Aggression Charged By Vishinsky

Asks Hearing By UN Assembly On Claims Subversive Financed By U. S.

PARIS (UP)—Russia accused the United States today of "an act of aggression" through the financing of subversive, armed groups inside the Soviet Union and its satellites.

The white-haired Russian requested a full General Assembly debate of a clause in the U. S. national security act that apportions $100,000,000 to support anti-Reds in or outside the Iron Curtain.

Vishinsky said the clause constituted "an unprecedented interference" in Russia's internal affairs, violated the U. N. charter of international conduct, and served as an act of aggression towards Russia and the satellites.

Adoption of the entire Mutual Security Act, Vishinsky said, violated a 1933 agreement between President Roosevelt and former Russian Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov.

The tone of Vishinsky's letter cast a deep shadow over hopes he might soften his attitude towards the West's disarmament plan.

Search Extended For Missing Air Force Transport

ROME (AP)—Clearing skies sent ground and air searchers out in force today to pin down reports on a U. S. Air Force plane missing since Monday with four men aboard.

One unconfirmed report said wreckage had been sighted among the jagged peaks of northeast Italy's dolomite mountains, 40 miles east of Bolzano.

Another report, from a traveler arriving in Vienna, said the plane was shot down by Romanian Army border guards as it touched the iron curtain on its flight from Germany to Belgrade.

Neither report could be confirmed officially.

Clouds a fog which previously had hampered the search cleared today.

Boy Kills Three Bears In Narrow Hunting Escape

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—A 17-year-old high school boy who killed three bears with five shots from a .30-30 said today he "didn't have time to get scared" when the animals charged him.

"But when all the shooting was over, I got that's when I got scared," said John Bradshaw Jr., a lanky, steady nerves and accurate shooting saved the young woodsman when he accidentally slipped into the den of three bears while deer hunting near Danbury, Wis.

The carcasses are hanging at his family's small resort near Danbury, he said.

Hero's Welcome For Mossadegh

TEHRAN (AP)—Thousands of Iranians greeted a hero's welcome today to Premier Mohammad Mossadegh upon his return from a lengthy but fruitless mission to Washington and a brief but triumphant stay in Cairo.

Police estimated that 250,000 thronged the airport to greet the frail nationalist leader whose government is facing a financial crisis threatening the nation with bankruptcy.

Kidnap And Murder Charges Face Youth

Shotgun Blast In Night Kills Young Husband; Wife Locked In Trunk Of Stolen Car; Patrolmen Nab Young Negro

By ROY HARDEE, Reflector Staff Writer
CHOCOWINITY — A 21-year-old man was murdered by a shotgun blast fired into his home here Wednesday night, his wife kidnaped and forced to drive the killer away from the scene of the slaying.

Victim of the most brutal killing in recent years for Beaufort County, was Harvey Charles Boyd, 21-year-old white man.

Discovery of the murder and kidnaping was made by two Pitt County Highway patrolmen, Cpl. H. M. Morrow and Bruce H. Jackson, around eleven o'clock.

According to the two officers, they stopped a car near the Port Terminal in on Highway U. S. 264, when they observed it being driven in a careless manner at a slow rate of speed.

While in the process of checking the man's driver license, the officers noted that he was acting strangely. When the officers stopped the car, he had opened the door and met them as they were coming to check his car. A look into the front seat, revealed a loaded shotgun, and at this point the officers heard muffled cries and screams coming from the back of the car.

Opening the trunk of the car, the two officers found Mrs. Opal Boyd, wife of the shotgun victim, stuffed in the rear of the car on top of a spare tire and automobile tools. The woman was screaming "Don't let him kill me."

Cpl. Morrow stated that the woman, in a hysterical condition, then unfolded the lurid tale of murder and kidnap which had occurred some two hours previously.

Placed in custody was Lafayette Miller, 19-year-old Negro of Washington, construction worker for a local firm. He was brought to Greenville and lodged in jail while the two officers, with Beaufort County Highway Patrolmen and Sheriff Department officers returned to home of the shooting.

Entering the home from which the woman had been kidnaped, they found the lifeless body of Boyd, stretched out on the floor about two feet from the window where the blast had entered the house.

Mrs. Boyd was able to tell the officers that her husband and she were in the front room of their new home, preparing to go to bed. She stated that she had undressed and was in her night clothing while her husband was undressing and winding his watch, standing near the window. He had removed his shirt and shoes, when a blast from the window sent him toppling to the floor. At this point, Mrs. Boyd said that she screamed at her husband to "put out the light" and then he mumbled that he was unable to do so. His wife then turned out the lights, she said "to keep from being shot," and was then ordered by a voice from outside to bring the keys to her husband's car outside.

U. S. Lawmakers Urge Federation European Nations

Solons Want Swift Action; Will Not Always Support Divided Europe

STRASBOURG, France (AP)—American senators and representatives framed a joint statement today that the U. S. wants swift action on a European federation in return for American aid.

The statement, to be presented in the Strasbourg conference with members of the European Consultative Assembly, expresses regret at the lack of progress to date and reminds Europe of the provision in the Mutual Security Act for political federation and economic unity.

This move, spearheaded by Sen. Brian McMahon (D-Conn.) and Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), backed up assertions on the conference floor from Rep. Kenneth Keating (R-NY) and Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) that the U. S. will not finance a divided Europe indefinitely.

"We who have supported the foreign aid programs, and who did so though they were not always popular, must have help from you," said Keating in a review of the American delegation's view of the Council of Europe. "We must be able to tell our people that Europe will act."

Keating cited the Mutual Security Act's language, and said: "This is the policy of our government. We plead with you to get aside your differences and get together to solve your mutual problems. There has been too little action thus far."

Keating said the prospects of the European Council seem "unlimited" provided some formula is devised for reconciling the views of the Anglo-Nordic bloc and the continental countries.

"This can become the dynamic organ leading Europe into a new era, or it can become just another international organization with a secretariat, and translators, and all that," he said.

Smith put it this way: "All I can say is, it's time for you fellows to get down to brass tacks and do this job."

"The American taxpayers' docility is reaching a breaking point. The initiative must come from Europe and we can only support or encourage," said Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn.).

A second mistrial was ordered in the case of "Dock" Murchison, Negro of Pactivol section, who is charged with larceny of approximately 1,000 pounds of cotton two weeks ago. William H. Latham and Claude H. Oden, Negroes, pled guilty to the charge Monday and turned state's evidence by testifying against Murchison.

Murchison pled not guilty, and the first trial ended in a mistrial because of a faulty indictment. Judge Bone ordered a mistrial in the second because the jury failed to agree. The vote was 11 for conviction, one for acquittal. Clerk of the Court Dave House said this morning that Murchison would probably be tried this afternoon.

In earlier case, John R. Green, who was charged with first degree burglary, was allowed to plead guilty to forcible trespass and received two years on the roads, sentence to commence upon expiration of a one-year sentence he is now serving.

This is the last term of Superior Court this year, next term to come in January, 1952.

Truman Arming Himself For Big Policy Argument

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman was reported today to be arming himself for a whole of a fight on foreign policy if Republicans make it an issue in the 1952 political campaign.

Mr. Truman said he hopes a bitter, partisan wrangle on foreign affairs can be avoided in the national interest, but his advisers said he might as well expect the worst.

Administration leaders already are gathering ammunition to meet the GOP attack in the belief, as the President put it, that foreign policy "will be the best issue the Democratic party has."

Secretary of State Dean Acheson may enter the campaign, but present strategy calls for him to stay behind the scenes and let less controversial spokesmen present the Democratic case.

Negotiators Set Sights On Korea Truce By Christmas

Russians Claim Air 'Violated'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has protested to the United States that an American plane violated the Siberian border. A note from Moscow said the plane was fired on by Soviet fighter craft.

This was learned today, and may explain the Moscow press announcement of the decoration of two Soviet navy fliers for outstanding performance of their service duties.

The circumstances paralleled the awards given Soviet fliers who shot down an American Navy Privateer plane early last year.

While there was no official comment on the matter, it was learned that Russia filed the protest on Nov. 7.

On that date, Hugh Cumming, who is in charge of the embassy at Moscow in the absence of Ambassador Alan G. Kirk, was called in for an interview with Soviet Acting Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Neither Moscow nor the State Department disclosed at the time the subject of the interview.

However, it was learned the Russian note was presented here.

It was forwarded here, The State Department, while withholding an announcement, has asked Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway for an investigation.

Sources familiar with the matter said Gromyko charged that an American plane deliberately crossed the border in the area of Vladivostok, that it was pursued and fired upon by Soviet fighters, and was last seen disappearing toward the sea.

These sources did not say the date of the alleged border violation. Vladivostok is Russia's great naval base in the Pacific. At the coast, Siberia adjoins Korea.

The Russians are understood to have reported that the U. S. plane was of the reconnaissance type.

Emergency Dollar Aid For France

PARIS (AP)—The U. S. will rush emergency dollar aid to France to forestall a lowering economic crisis, but the exact amount of it won't be known for at least two weeks.

This became known here today as reports circulated that help was on the way. The figure of $200 million was mentioned frequently but American officials on the scene said it was only a guess.

The money likely will come in an emergency transfer from a $57,788,000 congressional appropriation to send military help to European partners in the western defense program. The congressional act provides that 10 per cent of this fund can be transferred from military to financial aid if necessary.

