Allies Recapture Three Key Hills

Heavy Fighting On Korea's Western Front; MIGs Resume Air Forays; New Red Conditions For Armistice Agreement Rejected By UN Negotiators

8TH ARMY HQ., Korea (UP)—United Nations troops today recaptured the last of three hills lost to the Reds in bloody fighting on the western front yesterday.

The hill, a commanding height northwest of Yonchon, fell to a U.N. reconnaissance patrol which met surprisingly little resistance. Most of the 1,500 Reds who had seized it apparently withdrew under cover of darkness last night.

Farther west, Red troops drove an A-1 unit from a hill near Korangpo. However, the U. N. forces regrouped and retook the forces in a counter-attack.

Communist jet fighter planes made their first appearance over northwest Korea in three days. An estimated 114 MIG-15 jet fighters tangled with more than 30 U.N. planes in three separate encounters, but neither side scored any hits.

Communist strategy in the ground fighting puzzled Allied observers. When the Reds began their heavy western front attacks Sunday, it was thought they were trying to push back the line to improve their bargaining position in the Panmunjom truce talks.

However, the Communists in almost every case have pulled back after seizing Allied territory and holding it for a brief period. The enemy may be trying merely to keep the 8th Army off balance.

The hill northwest of Yonchon was taken by waves of screaming tank-supported Chinese Reds early Tuesday in one of the heaviest enemy attacks in recent months. Allied efforts to recapture the hill later in the day were repulsed.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations rejected today a new Communist demand for a formal agreement to end the Korean war on the present battlefield.

At the same time, the Communists formally rejected a two-day-old U.N. proposal to use the ceasefire line on the battlefield existing at the time an agreement is signed.

The two recommendations left the armistice subcommittee charged with fixing a truce line across Korea deadlocked. However it will meet again at 11 a. m. Thursday (9 p. m. today EST).

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief U.N. representative on the subcommittee, said he rejected the Communist proposal because it would result in a de facto ceasefire without any provision for the thousands of Allied prisoners in Communist hands.

Once certain that the Allies would not be able to keep any more Communist territory even if they advanced in the meantime, Hodes said, the Reds could stall indefinitely on the prisoner question and other items on the truce agenda.

Major Railroad Strike Plans Are Only Sidetracked

Brotherhood Says Union Not Obligated To Accept Truman Board Findings

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen served notice today that it has only sidetracked, not scrapped, plans for a major railroad strike.

A spokesman said the union does not consider itself obligated to accept the recommendations of an emergency board set up by President Truman to investigate the dispute.

Establishment of the board, however, averted the immediate threat of a strike which the brotherhood had set for tomorrow afternoon on four major railroads across the nation. A few hours after Mr. Truman acted yesterday, the union's 18-man negotiating committee voted to postpone the walkout "indefinitely."

The board was ordered to make its report and submit recommendations for settlement to the White House within 30 days. Under the Railway Labor Act, the union is required not to strike for 30 days while the board draws up its recommendations, plus an additional 30-day "cooling-off" period.

The brotherhood's stand raised the possibility that it might reject the proposed settlement terms at the end of the 60-day period. Two other operating brotherhoods, the trainmen and the conductors, rejected recommendations made by a similar board last year. The trainmen since have settled with the carriers, but the conductors and a third brotherhood, the engineers, still are involved in the two-year dispute. They have not threatened strike action, however.

A strike undoubtedly would bring a government injunction. The government has been in nominal control of the railroads since August, 1950, when the army seized them to prevent a nationwide walkout.

ROK Units Get American Tanks

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (UP)—Giant M-4 American tanks manned by South Koreans for the first time were landed today at a port for permanent attachment to Republic of Korea units.

The tankmen were selected from Korean ranks and received a six-month training course at Pusan before the unit was activated.

Previously ROK units have depended on American-manned armor for support. The new Korean unit will go to the front line immediately.

Fifteen Pitt Men Are Inducted

The local draft board sent 15 Pitt County men to Raleigh Tuesday for induction into the Army.

Those who went were: White—Dalton Eugene Adams, Grover Harris, Jr., John R. Haddock, Linwood Earl Peaden, Richard Fernando Glisson, Robert Lee Owens, and George Allen Stroud.

Colored—James Lee Ross, Noah Webster Jones, Henry Junior Ruth, Larry Clemons, Oza Jack Newton, Willie Junior Edwards, James Roosevelt Stephenson.

Confederacy in meeting its obligations at home and abroad. It also focuses attention upon the "organization and personnel responsible for carrying out the financial measures of the Government."

Dr. Richard C. Todd, associate professor of history at East Carolina College, was awarded Tuesday evening in Asheville the Mrs. Simon Baruch University Prize of $1,000 offered biennially by the United Daughters of the Confederacy for an unpublished monograph or essay of high merit in the field of Southern history.

Dr. Todd's "A History of Confederate Finance" was chosen for the honor because of its contribution to the history of the Confederacy and of the War Between the States. Selection of the prize-winning work was made on the bases of "effectiveness of research, originality of thought, accuracy of statement, and excellence of style."

Tories To Slash Spending Abroad

Fast-Shrinking Dollar Reserves Responsible For Move

LONDON (AP)—The Conservative government announced today it has decided to cut Britain's spending abroad by $80 million a year to halt a startling drain on its gold-dollar reserves.

R. A. Butler, the new Chancellor of the Exchequer, outlined the plan in a speech to the House of Commons disclosing that the vital reserves plummeted $320 million in October alone.

Butler said the nearly billion-dollar import cut will not affect trade between Britain and its partners in the pound sterling bloc, but will be limited to America and other non-sterling countries.

The decision to slash spending abroad followed yesterday's statement by Prime Minister Churchill that Britain must adopt exceptional measures to avoid national bankruptcy.

Among the imports which will be hit, Butler said, are food and strategic materials for stockpiling. The ration of some foods may have to be cut as well as the amount of edible now on the rationed list, he added.

Meet Tomorrow To Plan Details Fat Stock Show

A meeting of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce has been called for tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 in the Chamber of Commerce office by committee chairman Hugh Winslow.

The committee will meet with representatives of agriculture teachers in the county to work out plans for the fat stock show and sale which is to be held here after the first of the year.

Winslow said that 60 animals are already being prepared for the show and sale, a notable increase over the 22 animals which were shown last year. He reminded that the sale last year reached the highest average of 24 sales on the seaboard.

The show and sale will be sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and 4-H and FFA clubs in the county.

at the numerous problems confronting their operation. "Federal agencies located in the mints and customhouses of the South was confiscated," Dr. Todd states in the work; "property of alien enemies was sequestered; and military supplies were impressed; duties were placed on exports and imports; direct taxes were levied; donations and gifts were cheerfully accepted; and Treasury notes flooded the market while loans were floated in an attempt to stabilize the redundant currency and offer a basis for foreign exchange."

Dr. Todd's history was written as a doctoral dissertation at Duke University. A native of Lancaster, Pa., he received his education at State Teachers College, Millersville, Pa.; Pennsylvania State College; and Duke University, from which he holds the doctor's degree.

$97,000 Hold-Up

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Three men, two armed with sub-machine guns, held up a branch bank on Milwaukee's northwest side during a heavy snowstorm today and escaped with an estimated $97,000.

The trio entered the bank in mid-morning, according to police and manager L. L. Wahl. The two armed men remained on each side of the doorway. The third jumped over a railing and ran behind the row of cashiers' cages. He scooped the money into a white bed sheet as one of his companions at the door counted off the seconds.

As the count hit zero, the trio ran from the bank and jumped into a car at the doorway. A fourth man drove the vehicle away.

Education Board Touring Schools

Members of the Pitt County Board of Education completed their initial visit of the county schools yesterday after they toured schools in the county.

The members of the board made a check on the work in progress in the classrooms and physical conditions of the schools. They visited classrooms, lunchrooms, playgrounds, and noted the equipment, furniture, and general situation in the schools.

D. H. Conley said the board members indicated that they were very well pleased with the condition of the county schools. Conley also said they plan to make further visitations in the near future so as to get a first-hand view of the entire school situation.

Schools that were visited yesterday were: Winterville, both white and colored, Ayden, white and colored, Grifton, Harpers, Shiloh, Child and Haddock's. A visit was also made to the school bus garage at Winterville.

Pitt ABC Sales Higher Than 1950

Pitt County ABC sales climbed to $594,013.70 for the first four months of the current fiscal year as sales during October reached $197,876.45. The October sales in the Pitt ABC stores this year were $48,860 higher than the ABC sales of the county in October, 1950. Total sales of the stores for the first four months of 1951 are $86,838 higher than total sales for the first four months of the last fiscal year.

Street-Straightening Is Approved By Committee

At a meeting yesterday afternoon, the Street Committee voted to move the portion of the Williams Street Negro Cemetery fence that faces the street, in order that the street might be made straight.

At present, the cemetery fence juts out into the street several feet, making a narrow and rather dangerous curve in what Mayor Page termed "should be a straight thoroughfare." No specific date was set by the committee for making the change, but members said future action would be taken.

The remainder of the meeting was confined to discussing the feasibility of opening a new street connecting Hooker Road with Sixteenth Street. The street would run

Truman To Call Moscow's Bluff

Will Offer World New Peace Proposal In Address Tonight

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman will call Moscow's bluff tonight by offering the world a global armistice plan as the best way to prevent World War III.

American experts believe this plan for action through the United Nations offers a better chance for peace—or at least for taking the "peace offensive" initiative away from the Russians—than proposals for a Big Four meeting.

Mr. Truman is known to be reluctant to accept the Big Four bids voiced by French President Vincent Auriol and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The White House feels that Soviet Premier Josef Stalin has had plenty of opportunities to show his good faith in peace by allowing settlements in Korea, Austria and Germany. The idea is to give Stalin another chance to show where he stands.

