City Parking Lot To Be Ready Soon

Will Provide Space For Fifty Or More Cars Within Next Ten Days; Street Dept. Clears Space For Sidewalks

By CHESTER WALSH
Reflector Staff Writer

"The municipal parking lot in the valley between East Third and Fourth Streets, planned to provide room for 50 or more cars, will be ready for occupancy in a week or 10 days," Mayor Lester D. Page stated today.

The City Street Department has leveled off a road from East Third Street into the ravine. A bulldozer has been at work on the lot leveling the ground and clearing away debris. Several carloads of crushed stone will be used for grading the parking lot.

The mayor said it will be primarily for use of teachers and students at Greenville High School, but any motorist may park a car there. "The aldermen, in approving this project," Mayor Page stated, "believes that parking of cars there by school people will provide more parking space on adjacent streets."

The City Street Department is providing dirt sidewalks on East Third Street, from Cotanche to Summit Street, a project long requested by residents of northeast Greenville.

Supt. C. K. Beatty had a bulldozer at work yesterday and today, grading a sidewalk on the southern side of Third Street, from Cotanche to the bottom of the valley.

Graders were at work on the northern side of Third Street, from Side Street (the bottom of the valley) eastward, up the hill, to connect with a cement sidewalk running about a block toward Summit St.

"The sidewalks on both sides of Third Street will be a convenience to the public," Beatty said. "Heretofore, pedestrians had to walk in the street, dodging traffic, to get along between Cotanche and Summit Streets." The sidewalks will not be paved right away, but it is expected property owners will request hard surface walkways shortly.

Plans are in the making for hard surfacing Reade Street from Third to Fourth Streets, and utility pipelines are being installed on Reade Street, between Second and Third Streets.

Other street improvements planned at this time include the rounding of four corners at the intersections of Fourth and Elizabeth (Continued on page 8)

Leading Lady Of U. S. Stage Dies

Gertrude Lawrence Succumbs In N. Y. Hospital Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Gertrude Lawrence, whose ability to do almost anything on the stage made her the toast of two continents, died in New York Hospital today at the age of 51.

Miss Lawrence, a top star for more than a quarter of a century, left her Broadway role in "The King and I" on Aug. 16 for treatment of yellow jaundice.

However, a family associate said the jaundice was not the cause of her death. He said an autopsy would be performed in an effort to determine the cause.

"She went to the hospital only at the insistence of her husband, Richard Aldrich, after going through her performances painfully for four days."

"She wouldn't give in," said Aldrich, a producer. He and two close friends—Fanny and David Holtzman—were at her bedside when she died.

Death came shortly after 7 a.m. today.

The English-born actress' last appearance in the Rodgers-Hammerstein musical, based on the book "Anna and the King of Siam," was at the matinee of Aug. 16.

A versatile actress, at one time she played a hilarious burlesque role in the musical "Oh, Kay" in London—and at special matinees also played the cold and severe spinster in Owen Davis' Pulitzer Prize winning drama of 1923, "Icebound."

During World War II she entertained American troops overseas. Miss Lawrence, born in London, made her first theatre appearance at the age of two. Her father, an interactor in a London minstrel show, put her on a lobby chair and told her to smile. It helped seal her in London at the age of 10 in a pantomime for children.

Eisenhower For Farmer-Run Plan

Gives Agricultural Views, Favoring 100 Per Cent Parity

KASSON — DODGE CENTER, Minn. (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower called today for a "strong farmer-run" agricultural program aimed to produce higher prices on a wider range of basic crops.

The Republican presidential candidate bid for the farm vote in a speech prepared for delivery at the National Farming contest here.

From the same rough platform in Henry Snow's pasture, his Democratic opponent, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson was due to give his farm policy views later in the day.

Eisenhower said farmers should receive full 100 per cent parity prices instead of the 90 per cent guaranteed for basic farm crops under the present federal price support program.

But he did not say this would be achieved by price supports. The Democratic platform calls for price supports at "not less than 90 per cent of parity."

Parity represents a fair return for the farmer in what he receives for his crop in relation to the things he must buy.

Declaring the Democratic administration had tried to make the American farmer a "political captive," Eisenhower said:

"I firmly believe that agriculture is entitled to a fair, full share of the national income and a fair share is not merely 90 per cent of parity-but full parity."

Wheat, corn, rice, cotton, tobacco and peanuts are the basic farm commodities now under price supports. Eisenhower said supports should be extended to such crops as oats, barley, rye and soybeans.

Drop Plan For Special Juries

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department has dropped the plan to have special federal grand juries in all parts of the country since a year to survey local crime conditions.

Atty. Gen. James P. McGranery said he believed regular grand juries that sit month-in and month-out can handle things just as well.

"He has disbanded the 13-man 'rocket unit' which his predecessor, J. Howard McGrath, set up in the Justice Department last January to evaluate reports from the special juries and keep the program in motion."

Bonner Reports Victory In War On Duplication

Year Of Combatting Separate Air Force Supply System Is Finally Won

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House watchdog subcommittee reported today it has won a year-old fight to prevent the Air Force from establishing a separate multi-billion dollar "supply empire."

The result, said Chairman Bonner (D-N.C.), will divert hundreds of millions of dollars that would be spent for overhead to vitally needed planes and technical equipment.

Bonner said top officials had assured his expenditures subcommittee the Air Force would abandon plans to set up its own world-wide supply system for clothing, office equipment and other items used commonly with other services.

Instead, those items will continue to be handled by the General Services, he said.

The subcommittee, which has been investigating military waste, reported last year it had uncovered a Pentagon directive authorizing a separate Air Force supply system in Europe for common items.

Bonner said it was the forerunner for a more extensive global "triplication" of the Air Force.

Rep. Brownson (R-Ind.), a committee member, said this blueprint would cost billions of dollars by establishing a separate pipeline for common items.

Air Force officials testified that they did not plan as extensive a change as the group contended.

Bonner said in a statement today the subcommittee had been assured the project was dead while visiting Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, recently.

This was part of a two-week tour of major installations at St. Louis, Mo., the San Francisco Bay area and Ogden, Utah.

Bonner said the trip convinced him military officials are becoming more interested in eliminating wasteful supply methods but are moving too slowly.

The local health department has been without the services of a full-time director during the past few months due to the illness of Dr. T. G. Basnight, who served as health officer for a number of years.

Dr. Humbert appeared before the City Board of Health in July and F. F. Hendrix, chairman of the board, announced the doctor's acceptance of the position of health officer in Pitt County the last of July.

In mapping out plans for the health department under his direction, Dr. Humbert said he first planned to study the health conditions, facilities, and problems of this community, surrounding communities, and the whole area in general.

"I also want to study the operations of the county health department and state health department to become familiar with local public health laws and ordinances," stated the doctor.

The new health officer said some of his main interests included environmental sanitation, restaurant sanitation, and rodent abatement and control. He stated that he wanted to see restaurants operate economically as well as operating for the protection of the patrons.

Considering the problem of rodent control, Dr. Humbert said rats and other rodents, besides being "pest carriers, are a heavy cost to the farmer."

The doctor also said one department he wanted to become strong was that of maternal and infant health.

One sideline interest of Dr. Humbert is the new public health problems which he said would come with the atomic age.

After citing some major interests, Dr. Humbert said the purpose of the local department is to run the finest public health unit that could be run. "We have the staff to put such a unit into operation," stated the doctor.

"Another one of our objectives is a new plant because our planned activities will fast outgrow our present quarters," promised Dr. Humbert. "With the prestige that this physical set-up carries and considering the age of the plant, a new plant is much desired," he said.

On the personal side, Dr. Humbert was very much impressed with the local board of health and the community, especially the climate, which abets two of his hobbies, golfing and fishing.

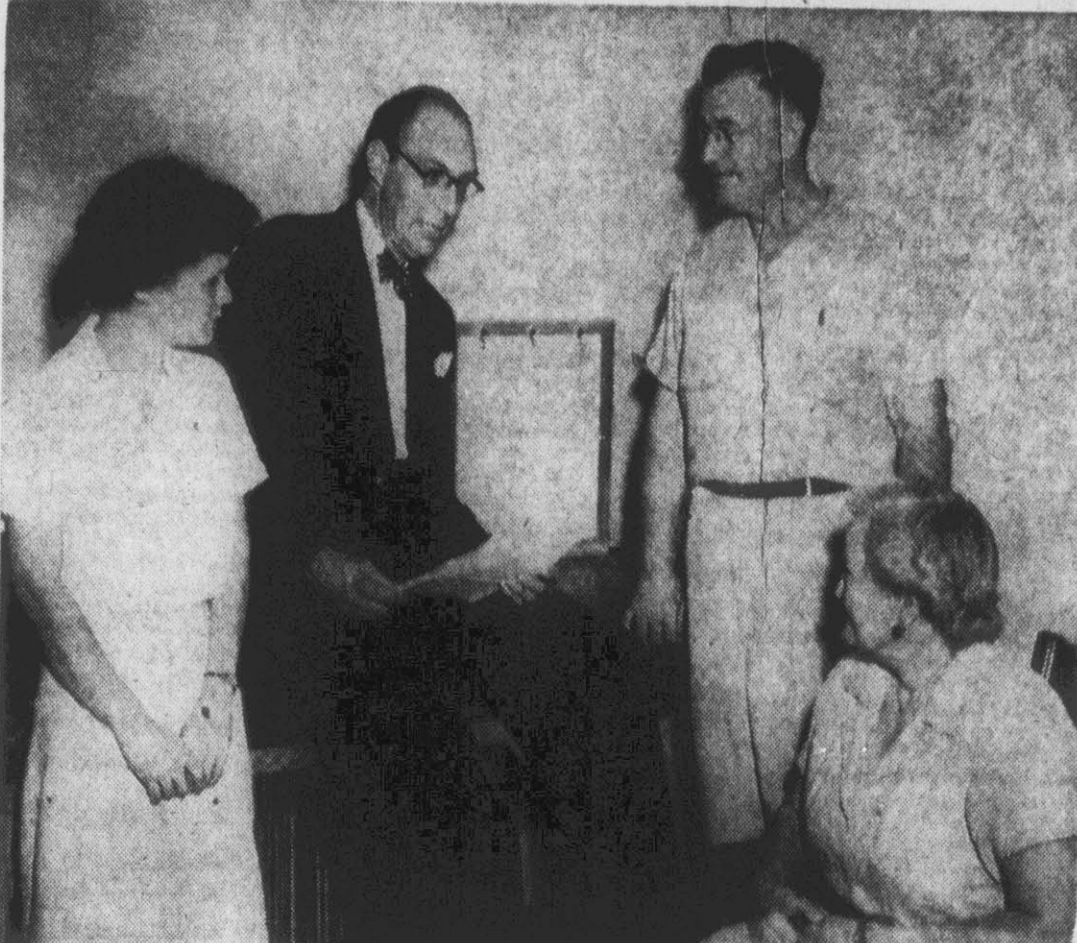

Before becoming health officer to this community Dr. Humbert was connected with the American blood program in the Midwestern Area. The Midwestern Area comprises regional blood banks in 16 states. He was in charge of a large technical, administrative and supply staff.