W. Averell Harriman, director of the Mutual Security Agency which is to parcel out the fund, has been conducting a country-by-country survey of the needs and capabilities of the Atlantic community nations, aided by British and French delegates to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) committee.

Harriman is to appear before the NATO Council of Ministers in Rome Monday with a report on his findings, including his estimate of what France and other countries need in cash.

Farmville Market Has Best Season

FARMVILLE—With the completion of sales on the tobacco market here Friday, November 16, the market had its best season in history so far as money paid out.

For the entire 1951 season, $17,657,763.37 was paid out for the 31,391,822 pounds sold, bringing the seasonal average to $56.25. Five and one-half million more dollars was paid out this season than last year.

The number of pounds sold did not top the market's 1946 record and missed it by 60,000 pounds.

Supervisor of Sales Fred C. Moore said he thought the seasonal average was very good and that the market had a very successful year. He also said that everyone seemed to be satisfied with the prices.

UN And Communists Agree To 30-Day Race Against Time As Location Of Cease-Fire Line In Korea Is Agreed Upon; Current Battle Line Basis Of Truce

By ARNOLD DIBBLE, United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations and the Communists agreed today to try to end the Korean shooting by Christmas.

They set the stage for a 30-day race against time by settling their four-month dispute over location of a cease-fire line.

The break came at a dramatic subcommittee session. It brought the first official United Nations expression of hope that a full armistice may be achieved by Christmas.

The joint subcommittee agreed that both sides shall return to the present battle line for a cease-fire if the rest of the armistice terms can be settled within 30 days.

If the armistice is not completed within 30 days, the cease-fire line will be moved forward or back to the battle line existing when the complete agreement is ready for signature.

A team of U. N. and Red staff officers worked until after dark tracing the present battle line on large-scale maps. When they broke up for the day, only two or three major differences remained and these were expected to be cleaned up early Saturday.

The battle line was expected to be approved Saturday and submitted to the full five-man armistice delegations the next day for ratification.

Officially the war will go on until final agreement is reached. But during the 30-day trial period, it was believed there would be an actual cease-fire along the battlefront.

The line will have been drawn and no commander seemed likely to send his troops across it. No soldier was likely to vie for the honor of being the last man to die in bloody Korea.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodges, chief U. N. subcommittee member, said staff officers of the two sides already have agreed on the location of one-third of the present 135-mile battle line and predicted they would finish their work by Saturday afternoon.

If so, the subcommittee will submit its agreement to the full armistice negotiating committee Sunday for ratification—expected to be only a formality.

The 30-day period will begin with ratification of the agreement. It will give a green light to negotiators to seek a speedy solution to the remaining three items on the armistice agenda:

1. Composition, authority and functions of an organization to supervise compliance with the armistice terms.

2. Arrangements relating to prisoners of war.

3. Other recommendations to governments of both sides.

U. N. sources believed the Reds, no less than the Allies, will be anxious to complete the armistice terms by Christmas because the 30-day cease-fire would nullify any further U. N. advances into Communist North Korea in that case.

However, Allied optimism was tempered by the knowledge that both the supervision and prisoner of war questions present problems which easily could snarl the truce talks for months to come.

The deadlock over location of the cease-fire line finally was broken at a half-hour subcommittee meeting Friday morning.

Hodges accepted the Communist demand that if an armistice were not completed within 30 days, the demarcation line should not be revised until just before delegates of both sides sign the final truce settlement.

Miss Hadley Gives Program At Sans Sauci Book Club

The Sans Sauci Book Club met in the home of Mrs. J. H. Blount on Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. C. S. Forbes, assisting hostess.

The spacious and lovely home was made even more inviting with a roaring open fire and arrangements of fall flowers in varied and brilliant colors.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop presided. She welcomed as guests for the afternoon Mrs. M. L. Wright, Mrs. H. L. Rivers and Miss Jane Hadley.

During a brief business meeting the club voted to buy a Tuberculosis Bond and to give a check of $10 to CARE for the needy of Korea.

The group then enjoyed a most interesting talk by Miss Hadley. Following the club program for the year, "Great Rivers of the World," she selected "The Amazon."

With the speaker members took an imaginary trip by plane from New York down the coast of South America to Belem near the mouth of this great river. From there by boat they journeyed through low green jungles to snow-capped Andean heights. The delights and terrors of the waters of this great river were excitingly interesting. The jungles with their beautiful birds and colorful growth were portrayed most vividly by the speaker and her talk was much enjoyed.

Following the program, the hostesses served a most attractive salad plate with cake and coffee.

Mrs. H. L. Pruitt was hostess to the C.W.F. of the Christian Church on Monday evening at her home. The meeting was presided over by Mrs. C. V. Nichols and opened by the group singing "Climbing Jacob's Ladder," followed by the devotional given by Mrs. Nichols taken from a special one in World Call.

The program was taken from several verses of the 1st chapter of the book of Acts on how the early Christians spread the gospel of Christ as presented by Mrs. G. S. Nichols with all the group taking part in the discussion of this study.

At the business session Mrs. Jack Smith reported that the stove for the kitchen of the church had been purchased and installed and she was instructed to purchase more china and silver for use at the church.

The group also voted to have a roasted chicken supper with all the trimmings on Friday evening, Nov. 30, the proceeds of which will go on the building fund of the church. Everybody is invited to come out and have supper on this date and help this cause.

At the social hour the hostess served iced drinks, assorted cakes, salted nuts and marshmallows to all members and one guest, Mrs. Ned Kinsaul.

Resigned From Recreation Dept.

Jo Hunter of the City Recreation Department has resigned from the department to accept a position as physical education teacher in the Alexander Graham Junior High School in Charlotte.

Miss Hunter came to Greenville during the summer as assistant to Warren Carroll, recreation director. Carroll said he regretted to have Miss Hunter leave but he had someone in mind to fill the vacancy.

Carroll said the new assistant would have to undergo a training period in creation work since money in the city was not adequate enough to bring a professional worker in town.

Lt. Rouse Talks To Reserve Unit

Lt. R. D. Rouse, Jr. of Farmville Tuesday night addressed the Greenville naval reserve unit on the activities aboard a LCT during the Normandy invasion.

Rouse said the complement of the 30-foot by 105-foot craft consisted of two officers and 18 crewmen. During the invasion Lt. Rouse's craft was assigned to the Omaha beach sector, ferrying supplies and equipment. Rouse said without seeing the operation first hand, one could not imagine the tremendous volume of material put ashore at Normandy.

The most amazing feat of the operation, he said, was the superb timing required to overcome the hazard of the 25-foot tide and the underwater obstacles. Rouse related a number of personal experiences from the life aboard the LCT during the invasion, and said the facilities for preparing food on the craft were so limited that the craft had to resort to begging food from the larger ships from which it was carrying supplies to the beach.

The meeting was presided over by Lt. Comdr. John Reynolds, commander of the local naval reserve unit.

Follies Cast Praised By Audiences For Showing

A weary but happy and satisfied cast of the "Follies of '51" brought their two-night stand to a close Wednesday night but before there were patrons on the back and comments of "well done."

Some of the second night audience of the follies fled backstage after the last curtain fell to congratulate friends, relatives, and members of the Service League for the show which required long and hard hours of practice for the last two and one-half weeks.

The "Follies of '51" was well received by the people of Greenville during both nights and some of the numbers received special comments. The "Petunia Girl" which brought back the era of the "Charleston" and bathtub gin days, was one of the most well liked numbers.

Skits and dances in the follies brought foreign lands to Greenville in "Paris Street Scene," "Chinese Ballet," "Eternal Triangle," "South America" and "Tango." The "St. Louis Blues" brought back the era in which jazz had its beginning and songs and dances of mountain folks delighted the audience.

Universal Bible Sunday Planned

WINTERVILLE — Among the thousands of churches which will cooperate with worldwide Bible reading, Thanksgiving to Christmas, is the Winterville Baptist church according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. Edward G. Cole.

Millions of Bible readers in many languages join in using the same selected list of Scripture passages for this period of approximately one month. Observance of Universal Bible Sunday is being planned for December 9, Rev. Cole said. Promoted by the American Bible Society, the day is intended to emphasize the primary importance of the Bible as a factor in the life of the United States and the work of all churches.

Rev. Cole said he expects to distribute 500 of the reading lists and that interest in the bible readings runs high throughout the congregation of the Winterville Baptist church.

Still Leads Field In Leaf Industry

Contrary to claims made of other counties, Pitt County still ranks as the largest producer and marketer of flue-cured tobacco in the world.

From an official 1951 government allocation of acreage, Pitt County ranks higher than other counties with 39,665 acres of tobacco planted. Johnston County, which includes Smithfield, and Robeson County, Fairmont and Lumberton, are next highest to Pitt in tobacco acreage.

This year Pitt County had 105,499,766 pounds of tobacco and Robeson County sold 102,894,062 pounds, rating next to Pitt.

"Not only in acres of tobacco produced but also in pounds sold," said W. L. Whedbee, supervisor of sales. "Pitt County, as it has for many years, leads the world as the largest producer and marketer of flue-cured tobacco."

Florida, Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia are states which produce flue-cured tobacco in this belt.

ALONE

Children often cry out in the night because they are afraid of being alone. As years pass, the fear of being alone does not diminish for many of us.

