'Boobytrap' Red Offer Rejected

UN Delegate Charges Communists Trying To Gain At Truce Table What They Failed To Win On Battlefield; Subcommittee Deadlocks Still In Effect

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations rejected a booby-trapped Communist troop rotation offer today and accused the Reds of trying to win at the truce table what they lost in battle.

U.N. delegate Maj. Gen. Howard Turner scathingly denounced the Communists in rejecting a six-point Red compromise proposal for limited troop rotation and policing an armistice.

The offer would have limited the replacement of combat-troop units during an armistice to 5,000 a month — well under the present U.N. rotation schedule — and subjected even those to a possible Communist veto.

Turner's blast came in a joint U.N.-Communist subcommittee still deadlocked after 18 days of trying to work out a program for insuring observance of an armistice.

A second subcommittee debating an exchange of war prisoners also was stalled as U. N. delegate Rear Adm. Ruthven E. Libby told the Reds that their refusal to permit Red Cross representatives to visit prison camps only "feeds the fire of suspicion."

Despite the lack of progress, both subcommittees agreed to meet again at 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p. m. Saturday EST).

Turner angrily denounced the Communists for refusing to permit unlimited troop rotation and inspection of their interior communications during a truce and for demanding the right to build new airports in North Korea.

Turner said the U.N. already was rotating troops, keeping Communist airfields in Korea unusable, making aerial observation daily over North Korea and threatening the Communist rear by holding islands off the Red coast.

"You seek to gain through negotiation what you could not win through fighting," Turner said. "You seek to avoid, through negotiation, what you could not avoid through fighting," Turner said.

Turner told the Communists that the U.N. still is willing to consider any new realistic Communist proposal on how to police the armistice.

"We told them we were willing to negotiate when they have something in the nature of a forward step," he said. "We would be right there to go along."

In the prisoner subcommittee, Libby again told the Reds that the Allies could not discuss the mechanics of an exchange of war prisoners until the Communists disclose the names and whereabouts of the captured U.N. soldiers.

He said the U.N. was being asked to negotiate "in the blind" while the Reds have full information on prisoners held by the Allies.

Libby questioned the claim of the Communists that they are treating war prisoners better than required by the Geneva convention.

"Your refusal to admit the International Red Cross feeds the fire of suspicion that your assertions are untrue," he said. "We would be right there to go along."

Huge Cold Wave Moves Eastward After Snowfall

Cold Brings Death To At Least 21 Persons; South To Feel Chill

By UNITED PRESS A numbing cold wave moved eastward across the nation today on the heels of a snarling, record snowfall that buffeted the northern half of the country, smothering at least eight major cities.

The snowfall brought death to at least 21 persons. The wide-sweeping arm of the storm hit Chicago, Columbus, Ohio, Detroit, Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore and Washington.

Iowa City, Ia., recorded the deepest snowfall with 12 inches officially reported on the ground.

But Chicago was not far behind with 10 inches reported as ropes were put up along Michigan Avenue to aid windblown pedestrians.

The semi-paralyzing snow as a vanguard for a sub-zero front spreading eastward from the Rocky Mountains, Miles City, Mont., reported a low of 23 degrees below zero and Dickinson, N. D., bundled up against 21-below.

Forecasters predicted "much colder" temperatures for the East. The cold was expected to invade even the Florida keys — the most southerly tip of the United States.

In the nation's capital, many government workers were let off early from work as four inches fell there. Philadelphia reported a hopeless snarl of traffic as five inches dropped on its streets — a three-year record.

In Baltimore, Md., hundreds of computers stayed at hotels or with friends as they gave up the struggle.

Face of ground action spurred as tank-supported United Nations infantry jabbed at the Communist line in hill-top raids all along the 145-mile front. In one action alone Friday, they killed or wounded 200 enemy troops.

The Chinese Communists struck back on the central front with one of their biggest probing attacks since the start of the "ease-fire" two weeks ago.

The Chinese threw a full battalion — 800 to 1,000 men — against a Turkish brigade position south of Pyongyang at the apex of the old Iron Triangle Friday night.

An outpost was overrun and communications with the main defense line were cut before the Turks rallied and sent the Chinese reeling back north. The battle lasted two hours.

An 8th Army commander said elements of the U.S. 20th Battalion Combat Team repulsed a strong Communist probing attack by two enemy squads against an advance position west of Yongchon on the western front shortly after Friday midnight.

Censorship was lifted to permit disclosure that Allied units in line across Korea include the U.S. 1st Marine, 3rd, 7th, 24th and 25th Divisions, the British Commonwealth Division, Belgian, Colombian, Greek, Thai and Ethiopian brigades and the Turkish brigade.

Whitley said the car driven by Elizabeth C. Langley, West 2nd Street Ayden, when struck by the oil tanker, went out of control and off the highway into a ditch, with the oil tanker resting against it.

The driver of the car and a second occupant, Viola Gaskins Underwood, also of Ayden, were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment. Underwood was treated for minor injuries and released while Langley was admitted for treatment of a back injury.

Patrol officers said that the smoke covering the highway was due to a large fire set at the Carolina Milling Company at Cannon's Cross Roads. A large amount of old corn cobs had been set on fire; the wind shifted and drove clouds of blinding smoke over the road.

The Highway Patrol conveyed traffic through the smoke for hours on a one-way traffic basis, and then ordered the highway blocked for the night, and detour signs with barricades erected detouring the traffic around on a dirt road.

For over three hours wreckers from Greenville labored to free the oil tanker from its berth in the ditch. An estimated 2,000 or more gallons of fuel oil was in the tanker at the time the accident occurred, more than half of which was pumped off into smaller tankers in an effort to lighten the load.

While having to fight the heavy smoke which hung over the wreck area, wrecking crews had to battle against still another danger, that of fire.

A broken seam in the tanker let oil leak out, and a fire started in the engine compartment.

The fire was extinguished by the Highway Patrol.

The tanker was towed to a nearby area and the wreckage was removed.

U.S. Jets Still Rule Korea Skies

Down Another MIG, Damage Six Others, In Strafing Of Red Supply Base

8TH RMY HQ, Korea (UP)—U.S. jet fighters today shot down one Communist MIG-15 jet, damaged six others and fire-bombed a North Korean supply center into a "mass of flames."

The American victories in two dogfights over northwest Korea, increased the 8th Air Force's toll of three days alone to 27 destroyed or damaged.

American Thunderjets swooped low over a supply area in woods north of Yangdok, a key transport hub on the Pyongyang-Wonsan railway, in a devastating fire raid Saturday morning.

Returning airmen reported they napalmed "everything in sight" and machinegunned every moving target. At least 26 buildings housing enemy troops and supplies were destroyed and 40 others damaged.

"We hit everything, even cutting down trees with our bullets," reported 1st Lt. Doyle R. Back of Wilburton, Okla. "The place was just a mass of flames when we left."

One Sabrejet was damaged in one of the dogfights, but it and all other U.N. planes engaged returned safely to bases. However, a propeller-driven P-51 Mustang on another mission was lost to enemy ground fire.

However, the 5th Air Force announced that it lost 11 planes, all to Communist ground fire, in the week ended yesterday. It was the largest number of Allied planes ever lost in a seven-day period in Korea.

In the same period, the Air Force's fighters shot down in combat 14 enemy planes, probably destroyed four more and damaged nine. None of the Allied fighters was lost in combat.

Wrecked On Smoke-Obscured Road

The oil tanker shown above struck an automobile in a section of smoke covered highway near Cannon's Cross Road, yesterday afternoon, injuring two persons and causing considerable damage to both vehicles. More than three hours were required by a wrecking crew from Greenville to move the wrecked tanker.

An oil tanker traveling blind on a highway covered with smoke from a nearby fire rammied into the car shown above, injuring its two occupants. The accident, occurring on Highway 102 near Ayden, was caused by smoke obscuring the driver's view, patrolmen reported. The road was ordered closed for about a mile and detours were set up. Cars Collide As Drivers Blinded

Smoke-Covered Highway Leads To Injury Of Two Women

By ROY HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer

AYDEN — Two Ayden school teachers were injured, one seriously, yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which they were riding was rammied in the rear by a loaded oil tanker at Cannon's Cross Roads, on a smoke-covered highway.

Highway Patrol officer Paul C. Whitley, who arrived on the scene shortly after the wreck occurred around 4:00, attributed the cause of the accident to the dense smoke which covered the highway, cutting visibility down to only a matter of feet.

Whitley said the car driven by Elizabeth C. Langley, West 2nd Street Ayden, when struck by the oil tanker, went out of control and off the highway into a ditch, with the oil tanker resting against it.

The driver of the car and a second occupant, Viola Gaskins Underwood, also of Ayden, were taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment. Underwood was treated for minor injuries and released while Langley was admitted for treatment of a back injury.

Pitt PMA Committee Is Elected

J. L. Wilson Of Winterville Is Named Chairman; A. L. Woolard Vice Chairman

Community delegates from each of Pitt County's 22 townships met here yesterday and elected J. L. Wilson of Winterville, chairman of the Pitt County Production and Marketing Administration committee.

At the same meeting, A. L. Woolard of Stokes was elected vice-chairman, and G. Carl Scott of Tarboro was elected regular member. They were elected at the county PMA convention which met yesterday at 2 p.m. Delegates to the convention were elected Thursday in a county-wide election.

The convention also elected R. H. Worthington of Ayden, and J. Elbert Mills of Greenville, as first and second alternates, respectively.

With the aid of the county PMA committeemen elected by farmers in the various communities, the county PMA committee will administer the Agricultural Conservation Program, marketing quotas, Federal Crop Insurance and price support operations in the county during the coming year. "They will also administer crop production goals and other defense assignments as they arise," said James Meredith, secretary of the Pitt County PMA.

All three members of the county PMA committee are members of the county Agricultural Mobilization Committee, J. L. Wilson being chairman of that group.

"The services of the PMA committeemen are available to all farmers in the county," asserted Meredith. "Although they are not full-time employees of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, they provide assistance through the county PMA office to farmers who have problems relative to conservation, marketing quotas, price support, and crop insurance."

