Stiff Sentences Face Trio If Found Guilty Of Threats

Maximum Penalty Includes Two Years Imprisonment And Fines; Case Will Be Heard In Recorder's Court Friday; 1921 Statute Grounds For Action

Three defendants arrested yesterday afternoon in connection with the latest cross and threatening note case in Pitt may face sentences up to two years each, plus fines, if they are found guilty of the charges lodged against them.

Pitt Sheriff Ruel W. Tyson and SBI Agent S. G. Gibbs yesterday served warrants on Mrs. Maggie Foskey, 48, and her two sons, Henry Foskey, 25, and Arney Foskey, 28, who live on the Ramhorn road about five miles north of Greenville.

Mrs. Foskey, aunt of Mrs. Rubel Alldred, to whom the cross and note were addressed, and her two sons were charged in the warrants with "willfully and maliciously transmitting a note and writing, the same being written and printed without signing true name thereto, thereby threatening and intimidating one Bettie Rubel Alldred with personal injury and violence; and said note being transmitted and delivered by means of attaching it to a charred or burned wooden cross with the letters K.K.K. scratched or cut thereon and placing it on the front porch of the Jarvis Anderson home wherein Mrs. Bettie Rubel Alldred resided."

Statute Involved The 1921 statute entitled "Anonymous or threatening letters, mailing or transmitting" was cited in the warrants as the law which was violated in the case. The statute provides that persons found guilty of violation of the statute "shall be fined or imprisoned, or both, in the discretion of the court."

The case is to be heard in Greenville recorder's court Friday morning at 9 o'clock before Judge Charles Wiedbe. Sheriff Tyson said yesterday afternoon. The sheriff explained that the house at which the cross was left was located just outside the Greenville corporate limits, and either the city court or Pitt County recorder's court could have jurisdiction in the case. Tyson said he chose to have the case heard in city court because it could be heard sooner. He said it would be more than a week before it could be heard in county court.

Neither Tyson nor Gibbs would say after the warrants were served yesterday whether the trio confessed to or denied the charges brought against them.

The appearance of the cross and note which was left at the Anderson house sometime Saturday night came to the attention of the law enforcement officers shortly after 10 o'clock Sunday night when the note and the small, charred cross were brought to the Greenville police department. The case was turned over to the sheriff because the house was located just outside the city limits.

Mrs. Alldred, when interviewed by a Reflector reporter Monday morning, said the cross was placed on the front porch of the house where she lives with her father, Jarvis Anderson. She said the cross was found about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, but was not discovered by the adults until they noticed children playing with the object sometime later.

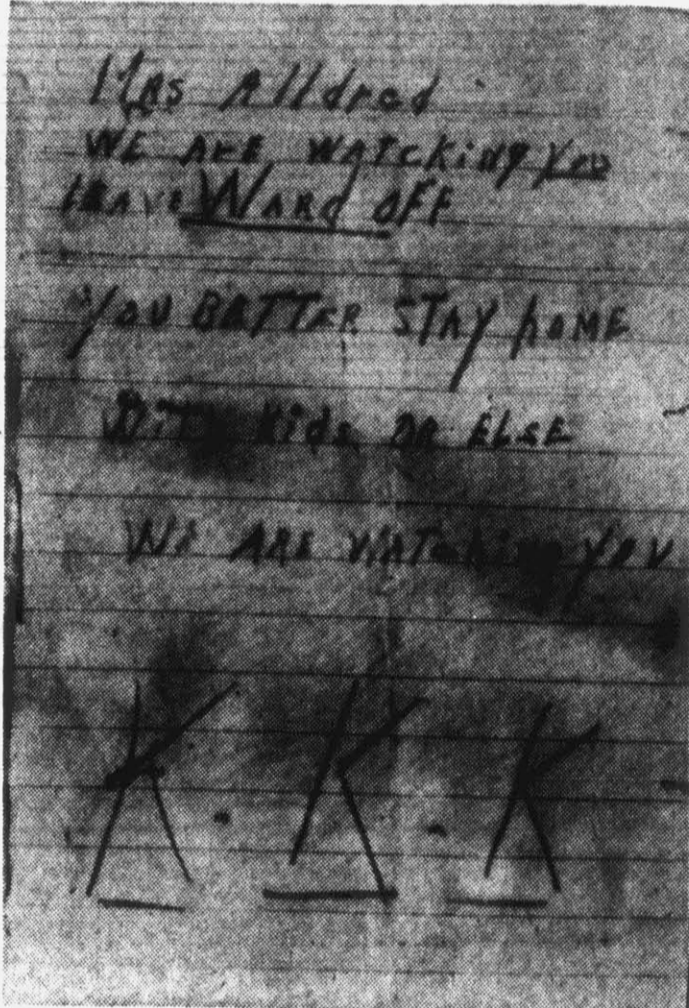

The brief inscription on the note read: "Mrs. Alldred we are watching you. Leave Ward off. You better stay home with kids or else. We are watching you. K.K.K." The initials KKK were also carved on the cross.

LIMITED SERVICE GASTONIA (AP)—Western Union resumed limited operations in Gastonia today, after a shut-down caused by the strike of the Commercial Telegraphers Union. A spokesman said two people were at work in the office compared with a normal of six.

PANMUNJON, Korea (UP)—A United Nations truce negotiator accused the Communists today of raising the "phony" issue of Russia in order to trade it against the "vital" issue of building airfields in North Korea during an armistice.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison said the Communists were trying to trade "nothing for something," which bargain is "absolutely not acceptable" to the U.N. command, he warned.

Communications In Carolinas Eyed

Key Points Await Expected Bands Of Roving Pickets In Telephone Dispute; Some Telegraph Offices Open

By The Associated Press

Watchful waiting was the keynote in communications centers throughout the Carolinas today.

Key points in the area's communications system awaited the expected appearance of roving bands of pickets, composed of striking Western Electric Employees.

The strikers, numbering about 100, install equipment in Southern Bell Telephone Co. exchanges. Officials of the striking Communications Workers of America (CWA) say they expect telephone workers to respect Western Electric picket lines.

The strikers are expected to use the "hit and miss" picket technique, establishing picket lines in one city for a short period and then moving on to other cities. No reports of picket lines were noted yesterday, Tuesday.

Meanwhile, company supervisors operated the Charlotte, N. C., telephone exchange today as about 800 operators and other workers attended a meeting in the Charlotte Armory Auditorium. The meeting was called by union officials, who would say only that it concerned the strike. Officials said they would issue a press statement at the conclusion of the five-hour meeting.

The Western Union Telegraph Co. continued operations today despite a strike of the Commercial Telegraphers Union. (AFL). The company said yesterday service was available at Charlotte, Ft. Bragg, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Asheville and Hickory, N. C., and Columbia, Charleston, Florence and Greenville, S. C.

construction during an armistice. "Absolutely not," Harris snapped when asked if the U.N. would consider such a trade. "The USSR is strictly a phony issue. "I am convinced the issue was raised only to bargain it against airfields. Restriction on airfields is really a vital matter in regard to the stability of an armistice." Harrison's statement dampened hopes that a compromise is in the making on the twin issues blocking agreement on armistice supervision.

Prisoner exchange discussions remained suspended for the sixth straight day while truce teams desperately sought a mutually acceptable compromise. It was believed the U.N. command has a compromise plan drawn up, with only the details left to be mapped out by staff officers.

C. C. Harris To Seek Re-Election

C. C. Harris of Ballard's Crossroads, present county commissioner from the third district, this morning filed for his second term on the Pitt Board of Commissioners.

Representing Falkland, Fountain Farmville and Beaver Dam townships, Harris is a family man with two children and is engaged in farming in the Ballard's Crossroads community.

Though born in Orange County, Harris has lived in Pitt County since 1933. He was elected to the board of commissioners in 1950 and will be a candidate in the 1952 Democratic primary elections to be held May 31.

The only candidate to file from the third district thus far, Harris had no statement to make today relative to his candidacy.

Bolivian Gov't Quickly Seized By Revolution

LA PAZ, Bolivia (UP)—The National Revolutionary Movement Party (MNR) overthrew Bolivia's military junta government today in a 75-minute revolution.

The MNR announced in radio broadcasts to the nation that MNR leader Hernan Siles and Gen. Antonio Senene were in control of the country as civilian and military chiefs of the revolution.

The revolution started at 6 a.m. with a 15-minute outbreak of pistol and machine gun firing in La Paz streets. Firing broke out again for five minutes an hour later but at 7:15 a.m. the MNR announced that the revolution had "triumphed."

Grunewald Cited For Contempt In Unanimous Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House cited Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald for contempt of Congress today for "willful and deliberate refusal" to talk about his mysterious connection with big-money tax cases figuring in tax scandal investigations.

By a roll call vote of 332 to 0, the House whipped through the contempt citation with a minimum of discussion and without a voice being raised in his behalf.

Grunewald was not present to hear the House refer his "contumacious conduct" to the United States attorney for prosecution.

He was at home under a doctor's care—too sick, his lawyer said, to appear before House investigators.

Courts To Decide On Seizure

Steel Strike Averted By Gov't Action, But Industry Appeal Due Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—Steel companies appealed to the federal courts today to nullify their seizure by the government in the most controversial federal action ever taken against private industry.

By direction of President Truman, Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer took nominal possession of the industry at midnight to prevent a strike by 650,000 CIO United Steelworkers set for that hour.

Mr. Truman's court set off these events:

1. Federal Judge Walter M. Bastion ordered an immediate hearing on a petition by two big steel companies for a court order blocking the seizure.

2. CIO President Philip Murray ordered his steelworkers to stay on the job, putting off a strike for the fifth time.

3. Acting Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman set up meetings with the union and steel company negotiators at 3 p.m. EST today. Industry spokesmen saw little hope for early agreement.

4. Industry managers in Pittsburgh said it would take about three days to get open hearths, banked since Sunday, into full operation again. They said morning shifts today would go to work as usual, in keeping with the President's request to keep production going for defense.

5. Sawyer sent telegrams to the presidents of the 86 basic steel companies, designating them as "operating managers" of their plants and ordering them to fly the U.S. flag and post notice of the government taking possession. He told them to set up separate books for the period of government operation, although profits will revert to the private owners.

Mr. Truman announced his action in a radio-television broadcast to the nation last night. Blaming the industry for the deadlock, he said the steel companies could grant the full 26-cent hourly wage increase recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board and still clear profits of about $17 a ton on steel without any price increase.

John C. Gall, attorney for Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., the nation's third and sixth largest producers, immediately requested an injunction forbidding Sawyer to implement the seizure order.

Gall, who predicted other major steelmakers would join the case, contended that the seizure was a violation of the constitutional prohibition against depriving a person of property without due process of law.

Mr. Truman's order specifically authorized Sawyer to "bargain collectively" with the union and "prescribe terms and conditions of employment."

Narrowly Escape Pincer Trap In 2-Hour Battle

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—United Nations forces defending an outpost north of Puchonbowl Valley narrowly escaped a Communist pincer trap today after a two-hour battle with 100 Red soldiers.

The U.N. unit spotted North Korean soldiers filtering in shortly after midnight. It drove back the initial Red charge, then called for reinforcements.

By the time the reinforcements had arrived, Communists had bypassed the outpost. Thirty minutes later, they charged—100 strong—from three directions.

Ordered to withdraw, the U. N. troops slipped through the narrow gap still open on the south after shelling off the Communists for two hours.

The Navy disclosed the battle-ship Iowa entered the war Tuesday, her 16-inch guns thundering a deadly greeting to the enemy after seven years of peace.

Utilities Vote To Request $100,000 More From REA

Dacron Plant Workers Go On Job; Pickets Withdrawn

GRIFTON — Construction workers at duPont's $40,000,000 Dacron plant began drifting back to their jobs today after the removal of the picket line of the laborers union last night.

The action by local 1102 Construction and General Laborers Union put an end to the work stoppage which has been in effect at the plant since March 28 when the union put its picket lines at the entrance of the site.

Although the strikers have returned to their jobs, J. L. Dew, business representative of the laborers union, said the wage demand by the union which brought on the walkout has not been settled. He said the union still negotiating with the company on a request for a 15-cent hourly wage increase. General laborers now earn 88 cents an hour with time and a half for overtime at the project.

A company spokesman at the plant said this morning the company "retains our original position." He did not elaborate.

Construction at the huge plant stopped March 28 when members of the laborers union, which represents some 250 of the 1,200 workers on the project, put picket lines at the entrance to the plant site. Members of the other 12 trade unions represented on the project were not directly involved in the strike, but respected the laborers' picket line and did not cross to go to their jobs.

The laborers union issued a radio announcement last night saying the picket lines had been removed, and told the workers to return to work. Approximately 50 per cent of the workers had returned to their jobs by mid-morning, and others were coming in during the day.

The strike which ended last night was the second major work stoppage at the Dacron plant since January. It lasted nine working days—two longer than the strike of the painters union which began late in January and kept workers off their jobs for seven days.

An Associated Press report this morning said the multi-million dollar plant which will produce the synthetic fiber about one-third completed.

While the strike was in effect, work at the plant was almost completely halted as very few employees reported to their jobs while the laborers union picket line was up. Those employees who went to their jobs were mostly supervisory personnel.

Umstead Names Pitt Chairman

Gubernatorial Candidate William B. Umstead (left) this morning announced the appointment of Charles F. Gaskins of Greenville (right) as chairman of the Pitt County "Umstead for Governor" committee.

Umstead and Gaskins are shown above as they go over some of the details of the candidate's campaign in Pitt County. Gaskins said committees to support Umstead's candidacy are being lined up in each county in Pitt County, and will be announced in the near future. During his brief stay in Pitt County, Umstead took time out to see a good many people and shake a lot of hands in behalf of his own candidacy. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

Big Triumph For Taft In Illinois' GOP Test

OHIOAN ROLLS UP MOST IMPRESSIVE VICTORY OVER STASSEN AND EISENHOWER WRITE-IN VOTE; LODGE DECRIES IMPORTANCE

CHICAGO (UP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft rolled up his most impressive victory in the Illinois Republican presidential primary today over Harold E. Stassen and Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

The Ohio senator held a lead of six to one over Stassen with the vote nearing completion. Eisenhower, a write-in candidate, ran third.

Taft in Washington, said it was "significant" that his Illinois total was "far in excess of a majority of all votes cast for all candidates combined." He said the balloting wiped out the importance of the huge write-in vote Eisenhower polled in the earlier Minnesota primary.

Summing up campaign standings to date Taft claimed that he already has one-third of the number of delegates necessary for a first ballot nomination with only about one-fourth of the states heard from.

"I am proud of the results in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Nebraska," the senator said. "It is not an easy task to defeat a popular war time general in successive elections."

Concerning Eisenhower's showing in the primary, Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., Eisenhower's campaign manager said at New York that "this doesn't mean a thing."

The general was not on the Illinois ballot, and the Eisenhower organization refrained from issuing a direct appeal for a statewide write-in campaign.

At Newark, N.J., Stassen said his showing was "stronger than expected," and predicted that Taft would not win the nomination despite three straight victories in Midwest primaries.

Sen. Estes-Kefauver of Tennessee, who had no opposition on the Democratic presidential ballot, won easily, with a write-in effort for Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois lagging far behind.

Returns from 7,663 of the state's 9,611 precincts gave Taft 721,632 votes to Stassen's 121,745. Eisenhower had 106,039 write-in votes from 7,724 precincts. Kefauver had 394,649 votes from 7,244 precincts compared with Stevenson's 52,697 from 6,336 precincts.

"I sincerely hope that you will not return with only a statement as to what you think Eisenhower believes or that Gen. Eisenhower will make a statement on these issues in due time."

