

Prison Outbreak Plans Broken Up

Communists Intended Smash Way Out Of Cheju Island Camp And Join Guerrillas; Riot Toll Now 56 Dead; Headquarters Learned Of Plans On August 24

CHEJU ISLAND, Korea, (UP)—American soldiers who killed 56 Chinese Communist prisoners of war and wounded 120 in a brief battle yesterday broke up a planned mass outbreak by 5,800 hard-core Reds, it was disclosed today.

Maj. Gen. Thomas W. Herren, commander of the Korean Communications Zone, said the Communists planned to break out and join Red guerrillas in the Cheju mountains.

The break was scheduled for yesterday, the third anniversary of the Chinese Communist regime.

Fifty-one prisoners were killed in the short battle inside Compound No. 7 on this all-Chinese prisoner island. Two died aboard a plane flying them to a American hospital in Pusan and three others died after their arrival.

Two American soldiers were slightly injured.

Two platoons of American infantry of about 70 men moved into the compound and in a savage 15-minute close-order battle with rock-throwing Chinese armed with spears and barbed wire flails quelled the defiant Reds and prevented the planned break.

Col. Richard D. Boerem, of Ontario, Calif., commander of the Cheju prisoner of war camp, said U. N. prisoner of war headquarters learned of the planned break Aug. 24. Plans were made immediately to stop it.

The riot was touched off when prisoners in the 600-man enlisted men's compound threw rocks at the American guards in what apparently was supposed to be the signal for a mass break with nine other compounds in the enclosure.

But, Herren said, the move into Compound 7 "broke the back" of the planned revolt.

Boerem said his troops' move into the compound that the U. N. has "to maintain uncontest control at all times."

"The troops do not temporize with the prisoners in any way. They have been told and have been told for some time when they are assaulted—shoot."

Boerem said the signal for the beginning of the outbreak by the 5,800 hard-core Chinese Reds came 7:30 a.m. when each of the 10 compounds raised a pole and a Red flag inside the barbed-wire enclosure, then began singing Communist songs.

Boerem then delivered the first of two orders he had prepared, telling the prisoners that according to the Geneva convention, the raising of flags without permission was illegal. He ordered them to take down the flags.

The unruly prisoners refused. Boerem gave them another order, warning that "armed force will be used if necessary to effect compliance with this order."

The prisoners still refused to take down their flags or let a routine head count be taken. Boerem called for troops to come up.

As the soldiers were marching by, the prisoners hurled rocks at them. Boerem marched to the gate and ordered the compound representative to appear.

When he did not, Boerem told the troops to go in, cautioning them not to shoot unless they were attacked.

Boerem said the defiant prisoners had wired shut the second of two barbed wire gates. As the soldiers were cutting it open, they were met by another hail of rocks from the prisoners.

"They were like bees from a hive," said one soldier, "only they hurt a lot more."

Ike Carries His Tour To Illinois, Drawing Crowds

Invades Stevenson's State, Decrying Leadership Involving U. S. In Wars

Aboard GOP Special UP—Dwight D. Eisenhower said today the United States might have avoided two world wars and the Korean conflict if it had been properly prepared, spiritually, economically, and militarily.

The former five-star general voiced the belief as he opened a drive across Illinois as the Republican candidate for president.

Speaking at Champaign to a crowd filled with University of Illinois students, Eisenhower stressed the role of youth in the future of the world.

"Never lose sight of your own civic duty to participate in governmental affairs," he said.

He told them not to submit to the "ritualistic routine of government" and said they could not afford to "repeat the errors" that have occurred in this country in its past.

"Had the United States been properly prepared in 1916-17, had we taken greater precautions in the decade of 1930-40, we might have avoided the dilemma of war," he said.

He referred to being strong spiritually, economically and militarily putting the military last.

It was the first of six speeches scheduled for the Illinois barnstorming today. He was pitching hard for the state's 27 electoral votes. President Truman carried the state in 1948 by 33,000 votes, but Eisenhower's rival, Adlai E. Stevenson, was elected governor by a far heavier margin.

There was a possibility that Eisenhower might pitch some barbs at Stevenson's record for the first time in the campaign.

Eisenhower said the question of "peace and war" is involved, as well as the nation's financial health and its public morals.

Americans have the right to "demand" honesty in tax administration, he said, and they have the right "to get just a bit angry...at thievery in office."

He called for a "top to bottom" change "all the way through in government. Personally, I believe they (the American people) have had enough."

As his special train chugged across Michigan Wednesday, Eisenhower called for a rebirth of American ideals to lead a "weary, worn and almost defeated world" toward real peace.