One reason why we do not like to be left alone is because we hate to face ourselves as we really are, and the worst thing about facing ourselves as we really are is that we have to face a conscience which can perhaps make us pretty miserable. We think of what we might have been and of what we are. We think of the kind act left undone and the opportunity gone forever to save a loved one. We are oppressed with the realization that some moral weakness is eating away at our lives, destroying our happiness, and rendering us unfit for the spiritual destiny we are sure God meant us to have.

Conscience is a terrible reality in every human life. The only way to deal with it is by confession and repentance. Some people worry about and carry the burden of a bad conscience all their lives. They don't seem to realize the happiness they are missing. There is no source of joy so deep as that which comes from the disavowal of evil and the realization that the wrong doing of the past has been wiped out by forgiveness, restitution, and the determination to follow a different pathway.

A Good Turn By Greenville Merchants

Thanks to the efforts of the Greenville Merchants Association and the money contributed by the Greenville merchants, the bands of Greenville High School and C. M. Eppes High School soon will be sporting new sets of uniforms.

The gesture which has been made by the merchants toward the bands of the two schools is one which will mean a great deal to the schools, and one which is much deserved. It will mean the bands of the two schools can discard the tattered old uniforms they have been wearing for years, and don brand new uniforms when they participate in local parades or represent Greenville in out-of-town appearances.

The two bands through their participation in numerous civic projects during past years have more than paid for their new uniforms in service to the city.

When the Merchants Association undertook the project of raising money for the uniforms, they had in mind getting money for only the band uniforms for Greenville High School. While the project was in progress, however, it came to their attention that the C. M. Eppes School likewise needed uniforms, and already had raised half enough money to purchase new uniforms. The Merchants Association accepted the extra chore and raised enough money to present Greenville High School with $3,700 for the purchase of its uniforms and give Eppes High School the extra $1,000 it needed to purchase its set of band uniforms.

In making possible the purchase of the new band uniforms for the two schools, the merchants did a good turn for both the white and Negro school children of Greenville. Although the investment in the band uniforms may be considered payment for services already rendered, it will continue to pay interest for many years to come.

To The Boys And Girls Of Pitt Schools

This is an editorial addressed to the school boys and girls of Pitt County.

The grand jury of the county which keeps an almost constant check on the school facilities has reported that the schools of the county are in good repair, but vandalism by school youngsters is often the cause of much of the repair work required by the schools. It costs the taxpayers of the county—your mothers and fathers—thousands of dollars each year to have broken windows replaced, walls repainted because they have been marked up, and desks replaced because they have been scratched, carved or broken until they are no longer fit for use.

In Pitt County the school buildings, land and equipment are valued at over $5,300,000. This year alone $1,686,000 is being spent for the operations of the schools to give you the best educational program Greenville and Pitt County can afford.

As students in the schools, you should not only take advantage of the school program, but you should make every effort to keep the school buildings and school equipment in good repair for use by those other boys and girls who will follow you through the grades. The schools are for your use now, but they are likewise for the use of those who are younger than you.

The better care you take of the school property, the less it will cost to keep it in good repair, and the more money the county will have to put into new and better school facilities and a better educational program for you. The adults of the county are doing their part by providing these facilities for you, but you, the students, must do your share by taking care of the facilities which are at your disposal.

Now The Rush Can Begin Officially

Now that Thanksgiving is over and the proud turkey has been reduced to hash, the pre-Christmas activity can be considered officially underway.

The shopping season is entering its early stages with increase in tempo and there is no particular reason to believe the last few days before Christmas will be any different from the usual pell-mell rush.

It is still far enough ahead, however, to lend a helping hand to the group which feels the last minute rush probably more than any other group—the people at the post office.

The post office has requested the people of Pitt County to do their Christmas mailing as early as possible this year to assure prompt delivery of the Christmas packages and aid in keeping the confusion in the post office to a minimum. It may take a little extra effort to get those out-of-town packages mailed by December 10, and perhaps some effort to get the local packages mailed by December 15; but it shouldn't take much extra effort if the people plan toward those dates.

Each year the post office has hundreds of letters and packages which never reach their addressees at Christmas because the addressees are not complete. This year, early mailing and careful addressing of Christmas mail can assure delivery by Christmas, and at the same time it will be a big help to the post office employees who will be swamped with more work than they can possibly do.

The postal employees do all they can to get the mail out during the Christmas rush, and with a little help from the general public they will be able to do an even better job than in the past.

WASHINGTON—The final elimination of General "Ike" Eisenhower as a Democratic presidential possibility for 1952 has turned President Truman's thoughts even more directly to Chief Justice Fred Vinson of the Supreme Court as a possible successor. A seemingly insignificant incident of a literary rather than a political nature lies behind this general conclusion.

There recently appeared an authorized biography of the late Charles Evans Hughes, one of Mr. Vinson's predecessors, by Merlo Pusey, an editorial writer on the Washington Post.

The distinguished jurist selected Mr. Pusey for the task and the two-volume work is based on close personal collaboration, as well as on the vast amount of notes, memos and other papers which Mr. Hughes turned over to the author.

RECOMMENDATION—In describing the Presidential procedure for filling the vacancy caused by the death of the late Chief Justice Harlan Stone, Mr. Pusey says that President Truman consulted Mr. Hughes. Based on his talks with the late Chief Justice, Mr. Pusey adds that Mr. Hughes recommended Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of New York for the position.

The recommendation was quite logical, according to those who knew both men well. Mr. Jackson had the same keen, cold, metallic mind that Mr. Hughes did. They had served together on the court, and, like Mr. Hughes, Mr. Jackson was a hard-working and conscientious member of the court.

He never shirked his job, as men like the late Frank Murphy, Justice Felix Frankfurter and Justice Tom Clark have. The Murphy-Frankfurter pair frequently irritated Mr. Hughes by the way they tried to avoid work and handle only the easy cases.

VERSION—But when President Truman was asked why he rejected the Hughes suggestion, appointing Mr. Vinson instead of Mr. Jackson, he bridled, grew red and gave an angry answer. He admitted that he consulted Mr. Hughes, but he repudiated the Pusey version. He said that the late Chief Justice had recommended Mr. Vinson.

Inasmuch as the latter had served only a few years on the U. S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, and had never had judicial association with Mr. Hughes, the Pusey version is believed in legal and judicial circles.

BUILD-UP—Among millions of Americans who do not know from experience that Presidents frequently indulge in "white lies," however, or that their memory sometimes fails them because of age or the pressure of their man-killing assignment, Mr. Truman's account of the incident may gain credence. Relatively few will read the Pusey book, whereas millions know of the Truman rebuttal from their newspapers.

TRIVIAL THOUGH IT MAY SEEM to the political layman, this episode impresses many veteran observers as the beginning of a White House build-up for Chief Justice Vinson.

He will need considerable promotion. Despite his long and able service on Capitol Hill as a member of the House, he is not a big name outside of professional political circles. And being a Truman crony may be no great asset.

CONSIDERATION—But if the Democrats can create the impression that such a revered and conservative statesman as Mr. Hughes picked the Kentuckian for the nation's top judicial post, it would be an excellent sales talk at the convention and in the election itself.

The injection of Mr. Vinson into politics, however, will raise some questions which embarrassed Mr. Hughes when he stepped off the bench in 1916 to become the Republicans' presidential nominee. The mere proposal has already sparked suggestions that Mr. Vinson remove himself from political consideration by a statement that he would not accept the nomination.

After The Big Game

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Instead of telling you a story about what's going on in the world today, I feel it my duty to tell you a personal experience about Thanksgiving Day. No doubt you had a pleasant day yesterday, so let's see how ours compare.

Wednesday night, we told our daughter, now 14 months, that the next day was a holiday and she didn't have to wake up at 6:30. She seemed to understand, for yesterday she slept to the amazing hour of 7:30! Anyhow, we had to get up to prepare for a big Thanksgiving.

For the first time in our four years of marriage, Wife Rachel and I had my family over for Thanksgiving dinner. Previously, we had been living in Chapel Hill or had been hampered by a small apartment.

Immediately after breakfast I asked W.R., "Do you think I should carve the turkey?" "Well," Rachel answered, "you have no idea how to do it, but you've got to learn some day, and there's nobody better to practice on than your family."

"You're right," I agreed, "but why should I go about this thing the hard way? There's bound to be some literature available that would make it easy for me to figure out how to do it."

After scanning that popular publication, "Joy of Cooking," I was disappointed. Not a word could I find about carving a turkey. The Better Homes and Gardens Cookbook was more obliging and offered a diagram on how the job is done. However, the diagram was only about the size of a quarter and consisted of a series of dotted lines that mapped the prescribed course. The whole thing was Greek to me.

After failing to find any appreciable help, I still decided that our carving set had been idle for too long.

My first stroke was taken down by the leg, in an effort to push it out of the way for better carving of white meat. The effort was mildly successful. The next step is where the trouble began. The host, of course, asks each guest his preference, white or dark meat.

As long as they said white, it was smooth sailing, but I had to happen eventually. Somebody asked for dark. The logical place it would seem, would be from the drum stick. But have you ever tried taking smooth slices of meat off a drumstick? Take it from me, it ain't easy.

Despite my feeble efforts, everybody ate enough to get a good case of indigestion. Last night, with the job well behind me, I saw a complete lesson on how to carve a turkey in Tuesday's News and Observer! And I was so busy looking for instructions that I didn't read the paper. And I thank you.