The President's major foreign policy address will be broadcast and televised from the White House at 10:30 p. m. EST. Millions of foreign listeners will hear the American bid for peace over the Voice of America.

The American bid will be placed before the U.N. General Assembly meeting in Paris by Secretary of State Dean Acheson for debate by 60 nations.

Advance word on Mr. Truman's address forecast an appeal for peace in Korea, easing of other world tension spots and steps toward "real peace," backed by specific measures. These call for limiting armies, navies, air forces, heavy armaments and atomic weapons following an armistice and creation of a U.N. inspection system.

Administration officials said it would not be inconsistent for the President to propose an arms limitation program only hours after conferring with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower about speeding arms deliveries to Western Europe. The United States and its partners, they said, would not put the brakes on until the Russians agree to a "fool-proof" limitation system.

Villagers Forced To Leave Homes

SINGAPORE (UP)—British authorities forcibly evacuated and detained all 2,000 inhabitants of a Malayan village today in a crackdown against terrorist activities centered here.

Residents of Tras in Pahang state were routed from their homes without warning at dawn and held for resettlement in other parts of the country.

Corruption 'Protest Vote' Affects Off-Year Elections

Blanket Of Snow Covers Midwest

Chicago Choked By Estimated 16.5 Million Tons Of Snow; Over 12 Inches In St. Louis; Death Toll Rising Fast

By UNITED PRESS

The center of the nation was smothered under a blanket of snow today.

Chicago was choked almost to a halt by nine inches of snow—an estimated 16,500,000 tons. The Weather Bureau predicted it would reach 12 inches before it stopped.

St. Louis already was over the one-foot mark and it was still snowing.

The storm—worst in history ever to hit this section of the nation so early in the fall—stretched from the Great Lakes all the way to Oklahoma.

Transportation of all sorts slowed to a crawl or stopped completely. The death toll mounted, particularly in traffic accidents as motorists, blinded by the snow and driving wind, slipped and skidded on icy, snow-blocked streets and highways.

Fatalities since the start of the cold wave climbed to 218, with 160 in traffic accidents.

Factories closed, power lines snapped and roofs collapsed under the weight of the snow and hundreds of cars were abandoned.

A 30-mile section of U.S. highway 61-67 south of St. Louis was closed to all traffic. More than 300 cars were stalled on the snow-covered stretch. Six persons froze to death in St. Louis during the storm.

Three More In Governor's Race Claims Waynick

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three more prominent men will enter North Carolina's race for governor next year.

That was the prediction made here last night by Capus Waynick, former North Carolina Democratic State Chairman, and now ambassador to Colombia.

Waynick predicted that State Treasurer Brandon Hodges of Raleigh, L. P. McInden, Greensboro attorney, and Lexington's Judge Hubert Olive will enter the governor's race. Former U.S. Sen. William B. Umstead of Durham, also an attorney, and Manley R. Dunnaway, Charlotte real estate agent, are the only announced candidates to date.

Ike's Supporters See Go-Ahead On Political Drive

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ike-for-President enthusiasts today viewed the general's final statement before returning to Paris as a sign to go ahead with plans to win the 1952 Republican nomination.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Republican supporters regarded his remarks at a news conference as his first public indication that he is available for the GOP nomination next year.

However, some congressional political tacticians believed Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio had a head start and that Eisenhower could get the nomination only by waging an open, aggressive campaign.

Four Killed In Carrier Accident

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four Navy men were killed and 10 injured Sunday when a jet fighter crashed into parked planes on the carrier Antietam off Korea.

One man was dead and eight others were in serious condition after they waited more than an hour in near-freezing temperatures near Marshall, Mo., after a bus-car crash on the ice-coated highway.

An Air Force plane bucked its way through the worst of the storm to fly four-month-old Patricia Boies from San Antonio, Tex., to Chicago for an emergency heart operation.

The child's supply of oxygen ran low as the ambulance crept through the blocked streets, and she died early today.

The plane was one of the few to land during the day at Midway Airport which was later closed to all traffic because the runways were unsafe.

Racing at Sportsman's Park was cancelled when jockeys refused to race through the near-blizzard lashing the track.

At Granite City, Ill., a 120-foot section of roof at the Nesco, Inc., plant collapsed under the weight of the snow. The company estimated damage at between $50,000 and $80,000.

Thirty-five-foot waves driven by winds up to 45 miles an hour pounded the water pumping stations in Lake Michigan which supply Chicago.

The Chicago Weather Bureau said that the nation east of the Rocky Mountains to the Mississippi River could expect some relief from the frigid weather that has prevailed there since the start of the vast cold wave.

Vishinsky Says Proposed Talks Require Study

PARIS (UP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky indicated today the Russian government will devote "serious study" to proposals for direct negotiations with Premier Josef Stalin to end the cold war.

Entering the United Nations hall for today's General Assembly meeting, Vishinsky said that proposals by French President Vincent Auriol and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill for direct West-East negotiations with Stalin raise "a very serious question."

"It needs much serious study," Vishinsky said.

Vishinsky denied published reports which quoted him as saying Stalin might come to Paris if the United States, France and Great Britain invited him to confer with President Truman, Premier Rene Pleven and Churchill.

Medal Of Honor Man Is Wounded

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (UP)—A World War II Congressional Medal of Honor winner has been wounded on the third day of his volunteer combat assignment in Korea, it was disclosed today.

A censored dispatch said bullets from a North Korean's burp gun wounded M-Sgt. Thomas E. McCall, 35, of Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 19 when he risked his life to save a wounded comrade.

A veteran of 11 years in the army and air force, McCall said he volunteered for infantry action in Korea because "I don't feel at home unless artillery and machinegun fire is zipping around my head."

Charges Of Corruption Figures Heavily In Scattered Elections; GOP Sweeps Four Congressional Races, Democrats Pleased By Upset Win In Philadelphia

WASHINGTON (UP)—Republicans gained a congressional seat and several mayors today in scattered elections sparked by charges of crime and corruption.

Democrats turned the issue to their advantage in Philadelphia where they elected a mayor for the first time since 1884.

Charges of corruption in government—rare to be an issue in the 1952 presidential campaign—figured heavily in the results of yesterday's off-year balloting.

Crime buster Rudolph Halley, 38-year-old former chief counsel of the Senate Crime Committee, swept into presidency of the New York city council, second highest office of the nation's biggest city.

Running as an independent, Halley swamped Democrat Joseph Sharkey, candidate of one powerful Tammany Hall, and ran around Rep. Henry J. Latham, the Republican nominee.

Among the places in which the Republicans ousted Democrats for mayor were several of Indiana's large cities, including Indianapolis, home town of President Truman's hand-picked new Democratic national chairman, Frank E. McKinney.

Other major results included: Republicans made a clean sweep of the four congressional seats at stake, two in Pennsylvania and one each in Ohio and New Jersey, for a net gain of one seat.

Incumbent Democrat Lawrence Weatherby defeated Republican Eugene Siler for governor in Kentucky. Former Gov. Hugh White, a staunch states rights and foe of the Truman administration, was elected governor in Mississippi without opposition.

Republicans gained five seats in the New Jersey legislature while Virginia, Mississippi and Kentucky remained strongly Democratic as usual.

As a result of the GOP sweep of the four congressional elections, the new lineup in the House is 233 Democrats, 200 Republicans, one Independent and one vacancy.

Yesterday's gain was made in the third district of Ohio, when Republican Paul Scheneck defeated Democrat Jesse Yoder for the unexpired term of Democrat Edward Green, who resigned. The district has seen-sawed between the two parties for years.

In other House elections, to fill seats vacated by death or resignation, Republican Frank C. Osmer Jr. beat Evelyn Seutner in the New Jersey ninth, Republican Joseph L. Carrig beat Paul Harris in the Pennsylvania 14th, and Republican Karl C. King was unopposed in the Pennsylvania eighth.

Democrats were happy over their Philadelphia victory, and hoped it meant they can carry all of popular Pennsylvania in next year's presidential election.

The Philadelphia campaign was waged almost exclusively on the corruption issue. Some of the Republicans who have ruled city hall in the past have gone to jail on corruption charges.

Socialist lawyer Joseph S. Clark Jr. defeated the Rev. Daniel S. Poling, nationally famous Baptist preacher. Democratic candidates for district attorney, sheriff, recorder and a host of other city and county positions also won.

Chrysanthemum Wedding

A beautiful marriage was witnessed at 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Alice Monteiro Blow, because the bride of Mr. Lloyd Nash Whitted, cashier of the bank of Elizabethtown, the impressive ceremony being performed by Rev. B. F. Huske, of New Bern.

The church was beautifully decorated for the marriage in a color scheme of yellow and green, the flowers being yellow chrysanthemums.

As Miss Lillian Carr rendered the wedding march the bridal party entered the church and passed to their respective positions about the altar.

The ushers, Messrs. W. H. Dail Jr., J. B. Higgs, Alex Blow Jr. and Charles James, of Greenville and N. S. Fulford, of Washington assembled in the front vestibule to await the bridesmaids who entered from the vestry room, passed through the aisle to the vestibule, then joining the ushers, returned to the altar in couples. These were Misses Mattie Moyer King and Mary Higgs and Mrs. B. B. Sugg, of Greenville; Miss Isabelle Whitted, of Elizabethtown and Mrs. Frank Bowers, of Washington, all dressed in white net over yellow mesaline and carrying bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums.

Next to enter were dames of honor, Mrs. N. S. Fulford, of Washington, and Mrs. W. H. Dail Jr., of Greenville, sisters of the bride, both wearing white satin with over dress of white lace, carrying bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Then followed the maid of honor, Miss Lottie Blow, a sister of the bride in blue chiffon cloth over satin and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. A. L. Blow. She wore a princess lace robe over white satin and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.