Dirksen said Republican voters, now casting ballots in some states, "have a right to know" how Eisenhower himself feels about:

The Taft-Hartley Labor Law, a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC), the administration's foreign policy "of tremendous spending," the Braniff Farm Subsidy Plan, the rate of taxation, government spending, social security benefits and "socialized medicine."

Used His Head In Initiative Test

LONDON (UP)—Royal Artillery Sgt. Albert Tamplin was instructed to get his picture published in a newspaper as part of an army "initiative test."

The London Daily Mirror said he'd have to do something noteworthy to rate it—like standing on his head in the middle of traffic-choked Strand.

Today his picture was on 4,500,000 front pages, standing on his head while traffic piled up.

Sum Will Be Used Toward Completing Rural Expansion Project Currently In Progress; Cost To Date Is $341,231; 602 New Consumers On Lines

By JESS POINDEXTER Reflector Staff Writer

The Greenville Utilities Commission last night voted to request an additional $100,000 from the Rural Electrification Authority to be used in completing the rural expansion

Business Manager Larry Brown disclosed this morning the commission has already received $354,000 in cash from the REA, and the additional $100,000 will put the project only $3,917.47 short of the total estimated completion cost of $457,917.47.

"Actual expenditures to date are $351,231.51, and 602 new customers have already been ordered, connected on the expanded line," Brown said. "The contractor is stepping up his releases of lines to the commission, and the commission in turn expects to accelerate its orders of customer connections accordingly."

Construction Cost $399,821.92 The contract for actually constructing the lines was let last fall at a cost of $399,821.92. The difference between that figure and the total estimated cost of $457,917.47 will be absorbed by engineering and legal fees, general overhead expenses and cost of connecting and energizing the lines.

Brown explained that to get additional funds from the REA, every application must be accompanied by a bond delivery for the amount applied for and received.

At the meeting last night, L. E. Wooten and company, utilities Commission engineers for the rural expansion project, submitted a report. Engineers had been instructed to make a comprehensive study to determine whether existing lines can carry the additional load necessary to serve new customers. They made recommendations which will be studied further by the commission and acted upon later.

Fluoridation Approved, It? Fluoridation of the city's water supply was discussed by the commission. It was the consensus of the commission that the proposal be given serious consideration and investigation be made into the possibility of a satisfactory proportion of fluoride in the city's drinking water.

"The commission wishes to determine whether fluoridation is necessary and desirable for the city of Greenville, and will petition the State Board of Health for its recommendation," Brown said. "If the board of health approves fluoridation to the city, the Utilities Commission will recommend that it be introduced here."

Violated New Water Main As soon as materials become available, the commission will instruct the Water and Light Department to install a six-inch water main running eastward out East Tenth Street to College View Apartments.

As planned, the extension will tie in with an existing four-inch main in the apartment development. "That should insure adequate fire protection for all homes in that general area," the business manager stated.

Warren Carroll, city recreation director, appeared before the commission and requested that they install, free of charge, lights in the vicinity of Guy Smith Stadium. According to Carroll, the area is to be converted into a softball field to be used by the children of the city. The recreation director explained that the current will be paid for by the city, and that the cost of installing the requested 22 fixtures will run about $1,000—more or less. A committee was appointed to investigate the plausibility of installing the lights and action was postponed until it can report back to the commission.

The meeting adjourned shortly after 11 p.m., Brown reported.

Bomb Awakens From Long Sleep

LONDON (AP)—A 500-pound German bomb which awakened from a 12 year sleep in the East End was blown up by the Royal Engineers at dawn today. Windows cracked and houses in the neighborhood were shaken.

The bomb was found eight feet under ground by diggers on a building site yesterday. Its time fuse began ticking and an S. O. S. went out for the bomb disposal squad. Air raid wardens recalled that seven bombs had fallen in the neighborhood during a Luftwaffe attack in 1940 and only six had been accounted for.

French Premier Wins In Series Of Budget Votes

PARIS (UP)—Premier Antoine Pinay won National Assembly approval early today of a 1952 budget which assures France's full participation in Western European defense.

Pinay won 10 confidence votes from the assembly in a prolonged session which ended shortly after midnight. His defense-heavy budget is keyed around a plan to force give all former tax evasions to encourage payment of current tax.

His budget safe, the 60-year-old businessman-premier moved to trim rising living costs—especially of foodstuffs. He met with his cabinet to plan orders slashing food prices.

Immediate action was necessary to stop spiraling price rises of eggs, meat, butter, cheese and vegetables, which normally drop in price in the spring.

The planned tax cuts were to appease left-wing French political parties—the Communists, Socialists and Popular Republican Movement. It appeared that their controversial bill tying wages to the French living costs would be defeated when it received second reading in the House today.

The bill was passed by the House in February. But the Council of the Republic, the French upper house, defeated it last month.

Now it must win an absolute majority of 313 votes in the lower house to be enacted over the veto. If defeated the left-wing parties might try to stir up trouble through the powerful unions which they control.

Pinay won assembly confidence votes on his financial program as a whole, and on its various parts. The budget, which caused the overthrow of two other French governments earlier this year, was approved four months late. The vote on the overall financial program was 311 to 206.

Many Reports At Service League

New Project Voted; Coffee Shop Report Shows Progress

The Service League of Greenville met at Sheppard Memorial Library on Monday, April 7, at 10:30 a.m. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. H. Thomas, who introduced the speaker for the morning.

Mr. Warren Carroll, City Recreation Director, spoke to the League on plans for the development of a park area on the east side of Elm Street. This is only part of a larger plan for adequate recreational facilities in the city. Mr. Carroll spoke of the part the Service League could play and the need for the support of the entire community in this plan.

Mrs. Thomas read a clever and timely poem on suggestions for a "Service League Spring Garden." This drew an approving applause from the group.

After the roll call the minutes of the March meeting were read and approved and several letters were read by the corresponding secretary. The treasurer read her report, and the president then called for reports from the various committees.

Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr., who represents the Service League on the steering committee for the development of Elm Street Park, reported on a recent meeting she had attended. Different organizations have been asked to do different jobs. The Service League has been asked to work with the Junior Woman's Club in planning, as economically as possible, the furnishings for the kitchen and lounge in the Club House. Second hand furniture can be used, and members may contribute what money they can and draw on the general fund for the balance needed. A motion was made and carried that the League support this project and accepted the stated responsibility in working with the Junior Woman's Club. The president then appointed Mrs. Howard Moyer, Mrs. David Evans and Mrs. James Phelps to work with Mrs. Gaylord as a committee on the League.

Mrs. Bruce Sugg, chairman of the Red Cross house to house canvass, reported that a sum of $593.13 was raised. She expressed thanks to all those who helped to make this possible.

The projects chairman, Mrs. Walter Harrington, stated that the Bloodmobile Unit will be at the college on April 13. The R.O.T.C. has asked to give blood this time but workers are needed as before. Mrs. Little read the list of those who served and almost all of the volunteers agreed to work again.

The Finance chairman, Mrs. M. P. Root, stated that it has been suggested that the Service League sell Holland's Magazine to make money each year for the Leaning House Hospital Bed Fund. This is a magazine published in the south for the south. This offer is made to charitable organizations for a selected time. Subscriptions are $1.00 per year, and the League would receive 50 percent of all over $50.00, or 25 percent if less than $50.00. A motion was made and carried that the organization ask for a time to have a campaign this spring and sell this magazine, then renewing the subscriptions each year, if possible.

Mrs. W. T. Bost, chairman of the Emergency Charity Fund, stated that three families were cared for during the month.

Mrs. Bob Green, Layette chairman, stated that two complete layettes were given during the past month, two partial layettes, and one layette was loaned and returned.

Mrs. J. T. Little, chairman of the Coffee Shop Committee, stated that March was a banner month at the shop. The cash register showed $1135.00 taken in. A record was made on the tea cart of $1137, by Mrs. Little. Business has dropped off considerably this month, however, as there are so few patients now. A Nab Dispenser has been purchased at a cost of $178.00. This will pay for itself. Members were requested to buy this for those who want something to eat at night. At present the committee is looking for another paid worker for the summer months. Mrs. Little stated that there are a number of small Easter gifts in the shop now, and workers are asked to patronize the shop for their own needs when possible.

Mrs. L. T. Shotwell stated that Easter favors will be made for the hospital trays. She called for volunteers to work on these Tuesday morning, April 8.

Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr., chairman of the Hospital Bed Fund, stated that a donation was received from Mrs. James Brown for the hospital bed. Mrs. Brown was a patron for the Polles, also, and her interest in the work is deeply appreciated. One baby was cared for during the past month at a cost of $82.25. A check was written to the Collector of Internal Revenue for $211.50, as an amusement tax on the Polles.

Mrs. Louis Gaylord, Jr., Placement chairman, stated that three workers are needed at the Coffee Shop to fill hours left vacant. The needed volunteers were secured at this time.

The Membership chairman stated that a number of names have been submitted as candidates and this is the month members are to vote on new members. The president read the By-laws relating to membership after the necessary discussion, votes were cast by secret ballot.

The president stated that two new officers are to be elected for the coming year, president and secretary. She then appointed Mrs. Tom Wilson and Mrs. Charles Gaskins on the nominating committee to consider this matter.

The president stated that a tentative date of Wednesday, May 21, has been suggested for the annual luncheon. A luncheon committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. Badger Johnson, chairman, Mrs. Bryan Brown, Mrs. E. G. Wilkerson, and Mrs. Ed Parkinson, Jr.

The president then brought up the subject of Scout camperships which have been given in the past. After some discussion it was voted to give these to girl and boy scouts as was done last year for a two week period.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned.

The Teen-Age Circle
The teen-agers of the Belvoir community met on Monday night, April 7th, at the home of Edna Ains.

Everyone had a very nice time. Drinks, popcorn, fudge and sea-foam candy were served.

Dr. Cuthbert Lectures To Club On Music Education

Due to the absence of Mr. George Perry, president, and Mrs. Margaret Gilbert, vice-president, the meeting of the Music Club held at the Woman's Club Tuesday evening was presided over by Mr. Charles A. White, past president of the club.

At this meeting, a very appreciative audience of club members heard a very interesting and informative lecture on "What Parents Should Expect From Music Education" given by Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert, Director of the Music Department of East Carolina College.

He stated that it is a fact that music is now an integral part of American school curriculums because the public demands it, as over a period of years public opinion has formed music education as now used in the schools. Among the benefits a child derives from music education is the uplifting power it has over children's lives, and the beauty of feeling taught them through it. It can also become a permanent agency for self-expression.

Before coming to Greenville, Dr. Cuthbert taught high school music for three years in Wisconsin. He was then called to serve his country, and served as Personal Affairs Officer in the Army for three years. He was then instructor in music at Columbia University for two years, followed by four years as Director of Graduate Studies and Dean of the School of Music at the Illinois Wesleyan University, Bloomington, Illinois.

As a student, he received his Bachelor of Music and Master of Music Degrees from the University of Wisconsin, and his Master of Arts and Doctor of Education Degrees from Columbia University. He has also studied with two well known musicians, Albert Spalding and Pierre Monteux. Dr. Cuthbert came to the Department last September, succeeding Dr. R. R. Willmann who formerly held this position. He, with his wife and two children, are now residing at 407 Biltmore Street.

At the close of the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Miss Gussie Kuykendall, Dr. Dan Vornholt, Mrs. R. P. Rogers and Mrs. Butler.

Sunrise Services Planned
Easter Sunrise services will be conducted by the Methodist Youth Fellowship on Sunday morning at 5:30 a.m.

The services will be held at Cherry Hill Cemetery under the direction of the young people of the church. Special music will be rendered by the Boys' Quartet of Greenville High School, composed of John Messick, Frank Brooks, Roy Taylor and Curlye Hendrix.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Glisson-Gray
Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gray announce the marriage of their daughter, Frances, to Pfc. Richard F. Glisson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Glisson of Black Jack. The marriage took place on April 1. The young couple will make their home in this city but at the present time Pfc. Glisson is stationed at Camp Lejeune where he is serving in the Marine Corps.

Birth Announcement

Whaling Talk At Reservist Meet

Greenville Naval Reservists last night heard a talk on the age-old subject of whaling which is still being carried on profitably by many countries, even in the atomic era.

J. B. Smith, in delivering the talk, pointed out that Americans no longer engage in the water industry. Today, mostly English and Norwegian ships prow the haunts of the whales in search of their prey. This industry brings in about 80 million gallons of whale oil each year.

He contrasted the old methods of whaling when seamen fought the whales in fragile long boats as compared with the sleek fast "Killer" ships which are now employed to hunt the game.

The "Killer" ships operate in groups from a mother ship which takes care of the dead whales after they have been killed.

After the whale has come aboard as getting along fine, Mrs. Melton Allen and Mrs. J. C. Brock were Saturday night and Sunday visitors at the hospital with Mr. Mosingo.

Mrs. Jane Forbes went to Duke Hospital in Durham Tuesday for a check-up. She was accompanied by her two daughters, Mrs. John Barrett and Mrs. Lester McLawhorn, and John Barrett.

Mrs. Ellen Leggett, Mrs. Thomas Murphy and daughter Lynelle and Mavis Leggett of Washington visited Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Corbett Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Corbett and daughter Phyllis were Greenville visitors Saturday.

Impressions

By MARTHA S. FORBES

On Sunday there will probably be more people in the churches across the nation than on any other Sunday of the year.

The reason? Well, we would like to believe that they will be there as an affirmation of their faith in a risen Christ and in life after death. But more likely, the large congregations will be due to those once-or-twice-a-year attendants who like to see and be seen.

The thing to see and to show is new clothes. For weeks before Easter, the uppermost thought in the minds of most women is, "What will I wear for Easter?" We begin to save our pennies, nickels, dimes and dollars just as soon, or sooner, than we recover from the financial disasters occasioned by Christmas. Along in February the merchants whet our curiosity and clothes appetite by insidious advertising concerning what the well-dressed woman of Spring-1952 (or whatever the year) will be buying for Easter. We become tired of our somber winter woollens and look with jaundiced eyes at the perfectly stunning hat we bought last fall and wonder when the first bold harbinger of spring will show up on Sunday in her spring straw. Let one courageous woman proudly flaunt her flower bedecked chapeau and the next week half the women have followed in her train.

Somehow or other, that headgear in the spring becomes the most important item in a woman's wardrobe. She will perhaps wear last year's suit; she will polish and shine the shoes that are carryovers from the past; she will even carry her empty wallet in last season's handbag and, furthermore, carry it in gloveless hands—if only she can wear something new on her head.

A woman's attitude towards her hat has become somewhat of a standing joke. If a woman has suffered a disappointment, she will dash out and lift her spirits with a new bonnet. The surest peace offering which a husband can extend to soothe a ruffled temper is a ten dollar bill and the words, "Aw, go buy yourself a new hat!" The article of clothing which is most complimented is the headgear. Yet most women in Greenville go bareheaded more times than not. Of all the clothing which we American women annually spend a fortune on, the hat is probably worn in its lifetime, fewer hours than any other article. But we women shop more carefully for a hat, and have more trouble finding just what we want, and take more pride in our purchases from the milliners than we do in dresses, coats or suits.

Another article of attire which becomes a badge of the Easter season is the shoulder corsage. Young girls use flowers as a barometer of their popularity; wives measure the affection of their husbands by the pride and kind of posies which the florist brings; even children have learned to yearn for a bunch of blossoms to pin to their new frocks on Easter. The corsages are proudly displayed for a few hours and then stored in the refrigerator for a week, from which recess they are reluctantly discarded on the trash heap. Possibly some young girl's first corsage is tenderly pressed between the pages of a heavy book to dry out and to remain a nostalgic reminder of her first corsage from her first sweetheart.

