Major Problems In Meeting Farm Goals Discussed

Fertilizer Shortage, Scarcity Of Equipment And Labor Seen In '52

By JESS POINDEXTER, Reflector Staff Writer. The three greatest problems with which Pitt County farmers will have to cope in order to meet their 1952 crop production goals are a shortage of fertilizer, a scarcity of farm equipment, and dwindling labor supplies. These points were brought out at the county-wide mobilization committee meeting at the Woman's Club here yesterday. Topics discussed were "Production Goals For 1952," "Outlook For Farm Prices and Supplies in 1952," "Farm Supplies and Implements," and "How To Increase Production."

Seamen On Hulk Of Tanker Face Another Storm

Tugs Have Battered Stern Of Ship In Tow, But Move At Snail's Pace

BOSTON (UP)—A new Northeast storm bore down today on the 13 "stay put" seamen riding the battered stern of the tanker Fort Mercer, which was split in two during a nor'easter Monday. Two tugs had the Mercer in tow but they moved at a crawling pace of three knots and could not outrun the storm. The tow was headed for Martha's Vineyard and the Coast Guard estimated it would require until 10 a. m. EST tomorrow to cover the 115 miles to the lee of the island. The storm, however, was expected to strike sometime after 7 a. m. EST today with snow, sleet and accompanying heavy seas.

President Asserts He Likes His Job

Truman Confides His Attitude On Off-The-Cuff Talk; Asserts He'll Go On Doing What He Thinks Right Despite Criticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman told a Masonic gathering today that he works all day and nearly all night as President, "but just between you and me and the gatepost, I like it." The President confided this attitude in an off-the-cuff talk to grand masters of Masons attending a national-wide conference. Cabinet members and White House staff representatives also attended the breakfast at which Mr. Truman defended his aides against the description of "Missouri gang," which he said has been given them by his opponents. He noted that Lincoln, Jefferson, Cleveland and other presidents underwent a lot of criticism and that it was some years after Cleveland left office that it was said of him "They loved him for the enemies he made."

Reds Refuse Accept 'Veto' Of Russia To Police Truce

Communist Negotiators Ignore UN Explanation; Chinese Radio Charges Area In Northeast China Bombed, Strafed

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The United Nations said today it had vetoed Soviet membership on a truce supervision commission because Russia is too close geographically to Korea and has a record of "past participation" in the country. Communist staff officers refused to accept the U. N. delegation's explanation, however, and the dead-end over Russia's eligibility for the six-power neutral commission stretched into its seventh day. In another conference tent, a second group of staff officers reached final agreement on five items of a war prisoner exchange formula. All five were of a technical nature.

Three Injured In Auto Accident

Car Goes Out Of Control On Dead Man's Curve Early Today

Three persons were injured, two seriously, in an after-midnight accident on Dead Man's Curve, two miles west of Greenville on the Falkland highway. A car driven by Willie Lyman McLawhorn, 45, Route 1, Greenville, went out of control around 12:30 this morning after the car had rounded Dead Man's Curve. Patrolman Jim Davis, investigating highway patrolman, stated that he found skid marks at the accident scene for a distance of 43 yards along the highway. After going into the skid, the automobile went off the right shoulder of the highway and demolished a wooden fence for a distance of about 50 feet. The car came to rest some distance away. All three occupants of the car were thrown clear of the vehicle when it struck the fence. An ambulance dispatched from Greenville took the three to Pitt Memorial Hospital where two were admitted for treatment of serious injuries.

More Break-Ins Are Investigated

Two new attempted robberies are now being investigated by the Greenville Police Department as result of "break-ins" last night. Officers were called to the home of Mrs. Harry Smith, 126 East 7th Street, yesterday to investigate a case of house-breaking. The officers were called after Mrs. Smith reported her house had been entered and a small change bank, containing around $8.00, was missing. This morning, officers were busy working on a robbery at the Garrison Lumber Company storage warehouse. It was reported that someone entered the building and ransacked it, although no report of any missing items was made.

Two More MIGs Downed In Battle

8TH ARMY HQ., Korea (UP)—American Sabrejets shot down two MIG's today to run up this week's bag of Communist fighter planes to 19 destroyed, probably destroyed and damaged. Enjoying a numerical advantage for a change, 26 F-86 Sabres battled 20 MIG's for 20 minutes in a dense overcast. The 5th Air Force shot down three MIG's on Sunday, three Tuesday and two Wednesday. One was probably destroyed and one was damaged Sunday, two were damaged Monday and five Wednesday. On the ground, Communist forces ambushed a United Nations patrol near Kansong on the eastern front. Reinforcements were pinned down by enemy mortar fire. However, additional reinforcements arrived an hour and 15 minutes after the ambush was sprung and all U. N. forces were able to disengage and return to their own lines. Elsewhere along the 145-mile front, there was only probing and patrol action with a platoon the maximum unit. Fighter-bombers slipped through the cloud cover to continue "Operation Strangle" against transportation lines and facilities. The 5th Air Force flew 321 sorties and claimed one road bridge and 12 troop buildings destroyed or damaged and rail lines cut in 30 places.

Clean-Up Man Called Key Figure In Big Ship Deal

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Richard M. Nixon charged today that Newbold Morris, assigned to clean up corruption in the government, was himself the "key figure in what appears to be a subterfuge to get around the law." The California Republican said he referred to Morris' role in a surplus tanker deal which netted former Rep. Joseph E. Casey (D-Mass.) and associates $450,000 on a $1,000 investment. The Senate's permanent investigating committee is looking into the deal. Nixon, member of the committee, said the evidence presented so far indicates a deliberate attempt to get around the law "which prohibited the transfer of surplus ships to foreign-controlled corporations." Testimony yesterday showed that Morris' law firm handled a transaction in which a Casey group sold its stock interests—and thus control of three tankers—to a Chinese

FCC Boss Quits

WASHINGTON (UP)—Wayne Coy resigned today as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Coy called at the White House today and personally delivered his resignation to President Truman. The resignation will be effective immediately. Coy, 48-year-old native of Delphi, Ind., has been chairman of the FCC for four years. He told reporters that he is quitting "so I can negotiate for a job in private life." He had not yet lined up a job but had "a good idea" of what he could do. The FCC chairmanship pays $15,000 a year, but Coy said that with one child in college and another in prep school, he had to leave the government "for economic reasons."

At least 14 policemen were injured in clashes with rioters here. Forty-one Reds were under arrest here and in Osaka. The riots were coordinated to take place between 5 and 6 p. m. on the occasion of a Red "anti-colonialization" day to protest United States-Japan negotiations for a mutual security pact and the peace policies of the Japanese government now being debated in Parliament. Reports from the provinces said that all was quiet late tonight, but Tokyo police remained on the alert.

West Greenville School Addition Now In Use

Completed In Fall, Building Serves Many Uses

During the past three years, many additions and new buildings have been added to the city school system. The latest one to be completed and put to use is the addition to the West Greenville School.

The new building, located to the northeast of the present structure, is one of the most functional edifices of the entire system. According to J. H. Rose, city superintendent, it is the "best value for its money of any public building in North Carolina."

The building, which is a combination lunchroom, gymnasium, auditorium, playground building and community recreation center, was started in April of 1950 and was completed in September, 1951. For a long while construction was held up on account of the inability to obtain suitable roofing material.

Plans for the structure were drawn up by James W. Griffith, local architect. W. G. Dunn was the local contractor. The overall cost was approximately $110,000, part of which was obtained from a local bond issue and the rest from the state.

Its style of architecture is modern and blends in with the older building, which was built in 1924 with new wings being added about 1933-34. It is a one story building of red brick with white granite blocks for contrast.

The structural materials are the STATIONERY WEDDING Announcements Invitations Reception Cards Visiting Cards At Home Cards Best Jewelry Co. "Your Jewelers" best that were available. It is acoustically excellent and the lighting fixtures are of the modern portable type. An asphalt tile floor will wear well under all conditions, and the lunchroom tables and chairs are so designed that they can be quickly and easily recessed into alcoves to clear the floor for use as an auditorium or gymnasium.

There are toilets accessible from the outside, which enables the building to be used as a playground building. There are draw drapes at the upper windows and venetian blinds at the lower window levels to enable the building to be converted into a darkened auditorium for the use of movies with a minimum of effort.

The interior of the auditorium carries a pleasing color scheme of cream, blue and maroon. The walls half way up to the ceiling are glass tile and the remainder are painted a soft blue. At one end is a well equipped stage with attractive curtains and backdrop. At the opposite end of the room is the counter for cafeteria use, in front of shutters which can easily be rolled up or down.

The Grade A cafeteria can accommodate an average of 125 students a day. The kitchen, large and well lighted, is equipped with two electric stoves, two large stainless steel sinks, two refrigerators and two long tables for serving, in addition to the long counter which is placed against the wall from which the children serve themselves. There is also a reception door in the wall for dirty dishes, which are slid along another counter to a small sink where they can be easily rinsed and washed.

Two Negro women, Julia Barnhill and Annie Streeter, are employed to cook and serve the meals and to keep the kitchen in good order.

It is the hope of school officials that the building will eventually become a place that is in use every day of the year. It is so well equipped and arranged for so many different uses that it may well become the center of all activities in the western section of the city.

Presbyterian Women Hear Speakers Discuss Prisons

At the February meeting of the Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church held on last Monday night, a new slate of officers for the coming year was presented and unanimously elected.

Mrs. I. B. Koonz, president, presided over the business session at which time the officers were elected. They are as follows: vice-president, Mrs. L. E. Tyler; recording secretary, Mrs. J. S. Jenkins; chairman of world missions, Mrs. N. S. Beard; chairman of religious education, Mrs. R. M. Helms; chairman of spiritual growth, Mrs. L. W. Topping; chairman of church extension, Mrs. Frank Reid; chairman of annuities and relief, Mrs. Will James.

Mrs. James S. Jenkins presented the devotional for the meeting, while Mrs. J. W. Hassell had charge of the program.

In keeping with the theme for the year's study, "Patterns of Christian Life," Mrs. Hassell and three guest speakers talked about "The Christian, the Community and the Kingdom."

Mrs. Hassell, the first speaker, spoke of the necessity of members being intelligent Christian citizens and of the need for more active participation regarding matters of local, state and national interest.

She introduced Miss Dorothy Lahr, a graduate nurse affiliated with the Pitt Memorial Hospital, who gave a dramatic picture of conditions at the State Mental Institution in Raleigh.

She said that the greatest need there was for increased appropriations for its maintenance and care and said that in her opinion the management was in no way to blame for the deplorable conditions which exist there. She urged that representatives in the State legislature be contacted and asked to secure larger appropriations which would be more adequate for the needs of the mental institutions.

Mrs. Paul Crawford of the Pitt County Prison Camp was next introduced. She told of the work that is being done with the prisoners there, most of whom are still comparatively young men. As this branch of the State Penitentiary, there are men there serving varying terms for various crimes. She stated that except for a monthly visit from the Salvation Army, there are no regular religious services being held for the prisoners. She urged that the churches in Greenville sponsor weekly services, which would help in rehabilitating the men spiritually.

Mrs. Dupuy Holiday of Wilson was presented as the last speaker for the evening. She told of conditions and the work that was being done at Alderson, West Virginia, the only federal prison in the country for women. According to her remarks, it is one of the best operated and the best supervised institutions of its kind in the United States. But there is still need of a more adequate program to prepare the girls and women inmates for better moral and spiritual adjustment to the world when they are released. "We must wake up," she concluded "for the nation will continue to spend over $15,000,000,000 annually for crime alone."

The meeting was concluded with a social hour in the fellowship hall.