In beginning his seventh year as PMA chairman, Wilson said, "In these times when so much depends on the production from our farms, PMA committeemen are in key positions to work for the benefit of the entire nation. The Agricultural Conservation Program they administer is available to all farmers in the county to help them produce what is needed for defense, and at the same time, protect and improve their land for abundant production in the years ahead."

"The price support programs for grains, tobacco, and other farm products help farmers of Pitt County to obtain a fair price for what they produce. The crop insurance program protects farmers against loss from storms, insects, diseases, and other destructive forces."

Chairman Wilson also announced the names of the county PMA committeemen, who were selected Thursday, December 13. Community committeemen and the number of votes cast in their respective townships are: Ayden "A" with 96 votes cast, chairman, Darrell Jackson, vice-chairman, W. O. Jolly, regular member, Eugene T. Trip, all of Ayden.

Ayden "B" with 130 votes cast, chairman, Ray Garris, vice-chairman, C. E. Hart, regular member, L. J. Stocks, all of Ayden; Beaufort, with 55 votes cast, chairman, P. B. Raspberry of Farmville, vice-chairman, Eugene T. Trip, all of Ayden.

Rep. Bonner To Address C-Of-C Here On Tuesday

Discussion Of Government Affairs And Defense Spending Scheduled

Congressman Herbert Bonner will be here Tuesday to discuss national legislation and other governmental affairs with the members of the local Chamber of Commerce.

Bonner will speak here at the invitation of the Legislation and National Affairs Committee of the Chamber in the Board of Aldermen's room at the city hall at eight o'clock.

The congressman is expected to touch on his recent trip around the world in a study of military supply management with a subcommittee of the House Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments. The subcommittee, of which Bonner is chairman, has been studying supply management in the Defense Department since last January.

On return from his trip the last of November, Bonner said with contracts being let at the rate of a billion dollars a week for military supplies and equipment, there are definite improvements in the military supply system.

"The improvements can be effected at a saving of hundreds of millions of dollars if the Department of the Army, Navy and Air Force will give more than lip service to the need for unification in the supply field," he said.

As a result of an interim report issued June 27 which attracted wide attention in the Department of Defense, a news release from Bonner's office stated that Secretary of Defense Lovett, in appearing before the subcommittee, said he had issued a directive to the armed services outlining numerous improvements to be effected in procurement and distribution of military supplies.

A spokesman for the Legislation and National Affairs Committee of the Chamber of Commerce said the committee feels they should know more about legislation to come before the next session of the Congress. "People owe to themselves and to Congress and to the Senate to make their reaction to proposed legislation known," the spokesman said.

House Investigators Believe Clues At Hand As Hearing Goes Into Recess; Questioning Of Grunewald Given High Priority When Inquiry Resumes

WASHINGTON (UP)—House investigators believed today a careful check of telephone records and hotel bills may produce the clues to solve the $500,000 tax shakedown case of Abraham Teitelbaum.

The investigators have recessed for the Christmas holidays without questioning the mysterious figure who has become the key man in the Teitelbaum case — Henry W. Grunewald, otherwise known as "The Dutchman."

But before they quit yesterday, they disclosed that they already have started making a meticulous check of long distance telephone calls, particularly those into and out of a Washington hotel suite occupied by Grunewald.

Members of the House ways and means subcommittee investigating tax scandals said their first order of business when they resume their hearings here, probably in February, will be to put Grunewald under oath and ask him what he knows about the tax troubles of Teitelbaum.

Meanwhile, the tax investigators plan to conduct a two to three weeks inquiry of the internal revenue office in San Francisco. That inquiry will start on or about Jan. 15.

As the investigators prepared to take a month's rest in their public hearings, there were these developments:

1. President Truman formulated his plans for a governmental house-cleaning. Federal Judge Thomas F. Murphy of New York, who successfully prosecuted Alger Hiss for perjury, was reported to be under consideration for a leading role in the campaign to clean up the government.

2. The name of Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) came into the tax inquiry. Resigned chief counsel of the Internal Revenue Bureau Charles Oliphant testified that Grunewald told him at a luncheon meeting that he was inquiring about a tax case in behalf of Bridges.

3. The Internal Revenue Bureau filed a $51,197 tax lien against Grunewald in federal district court here. The lien was for alleged delinquent taxes for the year 1950. Oliphant testified that he didn't know anything about a tax case of Grunewald's.

4. General Services Administrator Jess Larson was linked with influence peddler Frank Nathan. Telephone records were disclosed showing Larson talked by long distance 10 times last June and July with Nathan, the gambler who is one of the men allegedly involved in the Teitelbaum case.

Four Youths Are Sentenced Here For Shoplifting
By CHESTER WALSH
Four teen-age Negro boys were on trial in P. I. Court yesterday for shoplifting—larceny of watches, gun shells, gloves, electric razor, etc.

William Ward, 18, 518 Roosevelt Avenue, was found guilty of larceny of shells from National Supply Company, larceny of an electric razor from Electric Suppliers and gloves from J. C. Pastney Company's store. Judge Charles H. Whedbee gave Ward six months on the roads on the first charge. He suspended sentence on condition that he be at home or in church by 9 p.m. every night, unless he is in company of his parents and he is to report to Rev. Father Maurice once a week. The court gave Ward six months on the roads on the other two charges, to be served consecutively. They were suspended. Ward was placed on probation for two years. If he violates any law during that time he will have to go to the roads and serve his sentences.

William Earl Little, 16, 302 East Second Street, larceny of a watch from the Wilson Jewelry Store, was given six months on the roads. Judge Whedbee suspended the sentence on condition that Little pay $25 to the store for the watch. He was placed on probation for a year with the special condition that he be in his home or church by dark every night unless in company of his mother or grandmother. Harvey Lee Tucker, 16, 111 Washington Street, larceny of gun shells from Garris Supply Company, was fined $15.

Hanson Wilson, 17, 1715 Pitt Street, was not guilty of larceny of a watch from White's Stores. I. D. Henry, 21, Negro, 434 Bonner Lane, aiding and abetting in larceny of watch stolen from Garris Watch Shop and larceny of a watch from Wilson Jewelry Store, was found guilty of the first charge, and not guilty of the second. Judge Whedbee gave him six months on the roads, suspended on payment of court costs, and he was placed on probation for a year.

Ed Mays, Negro, was found guilty of buying and receiving stolen goods and was given six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of costs and he was placed on probation for a year. Mays gave notice of appeal. Gerald H. Jenkins, Jr., 18, Negro, found guilty of buying and receiving stolen goods, was given 18 months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of court costs, and he was placed on probation for two years. The probation is on special condition that Jenkins be in his home or church by 9 o'clock every night unless in the company of his parents and he was ordered to report to Prof. W. H. Davenport, principal of Epes Negro High School, each week.

Four persons were tried for being drunk. They were: J. P. Adams, $10; Walter Moore, $10; Josephine Adams, called and she failed to answer to her name and a capias was issued for her; H. W. Davis, case not prosed. Katie Mas Lockman, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 and she is to remain of good behavior for 12 months. The court ordered her not to go on the premises of Annie Lee Harper or molest or interfere with her. Johnny W. Lockamy was not guilty of driving while drunk. Joseph Ed Boyd of Maclefield, driving drunk and defective brakes, $100 and costs and his driver's license was ordered revoked for a year. The court ordered that his car not be driven until its brakes are adjusted.

Jane Massey And Witcher Dudley United In Formal Ceremony At Methodist Church On Thursday

In a formal candlelight ceremony performed on Thursday, December 13, at half after five in the afternoon, Miss Jane Toier Massey and Oliver Witcher Dudley III were united in marriage at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the bride, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Mouton Braxton Massey of this city. The groom is the son of Oliver Witcher Dudley Jr. and the late Mrs. Dudley of Richmond, Va.

For the occasion the church was beautifully decorated with smilax garlands outlining the archways and window ledges. Banks of Woodwardia, Oregon and Conium fern were used behind the pulpit and altar rail. Five large baskets held massive arrangements of white snapdragons, gladioli and Garza chrysanthemums, which were placed on either side of the altar rail and in front of the pulpit. The scene was lighted by cathedral tapers in six pairs of wrought iron candelabra, one pair of which was used at the back of the chancel. Pew seats for the families were marked with sprays of bridal flowers tied with satin bows.

Mrs. Paul Toll, organist, presented a half hour program of melodies as the guests assembled. Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, soloist, sang "All For You" by Bertand Brown and "O Perfect Love" by Barnby. The traditional wedding marches from Wagner's "Tannhauser" and Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" were played as the procession and the recessional. As a benediction a vestal choir composed of Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, Mrs. H. A. Hendrix, Mrs. Ed. Parkinson, Miss Carolyn Clapp, Messrs. Ed Parkinson and J. L. Oppel sang the "Sevenfold Amen."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Dutchess satin trimmed with Chantilly lace. It was fashioned with an off-shoulder neckline from which fell a wide berth of lace encrusted with seed pearls. Around the waist was a satin peplum edged with lace, and the full gathered skirt ended in a long court train. The skirt and train had a border of lace around the hemline, and the long pointed sleeves were embroidered with seed pearls over the wrists. The full length veil of bridal illusion fell from a Juliet lace cap which was studded with pearls and caught up at each side with clusters of orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of valley lilies and white purple threaded orchids.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Paddison Wade Preston of Wake Forest as matron of honor. Miss Nelson Blount of this city, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid, and Mrs. William S. Corbett II of Henderson, Mrs. James H. Groome of Lumberton, and Miss Frances Bendall and Mrs. Charles Braswell of Greenville were bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of two-colored champagne tulle over taffeta skirts. They were made with strapless shirred bodices with matching net stoles. The full gathered skirts were fashioned with two layers of ruffles and a side accordion pleated ruffle which fell to the ankle length hemline. They wore close fitting caps of matching velvet with nylon veils and shoes of red satin to match the ribbons on their bouquets. Their flowers were crescent shaped bouquets of American Beauty roses with wide red satin streamers.

Miss Anna Taft, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown of blue nylon net fashioned similar to that of the attendants and carried a miniature bride's bouquet. The mother of the bride wore a full length gown of blue lace with matching hat and an orchid corsage. The grandmother of the groom, Mrs. O. W. Dudley of Richmond, wore a mauve dress with matching accessories and a purple orchid.