New Jet Blows Up In Mid-Air
FARNSBOROUGH, Eng. (AP)—A DeHavilland 110—Britain's new wonder jet fighter—exploded in a supersonic flight before 120,000 spectators at the Farnborough Air Show today killing its famed pilot and reportedly seven others.

The dead pilot is John Derry first British aviator to exceed the speed of sound and live to tell about it.

After three violent blasts apparently occurring as the plane broke through the sound barrier, it flew to pieces in a blinding flash directly over the crowd.

Health Officer Plans Campaign

Now Studying Present Conditions In Preparing Objectives

Dr. Walter C. Humbert formerly of Webster Groves, Missouri, filled a long-time vacancy at the Pitt County Health Department when he took over duties there this week as health officer.

Stevenson Scorns 'Righteous' GOP

Marches Through West Heaping Coals Of Ridicule, And Pledging Himself To All-Out War On Corruption

DENVER (AP)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson stormed through the West today, heaping coals of ridicule on the Republicans for "ill-fitting self-righteousness," and pledging himself to an all-out war against corruption in government.

The Democratic presidential candidate hurled cutting words at the GOP on three major campaign issues.

In Denver last night, he talked about "crooks in government," and kidded the Republicans for their slogan, "It's time for a change."

He was due in Kasson, Minn., before noon today to state his position on a farm program.

From there, following a gruelling schedule, he planned to fly to Cheyenne, Wyo., for a night speech, and then go on to Billings, Mont., to spend the night.

Stevenson was a different man in Denver.

Up to this point in the campaign, he has devoted his speeches largely to definitions of his views on the main issues, hence, the "foundation speeches" about which his lieutenants have been talking.

He has taken little, if any, notice of the Republican charges against the Democrats, nor of the direct attacks on his own record in government.

But in Denver, the governor let fly with some sharp-pointed shafts at his opposition. And, although he spoke quietly and with restraint, he showed genuine feeling when he replied to some of the attacks on himself.

On the corruption issue, Stevenson said:

"They the Republicans go on to say that I am indebted to some, that I would have no freedom, and that I could do nothing if I found dishonesty."

Varied Working Types Of City Manager Plan Told By Speaker

Current trends in municipal administration throughout three countries lean toward adopting some type of city manager form of government, Greenville Jaycees were told last night.

"Contrary to popular belief cities do not necessarily have to discard their present forms of government to hire a city manager," Roy L. Williamson, city manager of Rocky Mount, said to the group.

There are several different working types of city manager form of government, cities may modify their charters to permit the employment of a city manager, and at the same time still retain their elective officials."

League President
Williamson, currently serving as president of the N.C. League of Municipalities, came to the city last night to address local Jaycees on city manager government. For several weeks now the Greenville club has been investigating the feasibility of establishing a city manager here.

The speaker pointed out that a city manager is merely an administrative officer, not a policy maker. "A manager serves elective officials as administrator of responsibilities vested in him by the council—or in Greenville's case, the board of aldermen," he explained.

"A manager cannot dictate po-

Query Caudle In Special Sessions

House Probers To Conduct Unusual Weekend Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—House investigators of the Justice Department made unusual week-end dates for tonight and tomorrow with T. Lamar Caudle, former assistant attorney general.

The Wadesboro, N. C. lawyer yesterday turned over to the committee several documents which Chairman Clegg (D-Dc) said dealt with Caudle's dismissal from the Justice Department last November.

Clegg and Rep. Keating R-NY declined to say if one of the items was the letter from President Truman firing Caudle from his post for "outside activities."

Caudle will be questioned again tonight and tomorrow behind closed doors, but Clegg and Keating indicated the whole story will be told in a public hearing "maybe within 10 days."

Caudle was fired after testimony during a tax scandal investigation by a House ways and means subcommittee disclosed he had taken a $5,000 commission of the sale of an airplane.

On leaving the committee room yesterday, Caudle told newsmen: "I think I've made some progress with the committee but I want to make more."

Finish 3.6 Miles Of Pitt Paving

RALEIGH—The State Highway and Public Works Commission completed 3.6 miles of new paving in Pitt County during the month of August, Commissioner W. Guy Hargett reported today.

The Second Highway Division brought a total of 45.57 miles of road work to completion during August, announced Commissioner Hargett.

Increased Service
In leading up to this discussion of the evening, Williamson contrasted early pioneer villages in North Carolina to present-day cities. He said municipal governments of necessity have greatly increased in community service through the years.

"Fundamental functions of government have been greatly expanded since early pioneer days," declared the speaker. "Municipal government today is that level of government which renders the greatest amount of individual service to citizens."

Remarkings on frequent objections to a city manager, Williamson stated, "He has been called a dictator, and nothing is further from the truth. He is employed to coordinate functions of various departments and render services as economically as possible."

May Be Fired
"In reality a manager is just an employee—an employee hired with no term set by contract—and he

Red HQ Smashed By Bombers

North Korean Army Center Blown Up; Sabres Roll Up Record Score

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The U.S. Fifth Air Force said U.N. fighter bombers today smashed a big North Korean Army headquarters in the second straight day of withering assault on Northeast Korea.

At the eastern end of the battle front, U.S. 25th Division infantrymen hammered back a Communist attack with fists and bayonets on Sandbag Hill, and Allied outpost.

U.S. Air Force, Marine and Australian planes hurled high explosives, rockets and machine gun bullets at the North Korean Fifth Corps Headquarters near Kowon, the Air Force said. Pilots said they set 10 large fires, demolished 56 structures and damaged 20.

"The buildings just seemed to collapse like they were made of playing cards," said Capt. Felix Fowler of Cleveland, Ohio.

Other fighter bombers and B-26 light bombers blasted a tungsten mine southwest of the Northeast Korean port of Wonsan. Fighter bombers also pounded West Coast and other battlefield targets.

U.S. Sabre jet pilots reported they probably shot down one Russian-built MIG and damaged another in air battles involving 39 Allied fighters and more than 50 Red jets.

In Tokyo the Air Force said that Sabre pilots last Thursday rolled up a new unofficial record for a single day when they downed 14 MIGs—13 shot down and one which crashed without being hit. The latter isn't listed officially as a kill.

The revised score resulted from a study of gun camera films which confirmed that Capt. Norman L. Box, North Hollywood, Calif., shot down a MIG. He bagged another Friday.

The Air Force reported the first Sabres lost in aerial combat since Aug. 1. Two F-86s were shot down by Communist warplanes during the week ended Friday. Five other U.N. planes—including two Sabres—were lost to other causes. The 21 MIGs shot down during the period made a victory ratio of better than 10 to 1.

Driver Injured In Car Collision Last Evening

One person was injured last night when two cars collided near the Prison camp on the Belvoir Highway around seven o'clock.

Patrolman Jim Davis, investigating officer listed the injured man as John Perkins, of Route 2, Greenville.

The officer stated that Perkins was driving a car and was struck in the rear by a car following it.

Perkins suffered severe cuts about the neck and hands. He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital and admitted there for treatment.

Perkins told the officer that he was traveling at a speed of 20 miles per hour at the time the accident occurred.

The driver of the second car, Graham L. Mills of Route 2, Greenville stated that Perkins' car was stopped on the highway without lights.

Davis said that investigation of the accident is yet incomplete.

CYCLISTS TOO RECKLESS
BAY CITY, Mich. (UP)—The police department is being flooded with reports of reckless driving on city streets. The culprits are not motorists. They are bicycle riders. The complainants are automobile drivers.

Williamson opined that the presence of a manager in municipal government tends to create efficiency, not in meetings of the board of aldermen but in administration of aldermanic policy.

"Many times elective officials not thoroughly trained in government may make mistakes in decisions simply because of lack of knowledge," asserted the speaker.

"A city manager is more experienced in municipal problems and would not be as prone to make mistakes as a layman—in fact he would not be tolerated if he did,"

Query Session
Williamson then threw the floor open for questions from Jaycees and three visiting guests—Mayor Lester D. Page and aldermen Heber B. Tripp and Robert Elks.

Questions were relative to two major issues, city manager operation in Rocky Mount and functions of the city-owned utilities plant at Rocky Mount.

The Rocky Mount manager said technically he has full authority to discharge any city employee or any department head without consulting anyone. He cited exceptions as being the city clerk and the

Factors Leading To Obtaining Of Industries Outlined In Talk

"There is no magic formula for obtaining industries but it takes intelligence, hard work, and persistence," said Paul Kelly, chief industrial engineer for the State Department of Conservation and Development.

Kelly spoke to members of the Industrial Committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and chamber directors and members last night in the board of aldermen room at the City Hall. He was invited to Greenville by the industrial engineer for the State working toward a more effective way to obtain industries for Greenville.

The speaker said industries are guided to their location by many factors which include market, labor, buildings available, and raw materials in addition to aesthetic points such as school and recreational facilities. He reminded the group that the state advertises recreation and schools in effort to obtain industries.

Kelly cited a number of types of industries which have considered Greenville as a location but found other places which had factors suiting them better. In one instance, he cited where an industry located elsewhere because of existing buildings meeting the requirements of the industry. "It would be false to say that an industry would go into a building that did not meet its requirements," said Kelly.

In naming industries which would be adaptable to this community he included cutting and sewing operations, (because of labor supply), chemical industries (water supply), drying and finishing, the processing of wool and agricultural products.

"Intangibles often count a great deal in obtaining industries because warmth of greeting and special attention goes a long way," he said.

Kelly looked over the new Greenville brochure and said it filled the purpose but suggested one or two pages summarizing the city to arouse interest and the inclusion of attractive illustrations.

The industrial engineer said it was best for committees to get together and discuss the types of industries the city wanted and then obtain mailing lists of the industries to invite them to consider the interested city.

Kelly also stressed strong competition between communities seeking to get industries located and better than average to offer.

Following his talk, the group was invited to ask questions and enter into a discussion on the best method of obtaining industries to which Greenville is best adapted and for which it has the facilities for successful operation.