Youngsters Reap Golden Harvest With Own Tobacco

It was the thrill of a lifetime for 15 young participants in the Pitt County Junior Tobacco Show and Sale held in Greenville yesterday afternoon and this morning. Local buyer representatives from eight tobacco companies are pictured bidding off "project" tobacco at this morning's semblance of a "bona fide" auction. The 20,292 pounds of tobacco in the sale brought $10,992.62, for an average of $54.17 per hundred pounds. (Reflector Photo).

It's the first crop for many of these 14 Pitt County lads who participated in the first local Junior Tobacco Show and Sale. Reading left to right around the circle, they are: C. E. Manning, Jr., Larry Dilda, Johnnie Dilda, Dan Wooten, J. R. Lee, Edward Earl Lee, Earl Hardee, Ralph Tyson, Howell Bone, Jack Farrior, Bobby Andrews, Jay Barrington, Frank Edwards and Donald Ferguson. (Reflector Photo).

Young Tobacco Growers Get $10,992 In Show, Sale

By JESSE POINDEXTER

Reflector City Editor

Faces of 15 youthful tobacco growers were wreathed in smiles this morning when they pocketed checks totaling $10,992.62 as the result of Pitt County's first annual Junior tobacco show and sale.

Representatives of eight large tobacco companies paid the young 4-H Club and F.F.A. members an average of $54.14 per hundred pounds for their "project" crops, all of which weighed 20,292 pounds.

Prices for individual grades ranged from a low of $20 per hundred pounds to a high of $73 per hundred, but the top price for most better grades was $70.

Showed Ability
County Tobacco Specialist Sam Weeks said today the quality of all tobacco offered was good for the dry season experienced this year in Pitt County. "The boys showed unusual ability in grading their crops," he asserted, "and all made a good showing."

"Prices were high for types of tobacco offered," Weeks added, "and the fact that the boys sorted their tobacco carefully gave buyers more incentive to pay better prices than might ordinarily be paid on the market."

The show and sale was sponsored by the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, and that organization provided a total of $275 in prize money to be awarded winners of the tobacco show competition which was held yesterday afternoon.

High Expectations
In remarking on both the show and sale, Sales Supervisor W. L. Wheedee said this morning the board of trade is happy to sponsor such a project and expects next year's show and sale to be even larger.

"Such a project has unlimited possibilities, and we are well pleased both by the boys who participated and the buying companies," he stated. "It is definitely a fine step in the right direction."

Today Weeks announced the winners of the show held yesterday at Star warehouse No. 2 in Greenville. The sale was held there also. Biggest single prize-winner was Earl Hardee, who walked away with a total of $75 in prize money.

Prize Winners
The five winners in the overall crop show and sale were: first prize of $40, Earl Hardee; second prize of $30, Bobby Andrews; third prize of $20, J. R. Lee; fourth prize of $15, Larry Dilda; and fifth prize of $10, Edward Earl Lee.

In the "four hand" show winners were:
Lugs — first prize of $15, Earl Hardee; second prize of $10, J. R. Lee; third prize of $7.50, Edward Earl Lee; fourth prize of $5.00, Donald Ferguson; fifth prize of $2.50, Dan Wooten;

Cutters—first prize of $15, Billy Ross; second prize of $10, Earl Hardee; third prize of $7.50, Donald Ferguson; fourth prize of $5.00, Jack Farrior; fifth prize of $2.50, Bobby Andrews;

Leaf—first prize of $15, Bobby Andrews; second prize of $10, Earl Hardee; third prize of $7.50, Jack Farrior;

Reds 'Shut Out' In Jap Election Of Diet Members.
TOKYO (UP)—Premier Shigeru Yoshida's conservative-thinking Liberal party was returned to power today by an avalanche of conservative votes which shut out the Communists without a single seat in Japan's new parliament.

More than 130 wartime leaders purged by Gen. Douglas MacArthur rode into the lower house of the Diet on the conservative landslide, which emphasized Japan's growing awareness of the Soviet threat.

Unofficial tabulations at 5:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. E.S.T.) gave the Liberals 240 seats and a majority in the 466-member house, with only two more seats to be decided.

All In Readiness For Opening Of Pitt County Fair

'Hell Drivers' Here Sunday; Grounds To Open On Monday Afternoon

"Everything is in readiness for a great Pitt County Agricultural Fair which will open here Monday," said Norman Y. Chambliss, fair manager.

The annual event will stage its official opening Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock and continue throughout the week. A pre-opening of the fair will be staged at the Airport Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, presenting Irish Horan's Lucky Hell Drivers.

Strates' Model Shows will be on the midway, traveling to Greenville by 25 railroad cars. The midway will present 25 modern riding devices, 15 up-to-date shows, and concessions. The midway has been playing at some of the largest fairs in the country, coming to the Pitt County Fair from the Rocky Mount Fair which is in progress this week.

There will be a brilliant display of fireworks at 9 o'clock Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The fair association will also present a high act, "The Hollywood Skyrocks," each afternoon at 5 o'clock and at night at 8:45.