The groom was attended by his father as best man. Groomsmen were Lee Pendleton Dudley of Richmond, brother of the groom, Beverly B. Mumford III, John O. W. Gravely III, A. Churchill Young III, H. E. Dudley, uncle of the groom, all of Richmond, and Louis S. Ficklen of Greenville.

Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at the Greenville Country Club in honor of the bride couple.

The clubhouse was decorated with ropes of smilax on the chandeliers and around doorways and archways. On mantels at either end of the room were large white fans outlined with ribbons of fern and placed against banks of magnolia leaves, massive arrangements of white gladioli and peonies and white tapers.

Guests were welcomed at the door by Mr. and Mrs. Marvin K. Blount and introduced to the receiving line by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Taft. In the receiving line were members of the bridal party, Dr. and Mrs. M. C. Dudley.

Peppering punch at a table laid with a white embroidered cloth and festooned with smilax and flowers were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hodges and Mrs. and Mrs. Louis S. Ficklen. From a similar table at the other end of the club room, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taft and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Waldrop presided. The punch bowls were encircled with frosted grapes.

From a large table in front of one of the fireplace ham biscuits, cheeses, assorted sandwiches, green and white bridal cakes, minis and sated nuts were served by Miss Lytle Batchelor, Miss Kathryn Van Nortwick and Miss Jack Horton.

The table was covered with a white cut-work banquet cloth and centered with a large crystal bowl holding an imposing arrangement of white snapdragons, gladioli and chrysanthemums. Six tapers in single crystal holders were tied with ruffles of tulle and placed at intervals on the table. Streamers of smilax interspersed with tiny pompons extended from the centerpiece to the outer edges.

The bride's table held a five tiered wedding cake and individual toast cups of crystal and silver, which were tied with satin ribbon and tulle. The appointments on this table were all silver and were decorated with tulle and small flowers. During the evening molded loaves in various fruit shapes were passed among the guests.

An orchestra provided soft music during the reception hour. Presiding at the register table were Rev. and Mrs. Leon Russell and saying goodbyes to the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. Hoover Taft.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Long Branch, New Jersey, where Mr. Dudley is stationed with the Army Signal Corps. Mrs. Dudley went for her going away costume a beige suit of English tweed with matching hat and dark brown accessories. Her corsage was an orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Dudley is a graduate of Greenville High School and Greensboro College in Greensboro, where she was Miss Queen her senior year. During the past year she was a member of the city school faculty. Mr. Dudley attended Woodberry Forest School and is a graduate of the University of Virginia, where he was a member of the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. He is now stationed at Fort Monmouth, New Jersey.

Mrs. White Has Program At Round Table

Mrs. D. L. Moore entertained the members of the Round Table Book Club for its Christmas meeting on Tuesday afternoon.

The beautiful home, festive with evergreens, potted plants and berries, was a fitting background for the beautiful and inspiring program of song and story.

Mrs. Milton White was program leader. The program was opened with a well rendered duet, "O Come All Ye Faithful," sung by Mrs. Celeste Higgs Kirkpatrick and Mrs. H. A. Hendrix. Mrs. D. S. Spain was accompanist.

Following the music, which was so greatly enjoyed by every one, Mrs. White gave a beautiful Christmas story. This inspirational message demonstrated the true meaning of Christmas. "The Cherub who came and gave us the first Christmas as a babe in Bethlehem," said Mrs. White, "will meet our needs today if we open our hearts and homes to Him."

Touching and appealing, this story was the highlight of the program. The program was concluded with vocal solo, "And There Were Shepherds" by Ina B. Wilson, sung by Mrs. J. A. Karsnak. This song was the Gospel story according to St. Luke told in song. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. A. Hendrix.

A short business session followed and the books were exchanged. The hostess, assisted by her daughter and son, served delicious refreshments appropriate to the holiday season.

Special guests were Mesdames Kirkpatrick, Hendrix and Karsnak.

British Call Home Diplomat That Czechs Fired On

LONDON—(AP)—Britain called home today a British diplomat whom the Czechoslovak secret police fired upon last night during a purported "act of espionage" in a forbidden zone of Czechoslovakia. British Radio claimed that the diplomat, Robert Neil Gardner, and a British Embassy typist, Miss Daphne G. Maines, were caught red-handed exchanging money for secret military information.

Miss Maines was shot and slightly wounded and Gardner was bruised in a cloak-and-dagger chase while trying to escape in a British Embassy automobile, the Czechs said.

The Foreign Office said it had Czechoslovakia's assurance that Miss Maines would be allowed to leave the country as soon as she is discharged from a Prague hospital.

Europe Warned Of Arms Needs

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. Eisenhower bluntly warned rebellious West European nations today that to have security they must increase their military spending.

The Supreme Allied Commanders made a personal appearance before the treasurers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). A spokesman said he told them: "Unless we get ahead" with a planned buildup of forces, "we'll never achieve the serenity and confidence to which western Europe and the rest of us are entitled."

He went before the 12-member NATO temporary committee as some European nations were said to be balking against the committee's request for increased military budgets, in some cases running as much as 50 per cent.

"By carrying on," he was quoted as saying, "we can reach a point where it would be foolish for an enemy to attack." Only then, he added, "can we start thinking about lightening the defense burden."

Children Present Christmas Story

The annual Christmas meeting of the P. T. A. of West Greenville School was held in the new auditorium on Thursday night at eight o'clock. There was no business meeting and after Miss Fullilove had welcomed parents and guests the meeting was turned over to Miss Jane Hadley, chairman of the program committee, who introduced the members of the cast who presented the ever beautiful and impressive "Christmas Story" to a large audience.

The play was under the direction of Mrs. J. H. Rose, instructor of speech, and Miss Beatrice Chauncey, supervisor of music for the Greenville City Schools. The speech choir was under the direction of Mrs. Helen Wolff.

Narrators were JoAnne Parks and Betty Lane Evans.

Three scenes were presented in tableau: "The Arrival of the Shepherds," "The Manger Scene," and "The Visit of the Wise Men."

Those portraying the part of the Shepherds were Billy Forrest Eugene Gurganus, Bobby Lassiter, Robert Howell, Frankie Whitchard and R. S. Pollard.

The parts of the Wise Men were taken by Joe Wingate, Carson Heath and Billy Nichols.

The portrayal of "Mary" was executed by Caroline Jessup and that of "Joseph" by Rudolph Davis.

The angel characterization was presented by Shelby Gaskins and the cherubs were Alice May Cannon, Betty Ann Carawan and Donna Kay Cain.

The children in the glee club and speech choir were dressed in choir vestments and furnished appropriate background in song and story for the tableaux.

The hushed silence of the audience for seconds following the completion of the program expressed the sacred beauty of its rendition.

Strength for the Day

A DOCTRINE TO CHERISH
No one doubts as he listens to a minister on Sunday that the man is telling the truth, but very often the people who sit in the pews find it hard to take the religious truth which the pulpit proclaims and apply it to the things of daily life.

One of the great truths of the Bible is that God's Spirit is in the world at all times. This teaching is known as the doctrine of the Holy Spirit, and there are few church members who regard it as anything other than a theological abstraction. Yet if God is in the world as the Bible repeatedly declares, then that divine presence is the greatest factor with which life deals, and a consciousness of it is the most important thing for any man to have.

The doctrine of the Holy Spirit really means these three important things: first, that all things come from God; second, that everything is in His hands; third, that all things serve His purpose. That is the practical, colloquial, common-language explanation of the abstract theological doctrine of the Holy Spirit. If every day we make ourselves conscious of these three facts, we will know the power of that presence to cast out fear, to confer peace, and to support our hearts with power immeasurable.

Rapid Growth Demands Long Range Planning

As 1951 enters its last days, one needs only to look back over the past 11 months to see the rapid growth which many communities in Pitt County have experienced during the year.

The construction of many new homes throughout the towns of the county and the construction of new commercial buildings in almost every locality is indicative of the influx of new business into the county. This year the dollar value of the agricultural produce of Pitt County reached one of its all-time peaks, and to a great extent overshadowed the business and commercial growth of the county.

In Greenville alone during the first 11 months of the year building permits totalling $1,451,000 were issued for the construction of 135 dwellings, 13 apartments and 14 commercial buildings. During the month of November alone building permits amounting to $149,500 were issued in Greenville for the construction of 12 houses and one commercial building.

The new homes would not be constructed nor would the new commercial buildings be constructed unless there were new or expanding businesses in Greenville which are attracting new citizens to the locality.

In Grifton during the year there has been one of the most significant strides of community growth in North Carolina. A number of new business establishments have come to the town, and approximately 80 houses have been built and numerous others are being planned.

Ayden, Farmville, Bethel and other communities in Pitt County experienced growth during the year, but in these towns the growth was not as marked as it was in Grifton . . . practically under the eaves of the new Du Pont plant.

The growth of Pitt County towns in 1952 promises to equal if not surpass the growth in 1951. The towns should remember that with growth comes many new problems of managing local affairs which must be prepared for before they arise. During 1951 the towns of Pitt County have done a good job of planning for the future, but they must do an even better job of long range planning in 1952.

Catching Up With The New Bandwagon

President Truman's statement that a clean-up is slated "soonest" in the federal government sounds like the shouting of a little man who has just climbed on the bandwagon and now wants to take over the reins.

With the scandal which has been uncovered in the congressional investigations, the President and the people would only be plotting their own downfall if they did not take swift, sure action to free the government of the parasites which have infested practically every pillar. President Truman, it seems, has seen the handwriting on the wall and now is sure that the people of the nation will not stand for the corruption which Truman learned so well to overlook as a lieutenant of the Pendergast machine.

The weakness and corruptness of the men he appointed directly and indirectly to many government offices has broken full force upon the American scene. Every day brings new stories of graft, fraud and other underhanded dealings that surpass the imagination of most of the people of the nation.

It can honestly be said that President Truman has not condoned the majority of the recent congressional investigations into government corruption. Indeed the President has seriously hindered some of the investigations by withholding files which would have shed a great deal of light on a number of cases.

As it appears to The Reflector, President Truman has taken a passive attitude toward corruption in his administration. Now that it is evident that a clean-up must and will take place in some means, he wishes to step in and claim a large portion of the glory for it. In that way he may be able to polish somewhat his own rather tarnished political vestment.