WESTPORT LANDING

By Homer Hatten

Chapter Fifteen

After sundown the lower floor of Abner Yost's Westport Tavern was no place for a woman. Sally had seen with Clay and Burl at the big, family-style dinner table, but after the meal she had retired to her room while the men repaired to the long, low-ceilinged, dimly lit barroom that ran all along one side of the establishment.

Clay and Burl had seated themselves at one of the tables near the middle of the room. There was a hum of talk all about them broken by an occasional laugh or oath, for the barroom was almost full of leaders and teamsters, merchants and Mexicans, hunters and mountain men, many of whom would be far out on the Santa Fe trail before another week had passed. It was the season of the year when the great annual western migration threw the frontier town into a frenzy of bustling excitement that would change almost miraculously to somnolence and inertia when the last wagon disappeared into the prairie.

"They had drunk the bottle dry and Clay got up and walked across to the bar to obtain a new one. The bar was crowded and he waited a minute, knowing that men drinking at a bar shift and cluster and change position and that an opening would soon present itself. Directly in front of him three men were getting themselves unceremoniously and dangerously drunk. From the square jaws, black eyes, and broad shoulders that they had in common, he felt sure that they were brothers, and their flannel shirts and leather boots definitely marked them as plainsmen, probably teamsters or traders of the Santa Fe trail.

One of them was telling a bawdy story at the top of his lungs, and as he reached his climax he threw his arms high in the air and let back from the bar to illustrate his point. He had moved into action so explosively and so unexpectedly that he caught Clay by surprise, and as his boot heel ground down on Clay's toes and his hard back crashed into Clay's chest, Clay acted instinctively. Like a sleeping dog suddenly awakened, he struck out before he realized what had happened. His right arm shot up so that back of the other's head was cupped in his hand, and then, with a sudden thrust that had the power of a blow, he threw his weight forward so that the stranger was propelled against the bar like a sack of meal hurled from a wagon. The impact crushed the air out of his lungs and he hung for a moment, inert and helpless across the edge of the bar, struggling for breath.

The conversation in the room stopped as suddenly as if it had been cut off with a knife, and for a space of time that seemed to stretch out to infinity the two men seemed to hang motionless and paralyzed in a smoke-filled circle of suspended animation.

Then, with a great heave of his heavy shoulders, the stranger pushed himself away from the bar and turned to face Clay, who stood just where he had when the scuffle began, eyes bright and nostrils flaring with the expectation of attack.

The big man was still breathing raucously, but his mouth was twisted into a snarl and his eyes were narrow slits of fury as he surveyed Clay slowly from head to foot.

"Why," he said slowly, "I'm going to stomp your bloody guts into the floor for that!"

"You'll stomp nothing," said Clay contemptuously. "You've had one taste of trouble and you'd as a sight more if you keep asking for it."

He looked over the man's shoulder at the bartender, who stood transfixed and immobile.

"Give me another bottle of whiskey," he said preemptorily, "and don't be all day about it."

The bartender's eyes never left the scene before him, but he reached down to the cupboard below, located an unopened bottle, and placed it gingerly on the bar. With a quick movement Clay stepped forward, picked up the bottle, and spinning on his heel, started back to his table.

His sister audaciously and obviously contempt for his opponent had held the big man speechless, but

CAN YOU KEEP THEM SMILING?

"The happiest years of their lives," you say of your teen-agers. But these youngsters you love so deeply can go on being happy through all their lives. It all depends on you.

They are like tender, growing plants. You have to give them the right kind of soil to grow in. You have to feed and water them. You have to cultivate them, keeping down the weeds—choke weeds of questionable character and evil—until they can rise above them.

You have to protect them from rigorous storms until they are strong enough to stand by themselves. And their roots must sink deep—deep into fertile soil such as that found only in the spiritual teachings of the Bible.

Give your children rich, well-balanced lives through religious as well as secular education. Go to church with them regularly, and you'll all have reason to keep smiling.

Barbara White is giving her hair a final grooming before starting out to one of the social events which have been planned to honor this year's debutantes. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Greenville, she will be presented to state society in Raleigh next Friday at the Debutante Ball.

Mary Todd Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Smith of Bethel. She is one of the three girls from Pitt County who has been invited to make her debut at the annual Debutante Ball in Raleigh. She is shown here discussing in a telephone conversation some of her plans with one of her friends. (Staff Photos by Roy Hardee).

Virginia King Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid Perkins of Greenville, is as busy as a bride these days acknowledging the many invitations she has received to teas, parties and dances which will precede the Debutante Ball, where she will make her debut.

Once In A Lifetime, For Some Girls....

They Go To Raleigh To Make Their Debut

By MARTHA S. FORBES

"This is more fun than anything I've ever done," one of the gay young things asserted as she trailed up the stairs to change her costume again.

"This," to which she was referring was preparation for the biggest social event so far to which she had been invited. She was one of the three Pitt County girls who have been asked to make her debut at the Debutante Ball to be held in Raleigh on Friday of next week.

Miss Barbara White of Greenville, Miss Mary Todd Smith of Bethel and Miss Virginia King Perkins of Greenville will represent this county when they are introduced to State society at the annual affair to be held in Memorial Auditorium. They are among the 138 young ladies from all sections of the State who will make their official bow to society and become for one year at least the leading social figures on campuses and in towns all over North Carolina and surrounding states.

For weeks the girls have been planning wardrobes, fitting gowns and contacting young men of their acquaintances to serve as their marshals, an honor which is coveted by the male contingent of the state almost as highly as is the Terpsichorean club invitation by the girls, as she finished the last exam at St. Mary's, where she completed next week is approaching, they are in first year of college. She spent several such a misty cloud of glory and ex-er-al weeks in practice, work and citement that their feet scarcely touch anything as commonplace as the ground. They have squibbed sleeping at night, though they dream all day long. They no longer find nourishing food necessary for sustenance, for they are feasting on anticipatory pleasures.

When members of their families catch them posing on the stairway, or walking along balancing a dictionary on their heads, they shrug such actions off as prerequisites for the Big Event. For once in their lives they must learn to glide gracefully around a mirror-like floor, trailing yards and yards of glory behind them and holding in their arms magnificent bouquets of red roses. They must practice their smiles until they are as bright and natural as the sun; and above all, they must acquire poise and gracefulness, for this event comes into the lives of girls only once in a lifetime.

Barbara White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. White has had less time to prepare for the event than the other two girls because she has been spending the summer in Boone, North Carolina, where she has been the leading soprano in the outdoor drama "Horn in the West." Babs, as she is affectionately called by her friends, left for Boone as soon though as a rule they are not as ready to admit it. Now that the big Mary's, where she completed next week is approaching, they are in first year of college. She spent several such a misty cloud of glory and ex-er-al weeks in practice, work and study before the drama opened the latter part of June. In addition to singing in the chorus and doing solo work, she also understudied one of the speaking parts.

She will return to St. Mary's as a major in voice and piano on Monday following the Ball on Friday. She has chosen for her chief marshal her cousin, William H. White, of this city. Her brother, Charles A. White Jr., will be one of her additional four marshals, and others will be James Dillingham of Winterville, Ted Barnett of Boone, and her first cousin, Harold Hodgkinson, of Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Mary Todd Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Smith of Bethel. She has a nickname, too—Toddy—by which she is better known. Toddy will also enter college for the second year when the ball is over, returning to Salem College in Winston-Salem. During the summer she has been in and out of Bethel so often going or returning from houseparties at the beach that her family has seen little of her. She was a counselor at Camp Morehead for three weeks part of her vacation, and during the rest of the summer months she has been visiting friends and schoolmates at North Carolina coastal beaches.

William BuBerry Smith, her brother, will act as her chief marshal. "And I hope he does not make a face at me when I start down those endless stairs," she laughed. Others who are attending her as escorts are young Smith Jr., a cousin from Robersonville, William Green of Robersonville, Ben Mayo of Tarboro and Cooper Taylor of Raleigh. She will have longer than the other girls to rest up from the strenuous weekend because she does not return to Salem until September 25, where she will continue her studies as a history major.

Virginia King Perkins, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reid Perkins of Greenville, is a schoolmate of Barbara's at St. Mary's, where she too will be a senior during the coming year. She is the seventh granddaughter in line of the late Mrs. R. W. King to be presented to state society in Raleigh.

Virginia has been busy attending summer sessions at East Carolina College and going on houseparties or visiting friends every weekend. She just barely managed to save enough time from her studies, swimming, sailing and such to shop for her debutante clothes.

Her younger brother, Walter Reid Jr., will lend her his arm as chief marshal when she descends the stairs on Friday night. Helping to acquire her about during the weekend festivities will be Lyman Ormone Jr., Tommy Pace and John Farley, all of Greenville, and Farrar Parker of Asheville. When the last note is played on the trumpet and the last goodbye is said to the many friends, old and new, who have shared in the fun, she will once more pack her bags and return to Raleigh and to the opening of school.

