Tent City Built For Truce Talks

Cease-Fire Parleys Scheduled To Resume Wednesday Night Following Ratification Of Preliminary Terms By Communists; Talks Will Begin Over Old Deadlock

By LEROY HANSEN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)— U. S. troops built a tent city today for tomorrow's reopening of truce talks with a speed that left Communist onlookers agape.

Resumption of the talks at 11 a. m. tomorrow (9 p. m. Wednesday EST) was announced following Communist ratification of the conference "ground rules."

Less than an hour later, U. S. troops arrived in a 22-vehicle convoy. The Americans installed a wooden floor, heat and lights in the Communist-erected conference tent, and threw up six additional tents to house, feed and guard the United Nations delegation while 25 North Korean and Chinese onlookers gaped at their speed.

Even while the work progressed, Lt. Col. Norman B. Edwards of Diamond, W. Va., and North Korean Col. Lee Pyong Il met in the conference tent to arrange the mechanics of policing the 1,000-yard radius neutral zone around the tent.

One disagreement arose, and final decision was left to the full truce delegations. The U. N. wanted two U. N. military police guards stationed at the entrance to the conference tent. The Communists said the guards should be 100 yards away from the tent.

First business on the conference agenda will be the location of a cease-fire line and buffer zone across Korea — the same problem that deadlocked 22 consecutive meetings before the truce talks were suspended Aug. 23.

The 15 trucks and seven jeeps of the U. S. convoy carried flooring, office and kitchen supplies, communications, heating and lighting equipment, along with a construction crew of 40 soldiers.

U.S. To Proceed With Defenses Of Middle East

WASHINGTON (AP)— The United States announced today it intends to go ahead and set up a Middle Eastern defense command with six other countries.

The State Department said despite Egypt's rejection of an invitation to join the American government will "proceed" toward this goal in collaboration with Britain, France, Turkey, New Zealand, Australia and South Africa.

Egypt had turned down the proposal after trouble flared with Britain over the Suez Canal and Sudan.

The shooting erupted about 125 miles northeast of the tense Suez Canal zone and brought new anxiety to the troubled Middle East.

Egyptian Rioters Sternly Warned To Avoid Clashes

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)— Egypt banned all anti-British demonstrations today and threatened drastic penalties for any recurrence of bloodshed between rioters and police.

At the same time, the Egyptian government ordered its officials in the Suez Canal zone to follow a program of rigid non-cooperation with the British forces there.

The port of Suez, southern gateway to the canal, has been partly crippled by the walkout of Egyptian dock workers. In addition, Egyptian canal pilots have paralyzed ship movements at the port by refusing to guide vessels with British military equipment.

In Cairo, Alexandria, and other centers, police were ordered to deal ruthlessly with any efforts to disturb law and order, informed sources said. Authorities took rigid precautions to prevent a repetition of yesterday's clashes in which police employed bullets, tear gas and clubs against nationalist demonstrators.

The worst riot occurred in Alexandria where one demonstrator was killed and four injured after police drove back a stone-throwing crowd with clubs and shots.

Interior Minister Foad Serag El Dh. denounced the demonstrations last night and threatened stern reprisals.

"These traitors of their own country do not deserve the pity of the people and the government," he said.

He warned the government will not hesitate to use "the severest measures" hereafter to repress unruly elements.

In Suez, the British garrison command warned Gov. Ibrahim Zaki El Kholi to get striking dock workers back to their jobs.

The British threatened to take severe measures if the governor did not issue the order.

The UN command approved the agreement and full scale peace talks are expected to be resumed shortly. The Reds broke off the talks in Kaesong on August 23. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo).

Patients Escape Burning Hospital

DALLAS, Tex. (up)— Heroic nuns and nurses shepherded 260 patients out of St. Paul's Hospital today as a five-alarm fire burst through the roof and threatened to send it crashing down on them.

The blaze was discovered at 12:57 a. m. and extinguished an hour and 26 minutes later.

It roared through the roof of the five-story brick building as members of the hospital staff carried and guided the patients out into 50-degree weather to await removal to other institutions.

Patients who underwent surgery less than 24 hours before the blaze walked down as many as three flights of stairs. A mother whose baby was born yesterday dashed to the nursery and carried her child out in her arms.

A child was born in a nearby nurses' home five minutes after the home was evacuated.

Nuns under the direction of Sister Alberta, mother superior of the Order of Daughters of Charity, and student nurses called from their beds, removed mothers and babies first.

The 30 infants were taken to the nearby nurses home and "assigned" to trainees for care.

The fire, believed to have resulted from defective electrical wiring, broke out in the fifth floor quarters of the nuns.

Sister Albert said she awoke to see the ceiling of the room "splintering and then it and a wall broke into flames. It spread quickly through the dormitory."

Every ambulance in Dallas, dozens of police and sheriff's department cars, countless taxicabs and a city bus were used in the evacuation. Patients not seriously ill were taken home by relatives.

Fire Chief C. N. Penn said the blaze caused about $125,000 damage.

End Of A War

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Truman today formally proclaimed the end of the state of war between the United States and Germany.

His action was a followup to a joint congressional resolution ending the conflict. The proclamation said the war, which was declared Dec. 11, 1941, was terminated on Oct. 19, 1951, the date of the passage of the resolution.

Ousted Revenue Man Disappears

WASHINGTON (UP)— Joseph P. Marcell, ousted Brooklyn, N. Y., tax collector, failed to show up for a scheduled appearance today before a House subcommittee investigating federal tax scandals.

Chairman Cecil R. King (D-Cal) said "attempts to find him at his hotel or elsewhere in Washington have failed."

King said Marcell was not served with a subpoena because he had agreed to appear "voluntarily."

"I regret very much having to announce that Mr. Marcell has abused the confidence placed in him by the committee," King said.

King said he will ask the FBI to help find Marcell, "if it is necessary" in order to serve a subpoena on him.

The chairman said the subcommittee has asked the Bureau of Internal Revenue "to take all the necessary steps" to see that no files in Marcell's office are "tampered with."

The Brooklyn tax collector, linked by Senate crime investigators with underworld operator Joe Adonis, was fired late last night by Commissioner John B. Dunlap for "personal actions" uncovered by investigators.

Marcell met for five hours yesterday with Dunlap and Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder, could not be reached for comment.

Plan County To Again Lead State

Arch Flanagan, Farmville, Chairman of the County Farm Bureau membership drive, said today that "Pitt County is going all-out to lead the State in membership again this year."

The Farm Bureau leader pointed out that Pitt County has 3,655 members on its voluntary quota of 4,000.

"The drive is going well in most sections of the county," Flanagan said, "but there are still some townships that are behind in their quotas."

He urged all township workers to "leave no stone unturned in our drive for this year's Farm Bureau membership in Pitt."

Flanagan said that today the farmers have more problems than they have ever had. "We must have a strong Farm Bureau organization to combat these problems if we expect to earn a living wage on the farm," he said.

Flanagan called attention to the fact that the net farm income in this county has decreased over $5 billion since 1946. He said that this net income would continue to decline even further if farm prices are not more in line with the things the farmers have to buy.

"The general public has been grossly misinformed by the so-called farmers-getting-rich line," he said, "but if they could realize that the farmer receives only 69 cents an hour for his work in comparison to the $1.46 average hourly wage other groups receive they would be more sympathetic toward him."

Flanagan would continue to lead the fight for a fair share of the national income for farm families, and called on every serious minded farmer in Pitt County to "stand behind this organization."

Townships in the county that have already exceeded the membership quotas are: Ayden with 426 members; Beaver Dam with 183 members; Bethel with 382 members; Carolina with 289 members; Farmville with 479 members; Fountain with 141 members.

World Observes UN Birthday In Air Of Tension

Ceremonies And Speeches Mark Sixth Anniversary Of Organization

PARIS (AP)— In an atmosphere of tension and fear of war, peoples around the world today marked the sixth anniversary of the United Nations, the world organization dedicated to the task of preserving peace.

France marked the day by giving the U. N. a golden key to the palace which will be the world organization's home in November.

In open air ceremonies, Foreign Minister Robert Schuman handed U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie the key to the Palais De Chaillot where the General Assembly will open its sixth session Nov. 6.

The Palais will officially become the property of the U. N. Nov. 1 for as long as it is needed.

As the blue U. N. flag was hoisted over the building, Schuman said he hoped the psychological atmosphere of France would help the 40-nation organization along the road to peace.

Lie answered that international relations were far from reflecting the harmony of the site—one of the most beautiful Paris neighborhoods—but "the United Nations must keep on striving to establish a 'mony or, at least, some form of peaceful co-existence between conflicting interests and ideologies in the world."

Oct. 24 is celebrated as U. N. Day because the charter officially came into force Oct. 24, 1945.

There were observances in almost every world capital.

In Moscow, the government newspaper Ivestia charged that the U. N. had become the tool of British and American imperialists. Despite Kremlin coldness, the U. N. information center in Moscow planned a flag raising ceremony and showing of films on U. N. activities.

Birthday processions were arranged to start at dawn in Indian cities and in Pakistan 27,000 Karachi schoolchildren were to witness a U. N. pageant. President Rajendra Prasad said India has "tried to give the United Nations xxx all the support that lay in our power and we shall continue to do so."

Statements of support were also sent to Lie from many member governments.

Citizens of free West Berlin hailed the first anniversary of the Freedom Bell presented to the city by private U. S. citizens on the U. N.'s fifth birthday last year.

Barkley Office In RFC Inquiry

WASHINGTON (UP)— RFC records show that Vice President Barkley's secretary and counsel Charles E. Shaver of the Senate Small Business Committee made scores of contacts on behalf of several firms, it was learned today.

Mrs. Flo Bratten, who has been on Barkley's staff for almost 20 years, admitted to reporters yesterday that she has contacted the Reconstruction Finance Corporation "hundreds" of times over many years.

The Senate's permanent investigating committee, whose staff is conducting a "preliminary inquiry" into the activities of Shaver and Mrs. Bratten on behalf of two firms last year, is studying the daily office records of at least three RFC officials. They show frequent contacts by Shaver and Mrs. Bratten during the past two years, the United Press learned.

The inquiry was ordered by Chairman Clyde R. Hoey (D-N.C.) of the investigating group at the request of Shaver's boss, Chairman John J. Sparkman of the Small Business Committee.

The Alabama Democrat requested the inquiry after newspaper reports that Shaver and Mrs. Bratten interceded with RFC last year on behalf of the Fleisher Engineering and Construction Co., Minneapolis, and the Mercury Record Co., Chicago.

Shaver and Mrs. Bratten were questioned behind closed doors yesterday and Mrs. Bratten said later that "I never received any fee of (Continued on page sixteen)

Estimated 155 Communist Jets Battle American And Australian Planes Screening Superforts; Van Fleet Says Eighth Army Ready To Force New Peace Moves

TOKYO (UP)— An estimated 155 Communist jets battled a United Nations air fleet all the way across the 100-mile waist of North Korea today in their boldest challenge yet to Allied air supremacy.

American and Australian jet fighters escorting and screening B-29 Superfortresses on a bridge-busting raid shot down at least one Russian-built MIG-15 and probably destroyed another.

Other enemy jets may have been knocked down by the B-29s. One American Sabrejet was lost in the running air battle, which extended all the way from the west coast just below "MIG Alley" to the east coast, northwest of Wonsan. There was no indication whether any B-29s had been hit.

Ground fighting dwindled to patrol action. However, Lt. Gen. Van Fleet served notice that his 8th Army is prepared to exert whatever extra pressure is needed to force the Red armies in Korea to make peace.

He issued the warning in a on the eve of resumption of truce talks for United Nations Day.

The Far East Air Forces headquarters disclosed that enemy MIGs jumped eight B-29s while the four-engined bombers were attacking a railroad bypass bridge at Funchon, 83 miles southeast of the Manchurian border.

"Scoring American Sabrejets in turn bounced on the MIGs and 'swirling air battles followed.' The enemy jets risked combat far deeper into North Korea than usual in their attempt to break up the B-29 attack.

Tuesday's air battle, the biggest of the war, occurred only 30 miles from the border. A record eight MIGs were shot down, two more probably destroyed and 10 damaged. Three B-29s and one escorting Thunderjet were lost and most of the remaining five B-29s were damaged.

Van Fleet said the 8th Army's mission in Korea has been to "impress on the Communists" the "gravity" of their invasion of South Korea.

"I am convinced that our U. N. troops have accomplished this mission," he said, "and further I am convinced that if added pressure is necessary to liquidate possible continued aggression, my men are prepared."

At the front, American Patton tanks for the fourth time in five days bombarded the former stronghold of Kumsong to prevent the Communists from swarming down the hills to the north and reoccupying it.

Churchill Is The Issue

If He Returns, Winnie Can Do Very Little To Ease Britain's Immediate Difficulties; Tories Have Endorsed Large Portion Of Labor Government Program

By HARRY FERGUSON

Some years ago a two-word message was flashed from London to British naval installations around the world and all the ships at sea: "Winnie's back."

Every sailor knew what that meant. It meant that the ups and downs of the political fairs wheel once more had placed Winston Churchill in charge of His Majesty's Navy.

Britain has an election tomorrow. The political orations are about over and the voters have been harangued and instructed on such matters as the Iranian crisis, low-cost housing, trouble at Suez, the cost of living and how much candy ought to be included in each person's ration. But the real issue is this — should Winnie come back again?

Truman Shelves Plan For Envoy To Vatican City

WASHINGTON (UP)— President Truman's plan to establish formal diplomatic relations with the Vatican appeared today to have been shelved indefinitely.

The White House announced yesterday that Mr. Truman will not try to send Gen. Mark W. Clark—or anyone else — to the Holy See under any temporary arrangement, but will leave the whole matter for the Senate to decide next year.

Several senators have indicated that there is little chance of Clark's nomination as America's first ambassador to the Vatican being approved in the next session. Other congressmen predicted that the controversial nomination may not even be brought to a vote.

Crucial British Election Campaign Closes Tonight

LONDON (AP)— Britain's election campaign ends tonight focused on two critical issues—the country's place in a world threatened by war, and her bitterly controversial experiment in socialism.

Voters from a registered electorate of 35,000,000 cast their ballot Thursday.

Their choice lies between the Conservative Party led by Winston Churchill, and the Socialists who came to power in July, 1945. The Liberals, standing about midway between these two in doctrine, have entered too few candidates to form a government. They hope only to constitute a balancing "third force" in the next House of Commons.

Some Dock Hands Resume Handling Military Cargo

NEW YORK (AP)— Some dock hands resumed handling of military cargoes today, braving the box and catcalls from wildcat strikers who threw up mass picket lines along New York's vast waterfront.

Most of the port still was numbed by the longshore strike, which has stirred a plea for presidential intervention. But at two Army piers, some of the idle men returned to work.

Biggest break in the military cargo tieup was in Staten Island, where eight military ships awaited loading. There, 300 stevedores streamed past picket lines, amid shouts of "double-crosser" and boos from strikers.

Raleigh's Water Used For Fair

RALEIGH (AP)— A by-pass valve around a water meter fed water from Raleigh's critically short supply to the state fair last week, city officials have revealed.

City Manager W. H. Carper, who declared he knew nothing of the by-pass valve until Monday, estimated yesterday that 133,000 gallons of city water was used at the fairgrounds during the state fair's five-day run.

Only Roadblock To Additional TV Service Is Local Assignments Of Available Channels; Big Engineering Job; Task Expected To Be Ended In February

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON (AP)— The only thing now holding up additional television service for the country is the matter of making final local assignments of the available channels.

The distribution, to cities and towns throughout the United States, involves a stupendous engineering job if that bug-a-bone of all broadcasting — interference — is to be avoided.