Tuesday will be children's day for white children of the Greenville Public Schools. Wednesday is children's day for all Negro school children of Pitt County; and Friday will be children's day for all white school children of Pitt County. Tickets have been placed in the hands of all teachers of Pitt County and the children will be admitted at the main gate for 10 cents.

All rides on the Strates' Model shows will be nine cents up to 5 p.m. on the three children's days. All teachers of Pitt County will be guests of the fair on children's days. The management of the fair has urged the school children to visit the agricultural exhibits in order that they may gain the educational features of the fair.

J. Howard Moe, president of the fair, said today that the attendance goal is 60,000. "Our fair will be educational and we feel that we will present the finest livestock show of any fair in the south," said Moe.

He further stated that the facilities at the fair are excellent for taking care of patrons. Moe also said the association appreciated the fine cooperation which has been extended to the management. "We will strive to present a fair that our people will be justly proud of," the president said.

Republican 'Truth Squad' Ready To Discredit Truman's Assaults

WASHINGTON (UP)—A flying "truth squad" of Republican senators swings into action tonight in a drive to discredit President Truman's whistle-stop assaults on the GOP.

National Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said the group will "leap frog ahead and behind" Mr. Truman. He announced that Sens. Homer Ferguson (Mich.), Bourke B. Hickenlooper (Ia.) and Francis Case (S.D.) will meet tonight in Kalispell, Mont., where Mr. Truman spoke Wednesday. Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (Colo.) will join the group later.

Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, chairman of the Democratic National Committee's Speakers Bureau, scoffed that if the GOP "truth squad" tells the truth, it will make a real contribution toward a Republican defeat in November.

Truman Angrily Denies Big Tax Cut Is Possible

Hammers At 'False Prophets' And Unfitness Of Candidate Eisenhower

WITH TRUMAN (UP)—President Truman took his "give 'em hell" campaign down the Pacific coast today after snapping angrily that Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement that a sizeable tax cut was possible was "just a damn lie."

Mr. Truman's Democratic road show was in high gear and drawing good-sized crowds as he lashed back at Republican critics, labeling them "doubting Thomases and false prophets" for failing to acknowledge the "sound prosperity" of his administration.

The President hammered away at his contention that GOP candidate Eisenhower is unfit for the presidency because of his military background and what Mr. Truman calls his inability. Saying the cost of defense against Communist aggression comes high, Mr. Truman added that Eisenhower's idea that federal spending can be cut drastically is "sheer poppycock" and "the lowest kind of demagoguery."

"If we really want to destroy ourselves," he said, "the way to do it is to encourage the aggressors to think that we cannot afford what it takes to stop them. Can you imagine a greater invitation to the Kremlin than to announce that we can't pay for more than so much for national defense?"

"It's just a damn lie," he said, in dismissing Republican claims the budget can be cut with only non-defense slashes.

The President told an overflow crowd of 4,000 in Spokane, Wash., last night the former general is controlled by the Republican "Old Guard," the "same fellows who called our Grand Coulee development a 'useless pyramid' and said it was 'power in the desert.'"

The article broke a long silence on the part of Stalin. His last published article appeared in the Communist party organ Pravda, in July of 1949, on the subject of Marxist linguistics.

Bolshevik is the theoretical organ of the party's central committee and appears twice a month.

The 50-page article by the Soviet leader took on an even deeper significance by its timing, coming as it did on the eve of the Communist party congress opening in Moscow Sunday.

Stalin said the capitalist countries were trying to save their system and compared these efforts to a drowning man clutching at a straw.

Stalin said the nation must be mightily worried by the effectiveness of President Truman's speeches when they assign four senators to try to conduct a man-to-man defense against him. Monroney said, "but if the four senators are really going to be a 'truth squad,' it's hard to see how they can do any good for the Republican party."

The "truth squad" will supplement the "misrepresentation bulletins" the GOP committee has been issuing since Mr. Truman embarked on his whistle stop swing Saturday night.

Summerfield said in a statement that the nation was not told the "truth" during the 1948 presidential campaign, "but they are going to have it this time." He said the senators will visit each city in which Mr. Truman speaks and occasionally will travel ahead to raise "questions."

"When the President of the United States lowers the high of fice he holds to the role of a hat chet operation dealing in distortions, irresponsible slanders and I regret to say, political prevarications, then it is time to act," Summerfield said.

"Personally I regret that this unprecedented step is necessary. It is a sad commentary on American public affairs when the office of the presidency not only becomes the focal point of corruption, but then provides the cloak of respectability for a campaign of distortion unequalled in political history."