As these advanced the bridegroom entered from the vestry room with his best man and brother, Mr. William Whitted, of Elizabethtown, and met them at the altar.

Following the ceremony a public reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Pitt Street. The wedded couple left on the 4:56 Norfolk-Southern train for the home of Mr. Whitted in Elizabethtown.

Temperature Is Abnormally High

The highest temperature in the Greenville area during the past 24 hours was 88 degrees at 8 a.m. today, an abnormal high for this time of the year, Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported. The lowest temperature here during the same period was 41 degrees yesterday at 8 a.m.

Here during November was 6.12 inches, and this precipitation is considerably above the average rainfall, the observer stated. This is more rain than fell in the Greenville area during any month this year. The average annual rainfall here, according to government records, is about 50 inches. Precipitation during 10 months of this year averaged only 26 inches. The "sky survey" at the California Institute of Technology began in 1949. It will be completed in 1954, according to the schedule.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
FAITHFUL TO THE LAST
In the shadow of death, Johann Sebastian Bach dictated the chorale-pretude, "I Come Before Thy Throne."

The whole world confesses today that Bach was one of the greatest, if not the greatest, musician that the race has produced. But too few people know that he was a man of deep religious faith. To him music was a vehicle for bringing to men's hearts the glory and beauty of the divine. Although he composed scores of instrumental numbers, his greatest work was in the realm of sacred song. Week after week he trained his choir, and out of his faithfully performed duties have come some of the most inspiring sacred numbers that human ears have ever heard.

To the end of time, multitudes will continue to be lifted closer to God by the songs of a great musician who in his religious faith was as humble as a child, and in his devotion as faithful as a martyr. He lifted men's souls heavenward and set to music the deepest longings of the human heart. While preachers bring the Word of God to man's ears, Bach brings the songs of God to men's souls and ready hearts.

As he lay on his deathbed, he dictated the words and music of "I Come Before Thy Throne." Glorious Bach, whose faith never wavered and in whose heart there was no turning back from the things of God!

More Than Dollars To Be Considered

Under consideration by the Pitt County Commissioners is the matter of doing away with the Pitt County Home which has been operated by the county for more than 20 years.

On the surface the proposal has a great deal of merit in respect to economizing on county spending; but likewise the move carries with it many ramifications which must be worked out satisfactorily before doing away with the institution could be labeled a wise step.

According to figures available from the County Commissioners and from the County Welfare Department, doing away with the County Home could save the county some $12,000 to $15,000 a year of the $18,000 budgeted for the County Home at the present time. In addition to that saving, the county probably would be able to derive an appreciable amount of revenue from the 85 cleared acres on the farm on which the County Home is located, by renting the property on a yearly basis, or leasing it for a long period.

Last year cash sales from the farm netted the county slightly over $900.

On the other side of the ledger the county, by changing the County Home into a private boarding home into a private boarding home for the aged would be throwing the major portion of the responsibility for Pitt's aged indigents on the federal and state governments rather than providing for them as it has in the past.

The present idea is to lease the county home as it is to some individual who would provide a good boarding home for these aged residents of the county, and let the state, county and federal old age assistance payments to which these individuals are entitled under the law pay for their keep at the home. The federal and state payments to the 26 residents now at the County Home would amount to $12,480 annually if they were drawing old age assistance, and to that the county would add approximately $2,620 per year for 26 people.

One of the principal problems involved in the change would be that of finding a qualified person who would provide adequate care for these aged people of the county, and a means for the county to keep close check on the boarding home to see that the residents there were properly cared for.

The matter of making new arrangements for caring for the aged indigents of Pitt County has merit, but many more concrete facts are necessary before the commissioners can make an intelligent decision concerning the proposed change.

A Reason Behind Churchill's Me-Too-ism

Those people who expected Churchill's new government in England to abruptly jerk the country from the wide road of Socialism back into the aggressive track of free enterprise should be convinced now that the trek back will take just as long and perhaps longer than it did for England to lapse into its present degenerate state.

In the domestic policy set forth by the Conservatives in the traditional "King's Speech," the Churchill group pledged only to spur private enterprise by "giving it a fuller share in our economic activity" and to stimulate private and public housing construction. The Conservatives said they would maintain the "welfare state" established by the Labor government, and only said it would afford more "value for money spent."

Although the domestic policy of the Churchill Conservatives sounds almost like me-too-ism of the Labor policy, it must be remembered that the people of England for five years have lived under progressing Socialism and have learned to look on the government for "cradle to the grave" handouts. To destroy all that with one stroke of the pen would have caused chaos. Probably the best that can be hoped for is that the Conservatives, now that they have been restored to power, will apply the brakes to the socialistic trends. Once the progress of socialism has been stopped they can begin swimming against the current back to the system of free enterprise.

Churchill and his supporters are treading on thin ice and they know it. The job they have to do can not be done in one year or two years; it will take several years. They can not afford to take sweeping steps now which will leave them vulnerable to being tossed out on their conservative ear before they hardly get started on their job of rebuilding.

National Whirligig

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The ballyhooed baseball inquiry on Capitol Hill will not produce even a legislative squeak, in the opinion of veteran members disgusted with this wholly unnecessary squint at our national sport. It has been such a "bust" in view of current developments, that it probably will not be mentioned or resumed at the next session.

Frank E. McKinney, the new Democratic National Chairman and former co-owner of several major league teams, will have plenty of sympathy from members on both sides of the aisle, if he argues against legislation in this field.

He will have the support of House Minority Leader "Joe" Martin, a rabid rooster. Another who sees no need for federal action is Chief Justice Fred Vinson, a semi-pro star in his younger days.

UNJUSTIFIED—Inasmuch as courts have held that baseball is not interstate commerce in the legal sense, the inquiry was completely unjustified. It was conceived in the fertile and publicity-conscious mind of Representative Emanuel Celler of Brooklyn, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. "Mannie" will do almost anything for a headline.

Committee members knew beforehand that such baseball problems as the farm system, the reserve clause, the extension of major league ball to the southern and western sections of the country and television arrangements for this or any other sport, do not fall under the jurisdiction of the federal government.

They simply agreed to go along with Mr. Celler for the front-page ride and the fun of it. It gave them a chance to see some of the game's stars at close range.

SACROSANCT—Even if the law could conceivably be stretched to blanket the playing fields of America, baseball would remain sacrosanct as a practical matter. Members recognize that, if the cold hands of a government commission or Department of Justice lawyers were ever laid upon the national game, as they have been on almost every form of activity, it would kill the sport.

Federal intervention could demoralize players, owners and spectators. Sectional and tribal rivalries among members of Congress would apply in this realm as well as they do to railroad rates, price controls, subsidies, union favoritism, allocation of factories etc.

PRESUMPTUOUS—An Attorney General's or a federal commissioner's ruling might determine the pennant winner.

Finally, there are more questionable characters in government circles, as recent investigations of executive departments have demonstrated, than there are in baseball.

The Black Sox affair, baseball's last scandal, occurred in 1919. The extent of Washington skulduggery has not yet been revealed, and probably never will be. In other words, baseball has become cleaner, while politics has become dirtier. Therefore, it seems presumptuous for Congress even to consider the question of regulating and regimenting sportsmen.

JURISDICTION—Current interest in future relations between government and professional sports has been aroused by the Department of Justice's anti-trust suit against the major football leagues' television restrictions.

Attorney General J. Harold McGrath contends that prohibition of television of games in adjacent areas, which is designed to promote home attendance is a monopolistic action.

The contention to be upheld by the courts, football would have to be adjudged an interstate activity subject to federal jurisdiction. If this view should prevail, it follows that baseball may likewise become a federal pawn. The same principle would hold, according to legal experts.

UNTOUCHABLE—Numerous prominent lawyers with D of J contacts believe that Mr. McGrath did not realize the implications of the football suit on the baseball problem, when he permitted eager young lawyers in the anti-trust division to bring this action.

The politically minded Mr. McGrath, it is understood, thought the attempt to increase the television audience would prove popular among set owners and enable to view games played near their homes. Already the politicians are beginning to talk of the "television vote" in the same way they refer to the "veterans vote" and the "labor vote."

Luckily, the Supreme Court frequently views judicial questions from the practical as well as the legal standpoint, even though it necessitates strained interpretations.

On this basis, the high tribunal has looked upon baseball as a national venture that should not be hampered by law, lawyers or politicians. In their opinion, it should be almost as untouchable as a man's religion and personal beliefs.

"Americans should keep constantly in mind that no people have lost their liberties so long as their press remained free."—General George C. Marshall

ANAHEIM, CALIF., BULLETIN: "An interesting sidelight on political thinking of organized labor's membership was provided at the national convention of the AFL in San Francisco . . . it was announced that the 8 million AFL men and women would be asked to contribute $1 each toward a political war chest . . . Last year's war chest, for which $2 per capita was asked, amounted to $550,000. This meant the political program of AFL leadership in advance and en toto, even to the mere extent of $2 in cash support! Which also means that the overwhelming majority reserved the right to support or oppose any and all issues, with votes or cash, as independent individuals."

Must Be A Leak Somewhere

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Anybody will tell you that America has more salesmen per square inch than any other country. They say England is a nation of shopkeepers, but America is a nation of salesmen. In fact, our shopkeepers are often our best salesmen. As evidence, here is a list of signs that have been found in some of our shops:

In a pet shop:
You can buy merchandise you will love elsewhere, but ours is the only kind that will love you back!

In a butcher shop:
Our chops will make you lick yours.

In a reducing station:
Let us bring you closer to your dreams by taking a few inches off your waist.

In a candy store:
Select the best—Don't forget that you'll be invited to sample a few pieces by the recipient of your gift.