The work should be completed by February. Then the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) will be able to lift the three-year-old freeze on new station grants.

The commission has already decided that about 82 channels will be required to provide "a truly national television system."

To get that number it has gone "away upstairs" in the radio spectrum, into the Ultra High Frequencies, to create 70 new UHF channels to be added to the 12 Very High Frequency (VHF) channels now in use.

It proposes to hold out 18 of the new channels as "spares" for later allocation, and assign the others finally to large and small communities across the nation.

Preparatory to the final allocations, FCC last March made public a tentative table of proposed local assignments. It made provision for nearly 3,000 stations in about 1,200 communities as compared to the 480 stations in 10 locations that could be accommodated in the current 12-channel setup.

Of the projected 3,000 outlets, FCC proposed to reserve about 10 per cent exclusively for schools desiring to sponsor non-commercial, educational operations.

The FCC plan was to hold public hearings on the tentative table, but the number of towns, schools and industry groups which asked time for witnesses indicated that if oral testimony were taken, the hearing might last forever.

Hence it was decided to receive comment in writing only. Several hundred thousand words have thus far been filed and those interested have until late November to complete their written say-so.

Nine Boy Scouts Of District Win Awards

Nine Greenville Boy Scouts were presented advancement awards last night at the Pitt District Court of Honor held at the city hall.

The program was highlighted by the presentation of the advancement awards to the scouts and talks by the Rev. Leon Russell of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church and Patrolman Paul Jewett of the Greenville police force.

Receiving badges for the rank of Star Scout were Lloyd Bray and Ormand Wichard, both of troop 30. First class badges were presented to Fick Arthur of troop 23 and Jack Clifford of troop 30. Willis Stancil of troop 30 received his second class badge.

Six scouts received merit badges which compose the principal part of the work toward the star, life and eagle ranks in scouting. Receiving merit badges were: Fred Haar, Jr., Sea Scout ship one, rowing, reading, home repairs, swimming, life saving and book-binding; Bill Simmons, troop 30, home repairs; Ormand Wichard, troop 30, public health, first aid, forestry; Lloyd Bray, troop 30, physical development, firemanship, citizenship in the home, safety; troop 30, first aid and camping.

Patrolman Jewett presented the star rank awards, District Commissioner Jack Dowdy presented the first class awards, Rev. Russell presented the second class awards, and Skipper J. B. Newman of Sea Scout ship one presented the merit badge awards.

Patrolman Jewett, in his talk to the scouts, urged the boys to be careful at home, at play, and on the streets to avoid accidents and help others to avoid accidents. "The little things left lying around cause most of the accidents," he said. "Look to one another and be helpful. Train yourselves to sense danger, and what to do in case of an emergency. An emergency is the time for prompt, precise action, not the time for hysteria or confusion."

Rev. Russell talked to the scouts on the United Nations, and the things individual scouts can do to promote world peace. "If we spend our days trying to develop character and skill we will be making our contribution to the peace of the world," he said. "You have a part in rebuilding the peace of the world if you do three things: have respect for character, for skill and a healthy respect for everybody's work."

Rev. Russell pointed out to the scouts two incidents from his trip to Europe this summer which, he said, symbolized the character, the skill and the work that would promote world peace. In Switzerland, the speaker stated, youths are taught that their nation has not had war because it has none of the natural resources other nations seek. Instead the Swiss children are taught to have character, and to develop skills which make them the producers of the world's finest chocolates. In Munich, he said, he visited the building in which a stained glass factory was rebuilding its operations through hard work and skill after the bombings of the war had destroyed the large plant the business formerly occupied.

Commissioner Dowdy announced the meeting time of the board of review of the Pitt district had been changed from the third Monday of each month to the second Monday of each month.

Sea Scout ship one had charge of the opening and closing ceremonies of the program.

Drama Class Presents Play

It was broadcast over the local radio station last Wednesday, October 17, from 7:45-8:00 p.m.

Council Scouters Meet In Planning Task Today

Members of the East Carolina Council, Boy Scouts of America, met in Greenville at the East Carolina College today for an annual Planning Conference.

Each of the ten operating committees of the Council met this afternoon to plan and develop objectives for 1952 based on the new three-year program of emphasis adopted by the Boy Scouts of America for the 1952-53-54 triennium. Following a dinner in the college cafeteria, the Executive Board of the Council under the chair of President Chadwick, gathered to hear and adopt reports submitted by the several chairmen who presided at the afternoon session.

The Council Operating Committees will plan for their particular functions in face of the 34 per cent increase of scout-age boy population that will reach its peak at the end of 1954. Men on the professional staff of the East Carolina Council, augmented by Executives from neighboring Councils will serve as advisors and resource people to be volunteer chairmen.

Carleton Smith To Address Club

Carleton Smith, music critic, economist, and Director of the National Arts Foundation, will be the guest speaker at the Executive's Club dinner meeting tomorrow night in the East Carolina College dining hall.

The voice of Smith has been heard on the broadcasts of the Philharmonic Orchestra, the Metropolitan Opera, the Philadelphia Orchestra, and many other great musical organizations. For many years Smith was the music editor of Esquire and Coronet Magazines and many of his articles have appeared in the New York Times and the New York-Herald Tribune.

Smith has the greatest collection of folk songs in the world. Before World War II, he traveled 40,000 miles in foreign lands recording the songs and the chants of the peasants and primitive people.

Sam Bundy, president of the Executive's Club, said Smith is bullish on our chances for a peaceful and prosperous future. "It lies straight ahead of us, he thinks, if we will only take it," Bundy said.

Reservists Set Dinner Meeting

Plans were made last night at the Naval Reserve meeting for a dinner meeting to be held November 13. Jack Foley is in charge of the arrangements for the dinner meeting and he asked all members to notify him if they were planning to attend.

The program for the meeting last night was "Abandon Ship" and life boat equipment and handling. J. B. Smith was in charge of the program.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
KEEP UP QUALITY
A woman who for years was in the confectionery business told me that at one time in her career she began, in order to ease the burden of overhead, to manufacture cheap grades of candy one or two days a week for a certain large firm. Her candy makers had always been used to making candy only for her stores and candy of the very highest quality. She soon found that switching them over now and again to making cheap and adulterated candy demoralized them, because unconsciously they got into the way of cheapness and adulteration, and the quality of her own fine-grade candies began to suffer.

What a lesson this is on the folly of ever doing anything less than our best. If at any point in our lives we let down our accustomed high standards, we soon find that unconsciously we are putting the same policy into operation where we want to be at our best. The candy makers could not make good candy five days of the week and poor candy one day. Pretty soon they were making nothing but poor candy.

Hardy System Purchase Depends On Price, Terms

From the information available on the proposed purchase of the C. L. Hardy electrical system in Greene and Lenoir Counties by the Greenville Utilities Commission, it appears to be a good property for the city of Greenville to own.

If the system can be purchased by the Greenville Utilities at a reasonable price, and paid for over a long period of time out of the net earnings from the operation of the system, The Reflector would favor the local utilities undertaking the project. However, if the venture would entail the borrowing of any more money from the Rural Electrification Administration or the issuance of revenue bonds by the city, The Reflector would oppose the purchase of the system. The Reflector would likewise oppose the venture if it entailed putting an additional mortgage on the existing lines owned by the Greenville Utilities; or if it entailed paying a tremendously high price for the system in open market bidding.

The Hardy system has been carefully surveyed by officials and representatives of the Greenville Utilities, and has been found to be in good condition. According to their reports it would be unnecessary for the utilities to spend much money for repairs to the lines or for major permanent improvements to the lines.

The Hardy electrical system has been a paying proposition for its owners in the past, and there is no reason why it should not continue to be a paying proposition for Greenville if it can be purchased reasonably.

There are those who pose the question that the utilities, through the purchase of the Hardy system, would be expanding beyond its original purpose which was to serve the city of Greenville and outlying territory. Would the purchase of the established system be extending the city's business too far? Therein is a good point for argument, but the city has been serving the Hardy system on a wholesale basis directly and indirectly since 1928. The only difference if the system were purchased would be that the Greenville Utilities would service the system on a retail basis rather than on a wholesale basis as it has done for many years.

Expansion of the utilities lines apparently caused little concern when Greenville extended its lines to serve Winterville, Ayden, Grifton and other communities of the county, and later extended its lines into rural areas as far away as Chocowinity. It apparently caused little concern when the utilities, 12 years ago, purchased the Vanceboro system consisting of 50 miles of lines and some 500 consumers.

There would be no additional strain on the power plant of the Greenville Utilities for it already is furnishing all the electric power used by the Hardy system.

In The Reflector's opinion, all phases considered, the Hardy electric system would be a good property for the Greenville Utilities to own. The purchase price and the terms of purchase which can be reached with the present owners by the Utilities Commission will determine whether the venture is a good business proposition for the city.

Those Are Planes Korea Is Not Getting

The American people received an eye-opening report with the announcement that the air losses being suffered by American armed forces are not being met by the aircraft production here on the home front. It is another indication that all is not a bed of roses for the allies generally in Korea despite continued gains by the U. N. forces.

Reports on the fighting in Korea have been conspicuous in their lack of mention of allied air losses. This caused some inkling of suspicion that something was amiss, but most American citizens failed to read between the lines. It is shocking to learn that while the Communists have been constantly building up their air power in Korea, that of the U. N. has been gradually decreasing because replacements in planes and parts were not to be had.

Air power is a vital part in present-day military tactics. The allies learned the hard way in the early days of World War II in Europe and the Pacific what the lack of air superiority can mean, and in the latter period of the war what the presence of air superiority can mean in effectively carrying out a campaign.

Whether there has been a bottleneck in the aircraft production in the United States during the past months, or whether there just has not been sufficient time to gear the production facilities to the pace required by the Korean war has not been answered by official Washington.

The situation brings out one point conclusively: It can be even more costly for the United States to be caught with its defenses down on the home-front than it would be to be caught with our defenses down in one battle on the fighting front.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

WASHINGTON—The Truman Administration's strong support of the British position in Egypt and Iran has introduced a new factor into tomorrow's elections in that country, although it is difficult to figure out whether it will benefit the Labor Party of the conservatives. Both groups have made Anglo-American relations one of the key issues in the campaign, and both sides have treated Uncle Sam rather harshly.

In the inner councils at Washington there was considerable hesitation over open American intervention in the Suez-Sudan quarrel for fear that it would be misunderstood as our coming overseas. The action, it was realized at the White House and State Department, might be interpreted by the politically embittered Britishers as helpful to Prime Minister Attlee and injurious to his opponent, Winston Churchill.

However, in view of the serious nature of the developing crisis in the Middle East, it was felt that no time should be lost in aligning ourselves with England, even though it might be regarded as interference in touchy, domestic matters.

RESENTMENT—There was another important consideration behind the Acheson announcement. Washington's study of the campaign speeches, especially those by Aneurin Bevan's left-wing orators, discloses that there is deep and widespread resentment over this country's growing power and prestige. The Bevan bloc, which fears that rearmament costs will jeopardize social and economic reforms at home, charges flatly that we are embarked on worldwide aggression that will eventually precipitate World War III.

What worries Washington the most are diplomatic reports that these attacks on the United States usually evoke tremendous applause, whether uttered by Labor or Conservative speakers. Thus our prompt announcement of our sympathy toward Britain in her Middle East difficulties was designed to soften or remove this anti-American feeling.

Moderates on both sides of the ocean concede that any rift in relations between the two western nations would be disastrous.

TRIBUTE—In a sense, the importance given to the question of Anglo-American relationship in tomorrow's contest amounts to a tribute to us. For the paramount debate between Attlee and Churchill on this score boils down to the argument of which statesman would be able to exert greater influence on the Truman Administration or any successor regime.

Labor orators maintain that Mr. Attlee would be more likely to urge restraint and caution at Washington than Mr. Churchill. They point out that the present Prime Minister did not hesitate to disagree with us on recognition of Red China.

They also recall that Mr. Attlee dissuaded Mr. Truman from possible use of the A-bomb in the Korean conflict last year. They insist that it was to Downing Street which helped to oust General Douglas MacArthur on the issue of using greater force in Korea.

TIMED—According to this theory, Churchill would be too likely to back a more aggressive policy in the Far East and Middle East. He has given some credence to this view by his charges that "Labor's weak policy has been responsible for Britain's decline of power and prestige throughout the world."

Between the lines of Mr. Churchill's speeches there are definite hints that, in his opinion, his World War II prominence and his American contacts would enable him to have greater voice in the shaping of Washington's foreign policy than Mr. Attlee.

Incidentally, Foreign Minister Vishinsky's snarling rebuff of the Truman-Kirk overture in the diplomatic view here, was timed so as to be a pro-Attlee gesture. It served to sharpen the British people's fears that Washington's attitude vis-a-vis Moscow may, as Bevan asserts, lead to a war that will ruin England, no matter which side wins.

GRIEVANCES—In the belief that only a frank discussion of differences will lead to understanding and cooperation, it may be worthwhile to note here the official and unofficial gripes and grievances bothering the British, as set forth by diplomats here and at London.

They think that we rushed them into premature signing of a peace treaty with Japan. Australia and New Zealand agreed to that pact only on condition that we enter into a defensive friendship alliance with them against possible outbreak of general war in the Pacific.

MOODY—Together with France, England feels that we are too anxious for prompt rearmament of Germany. When U.S. troops are evacuated from Europe in two or three years, as General Eisenhower recently promised, Germany might have a preponderance of military strength in Western Europe. Nor do Labor groups relish our recognition of and aid to Franco in Spain.

Last—and most importantly—they are naturally moody over the gradual decline of British power and eminence, and the emergence of the United States in the role England enjoyed until World Wars I and II. It is hard for them to see us rolling in "rearmament prosperity," while they struggle along on an "austerity" diet and system.

If I Keep Going Long Enough—

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

The only men in the world who aren't concerned about getting bald are those that are already that way. Since every man (and plenty of women) is concerned about baldness, here are some facts that should help:

The cause of baldness is unknown, and there is no known cure for the disease. Of the millions of remedies that have been tried, none has worked. One expert says, "These are the culprits in ordinary baldness: inheritance, hormonal factors and aging; and of much lesser importance, changes in the muscular tension, blood supply, bacterial flora, oil glands and fat content of the scalp."

There is no medical proof that says dandruff causes baldness; however, many people think that it does. Dandruff is simply a collection of dead cells, caught by the hair. Actually, these dead cells are being shed by the entire surface of the skin. However, the cells aren't trapped except on the head.

Baldness is inherited. One study of 28 families showed that the same baldness pattern was evident down to the fifth generation, passed from father to son. The tendency can be passed on from the mother's side of the family, though the mother is not subject to it herself.

Worry does not cause baldness. A doctor says, "In specific types there is no question that anxiety, fright and other emotional upsets cause certain types of patchy hair fall, but the role worry plays in ordinary baldness is slight."

And here's how to take care of the hair you have: WASHING. Always thoroughly rinse and dry. Normal scalp: wash as frequently as desired. Oily scalp: wash at least once a week, using preferably liquid shampoo. (Use drying type of lotion regularly. Dry scalp: wash only every two or three weeks. Massage scalp after drying, apply oil or ointment.

BRUSHING: Use moderately stiff brush, with widely-spaced bristles; keep it clean. Brush scalp and hair gently morning and night.

MASSAGE: Do this gently a few minutes every day, using fingers. Don't rub violently.

WETTING: Water won't hurt your hair in small amounts. Don't soak it.

DANDRUFF: Simple cases can be controlled by daily massage and brushing, and frequent shampoos in soft water. However, there is no cure for dandruff.