Bonner Outlines N. C. Stake In World Trade And Free World

Analyzing efforts being made by the United States to strengthen friendship with other nations of the world, Congressman Herbert C. Bonner of the First North Carolina District brought his message home to members of the International Relations Club of East Carolina College Tuesday evening by indicating the effects on North Carolina if Russia were to "overrun the Far East, East, and Near East."

Prevented by illness from making a personal appearance before the student group, Bonner presented his ideas in a prepared address read by Alumni Secretary James W. Butler. Approximately 150 members and guests of the IRC were present.

North Carolina, Bonner stated, has a tremendous stake in the preservation of peace, for the state, he said, is far more dependent economically on world trade than has been generally thought.

"In the year 1947, which is the most recent period covered by a census of manufacturers," the address indicated, "300,000 workers were employed producing goods which the Nation exports in greater quantities than it imports. This was 80 per cent of the total number of workers employed in all our North Carolina manufacturing industries."

"Production statistics for twelve leading industries," the talk continued, "show that for the year 1947 in our State 290,500 workers in these export-surplus industries added value by manufacture to the extent of $1,236,000,000 and earned $555,000,000 as wages in the process. One estimate shows that the value of exports of these commodities produced in North Carolina is about $2,000,000,000 annually."

"But that," said the Congressman, "is not the sum total of our North Carolina's self-interest in foreign affairs. Your 6 leading crops are: tobacco, cotton, corn, dairy products, hogs, and chickens. In the year 1949 these commodities were exported to a value of $1,668,000,000 of which 10 per cent, or $166,800,000 were produced on North Carolina farms. In that same year, 30 per cent of United States tobacco-leaf production was exported, as was 35 per cent of cotton production."

Considering imports, Bonner called attention to the fact that "practically every farm in North Carolina is affected by our ability to import sodium nitrate from Chile."

"In 1947," the Congressman's address showed, "some 70,000 North Carolina workers were employed in industries dependent on imports for essential raw materials. Their wages amounted to $130,000,000. Concluding that in 1948 and 1949 more than $100,000,000 of exports and imports moved through the Wilmington Customs District."

Emphasizing throughout his talk the idea that only with friends can America be safe, Bonner declared that Russian aggression and expansion must be stopped.

Turning attention to Korea, he declared that if Russia is not held in check in the East, "Eventually we would be pushed back to the California Coast."

He stressed his conviction "that international cooperation is possible and that isolationism is impossible" and that throughout this country there is "a deep Christian desire for peace."

Memory Haunts Young Pilot Who 'Is Not A Hero'

By RICHARD APPELEGATE
United Press Staff Correspondent

AIRSTRIKE IN KOREA (UP)—The kid flies a screaming jet plane through the Korean skies and has had several close brushes with death but I think he was more afraid of me than he was of the enemy.

"Look," said West Pointer Lt. Thomas F. Casserly III, who flies Sabrejet planes in Korea, "I am no hero. I'm just a business-man pilot with a job to do."

Which, with due deference to Casserly, is not true. He is a hot pilot, who is up for several decorations, and a modest young man with a host of hair-raising and death-dealing exploits behind him, including two crash landings in North Korea. One of them was a fruitless attempt to save the life of a friend who had crashed on Red ground.

But he looked at me nervously and asked me not to write of him as though he were a hero.

"I have had some tough times in Korea, I'll admit," young Casserly said. "Sometimes I'm haunted by the things I've had to do and then I realize that it is just a job to do and I have to do it."

This is what haunts him: Caserly and three friends worked as a team when they flew their Sabrejets on missions over North Korea. Once while they were returning to their base, one of the four suddenly found his plane on fire, apparently not from an enemy shell, but from an electrical short.

"I followed him back as he tried to get his plane back home," Caserly said, a far-off look of bitter memory in his eyes. "He had to jump and as fate would have it he had to get out just over the Han estuary, where the water is six miles across. It was the only water between our target and our base."

"He hit the water a few hundred yards south of the north bank, where the Communists were, and his chute got all tangled, and I knew that something had to be done," Caserly said, nodding his clipped brown head in memory.

"I told the flight leader that I was going in, too and he said it was up to me to make the deci-

By CHESTER WALSH

In Pitt County Recorder's Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James disposed of 13 cases, the majority of them involving motor vehicle and traffic law violations.

Lillian E. Thomas of Bethel, charged with driving a motor vehicle while drunk, through her attorney, Lewis W. Gaylord Jr., requested a jury trial. Judge James granted the request and the case was transferred to Superior Court.

Ashley Howard Jackson of Wilson was found guilty of driving while drunk and given four months on the roads. The court suspended sentence on condition that the defendant pay $100 fine and costs; lose his driver's license for a year and remain of good behavior two years.

Assault with a deadly weapon: Willie Young of near Bethel was found guilty. The court gave him four months on the roads, suspended on condition that he pay $21.55 court costs and $40 to the prosecuting witness. The defendant gave notice of appeal. Lee Coward and J. B. Scott were found not guilty.