The deeper investigators probe into the mire of governmental corruption, the more individuals, and the larger amount of governmental top brass are found to be involved. It would be foolish to assume that the President alone could remove from the government the corruption which has infested it. It likewise would be foolish to assume that Congress alone could accomplish the feat. If the corruption is to be stamped out, it will not only take the efforts of Congress and the Chief Executive, but it will also take direct action by the voters at the polls who hold sway over the members of Congress.

The people of the nation must accept their share of the responsibility for the corruption in the federal government. The people in some cases have elected poor representatives who have in turn seen that even less able individuals have received government positions. No matter what steps we taken on higher levels to rid the government of its corruption, it will have little effect unless concerted action to clean up the government is taken at the grassroots.

National Whirligig

Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international politics and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—When Senator Kefauver resigned from his crime committee, writes F.H.C. of Bremerton, Wash., "he said he did so because of other very important work. While visiting in Tennessee, I was informed that the important work he had in mind was writing the newspaper series of articles on his investigation, and for which he received a tidy sum."

RESULT—Answer: I know of no special or spectacular accomplishments by the Senator since he quit crime-chasing. However, I do not think there is fair ground for criticizing him for relinquishing that task.

MAN-KILLING—Mr. Kefauver takes the practical view that a U.S. Senate Committee cannot serve permanently as an FBI detective or a national sheriff. His original purpose was to show the need for honest law enforcement and more drastic legislation. Temporarily at least, the anti-gambing laws enacted as a result of his inquiry have checkmated the crooks.

INDEPENDENCE—Mr. Kefauver showed a rare spirit of independence in demanding an investigation of national crime and in conducting it without regard to political consequences.

MAJOR ISSUE—The ill will of President Truman, Attorney General McGrath and many of the hard-boiled party boys on Capitol Hill. Now, however, as James A. Farley suggests, "corruption" may be the major issue in next year's Presidential campaign.

TELEVISION—Mr. Kefauver takes the practical view that a U.S. Senate Committee cannot serve permanently as an FBI detective or a national sheriff. His original purpose was to show the need for honest law enforcement and more drastic legislation. Temporarily at least, the anti-gambing laws enacted as a result of his inquiry have checkmated the crooks.

Counting Straws And Making Hay

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Today's story was originally told by Edna Earl O'Neal (now Adams), formerly of Greenville, who told it to Rebecca (Mrs. Buster) Starkey, who told it to Martha (Mrs. Harry) Forbes. Despite the fact that it has changed hands so many times, I guarantee it to be accurate.

There is a lady in Smithfield by the name of Virginia Broadhurst who is at least 30 and not married, and the life of every party in Smithfield. Undoubtedly, she is one of the most popular personalities in town. All of her moving-going years Virginia has worshipped Clark Gable. At first it was a teen-ager's hero worship. Later, it was a crush, and even later, it became a trade mark. It was generally understood in Smithfield that Virginia thought more of Clark than anybody else.

The scene now changes to a party in Smithfield for Film Star Ava Gardner, given by the Smithfield Ford dealer. It so happened that the Ford dealer had just won a trip to Los Angeles. "When you arrive," Ava told her friends, "I'll meet you at the station and show you the town."

Ava was true to her word, and as the trip progressed the Smithfield couple kept in the back of their minds Virginia Broadhurst, worshipper of Clark Gable. Ava gave them the golden opportunity. After she had shown them around the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot, she asked, "Is there anything or anybody that you would particularly like to see?" The couple said emphatically, "Clark Gable."

As you know, Ava starred with Clark in "The Hucksters," one of her first major roles, so she was happy to introduce her Smithfield friends to one of hers.

Clark was working on a movie, but wasn't at his dressing room when they arrived, just as they were about to give up, he drove up. Clark was very receptive to the visitors, and invited them into his dressing room.

In nothing flat, the Smithfield couple told Clark the story of Virginia Broadhurst, back in Smithfield, N.C. Being a normal fellow, Clark hung on to every word; in fact, he ate up every bit of the story. Even at his age, he's a genuine ham. The Smithfield couple told Clark, "Virginia told us before we left Smithfield that she didn't want us to bring her a thing; that is, except Clark Gable."

It wasn't long before Virginia received a letter: "My dear Virginia, I met your friends from Smithfield, and they told me all about you. There is nothing that I would like better than to have them take me back to North Carolina to see you, but unfortunately this is impossible. You see, my studio has me under contract to finish a movie. I'm working on. Sorry I can't make the trip. With love, Clark"

And I thank you.

PRISONERS—The state prison population on November was 9,112, distributed among 87 prison camps throughout the state and half a dozen base institutions. The camps average less than 100 prisoners each, the 87 units having a total of 7,560. Biggest concentration is at Central Prison in Raleigh where 800 men are housed. Next biggest is the Women's Prison at Raleigh with 275. Caledonia Farm has 204—121 men and 83 women. There are 79 in the Butner Youth Center; 60 in Goldsboro hospital; 40 at Dix Hill and 34 at Sanatorium.

WOMEN—Of the total 9,158 were colored and 9,354 were white. Although the census count last year showed slightly more women than men in North Carolina, the prison population does not reflect this ratio. Only 365 women prisoners were in state custody—233 colored and 132 white. All the white women were at Woman's Prison, except three at Dix Hill. With a little more than fifty percent of the total state population, the women supplied only four per cent of the prisoners.

AFFIRMED—The superior court judges got better than even break in affirmation and reversal of cases decided by the supreme court this week. Of the twenty-four decisions handed down Wednesday, eleven were complete approval of lower court verdicts; two bore the notation "Modified and Affirmed"; there were three split decisions in which one phase of the case was approved, one reversed. Only eight were full upsets calling for reversing lower court verdicts or a new trial. Several majority decisions were accompanied by dissenting opinions.

VALENTINE—Lawyers and reporters covering the supreme court have been watching opinions written by Associate Justice Thomas Valentine, newest member of the court and already faced with four elections for nomination and election next year. Newsmen like the way the new justice writes; they can understand it. While the youngest judge is inclined to quote legal Latin phrases on occasion, for most part he uses language of the street and the farm. Whether the lawyers like the opinions depends largely upon whether the court has decided the case as they wanted it.

NICKELS—Regulations adopted by the department of agriculture for collection of the five cents per ton levy on feeds and fertilizer for research purposes are designed to make it easy for everybody involved. There is presently levied an "inspection fee" of 25 cents per ton, which is collected through the sale of the fertilizer by the department. The additional 5 cents, voted by the farmers last month and designated as "Nickels for Know How," is in no sense an inspection fee, and the money does not accrue to the department of agriculture.

culture. It goes to the Agricultural Foundation at State College and will be devoted to enlarging and expanding the research program.

EASY—The legislative act authorizing the levy, when approved by vote of farmers using commercial feed and fertilizer, put the burden of collecting the money on the department of agriculture. The department has decided that all tags issued after January 1 shall be for 30 cents instead of 25 cents, and if the manufacturer or dealer desires the whole amount can be included in one check. From there on it is a matter of bookkeeping, the appropriate amounts being set up for the specific purpose required by law.

SEPARATE—There will be no intermingling of funds in departmental operations, although the entire amount goes essentially for the same general objective of improving farming conditions in the state. Major part of the money derived from the 25 cents goes into research, but it will continue under administration of the department of agriculture. All of the yield from the new 5 cents levy will go for research, administered by State College under allocation from the Agricultural Foundation. Explanation of the system sounds just a bit complicated. Actually, it is very simple. The method of combining the total amount in one tag and permitting payment in one check saves time and work and money for everybody.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

AN EFFECTIVE CAMPAIGNER (Roanoke Rapids Herald)
William Umstead certainly did himself no harm during his visit yesterday in Roanoke Rapids. In fact, from what we could learn by talking to many who heard him speak, he did himself a lot of good in his quest for the Democratic nomination for governor.

He made a mighty good speech before the Roanoke Rapids Board of Realtors and their guests. His remarks apparently struck a responsive chord with his hearers, if their comments and enthusiasm could be used as a guide.

He reiterated time and again his belief that this nation has become great because it was founded and built by men and women who placed their faith in spiritual values. He said that there should be no apology made to our young people for honest toil.

The philosophy of getting something for nothing should be dispelled from the thinking of our young people, he said.

So far, no serious opposition has been announced against Umstead. Political observers in Raleigh and other parts of the state believe that the present administration will offer a candidate before long. But these same observers believe that the longer the announcement is delayed, the better the chance for Umstead to walk away with nomination. Despite these reassuring premises on the part of the observers, Umstead is working as if he had plenty of candidates lined up against him. After speaking here yesterday, he was to go to Tarboro and speak to some civic club there. These candidates for governor must ready go through a rigorous schedule.

Business Today

By ELMER ROSSNER

Trade associations are doing well these days. Membership is high, dues are coming in and businesses are putting more reliance on their associations.

The enormous increase in government regulations, both defense emergency and permanent, and the increasing complexity of tax legislation is strengthening many associations. Individual businesses are finding themselves less able to cope with the rabbit-fast multiplication of problems and are depending more on these organizations for guidance and political action.

The number of associations is large. A 634-page book, "National Associations of the United States," published by the Department of Commerce, numbers 16,600. There were many formed since the book went to press in 1949 and there are many that are not national, so the total may be over 20,000. Some associations are mutual organizations and some are owned by individuals. A few are phony, created by single companies with a few outsiders for window-dressing, for the purpose of gaining publicity, awards, political pressure or other advantages.

This political pressure angle is important in almost all trade associations. Only a few firms can afford to send lobbyists to Washington or state capitals. When they do, their representatives lack the standing of an association that represents or claims to—an industry involving hundreds of millions of dollars and employing thousands of potential voters.

Right now there are scores of pains with the N. P. A. and the O. P. S. One of the principal O. P. S. issues is the margin control for retailers. This type of control, paradoxically, was originally urged by trade associations as fairer than individual ceiling prices on endless numbers of items, but increases in operating costs, largely for labor and shipping, are squeezing the margins and the trade associations are clamoring for relief.