And I thank the author, Lester David.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

INFLUENCE—There is cumulative evidence that developments in national Democratic circles may have more than usual influence upon the Democratic primary in North Carolina next year. The time for filing notice of candidacy for governor of North Carolina will close about four months before the nominating convention to select candidates for president and vice president. The state convention which will adopt a party platform will be held some two months before the national platform can be written. But it is still true that coming events cast their shadows before, and even now Tarheel politicians are watching Washington for a cue. That doesn't mean North Carolina will follow the national policy; nor does it mean the state will openly revolt or buck national trends, although either course is a definite possibility.

RELUCTANT—Governor Kerr Scott has made no bones about his all-out support of the Truman administration. He was more outspoken than any other governor at the recent Gatlinburg national governors' conference on that point. He has consistently strung along with the national administration ideas for government rather than private capital development of power resources. He parted company only on the issue of publicizing names of recipients of welfare payments, and he wasn't very strong on that point. Other political bigwigs in the state are more reluctant to voice full endorsement of New Deal and Fair Deal policies. There is growing belief that one of the main reasons Governor Scott is experiencing difficulty in getting a candidate for governor who will accept his sponsorship is because of his close affinity with the Truman philosophy and practices in governmental administration.

Middle North Carolina was bypassed in a recent AP survey of southern sentiment, which included Virginia, South Carolina and body with political asplence can Georgia, as likely to take a walk from Truman. Sentiment is not so strong in this state, but nobody with political asplence can fail to recognize that the national administration is less popular than at any time in many years.

TWO STRIKES—In baseball parlance, any candidate for major state office in North Carolina, especially the governorship, who has full backing of the Truman-Scott-Daniels element in the Democratic party has two strikes and no balls to his account. He still has a chance to hit or walk to first base, but the odds are against him. At that, he is in better position than a candidate similarly situated in any of the three neighboring states of Georgia, South Carolina and Virginia. The batter there has the two strikes, no balls, but he has already batted out a couple of fouls.

VATICAN—Whatever motives inspired President Truman to name an ambassador to the Vatican, the Papal State surrounded by but not a part of Italy, the fact remains that the action further lowered his standing in North Carolina. Governor Scott declined to comment on that action when queried by your reporter, but in previous press conferences he has indicated his full belief in complete separation of church and state.

SIGNIFICANT—There is further significance, grounded in North Carolinians to the appointment of an ambassador to the court of the Pope. The only time since reconstruction days that North Carolina failed to give its electoral vote to the Democratic nominee for president was in 1928, when the state went for Herbert Hoover against Al Smith. Much ado was made at the time over the liquor issue, but many people felt then the real cause was that Al Smith was a Catholic. That appraisal was justified four years later and several times since, when the state went all out for Franklin Roosevelt—who was admittedly "wetter" than ever Al Smith was accused of being. Members of the Roman Catholic Church have contributed to the development of North Carolina. The list of Catholics who have had large part in state-building, in the past and at the present, is long and honored. That fact unfortunately does not change the deep rooted prejudice of a majority of Tarheel voters. Practical politicians recognize the force of prejudice. There is some feeling that President Truman recognized it on national level in deciding to name a Vatican ambassador.

LOSS—Others around Capitol square were not so reluctant as the governor to express opinion. Conclusion is that while the president's action might have gained strength in some big cities it definitely narrowed the already slim margin he had in North Carolina, and it is conceivable that it might be the straw deciding the balance and justifying putting North Carolina in the list of doubtful southern states with respect to support of President Truman's renomination and election.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

SPEAKING OF EXPERTS
(Kinston Free Press)
We have very little faith in any of the so-called experts. Rarely are they able to go into any local community and offer suggestions which the thinking citizens therein haven't already thought about. No telling how much money the City of Kinston has paid for a consulting engineer to come here and advise on power and water plant developments when working engineers no doubt would have done a better job.

Some glaring mistakes have been made as a result of this highly paid for advice. The water intake at the power plant has for some years stood as a monument to error (we are not talking about the deep wells which supply the City of Kinston, but the water from the river for use in the plant).

The two little dinky smokestacks which were erected and the discarding of the tall stack, which for years had carried most of the dirt and soot coming from the plant over the city rather than depositing this grime upon the homes, is another one of this expert's errors.

We asked another consulting engineer once why, in his opinion, was the large stack abandoned. He facetiously replied: "Well the large stack had already been built and there was no commission in that for the consulting engineer." Yes, we can do a lot on our own hook without having to call in high priced outsiders to tell us something that we already know, or that in its final analysis will be of no particular benefit to us.

There are exceptions and times when expert advice is needed and should be sought.

Business Today

Latest entrant in the race by "miracle" fibers to capture a big part of the textile market from natural fibers is "Stazenu," which was recently shown by Joseph Bancroft & Sons Co., Wilmington, Del. Like several of the other new fibers, Stazenu is considered an alternative to wool. Textile exports who have seen Stazenu say it has the look and "hand" of wool and also in some cases of linen. The manufacturer insists, however, that the new fiber is not to be considered a synthetic wool or wool extender, but a new fabric with its own individual uses. Stazenu is manufactured by chemically converting cotton and rayon.

Local business men will do well to keep abreast of the new fiber developments. They will need to understand the characteristics of each, for which purposes each is most suitable, and what to tell customers about how to select, use and care for them. Rapid progress is being made in both expanding production and refining the use of these fibers. "Acrilan," one of the new ones, is entering commercial production after years of research and development. Orion, which is already available in many clothing items, is about to blossom forth in a full range of colors, which had been previously impossible. Dynel, another new synthetic with many of the qualities of wool, is now appearing in blankets, drapes and other fabrics. The blankets are said to be lighter than wool, and also fire-resistant.

NEW FLUORESCENT LIGHTING TECHNIQUE
Watch the development of a new lighting technique which Chemical & Engineering News says will begin in St. Louis in about a year, following its introduction in institutions and industrial plants. The technique uses a transparent fluorescent coating for walls and ceilings activated by an oscillator, mercury vapor lamp or ultraviolet light. The emitted light may be varied in intensity and color by adjusting the oscillator coating. The firm which developed the new method, H. H. Turchin Co., 41 E. 42nd St., New York, claims it is diffuse, shadowless and inexpensive.

HIGHER EXCISES DON'T ALWAYS MEAN MORE REVENUE
If Congress ever gets around to finally enacting a tax bill, it may find that the higher excises it contemplates on a number of products won't actually mean much additional revenue, a recent Canadian experience indicates. Canada increased its cigarette excise this year and now finds consumption has already declined almost 11 per cent, which largely offsets the higher tax rate. If the decline exceeds 13 per cent, an actual drop in revenue will result, Canadian bankers estimate.

CARPET RETAILERS WORRIED OVER PRICE OF BLENDS
Carpet retailers are voicing concern over the future of rayon-wool blends now that the price of all-wool carpeting has been chopped severely, and mills and jobbers are offering all kinds of "dealers" on the all-wool type. Retailers feel that there is now insufficient differential between the price of the blend and the wool.

RETAILERS' EARNINGS SQUEEZED
Although sales were higher the first half of this year, profits of large retail corporations are being squeezed by higher operating expenses and taxes. A tabulation by the National City Bank of New York shows that sales were up 11 per cent over the same period in 1950, but net income after taxes was 13 per cent lower. One of the sharpest squeezes was felt by the 14 largest food chains whose net dropped 17 per cent while combined sales rose 30.

NEW PRODUCTS SUPPORTED PLASTIC
A new supported plastic fabric with three-dimensional quality has been announced by F. Schumacher & Co., 535 Madison Ave., New York.

TANK COVER
A cover of molded plastic to replace broken or rounded top toilet tank covers has a safety ridge all around to keep toilet articles from falling or rolling off. It's offered by Tybond Products Co., 2435 N. Western Ave., Chicago.

TOOL
A new tool for tightening or loosening nuts, bolts or screws in hard-to-reach places, called the Impakdriver, has been developed by H. K. Porter, Inc., Somerville, Mass.

HOSE FITTING
A garden hose repair fitting especially designed for plastic hose is being marketed by Sherman Mfg. Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK —(AP)—No day is complete in the life of the American office worker until he is dunned by "the collection taker."

This is the hand-in-your-pocket individual who comes up to sandbag you out of your spending money for the welfare of some other character in the office zoo.

The contributions usually are for one of the following causes:

1. Old Joe, the office bachelor, has just passed on, mourned by his four bookies and a wide circle of distressed bartenders. How about some flowers for good old Joe, even though he would prefer to be buried with a case of bourbon?

2. Susie, the office's variety stenog, has quit to go home and have triplets. Let's raise a fund to send at least two of the kids through college.

3. Pat, the young and popular stock clerk, has just come down with a bad attack of malaria in the adenoids. Come on, fellows, dip deep—and let's finance Pat to a week on the beach at Miami. It's the only way to get rid of malaria this time of year.

Everybody sooner or later gets the chore of going around the office and taking up these collections. And it has two advantages. It keeps you from having to do your own work, and if you make the collection nobody knows whether you actually contributed any cash yourself.

Here are some of the worthy-cause victims you'll find in every office in the land:

1. The stern-principled grouch—"I'll give two bits if it's for a funeral. Otherwise, count me out."

2. The pass-it-on-to-management advocate—"Why doesn't the firm have a fund for situations like this?"

3. The doleful donkey—he reaches in his pocket as soon as he sees you, and groans, "Don't tell me what it's for. Just tell me how much you want."

4. The happy contributor—"Sure, put me down for a buck. I'm glad to do it. I don't have it with me—you put it in for me, will you? (Two weeks later he comes up and says, "Say, don't you still owe me that buck I put in for you to buy old Joe those roses?")

5. The coward—he hides out in the men's room every day until noon so nobody can separate him from the four bits his wife gave him for lunch.

6. The empty-pockets blues-singer—"Gee, you know I'd like to. But the mortgage on our television set comes due tomorrow."

7. The cry baby—"Nobody ever took up a collection for me. I could drop dead in my tracks and nobody around here would even bother to send me a get-well card."

8. The cheerful four-flusher—"I can't get in on it right now. But see me Friday for sure. Now don't forget." (He stays home from work Friday, figuring by Monday the whole thing will blow over.)

9. The Philadelphia lawyer type—"I think you are going about this in the wrong way. How about getting him workmen's compensation? Has anyone written the Social Security board? How about taking this up with his congressman? Oh, no that's

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON — As a girl Ruby F. Bryant was torn between the teaching and nursing professions. She has satisfied both desires. She started out as a country school marm. Now she has taken the top in the nursing profession.

She's Col. Bryant now, new chief of the Army Nurse Corps (ANC) of 5,400 nurses.

Col. Bryant who hails from nearby Emmerton, Va., was graduated from the Fredericksburg (Va.) State Teachers College and taught in Richmond County, Virginia, schools four years before the urge to become a nurse won out. It's been a long but steady climb to become the ANC's sole colonel—three years at the Army Nursing School, four years at Walter Reed Hospital here, then a three-year tour of duty in the Philippines, where her principal job was setting up and equipping the now-famous Malinta tunnel hospital on tiny Corregidor Island.

She left Corregidor before the tunnel hospital housed Gen. MacArthur and American troops during World War II. During the war she was in charge of nursing services in the 4th Service Command Headquarters at Atlanta, Ga.

"I always seemed to be somewhere else when the shooting started, but I've enjoyed every tour I've had," Colonel Bryant told me. Her most recent assignment was as chief nurse with the 6th Army area headquarters in San Francisco. In 1948 she was stationed in Tokyo.

"Washington is practically home to me, but I'm going to be on the go from now on. I will have to visit practically every Army area where nurses are stationed."

The nurse shortage is Col. Bryant's greatest concern. The need for nurses, she says, is not merely because of Korea, as popularly supposed, but because many new Army posts and camps are opening throughout the country for the training of soldiers.

Nor is it true that fewer girls are turning to nursing. Colonel Bryant observes that enrollments in the nursing schools have increased but that many more nurses are required mostly because of expanding health services and population needs.

Colonel Bryant says she probably will have to encourage nurses from civilian hospitals to join the ANC. She argues that a certain percentage of civilians is being absorbed by the Army and should have a proper quota of nurses with them. She hopes to fill the Army's nurse shortage by June.

Eight Nurses To Attend Session

Eight nurses from Greenville and Pitt County will attend the forty-ninth Annual Convention in Greensboro October 23-26. Some of them will stay for the entire convention and others will go for special meetings.

Those who are planning to go are: Mrs. Alton Clapp, Mrs. Seba Quirley, Mrs. S. B. Tucker, Miss Julia Fisher, Miss Hannah Batson, Miss Mildred Wilson, Miss Verta Black, and Miss Doris Michalk.

"Improving Nursing Service in North Carolina" will be the theme of the convention and Mrs. Marie E. Neel, executive secretary of the North Carolina State Nurses' Association, said the largest registration in the history of the association is expected.

Meeting with the North Carolina State Nurses' Association will be the North Carolina League of Nurses' Education for its 33rd Annual Convention and the Student Nurse Association of North Carolina for its Second Annual Convention.

Heading the list of speakers during the four day session will be Ella Best, executive secretary of the American Nurses' Association; Kathryn Callerty, director, Department of Services to Schools of Nursing, National League of Nursing Education; Dr. William G. Hollister, Mental Hygiene Consultant, United States Public Health Service; E. Z. Jones, director, Council of Civil Defense in North Carolina; and Dr. George D. Dowling, medical director of the south-eastern area, American Red Cross.

There will be other speakers at the various section meetings and Janet Streeter, president of the Massachusetts State Council of Student Nurses, will address the student nurses.

Named Editor of Club Publication

By WYATT BROWN
The Greenville Rotary Club has selected David Whichard III as editor of their local club publication, and he talked the idea over with the members Monday night at their weekly meeting. He told them his conception of its content and then asked for any ideas from members. Several good ideas were contributed.

Whichard also explained that he was going to call on other talent in the Club to assist in the editing. Those he mentioned were Howard McGinnis and James W. Butler. Dr. McGinnis originated the local club's "Lubricator" and edited for several years. Rotarian Butler who has just moved to Greenville edited the Goldsboro club organ for several years.

Robert L. Humber gave a thumbnail sketch of his life last night. He was born in Greenville and attended school here into High School but transferred to Winterville high to graduate. He graduated from Wake Forest and entered the Army for World War I. After the army he attended Harvard, Oxford, and the University of Paris; then he practiced law and served as a business executive for the next sixteen years. In 1940 just ahead of Hitler's entrance in to Paris Humber and his family returned to the United States. Upon settling again in his native city he determined to stay out of his profession or business and instead enter upon a crusade to promote world federation as a substitute for war. For the past eleven years he said he has been trying to raise his idea of world federation to a political discussion because to be of use it must be politically implemented. In his concluding words from the first days of his return to his native state in establishing a State Art Gallery. It has come to full fruition through a private bequest of a million dollars and a matching million from the state.

Bobbie Nichols was greeted as Junior Rotarian last night. Visiting Rotarians were Lebrun Spence of Melbourne, Florida and Paul Jones and George Davis of Farmville. Charles White, Club president, presided. Reverend Leon Russell reminded the Rotarians of the United Nations Day observance at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church on Wednesday night of this week with a distinguished speaker and music for the occasion by the College Singers from East Carolina College.

Floyd Hendrix told the local Rotarians of the fine job past District Governor Howard McGinnis did last Monday night in Charter Presentation at Oriental.

Junior 4-H Club Of Fountain In Second Meeting

The Fountain Junior 4-H club met last week for the second time this year and discussed what they would use the money for that they were awarded for their booth at the Pitt County Agricultural Fair.

No definite decision was reached and the business will be carried over until the next meeting of the club. Other business brought up was the County Council meeting next week.

At the close of the business meeting, the group divided and the boys discussed their project for the year and the girls discussed their project.