Grand Jury Hearing For N. C. Klansmen

RALEIGH, N. C. (UP)—A special crime-investigating grand jury met here today to consider kidnapping charges against 10 former Ku Klux Klansmen amid new reports of night rider terrorism in coastal North Carolina.

U. S. Dist. Atty. Charles P. Green said he will ask the grand jury to indict the 10, seized by FBI agents in Columbus County Saturday, "on or before March 10. Green's timetable calls for the men to be tried during the criminal session of district court, set for March 17 in Fayetteville, N. C.

The -klansmen could be given the death penalty if convicted of violating the Lindbergh law. They are free on bonds of $5,000 each, pending preliminary hearings next Tuesday.

Meantime, tenant farmer Howard Prevatt told Cumberland County Sheriff L. L. Guy that masked men forced him, his wife and three children to flee their home and hide Tuesday night near Fayetteville.

Prevatt said he fired three times as the hooded figures drew near the front of his home, then fled as they circled to the rear. He said it was the third time in recent weeks nightriders had threatened his family.

Forty FBI agents and state officers cooperated in the Saturday raid, first major federal crackdown on masked terrorists since reconstruction days.

The 10 men arrested were identified as members of the Fair Bluff, N. C., klavern, dissolved a month ago by Imperial Wizard Thomas L. Hamilton of the Carolina klans.

In Richmond, Va., Hamilton said he dissolved the klavern because its members interfered with a church. He said he would have disbanded the klavern "sooner" had he known of "any floggings."

The 10 were charged with kid-

Grand Dragon Of Florida KKK Is Given Sentence

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. —(AP)—The grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Florida was convicted yesterday of mailing grossly offensive postcards to three persons, including columnist Drew Pearson.

Federal District Judge Dozier Devane sentenced Bill Hendrix to one year in jail on each of the three misdemeanor counts and also fined the Klansman $700. The judge deferred execution of the sentence and placed Hendrix on a two-year probation.

Hendrix admitted mailing the cards to Pearson, Gov. Fuller Warren of Florida, and Kenneth Ballinger, a Tallahassee attorney.

The jury, which deliberated only 40 minutes, acquitted Hendrix on a fourth count of sending an allegedly libelous circular about State Rep. B. G. Patton of Appalachicola.

Film Stars Are Wed In London

LONDON — (AP) — Movie stars Elizabeth Taylor and Michael Wilding were married shortly before noon today in the midst of a lively mob scene.

The 19-year-old bride and her 39-year-old groom, arriving separately, slipped almost unnoticed into the Caxton Registry Hall.

A mob descended upon them as they emerged after the 10-minute civil ceremony.

Elizabeth radiated happiness as she was jostled by hundreds of people in the corridors of the hall and in Caxton St. outside. Seemingly the cooler of the two, she recognized friends in the milling crowd and shouted greetings to them.

The Hollywood beauty wore a grey woolen frock with a noticeable flare, and a stiff, pleated organdy collar. There was a single strange of pearls around her neck. A white Juliette hat set far back on her dark hair.

The crowd was very friendly, but eager. "Hiya, Liz. Are you happy?" yelled a giddy feminine fan. "Yes, yes, very happy," Liz managed to say. "And you, Mike. How do you feel?" others shouted. But Michael was too busy to pay

SAYS LOAN COLLECTORS ROUGH:—Mrs. Betty Jean Cunningham, 22, holds her niece, Pamela Campbell, as she tells reporters how two loan company collectors roughed her up in a collection attempt. According to Deputy Prosecutor Forrest P. Jones of Indianapolis, Mrs. Cunningham the two collectors forced their way into her home when she refused to answer their knock. She said one of the men then knocked her to the floor and kicked her. Her niece, Pamela, witnessed the incident, Mrs. Cunningham asserted. Both of the men have been charged with malicious trespass and disorderly conduct, and an assault and battery charge was added to the charges against the collector Mrs. Cunningham said knocked her down. Shortage Of Oil Predicted Soon If Strike Called DENVER, Colo. (UP)—An oil industry spokesman said today that within three weeks many of the nation's motorists will be "afoot" if 275,000 oil workers make good their threatened strike.

Representatives of the workers announced last night that a nationwide strike would be called March 3 to back up the unions' demands for a straight $2 a day wage increase.

The industry spokesman said such a strike would have motorists "afoot within 10 days" after it was called.

For the first time in history, 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions joined in a common effort to force the industry to accept their demands.

The strike, if it comes off, will hit refineries, pipelines, production plants, sales forces and in some instances, chemical plants.

Not all of the 275,000 oil workers represented will walk out in the strike. Instead, key workers will strike in a move "aimed at crippling the heart of the industry."

Members of the committee meeting here refused to disclose the location of the plants that will be picketed.

ATLANTA (UP)—Ellis Arnall takes the oath of office here today as director of the Office of Price Stabilization with the same Bible used to swear him in as governor of Georgia.

The oath will be administered by Federal Judge Frank Hooper, an old friend, this afternoon.

Arnall, returning to public life after five years in private business, expects to go to Washington Monday to take over the OPS post.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS

WHAT DO YOU SAY?

If you are turning over in your mind the question, "To marry or not to marry?" the following from "Bachelor" by Samuel Johnson may interest you.

"I have met," said the princess, "with many who are single . . . but I have never found that their prudence ought to raise envy. They dream away their time without friendship, without fondness, and are driven to rid themselves of the day, for which they have no use, by childish amusements or vicious delights. They act as beings under the constant sense of some known inferiority that fills their minds with gloom; and their tongues with curses. They are pernick at home, and malignant abroad; and, as the selfishness of human nature, makes it their business and their pleasure to disturb that society which debar them from its privileges. To live without feeling or exciting sympathy, to be fortunate without adding to the felicity of others, or afflicted without tasting the balm of pity, is a state more gloomy than solitude; it is not retreat, but exclusion from mankind. Marriage has many pains, but celibacy has no pleasures."

Some will vote for these sentiments and some against them. Personally, I take my stand with the good old Doctor.

The Cancer Has Cropped Up Again

It is apparent now that the arrest of ten former Klansmen by the FBI in North Carolina has not brought a stop to the terrorizing in some of the Tar Heel counties.

The new reports of terrorism in Cumberland County is a challenge to local law enforcement officers to get out of their offices and on the trail of the hooded terrorists. It is a challenge which by no means should go unheeded. The report of new activities of hooded hoodlums in Cumberland means also that the terrorism in North Carolina is spreading from the border areas on the South Carolina line to other areas in the state.

The State Bureau of Investigation and local officers have supposedly been working vigorously to bring to justice the individuals who have been behind the terrorism in the state for several months. Yet it took FBI agents to break the case in spite of the fact, as The Reflector pointed out previously, that local and state officers were working in their own back yard.

The trend of events in the terrorism in North Carolina leads to two possible conclusions. Either the local and state officers working on the case are not as well trained sleuths as the people of the state have been led to believe, or else they are not putting forth the effort which they should to stamp out the activities of the hooded nightriders who are sowing their seeds of anarchy about the state.

Nightriders already have ridden too long and too far in certain sections of North Carolina. Every possible effort by all the law enforcement divisions of the state and local governments should be focused upon ridding the state of its spreading cancer of terrorism.

A Trump Card That Should Be Played

Truce maneuvers in Korea continue to bear prospects of little fruit, but while negotiators for the United Nations and the Communists wrangle between each other, members of the United Nations wrangle among themselves over another problem which is of vital importance to the Korean situation.

Should the United Nations blockade the China coast to prevent war materials from finding their way into the hands of the Chinese Communists? That question is being talked . . . ever so quietly from official sources . . . and soon must come into open debate unless an agreement can be reached.

There is little sound common sense in sending fighting men and billions of dollars of materials to the Korean battlefields if the United Nations is going to continue to allow the Communist aggressors to replenish their supplies and build up their reserves through a pipeline which could easily be cut by the United Nations sea air power.

A blockade of the China coast would cost money, but little more than already is being spent. It would cause protests from China and Russia, but it would save lives on the battlefield and would put a serious crimp in the long range military plans of Communist China in Korea or elsewhere in Asia. With a vital supply line cut, Communist China would come to the truce talks with a more earnest attitude toward a settlement in Korea.

There is little chance a naval blockade would lead to spreading the Korean conflict, for Russia probably would respect the U. N. blockade of the China Coast just as she did the U. N. blockade of Korea. Considering the fact that 70 per cent of Communist China imports now come from Russia and her satellites, and great quantities of oil, arms and other war materials come in by sea, a blockade would seriously affect the war effort of the Chinese Reds. The other 30 per cent of Red China's imports which come from non-communist nations likewise would be seriously cut by a blockade.

United Nations soldiers in Korea already have been made to fight a war for too long with one hand tied behind them. Although a blockade of China would make no immediate difference on the battlefield, it would make a grave difference at the conference table, and would make the Chinese Reds realize that time would be working against rather than for them if the Korean stalemate continues.

The British would be reluctant to endorse a blockade of Red China's coast, but if the Korean situation is to be dealt with realistically, the blockade should be imposed and vigorously enforced.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Tax scandal investigators on Capitol Hill regard the Indianapolis Brewing Company's case as a far more flagrant example of political profiteering and fixing than poor Theron Lamar Caudle's publicized and picturesque deals with known racketeers.

The Hoosier affair involves such party bigwigs as Frank E. McKinney, Democratic National Chairman; Frank McHale, Indiana political boss and McKinney's sponsor at the White House; Joseph D. Nunan Jr., of Brooklyn, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue; John P. Wenchel and Charles Oliphant, former Chief Counsel for Internal Revenue; and Mr. Caudle himself.

It also touches President Truman and the late Robert E. Hannegan, who was chiefly responsible for landing Mr. Truman in the White House.

LEGALITY—Although every act in this drama of politico-industrial-banking profit-making is defended as within the law, and may have been cloaked with an air of legality, it is that very fact which makes it such a revealing example of the "get rich quick" attitude and processes now prevailing at Washington.

However, a careful, chronological study of the series of brewery and tax transactions is required to explain why Congressional investigators are so interested in what appears to be a modern version of "honest graft."

PROTEGE—The story must begin with the appointment of Nunan as Internal Revenue Commissioner by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944. He was promoted to this responsible post, although his handling of the Internal Revenue office at Brooklyn had been condemned as inefficient and lax by Treasury Intelligence agents.

Three other collectors criticized by this group in 1947 were Delaney at Boston, Finnegan at St. Louis and Smyth at San Francisco. Delaney has been convicted, and the other two are under indictment.

Nunan was Hannegan's protege. A St. Louis politician, Hannegan served as Internal Revenue Commissioner, Postmaster General and Democratic National Chairman under the Roosevelt-Truman regime.

He persuaded F. D. R. to favor Truman over Justice William O. Douglas as a substitute for Henry A. Wallace as second spot in 1944. It is generally agreed that political manipulation of Internal Revenue began under Hannegan.

NEGLECT—Nunan resigned in June, 1947, to enter the practice of tax law. He took with him as partner John P. Wenchel, who had been Chief Counsel during Nunan's service as Commissioner. The $600,000 tax relief subsequently given the brewing company after Messrs. Nunan and Wenchel became their lawyers, was approved by Oliphant, Wenchel's successor, and by Caudle.

In defending his legal right to represent the brewery in tax litigation under a Treasury waiver, Nunan says that he never heard of the firm's tax troubles until he headed the bureau, although they began two years before he resigned.

But it seems obvious that his partner, as Chief Counsel, must have had pre-resignation knowledge of the McHale firm's tax difficulties. Otherwise, he was as negligent as such highrups as Secretary Snyder, former Attorney General Tom Clark, Attorney General McGrath and the ousted Caudle seem to have been.

