Sen. Lodge In Paris To See Ike

Claims General Could Win Nomination Without Returning Home

PARIS (UP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., "I Like Ike" campaign manager, arrived today for conferences with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and said the general could win the Republican presidential nomination even if he does not go home to campaign. The Massachusetts Republican said he would start his talks, which will be frankly political, tomorrow. It is expected that they will include the date when Eisenhower may ask for relief from his job and the time he will return, probably after the Oregon primary May 16. "The general can win without going back to campaign," Lodge said when he arrived at Orly Airport. He said he was more confident than ever that Eisenhower would be the Republican candidate. "I have always said that he quite conceivably could win on the first ballot of the convention," Lodge said. "Now I say it is quite possible."

Pushes Ahead

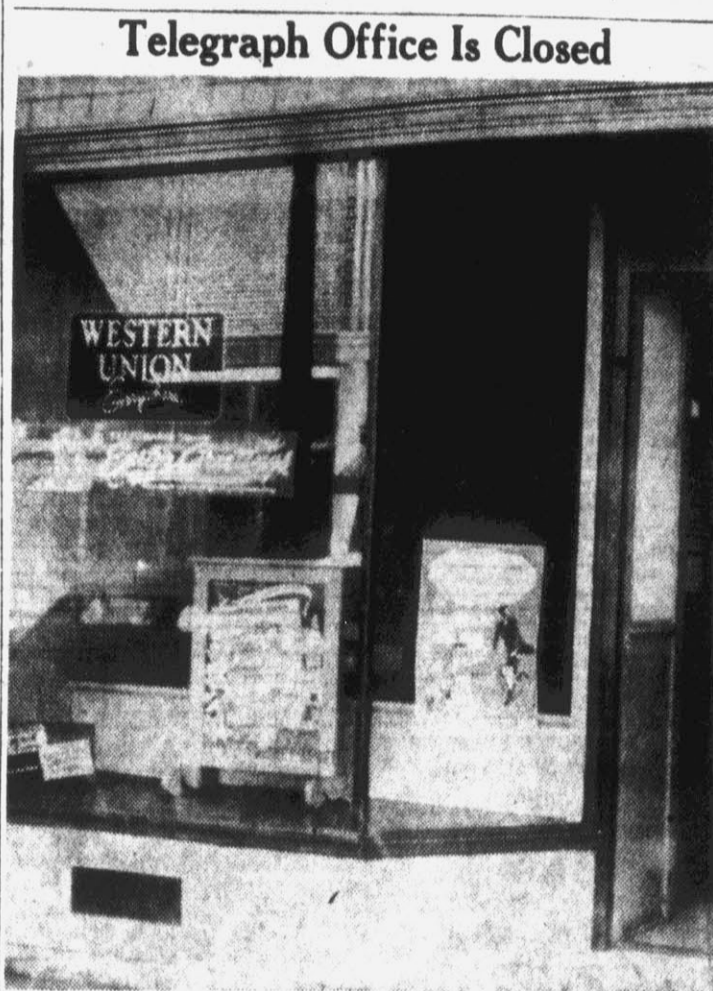

PARIS (UP)—Premier Antoine Pinay, determined to ram his unpopular budget through parliament or quit his job, won one victory in the National Assembly today and promptly called for a vote of confidence on another big issue. The assembly voted 351 to 212 to accept Pinay's call for a slash of $314,285,000 in government spending. Then, annoyed by delaying tactics, Pinay called for a vote of confidence on his proposal to block certain government credits as part of his budget-balancing program. The vote will be taken tomorrow.

High School Day At ECC Friday

Approximately 3,000 Students Expected To Visit Campus

High School Day, to be observed at East Carolina College tomorrow, will bring to the campus approximately 3,000 seniors from the state's public schools, according to Dr. E. J. Carter of the college faculty, chairman of the committee in charge of the event. Dr. Carter has announced that forty counties will be represented at the college tomorrow by 124 schools, according to information available early this morning. He pointed out, however, that the number of counties and of schools will probably be larger when a final tabulation is made tomorrow. Events of the day will keep the visiting seniors busy as they profit from a program of educational value and enjoy a series of entertainments and social affairs. A program of the day's chief events follows: 9:00-10:30 A.M.—Registration at the Wright Building. 9:00-11:00 A.M.—Visits to Educational Exhibits, Departments and Buildings. 9:15-9:45 A.M.—One-act Play at the College Theatre, "Sunday Coast Five Seas," presented by the Teachers Playhouse. 10:00-10:30 A.M.—Repeat Performance of One-act Play. 10:30-10:45 A.M.—R.O.T.C. Drill on Campus Driveways, with the College Marching Band participating. 11:00-12:45 P.M.—Program in Wright Auditorium. Dr. Ed J. Carter, presiding. 1. Music—College Band and College Choir. 2. Welcome by President J. D. Mack. 3. Alma Mater—College Glee Club. 4. Explanation of R.O.T.C. Program—Major Lomax L. May. 5. Roll Call by Counties. 6. Announcements—Dean Leo Jenkins.

Sabrejets Add To Week's Toll Of Communist MIGs

Telegraph Office Is Closed

Silent teletypes and a locked door gave mute greetings to Western Union customers this morning as local employees joined thousands of fellow union members in a nation-wide work walkout. Picket lines sprang up all over North Carolina but the scene was peaceful in Greenville as the Western Union office here is organized 100 per cent. Workers are reportedly striking for higher wages and shorter working hours. (Reflector Staff Photo by Jesse Poindexter).

U. S. Pilots Rout Group Of New-Model Russian-Made Jets; Ridgway Brings Top Brass To Truce Camp For Talks Which May Lead To Break In Deadlock

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—Victory-flashed American Sabre jet pilots shot down or damaged five more Communist jets today to run their three-day toll to 36. Two of the Russian-built planes were destroyed, one probably destroyed and two damaged in three swirling air battles over MIG Alley in Northwest Korea. In one dogfight, the Sabres routed the Reds' newer and bigger "Type 15" jet fighters, probably destroying one and damaging another. Both planes definitely destroyed and one of those damaged were conventional MIG-15s. From the battles emerged history's ninth jet ace, Capt. Robert J. Moore of Houston, Tex. He shot down one MIG to bring his record to five destroyed, two "probables" and three damaged.

It was the third straight day that outnumbered Allied planes have battled over MIG Alley and one of the few times the "Type 15" jets have duled with the P-86s. Moore was flying one of 26 Sabres which clashed with 75 MIG-15s for 35 minutes, southeast of Luju. Preliminary reports on two more dogfights later said Sabres tangled with a mixed formation of MIGs and "Type 15" jets. The Air Force said the "Type 15" jet differs from the conventional MIG in the shape of its fuselage and its higher-slung wings. The aggressiveness of Red fighter pilots indicated they were stung badly by Wednesday's massive Allied attack on North Korea. Allied pilots then flew 1,000 combat sorties. On the ground, the heaviest Red artillery bombardment in more than a month rocked U.N. positions on the western front in support of a Communist attack west of Munsan. Allied troops said their enemy threw 3,138 shells into the sector.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway brought a galaxy of generals to the United Nations truce camp today for talks which may lead to a break in the deadlocked Korean armistice negotiations. Ridgway flew to Kimpo Airfield from Tokyo without advance notice and proceeded almost immediately to the U.N. truce delegation's headquarters at Munsan. The supreme U.N. commander was joined at Munsan soon afterward by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the 8th Army; Maj. Gen. Byron L. Milburn, headquarters personnel officer; Maj. Gen. O. Wood, 8th Army chief of staff, and Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd, commander of the prisoner of war stockades on Koje Island. Authorities refused to comment on the significance, if any, of Ridgway's visit to Munsan at this time, but it led to immediate speculation that it might foreshadow some new and possibly decisive development in the stalemated truce talks. Just before Ridgway arrived, U.N. truce negotiators had asked for a 24-hour postponement in the prisoner of war talks and in the tent next door, high-ranking Allied and Communist negotiators made no progress on two crucial issues—naming Russia as a "neutral" truce inspector and letting the Communists construct and repair airfields after an armistice is signed.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT PARIS (AP)—Parisians are used to seeing the Communist slogan "U.S. Go Home" painted on walls all over the city. But they goggled a bit today at a new sign painted on a wall near the Arc de Triomphe: "U. S. S. R. Go Home."

Strike Closes Western Union Office In City

Employe Says Greenville Crew To Stay On Strike Until Union Issues Back-To-Work Order; Ready For Long Wait

By JESS POINDEXTER, Reflector Staff Writer. The entire complement of the Greenville Western Union Office this morning dropped the tools of their trade, so to speak, and joined thousands of fellow union members in a nation-wide work stoppage. Charlotte was reported to have more than 100 workers on strike, with picket lines formed before the company's main headquarters and two branch offices. The strike hit all the larger cities heavily, but not all had formed picket lines by noon today. In South Carolina, Mrs. Mildred Casey, president of CTU Local 22, said all 175 members are on strike. She indicated that the strike is general through all sections of that state. Virginia officials reported that most offices in that area are not open today. An employe now on strike said today that the walkout was originally scheduled for April 1, as the recent contract expired at that time, but the company was given until 12 o'clock last night to work out wages and work hours satisfactory to the union. The union wants a standard 40-hour work week and a 16-cent hourly increase. A spokesman for the Greenville office said today the local force will remain on strike until ordered back to work by the union. Headquarters of Local 31, which directly affects local employes, is in Kinston. At striking worker disclosed this morning that while the strike continues, everyone will be paid half the original weekly wage from the union strike fund. "CTU of the AP of L has a strike fund of over $12,000,000 to meet just such emergencies as this," he said. According to latest reports from both local and national sources, every state in the nation is affected by the strike except New York. The full effect of the strike was not apparent until 8 o'clock this morning, when picket lines began to form in front of the larger Western Union offices. The walkout in North and South Carolina seemed to have 100 per cent participation today. H. C.

Price, president of Local 26 in Greensboro, said his organization planned to begin picketing this morning. That local includes Western Union workers in 16 Piedmont North Carolina counties. Steel Industry Defies Threat Govm't Seizure

WASHINGTON (UP)—The steel industry publicly defied government threats today, but reports circulated that both sides were maneuvering behind the scenes for a peaceful wage-price settlement to prevent a nationwide strike set for April 8. Industry and government spokesmen were talking louder and tougher than ever. The steelmakers announced that they would risk a strike rather than give Philip Murray's CIO steelworkers a pay hike without matching price increases. Acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steinhilber ordered the Justice and Defense departments to "prepare for all eventualities" in the event of government seizure of the industry. But informed quarters insisted that considerable backstage progress was being made toward an agreement.

Bethel Board To Review Town Insurance Program

BETHEL — J. P. Hooker and W. E. Andrews were appointed as an insurance committee to investigate the town's insurance program at a meeting of the town commissioners Tuesday night. Mayor E. L. Martin said the town was working to bring its insurance program up to date on city property and volunteer firemen. He stated that the committee was appointed to investigate the program in the city to see if more insurance was needed or if it needed reduction. A request was made to the effect of zoning parking spaces in front of the post office on the opposite side of the street for ten-minute parking but was turned down by the commissioners. A place of five car-lengths is provided for ten-minute parking directly in front of the post office. The commissioners discussed the proposal of cutting down trees which are on Highway 64 in the city limits for the installation of a six-inch water main to replace a one and one-half inch main. Duke Inspects Deep Coal Mine

MOSLEY COMMON, Eng. (AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh dropped 3,000 feet in a bucket today for a two-hour tour of a local coal mine. The queen's husband wore a blue royal navy work suit, carried a miner's electric flashlight and wore a pit helmet. Dead pan mine security men frisked him for contraband—matches or a cigarette lighter—before helping him into the big bucket for the underground descent. (Continued on page sixteen)

Graduation Speakers Announced For GHS

Betty Lou Small and Bobby Nichols, Greenville High School seniors, were elected as this year's commencement speakers at the graduation exercises which will be held May 28 in the Wright auditorium at East Carolina College. The two students were elected by a faculty committee and by the seniors at a class meeting held March 21. They were nominated on the qualifications of leadership, scholarship, and writing and speaking ability. Two other candidates, Marty Hadley and Fletcher Murray, were presented by the class secretary, Nancy Proctor, at the class meeting. Betty Lou Small is a member of the National Forensic Debate Team, the Black Masquers, National Honor Society, and was homeroom chairman of the senior stationery class. Nichols is president of the high school band, president of the senior class, and a member of the Glee Club, National Honor Society, and Student Council. Margaret Fleming and Rodney Pulcher were student speakers last year. O. E. Dowd, principal of Greenville High School, said student participation in the commencement exercises was begun about four years ago and was popular with the students and parents. Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 25 and Class and Awards Night will be held Monday, May 26 when yearly awards will be presented. Tuesday, May 27, has been designated as Senior Day. The seniors will attend a program at the school, have lunch together, attend a movie, and be honored at a tea dance.

Pitt NCEA Has Annual Meeting

More Than 200 Gather In Ayden, Officers Are Installed

More than 200 Pitt County teachers and their guests gathered in Ayden last night for the annual meeting of the Pitt chapter of the North Carolina Education Association. The meeting was highlighted by the installation of new officers for the coming year, and a humorous address by Charles L. McCullers, manager of the Kinston Chamber of Commerce. New President of the Pitt Chapter, Charles Tucker, of Farmville school, was installed by retiring president Sam D. Bundy, principal of Farmville school. In turning the presidency of the association over to Tucker, Bundy expressed his appreciation to the other officers, building representatives and members of the association for their cooperation during the past year. "I have been president of the finest group of teachers in North Carolina," Bundy said. Paul Clark, principal of Winterville school, was installed as first vice president of the Pitt chapter and Mrs. Evelyn Bullock of Belvoir was installed as second vice president. Following the banquet served in the new cafeteria of the Ayden school, a double quartet of Ayden high school under the direction of Mrs. Rosa Little entertained the group with a series of songs. McCullers, who was introduced by Bundy, delivered a humorous address in which he pointed out the necessity of faith, purpose, understanding, honesty, loyalty and cooperation in the personality of a teacher. Special guests at the meeting included members of the county board of commissioners, members of the county school board, local school board and PTA members and others. After the banquet and address, a dance for the Pitt County teachers and their guests was held in the Ayden High School gymnasium with music supplied by the swing band of Farmville High School.

Will Not Explain Lavish Spending

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Former Assistant Internal Revenue Commissioner Daniel A. Bolich called on to explain how he could spend more money than he made as a federal tax official, refused today to tell House tax scandal investigators about his activities. Bolich, a heavily built man whose personal finances have come under scrutiny in connection with his former official duties, took the witness chair over the vigorous protest of his attorney, Robert L. Callahan of Brooklyn. Callahan told Chairman King "D. Calif" of a House ways and means subcommittee that Bolich's health made it "dangerous and unsafe for him to be here to testify." King ordered Bolich to answer questions after noting that the committee had received independent medical advice that the former assistant commissioner was well enough to be subjected to limited questioning. Bolich answered just one question—he said he addressed was 617 Second St., Brooklyn. Asked if he had any other residence, Bolich claimed his constitutional privileges against testifying against himself. "I refuse to answer any further questions on grounds that any answer I might give may tend to incriminate me," he declared.

