Indicate Concern On Korean War

Washington Officials Inclined To Believe Communists Are Contemplating Renewed Large-Scale Assault As Part Of Overall Strategy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Threatening Red hints of renewed large-scale warfare in Korea have been received in official Washington with deadly seriousness.

They have sharpened the belief of top-ranking authorities that the Chinese and North Korean Communists, having built up a million-man army and a more powerful air force during the 11 months of truce talks, may now launch a major offensive.

The armistice negotiations stalled upon insistence by the United Nations Command that none of its Chinese and North Korean captives should be forced to go home, and upon a report of a survey among these captives that of 170,000 held only about 70,000 were willing to go home.

Red negotiators have been equally firm in rejecting voluntary repatriation and in denouncing the results of the survey. No one in the American government now seems to see any real hope for resolving the issue.

Moreover, officials speculate that, with new tensions building up in Germany because of Russian resistance to West German independence and rearmament, the men in the Kremlin probably do not now see advantages to a truce in Korea which were open to them a few months or even a few weeks ago.

If their steps taken so far to disrupt communications between Western Germany and Berlin and to restrict movement into the Soviet zone are forerunners of more serious trouble they plan to make, authorities here believe they might logically want to keep as much Western force as possible tied up in Korea.

French Gov't Demands Trial Of Red Leader

Would Try Duclos For Acting Against Internal Security In Bloody Riots

PARIS (UP)—The government demanded today that Jacques Duclos, arrested No. 1 French Communist, be tried for acting against the internal security of France in last night's bloody riots against Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.

Punishment would range from one year in prison to indefinite solitary confinement.

The government demand followed a nationwide ban against Communist demonstrations and the filing of lesser police charges against Duclos for illegally carrying arms.

The squat, bald leader of the second largest Communist party on this side of the Iron Curtain was charged under a 1935 law making it illegal to carry arms during political demonstrations. Conviction carries a penalty of three months to two years imprisonment and a fine.

The Cabinet met in emergency session to decide the prosecution of Duclos while angry De Gaulist deputies indicated they would demand that the Red leader be put on trial for his life on a charge of conspiring to overthrow the government.

Prosecution of Duclos on the lesser charge of illegally carrying arms will avoid provoking a final showdown with the Communists in parliament.

One demonstrator was killed, 200 police were injured and 718 of the 2,000 Communist shock troops were arrested in the bitter fighting between the Reds and the police. The Communists fought with hatchets, nail-studded clubs, bottles and knives, and there was even an exchange of gunfire.

Four days ago the police lodged a complaint against an unspecified "X" on charges of an attempt on the security of the state. If Duclos can be linked with "X", the government may accuse him of this major crime which carries a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment.

Alfred Wigishoff, Duclos' driver and registered owner of his car, and a man police said was Duclos' Belgian bodyguard, were booked on the same illegal arms charge.

Madame Gilberte Duclos, wife of the leader, was arrested with him last night in their car near the focal point of the anti-Ridgway demonstrations, but was released shortly before noon.

The Communist Politburo, over which Duclos normally presides, called for mass protest strikes and demonstrations and urged Reds to "meet Duclos from the fangs of the Fascists." Police seized all copies of Communist newspaper carrying the appeal.

Police said they caught the 26-year-old secretary general of the French Communist party, and his wife in the act of directing anti-Ridgway demonstrations last night, in a sleek, expensive Hotchkiss sedan.

To Committee

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman's foreign aid program headed for a Senate-House conference committee today carrying at least $1,200,000,000 less than the $7,500,000,000 asked to arm the free world against Communist aggression.

The Senate last night passed a $6,700,000,000 mutual security bill after defeating three efforts to cut the total still further.

The House last week cut Mr. Truman's request to $6,162,600,000.

The Senate spread its cut equally over all items in the bill. The House concentrated its slash on military and "defense support" economic aid for Europe, giving Mr. Truman what he asked for other nations.

The Senate bill would provide $200,000,000 less than the amount considered by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, retiring commander of the North Atlantic Pact Army, to be the safe minimum.

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, a GOP presidential candidate, voted for the bill although he had gone along with every proposal to cut the total.

Beauty Pageant To Be Limited To 15 Finalists

Plans Completed For Greenville Contest, With Applications Coming In

Plans for the Miss America Preliminary Beauty Pageant to be held in Greenville June 12 have been completed and the project is now in full swing, Chairman Julian White announced this morning.

Sponsored by local Jaycees, the contest will bring 15 of Pitt County's loveliest and most talented girls together in a contest that will lead directly to the Miss North Carolina Pageant in Winston-Salem July 24, 25 and 26. The winner there will represent the state in the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

"We are attempting to limit the number of local contestants to 15 if possible," White said this morning. "Applications are already coming in and current developments indicate that we will have a very strong contender in the state contest."

The winner of the local contest will receive a $250 scholarship to any college she wishes to attend, and an expenses-paid trip to the state contest in Winston-Salem. If she wins there, the local Jaycee club will sponsor her in the national contest and pay all her expenses to Atlantic City.

In addition to the first prize of $250 and a trip to the state contest for the winner, second and third place winners will receive several hundred dollars worth of merchandise—including a beach ensemble, evening ensemble, street clothing and jewelry. All entrants will be awarded prizes of clothing, merchandise and flowers.

To be eligible, a contestant must be 18 years of age on or before September 1, 1952; be single and never have been married, divorced, or had marriage annulled; be a high school graduate or a senior at the time of the contest; and be able to present a three-minute talent routine. Contestants must be not less than 18 nor more than 28 years of age.

"Tickets for the pageant and dance are already on sale and may be obtained from any member of the Greenville Jaycee club," the chairman disclosed. "Application blanks for entries are available at the Greenville Chamber of Commerce office and may also be procured from Allan Powell, county auditor's office in the Pitt County Courthouse." They will be mailed to prospective contestants upon request.

Any organization, civic club or business establishment in the county may sponsor a girl in the contest or she may enter on her own. White declared the object of the contest is to provide competition for girls with beauty, talent, and above all, exceptional character and reputation.

All proceeds from the pageant will go into the development of Elm Street Park, and thus for the betterment of the city of Greenville.

President Asks $3 Billions More For Atomic Project

Avers Atomic Energy Commission's Program Must Be Expanded In View Of Russian Reluctance To Accept Controls, As Well As In Interest Of Defense

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman today asked Congress for $3,341,000,000 to finance a major expansion of atomic weapon production.

The President asked the supplemental fund for the Atomic Energy Commission and the Tennessee Valley Authority. He said AEC production must be expanded because:

"The Soviet Union has shown no disposition to cooperate in an international program for control and regulation of armaments and, in the absence of effective international control of atomic energy, the national security and the security of the free world demand that we maintain and increase our leadership in this field."

The President outlined his request in letters to House Speaker Sam Rayburn and Chairman Burnett R. Maybank (D-SC) of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee on independent offices.

In his letter to Rayburn the President estimated the total cost of new facilities under the expansion program at approximately $4,200,000,000. The construction program would run over a period of about five years, but the President said "a major portion" of the money "is needed at this time."

Funds required to complete the construction program and operate the resulting plants will be requested in future budgets. Meanwhile, the President estimated that actual expenditure by both the AEC and the TVA for the expansion program in fiscal 1953 would be about $650,000,000. TVA would supply power for the new atomic works.

Asking for prompt approval, Mr. Truman said the expansion program was drafted on the basis of studies by a special committee of the National Security Council with advice from the Joint Chief of Staff.

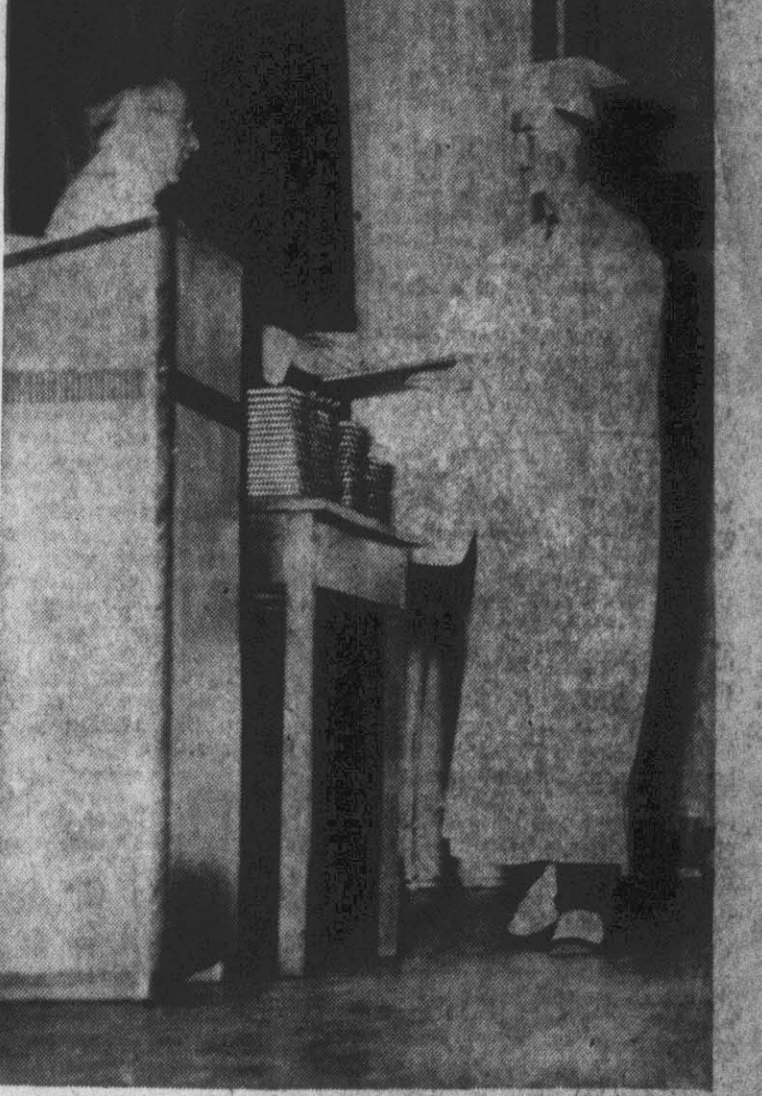

Mr. Truman wrote Maybank because of concern by some members of the Senate Appropriations Committee on how the atomic expansion might affect total federal expenditures.

Mr. Truman said he shared the concern but "we must nevertheless continue our efforts to buttress the security of this country and of the free world."

With submission of the program, the Senate committee has promised to review its action yesterday in refusing to restore $174,272,500 cut by the House from the AEC's regular appropriation for the new fiscal year.

Among other things the House cut $20,000,000 from the amount requested for atomic weapon development and production next year, $25,600,000 from the atomic explosive program—$22,400,000 from reactor project including atomic engine for submarine and aircraft, and $10,000,000 from physical research.

Diploma-Time For Graduates

Greenville High School's Graduates Get Diplomas

Exercises Last Night Mark Departure Of One Of Largest Graduating Classes From GHS; Responsibility Stressed

By ROY HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

One of the largest classes ever to be graduated from Greenville High School, and the largest in the past ten years, brought to a close their high school careers last night when 94 smiling seniors received their diplomas.

In the class of 1952 there were 82 seniors from the school this year, with 14 students who finished their high school work last summer but returned last night to graduate with their class. Two were no present.

The graduation exercise was opened with the traditional senior procession "Pomp and Circumstance" played by the high school band as the 94 white-clad students marched stately down the aisles in the Wright building to take their places of honor on the front rows for the last time.

Invocation was given by Fletcher Murray, vice president of the senior class followed by a piano solo by Janet Watson, "Witches Dance".

The girls glee club then rendered a number "Nocturne", followed by the band playing "The Lord's Prayer".

Each year it has become the custom of the graduating class to select two speakers, one boy and one girl, to deliver the graduating addresses and last night they were presented by Betty Lou Small and Bobby Nichols.

The two spoke on the subject "Youth, Freedom and Responsibility".

The mixed chorus and alumni then joined together to sing "Send Forth Thy Spirit", with the band joining in for the "Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Presentation of the diplomas were made by J. B. James, chairman of the Greenville School Board of Trustees, and by Principal O. E. Dowd.

Excerpts from Small's speech: For over 150 years American people have cherished their ideals of freedom and opportunity. They have been anxious to preserve those ideals and liberties, even at the cost of death on a battlefield. But one enemy of freedom has been overlooked... an enemy hidden within an enemy as destructive as any armed force ever launched against us. That enemy is our acceptance of freedom without the acceptance of responsibility.

During the birth and early years of our nation, responsibility was impressed upon the mind of every young citizen. But that responsibility did not have liberty as its reward.

With the rise of new theories, and with the marshalling of the "ease" era, there was a parallel rise in reported juvenile delinquency cases. Desperate attempts

Safety Council Predicts 310 To Die Over Holiday

Bright Memorial Day Weather; Darker Outlook For Motorists

By UNITED PRESS

Nearly perfect weather was forecast for the Memorial Day weekend and millions of Americans prepared to hit the highways this evening for the first long holiday of the season.

The National Safety Council predicted that 310 persons would die in traffic as 35,000,000 vehicles jammed roadways in the period from 6 p. m. today to midnight Sunday.

The weather bureau said it was not certain yet about Saturday and Sunday but that Friday, at least, would be generally fair except for possible scattered showers along narrow bands on the Atlantic Seaboard, the Great Plain, and the Pacific Coast.

President Ned H. Dearborn of the Safety Council said "it would be a real victory for the cause of safety" if the holiday traffic death toll was held to the total for a non-holiday weekend—about 250.

The Pennsylvania Railroad ordered 60 to 70 extra trains and the New York Central planned to add 40 to normal schedules. Detroit Airline flights were booked to capacity and the Santa Fe Railroad said its reservation lists were full.

Trans-World Airlines said it expected to carry a record holiday load of travelers and United Air said it planned to add extra sections for the weekend.

Some airlines were still under restrictions imposed as a result of the oil strike.

United and American Airlines said at San Francisco that they would carry record holiday loads if they were not running at 65 per cent of capacity. They expected to reinstate full service when the petroleum administration lifts the restrictions next Tuesday.

Election Returns Saturday Night

The Reflector's regular election party will be held Saturday night beginning at 7 o'clock to give the returns from Pitt County and the entire state, in North Carolina's Democratic primary.

Polls in Pitt County and across the state will close at 6:30 Saturday afternoon, and returns from various sections of the state are expected to begin coming in shortly after that time.

This year, as in past years, the Reflector will have its election scoreboard outside its office and Evans Street in Greenville, and returns will be announced over loudspeakers and posted on the scoreboard. The Reflector likewise has secured facilities of radio station WGTG for broadcasting the election returns from Pitt County and the state to those who can not attend the election party in downtown Greenville.

D. J. Wilchard, publisher of the newspaper, requested poll holders in the various precincts of PWC to phone the election returns from their precincts to the newspaper office as soon as they are available. The poll holders were asked to telephone 3356, 3245 or 5500 to give their election returns.

Truman Vetoes Tideland Bill

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman today vetoed the bill to give the states title to oil-rich tidelands. He said the measure ignored the rights of the nation and its whole population.

But the Senate and House may vote to override the veto.

Mr. Truman's principal objection to the bill was that it would make "a free gift of immensely valuable resources, which belong to the entire nation, to the states which happened to be located nearest to them."

West Berlin Is Invaded By Young Commies

BERLIN (AP)—Hordes of young Communists slipped into West Berlin late today apparently intent on a rabble-rousing anti-West rally.

The invasion from the Eastern sector of the city came as the Communists intensified their pressure on West Berlin, isolated Western stronghold deep in the Soviet Zone of Germany.

Anthony Eden, the British foreign minister, was in Berlin to underscore the determination expressed by the West to protect and defend its residents from Communist attack.

He told the West Berlin city parliament that "We shall not be influenced" by Communist threats over the signing of the peace contract with West Germany at Bonn and the European defense treaty in Paris.

Two Ballots Will Confront Pitt Voters Saturday

Two ballots will confront Pitt County voters Saturday when they go to the polls to cast votes for their favorite candidates in the Democratic primary. The short ballot is for county officials in which there are only two races this year. The long ballot is for state officials. In townships where there are races, the voters will have still another ballot to mark for those local offices. There are some 17,000 voters registered on the Pitt County books.

TOKYO (AP)—Brig. Gen. Aaron W. Tyrer, vice commander of the Japan Air Defense Force and a twice-wounded veteran of World War II, was killed yesterday in a jet crash.

Killed with Tyrer was Capt. E. R. Crane of Wichita, Kan., a veteran fighter pilot with 160 missions in World War II and in Korea.