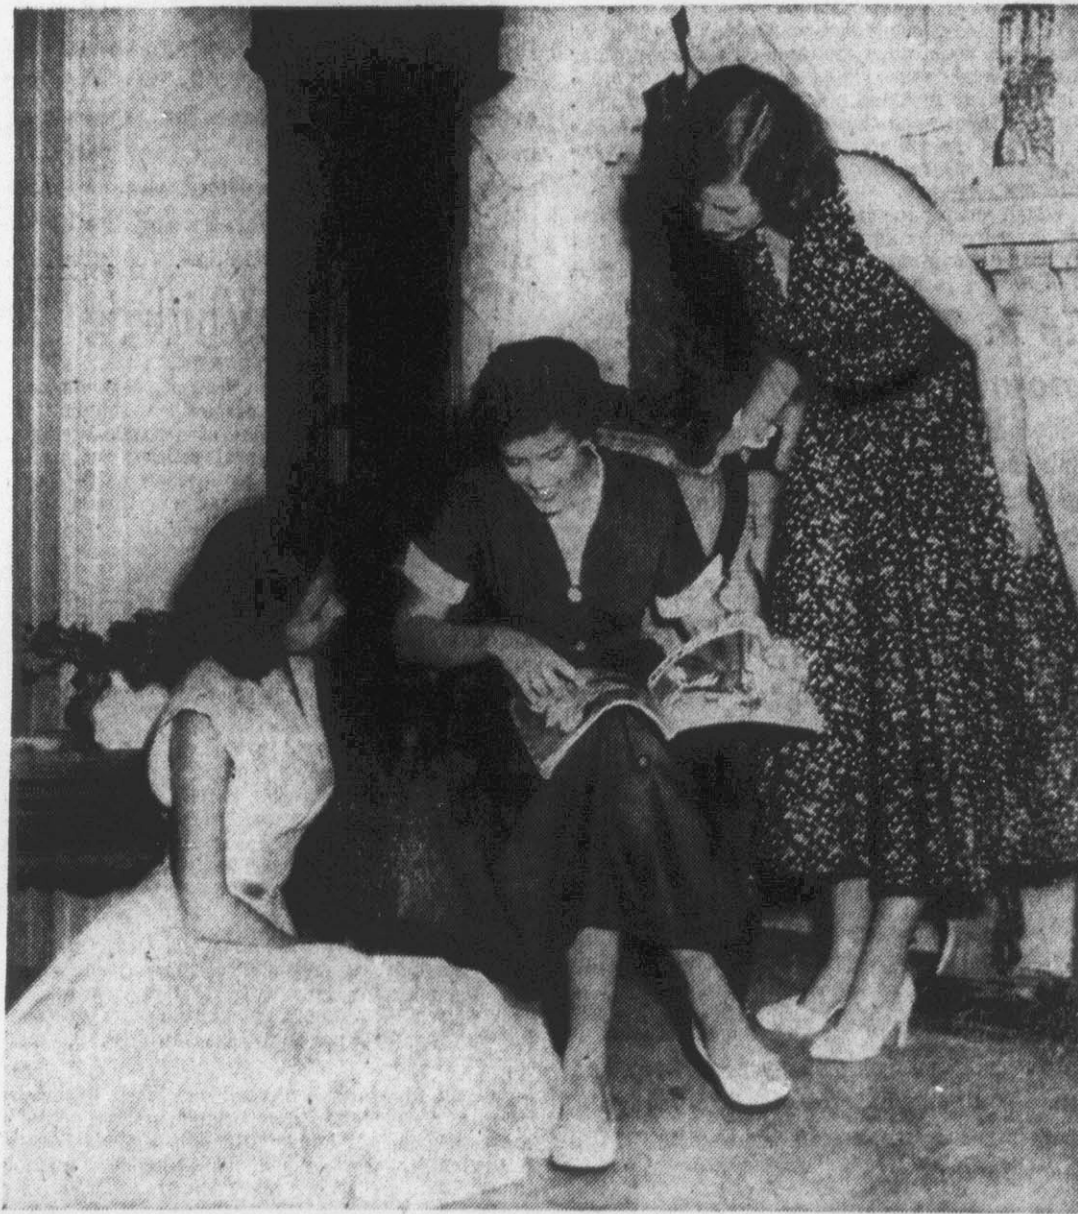

A full schedule has been designed to keep the young things busy all during their stay in Raleigh. With registration and rehearsal planned for Thursday, they will hardly have time to catch their breaths before they appear at a luncheon on Friday with their chief marshals. They are supposed to spend Friday afternoon relaxing and resting, but with the number of private things planned in their honor, they will probably be flying around until time to don those luscious dresses for the all-important moment.

The formal opening of the Debutante Ball occurs at 8:00 p.m. Friday night, at which time they will be introduced. The intricate Debutante figure will be followed by a dance at which they and their marshals will be the only attendants. On Saturday there is another round of social events, with a morning dance at the Carolina Country Club, tea at the Executive Mansion, and another dance at Memorial Auditorium until midnight.

Interspersed among these formal activities, there are a number of private dinners and dances to which they have been invited. All in all, the most glorious, the most glamorous and the most exciting weekend imaginable has been designed to give the girls something that they will always cherish in their memories as the time they were launched on the social seas. Everything else which has happened to them pales in insignificance in comparison to this.

P. S. The mothers are excited, too. They have acquired new clothes and are looking forward to the event with as much pleasure as their daughters.

The girls are checking the Debutante schedule of events, which have been planned for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week. Here they are shown in some of the clothes which they will wear during the exciting three days in Raleigh, where they will make their debuts on Friday night. Left to right, Virginia, Toddy and Barbara.

Displaying some of her new clothes for the approval of her friends, Virginia, (center) is impatient to get them packed away in the suitcases. Toddy (right) holds one of the party dresses, while Barbara is admiring them on a wool rock.

Relaxing in comfortable clothes after an hour or more of posing for pictures, Barbara serves iced drinks to Virginia, (center) and Toddy as they gather around a table to study some fashion pictures.

Toddy, Virginia and Barbara (left to right) are all dressed and ready to go. They are eager to get to Raleigh, where for at least three days they will be in a constant whirl of teas, dinners and dances, all a part of the Debutante Ball festivities.

Strength for the Day

CONVINCED MEN

Convinced men are always dangerous men. Wendell Phillips was a convinced man, and as he declared that he would speak out on the slavery issue and would not be silenced, millions who lacked the gift of expression took heart in the courage of their leader. Robert E. Lee, who after a night on his knees decided to remain with his state instead of casting in his lot with the Union, was a convinced man, and the power of his consecrated personality persists to this day. Jesus, a lone man standing against a whole pack of entrenched ecclesiastical wolves, was so convinced of his mission that to this day men assemble weekly to worship him, and his name is the most revered in the whole annals of human history.

In these days of pusillanimous yielding to popular tides, at a time when multitudes go after popular beliefs and forsake the abiding things which have proved beneficial to mankind, we long for convinced men. We honor them when they stand up alone and assert the power of their minority position. Jesus was always emphasizing the necessity for taking sides and sticking by one's decision.

Watch out for the convinced man. He shakes empires. Pray for the continuous emergence of such men, and pray that his conviction may be inspired of God and not of Satan—as it sometimes is.

Nip In The Air, Know What It Means?

Scorching summer heat is giving way to brisk morning breezes and cool nights which mark the beginning of Indian summer.

Sport shirts, so evident in Pitt County for several months, are giving way to long sleeved shirts and ties, and even an occasional coat. To the sports fan, the new nip in the air early in September has one meaning which stands out above all others—football season is upon us.

Greenville High Panthers Friday night touched off the football season in this area with its opening game against Morehead City. This coming week-end East Carolina gridders will begin their football season when they clash with the Naval Air Station team from Norfolk. By next week-end also, Ayden, Farmville, Robersonville, Vanceboro, Williamston and other high school football teams will be taking the fields in official contests.

This year, as in past years, there will be plenty of football right under the noses of local sports fans. There is every indication it will be good football. The players of East Carolina College and all the high school teams are working to bring as much glory as possible to their respective institutions during the fall months. They are working to give the fans here at home a good brand of football.

To accomplish their aim, however, these football teams—each one of them—must have the support of local fans. Without local support they are penalized to begin with.

In the past few years interest in local sports teams has shown a marked increase in Pitt County, and by the same token, the quality of performance on the football fields hereabouts has improved. This fall should be another outstanding football year in Pitt County. The players are off to a good start if the fans will shoulder their portion of the burden.

Which Category Do You Come In?

Didya ever take particular notice of the jaywalkers in Greenville who daily snarl lines of traffic, cause quick stops and near-heart attacks along the streets of the city's business section?

With the one-way traffic system, jaywalkers are taking a greater chance now than ever before even in Greenville. Traffic is moving faster, turns are being made closer to the curb, and the jaywalker is causing not only other pedestrians, but police officers and motorists to almost pull their hair out.

So far as we have been able to determine, there are three principal categories in to which these habitual jaywalkers may be classed.

There is the "orator" who finds a friend or some other pedestrian who will walk a couple of blocks with him. No sooner has he started walking than he begins expounding his pet theory on government, fishing or any other subject, and for all practical purposes becomes oblivious of other pedestrians and motor traffic. When he comes to a corner, he forgets the traffic light, and trudges out in the path of traffic without pausing to see if he is walking with or against the traffic signal. In so doing, he never loses a word, but he risks his limbs if not his life.

Then there is the efficiency guy who makes a bee-line for his destination. Convinced that he must take the straight line which is the shortest distance between two points, he dashes across the street at any place in the block instead of walking to the corner and crossing in the lane marked for pedestrians. Then there is the "ambler" who plods along with no particular destination, and no conscious interest in traffic lights or vehicle traffic. He's the guy who never sees a car until he hears a horn or a sharp screech of brakes. And he's usually the guy who gives the motorist that "I was here first" glare when he walks into the path of a car.

Almost without exception, the jaywalker means no harm. He doesn't want to get hurt, nor does he want to cause anyone else to get hurt. He just hasn't gotten around to considering the advisability of crossing a street at the corner with the traffic light. If he has considered the matter, he has long since absent-mindedly disregarded the consideration.

One way streets in Greenville have stepped up the flow of traffic, and have made the avocation of jaywalking an unwise one indeed. Greenville police are exerting every effort to eliminate the jaywalking in the business district; but they can't accomplish their task without the cooperation of pedestrians generally and the habitual jaywalkers in particular.

National Whirligig

Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 8306 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—You newspapermen give me a pain! explodes Mrs. C. M. of Tulsa, Okla. "Ever since General Eisenhower was nominated almost two months ago, you have been writing that he was a 'flip' as a candidate, that he has not lived up to expectations, and that he is a 'disappointment' to his admirers. How can you make such sweeping statements, when he has not really started to campaign?"

DISAPPOINTMENT—Answer: On behalf of newspapermen generally, may I say that they do not make the news; they simply report it. The impression they reflect in their articles derives from their daily association with General Eisenhower, the reaction of his audiences, and talks with such advisers of the nominee as Duff, Dewey, Lodge, Carlson, not to mention Ike himself.

Almost everybody who promoted Eisenhower for the nomination has registered disappointment at his slow start, at his generalized observations on the most elementary issues, and on his failure to assail the recognized blunders and weaknesses of the Truman Administration.

Among those criticizing his campaign behavior are most of the newspapers, columnists and political leaders who helped him to win at the Chicago convention. When they are not apologizing and making excuses, they are asking their readers, in effect, "to give the boy a chance."

Eisenhower's own explanation may be valid. As an officer and as commander of our forces in Europe, he has always been a slow starter, reserving his victorious blows for the strategic moment. There are many who agree that it is advisable for him to get in his heaviest blows in the last few weeks of the battle than in September.

QUESTIONS—Let me cite one reason for the publication of the newspaper articles and editorials against which Mrs. C. M. protests. When Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, a wise old politician and an Eisenhower fan from the start, appeared on a radio quiz ten days ago, the questions thrown at him by the panelists were, in effect:

(1) Are you satisfied with the kind of campaign Eisenhower is making? (2) Don't you think he has lost support since his nomination? (3) When is he going to begin to fight?