Faye Moore, president, presided over the meeting.

Gable A 'Guinea Pig' In Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. —(AP)—Attorney Jerry Giesler says he will force Clark Gable the guinea pig in testing a California law on residence requirements in divorce cases.

The lawyer obtained for his client, the former Lady Sylvia Ashley, a court order yesterday for Gable to show cause Monday why he should not be restrained from obtaining a Nevada divorce.

Giesler said he will take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary "to prevent these so-called quickie divorces." He added that under a 1949 law California courts will not recognize divorces obtained in other states if the party seeking the divorce lived in California for 12 months prior to the decree. There has been no test of this law as yet, Giesler says.

Mrs. Gable filed her divorce suit here last May, alleging cruelty. Gable answered the action, denying cruelty. Then he filed for divorce in Nevada last Oct., also charging cruelty.

Big Escort For Hospital Patient

TORRANCE, Calif. —(AP)—When Eugene Adkins, 29, entered Harbor General Hospital, he had an official escort of five firemen, one policeman, two ambulance attendants—and a laundry truck. That's what it took to move Adkins' 682 pounds from his L.L.O.N.G. Beach home to the hospital for an operation, probably today. He is paralyzed from the waist down as a result of an automobile accident.

Rail Fare Plea Hearing Is Set

RALEIGH —(AP)— A hearing has been set for Dec. 6 by the State Utilities Commission on a petition by Tar Heel railroads for permission to increase passenger fares.

The railroads want a general 10 per cent boost in fares inside North Carolina. This would correspond to a similar interstate increase granted Oct. 10 by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Under the proposal, basic coach fares would be stepped up from 25 cents a mile to 2.75 cents.

Finish Building After 25 Years

DETROIT (UP)— The Pontchartrains Club Building, on which construction was started in 1926 and stopped one year later when its backers were hit by the stock market crash, will be completed as a swank apartment house, its new owners said today.

Crumbing fortifications on the Azores Islands were built to repel privateers.

Prospects of a good yield from the 1951 peanut crop are seen by Roy Jones, farmers of near Bruce, as he supervises harvesting of his crop on the A. C. Monk Farm. (Reflector Staff Photos by Roy Hardee.)

Pitt Peanut Harvest Promises To Be Best Yield In Five Years

Pitt County's peanut harvest is producing this fall one of the best yields in five years, but the marketing prospects for the crop loom as a questionable quantity.

With the reported large carry-over from the 1950 peanut crop still stored in warehouses, the going price for peanuts from Pitt County may hover close to the government support price of $230.56 per ton, but farmers are hoping against hope that the national defense program may once again put oil peanuts in great demand.

Most of Pitt's crop of 9,10 acres of "Goobers" has been dug and stacked in the fields, and in a few scattered places about the county farmers have begun thrashing; but expected to get into full swing until the first of second week in November depending upon weather conditions between now and then. If the weather holds favorable for peanut harvesting, Pitt County Farm Agent Sam Winchester expects most of the crop to be out of the fields by the end of November.

"It is the general consensus of peanut growers in the county that they are making better yields than in the past four or five years," Winchester commented yesterday. He said weather conditions this year had been more favorable for peanuts than last year, and much more favorable than in 1948 when most farmers dug their crop early, stacked it in the field and then could not get it out of the field because of extremely wet weather.

Since the pre-World War II days peanuts in Pitt County have advanced from an insignificant crop to one of the more important crops produced by the farmers of the county. Before the war there were less than 1,000 acres of peanuts planted in the county, but by 1945 Pitt's peanut production had risen to more than 15,800 acres in response to the government's request for increased quantities of peanut oil. Following the war the acreage gradually decreased from year to year, but when the crop came under the acreage control program in 1949, Pitt was allotted approximately 12,000 acres in the government quota. By 1951 the quota had dropped to 10,085.2 acres, but it was 10 times greater than the county's peanut quota of pre-war days.

The tremendous quota increase was due to the vastly increased peanut production of the county during the war years, and the fact that quotas, when they were re-established in 1949, were based on production during the war years when the government was pleading with farmers for more peanuts. Although Pitt County's 1951 allotment of 10,085.2 acres is for edible peanuts, under the provisions of the quota system, individual farmers are allowed to plant the difference between their quota and their total 1948 peanut acreage in peanuts for the oil market.

Chapter 33

Bea Cronk considered the question a moment while Johnny maneuvered a bit of roadway that was partially drifted over. The woman said, "You're a very discerning person. I thought you were just getting tight with Doris. Yet, at the same time, you discovered something. Didn't you?"

"Yes." "Years ago, Doris was married once before. She was quite young at the time. The man was absolutely no good. Shortly after the marriage he was sent to prison. But even before that he had walked out on Doris and her mother, taking everything he could lay his hands on. She got a divorce, and no one here has ever known."

"I'm beginning to see," said Johnny. "Then Doris married again—to wealthy Jock Wells. And she's crazy about him. I know that if anything ever happens to their marriage..." "She'd die," Bea finished for him. "That's what she fears." "What happened to Doris then?" "She's been dead a number of years." "You say," asked Johnny thoughtfully, "Doris' first husband walked off with a lot of stuff?"

"Yes—" "Would you recall anything about an old spinet desk?" He described the object that had been in the auction rooms. "Let's presume her first husband stored that desk in the auction house. He knew it contained papers and things of value. He planned to call for it later, but in the meantime was sent to prison and—"

Bea's face brightened as she interrupted him. "Yes—I remember that desk! And I also heard that he had escaped from prison." She stared at him intently. "Don't you see? Maybe he's behind this. May- be he's trying to threaten Doris!" Johnny sighed. "For your sake, Bea, I'd like to think so. But I doubt it. Somehow, your brother found out about the desk and its contents, and is using it for blackmail purposes."

He knew that she was crying again. Johnny asked no more questions. Besides, he had little opportunity. Driving was worse now. Finally, he estimated that they had reached the stretch of straight roadway from which the side road led to The Colony. He slowed down. Abruptly visible through the blowing snow were numerous, blinking yellow and red lights. Johnny brought the car to a stop. A huge transport truck was parked, almost blocking their way.

To the woman, Johnny said, "Just a minute," and climbed out, closing the door again behind him. The wind blew hard particles of snow against his face as he hurried toward the truck.

The truck driver had seen the lights of Johnny Saxon's car come up behind him. He swung out of the high cab as Johnny approached. "You're out of luck, mister," he called.

Johnny blinked his eyes against the snow particles that whipped against his face. "What's wrong up ahead?" he asked.

He could see red flares blinking, dimming, and then brightening as the wind shifted. The driver told him, "A big trail-er job slewed around up there. It has the road completely blocked. There's nothing anyone can do until they can get a wrecker out here. Lord knows when that'll be!"

Johnny explained, "I'm turning off a side road just ahead. I think it's only fifty yards or so." He pointed, squinting against the storm.

"Wait," the truck driver said. He climbed up on the running board of the transport reached inside the cab and flicked a switch. A big, movable spotlight outside the cab flashed into life. Grasping a handle attached to the light, the man directed its powerful beam ahead. The light picked out the side road and illuminated it clearly.

"Swell!" said Johnny. "Keep the light trained on that spot until I swing off. I think I can make it."

"Good luck!" the man called, as Johnny went back to the coupe. Bea Cronk's face was strained and tense. He knew what she was thinking, and it made him feel like saying the hell with it, and chucking the whole thing. And yet, he felt, she had prepared herself to see this thing through now.

Grimacing tightly as he started the car up again, Johnny warned, "Hang on. This might be a little rough!"

The car slewed roughly from side to side. Then it found old ruts beneath the new layer of snow and the heavy tires dug in.

Johnny kept gunning it, and they moved up the grade. He breathed with relief when they reached the top of the low ridge and the car shot forward again. Moments later the white fence of The Colony swept into view. The heavy car slid sideways through the gate entrance. Ahead, a large black opening yawned in the end of the high barn. He saw that the big doors had been left propped open and that cars were parked inside. A wide runway led right through the barn.

He drove in, up behind one of the other cars and cut the ignition. As they climbed out, he heard water dripping from the fenders of the cars. They could not have been here long, he surmised. Outside the barn, somewhere in the stormy night, he heard the deep throaty barking of the great Danes.

Young 'Crime Wave' Who Fled Reformatory Nabbed

Shelton Brooks Dupree, teen-age Negro, described by Greenville police as a "one-boy crime wave," who recently escaped from the reformatory at Hoffman, is back in jail.

Police arrested him at a house next door to his parents, Walter and Goldie Dupree, 1208-A Pitt street, between Saturday midnight and dawn Sunday. They recovered nearly enough stolen merchandise to start a small department store Detective N. H. Byrd said.

Also behind the bars again is Augustus Moore, teen-age Negro, nocturnal robber who recently escaped from the reformatory at Hoffman.

Police said Dupree has a record of store-breaking since May of 1947. He admitted to police that he and three other boys had robbed 30 business places before they were caught the first time. One of these boys is working out his time with a farmer in Pitt county. The other two have reformed.

Police do not believe Dupree's statement that he is under 16 years old. He is over 16, they agreed. There are four Dupree children. There are birth certificates at the courthouse for three of them, but none for Shelton Dupree. Some of the loot recovered from Dupree is a large quantity of men's clothing and accessories stolen from the War Surplus Store on Dickinson avenue; blankets from J. C. Penney & Company's store, and a lot of toys and novelties believed to have been stolen from dime stores.

As they reached the side entrance porch, Johnny heard the dogs still barking out there in the night.

Now they were inside the clothes. Doctor Sam Stark himself house, shaking snow from their had flung open the door. Johnny's eyes brightened with relief when he saw Nancy appear behind him in the small, warm study. She held a cocktail glass in her hand.

The clothing Dupree is alleged to have stolen from the War Surplus Store is all of his size, police said.

Police have connected the youngster with nearly half a hundred store robberies.

Officers who arrested Dupree and Augustus Moore were Lt. M. E. Corbett, Detective N. H. Byrd, Caesar Corbett, H. B. Lilly and W. B. Cole. Police said shortly after it was reported that Dupree and Moore had escaped from the Hoffman reformatory, they expected to have reports of numerous robberies as soon as the boys got back home. They did.

What is a good price for a diamond?

If you were buying a one-half carat (.50ct.) top quality AAA-1 diamond ring, what would you consider a good price? Some jewelers get $450.00*; others a little more or less. If you have "wholesale" connections in New York or Chicago, you may pay as little as $290.00*. Yet if you buy this same ring from Lautares Brothers, Greenville, North Carolina, you will pay $275.00*, quality graded and GUARANTEED by a trained diamond expert, CHEAPER THAN WHOLESALE! Yes, and we have been for the past two years.

How? Why? . . . First of all because we know diamonds and the diamond market, then because we buy loose, unmounted diamonds direct from one of the world's leading diamond cutters. By eliminating the profit of the ring, manufacturer and wholesaler, we save you up to 60%, depending upon stone quality, size and price range.

There are few communities in the United States that have an opportunity to buy diamonds on such a basis. We are more than proud we can sell our gems honestly and ethically at such a saving to the purchaser.

When you are in the market for a diamond or if you are just mildly interested, we invite you to talk to our diamond expert. His knowledge will help you make your purchase.

Never before have we used competitive prices in advertising. We believe, though, that the above facts, and amount of money that may be saved are too important to remain unknown.

Filipino Reds Advocate Armed Revolt In Island

MANILA —(UP)— The underground Communist Party of the Philippines has jumped into the island's turbulent 1951 election campaign with an appeal to voters to use ballots rather than ballots.

In leaflets and pamphlets ground out by the party's propaganda machine, Filipinos are urged to boycott the November elections at which voters will pick nine senators and fill provincial and municipal posts.

"Refuse to vote for the imperialist-puppet candidates," the party said. Instead, "join and support the armed struggle for national liberation."

The Communist campaign literature has been appearing regularly in Manila and in the provinces. Stacks of mimeographed election propaganda have been seized in raids on Red handouts by government agents.

Rife On Leaflets
The Communist case is stated at length in a 10-page booklet — a companion piece to leaflets picturing a ballot captioned "Don't use this," and a rifle with the appeal, "Use this."

The part finds little to choose between President Elpidio Quirino's Liberal Party and the opposition Nacionalistas and makes a strong appeal to those with nationalist or Anti-American feelings. Of the two major parties, the booklet says: "The corruption and degeneracy of the Liberal Party is known in every city, town and barrio. The Nacionalista Party, like the Liberal Party, is infested with cheap grafters and political career men who gaudily sell themselves to the highest bidder."

"Nacionalistas are being bought off by the Liberals and Liberals are being bought off by Nacionalistas and the people are being sold by both."

Anti-U. S. Tirade
After dismissing both groups with the comment, "Today it is not even a matter of choosing between the lesser of two evils," the booklet gets to the usual red tirade against "American imperialism."

"The bankruptcy of elections in the Philippines is the result of a complete corruption of our politics by American imperialism," the booklet says.

"The big American investors and military men who dominate our country have always tolerated and abetted corruption here because it makes good puppets. Whatever the American imperialists want in our country they can get. All they have to do is to demand it, and the puppets of both parties leap forward to do their bidding."

"The armed struggle is the revolutionary solution to the people's problems," the party concludes.

'Stretching' Of Truth Sometimes Can Win Medal

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)— People who fudge a bit on the truth don't always wind up in jail. Some get rubber medals.

The decorations, denoting flexibility, are among prizes to be given this year in the annual competition sponsored by the Burlington, Wis., Liars Club.

O.C. Hulett, president and founder of the club, gave me a sneak preview of some of this year's entries. Here are some samples:

Joe Rajcsanyi, of Columbus, O., says he was sitting around the cracker barrel one winter afternoon, looking for a place to spit, when the gab turned to horses. Joe says an old chap looked up and said:

"I used to own the fastest horse in the world."

Brows turned to heaven and the man continued:

"One day a gosh-awful storm came up when I was nearly 60 miles from the farm. I headed the horse for the barn and believe it or not, he raced ahead of the storm. I didn't get a drop on my buckskin."

"But my dog, who was eight feet behind us when we started, had to swim all the way home. It's a shame to do away with dogs, but I had to do that critter in. I can't stand a slow animal."

A fellow named Manuel Finklestorm, who wrote in from the neighborhood of Council Bluffs, Ia., swears this one is true.

He says he went bear-hunting in the West and lost his glasses, which were common plain glass goggles. He borrowed his guide's spectacles—the magnifying kind.

The near-sighted guide couldn't see a thing but Finklestorm spotted a big animal and opened fire. Without taking off his glasses, he shouldered his fallen prey and then proudly presented it to his fellow hunters for inspection around the campfire that night.

Finklestorm, who now wears bifocals, admitted he was a little embarrassed. He had bagged a field mouse.

William Hiestand of West Lafayette, Ind., tells about a hunter friend of his who has a special technique in bagging squirrels. He goes out at night with a flashlight and kills the little beasties with a sling shot—equipped with a telescopic sight.

Here's another from a gent named J.L. Clark, of Erie, Pa. It's best told in Mr. Clark's own words:

"Out in the woods one day I found a seven-foot rattlesnake pinned down by a log, and me, the big softie, got the log off and let him go free. Never say a rattlesnake isn't grateful."

"He followed me home, and hung around the house, tame as a dog. One night I heard a noise downstairs, and going to look, found the rattlesnake wrapped around the burglar's legs, with his tail in the window, rattling for the gendarmes."

Pitt Alumni Dinner Meet Held In Chicod

Pitt county alumni of East Carolina College in a dinner meeting at Chicod high school held the first of four sessions scheduled for the current term.

James W. Butler, alumni secretary of ECC, was presented as principal speaker on the program which featured a dinner served by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Pleasant Hill Baptist Church in the school lunch room and an informal reception.