Ass. Afternoon Daily

CLARIFIED — Governor Kerr Scott thinks the national Democratic party will be smart to nominate President Truman for another term, and he also thinks North Carolina has special reason for supporting the entire Democratic ticket, regardless of who may be nominated for president and vice-president. He is for Truman because he thinks Truman has best chance to lead the party to national victory, and also because he believes in the Truman program, including civil rights, with some limitations on the FEPC item. The governor amplified rather than clarified his position on these points at a press conference Tuesday morning. His statements came in answer to questions about the apparent inconsistency in appealing to the South to support the president in order to retain places of leadership at Washington, when the president and his group have for months been trying to discredit or nullify this same southern leadership.

SELFISH — The governor referred to the selfish interest in retaining post committee chairmanships in the congress. He mentioned the honor coming to the state by reason of Congressmen Dornbush heading the powerful ways and means committee, and the possibility of Congressmen Dornbush heading the powerful ways and means committee, and the possibility of Congressmen Dornbush heading the powerful ways and means committee, and the possibility of Congressmen Dornbush heading the powerful ways and means committee.

WESTERN REPUBLICAN as chairman of the agricultural committee. He noted that South Carolina, Georgia and Alabama are seeking larger share of the acreage allotted to flue-cured tobacco, in which North Carolina present enjoys distinct advantage. Asked if that did not afford basis for resentment and opposition in the other southern states the governor admitted it does, and suggested that another reason it might be just as well for North Carolinians not to "start anything."

BROADER — One reporter asked if that statement meant the issue should be considered wholly from the state's viewpoint. Governor Scott replied that he thought it ought to be much broader than that, but he could see no reason to throw away advantages now enjoyed. The Democratic party, he said, contains so many minority groups it is extremely difficult to promulgate a national platform upon which all of them can stand. There must be a lot of give and take, each group making some concessions to the others. That is why he thinks the FEPC plank in the 1952 platform will be considerably milder than the one inserted in the 1948 document.

PRACTICAL — Governor Scott's approach to the situation is that of the practical politician, which is to get all you can, but take what you can get. He considers chairmanship of the agriculture committee, and the large share of government military installations in North Carolina, a "bright reason" for this state to stand by the present administration. If that works to the disadvantage of other southern states, let those states do the talking and the worrying. Another suggested practical reason for North Carolina to stay with the party is the governor's belief—shared by most observers—that despite resentment and open opposition in some quarters, the South as a whole will give its vote to the Democratic nominee. It has always done that. North Carolina deviated in 1928, but stuck in 1948, both of which years saw southern defection but majority southern loyalty to the name — if not always to the platform — of the Democratic party.

CAUDLE — Governor Scott declined to comment on the Caudle incident. In answer to a direct question, he said he did not know enough about the case to discuss it. Other prominent North Carolinians and dozens of newspaper editors have not been so reticent. Consensus among these commentators is that the President has said too much or not enough. The president has been quoted as saying he asked for the resignation of the assistant attorney general in charge of tax cases because of Caudle's "outside activities," but that he did not say what the outside activities were. What Other Papers Are Thinking

FEWER DEATHS, BUT FEWER BIRTHS (Henderson Dispatch)

Perhaps North Carolinians are living a little longer than they used to. At least the death rate was the lowest last year in the State's history, with the total at 30.796. The figure probably would have been under the 30.000 level but for the fearful toll of highways. Even so, the overall total was 7.8 per 1,000 population. The previous low was 7.7 in 1949.

A little of the pride in this achievement was removed, however, in a slight decline in the birth rate, which was to 25.8 per 1,000 in 1950, compared with 26.6 in 1949. Births exceeded deaths by more than three to one, for a total of 104,958 last year. At that rate of net gain, North Carolina's population will rise by about three-quarters of a million by the time of the next decennial census in 1960, even if no outsiders come in, as of course, they will. The next count of noses may be close to five million.

Of sharp concern is the death toll. Statistics revealed do not indicate causes of deaths. Probably a good many could be rated as preventable, either those caused by accidents or the number resulting from avoidable diseases. When people learn the rules of better living and are willing to abide by them, the span of life will rise considerably. Dissipation probably was behind many of the deaths that occurred. Defiance of the laws of good health for those who are so indifferent always exacts its price.

At least there is no race suicide in this State. Generally speaking, the outlook is promising so long as there is such wide margin between the birth and death rates as is revealed in the record for 1950.

Business Today

Everybody seems to be trying to get into the gift market which, from all indications, will be pretty big this year, possibly reaching a new high dollar total.

There have been a lot of changes since the good old days when Christmas largely involved toys, and home-made food and trinkets. Now the total value of gifts runs into the billions. Total of retail sales last December were almost $3,000,000,000 higher than in, for example, May. And added to this are hundreds of millions of dollars in gifts purchased, usually by corporations, at wholesale.

The total value of gift purchases has been rising almost every year, and this year should be no exception. Income is high, there are almost no shortages in gift items. Christmas promotions started earlier than usual and even if they had not, the somewhat early Thanksgiving added one more shopping day to the traditional Thanksgiving to Christmas selling period. Many retailers have predicted sales 10 per cent higher than last year.

This growing market has naturally attracted more sellers. There is scarcely a manufacturer who hasn't asked himself what he was making that could be an entrant in the gift sweepstakes. Practically every magazine nominates itself as the ideal gift these days; gift advertising for books has reached a new peak and almost every kind of food and drink comes in gift wrapping. In fact, gift packaging does more than sell goods as gifts; many people insist on gift-packaged cigarettes and liquor when buying for themselves. They like the Christmas air and, perhaps, they create an illusion that they have more thoughtful friends than they have in reality.

Gift-wrapped autos, in cellophane and ribbon, were introduced last year. This year, the manufacturer of an automatic water heater is offering it gift-wrapped and suggesting it as an ideal present, in some cases. A leading drug manufacturer and a national magazine are spending more than a million dollars to promote drug stores as the places to buy Christmas presents. Almost all appliance manufacturers and dealers are promoting their wares as gifts.

Sometimes efforts to get a share of this market show marks of desperation; a couple of seasons ago one firm advertised a stomach remedy as an ideal gift for mom and pop. CUSTOMERS NAMED ADVISORS TO STORES — Our retailers are closely watching a project in management launched by Mays, a Long Island depar'tment store chain. The chain has set up an advisory council of 12 customers, who will meet with company executives on merchandising, service and management problems. Some will accompany the chain's buyers to market.

Board members will be replaced from time to time, new members being chosen on the basis of suggestions dropped in suggestion boxes in the stores. One suggestion, already put into effect, was for the elimination of bells at closing time and, instead, playing "Good Night Ladies" over loud-speaker systems.

CAMPAIGNS FIND SCRAP IN ODD SPOTS — The steel industry's campaign to bring more scrap to producing some unusual results, the November Steelways magazine reports.

A Richmond, Va., tobacco company not only found many tons of scrap in its plant but on feet of floor space. A Rochester piano company discovered two carloads of scrap metal and an Auburn, N. Y., button factory produced twenty tons.

PRIZE FIXING RULES — PUZZLE RETAILERS — Merchants in several parts of the country are having trouble with local Office of Price Stabilization officials.

In some cases, OPS authorities insisting that stores who offered cigarettes and other items at cut prices during the base period continue on that basis. In others, the officials insist that premiums, coupons, etc., offered between last December 19 and January 26 be continued or prices adjusted accordingly.

Some retailers are in a dilemma. The OPS is threatening them with legal action if they charge more than the cut prices they offered during the base period, and manufacturers are threatening them with suits if they charge less than prices fixed under state "fair trade" laws.

NEW PRODUCTS — LACQUER: A water-white synthetic lacquer for use on non-ferrous objects to prevent corrosion has been announced by United Lacquer Mfg. Co., 1001 W. Elizabeth Ave., Linden, N. J. It resists acids, alkalis, perspiration and corrosive gases.

PACK: A new combination hot and cold pack for the head or other parts of the body is being introduced by Duo-Pack, Inc., 220 42nd St., New York. The pack consists of a chemical solution permanently sealed in Vinylite plastic which resists cracking and wear. The pack may be heated by dipping in hot water or chilled in a refrigerator.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK — (AP) — Once upon a time a man who didn't believe in Thanksgiving went to have a drink on Thanksgiving Day at a bar where the bartender believed in Christmas.

"Gr-r-r-rumph-h-h, and so da!" he said.

"Yes, sir," said the bartender. "Gr-r-r-rumph-h-h-h-h!" "Yes, sir, here's the soda." "Well, Mr. Belcher," said the barkeep, "have you noticed the Christmas decorations in the windows?"

"What did you say, Mr. Belcher?" "I said, shut up, Joe." The bartender looked along the empty polished mahogany bar — empty of its usual customers — and said:

"Don't you have no place to go on Thanksgiving, Mr. Belcher? Gee..." "Shut up!" said Mr. Belcher. "I don't believe in Thanksgiving."

"Gee," said Joe, "don't nobody in the world want you today, sir?" "Nobody want me?" replied Mr. Belcher. "I don't want them. I want peace."

He ordered a drink and muscled it down firmly. Joe thought it over uneasily, then said triumphantly:

"But don't nobody really want you, Mr. Belcher?" "Of course somebody wants me, Joe," said Belcher testily. "You think I'm all alone?" "Well, there's nobody else at the bar, sir."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS — One of the most graceful structures in the Capital, the first Arabo-styled mosque to be built in this country, is expected to be completed by mid-1952.