Arthur Jones, four months on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he pay $3 doctor's bill and $50 and costs. The court ordered Jones' shotgun confiscated and ordered that he not own any firearms for two years.

Speeders in court were charged with speeds ranging from 65 miles an hour (10 miles over the legal limit) up to 65, 70 and 95 miles an hour.

Alvin E. Campbell of Cherry Point, 95 miles an hour, failed to answer to his name and a capias was issued for him. This warrant was issued July 1, the record shows. Jasper Lee McLawhorn, 70 miles an hour, fined $25 and costs and his license was ordered revoked for 10 days. Harold E. Garland, Robersonville, 65 miles an hour, $25 and costs and his license was ordered suspended for 10 days.

James S. Brown, Route 4, Greenville, $25 and costs and his driver's license was suspended for 90 days. James Jones, assault, six months in jail.

Sam Grimes was found guilty of carrying a concealed weapon and fined $50 and costs. Grimes was found not guilty of trespassing.

The case against Isiah Moore, charged with parking on the highway without lights, the court not pressed the case with leave.

The cases charging Willie House of Bethel with non-support and James E. Hawkins with abandonment and non-support, were continued.

The case against Billy Warren Dail of Winterville, charging careless and reckless driving, was not pressed with leave.

Ceremony In Home Unites Couple

On Saturday afternoon, September 27, at 3 o'clock, Miss Syble Jean Stocks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Stocks of Ayden, and Jack Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Taylor of Ayden, were united in marriage in a private ceremony at the Ayden Missionary Baptist parsonage with the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Hollowell officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a love-blue gabardine suit with a matching hat, sand blouse, and other accessories of navy. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mrs. Taylor is a graduate of the Ayden High School and is now employed as a bookkeeper at the First National Bank in Ayden.

Mr. Taylor is also a graduate of the Ayden High School and is employed at the Kinston Air Base.

The couple will make their home in Ayden.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Stocks was honored with a crystal shower by the employees of the First National Bank.

The bride's table was covered with an ecru cloth, centered with a miniature bride couple under an ivory decorated arch, flanked with burning tapers.

Ginger ale punch and cookies were served.

Couples Club In Grifton Meets

GRIFTON—Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Bissette were hosts at their home at a delightful party on Monday night at 7:15.

Lovely bouquets of dahlias, scarlet sage and zinnias were used to decorate the den, hall and living room. In the dining room a color note of pink and white was carried out with the use of dahlias on the buffet, and the table held cpernettes of baby's breath, roses, pom poms and tall pink candles.

Guests were invited into the dining room on arrival and served themselves to the delectable supper. Later in the evening bridge was played at six tables.

Among the club members present, Mrs. L. L. Mewborn and Mr. H. C. Oglesby scored high. Mrs. Bill Dawes and Mr. E. B. Peacock were given visitor's prizes. Other players were Mr. Dawes, Mrs. Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. Bill January, Dr. and Mrs. S. E. Coffman, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie D. Gardner, Mrs. Billy Phillips, Mrs. R. B. Grifton Hostess At Bridge On Friday

GRIFTON—Twelve players for bridge were entertained on Friday night when Mrs. Claude Hart was hostess at her home on Main Street.

Beautiful bowls of dahlias, snapdragons and other early fall flowers made pretty decorations. The guests found their places at the card tables and were served a chicken salad plate with individual cakes and coffee.

During the progressions Mrs. Clifton Jackson compiled high score. Mrs. Bill January second high, and Mrs. Edward Hart high among the visitors. Others playing were Mesdames Jake Worthington, Tom Gower, Heber Wade, Walter Murphy, Albert Tyson, John Coward, Walter Patrick, David Parker and Wilbur Murphy.

Homecoming Service Planned.

AYDEN—The annual Homecoming of the Timothy Christian Church, at Gardnersville, Ayden, Route 2, which will be held Sunday, October 5, will terminate a ten-day revival which has been conducted by the Rev. Elmo Turner of Washington assisted by the regular pastor, the Rev. Horace Quigley.

The new church building was first used last October at the Homecoming, and since then has been completely finished with new memorial pews and pulpit furniture and flower urn.

The edifice is made of brick. The auditorium will seat approximately two hundred people and the six class rooms can be used as additional space.

School of Instruction Held

ROBERSONVILLE—The Stone-wall Masonic Lodge is holding a school of instruction this week. Brother R. E. Taylor, a certified lecturer, is doing the coaching.

All Master Masons are invited to participate in this school.

Noted Sculptor Presents Gifts To Art Gallery Which Opens Soon

When the Art Gallery at Shepard Memorial Library opens the latter part of the week, it will be a memorable occasion. On display will be two pieces of sculptures by the world famous Anna Hyatt Huntington, permanent gifts to the local gallery.