Life Imprisonment Sentence For Convicted Rapist In Pitt Court

By JESS POINDEXTER
Reflector Staff Writer

Standing silently in a courtroom almost as empty as his future looks this morning, Robert Merritt yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment for raping a five-year-old Negro girl.

After deliberating only a little over three hours, a Pitt County Superior Court jury returned a verdict of guilty of rape in the case against the towering, 28-year-old Negro, but they recommended mercy.

A few minutes later, Judge John J. Burney sentenced Merritt to be confined in the state penitentiary "for and during the term of his natural life." Had the jury not recommended mercy, the defendant would have automatically drawn the death penalty.

Requests Jury Pooled

The jury filed in shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and announced their verdict of guilty with recommendation for mercy. Defense attorney M. V. Horton immediately requested that the jury be polled, after which each member of the jury agreed individually to the verdict as read.

Horton moved that the verdict be set aside, a motion which Judge Burney denied. The young defense attorney then moved for a new trial, and the judge denied the second motion.

In a final gesture, Horton requested appeal to the State Supreme Court as a pauper, the terms of which provide that expense of appeal be paid by Pitt County. The court held that the defendant is entitled to appeal as a pauper—without bond or expense.

Might Forfeit Life

"However," Judge Burney told Horton, "I want your client to understand that if the Supreme Court does grant him another trial and the next jury finds him guilty, he might forfeit his life."

The judge's charge to the jury yesterday morning consumed well over an hour, and he instructed them they ought bring in any one of five verdicts. They were: 1. guilty of rape without recommendation for mercy; 2. guilty of rape with recommendation for mercy; 3. assault with intent to commit rape; 4. assault on a female, he being a male person over 18 years of age; and 5. not guilty.

Life Mandatory

Under the criminal laws of North Carolina, a verdict of guilty without recommendation for mercy would have brought the death penalty. And by the same token, a verdict of guilty with recommendation for mercy automatically necessitated a sentence of life imprisonment. It was mandatory.

All through the trial the prisoner wore blue overall pants and a light blue shirt. Throughout most of the testimony he sat stolidly, listening intently to the witnesses. But on occasion he nervously twisted his hands around a checked cap, which he carried with him at all times.

Merritt received his sentence with apparent calm, and when weight upon leaving the courtroom enroute to jail the prisoner stated freely that he is six feet, two inches tall and weighs 166 pounds. His childish victim weighed scarcely 30 pounds.

Trial Jurors

The 12 men who were confined together during the three-day trial, and who yesterday brought in the guilty verdict are: W. A. Allen, Charles H. Briley, Dal L. Cox, John J. Flanagan, Robert C. Harp-er, J. E. Harris, J. H. Mitchell, E. B. Parker, Jr., Vernon Tyson, F. H. Walawright, L. E. Ward and J. E. Wood.

When court adjourned late in the afternoon, those jurors who had come into court Monday without any anticipation of two nights' under guard gathered small, hastily packed bundles and returned to their homes and families.

Camp Hardee Opening Plans Indicate Successful Year

Final preparations are being made for the opening of Camp Hardee on June 1. This season promises to be even more successful than the last.

The first camping period, June 15-June 28, and the second period, June 29-July 12, are already filled to capacity with 52 campers registered for each. There are 37 girls enrolled for the third period, July 13-July 26, with prospects good for capacity registration for this period.

The first and second periods have long waiting lists. Each day brings requests for reservations at Camp Hardee. The Greenville Girl Scout Council is sorry to disappoint these girls.

At least 51 of last season's campers are returning this summer. There are others who have been enrolled at the camp previously and are returning to enjoy its varied program activities.

The ages of the campers this season range from eight to 17. Some of the girls who have attended Camp Hardee regularly for the last six seasons are serving as Junior Staff members this summer.

Girls have registered from Greensboro, Charlotte, Goldsboro, Smithfield, Raleigh, Dunn, Farmville, Ayden, Robersonville, Williamston, Fayetteville, Raeford, Lenoir City, Spring Hope, Linden, Elizabeth City and other towns.

Eight of the girls from Elizabeth City are Girl Scouts who were given Camperships as an award for outstanding work in their eight troops during the year.

Dr. Cuthbert To Be Featured At Music Clinic

Dr. Kenneth Cuthbert head of the Music Department, East Carolina College, will be the featured speaker at a Rural Church Music Clinic to be held with the Kennedy Home Baptist Church, near Kinston, on Tuesday, June 10, from 9:45 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.

This Clinic is part of the Rural Church Development Program of the North Carolina Baptist State Convention. Rev. Henry E. Walden Jr., secretary, and is expected to attract 200 or more rural pastors and lay leaders from 15 counties around Kinston.

Dr. Cuthbert will lecture and give demonstrations on group singing, congregational singing, conducting techniques, and accompaniment. Rev. Cleveaud Wilkie pastor of the host church, will have charge of the devotional period in the morning and will lead the group at the noon hour in an inspection tour of the orphanage buildings and grounds.

Not only are all Baptist pastors and laymen in Halifax, Nash, Edgecombe, Wilson, Martin, Pitt, Beaufort, Greene, Wayne, Lenoir, Jones, Craven, Pamlico, Onslow and Carteret Counties invited to attend this Music Clinic, but it is hoped that County Farm Agents and County Home Demonstration Agents will feel free to come.

Those who expect to enjoy the noon-day meal provided by the host church must write Mr. Walden at 1324 Medical Drive, Raleigh, or Rev. Cleveaud Wilkie, Kennedy Home, Kinston, before June 5.

Dance Revue To Be Last Of This Week

"The Ole North State," a revue in four acts, will be presented by Marie's School of Dance on Friday and Saturday nights of this week. The affair is sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club and will be held at Austin Auditorium on the campus of East Carolina College.

The show will center around the various festivals and pageants which are observed in North Carolina during the year. The four seasons will be depicted in song and dance numbers which have been created especially for this.

Stars of the performance will be the pupils who have been studying dancing during the past year under the tutelage of Marie Wallace. Tickets are on sale from any member of the Junior Woman's Club.

Shower Party Tuesday For Janet Waters

Miss Janet Waters, who is to be married next week to Cpl. Walter L. Cox Jr., was extended a shower courtesy on Tuesday night when Miss Patsy Smith and Miss Molly Hester entertained for her at the home of Miss Smith.

Guests were welcomed at the door by the hostesses and Miss Waters, who was wearing a white bridal corsage pinned on her by the hostesses. The home was attractive with floral decorations which carried out a bridal shower motif.

The living room mantel had an arrangement of pink larkspur and on the piano was a miniature bridal party placed to resemble an altar scene.

In the dining room an all-white color note was observed in the table appointments. A crystal bowl centering the table which was covered with an imported cut work cloth was filled with white lilies and daisies and edged with sweetpeas. White tapers in crystal candelabra furnished illumination for the dessert course over which presided Mrs. George Smith, mother of one of the hostesses, and Mrs. E. D. Griffith.

Iced fruit punch, flower-decorated bridal cakes, salted nuts and minis were served from silver containers.

During the evening a number of amusing games appropriate to the occasion were enjoyed. Following the refreshment hour, the hostesses presented Miss Waters with the shower gifts, a miscellaneous collection of many useful and lovely things. They also gave her gifts of silver and china in her selected patterns.

The 24 guests who were present were all classmates of the honoree.

Nurses Club Has Final Meeting

The Greenville Registered Nurses held their final meeting of the year on Tuesday night with a dinner party at the American Legion Home.

In addition to its being the last meeting of the year, it was family night, and husbands and friends of the nurses were special guests.

The dining tables were decorated with center bowls of assorted summer flowers, and the mantel bore a striking arrangement of magnolias. During the two-course dinner Mrs. Donald McCree, one of the special guests, was presented a corsage in honor of her 20th wedding anniversary, which she and her husband were observing that day.

After the dinner a technicolor film strip, entitled "Research on Orion," was shown by two engineers from the DuPont company. They were Donald Howell and David McCree, who with their wives were special guests for the meeting.

Mrs. Royce Jones, president, presided over the very brief business that needed to be dispatched. Mrs. C. D. Bass introduced the speakers.

Panty Raids Are Reaching British Post In Korea

KOREA (UP)—The panty raid came to Korea today. An entertainer visiting the British brigade headquarters said a pair vanished from her baggage.

The report of a British correspondent said: "Everyone was suspected except the brigadier, who was in the hospital at the time." But most troopers here, whose only raiding parties are the bloody affairs aimed at Communist outposts, had only contempt for the home-front foolishness.

The GI's scoffed at reports that such springtime antics had affected their morale. But Cpl. William T. Hix, Moravian Falls, N. C., said, "If they're really worried about our morale, let the college boys keep the pants and send us the girls."

NOT IN STOCK
MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—A greeting card shop here with 12,000 different cards couldn't fill a request. Mrs. L. A. Riddell said a customer wanted a sympathy card her dog could send to another dog which was ill.

European Voters Show Dictator Ideals Alive

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

When Italian partisans hung Mussolini by his heels at a Milan filling station and Adolf Hitler died in a tunnelled hideout, most of us had the naive thought that we were through with fascism and nazism.

Ten years since 1945 have brought many disappointments and now we can add a couple of others to the list.

Fascism and nazism are far from dead.

Not long ago a German witness before a U. S. congressional committee in Germany began his testimony with the Nazi salute.

It was a direct insult but nobody paid much attention in the press or other business. Besides, it could be written off as a momentary bit of bravado.

Much more concrete evidence comes from Italy where Premier Alcide de Gasperi's center coalition won a hollow victory in Italy's local elections over the Communists on the left and the monarchists and neo-Fascists on the right.

The Movimento Sociale Italiano (MSI) which picked up Mussolini's bag of political tricks, this year also picked up 28 per cent of the Italian vote as opposed to only 2 per cent in 1948.

Fortunately, up to now, neither the Fascists in Italy nor the Nazis in Germany have a real leader.

In Italy, the closest thing to it is Augusto de Marsanich, national secretary of the MSI. He runs a tight organization, works skillfully at building a network throughout Italy and earned the credit for the strong MSI showing in the municipal voting. But he is no spellbinder, no dynamic leader, and his aping of Mussolini's gestures, tones and oratory is but poor mimicry.

There are reasons for the Fascist comeback.

Italy hasn't been able to do much about unemployment which remains at about 2,000,000, the "poor south," traditionally monarchist and rightist in views, finds kinship in the MSI which shrewdly praises the defunct monarchy. Many industrialists who grew fat under Mussolini's rule, see in the MSI an instrument in the fight against the Communists who, in turn, control Italy's strongest labor organizations.

Young people discouraged by the lack of jobs, an insecure future and what seems to them a loss of Italy's international prestige, turn personal bitterness and nationalistic fervor into glorification of a fascism they never knew.

The forecast for Italy is not good. The MSI only needs to take about 70 seats in the Chamber of Deputies to give Italy the same sort of unstable government from which France has been suffering.

McGranery Has Resignations In His Desk Drawer

WASHINGTON (UP) — Attorney General James P. McGranery has obtained signed, undated letters of resignation from all top Justice Department officials as a prelude to a possible housecleaning, it was learned today.

If McGranery wishes to oust any of these officials, he needs only to type the date on the resignation and send it to President Truman.

When the former Philadelphia federal judge took office this week, he made clear that he would check Justice Department personnel as the first step in the campaign against corruption in government.

Most of McGranery's top aides are presidential appointees, so he would need their formal resignations to oust them. The tenure of other department officials who were not named by the president is subject to the attorney general's discretion.

Disabled Vets Get New Service

All Pitt County veterans who suffer disabilities incurred in service and have to wear orthopedic braces because of them, may now get emergency repairs to braces without prior VA approval.

Ernest C. Elliott, officer in charge of the VA office in New Bern, announced this morning that more than 30,000 veterans are now suffering from a variety of disabilities including paralysis of arms and legs from spinal cord injuries, gun shot wounds, unended fractures and polio.

"The VA regional offices have already begun to issue a new 'Prosthetic Service' — Orthopedic Braces" card to each eligible veteran, entitling him to this new service," Elliott said. "By using this card, a veteran will get prompt service from commercial concerns or the VA when he needs emergency or major repairs to his brace."

According to the VA officer, upon presentation of the Prosthetic Service card at any commercial brace or repair shop, any veteran may receive emergency repairs up to a limit of $15 for each brace.

The card will also establish on-the-spot eligibility for major repairs or emergency replacement of orthopedic braces at any of the 30 VA orthopedic shops located throughout the country, Elliott disclosed.

Jaycees Holding Meet Tonight

Greenville Jaycees will meet tonight at 6:30 in the Olde Towne Inn to discuss plans for the Jaycee Beauty Pageant to be held June 12.

President Charles Horne this morning urged that all members attend so individual assignments can be made. "This meeting is considered to be an important one because many members need to be informed about the pageant," he stated.

"I also want to request that all members attend to become acquainted with the new slate of officers installed at the last meeting. It is a very urgent business meeting and one no member of the club should miss," the president said.

Candidates for graduation at Duke University's 100th commencement Monday, June 2 include four Pitt countians. The exercises will be held in Duke's indoor stadium. Photos above show Alfred Earl Saleed, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Saleed, 416 West Fourth Street, Greenville, A. B. degree; Miss Anne Elizabeth House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David T. House of Bethel, A. B. degree. The others are J. Herbert Waldrop, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Waldrop, Greenville, bachelor of divinity degree. While at Duke University, Saleed and Miss House were named to the dean's list for outstanding scholastic achievement. Miss House was also elected recording secretary of the Candidates for graduation at Duke University's 100th commencement Music Study Club. Thomas Wilson Langley, received the doctor of medicine degree.

Big Turnout For Spelling Champ

HUDSON, N. C. — (AP) — Hudson and Caldwell County turned out 2,000 strong yesterday to welcome home the national spelling champion—Doris Ann Hall.

Obviously moved by the turnout, the 13-year-old who won the national spelling bee in Washington last week, clutching her gold cup, told the gathering at the Hudson school grounds:

"Thank you so much for your support. I couldn't have done anything without it. You all have been wonderful to me."

Hudson Mayor J. A. Hickman made the official address of welcome to the champion. Then he read congratulatory telegrams from Gov. Scott and Clyde A. Erwin, state superintendent of public instruction.

There was an additional trophy, too. A bronze plaque was presented by the national spelling bee and the Winston-Salem Journal and Sentinel and radio station WSJS to Hudson School. It was accepted by Principal E. M. White.

Graduates

John Leslie Humber, son of Dr. Robert Lee Humber and Mrs. Humber of Greenville, graduated from Mars Hill College Monday. He has served as college marshal, pianist for the Philomathian Literary Society, treasurer of the Orpheum Club, honor club for students, and he has been a member of the string ensemble, the college orchestra and the church adult choir.

Quit Liquor At A 'Tender' Age

ELBERTON, Ga. — (AP) — Lucius Darby, born a slave, says he quit drinking corn liquor when he was only 70. "before I got old."

That, he adds, is one reason he is still alive and healthy at 110 or 116. Other reasons are his liberal use of chewing tobacco and eating what he pleases.

Lucius was the slave of a doctor in Atlanta, Ga., until the Civil War freed him. Until three years ago, Lucius planted and tended a watermelon patch each summer. Since then, he contents himself with chopping wood and tending the fires in the home of the people he lives with.

He thinks he is 116 but county welfare officials say he is only 110 or 111.

Churchmen Rap Loyalty Oaths At Annual Meet

NEW YORK (UP) — The General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. issued a stinging denunciation of loyalty oaths today and urged its 2,500,000 members to resist a nationwide trend toward "authoritarianism and thought-control."

The assembly ended its annual meeting here by adopting a strongly-worded declaration against what it described as threats against "the whole structure of freedom and equality in America."

Chief targets of the declaration were racial discrimination and unfair loyalty tests based on "a blind fear of subversive forces." The declaration was passed by a large majority of the assembly.

At 88, Doctor Is Still Active

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. — (AP) — A county doctor here thinks retirement is for sissies.

Dr. C. C. Violett, 88, still makes his round of house calls as briskly as a man half his age. Practicing for 50 years, the doctor says he has ushered about 5,000 infants into the world, a sizeable amount for a general practitioner.

When patients ask how he keeps so active, Dr. Violett tells them:

1. Eat and drink well but refrain from all types of stimulants.
2. Keep active mentally and physically.
3. Take a cold shower every morning.
4. Don't sleep too much (the doctor sleeps six hours a night).

College Employs 400 Students

CARBONDALE, Ill. — (AP) — Four hundred of Southern Illinois University's 3,000 students found campus jobs this year. The average worked 71 hours a month for $44.