Costing more than a million dollars, the white limestone structure being erected on a 23,000-square foot tract on Massachusetts Avenue's "Embassy Row" was begun in 1949 and is 80 per cent finished. Progress was delayed for a time until the National Production Authority (NPA) granted a State Department-endorsed application for 40.5 tons of steel needed for the roof and a 150-foot minaret.

The mosque is being erected under the auspices of the heads of the diplomatic missions of 13 Moslem countries here. They are sponsors of the Washington Mosque Foundation, Inc., organized by members of the American-Arab communities. A. Joseph Howar, Washington builder and a foundation director, is in charge of the construction.

Hassan Hosny, third secretary of the Egyptian Embassy, says the structure will have two wings, one to house an institute of Islamic culture, the other for administrative offices.

There will also be a place for one to leave his shoes, a custom required of those entering a mosque whether to pray or merely to look around. As in all mosques, slippers will be supplied to those who do not care to walk around in stocking feet.

The cornerstone of the mosque was laid at colorful ceremonies in January, 1949, on the 1,379th birthday anniversary of the prophet Mohammed. The Koran, American coins, and copies of local newspapers were in the metal box sealed within the stone.

Remembering that the birthday of Mohammed, the first Moslem, is today celebrated by more than 400 million Moslems throughout the world, Egyptian Ambassador Mohammed Kamil Bey Abdul Rahim, said at the cornerstone-laying ceremonies: "On laying the foundation of our mosque, may we pray to God and dedicate ourselves to the cause of fruitful cooperation and permanent unity of our countries, and the cause of peace and justice to all mankind."

Other Moslem countries represented in the foundation are Iran, Pakistan, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Iraq, Afghanistan, Lebanon, Yemen, Jordan, Turkey and Indonesia.

Let Love Alone

By KATHLEEN HARRIS

Chapter 23
They were to land at Kylertown. Mr. Peters had wired ahead for a car to meet the chartered plane so she would be driven to the hospital. Another wire had made reservations for Jan at the little country hotel nearby. She would drop off her baggage but she would go on to the hospital without wasting any precious minutes.

This last part of the trip, these last minutes, lasted interminably. It seemed she was consumed with a feverish impatience; her whole body was trembling; her knees the palms of her hands were damp. But at last all journeys do come to an end. And Jan found herself, her heart hammering painfully, not only on solid ground once more, but deposited before the small hospital. Within another few minutes she would be with Ray.

"If you'll sit down, please," the woman at the desk in the small waiting room of the hospital nodded pleasantly. "I'll find out if you can see Mr. Richmond."

If she could see him? Why, she had to see him, after coming all this distance in such haste! Didn't this woman know that each added second of waiting, of suspense, was an eternity?

But no doubt she was used to having people with anxious eyes and strained smiles come to her desk. Her manner was pleasant but absolutely impersonal. Now she was talking with someone over the phone while Jan waited, her knees still knocking together.

Eternities come to an end too. A stiffling nurse came in, a nurse swishing into the room. She looked around brightly, came over to Jan. "You must be Miss Lawrence," she said. "Will you come with me, please?"

Jan nodded mutely. She was surprised to find that her knees would hold her. She walked down a long silent hall, smelling strongly of some disinfectant, to the elevator. It was one of those cages that go up and down by pushing a button. The nurse pushed one and they shot upward, although Jan's heart, and stomach, seemed to shoot downward.

"We have been expecting you," the nurse remarked in her professionally impersonal tone.

"You have!" Jan's heart bounded up once more as the elevator drew to a stop. Then maybe Ray had been asking for her.

"We received Mr. Peters' wire," the nurse explained.

Jan's heart sank half-way back to where it belonged. Mr. Peters had not forgotten a thing. She wondered now if Ray had been told about the wire, but she did not ask. She was trying to keep up with the nurse's swishing skirts, leading the way down another long narrow corridor. At the end of it she paused before a closed door.

"I feel I must warn you," she said, "not to excite our patient. He has been a very sick young man, as you know."

Jan nodded. "I'll be very careful," she promised. The nurse was opening the door. She held it open for Jan to pass through. Jan gathered all her courage. She knew that she must expect Ray to look different from the way he had. She must be prepared for this change in him. And she must remember the nurse's warning, not to excite him at any cost.

There Ray was, lying in the white bed in a small white room. His head was swathed in a white bandage, his face against white pillows had lost that warm golden fall so that it was white too; only his eyes, looking much too big, still that incredible sky-blue, looked like the Ray she had known.

Jan wanted to cry out, to run to him, throw herself down beside him. It took all her self-control to walk unhurriedly over to that narrow high hospital bed, to say in a matter-of-fact quiet tone, "Hello there, Ray."

There was someone else in the room. Jan had not noticed this at first. All her attention had been riveted on Ray, centered on the bed, but now she saw that someone was sitting quietly near the window. The someone was Bernice Darrow.

Ray said, "Hello yourself, Jan." A faint smile flickered across his mouth. It was reflected in his blue eyes. But that was all he said.

Bernice, rising from the low chair, stepped up to hold out a slender hand.

"We're so glad you came, Jan," she said. Her smile was warmly welcoming.

Jan knew that she should return it, should take the other girl's hand, but she could not force herself to do so. "I didn't know that you were here," she replied stiffly.

"I have been here all the time," Bernice answered quietly. Her eyes, meeting Jan's seemed to say, "I have as much right as you to be here with Ray."

"Hey!" It was Ray's voice that caused them both to turn toward the bed once more. "Are you two forgetting that I'm here?"

Both girls went over to him, one to stand on either side of the bed. His eyes, his face, turned from girl meant. That they must now stand together, wait together, work together toward that end.

"That's good," Ray said. He closed his eyes as though he were satisfied. It was evident that this much excitement had been enough for him.

Jan turned her head away, biting her lips to keep back the tears.

Canada Orders Jet Airliners

LONDON (AP)—The De Havilland Aircraft Co. announced here that it expects to deliver late in 1952 two Comet jet airliners ordered by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The 400 m.p.h. planes will go into service on the Vancouver-Australia service, but will be restricted to the Sydney-Honolulu section of the route. The Comets will make two return trips weekly between Sydney and Honolulu.

Navy Hero Gets Much Colder Job

BOSTON (AP)—Commander Robert (PT) Kelly, who won fame in World War II as the skipper of an "expedible" tiny torpedo-boat squadron in the hot Southwestern Pacific, now has a much colder assignment.

He recently returned from the Arctic where the icebreaker Atka, which Kelly commanded, brought supplies to U. S. stations there. The Atka led the "interference" through the icefields for cargo ships which followed close astern.

In some of the darkest days of U. S. history, Kelly was in command of the lead boat in the four-craft PT squadron which evacuated Gen. Douglas MacArthur, his family and staff from Corregidor in 1942.

Kelly, 38, was appointed to the U. S. Naval Academy in 1931. He makes his home in Somerville, Mass.

Reilly thereby lost himself $60.

More predictions today. This will be the final batch of the season... then I can rest again.

First of all, let's talk about the game that's going to be played in Charleston, S. C., tomorrow afternoon between East Carolina College and the Citadel. The Citadel has been established almost everywhere as the favorite.

The ECC team has really looked good in practice for the past two weeks. They had an open date last week and the rest seems to have done the boys good because they really showed a lot of hustle and pep in practice these past few days.

Harold Yarborough, the leading ball carrier on the club before he was hurt in the game with Norfolk Naval Air Station, is back in top shape. With a little blocking he could really do some great running tomorrow against the Cadets.

The Pirates are in pretty good shape with only Sonny Callahan and Doc Smith having any really half-way serious injuries. Callahan is still troubled with soreness in his knee and Smith has come up with some sort of neck trouble. Both will be able to play tomorrow but it isn't known just how much they'll be able to play.

The Citadel squad has shown plenty this year although they've managed to come out on the short of scores more often than they've won. The Bulldogs have a good team and proved it last week when they lost to Virginia Military Institute.

We'll pick the Bulldogs. Moving into the Big Four, we find Duke and Carolina tangling at Durham and Wake Forest and South Carolina looking horns in Columbia. N. C. State has already closed out the 1951 season and Beattie Feathers is already working on his plans for next year.

The South Carolina-Wake Forest game will easily be the top contest tomorrow in the Palmetto State—something the game deserves because the two teams always come up with a good ball game.

South Carolina hasn't shown a great deal this year and even their great running back, Steve Wadiak, hasn't been able to look much better than a run-of-the-mill half-back. The opposition has been just that strong—they're all laying for Wadiak who is generally acknowledged as one of the best runners in the game.

Other than Wadiak, South Carolina has Hootie Johnson and that's about all. They managed to beat Clemson but lost to both Carolina and Duke.

The Deacons didn't come forth with a great display at all last week when they lost by a rather generously-sized margin to Baylor at Waco, Texas. Dickie Davis, Ed Kissel and company weren't able to move at all.

Things should be different this week. The Deacons should be different this week. Tom Rogers has a good ball club and it isn't likely that they'll be slapped down two weeks in a row.

I'll take the Deacons. Now for the big one: A lot of the real edge in tomorrow's game at Durham has been removed because of the records of the two ball clubs. But regardless of that, there'll still be around 57,000 people in Duke Stadium tomorrow.

This game will be the real test of Bill Murray's split-T which has been hot and cold all year long. If they can move against Carolina, they can consider themselves as having a good year.

