Russell Readies Organization For Seeking Support Outside Of Dixie

Georgia Senator Hopes Pick Up Votes In Prairie, Western States

By RAYMOND LAHR United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell, outstanding Southern candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, is preparing to set up a full-fledged campaign organization to seek support outside of Dixie, it was disclosed today.

The Georgia senator hopes to pick up some convention delegates in the Prairie and Western states. He can already count on most of the Southern delegates, according to most surveys.

Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.), who informally endorsed Russell last weekend, told a reporter today that he expects Russell to win the support of delegates from Nevada and several other Western states.

Russell believes he has his best chance to muster non-Southern support in the Prairie and Western farm states because of his record on farm legislation.

Russell said last night he is convinced Mr. Truman will not run again. It would be "inconceivable," he said, "that the President would let the Democratic party become as 'confused' as it is if he planned to seek another term."

Russell said he had "no plans" to lead a party revolt in the South, but could not promise to support the Democratic candidate or the party platform without knowing who and what they will be.

Russell expects to set up his campaign organization within a few days.

Gov. Herman Talmadge of Georgia said yesterday he had told Russell he will do anything he can to help him, "but I'm not going to try to run his campaign."

Russell, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and the agriculture appropriations subcommittee, has notified Florida supporters that he cannot escape from Senate duties to campaign in that state until about May 1.

Florida Democrats hold their presidential preference primary May 3 and elect convention delegates May 26.

Russell will face Tennessee Sen. Estes Kefauver in the Florida primary.

Fluoridation Of Water Termed A 'Necessity'

RALEIGH (UP)—Fluoridation of city water supplies is "an absolute necessity for the rising generation," Dr. H. G. Baily, professor of sanitary engineering in the University of North Carolina school of public health, said here yesterday.

Dr. Baily addressed delegates to the Southern Municipal and Industrial Conference at North Carolina State College.

"I can't understand the delay and resistance" to fluoridation, he said.

"The processes of education and reason" will supply the answer to the fluoridation problem as well as to bottlenecks in the conservation of water resources, he asserted.

The Senate handed Snyder and Dunlap a big new broom to clean house in the scandal-ridden tax service late yesterday when it approved a presidential plan for reorganizing the Internal Revenue Bureau and ridding it of political patronage.

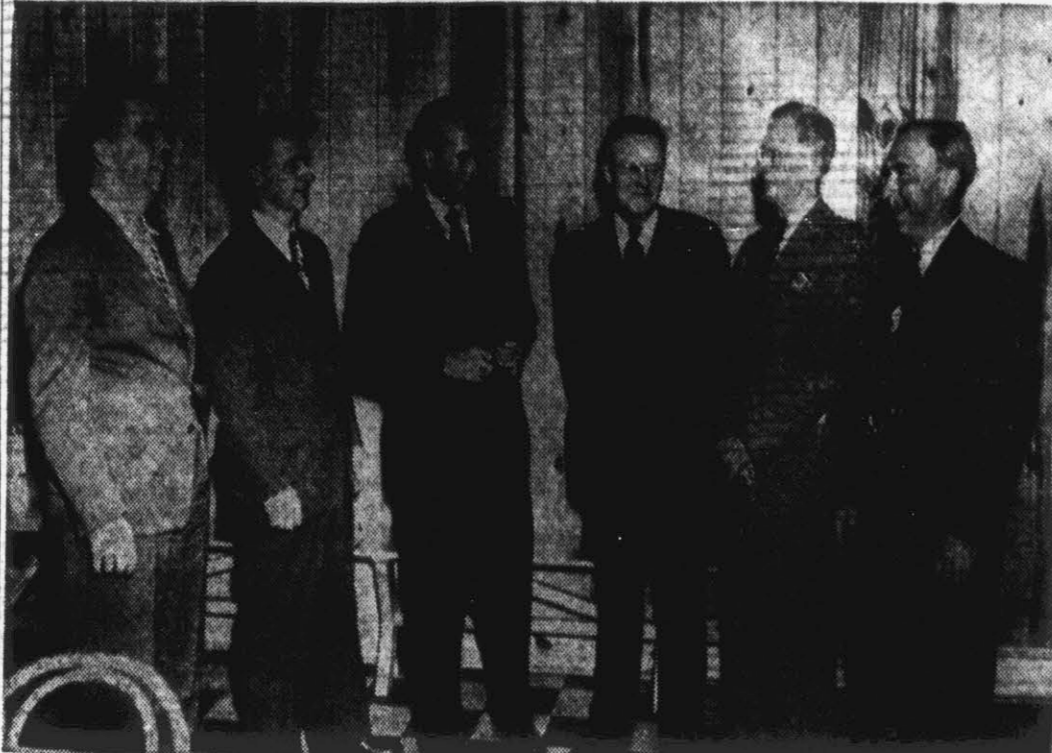

Dunlap said that by Dec. 1, the deadline set by Mr. Truman, the entire service will be on a non-political basis and all new jobs will be filled. Other reforms will take longer to become fully effective, he said.

Dunlap said he was "deeply gratified" by the Senate action in approving the reorganization, and predicted that the reforms now planned "will guarantee a sound and efficient administration of our tax laws."

Rep. Cecil R. King (D-Calif.), chairman of a House ways and means committee, said today that the government's review board tentatively cleared Mamoru Shigemitsu, pelegad wartime foreign minister who signed Japan's surrender aboard the USS Missouri in 1945. He is the first major war crimes convict to be given such clearance.

In all, the review board "de-purged" 843 former army, navy and military police officers and tentatively removed all restrictions on 1,500 other purges.

Conservationists Hold Meeting Here

More than 100 soil conservationists attended a supper meeting held last night in Greenville which featured an address by R. Y. Bailey, vice president of the American Soil Conservation Society. Above, reading left to right, are members who took part in the session last night: Sam Winchester, Pitt County Farm Agent; George Luther Winchester, president of the North Carolina Chapter of Soil Conservationists; Rod Bailey of Edgecombe County; R. Snyder Announces Collectors' Offices In New York And Chicago To Be Replaced Next Month In Reorganizing Move

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder announced today that the Internal Revenue collectors' offices in New York and Chicago will be replaced next month as the first step in the reorganization of the tax service.

A non-political district commissioner will take charge of all federal tax operations in each of those two cities. In New York, where three politically-appointed collectors now are in command, three deputy district commissioners also will be named. The Chicago commissioner will have one deputy.

Snyder made the announcement at a joint news conference with Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap, who will be the only political appointee in the federal tax service after the reform becomes fully effective.

He said the new district commissioners and deputies for New York and Chicago have not yet been selected, but that in any event they will have to qualify for the jobs under civil service regulations.

None of the 64 collectors now directing tax operations throughout the country will be fired outright or removed from their jobs until the new district commissioners and deputies are ready to take over. Some of the present collectors may be moved into the new posts if they qualify.

Snyder and Dunlap said they are holding off the cleanup until next month to make sure there is no disruption of the big job of collecting 1951 income taxes and mailing out refunds to some 30,000,000 taxpayers who overpaid last year.

The Senate handed Snyder and Dunlap a big new broom to clean house in the scandal-ridden tax service late yesterday when it approved a presidential plan for reorganizing the Internal Revenue Bureau and ridding it of political patronage.

Avers Resources 'Barely Tapped'

Conservationist Meeting Addressed By Society Officer

"The soil and production resources of Eastern North Carolina have hardly been tapped," so stated R. Y. Bailey, vice-president of the Soil Conservation Society of America, as he addressed a dinner meeting of soil conservationists from 20 counties here last night.

Speaking before an audience of more than 100, the well-known Spartanburg, South Carolinian went on to point out that folks here in the eastern part of the state are blessed with an abundant water supply, aided by ample rainfall which adds to the productivity of the soil.

The meeting last night was the third in a series of sectional meetings being held by the society in this section.

"We have not yet approached the peak to which we can put to use the productive capacity of the soil in this section, Bailey stated.

"Our soil, someday, will be used still better and better by advanced methods of soil-saving practices which we have been practicing for so long.

"There has been a good deal of damage done to farm land in this area because it has not been treated properly but that is being overcome," the soil conservationist affirmed.

"A stabilizing influence on the earth depends on how well we take care of the natural land resources of our country today," Bailey said in closing his brief address.

Bailey was introduced by R. B. Bailey of Tarboro, soil conservationist from Edgecombe County.

Arrangements for the Pitt meeting were handled by Conner Eagles of the Pitt County Soil Conservation Department.

Eagles gave the welcome to the assemblage and recognized special guests present.

Proceeding the barbecue supper, a musical program was staged by Mrs. B. L. Tyson.

Mrs. Tyson led the audience in group singing and then played several solo selections to close out the program.

Gaylord Is Named Chairman Local Park Project

General Meeting Of Organization Representatives Called Wednesday

Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., prominent Greenville attorney, has been named general chairman of the citizens' organization for the development of the Elm Street park area into a major recreation area for the city of Greenville.

The announcement of Gaylord as general chairman of the project was made today by the committee named recently by representatives of civic, business and other organizations of Greenville to select a general chairman for the development of the recreation area.

Gaylord is a past president of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce, and has been active in civic affairs in the city for several years.

At a meeting two weeks ago representatives of approximately 20 Greenville organizations approved the plan for the development of the recreation area for the city and offered their active support in the project. All organizations in the city were requested to participate in the project which will be under the direction of the general chairman and a steering committee composed of representatives from each organization which takes part in the project.

General Chairman Gaylord today called another general meeting of the group for next Wednesday night at the armory and requested that representatives from the various organizations and the general public attend the meeting. Further organizational plans to get the project underway are expected to be announced at that meeting.

The project which has been outlined for the development of the recreation area near the Little League ball park will include an activity building, tennis courts, outdoor fire places and picnic areas, playground areas for pre-school age youngsters and school age children, and other recreation facilities.

Gaylord announced this morning that the Greenville Business and Professional Woman's Club has offered to take the responsibility of the development of the fire place picnic shelter, tables and the entire picnic area. The offer has been accepted by the general chairman, and Mrs. Hugh S. Ragdale has been appointed from the B. P. and W. Club as chairman for the picnic area.

The Little League has accepted the responsibility of the Little League auxiliary field and other developments for improving the Little League park.

Warren Carroll, city recreation director, said this morning he is very pleased with the progress of the project so far, and urged the support of the development program by all the organizations of the city.

Says Russians Flying In Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Russian pilots are flying a "good portion" of the Russian-built MIG-15 jets that battle American Sabrejets, an American Air Force general said today.

Gen. Frank Everest, commander of the 5th Air Force, said enemy pilots in North Korea are "predominantly Chinese Communists and Russians, although undoubtedly there are North Korean pilots in the controls of some of the MIGs."

"There is every reason to think that Chinese and North Koreans have the necessary aptitude," he said. "We have been quite successful in training South Korean pilots to fly F-51 fighter-bombers."

When the MIG-15 interceptors entered the war in November, 1950, there were no North Koreans or Chinese pilots trained to fly the 650-mile-per-hour "ster planes."

Since then, Everest said, it is presumed that both Korean and Chinese pilots have undergone the training in Manchuria, or possibly even in Russia, followed by combat instruction and battle seasoning along the Yalu River.

Everest said that allied pilots flying the Sabrejets have had close looks at enemy pilots, but none of the 170 MIG pilots shot down has been captured.

"Nevertheless, he continued, "there is no doubt that Russian pilots are flying a good portion of the jets who battle over North Korea."

County Court To Be Held April 1

It was announced this morning that the next session of County Court will not be held until Tuesday, April 1.

County Court was of necessity postponed because of the two-weeks term of Pitt County Superior Court that begins here Monday.

Officials requested that all people who have been summoned to appear in County Court at an earlier date than April 1 disregard the earlier date and appear April 1.

House Budget-Cutters Bid For 10 Per Cent Reduction

U.S. Invites Plans For Disarmament

Constructive Proposals Sought From All Nations Of World; Task Outlined Before Commission Of United Nations

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Benjamin V. Cohen today called on all governments in the world to make constructive proposals for disarmament. His invitation obviously included the Soviet Union, which is shaping up disarmament proposals directly counter to those favored by the United States and the Western Powers.

Cohen spoke to the new 12-nation Disarmament Commission, which began its work on arms regulation and limitation today at the permanent United Nations Headquarters. The Soviet delegate on this commission is Deputy Foreign Minister Jacob A. Malik, who arrived recently from Moscow after consultations with his government and who is expected to fight Western proposals in the commission.

Putting up a five-point plan of work, Cohen told the commission that "any proposals any government may wish to advance can be considered under the appropriate headings of the plan."

"In our deliberations here," he said, "There is room for all constructive ideas... The people of the world are not interested in propaganda tricks or polemics. They expect from us a workable plan for a new house of peace and security. They are interested in the livability of this structure. They believe that a new approach to world disarmament can be made in practical terms."

Cohen said the commission must make its first report to the U.N. by June 1. He suggested the delegates concentrate on the first step in the plan, providing for a world census of armaments and armed forces. The Russians have turned down such an idea, which means there will be no census unless they change policy and demonstrate what the West believes to be real cooperation.

Cohen, sitting as a deputy for Warren R. Austin, the permanent U. S. delegate, said the goal of the commission is "freedom from fear" of armaments.

"The goal can be reached by reducing armaments to such a point, in such a thorough fashion and with such foolproof safeguards that no nation is in a position to wage successful war," he said.

"That means the elimination of mass armies and other instruments of mass destruction. That means an open world with no secret armies, no secret weapons, and no secret war plans."

He said the U. S. desires to proceed as rapidly as possible to that goal.

On the eve of the commission meeting U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie said its work can improve the prospects for peace.

Truce Talks Hit Dismal New Low

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Armistice talks between United Nations and Communist negotiators hit a "dismal new low" today.

"We touched it, a dizzy new height in Communist intransigence and ill-will and dismal new low in progress," U. N. Col. Andrew J. Kinney reported after a fruitless meeting of more than four hours on means of supervising a truce.

There was no progress in a 23-minute debate on exchanging prisoners of war.

Rear Adm. Ruthven E. Libby asked the Reds to clarify their previous proposal to continue discussions on exchanging prisoners on the basis of lists already drawn up. The Allies have claimed the Communists' list is incomplete.

After a 15-second silence, Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho asked if Libby had anything to say. Libby again requested clarification.

When it was not forthcoming, Libby said: "It is apparent that we have reached a situation in the sub-delegation meetings where progress will at best be extremely slow. If such is the case, further clarification and exploration is essential to progress."

Libby then suggested that the

Appropriations Committee Recommends Slash Of Proposed Outlays For Federal Agencies; Turn Thumbs Down On All New Job Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today recommended a 10 per cent slash in the seven billion dollar budget of more than a score of federal agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It turned thumbs down on all new job proposals, cut by one-third the funds budgeted for travel, communications, printing and binding; ordered a halt to accumulation of annual leave by government workers, and slapped a ceiling of 25,000 on the number of new public housing units that may be started next year.

It took this action as it sent to the House for debate next week a $6,272,138,348 measure financing the independent offices for the next fiscal year. All of them, including the Atomic Energy Commission and the Veterans' Administration, felt the sting of the committee's economy lash.

The actual cut was $706,548,666 from the President's budget requests.

Rep. Thomas (D-Tex) chairman of a subcommittee which drafted the bill after lengthy hearings, said the reduction, if followed through on other budget measures, would "obviate the need for deficit spending or more taxes."

Thomas claimed that the ban against accumulation of annual vacation leave alone would save 125 million dollars.

He claimed another saving of 560 millions would result from the committee's order to hold to 25,000 the number of housing units started in the coming year. The President had asked for 75,000, an increase of 25,000 over this year.

The bill's total includes $2,753,601,537 susceptible to reduction. These include $2,432,472,000 in insurance and pension payments and other fixed veterans' administration costs; $181,129,537 for stockpiling critical defense materials, and $40 million to speed up construction of 15 more high-speed cargo ships by the Maritime Administration.

Actually, the committee claimed, the cuts in items susceptible to trimming amounted to nearly 33 cent, the biggest cut on a major money bill in recent years.