The 400 formed their own student wage study committee recently. The school granted a 5-cent hourly increase "to help offset the high cost of living."

Quiet Period At Police Station

"All's quiet in police circles," Chief Guy C. Langston said to a reporter today after looking over the "police log" for the last three days.

Only three arrests were made in Greenville since last Sunday. One was for not having a driver's license, and two others for speeding.

Police made another arrest for the sheriff's department. The subject was a violator of his probation judgment.

She was the daughter of the late John and Nancy Hall Bateman of Washington County and had made her home in Plymouth all of her life. She was a member of the Plymouth Methodist Church, the Woman's Society of Christian Service, the Ladies Aid Society, and was a former Sunday School teacher.

Butterflies Are Being Traced In Annual Flights

NEW YORK — (AP) — Butterflies known as Monarchs make regu-north this spring as usual, and scientists are going to do something about it.

The big orange and black butterflies known as Monarchs make regular north and south migrations. Natural History Magazine reports that many attempts have been made to trace their movements. Now experiments at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto have figured out how to mark them by punching a hole in one of their wings and affixing a tiny white label carrying an identification number.

By noting the times and places where the labels are affixed, and the turns are made, the scientists hope to learn much about the flights. The aid of amateur entomologists is being sought.

DiMaggio's Wife Opposes Taking Son On Dates

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Joe DiMaggio's wife, actress Dorothy Arnold, plans to go to court to stop the retired baseball star from taking their 10-year-old son on his dates with other women.

Her attorney, Albert Pearlson, disclosed last night that the actress will take action next Monday seeking a modification of her 1944 divorce decree to prevent DiMaggio from taking Joe Jr., with him when he visits his girl friends.

Pearlson said Miss Arnold's ire was aroused when she learned DiMaggio took the boy along when he visited film actress Marilyn Monroe. Joe Jr. came home using the words "beautiful legs" and "doll," she said.

Klan 'Wizard' In Defiant South Carolina. Address

DOVESVILLE, S. C. — (AP) — Thomas L. Hamilton of Leesville, Ku Klux Klan wizard, who has been charged with conspiracy to kidnap and assault, says he is "not guilty until proven so."

In a defiant speech at a Klan cross burning here last night, Hamilton told his 2,000 listeners, "All the men in North Carolina who wear badges nor all the men in South Carolina who wear badges can never kill the Klan. We will build our organization or bust."

Hamilton faces a hearing two weeks hence in Whiteville, N. C., to answer charges in connection with the flogging of a Whiteville mechanic. He has posted $10,000 bond in the case and a similar amount on fugitive charges in South Carolina.

He continued, "Any man who gets on the stand and lies about me may..." He paused briefly, then went on, "I may serve time, but I'll never forget that man and neither will the people in this organization."

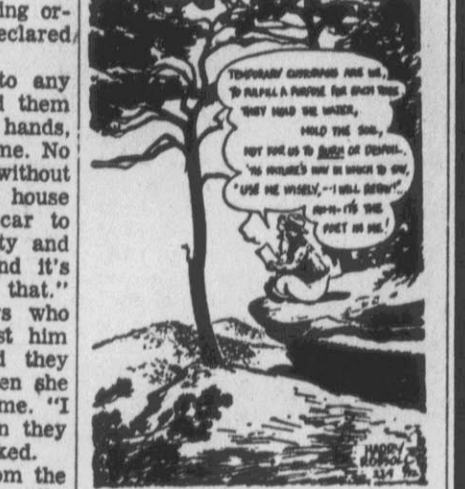

The Klan is not "a whipping organization," Hamilton declared repeatedly.

He said, "I will swear to any individual that I never told them to take the law in their own hands, but they can try to frame me. No one is going to whip me without a fight. I keep guns in my house and an automatic in my car to protect my life and property and that of my loved ones. And it's not against the law to do that."

Referring to the officers who came to his home to arrest him last Friday night, he said they did not believe his wife when she told them he was not at home. "I wish I had been there when they contradicted her," he remarked.

"If I can't get justice from the courts, I will get it before the throne of the Almighty," Hamilton told the orderly gathering.

The Upward Road For Pitt Scouting

It is encouraging to The Reflector to see Boy Scouting on the upward road again in Pitt County. The renewed growth in the movement is evidenced by the increasing number of Boy Scouts in the county, and the increased intensity of Boy Scout activities.

The Scouting movement in Greenville and Pitt County was strong some 10 to 15 years ago, but during the years of World War II, the movement suffered locally, and for the past three years there has been a definite effort to build Scouting back to its former place of prominence in the community. The effort has shown a great deal of progress.

Since last fall, three Eagle Scout badges have been awarded by the local district. For several years recently the Pitt District went without even one Eagle rank being awarded, but now we are witnessing a renewed emphasis by the Scouts themselves, their parents and the Scout leaders on attaining the most sought-after rank in Boy Scouting—being an Eagle.

It is no small thing for a boy to become an Eagle Scout. It takes long hours of work in the woods, in Scout meetings, at home and in the community as well for a boy to pass the requirements to become an Eagle. The whole program is built around the Scout motto: "Be Prepared," the 12 parts of the Scout Law, and the three points of the Scout Oath—"Duty to God and country, duty to others and duty to self." It all points to instilling in youths the knowledge and the desire to be a good and helpful citizen of the community, the nation and the world.

Since the movement began shortly after the turn of the century, it has touched the lives of millions of boys throughout the world, but only a small fraction of these have risen to the rank of Eagle. Almost without exception those Eagle Scouts of years gone by have assumed positions of leadership in their communities, and those youths who are Eagle Scouts today are turned to as the leaders within their own groups of youngsters.

The Scouting program has meant and is meaning a great deal to Pitt County and its individual communities, but there is still a definite need for more leaders and more adult interest in the program. The boys are doing their part, but there is plenty of room for the adults of the community to shoulder more of their responsibility to the Scouting movement.

National Whirligig

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—General Eisenhower tells friends and presidential sponsors that he will not subject himself to the crucifixion of endless cross-examination by press or politicians on his return, even if it means the loss of the Republican nomination.

He believes that such a course would be unseemly and undignified. He also points out that, in the month before the GOP convention, he could not summarize a lifetime's thinking, and apply it to a swiftly moving and shifting panorama of world events. He admits frankly that he has no pat answers or solutions to accumulating evils at home and abroad.

He will hold a minimum of free-for-all, no-questions-barred interviews with the general press. But he will contrive, as is the wont of candidates and presidents, to unveil himself through the eyes of friendly correspondents and authorized spokesmen. He will deliver several formal speeches designed to make clear his general philosophy of politics and government.

CAUTIOUS—Eisenhower's cautious and careful approach to his great adventure derives largely from his military experience, which is only natural. Every politician's behavior—and every president's—is conditioned by his background and environment.

When Ike master-minded the Normandy invasion, for instance, he had a general, basic plan of attack to achieve his objective. In military parlance, that is known as strategy.

But there were so many unknown front-line factors—the enemy's strength, his reserves, his deployment and his reaction—that Ike's tactical plans had to be kept fluid and flexible. He had to rely on alternative and improvised methods of operation, once he had established a beach-head.

Similarly, he has definite beliefs on the great questions of the day. He thinks that he knows a better way of handling them than Truman or Senator Taft. Otherwise, he points out, he would not be in the race.

ADVANTAGE—Eisenhower has an ace card to play as soon as he sits on the national poker game next month. He feels that it gives him a great advantage over his principal opponent, Senator Taft, and over any Democrat. He believes that his non-participation in controversies over major policies will give him a better chance of solving them.

He says that he has not prejudged the issues or the conflicting interests involved in the disputes which have engendered so much bitterness at home, creating a stalemate between White House and Congress, precipitating intraparty dissensions and preventing the adoption of firm and far-seeing policies in the domestic and foreign fields.

At the same time, as he admits, he cannot foretell now how he would apply his general beliefs to specific questions as they arise, when and if he becomes president—almost eight months from now.

Eisenhower's June offensive, which will begin almost exactly eight years after the assault on Festung Europa, may not win him the nomination. But it will be a novel and refreshing venture in high politics. In certain respects it will resemble Wendell Willkie's non-professional campaign.

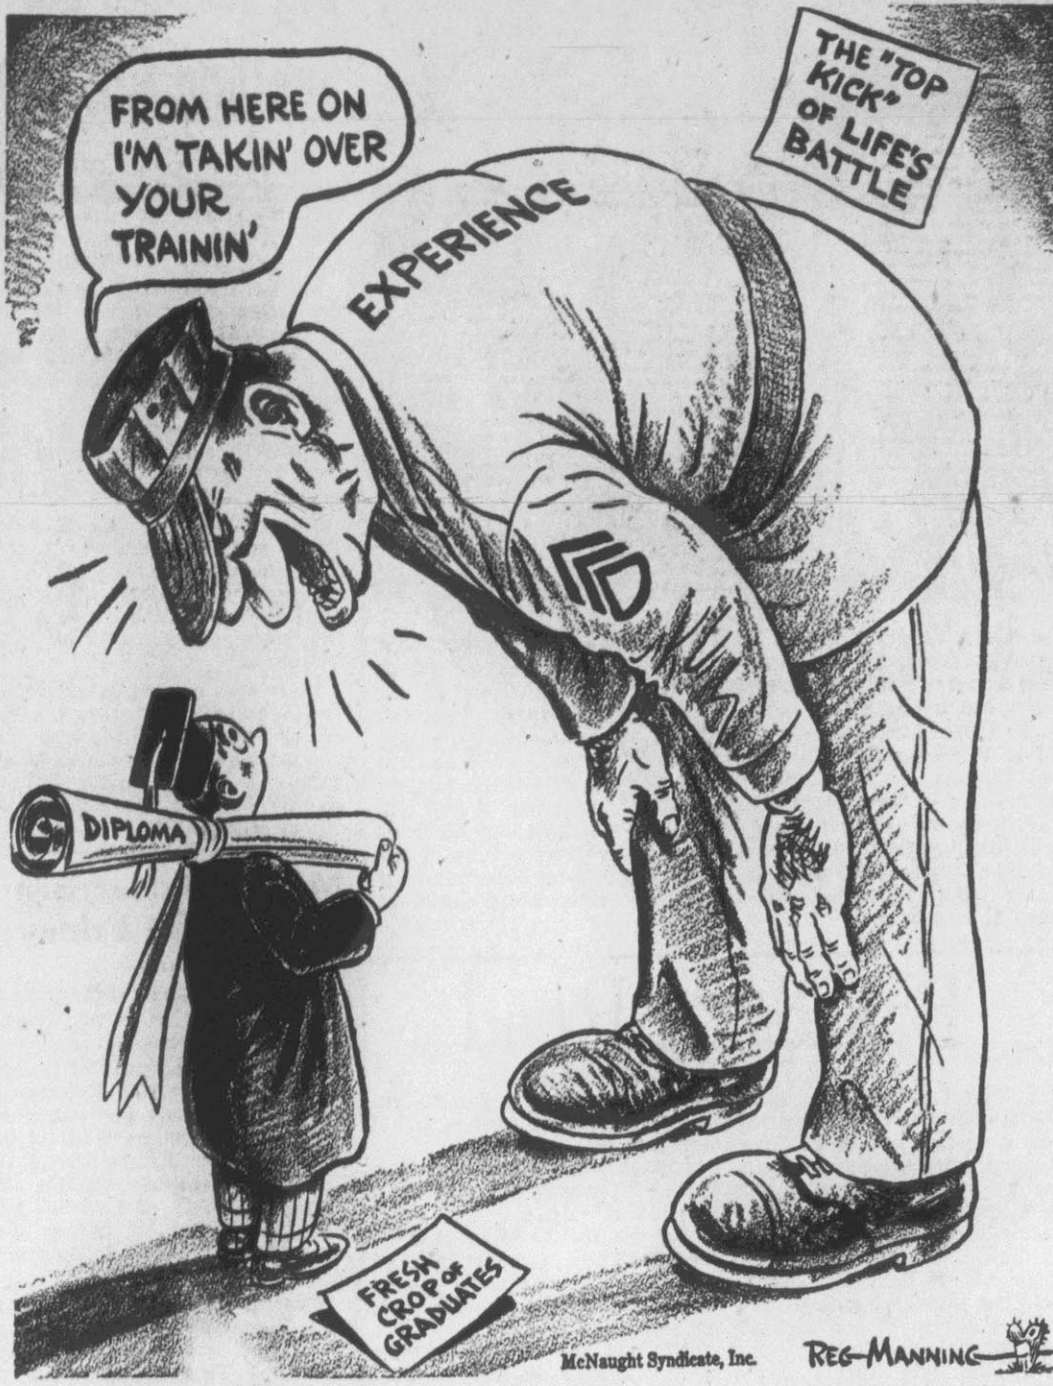

TENETS—Based on an authoritative analysis of Ike's formalized creed, here are its principal but general tenets:

(1) Contrary to MacArthur's insinuations, he believes in the two-party system of responsible government. He will note that he declined the offer of a Democratic nomination, although he could have had it on a Truman platter.

(2) He will not be a "military" chief executive. As Truman did in the firing of MacArthur, he will uphold the idea of civilian supremacy. He will cite World War II instances in which he bowed to Roosevelt-Churchill dictates, although he opposed them.

(3) Although he champions the cause of collective security, he realizes that the United States must not bankrupt itself, militarily or financially, in the effort. He will argue that, in view of his service and prestige overseas, he can best persuade our allies to bestir themselves on their own behalf.

The New Recruit

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

It has been estimated that there are about 400 television sets in and around Greenville, all of which depend on Norfolk for reception. Because of constant rumors about Norfolk's proposed increase of power, I recently wrote the station for a statement. Yesterday I received this answer:

Dear Mr. Edwards: As you probably know, the FCC will not even accept application on the new allocations until after July 1, 1952. I am happy to advise you that we have pending an application for an increase of power to the full maximum allowed by the FCC or 100,000 watts. (Present power, 24,000). As you know, in the channel reshuffle we must change to Channel 3. It is our hope and our application is based on the plan of shifting to Channel 3 and increasing power all at the same time. Unfortunately it will be impossible for me to give you the exact date of such a change, but it is our belief at present that such a change will take place around the first part of 1953. Your question in the third paragraph as to what the power increase would mean to you in Greenville will be a little hard to answer. On the basis of your 50-foot antenna, it is my thought that you would get almost constant reception though it will be much better at some times than others. Actually, you are well out of our fringe area so that any power increase would definitely give you a better signal. The power increase will affect both picture and sound, as the sound power will be increased to its maximum, which is 50,000 watts. I do believe for the highest efficiency, your antenna should be one tuned to the new present assignment of Channel 3. High-gain receiving antennas are extremely sharply tuned as they probably know, and for the best signal over greater distances, our act tuned antennas are of the utmost importance. I think that about answers your questions and if we can be of further service, don't hesitate to call on us. It is my understanding that you probably will have a VHF station of your own there in Greenville in the near future. When this occurs we will probably lose a good many viewers there from WTAZ-TV.

Very truly yours,
J. C. Peffer,
Operations Manager

A statement from the Columbia Broadcasting System reveals that quadrupling power will make a barely audible picture audible. But from the letter you can see that we will have to change our antennas in order to get the best signal, plus the fact that the change is a long time off. It is not unlikely that Greenville will have its station before this increase comes about, as is indicated in the letter from Mr. Peffer.

And I thank you.

VOTE OPEN — "Vote early and often!" That admonition which oldtimers remember as the rallying cry of the white supremacy campaign more than half a century ago is appropriate again this week. Every registered citizen should vote early—as soon as possible after the polls open at 6:30 Saturday morning. Then it is entirely within the law for each citizen to make his vote count for double or more by encouraging or aiding a neighbor to vote. Remind your friends that the right of the ballot imposes also the duty to use it. Help the guy who operates a one-man filling station or store or office by keeping shop for him while he goes to vote. Look after the young mother's baby or watch the roast in the oven while the housewife casts her ballot. "Vote early—and often!"

LOCALS — Information accumulates that in many counties there will be a heavy vote Saturday due to interest in local races rather than statewide contests. A man from Sampson county said there would be the biggest vote in history. Asked whether it would go for Olive or Umstead he said: "Heck, nobody cares about them. The question is whether Henry Vann or Joe Best will go to the state senate." Right here in Raleigh, in the shadow of the capitol and state headquarters for both candidates for Governor, a man said the big question is whether John Swain or Ben Haigh is county commissioner.

WOMEN — And there is evidence of more than usual interest on part of the women. The League of Women Voters and various women's clubs are plugging every hour for a big turnout of women Saturday. They have a valiant warrior in Judge Susie Sharp, first woman ever to grace the North Carolina superior court. Judge Sharp has been speaking for years along the same lines as her baccalaureate address at Greensboro College Monday, when she urged the young women graduates to move into the field of politics and government.