WAIVER—The King Committee will want to know about this aspect of the affair. It will want to find out whether the Treasury gave a waiver to Wenchel—and why. These waivers are required because of a law prohibiting a former federal official from appearing in legal matters he has handled until two years after he has quit the government.

Another question pertinent to the committee's inquiry is whether the brewery sale and tax favoritism profited Messrs. McKinney and McHale, both of whom had a heavy financial interest in the beer firm's financial status.

Nunan says he does not "remember" representing the brewery in the tax litigation, although Internal Revenue reports he was given a special waiver for that purpose. But the fact remains that the firm, although in tax troubles and heading for bankruptcy, was sold by McHale for $500,000. And subsequently, although its tax difficulties had become even more serious and it was nearer to bankruptcy, it paid off the $120,000 mortgage to McKinney's bank.

BANKRUPT—Only one year after McHale's sale of the brewery, its tax indebtedness to the government totaled $636,000. This figure was reduced to $4,500, after which the brewery got a refund of $35,000. In all these negotiations with Washington, Nunan and Wenchel represented the firm under that peculiar and questionable waiver.

Despite mounting beer sales throughout the country, and although the tax benefits exceeded the original payment price to McHale, the firm went bankrupt. Naturally, the $64 question is whether the sale of the brewery and subsequent tax relief amounted to a politico-legal conspiracy to bail out Messrs. McKinney and McHale.

CONGRESS Vs. THE PRESIDENT
 (Dear Creek Pilot, Rolling Fork, Miss.)
 The deep cleavage between Congress and the President will be inevitably widened in 1952.
 During his tenure, Mr. Truman has spent much time and effort trying to weave the American economy and the American way of life into a definite socialist pattern.

But for the efforts of brave and wise men in Congress—and the outspoken demands of public-spirited men and women—the President would have succeeded

LITTLE SAID ABOUT IT

(Williamston Enterprise)
 Out in Cairo, Illinois, a little city of 12,400 — 8,000 white and about 4,000 Negro — there have been racial disturbances of recent date. Segregation was and is being practiced despite a law passed 75 years ago to abolish segregation. Negroes demanded their children be enrolled in white schools. Reports from the state of the great emancipator said that "fiery crosses" were burned, and the streets echoed with shots and bombings. Bullets were sent whizzing through windows into homes, and there were dynamite blasts in Negro shops.

All of which is to be regretted, to be sure. But, strange as it may seem, little has been said about the disturbances in the little Illinois city. Had the incident had its location in South Carolina, Georgia or any of the other Southern states, every yankee paper would have chronicled it in big headlines. The movie good deal of talk in the district about a Democratic caucus to select one strong candidate to enter the primary, with virtual assurance of his nomination to meet the Republican challenger in November. That caucus would be, in effect, a convention nomination. It would give everybody in the district a chance to propose and work for the candidate of his choice, instead of having to make selection from the small number of self-proposed entrants who were willing to put up $125 apiece to get their names on the ballot.

CAUCUS — Now there is a

Republican — The Republican face a similar problem, except that Republican practice has been all along to nominate by convention. The primary entry being only a required legal formality. Before Doughton put out the word he would retire, Walter Johnson of Sparta had announced as a Republican candidate. His nomination seemed assured, because it was conceded that nobody could beat the "Old Man" in November. Now the situation has changed, and the Republicans feel confident they can capture the district with a strong man. Some Republican leaders are looking to Clyde Greene of Boone, who cut Doughton's majority to less than 6,500 in the 1946 election.

CONTEST — One thing is sure: There will be three contests for congress in the ninth district — one for the Democratic nomination, one for the Republican nomination, and a Republican caucus. The caucus is a real fight, and a real fight in the primary might engender bitterness that would carry over to November — and let the district go to the Republicans. Doughton held it by only about 17,000 majority in a total vote of more than 77,000 two years ago.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

A radio commentator by the name of Roper has made a survey on what worries Americans most, that is, as a nation. Roper bottled the worries down to six, which were mentioned most in his survey.

In 6th place was defense and re-armament. The people who mentioned this believe that we must re-arm as fast as possible to be able to meet the threat of Soviet aggression.

In 5th place was foreign policy. The American people think if we can solve the problem of alliance, agreements, and cooperate with other nations in the world, we can rest easier.

In 4th place was taxes and government spending. The budget is a big personal problem of the average American, and it likewise is a problem of our nation. Since the majority of the armament spending will show up in the 1952 budget, people are aware of the burden that will come there.

Many Americans are worried because they think taxes are too high. They remember when federal taxes were about two per cent of the nation's income, instead of the 11 per cent which is now the figure.

In 3rd place among the worries is Communism. The American people who participated in the survey thought of Communism as a threat to our way of life, not only at home, but abroad as well.

Up in second place in the survey of American worries is inflation, the high cost of living. Americans are becoming more and more conscious of prices, and are wondering if the cost of living will go beyond their incomes.

Of course by now you have guessed the No. 1 worry of Americans: war. People are worried about the Korean war, but more than that, they are concerned about the possibility of World War III. Many people think that war will come in the next few years, but all are hoping against hope that it can be prevented. The experts predict no war for the next five years.

In his survey, Mr. Roper also asked people what their personal worries were, as a contrast for the problems facing the nation. One wouldn't couldn't decide whether or not to get married, and a preacher worried most about how to counteract the fears of the members of his church. Farmers worry most about the success of their crops.

But, when the votes were counted, the people as individuals consider war and inflation their main personal problems, just as they consider those the nation's main worries.

And I thank you.

NOMINATIONS — Under North Carolina laws all candidates for public office except presidential electors must be nominated in a primary under control of either the county or the state board of elections. The 1951 General Assembly specifically exempted presidential electors from the primary, and legalized the long standing practice of nominating them in state conventions of the recognized political parties. Theoretically, the primary system is more democratic than the convention caucus method of nominating candidates. Actually it is less democratic, because choice is limited to the few candidates who are willing to put up the amount of the filing fee and pay the costs of a primary election campaign — or have those costs paid by friends.

EXAMPLE — Take the ninth congressional district for an example. When the Grand Old Man of the Mountains, Bob Doughton, announced the other day he would retire at end of his current term after 42 years in congress, speculation was rife as to who would get into the race for the post. At least a dozen men and two or three women had been mentioned as probable contenders. While these folks were thinking about it, Graham Carlton, youthful register of deeds in Rowan county, surprised them all by throwing his hat into the ring. Nobody who knows anything about ninth district politics expects him to get the nomination without a real fight, and a real fight in the primary might engender bitterness that would carry over to November — and let the district go to the Republicans. Doughton held it by only about 17,000 majority in a total vote of more than 77,000 two years ago.

CAUCUS — Now there is a bill that raised money to finance recovery from the depression, the second world war, the Marshall Plan and other international aid policies, and the present war in Korea. Because of his outstanding record, sending a Republican to replace him would be a signal victory for the party beyond the limits of North Carolina, and would be a crushing defeat for the Democrats.

STRATEGY — For that reason the leadership in both parties will insist that individuals forego personal ambitions "for the good of the party". This attitude might well result in reducing the number of names appearing on the primary ballots, and practical unanimity of support for one candidate in each party by the powers that be.

The Republicans can take care of that situation in their district convention. The Democrats might have to resort to the caucus idea or a rump primary to accomplish the same purpose. They have four weeks from Saturday to work. Filing time for candidates ends at noon on Saturday, March 22.

NAMES — The prospect list reads almost like a roster of party stalwarts in the district. Besides Walter Johnson of Alleghany county the Republicans have under consideration Watt Gregg and Clyde Greene of Watauga, Fate J. Beal of Caldwell, Monroe Adams of Iredell; Hobart Morton, Worth Little and Raymond Barker of Stanley, and several others. Previously mentioned as potential Democratic candidates, besides the announced Graham Carlton, are Mrs. R. S. Ferguson of Alexander; Virgil Guire and Mark Goforth of Caldwell; Walter Woodson, George Uzzell and W. D. Kiziah of Rowan; Eugene Bost

Business Today

The old American dream of being in business for one's self never fades. As many men and women are working on plans for their own enterprises as ever before, with the exception of the period immediately after World War II.

But enterprisers are finding it harder to start today. Costs are up.

Rentals for stores and offices are higher in most areas. Labor costs more. Most of the things going into equipping a store, office or shop are more expensive. Taxes are higher. Cities, counties and states have upped franchise and license fees quite a bit. Higher income taxes do not matter until a new business makes a profit — but wait a minute!

The fact is that income taxes can just about start a business in its first year.

Assume that a new business spends $10,000 for basic equipment and takes in $5,000 more than the total spent the first year. The $10,000 spent on equipment is not deductible from income for tax purposes. Only the depreciation — probably less than 10 per cent—is deductible. Thus the business would be paying taxes on around $14,000.

If the business man has financed the equipment with a long-term loan, he is in a good position. But if it was bought with a short-term loan or paid for out of receipts, survival may be difficult.

The accounting principle involved is sound, of course, as it has long been part of tax laws. But it is a double pinch for a small new business — first because one cost of equipment is higher, and second, because the tax rate is so high.

The hardest and most expensive part of starting a new business is getting capital. If the business is a defense project, Uncle Sam will lend a hand. If not, the enterprise is on his own.

Bank rates are higher. So are those of factors and other private lenders. If they can get 6 or 8 per cent on their money elsewhere, they want more from a new business — often a share of it — because of the risk.

Then there are relatives. But because uncles and aunts also pay taxes, they want higher rates of return. Uncle Elmer's perspicacity is no less than Uncle Sam's.

There are still many opportunities to establish economic independence, even though the nut is larger. But today, the nut must be measured in all three dimensions.

BUYING A BUSINESS MAY BE BETTER
 Because there are sometimes good bargains under the present tax system, buying a going business may be better than starting a new one these days.

Because capital gains taxes are lower than income taxes in most brackets, many owners are tempted to realize a capital gain by selling out instead of taking future profits that are liable to higher rates — and the rates may rise even more later on.

This situation encourages retirement at younger ages. It may be easier to raise capital to buy a business with a record of earnings than capital for a new, speculative enterprise.

However, the prospective purchaser of a new business should, now as always, thoroughly investigate the proposition. The story that the owner wants to realize a capital gain may not always be true.

TWO-PRICE SYSTEM MAY STIR PRICE WARS
 The establishment of a two-price system for a line of products is not unique, but public announcement of such a system is unusual.

A large appliance manufacturer, Proctor Electric, has announced that there will be two prices on all but two of its products. The advertised price will prevail in most sections of the areas where there are price wars. The two exceptions are a toaster and an iron on which the single retail prices have been cut so sharply they may provoke a new price war in this field.

The company will undoubtedly meet criticism and no little trouble. When shoppers in one area hear that an article is being sold at a lower price in another, they may build up resentment against both the manufacturer and the local dealer. This may tend to cause dealers in stable-price areas to charge the lower price and this, too, may start price wars.

On the other hand, the company is certainly within its rights in meeting competition in cut-price areas.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Everybody knows that history has had its big moments. But when they depict them in the movies they always have a wise old character around to make some historic utterance, showing he knows how important the event is. And the bystanders generally nod profoundly — as if they knew what was going on, too.

My theory is that people don't usually make historic remarks at historic moments. They just talk like they always do. I know I was aboard the Battleship Missouri when the Japanese surrender was signed, and the most historic remark I recall overhearing was, "quit showing."

Historians generally agree that the most important event in the story of the human race was the discovery of fire. Ten-to-one the most memorable observation at that moment wasn't something like, "the torch of man's upward march is hereby lit." It was probably a simple exclamation — "ouch!"