I wonder what a difference it would make in the world if, for just one Easter, corsages of money instead of flowers were worn. A sender of flowers could order a shoulderette of one, five or ten dollars bills, to be made up by the florist replete with ribbon, bits of fern and paper frills. The florist could charge for his services the usual percentage of profit made on flowers and they could be wrapped in green waxpaper and delivered with the same aplomb as orchids, gardenias or roses.

But they could be put to a different use after they had been shown off. In sacred and impressive ceremonies, the women could, en masse, unpin their corsages from their shoulders and drop them in the collection plates on Sunday as a special Easter offering for the underprivileged of the world. Their corsages, which represent hundreds of thousands of dollars every Easter, then would no longer languish away in the icebox, but would continue to live and bloom in the hearts of those unfortunates to whom new life and new hope could be brought.

What better way to express our belief in the message of Easter? In what more practical way could we say we believe that Christ still lives and that, in believing, we are willing to follow His commandments to go into all the world and to feed His sheep?

An Easter Sunday on which money corsages are worn and given to relieve the suffering throughout the world would truly be an Easter that brings the risen Lord down among His people.

Allen-Page Engagement Announced

Mayor and Mrs. Lester D. Page of Greenville, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Ruth Agnes, to Lloyd Douglas Allen, U. S. N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Allen, also of Greenville. The wedding will take place in San Francisco, California, the latter part of May.

Mr. K. T. Futrelle Outlines Welfare Program At Club

On Friday, April 4th, the Woman's Club held its regular general meeting at the club house with Mrs. J. H. B. Moore, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with the singing in unison of the hymn for the month, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." Mrs. R. P. Rogers accompanied at the piano.

Mrs. W. E. Dole, secretary, read the minutes, and Mrs. C. C. Hilton, in the absence of Mrs. J. C. Galloway Jr., treasurer, gave the financial report.

Mrs. W. H. Woolard, membership chairman, presented two new members: Mesdames Harold Jones and Preston Cannon, and introduced Mrs. Luther Finch, a guest.

Miss Frances Wahl of ECC introduced Miss Ingeborg F. Hubschenleger of Munich, Germany, an exchange teacher presently engaged in educational research at ECC, among other U.S. colleges. She spoke briefly on current conditions in Germany.

Mrs. Bill Sermons, Woman's Club cancer drive chairman, announced that the goal for this year was $6,000 and thanked those members who were helping and solicited the continued cooperation of all members. She stated that Pitt County led the state in the drive to furnish caskets for the Lumberton cancer hospital for indigents. This institution is one of four hospitals for cancer patients only and the only one operated by the American Cancer Society.

Mrs. Moore announced that the N.C. State Federation of Woman's Clubs would hold its convention in Winston-Salem April 24 through 26 and members desiring to attend were to contact her.

Following other routine business Mrs. Moore, in the absence of Mrs. J. R. Jackson, chairman of the Public Welfare committee, introduced the speaker, Mr. K. T. Futrelle, superintendent of the Pitt County Welfare Department.

Mr. Futrelle gave a most enlightening talk on the services rendered by his agency and the manner in which funds are dispensed. He stated that approximately $490,000 was handled through the department annually and of this amount $290,000 was appropriated by the Federal and State departments for services rendered in the Public Assistance Programs, under which falls old age assistance, aid to dependent children, aid to the blind and aid to permanent and totally disabled. Under old age assistance, it was brought out that the average age of recipients was 72 years and the average amount received by each was $22

Tomorrow's Bride Guest Of Honor At Card Party

Mrs. W. L. Clark was hostess at bridge on Saturday night to honor Miss Barbara Gardner, whose marriage to Paul Lanier will take place on Thursday.

Guests were greeted at the door by the hostess, Miss Gardner and Mrs. Stuart Murphy, a recent bride. The home on Lewis Street was attractively decorated with arrangements of early spring flowers. A color note of green and white was used in the dining room. The table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with large bowl of spirea and white iris.

Bridge was played at three tables. At the end of play, high score prize, a pair of earrings, was awarded to Mrs. Frank Moseley. Low score prize, a china lace figurine, went to Mrs. Bill Alford. Table prizes, imported after dinner coffee cups, were won by Mrs. Frank Strawn, Mrs. Frank Moseley and Mrs. J. D. Aman. The floating prize went to Mrs. Kenneth Hite.

Miss Gardner and Mrs. Murphy were presented with china and crystal in their selected patterns and carnation shoulderettes.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Frances Moseley and Mrs. Tige Gardner, served a delicious frozen salad course accompanied by hot coffee.

Dramatic Play To Be Presented By Wesley Group

"He Came Seeing," a one-act play, by Mary P. Hamlin, will be presented by the Wesley Players of the Methodist Student Center on Wednesday, April 9, at 8:00 o'clock in the Fellowship Hall of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

This presentation is a part of the observance of Holy Week of the Church. The setting of the play is in a home in Jerusalem, during the last year of the life of Jesus upon earth. Joab, a blind boy, son of Asa and Judith, humble peasants, has been cured by Jesus. Opposition to the teaching of Jesus on the part of the Jewish leaders leads to excommunication of Joab from his home and synagogue. The theme of the play is the decision which Joab must make for or against being a disciple of Christ. The play presents a message most impressive for Holy Week and the students give this drama in a spirit of reverence and understanding of its deep meaning.

Miss Mamej Chandler is director of the play. The cast of characters includes Asa, the best type of loyal and respectful servant, played by Curtis Fields of Pikeville; Joab, son of Asa, born blind, Donald Roebuck, Stokes; Hilkiah, a fine type of Jewish aristocrat, loyal to tradition, played by Percy Wilkins; Benson; Judith, wife of Asa, played by Willsa Jean Lindsay; Clinton; Anna, friend of Judith, played by Dot Howard, Garland.

Observance of the Lord's Supper Tomorrow night at 8:00 the Sacrament of the Holy Communion will be observed at the First Presbyterian Church.

The service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. L. W. Topping. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Engaged

Miss Joan Oppelt's engagement to Norman Paul Vogen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vogen of Newark, Illinois, is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lloyd Oppelt of Greenville, North Carolina. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Gardner and Mrs. Murphy were presented with china and crystal in their selected patterns and carnation shoulderettes.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Frances Moseley and Mrs. Tige Gardner, served a delicious frozen salad course accompanied by hot coffee.

Strength for the Day

By RAY L. DOUGLAS
THE EYE OF A NEEDLE
There is an exciting passage in a modern romance novel which contains a most symbolic incident. A minor villain of the story, having stolen a large sum in gold from another member of his own group, is unexpectedly shipwrecked. The other men swim to safety, but the treacherous thief is dragged under and drowned by the weight of the stolen gold he is carrying.

Not only in fiction but in real life also, gold sinks men spiritually and morally every day. In their greed for it, some people discard all sense of honor, all respect for law, all heed to their consciences. The newspapers are filled with accounts of the depravity to which men have stooped to get more money.

Yet money itself need not be evil. The man who makes his money serve him wisely may do great and good deeds with it. The man who serves his money, however, is likely to be led from selfishness to outright infamy. Money is a good servant, but a bad master.

That is the danger against which Jesus warned in the gospel—not the mere possession of money, but the soul-enslaving love of it—when He said, "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter the kingdom of God."

Terrorism Nipped In The Bud

Short work was made by the Pitt sheriff's department and the SBI of the "KKK" cross and the threatening note which appeared in Pitt County Sunday morning.

A woman and two young men have been arrested in connection with the case and now face court charges. The aftermath of the act should make others in Pitt County who are contemplating similar action think twice before they go off the deep end with these Klan-like moves.

It is unfortunate that note-and-cross incidents have occurred in Pitt County, but it is good to know that they have been traced to individuals rather than an organized group of individuals or a chapter of the Ku Klux Klan.

Work done by the law enforcement officers in the most recent case in Pitt County should serve as a stern warning that such incidents are not taken lightly in the eyes of the law. The officers have indicated by their action that they do not intend to let such incidents slip by without getting to the bottom of them, and bringing into court those responsible for the acts of terrorism.

Pitt County has had two crosses and almost a dozen notes of the KKK variety during the past month, but clearing up the most recent case in short order should go a long way toward nipping in the bud such terrorism before it gains a real foothold in Pitt.

This county, nor any other county, has no need of such acts of terrorism. There are plenty of statutes on the law books of the state and an ample supply of law officers to enforce the statutes. The people have no reason to take the law into their own hands. When such action is taken, those who take the law into their own hands have themselves crossed the line between law abiding citizens and those who violate the laws.

The Reflector was glad to see the officers get to the bottom of the note-and-cross incident quickly. Had it dragged on, someone else may have been tempted to try the same tactics. Perhaps it would have had a chain reaction and led to more serious acts of terrorism.

We certainly hope terrorism in Pitt County has been nipped in the bud by the law officers. But they must keep their guard up and stay on their toes to see that it does not crop out again. If it does, similar swift action must be taken to bring the offenders into court and to justice.

Come To The Aid Of Greenville's Children

Greenville's citizens are now facing one of the best opportunities in many years to come to the aid of their children—individually and collectively—and themselves.

The aid is going to cost the citizens of Greenville in terms of time and effort, and it is likewise going to cost the citizens of the city in terms of hard cash.

The finance campaign for the support of the development of the first phase of Elm Street Park has begun. A great many organizations within the City of Greenville have endorsed the development of the first portion of Elm Street park as a citizens' undertaking. If it is to be done successfully by the citizens, all the citizens must support the project not only with their time, but also with their dollars.

Committees have begun work on the task of raising $20,000 which will be needed to develop the Elm Street park according to the plans which have been laid out. That is a great deal of money to be raised, but it is money which will return dividends a hundredfold to the citizens of Greenville.

The citizens have recognized with shame the neglect which has been present for years in Greenville toward the recreation program for youngsters and adults alike. Something should have been done long ago about the lack of recreation facilities in the city. It was not until last year that recreation really came into the fore in Greenville, and great strides have been made in the past 12 months. But even so, Greenville has become acutely aware of how far behind the city is in recreation when it evaluates its own facilities and compares them with the facilities of neighboring cities of comparable size.

Greenville needs a major recreation area and needs one badly. That is what Elm Street Park is to be. Since the city government could not develop the first portion of the park at the present time, the citizens of the city have undertaken the project on their own hook.

The ball has begun rolling for a better Greenville through a better recreation program. The Reflector is sure the citizens of the city will keep the ball rolling with ever increasing velocity.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Leon H. Keyserling, an arch-advocate of heavy government spending, direct and indirect pump-priming and drastic federal controls over business and industry, is the man who now frames wage-price policies for President Truman.

It was this 44-year-old "new deal-fair deal" lawyer who was the key figure behind the scenes in the Truman-Wilson controversy over wage increases in steel.

Although Keyserling has never managed a private enterprise or handled a payroll, the White House sided with the Columbia-Harvard economist against the former head of General Electric Company, who had been with that firm for 33 years.

The president's willingness to rely on Keyserling instead of Wilson is far more important in forecasting future trends than is generally realized. As against this choice, the issues involved in the dispute leading to the Mobilization Director's resignation were relatively insignificant.

TRENDS—As chairman of the president's Council of Economic Advisors, Keyserling has sold Truman on the idea that deflation rather than inflation constitutes the most immediate threat to the nation's economy.

He submitted confidential reports on curtailment of purchasing, large inventories and expanding production based on the decision to stretch out the rearmament program.

When Keyserling foresaw similar downward trends in the past, he always came forward with recommendations for heavy government spending in every field—WPA, PWA, farm, housing, etc. Now, however, that remedy is not available, for business indexes are falling steadily even in the face of "cold war" expenditures amounting to $2,000,000,000 a month.

Peak taxes, an unprecedented public debt, a July budget deficit of possibly $8,000,000,000 and Congressional demands for economy—all these factors prevent a recourse to the familiar, Keyserling practice of more taxing and spending.

SCHEME—Thus, the alternative Truman-Keyserling scheme for stimulating business activity, liquidating accumulations of stocks and preventing damaging strikes is to sponsor a general increase of private wage levels without a commensurate lifting of prices in the affected industries. That is the formula they adopted in the steel industry.

They realize, as Wilson warned, that higher wages and prices in this key sector will fix the pattern in coal, automobiles, shipping and in many smaller plants. Labor leaders like William Green of the AFL and John L. Lewis, for reasons of prestige and power, cannot and will not permit CIO-er Philip Murray to outstrip them when their contracts expire.

LETDOWN—The fact is that the White House wants a slight inflationary "shot in the arm" right now. Rearmament production is lagging. Although consumers' income maintains its high level, people are not buying in large quantities.

Not even price-cutting and "special sales" seem to open their pocketbooks. Either they are satisfied their wants, or they are holding back in expectation of further declines. There is spotty unemployment.

With the normal spring and summer lull showing itself earlier than usual, President Truman fears that the current slump may have an adverse political effect in the November elections.

His concern has been aggravated by the Taft-Kefauver showings in such sensitive farm states as Wisconsin and Nebraska. Truman carried the former state and lost the latter by only 40,000.

SURVEY—A special survey by the National Foundation for Consumer Credit seems to support the "slump" theory. Department store sales for the week ending March 15 averaged 10 per cent less than the same 1951 period in every federal reserve district.

The curtailment has not hit only semi-luxuries like radios and television sets. It applies to furniture, bedding, washing machines, refrigerators, rugs, toasters, etc.

Together with other groups, the credit people cite these statistics as evidence that present restrictions on down payments and instalment schedules should be lifted. They may be lightened, if the present trend lasts.

LIBERAL—It is the Truman preference for the Keyserling over the Wilson advice, however, which makes Washington hold its breath. As against the veteran industrial executive's record of accomplishment, here is a brief but illuminating biography of the No. 1 economic adviser at the Capital:

After graduation from Harvard Law School in 1931, he taught economics at Columbia for two years. As secretary to former Senator Wagner of New York he helped to insure and write the Social Security legislation and the pro-labor Wagner Act, which was supplanted by Taft-Hartley. He also godfathered NRA.

Before going with Wagner, he was an AAA attorney in the Wallace-Tugwell regime. After leaving Capitol Hill, he served as counsel for the U. S. Housing Authority. Nourse resigned as head of the economic advisory board in protest against Truman's fiscal spending and budget policies. Keyserling was promoted to the chairmanship because of his "liberal" philosophy.

On his behalf it should be noted that he is uttering sincere.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Greenville is full of interesting people with interesting hobbies. For many years I have known Mr. S. Hamric, watchmaker at Best Jewelry Company, but it was not until last night that I learned he is interested in astronomy. In fact, the hobby is relatively new with Mr. Hamric; he became interested in it about three months ago, with the inspiration of Ted Ashworth of Ridgeway's Opticians.

During that short time Mr. Hamric has acquired a great deal of information about the inter-planetary system and has manufactured a reflecting telescope with a four-inch reflector mirror. Badger Johnson tipped me off that Mr. Hamric would be in Sweeney Moyer's back yard at 9:30 last night for a view of the moon and stars. At the stroke of the hour, I was on hand for the viewing.

Admittedly, this is supposed to be spring, but last night it was too cold for me to be looking at the moon. But let me emphasize that it was only a few years ago that no night was too cold for viewing the moon.

Sweeney and Mr. Hamric were easily encouraged to come inside for an interview. Although Mr. Hamric's activity in astronomy began only three months ago he remembers 15 years ago when he looked at Mars through a telescope which had a lens ground by students of East Carolina. Recently, a concrete base has been constructed on the top of one of the buildings at the college for a telescope for which money has already been appropriated.