The two pieces of sculpture, which are cast in aluminum, are two of 20 such gifts presented by the sculptor to museums and collections which do not already own a Huntington work of art. The selection of the institutions to receive the gifts was made by Miss Grace Pickett, director of the Studio Guild in New York. More than 200 important museums in this country and abroad own pieces of Huntington sculpture. Anna Hyatt Huntington is America's foremost sculptor of animals, and the two pieces which have been presented to the local Art Gallery are studies of "Nanny," the family pet at Stanerig Farm, the Connecticut home of the artist and her husband. The only other museum of art in the south to possess one of her gifts is the Museum of Art at the University of Georgia in Athens.

During the opening month, the Art Gallery will feature Mrs. Huntington's work with an exhibition of 20 more works of her art. This exhibition, which is on a tour of museums throughout the country, includes the following: Speedy, Hound on the Hill, Twin Cubs, Fox and Goose, Baby Centaur, Old Horse, Mare and Foal, Napoli, Fawn Trotting, Doe and Fawn, Nubian Goat, Llama, Wild Boar, Rhino Tossing Lioness, Bulls Fighting, Alligator, Two Swans, Sebastopol Goose, Spider Monkey Asleep, and Monkey on a Stick.

Anna Hyatt Huntington's animal sculptures stand in more than 200 museums throughout the world, including the Metropolitan in New York and the great museums in Luxembourg and Edinburgh. Her name ranks high among the greatest sculptors America has produced, first among American women sculptors. Honors, degrees and citations have been heaped upon her, including medals and honors from France and Spain. Three of her most famous works are statues of Joan of Arc, The Old, and Don Quixote, all equestrian statues. Though gifted in creating people, her outstanding ability lies in her interpretation and sympathetic understanding of animals. She is the daughter of a late Harvard professor of zoology and the wife of Archer Milton Huntington, famous poet, scholar, art collector and founder of art museums. Together they bought and restored a magnificent plantation site in South Carolina, which they developed into the famous Brookgreen Gardens. In these gardens are many pieces of sculpture which Mrs. Huntington created especially for the Gardens.

Lee Bright, failure to yield right of way, prayer for judgment continued on condition that he pay $5 on court costs and make restitution to Gus Overton for property damage.

Drunk: Douglas O'Mary and James V. Johnson, each paid $10; Dave Cogdell, Negro, $10; Wilson S. Brewer, 30 days or $10; Clyde McLeod, $10; Johnny Moye, 30 days in jail or $10.

Frank Anderson, Negro, assault on a female, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 and he is not to molest Minnie Anderson, his wife. Pete Hooks, Negro, assault on a female, 30 days, suspended on payment of $15, and he is not to molest Lillie G. Hooks.

Dee Ellen Bullock, Negro, driving drunk, 60 days on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs.

Anna Hyatt Huntington is shown working on a scale model of her most famous piece of art, a statue of Joan of Arc, the original of which is on Riverside Drive and Ninety-Third Street. Mrs. Huntington has recently presented two of her works to the local Art Gallery for its permanent collection.

They have also developed a bird and marine life sanctuary near Newport News, Va. and another natural wildlife refuge in the Adirondacks.

The gifts presented by Mrs. Huntington will be placed in permanent exhibition and will add to the growing number of things which artists have presented to the local gallery. The exhibit of her other 20 pieces, which are on tour, will be featured during the month of October. Visiting hours at the Gallery are from 2:00 p.m.-5:30 p.m.

Dodgers Stun Yankees 4 - 2 In Opener

Rookie Black Halts Vaunted Yankees

Pee-wee Reese, Duke Snider, Jackie Robinson Blast Yankee Pitching For Homeruns In Opening Game Victory

By LEO H. PETERSEN
United Press Sports Editor
BROOKLYN (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers, riding the crest of a wave of optimism after their first victory in a World Series opener, dominated the Yankees in the first game of the series today, defeating them 4-2.

Sobered by Joe Black's 4-2 victory over clutch ace Allie Reynolds in the opener, the odds-makers maintained the Yankees as favorites to win the Series but cut the odds on them from 8-5 to 6-5. The Yankees were also 6-5 favorites to win today's game and even the Series at one game apiece.

Another capacity crowd—perhaps equalling Wednesday's record turnout of 34,861—was expected to crowd into Ebbets Field. The Series moves over to Yankee Stadium for three games, beginning Friday, with the last two contests—if needed—scheduled for Brooklyn.

Dodger Manager Charley Dressen said there would be no changes in his opening day lineup. "It's not a bad one, you know," he quipped—but Yankee pilot Casey Stengel said it was possible that Gene Woodling would replace Irv Noren in left field.

Woodling, who did not start the opener because of a pulled muscle in his groin, tripped off Joe Black as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning and insisted that he was ready to play.