The growth of trade associations has caused increased surveillance by federal and state regulatory bodies. When trade associations get into price fixing and discouraging newcomers from the field, they run afoul of restraint of trade laws. Several have been fined and enjoined from such practices.

However, a group of the larger associations have just won an important victory in the Federal Trade Commission. The F. T. C.

cited the National Retail Furniture Association, the American Retail Federation and 11 affiliated groups for conspiracy in restraint of trade. The original complaint, filed in 1945, alleged that around 1940 the associations had encouraged members to discourage competitors who were, or pretended to be, wholesale outlets. The F. T. C. finally decided, after 10,000 pages of testimony, that the complaint should be dismissed. This victory will probably strengthen associations' relations with members.

ORGANIZATIONS NOW CAN GET GIFT PARCELS
A recent federal ruling broadens the market for firms specializing in gift parcels. It provides that individual gift parcels up to $25 in value may now be sent to educational, religious and charitable organizations abroad, except in China and North Korea, without a special license. Hitherto such parcels could only be sent to individuals.

OLD PROMOTER DROPS A $40 BINT
"A lot of business men are wishing the Wage Stabilization Board would keep its big mouth shut," the Old Promoter remarked.

"Why?" we asked.
"It announced that employers can give bonuses up to $40 without special permission. A few workers have misread the news and think their employers are supposed to give them $50 Christmas presents. And a lot more are arguing that if workers in other companies are getting $40 presents, they should too."

WARNERS CUTTING IMPORTS WILL HURT EXPORTERS
Curtailed European imports into this country will hurt American exporters, Dr. Eric W. Stoetner, New York Times foreign advertising director, told the Export Managers Club of New York.

He pointed out that as soon as European countries have difficulties in selling the American market, they cut down the sales of American products in their home markets.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK—(AP)—It is always interesting to learn how and where people get million-dollar ideas. You might find out how to get one yourself.

But who ever got one in a restaurant chair after finding he had left his wallet at home? Well, Frank McNamara did less than two years ago.

"I had to call up my wife," he recalled, "and it took her 45 minutes to drive over with my wallet."

During that time McNamara, who was in the commercial credit business, fell to thinking what a nuisance it was anyway to have to pay restaurant and hotel bills in cash.

The result was the "Diners' Club," which McNamara formed with his partner, Ralph Schneider.

It issues a credit card to some 60,000 subscribers entitling them to charge flowers, food or liquor, or car hire, at some 700 restaurants, hotels and car rental agencies throughout America. These firms send in the accounts to the Diners' Club, which pays them, and forwards its own round-up bill once a month to its clients.

The club charges the subscribers only 15¢ a year for this service, and makes it profit from a seven per cent rakeoff it gets from the restaurants and hotels on each account.

"It saves the customers the trouble of carrying around cash," said McNamara, "and it saves the restaurant owners a lot of bookkeeping and the bother of collecting bad debts."

"It's so simple that at least 25 people have told me they had the same idea before me. But they didn't follow through."

It took a lot of hard work—and $250,000—to launch the idea. The club had only $1,000 in billings the first month. But last month they were over $700,000, and the club expects to hit a $1,000,000 a month stride by spring. Next on its agenda is a deal to allow clients to charge air travel.

Credit losses have averaged less than one per cent.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Right up to the front line in Korea, American GI's will have a traditional Christmas dinner, served hot, with a pound of turkey per man and the trimmings.

Generally, the menu will be the same as the troops had on Thanksgiving day and will vary only slightly in different areas. Army cooks will prepare the dinner from a master menu set up here by the Quartermaster Corps last August.

"Here's what they'll be eating in '51"—that is, Zone of the Interior, or the United States proper:
Breakfast—Chilled fresh frozen orange juice, ready-to-eat cereal, fresh milk, scrambled eggs, jam, toast and butter, coffee.

Dinner—(mid-day)—Celery hearts, stuffed olives, sweet pickles, spiced tomato juice cocktail, roast turkey, giblet gravy, celery dressing, cranberry sauce, whipped potatoes, glazed sweet potatoes, buttered green beans, lettuce wedges with Thousand Island dressing, Parker House rolls with jam and butter, hot mince meat pie, fruit cake, coffee, ice cream, tangerines, grapes, mixed salted nuts, assorted candies.

Supper—Turkey rice soup, crackers, assorted cold cuts, assorted cheese, hot potato salad, chopped onion and green pepper salad, fry bread, butter, chilled peaches, coffee.

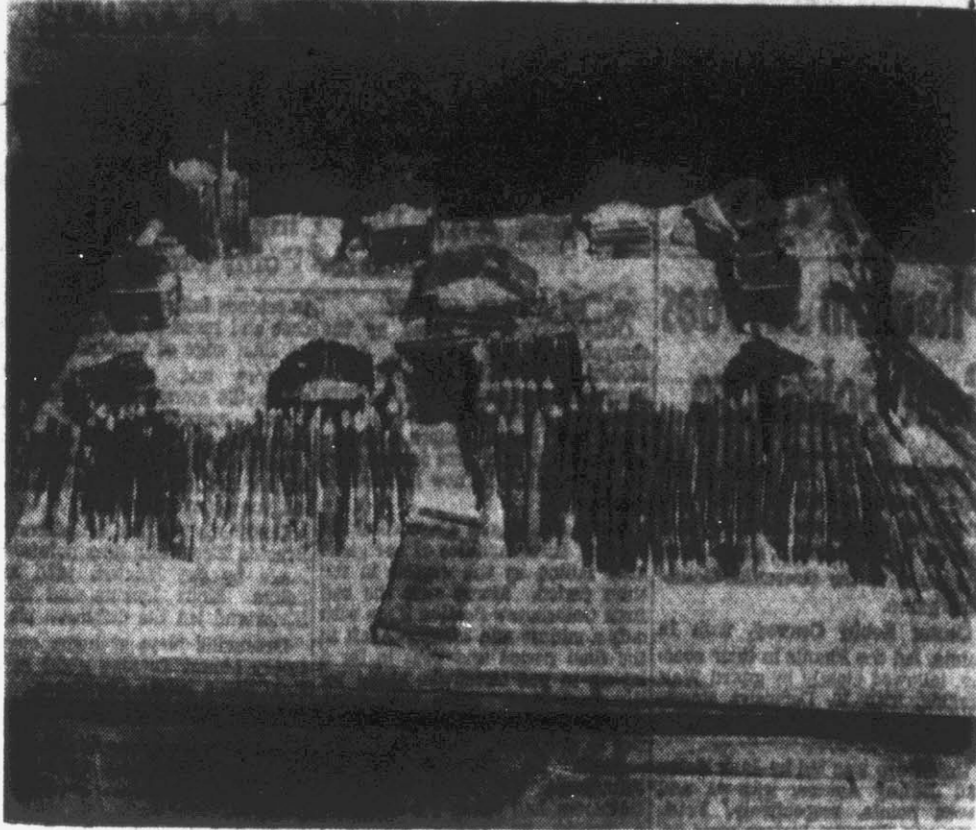

In the Eastern Command, including Japan and Korea, the menu will be much the same, except that grilled bacon and hot biscuits will be served for breakfast; a shrimp cocktail, fresh frozen buttered corn and lima beans will be added to the dinner, and there will be no soup for supper. Turkey stuffing will be spicier and there will be fruit punch.

Menus in the European Command will be about the same as those in the Eastern Command with the exception of different vegetables. "Here's the recipe for the poultry stuffing they will use in the Eastern Command, the portions calculated on the basis of 100 men: 5 pounds celery, 10 pounds white bread, 5 pounds onions, 3 ounces poultry seasoning, 6 No. 1 cans evaporated milk, 25 ounces of dehydrated eggs and 2 pounds lard.

With the exception of desserts, the boys are getting pretty much what they favor most in the way of food as determined by extensive tests being conducted throughout the service. Turkey and pot roast with brown gravy are popular in the meat line. Fresh milk is top drink. Green beans, canned, frozen or fresh, are the favorite vegetable, and banana cream and lemon meringue pie are the favorite desserts.

Colonial America History Depicted By Pupils With Realistic Projects

Hospital Christmas Program Planned

Two students in the 11th grade American History class at the Farmville High School made the above replica of Jamestown for a project in the history class. The replica was made by Doris Wilkerson and Gerald Davis. (Staff Photos by Muriel Shotwell).

FARMVILLE — A replica of the first permanent colony in the new world, Jamestown, was made from sticks and plaster by members of the junior American history class of the Farmville High School.

The project was made by two students, Doris Wilkerson and Gerald Davis, under the supervision of Charles Tucker, teacher, for the history class instead of writing term papers.

The two students covered a large piece of board with plaster and raised it on one side where they put the buildings. The eight buildings were made from small, pointed sticks, representing the log cabins. Around the plaster mound, a fence of sticks was made, complete with a movable gate and flag pole.

On the right side of the mound was a painted sea with the foam rushing up against the mound.

In the same class, Jean Moore dressed a small doll in clothes fashionable at that time. The doll wore a green dress and was mounted on a poster. A brown cape was mounted on the same poster.

Another interesting article, representing the life around Jamestown when it was first settled, was a pillory which was made to hold lawbreakers. The pillory was built by Charlie Fitzgerald and Harold Flanagan and it has a place for the head and the arms to be locked in the pillory.

A fourth project was made by two students, Wayne Taylor and Dewey Lloyd, and this one was a stockade representing how the colonists were protected from hostile tribes of Indians. The stockade was mounted on board and the fence and houses were made from blount pieces of sticks.

Tucker said all of the projects were made in place of writing term papers and he felt that the students benefited from making the projects and being able to actually see how people lived in the days of the forming of America.

Pitt Memorial Hospital will have Christmas just like everyone else, thanks to the Service League Hospital Guild which has been making plans since the first of November for parties and decorations at the hospital.

A committee from the guild, with Mrs. L. T. Shotwell as chairman, completed 80 tray favors for patients yesterday. The committee made small replicas of Santa Claus from red yarn and tied them to small peppermint candy canes. The favors will be put on the breakfast trays Christmas morning.

A 15-foot Christmas tree will be decorated and put up in front of the hospital by the guild for the patients on the north side of hospital and can be seen from the road.