Frankly, I had never seen a reflecting telescope before last night, so I asked Mr. Hamric, "Do you have to lie on the ground to look through this thing?" Of course you look through an eye-piece at the end nearest the star. A home-made four-inch reflecting telescope costs about $25, which puts this hobby within range of most of us.

Interest in astronomy is on the upgrade. Children are tending to admire Flash Gordon as well as Hopalong Cassidy, Cowboy Gene Autry says, however, that he does not expect the space men to replace the cowboy in the eyes of American children.

Mr. Hamric was impressed with the "Mercury" Planetarium at Chapel Hill, but labeled it as, "Nothing more than a picture show. It doesn't show a thing natural." After viewing the real thing for three months, Mr. Hamric is eager to explore the heavens even more. And for others interested in the hobby, he is anxious to give his experience in the construction of a reflecting telescope. And I thank you.

By LYNN NISBET

SECOND LEVEL—The race for Governor, while itself not making any big impact on popular interest, has occupied attention almost to the exclusion of two other important contests.

Four candidates are seeking the nomination for Lieutenant Governor and six are after one berth as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court. The only other state-wide Democratic primary contest is for Commissioner of Insurance, in which John Frederick of Charlotte is challenging the re-nomination of W. A. D. Cheek. That scrap is attracting very little attention because of the prevailing opinion that the Frederick candidacy does not constitute a real threat to Cheek's continuance in the office.

LIMITED—Fact is, the circle of personal acquaintances of all three men is limited. Kurfess is well known among taxicab owners and operators and among officials of municipalities. Hodges is known among manufacturers, Rotarians and similar groups. Rowe is popularly known by several persons in every county with whom he has served in the General Assembly during the past fifteen years and by picture show people throughout the state. None of them is very well known to the rank and file, run of mine voting citizens. That means the candidates each must do a real selling job before May 31, or that the voters will be governed by advice of friends who know the candidates. At this time Rowe is best known to more political-minded folks, but Hodges and Kurfess are making a lot of personal contacts.

COURT—For the first time since 1920 a seat on the state Supreme Court is an important stake in a political campaign. Chief Justice W. A. Devin has no opposition for the unexpired term to which the late Chief Justice W. P. Stacy was elected.

UNBOUND PROPOSAL (Wilson Times)—The union possess a potent voice in America, but to what extent should they be allowed to influence legislation? The Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, came up with such a proposal the other day. In its efforts to spread employment, it recommended that the Office of Defense Mobilization feed contracts to areas where unemployment is rife, ignoring those areas where employment has been holding up. But wouldn't that do something to what has become known as the American way of life? Wouldn't it tend to keep inefficient mills going at the expense of efficient ones?

The textile workers enjoy high labor rates because of that very efficiency that their union is trying to break down. Would not it be that productivity earns wages, work with management in those inefficient mills, promoting economies that will lower costs? That, however, the union contends, isn't a union responsibility. So it resorts to an artificiality to get adequate pay for workers. What it forgets, and what many in America seem to forget, is that productivity earns wages. If, through schemes such as the union proposed, we're to honor non-productivity, we'll be engaging in the same sort of cartels that have been wrecking Britain.

That was the fallacy of NRA. Its philosophy was that every one should earn money. And with that philosophy we can find no fault, if the money is earned honestly. But NRA, had it been carried to its fullest scope, would have done away with private enterprise. If government contracts are to be passed out not on an efficiency basis, but on a need basis, we're keeping the inefficient mills going which of necessity must charge more. It'll cost the government far more money, for one thing, and it'll reduce the incentive to mechanize (or another. It's the old NRA theory revived again.

and Associated Justice Jeff D. Johnson, Jr., has no opposition for the full eight year term beginning next January. Associate Justice Itomous Valentine, appointed by Governor Kerr Scott last year, is not so fortunate. He has three opponents for the unexpired term ending December 31 this year, and five for the full 8-year term beginning next January 1. He has filed for both; so have Oscar Efrid of Winston-Salem, Superior Court Judge R. Hunt Parker of Roanoke Rapids and William H. Bobbitt of Charlotte. These four, together with Superior Court Judges Allen Owen of Reidsville and Don Phillips of Rockingham have entered the race for the full term nomination. In some places the Supreme Court contest leads in popular interest, partly because of the novelty of a real fight against an incumbent Justice. Consensus among most observers is that there will not be a wide margin of difference between high and low man among the six contestants. Majority opinion is that Valentine will be high, with a second primary necessary to determine the nomination.

ISSUES—No real issue appears in this race. Nearest approach to "an issue" is the fact that incumbent Justice Valentine was appointed by Governor Scott. It used to be that being "in" was a distinct asset to a candidate. In recent years being in by appointment has not proven advantageous. All the candidates have had experience on the bench. Prior to his supreme court appointment last fall, Justice Valentine had no judicial

Business Today

By ROGER BABSON
BABSON PARK, Mass.—All through 1950-51, I hammered away at inflation, urging readers against panic buying which was one of the immediate causes of inflation. If any medals are to be awarded to the men of the year who helped curb inflation, they don't go to Truman or Di-Salle.

PANIC BUYING
During 1951, manufacturers were urging the public to buy or else be sorry! Television was an especially good example. What happened? Many manufacturers, unable to find dynamic leadership in Washington with an intelligent plan for Korea, planned for the worst.—a long war and critical shortages. They made so much at such a pace and at such high prices that shelves and warehouses became loaded.

At first, the gullible were panicked into buying. Again, television is a good example. The more thoughtful waited, shortages failed to materialize. Buyers stopped listening to advertisements and stopped buying. Consumers did what the President and Di-Salle and all the rest of the governmental hierarchy couldn't do—halted the price rise and the inflationary spiral!

CONSUMPTION RATES
One of the greatest periods in our production history was 1950-51. We made annually over 43 billions worth of goods and services. Even when taking into account inflated prices, this figure represents the greatest physical volume ever produced by our country, topping even the war years of 1942-43. But people failed to buy these goods, although they were financially able to do so. Sales resistance developed sharply in textiles and most consumer durables, in radio and television, major appliances, furniture, carpets, household goods, and automobiles.

Because of this sales resistance, for example, 50 percent fewer radio and television sets were produced in the last half of '51 as in the same period in '50; less than 40 percent as many major appliances; 20 percent less furniture; and 50 percent fewer carpets, even although the carpet industry is not primarily affected by limitations of material. Here, then, is a simple lesson of action and reaction which I have been preaching for years.

BUYING FOR 1952
A review of the 1951 price trends will help to make clear the trends for 1952. The Bureau of Labor Statistics "Composite Wholesale Index" at the end of 1951 was but a fraction higher than at the end of 1950. The first quarter of 1951 saw an advance in prices of 4.1 per cent—an all-time high in March. This was followed by a 2.9 per cent decline. This pattern has thus far continued through 1952.

No doubt the Korean truce talks have encouraged conservative buying. The administration must, however, because of the coming elections, continue to stimulate business—even if artificially. The Democrats cannot afford any letdown in the demands for materials, merchandise, or labor; so don't be frightened by any nonsense out of Washington. I look for no more panicked buying ahead. The urge to save will increase and the urge to buy will decrease. This should help make your 52-cent dollar go a little further. When shopping in 1952, shop for value. In areas of oversupply, bargain!

PATRONIZE HONEST LOCAL MERCHANTS
The stability of the past few months is undoubtedly due to many causes, primarily to the fact that the people have at last developed intelligent buying habits. Don't let anybody panic you into buying because they say the article they sell will soon come into short supply. The chances are this will not be so. Buy from reputable local merchants whom you know and trust. Any sales organization which resorts to scare selling is encouraging inflation, and inflation may become a more deadly enemy than Soviet Russia.

NEW PRODUCTS
TAPE: A new plastic surgical tape has been announced by Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J. It has elasticity which permits it to stretch with every movement of the bandaged part. It is waterproof and the surface sheds dirt and grease. First distribution is to hospitals and doctors.

IDENTIFIER: A new system of identifying defense plant employees consists of keys and a special machine. Inserting the key in the machine identifies the employee and records time of arrival. It can also be used for time cards and credit checking, say the makers, Authorite Co., 1 Baker St., Providence 5, R. I.

CHICAGO — (AP)—One way to succeed is to conquer the world. Another way is to build your own private world.

That is the way Burr Tillstrom chose a long time ago, when he was a child. Now at 34 he is America's crown prince of make believe, and millions share his private world.

It is the mad, wastful, happy world of "Kukla, Fran, and Ollie," a television show about puppets and people that for five years has been turning children into grown-ups and grownups into children.

The show has been telecast through more than 1,000 performances, and its followers are addicts rather than fans. There are some who firmly believe that "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" have done more for Chicago than even Mrs. O'Leary's cow.

Among these better known boosters are such other stars of the entertainment and literary world as Helen Hayes, Robert Sherwood, Mary Martin, John Steinbeck and Margaret Truman.

The day I dropped by to see the show in action Broadway producer Leland Hayward and playwright Russell Krause also were there to view it. It is put on in a toy theater-studio big enough to hold only a dozen or so people.

The atmosphere was completely informal. Tillstrom came in, said hello, and quietly disappeared behind a screen. Fran Allison lolled comfortably in a chair, appeared on the stage and began chatting with Fran. When Ollie, the toothless dragon came out, Krause said:

"That Ollie—he's such a sweet person."

It is this quality that gives the show its appeal. The puppets not only sturdily regard themselves as people—they manage to make everybody else feel that way about them, too.

After half an hour or so of this "warm-up" conversation, Burr and Fran and the rest of the troupe had a brief consultation about the general pattern of the show. But there was no written script, no tense rehearsal. A few moments later and the show went on—ad lib and relaxed.

Later I talked with Burr. Like many puppet masters he is shy and rather less articulate than the characters he has created. He prefers to speak through them.

"We don't try to get across any special message," he said, "except perhaps a spirit of kindness and group unity."

"It would never enter into the heads of any of the characters to be deliberately cruel. I don't believe I've ever met a deliberately cruel person in my life. If I have, I don't know it."

"I don't want anybody else even working them as puppets," he said, "or buying them as pieces of cloth and cotton."

He has a fine sense of artistic integrity, a complete loyalty to these creatures of his own imagination. He also has a good recipe for universal salvation.

"Being able to laugh at your self," he remarked, "is the only thing that will save the world. It has to start with you."

Washington Letter
By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — More fortunate than most garden culturists are employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who have their own garden club.

They have experts close at hand to give them the latest advice. The club got started during the Victory Garden days of World War II when bosses, clerks, stenographers, researchers and specialists got to talking together about gardening over the luncheon table in the department cafeteria. Many had come from other parts of the country, lived in rooming houses and didn't even have a garden of their own here.

Finally M. L. Wilson, director of the extension service, who shared a community garden with his neighbors, suggested the Agriculture people meet in a special room for lunch once a month and get somebody in-the-know to talk to them.

The late Hans Hochbaum, division leader of the Victory Garden program, who had a garden of his own, helped with the organization.

None of the club's members is engaged in the testing of seeds or growing of plants as part of his work, but all soon got up to what goes on in a garden through talks on vegetable varieties, soil, fertilizers, how to fight bugs and plant diseases, propagation of plants, landscaping of the home garden and even flower arrangements.

"It's a golden opportunity," says Wilbur H. Youngman, marketing specialist in seeds, who's been gardening for some years. "We don't have super gardens," he said, "but we do have a lot more fun than most home gardeners because we get top advice from skilled garden people."

Mr. Youngman, who is president of the club is also garden editor of the Washington Star. With his wife, Alice, he has written helpful garden textbooks for people living in this area. The Youngmans "dabble" in everything—vegetables, in every thing—flowers, and have won prizes for their roses, dahlias, iris and tulips.

Cyrus Briggs, information specialist, and Harry Mielham, extension specialist, are other officers of the club, which now numbers more than 150 and keeps growing. Some join even though they do not have a garden. Others have only a patch of ground in the group area. Occasionally the group puts on an exhibit of the vegetables, fruit, or flowers they're most proud of. These vie with anything the experts themselves produce, the experts tell them.

Probe Of Corruption Faces Dim Future; Time Runs Out

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances look good for the investigation of government corruption to be talked to death.

Even if the wheels started moving now, and they haven't, there wouldn't be much time for a thorough search. There are only eight months to election.

Although President Truman picked Judge James P. McGranery for attorney general last week it may be many weeks before he gets the job, if ever.

He can't get it unless the Senate approves. Before the Senate can vote the Senate Judiciary Committee will examine and question him, taking weeks, maybe.

In the course of those weeks the investigation of government corruption may be lost sight of in the investigation of McGranery.

When it's all over, if the Senate disapproves, Truman will have to find another attorney general. This could go on indefinitely.

In the end McGranery may get Senate approval. That by no means starts the investigation going full swing.

Members of a House judiciary subcommittee are investigating the Justice Department and they may want a crack at McGranery, since he'd be boss of it.

The subcommittee may also question J. Edgar Hoover if McGranery goes ahead with his announced plan of having the FBI chief investigate corruption.

The questioning of Hoover probably will not be critical but will be done to find out how he feels about being No. 1 investigator of government.

As attorney general and head of the Justice Department, McGranery would have the right to tell Hoover to make the investigation.

But Hoover has hordes of friends in Congress and he's already on record as not wanting to spread the work of the FBI any further than it is now.

If Hoover gets involved in an investigation like this, he may get smeared by one side or the other, which is about the last thing he'd like since he's spend a lifetime building up the reputation of himself and the FBI.

And because he has powerful friends in Congress they'll probably be alert to see that he doesn't get into embarrassing situations, although Hoover himself hasn't said anything about McGranery's

Already a movement in Congress has started to keep Hoover out of the investigation-of-corruption assignment.

Diver To Delve Mississippi For Lost Treasures

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — (UP) — A brawny "hell diver" will search the treacherous waters of the Mississippi this summer for the lost treasures of a sunken Civil War gunboat.

Jack R. Bell said he knows where the safe from the gunboat lies and that he will don his shallow-dive equipment and try to salvage valuable relics and possible gold.

The 42-year-old Bell, who wears a modified Army gas mask with oxygen tank attachments for his under-water prowling, has a reputation for getting what he goes after, whether it's a set of false teeth dropped from a boat or the body of a drowned man.

He is called "hell diver" because he even goes into so-called hell holes on lake bottoms to recover lost articles.

Frightening Sight
His rather weird-looking equipment led one couple to believe the was a sea monster.

Bell was testing some new equipment in Maddux Bay, trying to see how long he could stay under water.

When he had gone about a mile, he popped to the surface, coming up beside the boat of a man and his wife who were out fishing.

"The woman screamed, her rod and reel flew up into the air and she fell over in a faint," Bell recalled. "The man grabbed an oar and drew back to whack me but he was shaking so he couldn't control his arms."

Bell snatched off his mask to show his face and started apologizing. While man worked over his wife, Bell dove for the fishing rod she had dropped.

No Charge For Bodies
The woman came to just as he surfaced for the second time, and Bell has brought up the bodies of 27 persons but he never charges for recovering bodies. He does charge one-third value of any lost articles he brings up.
Bell is rather casual about his hobby but it has its dangers. Loggerhead turtles that lie covered in

Pirates Pound Guilford For Fifth North State Win

Heath Hurls Victory As Gay Leads Batters

East Carolina Gets Fifth Eastern Division Victory With Two Run Splurges In Third, Fourth and Fifth Innings; King Homers

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

The red-hot East Carolina Pirates continued to bang away almost at will against North State Conference opponents as they pounded the Guilford Quakers 12-3 here yesterday afternoon for their fifth Eastern Division win.