Stengel said it was "50-50 on Woodling" but the Yankee manager was expected to insert him into the lineup primarily because he was behind in the series and needed the added punch. Woodling, who tied with Mickey Mantle for the club batting lead with a .311 average, will hit fourth, with Yogi Berra dropping to fifth, if Stengel pronounces him fit.

The basic facts of World Series competition demanded that Stengel use him if at all possible. For only one team in all World Series history has won a world title after losing the first two games of a classic—and Stengel, perhaps over all, realized the tremendous tactical advantage achieved by the Dodgers when Black beat Allie Reynolds Wednesday.

In Erskine, the Dodgers were firing the pitcher whom the Yankees' scouts warned Stengel would be the most difficult to hit. Moreover, there was the prospect of the untiring Black waiting in the bullpen (by his own request) and of left hander Preacher Roe due to oppose the Yankees in the third game of the Series Friday.

Erskine is a smallish right hander—about five feet, 10 inches and weighing 160 pounds—who throws the most varied assortment of stuff in the National League. American League scouts describe him as a National League Bobby Shantz...

Erskine, 25, pitched in two games against the Yankees in the 1949 World Series and has a 16.20 earned run average in the classic but has developed remarkably in the last two years. A 14-game winner and author of a no-hitter over the Chicago Cubs this year, he was the only Brooklyn pitcher to hurl 10 complete games.

The trade describes him as a "change-up" pitcher, meaning that he throws with many different speeds and will slow up on a hitter in the clutch. His best pitch is a sharp, low-breaking curve ball. Absolutely essential to his success, even against mediocre opposition, is control.

Raschi, on the other hand, is a standard, power-pitching right hander. He will carry a season's record of 16 victories and six defeats into the game and in some quarters is regarded as on a par with Reynolds as a front line pitcher.

Raschi, who is a three-time 20-game winner, has a World Series record of three victories and two losses. He broke even in two starts with the Giants last year, won his only start against the Phillies in 1950 and split two games with the Dodgers in 1949.

Meanwhile, the Dodgers—as well as National Leaguers who haven't seen one of their teams win a Series since the Cardinals upset the Red Sox in 1918—are taking Black's victory over Reynolds as a good omen.

The feeling was that the Dodgers had beaten the pitcher they did not figure to beat, had shown a powerful pitcher in Black who could be relied upon to come back with more strong performances, had demonstrated their long-ball power and had produced an all-around defensive performance which only the most inept pitching could sacrifice.

First, of course, was the defeat of Reynolds—universally regarded as the top money pitcher in the game. Allie simply did not look it as the Dodgers teed off on him and the big pitcher had no excuse. He couldn't get his curve ball over the plate all day and the Dodgers hit the fast one when he had to come in with it.

Dodger power accounted for all four runs. Jackie Robinson lined a home run into the left field stands to put Brooklyn ahead, 1-0 in the second inning. Duke Snider hit a "musical homer" over the right field score board with Pee-wee Reese aboard in the sixth, and Reese applied the clincher with a solo homer in the eighth.

Black, meanwhile, although touched for a homer by Gil McDougald in the third inning, held the Yankees at bay throughout. They scored their second run in the eighth on Woodling's lead-off triple and a fly by Hank Bauer.

Overall, the feeling after the first game was that the Dodgers had a truly excellent chance to win the Series if they get reasonable pitching—and, of course, if Joe Black's arm and heart hold out.

Rain May Hold Up Series Play

1 UPB Oct. 2 ... 357a
BROOKLYN, N. Y. (UP)—There's a chance rain may interfere with the second game of the World Series today.

The Weather Bureau predicted scattered showers or thunderstorms this morning, but said it should clear off long before game time. For this afternoon, the prediction is "partly cloudy and windy."

Vern Benson, who has been playing some third base for the St. Louis Cardinals, broke into the majors with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1943.

Mantle To Take Army Physical

NEW YORK (UP)—Yankee outfielder Mickey Mantle requested today that his next Army physical examination be held here rather than in Oklahoma City.

The 22-year-old slugging star, now classified 4-F in the draft, has been ordered to take a draft physical in Oklahoma City next Monday even though the World Series between the Yankees and Dodgers may still be going on then.

However, a change in site probably would delay the date of the examination a few days.

Mantle has twice before been rejected by the draft because he is suffering from osteomyelitis, a bone infection, in his left leg. His draft board in Miami, Okla., said he is being called a third time in line with Army policy which requires periodic re-examination of all 4-F's.

Willie Pep Beats Canadian Champ

CHICAGO (UP)—Willie Pep stood a rung higher on the ladder toward his old featherweight title today, but he still needed and wanted a rematch with Tommy Collins to regain the crown for the third time.