Even the budget bureau itself, the President's fiscal mouthpiece, was cut. It asked for $11,623,843 and was given $11,022,143.

The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), which asked for $1,312,000,000 was allotted $1,137,727,500. The committee approved funds for construction of AEC projects already under way but deferred money for much proposed new construction.

The Veterans' Administration requested for a total of $3,822,033,130 for all purposes was cut by $242,640,370, more than half the reduction being in funds for GI benefit payments. The committee told the VA it is paying excessive medical and dental fees and should dip into its heavy reserve stocks of medicines instead of buying new supplies. The VA request for $153,600,000 for hospital and domiciliary facilities was approved in full.

Both ships, flying on instruments, had their cabins blacked out. (AP Wirephoto).

Newspapers Being Microfilmed For Permanent Record System

The hand of modern photographic science began to play a new role in the workings of the Daily Reflector today with the addition of microfilmed records for the Greenville publication.

Publisher D. J. Whichard today announced that the first microfilmed records of the Reflector's publications have been received at the newspaper office.

The system is designed to afford to the local newspaper, a means of permanent records for all issues of the paper published.

At the present time, the microfilming has been started with the first issues of the papers being filmed last May.

Plans files are being microfilmed, and are in the making to have all copies of the paper, since its first publication as a weekly in 1882, put on film. The undertaking would cover more than 100 volumes for the past 70 years.

An example of the great space saver which the new system will mean, is shown in the fact that a four month period of the newspaper was recorded on photographic film and processed into a spool about four inches in diameter and weighing around one half pound.

One copy of the photographed editions will be kept at all times at the newspaper office while a second copy will be on file with the Micro-Film Photo Service, with offices located in Cleveland Ohio, the company which is in charge of filming the newspapers.

Heretofore, large paper-bound volumes of the past editions of the paper were filed which took up considerable space and did not offer any protection against the loss by fire or theft.

In addition to the micro-film, back files of the papers themselves will be maintained for use by the public or the paper for some period back.

Once the processed films have been returned to the Reflector's office they may be viewed through a Microfilm reader which projects a full page image of the photographed items on a screen. Sections of the copy may be enlarged for easier reading of any one localized spot if desired.

The eastern front was quiet. It was on this front that the Communists yesterday raked U.N. lines in the heavens; artillery pounding of the year and hurled a battalion assault of 400 men at Americans and Turks.

The battle took place on the western front northwest of Yonchon. Fire from artillery and allied tanks was brought to bear on the enemy, allowing the patrol to disengage.

On the central front, the 8th Army reported light patrol engagements with small enemy units southwest of Kumsong and east of the Pukhan River.

Damage Actions Are Piling Up BALTIMORE (UP)—Steadily mounting damage suits filed against Sonja Henie and her ice revue as a result of the collapse of spectator stands here last week stood at $4,218,000 today.

Grimesland PTA Meeting Held

The P. T. A. of the Grimesland school met in monthly session on Tuesday night at the school. The brief meeting was opened with the group singing of "America." President Elbert Mills presided. T. R. Ainsley led in the devotion for the meeting, reading a portion of Scripture and leading in prayer.

Attendance prizes were awarded to the rooms taught by Mrs. Forrest, Mrs. Nixon and Miss Lewis. Minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Floyd Whitehead. The by-laws of the organization were amended to elect a nominating committee from the floor rather than following the custom of the past in having it appointed by the president. At the night's meeting the nominating committee for the coming year was elected as follows: Miss Lucille Swindell, Mrs. R. B. Wilson and Mrs. Fred Edwards.

An announcement was made by Mrs. F. F. Hendrix that sewing classes for adults were being conducted three Tuesday nights a month at the school, and she urged all who were interested to participate. She also stated that the Future Homemakers of America were sponsoring a flower arranging demonstration to be presented by Reginald MacFarland, a renowned floral artist of Louisville, N. C. representing the National Florists Association. The demonstration will be given in March at a date to be announced later. After a number of selections which were sung by the group the meeting was adjourned.

Divinity School Dean To Preach At Sunday Service

At the regular morning worship hour on Sunday at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, James Cannon III, Dean of the Divinity School at Duke University will deliver the sermon.

Special music will be rendered by the Varsity Men's Glee Club of East Carolina College.

This service will conclude the week of dedication, which has been observed throughout the Methodist Churches this week. During the period of special dedication, each member was asked to examine himself in the light of God's blessings and to renew his spiritual vows as Christians and members of the church. As a token of the rededication of the individuals, a special offering will be taken for missionary projects and overseas relief.

Membership Classes To Begin Saturday

Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, is beginning his series of classes for children who desire to join the church.

The classes are held for the purpose of instructing the youth in the meaning of church membership, the discipline of the church and the meaning of Christian living.

Classes will be held each Saturday morning at 10:30 a. m. and on Wednesday afternoons at 4:00 p. m. beginning tomorrow and continuing until Saturday, April 5. The class will be received into the membership of the church on Palm Sunday, April 6.

Young people in the Junior, Intermediate and Senior departments are especially urged to attend if they have not already joined the church. Any others who are interested are invited. Parents can help by having their children present for each session at the right hour.

Churches of Christ, Scientist "SUBSTANCE" is the topic of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches next Sunday. The Golden Text is from II Timothy 2:19 "The foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his." Passages from the Bible include: "Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering; (for he is faithful that promised:)" Hebrews 10:23. And from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit is the only substance and consciousness recognized by divine science. Matter, with its mortality, cannot be substantial if Spirit is substantial and eternal. Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay."

Members Of End Of Century Club Create Hat Designs

On Wednesday, Mrs. E. B. Ficklen and Mrs. R. M. Garrett were charming hostesses to the ones on the End of Century Club at the lovely home of Mrs. Ficklen.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with colorful spring flowers and a display of gay spring hats graciously loaned for the occasion by C. Heber Forbes.

A short business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. J. S. Moye.

Mrs. J. T. Little, in charge of the program for the day, announced her topic of "Easter Bonnets" and called attention to the ones on display. She then said that for the remainder of the meeting each person present must make her "Easter Bonnet."

From a table filled with quantities of paper plates, cups, dollys, ribbons, veils, flowers, pins, scotch tape, etc., each guest selected her materials and soon the air was filled with the hum of a busy workshop as gay and lovely bonnets were created and donned by proud "would-be milliners." When they were completed, everyone agreed that never before had the members of The End of Century Club looked quite so festive.

Prizes of cakes made in the shape of hats and presented in hat boxes were given for the creation of Mrs. E. B. Ficklen, voted the prettiest, and that of Miss Helen Hicks, voted the most original.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Lee Polger and Mrs. L. S. Ficklen, served a delicious broiled chicken luncheon with all the accompaniments, dessert and coffee.

Miss Helen Hicks, bride-elect of April, was presented a gift of linen by the hostesses.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, the hats were presented to the Service League to be used as Easter table decorations at the hospital.

Guests for the day were Mrs. L. S. Ficklen, Mrs. Lee Polger, Miss Helen Hicks and Mrs. J. D. Messick.

Bride Elect Of Ayden Honored At Shelby Party

AYDEN—Miss Anne Dover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. Dover, entertained on Saturday at 6 o'clock at the Cleveland Country Club with a beautifully planned luncheon honoring a number of brides-elect, brides and special guests who were weekend house guests of Miss Dover at the home of her parents in the Dover Village.

Mrs. Frank Chamberlin Jr. and Miss Katherine Love welcomed the guests at the door of the club lounge and presented them to the receiving line headed by the hostess who presented her house guest, Miss Betty Lou Worthington of Ayden, whose engagement to Ivan Baker Armstrong of Raleigh was announced over the weekend. Miss Mary Louise Horn, who is engaged to John Laney, Miss Anne Royster, who is engaged to James Taylor, her mother, Mrs. D. W. Royster; Mrs. Dan Calvin Hoover of Charlotte, the former Miss Anne Osborne of Shelby; Mrs. Lyndon Hobbs III, the former Miss Helen Stephens; Miss Gailly Austel, bride-elect of this month; and Miss Barbara Ann Jarrett, bride-elect of late spring.

A second receiving line included the weekend house guests of Miss Dover.

The club lounge where the lines were formed was exceptionally lovely in an all yellow color theme. The mantelpiece was totally banked in yellow jonquils. Other designs of jonquils combined with yellow bell and other spring flowers were artistically appointed elsewhere in the room.

Mrs. Robert Laney and Mrs. Walter Fanning received at the hallway door where Miss Kitty Wray, Mrs. Jack Dover III and Mrs. Frank Love Jr. served the guests. Russian tea from a silver service posed on the table, complimented with a large design of yellow gladioli and snapdragons.

Assembled in the hallway, the guests enjoyed an informal "get acquainted" period of conversation before adjourning to the ballroom where they were joined by the hostess and honorees for a delightful four-course luncheon.

The ballroom decorations were in bridal white accented with greenery. The U-shaped luncheon table, covered with a white banquet cloth, was highlighted at the center of the table with a silver spurge holding lighted white tapers, scotch, carnations and other dainty white flowers. Lighted candles banked with lacy fern were appointed the length of the table and at each end of the tables were glass domes holding the bride-and-groom figurines.

The side table at the east end of the room held a detailed wedding-church scene complete with a formal wedding party encircled in sprays of white spirea. The mantelpiece was banked with spirea with tall lighted Cathedral candles at each end and the piano top held a bride-doll, also flanked with burning Cathedral tapers.

Place cards at the luncheon table were also in the bridal motif and the luncheon was highlighted by the presentation of gifts by the hostess to each of the honorees including the special out-of-town guests who are college friends of Miss Dover and are together in Charlotte for a three months period of practice teaching in the Charlotte schools. ## Assistant Minister To Conduct Services At Christian Church

Mr. Billy Tucker, assistant minister and youth leader at the Eighth Street Christian Church, will conduct the Sunday morning worship service and will deliver the sermon due to the illness of the pastor, the Rev. H. G. Haney. Mr. Haney has been confined to his home for the past week, suffering from influenza.

Mr. Charles Mills, national youth leader from Indianapolis, Ind., will be present at the Youth Meeting on Sunday night. He will address the group at their supper hour.

The five o'clock fellowship hour will not be held this Sunday.

The Christian Women's Fellowship will meet at the church for its general meeting on Monday afternoon at 3:30. Rev. Robert L. Holt, director of religious activities at East Carolina College, will be the speaker.

The pastor has expressed a hope that a great many of the people who have indicated a desire to unite with the Christian Church during the evangelistic week of visitation will be present on Sunday and will come forward to join the fellowship in the usual way.

Funeral Set Sunday For E. A. Cooper

E. A. (Dain) Cooper, 67, died at 7:15 o'clock Thursday night at the home of his nephew, Cleveland Vincent, Jr., in Greenville. He had been critically ill for about two weeks. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the chapel of the S. G. Wilkerson and Sons Funeral Home.

The Rev. M. A. Woodard, Free Will Baptist minister of Winterville, will officiate, and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Cooper was born in Pitt County and had lived in the Winterville community all his life. He was son of the late Rowan and Mary Cooper and was a bookkeeper, and in later years, a carpenter. He was a member of the Mohnican Tribe No. 56 of Order of Red Men. He had made his home with Mrs. Cleveland Vincent, Sr. from 1930 to her death in 1949, and since then with Cleveland Vincent, Jr.

He is survived by a number of nieces and nephews.

Cards of Thanks We wish to express our appreciation to our many friends for their kind expressions of sympathy which were deeply appreciated and also for the lovely floral tributes which were sent during the illness and death of our wife and mother.

Art Festival To Open Next Week

The Community Fine Arts Festival begins next week with a program on Friday night to be presented by the children of the elementary schools under the direction of Miss Beatrice Chauncey, music director of the city schools, and their teachers.

For the next week there will be special programs in connection with the Festival every day of the week. The final event will occur on Saturday, March 29.

Due to lack of auditorium space and conflicting engagements, one of the events which is regularly given during the Festival week has been postponed until the following week. This is the Teachers' Playhouse production of "Tom Sawyer."

Various arts and crafts exhibits will be on display at the schools, at the Art Gallery in the library, at the Woman's Club, and at East Carolina College. Music, drama, dancing, literature, painting, sculpture and other art forms will be included on the variety of programs which have been planned.

A special feature of the Festival will be a panel discussion on major art trends with speakers on the panel coming from many sections of the state, representing some of the best known talent in North Carolina. An amateur fine arts talent night in which the high schools of the county will participate will be an added attraction.

A full schedule of events will be announced next week. Meanwhile the committee which is preparing the list of events requests all who are planning to participate to get their exhibits and other items for display in readiness.

Rates Excellent in Piano Contest
Saturday, March 8th, the District State Piano Contest was held in Greenville. Miss Connie Lou Dunn of Ayden played the First Movement of Mozart's "Sonata in F Major," "Allegro" by Bach and "The Prophet Bird" by Schumann. She made "excellent" in the contest.

Greenville White Shrine Holds Election Of Officers

At the annual meeting of Greenville White Shrine No. 7, O.W.S.J. on Wednesday evening, March 12, Mrs. Hilda Laughinghouse was elected worthy high priestess. Albert Scott of Kinston was elected watchman of shepherds of the local shrine.

The other elected officers were: Mrs. Edna Rowe, noble prophetess; Walter E. Boswell, assistant watchman of shepherds; Mrs. Betty P. Nobles, worthy scribe; Thomas I. Moore, worthy treasurer; Mrs. Cynthia Lockhart, worthy chaplain; Mrs. Eva Corbette, worthy shepherdess; Mrs. Louise Wells, worthy guide. Mrs. Mildred Kennedy, W.H.P., assisted by Jasper Phillips, W.O.S., presided over the meeting. Annual reports were given. Mrs. Laughinghouse, chairman of sick and cheer committee, reported considerable illness among members and their families.

Mrs. Kathleen Whitehurst, who is chairman of the material objective board for District 4, and Mrs. Hughlene Baynor, district deputy, were presented in the east and welcomed.

Mrs. Whitehurst spoke about material objective work and urged the shrine to be 100 percent next year. Mrs. Baynor thanked the shrine for the many courtesies extended her while she was deputy. She made a very interesting talk on the subject "Worry." Mrs. Louise Wells presented Mrs. Baynor a gift from Greenville Shrine.

Mrs. Nell Moore presented Kathleen Whitehurst a gift also from the shrine.

It was announced that the annual public installation of officers will take place on Monday evening, March 31, at 8 p.m. The public is cordially invited. A practice will be held on Sunday afternoon, March 30, at 2:30 p.m.

All members were invited down to the Fred Stokes dining room for refreshments. The dining hall was beautifully decorated with spring flowers using yellow and white, the shrine colors. The table was centered with a lovely arrangement of yellow daffodils, white spirea, with white candles lighted accenting the arrangement. Shamrock napkins and crepe paper in green with white Shamrocks decorated the outer edge of the table. These decorations were made by the "Little Ladies Club" of Greenville. Mrs. Marie Clark was in charge of other decorations.

Refreshments of hot coffee, party sandwiches, ham biscuits, pickles, and Shamrock cookies were served by Mrs. Eva Corbette, Penner Corbette, Mrs. Ola Dale Wilson, Mrs. Annie Scott, Hershel Hearn, Ed and Ethel Ricks.

Mrs. Kennedy was presented a large homemade cake by the worthy scribe. The cake was iced in white with a large star on top, shepherds crook and cross, the emblem of the Order. The cross and crook and miniature stars were in yellow. The cake was cut and shared with all present.

Ballard's X Roads

The Women of Ballard's Presbyterian Church met last Friday evening at the church with Mrs. J. S. Elks, hostess. Mrs. Preston Lloyd, president, presided over the business session. Mrs. G. S. Nichols led the devotional, a review of the Ten Commandments which have been studied by the group the past church year using as the topic "Are You Determined to Let Truth Live?" Mrs. Moses Tyson, program chairman, presented Mrs. Ray Crawford and Mrs. Nichols who gave two articles from the survey using the same theme.