Recently two university professors — Louis L. Snyder and Richard E. Morris — polled historians on the ten most decisive events in man's recorded past. They were put into a book called "They Saw It Happen: Eyewitness Reports of Great Events."

Here is their list-along with a remark I think probably would be typical of the average reaction at the big moment:

1. The destruction of Carthage, 146 B. C., which put the Roman Empire on top of the world.
 Roman soldier: "That's the big brass for you every time — burn a town down so the guy in the ranks won't have a place to enjoy himself."
2. Battle of Adrianople, 378 A. D., which marked the beginning of the end of the Roman Empire.
 Roman soldier: "Oh, my poor aching back. Well, you can't win 'em all."
3. Invention of printing from movable type, 1450, resulting in the rapid dissemination of learning.
 Workman: "How am I ever going to get this ink outa my finger nails?"
4. Discovery of America, 1492, opening the new world.
 Sailor: "Now maybe we can go back to Spain and get a decent meal."
5. Advent of the steam engine, 1769, introducing the industrial engine.
 Workman: "If anybody thinks people will spend their life stoking a machine, he's crazy. It hurts my ears."
6. Declaration of Independence, 1776, the classic statement of human rights and the democratic credo.
 Tavernkeeper: "Well, it's nice to see these patriots put their signatures to something besides a bar tab."
7. Discovery of Anesthesia, leading to the conquest of pain.
 Nurse: "Hey, Doc, the patient's knocked out—but do you think we can bring her to?"
8. Assassination at Sarajevo, 1914, which started off the first of two world wars.
 Spectator, holding up one: "That's the archduke — the son that's bleeding."
9. D-Day: invasion of Fortress Europe, 1944.
 American soldier: "Oh, my poor aching back — don't tell me this is France. Where are the dimes?"
10. The atomic bomb, Alamogordo, N. M., opening a new age in warfare and technology.
 First scientist: "Well, let's pack up and go home. My wife'll give me hell if I'm late again atom bomb or no atom bomb."

That's the way history happens. The average guy is always concerned with his own small problem at the big moments, not what they will mean to mankind. But you can't tell that to the movie producers.

Washington Letter
 By JANE EADS

WESHINGTON — What do people from other countries think about America after they have spent some time in the grass roots areas? Do their ideas change after they get to know us? These are questions Miss Virginia Wilson of the Division of Education and Training, U.S. Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, asks men and women who come here on exchange agricultural training programs sponsored by various American government agencies.

Since last August Miss Wilson, 26 and pretty enough to be a cover girl, has interviewed about 125 persons after they have completed several months' sojourn. Here are some of the answers:

"One of the greatest benefits of this exchange program is that it realizes that human beings have always had the same problems in the world and that the average American could be my next door neighbor in Germany," said Dr. Lotte Mueller, studying nutrition and home economics methods.

Karola Kasmanhuber of Austria thinks the 4-H clubs are fine. She said: "I think if you want people to work for the community you have to start with the youth." She hopes to promote similar programs back home. Many of the visitors found the impressions that they had gotten from American movies were either "wrong or greatly exaggerated." "Most of the ideas we get about American people are from the movies and that isn't the truth," Anna Margareta Lindberg of Sweden said. "I thought there were more rich people here."

Dr. Sabine Scherrinsky, also of Germany, believes that American movies shown in Germany foster wrong ideas among the German people who see them. She said: "We don't get any idea about family life and no ideas about communities and how important are the community churches and education in the United States."

A spokesman for a group of Indonesians, studying animal husbandry methods, said their first impressions of America also had been gleaned from movies. "We thought all Americans were very rich, the living was easy, and no one must work hard," he said.

Miss Wilson, daughter of M. L. Wilson, director of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Extension Service, was amused at a German woman's remark that the only people she found in America not always in a hurry were the Indians in Oklahoma.

Third Party Predicted If Taft And Truman Chosen Candidates

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON UP—A leading Dixie Democrat predicted today that a third party will be formed in the South this year if President Truman and Sen. Robert A. Taft are the major party nominees for president.

On the other hand, he said, there is little chance of a new "Dixiecrat revolt" if President Truman steps aside for some other Democratic candidate, or if Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is the GOP nominee.

In the latter case, he said, many key Southern Democratic leaders would just "sit on their hands" during the campaign and let matters take their course, in the expectation that Eisenhower would carry at least five or six Southern states.

This appraisal of Southern strategy in the coming presidential battle was given by a respected political veteran who stands high in Dixie councils. He stipulated that he must not be named.

He disclosed that Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina has agreed to act as a spokesman for the Southern bloc at the July Democratic convention.

He indicated that Byrnes' main efforts will be directed toward preventing the renomination of President Truman, but would not say whether the former secretary of state plans to work quietly behind the scenes or make a dramatic frontal attack from the convention floor.

In other political developments: 1. Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), only avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination, announced that he is withdrawing his name from the March 18 Minnesota primary, where he had been entered without his consent against "favorite son" Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

2. Sen. Richard M. Nixon (R-Calif.) predicted today that Gov. Earl Warren will not be able to "trade" the big California delegation at the Republican national convention or "deliver" it for anybody except himself. Nixon, who is supporting Warren as a first choice for the GOP presidential nomination, said the delegation will stick by the Governor until "he is no longer a candidate" at the convention. But after that, Nixon said, "the delegation will make its own decision" whom to support.

3. Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-O) prepared to leave for appearances in Vermont, where he may make a decision on whether to campaign personally in the New Hampshire GOP primary March 11. The Ohio Republican is pitted in the New Hampshire balloting against Eisenhower, Harold E. Stassen, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur backers.

4. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), an undeclared hopeful for the Democratic nomination if President Truman does not run, attacked Taft's "confused" foreign policy in his weekly newsletter to Oklahoma constituents.

5. The Washington Post reported, in a dispatch signed by its publisher, Philip L. Graham, that Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson "will not permit himself to become the Democratic candidate for president even if drafted."

6. Mr. Truman told his weekly news conference he is not yet ready to announce his intentions. He forestalled any further political questioning.

Report Profits Of State Store

RALEIGH (AP)—An audit has disclosed that North Carolina State College's student supply store and its six branches made a profit of $457,315.51 during a seven-year period.

L. L. Ivey is manager of the store, which is operated by the State College Scholarship Fund. Ivey was paid a total of $152,228.44 during the seven-year period from February 1, 1944, according to the audit made public yesterday.

Of the total profit, $426,877.72 went into the scholarship fund. About 500 State College students held a mass meeting Tuesday night and demanded an itemized account of the student supply store profits. In a petition signed by them, they requested the college trustees to authorize the college administration to put all the profits into student activities.

The audit was released by Ivey and J. G. Vann, assistant controller and business manager. It showed that Ivey is paid $6,000 a year plus 20 per cent of the profits.

PICKETS GIVE BLOOD
NEW LONDON, Conn. (UP)—Twelve strikers at the New London Mills, Inc., quit the picket line. Fellow pickets made no protest. The 12 returned a few hours later, each minus a pint of blood because of a trip to the bloodmobile.

OTTAWA (AP)—An unusual potato shortage in Canada has pushed prices three times higher than a year ago, and placed new wealth in the hands of the successful potato grower.

It has also reversed a traditional trading pattern. Canada, which usually sells most of her surplus potatoes to the United States, is leaning more and more on American supplies to fill the gap in her needs.

The irony is that in this potato crop year which started last July, the United States had been prepared to allow a bigger quota on shipments of Canadian potatoes to the U. S. market.

The Shanghai News, a Communist newspaper, said the flesh of the long-haired wild ox was "more palatable than beef." The paper also said that use of yak meat as a substitute for beef would help to conserve the use of water buffalo and oxen for farm work.

Future Teachers Group Elects New President

Mary Jo Johnson of Coats has been chosen as president of the Future Teachers of America at East Carolina College and will soon begin her duties as leader of the student educational organization.

A senior at the college Miss Johnson is specializing in grammar grade education. She is a member of the campus branch of the Association for Childhood Education and has served as chairman of the committee on social service of the FTA and as a member of the Women's Chorus of the college. Recently she headed a drive to aid Koreans impoverished by the war, as a result of which 176 pounds of clothing were shipped abroad for distribution.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe M. Johnson of Coats.

There is no prospect that all of these names will appear on the ballot, but in the process of pre-primary elimination, whether by Republican convention or formal or informal Democratic caucus, all of them and others will figure.

TOPS — It is not improbable that because of developing conditions in the state and nation the race for congress in the ninth district will take precedence in popular interest over the contest for governor and president. Filling the vacancy left by retirement of Bob Doughton is the responsibility of voters; it is the nine counties making up the district. Interest in the action of those voters is keen throughout all of North Carolina and in California and Maine and Texas and all over. Ordinarily national committees of the major parties are not too much concerned about congressional elections. They are concerned about this one. Results of the election cannot be

Reducing Weight Of Jet Engines Done With Speed

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—There is a way, at least theoretically, to reduce the weight of jet airplanes, says William C. Schoofield, chief of aerodynamics at Chance Vought Aircraft.

The pilot must fly at top speed, say about 600 miles an hour. He must maintain a constant altitude and he must head due east. If these simple directions are followed, the weight of a 25,000-pound fighter will decrease about 135 pounds, Schoofield maintains.

If a pilot could fly at about 16,790 miles an hour, his plane would not weigh anything, he says. The reduction in weight is the result of a conflict between gravitational and centrifugal forces.

Beer Consumers In Germany Busy

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Germany again is living up to her reputation as a nation of beer drinkers, latest federal statistics reveal.

Beer consumption per head of the 49 million West Germans rose to 11.6 gallons in 1951 compared with 9.2 gallons in 1950.

The e-war high was reached in 1929 when 22.5 gallons per person was consumed by the then 65 million inhabitants of Germany.

Murder is Forgetful

BY WILLIAM G. BOGART

Chapter 10
Johnny went back and stood near the screened doors. He decided, finally, that the nurse, Karen, was not reading the magazine at all. Instead, she was sitting there in the chair and watching his bedroom.

A moment later there was a soft chimelike sound in the bedroom. Johnny moved across the room. There was a small, hand-carved writing desk near one of the twin beds. The telephone handset rested atop the desk and was the same tan color as the walls.

"Yes," said Johnny quietly, picking up the receiver.

"This is Kay, Mr. Saxon," the girl said.

Johnny decided that the telephone should be arranged so that you could make calls within the house as well as outside.

ing out to it was a wooden string-piece. A good-sized floating dock was built in front of the building.

Kay already was out there, standing in the open cockpit of a speedboat. The craft's mahogany hull glistened in the later afternoon sunlight. Surface of the harbor was glass-smooth.

She had been bent down adjusting something, but straightened as she heard his footsteps along the wooden planking of the dock. "Climb in," Kay said, smiling. She looked refreshed and bright and gone was the expression that had flared in her eyes such a short time ago as she mentioned her father. It occurred to Johnny Saxon that, dressed, Kay looked more mature.

She wore a white linen skirt that fitted her young hips smoothly. The pale green sweater did even more to enhance her attractiveness. A bright-colored kerchief was tied around her flaming hair. He wondered how she managed to stay so cool looking.

Sliding beneath the steering wheel, Kay said, "Mind casting off that rope?" She nodded to the line that held them to the dock. Then she kicked the starter of the speedboat.

The motor immediately took hold and settled into a deep, powerful throbbing.

"All set," Johnny said an instant later as he took a seat beside the girl's trim figure.

Kay fed gas to the motor and the stern of the craft settled down as the bow lifted up. Then they were skimming out across the harbor, and a wide, smooth wave curled outward on either side of the boat.