Carolina doesn't have a bad football team at all. They've met some good ball clubs this year and they've lost to some of the best in the country. They showed they were a good ball club last week when they nearly came through with a win over Notre Dame.

It is highly doubtful that Carolina can turn in another of those "Notre Dame performances" this week. It just isn't in the books for a ball club to be able to play two really great balls in one week.

But such things as that are usually forgotten in these Duke-Carolina games. Both teams play their ears off because a victory in this game means a successful year regardless of how your team did the other nine weeks of the season.

This column will go out on a great big limb and take Duke to win. But I am not guaranteeing a thing. Don't bet on it.

Weldon Takes Win In Goober Bowl Contest

Garland Conwell Leads Team In Victory; Is Selected Outstanding Player

WELDON — Halfback Garland Conwell scored for Weldon's Tornados before two minutes had passed in the first quarter here yesterday and went on to lead his team to a decisive 22-7 triumph over a spirited Ayden team in the fourth staging of the Jaycee sponsored Goober Bowl.

Ayden's Delano Cox fumbled the opening kickoff on his own 34 and fullback George Joyner recovered for Weldon. Dickie Dickens and Conwell alternated to carry the ball across in eight plays. Conwell terminated the brief drive with a five-yard run around left for the touchdown. Quarterback W. D. Hux ran the extra point across.

The superior Weldon team, coached by The Davis, battled Ayden in its own territory for the remainder of the first half and neither team was able to score. Ayden staged a mild threat late in the second period when it marched from its own 34 to the Weldon 20. Harry Ross intercepted a pass from Hux on the Ayden 34 to start the drive. John Edward Cheek spearheaded the running attack to carry the ball to the Ayden 46, and Hal Edwards passed 14 yards to end Mac Whitehurst to carry the ball into Weldon territory. Cheek gained five more yards and Whitehurst pulled in another pass to carry to the 20.

Ayden's backfield fumbled on a handoff on first down and Freddy Gregory recovered for Weldon to end the threat.

Second Half
Coach Stuart Tripp's eleven seemed to catch life soon after the second half opened. Ayden kicked off to Weldon and when the winners were forced to kick on fourth down, Whitehurst blocked the kick on the seven yard line. John Cheek took the ball over to paydirt on the first attempt. The extra point, a pass from Edwards to Willis Manning, tied the game.

From that point, however, it was all Weldon as the strong forward wall charged through the Ayden line seemingly at will to block any attempt by Ayden's offense to start rolling.

Weldon took the lead again late in the third period. Edwards was forced to run when he attempted to punt on fourth down, and was thrown for a 16 yard loss back to the Ayden 18. Dickens passed to Hux for the touchdown on fourth down. Conwell failed to make the extra point on a running attempt.

Weldon threatened again soon after the fourth quarter began, after recovering an Ayden fumble on the Weldon 45. Conwell and Dickens paced the drive which carried to a first down on the seven. Weldon was unable to go over in four tries as the Ayden line held and the ball went over.

Trying desperately to move the ball out, Edwards attempted a pass to Manning, but it was incomplete. When he tried to pass the second time, he was smothered by the entire Weldon line in the end zone for an automatic safety for the victors, giving Weldon a 15-7 lead.

Davis' boys drove down to the Ayden eight soon afterward before they were stopped as Wesley Cannon intercepted a pass on his own eight. On first down, Cannon attempted to go around right end. Cannon, who weighs only 120 pounds, was hit by Weldon's big Hank Spivey, a 235 pounder, and the ball squirted out of Cannon's hands. Sonny Myrick recovered for Weldon on the four, and Conwell took it over on first down for the final touchdown. Dickens made the extra point, and Weldon held its final margin of victory, 22-7.

Conwell Selected
Conwell was voted the most outstanding player for either team and received a trophy from the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Enfield. He was easily the most outstanding performer as he repeatedly carried the brunt of Weldon's attack.

Spivey also played a good game, as he was unable to find a match in the Ayden team. The entire Weldon line played a good defensive game as they broke through the Ayden team to throw their backs for loss after loss.

Riddick Leads White Team To 25-18 Victory

The White team yesterday won the City Little League Championship with a 25-18 victory over the Blues. The game was played in the East Carolina College stadium before a crowd of around 200 fans.

Ike Riddick was the big show in the Thanksgiving Day game as he scored one touchdown and extra point and passed for two other six-pointers.

Riddick scored the first of the four White touchdowns by going over from six yards out on an end run. He added the extra point with a run over his own tackle.

Riddick passed to Harris Northrop for the second touchdown and also completed an aerial to Chris Henderson for the third score. Passes from Riddick to Northrop set up both the touchdowns. The final White tally came when Bobby Edwards took the ball on a buck-lateral play and went over from five yards out.

The Blues got their three touchdowns largely on the work of Billy Sermons. Sermons scored his first touchdown on a 56 yard run and added his second with a seven yard charge off tackle. Jim McGee scored the other Blue touchdown on a buck-lateral play around right end.

Line play for the Whites was led by Bryce Cummings, Merrill Bynum, Mike Willis and Howard Garner. For the Blues, Charles Catlette, Dickie Haas, Jimmy Long and Abner Eason led the line work.

All boys that played Little League football this year are asked to report to the Armory Monday afternoon to return their equipment. The Recreation Department also asks they turn in the money they have collected.

Edenton Scores Win In Leaf Bowl

SCOTLAND NECK—Edenton High School scored early here last night and then held on to record a 20-6 victory over Warrenton in the Tobacco Bowl.

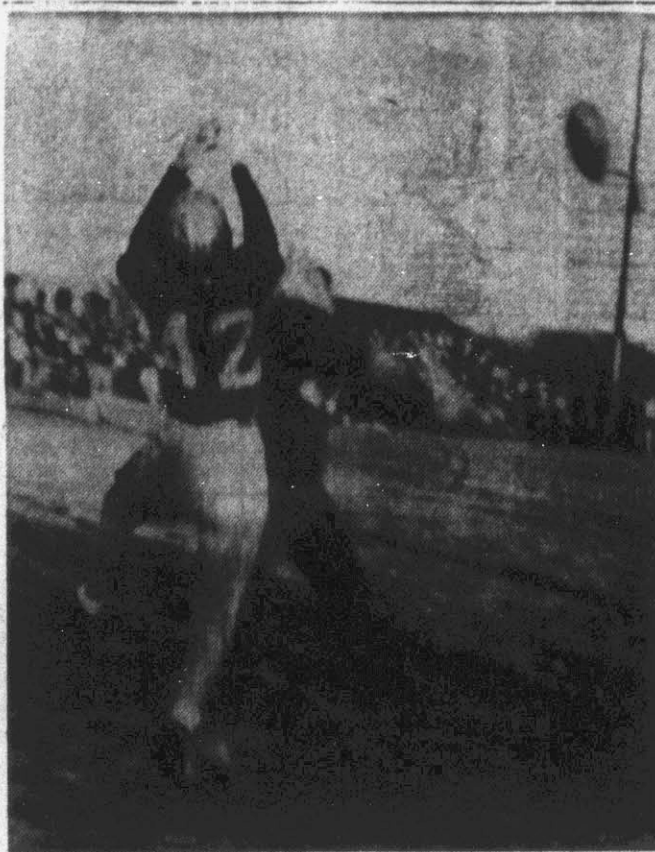

Halfback Frank Hughes scored twice to lead the Aces on offense. Hughes' first TD came on a 48-yard jaunt through the middle of the Warrenton line, while he went around end for 17 yards and his second marker.

Halfback Burton Harrison scored the third touchdown for Edenton on a handoff from quarterback Webb Griffin, going over from the three yard line. The team made two extra points from placement.

Warrenton stayed in the game chiefly on the throwing arm of tailback Clinton Capps, who gave a dazzling exhibition of passing skill. The team's only touchdown came on a bullet pass from Capps to end Finley Read. Read caught the ball on the four and bulled his way across the goal line with three men on his back.

Harrison and Griffin paced the offense for Edenton while its entire line played good ball. Read, Allen Fisher, and Johnny Greene led the Warrenton team on defense.

The motto on the first penny authorized by the U. S. Congress was inspired by Benjamin Franklin and said, "Mind your business".

WESLEY CANNON, (42) is shown above as he prepares to pull in a pass from Hal Edwards for a short gain late in the second half of yesterday's Goober Bowl game in Enfield. Cannon was one of the more consistent gainers for Ayden throughout the contest.

COACH STUART TRIPP appears to be in deep thought as this picture was taken. His Ayden Tornados were trailing Weldon at the time in the fourth annual Goober Bowl game. Weldon won the contest by an easy 22-7 margin. Staff photos by Roy Hardee.

Bears Win Crown With 33-13 Win

HICKORY — (AP)— The Lenoir Rhyme Bears, champions of the North State Conference, came from behind with a second-half rally for a 33-13 victory over Catawba in a season finale for both teams here yesterday.

A Thanksgiving Day crowd of 10,000 saw the Indians of Catawba take a 13-7 halftime lead, but the roof caved in when the Bears came roaring back with three touchdowns in the third period and a final tally in the fourth.

Lenoir Rhyme already had won the North State championship following Elon's loss to Guilford Wednesday night. The Bears also had been invited to play in the annual Pythian Bowl game at Salisbury, but had withheld acceptance of the bid until after their final game. The Pythian bid automatically goes to the North State champion.

Erskine College Drops Football

DUE WEST, S. C. — (AP)— Erskine College today announced that it is discontinuing intercollegiate football.