Mrs. Linwood Worthington, president of the Pitt County chapter of the alumni association, opened the meeting, conducting a short business session, and presented Principal Fodie H. Hodges of Chicod School as toastmaster.

A program of variety entertainment was directed by Mr. Hodges, with Mrs. Hodges assisting, in which Halloween skits and stunts contributed to the merry-making. The college song, "Dear Old East Carolina," closed the program.

In his address, Butler, who was presented by Hodges, reviewed several activities on other East Carolina alumni chapters, and cited as an objective the support of the general college program.

Student recruitment is one of the alumni association's objectives. Butler said, and he urged Pitt county alumni to give this phase of public relations for the college more active support.

"Larger membership in the alumni association, especially in the 'home' community of the college to give an expression of loyalty to the college, support more actively the campus life, athletic programs, and the other phases of college activity will perpetuate the college spirit," Butler said in his address.

Mrs. Worthington announced the appointment of Mr. and Mrs. Fodie H. Hodges as co-chairmen of the Pitt alumni membership committee for 1951-52 and reported progress in the membership of the chapter.

The schedule of alumni meetings for the Pitt chapter as approved by the officers of the chapter and announced by Mrs. Worthington include: Farmville, December 6; Greenville, February 21; Bethel, April 17.

In this system of rotation among Pitt county communities, it is our plan to contact a greater number of East Carolina alumni and develop a stronger and more active interest in the college and its alumni relations, Mrs. Worthington said.

The lunch room was decorated in colors appropriate to the Halloween and Harvest seasons.

Guests present included Miss Ruth White, dean of women at East Carolina College and alumni association treasurer, and Mrs. Ann McPherson of Littleton, president of the Littleton chapter.

The princesses who rode in the parade will compete for the title of Queen of the Harvest and will be crowned at the Harvest Ball in the Planter's Warehouse tonight. The music for the ball will be furnished by Dick Levine and his State College Orchestra.

Last year's queen, Jean Carol Griffin, will reign over the festivities until she surrenders her crown and scepter to the new queen. Princesses came from Tarboro, Ahoskie, Bear Grass, Bethel, Edenton, Farm Life, Oak City, Hertford, Jamesville, Plymouth, Scotland Neck, Washington, Windsor, and Williamston.

Students Include In-Service Group

East Carolina College includes among students enrolled for the fall quarter 167 in-service teachers who commute to the campus each week to attend evening classes or caresses meeting on Saturday mornings, according to information from Registrar Orval L. Phillips.

These students are availing themselves of the opportunity to do graduate work or to raise their certificates by taking courses scheduled for their convenience by the college. They come from towns within a radius of 125 miles of Greenville.

The total number of 167 students includes 113 graduate and 54 undergraduate students. Graduate students are taking work leading to a master's degree in education; others are enrolled for various types of work.

The evening and Saturday classes in which commuters are enrolled include courses in the departments of education, psychology, art, English, health and physical education, mathematics, library science, music, and the social studies.

A chain of towns in the Ruhr valley of Germany is called the "Wuppertal" (witches' valley) because of the eerie glare of its steel mills.

Williamston Has Harvest Festival

WILLIAMSTON — Williamston's Fourth Annual Harvest Festival got into full swing last night when it opened with a street dance at 9 o'clock.

All week local merchants had been working on exhibits and floats for the festival parade today and decorated store fronts lined the business district.

The festival was officially opened at the dance last night with both round and square dancing being featured. Music was by Ohio Willard and his string band and featured music by Dick Levine and his sextet. Dancing continued for both white and colored participants until 12 o'clock last night. Arrangements were made for the street dance by Bernard Harrison and Alonza Bland.

Today the floats moved down Main Street for the biggest day of the festival and the streets were cleared at 1 o'clock for "Clown Alley" where clowns drew laughter from their antics.

Eleven bands participated in the parade which lasted for an hour and nearly 25 floats moved down the streets. Fifteen "princesses" from surrounding towns were present

Went To China, Now Want Out

SINGAPORE —(AP)— More than 4,000 Singapore Chinese who went to Communist China now are seeking to return here.

They're applied for re-entry visas but they'll likely have a long wait. It was estimated that investigation of applications would require several months.

Strict measures are now being enforced to prevent illegal entry and exit. Persons desiring to leave must show good cause before any exit permit is granted.

Egyptians Demonstrating Against British

Laughing young Egyptians wave hands and papers and display signs in a street in Cairo during popular excitement over Egypt's abrogation of a 1936 defense treaty with Britain. The demonstrations followed a proclamation by the Egyptian parliament, annexing the Sudan to King Farouk's empire. By treaty, the Sudan is administered jointly by Egypt and Great Britain. ## County And District Scouters In Meeting

The Pitt County Scout District Committee and Scoutmasters Roundtable met together Monday night at the American Legion Home and then divided into separate groups after the opening.

Jack Dowdy, chairman of the district committee, said the main purpose of the roundtable was the promoting physical fitness among scouts and adults. The ways of acquiring physical fitness was brought out and its part in civil defense was stressed.

The Roundtable also made plans for scout activities for November, such as the Halloween Festival, recreational activities, and the part scouts will play in the East Carolina Planning Conference which is to be held here today.

At its session, the District Committee voted to ask the recreation commission for the use of the dressing rooms at the swimming pool. Badger Johnson, leader's training chairman, announced that a training course for Negro scout leaders will be held November 29 and a course for white leaders will be held later.

The Health and Safety Committee, headed by Dr. Herbert Hadley, reported they had distributed 3,000 check sheets in city homes during Fire Prevention Week.

Dr. Hadley also pointed out the need for urging scouts to take tetanus shots and the scout leaders were asked to urge boys in their troops to take the shots. Facilities will be made available for all scouts for this program.

A nominating committee was appointed to elect officers for the year and Sherman Parks was named as chairman of the committee with Lloyd Worthington and Wyatt Brown serving with him.

It was decided that the Board of Review would meet on the second Monday of every month instead of the third Monday as previously done. They will meet at the Jarvis Memorial Church. A place to hold the council camporee the county was discussed also at the Roundtable.

No Intentions Of Lifting Controls On Cattle Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price director Michael V. DiSalle said "we most emphatically do not" intend to remove price controls from beef and beef cattle.

On the contrary, he added, new enforcement measures are under study.

DiSalle spoke out in a statement issued at a time when pressure for lifting the controls appeared to be mounting from the meat industry and some farm groups.

Also, it appeared that disagreement over some of the new steps DiSalle's Office of Price Stabilization (OPS) reported considering may go to the White House for final decision.

Agriculture Department officials are known to be reluctant to be drawn into program designed to make the controls work more effectively than they are.

In declaring that OPS does not intend to abandon beef price controls because congress refused to grant it new authority to impose slaughter quotas, DiSalle said: "Beef comprises a very important part of the American family's diet, and we feel it is a mafor responsibility of ours to do all in our power to see that it costs the housewife no more than it does already."

In a New York speech last night, DiSalle accused a "Majority" of the meat industry of fighting "our price controls with non-compliance, misstatements, unethical conduct, and illegal and immoral operations."

It is conceded by all parties concerned that there are widespread violations of the ceilings and that the result is a disturbed meat production and distribution pattern. Some slaughterers and sections of the country are getting more than their normal share and others are going short.

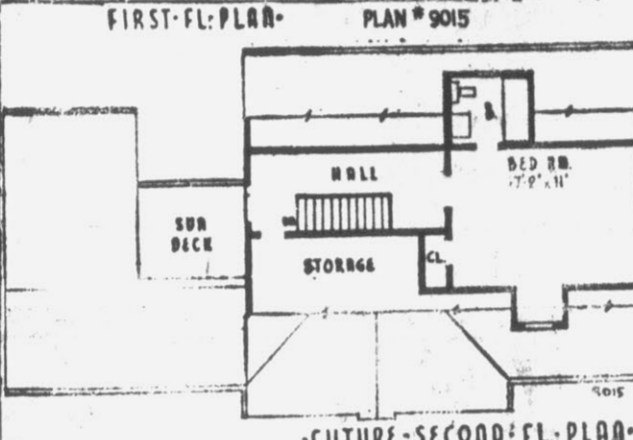

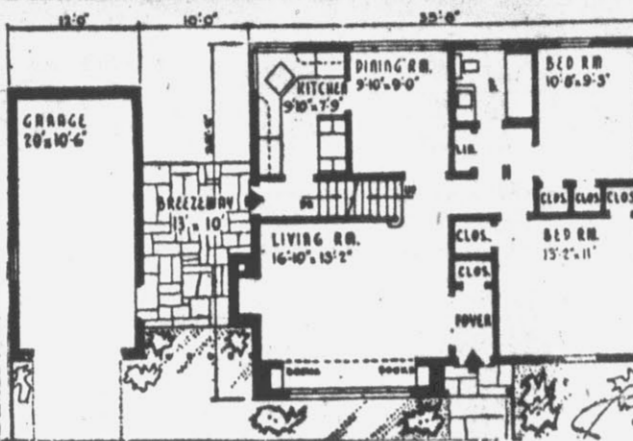

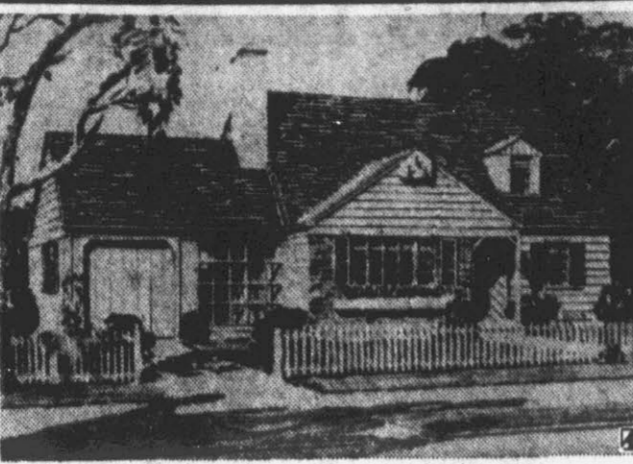

One of the worst angles of this disturbed pattern is that the armed services are unable to get essential supplies of beef. Big packers who normally supply the military claim they cannot do so because price ceiling violators are bidding the cattle away from them.

Leave To Attend League Meeting

Mayor Lester Page, City Clerk H. H. Duncan, and C. K. Beatty, superintendent of the street department, left this morning to attend the North League of Municipalities in Winston-Salem.

They will attend the three-day session which takes in a discussion of city government and sessions for all departments of city government. A guest speaker is scheduled for session.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures
LUXURY IN EMERGENCY, this house is designed to meet current restrictions on copper and steel without sacrificing livability. Although the house proper, without garage and breezeway, covers only 950 square feet, it provides space for three bedrooms and two baths. The second floor can be finished later as the family grows. This is plan 9015 by Edward R. Tyler, 586 Macon Road, Hempstead, N. Y.

Berserk Mental Patient And Trooper Die In Fight

PETERSBURG, Va. (UP)—A Negro patient, who became a berserk killer after 14 dole years in a Virginia mental hospital, died in a hall of shotgun fire when 11 state troopers stormed the farmhouse where he had barricaded himself.

Before he was killed, 35-year-old Herbert Johnson killed one trooper, wounded seven other persons and held off more than 100 officers for seven hours yesterday.

Capt. W. H. Holland led the troopers who stormed the farmhouse as 5,000 spectators looked on.

Holland and his men blasted a hole in the ceiling of the gas-filled, burning farmhouse and killed Johnson as he raised a stolen shotgun.

The long siege left the house in ruins, and its owner, T. L. Childress, set out immediately to hunt a new home because "my wife is afraid of living near mental patients."

W. M. Simpson, 40, special investigator for the state police, was killed by a blast from Johnson's shotgun. He lay mortally wounded in a field for more than an hour before rescuers reached him. Simpson was walking toward the house to persuade Johnson to give up when the Negro cut him down.

Trooper S. R. Gemmill and Sheriff W. P. Butterworth also were wounded in the fighting. Tillman Jones and Simon Dickerson, hospital attendants, were slightly hurt. Patients James King and Frank Barksdale also were hit, and a bystander, Jack O'Brien, was nicked.

Johnson, an inmate of the hospital since 1937, was a dementia praecox patient. He was working in a truck crop field near busy U.S. Highway One yesterday morning when he darted into a grove of woods surrounding the farmhouse. He reappeared in its doorway with a shotgun in his hands and shot Jones.

Troopers and police crouched in old Civil War trenches in front of the house during the siege. They fired tear gas bombs and riot guns into the house, while an armored car bombarded the structure as it circled the field. Officers were ordered not to use rifles because of the crowd.

Western Actor Ready To Face Perjury Charge

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Western actor Tim Holt, 32, son of the late film star Jack Holt, was free under $2,500 bail today pending his return to Little Rock, Ark., to answer a perjury charge.

Holt surrendered voluntarily to the sheriff's office yesterday on a warrant from Little Rock charging him with falsely swearing that he had resided in Pulaski County, Ark., for 90 days prior to applying for a divorce from his estranged wife, Alice Harrison Holt.

Holt said he still lists Little Rock as his legal residence although he has withdrawn his divorce action. First-degree perjury carries a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison under Arkansas law.

More Veterans Home From War

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—More than 1,300 Marine veterans of some of the fiercest battles of the Korean war, arrive at Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay today.

The Marines took part in fighting at Inchon, Seoul, Chosin Reservoir, Hamhung and "Heartbreak Ridge."

Stowaway Angel To Be Deported For Third Time

CAMDEN, N. J. (UP)—Spanish seaman Angel la Fuente, 25, likes the United States—but it looks as if he will have to leave again.

La Fuente was indicted by a federal grand jury yesterday on charges of landing in Gloucester, N. J., as a stowaway.

Federal authorities said he was picked up as a stowaway in 1947 and told to go home. The next year he came back as a seaman and overstayed his leave. Deported again, he came back in 1949 and was caught in Los Angeles in February, 1950.

He was placed aboard a ship at New York in September, jumped overboard as it was leaving, and was rescued by authorities. He was placed on another ship a week later for deportation to Spain.

A month later he landed at Gloucester—as a stowaway.

Safety Program To Be Highlighted By Parade

A decorated bicycle parade will be held here October 29 as a part of the bicycle safety program sponsored by the Local Post 85 of the Traveler's Protective Association of America in observance of Child Accident Prevention Week.

On October 8 the Steering Committee of the local post met and decided to promote a bicycle safety program for children in the elementary schools of the city.

Various programs were discussed by the committee but the committee decided upon the bicycle program. The program has been entrusted to Captain W. D. Berg of the police department and Russell T. Rogerson, field representative of the N. C. Department of Motor Vehicles.

All students in the elementary grades will be given a questionnaire to be answered and a grade of 90 out of a possible 100 points will entitle a student to a special card. The card is to be filled out and presented by the teachers as a room project.

The students holding the cards will qualify to enter the decorated bicycle parade and card holders will assemble as soon as school is out October 29 on West 4th Street between Pitt and Elizabeth Streets in an area reserved for the participants.

The parade will be headed by the Greenville High School band and the Epps High School band and the safety patrol from the schools will carry a banner carrying the slogan, "Make Safety First and Make It Last."

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the best decorated bicycle and the winners will be announced at the termination of the parade at the court house. The first prize will be a Columbia bicycle. Other prizes include all types of bicycle equipment which is on display at Blackwood's Associate Store. The prizes will be awarded in duplicate for white and colored children.

In order to judge the parade it was found necessary to number entrants and the following system was decided upon: Fleming Street School, one through 499; South Greenville School, 500 through 999; West Greenville, 1,000 through 1,499; Third Street, 1,500 through 1,999; and Epps High School, 2,000 through 2,999. Each grade in the school will be assigned numbers within the number mentioned.