The secretary, Mrs. Dal Williams, read the minutes and called the roll and a treasurer's report was given. A thank-you note was read by a member who was sent a flower while ill in the hospital. The meeting closed with a prayer.

At the social hour the hostess, assisted by Sue Elks, served delicious refreshments, carrying out the Easter idea, to 10 members and two visitors, Miss Edith Tyson and Peggy Barber.

At the March meeting of the Home Demonstration Club plans were made for a barbecue and chicken stew supper with slaw, potato salad, candied yams, bread, rolls, pickles, coffee and home-made cake which the women will serve at the Moye club house on Thursday evening, March 20, beginning at 6 o'clock. The proceeds will be used to improve the club building.

The meeting was presided over by the vice president, Mrs. Pernel Burnette, and opened with the group singing "America the Beautiful," followed by a devotional using the 23rd Psalm. Mrs. H. D. Moye, president of the Pitt County Council, made several announcements concerning the club work.

The program for the afternoon was splendidly presented on "The Farmer's Part in National Defense." At the social hour the hostess, Mrs. Roy Bowling, assisted by Mrs. L. E. Jones, served sandwiches, roasted pecans, pickles and Coca-Colas to 15 members and two visitors, Mrs. J. R. Gowan Jr. and Mrs. Rom Beaman, whose names were glad to add to our roll.

The community extends sympathy to the family of Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Batts in the loss of Mr. Batts' father, W. E. Batts, who passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Foy near Jacksonville.

Among those from Ballard's attending the funeral at Beaulieuville were Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Elks, Mrs. Cora Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jones, Harold Joyner, G. T. Tyson, Will Elks, Noah Barber, James Jones, C. L. Jones, Linwood O'Neal and David Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Hyman of Tarboro were Tuesday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Crawford. John Flanagan attended several games of basketball in the Coliseum at State College last week.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Elks were recent visitors of relatives at Roxboro and Durham.

Mrs. Chas. Shackelford of Greenville and a member of the Arthur School faculty was a Wednesday evening dinner guest of Mesdames Roy Smith and Mamie R. Holway. Mrs. Leslie Evans and sons Jimmie and Eddie visited Mrs. Ray Crawford Sunday.

Mrs. Annie Flanagan was a guest of Mrs. Lucy Raspberry in Farmville last week. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Manning and daughters, Marjorie and Barbara, spent Sunday with relatives in Kinston.

Eugene Briley was a Raleigh visitor Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Dick Stanley and Mrs. Moses Tyson spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Outlaw near

Specialist

LONDON — (AP) — The London papers spread a very warm welcome today for a blonde expert on those warm Latin American kisses.

"I am a kiss specialist — and I like it," announced Tilda Thamar, a bombshell of 25 from the Argentine movies.

"In my films I kiss them and kill them. But I nearly always die, too, in the end."

Tilda came to London to try out for a part in a British thriller movie. The front page pictures and highly quotable interviews did no harm to her public relations.

She told reporters the secrets of her success.

"I first study art. Then I study acting. Then," she said, "I study men."

Mrs. George Hines underwent an operation in Pitt Memorial Hospital Wednesday morning.

Cretan Romance Ends In Divorce

HERAKLION, Crete (UP) — The love which led Crete's modern Romeo to kidnap his Juliet and woo her in a mountain cave ended in a divorce court here yesterday.

Raven-haired Tassoula Petrokogorgis' love for her family's enemy, Costa Kefaloghianis, which endured the cave courtship and a prison term by her abductor, definitely had cooled.

The court's decision opened the way for Tassoula to visit the United States. She has applied for a Greek passport and when it is received will ask for an American visa.

Reports said she will marry a Greek-American who has promised her a Hollywood career.

Two Injured In Auto Accident

AYDEN — Two persons were injured near here Wednesday night when the automobile in which they were traveling struck a bridge abutment, demolishing the automobile.

Investigating officers Patrolmen Paul C. Whitley and James W. Boykin stated that investigation of the accident was not yet complete due to the condition of the injured persons.

Driver of the automobile was William Lee Sugg, 20, Route 2, Ayden. Sugg received minor injuries and was examined at Pitt Memorial Hospital where an occupant of the automobile accident, Mamie Ruth Wainwright, was admitted for observation.

The accident occurred at the Little Creek Bridge about one mile from Ayden on Highway 102.

Would Improve Primary Roads

RALEIGH (UP) — A state highway commission engineer urged today a "complete modernization" of the primary highway system.

James S. Burch, statistics and plans engineer, reported traffic over state primary highways during the first two months of this year increased 11 percent over the same period of 1951.

"In 1951 we witnessed an 8 percent increase...and it now appears that the 1952 increase may be even greater than last year," he said.

Burch also pointed out that motor vehicle registration in the state has more than doubled since 1945.

"With primary highway traffic on a constant increase, along with the steady growth of motor vehicle registration, it rapidly becomes more and more apparent that we cannot long delay in a complete modernization of the primary highway system," Burch said.

During an average day in January 7,262 motor vehicles passed the state's 20 full time automatic traffic count recorders located throughout the state, Burch said.

In February the number reached 74,608. In January 1951 the daily average was 64,683 and in February it was 66,773, Burch added.

Great Day For Ft. Belvoir Irish

FT. BELVOIR, Va. — (AP) — Shure and it'll be a great day Monday for a lot of the boys at Ft. Belvoir.

"They may be wearing olive drab but there'll be 100 Greens on hand for the big St. Patrick's Day reel and jig at the Field House Monday night."

And a fone day it'll be for the 19 Patricks and the two Irelands—John J. of Salem, N. H., and Donald E. of Marengo, Ohio.

"It was what Mr. Robert Browning, the poet, once describe as a 'gay young frisker,'" he explained. Furthermore, the attorney said, the rodent was most hygienically wrapped in several layers of papers and a cardboard box.

Mrs. Pfuell testified in her own defense that she thought to teach the other woman a "salutary lesson."

"I felt I had a right to do what I did," she said. "Now my husband and I and our three kiddies are together again."

The court agreed. It found her innocent.

Soon Will Sign Treaty Of Peace

TAIPEH, Formosa (UP) — Nationalist China and Japan are expected to sign a treaty formally ending the state of war between them in about 10 days, official sources predicted today.

These sources said final conferences will begin next Monday, with only minor problems to be worked out. Both sides were reported near agreement on the thorny question of reparations.

Second Son Has Same Birthday

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — One year ago yesterday at 4:40 a.m. Mrs. Robert Drinkard, 17, gave birth to a son, Robert.

Yesterday at the same time, in the same hospital the Drinkards' second son, Richard, arrived.

Afterward the mother was taken to the same bed, in the same ward. The same doctor officiated and the same husband, Robert, 18, paced the floors.

Russians 'Vote Protest' On U.S. Germ Warfare

MOSCOW — (AP) — Indignation meetings were called in cities throughout Russia today to vote formal protests against the alleged use by the United States of germ warfare in Korea.

Apparently the Communists are having trouble keeping details of their charges straight. The Russians for weeks have said that plague, touched off by U. S. germ bombs, is wife in North Korea but the Peiping radio yesterday denied there were epidemics there.

The protest meetings, sponsored by local organizations and the Soviet Committee for Defense and Peace, undoubtedly will do much to mobilize public opinion on the issue. Indignation already has been mounting fast over the entire country.

The last series of protest meetings was held right after the Korean War began.

The Soviet press has given wide publicity to Communist charges that American fliers have set off epidemics of plague and cholera in North Korea by dropping bombs filled with germ-laden insects.

The Red accusations have drawn repeated denials from such leading Western spokesmen as U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson and from Trygve Lie, secretary general of the United Nations. Or American invitation, the International Red Cross has agreed to make an independent investigation, providing both sides will cooperate. The Communists have not yet replied, but they have turned down all previous Red Cross attempts to carry on normal investigations such as those of prison camps.

Despite columns devoted to publication today of the latest Stalin prizes for inventions, leading Soviet papers carried full-page reports on a big indignation meeting yesterday in Moscow.

The meeting, in Tchaikovsky Concert Hall, was attended by representatives of public organizations, trade unions, factories and from the fields of science, literature and art. Five speakers, including the scholar B. D. Grekov and writer Ilya Ehrenburg, attacked the United States government in bitter terms.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
RELIGION AS AN EXTRA
The Bible constantly speaks of Christian teaching as the bread of life. What is your religion—bread or cake?
Because some people's religion very certainly is cake. It is an embellishment of life, something which enhances reputation, a luxury which could easily be dispensed with if the going got really hard. Cake is very sweet and pleasant to the taste, but even the most eager knowledge of dietary matters leads us to see that cake is not to be compared with bread as a staple food. We eat cake because we like it; we eat bread, along with meat and vegetables, as a part of the meal's main course.

Let us get out of our minds any notion that God sent his only begotten Son into the world to establish an exclusive society or to set up fashionable clubs in certain cities and communities. The coming of Jesus into the world was the result of the divine determination to give men a chance to live better while here on earth and to attain to an eternal destiny after death. Religion is the bread of life because it builds up life, making it strong, healthy, and significant.

Churches are for the most part made up of pleasant, congenial folks, but the church very decidedly is not a club but a fellowship of persons bound together by a common belief and devotion.

Tide Of Taxes Reaches Its Flood

This is the time of year when folks realize most abruptly just how much it is costing them personally for the federal and state governments to stay in operation.

This is the time when the midnight oil burns, tables are littered with papers and figures; and heads are aching from wading through the maze of regulations, adding here, deducting there and trying to get the income tax out of the way before the final hour.

For most people income taxes this year are higher than ever before. Either they have dug deeper into their pay envelopes each week to pay Uncle Sam his withholding tax, or they are having to take a bigger chunk out of their savings as the annual day of reckoning approaches.

But even with the sharp pinch which income tax time brings, the people of the United States realize how much better off they are than billions of other people who are literally owned by the governments under which they exist. We aren't flag-waving. We are just stating the simple facts.

In spite of that fact, as March 15 (this year it is March 17) rolls around, people become more econ-my-minded in their thoughts about the federal government. In some instances it carries through the remainder of the year. In far too many instances the worry about government spending and government waste fades away as time diminishes the smarting caused by income tax payment.

Notwithstanding the full realization that the people living under the flag of the United States are the most fortunate in the world, the fact that it is taking more than one dollar in every three of the total income of the nation for taxes of one sort or another should make the individual stop and consider the direction in which we are headed.

The tide must be stemmed, and it must be done before it washes away the nation from its infancy.

Don't Think It's A New Cure-All Tonic

Congressional approval of legislation to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau is a step toward taking the vital government agency out of politics. But in spite of the bill's virtues, it can not in itself guarantee corrupt-free operation of the vital agency of the government.

The reorganization bill for the controversial agency which has figured high on the list of government scandals in recent months will make the internal revenue collectors civil service employees instead of political appointees as they have been for decades. It will mean that only men qualified under civil service examinations will hold the key Internal Revenue Bureau posts in the various districts across the nation. To a great extent it will mean the revenue collectors will not be political appointees selected for the personal contribution or friendship to another member of the government family of officials.

To say that politics will be completely removed from the bureau is folly, but the bill will certainly tone down the political aspect of the bureau posts.

The fact that 53 Senators voted to support the bill and take from themselves and their colleagues valuable patronage positions is indeed an indication that the members of Congress are becoming more conscious of the fact that personal political power must be sacrificed for better and more efficient government.

Such a step has been demanded by the indignant public of the United States since they have had a glimpse into the corrupt, dishonest activities which have been going on in the key offices of the Internal Revenue Bureau, and other government agencies.

It must be remembered that the reorganization bill for the Internal Revenue Bureau is not a cure-all for the ills which have infiltrated into the agency. Morals and ethics in government can not be legislated by Congress or upheld altogether by civil service examinations. Constant vigil will be necessary to see that even the civil service officers toe the line for honest, efficient government.

The reorganization bill is a step toward lifting the Internal Revenue Bureau out of the mire into which it has sunk. It will be up to the administration, the members of Congress and the general public to see that the rotten apples are pitched out of the barrel and are kept out.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—The persistent and noisy popularity of the two "Macs" among Republicans—General MacArthur and Senator McCarthy—puzzles politicians in both major camps. They are regarded as undependable but influential figures in the 1952 Presidential battle.

Even those who disagree with MacArthur's theses on Far Eastern politics and warfare, and with the Wisconsin man's roughneck tactics, concede their powers of great public appeal. Except for Senator Taft, they are in greatest demand as speakers at Republican rallies, as well as for nonpolitical gatherings.

QUESTION—In trying to find a common denominator that will explain the two men's salesmanship, Democratic and Republican strategists and candidates for office are seeking to hit upon the issues which will help them in their own campaigns.

What is it, they ask themselves and their colleagues, which the two "Macs" have, that I don't have and need?
Their tentative answers to that question bode ill for President Truman. If he runs again, or for any Democrat like Governor Stevenson of Illinois, who feels it necessary to run on the Truman record without certain qualifications.

ISSUES—The explanation for the two "Macs'" popularity would also seem to operate against General Eisenhower. Indeed, a factual analysis of the MacArthur-McCarthy crowd-pleasing qualities suggests that Senator Taft should benefit most from the factors which contribute to their popularity.

While MacArthur's appeal is admittedly emotional and sentimental to a great degree, he has raised certain basic issues in his numerous speeches.

He has charged (1) that the Administration has concentrated too heavily on European aid, military and economic; (2) that this and other policies have resulted in the loss of China to the Reds; (3) that the United States could have routed the North Korean invaders, if it had accepted his suggestions for more aggressive warfare there.

But, he says, he maintains that our fundamental foreign program, both in Europe and the Far East, has been a catastrophic failure. So does Taft.

OUTCOME—Senator McCarthy supports the MacArthur theory, but he carries it several steps further into the realm of politics and ideology. He insists that it was not stupidity or ineptitude which brought about Chiang Kai-shek's downfall before the Reds' attack. He attributes this tragic outcome to a faction of Red sympathizers within the State Department, headed by Dean Acheson, Alger Hiss, John Carter Vincent and such advisers as Owen Lattimore.

And current revelations of the Lattimore influence at the White House and State Department throw a new light on his role in the Far Eastern drama.

LIABILITY—Unlike the Tydings investigation of 1950, which cleared Lattimore but contributed to the Maryland Senator's defeat, the current McCarran inquiry has deeply embarrassed the Johns Hopkins educator.

It is significant that, in contrast to his behavior during Tydings' cavalier handling of Lattimore two years ago, no high officials are rushing to his defense. In their opinion, he has become a liability to be discarded.

These, then, have been the MacArthur-McCarthy contributions to the 1952 campaign. They have been the things for Senator Taft's political mill.

INFLUENCE—In addition, MacArthur has asked his supporters to line up behind Taft. While disclaiming any personal attachment toward Truman or General Eisenhower, he makes clear that he views their candidacies with distaste. To him, Eisenhower is the visible symbol of a foreign policy he condemns.

All this may add up to a boost for Taft who is missing no chance to capitalize on his general agreement with the two "Macs" on so many issues sure to influence the voters next fall.

But the Taft people are not completely happy over MacArthur's attitude. His recent listing of a President's qualifications fit the General more closely than they do the Senator from Ohio. They are not too certain that the military hero does not have his eye on himself as a possible compromise choice in a Taft-Eisenhower deadlock.

Don't Look Now

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you live in Greenville or the surrounding area you know that in February and March business is pretty dull. Yesterday I ran into Roscoe Shiplett, manager of the local Waldensian-Pitt Baking Company, and approached him with the standard question, "How's business?"

When Ship answered, "Very dull," I couldn't believe my ears. "Now come on, Ship, don't kid me. People eat the same amount of bread all during the year. Even in the seasonal town of Greenville, your business can't be hit that hard."

To convince me that I was wrong, Ship pulled out the records of the Quality Bakers Association, an organization of 104 bakeries. "Of all the members in the United States," he said, "we have the greatest fluctuation of any of them. We even have more fluctuation than Florida does. They have a 21 per cent fluctuation in bread business, and we have 45 per cent."