Bomb Holes In London Uncover Roman History

By HARRY KERLY
UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT
LONDON — (UP) — Excavations in World War II's bomb-ravaged historic mile-square City of London has thrown up fresh archeological evidence of the ancient capital in Roman times.

The discoveries, result of excavations conducted by the London Roman and Medieval Excavation Council, amplify discoveries made in 1950.

Sufficient excavations have been made in the Cripplegate area to prove the existence of a fort built to command roads north and west while the province was still being conquered by the Romans.

Dimensions and date of the fort have now been established. It covered an area of about 11 acres, with an east to west width of 230 yards and a north to south length of 250 yards.

Ditch Filled In
It is calculated the fort was built late in the first century A. D., and was surrounded by a ditch which was still open in the mid-second century. The fort was dismantled and the ditch filled in at a date assumed to be not long after the year 200.

Evidence was provided by coins found in the upper filling of the ditch belonging to the late second to early third century. Pottery was found in the ditch itself.

The latest excavations show three sections of the outer ditch crossed the ditch at its southern end. An internal road and part of the gravel surface of a road from the north also were unearthed.

Before Roman Wall
Experts conclude that the ditch and bridge on the south side are from the southern gate of the fort; the road from it points direct to Cripplegate.

The new discoveries indicate the fort was built some time before the Roman Wall. Experts have placed the building of the wall to be around 140 A. D.

At the southwest corner there was evidence of rebuilding and indications that a later inner wall was built to correspond with that of the fort.

Vote Pay Raise For Faculty Of Davidson College

DAVIDSON, N. C. — (AP) — The Davidson College board of trustees voted an approximate 10 per cent pay raise yesterday for faculty members and administrative workers.

The action was taken at the board's semi-annual meeting and was recommended by President John R. Cunningham. The new scale which sets $6,000 as the top for a full professor will go into effect July 1.

The trustees were told that the new $700,000 college church will probably be dedicated during the commencement exercises in June. Cunningham said that the contractors are expected to complete their work in the next few weeks and about two months will be required for the construction of the organ and the inside of the building.

Stocks And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks advanced over a broad front today after a sharp decline ending yesterday had carried the market to new lows for the year.

Trading lightened with first hour sales at 360,000 shares, against 370,000 shares for the period yesterday.

Net gains ranging from more than a point were spread through the list, coming mostly in issues hardest hit in the selloff which occupied 11 out of 14 sessions previous to today's.

The rebound was small compared with the losses. It was attributed to the belief the market had been oversold and was entitled to a recovery. Brokers warned that while some further rise might be in order, it would not be wise to follow up the advance.

Metal and oil shares were prominent among the gainers. Rails had some firm spots. So did the televisions where Zenith rose more than a point. Tires had gains ranging to a point. Steels firmed. Motors were steady.

Issues to rise more than a point included Allied Chemical, Monsanto, American Smelting, American Metal, Reynolds Metals, Cities Service, Atlantic Refining, Houston Oil, Boeing Airplane, Corn Products, Owens Illinois Glass and E. R. Squibb.

Northern Pacific touched 66 3/4 up 11/2 and then lost part of the rise. American woolen met support after equating its low.

Evicted Son Of Film Star Gets Draft Orders

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Edward G. Robinson Jr., evicted from the family mansion by his film actor father, found someone anxious to give him a home today.

The 19-year-old son of the famous tough-guy actor was ordered to report for his induction physical examination next Tuesday.

The senior Robinson ousted his son from the family home last week after the boy eloped with 21-year-old Frances Chisholm, a television actress.

Young Robinson said his parents wanted him to marry another girl and ordered him to start life "on his own" with the pretty actress. He also lost his $70-a-week allowance and was forced to take a $60-a-week job in a sheet metal plant.

The donkey was supposed to arrive earlier but got its heels fouled up in the red tape of freight travel. Taft said he would give it to his grandchildren here. "It's a small donkey—shouldn't be much trouble, he said.

Recreation Meet Slated Tonight

A meeting will be held at the Armory tonight at 8 o'clock with recreation chairmen from civic and fraternal clubs, churches and P. T. A. groups meeting to make recreation plans for the city.

Warren Carroll, city recreation director, said he was calling the meeting to outline plans of community recreation and see what progress can be made in developing the city playgrounds this Spring.

The director said much progress has been made through the development of recreation program activities and through the contact of the citizens with the recreation movement but there is much to be done before the goals of a constructive community-wide recreation program can be seen.

"With such developments in mind," Carroll said, "the recreation commission is interested in bringing together the many organizations in Greenville so that a systematic schedule of events and plans can be presented and discussed, thereby giving us a much broader scope of ideas and interest with which to work."

Quotas on these three crops are corn, nine percent over last year's acreage; cotton, five percent over last year's acreage; and soy beans, 10 percent more than last year's acreage.

The Sport Reflector

By JIMMY KILLEN

Ted Mann, the able sports publicity director at Duke who doubles as president of the Carolina (Class B) League, is moaning about the deal the Blue Devils are getting in these polls which select the "top" teams in the country.

Brother Mann claims that Duke is getting robbed. (He doesn't put in those words, but you get the idea.) He points out that Duke has not lost a basketball game since January 5 (knock on wood, please). He tells in a little note that Duke has knocked off Temple, N.Y.U., Bradley, Pennsylvania, and Navy. He points with a flourish to the 18-5 record Dick Great and Company has amassed.

There are going to be some people who will look at Mann's words and laugh in his face but Ted has prepared for that with his next few words. He says, "While we do not claim to be the best team in the country and we may not even be the best team in our conference, we do not feel that there are 20 teams in the country better than we are."

Mann has a point. The Duke team has played some pretty good basketball all season long and have not had a bad week since back in December when they lost to West Virginia, Columbia, and Southern California.

Oh! Ted may be right when he says Duke may not be the best in the Southern Conference. But he might just as well be right when he says he doesn't believe there are 20 basketball teams in the country better than the Duke five.

Rogers has the best average in the North State Conference but High Point's Easy Ed is busy setting a new individual scoring record for the nine member loop.

The tournament games next week will count on the scoring totals of all the players and give them all a chance to improve their individual marks.

After last night's Greenville victory over Roanoke Rapids, things are pointing to a real grudge scrap next Tuesday when Kinston comes to Greenville for the final Northeastern Conference game of the season.

After last night's action, the Phantoms and Red Devils are even-steven with eight wins apiece. Each club has lost two games.

Tonight the Red Devils are playing host to the New Bern Bears while tomorrow night the Phantoms travel to Edenton to meet the Aces. The Devils will be heavy favorites to win tonight and the Phantoms will be solid favorites tomorrow so the teams will, in all probability, be tied up next Tuesday when they meet.

After the Powder Bowl game at Carolina earlier this week, some of the staff members are said to be considering using some of the female football players unless some of the masculine Tarheels can do better next season.

Up at Chapel Hill, they're still raving about the broken field running of Liz Currie, a PI Phi. Miss Currie got off several nice runs through the shapely forward wall of the opposing Tri-Delta.

Texas Big League Is Millionaire

DALLAS — Professional baseball is noted for being the rich man's playing. Few ever made any money out of it, especially in the minors.

Pro baseball really is a rich man's plaything in the Class B Big State League. There isn't a club owner who has less than a million dollars.

Actually there is $50,000,000 back of this circuit. The league is made up of Austin, Longview, Wichita Falls, Texarkana, Waco, Greenville, Temple and Tyler, all in Texas.

A league of eight millionaires, in most instances multi-millionaires, they can operate no matter how high the prices for players may go. The clubs show assets from $22,000,000 down to $1,000,000. The million dollar boys are sort of the "poor relations" in this circuit.

ROANOKE RAPIDS—The Greenville Phantoms chalked up their eighth win of the Northeastern Conference basketball season last night by trampling the hapless Roanoke Rapids Yellow Jackets, 67-44. The game was played in the Roanoke Rapids Armory.

The victory put the Phantoms into a tie for second place with the Kinston Red Devils with two losses and moved them within a half game of the pace-setting Washington Pam-Pack.

Coach Bo Farley's Phantoms were paced last night by Smith Worthington who broke a mild scoring slump by pumping through 23 points. Guard Sonny Scott was following closely with 15 points and forward Sid Briley came through with 11.

Roanoke Rapids' Tom Topping had a great first quarter which enabled him to take scoring honors for the Yellow Jackets. He wound up with a total of 19 points in the contest, 13 of which came in the first quarter. He was the only real scoring threat presented by the Jackets and when he was finally stopped by the Greenville defense, much of the Roanoke Rapids scoring punch was gone.

Topping was the big boy in a fast start by Roanoke Rapids which enabled the Jackets to play on equal terms with the Phantoms for the first eight minutes. At the end of three minutes of play, Topping was the only man who had done any scoring for the Yellow Jackets and had given them a 5-3 lead. His 13 point total for the period pulled the Jackets into an 18-16 tie at the end of the quarter. After that, Briley was moved in to play the defensive pivot spot and Sonny Scott and Joe Rowland were charged with stopping the guards.

All three of the Greenville performers did their job well and the Phantoms were off to the races.

Scott and Worthington started hitting for the Phantoms on a fast break and the short handed Roanoke Rapids club was out in the cold. Briley and Rowland led the defensive play for the period and there was little the Yellow Jackets could do even after they had brought the ball into their own forecourt.

After intermission, the Yellow Jackets made a last attempt to get back into the lead. They enjoyed a brief moment of glory while the Phantoms were working their game back into top shape but that moment of glory was abruptly ended when the Phantoms started clicking again.

In the fourth period, the Phantoms pulled all the stops as Coach Bo Farley cleared the bench but the Yellow Jackets were still unable to stop the Greenville club. The last eight minutes were nothing short of a runaway for the Phantoms and they finished the game with reserves in the line-up.

The Roanoke Rapids teams has been weakened considerably by a siege of influenza which has struck the town. Several members of the squad were forced to miss last night's game and only eight boys were dressed for the game.

The Phantoms will continue their Northeastern slate Friday night when they travel to Edenton to meet the winless Aces. In the first meeting of the clubs, Greenville won 67-40.

U. S. Team Gets Second Place In Olympic Bobsled

By HENRY THORNBERRY

OSLO, Norway (UP)—The No. 1 United States team finished second behind Germany today in the first heat of the four-man bobsled competition of the winter Olympics. A hot sun threatened to cancel tomorrow's scheduled windup of the event.

The U.S. team, steered by Stan Benham of Lake Placid, N.Y. shot down the 1,500-meter nearly one-mile Frognerseteren course in one minute, 17.4 seconds on a rapidly softening track. The Germans were timed in a superior 1:16.36.

Two heats are scheduled for today and the final two for tomorrow.

The two-day bobsled competition involving 15 teams from nine nations began under a hot sun that threatened to destroy the Frognerseteren course within a few hours.

With temperature at 39 degrees Fahrenheit, the ice was melting rapidly and Norwegian officials felt that the four man bobsled race might not be completed.

"The course is terrible," said an Olympic official. "It's in danger of being completely destroyed within an hour by the sun. This may be the only event of the Olympics which we will not be able to finish."

Besides Benham, the U.S. sled was made up of Pat Martin of Massena, N.Y.; Howard Crosset of Bradford, N.Y., and Jim Atkinson of Hamilton, N.Y.

The U.S. won the Olympic four-man bobsled championship in 1948 and was a strong favorite to repeat.

America's No. 2 sled completed its first heat in 1:19.13 and was in eighth place.

At the completion of the first heat, the temperature had risen to 43 degrees and officials ordered a delay to repair the track and eliminate excessive hazards.

The crack German sled was made up of Andreas Ostler and Lorenz Nieberl, who won the two-man championship, and Fritz Kuhn and Franz Kemser.