Newbold Morris Fired By McGrath

Attorney General Curtly Notices Corruption-Hunter Of Dismissal, Apparently With Consent Of President Truman

WASHINGTON (UP)—Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath fired the government corruption-hunter, Newbold Morris, today in a reversal of what Washington had thought would happen. Instead of McGrath's rumored resignation from the Cabinet, the man he sponsored for the job of ferreting out corruption—in his own Justice Department among other places—was given a curt dismissal. It was apparently with the consent of President Truman that McGrath would be asked about it at a press conference later today. McGrath handed to reporters a brief letter he had just sent to Morris informing him of the action. Although Morris was set up more or less as an independent officer, he had the title of special assistant attorney general and therefore was technically under McGrath's command. McGrath declined to answer any questions about the action, including whether President Truman had approved it. McGrath wrote to Morris: "Sir: "Please be informed that your appointment as a special assistant to the attorney general is hereby terminated and your services as an employe of the Department of Justice shall cease at the close of business today. "You are hereby requested to deliver all files, records and documents in your office to the Federal Bureau of Investigation." McGrath declined to state what the next step would be. There was a possibility that the FBI under J. Edgar Hoover might now get the job of clearing evil-doers out of government. Hoover's presence when newsmen were called into McGrath's office, plus the attorney general's request that the files of Morris' office be turned over to the FBI, seemed to support this theory. Less Blue Mold In S. Carolina

FLORENCE, S. C. (AP)—A Clemson Extension Service specialist says that South Carolina tobacco raisers are having less blue mold this year largely because they have been doing "a generally good job of control." Specialist J. M. Lewis said yesterday that South Carolina farmers are having less blue mold than they normally expect—and less than last year. His statement followed reports of an outbreak of blue mild in tobacco fields around Goldsboro, N. C.

Pitt Board Of Education Fills District Committees

By MURIEL SHOTWELL, Reflector Staff Writer. The Pitt County Board of Education appointed a number of persons to membership on the district committees for the county school at a call meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Levi Wooten was appointed to succeed Van Taylor on the Bethel school district committee for a three-year term and J. H. Cherry of the Stokes school district succeeded himself for a three-year term. The board named Noel Lee to succeed J. P. Davenport of the Patactus committee for a three-year term and Elbert Mills was named to the Grimsland committee to succeed R. V. Wilson whose term expired. F. V. Gaskins of the Chicod district succeeded L. A. Mills whose term expired and Wiley Gaskins was named to succeed Marylin Taylor of the Griffon district for a three-year term.

First To Contest Alderman's Seat

J. E. Johnson To Oppose Robert Elks; C. B. Mayo Files

J. E. Johnson, Greenville businessman, this morning became the first candidate to contest either of the four aldermen's seats to be filled by election this Spring, when he filed for the third ward seat now filled by Robert Elks. Johnson, who operates the Johnson Gift and Music Shop, said today it was not a personal issue with him, but explained that since so many of his friends had urged him to run he felt it a civic duty. The incumbent alderman, Robert Elks, last week registered his candidacy to succeed himself in the May 5 municipal elections. The slate of candidates was increased by one more yesterday, when C. B. Mayo announced that he would again be a candidate from the second ward. He filed with the city clerk shortly before noon yesterday. The deadline for filing is Saturday, April 5, and as the situation stands at present only Elks' seat is contested—that by Johnson. Candidates who filed prior to yesterday are Robert Elks from the third ward, J. E. Collins from the fourth ward, and Jimmy Wells from the fifth ward—who registered for the seat being vacated this year by J. E. Waldrop.

40 Years Ago Today

THE DAILY REFLECTOR April 3, 1912

Wednesday we saw men in overcoats and boys bareheaded. The men said they were cold and the boys said they were warm. The weather was on the frost line this morning and spring green got clipped.

Even if everybody did not take a hand in it, Greenville is just now a much cleaner town than it has been in a long time.

It was learned by The Reflector late yesterday that H. D. Bateman, the able assistant cashier of the Greenville Bank, has made application for the office of State Bank Examiner.

Some Still Seek Tenant Farmers

At this relatively late date in the agricultural season of Pitt County there are still some farmers who are looking for tenants. Douglas Taylor, farm labor supervisor at the Pitt office of the State Employment Security Commission, said the office still has on hand a list of farmers in the county who have not yet found tenants for this year's crops. Taylor said the office has several requests from farmers for tenants on a rental basis, and others from farmers who wish to hire farm workers on a daily basis. Even though some Pitt farmers are having difficulty getting people to tend crops for this year, Taylor said on the brighter side of the farm labor picture in the county, the office has at the present time an ample supply of tobacco bed pickers who are available for work. He urged farmers who will need tobacco bed pickers to contact the employment office. He likewise urged individuals who may be interested in renting or tending a crop this year to contact the office.

Choral Group On Radio Saturday

The Pitt County Choral Group will be heard over radio station WPTF Saturday night from 6:15 to 6:30 p.m. The choral group is taking part in a series of broadcasts of county choral groups in the state which is being sponsored by WPTF.

Hope Veto Will Block Tideland Oil Measure

WASHINGTON (UP)—Opponents of the Senate-approved tidelands bill pinned their hopes today on a presidential veto as the last chance for keeping multi-billion dollar oil reserves under federal control. Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), a leader in the administration's fight against the measure, predicted that President Truman will veto it. He also said the measure "couldn't possibly be passed" by the necessary two-thirds vote over a veto. The legislation, which the Senate approved 50 to 35 late yesterday, would give the various coastal states unchallenged control over the oil-rich submerged lands lying immediately off the East, West and Gulf coasts. Sen. Spessard L. Holland (D-Fla.) sponsor of the measure, said the Senate would override a veto if Mr. Truman sends one up. The margin was far short of the two-thirds necessary to override.

Woman's Club Notice

At the general meeting of the Woman's Club on Friday afternoon at 3:30, Mr. K. T. Futrelle will be guest speaker.

The program has been planned by the Welfare Committee, of which Mrs. J. R. Jackson is chairman. Mr. Futrelle will discuss the welfare program in Pitt County.

Winterville FHA Meets To Nominate New Officers

On Monday night, March 31, the Winterville Future Homemakers of America met for the purpose of nominating officers to serve for the 1952-53 school year.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Peggy Dail, and was opened by the members repeating the F.H.A. creed in unison. Secretary Marjorie Boyd read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were approved as read. Following this the treasurer's report was given by the treasurer, Nancy Worthington. Shirley Holland, Joan Averette, Faye Branch, and Betty Ruth Worthington gave their reports on the girls having the highest number of points in each grade.

During the business session it was decided that each member pay ten cents to aid in sending the state delegates to the National Convention.

Business being over, the floor was open for nominations. Those nominated are: president, Joan Averette, Jo Anne McLawhorn, Nancy Jackson, and Doris Cole; vice-president, Nancy Jackson, Nancy Worthington, Shirley Holland, Frances Jones and Doris Cole; secretary, Betty Jean Harrington, Jo Faye Bedard, Faye Branch, Roselyn Waters, and De' Branch; treasurer, Shirley Rouse, Mary Louise Haddock, Peggy Shivers, and Betsy Mills; reporter, Shirley Holland, Faye Branch, Jo Anne McLawhorn, and Elaine Worthington; historian, Anna Pearl Langley, Patsy Ralva, Jane Corey, Arlene Cayton, Peggy Dail, and Inez Hill; parliamentarian, Peggy Dail, Marjorie Boyd, Jean Anne Liverman, Polly Ann Nobles, and Elaine Worthington; son-leader, Arlene Cayton, Jo Faye Bedard, Faye Branch and Doris Cole.

After nominations, President Peggy Dail advised the candidates to select their campaign managers and begin politicking.

The meeting was climaxed by a most enjoyable program which consisted of reports on the F.H.A. Rally held in Raleigh, March 22. These reports were given by Roselyn Waters, Shirley Rouse, and Doris Cole. Amid excited chatter concerning the approaching election, the meeting was declared adjourned.

Altrusa Club Meets With Joint Hostesses

Miss Frances Wahl and Dr. Lucille Turner were joint hostesses to the Altrusa Club on April 1 at Ragdale Hall.

The meeting was opened by reading the Altrusa Pledge and the Club Collet. Mrs. J. B. Spilman read the Principals of Altrusa. Miss Wahl, president of the club, reported 4 new Altrusa clubs in U. S. A.

The club voted to send a box of clothing to Crossnore. Mrs. Bess Scott gave a very interesting talk on new books and the most outstanding at the public library. At the close of the meeting the hostesses served delicious refreshments.

Elm Street Park Will Not Affect Other Projects

"Other recreational facilities and recreational areas which have operated in the past will not be abandoned with the development of Elm Street Park," stated Warren Carroll, city recreation director.

"With the development of the new park area in progress, many people have thought that other areas in the city would not continue to operate," asserted Carroll, "but we are making even bigger and better plans for those areas than last year."

The director cited the playgrounds that would be open during the summer with supervised recreation. The white parks, Woodlawn, Third Street, West Greenville, Fourteenth Street, Cotanche, and Long Meadow will be open and the Negro playgrounds, Riverside, Epbes High, South Greenville, and Fleming Street will also be in operation.

The recreation department has been repairing the apparatus during the winter months and most of it is completed.

Under facilities recommended for parks and recreation in cities, Greenville measures up to some of the standards. Enough tennis courts for town under the proposed plans will be provided with three at Guy Smith Stadium, four at Elm Street Park, and two at South Greenville.

A softball diamond and baseball diamond is furnished under the recommendations and recreation buildings, gymnasiums, and two swimming pools come under proposed plans for later construction.

A play field, which is designated as Elm Street Park, is now in progress with civic organizations

Musical Show Will Be Staged Tonight

"Good News," Broadway musical, will be presented tonight at 8 o'clock in the Wright Building on the college campus by the East Carolina Student Government Association, in the first of three performances scheduled for today and tomorrow.

Students at the college will see the gay comedy tonight in a special performance for their benefit. A performance for the public is scheduled for tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in the Wright building. Tomorrow morning excerpts from the play will be presented for high school seniors visiting the campus for East Carolina's annual High School Day celebration. Several hundred tickets will be available to the public for tonight's performance, according to Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert of the college music department, director of the musical.

"Good News," a sprightly and timeless comedy based on college life, is the lighthearted story of a group of students at East Coe College. Principals in the cast are largely students from the department of music. They will be assisted by a chorus, dance groups of men and women students, and a number of students who will be presented in specialty numbers. An orchestra will provide the musical background for the performance.

Rehearsals for the carefully planned production have been in progress since January under the direction of Dr. Cuthbert. Among other faculty members who have assisted are Dr. Elizabeth Utterback, drama director; Mrs. Helen Dole, dance director; Dan E. Vornholt, director of choruses; Gladys Reichard, voice coach; Herbert L. Carter, orchestra director; Dr. Kenneth Bing, and Paul Powell, working to raise $20,000 which is the estimated cost for preparing the area and adding equipment.

Greenville Public Recreation Outlays Below Nat'l Average, Survey Shows

Special to The Reflector) NEW YORK — Less money is spent in Greenville for public recreation and municipal park maintenance, in proportion to population, than is spent in most other cities in the United States.

This is brought out in a study, the first of its kind in ten years, made by the National Recreation Association. Over 2,000 cities were examined as to the facilities they provide and the cost of operation. The expenditures made in Greenville for public recreation in 1950 amounted to $10,000, according to the report. The entire amount was for current operating costs.

This outlay was at the rate of 60 cents per capita in Greenville. It was much less than was spent in most other cities across the country, $3.10 per capita. In the South Atlantic States, public recreation cost $3.62 per person and, in North Carolina, $3.22.

Among all the municipal recreation and park agencies surveyed, the expenditures for the year reached the record figure of nearly $269,000,000. More than 90 percent of it came from tax levies, appropriations, bond issues and public sources. Fees and charges provided six percent and private sources supplied nearly four percent.

Greenville stands out among all cities, regardless of size, in the amount of space set aside for municipal parks. Its 30 acres compare favorably with the average, for all communities, of 25 acres within city limits. The cities were queried as to their available facilities and as to the relative popularity of 81 listed activities. The replies showed that swimming attracted more people than any other. The other in leading interests, ranked in order of participation, were picnicking, ice skating, community celebrations, softball, game room activities, basketball, holiday observances, community singing and supervised parties.

TRAFFIC LIGHTS IN AIR LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (UP) — Red and green traffic lights are being used up in the air by the U.S. Air Force. The lights help planes keep proper position during night inflight refueling operations. The lights, four red and one green, are connected to a flying boom through which the fuel is pumped to the receiver airplane.

FASTER COLOR FILM DEvised NEW YORK (UP) — A new type of negative color film, twice the speed of regular color films, has been perfected. It may stimulate, shortly, the wider application of candid action color photography for display advertising as well as editorial use, according to Michael Lavelle, technical director of Authenticolor, New York.

Disappearing Rooms In Latest Low-Cost Home

QUICK CHANGE—In the upper photo it's a living room. At night the wall sections swing out on casters to divide living room into two bedrooms.

FT. OGLETHORPE, Ga. — Contractor Dick A. Hunt says he expects soon to mass-produce modern two-bedroom homes for as little as $4,000 by using a patented disappearing wall.

By day the wall, divided into two sections, are 2-foot-deep closets containing chests of drawers and vanities. Disappearing beds fold into the closet side of the wall sections.

At night the wall segments swing out on ball-bearing casters to divide the living room into two 13½x12-foot bedrooms. Hunt says the house is constructed in such a manner that no heavy items of living room furniture need be moved in dividing the room.

Small panels in the mobile wall sections permit access to the concealed chests of drawers during the day. The house has a conventional kitchen, dinette and bath.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLAS
AS FOR ME AND MY HOUSE
One of the great moments in Old Testament history occurred in the last days of the life of Joshua, the great leader who brought the Israelites into the promised land. Knowing that his end was near, Joshua called the people together and bade them choose between Jehovah and the heathen gods, concluding his challenge with the ringing words, "But as for me and my house, we will serve the Lord."

Joshua's statement is interesting because of the assurance with which he speaks not only for himself but for his "house"—his family, dependents, and servants. Of course, Joshua himself was loyal to the God whom he had served for his 110 years. But he had apparently made certain that his children, and their children, and all their households were loyal, too.

Many Christians today publicly acknowledge God when they join a church, and promise, at the baptism of their children, to train them in the worship of God. But the fashion today is to neglect religion at home. How many can say with assurance, even when their children are of school age, let alone when they have grown up, "As for me and my house . . . ?"

Few are privileged to carry Christianity abroad as missionaries, but all have it within their power to make the worship of God the foundation of their homes and of their children's lives.

Influence Will Go Beyond One Case

Another hurdle has been cleared by the people of North Carolina in their fight against terrorism spread by alleged members of the Ku Klux Klan.

Thus far law and order is winning its battle in the Tar Heel state against the terrorism which has been spread over some sections; but there are other problems—not insignificant—which must be overcome before the case can be considered closed.

The first task was to catch up with the offenders which the FBI and the SBI did. The second hurdle was getting true bills against the people responsible for the floggings and terrorism, which a Columbus County Grand Jury has just returned.

Next will come the trial by jury of those individuals who have been accused of the floggings and conspiracy in the southeastern section of the state. There the real test will be made.