In a tobacco store:
Nobody ever put his foot in his mouth while puffing on a pipe.

In a clothing store:
No charge for enlarging hats to fit heads swelled by the compliments they are sure to cause.

In a barber shop:
Watch out for falling hair! Inquire about our special scalp treatment.

In a shoe shop:
We can't make you rich but we can guarantee to keep you well heeled.

In a furniture store:
Newlyweds, please note: We make more money on twin beds but would rather sell you a double bed. (The longer you stay married, the more home furnishings we can sell you.)

In a seafood store:
Today's oysters are stored under refrigeration—tomorrow's under the ocean.

In a toy store:
Let us help you select the right toy for your child. Play is our business.

In a sporting goods store:
Our golf equipment is so professional in design that you may have difficulty retaining your amateur standing.

There's nothing like the American's ability to sell. Granted, we like to think there's nothing like the American's ability to out-do anything a foreigner does. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

Reflector Bureau

By LYNN NISBET

Asso. Afternoon Dailies

JITTERY—Question has been raised in some quarters about the propriety of the governor of North Carolina going on a fishing trip as guest of a man who sells a lot of sand and gravel to the state. Also there has been some criticism of the governor accepting hospitality of owners of private airplanes for trips over the country. During the past few days there has been heard comment about the governor and high ranking personnel of the highway department accepting entertainment and gifts of brief cases from the people of Fayetteville. Not single person with whom your reporter has talked thinks there is anything wrong in these matters.

The adverse comment is regarded as evidence that some people are simply suffering from a bad case of jitters because of rumors and developments of monkey-business among high ranking officials at Washington.

BASELESS—There is no real justification for these jitters, but there is some excuse. The difference between a free trip to Europe or a vacation in a swank Florida hotel and a weekend at the beach or a fishing trip off the coast is in degree rather than in kind. There is an old adage to the effect that people who live in glass houses should not throw stones. That might be reversed to read that people who throw stones should not live in glass houses. Stated another way, the head men in an administration which has made big capital out of proposals to clean up "petty graft" among state employees, must need be more than normally careful in accepting completely honest and innocent favors.

HELPFUL—That idea should not be carried to the extreme point that a man must dissociate himself from all his friends just because he happens to hold public office. One of the main troubles with public officials is they do not keep enough contacts with the run-of-mind citizenship they serve. The governor and the highway commissioners and the other officials can do a much better job if they take time out from official duties to consort with contractors and bankers and cotton mill workers and reporters. All this stuff about the governor being seduced by a fishing trip on a rich man's boat or a dinner given by reporters who cover his office is a lot of tish-tosh and bunk. Fact is, if governors and presidents and other big shots did that kind of thing more often they'd be better officials.

TAGGED—Here's a cute little human interest story from Greensboro. A business man there took a bunch of magazines to the Masonic home and was recognized by one of the "guys" from several previous visits. The guest, an elderly woman, spoke to him and said: "You are not a Mason, are you?" The man sort of shame-facedly admitted he was not. "I was sure you were not," said the woman, "because no Mason ever brings us anything." That's a true story that can be supported with names and dates. Of course, the good woman was exaggerating; but names in places can be substituted and the story will pretty nearly stand up anywhere.

BAND—Some Carolina fans at the Tennessee game Saturday were concerned at first because the "Tennessees" did not have their very fine band along. There was some discussion about why the band wasn't along. During the half recess period, one of the fellows who had been worried brightened up. He had found the answer, and he expressed it ungrammatically but forcefully: "The Tennessee folks just 'knew they didn't need no band." His crude but honest comment was justified by the score-board: Tennessee, 27; Carolina, 0. Another Carolina chap wasn't so philosophical about it. He said he felt he was entitled to some good music for his ticket, since he didn't see a good football game.

JOKE—Whether it was deliberate or inadvertent, whether it was serious or a joke, and who the joke was on, are still unanswered questions. Anyway, a lot of folks are still chuckling about one of the Governor's speeches to the recent state CIO-PAC convention. The governor was talking about conservation of water resources through federal development of multipurpose projects on state streams. e used, to support his contention, several quotations from statements made many years ago by William Howard Taft, who served the nation well as president and chief justice of the United States: "I am certain."

The last sentence was father of Senator Robert A. Taft, co-author of the Taft-Hartley act, whose name is anathema in any labor union group.

NICKELS—As result of Saturday's election among purchasers of commercial feeds and fertilizer, the agricultural research stories in North Carolina will get enough extra nickels next year and each year thereafter to add between $150,000 and $200,000 annually to the fund available for such use. Leaders in the movement are both happy and disappointed. They are happy at the preponderant majority rung up for the plan of adding five cents a ton to the purchase price of feed and fertilizer. The vote was approximately twelve to one. They are not at all happy over the fact that only about 70,000 eligible voters took the trouble to express an opinion. Advance information was that approximately half a million persons could vote.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

(Wilson Daily Times)

What the newsmen in Lake Charles said about the officials of Calcasieu parish when the latter were attacked for protecting gambling, The Times doesn't know. But The Times, even at this distance, can detect some of Louisiana's high-handedness. To get even with the newsmen, the county officials indicted them on a charge of defamation. But those county officials, because they were elected by home folks, were afraid to try the case. They might have been held accountable by the people who put them in office.

What's taking place, it's true, is a little hard on the newsmen. They're being put through an ordeal. But, in the end, it'll be much harder on the officials. If, because of the high-handedness, the case can be made to stand up, it'll be reversed in some high court. And when it is reversed it'll react against the officials who had the temerity to try to punish men for telling the truth. For not everyone in Louisiana is corrupt to the point that he'll tolerate injustices. Americans on the whole possess a better sense of fair play. To call a gambler a gambler after he's pleaded guilty to gambling in court is hardly defamation of character. Yet three known gamblers are on the prosecuting side. That, it would seem to us, will go heavily against the officials who were charged by the stories the newsmen printed. It's generally felt that birds of feather flock together. If known gamblers can be a party to the prosecution, that fact alone will tend to minimize the charges against the newsmen. However, if the officials of Calcasieu parish want to play with fire, they'll get some notions of what fire does before they're finished.

Business Today

What happens to local business when a cross-country auto route by-passes a shopping district? Surprisingly, it gets better.

One of the "dismals" of auto travel are the "r-w-downs" and congestion when an otherwise good route staggers through traffic from congested areas. Great turnpikes, freeways and parkways have eliminated travel through even mildly congested regions. Many towns and cities have also built by-passing highways.

When a proposal for a by-passing road comes up, usually some of the local merchants oppose it. They argue that tourists are potential customers and diverting the stream of cars from past their doors will cost them small fortunes.

There is evidence that they are wrong. The California highway department has conducted a study of five towns that have been by-passed. In all five of them, business increased after through traffic was diverted and in four of them business increased in greater ratio than in the rest of the county.

In North Sacramento, for instance, a freeway took cross-state traffic from a four-mile street lined with 224 retail stores. In the two years following, retail business in these stores went up $4.5 per cent, compared with a county-wide increase of 27 per cent.

Usually gas station operators are the chief opponents to re-routing traffic because they do sell to auto tourists. But in North Sacramento, gas stations increased their business 36.5 per cent, while sales for the county as a whole were rising 15 per cent. And cafe and bar business gained only 1.5 per cent in the whole county.

There are reasons for this. Through travelers usually do their shopping before and at the end of their trips. They stop usually for only food, drink and gas and many of them prefer roadside places with plenty of room to park and with endorsement signs of auto associations and other recognized agencies. At the same time, suburban residents avoid streets jammed with through traffic which makes maneuvering and parking difficult, if not dangerous.

GROWTH IS IN TAXES
The tremendous growth of the auto industry is shown dramatically by a comparison of the newly issued 31st edition of Automobile Facts and Figures by the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

The average intelligent child is not born puffing on a cigarette, a pipe, or a cigar.

One reason is that at that age the child isn't sure just which of these cloudy avenues to throat health is the smoothest, mellowest, mildest, and most flavor satisfying. "Some infants have even been known to prefer milk."

But sometimes, between the twilight of puberty and the onset of Social Security the average American, man or woman, takes up the habit-forming weed, in one form or another.

The form in which he does finally embrace tobacco determines the pattern of a great American industry, a business once built on a sniff and a chew and one that now goes up in smoke.

Snuff was become mainly a rural delight. Chewing tobacco is for the rugged individualists who will swallow their pride and stick by their club even though union charlatans refuse to correct their errors at the cuspidor.

But the sniffers and the chawers are the minority today. The big race for the tobacco dollar is among the puffers—the cigarette, pipe and cigar smokers.

The cigarette smoker's lead by far, of course. But the pipe manufacturers, whose sales fell from $33,700,000 in 1948 to $22,500,000 in 1950, are striking back. They want to get their share of the market again.

Spreading the drive is 37-year-old Morris Levinson, Yale Law school honor graduate and president of the Kaywood Co., which manufactures about 40 per cent of the pipes sold in America each year.

"This year we expect to do about $24,000,000 in the industry," he said.

"We figure we lost business because the cigarette manufacturers advertised more. We are advertising more too. And we are emphasizing the same health theme as they do—'Guard Your Throat.'"

He has the reasonable theory that a good $5 pipe is as gentle to a human throat as a package of cigarettes is. (No one smokes for fun any more. The idea is to puff something that won't hurt your throat at so much—even if your throat doesn't hurt anyway.)

Some nine per cent of Americans smokers puff pipes solely, some 17 per cent mix pipes, cigars and cigarettes.

Prestige pipe smokers include Milton Berle, Bing Crosby, Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, U.S. Steel Tycoon Ben F. Bliss, Herbert Hoover, F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., and the late poetess Amy Lowell, a robust lass, who, alas, also enjoyed a good Havana cigar.