Another tree has been put on the porch of the nurse's home for the benefit of the patients on the South side of the hospital and this tree can be seen from miles. The guild also has decorated a tree which has been put in the lobby. The small waiting rooms on each floor of the hospital will be decorated with silver foliage.

The guild is planning a party for the white personnel at the hospital and for the Pitt County Medical Society which will be held Wednesday night in the classroom in the basement of the hospital. Another party will be held Thursday night for the colored personnel. Each member of the hospital staff and the medical association can invite one guest.

Santa Claus will be present at both of the parties to distribute gifts. The room will be decorated with Christmas garlands and the table will be decorated in silver with a Christmas tree in the center.

The entertainment for the parties will be furnished by Mrs. M. N. Posey with her auto-harp, Mrs. B. L. Tyson and her accordion, and Mrs. Myrtle Gray Blum will read a Christmas story. Sunday night, December 23, the

Solar System Study Project Is Undertaken By Ayden Students

(Editor's Note: The following story was taken from four themes written by students in Miss Susie Dixon's seventh grade class at the Ayden School on a project in science they have just completed. Those who wrote the themes were Henrietta Taylor, Janette Loftin, and Jeanette Worthington.)

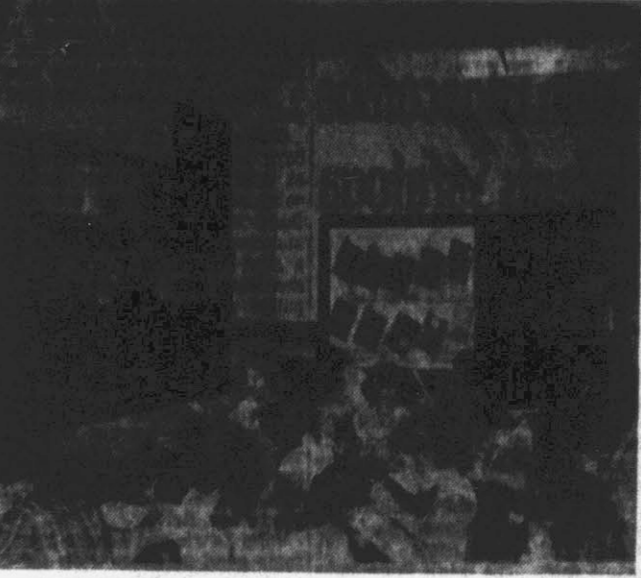

A project on the solar system done by the seventh grade girls of the Ayden School was completed not long ago in correlation with geography and science.

During the study of solar system the students followed an outline given to them by Miss Dixon. From the outline each student in the class made booklets which contained pictures, drawings, diagrams, and news articles about the stars, planets, and instruments used in the study of astronomy.

The students also wrote short biographies of astronomers and located planetariums. They used reference books in working up the booklets which were complete with attractive covers with cut out letters and scenes pertaining to the solar system.

One of the reference books explained a project which could be worked out on the solar system and the girls began work. The planets, represented by rubber balls of different sizes, were fixed in the top of the classroom in the order as they are from the sun.

Cords were placed from a large globe, representing the earth, to the ceiling. Then a short cord was attached to the balls which hung from the ceiling and tiny airplanes were placed on the cords running from the earth to the ceiling. The number of years it would take an airplane, traveling at the rate of 300 miles per hour, to travel from the earth to each planet was written on strips of cardboard and placed on the proper cord.

The young ladies were worried at first how to get the items representing the planets and sun up to the ceiling but two of the tallest girls in the class, Annette Todd and Sandra Baaden, volunteered to do climb a ladder and place the planets and sun.

Annette Willoughby, with the help of Betty Lou Williams, tied the strings to the globe while Jeanette Worthington and Henrietta Taylor put up the signs.

After the hard work was complete, Miss Dixon arranged the booklets around the room and took pictures of the project. All of the girls were very proud of the work and felt that the study of astronomy has been very educational.

EC Faculty And Staff Hold Christmas Dinner

Faculty and staff members at East Carolina College, together with a number of guests, gathered in the North Dining Hall on the campus Thursday evening to enjoy their annual Christmas dinner.

A lighted and decorated tree, ceiling high, stood at one end of the dining hall and contributed to the festive atmosphere of the occasion. It was a gift of Dr. Paul Jones of Farmville, who was a guest at the Christmas party.

From the overhead lights bright colored angels of metallic paper were suspended; and tables were decorated with holly, candles, and red and green mobile sculpture designs made by art students at the college under the direction of Francis Lee Neel of the faculty.

Menu cards for each guest carried out the holiday motif. Favours were dispensed with this year, and instead baskets of food were given by the faculty and staff to needy families in the city.

James L. Fleming, director of the department of foreign languages, acted as master of ceremonies; and Dr. Robert L. Holt, director of religious activities, spoke the invocation.

The Varsity Glee Club, directed by Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert of the department of music, sang Christmas songs, including familiar hymns and carols and Berlin's popular "White Christmas." In behalf of members of the group, Bernard Ham of Portsmouth, Va., presented a gift to Dr. Cuthbert in appreciation of his work as organizer and director of the club.

Group singing by guests during the evening was directed by Dan E. Vornholt of the faculty. Following a custom of several years, faculty and staff members concluded the evening by singing carols near the student dormitories on the campus.

Advise Ordering Fertilizer Early

RALEIGH —(AP)— North Carolina farmers who want to be sure of adequate fertilizer supplies for 1952 should place orders early.

This warning came yesterday from the State Agricultural Mobilization Committee, headed by state PMA director G. T. Scott.

In other areas of the country, Scott said, farmers already are buying fertilizer and storing it on the farm. Tar Heels must follow suit or supplies might not be available when needed, he asserted.

East Carolina College Students Hold Annual Christmas Assembly Program

East Carolina College students filled the Wright auditorium Friday morning, December 14, for their annual assembly in observance of the Christmas season. A program of Yuletide music and a talk by college President John D. Messick were chief events of the morning.

In an inspirational talk, Dr. Messick complimented students on their fine spirit during the present school term and urged them to "keep the spirit of Christmas" in their hearts throughout the year. "We must have," he told the young men and women, "no hatred in our hearts; there must be love."

Herbert L. Carter, director of the East Carolina Band, acted as master of ceremonies and announced numbers on a program by music organizations at the college.

The College Band opened the assembly with popular holiday tunes and played as their chief number "A Christmas Festival" by Leroy Anderson. Bernard Ham of Portsmouth, Va., was soloist with the Band in the selection "A Christmas Song."

The Varsity Glee Club, directed by Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert of the music department sang a group of carols and other Christmas selections. Jacqueline Waldron of Statesville was soloist with the Women's Chorus as the group, directed by Dan E. Vornholt of the faculty presented "The Shepherd's Story" and other numbers.

Ensemble singing by students closed the morning's program.

Vacations Begin On Thursday For School Children

Pirates Close Pre-Christmas Schedule With Runaway Victory Over Fort Lee Travellers; Play Guilford Monday Night

By JIMMY BILLS
Reflector Sports Writer

The East Carolina Pirates last night swept to their fifth consecutive victory of the year with a routing 90-65 victory over the Fort Lee, Va. Travellers. The game was played in Wright Gymnasium and was a non-conference contest.

The game was delayed 31 minutes by the non-appearance of the scheduled officials, Jess Baker and Bernie Altman. When these two didn't show up, East Carolina athletic officials had to give the job to Amos Sexton, Kinston high school coach, and Larry Kincaid, a senior at the college. Sonny Russell continued to be the scoring leader for the Pirates. His 21 points marked the third time this year he has been over 20 points in a single game. Right behind Russell in the scoring chase was Bobby Hodges with 20 points. Hodges turned in a great all-around job and was probably the most outstanding man on the court last night.

The only men who could give Hodges any competition in the starting role were Russell and Charles Clinker, the former Tennessee player who is assistant coach and star forward for the Travellers. Employing an unbeatible hook shot, Clinker tossed in 21 points in the losing effort. Bill Zirkel with 11 points and Walter Ashbaugh with 10 were behind Clinker in the scoring column for Fort Lee.

The return match between the two clubs started out as a routine affair with the two clubs alternating in scoring. Mostly on the work of Hodges and Russell, the Pirates had a 19-18 lead at the end of the first period. The Travellers' scoring was spread out between Clinker, Bill Zirkel, Pete Bentovija and Ashbaugh.

Dead-eye shooting by Russell and Capt. Dick Blake in the second period gave East Carolina the impetus it needed to pull away from the soldiers. Employing a red-hot running game, the Pirates simply out-ran the fast-tiring soldiers whose home court is not so big as the one in Wright Gym.

Russell hit for eight of his points and Blake got six of his 14 in the second quarter when the Pirates pulled into a commanding 42-30 lead at half-time. After the intermission, there was never any question except how many points East Carolina would score.

Coach Howard Porter of the Pirates used substitutes for much of the third period and all came through admirably. Little Cecil Heath, a 5-9 ball of fire from Wilmington, did a good job of ball handling in the center guard slot in the Pirates' system. He stole the ball a couple of times but left the scoring to Charlie Huffman, who got nine points, and Jack Carr, who got six.

Ex-Army Coach Takes Over At MS

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UP)—Former Army line coach Murray Warmath took over the head coaching job at Mississippi State today with the assignment "to build a winning team."

Warmath succeeds Arthur (Slick) Morton, who resigned to take a job in private business. Mississippi State won five games and lost four under Morton last season and was walloped 49 to 7 by Mississippi in its final game.

Warmath, who was the line coach at Mississippi State from 1939 through 1942, said it was a "great opportunity for me" and added he hoped to "get started as soon as possible."

"With Mississippi State being in the Southeastern Conference, we are in the territory where they play the strongest football in the country and with athletic scholarships available, I hope to put them right up there with the best."

Warmath, an alumnus of Gen. Bob Neyland's early teams at Tennessee, did not reveal the terms of his new contract.

Terps, Tigers Banned For One Year

Two More Called In Basketball Investigations

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—Assistant District Attorney Vincent O'Connor of New York today called upon two unidentified basketball players from one or more Kentucky schools "to come forward to prove themselves."

O'Connor said there was no criminal act involved as far as the players were concerned because the games were played in states with no laws on the subject. But he said New York would have jurisdiction over the fixers since "the corrupt plot was hatched in New York."