DISINTERESTED — Judge Sharp said that while women in the United States own 75 per cent of the corporate wealth, form 33 per cent of the working force, and manage 85 per cent of the family budget, they hold less than one per cent of all the elective and appointive offices in the country. Admitting some prejudice against women office holders, Judge Sharp said most of the trouble comes from the spectator attitude of women themselves. One reason for this attitude is the prevailing opinion that politics is dirty. "Can you imagine a good housewife refusing to wash the dishes because they are dirty?" she asks. In the last presidential election only 51 per cent of the nation's eligibles voted, and in North Carolina only 39 per cent.

WEAPON — Newspapers, radio commentators and numerous other agencies are emphasizing the importance of the ballot as a weapon in the war for democratic ideals. Throughout the general election campaign in which he has participated William Umstead, now one of the top candidates for governor, quoted many times a little couplet, the author of which is not known:

"The ballot is a weapon that falls gently as the snowflake on the sod — But executes the freeman's will. As lightning does the will of God."

AFTERMATH — The State Democratic convention has been over for almost a week and by now all interested parties know who are the delegates to the national convention—and pretty well how they stand on presidential candidates. There is still a lot of talk about how the delegates at large were selected, and particularly about the break between Governor Scott and Chairman Everett Jordan over alleged switching of names after a list had been agreed upon. The record shows that the delegates were unanimously elected by the convention upon nomination of Robert L. Doughton. Official records also show that the name of Secretary of State Thad Eure was offered from the floor and the fourth district meeting endorsed Rep. Harold D. Cooley.

STORIES — Unofficial and perhaps incomplete newspaper stories have told about Governor

Business Today

Nineteen-fifty-three may be the Year of the New Models. Most businesses are out to outdate all the consumer goods they can. There will be radical changes in appearance of apparel, home furnishings, autos, appliances—almost everything.

As reported here last week, retailers were pretty much dissatisfied with Spring styles in women's suits and the chances are that manufacturers' future models will show more radical changes. But the emphasis on new lines, new looks and new models will not be confined to clothing.

In home furnishings and appliances, many markets are near saturation. The number of refrigerators, radios and suction cleaners in use is getting close to the number of dwellings wired for electricity.

In addition, it is no secret that people have been showing a greater tendency to save instead of spend. Up until a couple of years ago, economists had always taken it for granted that spending went up and down with total personal income. But in the last year, spending has shown a tendency to decline while incomes have risen or, in the duller periods, held even. This has slowed the sales of autos and many other durable goods.

So manufacturers will offer the New Model as a challenge to the consumer's reluctance to buy. One reason the new models will be radically different is that many will be making up for a lost year of making.

There wasn't much in the way of new models last year. There were changes, thousands of them, but not near as many as manufacturers would have liked. Shortages of materials and the high defense priority on new tools and dies limited the changes. Some 1952 autos were almost identical with the 1951 models. Now most metals are more nearly adequate or soon will be, and the tool and die makers are over the hump.

It is too early to tell just what changes are in store. Manufacturers keep such things secret. But one 1952 car approached the low, easy lines of imported cars and there is a report that one of the popular priced car's next look will be continental. This may force other manufacturers in the same direction.

Meanwhile, the fact that changes are coming is no reason for consumers to slow up their buying any further. The more radical changes, the more tooling needed and the more time it will take. In addition, most of the durable goods on the market represent the best buy in several years. A lot of water has been squeezed out of prices and under the intense competition of the moment, most durables are designed to give long-term satisfaction.

SEES HOME BUILDING SET NEW RECORDS
While housing starts this year have been running behind those in early 1952, there may be enough of a spurt in the last half to bring the year's totals above the 1951 record, Dr. Arthur M. Weimer, economist of the United States Savings and Loan League, predicts.

He said high incomes and relatively favorable financing terms will keep demand strong and that stability of costs and greater availability of materials will encourage builders.

1951 FIRE LOSSES MAY SET RECORD
Fire losses this year will set a new high mark of $750,000,000, Dale K. Auck, fire prevention expert for the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies said. He based his prediction on the rate of fire losses in the first three months. Because of the rise in losses, insurance rates have gone up. Chief causes of fire, according to Mr. Auck: smoking and matches.

BAGS FOR RAINCOATS NOT LUGGAGE, SAYS BIR
A plastic bag for carrying a raincoat is not taxable under section 1661 of the revenue code, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has ruled. The Bureau reversed an earlier ruling after a protest by the National Retail Dry Goods Association.

MONTH OF SALES
Sales will be heavy in June. One of the companies that buys merchandise for some seventy-five independent department stores has been buying, with an eye to June sales and has developed a month-long promotional campaign for its clients.

THE campaign will probably cause other stores to compete with their own special sales.

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Hubert M. Humphrey says if she ever becomes mistress of the White House it will be the first time she has ever been able to afford a baby sitter for her four children.

The wife of the Minnesota senator, who says he is technically in the race for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency because he won the Minnesota primary but isn't seeking it, says she's given little thought to the role of First Lady.

"It would be a terrific job," she told me. "Having a small family to raise, it would be difficult to make adjustments. But I guess I could play it by ear. We had to make adjustments when my husband was mayor of Minneapolis and when he came to Washington as Senator in 1948."

The former Muriel Fay Buck, daughter of a Huron, S. D. produce man, Mrs. Humphrey met her politically up-and-coming husband, then a pharmacist's clerk in his father's drug store, at a dance. They were married in 1936 after she had graduated from Huron College. She got jobs and helped finance his way to a B. A. degree at the University of Minnesota and an M. A. degree at the University of Louisiana, meanwhile caring for a growing family, running a home, making her own clothes, darning socks.

The senator says his wife is no politician; but she likes politics and is a great help to him on his campaigns around the state. "She doesn't make speeches, but she's a good visitor and talks women's talk in a neighborhood way, telling women the things they want to know about what goes on in the capital," he told me.

"It's important to get out and talk to the people," Mrs. Humphrey said. "When I go out with my husband I get so enthusiastic, sometimes I actually wish he were running for President."

When they came to Washington, the Humphreys sold their home in Minneapolis to buy a residence here. Mrs. Humphrey works in the garden when she isn't occupied with the four youngsters—Nancy, 13, Hubert, 10, Robert, 8 and Douglas, 4. Recently she got interested in renewing the piano studies she began in girlhood.

Her husband says she's an excellent cook especially when it comes to wild game fowl and fish, of which they used to have plenty after vacations in the Minnesota lake regions. The Humphrey children rarely see their father at the dinner hour, but the family gathers daily at the breakfast table and Saturday nights in the kitchen to pop corn.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

STUDYING THE FAMILY (Rocky Mount Telegram)

In your family, who decides whose job it is to do the dishes? Who decides when the lawn is to be mowed, whose job it is to put out the milk bottles, where to go on holidays? Who decides what groceries to buy? Is there disagreement?

Based on these and other similar questions, P. G. Herbst, psychologist of the University of Melbourne, Australia, has developed a scale which will give a numerical score on how well wives and husbands get along. Originally developed for use in the UNESCO study of Australian cultures, the scale is suitable, with minor changes, for use in most western urban communities.

It was decided that interviewing either husband or wife might result in biased answers and so the questions were put to the children.

Most common pattern of family life in Melbourne is that in which both husband and wife are their own bosses, but where one dominates the other, it is usually the wife who "wears the pants" of the family. Friction is greatest where either husband or wife tries to boss the other. It is least where both decide together and work together on family affairs.

Household duties divide themselves into man's work, woman's work and common tasks. It is the man who mows the lawn and it is he who decides about it, too. But the wife is the one who does the ironing. Either may take a hand at the dishes.

Both parents look after the children, but decisions about them rest with the wife.

By the time they are four years old children take part in the social activities of the family, but even at that early age, boys have learned to let the woman's work alone and girls do not interfere with the man's work.

It's a pity that more families do not pay more attention to these details, which may appear quite insignificant to some but which, nevertheless, often spell the difference between a family that is happy and one that is not.

Eisenhower Returning To U.S. With Big Part Of His Mission Completed

By J.J. MEEHAN
United Press Staff Correspondent
PARIS (UP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flies back to the United States this weekend with Europe's defense far from impregnable but with his second "Crusade in Europe" on the road to success. European Allies who have worked with him at his headquarters feel he has accomplished his mission. "He has done more than any other military commander available at the time possibly could have done to build up a measure of security against Russia's communist threat," they said. Probably the best way to set Eisenhower's achievements in perspective is to answer these questions: 1. What did he have when he started? 2. What goals did he set? 3. How close did he come to realizing these goals? There is an ironic saying around the general's headquarters: "A year ago the defenses were zero—we could only have glared at the Russians when they marched past." That answers the first question. When Eisenhower took command of the European NATO forces April 2, 1951, he first set his sights on what he calls the "spiritual" problem—what other military men call morale. He told his first press conference then: "I know only this, ladies and gentlemen. This problem on which we have collectively embarked is specifically one of the heart, one of confidence." He concentrated on giving Western Europe the will to make the necessary sacrifices and the confidence in her own ability to mount fighting formations capable of stopping any Russian advance. In other words, starting with virtually nothing, Eisenhower considered his mission primarily a crusade to sell Europe on the idea of making the effort to defend itself and to convince nations wearied by the blood-letting of two great wars that the effort was worthwhile. This is what Europe has now: 1. Seventeen tough, war-ready Allied divisions facing Russia's 22 smaller divisions in Germany where a year ago seven divisions were charged with the defense of the West. The 17 divisions are practically equal to the Russian force in manpower. 2. Greece and Turkey, boasting between them some 29 divisions, have been added to the Western alliance, shoving Allied air power within easy reach of Russia's oil fields at Baku. 3. Master battle plans have been drawn secretly in anticipation of every aggressive move Western intelligence agencies believe the Russians could make. The ground buildup means that the West's forces in Europe are still dwarfed by the great Russian war machine of 175 divisions. But it also means the West has a punch ready that stands some chance of delaying a Russian thrust until more forces are mobilized. 4. A new battle-ready supply line has been activated, based on wartime principles. A year ago these lines moved to German ports almost horizontally across the "front," dangerously exposed to attack. The lines now stretch straight back to French ports the way they did during the shooting in World War II. 5. Air defense plans have been drawn and tested in a series of big maneuvers. A radar screen now probes Western Europe night and day from the northernmost tip to the Swiss Alps. But the Russians hopelessly outnumber the Allies in the air—and have better planes as well. The Reds have 20,000 combat planes. The West hopes to have a mere 4,000 by the end of this year. What, then, has been accomplished? 1. European morale has been boosted considerably—Eisenhower's main object. 2. Plans have been drawn to cover any Russian attack. 3. A "shield" of fighting forces is deployed in Germany, where almost nothing had been before, to hold up a Russian attack. 4. What the planners call "the military posture" of the West has increased enough so that if the Russians started marching it would cost a lot of Russian blood.

Newest Trawler Is Fish Factory

LONDON — (UP) — A revolutionary type of radar and radio-equipped "fish-factory" trawler with an aperture in the stern, similar to whaling factory ships, is being built at the Aberdeen Yards of John Lewis. The 245-foot-long, 44-foot-broad ship is equipped with a 300-horsepower electric motor-operated winch which pulls the trawl nets through the stern aperture instead of the usual over-the-side procedure. The catch is then dropped through hold openings into fishpans in the factory space, where machinery washes fillets, skins and heads the fish, after which they are weighed and packed into trays for quick freezing. Kept In Storage The fish then are packed into cartons and passed by conveyor belts to storage holds, where they are kept at a temperature of 5 degrees Fahrenheit. Very little of the fish is wasted. Offal is fed by conveyors to the fishmeal plant, where it is processed into fishmeal for use by cattle and poultry. Fish liver oil is extracted from the livers. The ship, which is being built for Chris. Salvesen and Com-

Islands Near Australia Preparing For A-Bomb

THE NARVIK leaves port bound for site of British atomic test.

By GORDON TAIT AP Newsfeatures

SYDNEY, Australia — Britain's first test of her atomic weapon may be made at or near the barren Monte Bello Islands off lonely Northwest Australia.

There are several pointers towards the group as the likely site for the test, which Prime Minister Winston Churchill announced would be held in Australia this year. Among them are: Two Royal Navy landing ships, the Narvik and the Zebra, have headed north recently, carrying 100 engineers and equipment for the test from England. An Australian water lighter and a food lighter went with them. There is no worthwhile fresh water at the Monte Bello Islands.

Ships' Aid Preparations An Australian boom ship has been buoying channels approaching the Monte Bello Islands. The Australian Navy minesweeper Mildura is believed to have been taking stores to the islands.

The Department of Civil Aviation has issued regulations prohibiting anyone from carrying a camera while flying over a large area of western Australia.

Civil airline pilots have also been advised that flying in this area is restricted. Every plane in this area must report its position every 20 minutes. No charter flights will be allowed over the area without special permission. During World War II there was a big airstrip at Learmonth, popularly known to American airmen as "Potshot." This may still be in fair order and would be convenient for the tests.

In Sub-Tropics

The Monte Bello Islands are in the sub-tropics, and normally are uninhabited. Before World War II Japanese pearl divers used them as a base.

The island group covers 75 square miles, consists of three main islands and hundreds of islets. The main islands are Hermite, Trimouille, and North-West. Hermite is about 6 miles long and 2 miles wide. It is rocky with limestone and coarse sandstone formations. There are several shallow lagoon-like bays which dry out with the 18-foot rise and fall in tides.

Trimouille Island is chiefly sand dunes, rock edges and sandstone cliff faces. It is about 3 miles long and less than a mile wide. On the northern end of Trimouille is the highest feature of the group—a sand dune rising about 120 feet above sea level. North-West Island is 4 miles long and about half a mile wide. Sand dunes form an undulating ridge along the center.

Inland Route To South For Soviet Submarines

LONDON — (UP) — With the opening of the Volga - Don Canal, now near completion, Russian submarines will be able to pass through central Russia from the Baltic and the White Sea to the Black Sea in the south.

The latest number of the authoritative Communist Party periodical Bolshevik disclosed that the 63-mile-long canal will be able to carry ships much larger than was originally believed here.

It said ships with a net cargo charge of 2,000 tons will be used to transport grain and coal through the canal.

Passenger ships more than 100 yards long with 800 "soft" seats will pass through the canal on regular trips from Moscow to Rostov-on-the-Don, the Black Sea summer resort and back, the periodical said.

All But Largest Experts here said the figures indicated that all but the largest types of submarines will be able to pass through the canal.

9 Locks Built The canal stretches from Krasnoarmeisk, a town on the Volga below Stalingrad, to the town of Kalach on the Don. Ships coming from the Volga will cross the heights that divide the two rivers by climbing a 46-yard "ladder" made on nine locks, then descend to the Don level through four other locks.

The strategic importance of the canal, experts said, consists in enabling the Russians to move their submarines from their shipyards in the north to the Black Sea without making the long journey around Europe. It will ensure complete secrecy about the disposition of the Soviet submarine forces and the possibility of concentrating them in one place.

The value of the canal for similar operations in war - time is disputed by the experts, since it would be highly vulnerable to air attacks.

To Relieve Railways

The canal will join the 18,000 miles of navigable rivers and canals of the Volga and the northwestern water transport system with the Black Sea. It will enable the transport of bulky cargoes, such as timber, coal and grain, to be switched from the overloaded Soviet railways to the rivers.

Donetz coal, metals and ores, North Caucasian grain, tinned and fresh fruit will go up the Volga. Down the Volga (or from the Caspian Sea through the Volga) and to the Black Sea will go timber chemicals and oil.

In the north, the Volga Basin is linked with Leningrad and the Baltic with the old Mariinski system of canals. The network of canals links the Volga with the White Sea.

In addition, Leningrad is linked with the White Sea by the White Sea-Baltic canal. The center of this huge river transport system is Moscow, now christened by the Soviet press "the port of the five seas."

Asiatic elephants may grow to be as much as 11 feet tall.

War Contracts Said Unfair To Local Gov'ts

CHICAGO — (UP) — Local governments are being deprived of vitally-needed revenue sources under terms of many defense contracts awarded to industry by the federal government, according to the National Association of Assessing Officers.

The association's general appraising committee said that under terms of some defense contracts, ownership of all raw materials as well as machinery used in production of war goods passes to the federal government when the first payment is made on the equipment in the process of manufacture.

All federal property is exempt from state and local taxes unless taxation of such property is specifically authorized.