In his office Roscoe has more charts and graphs than the FBI. On his poundage chart, showing the number of pounds of bread he distributed, this greatest dip is the week after Christmas. During Christmas week bread consumption is way up, but the week after Christmas it takes a terrific nose dive.

The American people eat about 75 loaves of baker's bread a year. That's an average of 33 slices a day per person. However, it varies throughout the country. Rhode Island is the highest per capita, 44 slices per day, and South Carolina the lowest, slightly less than one slice per day.

Greenville shows the greatest fluctuation because of the tobacco season. During the housing process housewives are out in the field and are not in the kitchen cooking bread.

"This doesn't apply to me," I told Roscoe. "I eat the same amount of bread the year around." "Oh no you don't," Roscoe shot back. "During the summer I can safely say that Rachel feeds you more sandwiches than any other time during the year. Therefore, your bread consumption is up."

Roscoe was right. He convinced me that any business in Greenville is greatly affected by the tobacco market. Even the doctors probably have more aching backs and heads to deal with during the season. And I thank you.

Assn. Afternoon Dalles

COMMITTEEMAN—There is almost as much interest among politically minded Democrats in the post-of national committeeman as in offices at stake in the forthcoming primary. On recent trips which carried your reporter as far west as Asheville and east to Jacksonville, with frequent stops between, keen interest was manifested in replacing Jonathan Daniels with someone more in accord with majority party leadership in this state. Experienced politicians recognize the weakness in the position of those seeking a change. It is the established fact that "You can't beat somebody with nobody." So far the expressed sentiment has been anti-Daniels, without being pro-anybody. A few names which have been suggested would be as highly controversial and as obnoxious to large segments of the party. These include Senator Willis Smith, Representatives Monroe Redden and Graham Barzen.

MIDDLEMAN—Most of the Tarheel Democratic leaders are looking for a man who can serve as liaison between the state committee and the national committee. That is a difficult assignment, calling for tact and diplomacy. The specifications also require that the man be completely loyal to the national committee, of which he is a member, and have the confidence and respect of state leaders—whose philosophy of government is increasingly diverse from present national policy. Effort is being made to find a man willing to undertake the job who would not be classed as an extremist in either direction. There are dozens of good men who can qualify on basis of ability and impartiality. Not many of them, however, are willing to volunteer for the position, because they recall that the late Joe Blythe was cussed out by both extremes for trying to stay in the middle. There will be a lot of maneuvering between now and state convention date (May 22) to find a national committeeman acceptable to all factions in the Democratic party, and of sufficient forcefulness to take him out of the category of weaklings.

INCENTIVE—A program for encouraging citizens of municipalities served by Carolina Power & Light Company in North and South Carolina was launched this week. At 60 regional dinners, attended by guests from the 350 communities in the CP & L area, announcement was made of some ten thousand dollars in prizes to be awarded to local committees sponsoring civic improvements. Last year a similar program for rural development at county level was sponsored by the Progressive Farmer, with offer of $1,000 prize for the county showing most improvement during the year, and supported by numerous farm groups, the development associations and the N. C. Press Association with supplemental prizes. These incidents are far more significant than the lure of cash prizes would indicate. Cleanliness and progress are just as contagious as dirtiness and indolence. The money is important and valuable for further advancement, but the chief good lies in the incentive rivalry.

FAR-REACHING—The plan launched by the power company is more elaborate and far-reaching than the co.-progress campaign. It has been worked out in more detail, and remains elastic enough for any community to participate. It appeals particularly to small towns, the three classifications being towns of less than 1,000 population, between 1,000 and 2,500, and above 2,500. That gives distinct advantage to the smaller communities, because in larger cities there are more civic agencies already at work, and more facilities already provided.

EQUALITY—Main point for consideration in both the municipal and rural development programs is the even start in the contest. The rules of the contests and the methods of judging are slightly different, but in the main, the winners of prize money will be those towns and counties which show most progress during the year. In both contests emphasis has been placed upon the fact that no community can lose. Those which fail to win a check for prize money will still have the gain of better facilities and improved living conditions to show for their efforts.

WOMEN—It was pointed out by Dr. Clarence Poe in presenting the county progress program last year and by E. N. Pope in presenting the municipal program at the dinners given by CP&L this week, that women have a very large part in the scheme of things as outlined. The power company official particularly emphasized the influence exerted by women on the location of industry. Many people assume that industrial plants are located solely on basis of economic considerations, such as climate, power, transportation facilities, tax rates and potential labor supply. That used to be the case, but it isn't true now. Social and cultural elements are equally important. Good schools, public libraries, churches, recreational facilities and kindred requirements for modern living are just as significant. Add in these fields the wives and mothers have more to say than the menfolk about where the home will be established.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

KOREAN AIR SUPERIORITY
(New Bern Sun-Journal)
Indications are that the Air Force budget will be one of the warmer items taken up at this session of Congress. There are a lot of questions that need asking, and answering, about our air power situation in the light of the Korean war. What about the success of the enemy MIG-15 jet fighter over Korea? Are our own jet fighters as good as our plentiful as they should be? Do we have enough pilots? Are we being left behind in military air research?

Some of the answers to these vital questions are found in a highly-interesting article by Robert Holtz, member of the U.S. Air Force in China during World War II, in the last issue of a magazine put out by the United Aircraft Corporation.

Writing from Korea, Holtz points out first that our jets are battling big odds. Some 150 F-86 Sabres of two U. S. wings are up against 700 Red Air Force MIG-15's. "The blunt fact," says Holtz, "is that the Soviet Union has given the Chinese Communists more jet fighters than have been made available to our United Nations forces."

And what about the comparative quality of the MIG and the F-86? Holtz says that because of their "superior flying performance at high altitudes," the MIG's can dictate how and where they want to fight. He points out, too, that whereas the Communists are able to train hundreds of jet pilots over Korea, American pilot training is limited to the relatively small number of jet planes we have.

Holtz says that our pilots believe that as soon as enemy pilots become competent in the proving air over Korea, they are given a "diploma" and shipped out somewhere. "Where?" A disturbing guess would be that they are going back to train still more pilots. The writer concludes that whatever may be the day-to-day struggle in the first great struggle for jet fighter supremacy, the battle is of enormous significance for the future.

Business Today

Of every dollar of personal income last year, 80 cents was spent at retail stores, according to the Department of Commerce's summary of 1951. Of the remainder, 113 cents went for taxes, 6.8 cents were saved and the other 21.9 cents were spent outside of stores.

Of the 80 cents that went to stores, 26.6 cents was spent at durable goods stores and 39.4 at nondurable goods stores.

Food stores got the largest share of any group, getting 24.6 cents, and auto and accessory stores got another 5.6 cents.

Retail store today are probably not getting the identical share of the consumer dollar as they did for the full year of 1951. Taxes are getting a slightly larger share and savings are higher. They rose to 9 cents of each dollar of personal income toward the end of 1951 and are currently estimated around that rate.

These savings figures, however, are tricky. In its calculations, the Department of Commerce includes accumulations of cash and securities, increases in private life insurance and pension reserves, investment in non-business real property, investment in unincorporated enterprises including farms, and net liquidation of consumer debt.

If the idea that paying a consumer debt is a saving strikes you as odd, consider the fact that in years when consumer debt increased, the increase is regarded as "dis-saving." Savings in 1950 would have been regarded as $3,000,000,000 higher if consumers hadn't added that much more to their indebtedness. Nevertheless, the theory that saying "Charge It!" at a store is dis-saving and that paying the bill later is saving has considerable support among economists.

TV IN HOTEL ROOMS
BOOMS ROOM SERVICE
Add consequences of television: A New York hotel reports that room service has zoomed since it installed television in its rooms. People come to New York to see the sights but instead stay so glued to TV sets that they do not leave their rooms even for meals and rinks, says Irwin Kramer, Edison Hotel head.

BLUE CALLED COMING COLOR FOR KITCHENS
There are cycles in kitchen color schemes, Faber Birren, color expert for Monsanto Chemical Co., reports after considerable research.

A few years ago there was a cycle of green and white kitchens. That gave way to a cycle of yellows. Now a cycle of clear medium blues is beginning and will last for four or five years, greenish blues to periwinkle blues.

If Mr. Birren's estimates are correct, it can mean savings of thousands of dollars to kitchenware manufacturers, since most women seek accessories that will blend with color schemes.

AD HITS BACK AT FREEZER DEALS
Home freezer dealers, as we noted here a couple of days ago, in increasing numbers are offering prices as an inducement.

Most retail food dealers do not like the idea and one, Frank Cooper, of Minneapolis, has hit back with advertising. Headline on his ad says, "Watch out for so-called wholesale meat deals that intimate a home freezer free on your savings. They show you U. S. choice steak at 62 cents but they sell you a side of beef!" It adds that stein steak trimmed from a 62-cent-a-pound side of beef actually costs about $1 a pound, and urges buying freezers from reliable dealers and meat from butchers.

NOT AFRAID OF "MINK" APPEAL
Mink coats may have political connotations, but they are also helping to sell air conditioning equipment. "I bought my wife a mink with the money I saved in my service department," is the heading of an ad in dealer papers by one company, Tynboer Air Conditioning Co., Brooklyn.

NAVY BOOKLET TELLS HOW IT PAYS BILLS
For those working on or hoping for defense contracts, a booklet on "How the Navy Pays Its Bills," explaining Navy payment procedures, has been published. It is available from the Naval Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, Washington 25, D. C.

LET'S EMPLOYER HOLD U. S. MONEY
A New Jersey business man pays his employees in full, but before they leave they must stop at a cashier's window and give back their withholding tax.

Letting them have possession of their full salary for a few minutes is his way of impressing the employees with the amount of taxes they are paying.

STRETCHER—Older and older movies may now hit television. Movie films shrink over the years and often this shrinkage makes showing or copying impossible. Now a process to stretch old films has been developed by Peerless Film Processing Corp., 130 W. 46th St., New York 36.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—Every once in a while something comes out of Hollywood that looks and acts natural.

This is the case with Aldo Ray. He is a 25-year-old former Navy "frogman." The film people are not quite sure whether in Aldo they have another Gary Cooper or just another brief-tinkling male starlet.

Ray isn't too worried either way. He likes acting and the prospect of a life spent in fretting about the income tax in the higher brackets. On the other hand, it wouldn't destroy his belief in himself if he had to return to his old job as constable in his home town—Crockett, Calif.

"I enjoyed being a constable, and I have a lot of friends there," he said. "It won't break my heart to go back to the people I know."

Ray is a blond six-foot, 166-pound, easy-going guy with a relaxed manner that films well and a gravel-husky voice that people remember.

He looks like the football player he used to be, and he got into the movie business by accident. One of his five brothers saw a newspaper ad calling for football players to play in "Saturday's Hero" and he signed up.

Aldo borrowed his brother's car, drove to Hollywood and got a job.

"Well, he's no actor," the executives agreed after seeing the picture. Then they gave him a couple of bit roles in two other pictures and weren't so sure.

Ray acted so natural he convinced them.

They gambled on him by assigning him to a co-starring role with Judy Holiday in "The Merry-Go-Round" and gave him the lead spot in the forthcoming "From Here to Eternity." He is now about the hottest prospect in the industry, but his career still awaits the verdict of freedom.

His bosses sent him here to go through the hoopla customary in building up a new film figure—interviews, personal appearances, endorsements of dog foods and so forth. Through it all he has kept his balance extremely well, and hasn't had to call for a larger-hat size.

"But they've kept me so busy I can't even think of my own land-in-revolving doors," he remarked grinning.

One afternoon he sneaked a little time out from his pre-arranged schedule to do something he himself wanted. He dropped into a bookstore and bought a copy of Elizabeth Browning's "Sonnets From The Portuguese," a volume of love poetry.

"I've always wanted to read it," he said. "I never got to finish college, but I don't see why that should keep me from going on learning."

had already pulled back from the beach.

His biggest victory in Hollywood was his flat refusal to change his name.

"They wanted to call me John Harrison," he said. "What would my friends think of that? I could not stand it."

The net result is that he is now known as Aldo Ray on the screen and all his old friends call him by a new nickname—"Harrison."

Washington Letter

WASHINGTON—L. L. Isolation to set up a women's ROTC in the nation's colleges for all services is being pushed on Capitol Hill. Col. Mary A. Halloran, director of the Women's Army Corps, admitted the WAG has been seriously considering the subject.

The Marines started a reserve officer summer training program for women college graduates at their Quantico, Va. base in 1949. They have commissioned 31 women in the regular Marines and 75 in the reserves. The Navy in 1949 launched a feminine counterpart of its ROTC program at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill. This enables qualified women college students to get two summers' training and received a commission in the Naval Reserve along with their college diplomas.

Last August, 21 having completed the first two years, received commissions and went immediately to active duty. Fifty-seven others in the same group will receive their commissions upon their graduation from college this June. An additional 116 others still in college had completed their first year's training and had another year to go. Because the project is growing, the summer training is now being conducted at Bainbridge, Md., 30 miles from Washington.

"If you are a college girl, a freshman, sophomore, or junior, you have a chance to attend the Navy's select summer school," says the Navy in its recruiting pamphlet, "because each year the Navy carefully chooses a small group of college girls to train for naval officers' commissions. Once you are selected you have two wonderful summers ahead of you with no worry about expenses."

The Navy pays you while you go to school. They provide food, quarters and uniforms, all without cost, and pays for transportation from your home to school and back. When you join the reserves the starting pay is about $22.50 a month. College girls interested in lining up for this program may write to ROC, Washington 25, D. C.

"Young women college students who enter the reserve officers' candidate program are acknowledged and assuming their citizenship. Joy D. Hancock, director of the WAVES.

Meanwhile, the Navy is still recruiting high school graduates between the ages of 18 and 26, unmarried and with no dependents to enlist in the regular Navy, Capt. Hancock said.

Timothy, a Dependable Follower

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 16:1-3; I Corinthians 4:14-21; Philippians 2:19-24; I Timothy 4:10-16; II Timothy 2:1-13.

Paul went to Lystra and found there a disciple named Timothy, son of a Christian Jewish mother and a Greek father...

Paul wrote to the Corinthians that he was sending Timothy, "his beloved son and faithful in the Lord," to bring to them the remembrance of his, Paul's, teaching.

Paul advised Timothy: "Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine. Neglect not the gift that is in thee..."

Paul wrote of his suffering for his faith "as an evil doer" and "even unto bonds." But "the word of God is not bound."

MEMORY VERSE—I Timothy 2:15.

Timothy, a Dependable Follower

PAUL CALLED HIM HIS "BELOVED SON, AND FAITHFUL IN THE LORD."

Scripture—Acts 16:1-3; I Corinthians 4:14-21; Philippians 2:19-24; I Timothy 4:10-16; II Timothy 2:1-13.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. EVERY MINISTER of the gospel should frequently read and re-read the chapters in which the Apostle Paul gave advice to his young friend, Timothy...

"All seek their own, not the things which are Jesus Christ's." Even in those days when not so many years before Jesus had been among them...

To young men just beginning their ministry, these words of Paul, the successful preacher, to Timothy should give assurance and courage: "Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers..."

After about three years had passed, during which time Timothy had been working with Paul, reports reached Paul that there were contentions in the Christian church at Corinth, Greece...

MEMORY VERSE

"Give diligence to present thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed."—II Timothy 2:15.

allies—some saying that they followed Apollos, some Peter, and some Paul.

Some felt themselves above the simple gospel of Christ; there was drunkenness and immoralities among some of the members, and even some rebellion against the Apostle Paul and his authority...

Paul, therefore, wrote to the church at Corinth, beseeching them to be followers of himself, and saying, "For this cause have I sent unto you Timothy, who is my beloved son, and faithful in the Lord..."

He also wrote that he hoped soon to be able to come to them—which wish was apparently never fulfilled—and, after telling them of their faults of which he had heard, he asked: "What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?"

martyrdom, he wrote: "Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Jesus Christ. And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also."

"Thou therefore endure hardness as a good soldier of Jesus Christ. No man that entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier. And if a man also strive for masteries, yet is he not crowned, except he strive lawfully."

"Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things. Remember that Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to my gospel: wherein I suffer as an evil doer, even unto bonds; but the word of God is not bound."