If the accused individuals are guilty as charged and are not punished for their offenses, it will only lead others to believe they can get by in the state with similar acts of terrorism. The decision will lie in the hands of 12 jurors who sit as the deciding panel in the case. The action taken by the jury in the cases will not only affect those directly involved in the court action, but others throughout North Carolina who are waiting anxiously the outcome of the trial.

Should the court fail to take action against the men involved in the spread of terrorism, it will serve as a green light for the spread of the cancerous influence throughout the state. If those who are now facing trial for their misdeeds are punished, it should in effect nip Klan-like terrorism in the bud in North Carolina.

A New Slate May Be The Answer

The McGrath-Morris battle over the investigation of the Justice Department is sure to burst into a decisive break in the near future. It has gone too far for even President Truman to reach a satisfactory compromise between the two men.

If nothing else comes of the appointment of Morris to his clean-up position, it is certainly creating a stronger desire within the general public for a thorough investigation into corruption in the Justice Department and other areas of the government.

The popularity of both McGrath and Morris has taken a terrific sag during recent months. McGrath's apparent connection with the scandal created by Caudle and other phases of the Justice Department activities have brought numerous demands from Congress as well as from individual citizens for his dismissal from the post of Attorney General. The fact that he has refused to fill out the financial questionnaire sent out by Morris—the first step in his clean-up campaign—has thrown McGrath in a still shadier light. Morris on the other hand suffered a terrific popularity setback when his connection with the surplus ships deal was brought to light in a Congressional hearing. As if public sentiment against him were not enough, he irritated Congress by referring to "diseased minds in this chamber."

So there at the top of the investigation machinery we have two men, at odds between themselves, and both openly lacking the confidence of the general public. If President Truman is genuinely interested in getting a thorough investigation of the government scandal as he has professed, it would seem wise for him to remove both men from their positions and start over.

A Perennial Struggle Begins Again

Farmers hereabouts are readying themselves for their perennial battle with insects and disease which each year pose a threat to the agricultural economy of the area.

Blue mold which is one of the first adversaries to attack the Pitt County tobacco crop has been moving up from the southern area for several weeks, and probably will find its way into Pitt tobacco beds within the next few days. There are farmers who already have taken precautions to save their young plants from the ravages of the fungus, but as always there are others who have waited to the last minute before taking the necessary steps. The last minute is just about at hand.

Science in agriculture has made great advances in the past quarter of a century and particularly in the past decade, and has armed farmers with a great many weapons for combating the maladies which threaten their crops each year. Some farmers have made good use of the weapons and have prospered by it. Others have been reluctant to take to the new-fangled ideas and are still suffering economic losses which could be prevented.

At the outset of the agricultural season in Pitt County, 1952 has all the potentials of another prosperous agricultural year. Even with the bright outlook, however, everyone is aware that unless precautions are taken the crop can go to pot.

This year as every year farmers have a great deal at stake in their crop. They should take advantage of every possible recommended practice to insure themselves of a more prosperous season.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Veteran legislators think it slightly ironic that the Kefauver reform crusade has backfired so heavily at the expense of the United States Treasury. Together with Truman taxes on liquor, which were not imposed for moral or ethical reasons, the drive against the gamblers and their underlings, world allies threatens to prove costly to the taxpayers.

In imposing a $500 federal fee on off-track bookies, treasury statisticians forecast that it would produce an annual revenue of $400,000,000. Followers of the ponies on the House Ways and Means committee, more experienced in these matters, scoffed at Truman-Snyder anticipations.

They were correct. On the basis of present purchases of licenses, receipts will amount to only about $9,000,000 a year.

This deficit will have to be made up in some way in future revenue legislation. The general run of taxpayers, not the bookies, will be the victims of this erroneous calculation.

GRATEFUL—As committee members with race-track and off-track experience knew, only a few of the illegal betting operators accepted the invitation to pay tribute to Uncle Sam, and make their unlawful operations a matter of public record.

The gamblers and their agents have "folded" until, as they expect, the heat disappears after the November election. The underworld realizes that public opinion, shocked by the Kefauver revelations on television, is unwilling White House and Congress to give only legislative lip service to these restrictions.

The governors of states which have popular race-tracks are grateful to Senator Kefauver, although they will not support his presidential candidacy. With the bookies closed down temporarily, attendance and betting at the tracks have boomed, meaning increased state revenue.

DECLINE—Despite their enjoyment of a highball or two, President Truman and Secretary Snyder demanded a boost in the tax on distilled spirits from $9 to $10.50 a gallon, which means a federal levy of more than $2 on a quart.

The Missourians were moved by financial needs, not moral impulses. Indeed, they hoped and expected that people would drink even more, despite higher retail prices.

After a slight increase in November of last year—the new rates became effective November 1—receipts from liquor taxes have slumped steadily and heavily. In January, 1952, for instance, collections amounted to only $101,000,000, as against $211,000,000 in January, 1951.

Officials that decline of 52 per cent persist. Treasury officials may be justified in consuming this commodity in order to lighten their worries at least temporarily.

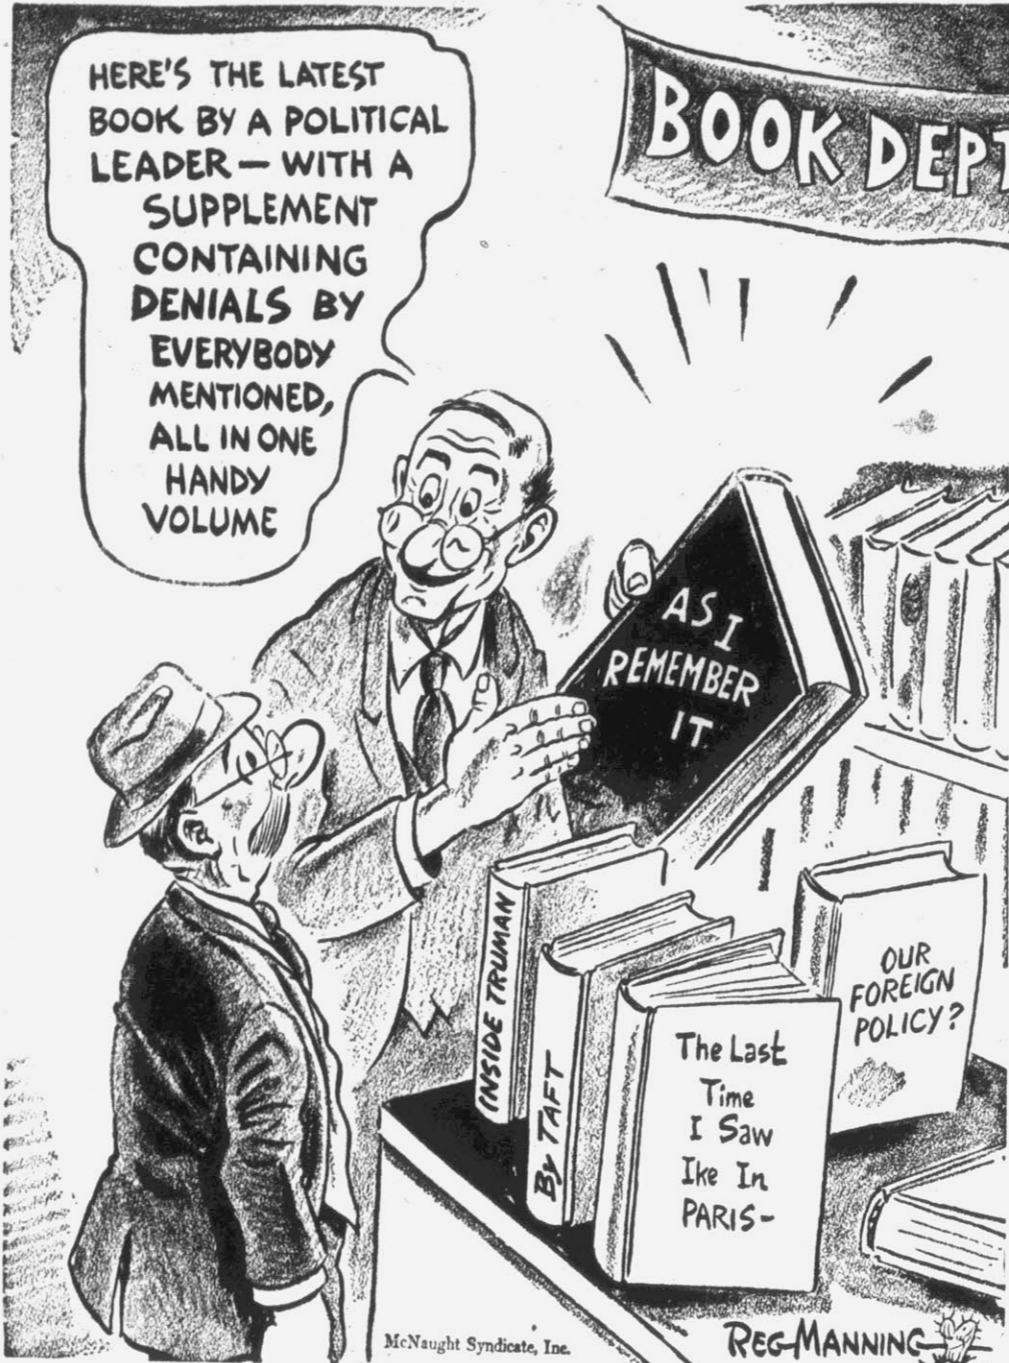

COMIC—But the ban on interstate shipment of slot machines, as well as prohibitive state laws against their operation even in private clubs, has its comic as well as costly aspects. Most vivid evidence is furnished by an official memo distributed by the information center of the Dominican Republic in New York. It invites us to export our evil, Kefauver-suppressed instincts as follows:

"Gambling-in-the-sky via slot machines will feature a four-hour plane flight by the 'Sportsman's Special' between Miami and Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic—the Monte Carlo of the Caribbean—where four legal gambling casinos flourish. Three of the casinos have opened since the Kefauver crime investigation closed many illegal gambling places in the U.S."

The special plane, oddly, is named "Lady Luck." It is owned by a Dominican subsidiary of Pan-American Airways, whose president, Juan Trippe, seems to be the darling of the White House and the Civil Aeronautics Board. The memo says that, although the Dominican government is not sponsoring this gambling project, it "approves of it."

"CULTURAL"—The memo adds that, if Americans wish to "sideslip the gay life," which includes slot machines, gay Dominican nightclubs, cock-fights, Sunday horseracing, baseball and boxing, they may indulge in a "wealth of cultural activities." Obviously, they expect a very few to go in for non-casino culture.

Something To Fill A Great Need

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If the local Ford dealer, John Flanagan Buggy Company, kept a file on the correspondence received about buggies, it would be a sight to behold. People all over the world are continually checking to find manufacturers of buggies.

The most recent correspondence to this effect is dated March 29th, and comes from L. S. Saulsbury, Registered Patent Attorney, New York. The letter is marked Re: Invention for Sale or License, and reads:

"Gentlemen: "One of my clients has invented a luggage or package carrier for baby carriages which is adapted to be fitted or attached to baby carriages and which can be detached by the mother to provide a convenient shopping basket. This invention is adapted to receive and retain a portable radio and includes a dropback portion that can be lowered to provide a shelf which will support a radio. This invention is of simple construction. Inexpensive to manufacture, conforms to carriage wall shapes, is convenient to use, is of pleasing appearance and efficient in operation.

"This invention has had favorable search and is currently covered by issued patent No. 2,558,372. "This client would sell his invention outright or grant a license on a royalty basis. If the item seems of interest to you, please write me for a printed copy of the patent. It will be forwarded to you at once so that you may further consider the matter."

Inquiries of this type come in the mail to Flanagan's at the rate of several a month. Since Flanagan's did originally manufacture buggies and has never changed its name, it's only natural that people seek their services for horse-drawn vehicles. All of these letters are referred to Hackney Body Works, Washington, because they are equipped to manufacture the items concerned.

The greatest influx of buggy mail came during World War II, when people became very conscious of the need for buggies because of the shortage of automobiles, tires and gasoline. But even today the shortages virtually over, there is still a great demand for catalogs of buggies.

Every inquiry is answered by the office at Flanagan's, simply stating that they no longer manufacture horse-drawn vehicles. With this large demand, perhaps some live wire in Greenville should undertake the manufacture of buggies, despite the fact that most people consider it a lost market. And I think you.

Around Capitol Square

Reflector Bureau      Assn. Afternoon Dailies      By LYNN NISBET

INSTRUCTIONS — Withdrawal of President Truman from the 1936 campaign makes it virtually certain that North Carolina will send an unopposed delegate to the national convention. Party leaders representing the various factions and phases of state Democracy are apparently agreed that the Tarheel delegates should be guided by developments at Chicago. If Truman had remained in the picture there almost certainly would have been some attempt to instruct against him. That would have precipitated a real fight in the state convention.

PRACTICE — For each of the four times that Franklin Roosevelt was nominated the state delegation was bound by every positive instruction to vote for him. In 1936 the binding instructions applied also to Vice President John Nance Garner. In 1932, 1940 and 1944 only the President's name was included. The only time any threat of a contest appeared was in 1940, when many North Carolinians sincerely questioned propriety of a third term. News stories of that convention report that the convention responded with a roaring vote of approval when the late John Folger made the motion to instruct the delegates to vote for Roosevelt.

DUCKED — The question was ducked in 1948, when opposition to Harry Truman was so marked that his leaders decided not to make an issue of it and the convention adopted a resolution with those from other states in composing the differences within the party and selection of a strong candidate.

FIGHT — Last time there was any real fight in the state convention over the presidential nominee was in 1928. Under leadership of the late Senator F. M. Simmons, who had held undisputed dominance in the party for 16 years, the convention was organized to block the nomination of Governor Al Smith of New York, who was recognized as leading contender at the forthcoming national convention in Houston. The state at that time had 24 convention votes. Each candidate for a place on the delegation had made his position clear and in the final count 19 1/2 votes were pledged to Cordell Hull of Tennessee, 4 1/2 to Smith.

TUMULTUOUS — News stories of the next day described that convention as "tumultuous." Those who attended it can never forget the inadequacy of that description. With Josiah W. Bailey as floor leader for the Smith forces, they challenged almost every convention step although clearly in a hopeless minority from the start. The convention ran from noon until dark, with numerous outbreaks of temper, flaring several times close to physical violence. Senator Simmons won the convention battle in Raleigh, but lost in Houston, with resultant nomination of Herbert Hoover, and defeat of Simmons for a sixth term as senator by Bailey in 1930. Events of the Hoover administration paved the way for election of Franklin Roosevelt in 1932 and continuing Democratic control of the national government until now.

COMMITTEEMAN — While there was no opposition to instructing the delegates for Roosevelt and Garner in 1936, that convention had a unique development in instructions to the delegates to name A. D. (Lon) Folger as national committeeman, and to continue Miss Beatrice Cobb as national committeewoman. Miss Cobb still holds that position. Folger became a special superior court judge and later was elected to congress from the fifth district, but retained his post in the national committee until his death in an automobile accident in 1941.