"We are also stuck with Joe Stalin and Tito," said Levinson, frowning, and then added, brightening:

"But pipe-smoking certainly hasn't hurt their health."

"There are about 120 pipe clubs in the country, including two all-women clubs in New York state."

"Ten years ago we put out

clation and the first edition issued in 1919.

The first edition reported production of 1,154,000 autos and trucks in 1918; the new edition reports 8,008,000 in 1950.

Employment in auto plants increased from 280,000 to 840,000 over that span. But the greatest rise of all has been in taxes. Motorists paid $65,000,000 in 1918 and $4,300,000,000 in 1950.

PILFERAGE CONTINUES TO WORRY GROCERS
High food prices continue to make pilferage one of the worst problems of grocery store operation. In New Orleans one large chain felt it necessary to use large newspaper ads warning shoplifters would be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

In California, members of an association were advised to post signs saying persons needing food so badly they would steal, could have it free by applying to the manager.

Fresh and canned meat items continue to be shoplifters' favorites except in those states where groceries sell liquor.

SALES ARE GOOD, BUT MADE AT LOSS
The outlook for apparel is good and a high level of sales will be maintained during the rest of this year and into 1952, John F. McKiernan, New York regional director of the Department of Commerce told a trade meeting.

Meanwhile, sales in the textile industry are moving only by fits and starts. "Textile suppliers are maintaining a steady flow of sales," one trade reporter wrote "by pricing several products at or below cost."

BILLS WOULD BENEFIT OUTSIDE SALESMEN
The million outside salesmen for wholesalers are showing a lot of interest in several bills introduced in Congress which would bring salesmen making less than $250 a month under the Wage-Hour law. At present, all wholesale salesmen are excluded from the law's benefits.

With Congressmen now back in their home districts, several salesmen's organization are urging them to support these bills.

NEW PRODUCTS
MOTOR: A minor revolution in the mechanical toy industry may be created by the development of a battery-operated motor, the size of a walnut, which produces from 2,400 to 7,000 revolutions per minute. The developers, Rowe Industries, Sag Harbor, New York, say it can compete with clock-work motors in toys.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK —(AP)— So far no American child has been known to enter this world with a smoker's cough.

The average intelligent child is not born puffing on a cigarette, a pipe, or a cigar.

One reason is that at that age the child isn't sure just which of these cloudy avenues to throat health is the smoothest, mellowest, mildest, and most flavor satisfying. "Some infants have even been known to prefer milk."

But sometimes, between the twilight of puberty and the onset of Social Security the average American, man or woman, takes up the habit-forming weed, in one form or another.

The form in which he does finally embrace tobacco determines the pattern of a great American industry, a business once built on a sniff and a chew and one that now goes up in smoke.

Snuff was become mainly a rural delight. Chewing tobacco is for the rugged individualists who will swallow their pride and stick by their club even though union charlatans refuse to correct their errors at the cuspidor.

But the sniffers and the chawers are the minority today. The big race for the tobacco dollar is among the puffers—the cigarette, pipe and cigar smokers.

The cigarette smoker's lead by far, of course. But the pipe manufacturers, whose sales fell from $33,700,000 in 1948 to $22,500,000 in 1950, are striking back. They want to get their share of the market again.

Spreading the drive is 37-year-old Morris Levinson, Yale Law school honor graduate and president of the Kaywood Co., which manufactures about 40 per cent of the pipes sold in America each year.

"This year we expect to do about $24,000,000 in the industry," he said.

"We figure we lost business because the cigarette manufacturers advertised more. We are advertising more too. And we are emphasizing the same health theme as they do—'Guard Your Throat.'"

He has the reasonable theory that a good $5 pipe is as gentle to a human throat as a package of cigarettes is. (No one smokes for fun any more. The idea is to puff something that won't hurt your throat at so much—even if your throat doesn't hurt anyway.)

Some nine per cent of Americans smokers puff pipes solely, some 17 per cent mix pipes, cigars and cigarettes.

Prestige pipe smokers include Milton Berle, Bing Crosby, Senator Paul Douglas of Illinois, U.S. Steel Tycoon Ben F. Bliss, Herbert Hoover, F. D. Roosevelt, Jr., and the late poetess Amy Lowell, a robust lass, who, alas, also enjoyed a good Havana cigar.

"We are also stuck with Joe Stalin and Tito," said Levinson, frowning, and then added, brightening:

"But pipe-smoking certainly hasn't hurt their health."

"There are about 120 pipe clubs in the country, including two all-women clubs in New York state."

"Ten years ago we put out a special pipe set for women. It featured six different colored sets to match their dresses. But we didn't burn up the world with it.

"We're still trying to find a way to get more women to smoke pipes."

However, 37 per cent of the nation's pipes are sold as Christmas gifts—and women buy 70 per cent of these. So the industry has to sell the ladies.

(Tomorrow: Why Pipe smokers don't commit crimes.)

Rocket Plane Discloses Future Speed Problems

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. —(AP)— We have a rocket plane, the Navy's Douglas Sk-rocket, so speedy that air friction can make it hotter than boiling water.

This plane has gone higher than 72,000 feet, (more than 13 miles) the highest published flight of man.

We have three of these planes and the facts uncovered by them, mostly still secret, are expected to benefit many combat planes which still are in the design board stage.

These reports were made by A.M. Mayo, of the Douglas Aircraft Company, Inc., Segundo, Calif., to a symposium on the medical and other human problems of speed and flight up near the borders of outside space.

The symposium here is the first

Director Of Symphony Is Native North Carolinian

Thor Johnson, music director of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, will receive a warm welcome from fellow North Carolinians who will be present at East Carolina College Thursday evening of this week to hear a concert by the famous music ensemble which he heads. Reared in Winston-Salem and educated at the University of North Carolina, the famous conductor has been music director of the Cincinnati Symphony since the 1947-1948 season.

The concert will take place in the Wright auditorium on the campus at 8 o'clock. The program will be sponsored by the East Carolina Entertainment Committee as the first attraction for the 1951-1952 season of its annual series of programs. A large audience from the college, the city of Greenville, and towns in Eastern North Carolina is expected to be present.

Johnson was born in Wisconsin, but moved to North Carolina before beginning school. He is the son of a Moravian minister and received an "average American boy's" upbringing in the public schools of Winston-Salem. He did his first conducting as a knee-pants maestro with the high school orchestra there.

During his college days at the University of North Carolina, he conducted the Carolina ensemble and was associate conductor of the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra. Hundreds of admirers remember her touring days with the state orchestra and assure him a following among music lovers in his home state.

After study in this country and abroad and a period of service in the U. S. Army, Johnson was asked to appear as guest conductor of the Cincinnati Symphony in 1946. His appearance proved so successful with critics and audience that he was unanimously appointed to succeed Eugene Goossens as conductor a few weeks later, when Goossens resigned as conductor. Johnson has continued to win overwhelming success in each of his three seasons as music director and permanent conductor.

Service League Plans For Follies Made At Meeting

The Service League of Greenville met at Sheppard Memorial Library on Monday, Nov. 5, at 10:30 a.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. H. Thomas, who made a few timely remarks on important things to remember.

A guest was introduced, Mrs. Reid Perkins, who is acting as assistant casting director for the Service League "Follies" to be held Nov. 20 and 21.

After the roll call the minutes of the October meeting were read and the treasurer's report heard. Five letters were read by the corresponding secretary, and brief reports were heard from the chairmen of the various committees and projects.

It was announced that Mrs. Howard Moyer will head the Service League work for the Community Chest Drive Nov. 13-16. The residential canvass will be made on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 15 & 16, and the necessary material was distributed to members volunteering for this service.

The chairman of the Hospital Bed Fund reported that four cases were cared for during October at a cost of $256.49. There are four more patients using the fund in the hospital at the present time. It is important that the League work hard to make a success of the "Follies" in order to replenish the Hospital Bed Fund, the chairman suggested.

Reports were heard from the chairman of the various committees of the "Follies" and members were asked to volunteer for various jobs to be done. Tickets were distributed to those present and instructions given.

Mr. John Farrow of the Jerome K. Cargill Co. who will direct the "Follies" was introduced to the group. Mr. Farrow spoke briefly of his plans and promised to go into further details at the Follies party at the Country Club, which was held on Monday night following the meeting on Monday morning.

Prof. H. B. Sugg To Head Negro TB Seal Drive

Professor H. B. Sugg, of Farmville, will head a committee of Pitt County Negro leaders who have organized for the purpose of supporting and promoting the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale, according to an announcement today by Dr. W. E. Marshall, County Chairman of the 1951 Christmas Seal Sale Campaign.

The Negro committee will co-operate with committees in the county which are organizing to serve during the Christmas Seal Sale campaign. This year's Christmas Seal Sale will be conducted from November 19 to December 25 by the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association to raise funds for its 1952 program of tuberculosis control and prevention.

Because of the support which the Negroes of Pitt County have given to previous Christmas Seal Sales and to the work of the tuberculosis association, Marshall said today that he was confident the newly organized committee would give valuable assistance to all phases of Christmas Seal work.

Professor Sugg, in accepting his appointment, said he was eager to serve because the Christmas Seal Sale made possible the "excellent anti-tuberculosis program of the tuberculosis association."

"The tuberculosis association, which gets its financial support from the sale of Christmas Seals, works the year 'round to eradicate a disease that has long caused much suffering and death among Negroes," he said.

"Tuberculosis is a grim enemy of all races and it is causing one out of every 12 deaths among Negroes," he said.

"The Negro leaders of Pitt County are suffering among County behind the work of the association and it is natural for us to want to work for the success of the Christmas Seal Sale."