GRAD OUT OF LUCK JACKSON, Miss. — (UP) — Unlike other seniors who graduated from Millsaps College at the end of the winter semester, C. Y. Yao can't go home and look for a job. Yao is a native of Shanghai but can't return home for fear of death at the hands of the Communists.

As a concession to "southpaws," banks are now making left-handed checkbooks.

BARABOO, Wis. (UP) — A 10-year-old boy seemed to have everything wrong, at least as far as Gov. Earl Warren of California was concerned. The boy wore buttons displaying the faces of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen when he approached Warren yesterday for an autograph.

"I couldn't find any Warren buttons," the boy explained. The governor chuckled. "What's your name?" he asked. "Tom MacArthur," came the reply.

DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue R. A. McClary of Dallas had a brand new problem today. Taxpayer Guadalupe Gonzales asked for help with his W-2 withholding tax statements—one for each week of 1951. Gonzales is a laborer employed on a weekly basis. His employer handed him the withholding slips for each of the 52 weeks. "I never saw a man with so many W-2 forms," McClary said.

Because of the influx of money and equipment into oil-rich Saudi Arabia, this primitive nomadic county is making a jump of centuries of technical progress in a few years.

Offers Own Plan To Be President

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UP)—A radio-television repairman kicked off his presidential campaign today with a promise to put his "Plan X" into operation if elected and "drive the money changers from the temple."

"Nineteen hundred years ago, Jesus Christ drove the money changers from the temple," declared Carroll Sheldon Shaw. "My plan will finish the job he started." The 43-year-old father of four and owner of a small radio shop here paid the $100 entry fee for Florida's Democratic primary yesterday.

He elected, Shaw said, he will declare all money worthless on a given date and start "Plan X." Every worker and every retired or disabled person would be issued $200 every week plus $10 for every dependent under the plan. The money would be stamped with the person's name and would be worthless 30 days after being issued.

"It is Americanism," Shaw said, "the greatest good for the greatest number. This is not socialism, nor is it capitalism."

Under Shaw's plan, the government would take over all but personal property and charge only actual costs for goods and services.

CHICAGO (UP)— Circuit Judge Bernard Epstein, one of three men whose nomination for Illinois Federal Court vacancies touched off a "senatorial courtesy" fight between President Truman and Sen. Paul Douglas, died today. He was 63 years old.

The veteran judge, who spent 18 years on the circuit bench, was one of Douglas' three choices for the federal vacancies. The President and the Illinois Democrat each refused to yield ground for a time after Mr. Truman came up with three choices of his own. The two men finally agreed on one common choice, Federal Judge Sam Perry. Epstein never was appointed.

Epstein, who spent most of his career in public life, died at 2:30 a. m. CST at Michael Reese Hospital. He entered the hospital March 5 with a heart ailment and it was thought that this caused his death.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UP)— A $10 bill, stamped in red letters "counterfeit" on both sides, finally has come to the end of a 16-year career in Oklahoma City. Secret Service Agent Tom Hanson said the bill was made from a plate seized and destroyed by federal agents in 1938. He said it evidently had been circulating for 16 years despite the red warning letters.

The bogus bill was noticed yesterday by a department store clerk. She received it from a girl who had acquired the bill as change from another firm earlier in the day. "People just don't pay any attention to their money," Hanson said.

MILWAUKEE — (UP) — A marker buoy to guide rescue craft to a sinking or submerged airplane has been developed here. The buoy is released as the plane begins to go down and water pressure activates a hydrostatic valve. The buoy pops to the surface, spreads an amber dye over about an acre of the water and a blinker light goes on.

The blinker winks 50 times a minute for a 40 hour period. Two flashlight batteries power the light, which is under a plastic dome and can be seen from the air for 50 and 75 miles on a clear night.

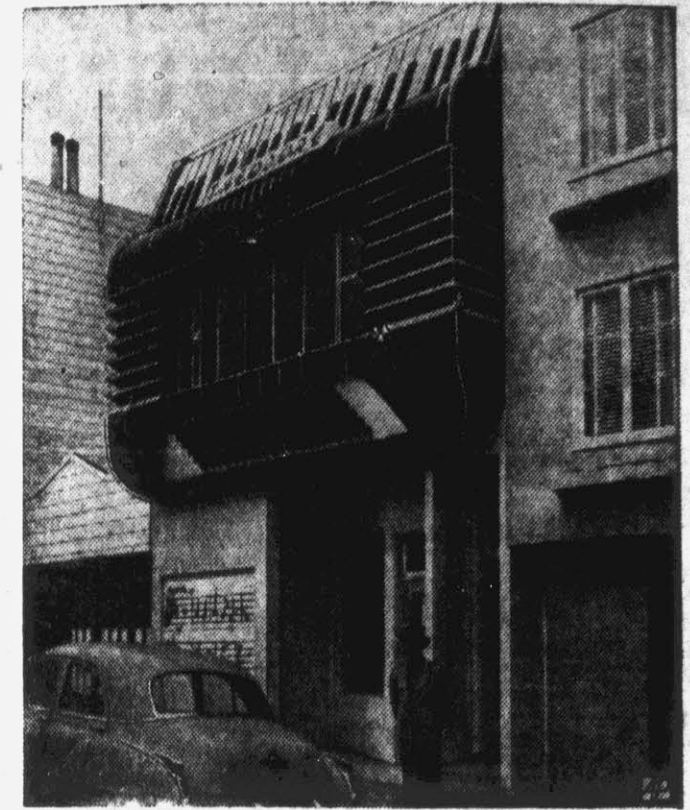

Fresh dye trickles out of the marker for a 24 hour period to further mark the spot where the plane went down. The buoy is attached to the plane with 2,000 feet of nylon twine which withstands a pull of 200 pounds.

The light or dye marker on the water would lead rescuers to the cracked up plane. By following the nylon line to the plane, they could recover bodies and salvage the plane, according to the Panel Manufacturing Co., which developed the buoy.

W-2 Forms Were His Big Problem DALLAS, Tex. (UP) — Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue R. A. McClary of Dallas had a brand new problem today. Taxpayer Guadalupe Gonzales asked for help with his W-2 withholding tax statements—one for each week of 1951. Gonzales is a laborer employed on a weekly basis.

His employer handed him the withholding slips for each of the 52 weeks. "I never saw a man with so many W-2 forms," McClary said.

NOTES TO PASSERSBY — San Franciscans have no difficulty identifying the business of Theodore Pezolo for his studio home indicates his occupation as accordion teacher.

Jane Wyman To Wed Contractor

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Academy Award winning screen actress Jane Wyman plans to be married to building contractor Travis Kleefeld by next June.

The actress announced her engagement yesterday but said she could not set the date for her marriage until she finishes her current picture. Miss Wyman is the former wife of actor Ronald Reagan, who married starlet Nancy Davis last week.

Farley Sees No Immediate Peril

NEW YORK (UP)— Former Postmaster General James A. Farley said yesterday that there is no imminent danger of war with Russia.

Addressing several hundred junior executives at a trade organization luncheon, Farley said he saw no possibility of a war with Russia because "they are afraid of the industrial might of America."

Remind Sailors Of Traditions

HALIFAX, N.S. (UP)—The Royal Canadian Navy reminded new sailors today that the service has certain traditions.

The Navy said it frowned upon such responses to orders as "O.K., Sir," "Right, Sir" and "Roger, Dodger, Sir." The old "aye, aye, Sir" will do.

Crown Champ Of Juice-Drinkers

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP)—J.D. Hall of Manhattan, Kan., downed 32 six-ounce glasses of orange juice here yesterday to win the first International Orange Juice Drinking contest.

One glass behind Hall and runner-up was Walter Marsland of Spokane, Wash. American engineers recently completed a 350-mile railroad in the Middle East, linking the Persian Gulf oil port of Dammam to Riyadh.

Gets Venison The Hard Way

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. — (UP) — Carsten F. Hansen had venison for dinner but he came by the meat the hard way.

Hansen was walking across a water-level bridge when a deer came out of the lake and attacked him. Hansen fired his shotgun at the animal but the pellets only infuriated the deer.

Hansen fired his shotgun at the animal but the pellets only infuriated the deer. Hansen fled to the ocean a few yards away with the deer in hot pursuit. Hansen's boots filled with water and weighed him down, so he turned and killed the deer with the butt of his gun.

His comment: "There must be an easier way."

Jayvee Tournament Opens At Greenville High School

Little Phantoms Win In First Round Play

Top-Seeded Greenville Meets Belvoir Tonight After Kinston-Ahoskie Game Opens Semi-Final Round Of Action

First Round Results
Kinston 62, Pine Level 45
Belvoir 43, Ayden 41
Greenville 56, Stokes 34
Ahoskie 50, Bethel 34

Games Tonight
Ahoskie vs. Kinston, 7 p.m.
Greenville vs. Belvoir, 8 p.m.

First round results in the Greenville High School Junior Varsity basketball tournament listed no upsets for any of the eight teams involved as all the seeded teams came through as expected.

The top-ranked Greenville Jayvees, runners-up to Durham for the State Jayvee title, came through with a 56-34 victory over Stokes but the little Greens are expected to receive plenty of competition from Kinston's baby Red Devils. The Kinston club mauled Pine Level 62-45 last night. The first night's action was completed when Ahoskie set past Bethel 50-34 and Belvoir squeaked by Ayden 43-41.

New Records Set As High Schools Open Tourney

DURHAM (AP)—Six games in three classes feature today's 10-hour State High School Basketball Tournament semi-final program at Duke's Indoor Gymnasium.

Class AAA teams opened their play with four games yesterday and the annual East vs. West battle resulted in a standoff, with Greensboro's Western Conference champions and Charlotte Central's runners-up advancing along with Eastern champion Raleigh and Wilmington, the defending champion who died Durham for the No. 2 Eastern spot in the regular season.

Raleigh set a new scoring record while smothering Asheville, 88-54; Greensboro finally shook off stubborn Wilson, 58-48; Charlotte upset Durham, 48-40, in a mild surprise, and Wilmington ran rough shod over High Point, 66-30.

As a result, the semi-final program today shaped up like this:

- 1:00—Welcome to Robbins (A).
- 2:30—Leaksville vs. Washington (AA).
- 4:00—Charlotte vs. Raleigh (AAA).
- 6:30—Knightdale vs. Pleasant Gardens (A).
- 8:00—Laurinburg vs. Hendersonville (AA).
- 9:30—Greensboro vs. Wilmington (AAA).

Raleigh's 46.8 shooting average against Asheville came on 36 baskets as the Red Caps broke the record of 72 points and 30 baskets set by Greensboro against Rocky Mount last year. The total of 142 points was 27 higher than the old mark. Still another record fell when Referees Jim and Joe Mills called 49 personals, 25 against Asheville, to break the old mark of 48.

Forwards Carl Hayes and J. O. Thomas each scored 18 points as the Caps led all the way. Jimmy Chandler's 21 points was high for both teams.

Charlotte's Bill Hanks, a 6-7 center, biggest boy in the tournament, had the biggest opening round performance. The former polo victim scored 26 points and played all the way. He had nine baskets on 13 shots and made good on eight of nine fouls. His seven successive points gave Central an 11-4 first period lead, but Durham came to with a bang, scoring 20 points for a 24-20 lead. Thanks to Hanks' 10 in the third period.

Hobby Cobb came through with a couple of last period baskets to help Hanks and Charlotte moved to a 44-40 lead with two minutes to go.

when they romped past Bethel junior warriors 50-34.

Ahoskie's Bill Odum came out of the contest with high scoring honors not only for the game but for the night as well as he pumped in 20 points in leading his team to victory. Most of Odum's final points came in the wild and woolly final quarter when Ahoskie completely ran away from the Bethel club.

Larry Daniels was second high for Ahoskie with nine points but he had to concede the game's runner-up honors to Bethel's Gray who scored 12 points. Anderson was second high for Bethel with seven tallies.

Tonight's action will begin at 7 o'clock with the Ahoskie-Kinston clash and will conclude with the third almost-runaway eight o'clock contest between Greenville of the first round of play and Belvoir.

Greenville Wins First CGA Golf Match From Tarboro

In the first match in Coastal Golf Association competition Wednesday, the Greenville linkmen defeated Tarboro 47-1. The match was played in Tarboro.

The Greenville team was led to their victory by Ercell Webb who carded a 71. He was followed by Reynolds May with a 73, W. L. Allen with a 74, and Luke Herring with a 76.

The match rang up the curtain on a season which will extend through the next 14 weeks according to Greenville Captain Bill Morton. The Greenville team took 20 players to Tarboro Wednesday and Morton came back more than satisfied with the individual performances and the performance as a group.

Competition for the Greenville club in CGA play will come from the other seven members of the Association: Washington, Kinston, Farmville, Tarboro, Clinton, Smithfield and New Bern. New Bern won the Association title last year and is in the role as defending champion and pre-season favorite.

The Greens' next match will be next Wednesday afternoon when they play host to New Bern. All Association matches will be played on Wednesday afternoon.

Following the season play, the Association will hold its annual tournament on the new golf course in Clinton. Plans are already being formulated for the event which is expected to come off the last of May.

Writers To Boss Basketball Team

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Three Indianapolis sportswriters, who think they know how a basketball team should be run, get a chance to prove it tonight.

Bob Stranahan of the Star, Angelo Angelopoulos of the News and Frank Anderson of the Times each will manage the Indianapolis Olympians for one quarter of their NBA game with the Baltimore Bullets. Manager Herman Schaefer will sit in the press box—until he takes charge in the final period.

Consistent

NEW YORK (AP)—Dayton University's basketball team believes in being consistent if nothing else.

A year ago the Flyers defeated St. John's 69-62 in the semi-final round of the National Invitation Tournament. Last night they beat St. Bonaventure by the same score in the same round.

Dayton, LaSalle In Finals Of Invitational

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—It will be veteran Dayton, led by "power forward" Don Meineke, against LaSalle's young but canny Explorers tomorrow night in a surprise, all-unsseeded windup to the National Invitation basketball tournament.

The Dayton Flyers will be appearing in the finale for the second straight year, seeking to avenge for their 1931 defeat by Brigham Young.

For LaSalle, playing in its fourth NIT in five years, this will be the first time it will play for the top prize.

Shunted aside by the seeding committee at the start of play, both teams proved to be rich and deep in talent. Tomorrow's battle before an expected sellout throng of 18,800 at Madison Square Garden looms as strictly a toss up.

LaSalle, the crowd favorite from the opening round with its dazzling shotmaking, showed in last night's surprising bout of top-seeded Duquesne, 59-46, that it is now playing at the very peak of its game and owns a real star in six-foot, five-inch Norm Grekin.

And Dayton, posting an easier-than-expected 69-62 win over third-seeded St. Bonaventure as Meineke hooped 26 points, ran its winning streak to 20 games.

LaSalle, with two freshmen and a soph in its starting five, displayed a rare ability to adapt its game to a situation in the Duquesne game, which settled down to a "battle of wits" between LaSalle Coach Ken Loeffler and Duquesne's Donald (Dudey) Moore, who was voted "Coach of the Year."

This time Loeffler came off the best.

"The only edge we had," explained a jubilant Loeffler, "was that our third man was taller than their third man."

"The Explorers were plenty miffed about being passed up by the NCAA Tournament Selection Committee. But they didn't get that bad news until the game was over."

Lively Ball Back As Spring Games Feature Slugging

By RALPH BODEN
AP Sports Writer

That old devil, the lively ball, has reared its ugly head again. Pitchers, thanks to an early start, held sway over the hitters since the exhibition grind opened but the fence-busters caught up with them yesterday.

There were 14 home runs hit in seven games including a 450-foot belt by Gus Zernial of the Philadelphia Athletics, the American League's home run king.

Zernial's tremendous clout was a struck in a losing cause as the A's dropped a 11-6 slugfest to the New York Yankees at West Palm Beach, Fla. The Yanks pulled out their fifth victory in six starts with a seven run uprising in the sixth inning featuring rookie Andy Carey's triple. Rookie Jack Littrel of the A's socked a pinch-hit homer in the ninth.