COALITION — The unusual procedure of the state convention instructing delegates with respect to membership on the national committee came about through a coalition of Hoey and Graham forces. The convention was held between primaries. In the first primary for governor A. H. (Sandy) Graham and John A. MacRae had been eliminated and a run-off was coming up between Clyde R. Hoey and Ralph McDonald. Hoey and McDonald forces vied with each other to do honor to the Graham supporters. Willie Lee Lumpkin, McDonald state manager, nominated Sandy Graham for a delegate at large to the national convention. George Ross Pou, a Hoey leader, made the motion to instruct the delegates for Folger, who had managed Graham's campaign. The coalition of Hoey and Graham forces was sufficient to override the McDonald strength in the convention (as it did later in the second primary) and to obtain instructions in favor of Folger over the late Joseph Daniels, who was the unpopular but recognized choice of the McDonald faction.

HISTORY — Events of 24 and 16 years ago are ancient history to many present leaders in the Democratic party in North Carolina, but there are still many active voters who recalled personal participation in them. The situation in 1928 is more closely analogous to that of 1936 with respect to national committeeman than to that of 1928 with respect to the presidency. Twenty-four years ago Al Smith seemed fairly certain to get the nomination

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Home builders are a bit more cheerful today than they were a few months ago. Then there was a government goal of only 800,000 new units this year and controls over metals made it appear that only a few more than 600,000 could be built.

In the last month the metal outlook has improved. The National Production Administration relaxed a number of controls. It allowed builders to use up to 2,300 pounds of steel per housing unit, an increase of 500 pounds. It tightened the limitation on copper to 145 pounds, a 25 pound reduction. But other metals may be substituted for copper in many uses. And it abandoned the idea of limiting new units to one bath-room. And the other things that go into erecting houses or apartment buildings — lumber, cement, brick, glass, etc. — are fairly plentiful.

A few days ago the Federal Reserve Board dropped the minimum 10 per cent down payment on home repair and modernization.

While it looks as if builders will be able to build all the homes they can sell, selling them will be another problem.

Mortgage money is fairly tight and interest rates have gone up. Regulation X still requires down payments large enough to keep many families out of the market. However, the building industry expects something will be done about credit controls. The government has shown considerable concern over areas in which unemployment has been rising and the builders expect that the Federal Reserve Board will soon permit smaller down payments in those areas as a step toward getting more men back to work. The Board's action in relaxing credit controls in defense areas is regarded as a precedent for such action.

This, builders believe, will be followed later by a broader easing of credit controls and if employment fails to pick up, by government action to make more mortgage money available.

WORLD'S TOBACCO CROP UP A FIFTH
There will be more smokes for almost everybody. The world's crop of flue-cured tobacco in the year ending next June 30 is estimated by the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations to be 20 per cent larger than the previous crop and 31 per cent higher than the 1949-50 crop. Production of 2,377,000,000 pounds is forecast. The United States crop is estimated at 1,433,650,000 pounds.

DEALERS URGED TO SELL HARDER
Mort Farr, colorful president of the National Appliance and Radio-TV Dealers Association and usually successful merchant himself, has laid it into some of his brethren.

"Our industry is becoming racket-ridden," he told a meeting of Memphis dealers. "We are getting discredited and our profession is being insulted by promoters who advertise stirlons at 66 cents a pound, television service at $1 a call, or $100 discounts to anyone who can recognize the Star Spangled Banner as a tune to be identified."

He told dealers they were losing opportunities to profit by letting the freezer business go to professional door-to-door salesmen from other industries and by failing to concentrate on washers, dryers, ironers, garbage disposers and other low-saturated items.

"The store that's out selling won't be out sold," he said. "There are no evils, no difficulties facing this industry or any of the individual retail establishments in it, that intense, well-directed selling cannot solve."

TELLS HOW TO GET MORE OUT OF LIFE
Dr. Lewis Hancy, New York University professor who has been advising big businesses how to get more for their income, is now applying his principles to families. He has written a book, "How You Really Earn Your Living," soon to be published by Prentice-Hall at $1.50. In it the professor advises families to avoid waste in spending, avoid luxury and to do a better savings job. The average person can live better and save more by these principles, he writes.

GOVERNMENT TESTS ANTI-BUG CANDLES
The Department of Agriculture, which enforces the Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act, is looking into candles that are said to repel insects. It has some doubts that they do repel. The Department has brought an action against an Oshkosh, Wis., manufacturer and is testing candles by other makers.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK — AP) — There have been times in America when the banker was regarded as an ogre in a starched collar, a Simon Legree of Finance.

During periods of depression farmers sometimes used to keep a pitchfork sharpened, just in case the banker showed up to foreclose.

But bankers as do convicts and baseball umpires, yearn to be liked. And lately they've been doing all sorts of things to make a bank more homey—from putting in soft music to providing nursery service while mama deposits papa's paycheck.

Banker Harold C. Hahn has pioneered a step further.

"It would be nice if people could know we're not just a cold name but a friendly organization," mused Hahn, who is president of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of New York, one of the largest in America.

What bothered him was that in the post-war assembly line procedure of home-buying, his bank was arranging hundreds of mortgages through lawyers, real estate men and other intermediaries. But it wasn't meeting the homebuyer's needs.

So he created one of the oddest posts in financial history—an "ambassador of good will" to go out and make friends among the young couples on whose homes his bank held mortgages. The job went to small, dark-haired Mrs. Clare Maxwell Young, a former psychology student and mother of 7-year-old twins.

She drives about 20,000 miles a year calling on housewives, explaining how the bank works, and discussing problems of household decoration and finance.

"My first problem is to convince them I haven't come to inspect the property or to see that the house is being kept up," she said. "Many people think of a bank as a cold-hearted institution just waiting to foreclose on them. They are started at first at the idea it could take any real interest in their home ownership problems."

"But then they warm up quickly. Often I am the first person in the community who has called on them and they ask my advice on all kinds of things."

These include such matters as the right color for kitchen drapes, how to care for an expectant bull-dog, and the best way to bring a canary out of an epileptic fit.

Mrs. Young has had to deal with more than one emergency. "Once I arrived at a home just as the family dog was run over in the street, the children came home from school, the phone rang and the baby fell out of the high chair," she recalled. "All this happened at the exact moment I pushed the doorbell."

"I helped bandage the dog, quiet the crying children, and soothe the baby. And soon the mother and I were sitting down talking things over."

Does it all pay? "The bank thinks so. It has hired a second ambassador. And banker Hahn often reads Mrs. Young's detailed reports of her visitors, so they are fully informed on which family has mumps, which has a flooded collar — and which is getting ready to move to a larger house that will need a bigger mortgage.

"We realize," said Mrs. Young, "that the housewife is a vital factor in shaping her husband's opinion about where he will invest or borrow money."

She feels she is particularly fitted in one way to understand the problems of those she visits. "My husband and I bought a new seven-room house," she said, smiling. "And it's mortgaged to the hilt."

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON — Scattered surveys indicate the average American family's highest yearly clothing expenditures are for men's suits, women's ready-made dresses and shoes for children aged five to seven years.

With this in mind the University of Wisconsin and the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Home Economics are sponsoring a conference for state clothing specialists at the university in June to discuss how to teach the proper buying of these items. The conference will be attended by about 35 specialists from 29 states.

Miss Alice Linn, Agriculture's extension clothing specialist, who is helping to arrange the conference, says programs will be based on 1) the needs and interests of the people, 2) available knowledge of the specialists and 3) upon the forces governing their pocketbooks and needs.

"One of the things we realize," says Miss Linn in regard to the last, "is that even though some incomes have gone up more than prices, some families are still in a pinch."

The surveys were made by the Bureau of Home Economics in 1948 and 1949, chiefly in Minneapolis — St. Paul and in Meeker and eight counties in Minnesota and in Birmingham, Ala. Preliminary reports were compared with data collected more informally elsewhere in the country. Miss Linn says results were common.

"We are planning to study foundation garments at the request of the state specialists, who say they get many requests for buying advice on this subject."

Miss Linn says the Minneapolis — St. Paul survey showed an average yearly expenditure of $14.22 for boys' shoes, with the average pair at around $2.48. For girls it was about the same. "On shoes, we are going to start off with a study of what is a good fit, and the relation between fit and health," she said.

"Surveys showed also that the average yearly expenditure for a ready-made dress was $16.56. The average number purchased was 1.11, and the average unit price was $14.91."

What Other Papers Are Thinking

BIGNESS, PER SE (Sacramento California, Union)
Not so many years ago "big business" was the target of those who saw in bigness an inherent public danger.

To protect the public interest, a legislative wall was built around corporate operations. Laws were passed to insure fairness in competition and to guarantee an even break for the small operator.

Now, not so much is heard about the "bigness" of business. There is public acceptance of bigness in business as necessary for efficiency provided that ample safeguards against abuse exist. But meanwhile bigness has appeared in another direction. Today it is big government. And people are uneasy over it. They do not know where it will lead, or where it will end. What are the safeguards?

Government is the single biggest employer in the country. Thirty million persons are drawing checks directly or indirectly from the federal government. Our government is so big it has mortgages on banks, railroads, manufacturers, homes and businesses. It operates railroads, canals, power plants, printing plants, news services, universities, steamships and radio. It is the nation's biggest money lender. It is in competition with private enterprise and it is operating from private business.

Socialism is being purchased with our own money. Tomorrow's heirs of those in power today may not be so benign. The people are being conditioned to accept centralized power. We're headed for the skidrow of socialism.

Cline Leads Buc Win Over ACC; Play Elon Tomorrow

Freshman Blasts Two Home Runs And Double

Defending Champion Elon Christians Here Tomorrow In Athletic Highlight Of East Carolina's Annual High School Day

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer
WILSON—The booming bat of an 8-3 victory over Atlantic Christian College for the East Carolina Pirates yesterday. The game was the second North State Conference victory the Bucs have scored over the Wilson team this season.

The Pirates will return home tomorrow with a North State title affair against Elon in the sports attraction for ECC's High School Day. In the first meeting of the two clubs (last Saturday at Elon), the Christians won the game 2-1 despite an outstanding performance by sophomore pitching ace Jimmy Byrd. Byrd is expected to start again tomorrow against the league's defending champions.

In yesterday's game, Cline, a freshman from Gastonia, pounded out first and fifth inning home runs to assure the Pirates of victory. His first-inning round-tripper, a 345-foot blast over the right-centerfield wall, came with the sacks empty and put the Pirates into a 1-0 lead. His fifth-inning four-bagger was a towering 340-foot smash which came with Boyd Webb and Fred Soles on the bases.

The stocky freshman finished up his afternoon's work with a good performance in the field and 10 total bases in four official trips to the plate. He was walked once and smacked out a long two-base hit while being retired only once while at the plate.

After Cline had given Buc hurler Jimmy Piner the first inning lead, the Bulldogs came right back in their half of the inning to tie the game up. Piner hit Nick Siganos, the first Bulldog batter, and the ACC second baseman promptly stole second base. After Tom Callahan had struck out and Jay Clark had walked, Lane drilled a single into leftfield which sent Siganos all the way around to score.

The score remained tied at 1-1 until the bottom of the third when the Bulldogs pushed across two runs. Clark led off the inning when his long fly to rightfield—the sun field—was dropped by Paul Gay. Clark went all the way to third on the error and scored when Lane hit a long double to left-centerfield. Lane himself came in a few minutes later when Billy Beamon singled through the box into centerfield.

The Pirates came to life for their winning margin in the fifth inning. With one man out, Paul Soles pounded a single into leftfield and stole second. He scored when Paul Gay's line drive to rightfield was error and Gay went all the way to third. Piner was retired when the Bucs got their signals crossed on an attempted squeeze play but Gay got to score a few minutes later when catcher Callahan let one of Red Hooper's pitches get away from him.

Boyd Webb and Fred Soles both drew walks to set the stage for Cline's second big blow of the game. Cline was the first batter to face Jack Ingraham, who had relieved Hooper, and he was a 3-1 pitch that Cline tagged.

After Cline's blow, the teams settled down until the seventh when the Bucs broke loose for another run. Their final run came in the ninth inning.

The victory may have been a costly one in that it cost them the services of big John Hamilton. Hamilton is one of the top catchers on the club and was behind the bat yesterday when one of Piner's pitches hit him on the end of the middle finger of his throwing hand. An immediate diagnosis did not determine whether or not the finger was broken but Hamilton will definitely be out of the line-up for at least the next few days.

Azalea Winner In Wilson Meet

WILSON, N. C. (AP)—A pro-amateur meet at the Wilson Country Club today served as a tune-up for the Carolina Golf Association's third annual amateur four-ball championship opening here tomorrow.

Top professionals from North Carolina and South Carolina participated in the 18-hole test over the 6,386-yard Wilson Country Club course today.

The pros were headed by Jimmy Clark, recent winner of the Wilmington Amelia Open golf tournament. Clark, playing out of Laguna Beach, Calif., won $2,000 top money at Wilmington Sunday with a record 272 for the Cape Fear Country Club course. A native of Virginia, Clark lived in Boone for several years as a youngster.

Greenies Start Practice For Coming Bright Belt Loop Race

Coleman And Williams Pass Physicals For Flying Duty

United Press sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Gerry Coleman, recalled to duty as a Marine flyer along with Ted Williams, predicted today he'll "probably have quite a bit of trouble working back into the New York Yankee infield two years from now."

The handsome second baseman made the observation in wistful tones after he and slugger Williams of the Boston Red Sox had passed their recall physical examinations here yesterday.

Most baseball men in Florida were inclined to agree with the gloomy prediction of Coleman, who will be 29 years old when his new two-year hitch is over.

But they figured that the outlook for Williams is twice as dark. For the Boston better will be 35 years old when he takes off his Marine uniform in 1954.

At 35, after two years away from the diamond, a comeback may be impossible. Williams also was ready to keep playing until he's due to report for duty, May 2. When the bullet blows, Williams will go to Willow Grove, Pa., for an eight-week refresher course and then to the Fleet Marine Force at Cherry Point, N. C.

Phantoms Lose Baseball Opener To Rocky Mount

ROCKY MOUNT—The Rocky Mount Blackbirds of the Eastern AAA Conference turned loose a 14-hit batting assault on three Greenville hurlers yesterday to down the Phantoms 10-1 in the season's opener for both baseball teams. The game was played in Rocky Mount's Municipal Stadium.

Doug Morgan started on the hill for the Phantoms but lasted just long enough to let the Blackbird sluggers get warmed up. Eddie Pennington and Doug Whitley led the Rocky Mount attack, each with three hits in four trips to the plate. Whitley, a football star at Rocky Mount as well as a baseball standout, drilled out two doubles and a single while Pennington reversed the order and got two singles and a double.

While the Blackbird batsmen were having a field day, four Rocky Mount hurlers were combining their talents to hold the Phantoms to two hits. Sid Briley got the big one of the two when he banged out a double.

A three-run spurge in the second inning was enough to give Coach Clet Clewett's Birds the victory but they added a single run in the third and two in the seventh together with three run innings in the fifth and eighth frames.

Lujack Quits Job

CHICAGO (AP)—Having severed his ties with the Chicago Bears, Johnny Lujack was free today to give serious consideration to returning to his alma mater, Notre Dame, as football backfield coach.

Lujack, the former All-America quarterback at Notre Dame, will not continue in pro football. He and George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, failed to reach an agreement at the end of a two-day huddle yesterday.

John's four-year contract with the Bears, reportedly calling for $80,000, expired after the 1951 season.

Cardinals Move

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals moved out of their Florida training camp today in top condition, ready to start the northward-bound series of exhibition games with the Philadelphia Phillies.

The series opens at Waycross, Ga., tomorrow.