INDICTMENT—Now, those questions were not original with Duff's interrogators, nor were they meant to be hostile. They were born of the fact that Ike has not fulfilled expectations that he would be a glamorous and aggressive campaigner. In general, Senator Duff conceded the truth of this indictment, adding that he had been assured by Ike that "things would be different soon."

Frankly, in view of the fact that General Eisenhower was invading a field for which he had no preparation or experience, I think that his friends expected too much of him. Politics is not a game that can be learned overnight.

QUESTIONABLE—Will you please discuss the three guards who attended Margaret Truman on her European trip? asks Mrs. C. T. H. of Houston, Tex. "Is it necessary for a member of the President's family to be so guarded, and who bears the expense?"

Answer: There is considerable misunderstanding on this subject. The law says that the Secret Service is "authorized" at the request of the President, to protect him, his family, the President-elect and the Vice President-elect. There is no requirement that the S. S. accompany members of the White House family. The President must request it.

It seems quite proper that at least one guardian should accompany Margaret, although every country she visited provided extraordinary protection. But the assignment of three is questionable. It is estimated that the cost for each S. S. man on her trip was about $2,000, which is paid from the public treasury.

VACANCY—If a presidential or vice-presidential nominee should die before the election, inquires B. M. W. of Hollidaysburg, Pa., "who would take their place, and how would the vacancy be filled?"

Answer: Almost the last act of each nominating convention is to empower the national committee, in event of the death of either candidate, to name a substitute. To my recollection, it has never happened.

DEBT—What was the national debt and how many were unemployed when Franklin D. Roosevelt became President in 1933? asks H. M. of Long Beach, Cal. "At the outbreak of the war in 1939, and now?"

Answer: In 1933 the public debt was $22,338,673,164, and the unemployed numbered about 11,000,000. The comparative figures for 1939 were $40,431,532,411 and 6,000,000. Those for 1952 are approximately $266,000,000,000 and 2,000,000, which is the normal total of the out-of-work population.

Now, Don't Think I'm Unpatriotic—

Somebody Told Me

By L. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Almost everybody in Greenville is wondering when we will get our television station, so in order to get first-hand information I wrote to the Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington. As the story progresses, you will see that the information I have previously printed which was released by Hartwell Campbell, manager of the present radio station WGTC, future WGTC-TV was more informative. The letter I wrote to Paul Walker, Chairman of the Commission, emphasized one point:

"If dictating a letter to me will in any way slow down your efforts in considering TV applications, please ignore this request for information. You see, I'm just a John Doe who is about to have a fit to see television. I also realize that our town of Greenville has an application in for a station, the freeze has been off since July 1st, and our application has been deemed 10 per cent in order by Washington attorneys. Also, no other town has applied for our channel nine." The letter I wrote also asked my permission to print his reply and emphasized the fact that Greenville people would like to know why they can not get the FCC OK now. Paul said it was all right to print his answer:

"I have your letter of August 14, 1952, concerning television service in Greenville, North Carolina, and requesting information as to the time when an application for a television station in that city will be considered by the Commission."

"As you know, the Commission's Temporary Processing Procedure for television applications provides for the processing of applications for cities which have no television service (A-2 group) in the order of population of those cities. Greenville, North Carolina, is 32nd city in the A-2 group. To date the letter is dated September 3rd; the Commission has considered applications for the first 27 cities in that group."

The remainder of Chairman Walker's letter explains the list which he enclosed of all the cities granted channels and the public notice of the list of the freeze. So you can see that the Chairman of the FCC will say nothing except that we are 32nd on the list. He did not say that there are 129 cities on the list that have not, and let me repeat have not, even filed an application for a channel! He also doesn't admit that of the remaining 129 cities probably half have more than one application for a channel and will have to be tied up in hearings in order to determine which town or station gets the allocation. The hearings will be set aside for a later date and consequently that action will speed up the processing of uncounted applications, of which Greenville is one.

My initial prediction still stands: Last month I wrote that Greenville will get official OK in 83 days and the station will be on the air six months from then. And I thank Chairman Walker.

TIMELY—Forrest Bedell notified court officials that he was withdrawing his appeal to the Supreme Court just in time to save the State some money and perhaps delay in getting out general elections. Bedell is the Reidsville business man who filed as Republican candidate for congress in the 5th district. When it was discovered that he was registered as a Democrat the State Board of Elections canceled his filing. Bedell told the matter to law and in Wake superior court the Board of Elections was sustained. The would-be candidate gave notice of appeal, but notified authorities Thursday that he was abandoning the idea. The formal notice came almost exactly the same time as a telephone call from the printers that they were up with the job of printing other State ballots and would have to pull the forms from the press and then start all over again when they got the dope on the fifth district. Secretary Raymond Maxwell was happy to tell 'em to go ahead with the printing and omit the Republican candidate. That means all the ballots can be delivered in time to supply demand for soldier absentee voting.

ABSENTEES—Secretary of State Thad Eure reports that his office has received and transmitted to the several county election chairmen between 8,000 and 10,000 applications for absentee ballots from men in the armed services. He estimates that the total number requested before the November election will exceed 20,000. In 1944 during the peak military personnel period, there were 25 or 30 district, county and local fairs in addition to those which will be held in September. There will be one or more "big" football games every Saturday, with dozens of high school games on Friday afternoons and nights. It is election year, which means that political activity will be at high speed and high tension throughout the month. The State has scheduled twelve congressional district rallies, to be supplemented by 300 or more county and local meetings. The Republicans will not be idle in areas where they have a chance to win in November. Formal dedication and opening of the Carolina Power & Light Company's expanded plant at Lumberton and the big government installation at Bug's Island are on the October agenda. Throughout the state the farmers will be completing the annual harvest and merchants will be in the peak of the year's trade. Prospects are that September will be a lively month, but that October will be one of the "fastest" in many years.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

PROSPERITY FOR 6 MONTHS (Henderson Dispatch)
Roger Babson predicts continued prosperity for at least six months or more. That would bring us around to about March 1, when spring is on the threshold again, and activity is getting under way following winter hibernation for most life other than humans.

The economist supports his theory upon high wages and relatively slight unemployment. But what will happen to high wages when government defense spending begins to taper off—the long pull worry in many quarters. That lavish outlay will not end six months from now either, not in twelve. When it does slow down, with possible accompanying decline in jobs and extra work time, there will be problems enough to face, and which must be solved if the economy is to be kept on an even keel.

Who knows but that Harry Truman was in part influenced by this prospect in deciding he had been in the White House long enough? Certainly the next president will have his headaches, and Stevenson and Eisenhower should realize that they will pay dearly for the honor they are seeking, whichever wins it.

Fact of the business is that the government cannot permit any pronounced slump in activity, so long as it is possible to prevent it. The government itself is dependent upon earnings for operation of its sprawling establishment. If the people do not have good incomes they will be unable to pay the high taxes needed to meet the public bills. Should that happen, one of two things would inevitably follow. There would be sharp curtailment in operations or else there would be resort to fiat money, which means running the printing presses overtime. And that would produce continued inflation, high prices and great hardship.

Mr. Babson is being habitually conservative and cautious in forecasting prosperity for just six months. Some day he said, we are in for a bust, and in that he may be correct. But most likely the evil day will be farther away than next spring.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER

The other day the Federal Reserve Board reported that city families—in 1950, at least—were spending more than they earned. This week the F.R.B. reported that installment credit outstanding reached $14,732,000,000, a new high on July 31—a gain of almost two billion dollars in a year.

And now comes the American Finance Conference which suggests that installment credit can safely—and probably will—go even higher. The A.F.C. may be right.

The Conference, an organization of 350 independent auto sales credit companies, puts it this way: In 1939 installment credit outstanding amounted to 3.98 per cent of disposable income. In 1940, the percentage moved up to 4.56 per cent, declined to 4.1 per cent in 1941. During the war years, when little merchandise was available for installment buying, the percentage fell sharply. By 1950 it had returned to 3.9 per cent but declined later and by September 30, 1951, was only 3.3 per cent. On June 30, 1952, the percentage again stood at 3.9 per cent, still below the level for any one of the three years immediately preceding World War II.

In other words, while the total amount of instalments owed rose generally since the end of the war, the total amount of disposable personal income rose faster.

Relating instalments owed to disposable income makes sense because it is out of income that instalment payments are met. And so while Mr. and Mrs. America owed almost 15 billion dollars at the end of July, their income was at an annual rate of approximately 266 billion dollars.

The A.F.C. also remarked: "The amount of instalment sales credit outstanding in 1939-41 represents a normal volume needed to sustain a healthy national economy. The lower ratios since then are the result of abnormal and depressed production conditions of wartime plus unnecessary and arbitrary controls that dampened up the healthy flow of instalment credit that enables all segments of our population to share the nation's production of durable goods."

ACRIAL TO DEBUT—ON LIMITED SCALE.

A number of articles of appeal made of Acril will go on sale next week. But the total number of items of the newest man-made fiber will be very small. Production of Chemstrand Corp.'s new plant at Decatur, Ala., is still limited. Plans call for eventual production of 30,000,000 pounds a year, but this rate will not be reached until later this year. Allowing several months for the conversion of fiber into garments, ample supplies of Acril garments are not likely before next fall.

NEW YORK (AP)—Jesse James was born in the wrong century.

He wasted his criminal talents holding up banks, ambushing trains on horseback, and died young himself, a victim of the crude instrument by which he lived, a pistol.

Today Jesse James would have to sharpen his technique considerably to survive in a crime field that has become a big business, truck cargo thefts.

Looting the heavily-laden behemoths of the highways is now a highly lucrative industry for well-organized gangs who operate with the timed precision of a professional football team making a touch-down play.

The rewards are high. In some hijackings, single trucks have yielded $100,000 in furs, $40,000 in cigars, or—as in one case—$30,000 worth of brassieres.

Truck hijacking has become so widespread that losses rose from $22 million dollars in 1945 to $65 million in 1951, and some insurance experts fear the toll this year may reach 75 million.

Here is the kind of cargo these criminal specialists go for, as measured by losses last year: clothing, food, textiles, tobacco, liquor, metals, television sets, money and furniture.

"All it requires to steal a 20-ton truck is nerve," said Jack Seide, 42, head of Babaco Alarm Systems, a pioneer in truck cargo protection.

"Contrary to the public's idea," he said, "most truck hijackings don't occur on lonely stretches of the open road at gunpoint."