Clown And Dog In Political Arena For Candidate

DURHAM, N. C. — (UP) — Baby kissing may be circus enough for most political candidates, but a congressional aspirant, Tom Sawyer, is doing his stumping with a trained dog and a real grease-paint clown.

Sawyer, a candidate for the Democratic nomination from North Carolina's sixth congressional district, says the act is a crowd-stopper. He makes the speeches; Buzzie Potts, a Barnum and Bailey veteran, handles the slapstick, and Daisy, Potts' dog, walks on her hind legs.

The result probably has made more school-age youngsters in the sixth district election-conscious than any civics course offered at school.

The TRUTH About REA

Statements being made and published that I voted to kill the Rural Electrification Act when I was serving in the United States Congress are absolutely false.

It is another chapter in the story of half truths, deceitful insinuations, and distortions of fact that have been paraded before the people of North Carolina in a deliberate effort to deceive them. It is typical and in further evidence of the type of campaign being carried on in behalf of another candidate in this race.

Those of you who are familiar with my record as a member of Congress and the United States Senate know that I have supported the REA program.

I voted and worked for the passage of the Rural Electrification Act. I not only supported its enactment but thereafter supported appropriations necessary for the development of the REA program and have supported and defended the act since it was first passed. I opposed reducing appropriations for REA in a speech on the floor of the United States Senate on June 26, 1947, and have defended the REA program in many public speeches in North Carolina during the past fifteen years.

I am heartily in favor of the Rural Telephones Program of REA, and I think that it should be encouraged in every way. If I am nominated and elected Governor, I shall use the influence of my office to aid the farmers of North Carolina in securing telephones and in continued support of the REA program.

I regret that the campaign headquarters of my opponent has seen fit to distort my record in support of REA by saying that I voted in May 1938 against continuing REA as a permanent agency. The facts are that there was no legislation before the Congress in 1938 on the question of continuing REA as a permanent agency.

The REA Act was originally passed in 1936 to continue for a period of ten years, and the matter of its continuance as a permanent agency was not before the Congress until after I had retired from Congress.

I have not only supported the REA, the rural telephone program, and the entire farm program, but I have also supported and voted for every program for better roads and schools that has been proposed in North Carolina in the past 30 years, including the Better Schools and Roads Program of 1949.

Chapter 20

Mr. Forsythe hesitated, then strode across the summit of the little hill and sat down beside his abstracted recreation director. It was almost dusk. He was very fond of the sunset hour, was Mr. Forsythe, who had spent so many years of his life in the woods. To him it was the finest hour of the day, the most peaceful, the most enchanting. But with the sober-faced, daydreaming girl beside him he couldn't find any beauty at all. He shook his leonine head. "This isn't the way, Miss Bancroft," he said finally, in a faintly rebuking tone. "You are a better person than this."

"No, I think not." He shifted his position, drawing up his legs and resting his arms on his knees. "You were a girl who fell in love, that is all you were. As for the rest—well, it was wrong of you, of course, to want to come between George Poppleton and his wife Leslie—but it wasn't a great wrong because you didn't destroy their happiness. So you have nothing to be ashamed of, and there is no reason for you to brood alone here in these woods. I understand, and Evelyn Moore and Leslie Poppleton and Bruce Hall understand—as for the others, naturally they know nothing about it."

"I should have realized!" she said, going over the whole business once more. "There were so many indications that all wasn't as I wanted it to be. George—well even in France I knew that George was a basically honest person. I should have known after I got his card that he had never really been in love with me." She rose, her bosom heaving. "That is what is so hard to take, though—the knowledge that while to me it was very serious, to him it was just a good deed."

"We all behave stupidly at times," he said with the air of a man talking from experience. "I won't deny that George was stupid, nor will I deny that you have the right to feel furious with him, but only an inexperienced or silly person broods over past injuries." "Oh, I don't blame him, not anymore. It's myself that I blame."

I was so childish. I've hurt so many people. And for what? That is the rub. For what?"

"I imagine," he said quietly, "that those who love you will be sensible enough to stop brooding over the wrongs that have been done them, too." Smiling, he rose as the sun disappeared. "I'm glad you've worked it out in your mind. Incidentally, I'm expecting you at the campfire meeting. I think you have lived withdrawn from the activities of the camp long enough."

"I have been a rotten recreation director, haven't I?"

He was a very gallant gentleman. "On the contrary, you have been exactly the sort of person I wanted to fill the job."

"I'll be there."

She smiled after he had gone. She had felt even in New York that he was a remarkable person, and now she was glad that if she had to have a fall the fall had occurred here in this camp, where he would come and help her to pick up the pieces.

She tried to see through the dark, as something rustled in the shrubbery beside the path a few feet ahead. "Who is it? Is that you, Mike?"

The rustling became louder; then a tall, wiry figure loomed before her. "Just a doctor out for an evening stroll," Bruce said. "I would have joined you on the hill, but I was afraid you might still be angry with me."

"I am." She tried to brush past him, and exclaimed with anger when his hand gripped her arm tightly. "Let me by!"

"I suppose I should. I suppose it is terribly ungentlemanly to use force in your relations with a lady. But really, how do you expect me to behave? I am like the man who has shown a person the pathway to true happiness—a man being rewarded with kicks and insults."

"You went to a great deal of trouble, Dr. Hall, to interfere when you had no right to interfere. What do you expect me to do? Kiss you because you proved to me that I was a fool?"

"No, I didn't expect that. But I did expect a person of your education to realize that it was better to learn the truth now than later."

He released her, laughing as the first glimmer of the moon appeared in the sky. "Isn't it strange? I find myself liking you sometimes, even a 'miring you. Yet you certainly are a vile-tempered idiot. Well, go on your way. Don't keep all your ardent dazed admirer's waiting. Who is to be tonight: Andy, Ralph, or have you made some other conquests?"

"How dare you!"

"Using people is hardly the sort of thing a girl should do," he said brusquely. "What happens when Andy discovers you are not in love with him—or Ralph—or the others?"

"I would suggest, Dr. Hall, that you confine your—"

His voice, thickening, halted her as she walked by him. "And yet you are so very beautiful, aren't you?"

She whirled, trying to see his face in the dark, an utterly hopeless thing to do. "Come," she laughed, "don't tell me that you are falling in love with a vile-tempered idiot. That would be too good to be true."

His laugh was tremulous, but nonetheless it was a laugh. "I'm afraid you'll have to find another way to avenge yourself. Miss Joane Bancroft. Hasn't Evelyn Moore told you that I am in love with an Alice Cranby? You see, I'm not that idiotic."

Open To Libel For Message On Restroom Wall

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — The owner of a public place must remove salacious remarks about an individual from a restroom wall or expose himself to a libel suit, a California court has ruled.

The ruling came yesterday in a $100,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Isabelle Hellar of Roseville, Calif., against Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bianco, owners of the Hy Dee Ho Cafe. A Superior Court had dismissed the suit. The Third District Court of Appeals reversed the lower court and sent the case back for trial.

In its ruling, the appeals court noted that on the wall of the men's room in the Hy Dee Ho Cafe "appeared libelous matter indicating the plaintiff was an unchaste woman who indulged in illicit amatory ventures."

The message included a telephone number along with the phrase, "ask for Isabelle."

When it is first formed, the human embryo is less than a hundredth of an inch across.

Amundsen's Ship Rests In Glory At Golden Gate

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — A voyage of exploration which began in 1903 has never ended, at least to the romantic who is willing to use his imagination.

On the beach of San Francisco's Golden Gate Park, her bow some 200 yards from the boiling surf at the entrance of the park, lies the world-famous schooner Gjoa, Capt. Roald Amundsen's 47-ton craft which carried him over the top of North America through the "Northwest Passage" in 1905.

How the former Norwegian fishing boat, elevated to the glory of a ship of exploration ranking with Henry Hudson's Half Moon or Sir Francis Drake's Golden Hind, came to rest on San Francisco's rocky shore is a little-known story.

Just Small Boat

Small by modern standards, the Gjoa was 70 feet long, had a beam of 21 feet 6 inches and a draft of nine feet one inch. When she pulled out of Oslo, Norway, in 1903, she carried 313 square yards of canvas on her two masts and jibs.

To guard against becalming, Amundsen had installed an auxiliary kerosene engine of 13 horsepower. Other than that her gear was essentially the same as when she joined the Norwegian fishing fleet in 1872.

In this craft, which would make a good sized lifeboat on a modern ocean liner, Amundsen and his crew set out on a voyage above the Arctic Circle, through waters never before cut by a ship's keel. It was a voyage that was destined to come to an end three years later at San Francisco.

After traversing the northern straits, the Gjoa entered the Pacific Ocean and headed toward southern waters on the voyage home. Ironically, after traversing unknown waters to the north, the ship nearly came to disaster off the Golden Gate. There she encountered a raging Pacific storm that left the ship wallowing helplessly.

Towed by Cutter

A United States cutter took the ship in tow and led her to the sheltering waters of San Francisco Bay, where she dropped anchor on Oct. 19, 1906.

Stirred by the exploits of this tiny ship and her crew, the Norwegian colony in San Francisco subscribed sufficient money to buy the Gjoa. At impressive ceremonies in 1905, the ship was turned over to the city to be made a lasting memorial to Amundsen's exploits.

Towed back through the Golden Gate, the Gjoa was beached and, while thousands lined the shore, she was slowly dragged through the surf and into a prepared dry land berth.

The whole operation took nearly a week. While donkey engines strained and cables parted time after time, the ship was pulled over rollers, turned completely about, and settled in her final resting place.

TURTLE SHAKES EARTH

PLYMOUTH, N. H. — (UP) — Russell Homer thought he was seeing an earthquake when a large mound of earth moved in his tulip garden. He plunged his spade into the "earthquake" and struck something hard. It was a 30-pound turtle.

Roger Bacon is believed to have been the first to produce a gunpowder which actually exploded, although incendiaries of similar composition but with impure ingredients had been known for a long time previously.

VOTE

R. GUY JACKSON

FOR

COUNTY COMMISSIONER

You can help make Saturday, May 31, a big day in Pitt County and North Carolina by voting our National, State and County Tickets. This most important Primary should be of concern to every registered voter in Pitt County. Take time out and vote for the candidates of your own choice; this is an opportune time and a great privilege to show by your vote your interest in your government. My interests are in the problems which concern the general welfare of all our citizens. It is, in fact, an unthinkable and astonishing situation that we have virtually a two-county member on our Pitt County Board of Commissioners. The position of Commissioner is very important, but not indispensable as some may think. In my District, there is a big hue and cry for a change in our Commissioner. Won't you as a voter help your fellow and sister voters get their desired change in Commissioner that they so overwhelmingly voted for two years ago?

I appeal to you in all sincerity to help me wrest our Pitt County Government from the hands of this two-county dictatorship and put our interest where you and I live. For your valued votes I will give honest, sincere service on a fair and impartial basis to all citizens of Pitt County. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated.

Respectfully,

R. GUY JACKSON

To My Friends In Pitt County

And Elsewhere:

As a housewife, mother and grandmother, I have always been too busy with my family to take an active part in any politics. I am appealing at this time, however, to my friends and neighbors to support and vote for my cousin, Itimous T. Valentine, in his candidacy for re-election to the office of Judge of the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

I know Judge Valentine to be a man of sterling character, able, conscientious, and wedded to a sincere conviction that everyone, rich or poor, is entitled to equal justice in the courts of this State.

Greenies Drop Loop Contest To Stantonsburg, 8 To 4

Errors Hurt Greenies As Visitors Triumph

Stantonsburg Score Two Runs In Fifth To Provide Winning Margin; Greenville Plays Ormondsville Saturday

By MELVIN LANG
Reflector Sports Editor

Stantonsburg pushed across two runs in the top of the fifth inning here last night and used them to advantage to take an 8-4 victory over Greenville in a Bright Belt League contest at Guy Smith Stadium.

Pete Stuart, former second baseman for the Wilson Tobs in the Coastal Plain, started the inning by doubling into centerfield. After catcher Charlie Westbrook had been fanned by Johnny Kovalchick, Fern Bissette fled out to the rightfield, with Stuart moving to third base on the throw-in. From that point, Greenville took command of the ball game and almost personally saw to it that Stantonsburg would score.

The fun started when Pete Hardison's fly to rightfield was errorred by Joe Hobgood. Stuart scored the eventual winning run on the error and Hardison took second. Kovalchick got into the act then as he tossed a pitch into the dirt at home plate, which eluded catcher Troy Sears. Before the ball could be found, Hardison had come all the way from second base to score.

Except for the fifth and seventh innings, the game was well-played and tight all the way as both teams scrapped desperately for a win. Another error in the seventh brought home two more runs, and Stantonsburg had the ball game all sewed up.

Greenville scored its runs one at a time in the first, fourth, fifth and sixth innings. A double by Dallas Jackson scored Red Sauls in the first with the initial Greenville run while Simon Hardison scored in the fourth after being struck by the pitcher, moving to third base on an error and riding home on a passed ball.

Sauls scored again in the fifth as Stuart errored the ball on an attempted double steal by Sauls and Virgil Payne. Jack Boykin, who went the distance for the winners, walked in the last Greenville run in the sixth inning.

Hobgood led off the frame with a long double into right field. Troy Sears singled with one away, and they pulled a successful double steal. After Kovalchick had struck out, Boykin walked Sauls and Payne to force Hobgood home with the fourth Greenville run.

Greenville plays at Ormondsville Saturday afternoon and then comes back to Guy Smith Stadium Sunday for a game with the same team.

A large crowd took advantage of "Free Admission Night" to see the Greenies play last night.

LINE OF WINNERS
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — In the last 22 years the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs has been won 17 times by horses sired by sons or grandsons of two stallions - Swynford and Teddy. Both were bred and raced in England but Teddy was imported to this country after his son, Sir Galahad III, was so successful as a sire here.

HAPPY FOURSOME — Sammy Snead has played little golf this spring but here the recent Masters champion gets a check for $1,800 for winning the Greenbrier Open over his home course with a 16-below par 264. William C. Ford's smile is reflected in the silver tray he won as pro George Fazio's partner in the pro-amateur event. Western Open To Start Up Today

ST. LOUIS (UP) — The forty-ninth western Open Golf championships gets underway here today at the Westwood Country Club with 121 pros and amateurs teeing off.

"It looks tough," said Lloyd Mangrum, the man who shot a practice round of 65 here a few years ago. A campaigner just back after a layoff, Mangrum said he believed 278 or 280 should win this tournament.

But Cary Middlecoff, the golfing dentist, who won the St. Louis open the past two seasons, jokingly joined in with, "I'll probably take about 300 strokes."

But the pros concede that the tough part of this tourney will be Sam Snead, a favorite to win.

Slamm'n' Sammy, who took most of the gallery with him in yesterday's practice round after a terrific 300-yard first drive, is a two-time victor of the Western Open.

Moose Lose First Game, 2nd Called

The Kiwanis scored four runs in the third inning of the first game of a doubleheader out at Little League Park yesterday to beat the Moose, 5-3. The second game, between the Exchange and Jaycees, was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness with the score tied at 3-3.

First Game
Nine men went to bat in that third as the Kiwanis batted around to win the ball game. Wilkerson walked, Cummings was safe on an error, and Edwards fanned. Cox then singled, followed by another walk to Barnhill. Jorgensen popped to the first baseman, and Oakley singled. Stancil walked, but Rogers struck out to end the inning, too late to halt the damage, however.

Second Game
The score was all tied up when the umpires called the second game during the bottom of the eighth inning. The Jaycees had taken the lead in the fourth inning with a pair of runs, but the Exchange club came right back in the sixth to push across one run to knot the score.

It was learned today that two games that were not completed will be played next Saturday afternoon. The Moose and Kiwanis play at 2:30, while the Lions and Jaycees play at 4:30.

British Golfer Likes America
By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, Va. — The British are supposed to be conservative people but here was Max Faulkner, England's Open golf champion, ready to tee off in a tangerine colored sweater. "Don't let the color fool you," said Australian Jim Ferrier who plays out of St. Francisco. "Faulkner is the best British golfer since Henry Cotton."

"Had a 70 and a 71 before this tournament started," Max offered between the third and fourth rounds of the stylish Greenbrier Open. "Then I came up with a 69 and a 68 once the competition began. I've got to have the pressure. I've got to have the bit in the mouth."

That's just a sample of Max Faulkner, the black-haired British pro of 35. His consistency is something some of the American pros lack.

Faulkner has been to America three times. In 1947 he played at Portland, Ore., in the Ryder Cup matches and he returned last fall for the same competition at Pinehurst, N. C. Shooting a 70 first time out at Robert R. Young's Old White Greenbrier course isn't done very often. And he did it after flying 35,000 miles to such far off places as Australia, Bombay, Ceylon, Malaya, Singapore, New Zealand, London and Hong Kong.