Pitchers Cliff Chambers and George (Red) Mungler gave the Cards a winning sendoff from Al Land Field yesterday by setting down the Detroit Tigers, 5-0. It was the sixth shutout of the spring season for the Cards.

Ayden Wins Coastal Loop Opener With 10-5 Victory

AYDEN—South Edgecombe dropped a 10-5 baseball game to Ayden here yesterday afternoon as the Tornadoes opened defense of their Coastal Conference crown on a victorious scale.

The visitors came out on top of the hitting, but nine errors kept the Pinetops team in constant trouble. Their fielding miscues enabled the Ayden team to manufacture its ten runs on only six hits, while South Edgecombe pounded out eight safeties, including a triple by centerfielder Stan Whitley and doubles by Maynard Abrams and Billy Ellis, who hurled the first three innings for the losers.

Four runs in the bottom of fourth inning cemented the game for Ayden. Successive walks to Todd Kittrell and Billy McLoon and an error on a grounder by Jimmy Walls filled the sacks for Ayden. The first run of the inning came across as reliever Allen Felton issued his third free pass of the inning to Jamie Lang, forcing in Kittrell with Ayden's seventh run. Two successive errors by South Edgecombe shortstop Brooks Webb sent two more runners across the home plate, and a single by Darrell Worthington, coupled with another fielding miscue, sent the final run home. Worthington's single was the only safety registered during the inning.

South Edgecombe took a 2-1 lead in the top of the second. James Webb reached first by virtue of missed third strike by the Ayden catcher to start the early rally. After Martin Johnson had walked, pitcher Billy Ellis connected for a double to send both runners across the plate. The next two men to face Worthington walked, but Stanley Whitley was retired to end the inning. Possibly the only bright spot in South Edgecombe's lineup was reliever Allen Felton. Four runs were scored on Felton in Ayden's wild fourth inning, but he allowed only one hit to the Tornadoes in the last three innings. He retired the last six batters to face him on strikeouts, and had a total of seven for the three innings in which he pitched. He issued three base on balls in the fourth.

Ayden will have a layoff until next Tuesday, when they travel to Vanceboro for another conference contest.

Second Tourney Held For Ladies

WASHINGTON—The second of a series of spring tournaments in the East Carolina Ladies Golf Association was held here Monday afternoon, with 62 golfers from the six towns in the group participating in the tourney and social hour that followed.

Low score went to Mrs. Frances Johnson of New Bern, who fired a 90, hottest of the afternoon. She was closely followed by Mrs. Frances Stevens of Rocky Mount with a 91 and Mrs. Jeanette Altmore of Washington with a 92.

Five golfers from Greenville attended the meet, including Mrs. Fred Saue, Mrs. Matt Long, Mrs. Larry James, Mrs. Wicher Dudley and Mrs. Bill Roney. Mrs. Saue finished sixth in the tourney with a 95, while Mrs. James shot a 97 good for eighth place.

The next meeting of the association, which is now in its third year of operation, is slated for April 8 in Rocky Mount, which has an 18-hole course. Teams participating in the league besides Washington, Greenville, and Rocky Mount, are Wilson, New Bern, and Kinston.

Reports Findings On 'Pet Peeves'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

I've been collecting beefs and pet peeves for the last couple of weeks, and making special notes when they coincided with my own. Here's a representative handful:

Stores advertising leather handbags and fur coats, which list in bold black print the prices—but without adding on that 20 per cent federal tax. I know the stores don't like the tax, but neither do I. However, to us purchasers it represents part of the purchase price, and when we discover later that we've overlooked the small print "plus federal tax," the most pleasant emotion we feel is annoyance—and not at the government, either.

Men who always respond to those eternal surveys on their pet peeves about women by saying they dislike smeary lipstick and red fingernails. It's never the girl with the face innocent of makeup and the hands free of nail enamel who rates masculine attention, and it's not always the girl they pick to marry.

Heroines in detective stories who are always traipsing off alone into dark cellars, musty attics and deserted hunting lodges where they are invariably knocked unconscious or otherwise pushed the plot ahead. It must be possible to invent a heroine who could deport herself in a normal, understandable way.

Movie stars who are trying to convince the public that at heart they are simple, kitchen-loving, heartside-hugging souls. The public always has enjoyed having a few glamorous, remote theatrical souls around, who bathe in mare's milk, eat nightingale tongues and are delightfully unbelievable; we can find simple folk living right next door to us.

Politicians who never admit there's a question they can't answer. It would be refreshing and confidence-making occasionally to have one or more of our public servants confess to a lack of opinion.

Clothes designers who each year beat the drum and scare us into believing we'll have to buy a complete new wardrobe to keep from looking like freaks. Fashion usually doesn't change that abruptly from season to season, and it would be nice to be reassured just once that it will be possible to get a second season out of a dress or hat—because most of us will anyway.

Taxi drivers who accept 15 and 20 per cent tips—the proper amount—with poor grace, temper and a lack of simple courtesy.

People who sit quietly and let you tell a new story you've heard, laugh politely and then indicate they've already heard it—or tell the tag-line the way they heard it the first time.

Walters who hover close to your table obviously trying to hurry you through your meal.

Radio and television comedians who "adapt" to their own uses such other's jokes and gags borrowed from magazines and newspaper cartoons you're already read.

Salespeople who always bring you an article priced higher than you said you wanted to pay—and look at you condescendingly when you ask if they have anything in a lower price bracket.

Automobile drivers who take upon themselves to "teach you a lesson" by shouting invective when passing or honking their horn impatiently when you're a split second delayed in a take-off on the green light.

Women who gossip fluently about mutual friends—giving you a definite impression you'll be the subject of dissection when you aren't among those present.

Anyone who is proud of pictures they have taken on a trip, and forces you to admire them one by one, with explanations.

Veterans Prefer Cheerful Girls

SYDNEY, Australia — (UP) — When it comes to taste in paintings, sick ex-servicemen least like pictures of women at work, the Red Cross art library here found.

The library has been circulating prints of well known paintings in ex-servicemen's hospitals for the last three years.

The sick veterans not only reject paintings depicting women at work, the library reports, but also paintings with sad and sorrowful women as the subject.

"They almost unanimously prefer romantic pictures of women, such as the one in Rosetti's 'Daydreams,'" one library worker said.

Faintings of domestic scenes by earl Dutch painters, such as "The Fish Shop," are also in great demand.

Extremely modern and controversial paintings interest war neurosis patients, who invariably form discussion groups, the library worker said.

"Patients confined to bed for long periods become hyper-critical of details in a painting and anything suggesting physical disabilities tend to irritate them," the worker added.

The Red Cross Art Library is considered by its members to have immense value, not only from the cultural aspect, but as a form of healing therapy.

Doctors Needed For Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia — (AP) — Indonesia's minister of health is trying to recruit 200 foreign physicians to work in this country.

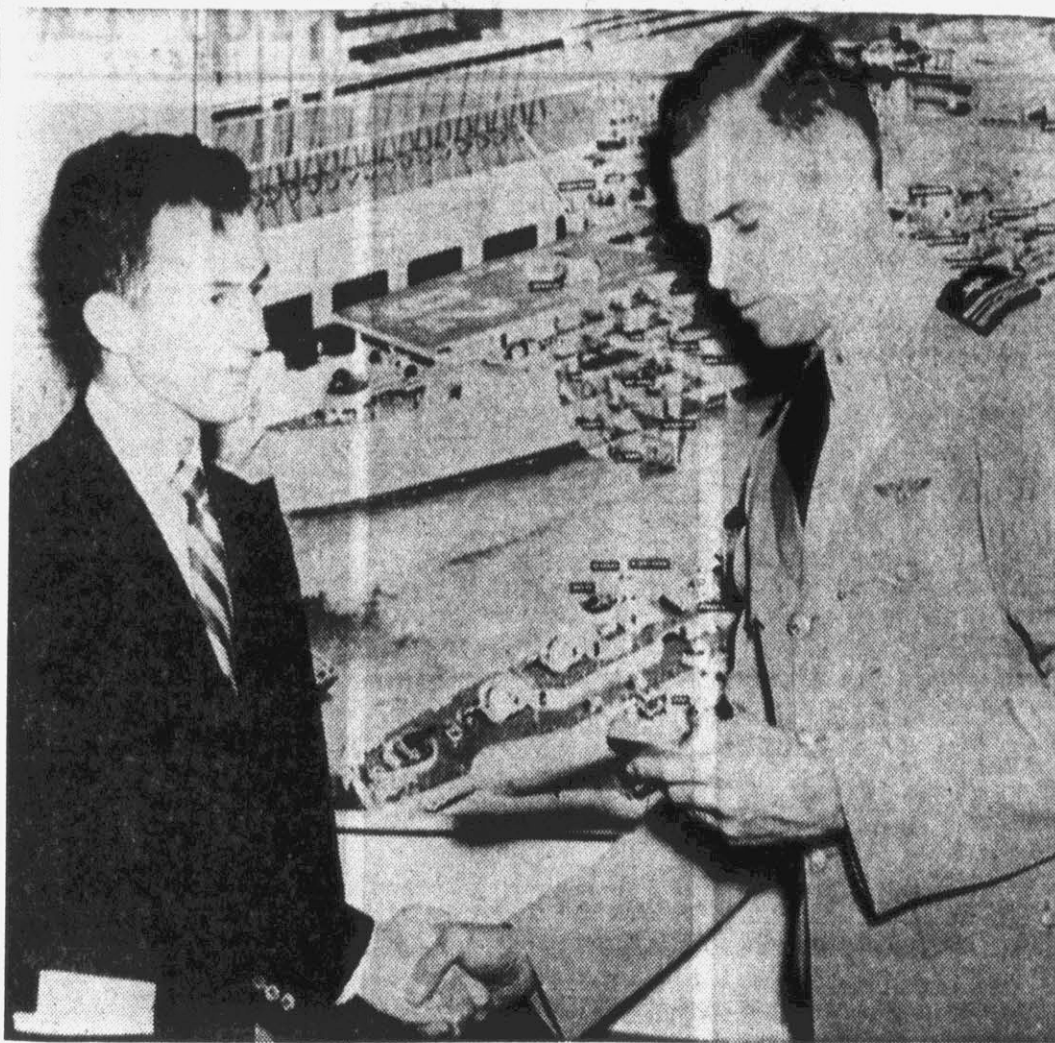

Since the transfer of sovereignty scores of Dutch government doctors have returned home and the available Indonesian physicians are too few to fill the gap.

Efforts of the Indonesian high commissioner's office in the Hague have not been very successful, however, in spite of the favorable contracts offered.

So far 58 physicians have been signed up. About 50 per cent are Dutchmen. The rest come from other West European countries, especially Germany.

Gold often is found in rocks so old that they contain no fossils or very few fossils, indicating they were formed before life existed on earth or during the very early development of life.

Cases Heard Tuesday In County Recorder's Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Pitt County Recorder's Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James found six motorists guilty of speeding more than 55 miles an hour.

The court taxed Fred Gray, Negro, with court costs for driving on a public highway at 30 miles an hour. The judgment recommends that Gray's operator's license be revoked for a year. The defendant gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

Carlton Brooks, truck driver, speeding over 55 miles an hour, $25 fine. Charley Royal Merritt, truck driver, $25 fine; Lawrence Weber, pay court costs; Edward J. Duffy, pay court costs; Ralph D. Porter, $25 fine.

Assault with deadly weapon: Craven Reels, $25 fine; Wilbur Smith, $50 fine; Zebedee Leary, Negro, not guilty; Sol Spencer, Negro, three months suspended, and he is to pay $50 fine, $9 for a doctor, and $10 to the prosecuting witness, pay court costs and the balance is to go as a fine.

Bonnie Ray Gardner, Negro, ordered to pay $3 a week for support of his illegitimate child.

N. L. (Bob) Forbes was found not guilty of assault and Geneva Coward, prosecuting witness, was taxed with court costs.

Hoover Langley, Negro, was found guilty of being drunk and disorderly. The court gave him 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of court costs.

Troy Lee Thigpen, Negro, paid court costs for driving without an operator's license.

Carl S. Vefferis paid $25 fine for driving carelessly and recklessly.

Willie Jesse Stanton of Winfall, N. C. was found guilty of allowing a person to drive his motor vehicle without an operator's license and driving carelessly and recklessly. The court fined him $35 nd costs.

John Meredith Pitt of Hertford, charged with driving carelessly and recklessly and without an operator's license, was called and failed to answer. A capias was issued for him.

Worthless check: Arthur Midgett and James Williams paid checks and court costs.

William Luther Knight of Bethel was found not guilty of failure to stop at a "stop" sign and failure to yield right of way.

Roosevelt Howard was found guilty of driving drunk and fined $100 and costs.

Amthery Coward Jr., driving without an operator's license, case not pressed with leave; Willie Coward paid court costs for the same offense; Joe Moore was fined $25 and costs or serve 60 days in jail.

Johnnie McCray paid $25 and costs for possession of non-tax-paid whiskey.

Non-support: Dwight D. Thomas, ordered to pay $50 a month; Herlies Murphrey ordered to pay $10 a week for support of children.

Electric Charge Remover Ready

CHICAGO — (AP) — Have you ever been shocked sliding over a plastic automobile seat cover or while flicking on an electric switch after walking across a rug? It's caused by static electricity and the shock comes when you are grounded.

Eric O. Sonneman, general manager of the Merix Chemical Co., (1021 E. 55th Street, Chicago) announced his company now is ready to market its new anti-static compounds. One is used for smooth surfaces on which it is wiped, sprayed, or brushed. It prevents static in such objects as plexiglass windows, plastic parts, automobile doorhandles, and phonograph records.

The other removes electrical charges from fabric soft textile fibers and plastic yarns. It is used on seat covers, belts on industrial machinery and is sprayed on hospital floors and garments to prevent static-caused sparks.

Women Drivers Use Less Gas

TOLEDO, O. — (UP) — If Papa drove like Mama, the family car could travel a lot farther on less gasoline.

"Women drivers use less gasoline than men simply because the fairer sex generally drives within the speed range where the best mileage is obtained — 20 to 40 miles an hour," Dean A. Walters, technical service director of Willys-Overland, said. "Men, on the other hand, generally go much faster."

"A driver can cut his car's efficiency by as much as 50 per cent through excessive speed," Walters pointed out. "For example, extensive road tests on our newest car showed that, with overdrive, it gets up to 35 miles per gallon at 30 miles per hour. The gasoline mileage drops to 28 at 50 miles per hour, 25 at 60, and 17 miles per gallon at 80 miles an hour."

Confiscated Old Whiskey Still

PASADENA, Calif. — (AP) — A swap-shop owner recently displayed an interesting antique which had had hard use during California's gold rush days.

The antique was a whiskey still and it was the center of interest at the shop — for a while.

Then it was confiscated by Clair E. Kirk of the Bonded and Equalization liquor control division, who remarked: A still's still a still.

Italy's Biggest

ROME — (AP) — Through American aid, Italy now owns the largest merchant fleet which has ever sailed under the Italian flag.

At the end of 1951, the Italian merchant marine had 7 per cent tonnage more than the 2,965,724 tons it boasted in 1941. The 1951 figure was 3,156,037 tons, comprising 1,247 ships.

Italy has now stepped into seventh position in world tonnage, with 3.3 per cent of the total. The United States tops the list with 31.3 per cent of the tonnage.