Switzerland's No. 3 team was third after the first heat, the Swiss No. 1 team was fourth, followed by Sweden's two teams.

Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., was favored to win the U.S. its fourth Olympic Gold Medal in the windup of the men's figure skating competition later in the day.

Button, 21-year-old Harvard University senior, held a commanding lead at the start of today's competition, and only a major disaster could prevent him from successfully defending the crown that he won in 1948.

The United States, which surged back into second place yesterday on the strength of Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence's slalom victory and a fine showing in ladies figure skating from Jimmy Grogan of Colorado Springs, Colo., who was in third place at today's start, and Hayes Jenkins of Akron, O., who stood fifth.

At the start of today's competition, Norway was in first place with 101 points, an apparently unbeatable lead, while the U.S. was second with 56 1-2 points to Austria's 51.

The U.S. hockey team, unbeaten in four games but much criticized because of what Europeans consider "rough" play, expected its sternest test so far against Sweden, also unbeaten. The third unbeaten team, Canada, plays Switzerland while Finland meets Czechoslovakia and Norway plays Germany.

The U.S. game against Switzerland on Tuesday was marked by a fist fight on the ice, booing by fans, and severe criticism by the press, and followed by reports that Switzerland would "break hockey relations" with the U.S.

Baby Phantoms Win Number 14

ROANOKE RAPIDS—The Greenville High School Junior Varsity Phantoms won their fourteenth straight contest last night by rolling over the baby Jackets of Roanoke Rapids 53-23. The contest was a preliminary to the Varsity game between squads from the two schools.

Bob Howell, with 11 points, and Pat Sawyer, with 10, led the scoring for the Greenville team as Coach Bill Kittrell's club made a complete runaway of the contest. Harry Scott, Walter Perkins, and George Siders led the defensive play.

Charles Parrott topped the Yellow Jacket scoring with five points. David Williams paced the Roanoke Rapids defense.

Roanoke Rapids led at the end of the first period but Greenville came back to take the game.

Split-T Offense Is Praised By Barclay

George Barclay, assistant football coach at Carolina, told a group of approximately 60 Carolina alumni and supporters that the people around Chapel Hill are expecting to have a much better record this year than in the past.

Speaking at a dinner meeting of the University of North Carolina Educational Foundation at the local Country Club, Barclay explained the advantages of the split-T football formation, which he will help install at Carolina this spring. Barclay went on to say that players who have played under other styles of offense had rather play under the split-T and better results have been obtained under the rather new formation.

Barclay resigned as head coach at Washington and Lee College several weeks ago in order to take his present position at Carolina under Coach Carl Snavely. At the conclusion of last night's meeting, Barclay showed films of this year's Carolina-Maryland football game.

Winterville Boys Lose, Girls Win

WINTERVILLE—Bethel downed Winterville High, 65-40, in a contest played here Tuesday night. Winterville's girls won the opener by a margin of 56-45.

Vance White and Robert Nelson led the scoring for the winning boys team with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Bobby Manning also collected 12 points for the Bethel team. Earl Johnston was outstanding on defense for the winners.

Winterville's Bobby McGlohon was high for his team with 14 points, followed by Rex Wainright and Dean Wainright with eight and seven points, respectively. Bobby Cole picked up six points.

In the girls game, Winterville broke away from a 21-21 deadlock at halftime to win in the last quarter.

Jean Ann Liverman of Winterville scored 23 points, but she had to take a backseat in the scoring parade to Bethel's Joyce Beverly, who hit for a total of 34 points to lead the Indian Maidens.

Betsy Castellone and Joan Averette scored 16 and 15 points, respectively, for the winners, while Bethel's Isabel Manning dropped in 11 points for the losers. Nancy Worthington and Faye Branch were defensive standouts for the winners, while Anne Riddick and Carrie Ayers paced Bethel.

The Elon Christians meet the Guilford Quakers tonight in a North State Conference basketball game which may have a big bearing on the seeded berths in the forthcoming conference tournament in Statesville.

Atlantic Christian defeated Western Union Apprentice School of Pittsburgh, Pa., 82-63 in a non-conference game last night.

Atlantic Christian pressed an opening period advantage and paced by freshman center Ray Shiffner, with 28 points, chalked up its fourth victory of the season against 16 defeats.

Bill McClure was tops at the basket for the visitors with 15 points.

Appalachian Mountaineers unleashed hard-shooting offensive last night to down Western Carolina 102-58 in a North State Conference basketball game.

Ronald Rogers, Western Carolina star, hit the net for 26 points to increase his individual scoring leadership in the conference. He now has 602 points.

Elon Football Star Signs With 'Skins

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sal Gero, guard and tackle for Elon College's football team last year, has signed with the professional Washington Redskins. Gero, a Redskin draft choice, weighs 235 pounds and is five feet, 10 inches tall.

Informed of the report, Executive Secretary J. Lyman Bingham of the U.S. Olympic team replied, "If they want to break relations with us, that's their business. We don't care."

The Canadians also came in for heavy criticism because they, like the Americans, use body checking, which Europeans consider "unsportsmanlike."

Jonny Bratton Boomed In Lucky Win Over Cardell

CHICAGO (UP) — Johnny Bratton, a lucky winner over Vic Cardell, complained today he believed his victory was boomed because he didn't knock out his Hartford, Conn., opponent.

"I'm no knockout artist," he said. "I wanted to go 10 rounds, and I'm glad I did. Now I'll be better off to fight somebody else later."

"But these fans here, if I don't get somebody in trouble right away and knock them out, I'm no good."

Cardell was a hard fighter to get in trouble. The Easterner was the victim of a surprise decision, the second in a row here in favor of Bratton.

"It was a close fight," Cardell said. "And maybe I didn't win. I guess I lost a hometown decision, though, but that's the fight game. I'd sure like a rematch with him in New York or Boston."

The loss, by a split decision, did Cardell no harm. Anxious to gain entry into the top 10 of the welter-weight class, he proved to the 2,902 fans and the television audience that he merited such a ranking.

The house boomed the decision for Bratton, 53 to 47 by referee Frank Sikora and 52 to 48 by judge Spike

McAdam, and for Cardell 51 to 49, by judge Jim McManus, for 40 seconds. And their clamor stopped only when the organ, at full strength, drowned them out.

Duke Track Ace

DURHAM (AP)—One of the top prospects on Duke's outdoor track squad is Joe Shankle, all-around ace who starred at Randolph-Macon Academy. His top prep school record for the high hurdles was 14.4 — only one tenth of a second off the Southern Conference record set in 1939.

Willie Sutton's Confederate Is Arrested; New Robbery Blocked

NEW YORK (UP)—Police put Slick Willie Sutton's accused partner-in-crime behind bars today and said his arrest revealed that the two men had been planning another big bank robbery.

Two detectives picked up Thomas Kling, 46, last night in his dingy East Side apartment where they found three pistols, bullets, nine empty money bags and 19 pairs of shiny new police handcuffs.

Detectives Thomas Walsh and Victor Shanley said they tipped into the bathroom and seized Kling before he could reach for a pistol in his bathroom pocket. Kling, like Sutton, was on the FBI's list of "10 most wanted" criminals.

When the detectives manacled Kling with a pair of his own handcuffs, he protested that he was receiving "unjust" treatment.

He later was put in a police lineup where James Oliver, chief clerk of a Long Island branch of a Manhattan bank, identified him as Sutton's accomplice in a $64,000 robbery in 1950.

Sutton has pleaded innocent.

Police Commissioner George Monaghan described Kling as "one of the most desperate men around" and said he had proof that he and Sutton had held secret meetings before Slick Willie was arrested Monday on a tip from Arnold Schuster, a Brooklyn pants salesman.

Police theorized that the two men planned to use the handcuffs to manacle witnesses to a future bank robbery and would have hauled away their loot in the money bags.

Monaghan said Kling was a "very dangerous character" and "would have killed" one of the detectives if they had not used extreme caution in entering the apartment.

The police commissioner said Kling had a record of 19 arrests, including three felony convictions, and was serving time with Sutton in a Philadelphia prison before Slick Willie made his getaway in 1947 and established residence just three blocks from a Brooklyn police station.

Following Kling's arrest, detectives seized a pretty 20-year-old brunette and a 37-year-old former convict as material witnesses in the Sutton case.

Plainclothesmen stationed outside Kling's apartment took John De Venuta into custody as he prepared to enter the building.

De Venuta said he was bringing sandwiches to Kling, whom he had met on a subway two months ago. He said he pitied Kling and wanted to help him because the man had asked him for money for food.

But police said De Venuta and Kling first met when they served time together in the New Jersey State Prison at Trenton. De Venuta said he had a long police record, too.

Police said the woman, Margaret Moore, was a friend of Kling and Sutton. She was arrested at a girl's club which has been her residence since she entered the United States in 1950 from Ireland.

Jail Improvement In State Noted

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina is making considerable progress in the improvement of town and county jails and the humanitarian treatment of jail inmates, according to Dr. Ellen Winston, State Public Welfare Commissioner.

Dr. Winston released a report yesterday which showed that new jails were constructed in eight towns last year, and 29 town and county jails were remodeled.

She said the progress made "is putting North Carolina in the front rank of the 48 states. The county commissioners and the courts deserve praise for their cooperative spirit."

New jails were erected at Bethel, Zebulon and Old Fort.

The report showed 10 jails were closed by local authorities. These were in Battleboro, China Grove, Mayodan, Mooresville, Raeford, Robins, Roseboro, Salisbury, Sharpsburg and Wallace.

JACKSON, Miss. (UP)—Though Mississippi is legally dry, 1,500 members and guests of the state committee of the Newcomen Society of England raised champagne filled glasses here last night in a toast to Queen Elizabeth II.

Nine Witnesses Will Appear In Grand Jury Study

RALEIGH (AP)—Nine witnesses were expected to appear before a special federal grand jury today as it launched a study of crime conditions in Eastern North Carolina.

The grand jury was due to begin hearing testimony of the witnesses after being charged by Federal Judge Don Gilliam. The jury is expected to be in session for about a month.

A special grand jury already is making a similar study in North Carolina's Western District, another jury will begin its study in the Middle District next week.

The special grand juries were summoned at the direction of U. S. Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, who is directing a nationwide inquiry into organized and syndicated crime.

U. S. District Attorney Charles Green announced that the following witnesses were expected to appear before the grand jury:

William T. Atkinson, Greensboro, U. S. narcotics agent; T. E. Patton, Charlotte, special investigator for the U. S. Alcohol Tax Unit; Paul Cory, Wilmington, senior special agent for the U. S. Bureau of Internal Revenue; Thomas Hunter, Wilmington, assistant collector of customs; C. H. McLendon, Raleigh, principal Washington High School; G. E. Jones, Raleigh, business manager, Shaw University; Dr. Eames Boyer, Raleigh, dean of St. Augustine Col-

J. A. Burnett, Raleigh, North Carolina State College Traffic Officer; and Col. J. J. Stewart, Raleigh, housing manager at North Carolina State College.

Gloria Selects Sixth Husband

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Gloria Swanson has picked out husband No. 6.

He is Brandon Brent, Miss Swanson's 44-year-old business manager and a one-time society columnist. Miss Swanson is 53 years old and twice a grandmother.

The actress, a screen sensation in silent pictures who came back to win widespread applause in the picture "Sunset Boulevard," played coy yesterday when asked about her plans.

"Why don't you wait until it happens," she said, although she admitted Brent popped the question while they were "kidding around." She told him, "Who knows, I might."

But Brent said flatly that he and Miss Swanson would be married "within the year."

"You know how these things go," he said. "We've been associated for a year and a half, and a year takes a long time to pass."