On August 1 Faulkner will take over as head pro at St. George's Hill, a club 20 miles from London with 600 members.

"Been waiting for that job all my life," says Faulkner who is retiring due to age and illness. "If I go to Buenos Aires I'll play in the American Open (June 12-13-14 at Dallas). Golf is expensive and I've got to make some money if I'm to play in your Open. In England we have a 100 per cent leather goods tax and you can imagine how the hurts pro shop sales on golf bags."

Giants Strengthen Margin By Beating Dodgers Again

College Teams Start NCAA Playoffs With Districts

NEW YORK (AP)—Within the next week or so, the eight baseball teams which will compete in the College World Series at Omaha, Neb. June 12-16 will be decided in a far-reaching series of district playoffs involving 22 teams.

Approaching the ideal the college coaches had in mind when they founded the championship tournament six years ago, the end of the regular conference and league races left more contenders than can be handled in one tournament.

Thus only the New England District is likely to name a representative without a playoff and only three other regions were able to whittle the field down to two teams each.

Jack Barry's Holy Cross team, beaten only once in eleven games, is the standout in Region 1. If the Crusaders are willing to enter the national tournament, the committee probably won't look any farther.

Playoff action begins tomorrow in the Midwest and Pacific Coast districts. The two top teams in the Mid-America Conference, Western Michigan and Ohio University, will face the Big Ten co-champion, Illinois, and third-place Wisconsin in District 4 first round series at Kalamazoo, Mich., and Champaign, Ill. Single games are scheduled Friday and doubleheaders Saturday. The winners will meet in a similar series next week.

Klippstein Now A 'Control' Man

JOHNNY KLIPPSTEIN

By JERRY LISKA
AP Newsfeatures.....

CHICAGO — The new Johnny Klippstein is controlling everything except his weight to become an early-season pitching surprise for the surprising Cubs.

Klippstein, who last season started 11 games but completed only one, took his first two starts this spring and in 28 innings had yielded only four earned runs.

In his best major league performance to date, the 24-year-old Klippstein blanked the Boston Braves, 2-0, with three hits at Chicago, May 6.

The darkly handsome right-hander normally weighs 170, or under. Last winter, he refrained from his usual brisk exercising and his weight climbed to 175.

The big difference in his pitching, Johnny admits, has resulted from keeping the ball closer to his body.

If Klippstein has whipped the wildness that has plagued him since the Cubs drafted him from Brooklyn's Mobile farm after the 1949 season, he may be around the big leagues for a long time.

In his first 28 innings, including appearances in five games, Johnny issued only 10 walks, while striking out 18 and yielding 18 hits. Last year, in 124 innings, he walked 83, struck out 56 and surrendered 125 hits. He had a 6-6 record.

In 1950, as a rookie, Klippstein pitched 105 innings in 33 games for a 2-9 record. That season he walked 64 and struck out 56.

Coach Bob Montfort is also the assistant trainer.

NEW YORK (UP)—Bruised and abused, the Brooklyn Dodgers set about to make repairs to their so-called power-packed starting lineup today, seeking the left-handed long ball hitter that will keep the hated Giants from making a run-away of the National League pennant race.

It was time for careful searching of the facts after the Giants completed three straight victories over the Dodgers to go 2 1-2 games in front in the flag race.

And the facts were painfully plain — the Dodgers can't hit right handed pitching at pennant tempo with only Duke Snider, among their eight starting regulars swinging from the left side of the plate.

They are so vulnerable to right-handed pitching that they have had to face 31 "northpaw" starters out of 33 hurlers who have opened up against them this year, the last 28 in a row.

Right handers make a myth out of that legendary long-ball Dodger power much of the time. That was the case all the way in the Giant series as New York scored with a six-hit victory and two four-hit wins, holding the Dodgers to a mere four runs in 27 innings.

Dodger bigwigs confirmed they had been trying to complete a deal to strengthen and balance the lineup, but so far nothing has happened even though negotiations have been in progress with the Braves, Reds, and Cubs — and perhaps other clubs.

And while the Dodgers were exploring, the Giants were soaring — to new heights.

They proved themselves the club to beat as they completed the sweep in Brooklyn yesterday with a 6-2 triumph on the four-hit pitching of Jim Hearn and the home run punch of Davey Williams and Don Mueller.

Manager Leo Durocher was so contemptuous of Brooklyn's weakness against right handers that he started Hearn, who had been knocked out of the box in the first game of the series.

And Hearn came through with his fourth victory, pitching no-hit ball until the sixth. Williams also got two doubles.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Reds again topped the Pirates, 5-2, and the Cubs made it two out of three over the Cardinals, 7-2, while the Braves and Phils had an open date.

In the American League, the last place Tigers made it two straight over first place Cleveland, winning 6 to 2, and the Browns edged Chicago, 3 to 1. The Yankees, Senators, Red Sox and Athletics also had open dates.

The National Professional Golfers' Association championship will be held June 18-24 at Big Spring Club in Louisville.

PRESTWICK, Scotland (UP) —
Maj. David Blair, a reserve on the British Walker Cup squad, pulled the first major upset of the British Amateur Golf Championships today when he ousted defending champion Dick Chapman, the tournament favorite from Pinehurst, N. C., 3 and 2, in a fifth round match.

While Blair crushed Chapman's hopes of matching Lawson Little's feat of two straight triumphs in the gruelling tournament, Frank Strafaci of Garden City, N. Y., gained the sixth round with a bitterly contested extra-hole victory over British Walker Cupper Jimmy Wilson.

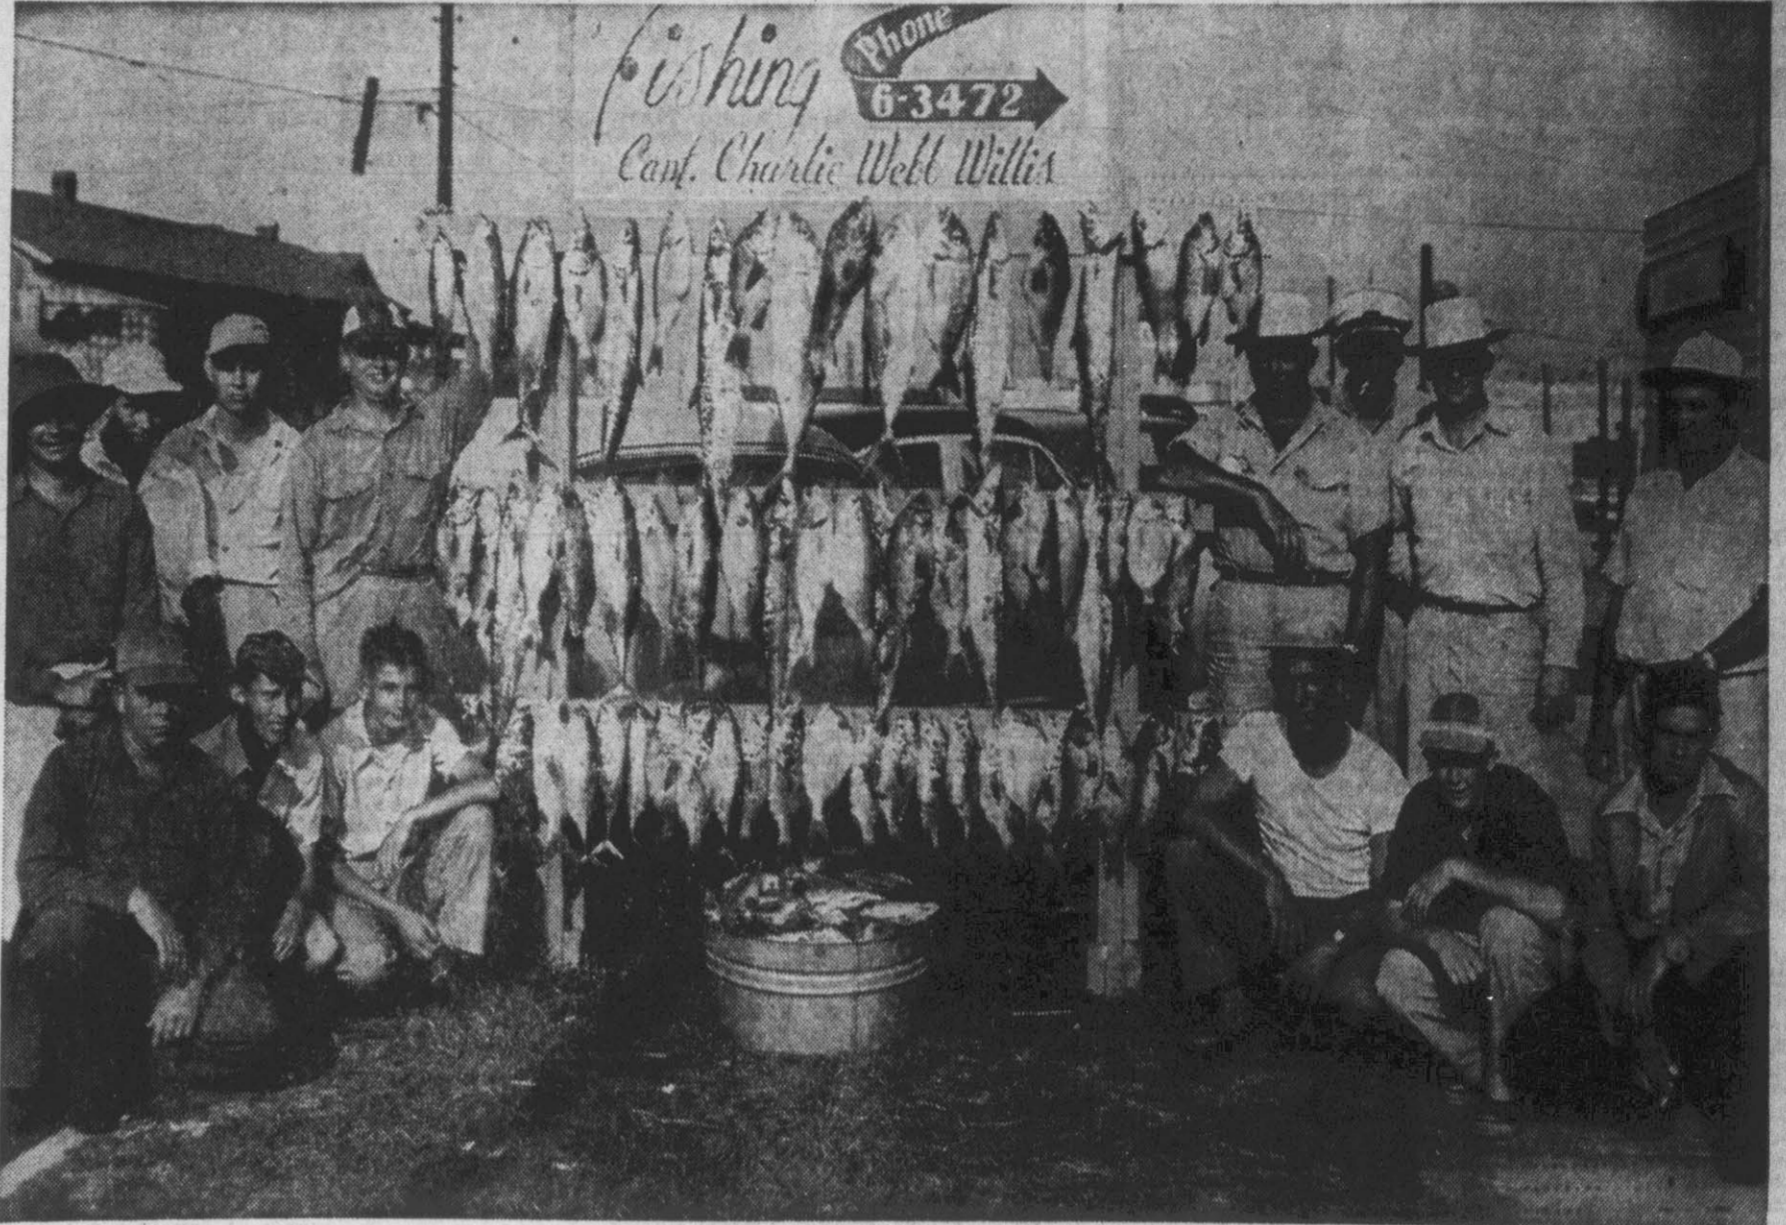

The New Yorker, who took the 12th hole by sinking a 40-yard chip shot, won on the 20th green when he put his tee shot one foot from the hole for a birdie two.

Billy Maxwell and Frank Stranahan, who complete the "Big Three" representing America, were expected to score victories in the fifth round.

Maxwell, U. S. champion of Odessa, Tex., goes against Donald Cameron, today, while Stranahan, the Toledo, O., sparkling heir, faces Buddy Lees of Scotland.

The "surprise package" of the U. S. group has proved to be John Penrose of Miami, Fla., the only one of the seven surviving Yanks who is not a "name" player. He was matched in the fifth round against Keppel E. Enderby of Austrials.

With a light rain falling a bitter north wind blowing Britain's underdog players unleashed their first really strong opposition to America's bid to win the crown for the fifth time in the last six years.

All of this morning's fifth round winners will clash in sixth round tests after lunch.

Jimmy McHale of Philadelphia had easier going, gaining the afternoon round with a 5 and 4 triumph over Scottish soccer star Minty Miller.

Chapman won the first hole against Blair but after that he was in trouble until the match ended when they halved the 10th. The British player was 2-up after seven but the 41-year-old Chapman won the eighth to cut Blair's margin to 1-up after nine.

But Blair won the 190-yard 11th with a birdie two and went 3 up by taking the 13th. Chapman won the 14th with a birdie three but Blair went 3 up again by firing a birdie three on the 344-yard 15th and it was over when they matched fours on the next green.

Only brilliant golf in the pinches enabled Strafaci to defeat Wilson. Strafaci was 2-up after four holes but Wilson won the 201-yard fifth with a birdie two when his five-iron shot rolled to within easy putting range.

Strafaci never trailed but, after the fifth, he never led by more than one hole as Wilson pressed relentlessly.

Wilson leveled the match by winning the 10th after Strafaci topped a shot, into a bunker and took a six. But a 40-yard chip for an eagle three on the 503-yard 12th gave the American the edge again.

The Britisher came right back to win the 13th when Strafaci hooked his tee shot into the rough on the 14th but his second shot dropped five feet from the pin and he won the hole with a birdie three.

So far Strafaci has proved the "giant killer" in the U. S. group, beating first top French amateur Henri Lemaze and then ousting former British champion Alex Kyle.

Record Field To Qualify For Open

NEW YORK (UP) — Sectional qualifying play at 27 sites throughout the nation next Monday will see a record field of 1,651 golfers battling for the remaining 132 berths in the U. S. Open Championships, the U. S. Golf Association disclosed today.

That means that the odds against each individual player gaining a berth are 12 1/2 to 1.

Twenty-nine players who were exempt from qualifying play because they are former Open champions or because of their 1951 record, plus pro Walk Nagorski who qualified Monday at Honolulu, will join the survivors of next Monday's elimination to form a championship field of 162 for the big tournament at Dallas, Tex., June 12-14.

BURKE LEADING
CHICAGO (UP) — Jack Burke Jr., led his fellow pro golfers by nearly $4,000 in winnings today as they swung into the summer season.

The Professional Golfers Association said the young Texan has now banked $11,970, followed by Cary Middlecott's $8,106. Burke was also out in front in the Vardon Trophy averages and Ryder Cup point standings.

Team Rosters For Small Fry Leagues Are Given

Small Fry Baseball will start up Monday afternoon, it was announced this morning. The program will consist of two leagues, East and West Leagues, and will serve as a minor league to the Little League here.

The activity will be sponsored by the Recreation Department under the supervision of Tom "Red" Painter. It will be Painter's job to see that the leagues work smoothly as well as to keep an individual record of each boy's activity.

Games during the first week will be played in the Little League Park. A new park, scaled down to the Small-Fry size is being prepared directly behind the park, and should be ready to use in a little over a week.

Players on each team are:

EAST LEAGUE
CUBS: Skip Wright, Joe Puryear, Bernie J. Morris, Buddy Waters, William Whitchard, Malcolm Griffith, Dan Powell, Charles Howie, Richard Paul, Marvin Buck.
TIGERS: Clifton Potts, Clark Brewer, Richard Taft, Billy Riggins, Robert Mustain, Jody Blawock, Earnest Larkin, Otis Sawyer, Johnny Bryan, Jamie Poindexter.