Lefthander Rodney (Little Spook) Heath, the Buc sensational freshman hurler, started on the mound for the Pirates but retired after seven innings. He got credit for the victory, his second of the year. A. J. Rose finished up on the mound for the Pirates.

Guilford hopped to a quick 1-0 lead in the first inning when Joe Matthews walked, went to second on a wild pitch, and came home on a single by Bobby Callcutt. East Carolina took care of that lead in short order, however, with two runs of their own in the third inning.

With two out, Cecil Heath put the Pirates back in business with a ringing double down the leftfield foul line. He came home when Fred Soles batted out his second hit of the afternoon, a single. Soles went to second on the throw-in from left field. A few moments later, catcher Sam Venuto of the Quakers attempted to catch Soles going to third and threw wild past third baseman Billy Charlton and Soles chugged on in with the second run of the afternoon.

The real clincher in the game came in the next inning when right-fielder Claude King led off with an inside-the-park home run. King lifted a line drive between the right and center fielders and steamed home with the third run of the afternoon while the defensive performers were running the ball down.

W. C. Sanderson added the second run of that inning when he gained life on an error by third baseman Charlton and went to third when Paul Gay singled into center field. Sanderson scored when Paul Jones filed to deep leftfield.

The Pirates added two runs in the fifth and then clinched matters for all certainty in the seventh inning with a five run outburst.

The ten hits garnered by the Pirates were fairly evenly divided among the batters with Soles, Gay, and Cecil Heath getting two apiece. Heath and Gay each had a single and a double while Soles came through with a pair of singles in three official trips to the plate. Soles reached base five times in the game—twice on base hits, twice on bases-on-balls, and once on an error.

For the Quakers, shortstop Bob Callcutt, centerfielder Billy Yates, and first baseman Billy Ringler each batted out two hits. Callcutt led the defensive play with a sparkling performance at his shortstop position and wound up the afternoon with six assists.

The Pirates will take on High Point this afternoon at the college to close their pre-Easter North State Conference schedule.

Mays To Appeal

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Willie Mays, New York Giant outfielder, today plans to appeal to Alabama Selective Service headquarters at Montgomery for deferment of his draft order.

The appeal will be based on hardship grounds. The 20-year-old Negro athlete said he is the chief support of four of his nine brothers and sisters. His stepfather is unemployed.

Bill Worthington (shooting) won the marble championship at the Catholic school in the VFW Marble tournament which is taken place in all of the city schools. Runners-up were George Saled and Ronald Jordan, who are standing beside Bill Worthington. Winners in the schools will compete against each other for the title of City Marble Champion. ## Labine And Feller Look Good As Bums, Indians Win

BASEBALL BRIEFS
By UNITED PRESS

BALTIMORE (UP)—The disappearance of Clem Labine's sore arm had the Brooklyn Dodgers brimming with hope today that they have at last found the man to replace 20-game winner Don Newcombe.

The Dodgers got a brief look at Pvt. Newcombe of the U.S. Army when he paid them a brief visit at Richmond, Va., yesterday. But they got a longer and more cheerful look at the crew-cutted Labine, who pitched a full nine innings and whipped the Boston Braves, 4-1, on eight hits.

"The burning in my elbow was gone," reported the 25-year-old righthander after the fine performance, and that was the best news the Dodgers have had in a long time.

The Dodgers meet the Baltimore Orioles here today.

SHREVEPORT (UP)—Bullet Bob Feller appears in top condition for the opening of his 14th major-league season. The Cleveland Indians' star gave his mates plenty to cheer about yesterday as he worked seven innings in the 5 to 0 victory over the New York Giants at Houston.

He allowed no runs and only five hits, striking out five batters and walking none. George Zuberik completed the whitewash.

The Indians try for their 11th win in 13 games against the New York Giants here today.

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UP)—The St. Louis Cards are just about convinced that Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell is all they said he was.

The rookie southpaw came up from Houston this spring with such tags as "the left-handed Dizzy Dean" and "greatest southpaw rookie in 20 years." The veterans had to be shown, but a few more exhibitions like yesterday's at Winston-Salem, N.C., and they'll be convinced.

Mizell worked five innings allowing one fluke hit against the Phillies. The Cards went on to win, 9 to 8, despite a seven-run rally by the Phils against George Munger and Jack Collum.

The two teams meet here again today.

WICHITA, Kans. (UP)—The Chicago Cubs continue to be the most amazing club in spring training, topping the Grapefruit League with 20 victories and only eight losses. The Cubs kept rolling along with a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Browns in Oklahoma City yesterday. For the Browns, it was the 10th loss against 19 wins.

The Cubs and Browns clash here today.

DANVILLE, Va. (UP)—The Philadelphia As, who have plenty of southpaw pitchers, will test another of their veteran righthanders, Joe Coleman, in today's exhibition against Danville of the Carolina League.

The As got a good performance from righthander Bob Hooper yesterday, as he allowed the Boston Red Sox only six hits and one run in six innings. The As won, 4 to 3, with a four-run rally in the eighth.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Lefty Mel Parnell will hurl for the Boston Red Sox today when they play the Springfield Cubs of the International League. The Sox dropped a 4-3 decision to the Philadelphia As yesterday, despite Ted Williams' seventh homer of the spring.

ATLANTA (UP)—Orestes Minoza and Al Zarilla were swinging the hottest bats on the Chicago White Sox today as the American Leaguers moved here to meet the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association in a night game. Minoza pounded out four hits and

Giants Get Bob Elliott In Trade With Boston Braves

SHREVEPORT, La. (UP)—An elated Manager Leo Durocher said today that newly-acquired slugger Bob Elliott would move right into Monte Irvin's old clean-up spot in the New York Giants' batting order.

And Leo also indicated that Elliott, whom the Giants got from the Boston Braves last night in trade for pitcher Sheldon Jones and about $50,000 in cash, would probably open the 1952 season next week in Irvin's old left field spot.

The 35-year-old Elliott, a right-handed power hitter the Giants hope will find the short left field wall in the Polo Grounds "easy pickings", has played at third base for the last five years with the Braves.

Durocher, who would like to keep Bobby Thomson at third, indicated he will give Elliott a complete try in left field to see if he still has the speed to play that slot.

Durocher made no secret of his glee at obtaining the big slugger, who has driven home 1,099 runs in his 13-year major-league career.

He batted .285 last year, with 15 home runs and 70 runs batted in. The price was a stiff one. Lumping together Jones' market value, the $50,000 cash package, and Elliott's estimated $28,000 salary, the Giants shelled out almost $100,000 in order to land Elliott. That could be figured as the cost of the ankle that Irvin broke in a slide in an exhibition game last week, but it was the loss of Monte's booming bat that forced the Giants to this deal.

It was indicated that induction of Braves' ace pitcher Chet Nichols into the Army on Monday played an important role in the deal. The loss of Nichols made the Braves anxious to deal for another starting pitcher.

Boston had Elliott on the trading block for some time, for he had been a holdout—refusing to take a cut in his large pay.

Elliott presumably got what he wanted from the Giants in the way of salary.

Zarilla rapped three, driving in four runs, as the Sox defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8 to 4, in New Orleans yesterday.

NORFOLK, Va. (UP)—Johnny Sain and Frank Shea, a pair of veteran righthanders struggling to stay on the New York Yankees' pitching staff, get what may be their last chance to show their stuff today in an exhibition game against Norfolk of the Piedmont League.

The Yanks got a good look yesterday at two veterans who figure to be starters.

The Yankees beat Charlotte of the Tri-State League, 3-1 yesterday.

Griffton Loses To Chicod Nine

GRIFTON—A three run outburst in the sixth inning gave Chicod a 10-7 win over Griffton here yesterday afternoon. It was the second victory of the season that Chicod has scored over the Griffton team.

In that sixth frame, Oakley led off with a single for Chicod and promptly stole second base. He scored when Haddock rapped out a single. Haddock went to second when Mills drew a base on balls and went to third on a passed ball. Haddock scored and Mills went to third on a fielder's choice on an infield out. Mills came home seconds later on another passed ball.

Oakley led the hitting for Chicod with two singles in four trips to the plate but the big blow for Chicod was struck by Farnes who pounded out a long triple.

Batting honors for Griffton went to J. R. Hooten and John Lewis. Hooten pounded Chicod's Joseph Rouse for a single and a double while Lewis came through with two singles.

Griffton will continue its schedule with a contest at Belvoir Friday afternoon.

The score by innings:

Chicod	r	h	e
Griffton	r	h	e
Chicod	024	003	1-10	5 2
Griffton	300	002	2-7	9 1

Lang, with a single in two times at bat, and Edwards, with a single in three times up, led the Ayden hitting for the afternoon. Venter's double was the only extra base blow of the game.

Pirate Netters Beat Elon, 7-2

ELON COLLEGE—The East Carolina College tennis team took a North State Conference tennis match from Elon here yesterday afternoon by a 7-2 score.

The Pirates had a definite superiority in each individual match except for the number one singles and doubles. In the singles, Elon's Frank Tingley defeated ECC's Paul Cameron 8-6, 6-4. In the doubles, Tingley teamed with Bill Blackstone to hand Cameron and Joe Hallow a 6-4, 7-5 defeat.

The summary:

Singles
Tingley (E) defeated Cameron, 8-6, 6-4.
Hallow (ECC) defeated Howell, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.
Richardson (ECC) defeated Blackstone, 6-4, 2-6, 8-1.
Stroud (ECC) defeated Peters, 6-0, 11-9.
Bruton (ECC) defeated Johnson, 6-3, 6-3.

Doubles
Tingley and Blackstone (E) defeated Cameron and Hallow 6-4, 7-5.
Stroud and Bruton (ECC) defeated Howell and Johnson, 6-3, 8-6.
Richardson and Moberly (ECC) defeated Painter and Peters, 6-2, 6-3.

VANCEBORO—Ayden won its second consecutive Coastal Conference victory here yesterday afternoon as Willis Manning, a converted infielder, hurled one-hit ball to chalk up a 3-0 shutout over the local high school nine.

Manning, making his first start as a pitcher, allowed only three men to reach base during the seven-inning contest—two on errors and a single by firstbaseman John Laughinghouse. He fanned seven men and did not issue a free pass in the contest.

Darrell Worthington singled in the first inning to send Randall Harrington home with the first and winning run for the Tornados. Harrington, who had gained life on an error by the Vanceboro shortstop, streaked home from first base to score on Worthington's long single.

Ayden scored again in the fourth inning. Firstbaseman A. T. Venter led off the inning with a double to rightfield, and went to third a few seconds later on a passed ball. After Jamie Lang walked, Jimmy Walls grounded out to second, with Venter scoring from third. The final Ayden run came in the fifth inning as Manning scored on a pop-up by Toddy Kittrell behind second base. Manning has singled to lead off the inning, stolen second, and moved to third on a single by catcher Hal Edwards before he scored on the freak play.

Vanceboro made its most serious threat in the second inning. The first two batters in the inning gained life on errors, but Manning quickly put out the first by forcing the next man to fly out to the outfield and then retired the side by fanning the last two men.

Lang, with a single in two times at bat, and Edwards, with a single in three times up, led the Ayden hitting for the afternoon. Venter's double was the only extra base blow of the game.

The Vanceboro pitcher, Claude Davis, was almost as equally as strong as Manning. Davis struck out the first five Ayden men to face him, and struck out seven men in all. He walked two batters.

Score by innings:

Ayden	r	h	e
Vanceboro	r	h	e
Ayden	100	110	0-3	6 2
Vanceboro	000	000	0-0	1 6

Batteries: Manning and Edwards; Davis and Cauley.

ELECTION POSTPONED
CAIRO (UP)—Reliable circles said today that the Egyptian government has decided to postpone general elections, scheduled for May 18 until the end of the year, probably November.

Chapter 7

The ranch house, even the grounds were undergoing such a cleaning and renovating as they had not experienced in years. Workers, both men and women, were imported from town and set at myriad tasks. Not only must every room be scrubbed and scoured, but, viewing the place with suddenly critical eyes, Steve decided that new carpets would be a big addition on the floors. Curtains at the windows would help a lot. There was not too much time, but that at least must be done.

"And I can see a lot of other things now I look around," he confided worriedly to his uncle. "There's so much that I don't know—what to do and what to leave undone. The dishes, the stove, the furniture—they've been all right for us, but they aren't the sort that Melody has been accustomed to."

"Your ideas of what a woman will want, and her notions, ain't likely to jibe. Let her have the fun of pickin' out new things and makin' changes, when she gets ready. Be a lot better, all around."

"That's a good idea," Steve agreed, relieved. "I guess I was trying to do too much."

"Gettin' married is kind of a strain," Link said drily. "But take it easy and you'll live through it. It ain't hardly ever fatal."

Steve grinned, and saddled a horse to ride over and see Melody again. Link was taking the sensible view, and he'd do well to follow it. He had an uneasy feeling that none of them at the ranch quite approved what he was doing—either the way in which he had treated Nancy, or the headlong manner in which he was rushing into this marriage.

Cass Walden was looking from one of the big windows of his house and was the first to see him coming, down at the beginning of the avenue of cottonwoods. He pointed with a short, stubby pipe. "Company to see you, Melody," he announced. "Though he's riding a little slower today like he had things on his mind."

Melody crossed the room to look out also. A brief smile lingered around her mouth.

"It always be doubly thankful that I came out here to visit you folks this year," she said. "It's a summer that I'll always remember."

"Likely," Cass agreed drily. "but you talk like it would be your only summer in this country. I thought you were marryin' a native."

"I am," Melody conceded. "But Steve doesn't belong in this country, Uncle Cass. He's too big for it. He started out to be an engineer, and that's what he should be. He can be a great success."

Cass Walden was no relation, but Melody had called him Uncle since her earliest recollection. He regarded her gravely.

"Success is a relative matter," he pointed out. "It's partly a state of mind. Also a matter of viewpoint. I could have been a baronet had I remained in England."

He waved his pipe in a short, jerky encompassing gesture.

However, the fact remains that I did leave. I have no regrets. If I had it to do over again, knowing what I do now—of what this life has been, and of what I could inherit by remaining—I'd come across as I did, to this life, without hesitation. It suits me."

"I'm sure it does, Uncle Cass," Melody appraised the oncoming rider seriously. "But there's a similarity in both cases. You wanted a change—and got it. Steve wanted a change—and liked it."

"Perhaps so. But I wouldn't make too many plans about managing his life, if I were you, Melody. You're a wonderful woman, with great possibilities. But, if you'll pardon bluntness from an old man who has your welfare at heart, you have a tendency to be headstrong, like your mother. You won't be able to wind Steve around your finger, as your mother has done all these years with your father."

Nodding serenely, he got his pipe slight and strolled into another room as Steve lifted the brass knocker. Far from understanding the heightened color in her cheeks, Steve paused admiringly in the doorway.

"You're prettier'n a spotted calf, Melody," he declared. "And getting more so every time I see you!"

"I suppose that's meant for a compliment, Steve, but must you use such expressions?" Melody demanded laughing but close to tears. "A spotted calf, indeed!"

"It fits," Steve insisted. "You never saw anything cuter or prettier—unless you looked in the glass! Ready for a ride?"

"Ready," Melody agreed, but she was unwontedly silent for a while. Steve, full of talk himself, did not notice. He gave a running account of the consternation which the housecleaning had thrown the crew into, and Melody laughed dutifully. Then Steve sobered.