During the past week, Rogerson and Berg have been visiting in the city elementary schools and showing a bicycle operation.

Baby Lives Up To Family Title

DES MOINES, Ia. —(AP)— Being chosen vice president of the American Banking Association was not very exciting for W. Harold Brenton—he's been a bank president all his life.

When he was born in 1899 his parents gave him the title of president of the family-owned bank in Dallas Center, Ia. His name was on the stationery too. He "took over" from his grandfather who died six years before.

When he grew up, however, things didn't come so easy—his first job was sweeping out the bank. Now he's head of 10 Iowa banks.

Policing Induces Less Pilfering

SINGAPORE —(AP)— Chinese traders say stricter port security measures by Indonesian authorities have resulted in less pilfering from ships' cargoes during the past few months.

One official said the improved situation had brought about a steady rise in trade between Singapore and Indonesia.

Sixteen Chinese firms in Singapore claimed they had lost more than $54,300 from pilfering by waterfront gangs in Indonesia.

Entire East Carolina Squad Misses Tuesday Practice

Bucs Miss Practice; Injured List Grows

It isn't unusual at all for a football team to lose one or two members of the squad at one time during a football season. In fact, most coaches feel they're lucky if they don't lose any more than that. Bill Doie doesn't consider himself so lucky—he didn't yesterday anyway.

Almost the entire East Carolina football team was in bed yesterday. Most of them are expected to be back at practice today but there were so many out of action yesterday—including Doie and his coaching assistants—that the Pirate boss called practice off.

The Pirates have a custom whereby they go out for a team supper each Monday night. They have done it every week this fall and nothing has happened before the banquet held Monday night of this week.

As usual, the team went out for their supper and just about everyone of the players ate fairly generous quantities of the fried chicken and Brunswick stew that was served them. They felt comfortable when they left the eating place.

Such was not the case, however, when they got out of bed Tuesday morning. There were some and characters on the football team.

The college infirmary did a landslide business Tuesday — at the cost of the Pirates' expense—and Doie finally called practice off. He expressed the hope that the team—and himself—would be able to resume practice this afternoon.

Turning to the serious aspect of the East Carolina picture, Doie has a real problem on his hands for Saturday night.

The Pirates are missing Lenor Rhyme—opponent of the Conference's number one club—and the injuries continue to mount with no sign of improvement anywhere.

Coed Winslow, the team's number one defensive right end, has definitely been placed out of action for the rest of the year. He had his broken hand reset Monday and it is now in a cast.

Winslow is the second Pirate to come up with a broken bone in less than a week. Leno Taylor went out of action after the Western Carolina Teachers College game and it is thought that he will be out for the remaining four games.

Jack Britt, who started out the season as the number one right halfback, re-injured his bad ankle last Saturday and it is doubtful that he will be able to go at full speed Saturday night against Lenor Rhyme's single-wing attack.

Larry Rhodes, who was promoted to the first offensive last week, may have to give the position back to Bobby Hodges for this week's contest. Rhodes hurt his foot Saturday in the Guilford contest and this, combined with Hodges' excellent showing, may put the veteran Hodges back into the offensive line-up. Hodges played mostly on defense last week.

The Pirates will resume their work today on preparing for Lenor Rhyme's single-wing attack.

Big 4 Briefs

DURHAM (UP)— Coach Bill Murray ran his Duke offensive scrum through a stiff workout today, looking forward to one of the toughest games of the year with Virginia at Homecoming Saturday. Jack Kistler, Lloyd Caudin, Charlie Smith and Piney Field looked outstanding in yesterday's drills. The offensive crew fought through Virginia defensive plays as run by the Jayvee team. Jerry Barger returned to duty, but Red Smith, Gerald Moining, and Bill Blalock still were on the injured list.

WAKE FOREST (UP)— Wake Forest's football team worked at strengthening its weak running attack today. The squad had a long workout yesterday on offense and defense, then tapered off to work for an hour on offense alone. The team has scored 12 times by passing this year and only six by running. Coach Tom Rogers also had sophomore Charles (Sonny) George sharpening his extra-point technique, which has been good for 13 out of 17 this year.

RALEIGH (UP)— N. C. State's Wolfpack worked at defense today to try to correct mistakes that cost them the William and Mary game Saturday.

The team looked at movies yesterday and listened to the coaching staff analyze the errors. Coach Beattie Feathers then put the squad through an hour's drill, with most of the work on tackling.

Two tackles, Jim Hillman and Elmer Costa, and wingback Jimmy Smith missed practice because of injuries.

CHAPEL HILL (UP)— North Carolina went into the week's first full-scale practice under a cloud today. Doug Bruton, outstanding sophomore linebacker, will be out for the season with a wrist injury. Bruton started against Maryland, but the aggravated injury forced him out early.

The squad had a layoff Monday and worked for only a short time yesterday as ROTC drills overlapped football practice.

Mays Waits Word On Draft Physical

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)— Willie Mays, young Negro outfielder of the National League champion New York Giants, awaited word today on whether he passed his pre-induction physical. The 20-year-old Mays was named rookie of the year yesterday. Draft board officials said if Mays passed yesterday's physical, his date of assignment to service will depend on draft quotas.

NO PLATTING MOUNTAIN BROOK, Ala. (UP) City Council here has voted to outlaw "using the city fire truck as a plaything at birthday parties."

AL AUERBACK, a 210 native of Portsmouth, Virginia, is one of the top defensive tackles on the East Carolina squad and will be at his right tackle position Saturday night when the Pirates meet Lenor Rhyme in a North State Conference game. Auerback sprained an ankle in a pre-season injury and was out of action for three weeks at the beginning of the season. (Reflector Sports Photo by Roy Hardee).

Groza, Beard, Barnstable To Get Hearing November

'That Man Davis' From Wake Forest Is Back Again

NEW YORK (AP)— Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Dale Barnstable, the three former University of Kentucky basketball players accused of shaving points in important games, are scheduled to tell their story at a hearing on Nov. 7.

They were arraigned yesterday on charges of taking bribes of $500 to fix a 1949 game, and were released in $1,000 bail. The bail was arranged by J. R. Kimbrough, General Manager of the Indianapolis Olympians of the National Basketball Association. Groza and Beard are part owners of the club.

Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor asked Magistrate Abrose J. Haddock to set low bail because he does not consider the men "Risks."

They were said to be cooperating with authorities investigating the mushrooming basketball scandal, and were reported eager to testify before a grand jury.

Groza and Beard are former All-Americans and were members of 1948 and 1949 Kentucky national championship teams. Barnstable was captain of the Kentucky team during the 1949-50 season.

They were charged specifically with accepting bribes to shave points in Kentucky-Loyola of Chicago National Invitation Tournament game in Madison Square Garden on March 1, 1949. Kentucky, a 10-point favorite, lost 67-56.

HONESTY PAYS OFF LYFETER, R. I. (UP)—Herb Dyer is so convinced of the public's honesty that he leaves his vegetable stand unattended. Customers pick out what they want and pay their own change. Dyer says one day he found 15 cents.

Buddy Wallace, Chalmers Port, Tom Stevens, Billy Williams, Bud Carson, Dick Lasky and others used in the Tar Heel secondary are getting the works this week in defending against passes from such artists as Dickie Davis and Ed Kiesel, the crack Deac T-quarterbacks.

Offense, however, continues to be Carolina's main consideration. The Tar Heels have outgained their five-game opposition by both running and passing and have collected a total of 80 first downs to the enemy's 57. And yet they have won only two games while losing three.

Lack of a touchdown punch has been the chief weakness in the Tar Heel attack. Last week, in the 14-7 loss to Maryland, this was never more apparent. Ten times they moved into Terp territory without coming up with a touchdown. Either the backs have not been speedy enough, blocking has failed or the wrong plays have been called as the Tar Heels have repeatedly failed to cross pay dirt when chances were presented.

Blocking back "Skeet" Hester and his understudy, Van Weatherspoon, hope to have an offense ready which they can pilot for TD's against the powerful Deacon defense.

W&M End Named Freshman Star; Niven Also Ran

RALEIGH (AP)— A 225-pound end who did a great defensive job in William and Mary's victory over North Carolina State is this week's Associated Press Southern Conference Freshman of the Week. He is Tom Feamster, 19, of Morristown, Va. Feamster didn't score any points, but he was in there on a big portion of William and Mary's tackles and thus helped turn the tide of victory.

William and Mary Head Coach Marvin Bass singled Feamster out for particular defensive praise along with backer Bob Luak and tackle John Kreamcheck.

North Carolina State Line Coach Al Rotella said, "I think Feamster did a wonderful job."

Feamster was one of the big reasons why the Indians upset Wake Forest, 7-6, the week before. His great defensive play in that game brought him nominations as Freshman of the Week but he was named out by North Carolina Tallback Larry Parker.

Feamster was one of three freshmen who excelled in games last Saturday. Others were Duke Halfback Charlie Niven and State Tackle P. Paroli.

Paroli was singled out by Wolfpack Head Coach Beattie Feathers and Rotella for his fine defensive performance.

Niven, a newcomer to Duke's varsity, was a pleasant surprise in Duke's easy 35-6 win over Virginia Tech. The former Wilmington prep school star turned in a 90-yard romp which started a 61-yard Duke touchdown drive. He also returned a punt 22 yards, a kickoff 14 and caught a pass for 18.

Louis Confident In Knockout Win Over Marciano

POMPTON LAKES, N.J. (UP)— Confidence in a knockout victory was running at a new high in the Joe Louis camp today as the former world's heavyweight king ended his "heavy" training for Friday night's bout against Rocky Marciano.

An extremely impressive showing in his last sparring session yesterday—featuring a display of the old-time "Brown Bomber" power—convincing Louis and all his handlers that he will whip the young and eager "Ciano."

Right now, wagering men are inclined to agree with Louis to the extent of making him a 6 to 2 to 5 choice for the bout that may gain him a 1952 shot at the title or end his title hopes forever.

Highlight of the workout was a ripping left hook to the chin that floored spar mate Holly Smith, a booming knockdown like the kind always seen in the training camp of the "old Louis."

And the Louis right was also shown to be in fine working order. Since he lost to Ezzard Charles in Sept. 1950, Joe has depended more and more upon his right, for some unknown reason, and that was landing just as effectively as his left yesterday.

The camp also found cause for optimism in his weight. Trainer Mannie Seamon said Joe would tip the bar at between 209 and 211, and would be much stronger than he was at 203 pounds against Jimmy Blvin in his last fight.

"Old Fearless" Picks UNC, Blue Devils, And State

Manager Of Year Durocher Lauds Players When Told Of Honor

NEW YORK (AP)— Leo Durocher, whose manager's honor hung in the balance four years ago, is baseball's "Manager of the Year" for 1951.

The 45-year-old pilot gained the accolade for leading the New York Giants to the most sensational pennant triumph in National League history.

Durocher won the award in an Associated Press poll conducted among the 187 members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The Giant leader collected 113 votes to breeze home ahead of Casey Stengel, manager of the World Champion New York Yankees, who was second with 64. Stengel won 1950.

Other pilots who figured in the poll were Al Lopez of Cleveland, Paul Richards of the Chicago White Sox, Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics and Marty Marion of the St. Louis Cardinals. Lopez and Richards received four votes each and Dykes and Marion one apiece.

Durocher, advised of his selection while playing golf near his West Los Angeles winter home, said: "That's great news. It makes me very, very happy. I am very grateful."

"I'm grateful to the New York Giants' team. It was the players who made this possible for me. Without them, without the grand way they played I wouldn't get this honor of course. They came through and, like the champions they are."

Durocher's 1951 team was favored in many quarters to bring the Polo Grounds its first flag since 1937. The Giants lost 11 straight during the first month and the outlook was black, indeed.

The little leader restored the team's confidence and the Giants began to climb. They trailed Brooklyn by 13 1/2 games as late as Aug. 11 but kept plugging away and finally caught the Dodgers two days before the end of the season. The Giants climaxed their comeback by beating the Dodgers in a playoff for the pennant.

India Imports Sugar From UK

NEW DELHI (AP)— India in 1950-51 imported 60,000 tons of sugar from the United Kingdom at a cost of $12,915,000 to supplement her own internal production of 1,100,000 tons, a food ministry spokesman said here.

He added the United Kingdom was able to fill India's entire needs because of the 20,000 tons of raw sugar supplied to London by the United States.

Red Devils Work For Friday Game

FARMVILLE— Farmville's Red Devils got down to heavy practice last night for Friday's Coastal Conference game.

A two hour scrimmage was featured by workouts on returns, punts, covering on punts, pass defense, and a brief period on offense. Practice was strengthened by the return to practice by Joe Smith, who was injured last week in a mid-week practice session. He was able to play only a short while against Ayden last Friday night.

Farmville will be a heavy favorite over Vanceboro, although the Farmville boys will be up for the decision of the year last week. They upset South Edgecombe, winning by the one-sided score of 26-6.

Dickey Sold By Bullets To Celts

BOSTON (AP)— Dick Dickey, former North Carolina State basketball great, has been sold to the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association for an undisclosed cost sum.

The Celtics bought Dickey from the Baltimore Bullets. The Tar Heel star scored 1,633 points in 123 games for the Wolfpack over the past four seasons.

East Carolina College football fans may get a look at the North State Conference's next Little All-America player Saturday night when Lenoir Rhyne comes to town. The player is Steve Trudnak, the Bears' powerizing fullback.

Trudnak has been the backbone of the Lenoir Rhyne team this year and has been a star in all but one of their five previous contests. The one contest in which he didn't take the headlines was the game with Western Carolina last week—a game the Bears won 33-7.

Trudnak was in bed Friday night with a touch of the flu and a temperature but he climbed into his game uniform Saturday night and saw limited action in the game. He wasn't missed too much, however, since Gene and Jerry Robinson filled the gap left by his absence and paced the Lenoir Rhyne win.

Although he's just a junior in school, Trudnak made the All-Conference team last year and is almost a dead cinch for the same honors again this year. His boom for Little All-America honors has added weight in that he gave an outstanding performance in a losing cause when Lenoir Rhyne played Tampa University two weeks ago.

In that game, Trudnak scored twice and thoroughly impressed the Florida sportswriters who cover the Tampa games.

Trudnak plays fullback in the Lenoir Rhyne single wing.

Football games this weekend have New Bern High School meeting Greenville Friday night in College Stadium; East Carolina taking on Lenoir Rhyne the next night in the same place; the University of North Carolina at Wake Forest; N. C. State at VPI; and Duke at Virginia.

Predictions Friday.

The Southern Conference has a couple of big games this week in the Clemson-South Carolina game and the Wake Forest-Carolina game. The Gamecocks and Tigers will play Thursday in their annual State Fair game while the Tar Heels and Deacons will tangle Saturday.

Both games are important to the clubs involved and while Clemson rules as a favorite in the Thursday game, the Carolina-Wake Forest clash is being rated a toss-up.

The Clemson-South Carolina games are always bitterly fought contests. There's always a capacity crowd jamming the Stadium at the Fair Grounds for the games and more often than not, the rivalry has had its show not only on the playing field but in the stands as well.

One particular instance is the near-hot they had in Columbia a couple of years ago, during the half-time show of the game.

In this particular game, I believe Clemson was ahead of South Carolina when the teams went in for their half-time rest. When the field was cleared, some fellow came out of the Clemson stands with a burlap bag in his hands.

He proceeded to the middle of the field and then edged over to a point just in front of the Clemson bench. When he got there, he reached into the bag he was carrying and pulled out a rooster. The South Carolina team is nicknamed the "Gamecocks" so the fans sat up and looked at the fellow on the field.