Vessel Of Death Found Off Coast

JAKARTA, Indonesia — (AP) — Reports from the remote island of Flores tell of the discovery of a "mysterious vessel — of death."

Local authorities recently set out by motorlaunch to investigate stories about a boat which cruised aimlessly along the east coast of Flores.

After a search of several hours they found the boat. It contained six corpses, a Singer sewing machine and a bicycle. The dead could not be identified, and the discovery is still a mystery to the police.

Need Youth In German Politics

BONN, Germany — (AP) — The high mortality rate in the West German parliament has brought an urgent appeal for young people to get into politics.

And, in fact, twenty-two members of the 402-member Bundestag have died since it was constituted in 1949. Only three of these have been accidental deaths.

Alarmed by this and by the advanced age of many legislators, a 35-year-old deputy recently broadcast a radio plea for youth to get into politics "for the good of Germany and the European idea."

Refugees' Horde Will Stage March

FRANKFURT, Germany — (UP) — An army of tens of thousands of German World War II refugees, embittered and hopeless after eight years of living in ramshackle state-run camps, is organizing for a mass cross-country trek this spring in search of new homes and jobs.

The march, planned for the end of April or early May, may develop into the greatest mass migration of refugees in Europe since the war. Its leaders claim that up to 300,000 refugees are preparing to join it in vast columns that will choke the country's highways.

They are the desperate "hard core" residue of nearly 9,000,000 refugee Germans driven at the war's end from their homes in Soviet-occupied and Polish-occupied eastern Germany and the Sudeben area of Czechoslovakia and ed western Germany.

In Desolate Country
About 400,000 still are living crammed in wooden barracks and lagging resettlement measures by the West German government. Most of the camps are in desolate marshland country scattered over northern Germany up to the Danish frontier. Another 100,000 live in camps in Bavaria.

The trek leaders plan to lead the refugees into areas of western and south-western Germany where the refugee population is relatively small.

They announced that thousands are signing up daily for the march and that only urgent resettlement measures by the Bonn government can stop it.

The biggest march columns are being organized in the refugee camps in Schleswig-Holstein and Lower Saxony, where 250,000 refugees still are housed in camps and where they comprise roughly one-third of the total population. Most were expelled from their homes in East Prussia and Pomerania as the Red army advanced into Germany in 1945.

Leader White-Haired

Their leader is Reinhard Noback, 54, white-haired former staff manager of a factory at Spandau, near Berlin, who has lived since the war with his family in an expellee camp just south of the Danish frontier.

In Bavaria, where tens of thousands of refugees are housed in camps in the desolate wooded mountain area near the Czech frontier, Rudolf Breske, an expellee from Danzig, is organizing another great trek down towards the big cities of the plains.

Leaders claim that funds are pouring in from churches and charitable organizations and that the local farmers have promised to furnish carts, horses and bedding for the refugees if and when they take to the roads.

The refugees' plan is to camp in public squares and market places and to stay there until local authorities do something about finding them houses. If they are headed off by police at the entrance to a city they plan to move in by "infiltration" methods.

Silica Source Is Found On Island

SINGAPORE (AP) — The only known source of silica in Southeast Asia has been discovered on Pulau Tekong Island, a few miles off Singapore.

Analysts said sand on the island's beaches contained 99.5 per cent of silica from which lenses, cut glass and other high-quality glass are made.

The island's owner, a Singapore lawyer, plans to ease the housing shortage in the colony by erecting 300 houses on the island.

The word "profiteer" first came to be used in England during World War I and was given official sanction in an act of parliament in 1919.

Seeing Eye Boy Is Guide For His Blind Collie Pup

By HAROLD C. KNOX, United Press Staff Correspondent

Jackson, Miss. — (UP) — Stories are legion about the loyalty of a seeing-eye dog to his master.

In the case of six-year-old A.B. Albritton, Jr., and his collie pup, King, the case is reversed. The boy can see and the dog can't. The dog needs help from someone to find his way around. King's blindness was discovered a few weeks after the Albrittons got him and began noticing he bumped into things and seemed unable at times to tell where he was.

Albritton took the pup to a veterinarian who confirmed the suspicion that King was blind. The veterinarian told Albritton that the dog had just a little sight left. However, he said King has an excellent nose and that with the use of it, could get around well in familiar environment.

Other Cases Cited

The animal doctor said he knew of several cases in Jackson where blind dogs made good pets and added that some dogs learn so well that their masters don't know they are blind.

Albritton confessed he doesn't have the heart to destroy King, even if he could unwind his son's arms from the animal's neck. King is an affectionate and friendly puppy and gives signs of being alert and intelligent.

Albritton added that he doesn't know what to do about the dog, since King never will be able to give his son full companionship. "I guess I just want advice," he said.

The Albrittons said they would welcome suggestions from anyone who knows anything about playing turnabout and being a seeing-eye man for a blind dog.

Surrender Site Is Being Guarded

LUENEBURG HEALTH, Germany — (AP) — Four East German refugees guard a heavy granite stone that marks the spot where German Admiral Friedburg surrendered to British Field Marshal Montgomery May 4, 1945, at the close of World War II.

The guards, all over 50, stand watch in six hour shifts, at the site, located on top of a lonely hill. Originally, wooden markers were erected, but these were stolen from time to time, possibly by German who resented a reminder to their defeat.

Some 10,000 persons a year visit "Victory Hill." Many of them take pictures of the stone.

The word "priest" is a contracted form of "presbyter."

Primitive People Enjoy Basketball

ROME — (AP) — A backward Mexican village has discovered basketball and with it more modern methods of community life.

Emile Tejada, UN Food and Agriculture Organization expert, told the story here. When he and his staff arrived in the almost inaccessible Mexican village of Cucuchuco the people ran and hid.

Gradually the inhabitants became more confident. But the period of friendliness and co-operation really began after the discovery that the villagers like basketball. The success of working together to build a basketball court inspired the villagers to take up other community projects.

Chapter 2
Steve Russell was aware of the look in Indian Joe's eyes as he rode away. So far as that went, he was nearly as surprised at the boldness of his sudden decision as his companion could be.

Always now, over a period of years, it had been pretty much accepted that Nancy Neilson was his girl, that one day he would marry her.

It had taken the sight of Melody Pascoe to stir that half-hidden feeling in him, to rouse him to a consciousness of inadequacy and desire.

Melody was a visitor from somewhere back east—Boston or thereabouts. Not only was she different through training and environment from any woman they had ever known, but she was blonde, exotic, completely out of place in such a setting.

But most other men, like Steve, had not allowed their emotions to come to the surface, or themselves to be too upset. The reason being that Matt Tarson had staked out a claim there, almost on the day of Melody's arrival. Regardless of his chances, no one had cared to contest the field against Matt Tarson.

To anyone knowing the Bend, or the Tarsons, that was understandable. There were two of them now—Felix and Matt, and with the weight of the Rope Ranch behind them—or the Noose, as the colled Rope brand was more popularly known. A noose big enough to strangle opposition, backed by the Tarsons and their big, tough crew. That ability had often been demonstrated.

There had always been a raw edge between the Tarsons and the Russells. Old Tim Tarson had been the second man in the Bend country, prospecting along Passover Creek. He had come hard on the heels of Goodfellow Russell. There had been more than one quarrel down the years.

"No Russell ever backed down for a Tarson—or ever will," Steve thought now. "If Matt wants to make something of this, he's welcome to. This is a free country. Melody can go with whoever she wants to. That's up to her."

He saw the surprise in Cass Walden's face when he himself answered the door and Matt asked for Melody. But he and Cass had always been good friends, and he was cordially invited to step in. A moment later Melody entered the room.

There was a sudden sparkle of excitement in Melody Pascoe's deeply blue eyes, a touch of added color in her cheeks. She looked at him frankly, expectantly, and he came as directly to the point.

"It just came to me about that dance at the school-house tonight, Melody," he explained. "The whole affair had sort of slipped my mind. Then I thought of you—and knew I'd like to go. If you'd like to go with me! How about it?"

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower addresses a battery of microphones at his headquarters near Paris as he makes an advance recording of his SHAPE organization's first annual report. Ike's Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe, the military arm of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, will be one year old April 2. (AP Wirephoto).

"I'll be glad to, Mr. Russell," she agreed. I suppose Matt will be coming by for me at about the usual time, and I had expected to go with him. But he hasn't really asked me, so I've not promised. And you have."

"You bet I have," Steve agreed. "And my name's Steve. I'll hustle home and get ready, and be here with bells on."

"I'll be ready—Steve," Melody agreed. Indian Joe had arrived with the deer when Steve reached the Diamond R ranch house. Burt McKee was already skinning it. He looked up now to grin.

"Sure a nice buck you got, Steve," he hailed. "I'm going to mount that head for you. Make a nice trophy."

"That's a good idea," Steve agreed, and fresh pride was in his step as he went into the house, swinging from long habit to the room where Link Russell spent most of his time, seated in a wheel-chair, a blanket over his lap.

"That was a nice buck you got, Steve," he said. "I saw it when Joe brought it in. Didn't know there was any such left in the country."

"Neither did I, Uncle Link," Steve conceded. "I was just lucky. I got to go break off these whiskers. There's a dance at the school tonight."

"You going with Nancy?" Link asked idly. "Well—no, not tonight, I'm taking Melody Pascoe."

"Melody Pascoe, eh?" he repeated. "Ain't one big buck a plenty for you in one day, Steve?"

Tonight he felt in a gay, reckless mood. As he started to change his clothes, he felt the heavy rock in his pocket and pulled it out.

Again, on sudden impulse, he slipped it into the pocket of the trousers he was just pulling on. Again there's luck in it," he thought. "Mebby I'll need it. I reckon Matt's going to be right proddy about my takin' his girl away from him."

Predicts Babies To Require False Teeth

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP)—Babies are going to have more false teeth, more bridges, crowns, fillings and even plates.

This surprising need is an objective described today at the University of North Carolina's new school of dentistry, by William W. Demeritt, head of the department of pedodontics.

He is a pioneer in fixing infant teeth, beginning before they are a year old. He has made bridges that spread as babies' mouths enlarge. For front bridges this is done with gold cables that link the teeth to permit spreading without slipping.

For the back jaw there are hinges that serve the same end.

He has had children at the age of seven with twenty or more crowns, and in a few cases complete sets of false teeth.

"Most of our dental problems as adults," he said, "can be traced directly to defects starting in baby teeth, and most of these can be traced to decay."

When lost baby teeth are not replaced with false teeth growing mouths become deformed. The space for a permanent tooth may close, resulting in permanent teeth like clusters of grapes. Neglected decay leads to abscesses. Sixty per cent of tooth deformities, he said, are due to too early removal or loss of baby teeth without replacements. The longer the early neglect, the more expensive is the repair work which comes later.

Half our adult teeth are gone at the age 40, he said, and much of this is due to neglect of baby teeth.

Make-Believe-War Carried To Texas Town In 'Enemy' Hands

By WILBUR MARTIN
LAMPASAS, Tex. — (AP) — A make-believe war came vividly alive here today shortly after dawn.

With fixed bayonets, big, green-clad Aggressor troops secured this little Central Texas ranching town of 5,000 persons and a military government took it over.

To test military government as a part of military maneuver and to find just what it means to lose your everyday liberties is the reason Lampasas, for today at least, is a U. S. city in the hands of a totalitarian enemy.

With a hearty cheer from city officials, civic leaders and the plain residents, Maj. Alton Shipstead of Winona, Minn., set up a realistic problem.

Shipstead, military government officer for the 82nd Airborne Division, the Aggressors, was solely responsible for actions here today.

He and Lt. Col. Robert H. Slover, military government director for Exercise Longhorn being staged over 1,800 square miles of Central Texas, said the necessary pursuits of the city would not be interfered with in any way.

Concentration camps, property confiscation, quick, one-sided trials are part of the "Last Day of Democracy" here.

"Thought control" for the schools, closed churches, propaganda broadcasts are all a part of it. H. C. Ballow, superintendent of the schools, said his pupils were enthusiastic about the part they play.

Slover said the same spirit has been shown by all the people.

Huge printed proclamations announcing the "liberation" of Lampasas were plastered over the town. So were "laws" to govern the citizens and the announcement that all political parties were abolished; that the "Centralist" party was now the only one.

The Last Day of Democracy here has stolen the spotlight from the main part of the maneuver, the attack by the 82nd against the 47th and 31st Infantry Divisions spread along Cowhouse Creek.

Yesterday the Aggressors rammed across the creek and made sharp penetrations into U. S. territory.

At the same time, a regular ration supply drop was made to the 47th Division. Eight C-82 "Flying Boxcars" dropped 40 tons of rations, 20 tons in the morning and 20 in the afternoon.

C. T. McNary To Address Session

Charles T. McNary of Greensboro, personnel director for Blue Bell, Inc., producer of work clothes for men and boys, has accepted an invitation to speak at East Carolina College on the occasion of the annual business education conference at the college.

The meeting is sponsored each spring by the college Commerce Club and the Beta Kappa Chapter of the national honorary business education fraternity Pi Omega Pi, student organizations. The conference has been scheduled this year for Tuesday, April 22, in the Flanagan auditorium. Mr. McNary will be principal speaker on a program which will focus attention on various problems of business and of business education in the schools.

Mr. McNary is responsible for the personnel and public relations program of the Blue Bell company's 23 plants, located in seven states. He has had many years of experience in the social service and industrial fields, having served as general secretary of the YMCA, USO industrial relations director, and a director of job relations training for the War Manpower Commission, Training Within Industry Division. He is secretary of the Society for Advancement of Management, Greensboro Area Chapter.

at Houston, but his name was Anathema in North Carolina, and the device of ringing in Senator Cordell Hull was as futile as the attempt four years ago to defeat Truman with Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina. This year, with Truman out of the picture, the presidency is wide open. It is entirely probable that some Tarheel delegates will be pledged to Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia, and somewhat less likely that there will be delegates committed to Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, or Senator Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma, or Governor Adlai S. Stevenson of Illinois, or Vice President Alben Barkley. It is very improbable that any of these preliminary pledges will be irrevocable, or that the delegation will be instructed.

ANALOGY — There is close similarity between present conditions and those prevailing in 1936 with respect to national committee. The convention this year will be held before instead of after the primary, but there is no prospect of a run-off for governor or for any other state office except lieutenant governor and associate justice of the supreme court. Important as these offices are in government, they are not nearly so important in politics. Basically, the same factions which scrapped it out in 1936 are lined up against each other in 1952. There are some significant exceptions.

CROSSED WIRES — Hubert Olive, who was Hoey's manager behind the scenes in working out the strategy in that convention, is now a candidate for governor. His publicity director this year is Able Upchurch, who was McDonald's publicity man 16 years ago. This year the state administration headed by Governor Kerr Scott is backing Jonathan Daniels for national committeeman, as contrasted with state administration opposition under Governor Ehringhaus to selection of Jonathan's father as national committeeman in 1936. These crossed wires do not change the basic fact that majority of the party leadership desires a change in membership on the national committee now. Political expediency calls for occasional switches of individuals, but considered as a whole the factional lines have not changed a great deal in the past 16 years.

College Marshals For 1952-1953 Named

Patricia Ann Moore of Turkey will serve as chief marshal at East Carolina College for the school year 1952-1953. She replaces Janet Tyson of Stanonsburg, and with fifteen other marshals will begin her duties this week.