"Ninety-nine per cent are pulled off in a metropolitan area. They are usually thefts from unattended vehicles. Gunplay is very rare, because it is unnecessary."

Some gangs set up their jobs with inside help from trucking firm employees, whom Seide feels aren't carefully checked for past criminal records. Some gangs load unguarded trucks on the spot, others drive them away and empty the contents at their leisure, then abandon the vehicles.

Seide became interested in the problem as a young traveling salesman for a jewelry and watch supplies firm shortly after graduating from high school.

Thieves repeatedly broke into his car and stole his samples. "It wasn't the value of the samples themselves that bothered me," he said, "as the time I lost from selling until the samples could be replaced."

With the help of a friend he made a crude burglar alarm that would sound the horn if anyone tried to tamper with his car. It worked. He lost no more samples. Other salesmen heard of his alarm, and asked him to make some for their cars.

Seide decided to make vehicle protection his career, and developed his invention. It took him

GOVERNMENT LISTS

A FREE PATENTS
A list of 2,339 patents owned by the United States government and available for licensing to manufacturers on a royalty-free, non-exclusive basis, has been published by the Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D.C. The list, in a 104-page booklet, is cross-indexed by 21 major classifications. The Department of Commerce sells it for $1.

OLD PROMOTER WANTS QUICK PRICE SUPPORTS

"The government," remarked Old Promoter, "has long been buying or acquiring title to farm products to keep the prices up. Now I read in Business Week that the government has bought lead and zinc recently to prevent the price from crashing."

"I think it's a wonderful idea, but it doesn't go far enough. If we are going to have top-and-bottom price fixing by the government, I think it ought to go all the way."

"I have a nephew who has a appliance store. If the government would only come around and support his prices by stockpiling a few refrigerators and 1951 model radios, he'll make out all right. The government will have to work pretty fast, though."

"Why?" we asked.

"Unless Uncle Sam gets there by Thursday, the bank takes over the business," the Old Promoter said.

DEFENSE HOUSING CALL STYMIED

The defense housing program has not gotten under way in a satisfactory manner, says the National Association of Home Builders of the United States.

"A combination of mortgage finance problems, the lack of community facilities and problems of valuation of capitalization by FHA have stymied the program in a number of important areas. In some communities high building costs make the required rent levels unrealistic," the association's Washington letter states.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Boston-born Ruth Basius had started enthusiastically to be a surgeon, but took to the air instead—just as enthusiastically. She was taking a pre-med course at Radcliffe College and even worked for six months as a medical secretary at Massachusetts General Hospital, where she decided she wasn't cut out to cut up.

With travel an insatiable hobby she gravitated toward the airline business and quickly made her way to the top. Today, she is assistant secretary and Washington representative of the California Eastern Airways, Inc., handling liaison with the Air Force, Military Air Transport and the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Under contract with the Air Force, California Eastern is operating the Korea air-lift, flying whatever is needed—cargo, passengers, soldiers on rotation or the wounded. This involves practically a trip a day. The airline also recently completed its sixth trip of flying dependents of service personnel abroad, and is one of the group of civilian air carriers under contract to give Air Force cadets basic pilot training.

Miss Basius' first job in aviation circles was as secretary to the president of Northeast Airline in Boston.

"I came to Washington on loan at the beginning of World War II to the Airlines War Training Institute for two weeks," she said. "I'm like the man who came to dinner, I stayed."

From ATWTI she went, on loan again, to become secretary of the Airlines Committee for U.S. Air Policy, staying on until they went out of existence. In addition to job travels, Miss Basius has made two vacation flying trips, through Central and South America. Now she is looking forward to going to Tokyo, on business, in connection with JIWA set-up.

Baseball is another hobby, she says. Recently, she found herself involved in the subject with some Japanese aviation officials in Washington.

"We talked in sign language," she said, "but I was able to learn that more Japanese turned out in Tokyo to see the 'Yankee-Clipper' Joe Di Maggio on his team's visit there than turned out

Nuptial Mass Unites Couple

Marie Cannon Weds Mr. Hatem In Farmville Ceremony

FARMVILLE—Miss Marie Cannon and Joseph Hatem were united in marriage in a nuptial Mass ceremony conducted in Saint Elizabeth Catholic Church Sunday morning.

Officiants were Father Joachim Benson, of the church, and Father Goode of Port Gibson, Miss. The double-ring ceremony at 10 o'clock was solemnized before a setting of white flowers and wedding greenery. White roses were used on the altar and baskets of white gladioli, asters and ferns were used on each side of the bride-and-groom kneeling bench.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karim Cannon of Farmville. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Nahoun Hatem of Roanoke Rapids.

Miss Delores Labaki of Wilson, organist, and the choir of Saint Therese Catholic Church of Wilson presented the wedding music. Miss "Notre Dame" by Vordovel was played during the ceremony and Mass and "Ave Maria" by Arcadelt was the offertory hymn.

Other selections were Wedding March No. 3 by Rossini, "Panis Angelicus" by Lambillotte and "Ave Verum Corpus" by Mozart. Members of the choir were: Mrs. Charlie Nassif, Misses Angelle and Rita Labaki, Miss Marian Simon, Mrs. Shirley Murad, and George Caulfield.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original gown of white bride's satin and rose-point lace, fashioned with a cathedral train. The bodice of the gown, which was fitted and long, had a net yoke of illusion that was outlined with lace rose design. The full, bouffant skirt of satin had wide panel lace insets. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was attached to a crown of rosepoint lace. Seed pearls outlined the design of the lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis, tied with satin streamers and shower ribbons.

Miss Claire Cannon, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Emily and Guitta Cannon, Mrs. Charles Mathews of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Henry Zaytown of Rocky Mount. All wore identical, strapless dresses of cotton blue, nylon net, and matching stoles, halo hats and mitts. Their flowers were cascade arrangements of red roses and rubrum lilies.

Thomas A. Liboux of New Bern was best man. Ushers were Fred Maroon, III, of Wilson, Thomas Moore and Ernest Hamer of Buffalo, N. Y., cousins of the groom, and Albert Cannon, brother of the bride. Master George Cannon, cousin of the bride, was altar boy and Master Paul Hamer of Buffalo, N. Y., ring bearer, carried the rings in two white lilies.

Mrs. Cannon, mother of the bride, wore a gown of cotton blue satin trimmed with matching lace yoke and accessories. Mrs. Hatem, mother of the groom, wore a light blue sheath dress styled with a rosepoint lace yoke and black accessories. Both wore white orchid corsages.

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cannon, entertained the bridal party and guests at a wedding breakfast at the Cherry Hotel in Wilson.

White asters and gladioli were used as floral center pieces at the appointed tables where places were laid for 225.

Receiving in the dining room was Miss Shafia Hatem, sister of the groom, who was assisted by Miss Vera Cannon, Miss Edna Massid of Benson and Miss Barbara Maroon of Wilson.

Presiding at the register was Mrs. Raymond Cannon and goodbyes were said by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maroon of Wilson.

Following the breakfast, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to points of interest in Canada. For traveling the bride wore a navy and white Honan silk ensemble with the navy accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Hatem is a graduate of the Farmville High School. She attended East Carolina College and is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College. Mr. Hatem attended East Carolina College, Boston University, and is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. He is manager of Shafia's Dress Shop in Roanoke Rapids.

After September 25, Mr. and Mrs. Hatem will be at home in Roanoke Rapids.

Rehearsal Party
After the rehearsal Saturday evening, Mrs. Nassif Cannon and daughter Guitta were hostesses at a cake cutting party at the home of Mrs. Fred C. Moore. The bridal party, all out-of-town guests and their hosts attended.

Gladioli in brilliant colors were used throughout the home and a color scheme of pink and green was carried out in the dining room. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with wedding bells and topped with bride and groom figurines.

Mrs. K. Cannon, mother of the bride, served the cake. Mrs. George Thomas served the wedding ice and Mrs. Fred Maroon of Wilson served punch. Other refreshments on the table were party mints, cheese straws and salted nuts.

Mrs. Clyde Martin of Roanoke Rapids and Miss Delores Labaki of Wilson rendered piano selections during the evening.

The hostesses presented the bride with a corsage and crystal in her selected pattern.

Miss Barbara Little returned home Tuesday night after having spent the summer at Boone.

James W. Everett attended the dedication ceremony Tuesday of the opening of the new toll road to the summit of Grandfather's Mountain and also the highest swinging bridge in the east.

CHARLOTTE (AP)—Election of new officers and committee reports occupied members of the North Carolina State Employees Association here today.

The group will end its two-day annual convention after installing officers tonight and hearing a banquet address by Gov. W. Kerr Scott.

About 350 association members heard a dinner meeting address by Governor Nominer William B. Umstead last night. The Democratic nominee told the group he hopes to see the day when there will be less cause for complaint from people on the state pay rolls. Umstead emphasized that a "spirit of co-operation is essential for a good state government just as it is for any business." If he is elected in November, he said, "I expect to work at my job as you work at yours, and I hope we can work together toward making a better North Carolina."

Plans For Rally Given By FHA

BETHEL—On September 1, the FTH County F. H. A. met in Greenville at 4 p. m.

The meeting was called to order by Peggy Dail, of Winterville. It was decided during the business that the district rally would be held in Chocod on September 18. The program, as set up by the group for the rally, is as follows:

Winterville members, devotional; Belvoir members, registration; Ayden members, installation of new officers; Greenville, group singing; Chocod, refreshments; Grimesland, entertainment; and Bethel, judges for the name tags.

It was announced that stunts will be given by the Winterville group, and $5 worth of prizes will be given. The district rally is scheduled to begin at 3:30 in the afternoon.

Sixth Anniversary Of White Shrine Observed Wednesday

On Wednesday night the Greenville White Shrine members and friends were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Laughinghouse, 1101 East Rock Spring Road. Co-host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lum, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Whitehurst, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nobles, Mrs. Martha Forrest and Miss Alva Ray Taylor.

A program of a brief history was read by Miss Alva Taylor. Also a history of the local Shrine was given by Mrs. Jesse Laughinghouse. The Shrine was instituted August 10, 1946.

Contest for the evening was a poll to see who was the prettiest girl and it was decided that Mrs. J. B. Jackson was the winner. Another poll was taken to see who the ugliest man was and this winner was Luther Whitehurst. The winners were given useful prizes.

A beautiful birthday cake of the Shrine was presented in the color of the Shrine. This was served with ice cream.

Series Of Parties Honor Bethel Visitors

BETHEL—Three weekend visitors from Snow Hill were entertained at a number of parties during their stay here.