When he got the chicken out of the bag and after everyone had seen it, the fellow proceeded to writing the chicken's neck. When that was accomplished, he tossed the chicken down and started back to the Clemson stands. He didn't quite make it.

It took about five seconds for around 30,000 people to start slinging fists. I think the fellow who wrung the chicken's neck wound up in a hospital.

There have been no chicken-killing since that day at the games.

Johnny Johnson of Elizabeth City has been named as one of the assistant coaches of the North Carolina Shrine Bowl team. The team will meet a South Carolina Shrine squad in the annual Shrine Bowl game in Charlotte on December 1.

Johnson will work with North Carolina's head coach, Stan Huffman of Burlington. Bill Causey of Goldsboro will also serve as one of the assistants to Huffman.

The process of nominating the participants has already begun and the complete squad will be announced in a couple of weeks.

The game is already a sell-out with the proceeds going to the Shrine Club's hospital in South Carolina.

As the case now stands, Elon College can practically consider itself with two losses in the North State Conference. That's not official but if Catawba's charge of ineligibility against Bob Lewis can be proved, Conference officials will have little choice in the matter of forfeiting the games which Elon won against Appalachian and East Carolina.

It is my understanding that the conference rules specifically state that a man who transfers from a junior college will have only two years of eligibility in a four year school. The transfer must adhere to this ruling regardless of the length of time he spent in the junior college.

It seems that Lewis spent some time in a junior college (as yet unnamed) in the portion of the charges which have been made public before transferring to Elon. He didn't play Varsity ball his first year up there in 1949 but it is charged that he did participate in junior varsity athletics—presumably football. That was one year of his eligibility gone. Last year Lewis was a member of the

New Bern Bears Face Phantoms In Conference Test

By MELVIN LANG
Reflector Sports Writer

Greenville and New Bern High tangle here Friday night in the annual Homecoming Day tussle for the Phantoms.

The Phantoms will probably be in better physical condition for this game than they have been in the last three. Nearly all of the injured have returned, with the exception of Tommy Evans, Wayne Smiley and Bobby Langston. Evans is recuperating from a slight case of pneumonia, while the other two boys have broken noses. It is doubtful whether they will be allowed to play against New Bern.

Coach Bill Kittrell has stated that his boys will be up for this game and really want to take a victory. The Phantoms have improved considerably since the first of the year, and stand a good chance of taking the contest, although New Bern is reported to have a strong club.

The Bears held Edenton to a tie, lost to Washington and Roanoke Rapids, and defeated the Camp Lejeune Devil Pups, 25-0. Washington was able to ground out only a one touchdown decision, while Roanoke Rapids, who upset Kinston last week, blasted New Bern, 26-6.

Greenville worked for nearly two hours yesterday on its offensive attack. Although the Phantoms played their best game of the year against Elizabeth City, Kittrell is not satisfied with his attack. Passing received special emphasis in the practice session.

Elizabeth City intercepted four Phantom aerials last week halting drives within its own 30 yard line. With Scott back in the fold, the offensive passing attack has been strengthened, as both he and Sid Briley are excellent passers.

Captain Joe Rowland and Wallace Conway will hold down the end positions for the local gridders. Rowland, who dislocated his shoulder before the season's opener, teams with Conway to give Greenville one of the best set of terminals in the Northeastern Conference. Both of these boys are also good defensive players, as is Bobby Conway, who seemingly stayed in the Washington backfield all night when the Pam Pack played in Greenville.

Riddled by injuries all season, the line has never been set for any one game. Tackles Fletcher Murray, Wilton McLawhorn, and Bob Tindal have done some good work for the Phantoms, while Sam Hux, Bobby Nunn, and Anwer Joseph have held down the guards. Tommy Evans was a starter at one of the offensive guard post before he became ill.

Charlie Huffstetler is a starter at center and teams with Jimmy Cheatham at the linebacker-ups on defense.

The backfield is much the same on both offense and defense. Briley, Scott, and Doug Morgan play on both teams, as does Bobby Perry. Perry is an excellent runner, and takes care of most of the Phantom ground attack, while Morgan can run and haul in a lot of passes.

The game will be played in East Carolina Stadium.

Homecoming Tilt With P. W. Moore On Eppes Slate

Friday night will be celebrated as Homecoming Day on the Eppes High School campus, and the big day will be topped off that night with a football game between the local eleven and the P. W. Moore squad from Elizabeth City.

Eppes is expected to find the going rough against the visitors, who are undefeated in six games, including four within the conference. They are leading their loop, while Eppes is in last place with a 0-3 record.

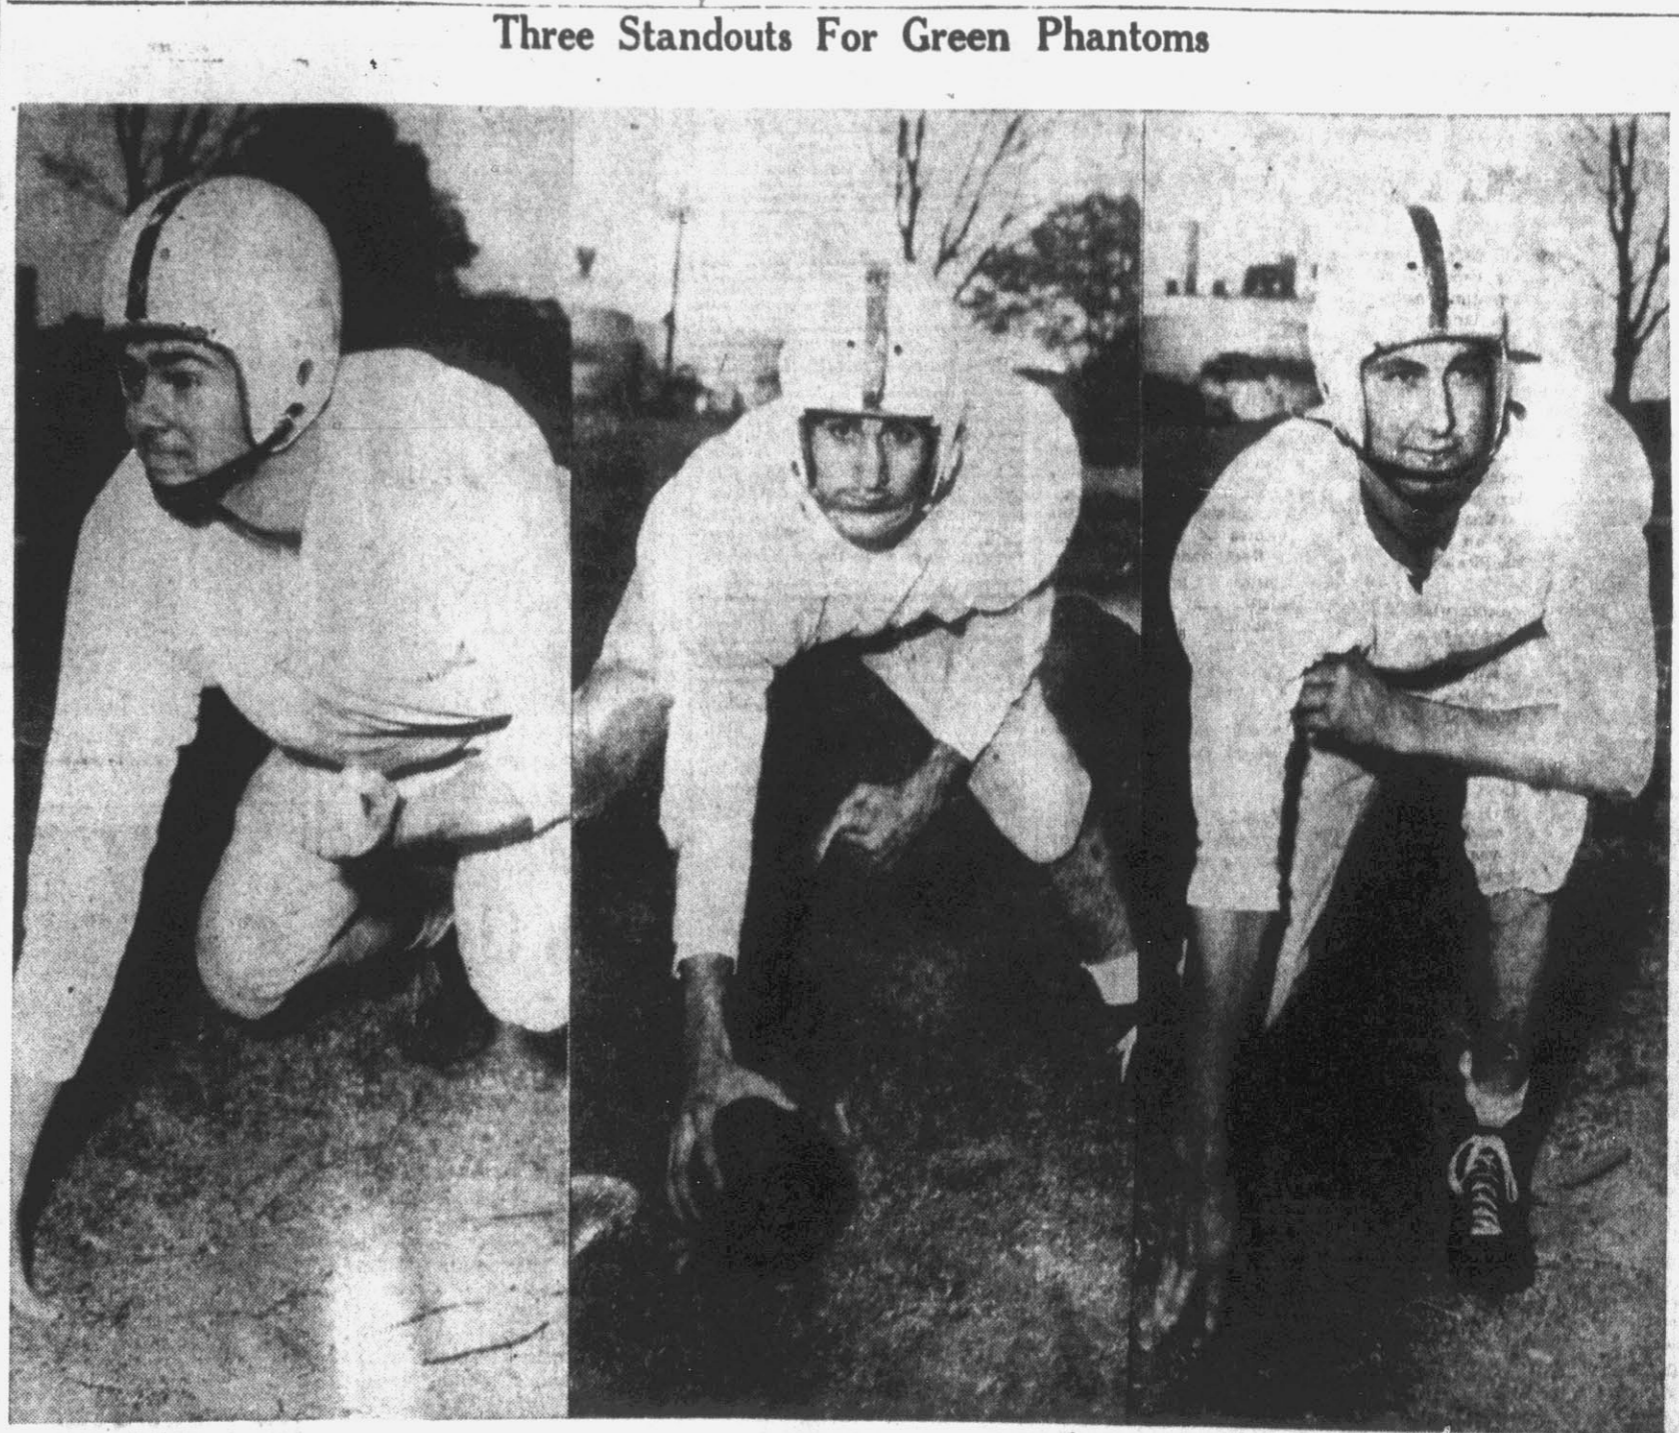

Reports coming from Eppes, however, say that the local boys are pointing for this game. They have been working and in practice so far this week in preparation for the contest, and the team spirit is reportedly high. Pep rallies have been held in the school gym each day of the week.

Running from the single wing attack, Eppes will place most of its attack on the shoulders of fullback Clarence Williams. Williams gained nearly 150 yards against Darden High last week, while Eppes was losing by the score of 19-6. Fullback William Jones is also a big gun in the strong running attack which the Bulldogs feature.

Leading the strong defensive line is center John Outerbridge and end Efram Greene. The team is weak on pass defense.

Eppes coach Percy Daniels was graduated by the Elizabeth City State Teachers College, and he has said that his team will be out to take the measure of the visitors from Elizabeth City.

Elon squad and saw considerable action. As far as eligibility was concerned, Lewis has been used. Jim Mallory, Elon's head coach, will probably do all he can to disprove the charges which have been brought by Catawba officials. He's got a rough road to travel, though. Catawba's case is a good one.

Three of the work horses of the Greenville High School Phantoms are shown above. Reading left to right: Fletcher Murray, hard hitting tackle who has shown up well in his last several appearances; Center Charles Huffstetler, who is turning in some fine ball handling; and (right) Wallace Conway, end who is the frequent target for the aerials tossed by the Greene offensive. ## Rice Has Own 'Little Boy' In Linebacker Rhoden

NEW YORK—(AP)—Don Rhoden, the Rice Institute linebacker, suffers from an uncomfortable but not dangerous back ailment. . . . It doesn't bother him when he's tackling some big bruiser of a fullback, but when he wants to sleep, Don has to lie down on the floor or some other unyielding surface. . . . Recently the Rice team viewed the Jim Thorpe movie which showed a big Carlisle Indian tackle named "Little Boy" who always slept on the floor because a mattress was too soft. . . . Naturally, Rhoden came out with the nickname "Little Boy." . . . It fits, too, because Don, a junior in college, is only 18 years old.

U. of Miami figure Filberts have invented a new "statistic" to show off Elmer Tremont's punting effectiveness. They subtract the number of yards a punt is returned from the distance the ball is kicked. . . . Wonder if they stopped to think that tackling effectiveness might fit in there? . . . Pennsylvania has scheduled 12 basketball doubleheaders for The Palestra this winter and Athletic Director Franny Murray is turning a very deaf ear to the Convention Hall promoters, who want to eliminate conflicting dates. . . . The football Yanks are planning to make a defensive halfback out of Al Polard for this week's game against the Packers. . . .

The Chicago Bears Alumni Club, which now meets weekly to heckle George Halas, is sponsoring a "Beat the Browns" trip to Cleveland, Nov. 25. Maybe they should go to St. Louis instead. . . . Roy Simmons, who scouted Penn State for Syracuse last Saturday, tabbed Tony Rados as one of the best passers seen this season. . . . When the Rutgers grid team was finding the going very rough against Lehigh, Coach Harvey Harman picked up the phone to ask his press box observer what Rutgers should do. . . . The answer came back very simply: "Block and tackle."

New Bern Comes Here Tomorrow

Local fans will get a preview of Friday night's game between New Bern and Greenville's Green Phantoms tomorrow afternoon as the junior varsity teams from the two schools meet for the second time this year in a game to be played at Third Street School park.

New Bern won the game, played on October 17, of 21-7. Fullback Billy Boyd led the Bearcats with a general all round performance. The varsity conversions for extra points.

Greenville's varsity team in that game came on a 15-yard pass from Gene Hudson to Bobby Conway, climaxing an 80 yard drive. The local team will enter the game with a 1-3 record. It opened the year by defeating Kinston, then dropped a return match to the Washington and New Bern. This will be the final game of the year.