O'Connor appealed to Lawrence Wetherby, governor of Kentucky, to aid in persuading the players to testify after the players' lawyer, John Y. Brown, tossed a legal block in the path of the investigation.

Brown declared that the investigators "have no grounds for the arrests of the players they want to question and a refusal to let them be questioned except in my presence."

He added that O'Connor "has no right to conduct a United States investigation."

O'Connor admitted he was powerless to arrest the players and said "this thing is in the hands of the governor now" after his appeal.

He said one of the games fixed was played in Kentucky and one of his assistants indicated the other was played in Little Rock, Ark.

Grifton Boys, Belvoir Girls Win At Grifton

GRIFTON — The Grifton Bulldogs split a basketball doubleheader here last night with Belvoir High School. The Grifton boys had little trouble in running up a 47-37 margin over Belvoir but the Belvoir girls had even less trouble in their 73-30 rout of the Grifton girls.

Grifton led all the way in the boys game, having a 25-20 lead at half time, but the final ten point margin was not made until there were only two minutes remaining. At that point, Grifton had a slim two point margin but John and Rex Lewis got hot and Grifton pulled away.

Rex Lewis led the scoring for the Grifton team with 15 points while Clyde Adams and John Lewis came through with 10 apiece.

Franklin Garris of Belvoir copped the high scoring honors for the night, however, with a sparkling 16 points performance. Ralph Tyson was second with seven points for Belvoir.

John Lewis and Adams turned in some good defensive work for Grifton while the Belvoir defense was held together by Howard Bullock and Billy Ross.

In the preliminary game, it was simply a matter of two many good ball players on the Belvoir team for Grifton to even think about getting anywhere after the first quarter.

Paced by Nadine Morris, who scored 24 points, Belvoir had little trouble in handling the Grifton lasses. Their third loss of the year.

Miss Morris took 13 shots from the floor and hit on 11 of them for a first half total of 22 points.

Ranked next in the scoring parade were Ann Jones and Claudia Pollard, oth of Belvoir, who got 21 points each. Colleen Braxton with 16 points and Ethlyn Coon with seven points were high scorers for Grifton.

Defensive work for the girls' game was led by Margie Pollard, Jean Tyson, and Edna Randolph of Belvoir and Phyllis Jackson and Gertrude Garris of Grifton.

NEW YORK (UP)—Maryland and Clemson were on the Southern Conference's "black list" today as college groups throughout the Atlantic Seaboard joined hands in banning post-season football games.

In a heated session last night at Richmond, Va., the Southern Conference voted to sever football relations with Maryland and Clemson for one year as a penalty for accepting bowl invitations without conference permission.

Maryland already has agreed to meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl and Clemson accepted an invitation to play Miami in the Gator Bowl on New Year's Day. Officials of both teams indicated they will fulfill their engagements regardless of the Southern Conference's action.

Hollis Edens, president of Duke University, introduced a resolution imposing a one-year probation on the bowl-bound teams. Only the South Carolina members of the conference — Furman, The Citadel and the University of South Carolina — voted along with the two schools involved in an effort to fight the resolution.

A fierce verbal battle ensued between spokesmen for Clemson and Maryland and representatives of the University of North Carolina before the announcement was made, officials of both Clemson and Maryland were openly bitter about the decision. Said one official: "It's the most high-handed act in conference history."

The Southern Conference's action against two member schools followed an earlier session in which the group voted to ban all post-season games and endorsed limited control of televised games.

Joining the Southern Conference in its objection to bowl games was the Eastern College Athletic Conference, which concluded its annual meeting in New York.

The Eastern group, by a vote of 46 to 8, voiced its disapproval of post-season football commitments and urged the NCAA to determine whether such games "are a desirable feature."

In other final day action, the 89 members of the Eastern group backed the NCAA on its policy for controlled telecasts, endorsed the two-plateau system and refused to curb out-of-season practice sessions.

The Southeastern Conference representatives, meanwhile, refused to ban bowl games for their members at their annual meeting at New Orleans. However, they did agree to "a freshmen from participating in varsity athletics and to reduce the maximum number of football scholarships for one team from 90 to 30."

The Australians will field a young team headed by Sedgman, rated the world's best amateur player. If the Americans are to win the cup, it appears their major hurdle will be to find a way to dispose of Sedgman, who won two singles matches and shared in the doubles victory with Ken McGregor when Australia took the cup from the U.S. last year, 4-1.

Nancy Worthington on defense. It was the third conference contest for both clubs. Ayden's girls now have a record of two wins and one defeat, while the boys have a clean three-game slate.

Ayden Wins Over Chicod In Two Conference Tilts

CHICOD—Ayden defeated Chicod High in both games of a Pitt County conference twin bill here last night, with Coach Stuart Tripp's boys running up a 62-30 score, while the Ayden lasses won by a more conservative margin, 31-21.

Randall Harrington led the Torrado scoring with 14 points, followed by co-captain Delano Cox with 12 points. Mac Whitehurst led the defensive work for the winners.

Ayden ran wild in the first three quarters, scoring 17, 22 and 19 points, respectively. They were held to only four points in the final quarter.

Chicod was led on offense by Bobby Broughs with 10 points. Rudolph Mills paced the defensive play.

The girls game was not decided until the fourth quarter, as the teams exchanged leads back and forth. Chicod jumped into a 9-8 lead during the first quarter, and held on to set the pace by 16-13 at half-time. Ayden took over the lead for the first time in the third period.

Charlene Smith led the Ayden scoring with 15 points, followed by Wilma Stocks, who scored 12 points. Peggy Conway led the guards.

Chicod was led by Shirley Gaskins on offense, with 11 points, and

Phantom Jayvees Beat Goldsboro

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—A powerful quartet made up of Ted Schroeder, Dick Savitt, and two other Australians won the Davis Cup when they defeated the Goldsboro team last night at the Greenville-Goldsboro game.

Center Bobby Conway, with 12 points, led the Phantoms in their scoring, followed closely by guard Walt Perkins, with 10. Defensive standouts were Fay Sawyer and Dixie Holobog.

Goldsboro was led by Jack Paley and Jimmy Adkins, with 11 and seven points, respectively. Fred Ginn and Tommy Waters were defensive standouts for the Baby Quakes.

The victory gives Greenville three wins against only one loss over the season. Greenville led throughout the contest.

Greenville connected on 22 of 58 shots attempted from the floor during the night for a percentage of 37.7.

"Everybody had been saying what a tough time we would have to beat these Swedish fellows," it is believed that Schroeder has clinched as singles berth for himself against the Australians. The case of Trabert may be a bit different. Some believe he may play only in the doubles — with Schroeder. Trabert, although winner of both his matches, hasn't shown too good a form.

If Shields by-passes Trabert in the singles, he may give the chance to Savitt, who was runner-up to Frank Sedgman of the Australian team, this year in the U.S. championships. However, Savitt was soundly trounced by Sedgman in the last warmup before the Sweden series — which poses another problem.

The Australians will field a young team headed by Sedgman, rated the world's best amateur player. If the Americans are to win the cup, it appears their major hurdle will be to find a way to dispose of Sedgman, who won two singles matches and shared in the doubles victory with Ken McGregor when Australia took the cup from the U.S. last year, 4-1.

Robersonville Takes Two Games

ROBERSONVILLE — Robersonville's Rams opened the season last night with two victories over Farm Life High School. The boys took a close 38-36 win, while the girls had an easier time of it, winning 42-35.

Billy Warren headed the scoring for Coach Bob Lee's boys, scoring 19 points during the night's action. James Hardison led the losers with 12.

David Gurganus led the defensive work for Robersonville. Farm Life was paced by Earl Coltrane.

Robersonville's lasses came out strong in the second period and were never headed after that point. Peggy Roberson scored 16 points to lead them. Faye Stevenson had 12 for the winners.

Jeanette Coltrane paced the losing girls with 15 points. Jean Corey and Alice Hopkins combined to lead the Farm Life sextet on defense.

Moore Takes Scoring Honors With 11 Points

Phantoms Take Second Victory Over Eastern AAA Ball Club; Win With Last Quarter Point Surge

By ANWER JOSEPH
GOLDSBORO — Paced by the sharpshooting of forward Leon Moore, Greenville dropped the Earthquakes of Goldsboro High here last night by a score of 33-31. The game was played before approximately 650 people, here for the first game played in the new high school gymnasium.

Greenville staged a comeback in the last three minutes of the game after falling by the wayside in the third period. Moore stole the ball from Goldsboro's Braston Keen with only a minute and 35 seconds left in the final period and went in for a lay-up to put Greenville ahead for the final time. From that point, the Phantoms employed stalling tactics to kill time.

Coach Bo Farley's boys led throughout the first half after Goldsboro had taken a 2-0 lead on a lay-up by LeRoy Strickland. Moore and Joe Rowland were the scoring leaders in the first quarter offensive, which saw Greenville run up a 10-3 score at the end of the period.

It was an entirely different Goldsboro team that took the court in the second period and they had nearly evened matters at halftime, trailing by only two points, 19-17. Braston Keen and D. C. Daughtry paced the Quakes in their comeback. Greenville's defense could not seem to find a way to stop the aggressive Goldsboro team.

Goldsboro retained its strong pace in the third quarter, taking the lead soon after it opened. Jay Maxwell, who scored eight points during the night, took over the scoring for the Quakes.

Greenville hit the comeback trail in the fourth quarter, after falling down behind a 28-24 at the opening of the period. With the score standing at 31-28, Joe Rowland took a rebound off the Goldsboro backboard and dribbled the length of the gym and went up for another lay-up. A few seconds later, Moore stole the ball and made his game-winning basket.

Goldsboro attempted to break up the Greenville freeze during the last minute, but succeeded in only fouling the Phantoms. Greenville repeatedly waived the shots and took them out of bounds. With about 10 seconds left, Rowland took a foul shot and made it, giving Greenville its final edge of victory.

Moore and Rowland led the Greenville scoring with 11 and nine points respectively. Sid Briley, Glenn Scott, who fouled out in the third period, and Bobby Perry, playing his first game for the Phantoms, led the team on defense.