"One thing's got me worried," he confessed. "I told you before about the round-up. That's something that is decided on by all the ranchers, over a wide territory. Since everybody works together, more or less, I'd hoped that it would be put off a little longer. But I just got word. It starts bright and early Monday morning."

"They were to be married on Sunday."

"I know what's bothering you," she said. "You need to be out with your own crew on Monday."

"I'd ought to be," he confessed. "You see, Melody—well, while I was away, things happened. Uncle Link was in charge, and he did the best he could. But it wasn't too good. Then he was hurt—his horse fell with him, off a ledge. They had to kill the horse. And Link hasn't been able to walk since then. Matters were really bad for a while, before I got back. With the result that we seem to have lost a lot of cattle—a lot more than I thought for a while. Just how bad it is, this round-up will tell."

"And a lot hinges on the result!"

"Plenty," he nodded grimly. "It looks as if I might have a fight on my hands to survive, to save the ranch."

"I know what's bothering you," she said. "You need to be out with your own crew on Monday."

"I'd ought to be," he confessed. "You see, Melody—well, while I was away, things happened. Uncle Link was in charge, and he did the best he could. But it wasn't too good. Then he was hurt—his horse fell with him, off a ledge. They had to kill the horse. And Link hasn't been able to walk since then. Matters were really bad for a while, before I got back. With the result that we seem to have lost a lot of cattle—a lot more than I thought for a while. Just how bad it is, this round-up will tell."

"And a lot hinges on the result!"

"Plenty," he nodded grimly. "It looks as if I might have a fight on my hands to survive, to save the ranch."

NO DEAD-ENDER

FARMINGTON, N. M. — (AP) — Mayor W. R. Gibson was pleased at first when the town board offered to name a street in a new subdivision for him. It didn't last. "Wait a minute," said the mayor, "that street's a dead end."

Michigan produces more salt than any other state in the United States because of a heavy layer of solid salt which underlies much of the lower peninsula.

Stocks And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks ignored government seizure of the nation's steel mills today.

Railroad issues registered a small advance. Oils were higher with two gaining sharply. Steels eased and then met meager support. The industrial average slipped a bit because of the steel losses and a dip in chemicals. Utilities were easier on average when one of the higher priced issues eased.

Volume showed a rise of 30,000 shares over yesterday in the first hour but 20,000 shares of that increase were accounted for by huge opening block in Allegheny Corp.

Less than a dozen issues moved outside a fractional area, reflecting caution on the part of the trading element while the steel seizure issue is fought out in the courts.

Amerasia hit 235, ex-dividend on the first sale. That represented a gain of 10 1/2 points. It later slipped to 230. Superior Oil of California sold at 55 1/2. Shell gained a point.

In the rails, Colorado & Southern and Union Pacific rose more than a point each. Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, and Santa Fe were strong. Illinois Central declined. The motors eased after early firmness.

There were indications that the government may sign a wage increase contract with the union if there is any protracted delay in reaching a settlement to return the industry to private hands.

Mr. Truman blasted the steel-makers in the most bitter tones he has used against industry in seven years in office, accusing them of being "greedy" and making "outrageous" price demands to offset wage boosts.

He asserted that the companies "have said, in short, that unless they can have what they want, the steel industry will shut down."

In his speech, Mr. Truman said the steel industry refused to agree to a "fair and reasonable" settlement proposed by the public and labor members of the wage board.

It called for a 17 1/2-cent wage hike and 8 1/2 cents in fringe benefits, both spread out over 18 months.

The industry, which last week offered a one-year contract with nine cents in wages and 5 1/2 to 7 cents in fringes, insisted it would need a $12 a ton price increase to cover the board's proposed pay raise.

Government price rules permit only $3 a ton. Both sides rejected a Feinsinger compromise for a two-year contract with the same wage hike and fewer fringes.

May Shelve Bill On Separate Air Force Academy
WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Armed Services Committee may delay action indefinitely on a bill to authorize a separate academy for training Air Force officers, committee sources said today.

The present economy drive in the House was cited by one backer of the measure as a reason for delaying the action. The bill would authorize $10,000,000 to set up a temporary school, and another $10,000,000 for a start on a permanent institution.

If and when the committee approves the bill, these sources said, it may direct the Air Force to throw out a list of seven possible sites it has proposed. A site board headed by Gen. Carl Spaatz has recommended a choice among Camp Beale in California, three sites in Texas and one each in Kansas, Ohio and South Carolina.

Mild 'Revolt' In Churchill's Party
LONDON (UP)—A rank-and-file rebellion among Conservative members of Parliament against Prime Minister Winston Churchill's iron party rule spread today, but he was expected to quell it.

Forty-eight impatient Conservatives introduced a motion calling upon the government to take immediate steps to denationalize the steel and trucking industries in accordance with campaign promises last year.

Sixteen other Tories signed a motion filed two days ago demanding removal of the sales tax from clothing and other textile products to stimulate new business and curb mounting unemployment in the Lancashire textile mills.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R.A. Butler, obviously acting on Churchill's orders, flatly refused earlier this week to grant tax relief to the hard-pressed textile industry.

The motions were regarded as symptomatic of rising dissatisfaction among younger Tories with Churchill's conduct of the government. They feel he has expanded bureaucratic controls.

Churchill goes before a special party committee tonight to defend his program, and seemed certain to re-establish his leadership.

To Extend War Powers To July
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate was expected to follow the lead of the House today and extend President Truman's war powers until July 1.

Senate leaders planned to call the 60-day stop-gap extension bill to the floor this afternoon. Some opposition was expected, but the Senate Judiciary Committee gave the extension its bipartisan blessing yesterday.

Members of Cornerstone Senior Choir are asked to meet at Phillips Christian Church Sunday night, April 13, at 8 o'clock to help in a choir festival.

Describes 'Easy' Church Thefts

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (UP)—An AWOL soldier told police today that he has burglarized churches nearly every day since last July because "they're so easy to get into."

James Lee Knight, 26, said he fled from Fort Jackson, S. C., last summer. Since then, he said, he has "made a living" by taking an average of $10 to $15 a day from churches and parish houses.

State police found him sleeping in his car yesterday. They arrested him when they also found several hundred church collection envelopes from the parish house of the Holy Family Church of Sparta, Mich., in the rear seat.

He also was carrying $500 in cash, including a large amount of silver, and a $100 bill. Papers and envelopes from other churches in six Michigan towns were found in the car.

Knight, showing no outward remorse, said he chose to rob churches when he learned it was so easy to get "vital information" from the friendly people there.

"One of the easiest knockovers is a parish house of a Catholic church in a small town," he said. "All you have to do is ask the priest when the next mass is scheduled. Then, instead of attending mass, just make yourself at home at the parish house while no one else is there."

He said he had victimized churches "all over the country."

"I can't remember how many," he said. "But I know some of them were in Pennsylvania, Florida, Illinois, Iowa, California and Washington."

Over-Cooked

A "Hot" dinner was in the offering this morning when Greenville firemen were called to 1510 Pitt Street to a fire in a kitchen. The call resulted from burning food which was being prepared for the noon day meal and started to burn when the water in the mixture boiled out.

No damage was reported other than adding a slightly disagreeable odor to the house in general.

Three fire trucks responded to the call which came from box 122, located in the heart of the tobacco storage district.

The house, owned by Mrs. Patie Wooten, was occupied by Martha Wright.

Wounded Dean In Critical Shape

CLAYTON, Ga. (UP)—A 24-year-old boarding school dean, shot when he attempted to confiscate cheesecake snapshots of three coeds from a student, was reported in "critical" condition today at Rabun County Hospital.

A doctor said J.T. Stukes, dean of men at Rabun Gap-Nacoochee School, "has a chance...that's all."

Fred R. McCall, 15, of College Park, Ga., and Randolph Fugate, also 15, of Boca Grande, Fla., were charged with assault with intent to murder. Authorities said murder charges would be filed against them if Stukes dies.

They were quoted by Sheriff Lamont Queen as saying McCall fired two bullets from a .22-caliber target pistol into Stukes during an argument over the pin-up pictures, banned at the little school in a Blue Ridge Mountain valley.

The sheriff said the boys were being held without bond. The country has no juvenile court and they probably will be tried in Superior Court.

School authorities said the "Gap" has a rule against students possessing pictures of the pin-up type.

They learned the two students had such pictures and took steps to expel them even before the shooting incident. Stukes, who doubles as English and history professor, was assigned to confiscate the photographs.

Roberts Speaks At Bar Meeting

J. W. H. Roberts, Greenville attorney, last night addressed the Pitt County Bar Association on the encroaching evils of socialism, both in government and the judicial field.

Speaking before 25 members of the association at their regular monthly meeting, the local attorney reviewed what he termed "the creeping paralysis of socialism" that is becoming more apparent in the legal field, and the fact that individual rights of citizens are being abridged.

Roberts urged attorneys to exert all their influence in an effort to re-establish and preserve the original freedoms of the individual.

The program last night was arranged by Col. Owen M. Marshall, who introduced the speaker at the close of the business session.

Last Rites Thursday For J. F. Williams

Mr. J. F. Williams, 84, died at two o'clock Wednesday morning at his home in Vanceboro after three months of critical illness. Graveside services will be conducted at Haw Branch Christian Church Cemetery near Wilma Thursday afternoon at three o'clock by the Rev. Alton Hill, Methodist minister of Vanceboro.

Mr. Williams was born in Beaufort County but spent most of his life in Craven County. He was son of the late Caleb and Susan Downs Williams and in 1894 was married to the former Kate Hill. Mr. Williams was a member of Haw Branch Christian Church.

Surviving are his wife, a daughter, Mrs. M. B. Simpkins of Jasper; three sons, Sam, Ted and Henry B. Williams all of Vanceboro; 10 grandchildren, four great grandchildren; a brother, Lacey Williams; and a sister, Mrs. Jeanette Lewis, both of Wilma.

The family requests that no flowers be sent.

Unimpressed By Hunger-Strike

A defendant's hunger strike since being in custody of police in Lexington, Kentucky, last Saturday, had no influence on Judge Charles H. Wheeler in Police Court here today.

Elmo Ward, 46-year-old Pitt County Negro, is charged with non-support of his wife, Mrs. Annie Battle Ward, and two small children. Greenville police brought him back here yesterday for trial.

Ward stated in court that he had not eaten anything since he was arrested last week. Replying to the judge's inquiry, he said he was not hungry and that he felt as full as if he had just eaten. The court reminded that the officers who brought Ward back here had offered to provide food for him.

The court gave Ward two years on the roads for non-support. Sentence was suspended on condition that the defendant pay his wife in court today $25 and $12.50 a week to the Pitt Welfare Department for support of his family after next week.

Ward, who is on probation, works for a tobacco warehouse in Lexington, Ky. After settling with the court today, he left by bus for the Kentucky tobacco city to resume his work.

French Premier . . .

The 3,789,000,000 franc budget was earmarked for defense costs.

Shortly before midnight, Pinay, with some support from the MRP on the left and Gen. Charles de Gaulle's Rally of the French People on the right, won approval of his amnesty for tax evaders 250 to 21.

Less than an hour after the assembly had approved Pinay's budget, the upper house finance commission approved the program, 13 to 9, with four abstentions, which indicated rapid passage of the bill in the Council of the Republic. The bill will be returned to the lower house for a second reading later this week.

What to look for if you want a better 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck

Look first for the truck that best fits your job! Look for strong, rugged load-carrying units—frame, springs, axles, wheels, and others—engineered to provide the strength and capacity you need. Look for load-moving units—engine, clutch, transmission, and others—engineered to meet the most severe operating conditions.

Look, too, for a powerful engine, easy steering, short turning ability, and extra payload capacity. You'll get all these advantages when you choose a Dodge "Job-Rated" 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck.

Yes, look for the best in a 1 1/2- or 2-ton truck, and you'll find it in a Dodge. Come in today.

Big Power at a Saving. Dodge "Job-Rated" 1 1/2- and 2-ton trucks feature a high-compression 109-h.p. engine. For outstanding economy, you get 4-ring pistons, chrome-plated top rings, and other advantages.

Exceptional Handling Ease. Dodge Truck Roadco contestants choose Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks because you can cut sharper, maneuver easier, park faster—thanks to wide front tread and short wheelbase.

Fast Delivery Work. There's a 5-speed transmission available on most models for higher road speeds—greater pulling power. And low loading height simplifies the job of loading and unloading.

Two Planes Missing In Vicinity Of Denver

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—Two planes carrying a total of 12 persons were missing in the vicinity of Denver today, but search efforts were hampered by a snow-storm accompanied by strong wind which blanketed Eastern Colorado.

An Air Force B-25 with 11 persons aboard disappeared yesterday after reporting it was only 25 miles east of Denver on a trip from Kansas City, Kan. Names of those aboard were not released immediately.

Another plane, piloted by Capt. Sidney L. Harrison, 40, of Arlington, Va., a reserve Army officer, disappeared on a flight from Colorado Springs to Denver last Thursday night. It last was reported over Castle Rock, Colo., 30 miles south of Denver.

The twin-engine B-25 missing in the West left Fairfax Air Force Base in Kansas City yesterday on a trip to Lowry Air Force Base, Denver. The plane was reported to be carrying passengers in addition to the usual crew of three.

At 10:38 a.m. yesterday, the plane reported its position as 45 miles east of Denver and six minutes later reported it was on an instrument landing signal marker—a radio beam—and was following it.

The traffic control tower at nearby Stapleton Airfield reported it had cleared the B-25 for "outer boundary" clearance for its landing at Lowry.

Two search planes from Lowry scoured the area over which the B-25 last was reported, but were forced to turn back when a storm front closed in over the area.

It was thought at Lowry that the plane could have followed the radio beam over the base, which was hidden by clouds, and crashed into the mountains west of Denver.

A ground team went to the mountain town of Nederland, 30 miles northwest of Denver, last night to check reports that five residents in the town had seen a B-25 circling the area yesterday.

Harrison's light single-engine L-19 Cessna plane has been the object of an intensive air-ground search for the last five days, but no trace has been found of the craft and its pilot.

Maj. James Marquis, public information officer at Lowry, said a full scale air-ground search will be made for both planes today if the weather permits flying.

Mother, Child Hurt In Accident

A mother and her five-year old son were painfully but not seriously injured yesterday afternoon when they were both thrown from a car by the impact of a collision.

Mrs. L. D. Austin of 231 South Pine Street and her son, Lewis, were thrown from the pavement from a car, driven by Mrs. Austin's sister, Mrs. George Joffre, when the car was struck at the corner of East 10th and Elm Street by Respress Little, 21 year-old Negro of Route 3, Greenville.

The mother and son were rushed to Pitt Memorial Hospital where both underwent treatment for cuts and abrasions. Mrs. Austin was cut and bruised on both knees, legs and on her hand. The child received abrasions on his forehead and leg. They were released from the hospital after treatment.

Mrs. Joffre was driving her 1941 Chevrolet on Elm Street onto 10th and had just crossed the highway when the 1946 Pontiac driven by Little, traveling on 10th and going toward Greenville, struck the right rear bumper of Mrs. Joffre's car. The impact of the collision turned both cars around, leaving them facing the opposite direction in which they were traveling.

Officers W. E. Wooten and H. H. McGowan of the Greenville Police Department investigated the accident and estimated damage to Little's car at $450 and damage to Mrs. Joffre's car at $200.

Sold Whiskey With Napkins

WHITEVILLE (UP)—Sheriff's officers called Johnnie Ward of Iron Hill the "napkin bootlegger" today.

They found 12 pints of "white lightning" in boxes of paper napkins on shelves of his rural store. Presumably, they said, the purchase of a box of napkins entitled the customer to several shots of whiskey—at a special price of course.