The Yankee "B" squad dropped a 7-6 decision to the Philadelphia Phillies "B" team at Clearwater, Fla. Clint Weaver the junior Yanks clouted two home runs while Stan Holmberg and Jim Command each hit a homer for the Phils.

Philadelphia's main slug, despite a grand-slam homer by Willie Jones, dropped an 8-7 decision to the Brooklyn Dodgers in a night game at Miami. The Dodgers scored the winning run in the ninth inning on a single by Gil Hodges.

The Detroit Tigers pounded out three home runs in defeating the Boston Braves, 8-5, at Lakeland, Fla. George Kell featured a four run sixth inning rally with a three run homer. Gerry Priddy and Steve Souchock socked bases empty homers for the Tigers.

Home runs accounted for all of the runs in Cincinnati's 2-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla. Joe Adcock won the game for the Reds with a two-run ninth inning homer off Harry (The Cat) Brecheen who was making his first appearance of the spring. Wally Westlake banged a pinch-hit homer for the Cards in the third.

Bobby Thomson slammed his first homer since his historic pennant winning four-bagger against Brooklyn as the New York Giants turned back the Chicago Cubs, 6-0, at Mesa, Ariz. The game was called after six innings because of high, cold winds. Rookie Bob Hofman also homered for the Giants. Sal Maglie held the Cubs to two hits, both by Ransom Jackson, in five innings.

The Washington Senators failed to hit a homer but made the most of nine singles to defeat the Boston Red Sox, 4-1, at Sarasota, Fla.

A scheduled game between the Chicago White Sox and Pittsburgh Pirates at San Bernardino, Calif., was cancelled because of rain. Rain also caused the cancellation of a game between Cleveland and San Diego at San Diego.

State To Meet St. John's In NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (UP)—The 16-team field for the NCAA basketball tournament was completed today with the naming of Dayton, Duquesne, St. John's and Penn State as the "members at large" entries for the Eastern regionals.

Dayton (27-3) will play Illinois (19-3), Big 10 champion, while Duquesne (23-2) will meet Princeton (15-4), Ivy League titlist, in one of the Eastern regionals at Chicago, March 21-22.

St. John's (22-4) will play North Carolina State (23-4), Southern Conference king, and Penn State (20-4) will tackle Kentucky (28-2), Southern Conference winner and defending champion, in the other Eastern bracket at Raleigh, N.C., March 21-22.

Dayton meets LaSalle for the National Invitation tournament title tomorrow night and will be the only team bidding for a sweep of the major post-season crowns if it beats the Philadelphia team at Madison Square Garden.

Kansas (22-3), Big Seven champion, will play Southwest Conference champion Texas Christian (21-3) and St. Louis (22-7), Missouri Valley king, will meet New Mexico A&M, Border Conference winner, at Kansas City, March 21-22.

Directors Approve Changes In Rules Of Little League Play

New rules which have been drawn up by the national association of Little League Baseball were submitted to the board of directors of the local league last night for their approval.

Meeting in the armory, Warren Carroll, city recreation director, told the group that several changes had been made in league rules for this season. Carroll also told the local league president, Marvin Blount Sr., that this was the last season that Greenville could operate with only one league. Cities are expected to operate a four-team league for each 15,000 people it contains.

It was brought out during the reports of the various committees that materials for the installation of a drainage system at the Little League Park have been secured. Rest room facilities for the public have also been obtained.

Present plans call for the first meeting of the player candidates on Monday afternoon after school in the armory, where Carroll and his assistants will check off the old boys and sign up the new boys to contracts. The meeting is for all boys who expect to play, regardless of their previous playing status. The league is open to all boys who will not be 13 years of age before August 1st, and under, and who live in the Greenville school district.

The same slate of officers for the league was presented and unani-

Directors Approve Changes In Rules Of Little League Play

They consist of: Marvin Blount, president; Tyson Bilbro, vice-president; Lester Turnage, secretary-treasurer; John Barnhill, statistician.

The most important rule to be changed is optional for the league. It states that a team may move its roster-limit up from 12 players to a total of 15 uniformed players for each game, with the stipulation that at least five of the players be under ten years of age. Five of the players will fall in the 12-year-old bracket, with the remainder filling in the 10-11 year old division. It was suggested that, if the rule was accepted, the league take it on a "blanket" proposition, with each team moving to 15 players.

The directors passed their approval of the rule and it will now be sent to the six sponsors of the team for their approval.

Other rules were:

- (2) Number of pitchers per team has been moved up from four to five.
- (3) A pitcher shall not pitch on two consecutive days, under any circumstances.
- (4) No pitcher shall pitch in more than nine innings per game.
- (5) If a pitcher is removed from the mound and placed at another position, he is not eligible to return to the mound.
- (6) Each league shall provide metallic protectors for catchers.

(7) Only one exhibition game is allowed per team for a year, with no all-star contests.

(8) A recommendation has been made by the national organization that night ball and Sunday ball be outlawed.

Red Sox Send 7 To Minor Leagues

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox had only eight players left from their big winter training school today with departure of seven youngsters for the Louisville and Birmingham training camps.

General Manager Joe Cronin announced that outfielders Tom Umpshett and Al Van Alstyne, catcher Bob Atwood and third baseman Hal Buckwalter are going to the Louisville camp in Deland.

Headed for the Birmingham camp in Ocala are three pitchers—Rollin Schuster, Al Schroll and Paul Aylward.

Still with the parent Red Sox are young outfielders Gene Stephens and Faye Throneberry, infielders Ted Lepcio, Dick Gernert and Jim Piersall and pitchers Russ Kemmerer, Dick Brodowski and Al Curtis.

Plan To Organize United Forces For Education

Leaders of various organizations in the county have been invited to attend a dinner meeting Tuesday, March 25, to explore the feasibility and possibility of organizing a United Forces for Education in the county. The meeting will be a Dutch affair at Respass-James Barbecue House at 7 p.m. The key people in civic clubs, PTA groups, home demonstration clubs, school boards, Farm Bureau groups, Women's clubs and the like are asked to attend the meeting to become familiar with the school problems of today. The basic legislative program for the 1953 General Assembly will be presented and discussed and also the needs and problems of the schools. All of the discussion will be to acquaint the group with the existing conditions to organize a lay group into a United Forces for Education. Letters explaining the purpose of the meeting were sent out to approximately 100 people by Mrs. R. L. Wolff, president of the Greenville unit of the North Carolina Education Association, and Sam D. Bumby, president of the Pitt County unit of the NCEA.

Cheerleaders In Monogram Club

Cheerleaders at the Belvoir-Falkland school will now become members of the Monogram Club of the school as a result of a meeting of the club Monday afternoon. The club members decided to give letters to the cheerleaders and admit them to membership in the club. A motion was made and passed that in the following years a cheerleader must put forth his or her best efforts before becoming a member of the Monogram club. Cheerleaders admitted into the club this year are Barbara Dixon, Tanya Anderson, Frances Hathaway, and Margaret Gurganus. The club will have charge of a chapel program today when the club members will receive their letters and stripes. A part of the initiation for the new members will be conducted during the chapel program.

Scouts Going To Week-End Camp

Fourteen Sea Scouts and Explorer Scouts from Greenville left today for Cherry Point where they will attend a week-end Explorer camp under the auspices of the U. S. Marine Air station. More than 200 Explorer Scouts from this section of the state are expected to attend the encampment arranged by the East Carolina Council and the U. S. Marine Corps. The Scouts will live on the base during the week-end, tour the military installations and get close-up views of various types of aircraft used at the base. Greenville Scouts attending the camp are Bill Taft, Joe Taft, Jimmy Phelps, Dickie Newell, Brad Brooks, Billy Tripp, Preston Jarvis, Mitchell Johnson, Billy Johnson, Mack Churchhill, Jack Clifford, Rudy Ross, Don Strader and Morris Morrow.

Mild And Fair

Mild weather continues to prevail in the Greenville area. Highest temperature here yesterday was 75 degrees. Lowest last night, 47, and at 8 a.m. today the mercury stood at 53 degrees. A year ago yesterday, the highest temperature here was 66 degrees. Lowest that night, 47, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 56 degrees. Mrs. Carl E. Madden, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported. Tar River at Greenville continues to fall and the level today was 13.28 feet, a drop of nearly a foot and a half, to be exact, 1.47 feet. The crest of the flood occurred here last Sunday, when the stream reached the 16.75 foot level, J. L. Minell, local observer for the U. S. Department of Commerce, reported.

Walter Noona, young pianist of Norfolk, Va., now a sophomore at East Carolina College, has been notified that he won first place in the "International Recording Festival," an annual event sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. An award of $250 went with the first-place rating.

Vanceboro News

A pupil of Robert Carter of the East Carolina music faculty, Noona entered Event 14 of the festival last fall, when recordings of student performances were submitted for rating by judges chosen by the Guild. The competition was open to contestants throughout the nation and in Cuba who made a grade of 90 or above in Spring 1951 auditions conducted by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Noona chose as numbers for the International Recording Festival Bach's "Prelude and Fugue in B flat Minor" and the Chopin "Etude," opus 10, no. 12, in C minor.

Judges and Mrs. Lawrence Lancaster visited Senator and Mrs. Roy Rowe at Burgaw during the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Lancaster visited Mrs. Lancaster's aunt, Mrs. John Bell, in Morehead City Saturday. Dr. Raymond Miller of Wilson was the guest of Mrs. Lizzie Denkins and Mrs. L. E. Mickey Jacurazo of Quantico spent the weekend here with Mrs.

The young East Carolina pianist was eligible as a contestant in Event 14 because last spring while he was a pupil at the Bristol Harding Studio in Norfolk, he was a High School Diploma Winner in the National Piano Playing Auditions sponsored by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. An outstanding student of music at East Carolina, Noona will be presented in a public recital by the department of music Sunday, May 4. Next Sunday afternoon, March 16, he will play the Rachmaninoff "Concerto in C Minor" on a college program broadcast over Station WGTM of Wilson at 1:00 p.m. In addition to his work in music, the young pianist has an excellent record as a student at the college. During the fall quarter he received special mention on the Dean's list of honor students, since he was one of sixteen students, out of approximately 2,000, who made the highest possible grade of "One" in each course taken. Noona also participates in activities of the college dramatic club, the Teachers Playhouse.

Eisenhower Shows Growing Interest

By The Associated Press
Gen. Eisenhower's interest in the Republican presidential nomination seemed to be growing today as support mounted in the wake of his clean sweep over Sen. Taft in the New Hampshire presidential primary. Eisenhower's Washington headquarters late yesterday released a letter from him to an unnamed close friend which said in effect he would not turn his back on party workers and leaders later. It sounded like he was telling those "in the rank and file" he wouldn't forget them if elected. Earlier in a cable from Paris warmly thanking New Hampshire supporters for their work, the general appeared to talk like a candidate whose enthusiasm is mounting. Minnesota supporters, encouraged by his opening victory, launched a campaign for write-in votes for Eisenhower in that state's primary next Tuesday. In Washington, backers still eager for him to return an "put up a fight" despite his statement he will not take part in the general election campaigns — said the New Hampshire victory was a "clear cut call to political duty" which the general said he would answer if it came. But a former New Jersey governor who supports Eisenhower said he would do the free world a disservice by coming home to campaign. Walter E. Edge made the statement in a radio television broadcast. A former Taft supporter in New Hampshire, Richard G. Jordan of Manchester, wrote the Ohio senator to get behind Eisenhower, and assure a GOP victory in November. Harold E. Stassen, another GOP candidate, campaigning in Wisconsin said he had not promised to deliver his delegation to Eisenhower if he fails to win at Chicago in July. He said his supporters, in such an event, can make up their minds whom to support. Taft continued a workhorse schedule in the Southwest, making speeches — all denouncing the Truman domestic and foreign policies — holding news conferences and attending dinners. He said in Albuquerque he still thinks he will have enough delegates to win in Chicago. He moves into Arizona today. Gov. Earl Warren, a fourth GOP candidate, campaigned for Wisconsin's 30 delegates. The California governor hammered away at the Democratic administration, which he said has taken the government away from the people. The Wisconsin primary is April 1. MERCHANTS ASSOCIATION DIRECTORS MEET MONDAY
The Greenville Merchants Association's board of directors will meet at the association's offices, in the City Hall, next Monday, March 17, at 8 p.m. President Charles A. White will preside. Mining did not begin on Norway's island of Spitsbergen until 1908.

Postal Receipts Top February '51

Receipts at the local post office here for the month of February were $3,271.08 more than they were in February, 1951. Totals for this past month amounted to $13,410.65 as compared with $10,139.62 last February. But it dropped below the January totals by a few hundred dollars. January totals amounted to $13,722.79 and a post office official said January was normally a busier month than February. The largest amount of money comes from stamp sales and postage meter machines. During the past three months, up until March 10, stamp sales brought in $19,795.98 while postage meter machines brought in $9,288.61 for the same period of time. Other receipts come from box rent, newspapers, and third class mail mailed in bulk, and other items.

Officers Named By Churchmen Last Evening

Officers were elected last night at a meeting of the men's group of the First Presbyterian Church and will go into office after the May 1 meeting. Dr. John Reynolds was named president of the group and Badger Johnson was elected vice-president. Jimmy Jenkins is the new secretary and treasurer and I. H. Morris was re-elected as reporter. Dr. George Pasti of the history department of East Carolina College spoke to the members of the men's group on his recent travels in Europe and Asia. He showed colored slides and explained each slide. About 45 members attended and they were served a ham supper. Hunter Keck, president of the group, presided. The last successful invasion of England was that of William the Conqueror in 1066.

Americans Ranked Among World's Worst Drinkers

LONDON — (AP) — A British researcher announced today that Russians, Italians and Jews carry their liquor better than anybody else in the world — and the people who carry it worst are Americans, Swedes, Irishmen, Norwegians and Finns.

The findings were reported in The Lancet, a British medical magazine, by H. Pullar Strecker, superintendent of a mental hospital at Isleworth.

"Not only individuals, but whole nations or races have better heads for alcohol than others," he declared.

"At the top of the scale come the Irish, who are notoriously prone to pathological alcoholism. At the bottom comes the Jewish race, in which alcoholism is remarkably low."

"Next to the Jewish race come the Italians, who, despite a high national consumption of alcohol, have a low alcoholism rate."

Right next to the Italians he rated the Russians.

Strecker based his article on figures he said he obtained from the United States, showing the rate of pathological alcoholism among people of foreign extraction.

He placed only Frenchmen and Englishmen in a middle group of people who have "a normal head for alcohol."

Strecker said his researches showed there is only one woman alcoholic in England and the United States. Speculating on the reasons for this, he commented:

"In the first place, since this is a man — made world, women not only have less opportunities for getting drunk but are frowned upon if they do."

"No one really thinks less of a man if he drinks, but with a woman it is different. In the words of the Russian proverb: 'If the husband drinks, half the house is aflame; if the wife drinks, the whole house is on fire.'"

GUARDING JUDGES NEW YORK (UP)—Police guarded Federal Judge Harold R. Medina and County Judge Samuel Leibowitz around the clock today as a series of "you'll get the same as Schuster" notes were received by various persons.

Finnegan Case To Jury After Closing Charges

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The case of James P. Finnegan—charged with trading influence for money—goes to the jury today.

Finnegan, former collector of Internal Revenue for St. Louis, is charged in a five-count indictment with bribery and misconduct in office.

Federal Judge Rubey M. Hulen's first order of business was instructing the jury of 11 men and a businesswoman.

The 10-day trial was marked yesterday by accusations that Finnegan was a "past master at making friends, making contacts, and selling his influence."

Assistant Atty. Gen. Thomas E. de Wolfe in his closing remarks to the jury also charged that Finnegan "did not serve honestly as collector" here.

The defense replied that Finnegan's actions were no more than "what congressmen do to stay in office."

Finnegan spent several days on the stand himself denying government testimony, denials which the government termed "fantastic" and "beyond belief."

Finnegan's attorney Harry C. Blanton countered that the government was trying to convict the former tax collector on circumstantial evidence.