Those who were so honored were Bob Exum, who was visiting Bill and Bryant Latham, Jim Exum, guest of Jack Wynne, and Barbara Sugg, guest of Becky Keel.

Becky Keel was hostess at a dinner party Friday night, prior to the Teen Age Club meeting, in honor of the Snow Hill guests. Those attending were: Barbara Sugg of Snow Hill, Jenny Whitworth, Mary Jo Wynne and Mary Ann Manning of Bethel; Jack Wynne, Bryan Latham and Bill Latham of Bethel, and Jim and Bob Exum of Snow Hill.

Friday night following the Teen Age Club, Jenny Whitehurst entertained at an informal party in honor of the Snow Hill guests. Dancing was enjoyed and delicious refreshments were served. About 30 people attended.

Saturday at noon, Mrs. Howard Keel entertained the visiting guests, with a fish fry. Seven guests were present.

Saturday night, Jack and Mary Jo Wynne honored the Snow Hill visitors with a barbecue supper. Those present were the honor guests, Barbara Sugg, Jim and Bob Exum, Becky Keel, Jenny Whitehurst, Bill Latham and Bryan Latham.

Polly Day Weds In Georgia Rites

Methodist Church Scene of Judy-Day Wedding Ceremony

Miss Polly Randolph Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas Day, and Oren Raynor Judy Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren R. Judy of Spartanburg, S. C. were united in a lovely double ring ceremony at the Trinity Methodist Church, Savannah Beach, Ga., on Friday, August 29, at 6:00 in the evening. The Rev. Hoke O. Hatcher officiated.

The wedding music was presented by Herbert H. Providence Jr. of Greenville, S. C., organist, and Miss Mildred Waller of Savannah, Ga. sang Grieg's "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was beautifully decorated with cathedral candelabra and tall baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of palms. The altar rail was banked with magnolia foliage.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Charles T. Day, was lovely in a gown of white duchess satin made with a tight-fitting bodice overlaid with Chantilly lace forming a scalloped neckline and long sleeves of lace ending in points over the hands. The same lace formed double panels down the front of the skirt which ended in a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion flowed from a scalloped bonnet of lace which matched the gown and was finished at each side with sprays of white lilies. She carried a sunburst bouquet of lily of the valley and stephanotis centered with a purple throated white orchid and showered with French illusion.

Miss Joyce Day, sister of the bride and maid of honor, wore a dress of cotton blue with a satin bodice over which was worn a short satin jacket. Her full skirt was of net with a bustle of satin in the back. She wore a heart-shaped halo hat of matching net. Her bouquet was a cascade of rubrum lilies tied with pink satin ribbon.

Miss Ann Day of Durham, N. C., cousin of the bride and junior bridesmaid, wore a dress of cotton blue satin and net made on similar lines to that of the maid of honor. Her hat and bouquet matched those of the maid of honor. The flower girl, little Miss Ginger Melton, wore a long dress of pink taffeta and net. Her headpiece was a pink net ruffled halo and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Perry Judy, the groom's brother, was best man and groomsmen were Charles Thomas Day Jr. of Greenville, George M. Haynes, Warren West and Robert Jones, all of Spartanburg, S. C.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Day, was groomed in a sky blue lace over tulle and her corsage was a Catalpa orchid.

Mrs. Judy, the groom's mother, wore a mint green dress and her corsage was a Catalpa orchid.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Day gave a reception at the Hotel General Oglethorpe. A buffet supper was served.

After the reception, the young couple left for a wedding trip to Atlanta, Ga. For traveling the bride chose a lightweight suit of blue gray with a shaded gray felt hat, black accessories and a white orchid. When they return they will make their home in Spartanburg.

The bride is a graduate of Tassell School for Girls in Hendersonville, N. C. and Converse College in Spartanburg, S. C.

Mr. Judy attended Clemson College and was graduated from Wofford College in 1949. He is now a life underwriter with Liberty Life Insurance Company.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Day of Durham, N. C., Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Day of Quitman, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Smith of Greenville, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. Roger Braydon of Greenville, Tenn., Miss Alice Erbeling and Miss Martha Jordan of Augusta, Ga., Jim Hudson of Hendersonville, N. C., Henry Sims of Orangeburg, S. You can't prove it by Jack Westland that only youth is served in sports. The 47-year-old Everett, Wash., insurance man who recently won the National Amateur gold championship waited a long time to win the prize. Back in 1926, Westland was a callow youth of 21 when he played in his first National Amateur championship. Five years later he reached the final of the title event only to be beaten by Francis Ouimet, 6-6. Five years ago, Westland qualified for the tests at Pebble Beach, Calif., but again failed to win. Westland beat Al Mengert, of Spokane, in the final this year. Mengert was exactly two years old when Westland was playing Ouimet in 1931. Before Westland won the title, the honor of being the

Phantoms Win Opener At Morehead 7-0

Speight, Perry Top Fast Phant Attack

Halfback James Speight's sweeping end runs sparked the Greenville Phantoms to a 7-0 victory over Morehead City here last night in the opening football game of the season. Speight scored the only touchdown of the game on an end run from the two yard line following a 20-yard punt by Bobby Perry. The Phantoms began their touchdown drive midway of the third quarter when Captain Bobby Perry ran back a punt from the 33 to the 45 yard line. Quarterback Bobby Langston then whipped a pass to Bobby Conway for six yards and Speight drove for eight and a first down on the Morehead City 41 yard line. Perry, Speight and Langston alternated carrying the ball and worked out a first down on the opponents' 12. Perry sliced off tackle for four yards but a 15-yard holding penalty put the ball back on the Morehead 23.

Booster Club For Eppes High Underway

Fifty-five men met at the Teen-Age Center of C. M. Eppes High School Thursday night and organized a Booster Club to stimulate interest in the athletic program of the school.

Thomas Foreman, who initiated the proposal, was elected president. Luke Henby, director of the City Recreation Program, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Foreman outlined the primary aims of the program: to increase attendance at all games and to see that the athletic teams are properly equipped. The organization took the responsibility of selling season tickets.

Athletic Director James W. Grimes discussed the program for the year and explained needs of all departments.

Principal W. H. Davenport joined Grimes in speaking of the progressive action undertaken by the group in high terms of praise. He estimated that to properly equip each player costs approximately $200 per boy.

Football coach "Perk" Daniels presented an outline of the immediate needs of his team. A sum of $400 was mentioned.

Another meeting of the Booster Club will be held September 11 at eight p.m. in the Eppes gymnasium. All men interested in improving the athletic program at the school are invited to attend.

The following men were appointed to the Membership Committee: W. M. Myers, W. M. Elison, James Brown, Ernest Eaton, James Barnhill, George Garrett, Frank Wilson, Jr., Arthur Cherry, David Barnhill, A. E. Murrell, L. R. Foster, P. Daniels, F. D. Sledge, Ralph Payton, Luke Henby, T. Foreman, R. Brewington and Leroy Barnes.

The first home game for the Eppes football team will be on September 12, with the visitors from Wilson.

Kinda Confusing In Scoring Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It got kind of confusing when the Pirates and Cards tangled here last night. Not only did the Redbirds have the Rice boys, Del and Hal, in their starting lineup but the Bucs came up with Bill Bell, the minor league whiz from Goldsboro N. C., as their starting hurler to go along with Outfielder Gus Bell.

Pirates Please Coaches In Early Scrimmage Play

The East Carolina Pirates went through a short workout this morning consisting of kick-off practicing, returns, and extra point kicking to wind up the first week's practice drills.

Coach Jack Boone said, "The boys have worked hard this week and we have accomplished a lot, but yesterday's scrimmage showed us we still have a lot of work ahead."

Friday morning the Pirates went through their first scrimmage session. Toppay Hayes, a defensive back last year, turned in some nifty running during the scrimmage, as did Claude King, who has been shifted from halfback to full back this year. Jack Benzie and Paul Gay also looked good in the offensive attack. Quarterbacks Sandy Siler and James Webb, both veterans, directed the split-T attack exceptionally well and drew praise from Coach Boone.

"To have only been practicing a week I was very well pleased with the progress the boys have made, particularly Siler and Webb. The scrimmage revealed a few rough spots but we hope to iron a lot of the roughness out. We have some freshmen boys that are really making the lettermen hustle. Nobody has won a position yet, we intend to play the boys that are most capable."

Coach Clyde Biggers cited the line work of Earl Holland, Don Burton, Bobby Hodges and Dwight Shoa as standouts in the scrimmage. Coaches Biggers and Boone marveled at the steady performance turned in by Freshman Tackle Frank Turner. Biggers noted "Turner is exceptional on defense and will probably see some duty on the offense as well. I thought line play was fairly good for the short time we have had to practice. Our biggest problem is lack of depth, however, if we don't become plagued with injuries we will have a pretty stiff offensive and defensive line."

Claude King, who suffered a bruised arm, was the only injury from the scrimmage. The extent of King's injury was not immediately known.

Dick Cherry, sensational All-State high school star has reported for practice, but is being held out of heavy drills because of some injured ribs suffered in the East-West All-Star game.

Giants Gradually Close Margin Of Dodgers Lead

By RALPH RODEN AP Sports Writer

They laughed in Brooklyn the other day when Leo Durocher said: "If we win it again 100,000 people will commit suicide."

Today Dodger fans are alarmed but there's been no mass exodus to the Brooklyn bridge—yet.

The Dodgers, who blew a 13-2 game lead to the Giants last year, lead their arch rivals by six games but their commanding margin could be reduced to one game by Tuesday morning. But to narrow the gap to one game the Giants have to sweep a five-game series that opens today at the Polo Grounds with a double header. The antagonists clash in a single game Sunday and close out their vital series with a day-night twin bill Monday.

Durocher's enthused Giants pulled to within six games of the jittery

Dodgers yesterday, beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4, as Brooklyn suffered a 3-1 beating at the hands of the Boston Braves.

In the loop's only night game, Wilmer Vinegar Bend Mizell pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-0 victory over Pittsburgh.

While Giant fans were dreaming of another miracle run for the pennant, rooters in Cleveland were getting excited over the Indians' chances of ending New York's three-year reign as American League champions.

Early Wynn and Lake Easter teamed up to lead the pennant hungry Indians to a 3-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the circuit's only night activity. The triumph slashed the Yanks' lead to 2 1/2 games as the Bombers dropped a 3-2 squeaker to the Philadelphia Athletics. In the only other

Red Raiders Of Vanceboro Have New Coach And Style

VANCEBORO—The Farm Life High School Red Raiders of Vanceboro have changed coaches and style of play during the past year, and with 13 lettermen returning, have hopes of winning their share of ball games. Last season the Raiders ended the season with only one win, seven defeats and one tie.