TRAMPLED IN PANIC CARACAS, Venezuela (UP)—Thirty persons, most of them children, were trampled to death and more than 90 children were injured today in the Church of St. Peter after an altar cloth was set afire by a candle.

Service Award Goes To Editor

CHARLOTTE — (AP) — A distinguished service press award was presented here yesterday to H. W. Kendall, editor of The Greensboro Daily News.

The presentation was made at the North Carolina Conference for Social Service ended its 39th annual meeting. The award in the field of delinquency and its prevention was accompanied by a $50 prize. Charles W. Tillett, Charlotte attorney, presented the award to Kendall for a series of editorials described as having "stabbed sharply into the public mind and quickened the pulse, toward more humane awareness."

Honorable mention went to Colvin T. Leonard, editor of The Greensboro Record, and Walter Carroll, feature editor of The Durham Herald.

The group also adopted a state legislative council program for presentation at the 1953 General Assembly. The proposed legislation was outlined in a round-table discussion presided over by Dr. William P. Richardson of the School of Public Health of the University of North Carolina. Taking part were A. B. Gibson, C. H. Pritchard, Judge Nat Crews, Dr. Wiley B. Sanders, J. EB Barrentine and Mrs. Francis Moratoro.

The program includes the establishment of a state minimum wage, the adoption of minimum housing standards, the employment of trained personnel necessary to enforce compulsory school attendance laws, the raising of the jurisdiction of the juvenile court to include children 16 years old, the enactment of a guardianship law for minors without natural guardians, and the prohibition of the use of parimutuel gambling devices in the state.

Major L. P. McLendon of Greensboro delivered the final address of the convention, speaking on "Health and Responsible Citizenship."

Charges Involve Raleigh's Police

RALEIGH — (AP) — Charges have been made of "payoffs" and "corruption" in the Raleigh police department, according to City Manager W. H. Carper.

Carper said yesterday the charges centered around "four or five" officers. He did not identify the men. Carper stated that he plans to meet with the city council's law and public safety committee to map plans for running down the charges. He added, "I don't know just what steps we will take."

Coley L. Wilson, foreman of the Wake County grand jury, appeared before the city council's law and public safety committee Monday night and told the members he had information of alleged "corruption" incidents which occurred two years ago. Wilson's information alleged that "city officers have been paid off." He added, however, that "I actually can't prove it."

Fresh Flood Danger For Upper Midwest

SIoux CITY, Ia. (UP)—A warning of a new flood menace was issued for the Upper Midwest today where the Missouri, Red and Big Sioux Rivers have driven hundreds of persons from their homes and poured over thousands of acres of land.

The weather bureau warned of new flood crests on the Mississippi and its swollen tributaries. The critical period was expected to arrive late this week or early next week. The Mississippi was expected to go three feet above flood stage at Attkin, Minn., by April 14.

The weather bureau said the danger area stretched from Sandy Lake Dam to Brainerd in Upper Minnesota.

While the Mississippi rose, the Missouri and Big Sioux broke dikes in the Dakotas and Iowa.

The Missouri was expected to crest at 22 feet Monday at Sioux City, Ia., its highest point in 71 years. Downstream the rushing waters broke dikes in the Biencoe area, flooding thousands of acres of farmland, and cutting off highways.

The northern portion of South Sioux City, Neb., was abandoned and sealed off by a three-foot dike. Authorities hoped to keep the waters from swamping the remainder of the city, but the dike was heavily battered and not expected to last.

Farther upstream, the Missouri's rampant waters cut off the power plant supplying Fort Pierre, S.D., from the rest of the city. Three hundred persons were made homeless in Pierre.

The Big Sioux, which joins the Missouri and the Floyd near Sioux

City, rose again in Eastern South Dakota while the Red River of the North rose two feet in 10 hours at Fargo, N.D., and Moorhead, Minn.

Nearly 300 persons were forced out of their homes at Linton, N.D., where Big Beaver Creek poured over its banks.

Boats, tractors and "everything else available" were mustered by E.J. Englerth, Linton Red Cross chairman, who was himself made homeless.

Englerth described the situation as "critical."

Officials at Mankato, Minn., that was badly wrecked by 1951 floods, hoped new dikes would hold back the Minnesota River which was still climbing after it passed the 21 foot mark.

Moorhead was threatened by a major flood as the weather bureau predicted the Red River would go up to 34 feet next week, 17 feet above flood stage. City officials believed at least 100 homes would be flooded even if the river failed to reach the 34-foot mark.

Fly Backward As Safety Measure

Force announced today that a WASHINGTON (UP)—The Air number of C-131 twin-engine transport planes have been ordered equipped with seats facing backward.

Tests have shown that a passenger has a better chance of surviving a plane crash if he is in a seat facing backward rather than the conventional type which faces forward.

Mold Spreads

RALEIGH — (AP) — Blue mold in tobacco plant beds has spread to four more Eastern counties—Nash, Wake, Wilson and Johnston.

This was reported yesterday by H. R. Garriss, plant pathologist for the North Carolina State College and sprayed their plant beds Extension Service. He advised farmers who have not dusted in southeastern counties to start treatments immediately.

Tobacco growers are just beginning their transplanting season. Roy E. Bennett, extension tobacco specialist, offered a word of caution on the placement of fertilizer. He said slow starting tobacco and poor stands often are caused by fertilizer injury, especially in dry weather.

Spring's Magic Solved Troubles

DETROIT (UP)—The bright sunshine streamed through the window and a warm breeze, scented with spring, wafted through the county prosecutor's office.

The old walls, drab and gray when Sam Abraham and Rose Calleja brought their fight to the prosecutor, suddenly turned to pink and lavender.

The prosecutor didn't see the change. The clerk across the room didn't see it. But Sam and Rose saw it.

They were in love. It was an up-hill battle for the couple who so suddenly realized that it was spring.

Mrs. Calleja, a 42-year-old widow, advertised for roomers to occupy the five spare bedrooms in her big house.

Abraham, 54, rented one of the rooms. A few days later he asked his new landlady to lend him some money to open a dry cleaning establishment.

"I hardly knew the man, but I loaned him $510," Mrs. Calleja told police.

Then, she said, she began to suspect Abraham's honesty. Sure enough, she said, an investigation of police records showed a Sam Abraham had been arrested previously for larceny by conversion.

Mrs. Calleja, believing Abraham was trying to fleece her of the $510, sought to have him charged with larceny. She had him hauled off to the prosecutor's office yesterday, where it was revealed there were two Sam Abrahams. This Sam wasn't the one the police wanted.

That's when the walls began to change color for Sam and Rose. They slyly held hands while they talked to assistant prosecutor Nathan Kaufman.

Then they held a private conversation in the corner before turning back to Kaufman's desk.

Mrs. Calleja reached for a pen and across the face of the complaint she wrote: "I do not wish to prosecute because the defendant promises to marry me."

They left the office hand-in-hand.

Many religious hermits lived in the early Christian centuries who avoided any modern flagpole sitters.

English Channel 'Season' Opened

DOVER, England (UP)—John Burwill emerged from his little house smuggled against the white cliffs today, walked down to the water's edge and spat into the English Channel.

With this brief ceremony the channel swimming training season was declared officially open.

"Yep," said the ancient mariner who has piloted more channel swimmers than any man in history. "Yep, I expect this will be a big year although the water is apt to be a bit cold. But I predict a big change in swimming direction."

"It used to be that everyone swam from France to England—what they call the easy route. From now on I feel most swimmers will try the hard way—England to France."

Burwill's optimism reflected the buoyancy of this channel port's unique industry despite last summer's near-death blow. When 18 people swam the channel in a single day, pilots, boatmen, grease sellers, dietitians and others who had been thriving on channel aspirants saw the end of an era.

"But after thinking it over all winter," Burwill said, "we've decided that all it did was take the France-to-England swim out of the class of a feat and make it a race. We think lots of people will come over just to try to lower the record of the Egyptian Hamad who crossed in 12 hours and 12 minutes."

"The England to France swim, tougher because of the rough tides, is still a feat, however. Only a handful of people have done it."

"Besides," he added even more cheerfully, "if you were the kind of man or woman who wanted to swim the channel you wouldn't be satisfied until you have done it both ways."

THIS ad is addressed to husbands — Husbands who've yearned for the thrill of sitting behind a broad hood packed with horsepower—and the pride of rolling down the street in a car that tells the world, "Here's a man who knows the finest thing on wheels."

But husbands have wives. And, wives have been known to say, "No big cars for me. They're too hard to handle."

Well, we have an answer for that one. It's a ROADMASTER with Buick's new Power Steering.† And Power Steering takes over any time the steering gets tough—works like a helping hand—reduces the effort of turning the wheel of a car at a standstill to about the same effort it takes to pick up a mink coat.

BUT out on the open highway—with a clear straight stretch before you—your hands still have command of the wheel—you can feel that sure, firm, easy and eager responsiveness that's a part of the fun of driving.

The rest of the fun is in something else that's new this year—the highest horsepower that a Buick Fireball Engine has ever delivered — and an Airpower carburetor that lets loose an extra reserve of power when needed, and still adds extra miles to your cruising range on each tankful of gas.

So we suggest a family demonstration. You'll both like the hushed and restful silence of this superbly able traveler. You'll like the harmonious beauty of its interior, and the deep and luxurious softness of its seats.

You'll like the velvet-gloved grip of its Wide-Band brakes, and the most capacious trunk in Buick history.

You'll like the smooth surge of Dynaflo Drive, and you'll like—but why waste time talking, when you could be finding out more than we can ever tell you? How about making a date to do that right now?

Man's Age In America Estimated 12,000 Years

TEPEXCAN, Mexico — (UP) — Archeologists are mapping out new excavations in a prehistoric animal graveyard in search of more evidence that the "first" Americans roamed the jungles here 12,000 years ago.

They hoped to find weapons or actual remains of primitive hunters who fought giant elephants and saber-tooth tigers in the valleys of Mexico before the dawn of civilization.

First proof that man existed in the Western Hemisphere at the same time as the prehistoric animals was uncovered here when two flint arrowheads were found imbedded between the ribs of a mammoth that died "at least" 12,000 years ago.

..... Killed by Hunters..... Marie Louise Wormington, anthropologist of the University of Denver, said there was no doubt that the mammoth was killed by ancient hunters.

"This is the most important discovery of its kind ever made in the Americas," she said. "It finally destroys the theory that the 'dawn man' could not have existed side-by-side with the mammoth, the giant tiger and other prehistoric animals."

The mammoth bones were found by workers digging an irrigation ditch in this village 35 miles north of Mexico City, less than two miles from the site where a skeleton of the 10,000-year-old Tepepan man was found six years ago.

Called Oldest Evidence Until the finding of the two spearheads, as well as an obsidian knife and a small scraper, the Tepepan skeleton was believed to be the oldest evidence of the existence of man in America.

The two Tepepan "finds" exploded the long-held belief that man immigrated to the Western Hemisphere from Asia in comparatively recent times.

Miss Wormington said the two "sensational" discoveries in the same area spurred scientists to plan new excavations and a "complete investigation" of the section. Now a dusty and flat farmland 10 miles from the ancient Toltec pyramids of San Juan Teotihuacan the area was believed to have been a swampy jungle a prehistoric times.

Link Established She said the spearheads were predecessor of the classic "Scott's Bluff" type found in the United States and dating thousands of years later. "Thus proving the continuity between the primitive man of Mexico and the later man of North America."

The knife and scraper found with the mammoth bones led scientists to speculate that the hunters wounded and chased the mammoth into the swamp, where they finished it off with the knife.

Dr. Luis Avelleyra, who headed the investigations, said the scrap made especially for taking off meat.

Paralyzed Hands Are Helped By Typewriter Use

MONTREAL — (UP) — John Leck, a 64-year-old paralysis victim, is getting back his strength by drawing pictures with a typewriter.

Leclair, who was partially paralyzed six years ago when he had a stroke, said he chose "typewriter art" as a hobby because he figured it would provide an effective means of therapy as well as a hobby. He said that since he started out with an old typewriter and a big stock of paper he had regained most of the use of his right arm and brightened what otherwise would have been hundreds of dull days.

A former stenographer, he now is listed by the National Employment Service as "unemployable"

Plan Observing National 'HD' Week In County

Plans were made for celebrating National Home Demonstration week April 27, through May 3, at a recent meeting of Pitt County Council, Negro Home Demonstration Clubs, held in Greenville.

The program for National Home Demonstration Club Week includes plans for special club meetings, radio and newspaper messages, special exhibits and a general "clean-up week."

Mrs. A. S. Capehart, Negro Home Demonstration club. Mrs. Maggie Strong of the Helens club and Mrs. J. M. Reeves of the Ayoen club made reports.

Another feature of the quarterly meeting was an exhibit of crosses made by various club members. Mrs. Vivian Morris, Negro Home Demonstration Agent of Beaufort county, served as judge in the contest. Following is a list of winners: Mrs. Lydia Dixon of Pleasant Place Home Demonstration Club, second, and Mrs. Allene Clark of Paoilus Home Demonstration Club, third place. In the exhibit of aprons Mrs. Malinda Moye and Mrs. Bertha Daniels, both of Paoilus Home Demonstration Club, respectively, won first and second places.

'Billy Yank' Just Like Today's GI

NEW YORK — (UP) Billy Yank, the GI of Civil War days, found girls distracting too. A soldier's diary quoted in "The Life of Billy Yank: The Common Soldier of the Union," by Bell I. Wiley (Bobbs-Merrill), notes, "pair of Scotch (Secession) damsels promenaded up and down the island opposite our post. I call Sergt Wakefield down to the river bank and he goes into ecstasies at the sight of the fair ones, and sighs, 'oh this war.'"

On the other hand, one Yank described Southern women as "sharp-nosed, tobacco-chewing, snuff-rubbing, flax-headed, hatchet-faced, yellow-eyed, sallow-skinned, cotton-dressed, flat-breasted, shouldered, stoop-necked, big-footed straddle-toed, sharp-skinned, thin-lipped, paler-faced, lantern-jawed, silly-looking damsels."

Like GI Joe, Billy Yank some times took a dim view of officers: "I am well convinced in my own mind that had it not been for officers this war would have ended long ago."

However, the attitude toward the Army Medical Corps has changed, considerably nowadays. Dr. Wiley, after studying thousands of letters and diaries, found that an all-too-prevalent attitude was: "If a fellow has to (go to the) hospital, you might as well say goodbye."

BURNED OUT WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. — (AP) — A 2 a.m. alarm routed firemen out of bed and the night was cold. They made the run — to a dog house. Their report: Dog unburnt, house destroyed, $18 damage, cause unknown.

In 1951 the United States used about 105 million tons of coal to produce electricity. and kills time making typewriter pictures, patterns and designs.

UNDER HAPPY IRISH EYES:—Six-year-old Clare Robertson holds her new brother, Josiah, while three other Robertson children gather around to admire the newcomer to the family in their home in Kansas City, Mo. The four older children — all Irish — were adopted three years ago by the Robertsons who went to Europe to adopt a single child but came home with four from a Dublin orphanage. Josiah, the Robertsons' first child, was born March 24. Left to right, the boys are: Michael, 5, Charley, 8, and Tommy, 4. (AP Wirephoto).

Drink Too Much? Bishop Offers Profitable Idea

WORCESTER, Mass. — (UP) — To men who drink too much, here's the advice of Catholic Bishop John J. Wright:

"First, build a bar in your own home and be the only customer. Then you have neither license nor protection to pay. Give your wife $6 to buy the first quart of liquor remembering there should be at least 16 drinks in the quart. "Buy the drinks from no one but your wife and pay at the rate a bar would charge. By the time the first quart is finished, she will have $6 to put in the bank and $6 to start business again. "If you live 10 years and continue to buy from her, you can then die of delirium tremens and she will have plenty to bury you, educate your children, marry a decent man, and forget the misery you brought her."