To Revise Board Of Draft Appeals

RALEIGH —(AP)—The present state-wide Draft Appeal Board will be replaced by appeal boards in each of the state's three federal court districts.

Col. T. H. Upton, State Selective Service Director, announced yesterday that the three boards are now in the process of being set up. He said he hoped to have them in operation early next month.

The boards will act on draft appeals originating in their district. Each board will be comprised of a representative of labor, industry and agriculture and also a doctor and a lawyer.

Upton said the new boards are being organized under a Selective Service law which became effective last summer. One appeal board will be located in the west, another in the east, and one in the middle district.

Picking Cotton For Negro 4-H Club Project

Negro 4-H Club members of the Falkland School are shown picking cotton in a field near rice, in an effort to help raise money for the building of a State Camp for Negro 4-H Club members. Each club member in the state has been asked to give one dollar to help in building the camp. In order to raise the money these students are picking cotton and giving one dollar or more towards building the camp. This is a general practice over the state. ### District Pentecostal Holiness Meet Opposes Ambassadorship

Resolutions protesting the appointment of an American ambassador to the Vatican were adopted by ministerial and lay delegates attending a quarterly conference of New Bern district churches of the North Carolina Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church in Greenville during the weekend.

Conference officials were directed to forward the text of the resolution to President Truman in the White House and to North Carolina senators and representatives. The resolution declares that a basic principle of separation of church and state according to the American tradition has been violated in the appointment of General Mark Clark to represent this nation in the Vatican.

The President was assured of the prayers for divine guidance by the delegates, the resolution further declared.

In other business before the conference, over which the Rev. W. E. Morris, North Carolina Conference superintendent presided, committees for the year were named, and progress reports were received showing gains in numerical membership, evangelism, Sunday school enrollment and attendance, and youth department projects. Pastors and evangelists also reported on their assignments.

Named to the Committee on Ex-amination of district mission workers were the Rev. H. E. Johnson, Greenville, chairman; the Rev. H. Willard Watson, Greenville; and the Rev. N. J. Ward, New Bern; on the Status Committee, Mrs. McElree Purifoy, Greenville; and Miss Louise Smith, Chocowinity; district secretary, the Rev. McElree Purifoy, Greenville.

A workshop for New Bern Sunday school officials will be held in Greenville on Tuesday evening, November 20, it was announced at the conference. The Rev. V. W. Callahan of Goldsboro, president of the Sunday School Association of the conference will be present to conduct the workshop.

Belhaven was selected as the site of the quarterly conference scheduled for February 1-3.

Sermons during the conference were delivered by the Rev. Mr. Morris.

Under the direction of the host pastor, the Rev. E. E. Johnson, the officers of the Woman's Auxiliary, delegates were guests at a luncheon served in the Greenville church Saturday.

The conference-wide caravan for The Falcon Orphanage, under direction of the Woman's Auxiliary, set for November 20, was explained by Mrs. R. H. Braddock of Vanceboro, district director of the Auxiliary, who urged full support of this food collection for the orphanage.

Superintendent C. R. McCartney of the Falcon Orphanage appeared on the conference program and presented a group of the singing class for some specialty numbers.

Judge Parker To Be '52 Candidate

LUMBERTON —(AP)— Superior court Judge R. Hunt Parker of Roanoke Rapids announced last night he will be a candidate for Associate Justice of the State Supreme Court in the 1952 Democratic primary.

He is the second jurist to enter the race for a place on the Supreme Court. Superior Court Judge F. Don Phillips of Rockingham announced his candidacy Saturday.

Both will be candidates for the unexpired term of W. A. Devin, who was appointed Chief Justice to succeed the late W. P. Stacy. They also will seek the full term for the seat vacated by Devin as Associate Justice.

Turnous Valentine, Nashville attorney, was appointed to serve as Devin's successor. He has not announced whether he will be a candidate.

Parker is a veteran of 19 years on the Superior Court bench. He is a World War I veteran and a former legislator from Halifax County.

In making his announcement, Parker said: "Since my admission to the bar I have spent my life in studying the law and the history and the background of the law to prepare myself for work upon the Supreme Court, if I ever had the opportunity to serve upon that court."

Life In Prison Is Decreed For Young Orphan

RUTHERFORDTON —(AP)— A 17-year-old orphan left here today for Central Prison in Raleigh to begin a life sentence.

Billy Rae Powell was sentenced by Judge William H. Bobbitt here yesterday after he pleaded guilty to accessory before the fact of murder in the first degree. The plea was entered to a murder charge against him in the gunshot slaying last March 12 of 15-year-old Wage Johnson, his roommate at the Alexander School at nearby Union Mills.

The sentence also ended a case which saw the superintendent of the boarding school, W. E. Sweat, fatally shot at the school. Another student, Hugh Justice, 20, also was given life after being convicted of killing the superintendent.

Utah v. — originally called "De-se-ret", a name used in the Book of Mormon, meaning "honey bee".

Following the practice, plans were made for the forthcoming supper to be held by the Unit on next Tuesday night at the Olde Towne Inn.

All members who can attend the supper meeting are urged to get in touch with Jack Foley as soon as possible so that reservations and preparations can be made ahead of time.

Prison Sentence For Earl Black

WILMINGTON —(AP)— An alleged king pin of Wilmington racketeering has been sentenced to serve 18 months in prison on charges of conspiracy to operate a lottery and possession of lottery tickets.

The sentence handed out by Judge John J. Burney here yesterday to Earl L. Black was a double blow for the defendant. He had been sentenced recently in Recorder's Court to one year on the same charges. He appealed the sentence to the Superior Court, only to have the term increased by six months.

It has a Way with Women

SOMETIMES we think that too little attention is given to the fair sex in automobile advertising.

After all, it's the woman of the house who has to do most of the shopping, which involves getting into tight places at the curb. And it's surprising what tight spots a Buick can fit into at a turn of the wheel.

It's the woman who likes complete freedom from things that it takes an engineer to operate—and a complete and utter freedom from mechanical complications is exactly what makes Dynaflo Drive* such a joy.

It's the woman who has an eye for style and fine fabrics—and a nose for economy. On both counts, a Buick is tops.

But we suspect something else. We suspect that a woman gets just as great a lift as a man from commanding this great-powered and trigger-quick bundle of vitality to bow to her will.

Here's a car to win any woman's heart—by its level-gaited stride—its willing response to her hand on the wheel—its smart style and its smart performance—its spaciousness and comfort—and its thrift.

How about taking time off, some afternoon, to boss around a Buick? It's a date that's bound to thrill you.

SOW A SHOPPING TRIP TO BELK-TYLER'S OF GREENVILLE... REAP A HARVEST OF SAVINGS!

Hospitalized Vets Find New Vocation, Hobbies

NEW YORK (UP)—There's a fellow named Bill lying in a hospital bed here nursing a leg that a Communist bullet shattered in Korea.

In one year he has been operated on seven times. But Bill has stopped worrying about the leg. What he's worried about is whether he'll get out of the hospital before he masters the violin.

His folks back in Ohio wanted him to be a doctor. He wanted to be a violinist. The folks won. He was a pre-medical student at Ohio Wesleyan University when called into service. Then came the Inchon landing, the battle for Seoul, and the bullet that tore his left leg.

"I had to go to war and be shot before I finally realized my life ambition," he said. "I got my first lesson in this hospital. Between operations I've had lots more. They are given me something to do and they've helped me forget the pain."

Bill and nearly 4,000 other American veterans in 10 Eastern hospitals are receiving free instruction from professional teachers in a musical therapy program provided by the Hospitalized Veterans Music Service.

The free service began in 1945 when a wounded man got a hanker for some saxophone lessons. He asked the Red Cross. It asked the Musicians Emergency Fund for a teacher. Done. Then the fellow in the next bed, listening to the tootles decided he wanted some of the same. And a man at the end of the ward wanted guitar lessons.

"From that one sax lesson, which was the birth of the Veterans music service, we started an operation that in five years has served 15,000 hospitalized veterans," said Mrs. Lytle Hull, president of the Musicians Emergency Fund. "Our professional teachers have taught the wounded men every known instrument except the harp—no requests for it as yet—plus lessons in voice, counterpoint, and theory."

About 65 full-time teachers are working with wounded and mentally ill veterans from the Korean war and World Wars I and II. There's even one veteran from the Spanish-American war—he takes piano lessons.

The Musicians Emergency Fund's start during the depression was prompted by the suicide of a musical artist who couldn't pay the rent.

Financed by contributions from persons interested in music, the fund through the years has helped around 8,000 talented musicians, providing so-called "made work" in schools and hospitals. When World War II came along, the fund had the talent to furnish entertainers and teachers.

Mrs. Hull is proud of what the fund has done for wounded soldiers. "Piano playing does wonders for a man with terribly burned hands who otherwise would have to sit around squeezing a rubber ball for exercise," she said. "Playing wind instruments helps recondition injured face muscles, stringed instruments condition wounded limbs and joints."

One boy learned the mandolin while flat in bed, studied piano when he could sit up, and when he was well enough to stand up took up the clarinet.

Rejects Life In Ancient Castle

SEREMBAN, Malaya. (AP)—One Britisher prefers working in Malaya to living in a castle in Ireland. M. S. F. Sheppard, British adviser for a Malayan state, inherited Cebra Castle, about 50 miles north of Dublin, upon the death of a cousin. The property includes 1,100 acres of land surrounding the castle.

He returned here after inspecting it because he owes "a great debt of gratitude" to Malaya. He has been in the Malayan civil service for 24 years.

The Sport Reflector

By JIMMY BLAIS

While Coach Carl Shavely and his crew of assistants, backed up by one of the largest corps of sports writers ever to see a Carolina game, were telling about the greatness of the Tennessee Volunteers, Coach Bob Neyland of the Vols was off in a corner explaining what he thought of the game.