A formal announcement from the little denominational college, supported by the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church, said the action had been decided by the finance committee of the Board of Trustees.

The announcement said: "This committee met a few days ago, and after careful study decided it was wise to discontinue, at least for the present, its program of intercollegiate athletics."

Marshall Eleven Turns Down Bid
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — (AP)— The Marshall College football team has rejected a bid to play in the Pythian Bowl at Salisbury, N. C. New Year's Day.

"We have had enough football for this season," Coach Pete Pederson said, "and besides I don't believe the National Collegiate Athletic Association would give us permission to play at this time."

Bucs Leave For Game; All Stars Pick Shoe

The East Carolina Pirates, 44 strong, left early Friday morning for Charleston, S. C., where they will close their 1951 season against the Citadel. The game will be played in the Bulldogs' stadium with kickoff time slated for 2:30 p.m.

The Pirates are in near-top physical shape for the game with only Tackle Sonny Callahan and Guard Doc Smith reporting any kind of troubles. Callahan is still bothered with a sore knee and Smith has

The drawings on the left show one reason why the CA Tractor has unusually good traction. Wide-based 10-inch tires on a 10-inch rim have a broad face, using the full width of the tread to grip the earth. When properly inflated, each rear tire has approximately 17 percent more square inches of surface on the ground than with conventional rims.

Another reason is the hydraulic Traction Booster which gives the CA lightweight instead of deadweight. With mounted tools, as the load increases, the Traction Booster automatically increases weight on the rear wheels in proportion to the load.

The new CA has plowing power you've never seen before in a tractor this size. Let us prove it on your farm.

The People at Worship

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Exodus 24; 29-31; 35; 40.

"Then went up Moses and Aaron, and his sons, and seventy of the leaders of Israel; and they saw the God of Israel in all His glory."

Moses told the people that God had commanded them to bring materials for building and furnishing the tabernacle, so all came bearing gifts.

Moses and Aaron cleaned themselves and the altar, and a cloud covered the tent.

Then Moses, Aaron and his sons cleaned themselves and went into the altar, and a cloud covered the tent.

MEMORY VERSE—Exodus 35:5.

The People at Worship

JEHOVAH TAUGHT HIS ANCIENT PEOPLE HOW TO APPROACH HIM

Scripture—Exodus 24; 29-31; 35; 40.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. IT IS a thrilling moment when any Christian congregation builds a new church and dedicates it to the worship of God.

It is possible that few of the beautiful temples now being built in our country will have their history written down so that people who live three thousand years from now can read it, as we read today the story of the building of the tabernacle which was erected by Moses under the minute instructions of Jehovah.

The list of detailed instructions which Moses received as to its building and furnishing, and of the order of worship prescribed by Jehovah, are far too long to recite in this column, but we can read and thrill to the story of this holy place built in the wilderness while the children of Israel were on their way to the land that had been promised them.

The Lord told Moses to go up into Him with Aaron, his two sons, Nadab and Abihu, and 70 of the elders of Israel. Moses alone was allowed to come near the Lord, however.

Moses told the people Jehovah's words and judgments and they among them: I am Jehovah their God.

Moses gathered all the children of Israel together and said to them: "These are the words which the Lord hath commanded, that ye should do them," emphasizing that six days they were to labor, but on the seventh—the holy day—they were to do no work. The further commands of the Lord Moses gave them, saying:

"Take ye from among you an offering unto the Lord: whosoever is of a willing heart, let him bring it, an offering of the Lord; gold, and silver, and brass."

Then followed a long list of articles the people were to bring as gifts for the tabernacle.

"And all the congregation of the children of Israel departed from the presence of Moses."

"And they came every one whose heart stirred him up, and every one whom his spirit made willing, and they brought the Lords offering to the work of the tabernacle of the congregation, and for all his service, and for the holy garments."

Wood, silver, brass, jewelry, cloth of blue and purple and scarlet, and fine linen, and goats' hair, and red skins of rams, and badgers' skins, they brought.

"And all the women that were wise hearted did spin with their hands, and brought that which they had spun, both of blue, and of purple, and of scarlet, and of fine linen."

"And the rulers brought onyx stones, and stones to be set for the ephod, and for the breastplate; and spice, and oil for the light, and for the anointing oil, and for the sweet incense."

"The children of Israel brought a willing offering unto the Lord, every man and woman, whose heart made them willing to bring for all manner of work, which the Lord had commanded to be made by the hand of Moses."

Under Moses the work went on until, at last he lighted the lamps before the Lord in the finished and furnished temple, and "so Moses finished the work."

"Then a cloud covered the tent of the congregation and the glory of the Lord filled the tabernacle."

"And when the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle, the children of Israel went onward in all their journeys."

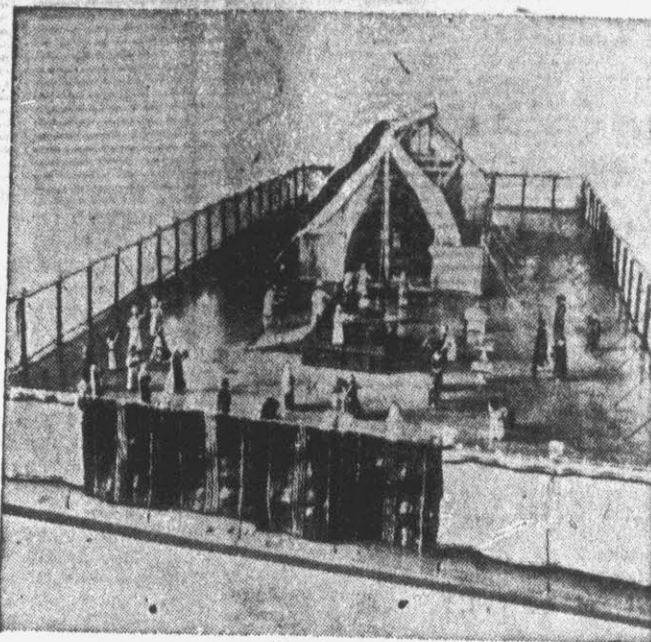

"But if the cloud were not taken up, then they journeyed not till that day that it was taken up."

"For the cloud of the Lord was upon the tabernacle by day, and fire was on it by night, in the sight of all the house of Israel, throughout all their journeys."

"This is the story of the building of one tabernacle by devoted and 'willing hearts,' the type of spirit we should all bring to the building and service of our own temples."

Father Sends Sons To Jail; Using Drugs

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
"It is a wise father that knows his own child." — Shakespeare (The Merchant of Venice).

NEW YORK (UP)— Raphael Charres put both his sons behind bars today on narcotics charges because he loves them.

He said he could not have done it without the sympathy of strangers.

Charres, an unemployed metal polisher who had asked police to arrest his sons, said he felt like an inquirer against his own flesh and blood when 20-year-old Frank was locked up last week.

Tears coursed down his cheeks yesterday when he signed the complaint that sent his second son — 18-year-old Antonio — to jail but he said he believed he had done the right thing.

Charres, 55, told authorities he made his decision after he could no longer endure the thought of his sons becoming incurable narcotics addicts.

"Find my boys and arrest them," he begged police. "They are using drugs again."

Antonio, who had been using narcotics since he was 15, fled when narcotics agents arrested Frank at their home last Friday.

But Wednesday night he heeded his father's advice to turn himself in.

The elder Charres' feeling of guilt vanished after he received letters from unknown friends as a result of the publicity following Frank's arrest.

"The letters I've received make me feel a little better," he said.

"All those strangers approved of my action."

The Charres brothers previously had been treated for narcotics addition at the federal institute at Lexington, Ky. They were released in three months and picked up the habit again.

Charres said he believed a second visit to Lexington would cure his sons.

But he could not restrain his tears when young Antonio was led off to the prison-wagon, after he had signed a complaint charging him with possession of a hypodermic needle and heroin.

Traffic Cases In Police Court

The North Carolina law provides a severe penalty for a motorist who is found guilty of two offenses of careless and reckless driving. Judge Charles H. Wheeler commented in Police Court Wednesday.

Albert F. Whitfield, Negro, who was found guilty of his second offense of careless and reckless driving, was given 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $25 and costs. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year. The court also ordered Whitfield not to operate a motor vehicle for a year and not to ride in any motor vehicle except a public bus for six months, or, until he makes restitution for property damage.

Driving without an operator's license: Premier Johnson, Negro, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $25 and costs and on condition that he not operate a motor vehicle without a driver's license. Donald C. McGlohan was not guilty. Charles D. Smith paid $20, costs deducted. Hubert Spain, Negro, was not guilty. William Lee Bowen paid $25 and costs. Raymond Wooten, Negro, paid $25 and costs.

Failure to stop at a traffic light: Gurrass M. Vincent, $10; Travis M. C. Allen, Negro, paid $10; Floyd Lee Lynch, $10; James W. Thomas, Negro, $10.

Luther E. Mills, paid $20, costs deducted, for speeding.

Roosevelt King, Negro, paid $5 for failure to yield right of way.

Guy Joyner was given 30 days in jail for being drunk, sentence suspended on payment of $20, costs deducted.

Ingenuity Beats Local Obstacle To TV Reception

HAZARD, Ky. —(AP)— In spite of the surrounding Kentucky hills which hinder reception, local ingenuity has brought television to this little community (pop. 10,000).