He said that he and Miss Swanson had been "good friends for 10 years."

Rumors about a marriage of the glamorous grandmother and her business manager have been spinning around the film capital for weeks.

Miss Swanson's former husbands in chronological order were the late film star Wallace Beery, restaurateur Herbert Somborn, the Marquis Henri De La Falaise De

There's no escaping it, next Tuesday, February 26th, is Pancake Day! Because it is Shrove Tuesday, the day before Lent, "Shriving Cakes" are traditional on the menu. And to make these really a treat, serve hot with flavorful, Wilson's Certified Pure Pork Sausage—links or patties.

Program Of Dances Well-Received Here

Emily Frankel and Mark Ryder, young American dancers, appeared before an audience of approximately 1200 people at East Carolina College Tuesday evening with a program of dances marked by variety in mood and originality of conception. The program was sponsored by the college Entertainment Committee.

"Especially artistic among program numbers" were Miss Frankel's interpretation of the old English folk song "The Ballad of the False Lady." In this, Miss Frankel, dressed in a black and canary colored costume suggestive of the theme of the ballad, gave a dance version of the song of a bird to a lady who has just slain her lover. Grace and emotional depth characterized "And Jacob Loved Rachel," danced by both artists to the music of Block's "Baal Shem."

Unusual background sound effects were used in "Biography of Fear," done to the wall of air raid sirens mingled with rhythmic jazz patterns. "Haunted Moments" presented a fantasy in which the roar of a train, the ringing of bells of varying tone and pitch, the clash of the cash register, and other noises characteristic of modern life pointed up the idea of the compulsive effects of sounds on people's attitudes and activities.

Humor and satire with a light touch marked other dances, such as "People and Things," about those "possessed by their possessions."

Music and background effects of sound were recorded and gave a somewhat unsatisfactory accompaniment to the performance.

As the next number on the series for this year, the Entertainment Committee will present Ray Anthony and his orchestra in a concert followed by a dance next Wednesday evening, February 27. The program will be open to students, holders of season tickets to the Entertainment Series, and their guests.

Azalea Festival Representative Chosen By ECC

As a member of the Queen's Court in the annual Azalea Festival in Wilmington in March, Myra Gale Dorsey, East Carolina College sophomore, will share in the honors of the spring celebration in her home city of Wilmington.

Miss Dorsey, attractive Titan-haired student, was chosen over twelve other contestants to represent her fellow students. A general election conducted Tuesday of this week by the Student Government Association was the first to be held on the campus to select the attendant in the Queen's Court. Janet Shore of Fayetteville was runner-up in the voting.

A graduate of the New Hanover high school, Miss Dorsey is specializing at East Carolina in the field of grammar grade education. She is the daughter of W. K. Dorsey, head of distributive education at Wilmington College, and Mrs. Dorsey.

Dog's Life Has No Dull Moments

HOUSTON, Tex. — (UP)—The life of Tony, three-month-old bulldog rat terrier mixture, is really a dog's life.

First he ate half of a poisoned rat before his owner, Mrs. Roy Willette, spotted him and took him to a veterinarian to have his stomach pumped out.

The next day he ate some glass while licking milk out of a broken milk bottle — and went to the veterinary again.

The next day, when his three-year-old master, Roy Jr., decided to give Tony a bath, the family's automatic washer was the natural choice.

By the time Mrs. Willette rescued him from the washer, Tony was clean but limp. It took artificial respiration to revive him.

Icelandic Study Opens At Univ.

WINNIPEG — (UP)—The University of Manitoba has set another precedent in the history of Canadian-Icelandic culture.

The only Canadian university with a department of Icelandic and the only privately-endowed chair of Icelandic language and literature in western Canada, the university now has appointed a chairman to head the department.

Youthful Finnboji Gudmundson, a distinguished graduate of the University of Iceland, has arrived in Winnipeg to assume the chair of Icelandic language and literature. The new professor is the son of the late Gudmundur Finnbojogson, noted scholar, national figure, and librarian of Iceland's national library.

Wife's Hammer 'Fixed' His Car

HOUSTON, Tex. — (UP)—A Cadillac automobile, reported to police as being badly battered, sent officers hurrying through files to identify the owner.

The car belonged to the family in front of whose house it was parked.

The woman who answered the door gave this explanation: Her husband stayed out until 4 a. m. then got up the next day to "leave again."

The woman said she was determined he wouldn't leave. So, she waded into his car with a hammer. Officers reported every piece of glass, except one tail light, had been broken and scores of dents had been hammered into the metal portions.

Vets Making Hay In Dried-Up Lake

TULE LAKE, Calif. — (UP)—World War II veterans who homesteaded on the 90,000 acres of dried-up Lake Tule have produced $27,000,000 worth of potatoes and barley in the past five years.

The U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, which drained off the last shallow remains of the lake and then parceled out the land to veterans, chosen in a lottery, said that the project has been a great success. Its full potential has not yet been reached and plans are under way to open up another area of the lake.

The area lies on the California-Oregon border. The farmer veterans who broke the land had a difficult job but have been well rewarded in their harvests of Klamath potatoes, barley, alfalfa and onions, the bureau said.

PAYS UP IN PENNIES

MERIDIAN, Miss. — (UP)—Apparently angered at parking meters which always seemed to run out before he could get back to his car, a local motorist decided to pay up when his overparking tickets totaled $20.50. He plunked down a sack of pennies on the desk of constable Ben Clayton, who calmly counted out the 2,050 pennies.

TAMPA, Fla. — Capt. Alfred T. Humbles, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Humbles of Greenville, Rte. 2, has been named Pilot-of-the-Month at MacDill Air Force Base. Capt. Humbles of the 305th Bomb Wing's Air Refuel Squadron was awarded the distinction for his outstanding skill and qualifications in the KC-97 Stratotanker.

When Major General Joseph H. Atkinson, commanding general of the 2nd Air Force, visited MacDill for a short transition course in the KC-97 in January, Captain Humbles was selected as his instructor-pilot. Gen. Atkinson said he was impressed with Capt. Humbles' ability and conscientiousness, with the manner in which he maintained crew discipline, and with the way he caused his crew to adhere to Flying Safety operational procedures.

'Tonkünstler' Is Able To Identify 6,000 Sounds

MILAN (AP)—What's a tonkünstler? Maestro Cesare Augusto Tallone, who is one, says it is a person who can recognize a stack of sounds.

Tallone claims that he can pick out any one sound from among 6,000. He is trying to persuade Italian piano makers to produce an instrument that will have a typically Italian character—one that would express Italian music.

Tallone's title comes from German and Austrian piano factories where he worked for years to train his ear. Born in 1895 at Bergamo, he is considered one of the world's few masters of sound. Famous pianists and concert directors get free advice because, he says, "It's my way to contribute to art."

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

It's surprising the number of people who consider a water softener as a luxury gadget to appeal to women in the fancy home equipment game. But when engineering research finds that such home-ly things as the familiar ring in the bathtub and crusts in pipes, water heaters and cooking utensils are costing you hard earned cash, just because of hard water, you begin to wonder.

The University of Illinois Small Homes Council, for instance, found that deposits formed by calcium and magnesium sulphates and bicarbonates—the elements that make water hard—can materially reduce the efficiency of home hot water heaters. Some authorities say that loss of efficiency can amount to $1.50 per person per year.

But the consumption of soap is the big item. According to the Culligan Soft Water Institute of Northbrook, Ill., the average family uses about $37 worth of magnesium rods in the water heater were supposed to prevent this, a chemical or electrolytic action occurred between the copper tubing and steel water tank, causing rust that only a water softener could eliminate. Since the gadget was installed the hot water is as white and clear as the cold. The plumber says it's drinkable.

Have you ever wondered why some people have three faucets on all sinks and lavatories? In hotels the third faucet is usually labeled "ice water" simply because it is lightly cooled. The three-faucet arrangement means that the water is so hard that softeners are used on both the cold and hot water lines. Since many people object to the taste of soft cold water, the third pipe carries the plain hard water. Also there is no real need to soften the water used by the toilet tank or hose connections. Hence, three pipes.

Hard water often tastes better and it's usually healthful with all the mineral it contains. But it's a terror for washing. Its calcium and magnesium ions react with soap to form insoluble curds. That's why women use ammonia, borax, or trisodium phosphate with washing soda to get clothes clean.

So water softeners have become one of the slickest of modern appliances for the home. They save enough soap alone to pay for themselves in short order. They usually work with zeolite, a mineral that extracts the hardness from the water as it filters through. The zeolite exchanges the calcium and magnesium for sodium that works fine with soap. The softener requires recharging or reconditioning after the zeolite's supply of sodium is used up. Sometimes this is accomplished by adding common salt to the softener. Sometimes an auxiliary brine tank takes care of this.

In the worst hard water areas rental softener service is popular. A replacement unit is periodically installed and the exhausted mineral unit is taken back to the plant for recharging. According to the Culligan Institute, there are more than 700,000 rental softeners in service.

Apparently water softeners can do much to prolong the life of the plumbing system of a house. One observer has estimated that as many as 12,000 domestic hot water tanks rust out prematurely every week throughout this country and have to be replaced. More than 700 cities are adding phosphates in their water supplies to control rust in water mains.

ingham, N. C., in March. The case was listed on a court calendar released here yesterday. The movie and television star accused Charles W. Stitzer Jr., manager of the Highland Pines Hotel, of "wilful and wanton negligence" in the loss of a diamond-encrusted clip. Stitzer countered that Miss Barrie deposited the clip in the hotel safe "recklessly and wrongfully for the purpose of collecting in the case of theft or loss." The new Britten airfield at Entebbe, Uganda, Africa, has year-around good weather.

Years ago, when first written, much of Wagner's music seemed very unmusical to many people. There are approximately 25,000 different kinds of fish.

See Easy Senate Confirmation Of New RFC Boss

WASHINGTON (UP)—Opponents conceded today that Harry A. McDonald will win easy Senate confirmation as RFC administrator.

McDonald, former head of the Securities and Exchange Commission, was approved for the RFC post by a 7 to 3 vote of the Senate Banking Committee yesterday.

He will succeed W. Stuart Symington, who retired Feb. 15, as head of the multi-billion dollar federal lending agency. It was placed under a single administrator in a reform move last year, after a Senate investigation of "favoritism and influence" under the old management of a five-member board of directors.

Two banking committee members who voted against McDonald predicted that he will win approval and the third, Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), said he will tell his reasons but will not make "any bone-crushing attack" on the nominee.

Atlantic Storms May Desolate Irish Island

By BRENDAN WALSH
United Press Staff Correspondent
DUBLIN (UP)—Fierce Atlantic storms which pounded the Irish coast this winter brought renewed fears for the future of people living on islands fringing the country's western shores.

The Aran and Blasket Islands were cut off from the mainland for weeks and there was much uneasiness as the islands' stocks of food, lighting equipment, fuel and other materials dwindled dangerously low.

On Blasket Island, 27 adults and one child were openly pessimistic about future life on the island after they were rescued.

They repeated the old complaints that once the Atlantic whips itself into a fury, local fishermen often wait days, occasionally weeks, before attempting to cross the waves.

More Than Skill
Courageous and skilled as the fisherman are, it requires more than skill and brute strength to carry a heavy cargo of food and household equipment in the face of fierce storms. Many locals have attempted such crossings in past years. The next that was heard of them was when their bodies were found wedged in the rocks miles away.

Life on these islands is a grim business, and most of it is spent combating the Atlantic. During the warm summer months, life is pleasant enough but conditions fall into the primitive class in the winter.

Food, heat and strong clothes and boots become of paramount importance. There are no cinemas, theaters, shops, clubs; only a few cottages and blazing fires with excellent home-made meals.