Goldsboro was laid on offense by Braston Keen with nine points, followed by Jay Maxwell with eight points. Knox Jenkins and LeRoy Strickland led the defensive play.

Greenville plays at home against Rocky Mount Tuesday night in the final game before Christmas.

Vanceboro Girls Beat Bridgeton

VANCEBORO—Lois Jean Forrest scored 29 points here last night to lead Vanceboro's girls to an easy 60-42 decision over Bridgeton in a Craven County Conference tilt. Vanceboro now has won six straight contests.

Sybil Fillingame, Chris Cayton, and Beverly Witherington led the winners on defense. Bridgeton was led in scoring by Mary Hamilton, with 16 points. B. Sutton and Rachelle Moore were outstanding on defense for the losers.

Fairy Tale Honor Goes To Mantle

COMMERCE, Okla. (UP)—Modest Mickey Mantle, who bettered even the dreams of youth by making the long jump between a Class C ball club and the New York Yankees in one hop, had another fairy-tale honor within reach today. The 19-year-old was heir apparent to the outfield "spot once played by the great Joe DiMaggio. "I sure hate to see old Joe leaving the game," he said. "It won't seem the same without him around."

A Tribute To Our Salvation Army!

If you think that the Spirit of God pervades only handsome churches, consider the simple religious services of those men and women who worship on street corners. There is no faith to class, creed or color. All the world is their congregation... and what wonderful work they are doing! The derelicts, the homeless, the heartsick and hungry. These are parishioners of The Salvation Army. No one is turned away. No one is beyond redemption. If you believe in man's humanity to man and want to exemplify it, be generous with your change when a Lass or Laddie in blue passes the tambourine!

Town Drives To Return 'Christ Into Christmas'

EVANSTON, Ill. (UP)—Evanston has embarked on a campaign to "put Christ back into Christmas." Scenes of the Nativity are being displayed in department store windows, on billboards, in hotel lobbies and even on car cards in the buses of Chicago's nearest lakefront neighbor.

The campaign began last summer when several young couples set out to see if community organizations would support such a movement.

The originators got the idea from reading in a magazine about similar campaigns that began a couple of years ago in Milwaukee, Pittsburgh, Dubuque, Ia., and elsewhere.

A committee of interested citizens was formed and members canvassed business firms, stores, clubs, the Boy Scouts, churches, social agencies and the schools, asking them to put the idea to work.

More than 40 prominent persons from a cross-section of community life were asked to serve on an honorary committee, and their support gave the movement the necessary prestige.

The churches were approached on a non-denominational basis. The Evanston Council of Churches, composed of laymen from Protestant churches, and the ministerial association, both pledged support. So did the city's Catholic pastors.

Radio stations gave free time to the campaign and buses began displaying the Nativity posters shortly after Thanksgiving.

Banks, theaters, business firms and the public service company set up displays or used billboards to portray the birth of Christ.

Young Thief Has Term On Roads

Shelton Brooks Dupree, teen-age Negro, described by Greenville police as a "one-man crime wave," is now serving four years on the roads at the Maury Prison Camp in Greensboro.

In Recorder's Court in Kinston yesterday, Judge Albert Cowper sentenced Dupree to four years on the roads for six robberies of stores in Kinston about a week ago.

He is wanted by Rocky Mount and Goldsboro authorities.

Dupree, reformatory escapee, has a record of more than 50 robberies in the Greenville area. While being held for reformatory authorities about a month ago, Dupree escaped from the city jail with Augustus Moore, another Negro teen-ager. Moore surrendered.

Dupree will be brought to Greenville from the Maury prison camp in January to stand trial for numerous robberies here. His police record started when he was nine years old.

He is a son of Walter Dupree and Goldie Dupree, 1211 Pitt Street, Greenville.

Pageant Tomorrow

The Greenville High School Glee Club and Dramateers will present the school's annual Christmas pageant at the high school auditorium tomorrow afternoon at five o'clock.

The pageant will be presented in the form of tableaux, scripture reading, and music by the high school glee club under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler. Ward James is directing the Dramateers in the pageant.

Army Sentry Is Thought Victim Red Kidnappers

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UP)—A young U. S. constabulary trooper on sentry duty on the Czech-German border disappeared Wednesday and "probably" was kidnapped across the frontier, an Army spokesman said today.

The spokesman refused to identify the soldier, but said he was a regular Army private in the frontier-guarding crack 15th constabulary Squadron.

He discounted reports that the trooper, who arrived in Germany recently had planned to desert.

"In fact our information is quite to the contrary," he said. "All the information in our possession indicates he probably was kidnapped across the frontier."

Bribetaking Charged To Draft Officer

MEMPHIS (UP)—The FBI charged today that draft board chairman Mark F. Heffernan, 54, accepted a $200 bribe to defer a youth classified I-A.

Heffernan, long-time leader in veterans affairs and a liquor store operator, was seized by FBI agents here last night as he received "fix" money from Leslie V. Thompson, father of the draft registrant.

He was arraigned immediately before U. S. Commissioner Leslie A. Nicholson and released on $5,000 bond.

Col. John B. Elliott, Tennessee director of Selective Service, said he had been informed by the FBI of Heffernan's pending arrest and had announced that the draft official had been suspended.

Heffernan, former commander of American Legion Post No. 1 here and president of the Memphis Retail Liquor Package Stores Assn., faces a maximum penalty of fines totaling three times the amount of the bribe, three years imprisonment and forfeiture of his office.

FBI special-agent-in-charge A. I. Means, said Heffernan, chairman of Local Board No. 83, proposed the "fix" to Thompson, who reported the incident to officials. Means said Heffernan was arrested at his liquor store as Thompson handed over a final payment of $100 for "permanent deferment" of Thompson's son, Leslie Lee.

The father went to see Heffernan when his son was classified I-A. Means said, and told the draft official his son was sick and that he would like to have him reclassified.

Heffernan asked Thompson if it would be worth $200 to him, the FBI said, and Thompson agreed. A first payment of $100 was made Sept. 14.

Thompson's son was later reclassified 4-F, according to the FBI.

Two weeks ago the son's classification was shifted back to I-A and the father went to Heffernan and was told another $100 was needed to obtain permanent deferment for his son. Thompson promised Heffernan he would pay the money and reported the case to the FBI.

Heffernan, married, and the father of four children, helped organize the Tennessee State Guard during World War II and held a commission in the Guard. He is a former inspector for the Tennessee Boxing Assn. was instrumental in obtaining the convictions of referees Frank Casone and Jimmy Manley for bribing two fighters to throw a fight last year.

Huge Cold . . .

New York City was caught under 3.3 inches of snow which later turned to rain. The combination made for hazardous driving conditions. Police reported "hundreds" of minor accidents.

Air travel as well as highway traffic was reduced to a trickle as planes were kept on the ground in Chicago and many other points. A plane carrying 14 Tennessee basketball players was forced down at Grand Rapids, Mich., where the squad boarded a bus for Chicago. They were to have played in Spokane, Wash.

The wind-driven snow ripped out rural communications in Kansas, isolating many farms. One driver said he drove for "more than a quarter of a mile" in a plowed field covered with snow, got stuck, then realized he was off the highway.

In New York last night the ice was so bad one motorist reported it took him 55 minutes to go a block and a half.

Most bus lines were operating but were behind schedule. Private motorists were warned to stay at home.

Cars Collide . . .
(Continued from Page One) out a considerable amount of fuel oil and for a time, the situation was very hazardous, since the wind-flicked flames were only a few feet away from the tanker and its inflammable cargo.

The highway was cleared just after 7:30 last night when two wreckers using gasoline tankers as anchors, succeeded in moving the wreckage.

Damage to the automobile was estimated at over $700, and more than $200 to the tanker.

Investigation of the accident is not complete.

Assisting in the investigation were Cpl. H. M. Morrow and Det. L. E. Perry.

Two other minor highway accidents were reported last night with no injuries and slight damage. Bad weather was blamed for the accidents.

World War III . . .

(10) DIVERSIFICATION: Diversification was practical during 1951. Those too lazy to diversify bought Investment Trust Shares or stocks of Fire Insurance Companies which combine an Active Business with an Investment Trust.

(11) INFLATION: Inflation has existed during 1951 and will continue to go on. The business cycle, however, will likewise always revolve and fortunes will continue to be made by those who have the PATIENCE to store up cash in times like these, and the courage to buy stocks later when no one will want them. Fortunes come from Patience, Courage and Supervision.

(12) RELIGION: During 1951 there have been signs of a return to the Church, which is the only hope for individual or international peace.

New Jet Wing Is Added To U. S. Force In Korea

TOKYO (UP)—A second interceptor wing of Sabrejet fighter planes has gone into battle in Korea to reinforce the veteran 4th Wing, the Air Force announced tonight.

The new wing is the 51st. Its pilots started to go into action Dec. 1 and additional planes have joined daily since then. Already the 51st has shot down two Russian-built MIG-15 jet fighters and damaged six.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the Air Force, decided on the reinforcement several weeks ago when it became evident that the Communists were increasing their air strength.

Pilots of the new wing were flying F-80 Shooting Stars in Korea until they got their new Sabrejets.

Possible Steel Strike Worries Gov't Circles

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The possibility of a nationwide steel strike New Year's Day is a matter of grave concern in government circles today.

But at the same time, Economic Stabilizer Robert L. Putnam informed the steel industry that any automatic price increase based on a wage raise would not be permitted.

Putnam said yesterday in Washington he told the industry that if it is entitled to increased prices under the Caperhart Amendment the proceeds can be used for wage boosts in current negotiations.

The union's contract with U. S. Steel and most other steel producers expires at midnight Dec. 31. A strike can begin immediately after that.

Special Traffic Police Planned For Late Rush

Special police officers will be assigned to strategic intersections in Greenville next week, when Christmas shopping swings into its peak, Chief Guy C. Langston announced today.

Traffic officers will be stationed at Five Points, Fourth and Blythe and Colanchoe and Fifth Streets. They will be on duty during the peak traffic hours—11:30 a.m. to 12:15 and from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Auxiliary "no right or left turn" signs will be placed at some intersections.

"We are asking the cooperation of motorists and urge them to drive carefully," the chief added.