Located in a natural bowl, the Hazard residents nonetheless licked their problem by building a large tower atop a 1,000-ft. hill and stringing house-to-house coaxial lead-ins. They carved a road to within 200 feet of the peak. Materials were toled the rest of the way by hand.

The TV cables were run down the hillsides from the tower, strung along poles of the local utility company and fed into the homes of set owners. This gives Hazard reception from two TV stations in Cincinnati and one in Huntington, W. Va., the nearest of which is 90 airline miles away.

Ballard's X Roads

Using as a text, "Christ Healing the Ten Lepers and Only One Remaining To Say Thank You," Rev. C. D. Patterson preached a Thanksgiving sermon on showing our gratitude to God for the many blessings we have received as a nation, at Ballard's Presbyterian Church on Sunday morning.

There were 65 present for Sunday school and on next Sunday morning all the offering will go to the Barium Springs Orphanage at Barium Springs.

Women of Church Meet
Mesdames Noah Barber and Nettie Nichols were hostesses to the November meeting of the Women of the Presbyterian Church on last Friday evening. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer said in unison by the group. The devotional was given by Mrs. G. S. Nichols on the 7th Commandment bringing out the thought on "How to Maintain Christian Homes."

Mrs. L. E. Turnage had charge of the program following the same topic on having Christian homes and she gave some information and applicable suggestions on how we as individuals might make our homes more Christian.

At the business session presided over by Mrs. P. J. Lloyd, the group voted to entertain their husbands at a supper on Tuesday evening, Dec. 4. During the social hour the hostesses served refreshments to 13 members and one visitor, Mrs. L. E. Turnage. We are glad to add Mrs. C. C. Hedgepeth's name to the group as a new member.

Seven-Year Dry Spell Reduces Birds In Desert

RIVERSIDE, Calif. —(AP)— Southern California deserts, in the throes of one of the longest dry spells on record, 7 years, are turning an uncolorful gray and even the most drought resistant shrubs are dying.

Even with the return of normal rainfall, it will take nature many years to replace these plants, said Edmund C. Jaeger, naturalist and authority in desert flora and fauna. Jaeger said that desert birds have been especially hard hit during the dry spell.

Hunting Season Is Off To Quiet Start In Pitt

"Yesterday — Thanksgiving Day — was the quietest opening day of the hunting season for quail since World War II, when shells were hard to get," said J. O. Teel, district game and fish protector, today.

"From reports we had, there were fewer hunters in woods during the day, and so far, we have not heard of any hunting accidents in our territory," the game warden said.

Teel said many hunters told him before the hunting season opened and yesterday that they did not plan to do much hunting this season on account of the high price of shotgun shells. A box of 24 shells sells for from $2.45 to $3.

Hunters, inclined to the belief that there are fewer quail in the woods now, older hunters who recalled that the first day of the quail hunting season is usually captured by an army of hunters and this sends the birds to cover.

Teel said his observations during recent months indicate that there are as many coveys of quail in the woods now as in other years. He said squirrels are more numerous than last year, when it was believed raccoons destroyed many baby squirrels in nests.

Only one arrest was made in Pitt county for hunting law violation Thanksgiving Day. The district game warden cited to a magistrate's court James White, middle-aged Negro farmer, whose gun was not plugged while hunting. The law requires that guns be plugged to contain no more than three shells at one time, Teel stated.

WRONG KIND OF GEESE — HASTING, Neb. — (UP) — Two local hunters were grinning and shaking hands on the first day of the duck season over bagging 11 geese when they saw the hopping mad farmer bearing down on them. They were tame geese.

Trapped Deepsea Diver Directed His Own Rescue

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Trapped almost five hours in icy ocean waters, William Wood directed his own rescue from one of his closest scrapes in years of deep-sea diving.

The 48-year-old Wood worked two ordinary auto jacks to lift iron bars that pinned him to the wreckage of a sunken barge near the Golden Gate.

Searchlights were played on the scene, 1-4 miles off Land's End, and scores watched from shore as Wood was lifted aboard his ship, The Salvager, at 7:30 last night.

Although he was rushed unconscious to a decompression chamber for treatment against the bends, Wood was found suffering only from shock and exposure.

He told reporters he had started salvage operations he thought might net him "some money for Christmas" for his wife and two daughters in Santa Barbara, Calif. He was seeking to recover brass and copper from a barge that sank off Land's End years ago.

About 2:30 p.m., the tide pushed iron bars over him and pinned his legs and feet. Wood was wearing full divers' equipment.

After an hour's struggle, he phoned The Salvager crew to send distress signals.

The Coast Guard brought the eight-pound jacks. They were lowered according to instructions from Wood. After hours of careful maneuvering, Wood dislodged the bars, only to be caught by other debris on the way up.

The veteran diver moved that and the crew hauled him up, taking 10 minutes because of the pressure difference.

"This is one of the closest scrapes I've ever had—no, not the worst," he said afterward. "I came closest to eternity off Africa one time." He did not relate that experience.

Ridgway Asserts Eighth Army Is Ready For Worst

8TH ARMY HQ, Korea (UP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said today his forces "are ready for anything" the Communists may throw at them if the "truce by Christmas" effort fails.

The supreme United Nations commander made his defiant statement during a visit to front-line units in western Korea, where the Communists have been hammering in futile attacks for more than a week.

In the U. S. American Thunderjets damaged two MIG-15 jet fighters in beating back the first Communist challenge to American air supremacy over northwest Korea in six days.

Thirty MIG's jumped the Thunderjets while they were hitting the enemy railway lines south of Sinanju in "MIG Alley." All Thunderjets returned safely to their bases.

Kidnap and . . .

the man lying in the back seat of the car, ordered her to get in the driver's seat and drive off.

Morrow stated that she said she headed the car in the direction of Chocowinity but the man told her to head toward Blount's Creek. At this point, Morrow quoted the woman as saying that she pleaded with the killer "to let her go and get help for her injured husband she would not report him," but he refused.

After riding in the vicinity of Blount's Creek for some time, the man told her to stop and asked if the trunk of the car was locked. When told that it was, he opened it and forced the woman to get in and locked the door. He ordered her to make no outcry.

The woman told the officers that she was about to freeze in the 25 degree temperature and that she could not breathe so well as the supply of air was becoming stale.

Beaufort County Coroner Bonner Paul, stated that "the shooting was a clear case of murder and there would be no inquest." All of the charge from the 16-gauge double-barrel shotgun, struck the man in the top left part of the shoulder with the exception of one stray shot which hit the man in the kidney region. There were 12 buck shots in the charge.

Paul estimated the time of the shooting at between 9:30. This agreed with the story told by the woman.

From the pattern of the shot made on the man's body, officers figured that the blast was fired at less than four feet, with the barrel of the gun resting against the screen window.

When confronted by officers in the Greenville City Jail, the man would give no reason for the murder. Later, however, he stated that he wanted to steal the automobile and that was his motive for the shooting.

Upon further questioning the man stated that he was originally from Kinston, but lived in Washington where he was working. He also admitted being on parole for breaking a d entering at night, being sentenced to 10-15 years in prison from Wayne county. The exact date of his parole he did not know, but he said he had served time at Caledonia prison farm.

Miller also said that he had walked the distance of some four miles from Washington to the house with the gun, and stated that he had been planning it for some time. He stated he did not know the family.

Oddly enough, the dead man had just received his draft notice to report for a pre-induction examination on the seventh of December.

As a precautionary measure, members of the Highway Patrol and Beaufort County Sheriff department officers transferred the man to an undisclosed jail for safe keeping, until he can be tried for the two capital offenses one each for murder and kidnaping, both of which carry the death penalty.

Officers making the investigation were Cpl. H. M. Morrow, Bruce Jackson, J. M. Davis, of Pitt County and Beaufort County Sheriff Department officers P. L. Paul and Jack Harris, and Patrolman George Medlan of Chocowinity.

Mrs. Boyd stated to the officers that the Negro man had not touched her in any way during the time that she had been his prisoner.

Miller will face grand jury action at the next term of Beaufort County superior court.

Records at the Prison Department in Raleigh show that the man's age is actually 23, instead of the 19 which he gave local officers when arrested.

Also, the records show that he was paroled in 1950 after serving more than half of a 12-15 prison term for burglary.

Beaufort County officers pointed Miller out as a troublemaker, which has given them considerable but no serious trouble up until now.

Harvey Boyd was 21 and his wife of less than a year was only 20, lived some 300 yards from the girl's parents farm house on the Aurora highway, and had only recently moved into their new home

Tool Firm Plans Asheville Plant

ASHEVILLE — (AP) — Oerlikon Tool and Arms Corporation of America has announced that it will move its headquarters to Asheville.

The corporation, a recently organized U. S. affiliate of an internationally known Swiss firm, said yesterday that a statement of headquarters here would be the first step leading to construction of a large plant on a 1500-acre tract in the Swannanoa Valley, eight miles away.

Oerlikon president K. B. Wolfe said the corporation's immediate plans are dependent on negotiations now being conducted between Oerlikon, the Department of Defense and the National Production Authority.

Wolfe said if the company receives a defense contract, it expects to begin work early in 1952 on a plant which would employ several thousand workers.

In addition to the manufacturing unit, the company plans to build a chemical plant, a powder plant, an office building and facilities for research and development and testing of the various products.

RATION INCREASED — LONDON (UP) — The Ministry of Food announced today that the bacon ration will be raised to four ounces a week instead of three beginning Dec. 2.