There was no panic on the islands, simply gloom.
On Blasket Island, a young boy, only one on the island, got no present from Santa Claus because of the storms and his plaintive questions only made the big feat day gloomier still.

Life Goes On
Now that the storms have abated and the islanders have obtained new stocks of food and other materials, life goes on as usual. There is increased speculation on the possibility of bringing many of the islanders to live on the mainland, where they could fish as profitably as ever, with no risk of being cut off from stocks of food and fuel.

Despite the rigors of their life, some of the islanders have become attached to the homes where they were born, and the older men and women are particularly reluctant to leave their hearthstones.
However, should the authorities decide to take firm action, it is more than likely that sentiment will have to yield to safety first and that the islanders may have only seagulls as their inhabitants.

Police Furnished Guns For Holdup

CHICAGO (UP)—The Chicago Police Department unwittingly furnished the equipment for a tavern hold-up last night.

Two bandits held up two homicide squad detectives and took off with their car and guns. Then the bandits drove up to a tavern, parked the police car and robbed the tavern of $300.

The thieves fled on foot. Police later got the car back.

HOLDS HIS 'BURGERS
KALAMAZOO, Mich. (UP)—For several years a restaurant's offer of free hamburgers for anyone who could eat 13 at one sitting was ignored. Then John Carey, 21, came in and qualified. Three cups of coffee and two glasses of water aided him.

Army siege mortar that could hurl a shell weighing nearly two tons to a target more than five miles away.

Being Arrested Is Real Treat To Some Drivers

LELAND, Miss. (AP)—Getting arrested about noon on Thursday is one of the nicest things happening to motorists passing through this Mississippi Delta town these days. Some unwary couple traveling with out-of-state license plates is pounced on by Police Officer W. G. Ray. "You're under arrest," Ray announces. "Why?" the motorists ask in bewilderment.

Parrying the question, Ray asks if they are in a hurry. Most always the worrying couple says "No" and off to "trial" they go. Destination is not the jail house but the Leland Lions Club's weekly luncheon. The couple are told that for "punishment" they must enjoy the luncheon and accompanying shenanigans.

Afterwards, "sentence" is pronounced—the couple must promise to "come back this way again."

The Mason and Dixon Line was surveyed by two Englishmen, Charles Mason and Jeremiah Dixon.

CUSTOMERS' CORNER

George Washington said it first.
This week, the celebration of Washington's birthday brings to mind the story about the famous cherry trees. Whether he said, "I cannot tell a lie" or "we don't know, but the father of our country did say, "Honesty is always the best policy." The founding father of A&P — George Huntington Hartford—had the same idea when he said, "Always do what is honest, fair and sincere and in the best interest of our customers."

That's the spirit that has always guided the folks of A&P. It always will!

Highest, Lowest Speeds Measured

OTTAWA—(UP)—No speed is too high, and none too low, to escape the interest of scientists at the National Research Council. NRC scientists are working on projects involving speeds from five to 3,500 miles per hour. The 3,500 mph work was in a supersonic wind tunnel where scientists are testing the streamlining of guided missiles. The five mph work was done by biologists interested in finding out how fast a mosquito flies. Scientists said they were studying in an effort to determine how quickly they could spread over a certain area. The researchers make the mosquito radio-active by tagging them with cobalt-60 and then trace their flight with geiger counters.

No Holdup; Wine Was Too Costly

HOUSTON, Tex.—(UP)—A roughly-dressed man walked into a fashionable Houston liquor store and asked for a bottle of cheap wine. Mrs. Ruby DeLorier, the clerk, said the store didn't handle that brand. He asked for another cheap brand. Again the clerk didn't have it. The man put his hand in his coat pocket as if holding a pistol. "This is it... stand over there by the shelf... now show me the cheapest wine you got," he gruffly demanded. Mrs. DeLorier pointed to a 50 cent bottle. "What, you don't have any for 40 cents?" the man asked in amazement. "Fifty-nine cents is too much. He walked out.

Plenty Of Icing Without Cakes

HOUSTON, Tex.—(UP)—Mrs. Fred S. K. Clemens found the solution for those who enjoy the icing on a cake more than the cake itself. When she planned to bake several cakes for student friends attending school away from Houston, she remembered their fondness for icing. She whipped up boxes of icing for each and didn't bother about the cake.

Umstead Outlines 11-Point Program As Platform In Race For Nomination

DURHAM (AP)—An 11-point program for building and serving North Carolina for a better tomorrow was advanced today by gubernatorial candidate William B. Umstead of Durham.

In the platform on which he will seek the Democratic nomination for governor, Umstead called for increased salaries for school teachers, continued work on secondary and primary roads, and better care of the mentally-ill and other patients in state hospitals.

He said that agriculture must be developed and improved with emphasis on research and the state should strive to obtain its share of new industry, encourage tourist trade and expand and use its ports.

He stated that he has previously spoken out in favor of a statewide liquor referendum and will recommend one to the Legislature if he is elected.

Although he sees little chance of reducing state taxes, Umstead said any tax increase would be unwise and detrimental to the development of the state. If the state's agriculture, industry and business can be built up, it will produce revenues needed for continuing and expanding state services, he said.

He said that consideration should be given to increasing pay of state employees to meet rising living costs.

Umstead foresees "marvelous adancement" for the state "if all our people will cooperate and work together without dissension."

His 11-points included:

1. Education — Reduction of teacher load from 32 to 30 with a further reduction "as soon as possible"; the "largest possible increase" in pay of all school personnel; a "study and review of our school building needs" so the problem may be solved "by an orderly and voluntary program"; enforcement of compulsory school attendance.
2. Roads — Continue to improve secondary roads and give serious attention to the "improvement and further expansion of our primary road system" with the goal "to make every public road in North Carolina usable by motor vehicles at all times."
3. Agriculture — The federal farm program must be "perfected and protected"; rural telephone and rural electric expansion should be encouraged; and a farm program should include: Work to halt soil erosion, encourage livestock production, develop better marketing facilities, greater use and protection of forest resources; "more effective methods of protecting and using water resources and wild life"; and more agriculture research.
4. State development — A major objective should be to obtain new industries; encourage development of the seafood industry; develop ports and encourage their use; develop mineral resources and encourage the tourist trade.
5. Health — The medical care program must be continued; continue program of examining school children for physical defects and correcting these defects.
6. Mentally ill and crippled — Mental hospitals need more trained personnel and facilities with emphasis on curing patients; continued support of tuberculosis and other hospitals.
7. Highway safety — A practical and effective method of reducing "the terrible slaughter and injury" on the highways.
8. Juvenile delinquency — State agencies should cooperate with local governments and the people in a program "designed to do everything possible to reduce juvenile delinquency."

Three Injured On Dead Man's Curve

Three persons were injured, one critically, early this morning when their automobile, shown above, went out of control and overturned on the Falkland Highway at "dead man's curve." The car skidded 129 feet along the highway before leaving the road and demolishing a wooden fence. The accident occurred around 12:30 this morning. Investigation of the accident is not yet complete, pending the outcome of the condition of the injured. (Reflector Staff Photo by Roy Hardee).

Murder Charges Await Housewife Who Shot Sons

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—First degree murder charges probably will be filed against a Renton, Wash., housewife who shot and killed her two sons if she survives a self-inflicted gunshot wound, King County Detective Capt. W. W. Lyskoski said today.

Lyskoski said he would ask the prosecutor to file the charges against Mrs. Madeline Smith, who admitted she shot her sons, Michael Patrick, 5, and John Thomas, 10, "never trying to kill herself. I never did anything right in my life," Mrs. Smith told Lyskoski. "I tried to shoot myself, but it wouldn't work," she said. "The gun was too long and I couldn't shoot properly."

Goes To Prison For Draft Bribe

DETROIT (UP)—Draft board clerk Myron B. Collins, 45, started a five-year prison term today after pleading guilty to soliciting $1,000 bribes from two prospective draftees to classify them 4-F.

Collins was charged with mail fraud, soliciting and accepting bribes and mishandling selective service duties. Federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton pointed out that his sentence was the same as that usually given draft dodgers.

The main practical advantages of the GE design would be greater compactness and a higher operating power level.

Aircraft Used In Training Program

School Supervisors Of Area Meet In Farmville

FARMVILLE.—The Marie McIver Study Group met in the H.B. Sugg High School in the afternoon of February 12. The group—composed of the supervisors in the eastern section of the state—had previously chosen as the theme of the meeting Methods of Helping Teachers and Students Use Their Energies Towards Ends That Would Improve The Quality Of Living.

Mrs. Nell B. Baldwin, Supervisor of Wayne County, and president of the group, introduced the theme for discussion. Mr. D. H. Conley, Superintendent, Pitt County Schools, was guest speaker. Mr. Conley was accompanied by the two supervisors on his staff for the white schools, Miss Annie L. Jones and Mrs. Edna Baker.

In her introduction Mrs. Baldwin stressed the need that the teacher know the child and the community if she would best set in motion forces which would improve the quality of living in the community. Among the Guides which she pointed up as being significant for the improvement of the quality of living were: the curriculum should be the actual experiences of the child; teaching materials and procedures should be in keeping with the maturation level of the child; in health and physical development of the child must be regarded as a significant factor in his behavior.

Mr. Conley raised many searching questions:

1. Do adults consider that the child is becoming the man?
2. Who is responsible for delinquency? The home, the school or the church? Why did it happen to the child? Why are children's purposes directed as they are? What about the child's life from one to six years? What about his out-of-school hours? Whose responsibility is it to delve into these conditions? What agency? Should we add or take from the curriculum? Youth must be served. He gave statistics on enormous amount of money spent on gambling, liquor, crime as against the amount spent on churches and education in the United States. The divorce rate too, has increased 800 percent in the last 30 years.

He cited that it is important that men of greatness be constantly held up in the minds of the children. They should be made to understand that "shame and honor no condition rise"; that their future is determined by the steadfastness of their purposes now. He further stated that it would appear that, lacking adult advice, boys and girls are forming their own moral codes, based on the expediency of the moment. Adults face a grave and awful task. It can and must be fulfilled if civilization is to survive, if the American way of life is to be preserved.

Dr. M. D. Williams, Supervisor Wilson City Schools and vice-president of the group led the open forum discussion. Group participation in the discussion was lively and pointed.

'Immediate Construction' Of Atomic Sub Is Ordered

WASHINGTON (UP)—The government today ordered "immediate construction" of a new atomic submarine engine of advanced design.

The nuclear power plant, to be built by the General Electric Co. at West Milton, N.Y., will be a land-based pilot model. If successful, it will clear the way for early construction of a sister ship to the USS Nautilus, the Navy's first atomic submarine, which is due to be launched in 1954.

Atomic submarines are expected to revolutionize naval warfare, and the United States has assigned a very high priority to building a fleet of them as rapidly as possible. The Navy has estimated that the Nautilus will have a top speed of 35 knots, and will be able to cruise "tens of thousands" of miles without refueling.

Because its atomic engine will require no air, it will be able to run submerged for very long periods.

The Electric Boat Co. of Groton, Conn., will lay the keel for the Nautilus this spring. The Westinghouse Electric Co. is developing the engine at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing station at Arco, Ind.

The AEC said in a brief announcement that it has authorized General Electric to go ahead at once with actual construction of the "intermediate energy" atomic submarine engine on which it has been doing preliminary design studies since April, 1950.

The GE engine will be the first nuclear reactor ever built to employ the so-called "intermediate" speed range of neutrons. The Westinghouse engine, like most research reactors, employs "thermal" speed neutrons which have been drastically slowed down by large amounts of a moderator such as