Miss Moore will head a group of sixteen women students chosen by their fellow students for their positions as marshals. During the school year they will act as ushers at all large gatherings and participate in events of commencement this May. While on duty, they wear white dresses and regalia of purple and gold, the college colors.

In addition to Miss Moore, the college marshals for the coming school year are: Lynette Murphy, Rose Hill; Mary Lee Jones, Warsaw; Peggy Joyce Grice, Calypso; Christine and Pauline Blalock, Timberlake; Audrey Beaman, Dudley; Betty Ray Outlaw, Elizabeth City; Faye Farmer, Carolina Beach; Evelyn Davis, Warsaw; Anne DuRant, Wilmington; Betty Hendrix, Greensboro; Peggy Barrow, Greenville; Jane Eason, Stanonsburg; Jane Bond, Windsor; and Seleta Tucker, Farmville.

Dr. Wallace E. Caldwell of Chapel Hill, Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Masons of North Carolina, will make his official visit with the Greenville Chapter 50 tomorrow night.

A dinner will be held at 6:30 in the dining room of the Masonic Lodge to honor Caldwell and a meeting of the Royal Arch Masons will be held at 7:30 following the dinner.

Royal Arch Masons from Kinston, Washington, and New Bern have been invited to attend and other guests include: Farrason A. Farrow, Past Grand High Priest, New Bern; John H. ## Embezzling Of Fees Charged RALEIGH — (AP) — A former game protector for Nash County has been charged with embezzling $2,763.90 in state hunting license funds.

Director Clyde Patten of the State Wildlife Resources Commission said yesterday that Robert W. Hester will be given a preliminary hearing in Nash recorder's court at Nashville on May 3. He is free under $1,500 bond.

State Auditor Henry Bridges recently recommended that game protectors keep their license collections and their personal funds in separate bank accounts. This was prompted by two other cases of irregularities, neither of which resulted in any formal charges.

Hester, who had been employed in Nash County for about two years, settled his fishing license accounts properly last Jan. 15, Patton said. When his hunting license account was turned in on March 1 and showed a shortage, the commission asked Bridges to make a special audit, Patton stated.

Bridges auditors determined that Hester's account was short $2,763.90. Patton quoted Hester as saying he didn't know what had become of the missing money.

It is believed that the first printing was done by the Chinese.

District Scouts Gather In Greenville On Friday

Some 200 Boy Scouts of the Pitt district are expected to gather in Greenville Friday afternoon for the annual pre-camporee of the district.

The event this year will be held on the track field at Guy Smith Stadium and will be under the direction of District Commissioner Jack Dowdy who will serve as pre-camporee chief.

The outing will be a preparatory encampment to better prepare the Pitt Scouts for the East Carolina Camporee which will be held in New Bern April 25, 26 and 27. Approximately 2,300 Scouts from the East Carolina Council are expected to attend the camporee in New Bern.

Local Scout officials estimated today between 20 and 25 Boy Scout patrols from the Pitt District will be represented at the pre-camporee here this week-end. The event will begin at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and continue through 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Troop 200 of Winterville, under the direction of Scoutmaster Mark McLawhorn, will set up a model patrol area at the pre-camporee and demonstrate for the other patrols the way a Scout unit should carry on its activities at the Council camporee.

A campfire has been planned for Friday night, and on Saturday morning the Scouts will go through the list of scoutcraft events which will be used at the camporee in New Bern.

Camporee scout events will include knot tying, rescue, signaling, flag aid, compass, observation, flag pole raising, pioneer event and dressing relay.

Many Entries In Company Contest

RALEIGH — (AP) — A total of 139 towns in North Carolina and South Carolina have entered the community development contest sponsored by the Carolina Power & Light Co.

This was announced yesterday by the company's district managers. The deadline for entries was April 1, but a few late entries are expected.

Build a Finer Carolina" is the contest theme. The company will award $8,750 in prizes to winning towns for improvements made during the 12 months ending Nov. 1.

Prizes are found in all living cells.

Says TV Freeze End Is In Sight

CHICAGO (UP)—The chairman of the Federal Communications Commission predicts that the government's ban on new television stations will be lifted within two weeks.

Paul A. Walker said a three-month period to permit filing of new applications will follow the lifting of the ban. He said an estimated 1,000 new applications would be filed.

The FCC's "freeze" on television has been in effect three and a half years.

Many animals and plants have form, for example for free-swimming young and attached, shelled forms of the yeast or the egg-worm-pupa-winged sequence of many insects.

McGrath-Morris Case Puts Truman On Spot

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — AP) — The Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance routine was like a soft-ball game compared with the Morris-to-McGrath-to-Truman double-play in which the President has to make the put-out.

Newbold Morris and J. Howard McGrath—the President's two top investigators whose own conduct has been investigated by Congress—haven't much in common except years in politics and an ability to get into jams.

Although Atty. Gen. McGrath's would be the chief investigator of government corruption, the Truman administration seemed to think it necessary to bring in an outsider.

After several better-known men had turned down the job McGrath suggested Morris and President Truman appointed him special assistant to McGrath. At once Morris announced he'd start off investigating McGrath's department.

This in itself was interesting but not any more so than Morris' performance when he went before a Senate committee which wanted to quiz him about his law firm's connection with a ship deal.

While Morris is a New York City boy of 50 who battled well in the political league there, he got off to a country boy's start shortly after landing here where the political slingers use lead pipes.

He insulted the senators, hardly the social thing to do because anyone could have told him when any insulting is done at a Senate hearing it's usually done by the senators.

You could almost hear them count to 10 to keep their tempers. What they said about him—something about over-emotion—was mild compared with what they did to him. They refused to let him have the subpoena power President Truman asked for him.

Still, he tried to operate. He called a big news conference and announced he was sending a long questionnaire to McGrath and the key men in the Justice Department, demanding intimate information about their financial affairs.

This week McGrath went before a House judiciary subcommittee which is eager to check on the Justice Department itself and wants a look at McGrath's income tax returns.

While McGrath and the congressmen were battling the ball around he said he 1) not only hadn't filled out Morris' questionnaire but didn't know whether he would; 2) hadn't distributed it to the other Justice Department people; and 3) wouldn't have recommended Morris as investigator if he had it to do over again. Here was a double-play the like of which the President hasn't been mixed up in since he's been in the White House. After all, Morris was given his job with presidential blessing and here was McGrath balking at Morris' investigation.

Could he uphold McGrath and let Morris go? And if he did, how would that look in this political year when Truman knows corruption in government will be a campaign issue?

Camporee Plans Talked At Meet

A Negro Scout Council meeting was held at Eppes High School last night in preparation for the annual camporee to be held this year in New Bern on May 2, 3, and 4. Dr. N. M. Williams, of Wilson, presided.

The meeting featured demonstrations of scouting skills that will be shown at the camporee. Troop 131 conducted a demonstration of making patrol flags, under the direction of Frank Norris.

Troop 191, under the direction of Willie Joyner, demonstrated home-made cooking gear. Troop 195, under the direction of Leroy Barnes, demonstrated how to make a firm by flint and steel.

Council members who attended the meeting, from Greenville: J. S. Alexander, Leroy Barnes, Sharper Forbes, S. J. Norris, Glednard Vines, Willie Joyner, Shelton Wilson, N. L. Bartlett, C. E. Kittrell, P. D. Sledge, Frank Wilson, Clarence Bradley and Dr. W. Davenport. From Winterville: O. C. Bryant.

His 94th Arrest Shows 'Progress'

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—A 71-year-old man who has appeared in court 93 times on drunkenness charges was free today after his 94th appearance because the judge decided he was "making progress."

Judge Irving Brand looked at Hans Johnson's record and stayed a year a $10 fine or a 10-day workhouse sentence when he noted that Johnson hadn't been in court for a month.

Huge Increase In State's General Fund Collections

RALEIGH — AP) — North Carolina's general fund collections last month showed a whopping increase of $5,391,116 over March, 1951, with income tax returns accounting for most of the gain.

Revenue Commissioner Eugene Shaw reported yesterday that the general fund intake last month totaled $60,778,182, an increase of 9.93 per cent over the $55,289,066 collected during March last year.

Shaw said that if the state maintains its collection rate of 12.81 per cent above last year's collections during the next three months, the state probably will close the fiscal year with a balance of $33,211,887.

Income tax returns accounted for $49,938,409 in revenue last month. This is an increase of $5,058,049 over March, 1951.

For the first nine months of this fiscal year, the general fund has received a record of $145,059,195, Shaw reported. A year ago collections stood at $128,589,467. The gain is $16,469,729 or 12.81 per cent.

The only sour note in Shaw's report was in the sales tax schedule, where collections during March decreased $85,060. The total intake for the month was $3,895,266, compared with $3,678,426 in March, 1951. Shaw reported, however, that sales tax collections for the nine months of the fiscal year were $1,209,549 ahead of last year.

Highway fund collections last month totaled $6,104,423, an increase of $499,910 over March last year.

The inheritance tax raked in $752,468 last month, compared with $228,910 over March last year. Shaw reported only negligible changes in other tax schedules.

Veteran State Newspaperman Dies In Asheville

ASHEVILLE — AP) — Clarence Reese Scroggs, veteran North Carolina newspaperman, died here yesterday.

The 65-year-old former state and feature editor of the Asheville Times had retired earlier this year after 30 years service on the paper. His death was attributed to heart and bronchial ailments.

He joined the Asheville Times in 1921 after 14 years with the Winston-Salem Sentinel and the Winston-Salem Journal. He was managing editor of the Journal when he left to become telegraph editor of the Times.

Except for a brief period with the now defunct Atlanta Georgian, he spent the rest of his life on the Times.

Airman Stabbed, Suspect Is Held

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UP)—A 20-year-old Atlanta airman was stabbed to death in a fight at a San Marcos dance hall and another airman was held today in connection with the slaying.

The victim was identified as Airman 3-C Robert Lee Wilson, stationed at San Marcos Air Force Base. Sheriff Jud Gary arrested another Air Force man at an Antonio police station as the suspected knife-wielder.

Hangs Self Over School Grades

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UP)—Authorities said today that 14-year-old Gerald Tracy hanged himself in the basement of his home because he wasn't getting good grades in school.

The boy's mother left home yesterday and asked Gerald to take in the family washing while she was out.

She returned to find Gerald, a junior high school student, dead.

Struck By Ball, Youth Falls Dead

COMANCHE, Okla. (UP)—A baseball hurled by a teammate hit 16-year-old Gary Eldon Moore on the chest, just above his heart, and he fell to the ground dead.

Moore was a member of the Comanche High School baseball team, which was holding a warm-up practice session when the accident happened, yesterday, Police Chief Lee Williams said.

A doctor and pullmoter squad rushed to the baseball field failed in efforts to revive the youth.

Applies For New Radio In Kinston

WASHINGTON — AP) — Edwin J. Schuffman applied to the Communications Commission yesterday for a new standard radio station at Kinston, N. C.

He asked for operations on 1,230 kilocycles, 250 watts, unlimited time, contingent on Station WPTC changing its frequency.

ALIBI REALLY PERFECT
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — (UP) — A 45-year-old Kentuckian had a perfect alibi when he appeared in federal court here on a forgery charge. The court found that the defendant couldn't write.

Wilson's Weekly Bulletin

from the RECTOR'S KITCHENS

Ham for Easter? Of course!
A Wilson ham! Tradition just wouldn't have it any other way, for these marvelous hams are America's Finest with extra tenderness and delicious flavor... tops in Happy Easter eating!

So Many Ways to Enjoy that Easter Ham
1. Use whole ham or half ham for a Festive Easter Dinner, glazing and garnishing as you will. 2. Broil or fry center-cut slices or leave them attached either on butt or shank-end if you want a larger roast. 3. Bake and glaze the shank, or be old-fashioned and simmer it with vegetables. Your meat dealer will cut up your Easter ham as you request it.

WHICH IS WHICH?
1. Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham—Orange Wrapper. This is a deluxe savory smoked ham, fancy sugar-cured in the famous Wilson way. It is ready to cook with easy-to-follow explicit directions enclosed.
2. Wilson's Tender Made Ham—Yellow Wrapper. Here is a top flavor ham ready to eat cold, or heat. It needs no further cooking!
3. Wilson's Tender Made Canned Ham—Perfect to buy today before the EASTER shopping rush, are Wilson's Canned Tender Made Hams. Keep refrigerated, and open at EASTER to reveal an entirely boneless, skinless ham outstanding for flavor and top quality. Either eat as they come from the can or heat.

TO BAKE OR HEAT WILSON'S FINE HAMS

Remove the ham from refrigerator 1 1/2 hours before baking to give it a chance to warm up to room temperature*. Insert meat thermometer, if you have one. Place a whole ham on roasting rack, fat side up, but for the half ham, we like to place the cut side down so it keeps basted and moist. Bake as follows.

Type of Ham	Weight	Oven Temperature	Approximate Time Per Pound*
WILSON'S CERTIFIED SMOKED HAMS (must be cooked) (Orange Wrapper)
Whole	10-16 lbs.	300° F.	17-20 minutes
Whole	16 lbs. up	300° F.	15 minutes
Half	5-8 lbs.	300° F.	25 minutes
WILSON'S TENDER MADE HAMS (ready to eat) (Yellow Wrapper)
Whole	12-16 lbs.	300° F.	5-7 minutes
Half	5-8 lbs.	300° F.	10-15 minutes
WILSON'S TENDER MADE CANNED HAMS (ready to eat, hot or cold)
Pear Shape	6-15 lbs.	325° F.	15 minutes
Half size (Round Can)	3-4 1/2 lbs.	325° F.	5-7 minutes
Pullman-style	7-10 lbs.	325° F.	15 minutes

*Add 5 minutes to each pound if ham is not warmed up to room temperature. Cook Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham to a minimum of 160° F. reading on meat thermometer, or any of the four Wilson Tender Made Hams to 130° F.

To Glaze Your Easter Ham
Follow directions with Wilson's Certified Smoked Ham or Wilson's Tender Made Ham, including glaze.
(See recipe slip inside the wrapper.)
Just because it's Easter, garnish with radishes, flowers and peasery.

The Wilson label protects your table.

Pre-School Clinic
Fountain white pre-school clinic will be held in Fountain School building Tuesday, April 8, from 12 noon through 2:30 o'clock.
Dr. E. B. Beasley of Fountain and Mrs. Johnson, nurse of Greenville, will be in charge of the clinic.
The State law requires that children be vaccinated for diphtheria and whooping cough before they are 12 months old. Parents are requested to present these certificates at the clinic and Mr. M. E. McDonald, principal of Fountain School, also asks parents to please bring each child's birth certificate to the clinic.
Dr. E. B. Beasley emphasized that it is important for parents to accompany the child to the clinic so that the child's condition may be discussed with the parents.
All parents whose children will enter school next year should bring their children to the clinic.

Home Destroyed
The home of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Owens, near the Owens' fish pond, was completely destroyed by fire Sunday morning.
All occupants got out safe, except Mr. Owens who suffered burns on one hand and back of his head and neck.
Some of the household furniture was saved, but all of the kitchen furniture was burned.
The fire started from an oil cook stove that exploded shortly after it had been lighted, in preparation of cooking breakfast.
The Fountain and Macesfield fire trucks were too late to save the house but all out-buildings were saved.