Counts against Finnegan charged that he accepted $3,000 from American Lithofold Corp., $5,000 from Warwick Hotel Corp., and $641 in furniture from Karol Kell Garments for representing them in connection with their dealings with government agencies.

The bribery counts were based on two $250 checks the government alleged were paid Finnegan by Karol Kell to influence his decision on the collection of delinquent taxes.

Finnegan contended that he received the money for services that did not involve the government. He is still a vice-president of American Lithofold at $1,000 a month.

It was the investigation into Finnegan's activities which revealed William Boyle's connections with Lithofold and reportedly contributed to his resignation as national Democratic chairman.

Fuel Added To VEPCO Debate

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—A verbal battle raged anew today between the federal government and the Virginia Electric and Power Co.

Veeco President J.G. Holtzclaw labeled "completely false" a charge by Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman in Chicago yesterday that Veeco is trying to "grab" the two best power projects in the federal government's Roanoke River basin power development program.

Holtzclaw said Chapman has "tried every legal trick" to prevent Veeco from building dams at Roanoke Rapids, N.C., and Gaston, N.C.

President Truman, in a message at the Chicago power meeting, accused the power companies of altering their "propaganda campaign." Mr. Truman said formerly private power firms charged that federal power was inefficient and wasteful and now they claim that it is socialistic.

Holtzclaw said Mr. Truman must have forgotten that the Federal Power Commission unanimously approved Veeco's application to build the $27,000,000 dam at Roanoke Rapids and that the decision was upheld by a federal court of appeals.

Truce Talks . . . (Continued from page one) staff officers for each side again take over the prisoner discussions. "With a view to seeking and recommending to us means by which progress can be made toward a solution."

Lee said he will consider Libby's suggestion.

The prisoner of war debate is snagged on the Communists' demand for forcible repatriation of prisoners held by the Allies. The U.N. insists that prisoners have the right to refuse repatriation.

If it were not for the topsoil carried to its rich plains by the Nile River, Egypt might have been as desolate as the Sahara Desert.

South Dakota Farmers Suffered Hard Winter

(Editor's Note: Two months ago South Dakota farmers, deep in snow, started wishing for a thaw that has not materialized. In the interim they have been fighting blizzards, hauling feed, and scaming the heavens for a sign of a break. A farm wife and country news correspondent tells about it in the following article.)

By MYRNE COTTON

United Press Correspondent MILLETT, S.D. (UP)—The winter has been a long one and the feed that was hauled in is long since gone and still the snow lies 10 feet deep in some places.

But community life moves along, and the farmers optimistically say that spring will come soon, even if just on the calendar.

The farm women have spent long hours doing up the spring sewing. Quilts are on the frames, and quilting has been interspersed with crocheting, embroidering and knitting as well as patching.

Mrs. Dwight Dearborn has made six colored rugs this winter. Mrs. William McCool, Mrs. John Heilman and Mrs. Will Wade are other rug makers.

Many farm women have dozens of eggs and cans of cream waiting to go to market. Mrs. Herley McCool has 377 dozen eggs on hand. That's 4,524 eggs.

Mrs. Art Hibbison is carrying on alone. No one can get in to help her because of the deep snow.

Her husband suffered several broken ribs last week and was put out of action. She has been trying to feed the stock and get her small son to school a mile away.

Hibbison was hurt when he was trying to get a bucket off the head of a calf. The calf swung him behind a pony tied in the barn. The pony, startled, kicked, striking Hibbison in the chest.

There have been nine appendicitis cases in the community this winter. Most of the patients were taken to town by sled or snowmobile.

Some new citizens arrived after the mothers were taken to the hospital by sled or snowmobile.

Pilots have been busy. They have flown people in and out, delivered groceries to isolated farms, and brought out mail.

John Ruff has been flying "cat" drivers out to their outfits. Snowplows are working all the time, but can't get caught up.

The Jerry Bennings started to move to the Lorenz Likeness farm about 17 miles southwest of town on March 1, and now, nearly three weeks later, the cattle are at the farm, the furniture at their former farm home near Orient, and Mrs. Bennings and two children in town.

The well at the Al Nelson farm where Mr. and Mrs. Welby Duncan live is failing to supply enough water for 150 head of cattle and 45 hogs.

"I can stand it to never go to town," said Mrs. Duncan, "but I can't stand it to see those cattle thirsty."

Immediate . . .

He said the reorganization plan "marks a major concrete achievement in improving tax administration." Congress, he said, can be proud that it followed up his subcommittee's exposes with "remedial action."

Snyder said Dunlap will start the ball rolling "at once" and the reorganization will be completed by the Dec. 1 deadline set by President Truman.

Flaming Engine Is Blamed In Big Plane's Explosion

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (UP)—Air Force spokesmen blamed an engine fire today for an explosion that ripped off the wing of a C-47 transport and sent it spinning to earth in a mass of flames, killing six of its seven crewmen.

One man parachuted to safety before the crippled aircraft slammed into the ground in a clump of pines some seven miles north of here late yesterday.

Miss Pauline Green, on duty in a forest fire lookout tower near the scene, said the plane appeared to be in trouble while it still had considerable altitude.

"The left wing of the plane came off and just floated around up there," she said. "The body of the plane somersaulted and started burning and then began turning over and over."

An Air Force official at Moody Field, Valdosta, Ga., said a fire in the ship's right engine was believed to have spread into the main gas tank in the wing, causing the explosion that tore off the wing.

He said the plane was based at Moody and was en route from Kelley Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex., to Bainbridge, Ga.

Three of the victims were identified as Maj. Daniel L. Glass, copilot, of San Antonio; Capt. Barton Russell, pilot, next of kin, wife, Panama City, Fla., and 8-Sgt. Robert Updyke, of Tyronne, Pa., next of kin, wife, Valdosta.

The crewman who bailed out was listed as Lt. H. H. Howell, believed to be a native of Louisiana. His wife lives in Valdosta.

Howell was flown to a hospital at Brookley Air Force Base, Mobile, Ala., by a helicopter rescue team from nearby Cory Field, Pensacola, Fla.

Names of the other victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Honor Students Receive Awards

Four students with excellent scholastic records at East Carolina College have received awards made by Sigma Pi Alpha, national honorary foreign languages fraternity. The awards, given annually, are based on high scholastic averages and participation in linguistic and other extra-curricular activities.

East Carolina students receiving the awards at the 21st National Congress of Sigma Pi Alpha, meeting at Atlantic Christian College last weekend, are Dorothy Bradfordshaw, Elizabeth City; Priscilla Hynson, Washington; Anne Warren, Battleboro; and Evelyn Littleton, Jacksonville. Misses Bradfordshaw and Hynson are students of French; and Misses Warren and Littleton, students of Spanish.

Russian Proposal Would Surprise The Average Ivan

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor
If he heard about it at all, Ivan the Russian must have been considerably puzzled by Moscow's proposal for a German peace treaty. Imagine his surprise and puzzlement when he read:

"Democratic rights must be secured...so that all persons...irrespective of race, sex, language or religion should enjoy the rights of man and the fundamental freedoms, including the freedom of speech, press, religion, political convictions and assembly."

This also must have confused him: "The free functioning of Democratic parties and organizations must be secured...and they must be given the right freely to solve their internal affairs, to carry out rallies and meetings and to enjoy freedom of the press and publications."

The state makes most of Ivan's decisions for him and his worries up to now have been comparatively simple.

He may have entered this world without state permission, and, if he's lucky, he may leave it the same way. If he's unlucky, the state will make that decision for him, too.

So far as politics is concerned, he has never had to depend upon a public opinion poll or upon the newspapers and the radio to tell him about the outcome of an election.

In Russia there is but one legal political party—the Communist.

There is only one election state, so he knows the outcome of the election in advance.

So far as political convictions are concerned, the state's political commissar takes care of those things for him. If, by any chance, Ivan should entertain a stray idea of his own or should there even be a suspicion that he had, the thought police will handle that.

If Ivan is 35 years old or under, he probably knows nothing about religion except the atheism advocated by the state.

The only newspapers he sees or radio stations he hears either are state or party owned.

To own a radio receiver capable of picking up other stations throughout the world is to invite the death penalty.

Ivan knows better than to conspire with two or more of his fellows for a street corner discussion. The police will want to know about that, too, and it won't make much difference if Ivan is guilty or innocent.

Russia's proposed German peace treaty is both a mockery of the use of words and proof that the Russian leaders are convinced that Ivan has accepted their own peculiar definition of "freedom."

Believe Seaplane Is Answer To Problem

PARIS — (UP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower might be able to solve the airfield shortage plaguing western defense plans by building them on the water, British aviation sources believe.

Furthermore, they said, the cost would be a fraction of the millions of dollars necessary for the present continental airfield program that is not going very well.

Moreover, they continued, the seaplane jets could flip easily from one European lake to another and would be less susceptible to Russian observation on easily camouflaged bodies of water.

The British aviation company Saunders Roe Ltd. is experimenting with speedy, water-based jet fighters and giant jet-powered flying boats that could become prototypes for sea-based atom bombers.

Three of the fighters have been completed and tested under various conditions. Although the engines now powering the planes are slow by today's almost sonic standards, the company feels better engines could be put in.

The fighters pack a potent battery of four 20-millimeter cannon and are pressurized for high altitude interception.

The flying boats are the three giant "Princess class" ships that statistics show could do the work of nine troopships over a given route in a given time because they carry several hundred men and their equipment so fast.

An all jet version of the flying boat type could easily form the basis for an atom bomber, aviation circles believe.

Rocket Fuel Still Worries Science

PHILADELPHIA — (UP) — The moon, with all its romantic significance, is nothing but a great, big problem to scientists. The problem is how to reach it.

Dr. I. M. Levitt, director of the Fels Planetarium in Philadelphia, has an idea on how to solve it. Speaking at a meeting of the Rittenhouse Astronomical Society, Dr. Levitt said a rocket ship about 250 feet long and 75 feet in diameter, shaped like a cigar, should do the job. The cost would be about $200,000,000.

The major problem is fuel. Dr. Levitt said the best fuel today is a mixture of alcohol and liquid oxygen which could power a craft at a speed of two miles per second.

That isn't fast enough, however. Dr. Levitt said the ship must attain the speed of "escape velocity," which is seven miles per second, before it can break loose from earth's gravitational pull.

Dr. Levitt said step rockets could provide the extra push for the ship to reach "escape velocity." Once that speed is attained, the ship would revolve around the earth like a satellite. Then, he said, it can be used as a jumping off place for other craft, saving them the trouble of reaching "escape velocity" before soaring into the cosmos.

The astronomer said a space ship satellite could be used for worldwide weather predictions, scientific vacuum experiments, a radar beacon for navigators around the world and clearer observations of the universe by astronomers. The first nation to put a satellite rocket into space will control the earth, he predicted.

Murder is Forgetful

BY WILLIAM G. BOGART

Chapter 29

He stood up, took his tie and shirt and dropped them across the chair. Removing his trousers he almost lost his balance and fell on the bed. He finally got them off and flung them aside. Removing his shoes he looked at his partner. "Don't get the idea I'm one!" he said, eyes frowning.

"One what?"

"Dipsomaniac... like her." He took off his socks. "I thought a couple of drinks might loosen her tongue... until I discovered she takes to the stuff like a duck to water..."

"Say!" Moe Martin looked interested. He was so interested he forgot about holding the towel around his head. It was now draped down over his face like a shroud. "I've just thought of something! Nick Walker, I'll get, was plenty jealous of Smith. That boy sure was mixed up with women. Hannah, the cook, was telling me." "Bo!" Johnny lay back, closed his eyes, waited for the bed to stop she's told you something she suspects. So he figures it's safer to kill both of you. He'd know the boat. It ties in!"

Johnny was thinking of the implication that had been in Nancy England's words as she angrily talked to Nick Walker on the terrace. He briefly reviewed the scene for his partner's benefit.

"How'd he react?" asked Moe. "Not the way you think. He dumped the accusation right back in her own lap."

"Then what happened?"

"He stalked off the terrace and drove home. He was feeling his drinks. Otherwise, I don't think he would have sounded off."

"It was a cover-up on his part," decided Moe. "That'd be the move for a guilty guy like him to make if he thought..."

"I don't know," Johnny went on thoughtfully. His eyes were open now and they flickered with intense brightness. "Walker's no fool. Certainly he'd know if there had been something between Smith and Nancy. Now what if Martin Smith had grown tired of the affair between them? If Smith was the romantic blade you say he was..."

"Listen," put in Moe, "when ever you want the lowdown on something, you ask the cook. Hannah knows!"

"So," continued Johnny Saxon, "Nancy finds herself a woman spurned." He was becoming so interested in his story that he propped himself up on one elbow and looked intently at Moe. "Do you know of anything more dangerous than a woman given the brush-off by a guy she intensely loves? Love and hate are deep emotions. And sometimes there's only a hair-breadth of difference between the two. They are both," he added, "basic emotions that lead to murder."

Moe's eyes were like bright round marbles. "Golly!" he said. "You mean, Nancy could have killed Smith?"

"The idea sort of intrigues me," murmured Johnny. He lay down again on his back, eyes studying the ceiling. "She killed Smith because she loved him. Now there's a motive for you."

"I think I'll take Walker," said Moe. "Five gets you ten bucks that..."

"Wait a minute!" who said Nancy and Nick Walker are the only suspects?"

"My God, are there more?"

Johnny said, "Kay despised her father. Kay's a very intelligent girl. She knew the raw deal that her mother, unsuspecting, was getting from Martin. Parricide is nothing new."

Moe was silent, absorbing Johnny's words.

"Then, there's the nurse - Karen. I'd like to know where she fits in."

"I don't like that babel!" announced Moe emphatically. There's something about her... as though she's always watching you!"

"She was watching this room this afternoon. I have an idea she might have even been here later."

"And that young doctor friend of hers!" Moe added. "I know right well he heard Irene scream tonight. I heard it. The dog heard it. That's what brought us up here from the pool. But the dog knew Karen was in the house and maybe he didn't want to hear Irene's yell."

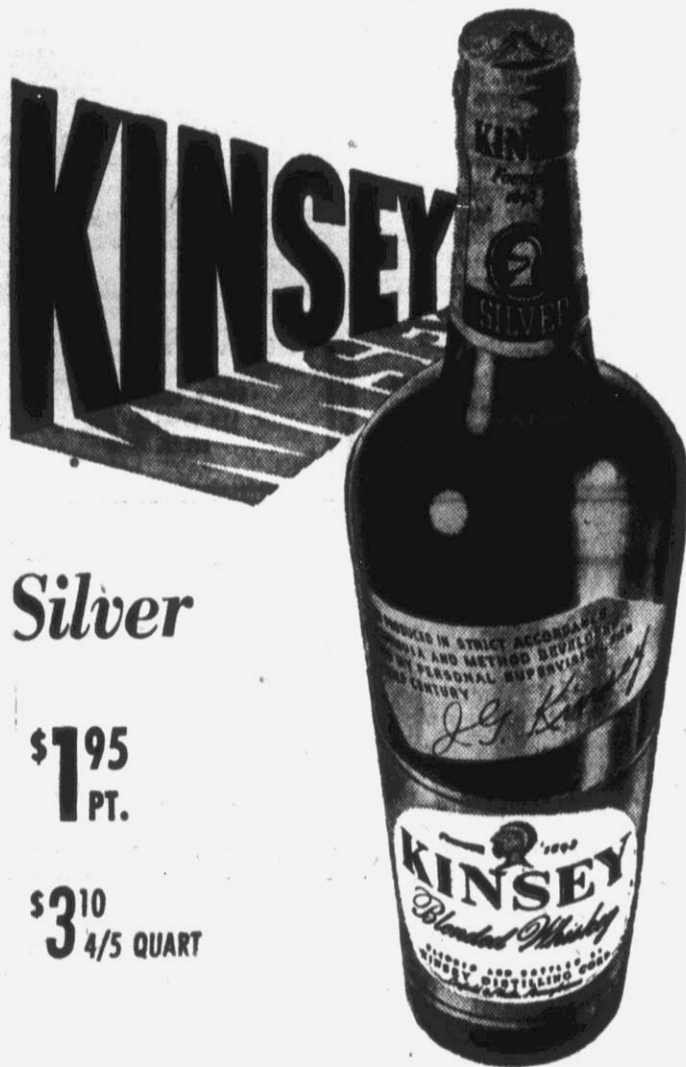

"Don't we have a delightful list of suspects, though?" murmured Johnny. He sighed, tucked the pillow beneath his head. He thought of getting up and looking for his pajamas, but was too comfortable the way he was. "Now I lay me down to sleep," he said drowsily, "counting suspects. Instead of counting sheep I'll count all the nice suspects leaping over the..."