Edward D. Thompson succeeds George Wood as head coach and has changed from the split-T to the single-wing. Wood was recently called into the Air Force.

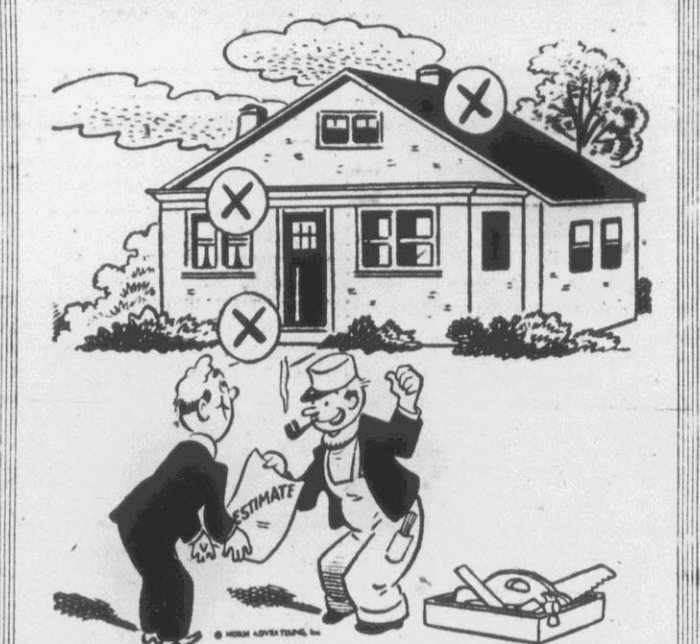

Coach Thompson has had his boys hard at work for two weeks now and believes they are ready for the opening game with Swansboro Friday. He said the boys have been shaping up well physically, but there's a problem at the center position. Other than that, the team is well fixed.

Two boys are trying out for the center slot and both boys have had two years varsity experience. They are Sammy Cutler and Bobby Weiner.

Billy Butler and Jack Taylor, each with two years' experience, are the standouts in the backfield. John Morris, co-captain, and J. D. McCowan will handle the guard spot with help from Nat Fulcher, John Laughinghouse, two-year letterman, is the top tackle on the team. Three other lettermen, Calvin Miller, Robert Cline and Terry Witherington, round out a tough two-platoon tackle team that will give headaches to many backs. Two ends that were members of last year's team are Charles Hartley and Clarence Powell. Graham Wetherington and Walter Hoyle will be around to give the flanks reserve power.

The team sums up to a strong, experienced bunch that should win some ball games. Thirteen lettermen are back, nine of whom were starters on last year's eleven. The line will

Georgia Beauty Appears Favored

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Of 52 lovely girls, the pick of the country's girls, beauty crop, will be crowned Miss America tonight but a Georgia Peach was in a favored spot.

Brunette Neva Jane Langley, 19, of Macon, went up to the finish line with a double win in the preliminaries after her victory last night in the bathing suit contest.

As Miss Georgia, she won a talent show Thursday night.

She is 5-feet, 6½ inches tall, weighs 118 and measures 35 at the bust, 23 at the waist and 36 at the hips.

She was the only aspirant known to win two preliminary contests up to this morning. Winners in the evening gown division are never announced but their points are computed in the finals.

It was to be a grueling day for the contestants in their quest for the title which carries with it a $5,000 scholarship, $4,000 in cash and an automobile.

Crowning of Miss America is scheduled for 11:30 p.m.

Winners of single preliminary contests were the Misses Alabama, California, Chicago, District of Columbia and New York City.

Given Portrait Of Hirohito

TOKYO (AP)—A school in Abiko, Northern Japan, recently asked for and received a portrait of Emperor Hirohito, something Japanese schools have not had since the war.

The school placed the imperial photograph in a place of honor in a special alcove. This prompted a writer for Asahi Shimbun to wonder in print if emperor worship was being revived.

Before the war, it was compulsory for schools to have a picture of the emperor in a place of honor. School opened with a bow to the imperial picture. After the war, when the emperor renounced

Talk New Use Of Nylon Armor

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Military authorities in Malaysia are considering the use of nylon armor on vehicles, a spokesman at army headquarters disclosed.

Nylon armor, reportedly used effect in Korea, was not strictly bullet-proof, he said. A bullet fired at short range would go right through it.

"However," he said, "we think it may be possible to usefully employ it as a means of armoring vehicles. Because of its greater flexibility it may be possible to use several thicknesses of it to provide an armor canopy for a vehicle."

He said nylon armor was designed primarily to give protection against shell splinters.

Car Overturned On Failure To Make A Curve

Three persons were injured last night when the automobile shown above went out of control and wrecked on the Old River Road around one o'clock. The driver was reported to have lost control in rounding a curve, with the vehicle overturning several times. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

New Parking Lot Rapidly Shaping Up

A new parking lot to aid the congested traffic situation in Greenville is rapidly taking shape in the ravine between Fourth and Third Streets near the high school. Already a road has been cut connecting the two streets, and work is in progress on the parking lot itself. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee).

Fourteen Cases Of 37 Not Crossed In Court

Pitt County Superior Court disposed of 37 criminal cases during sessions held during the month of August.

Defendants involved in the 37 criminal violations ranged in age from 18 to 45, with the average age being approximately 28.

Of the total 37 defendants, 18 were white and 19 were Negro. Three females were tried, two white and one Negro.

As has been the case here for many months, an overwhelming majority of the defendants appearing in court were laborers. Of the 37 cases on the calendar, 14 were not crossed and three defendants were adjudged not guilty.

Various Charges
Charges ranged from minor violations such as speeding to murder. In the capital case, Mary Elizabeth Epps of Greenville was allowed to plead guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced to 10 years.

Three Injured As Auto Overturns

One person was seriously injured and two others suffered minor injuries when the automobile in which they were riding went out of control early this morning and wrecked.

According to investigating officer James W. Boykin, a car driven by Larry F. Willis of 1308 Dickinson Ave. overturned several times when the driver failed to make a curve on a rural dirt road near Greenville.

Boykin stated that the accident occurred around one o'clock this morning on the Old River Road three miles from Greenville.

Willis was quoted by the officer as saying that the car overturned two or three times, landing on its side.

Injured were Mrs. J. Humber White, Hillsdale, who suffered severe lacerations and a back injury; and Grace MacLawn who also received lacerations.

Mrs. White was admitted at Pitt Memorial Hospital while Miss MacLawn and Willis were treated and released.

Not injured were Mrs. White's husband and Harry Quinn. Boykin charged Willis with careless and reckless driving.

Heavy damage resulted to the car.

Sister Of Adlai Stevenson To Speak In Raleigh

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina women Democrats will hear Mrs. Ernest Ives, sister of Presidential Nominee Adlai Stevenson, at a luncheon here Sept. 23.

The meeting will serve as the kick-off for women's activities in the general election campaign. It was announced yesterday by Mrs. John Richardson of Raleigh, state Democratic vice chairman, and Mrs. B.B. Everett of Palmira, Democratic national committee woman.

Mrs. Ives, whose home is at Southern Pines, has served as official hostess for her brother during his term as governor of Illinois. If Stevenson is elected President, she undoubtedly would become official White House hostess.

Waldo Cheek To Address Rotary

North Carolina Insurance Commissioner Waldo Cheek will address the Greenville Rotary club at its meeting Monday night.

Jim Butler, program chairman for the club, said the address by Commissioner Cheek will be another in the series of programs "Know Your Government" which the program committee has planned during the year.

Appearing in the series of addresses on local and state government, Butler said, will be a number of state and local officials.

L. M. Buchanan will present Commissioner Cheek to the Rotarians Monday night.

BARELYA — Miss Margaret Griffin of Edenton, who is taking time out from studying and teaching art to help the Democratic headquarters with typing letters, tells about a couple of her friends who teach in the craft school at Penland in Avery county. They built themselves a quaint little house which they call Barelya House. It is reached by climbing Scarcelly Path which leads off from Hardy's Road. In other words, it is barely a house on scarcely a path from hardly a road.

PLUM NELLY — Mrs. Harold Bennett of High Point, wife of the man who heads the agency which handles North Carolina State advertising, contributes a story about the "Plum Nelly Farm" in North Georgia. Situated near the end of a popularly traveled road the farm is supposed to have taken its name from the fact that when travelers stopped to inquire about directions an old Negro servant informed them they were "plumb nearly" at the end of the road.

Supt. Beatty said the Street Department had graded sidewalks on Tyson Street to Fleming Street, and thence on Boyd Avenue, all the way to Dickinson Avenue. The sidewalks are of dirt construction and will serve to keep pedestrians out of the middle of the street.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

Judge Charles H. Wheedbee tried 10 cases in police court yesterday morning, an unusually light docket.

Fletcher Jones, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon (shotgun), 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $15. The court's judgment provides that he is not to molest or harm Annie Brock or Jo Anna Mills, Negroes. The case charging Jones with assault with a knife was combined with this case.

Roscoe Sutton, Negro, was found not guilty of assault on a female. Drunk: James Everett, $20, costs deducted; Leroy Williams, $20, costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is not to molest or harm Lulu Carr, Negro, Jarvis Parker, Negro, 30 days, suspended on payment of $10.

Ralph Porter, worthless check, pay check for $10 and $5 cost costs.

William M. Taft, Negro, was found not guilty of assault with a deadly weapon. The prosecuting witness, Amos Harris, Negro, was taxed with court costs for malicious and frivolous prosecution.

Lomnie W. Davis, temporary larceny of a car from P. and S. Motor Company, three months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted. He is

Police Hunting Theft Suspects

AYDEN A break-in at J.A. Johnson Hardware Company here early this morning brought local police officers out in an unrelenting search for an agile burglar.

Ayden Police Chief J.A. Jones, already in the midst of comprehensive investigation, said this morning the thief or thieves gained entrance to the building by forcing open a back window.

"Due to the large and varied amount of stock in the store, it is not possible to immediately determine exactly what was taken," Chief Jones stated. "However, it is believed that not a great amount of stock was removed by the prowlers."

The chief disclosed the break-in was discovered by officers at approximately 4 o'clock this morning, and it was concluded that the robbery occurred sometime "well after midnight."

to remain of good behavior and not violate any law for a year. The court placed Davis on probation for a year.

William Ebron, Negro, paid $25, costs deducted for driving without an operator's license.