Visit Williamsburg
The seventh and eighth grades

students of Fountain School left Fountain School Friday morning on a chartered bus going to Williamsburg, Virginia, on a sight-seeing trip.
Their chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McDonald and Mrs. Laura Tanner.
The students were: Jack Sawyer, Faye Moore, Phyllis Corbett, Martha Hardy Johnson, Joyce Bell, Hilda Casey, Peggy Oakley, James Owens, Rose Johnson, Marie Fulford, Eugene Robertson, Bill Abrams, Bobbie Meeks, Bill Owens, Donald Robertson, Robert Killebrew, Gail Bailey, Gerald Pittman, Hilda Owens, Carolyn Harris, Billie Gardner, Carolyn Killebrew, Billie Morgan, Patsy Phillips, Barbara Pollard, Edward Fulford, Charles Sumrellin, Franklin Wooten, Jan Gardner, Betty Sue Bell, Carlton Vanford, Mildred Windham, Geraldine Little, Elizabeth Smith, Tommie Phillips, Johnnie Dilda, Jewel Gardner, and James Shackelford.

Plan "The Lord's Acre"
Using as his theme "The Christ of the Heavenly Home" Rev. Philip M. Cory preached a very interesting and informative sermon on the above subject at Fountain Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. There were 70 present for Sunday School.

The plans have been completed by Mr. R. A. Fountain and the Women of the Church for a good electric range. The Women of the Church are going to have a kitchen sink installed in the church kitchen. Mayor J. L. Peele suggested that some members of the church may be willing and able to give the church one or more folding dining room table or chairs, if a notation on each tells who the giver is (as many recently gave new Hymnals) Mayor Peele is willing to start the ball rolling by giving one of the nine tables needed. They will need 87 chairs. Mr. Paul Burnett suggested that everyone who could and would plant an acre of his land with his choice of crop, to be known as "The Lord's Acre." Charge against it the cost of seed, fertilizer, preparation, planting, cultivating, and harvesting, and give the profit from that one acre into the building fund. Most of those who have joined the project have corn planted, one or more may have sweet potatoes, soy bean, or tobacco. Those who will plant a "Lord's Acre" are: Mr. J. N. Fountain, Mrs. G. E. Trevathan, Mr. J. L. Peele, Mr. J. L. Dozier, Mr. J. A. Mercer, Mr. R. A. Fountain, Mr. A. C. Gay, Mr. J. L. Jefferson, Mr. G. W. Jefferson, and Mr. Paul Burnett. They invite all of the members who can and will to join them.

Around 60 people attended the Aspin Grove Free Will Baptist Church prayer service Sunday night at Aspin Grove Church. The pastor and members of the church voted to have prayer service each Sunday at 7:30 p.m. at the church. Mr. Joseph Edwards will be the guest speaker Sunday night, April 6.

Air Guard Units Returning After Federal Service

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Air Force announced today that nearly all tactical Air National Guard units now on federal duty will be returned to their states between July 1 and next Feb. 1.

The units involved were called up following the Korean outbreak and will have been on active duty for 21 months when released.

About 80 per cent of the Air National Guard is now on active duty. Remaining in federal service will be a limited number of air guard aircraft control and warning groups, and some small service type units which were called up last summer for 24 months.

Japan Biggest Exporter Cotton Goods In World

MANCHESTER (AP) — Japan became the world's biggest exporter of cotton goods in 1951. Britain's Cotton Board reported today.

It was the first time since World War II that Japan had taken over the leadership in that field.

In 1950 India was the world's leading supplier, the board said in a review of world cotton trade in 1951. Japan then was second, Britain third and the United States fourth.

Last year, however, the order was Japan, Britain, the United States and India.

The Cotton Board estimated 1951 world output of cotton fabrics at 40 billion square yards, an increase of two and one-half billion over 1950.

Sisters Compete In Baking Event

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Four sisters plan to enter the National Orange Show's cake-baking contest here this month, but the fifth sister will enter the piebaking competition instead.

She is Mrs. Stanley Herrick, Colton, Calif., who is barred from the cake competition — she won it last year.

Her sisters are baking cakes, bent on keeping the title in the family.

FOR GOOD MEASURE
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP) — Joseph DiNuzzo complained his missing pigeons weren't flying the coop, but were being stolen. The loss of 20 pigeons hurt, but the thief added insult to injury when he also took a pair of moccasins and feed his newly-acquired roost.

Evaporation of water produces a cooling effect.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

36'-0"

48'-6" PLAN # H-163-P

AP Newsfeatures ECONOMY PLUS is packed into this plan H-163-P by the Homograft Planner Corp., 11711 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich. The house covers only 1,008 square feet, which brings it within range of the most rigid government restrictions on critical materials yet suggested. A high-ceilinged living room is provided without sacrificing low roof lines, and this with wide overhang creates a high picture window. Basement is eliminated by grouping furnace and hot-water heater around fireplace with additional storage in back of car porch. The house has a three bedroom capacity.

Stocks And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Led by oil issues, stocks edged upward slightly early today in moderately active trading.

A few of the oil stocks registered substantial gains. Elsewhere, improvements were very small with a large number of issues holding at their previous close.

Seaboard Oil was the bright spot in the petroleum group. The issue rose 3-4 points to 100. Texas Pacific Land Trust, a wide mover, jumped 6-1/2 points to 189-1/2. Shell Oil at 82 was up 1-1/8 points.

Railroad issues also displayed strength. Fractional gains were noted in Santa Fe, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway.

Steel shares moved irregularly. Bethlehem Steel tacked on a gain of 3-8 to 5-3/8. U. S. Steel slipped 1-8 to 39-1/8. Automotives were also mixed.

Allied Chemical, International Paper, Kennecott, Copper, Lockheed Aircraft and United Aircraft rose small fractions.

Traffic Cases Again Are Featured In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found Jesse Forman, Negro, guilty of failure to yield right of way at Fifth and Green streets.

The court gave him 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $10. The judgment provides that the defendant is not to drive a motor vehicle for a year unless he makes restitution for property damage resulting from a collision.

Three motorists were up for trial on charges of not having an operator's license. In the case of Thad Shivers, Negro, prayer for judgment was continued. Henry Faircloth, Negro, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $25 and costs. Jesse Lee Daniels, 60 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $25 and costs. The judgment also provides that Daniels not drive a motor vehicle for 60 days and remain of good behavior six months. The defendant gave notice of appeal.

John H. Move, Negro, was found guilty of driving drunk. The court gave him three months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs and that he not operate a motor vehicle for a year. Richard Earl Brown, Negro, was found not guilty of driving drunk.

In the case of Lester T. Heath, charged with having improper brakes and not stopping at a traffic light, Judge Whedbee fined him $10 for the traffic light violation. For improper brakes, the court continued prayer for judgment on payment of $15.

Prayer for judgment was continued in the cases in which J. P. Adams was charged with assault on a female and assault with a deadly weapon.

Speeding: Ellis S. Smith, Negro, and David Henry House, Negro, and Percy L. Daniels, Negro, each paid $15.

Affray: Ada L. Stocks and Junie Jackson, Negroes, were acquitted on payment of court costs.

Careless and reckless driving: Joe Graham, Negro, three months in jail, suspended on payment of $50 and costs. He is not to drive a motor vehicle for six months and remain of good behavior.

Ulysses Hines, Negro, and Elmer E. Nichols, each paid $10 for being drunk.

Another Balloon Falls In County

The second so called "infernal contraption" in less than a week fell in the vicinity of Cox's Mill community yesterday afternoon.

Unlike the identical balloon-parachute device that fell last week, the more recent "contraption" was identified with the Department of the Army and bore a card which requested that the finder return it by mail to Army Field Forces Headquarters at Fort Bragg.

Hubert Mills, farmer near Cox's Mill, said his son saw the parachute floating down and ran out to catch it before it reached the ground. Mills reported that the device fell in a pasture within 25 feet of his house.

"We had heard about the other parachute falling in the community," Mills stated, "and so we had no reason to be afraid of the instrument." The balloon and radio instrument was topped with a brilliant red parachute of crepe paper, as was the previous one, and was not noticeably damaged in the fall.

The attached card requested that the finder write in his name and address, the date on which it was found, and then turn it in to the nearest post office. No information was given relative to the function of the instrument.

Mills thought it coincidental that the only two such devices reported in this area should fall so close together. The one brought in last week was found by Linwood Hadlock, who also lives in Cox's Mill community.

Industrial Areas' Construction Regulated By Zoning Proposals

This is the last in a series of articles published for the purpose of acquainting property owners of Greenville with the proposed zoning plan that will go before the board of aldermen tonight for discussion and probable adoption.

By JESS POINDEXTER
Reflector Staff Writer

The new zoning plan for Greenville, as proposed and approved by the city planning board, provides for strict regulation of construction in all areas defined as industrial districts.

Current reports indicate that the board of aldermen will adopt the new plan tonight, unless they meet with organized opposition from the property owners who are directly affected by the new restrictions.

The city code requires that action on such proposals be postponed if 20 percent or more of the property owners concerned present a signed and acknowledged protest to the board of aldermen. The controversial change cannot be passed except by a three-fourths vote of all the members of the board.

Industrial Restrictions

Industrial areas so zoned at present, may be used for any purpose whatsoever not in conflict with any city ordinance, except for certain specified industries. No building or occupancy permits will be issued for any of those regulated industries.

Restricted business practices in industrial areas are: manufacture of acid, cement, lime, plaster of paris, fertilizer or glue; distillation of bones or slaughter of animals; refining of petroleum or smelting of tin, copper, zinc or iron ores; and manufacture or storage of explosives.

In those areas already zoned, property owners who are handicapped or experience difficulty in complying with building requirements may appeal to the board of adjustment. An appeal from the decision of the city building inspector, Fire Chief George Gardner, may be taken to the board of adjustment by any citizen aggrieved or otherwise affected by the decision.

Appeal Halts Action

In ruling on grievances brought by citizens, the board of adjustment must obtain an affirmative vote of four of its five members before it can reverse any order, requirement or decision made by the building inspector. An appeal

Heated Denial

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atty. Gen. McGrath was quoted today as heatedly denying that he had been fired or was about to be fired by President Truman.

"You can bet your life I'm still attorney general," the Times Herald said he told a reporter at last night's dinner for Queen Juliana of the Netherlands.

The Bachelor Benedict Club held its weekly meeting at the home of Mr. W. E. Jones, Davenport St., on Sunday, March 30, at 8:40 p.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, T. C. Foreman, and a brief devotional service was conducted by H. W. Payton, after which the secretaries, Mr. Bizzell and Mr. Hopkins, called the roll and read the minutes of the previous meeting which was held at the home of Mr. Gerald Jenkins.

Following a timely business session, Mr. Jones served a delightful repast.

On April 6th all members are asked to meet at the "Rose" at 5:30 p.m. in order to leave together for Washington, N.C., where the meeting will be held with Mr. Pete Latham.

On March 26, Mrs. Adelaide Goulette was 78 years young. She was given a surprise birthday party with guests from Grimesland, Pictolus, Greenville and Windsor present. Her beautiful cake sat on a plate that played "Happy Birthday to You." She received $12.00 in cash and many beautiful gifts.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Best, who died Tuesday at the home of her son, Rev. A. W. Joyner, will be held Friday at 2 p.m. at Water-side Church with Rev. W. L. Phillips officiating. Burial will follow in the church cemetery.

The Eastern Star Lodge Ladies Delight No. 10 will hold its regular meeting Friday night, April 4, at 8 o'clock.

The White House made no immediate comment, but it appeared McGrath obviously had cleared his action with President Truman.

Morris' dismissal came two months and two days after he was named on McGrath's recommendation to head Mr. Truman's anti-corruption campaign.

Morris and McGrath had a falling out mostly over the detailed financial questionnaires that Morris sent to the attorney general to be filled out by McGrath and 595 other Justice Department officials and employees. McGrath sat on the questionnaires.

McGrath told investigators Monday that if he had it to do over again he would not have recommended Morris and that he had not decided yet whether he would answer the questionnaire.

McGrath, himself, had said Feb. 1—the day Morris was sworn in—that the New York Republican would have a "perfectly free hand."

The White House this week obtained a copy of McGrath's testimony to the House committee, and yesterday McGrath and Mr. Truman conferred in private and later in public.

There were reports that Morris intended to seek a showdown with the President, to say he would throw up the job unless McGrath was ousted. Morris did not do much more than set up an office and send out the first batch of questionnaires.

Committees of both Senate and House had refused to grant subpoena powers to Morris or let him promise immunity to some witnesses.

Cars Damaged In Queen Calls For Continued Effort

A car driven by John Frank Harding, Negro, 1301 Greene Street, and one driven by Miss Rosalyn Jean Phelps, 110 Fairfax avenue, collided on Evans street yesterday afternoon.

Both vehicles were damaged. None of the occupants was injured.

The investigating officer cited Harding to Police Court on the charge of turning into oncoming traffic. Damage to the Phelps car was estimated at $75; the Harding car, about $25.

The officer said Harding's car, leaving a parked position, collided with the side of the other car.

Police also reported that a car driven by Emanuel Williams, Negro, 1301 Clark street, leaving a parked position, collided with the side of a car driven by John W. Bunch, Jr., of Greenville.

The officer estimated damage to the Bunch car at $75; the Williams car, about $5. None of the occupants were injured. No arrest.

Queen Calls For Continued Effort

WASHINGTON (UP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands urged Congress today to press the "cold war for peace" to build the strength and unity of the free world.

The 42-year-old queen appealed for continued American aid to dispel the "universal fear of war and annihilation."

"Mankind in its distress has to trust largely to your good judgment for its deliverance," she said.

Juliana, with Prince Bernhard at her side, spoke in a quiet, slightly-accented voice in the same chamber in which her mother, Queen Wilhelmina, addressed another congress 10 years ago.

In the tradition of modern monarchs, Juliana skirted politics. But in a general way she made a ringing plea for congressional support for the political, economic and defensive unification of Europe.

The queen expressed her people's thanks for American aid and promised that the Netherlands would carry its "full share" of the Western defense burden.

The dinner was held in the Carlton Hotel because the rejuvenated White House still lacks some kitchen equipment.

Large Audience Hears Eppes Glee Club Recital

A near capacity audience listened to the annual Concert of the C. M. Eppes High School Glee Club presented in the school auditorium last night.

Numbers from the Mixed Chorus, the Boys' Glee Club and the Girls' Glee Club composed the program. The repertoire consisted of songs ranging from well-known Broadway play "South Pacific" by Noble Cain, brought the chorus back to the stage to sing "Plenty Good Room" by W. H. Smith.

The solo part in "Nothing Like a Dame" was sung by Elaine Short. The Glee Club is under the direction of Mrs. S. L. Davenport. Club and "There's Nothing Like a Dame", from the same show by the Boys' Glee Club.

The Mixed Chorus' rendition of "Czecho-Slovakian Dance Song" by Horworth and "The Gettysburg Address" by Pease were outstanding. The audience was especially pleased with the group of spirituals by the Mixed Chorus and applause after the singing of "Ezekiel Saw the Wheel", arranged by Noble Cain, brought the chorus back to the stage to sing "Plenty Good Room" by W. H. Smith.

The solo part in "Nothing Like a Dame" was sung by Elaine Short. The Glee Club is under the direction of Mrs. S. L. Davenport. Club and "There's Nothing Like a