CARDINALS: Hammond Beale Jr., Jimmy Horton, William Stancell, Sonny Hodges, Charles Taft, Clyde Alvin Padgett, Charles Forbes, James Moyer Jr., Johnny Reynolds Jr., John Bynum.

PIRATES: Mokey Lassler, Tommy Webb, Gordon Aycock, Perry Rogers Jr., Danny Parkerson, Don Melton Jr., Ronny Cox, James Jenkins, Tanny Smith, David Baughman.

WEST LEAGUE
DODGERS: John McGee, Sidney Moyer, John Moore, Jackie Conway, Louis Dall, Sonny Parkinson, Sonny Stanfield, Louis Stanfield, Hoover

Kid Gavilan Set To Fight Turner

INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan declared himself ready today for his July title defense against Gil Turner, even though he hardly warmed up before he finished off Canada's Fitzee Pruden in the Coliseum last night.

Gavilan, whose title was not at stake in the scheduled 10-round, won by a technical knockout when Pruden failed to answer the bell in the sixth round. Pruden was not permitted to continue because of cuts around both eyes.

Stocks And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks declined irregularly around mid-session today in quiet dealings. Price movements throughout the main list were very small. With the long weekend in view, trading in the first two hours was conducted at a snail's pace. Sales in that period totaled 480,000 shares, compared with 490,000 in the same period yesterday.

A few high-priced oil shares managed to move out of the narrow range. Amerasia Petroleum slipped 1-1/4 points to 205 1/4. Declines of a point each were noted in Texas Pacific Land Trust and Sun Oil. Barber Oil rose 2 1/2 points to 94 1/2.

International Business Machines registered one of the widest declines. It slipped four points to 800.

Elsewhere, steel shares were mostly easier, Chrysler and General Motors slipped minor fractions in their group, and Dow Chemical was a bright spot with a gain of 1 1/4 points to 115 1/2.

Fractional declines were noted in American Telephone, International Paper, Western Union and United Aircraft.

were made to counter-act that rise by additional playgrounds and youth organizations, but seventy-five years ago there were no state-provided playgrounds nor was there a notable number of juvenile delinquents.

A Philadelphia psychiatrist studied 19,000 cases in juvenile court. He then listed one general case for them: "Lack of a sense of responsibility." The task before us today is to find the proper relationship between freedom and responsibility.

Excerpts from Nichols' speech: "We now have a responsibility which few of us have fully realized. But the question is, will we accept the challenge? There is evidence that many of us neither realize nor appreciate the freedoms that we have, freedoms expected, yet rejected by failing to pay the price — responsibility.

Freedom entails responsibility. A person who refuses to accept responsibility is rightfully labeled a parasite. Society can and does carry along many of these parasites, but this number becomes too large, then the "Body Politic" on which they have been clinging will die. Therefore, we must become more aware of, and exercise more diligently, the acceptance of responsibility. To effect freedom we have laws, because "freedom ends where your liberty begins".

We, the youth of today, are left more to our own judgment. Whether this be good or bad is a debatable question. But, by making more of our own decisions, by thinking for ourselves, we develop that valuable faculty, judgment, which they have been clinging to individuals, as citizens, and as youth.

It is in the home that youth must begin to realize that the quality of life depends not so much upon what one has, as upon how one uses the things which he has.

Post Office Will Close Tomorrow

The Greenville postoffice will be closed tomorrow in observance of National Memorial Day, May 30. Other federal offices will be closed. State and local institutions will be open tomorrow, as usual. All of them, except the Utilities Commission, will be closed for the Democratic Primary election—Saturday.

The banks will be open tomorrow—Memorial Day. They observed a legal holiday May 20, and will not close tomorrow because it is at the end of the month, a bank official stated.

The nine ABC stores in the county will be closed Saturday—Democratic Primary Election Day.

County offices in the courthouse, health department and the old hospital building will be closed Election Day.

Postmaster J. Knott Proctor said there will be no rural or city delivery of mail Friday, and none of the windows at the postoffice will be open. Parcel post and special delivery mail will be delivered as usual. At 4 p.m. there will be a collection from all drop letter mail boxes in the city. Patrons may obtain stamps at a coin vending machine in the lobby of the postoffice, the postmaster stated.

UN Challenged To Quit Parleys

PANMUNJOM (UP)—The Communists challenged the United Nations today to back down from their "final" Korean peace proposal or break off the truce talks.

U.N. negotiators refused to be baited by another series of "loaded" questions from North Korean Gen. Nam Il, senior Communist delegate.

They called the Reds' apparent bluff by offering a long recess, but Nam insisted on another meeting tomorrow.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nichols, chief Allied spokesman, said the firm U.N. stand "seems to be getting under his (Nam's) skin a little bit."

The U.N. on April 28 gave its "final and irrevocable" proposal for ending the war by returning only those Communist prisoners who would not resist repatriation.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate, told Nam today that the only obstacle to a quick armistice was the Communist "chagrin" at learning that only 70,000 of 189,000 prisoners want to return to Communism.

"You come here every day," said Nam, "only to say your unreasonable position is final and irrevocable."

"You should be aware that this kind of peremptory attitude of your side has not worked on the battlefield nor will it work here."

Quintuplets Are Predicted For Young Mother

WEYMOUTH, Mass. (UP)—An attractive, 27-year-old mother of three children was told today she may give birth to quintuplets.

"The will of God," said brunette Mrs. Marion Manning at a hospital where she is awaiting the multiple births which may occur at any time between now and mid-August.

"I'm numb about the whole thing," said her husband, John, 36, president of a bus company, who was busy at home trying to care for their children—Bennis, 4, Mary Alice, 3, and Ann Marie, 2.

X-rays, taken about a month ago by Dr. Robert E. Ryan, showed that Mrs. Manning would give birth to quadruplets. Dr. Ryan then conferred with specialists. Further X-rays were taken and the physicians concluded Mrs. Manning might have five instead of four babies.

Facts For Farmers . . .

Farmers want cold, hard facts without any trimmings. And here they are! All quotations from The Congressional Record, with the page number given after each reference.

Mr. Umstead, highly-paid lobbyist for the American Tobacco Company and Duke Power Company, has suddenly become a bosom pal of the farmers of North Carolina. WE THOUGHT YOU MIGHT LIKE TO KNOW THE REAL FACTS.

ON RURAL ELECTRIFICATION

THE REA WAS CREATED ON MAY 11, 1935, BY EXECUTIVE ORDER OF PRESIDENT FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

ON MAY 12, 1938, CONGRESS HAD BEFORE IT A BILL TO CONTINUE REA AS A PERMANENT AGENCY OF THE GOVERNMENT. ON THIS OCCASION, CONGRESSMEN WILLIAM B. UMSTEAD VOTED TO KILL REA. (Pages 6833 and 6844, Vol. 83, Part 6).

ON TOBACCO LEGISLATION

On July 24-25, 1935, Congress had before it the Tobacco Grading and Inspection Bill, sponsored by Chairman Flannagan of Virginia, Chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture. It set up a uniform grading system for tobacco, with the cost to be taken from the backs of the farmers.

CONGRESSMAN UMSTEAD OFFERED AN AMENDMENT TO GUT THE BILL BY TAKING OUT THE COMPULSORY FEATURE. The Umstead amendment would have left grading in the same old mess.

Chairman Flannagan said this attempt to kill the bill came from "the same crowd that in 1932—the year before tobacco went under AAA—paid the tobacco growers of America only $107,000,000 for the entire tobacco crop. . . . In the same year four of the large tobacco companies made in net profits $110,349,000, which is more than the entire tobacco crop brought, and paid their stockholders that year in dividends $79,650,000. The same crowd that paid George Hill as president of American Tobacco Company $2,500,000 a year as salary—the same crowd that paid American tobacco growers around six-tenths of one cent for the tobacco in a 15-cent package of cigarettes." (Page 11084)

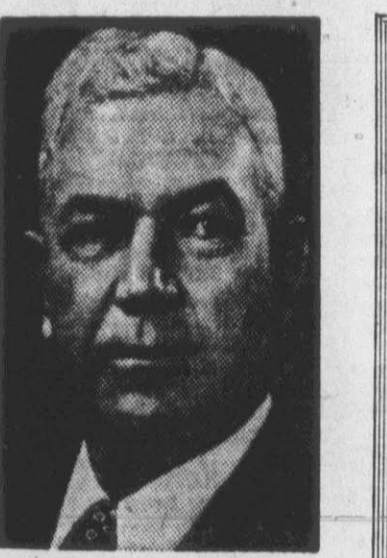

Said Congressman Fred Vinson, now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States: "If you adopt the amendment of the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. Umstead) you are sticking a dagger into the heart of the measure. In my opinion, this bill without the Umstead amendment will mean added millions of dollars for the tobacco growers of this country." (Page 11889)

And Chairman Flannagan added: "If you vote for this amendment you are placing the farmer, the tobacco growers of this country, at the mercy of the Big Four tobacco companies in America. Let me tell you I NEVER HEARD OF THIS AMENDMENT UNTIL THREE DAYS AGO WHEN A REPRESENTATIVE OF THE TOBACCO INTERESTS WAS HERE. If we adopt this amendment we may just as well kill the bill." (Page 11889)

A few minutes later, the Umstead Amendment was killed by an overwhelming vote, and the tobacco farmers were saved.

On January 3, 1939, less than 24 hours after he ceased to be a member of Congress, William B. Umstead and his law firm became the paid lobbyists of the American Tobacco Company. (See Page 24, Lobby Register for 1939, in the Secretary of State's office).

PEOPLE vs. LOBBYISTS

The business of lobbyists is to get special favors for the people who hire them. They influence legislation. To do this, they work day and night, winning and dining the lawmakers, preying on their weaknesses, spending money lavishly. They are heavy contributors to the political campaigns of their candidates—and they certainly expect something for their money. They're not in the business for nothing.

The people lose. For whenever a lobbyist gets a tax concession for his particular selfish interest, the extra tax burden falls on the backs of the people—on you and me.

It is noteworthy at this time that practically every hired lobbyist for selfish interests in North Carolina is backing William B. Umstead for Governor. This, of course, could be expected. It's natural that they would flock to one of their own. Even as late as 1949, Umstead's law firm was a registered lobbyist for the Duke Power Company and the American Tobacco Company. His law firm represents Big Interests.

For example, press reports of lobbyists signing the guest book in Umstead headquarters indicate that the top-kicks in the beer industry in North Carolina are solidly behind him, although Umstead has called for a State-wide referendum on the sale of alcoholic beverages. This brings up questions. What does the beer lobby expect? What has it been promised? What have the other lobbyists been promised?

Equally noteworthy is the fact that Hubert E. Olive, the other main candidate for Governor, has never been a lobbyist. He's a successful lawyer, and he has had plenty of opportunities to hire out as a lobbyist. But Olive preferred to represent the people. We believe he will be the people's Governor—a Governor for all of us, not for a special few.

Olive does not expect or seek the support of lobbyists for selfish interests. He'd rather run for Governor unfettered by such ties. As Governor, he'd rather be free of obligations to the lobbyists.

The people of North Carolina should give careful thought to this situation. The decision is theirs.

"OLIVE PUTS THE PEOPLE FIRST"

Warm weather is outdoor-living time, and a period when the homeowner can spend profitable time looking over the tree-and-shrub situation on his property with an idea of making changes or additions when planting time comes in the fall.

Whether the tree is already there and the house is to come later, or the house is there and you are contemplating putting in a shade tree, first get a good idea of how the shadows will fall. For most of us, shade in an outdoor living area is most useful in the afternoon and evening.

Round-Up Stock Freed By Blaze

BIRMINGHAM (UP)—A stockyard fire sent an estimated 1,500 head of cattle and hogs rampaging through Birmingham streets and amateur cowboys joined police at dawn in a roundup covering virtually half the city.

They are all over the northern section and even in the downtown streets," said Police Sgt. E. B. Corn. "Dead animals are littered all over the place at the yards." Corn estimated that between 500 and 700 animals died in the fire which raged for more than an hour before being brought under control by six engine companies and a truck company.

N. C. Candidates Make Final Pleas For Vote Support Today And Friday

RALEIGH (UP)—Candidates in more than a dozen Democratic primary contests topped by the race for governor make final appeals to North Carolina voters today and tomorrow for support in Saturday's election.

More than half a million Tar Heel Democrats will choose their nominees, virtually assured of election in this state, for governor, lieutenant-governor, state insurance commissioner and for a seat on the Supreme Court.

Prime attention is centered on the contest between former U.S. Sen. William B. Umstead of Durham and Hubert E. Olive, Lexington attorney and former Superior Court judge, for the governorship.

In addition there are nine contests in the state's 12 congressional districts. At least two new congressmen will be elected in November and incumbent Democrats in several other district contests face considerable opposition.

Rep. Robert Lee Doughton, the oldest man in Congress, is stepping down after 21 consecutive terms, and three candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination as his successor in the Ninth District. The 88-year-old warhorse from the mountains says he's far from "retiring" and there is a movement to name him state Democratic national committeeman to succeed Jonathan Daniels.

In the Ninth and in several other races in which there are three or more candidates, a run-off primary June 28 is possible if the winner does not get a clear majority.

While the gubernatorial campaign is principally a contest between Umstead and Olive, there is a third candidate — Charlotte realtor Manley Dunaway Dunaway — a perennial candidate, has done little campaigning.

The Umstead-Olive campaign has been marked by a lack of clearly defined issues and both have claimed support from all groups and factions.

Olive did not announce formally until Jan. 14, many months after Umstead had let it be known that he was running for the state's No. 1 job.

But Olive quickly gained support, including the nod from outgoing Gov. Kerr Scott as the man he favored, and the 56-year-old white-haired Lexington lawyer has waged an all-out campaign.

Scott's support of Olive touched off a row between the governor and members of his administration, including many Scott appointees to high state office, who had been working for Umstead.

Umstead, in answer to Scott's battle on behalf of Olive, declared that "I am not the candidate of any man, or of any team, or any machine . . . if elected I'll not tell anyone who to vote for as my successor."

Olive, a former chairman of the State Board of Elections and manager of the campaign of Gov. Clyde R. Hoey, has leveled his strongest blasts at "lobbyists and professional politicians," charging that Umstead's law firm was a registered lobbyist for a big power company and tobacco industries.

Umstead, a former Sixth District congressman and state Democratic chairman, was the campaign manager for Gov. Gregg Cherry and was defeated in 1948 in a senatorial campaign won by the late J. Melville Broughton. In 1946 Cherry appointed Umstead to the Senate seat left vacant by the death of Josiah W. Bailey.

Umstead's chief campaign theme is his experience in government and politics.

For lieutenant-governor, Democrats will choose between four candidates: Mayor Marshall Kurfels of Winston-Salem, Roy Rowe of Burgaw, Luther Hodges of Leaksville and Ben McDonald of Wilmington.

Six candidates are seeking an eight-year term as associate justice of the State Supreme Court, including Scott's appointee to the high bench, Hilmous Valentine. Four of the six are seeking the "short term" — for the less than two months of the unexpired term of the late Chief Justice Walter P. Stacy. Seeking the eight-year term are Valentine, Judges R. Hunt Parker of Roanoke Rapids, William H. Bobbitt of Charlotte, Don Phillips of Rockingham, and Allen H. Gwyn of Reidsville and Winston-Salem attorney Oscar O. Elfrid. All except Gwyn and Phillips are seeking the "short term."

John N. Frederick of Charlotte is opposing incumbent Waldo Check for state insurance commissioner.

Congressional contests include: Second: Rep. John H. Kerr of Warrenton is facing a strong challenge from young Tarboro attorney L.H. Fountain.

Fourth: Rep. Harold D. Cooley of Nashville is opposed by William A. Diehl of Raleigh.

Fifth: Rep. Thurmond Chatham of Winston-Salem is opposed by Hugh Johnson Jr. of Winston-Salem.

Sixth: Rep. Carl Durham of Chapel Hill is opposed by Tom Sayer of Durham.

Seventh: Rep. F. Ertel Carlyle of Lumberton faces opposition from Mayor J.O. Tally Jr. of Fayetteville and Ernest R. Mayhan of Wilmington.

Eighth: Rep. C.B. Deane of Rockingham is opposed by Giles Y. Newton of Gibson.

Ninth: Graham M. Carlton of Salisbury, Hugh Q. Alexander of Lenoir are seeking nomination Kannapolis and G. Mark Goforth to the seat vacated by Doughton.

Tenth: Rep. Hamilton C. Jones of Charlotte is opposed by Thomas Burton of Charlotte.