"Out it out!" Moe said, disturbed. "You give me the creeps!"

They were both silent for a while. Outside, in the quiet night, a cricket occasionally made chirping sounds. Moe Martin reached out, turned off the light on the table between the two beds. He was some time getting settled comfortably in the bed. Then he was quiet.

A moment later Johnny was asleep.

Ten Life-Termers Get Sentences Commuted

RALEIGH — (AP) — Ten men condemned to life imprisonment had their sentences commuted yesterday to terms ranging from 25 to 40 years in prison.

Six of the 10 originally were sentenced to the death chamber but were saved from execution by executive clemency.

Now that their terms have been set for a fixed number of years, some of them may be considered for parole after serving one-fourth of their commuted sentences.

In announcing the commutations, Parole Commissioner T. C. Johnson said all had served at least a solid 10-years in prison. The new leases on possible freedom were made following a 3-month study of all 284 lifers in North Carolina prisons.

"From time to time," Johnson explained, "we have recommended commutations for life-term prisoners. This is the first time during this administration that a detailed study has been made."

The prisoners whose terms were commuted were:

Jackson Harvey, 45, sentenced from Forsyth 13 years ago for rape, commuted to 35 years; John Lester Safriet, 32, sentenced from Guilford 11 years ago for second degree murder and accessory before the fact in degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Mann Smith, 29, sentenced from McDowell 13 years ago for rape, commuted to 40-50 years; Richard Mayes, 30, sentenced from Mecklenburg 12 years ago for first degree burglar, commuted to 30 years.

William Evans, 54, sentenced from Granville 10 years ago for accessory before the fact in first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Will Lane, 48, sentenced from Graham 17 years ago for accessory before the fact in first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Eugene Vamoy, 38, sentenced from Wilkes 11 years ago for rape, commuted to 30 years; Jim Moore, 34, sent need from Fender 11 years ago for first degree murder, commuted to 35-40 years; Roosevelt Thompson, 43, sentenced from Granville 19 years ago for accessory before and after first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; and Charlie Shaw, 37, sentenced from Currituck 10 years ago for first degree murder and rape, commuted to 25-35 years.

Blames Bigamy On 'Blackouts'

GAFFNEY, S. C. — (UP) — A youthful Port Jackson soldier accused of having two wives too many attributed them to "blackout spells."

Charles Mathis, 22, claimed he didn't remember marrying wives No. 2 and 3 when the women confronted him at a preliminary hearing bigamy charges.

"Must have married them during couple of my blackout spells," Mathis explained. He was bound over to the next term of general sessions court.

"From time to time," Johnson explained, "we have recommended commutations for life-term prisoners. This is the first time during this administration that a detailed study has been made."

The prisoners whose terms were commuted were:

Jackson Harvey, 45, sentenced from Forsyth 13 years ago for rape, commuted to 35 years; John Lester Safriet, 32, sentenced from Guilford 11 years ago for second degree murder and accessory before the fact in degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Mann Smith, 29, sentenced from McDowell 13 years ago for rape, commuted to 40-50 years; Richard Mayes, 30, sentenced from Mecklenburg 12 years ago for first degree burglar, commuted to 30 years.

William Evans, 54, sentenced from Granville 10 years ago for accessory before the fact in first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Will Lane, 48, sentenced from Graham 17 years ago for accessory before the fact in first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; Eugene Vamoy, 38, sentenced from Wilkes 11 years ago for rape, commuted to 30 years; Jim Moore, 34, sent need from Fender 11 years ago for first degree murder, commuted to 35-40 years; Roosevelt Thompson, 43, sentenced from Granville 19 years ago for accessory before and after first degree murder, commuted to 30 years; and Charlie Shaw, 37, sentenced from Currituck 10 years ago for first degree murder and rape, commuted to 25-35 years.

ONE WAY TO TELL

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — (UP) — W. F. Weaver, head of the city parking meter department, has his own method of determining the extent of tourist trade. It is the number of pennies in five-cent parking meters. Weaver figures persons who put pennies in nickel meters are strangers to the city.

Write Biography Of Mastodon On Finding Fossils

COLUMBUS, O. — (UP) — Scientists here are putting together, piece by piece, the biography of a mastodon, believed to be between 9,000 and 15,000 years old.

The fossil remains were unearthed near Mechanicburg, O., two years ago by workmen digging for a drain tile.

Results of the studies by six Ohio scientists, published in the Ohio Journal of Science, show the animal died in a shallow pond or small lake which existed after the last retreat of the glacier from Ohio's Madison County area.

Bones of other animals and a spear point, probably dating before 500 B. C., were found among or near the mastodon remains and suggest the site may have been a favorite water-hole for animals, to which early men came in search of game.

Town Prays For Peace Each Day

BLACKWELL, Okla. — (UP) — The 9,000 residents of this northern Oklahoma city know they won't solve the problems of the world by themselves.

They think a little prayer in the middle of the day will help, however.

They think a little prayer in the middle of the day will help, however.

Every morning at 11 o'clock when Fire Chief George Gebelin pulls the switch on the town fire siren, business activity halts for a moment.

The practice started more than a year ago. Members of the First Methodist Church had the idea originally, and their minister, the Rev. George Parkhurst, proposed that the entire city be asked to participate.

The minute of prayer was first observed the day before Christmas, 1930. It has been going ever since.

Except for a few skeptics, residents are remarkably co-operative. Most major business houses join in.

Mauk said he believes the minute of daily prayer has brought a renewed spiritual life to the community and makes the town a better place in which to live.

Prisoner Walked In; Walked Out

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. — (UP) — The alien who went to the rest rooms is still gone.

Enrique Campos Guerrero, 24, citizen of Mexico, had been fined $200 for theft and ordered jailed when he was unable to pay. While waiting to go to jail he asked permission of a constable to go to the men's room at the court house.

He headed into the room and apparently went out a window on the other side.

The snake-killing secretary bird often will soar high into the air, carrying its prey with it, then drop it on the hard ground, ending the battle.

Religion Taken To U.S. Prisons

COLUMBUS, O. — (UP) — Protestant religious educators are planning to extend religious teaching in the country's prisons.

The program will be pushed, said Dr. Richard E. Lentz, executive director of adult work for the division of Christian education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. S. A., because of the success of a three-year experiment in the California prisons.

Dr. Lentz said the A's and B's in religion on the report cards of California prisoners improved their morale considerably. He said 2,982 students completed 75 classes in the prisons at San Quentin, San Pedro, and Chino.

Pinay Promises Fullest Efforts

PARIS (UP)—Premier Antoine
Pinay promised Gen. Dwight D.
Eisenhower today that his government would fulfill to the best of its ability France's Western European defense commitments.

The supreme Allied commander conferred with the new French government chief and Defense Minister Rene Pleven for 50 minutes.

Eisenhower had called on the 60-year-old independent premier to pay a "courtesy call." However,
Pinay called in Pleven and the visit became a conference.

"The primary intention was a visit of courtesy on the new premier," Eisenhower said.

"But I was highly delighted to find out that the new French government will follow to the limit of its ability the policy of pursuing peace and strength through collective security by the nations of the West."

Pinay already had won the approval of the National Assembly to begin his program to stave off national bankruptcy.

Three Candidates Opposed To Any State Tax Increase

WILSON, N. C. — (AP) — A pledge of opposition to any state tax increases was made last night by three candidates for governor.

All three — Hubert E. Olive of Lexington, Ernest A. Gardner of Shelby, and William B. Umstead of Durham — spoke from the same platform in a rally in the Wilson County Courthouse.

It was the first such "get-together" of gubernatorial candidates during the current campaign.

The fourth man seeking the Democratic nomination, Manley R. Dumaway of Charlotte, notified officials he was unable to participate in the event because of an attack of flu.

Umstead and Olive reviewed their platforms. Gardner unfolded his.

All called for increases in teacher salaries — Olive calling for a minimum of $2,600 a year for starting teachers with "A" certificates and increments for each year of experience. This is the same minimum the United Forces for Education are seeking.

All called for increasing state services wherever possible. In answer to the only question asked during a period set aside for questions and answers following their talks, all said an expanding economy would return greater revenues under the present tax set up.

Gardner, like Umstead and Olive, said he was for a statewide liquor referendum. He said he favored better relations between industry and labor. Industry, he said, should be allowed to operate "its own business according to its own judgment" and labor's right to organize and bargain collectively should be recognized. He urged a reorganization of state government, abolition of the State Personnel Department and creation of a civil service system.

Olive urged higher pay for state workers. Both he and Umstead called for a reduction in this week of Highway Commission workers from 55 to 50 hours a week.

State's Former First Lady Dies

RALEIGH — (AP) — One of North Carolina's famed first ladies, Mrs. Charles Brantley Aycock, died at her home yesterday.

Mrs. Aycock, 83, widow of the state's great "educational governor," had been in failing health for several years. Her husband died nearly 40 years ago.

The funeral was arranged for 3:30 p.m. today at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence Poe here. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Mrs. Aycock was born Cora Lily Woodard on Oct. 11, 1868 in Wilson County, the daughter of Elder William Woodard and Delphia Rountree Woodard. She was educated at Wilson Collegiate Institute where she was a classmate of her future husband and later attended Mary Baldwin College at Staunton, Va.

Mrs. Aycock married in 1891 when she was 23. Aycock had been married to her older sister who had died a year earlier.

The Aycocks lived in Goldsboro until they moved to the Executive Mansion. They returned to Goldsboro after his term but five years later, in 1910, came back to Raleigh.

She is survived by three sons: Charles Brantley Aycock of Washington, D. C.; Frank Daniels Aycock of Richmond, Va.; and John Lee Aycock of Chicago; a daughter, Mrs. L. P. McLendon of Greensboro; a step-daughter, Mrs. Clarence Poe of Raleigh; 12 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Reichard Song Recital Lauded; Informal Party Is Given After Program

Glady Reichard, faculty member at East Carolina College, sang Wednesday evening of this week before an audience of several hundred people from the campus and the city of Greenville, gathered in the Wright auditorium for the program.

The recital, one of a series of faculty recitals sponsored during the school year by the department of music, won the approval of the audience. Comments indicated appreciation of Miss Reichard's voice, her varied choice of selections from classic to modern and her interpretation of the songs.

Elizabeth Drake, of the college faculty, was accompanist on the program.

Of special interest to the audience was Miss Reichard's interpretation of "Rain Sonata," a song by George E. Perry of the college department of music, which was dedicated to her and first sung publicly by her at the Greenville Community Art Festival last year. The number was received with prolonged applause honoring both singer and composer.

Miss Reichard's program began with the aria "Alceste" from Gluck's "Alceste" and closed with a modern favorite among audiences, "You'll Never Walk Alone" by Rodgers and Hammerstein. Included among selections were the "Habenera" from Bizet's "Carmen," Schubert's "Serenade," Bachelet's "Chere Nuit," Rachmaninoff's "Floods of Spring," and other numbers by English, French, German, and American composers.

Miss Reichard and Miss Drake were honor guests at an informal after-recital party given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Perry in Elmhurst. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. James L. Fleming, and Miss Mary H. Greene.

The Perry home was attractive with arrangements of spring flowers. Miss Elizabeth Walker of the college faculty poured coffee as guests were served from the dining table, which was decorated with centerpiece of snow drops and narcissi with yellow candles in silver candelabra on each side.

Guests for the evening were members of the college department of music and their wives. Among special guests were Mrs. Loula O. Austin of Rock Hill, S. C., Mrs. Perry's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cuthbert of Barren, Wisconsin, who are in the city visiting their son, Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert and his family.

During the evening Miss Reichard, who will be married in the summer to James White of the college faculty, was presented with a silver bowl by the hosts and hostesses.

Number Of Children Has Grown Greatly In 10 Years

NEW YORK — Children in the United States increased in number by 8,000,000 during the 1940's, which was the largest gain in a single decade in the country's history, Metropolitan Life Insurance Company statisticians report.

By the time of the 1950 Census the population under age 15 stood at 41,000,000, an all-time high.

During the 10-year period the number of children increased at a substantially higher rate than the population as a whole, the rate of growth being 24.1 percent for the children as compared with 14.5 percent for the entire population.

By contrast, in the 1930's the child population declined, despite an increase in the population as a whole. The decline in the child population during that decade was so rapid that the number of American youngsters by 1940 was actually smaller than in 1920, and those under age 5 were fewer than in 1910.

The decline of the 30's in child population was reversed by the upsurge of births during World War II and the postwar period, and by the savings of millions of juvenile lives through lowered mortality rates resulting from improved health conditions.

"The impact of the rise in the child population is being felt in communities throughout the country," the statisticians comment. "Increased enrollments in the elementary schools have already seriously taxed their capacity, and the peak is still years off. Before long high school enrollments will undergo a sharp rise. At the same time and personnel are required to meet the health and recreational needs of the new generation."

Naval Transport Is Quarantined

HONOLULU — (AP) — The attack transport USS Bayfield was under strict quarantine here today as navy medical experts battled an outbreak of diphtheria among members of the crew.

Eleven men were carried from the ship to Tripler General Hospital. Navy spokesmen said seven cases definitely are diphtheria and the other four may be.

Among those stricken were the Bayfield's medical officer, Lt. Robert D. McGinnis of San Leandro, Calif., and the dental officer, Lt. Bertan Chan of San Francisco.

A navy official said Seaman Calvin R. Johnson of Cleveland, Tenn., was in "very serious condition."

A navy epidemic control unit boarded the transport on Tuesday after it arrived yesterday and began taking throat cultures among the 360 crewmen. The Japan-bound crew members had been inoculated with anti-toxin paracetamol carried on troops.

New Records For Highway Travel

RALEIGH — (AP) — Traffic on North Carolina's primary highway system continues to climb — and break records.

Statistics Engineer James S. Burch of the State Highway Commission said yesterday traffic the first two months of this year jumped 11 per cent over the same period last year.

"These facts underscore the need for modernizing the major routes, to relieve them of congestion, delay, and accidents associated with such situations," he said in a statement.

The increase was shown by a check of 20 full time automatic traffic count recorders located in all sections of the state.

During an average day in January last year, Burch declared, 64,683 motor vehicles passed the traffic count recorders. This compares with 71,262 in January of this year. An average February day last year saw 66,773 vehicles pass the counters compared with 74,608 last month.

The jump of 11 per cent this year compares with an increase of eight per cent in 1951's traffic over that of 1950.

Treat tobacco soil with the BEST... it costs you LESS!

USE D-D

IT'S PROVED!
... D-D kills nematodes! Result: better yield, greater profits.

IT'S APPROVED!
... by state and county agricultural experts... hailed by growers everywhere!

IT'S RECOMMENDED!
... by your neighbors who used D-D with dramatic success during 1951 and previous seasons!

Hardy Johnson, Fountain, N. C., fumigated 3.5 acres of tobacco in 1951 and averaged 2294 lbs. leaf per acre. The remainder of his crop yielded only 1569 lbs. per acre. The D-D treated tobacco sold for $1320 per acre, while the untreated only brought $909.

"I figure the $34.00 I paid for D-D per acre, brought me an additional $411, or to figure further, I spent $1.00 on D-D and got $12.00 in return," says Mr. Johnson.

Economical to Use... Easy to Apply!
D-D is easily applied by gravity flow plow equipment or simple tractor attachment... or we can arrange to have a trained crew apply it for you. Either way it costs you little... D-D more than pays for itself by increased yield.