Elks' Installation Set Thursday

Greenville Elks Lodge No. 1645 will install new officers at a supper meeting at the Elks' Home, 569 Evans street, Thursday night. Supper will be served members at 8:30. The lodge will meet at 9 o'clock. J. B. Spilman is the new exalted ruler. He succeeds Erskine Duff.

Bethel Seniors' Speaker Chosen

BETHEL — Rev. Paul B. Nickens, pastor of the Baptist Church of Plymouth, will deliver the commencement address to 28 seniors at the school here May 19 at eight o'clock. Other "end of the year" activities for the school will include the valedictory sermon May 18, delivered by Rev. W. M. Howard, Jr., pastor of the University Methodist Church, Chapel Hill; the Junior-Senior banquet and dance May 11; and Class and Awards Night May 16.

CHAMPION MOTHER ATTIKOKAN, Ont. — (AP) — Champion mother of this Northwestern Ontario district appears to be Mrs. F. Tennessee of nearby Quetico. A daughter born recently brings her total to 19 children, of whom 18 are living.

London's Night Life Dims At Early Hour

LONDON — (UP) — London's night life is beginning to flicker out and the world metropolis is in danger of becoming a nine o'clock town that tourists will by-pass for the champagne bubbles of Paris and Rome, Lorenzo Ricci fears. Ricci spoke in the green-and-gold Embassy Club, once the haunt of the Duke of Kent and the Prince of Wales in the days when Britons still had money to spend and the energy to spend it.

Today his famous club, which has a huge American membership, is faced like almost every other top-class night club and late restaurant with the fact that there simply do not appear to be enough moneyed customers to finance the kind of night life available in other capitals on the continent.

London is an astonishing city in many ways. Paris and other cities have always got the publicity but there were few places anywhere to match the elegance of pre war clubs here. Even today, in Les Ambassadeurs it has the most luxurious night club, perhaps in the world. It was once the mansion of the Rothschilds.

"Ever since the war money has become tighter and tighter as taxes went higher and higher," Ricci said. "The final blow was the socialist law which forbade night clubs to sell liquor after 2 a.m. It used to be that folks went to restaurants and after their licensing hours ended they would come to us for drinks. Now we all have to stop serving liquor at the same time."

"Tourists are baffled when they come to London. Many of them come from places where you can drink at any hour. I am sure it drives many people who would ordinarily spend more time in London to move elsewhere."

He said the only salvation for night clubs was to get top American acts—but most good American acts can get better money in the States and it is difficult to tempt them to austere England in any event.

"Something will have to be done soon," Ricci said. "It is becoming

Suggests Display Criminals In Wax

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (UP)

— A device to help law enforcement agencies capture America's most wanted criminals was suggested by George A. Hamid at his Steel Pier showplace here.

Hamid urged amusement park operators throughout the nation to revive the wax museum exhibits which were so popular years ago.

"If life-like figures of wanted criminals were to be put on display in wax museums," Hamid said "the public would be able to view the true features and characteristics of the criminals and thus be aided in spotting them for the police, should they see them in person."

The amusement impresario said the device was used in France many years ago and wax museum exhibitors aided French police tremendously in detecting sought criminals.

Hamid is planning to be among the first to set up such wax museum exhibits of wanted criminals, in co-operation with the FBI and state and local law enforcement agencies, at his pier next month.

ELK DAMAGE CROPS COOKSON, Sask. — (AP) — Farmers claimed considerable damage was done to crops in this district by elk. The animals wandered out of the protected areas of the Prince Albert National Park.

Want Proof Of Charges U. S. Wasted Vast Sums Fighting Phoney 'Crisis'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee today called on Robert Montgomery, radio and television commentator, to back up his assertion that the United States has wasted 200 million dollars fighting a non-existent outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico.

Rep. Poage (D-Tex.) joined Committee Chairman Coady (D-NC) in demanding that the former movie star produce any facts he has to bolster his contention in recent broadcasts that a 5 year U. S. campaign against the livestock scourge has been an unnecessary "boondoggle."

Coady contends the campaign was absolutely necessary to protect the U. S. cattle industry, and that the cost was small compared with damage that would have resulted if the disease had become established in this country.

Poage said that, for one thing, Montgomery had exaggerated the government's outlay by some 77 million dollars.

"But that's not the most serious charge," the Texan said. "It's his contention that none of the expense was warranted."

Poage said he was prepared to dispute Montgomery's argument that the quarantine against Mexican cattle, due to be removed next Sept. 1, if there are no new outbreaks, could be held responsible for raising the price of meat in this country to unwarranted levels.

"Actually the price of meat isn't disproportionately high in comparison with wages and other prices," Poage told a reporter.

Coady declared the diagnosis of the Mexican epidemic as foot-and-mouth disease is unquestioned among scientists.

experience, except in local record courts. Efrid has served as judge of Forsyth County which has comparable jurisdiction in the county with superior courts. Judges Bobbitt, Gwyn, Parker and Phillips have each had a dozen years or more on the Superior Court, each having been elected at least twice in statewide voting. Judge Efrid ran two years ago against Associate Justice E. B. Denny. This will be Justice Valentine's first venture into a state-wide election contest, although he was a recognized factor in the campaigns of Dick Fountain, Ralph McDonald, J. M. Broughton, Kerr Scott and Frank Graham.

GEOGRAPHY — Whatever influence geographic considerations might have would be detrimental to Valentine and in lesser degree to Bobbitt and Parker, while working to the advantage of Efrid, Gwyn and Phillips. Three associate justices are bunched in the West: Winborne at Marion, Ervin at Morganton and Denny at Gastonia. Chief Justice Devin lives at Oxford, Associate Justice Johnson at Clinton, Barnhill at Rocky Mount and Valentine at Nashville — in the same county with Barnhill. That leaves the densely populated and highly industrialized central third of the state without representation on the court. Election of either Efrid or Gwyn would remedy that situation, and election of Phillips would alleviate it. However, geographic considerations apparently have little influence this year. Under traditional rotation policy the governor would come from the west, the lieutenant governor the west, east. But one of the two principal candidates for governor lives east of the dividing line, while two of the three real contestants for lieutenant governor live to the west of that mythical division.

Two Thrown From Car In Accident

A mother and her five-year-old son were painfully but not seriously injured yesterday afternoon when they were thrown from the automobile shown above after it was in collision with another car. The accident occurred at Tenth and Elm Streets around 5:30 p. m. yesterday. The injured, Mrs. L. D. Austin and son Lewis, were treated at Pitt Memorial hospital and released. The second car in the accident is shown in the right background. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

European Canal Project Is Revived By French

PARIS (UP) — The long talk-ed-about project to build a water link between northern European and the Mediterranean has been revived.

The French government has disclosed it is studying plans and costs a canal joining the Rhone and Rhine Rivers.

Such a canal would provide a 1,300-mile-long inland waterway traversing the eastern continent from the North Sea, near Hamburg, to the Mediterranean near Marseilles.

The canal would join the Rhine and Rhone in Switzerland, where both rivers start. The Rhine flows northward between France, Germany and through France, Germany and through the Netherlands. The Rhone flows southward through southern France.

Construction of such a link, an international undertaking, has modern precedent in the recent agreement among France, Italy and Switzerland to build the longest vehicular tunnel in the world through the base of Mont Blanc, Europe's highest peak.

The envisaged Rhone-Rhine link would make use of Swiss lakes lying between the two rivers, French authorities said.

"Our aim is to link together the Franco-Swiss Leman Lake — through which the Rhone River flows — to such Swiss lakes as Neuchatel, Biennne, the small Aare River and finally the Rhine River near Basle in Switzerland," a spokesman of the French government-owned Compagnie Nationale due Rhone said.

He said the undertaking would be between 90 and 120 miles long, River with the 500-mile-long Rhone.

"Such a canal would be the outstanding achievement of the century," he said, "it would allow a north-south traffic for the first time throughout the continent."

The spokesman recalled that the Rhine River flows through such highly industrialized areas as German-Switzerland, Lorraine, in France, the Ruhr in Germany and the Rhine delta, in the Netherlands.

Rivers Connected

"One must not disregard the fact that the Rhine is connected with such important rivers as the Moselle in France and Germany," he said.

The spokesman also explained that the French Rhone River is about to become completely navigable to larger craft since its turbulent waters will be directed next year into a cement-lined canal, between Douzere and Montdragon, which will be 75 feet wider than the Suez.

"Part of the Rhone River has already been harnessed for power and navigation with such mighty dams as that of Genissiat, which backs an artificial lake of 53,000,000 cubic meters," he said, explaining that the Marshall counterparty funds contributed 2,395,000,000 francs ($68,711,000) to the project.

Finally, the spokesman recalled the Rhone River flows through Lyon, a world-known center of silk production — and the great Mediterranean harbor of Marseilles.

June Designated As 'Dairy Month'

Olive Campaign Drive Steps Up

RALEIGH (UP) — Headquarters of Hubert E. Olive for Governor were down today with another attack on Olive's chief opponent, William B. Umstead.

Olive had previously linked the names of Umstead, Duke Power Co. and three utilities commissioners and hinted that Umstead was backed by special interests. Umstead referred to the statements as "a cry of desperation."

R. E. Earp, Olive's campaign manager, tore into that with the response that the desperation is on the part of the people, "desperately anxious to elect a governor who will represent all the people and not just a privileged few insiders."

He said Olive headquarters believes "the people are sick and tired of professional politicians, politicians, lobbyists and five percenters."

Umstead meanwhile announced he would carry his campaign into the eastern part of the state. He has just completed a swing through 11 northwest counties.

The ancient world made extensive use of a mixture of gold and silver which was called electrum.

RALEIGH — State Dairy Month headquarters has announced the appointment of R. B. Davenport, Long Meadow Farms, Durham, N. C., as State Chairman of the Sixteenth Annual Observance of June Dairy Month.

An industrious campaigner on behalf of dairy food sales and quality, Mr. Davenport is Manager of Long Meadow Farms and Vice-President and Treasurer of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association. He has been very active in the dairy industry for a number of years. As June Dairy Month Chairman for 1952, he succeeds C. H. Willard, President of Lindale Dairy Corporation, High Point.

In making the announcement, J. B. Webb, Jr., of Greenville, President of the North Carolina Dairy Products Association, stated that Dairy Month has played an important role through the years in improving our local and national health by causing more Americans to possess the important facts of sound nutrition.

He further stated that this special emphasis upon dairy products during June is to promote the growth and understanding of the dairy industry and to increase dairy products sales during a period of peak production, thus providing North Carolina dairy farmers a more stable market.

Typing Contest Slated At ECC

Students in business courses offered in Pitt County high schools have been invited to participate in a typing contest at East Carolina College to be held Thursday, April 24.

The event is the first competition of the kind to be staged at the college. Sponsors are the department of business education and the Beta Kappa Chapter of Pi Omega Pi, national honorary fraternity for business education students.

Mrs. Dorothy Lewis Wilkerson heads the steering committee of faculty members who are planning the contest. Serving with her are W. W. Howell and Norman Cameron. Dr. E. R. Browning, director of the college department of business education; Shirley Pinkinton of Smithfield, president, and Audrey V. Dempsey, faculty advisor, of the college chapter of Pi Omega Pi; and student members of the fraternity are assisting in making arrangements for the contest.

All high schools of Pitt County which offer instruction in typewriting are eligible to participate, Mrs. Wilkerson states. In each school, one contestant for every five students enrolled in typing courses may be chosen to compete. Separate contests will be held for beginning and advanced students. Awards will be presented to the winners at a dinner in the college cafeteria at 6:30 on the evening of the contest. The school making the highest average score in each of the two events, for beginners and for advanced students, will receive a cup. A medal will be awarded the individual students making the highest score in each event, and certificates will be presented to the boy and the girl from each school who have the highest score in that school.

Just Resting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Civil War veteran Douglas T. Story, 107 years old, is in the hospital — because his daughter broke her leg.

Story, the second oldest GAR survivor on Veterans Administration rolls, was admitted to Sawtelle Veterans Hospital recently. But doctors there said it was only because of the accident to leg.

Mrs. Duley Potee, 68, the daughter with whom he lives. There was no one else to take care of him.

Story was scheduled to be released this week, but caught a cold. He'll have to stay in the hospital another week now.

But the sprit still burns strong in the boy who ran away from home in Pope County, Illinois, to join the Blue.

"Best rest I've had in years," he said.

Japanese Plane, 37 Aboard, Falls

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese sources said a Japan Airliner carrying 37 persons crashed in the water 150 miles southwest of Tokyo today. Rescue reports were denied by the U. S. Navy.

The Japanese Maritime Board reported all were picked up by the U. S. Minesweeper Heron or Firecrest. The Navy reported neither ship had picked up anyone.

The rescue vessel Titania arrived at the scene tonight but found no trace of the crash.

Three Americans were aboard the plane—a twin engine Martin 2-0-2. The newly chartered Japan Airlines identified them as Earnest G. Stewart, pilot; Raymond G. Cleveland, co-pilot; and navigator; and a passenger identified only as Captain H. L. Reed of Johnson Air Force Base.

The airlines said others aboard were Japanese. The airliner carried a crew of four and 33 passengers on a flight from the Tokyo area to Fukuoka in Southern Japan.

The U. S. Navy dispatched the Attack Ship Titania to Hamana-Ko, a bay on the Southeast coast of Honshu Island opening into the Pacific Ocean. Rains prevented air search.

The Titania reached the scene tonight. It reported no sign of wreckage or survivors.

Personal Incomes Show Increase

WASHINGTON (UP) — Personal income in February was at an annual rate of $257,100,000,000, an approximate 5 1-2 per cent rise over the same month last year, the Commerce Department reported today.

The February figure was a "modest decline" of $600,000,000 from January because of a reduction in farm income, the report said, but was still regarded as general stable.

Democracy Topic Of Last Letter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The last letter J. Howard McGrath wrote as attorney general was to an eighth grade student in Babbitt, Nev.

The subject: "What democracy means to me."

Francis Dennis of the Hawthorne Elementary School at Babbitt wrote McGrath for a statement on the subject in connection with a civics project. The attorney general got off a reply before stepping out of office late Monday. It read:

"Democracy is a way of life which liberty-loving mankind has been struggling to achieve down through the ages. Democracy means to me individual freedom under law made by representatives of the people themselves.

"It permits me to worship as I choose, to get an education, to think, talk, write and act as I please, so long as I do not interfere with the rights of others.

"I can travel freely, and select my friends. I have the right to seek any work that I am able to do. I have the right to own my home—a sacred institution. I am privileged to vote, in secret, for those who govern me, and to criticize my government.

"True democracy affords justice and opportunity for all. As a result, all have the right to share in the bountiful blessings of our glorious country."

Great Patience Said Required

NEW YORK (UP) — Ernest A. Gross, deputy United States representative to the United Nations, told 300 college students at a model U.N. General Assembly session yesterday that great patience must be exercised in the Korean parleys.

Gross said "the human frailty of succumbing to impatience, frustration and cynicism play into the hands of the enemy."

Inventories Said Showing Decline

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government reported today that the physical volume of stocks U.S. business had on hand decreased in February for the first time since mid-1950.

The Commerce Department said the dollar volume of these inventories was $70,500,000,000 after allowances for seasonal differences. This was $250,000,000 lower than January.