Twelfth: George A. Shuford, Frank M. Parker and L. Dale Thrash, all of Asheville, are seeking the nomination to the seat vacated by retiring Rep. Monroe M. Redden of Hendersonville.

Stored Sewers Of Paris Opened To Tourist Gaze

PARIS (UP) — Intruders are descending again into the sewers of Paris, famed underground haunt of French cut-throats, grave robbers and inspirators of literary creations such as "The Phantom of the Opera."

They are the vanguard of thousands of visitors who annually peek at the dank rivers of death during half-hour tours conducted in the summer months.

The chief characteristic of sewer visitors is that they turn up their noses.

This is an evil world hiding misdeed and tragedy in 1,000 miles of tunneling, sporadically lighted by the flicker of torches as flat-bottomed boats move slowly through the lowest stream of life.

The price of admission is ten cents.

Sewer Lore Fantastic
The keepers of the sewers are some 800 inspectors who double as guides. Their collection of sewer lore is grisly and fantastic. Many of the strangest stories they tell are borne out by police records dating to before the French Revolution.

Until about 80 years ago, the sewers were hideouts for some famous criminals. There they lived and fought among themselves. Gangs of cut-throats crept out by night, committed their deeds and then silently disappeared.

Grave robbers and murderers at one time terrorized the city by tunneling from the sewers into the vast Pere - Lachaise cemetery. Three are recorded cases of persons disappearing and their bodies showing up later in supposedly empty tomb vaults.

During the uprisings of 1870 a group of commune soldiers fled into the catacombs and sewers and were never heard of again.

Rats a Menace
One of the major worries of the guides is that some reckless member of a party will become separated from the group and fall prey to rats. During the Middle Ages, hordes of the rodents came out of the sewers, spreading disease and attacking animals and humans during famine years.

Tours enter the sewers at the Place de la Concorde, right at the spot where the guillotine chopped heads during the French Revolution. The exit is a manhole alongside the Madeleine Church. For the most part, principal sewers follow the streets above.

them and are marked with the same names, like the Rue de la Paix and the Champs-Elysees.

"We have more sights underground than they do 'up there,' but tourists can't visit most of them," claimed one of the guides proudly. "We have a pit twice as deep as the Eiffel Tower is high and over on the left bank are the catacombs with 5,000,000 skeletons."

Would Pay Fine Out Of 'Relief'

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Mrs. Agnes Overton, 46, was jailed when she could not pay a $10 fine for being drunk and disorderly.

After she had been locked up the prisoner summoned a woman deputy sheriff and asked her to do her a favor.

"Would you please take a walk over to the courthouse and get me my county relief check so I can pay my fine?" she asked. The deputy declined.

— Stanley Gworek, a policeman, doubled in brass as a fireman. He spotted a parked automobile on fire, dashed into a nearby store for a fire extinguisher and put out the blaze.

Twenty-Six Cases Heard In Police Court Yesterday

By CHESTER WALSH
Twenty-six cases were on the docket for trial in Police Court Wednesday morning. Twenty-four defendants were involved. All of them were up on charges of violating motor vehicle and traffic laws.

Judge Charles H. Whedbee found 12 defendants charged with speeding, guilty, and fined them. Eleven were white, one was a Negro.

Speeding: James E. Mumford, $15; Raymond H. Helbringer, $20, costs deducted; Jesse C. Cannady, $15; Nelson E. Callhan, $20, costs deducted; John W. Neff, $20, costs deducted; C. F. Ogletree, $15; Rufus V. Keel, $15; Ola Ray Clark, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $50 fine, and he is not to violate any motor vehicle law for two years; Sam J. Schreiber, $15; Gus E. Crichter, $5, and Walter Nobles, $15, and Respass H. Little, $15.

Mrs. Miriam C. Herr of Pennsylvania, allowing a non-licensed person to operate her motor vehicle. This case was combined with two cases against her husband, Richard H. Herr, who was charged with failure to stop at a red traffic light and not having an operator's license. He was fined $10 in the first case. Prayer was continued in the second case on payment of $25 and costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without a license.

Melvin G. Hamm, charged with improper exhaust and careless driving, was called and he failed to answer to his name. The court ordered an instant capias issued for him.

Peter R. Newborn, Negro, improper exhaust, was found not guilty. He was fined $15 for having defective brakes.

In the case of James Height, Negro, found guilty of failure to stop at a stop sign, was fined $5, and prayer for judgment was continued on condition that he pay $138 to the use of James Keel.

Improper brakes: Willie Dixon, Negro, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $15 and he is not to operate a motor vehicle with bad brakes. Thomas Duncan, Negro, prayer for judgment was continued on payment of $15, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle with defective brakes. John Junior Daniels, fined $15 and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without proper brakes. Charlie Harris, (and careless and reckless driving), 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10, costs deducted and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for two weeks.

Sidney D. Kraft of Kinston, no operator's license, fined $25 and costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle without a license or learner's permit.

Alex C. Craft, allowing a non-licensed operator to use his operator's license, prayer for judgment continued on payment of $15.

William S. Calvin paid $10 for failure to stop at a red traffic light.

Grocers Prepare New Price Lists

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Retail grocers today computing new price ceilings on hundreds of food items based on government approval of a higher profit margin for the industry.

The new ceilings can go into effect Monday. The Office of Price Stabilization issued an order last night authorizing increases ranging up to 25 per cent in the markups retail food stores can apply to their costs. OPS said this averages about a penny an item on the selected list of foods affected.

Price Stabilizer Ellis Arnall estimated the margin hikes will increase food costs to the public by from 100 million to 150 million dollars a year.

Food subject to bigger markups include items in this wide range of products:

Breakfast cereals, coffee concentrates; cookies, toast and crumbs, except crackers; processed fish, except tuna and salmon; flour in five-pound packages or less; frozen foods, except juices; many canned fruits; jams and jellies; canned meats, except luncheon meats; oleomargarine; pickles and relishes; many canned vegetables; vinegar and cheese.

OPS said that actual selling prices might not be raised on many of the items.

Election Victory Is Predicted By Umstead, Olive

RALEIGH — (AP) — Candidates for governor — William B. Umstead and Hubert E. Olive — prepared today for their final campaign drive amid predictions of victory in Saturday's primary.

Olive forecast he would win by at least 40,000 votes. He termed this a "conservative" estimate. The prediction from the Umstead camp was that Umstead would win "by an amazing majority."

The voters will decide which is wrong.

Umstead planned to tour Mecklenburg today and will wind up his campaign tomorrow night at Durham with a rally and speech.

Olive was scheduled to tour Iredell and Rowan today and will close his campaign tomorrow night with a rally and speech at Lexington.

In his optimistic statement yesterday, Olive said there has been "a tremendous shift of popular support" to his candidacy in recent days. He added that he was convinced the people "want a governor whose door will be kept open at all times to all the people, not to just a privileged few insiders. They want to retain their governorship for the people."

Umstead's victory prediction came from his campaign manager, Carlisle W. Higgins.

"We have waged a clean campaign which the vote will show the people approve," Higgins said. "and there is no question but that Mr. Umstead will be the successful candidate."

Meanwhile, Umstead spoke last night at a rally at the Johnston County Courthouse in Smithfield. He took several pokes at Gov. Scott, who is supporting Olive.

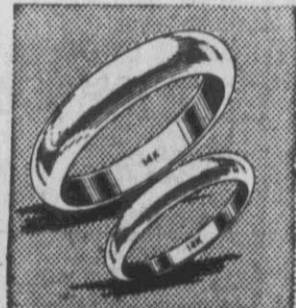

Umstead told an overflow crowd that the office of governor "belongs to the people, not to any individual or group of individuals. It will remain that way. For that reason I seek my support from the people, not the governor."

Umstead lauded the present road building program and promised to continue it, but said, "I will not promise any man a road for his vote."

Student Blast Is Window-Breaker

BUTTE, Mont. — (AP) — A dynamite blast was scheduled to be touched off at 7 a.m. recently to signal the start of this year's annual "M" day at Montana School of Mines.

But students rigged an unscheduled blast at 2:30 a.m. It broke 40 panes of glass in the gym, 30 more in the home of school president J. Robert Van Pelt and lesser numbers in two more residences. The normal blast was touched at 7. It caused no damage.

It is believed that the first passenger elevator was installed in New York in 1887.

Crippled Painter Is Regarded As 'Wonder' Artist

LUNENBURG, N. S. — (UP) — The rugged fishermen and townspeople of Lunenburg call Earl Bailly the "wonder artist." Stricken with infantile paralysis at the age of two Bailly lost all use of his arms and legs. His successful struggle to surmount his handicap has earned for him the respect of artists and thousands of others.

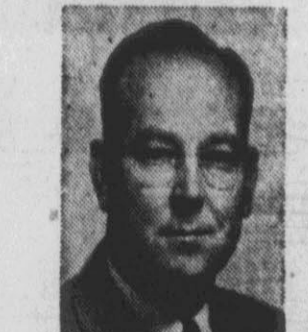

Bailly, now 46, paints by holding the brush in his teeth. He has turned out marine scenes and views of the stony Nova Scotia coast that have been praised by important critics. Three of his most recent works have been acquired by the Hallmark greeting card company and will be reproduced in the United States as Christmas cards. Bailly spends most of his daylight hours in a wheelchair beside the window of his family's cottage near the sea, capturing on canvas the marine scenes of his native shore.

Foreign Visitors 'Discover' U. S.

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — (UP) — Visiting foreign students at Syracuse University are many times surprised to "discover" the United States.

Brought up on a diet of fantastic stories of American life, good or bad, they find that most of what they have learned is exaggerated. One hungry visitor built a fire in a dormitory corridor, believing that dinner could best be cooked there. An amazed housemother quickly pointed out that kitchen facilities were available. The university, having a large enrollment of foreign students—356 from 52 countries—has set up a special board to rid in breeding out some of the more popular misconceptions of American life.

Scott declining to sit on the rostrum because he was peeved over the transfer of Charles M. Britt, chairman of the state of elections. Bill Staton, president of the State YDC, and several others from the status of fully accredited to alternate delegates after he "had approved" a tentative list. There are other stories about subsequent conferences and agreements and deals. There were charges and counter charges of bad faith in keeping secret agreements.

FRAME-UP — The published stories so far have missed one salient point in the situation. That is the fact that the whole controversy stems from a secret agreement allegedly made between the Governor and the state chairman. It is customary for party leaders to confer in advance of the convention and arrange a full slate of delegates to be nominated. It has been the practice, in order to save time, to vote on the full slate as a whole, rather than to require separate roll calls for each individual. This entire procedure was followed this year. The Governor and the chairman talked over the matter Thursday morning when the Governor was told that one of his selections was not acceptable to other party leaders who had been consulted, and that insistence upon him might jeopardize the entire list. The Governor declined to yield, and later suggested that the trade made the previous night had been violated.

PUBLIC — So it appears that the whole controversy arose not because of failure to follow custom, to offer a slate, and then to accept nominations from the floor, all in public; but because of desire to put over on the convention the terms of a secret agreement among two or three would-be bosses of the Democratic party. Such deals have been put over in the past and probably will be in the future, but the rank and file of Democratic voters do not like them.

Graduation exercises for Greenville High School seniors were climaxed Wednesday evening with the issuance of 96 diplomas. The outgoing class had as its officers: Bobby Nichols, president; Fletcher Murray, vice-president; Nancy Proctor, secretary and Curtis Hendrix, treasurer. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

NOT 'BOOKMAKERS'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Vice President Alben W. Barkley last night called the American Booksellers Association a group of "book-makers." But Barkley quickly corrected himself in his speech to the booksellers convention to say that the bookmen are "makers of books."

Some fossil forms of elephant were only 3 feet tall.

Twenty-Eight More Delegates For Kefauver From Home State

NASHVILLE (UP)—U. S. Sen. Estes Kefauver picks up 28 more votes today in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, these from his native Tennessee.

State party leaders predicted it would take only 40 minutes to an hour for the nearly 3,000 delegates to organize their late-morning state party convention, name delegates to the national meeting and pledge them to vote as a unit for Kefauver, name presidential electors and pledge them to vote for the Democratic nominee, and adjourn.

They allowed little more time than that, 90 minutes, for delegates to caucus by the nine congressional districts and to nominate national convention delegates.

The streamlined convention program eliminated even the traditional keynote speech and was designed to smother any arguments in order to present a solid, harmonious "Kefauver front" to other states.

The prospective pledge for electors was to prevent a repetition of 1948 when Preston Parks, of Somerville, was elected as a Democratic elector but cast his electoral college vote for Strom Thurmond, the state's rights candidate.

To make sure no arguments arose, Jack Norman, state Democratic committee chairman and draftsman for the convention program, designated the state's top parliamentarian, Lt. Gov. Walter Haynes, to be the convention's permanent chairman. Norman himself was temporary chairman.

Norman announced some time ago no controversial resolutions such as one on civil rights proposals would be brought up in order that senator Kefauver might not be embarrassed in other states.

Kefauver has said he is personally opposed to compulsory civil rights legislation but will support it if it is included in the Democratic platform.

Four years ago the Tennessee Democratic convention passed a resolution condemning civil rights proposals and killed by only a narrow, disputed, voice-vote margin another which would have instructed delegates to vote against President Truman's nomination.

A third major omission, besides lack of a keynote and controversial resolutions was absence of an E. H. Crump-backed delegation from Shelby County, the state's largest county.

Crump, long-time Memphis political leader, opposed election of Kefauver and Gov. Gordon Browning four years ago and lost control. Although Tennessee has only 28 national convention votes, it will send 38 delegates and 38 alternates.

Each of the state's nine congressional districts have two delegates with a full vote each, with 20 delegates-at-large to have a half vote each.

Of the total of 10 "at large" votes four are because Tennessee lost a congressman this year and four because it went Democratic in 1948.

Unknown Soldier's Tomb Guarded By Devoted Men

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—A little old lady in a mourning veil knelt before the tomb, crossed herself and said a quiet prayer.

A soldier, Sgt. Willard Traylor of Cynthiana, Ky., kept his eyes straight ahead.

The sergeant is one of the honor guard before the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery.

There are 16 volunteer enlisted men assigned to the task and come snow, rain, sleet, or high wind they keep a 24-hour vigil every day in every year.

The men put their heart in their work and are proud of their assignment.

Pfc. Monte Bristow, Shepherdsville, Ky., summed it up for the rest when he said:

"That fellow out there represents the army and what the American people respect. The folks who come out here don't come out to sight-see. They come to pay homage to a symbol of our country. Every day is Memorial Day before that tomb over there."

The private took off his white gloves and pointed to the inscription on the tomb:

"Here Rests in Honored Glory an American Soldier Known but to God."

During the daytime the soldiers pace up and down a short ramp in front of the tomb. They march for one hour and are off the next three. At each end they halt, make a half-turn to face the tomb, click their heels and bring their rifles up smartly to port arms. Then they count slowly to 20, pause a second and count to 20 again. Then they do an about face and return to the other end and repeat the performance. Only one man marches at a time.

During the night, the corps is on for two hours and off four. There are three shifts.

All the men are from Company A, Fort Myer, Va. 1 members of the 3rd Infantry Regiment.

The soldiers are well screened. The volunteer for the assignments. They must not be over five feet 11 inches tall. They're fine looking boys, slender but muscular. Their carriage, of course, is precise.

"While on duty, out of respect for the dead, we are not allowed to speak to anyone," said Pfc. Ted Manolukas of Youngstown, O. "Most people have enough respect not to speak to us."

PETTY CHISELERS
CHEYENNE (UP) — Three Wyoming University students were ordered to appear in federal court today to receive punishment for using nitric acid to thin pennies and make them work as dimes in campus soft drink machines.

BALLET HAS HAZARDS
MALDEN, Mass. 8 (up) — While rehearsing a ballet, 6-year-old Linda Zarick bounded onto a nearby coffee table glass top which shattered. She needed 12 stitches to close a leg gash.

But the "near panic" was confined to dormitories and fraternity houses because the station, WBVR, cannot be heard off the campus. Student announcer William Ellison said 10 students wearing Halloween masks entered the broadcasting room, tied up the station personnel and broadcast "flashes" and "bulletins" intermittently for eight minutes.

Business Manager Ellis Duell said the seizure occurred at 11:07 p. m. "while the station was broadcasting classical music."

INN BUILT "UPSIDE DOWN"
RANGELEY, Me. — (UP) — An "upside-down" inn built at Rangeley Village has all its bedrooms on the ground floor while all public rooms are on the upper levels, providing a panoramic view of Rangeley Lake.

People who live in the north of Egypt are likely to have darker skins than those living in the southern portion of the country.
