mrs. Ruth Peterson, Miss Virginia Evans, Miss Bert Sutton, Mrs. H. B. Gaskins and Miss Ruth Williams.

Ike Ends Review Of Sixth Fleet

NICE, France —(AP)— General Dwight D. Eisenhower landed in France by helicopter today, ending his three-day trip with the U.S. Sixth Fleet on Mediterranean maneuvers.

His own plane was waiting to fly him back to his Atlantic Pact force headquarters near Paris.

Before leaving the big carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, Eisenhower said internal inspection of atomic and oher armament industries "is the minimum thing we must demand" before world disarmament.

Kremlin Asserts . . .

made to him June 27 by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko that Russia proposed the truce talks be limited strictly to military questions.

Kirk, who is now in the United States, asked that the United States views on the "explosive" possibilities of a breakdown in the armistice talks be communicated to Premier Josef Stalin.

Vishinsky replied 10 days later that the question of an armistice line is "organically connected with the question of termination of military action and consequently cannot be passed over in the armistice negotiations." He stepped aside from direct Soviet participation by nothing that Russia "is not a party to these negotiations."

The Soviet diplomat suggested that the best way to assure favorable armistice action would be for the United States to instruct Ridgway to avoid creating "incidents" and to drop demands to change the site of the truce talks.

Kirk told Vishinsky that the United States had given him specific instructions to assure the Soviet government that his country has "no aggressive designs on the USSR or on anyone" and that hope existed for settlement of "outstanding issues embittering international relations.

"Nothing could contribute more to this as an immediate first step than the successful outcome of the Korean armistice talks," Kirk said.

"Without the achievement of an armistice in Korea, there is little if any prospect for any real solution of other problems besetting us throughout the world."

Mounting an amphibious attack is much easier said than done, and most military men regard a landing on a hostile shore as the most difficult of all operations. It calls for an immense amount of shipping, split-second co-ordination among all arms of the services involved, and plenty of air cover. If it fails, it fails utterly and with great loss to the attackers, but if it succeeds it pays dividends that could be gained no other way.

Convention Speakers

U. S. Senator James H. Duff, former governor of Pennsylvania, will be one of several principal speakers at a Presbyterian Men's Convention to be held in Greensboro, Oct. 19-21, bringing together 3,000 laymen in the first of four such regional conferences to be held on successive week-ends in four major Southern cities. Governor Duff has been an active churchman for many years.

Billy Graham, national evangelist who makes his home in Montreat, N. C., will be heard by 3,000 Presbyterian laymen attending a Men's Convention in Greensboro, October 19-21. The convention will be held in Aycock auditorium, Greensboro, except for the evening session on October 20 when the churchmen will join services being held at that time in Billy Graham's specially-built audtiorium in Greensboro.

Ship Bombed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—A British sea captain today accused Russian airplanes of making an unprovoked bombing attack on his ship near the Soviet port of Archangel last September 14.

Soviet sea planes dropped three bombs but none hit, Capt. Leslie Gow of the 3,538-ton freighter "Berlystone" told reporters.

British intelligence agents interviewed him when the vessel returned from Russia this morning.

In London, the Admiralty and the Foreign Office said they had heard of Gow's statements but could not yet comment.

a commission to work out details after that is done, the issue will be put up to the Senate and House again.

Much of congress' time this year, especially in the Senate has been occupied with debate over foreign relations.

Two big issues—troops for Europe and the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur—occupied months of time in the Senate.

In the end, nothing in the way of legislation emerged on either issue, altnough the vast amount of information and opinion voiced could not help but have an effect on public opinion.

The troops for Europe issue was raised last December when former President Herbert Hoover, in a speech, came out for withholding further foot soldiers and dollars from western Europe until it made a gibralter of itself.

The long and heated controversy over Mr. Truman's firing of MacArthur from his Far Eastern commands didn't even produce a resolution. Hearings which started May 3 and ended June 25 produced more than two million words of testimony about the Korean War and Far Eastern policy.

But the Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees which held the hearings voted 20 to 3 against making any conclusions.

Ask 'Concrete' Plans In Atomic Plant Expansion

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee has asked the administration to draw up "concrete" plans by Jan. 3 for major expansion of atomic weapons production.

Chairman Brien McMahon said the committee unanimously approved a resolution making the request of the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The Connecticut Democrat said the resolution was a substitute for one he introduced last month that urged immediate "all-out expansion" of A-bomb production. He said he shelved the first bill because it had no chance of congressional approval before the lawmakers adjourn.

Record Sales By Manufacturers

WASHINGTON (UP)— Manufacturers made record sales in the three month period from April to July but their profits fell off, a government survey showed today.

Profits, both before and after taxes, fell about five per cent from the previous three month period, according to a joint report by the Securities & Exchange Commission and the Federal Trade Commission.

Sales hit $53,400,000,000 while profits were $6,900,000,000 before taxes.

Funeral Friday For Mrs. Samuel Wilson

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wilson, 71, died in a Durham hospital Wednesday afternoon following several months of illness. Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, and burial will be in the Ayden Cemetery. The Rev. J. A. Neilson, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist Church, will officiate.