"We did well, I think," the General told his audience. "But I also feel that we let them complete too many of those short passes. We'll work on that next week."

That might well be summed up as being typical of the coach who was named by coaches around the country as the United Press "Coach of the Week" after his club had routed Carolina 27-0 last Saturday in Chapel Hill. The old military man was still able to detect flaws despite a shining performance by his club.

Neyland's team this week runs up against a team that might well "short-pass" Tennessee to defeat if they were given half the chance. That's the Washington and Lee team which has a fellow by the name of Gil Bocetti running the split-T offensive of the Generals.

Bocetti is rated as one of the truly outstanding split-T quarterbacks of the year. He has handled himself well all year long and his performance thus far have prompted Neyland to come out with the statement that "he (Bocetti) is one of the best split-T operators in the business."

Frankly, Washington and Lee is not expected to trouble the mighty Tennessee club too much. But Neyland, always fearful of over-confidence on the part of his club, is rating them highly.

"Remember, they won the Southern Conference championship last year" is the song he's now singing to his single wing perfectionists.

Neyland, because of the success of his teams at Tennessee, has always had a lot of trouble with the people who like to go around and charge that athletes at Tennessee get special considerations in classes.

He, time and again, emphasizes the fact that many of the football players are in class from 8 a. m. until noon with many of them returning to the classroom until two o'clock. The Volunteers have about two hours each day for football drill (it says here).

That length of time may not seem to be too much to perfect a first-class ball club but the General does it. His military ways have seeped into the running of his ball club and Vol followers claim that those are the busiest two hours that anyone ever encountered.

Neyland's teams play good football and interesting football. It's true that they don't have the most powerful schedule in the country but when they come up against the best, they usually have very little trouble. They are the true perfectionists of college football.

But Neyland doesn't like for short passes to be completed against his club. Washington and Lee—and Gil Bocetti—will probably learn about this Saturday afternoon.

While on the subject of Tennessee, it might be worth while to brashly state that Hank Lauricella of the Vols made All-America with his performance last week against Carolina. That big crew of sports writers who saw the game included the big wheels of sports departments of the three major news agencies in the country.

These are the guys who have the final say-so on who represents what on the All-America teams. That makes two backfield positions closed. The other All-America who has been already picked is Dick Kazmaier, the darling of the Princeton Tigers. Someone from the Midwest (probably Johnny Karras of Illinois) and someone from the Far West (there are several to choose from) will make up the A-A backfield.

Spectators at the Duke-Wake Forest game in Durham Saturday will get a look at a new innovation in officiating. There will be five officials instead of the usual four. The new official will be known as the base field judge.

The idea of five officials is not a new one. It has been successfully tried in the Western Conference this year and has been experimented with in other areas.

Baseball Draft Set For Nov. 19

CINCINNATI (UP)—Baseball players from 369 teams in 49 minor leagues will be subject to draft by major league clubs here Nov. 19. Players selected from the Class AAA leagues will cost $10,000 each.

Tornadoes Prep For Beaufort's Seadogs

Ayden At Strongest For Friday Night Tilt

Capacity Crowd Expected For Meeting Between Two Powers In Eastern Carolina High School Football

AYDEN—Ayden's Tornadoes began practice yesterday for their game with the Beaufort Sea Dogs, coming up in Ayden Friday night. Ayden and Plymouth battled to a 0-0 tie last Friday night in a muddy game that will long be remembered by Ayden fans, as it was the first deadlock by an Ayden team in over eight years.

The Sea Dogs are reputed to have one of the strongest teams in the eastern section of the state. They also played in the mud Friday night, whitewashing Warsaw, 19-0.

Tornado Coach Stuart Tripp will be able to field probably his strongest team of the year for the game. Their ground offense, led by John Cheek, Delano Cox, and Wesley Cannon, and passing attack, with Hal Edwards and Cox doing the throwing and Mac Whitehurst and Willis Manning catching, has led the Tornadoes to their third straight Coastal Conference championship. In doing it, they have picked up five wins and one loss, with last week's tie.

Ayden's defense eleven in all probability will be led by Edwards and Curtis Dennis, who are the back-ups, and tackle Randall Harrington. The offensive line is paced by Billy Holland, Norman Skinner, Todd Kittrell, and Riley Tripp.

The contest is expected to draw a capacity crowd to the Ayden park.

Those picked from the two AA leagues will move up for $7,500 each and those from the four class A circuits can be selected for $6,000 each.

The last place St. Louis Browns of the American League will get first choice.

The draft list, as prepared by Commissioner Ford Frick's staff, was ready for mailing today.

Despite efforts of Pacific Coast League officials to have their clubs eliminated from the draft, 194 players now on the rosters of the eight teams in that circuit are listed as being eligible for selection.

Big Four Briefs

WAKE FOREST (UP)—Coach Tom Rogers told his Wake Forest team today it would meet Duke on about equal terms Saturday and has the ability to beat the Blue Devils.

Rogers said the running attack looked better in yesterday's workout than at any time since the win over No. 1 Carolina. Bill Miller, Larry Spencer and Guido Scarlon all broke away for long runs.

The team spent today on a heavy workout against Duke pass plays. Wake Forest will be shooting for its first Big Four clean sweep in 26 years.

RALEIGH (UP)—N. C. State football captain Jim O'Rourke filled the shoes of workhorse tailback Alex Webster today.

Coach Beattie Feathers shifted the shifty illback to Webster's spot when injuries kept both Webster and his relief, Ted Potts, out of the lineup. Webster has an eye separation.

Webster received severe lime burns in his eye in the Louisville game and they have failed to heal properly. He and Potts may miss Saturday's game with Davidson.

DURHAM (UP)—Coach Bill Murray said today the Duke team was in peak physical shape and that he expects to use every available man against Wake Forest Saturday.

Murray continued to put freshman Worth Lutz through work on offense and defense. Lutz is the team's only full-time double-duty man.

The squad worked out in a freezing rain yesterday on offensive and defensive scrimmages.

THE WHITE TEAM, shown above, are the winners of the regular season flag in the Little League football conference in Greenville. It won the championship last week, and will enter a playoff series against the Reds tomorrow afternoon. Gold and Blue will meet later in the week in the second half of the tourney. Pictured are: first row, left to right—Chris Henderson, Howard Garner, Peanut Nunn, Ike Riddick, Bobby Edwards, Bob Whitehurst, and Harris Northrup; second row—Wayne Suggs, Merce Byrum, Billy James and Billy King Willis; third row—Head Coach Mickey Burman, Tommy Mallison, Mike Shannon, Brice Cummings, Tommy Shannon, Mokie Lassiter, Blacky Trevathan, assistant coach, and Herbert Carlton, assistant coach. Seated is Charles Rumley, and absent when the picture was taken was Jimmy Bridges.

Pirates Taper Off Drills For Game With Marines

The East Carolina Pirates today began tapering off from the rough work of the first two days of the week as they continued their preparations for the game Saturday afternoon at Cherry Point against the Marine Flyers.

Yesterday, the Pirates ran through their second straight heavy scrimmage in an effort to shake the bugs out of their own attack and set up an adequate defense for the Marines. They got a look at the Flyers' offensive system from ECC scouts and added some new plays of their own.

Freshmen continued to get particular attention in ECC drills yesterday. Coach Bill Dole has already signified his intentions of making big use of the first year men against the Flyers Saturday.

Thus far this year, the Flyers have had little luck with their opponents. They have lost to Camp Lejeune's powerful Leathernecks in addition to their loss last Saturday to Fort Jackson, S. C., in games involving teams from the Carolinas. Their loss to Fort Jackson was by a 65-0 margin but in all fairness to the Flyers, it has to be said that Fort Jackson is being rated as the strong-

Progrid Fans See Less Use Of 'T'

NEW YORK (UP)—National Football League fans are seeing less of the T-formation and more of the football this season.

For the first time since World War II, the T-attack in which the quarterback crouches behind the center hiding the ball from foe and fan, no longer is the offensive darling of the rugged pro league. The Pittsburgh Steelers, a single-win team, were the only non-T performers in the NFL several years ago, but this season half the circuit's 12 teams are popping up with various kinds of single and double wing and read formations.

Six of the teams—the Cleveland Browns, Chicago Bears, Los Angeles Rams, Detroit Lions, Chicago Cardinals and San Francisco Forty-Niners—still dish up an almost exclusive T-formation diet every Sunday.

The rest of the teams have joined the Steelers in giving the fans, opponents and rival scouts some new looks at some old reliable formations this fall.

For instance—Philadelphia's Steve Var Buren and his team mates were running through the New York Giant line—one of the best in the league—and Giant tackle Arnie Weinmeister informed his boss that the Eagles were gaining with a new "secret weapon." "What's that?" Steve Owen asked.

O'Malley Claims Loss Of $129,318 For 1950 Season

NEW YORK (UP)—President Walter O'Malley of the Brooklyn Dodgers, calling organized baseball "not big business, but bad business," said today that his club lost $129,318 in 1950.

That sum was a deficit incurred for operation of the entire Dodge system from the parent club down to and including the lowest farm team, O'Malley said. Figures for 1951 have not yet been completed.

The Dodge president made the disclosure in contending that "baseball is not an all monopoly. Actually this club and others are subsidizing baseball to keep it a national game."

O'Malley said, in defense of the farm system method of operation, that the Dodgers would prefer to have working agreements with minor league teams instead of owning them.

Pearman Picked As Lineman After Carolina Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Rex Smith, Illinois end, and Bill "Pug" Pearman, Tennessee tackle, were selected today as the linemen of the week in the weekly Associated Press poll.

Smith caught the forward pass that brought the Illini a 7 to 0 victory over Michigan in the last 70 seconds of their crucial Big Ten game at Champaign, Ill. That earned him the nod as the offensive lineman.