Double Surprise for a lot of folks

EVERY time we publish the price of a Buick, it seems to surprise a lot of people, because they come in and tell us so. They just can't believe that so little money buys such a lot of car—but it's a fact, as the prices published here will prove.

And that brings us to the second surprise—which is how much power and performance—how much comfort and room—what a long list of standout engineering features you get for the price.

Take power. You'll find that no other car at the price of the Buick SPECIAL pictured here delivers the horsepower you get from its high-compression, valve-in-head Fireball Engine.

Take comfort. The best thing to do is try the depth of its seats—their width—and the headroom you get in this Buick SPECIAL, and judge for yourself.

Take the ride. This Buick has big soft coil springs on every wheel, plus the solid firmness of a torque-tube keel—and the way this combination smoothes the bumps is something that's hard to match in cars costing a thousand dollars more.

Look at these Local Delivered Prices!

Take the way it steers. Buick engineers have given this light-handling beauty a special "front-end geometry" that almost does the steering for you—even brings the front wheels back to a straight line when you come out of a turn.

And you can add to all this Dynaflow Drive*—that puts magic smoothness into every mile you drive—and practically repays its extra cost by the way it protects the whole driving mechanism, and by the dollars it adds to trade-in value.

So if you have been hoping, some day, to own a Buick—what's holding you back? If you can afford any new car—better see us now.

Brooklyn Base Is Vital Part Of Defense System

NEW YORK (UP)—The heart and core of the arms pipeline to America's all-in Europe is right in sight of the Statue of Liberty, in New York City's Upper Bay area.

It is the largest field installation in the command of the Army transportation corps; certainly it is one of the busiest in the whole Army. Its thousands of Army and civilian personnel pull the strings on the flow of men and steel to "Free Europe."

The pace hasn't slackened much since the end of the second World War. Then, as the era of war turned to peace, the Brooklyn Army base supervised the return of our troops from Europe.

Today, with the situation well in reverse, the Brooklyn Army base is busy sending everything that is needed to maintain the expanding forces throughout Europe—our own men and those of our allies. Everything is sent from aspirins to locomotives.

Covers 100 Acres
The Brooklyn Army base is the largest such terminal in the New York harbor area, covering some 100 acres. Giant concrete warehouses and auxiliary buildings, piers and sidings are connected by 13 miles of railroad tracks, tunnels and ramps. Several hundred locomotives and flat cars chug in and out among the buildings. Facilities permit continuous operations under all weather conditions and only the most modern types of equipment are used to speed freight between warehouses and the ocean freighters which are waiting at nearby piers.

The base is in constant communication with the overseas command and order and shipping time are watched carefully.

It's no overnight job; on the contrary, the way the Army transportation corps has worked out requisition for an overseas command takes about four months for delivery. Where does this time go?

How Time Goes
Says the ATC: 35 days alone for a command to determine its full needs, present and future...paper days...about 55 days to get the stuff together and deliver it to Brooklyn...five more days to load sailing time. Then it's got to be unloaded, etc.

Each command normally should have a minimum 30-day supply reserve on hand and the stockpile is never allowed to go below that amount; thus a command will receive material when ATC records show that here and there some supplies have gone below the mark.

As for troop movements, they take about a month and the Army transportation corps takes over its job, once men are requisitioned. It provides for their travel from a land installation to a camp within the jurisdiction of the Brooklyn Army base.

There, it houses and feeds the troops, arranges their medical inspections, and takes care of their every need.

No Trace Yet Of Prison Escapee

As yet no trace has turned up on the lone Pitt County escapee who is at large.

Pitt County prison officials stated today that nothing has been heard of Dayton Watts, 22, who made good his bid for freedom from a work crew near Calico Cross Roads last week.

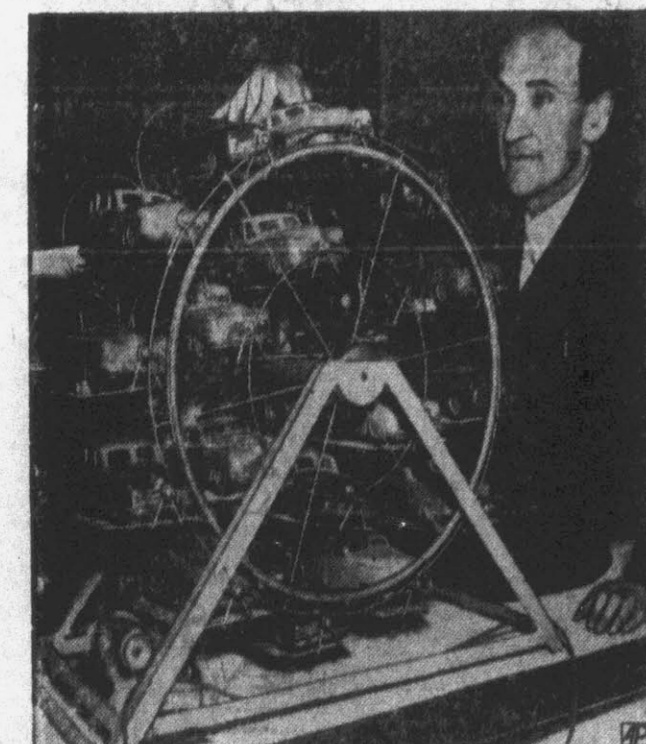

Watts, 5'8", weighing 140 pounds, ran from a crew which was cutting a right of way near a farm at Calico, and a guard was prevented from shooting at him because of children nearby.

The break was the sixth for the Pitt County camp this year but in all cases the prisoners have been captured, it was stated.

Ex-Gob Enrolled In Girls' Class

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. — (UP)— Daniel Naranch of Triadelphia, W. Va., is the only male student enrolled in West Virginia University's department of home economics.

His situation creates some confusion. He was excused from a class in which students were to make their own dresses.

However, he decided home economics study was the shortest distance to his goal—to be a cook in his own restaurant.

"I've been interested in cooking since I was nine," Naranch, 23, a short, dark-haired youth, said. "Learning about textiles and working with materials will help men in decorating and furnishing a restaurant."

Naranch enrolled in the university after a two-year hitch as a Navy cook. He interrupted his schooling after his freshman year to tour Europe for a year and took time off to attend a cooking school and fashion illustration school in Paris.

Publisher Of La Prensa Claims U.S. Press In Similar Danger

NEW YORK (UP)—Dr. Alberto Gainza Paz said last night that Argentina confiscated his newspaper, La Prensa, because objective reporting in its columns had embarrassed the government.

He told the New York Herald Tribune's annual forum he had been charged with contempt in Buenos Aires because he had printed a political statement by an opposition member of the Argentine legislature and not for an editorial criticizing the regime of President Juan Peron.

Then the distinguished publisher traced events that led to the silencing of La Prensa's presses by Peron.

Half an hour later, Kenneth L. Dixon, managing editor of the Lake Charles (La.) American Press, told the forum that indictments against him, his publishers, city editor and crime reporter caused a situation "shockingly similar" to the persecution of Dr. Gainza Paz.

"Despite the fact that America prides itself on being entirely different from Argentina today, many phases of the situation in which we find ourselves are shockingly similar to those persecutions which have beset Dr. Gainza Paz and La Prensa," Dixon said.

Dixon reviewed developments which ended with the indictment of the Lake Charles newsmen for attempting to expose organized gambling.

"What our paper did was to editorialize against the conditions and print front page stories describing them," Dixon said, "as in the case of La Prensa, the truth in news stories seemed to hurt worse than the opinion in editorials."

Gainza Paz revealed that a former United States ambassador had remarked in Buenos Aires: "Probably your people in Argentina are not ready for democracy."

"I looked at him with some surprise," Dr. Gainza Paz said, "and then replied: 'But M. Ambassador, our people lived for 80 years under a constitution almost identical with that of the United States, and with democratic methods of association and government very like yours.'"

The first edition of the national La Prensa will appear during the first two weeks of November, it was announced last night in Buenos Aires. It will be published as an organ of the government-backed General Confederation of Labor.

Ten Thousand Dogs, Only 123 Owners Buy Licenses

By CHESTER WALSH
"I believe there are at least 10,000 dogs in Greenville, but only 123 owners have bought license tags for their pets," said Enoch Elisha Jones, municipal humane officer.

Jones took over as humane officer July 1, 1949. He has charged the dog pound. Since he started the work he has taken up 2,262 dogs found running at large. Owners reclaimed 700 of them and 1,562 canines were disposed of. Unclaimed dogs are disposed of in a humane manner under direction of a veterinarian, the city ordinance provides.

A city ordinance requires owners of dogs to pay a license tax of $1 for males and $2 for females. A city ordinance also requires owners of dogs to have the animals vaccinated against hydrophobia after they are 13 weeks old. Constable Guy Stokes has charge of this work. The vaccination fee is $1.

A city ordinance forbids owners to allow their dogs to run at large and provides a $5 fine for each offense. An ordinance also provides a $5 fine for owners who fail to buy license tags for their dogs. The city law requires that license tags bought for dogs shall be worn on the dog's collar.

Jones said there was no dog with hydrophobia reported in the city during this year. He said John Biggs' dog, the canine that attacked him viciously and wounded him during the summer did not have rabies. The dog's head was cut off and sent to Raleigh for inspection.

Truman "expressed a desire that he would prefer not to see McCarthy returned to the Senate."

Poison Whiskey Deaths Reach 28 And List To Rise

ATLANTA (AP)—The toll of liquor poisoning deaths reached 28 early today—and the list of dead is expected to grow.

Twenty-two persons died of methyl alcohol poisoning at Grady Hospital in the wake of weekend sales of a mixture of wood alcohol and water peddled as "good drinking liquor—cheap." Six others died in their homes.

Physicians at the hospital have treated more than 100 persons for the deadly poison, and cases are still coming in today. Of the two dozen victims remaining under hospital care, several were given only a scant chance for recovery.

Twelve Negroes accused of peddling the poison have been jailed on charges of suspicion of manslaughter. Officers are searching for an unidentified white man believed to be the source of supply.

Death struck almost instantly in some cases; in others no ill effects were noticed for as much as 48 hours.

Most of the victims were Negroes. Two white persons succumbed to the poison and three others were treated at Grady, the city's emergency hospital.

One of those treated was a 10-year-old Negro boy.

Those stricken collapsed at home, in the streets and alleys and in automobiles. One woman was found dead in a chair on her back porch. A man told police he bought a drink on a street corner and 30 minutes later was admitted to Grady Hospital—blind.

As casualties neared epidemic proportions and the poisonings became known generally, the hospital was swamped with patients. Hospital supt. Frank Wilson said about 75 persons who had drunk bootleg liquor became hysterical and rushed in with only imaginary symptoms of wood alcohol poisoning. But more than 100 others showed actual symptoms.

Methyl alcohol often is used to "soup up" racing cars. It can be purchased in 50-gallon lots for about $1.75 a gallon.

Barkley Office . . .

(Continued from page one) any kind in all my public life." Mrs. Bratten said Barkley told her by telephone yesterday that "I thought I knew that we were not supposed to make such calls."

She said she told the vice president that she knew the ban applied to calls about "war contracts" because "we had a taste of that in Kentucky during the last war." But she did not know, she said, "that I shouldn't call about applications that were pending."

She said she did not consider that she was exerting any influence in contacting RFC directors about a $1,000,000 loan for Sam Fleischer, an "old friend." Fleischer, president of the Minneapolis firm, wanted the money to build a luxury hotel at Miami Beach.

Mrs. Bratten said "I didn't know anything in God's world" about the Mercury Record case, but admitted being with Shaver when he asked RFC directors to approve the $325,000 loan.

Both loans were approved, but neither was disbursed. Fleischer dropped his request when he abandoned plans for building the hotel.

Number Of Local JC's To Attend District Meeting

Between 20 and 30 Greenville Jaycees are expected to attend the district meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Kinston Tuesday night.

President Dan Saleed said a bus has been chartered by the club to transport the members to the Kinston meeting. The bus will leave Greenville Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock from the parking lot on West Fifth Street in front of the Presbyterian Church.

Principal speakers at the meeting will include State Jaycee President Harry Stewart of Raleigh, National Director J. B. Brame and District Vice President Al Ward of New Bern.

Television . . .

(Continued from page one) more generous allocation of channels than FCC proposed and a larger share in the limited VHF space. The latter demand is based on the fact that VHF is now here and UHF is not.

The most elaborate response came from the Allen B. Du Mont laboratories, which submitted a whole new allocation plan of its own.

Du Mont contends its plan is more efficient, particularly in the distribution of VHF channels, and that its chart of possible transmitter locations would provide some 2,129 stations against FCC's 1,616.

Some 125 statements in opposition to the Du Mont table have been received. Most of these say Du Mont hasn't allowed enough mileage between stations, and that its plan gives too much VHF space to larger cities at the expense of smaller places.

The final allotments will probably combine some of Du Mont's ideas, most of FCC's.

Minister Plans Good-Will Work

Rev. W. R. Fairley, Negro minister who is a native of Lumberton, will conduct a good will program here for the Negroes of the community.

Rev. Fairley said that the main idea of his program was to combat agitation, communism, and radicalism by showing that the whites and Negroes are friends and will remain so. He said that the problem here is no different from any other place and such problems could be solved by the races themselves without any outside interference.

"The South knows what it wants to do," Rev. Fairley said, "and by keeping a level head and feet on the ground, problems can be worked out. Agitation cannot open any doors to any groups but with the Spirit of Christ and good will, much can be accomplished."

Rev. Fairley said he would hold meetings in the colored sections of the city and he hopes to bring his "Good Will Hour of the Southlands" to the people of Greenville over radio.

He said he had held his radio program over such stations as Augusta, Charleston, Lumberton, Laurinburg, Birmingham, and several other stations in the South. Last week Rev. Fairley conducted his program in Farmville.

Swedish Prince Dies Of Illness

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UP)—Prince Carl of Sweden, 90, who once declined the Norwegian crown and headed the Swedish Red Cross for 40 years, died today after a prolonged illness.

The prince, brother of the late King Gustav and uncle of the present King Gustav Adolf VI, died at his home.

Dress Rehearsal For A-Bomb Drop

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission apparently held a dress rehearsal today of an atomic-bomb drop from a plane.

A half dozen military aircraft, believed to be from the Air Force's Kirtland Field, N.M., flew high over Las Vegas about dawn and circled over the AEC's Frenchman Flat testing area.

Their appearance was followed by a funnel-shaped blue cloud in the direction of the test site. The cloud rose rapidly and dissipated quickly. Observers here saw no flash and felt no rumble such as usually has been associated with atomic tests.

Earlier, it had been reported that a giant TNT explosion would be set off in rehearsal for touching off an atomic blast.

Planes participating in the apparent practice run were identified as two B-29s, two C-54s and two C-47s.

Holds Record Of Greatest Number Of Arrests Here

Robert Harrington, 40-year-old Negro laborer of this city, appeared in Police Court today for his 51st conviction out of 52 arrests during the past 17 years.

Harrington holds the record for greatest number of arrests here. This time he was found guilty of being drunk and Judge Charles H. W-abebe gave him 30 days in jail.

Harrington's clashes with the law resulted from law violations involving being drunk, larceny, assault with a deadly weapon and one time he served six months on the roads for being a public nuisance. Nearly all of his arrests were for being drunk. He was convicted one time of disorderly conduct and profane language.

Tories Remain Heavy Favorites

LONDON (AP) Winston Churchill's Conservatives remained a heavy odds-on favorite to win tomorrow's general election in London handbooks today.

Douglas Stuart, Ltd., one of the nation's biggest betting commissions, showed the odds against a Labor victory at 9 to 2. The odds against the Conservatives were 1 to 6.