Mrs. Wilson was born and reared in the Ayden community and was married to Samuel Wilson of near Ayden. She spent all her married life in Ayden. Mr. Wilson died in 1922. For the past ten years she had been a resident of the Eastern Star and Masonic Home in Greensboro. She was a member of the Christian Church of Ayden.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. J. D. McGlohon of New York City, and a son, Mark A. Wilson of Newport News, Va.; 2 grandchildren; 2 great grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. J. D. Wilson Sr. of Greenville, and a brother, David H. Smith of Ayden.

URGE STANDARD CODES

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce urged today that the nation's 2,000 municipal building codes be standardized to cut down construction costs and conserve scarce materials.

Wildcat Strike At N. Y. Docks Is Leapfrogging

NEW YORK —(AP)— Wildcat dock strikers tightened their grip on New York city piers today, as rumblings of possible violence spread along the water fronts here and on the West Coast.

Apparently beyond control of AFL longshore leaders, the strike leap-frogged to more docks in Brooklyn, and virtually numbed the entire Hudson River waterfront on Manhattan's west side.

Vital defense and commercial shipping alike were severely crippled.

At Brooklyn's big port of embarkation, one of the nation's major shipping centers for military supplies and troops, nearly 1,000 stevedores gathered on the streets outside, but ignored "Shapeup" whistles.

It was the fourth straight day of the union-opposed strike, sparked by unrest over a newly ratified contract.

More Flexibility In Leaf Controls

WASHINGTON (UP)— President Truman has signed a bill providing more flexibility in rigid government controls over tobacco production.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Watkins Abbit (D-Va) will permit the Agriculture Department to adjust planting allotments for kinds of tobacco within a general "type." Allotments previously were required to be set by type.

Battered Topper Found By Lewis

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UP)—Bandleader Ted Lewis had his battered 35-year-old top-hat back today. He had reported it stolen from a night-club here during last weekend.

The "Is Everybody Happy?" musician found his famous toppiece in a chandelier at the night club yesterday after an anonymous telephone tip from a woman.

Sinatra Acts To Assist Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UP)— Bow-tied crooner Frank Sinatra gave his wife a helping hand today in obtaining a divorce that will clear the way for his marriage to sultry actress Ava Gardner.

Through his attorney, Edward R. Brand, the singer waived service of any papers in the action yesterday and asked that Mrs. Sinatra's case be tried as a default case as soon as possible.

Named Head Of NCEA District

CHARLOTTE—(AP)— Esther Howard of Lenoir today was named president of the South Piedmont District of the North Carolina Education Association.

The announcement came in the opening session of the 29th annual convention of teachers, principals and school superintendents.

Bud 'Rests'

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP)— A beatup B-29 named "Bub" with the picture of an old man on its side was here for overhaul today after 107 Korean missions in which it dropped 1,000 tons of bombs.

"Bub," oldest B-29 in the Far East Air Force, had logged more than 2,800 hours in the air, including World War II service. The 11-man crew, which brought the ship to McClellan Air Force base here yesterday, has a total of 412 individual missions over Korea. Only 10 of those were together in "Bub."

The crew included three Southerners: Aircraft commander Capt. Rufus M. Marchant of Panama City, Fla.; 1st Lieut. Roy P. Maline, navigator, Durham, N.C.; and M-Sgt. Arthur C. Doggett, Wetumpka, Ala., who set a maintenance record by keeping one engine going for more than 609 hours without its having to undergo major overhaul.

Arrest 22 In Fraud Probes

WASHINGTON (UP)— FB IDirector J. Edgar Hoover announced today the simultaneous arrest in five cities of 22 owners, officials, and employes of five GI training schools on charges of defrauding the government of more than $350,000.

Fourteen were seized in Miami, including persons connected with the Berlitz School of Languages of America Inc. Two were arrested in Detroit, one in Dayton, O., two in New York City and three in Newark, N.J., Hoover said.

Hoover said investigations showed the schemes generally involved submission of false claims to the Veterans Administration for training and supplies supposedly furnished to veterans attending classes.

Attendance records were falsified fictitous instructors listed, and manipulated invoices of non-existent firms were used to inflate cost of books and supplies, the FBI chief said.

The new roundup brought to more than 300 the number of persons arrested in the past 10 months on charges of trying to cheat the government on the veterans' educational program. Hoover said the money involved in all of those alleged frauds now totals more than $1,000,000.

Bill Would Limit Size Of Parcels

WASHINGTON (UP)—The senate passed yesterday a bill aiimed at cutting the maximum size of parcel post packages.

The bill still must be approved by the House. It reduces the maximum length and girth combined of parcel post packages from 100 to 72 inches.

U. S. Petroleum Supply 'Ample'

MINNEAPOLIS (UP)—Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman said today the United States will be able to supply itself with petroleum "for centuries to come" even if the nation's underground oil reserves run dry.

In a speech before the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Druggists, Chapman said the new oil supply will be derived synthetically from oil shale, coal and lignite — raw materials which the United States owns in great quantity.