The work of Pearman against North Carolina made him tops among the defensive boys. Those who saw the game at Chapel Hill, N.C. lauded Pearman's key tackles that stopped the Tar Heels in their tracks and was a major factor in Tennessee's 27-0 victory.

Pearman's feats additionally helped keep the Vols in the number one spot in the A.P. team poll. Smith's ability to get clear in the Michigan end zone to catch Tommy O'Connell's aerial boosted Illinois into the No. 2 spot.

Ray Beck, Georgia Tech guard, achieved a seldom-realized goal of a lineman—that of scoring a touchdown. He ran 55 yards with a blocked punt for the score against Duke.

The complete list of linemen nominated this week:
Ends—Steve Mellinger, Kentucky; Leo Sugar, Purdue; Jim Cordial, Oregon State; Ted Vaughn, Texas; Christian Rex Smith, Illinois; Eddie Bell, Pennsylvania.

Tackles—Pug Pearman, Tennessee; Bill Forester, Southern Methodist; Jim MacKenzie, Kentucky; Ed Meadows, Duke; Jim Jerome, Cornell; George McKonic, Kansas; Sam Duca, Arizona State (Tempe).

Centers—Johnny Palmer, Duke; James Fowler, Texas A&M; Don Rhoden, Rice; Gerry McGinley, Pennsylvania.

Guards—Ray Beck, Georgia Tech; Bill Athey, Baylor; Harley Sewell, Texas; Will Alexander, North Carolina.

Lutz Named Freshman Of Week For Play Against Engineers

RALEIGH (AP)—For the second time this season, Duke Halfback Worth Lutz is the Associated Press' Southern Conference Freshman of the Week.

Lutz, 18, of Durham, won the nomination early in October for his stellar defensive play against Tennessee in Duke's 26-0 loss.

He gave a sizzling performance Saturday as Duke battled favored Georgia Tech to a 14-14 tie. He scored one touchdown and passed to End Blaine Eason for another in a great offensive debut. He played every minute on defense and all but one play on offense.

Lutz, 180-pounder, is an old hand at grabbing starring roles. He led Durham High School through unbeaten seasons in 1949 and 1950. The team won the state championship both years.

Two other Duke freshmen also excelled against Georgia Tech. They were Quarterback Jerry Barger and End Joe Hands. Barger turned in one of his best performances this season and Hands was plenty tough.

Chapter 7

Ray did not answer right away. He waited until they had left the lights of the big one behind.

Then instead of answering her question he said, "I think your mother's a honey."

"Of course she is," Jan returned. "In her own 'fashion.' Every man who ever laid eyes on Eve thought she was a honey. 'But as I said before, you don't know Eve. The things she's put me through since you went away!'"

"What sort of things?" In the dusk, Ray's voice sounded amused. He was driving leisurely, apparently in no hurry.

"First," Jan said, "there was that awful announcement in the papers."

"I know," Ray said. "How did you know?"

"Oh, a friend of mine showed it to me," he chuckled. "She was kind of upset about it, I guess. Kind of a big surprise."

"It certainly was." At the moment Jan did not notice that this friend of Ray's had been a "she."

"Besides that, Eve told just every body. She even sent a wire to my father."

"He's still your father," Ray reminded her. He had caught another note of bitterness in her young voice.

"He's never remembered it before," Jan said. "So he needn't start now."

"Has he started?"

"He sent me a wire," Jan would not tell Ray what a long sentimental wire it had been. It had been too silly. "And a check for ten thousand dollars."

"When?" Ray smiled a long while. "Well, it looks to me as though your Dad would like a chance to make up to you for forgetting you all these years."

"I wanted to send it back," Jan said. Her voice was tight and hurt.

As though all the money in the world could make up for not having had a father. "The wire said I could use it as a down payment on our first home. Since we'll never have a home, it seems dishonest to keep it."

Ray gave a grunt at this. How did she know they would never have a home? She needn't be so dauntless. "I suppose you can use it some other way," he said.

"Eve made me put it in the bank," Jan said. "She insisted if I turned it I would hurt my father's feelings. It can just stay in the old bank and gather interest."

There was no use trying to argue with Eve. And there was no use, either, in trying to hurt her father.

"Then," she went on with her tale of woe, "people started calling me 'wifing me happiness, congratulations, all that sort of piffle. And my Aunt Amanda gave a shower for me. You never saw such a conglomeration of things I'll never use—pots and pans and dishcloths, electrical appliances, linens, silver platters and five water pitchers."

"Well, have to drink a lot of water," Ray admitted. "I mean you will," he corrected himself.

"I wanted to send those all back too," Jan said, a note of desperation in her voice. "I seems almost like stealing, keeping all that loot. But Eve insists even when an engagement is broken the bride keeps the presents."

"I hope ours isn't going to be broken this soon," Ray slowed the convertible down to a snail's pace. They had reached the shore road. It was romantic with the trees etched against the sky on one side, the boundless sea on the other. Without a moon, the night was wrapped in a mysterious darkness.

Jan ignored his remark, continuing with her story. "Then there was the shopping. Mother says it's never too soon to begin shopping for a trousseau. She's already bought out nearly all the shops and stores. I'll never wear all that junk if I live to be a hundred."

"Well, you can give some of that away," Ray said. He wished she would answer his question. He decided that there was a good place to park just ahead, so he pulled up and switched off the engine.

He had had no intention, however, of doing what he did next. But as he glanced down at Jan, looking so small and feminine and altogether lovely beside him, he could not have helped himself had he wanted to.

After a long moment of intense silence Jan struggled out of his embrace and, reaching up, gave him a good hard slap on one side of his face.

"Don't you ever dare do that again!" she said.

For Ray had kissed her.

And then Jan did a most unexpected thing, for her. She burst into tears.

After Ray had hastily wiped her his pocket handkerchief, and a loquacious profusely, Jan explained that she only cried when she was angry, or when she was disappointed.

"And I must admit," she added dabbling fiercely at those silly tears, "I am disappointed in your plan. If we don't watch out, I warn you Eve will have us middle-aiding it in June!"

She was somewhat disappointed, too, in Ray, for going romantic on her like that. There was no sense, or need, in make-believing to that extreme.

"I may not be here in June," Ray said. He could think of worse things than doing a Lohengrin with Jan, but he was learning fast. His face still hung where she had slapped him. Good Lord, imagine a girl who had never been kissed! It was wonderful, yet it was kind of pathetic.

His answer had brought her to attention. "What do you mean? Where will you be? And how about my lessons?"

She need not, he thought grimly, have added that last. The only reason Jan would care if he was not around was because of her flying. This experimental make-believe engagement was getting him nowhere, apparently.

"I think I found someone to back my invention," Ray said. "When I was in Washington. You see, I..."

"Oh, but that's terrific!" She was delighted in his good fortune. She knew what this meant to him. "If it works out it will be. I'll know in a day or so. Keep your fingers crossed for me."

"I sure will," she promised that readily. Then, after a moment: "What did you mean by saying you might not be here?"

(To be continued)

Too Few Bees, Cucumbers Die

AKRON, O. — (UP)—Summit County's commissioners have a problem. It concerns how to build up this area's inadequate bee population of 125,000,000.

Northampton Township's cucumber crop this year was a dismal flop and the bee's failure to carry pollen was blamed.

Commissioner John Poda said he has heard of flower growers who have spread pollen by using fine camel hair brushes when faced with a bee shortage. However, the suggestion apparently did not catch on because the commissioners decided to hire an apary inspector, as a temporary replacement, to survey hives throughout the county and determine what is reducing the bee population.

New Traffic Signals At Five Points Are Held Up

Traffic through Five Points should be considerably expedited when the old signal light tower at the intersection is taken down and new signal light standards installed.

Completion of the project has been delayed pending arrival of some necessary apparatus.

Foundations have been laid for installing five 30-foot metal standards on the corners of the much traveled thoroughfares. They will house traffic signal lights and have white way electric lamps and special crossarms to sustain necessary transmission wires.

Police Chief Guy C. Langston, who is devoting much time to the study of improving traffic conditions in Greenville, said the traffic light installations at Five Points will be an important factor in speeding up traffic through the city.

"We believe we will be able to do something about synchronizing the traffic lights in the city," Langston said. "We have figured that if we can, from a central point like Five Points, control traffic lights at other intersections, we can do much toward maintaining an even flow of traffic in and out of the city," Langston added.

Inquiry at the Greenville Utilities office yesterday revealed that delay in installing the new signal light standards is due to the fact that the Graybar Electric Company of Richmond, Va., had not shipped some materials for the project. The order was given several months ago.

Pitt Clubs Help 4-H Foundation

Members of the Pitt County Negro 4-H Clubs are cooperating in the statewide plan to establish the 4-H Negro Club Foundation of North Carolina, Inc.

The Foundation is being established to further the establishment of a Negro 4-H camp in North Carolina; to provide educational trips and tours for 4-H Club members; to provide scholarships for deserving 4-H Club members, and to further develop the needed skills and techniques of rural Negro youth in the arts and science of farming and home-making.

The Foundation was chartered to supplement the state-supervised 4-H Club program among Negro youth with a variety of activities which are not provided for in the statutes governing the State Extension and 4-H Club work. Its goal is to raise $50,000 by public subscription.

Pitt County's quota for the Foundation is $1,200. All Negro 4-H Club members are asked to donate a dollar each to the fund. Many Negro boys and girls of Pitt County are picking cotton in the fields to earn money with which to make donations. T. T. Mitchell, assistant Negro farm agent, said.

Mrs. Amelia S. Capehart, Negro home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Margaret H. Wade, assistant home agent, are encouraging the 4-H boys and girls in their efforts to raise money for the Foundation.