Pep, weighing 129 1/4 and 30 years old, punched out a 10-round decision over 134-pound Armand Savoie, the Canadian lightweight champion, in the Chicago Stadium Wednesday night and received $2,897.87 for the chore.

Even though $2,000 of it came from television, it was a rich reward. Savoie, bigger, younger, slower and less experienced, never could outguess the canny Pep, who twice held the featherweight title.

And when Savoie became angry in the 10th round and forgot his cautious tactics, Pep counter-punched him dizzy. Still, Pep was the only fighter to show a mark. His right eyelid was cut once and his nose was bloodied once, but he recovered quickly and stayed well in front on points.

Coastal Teams In Conference Tilts

Robersonville Goes To Vanceboro; South Edgecombe At Ayden; Farmville Meets Morehead City

By HERMAN HICKMAN
Reflector Sports Editor

AYDEN—The Ayden Tornadoes came through last week's tough scrap with Robersonville 14-0 and thus eliminated one Coastal Conference rival in the race for the conference championship.

Ayden has won the championship three years in a row but Robersonville has ranked strong favorites to replace the champions.

South Edgecombe will invade the Ayden province with a light, spirited team and take their crack at downing the reigning champs.

Co-Captain Luther Lewis, senior quarterback, will lead the sophomore and freshman studded Pinetoppers against the Tornado powerhouse.

Mac Whitehurst, Bobby Gene Barfield, Darrell Worthington and Wesley Cannon, all of whom figured heavily in last week's victory, are expected to pace the attack for the Tornadoes.

VANCEBORO—Farm Life High School's Red Raiders of Vanceboro play host to the rebounding Robersonville Rams in an afternoon contest Friday.

All-Conference Fullback Sonny James and Passer Dan Clark are expected to pace an assorted ground and air attack for the Rams. Maurice Everett, All-Conference end, is a fine pass receiver and will also perform on defense.

Robersonville lost a tough 14-0 decision to Ayden last week and will be striving hard to even the count.

Standouts in the Red Raider backfield are Co-Captain Jack Taylor and Billy Butler, both two year varsity men and very adept at moving the ball. They will no doubt prove troublesome for Ram forwards.

Co-Captain Curtis Morris, J. D. McGowan, Nat Fulcher and John Laughinghouse will be in the Raider forward wall attempting to choke the double-barrelled Ram attack.

FARMVILLE—The undefeated Farmville Red Devils will receive their season's test of the season Friday night against Morehead City at Farmville.

Pacing the Farmville juggernaut which has run roughshod over North Carolina, South Edgecombe and Snow Hill will be senior quarterback Charlie Fitzgerald, Teddy "TD" Allen (TD for touchdowns, he's made seven so far in three games), and Sigbe Dilda, hard charging fullback.

Dilda and little Jess Joyner have proved themselves capable in both an offensive and defensive capacity and will be plenty of action against the strong Morehead team.

Dick Shackelford, Jimmy Allen, Jack Allen and Carroll Wooten have given excellent performances all season but will be facing the toughest line and speediest backs up-to-date in the Morehead eleven.

Shoe Returns To Pirates Workouts

The return of All-Conference end Dwight Shoe was the most cheering note available yesterday as the East Carolina College Pirates continued to push preparations for their homecoming game with Catawba Saturday night.

Shoe missed the first two days of practice this week because of a badly bruised side and some pulled muscles. He was in full equipment yesterday but didn't take part in any of the rough work. He is expected to be able to play Saturday night but just how much action he will see will depend upon the progress he makes this week.

The injured list continued to dwindle in addition to Shoe. First team defensive guard Bobby Thomas is still bothered by an ankle injury but he's expected to be able to go full speed Saturday night. If he doesn't start, then the guard post will be filled by sophomore Don Burton who only recently returned to action after missing the first two games because of a shoulder injury. Burton saw limited action last week against Lenoir-Rhyne and is thought to be back at his top playing condition.

Smith broke away for several long runs yesterday as Coach Bill Kittrell worked his number one offensive team against the number one defensive unit.

In addition to Smith's running, blocking in the line also attracted considerable attention. The forward wall did an effective job of opening holes for the backs and springing them loose. The downfield blocking was also very effective.

A look at statistics for the first games of the season show that Smith's running mate at halfback, co-captain Bobby Perry, is the team's leading scorer and ground gainer. Perry has scored six touchdowns and an extra point for a total of 37 points. He has carried the ball 53 times and gained 310 yards for an average of 5.9 yards per carry. Number two man in the rushing department is a third halfback, James Speight. Speight has carried 24 times for an average of five yards per carry. Speight has a total yardage of 121 yards for the 24 carries.

Over in Washington, Coach Choppy Wagner spent a lot of time on pass defense, the Pam-Pack's weak point. Reserves on the Washington team ran plays used by the Phantoms while the first defensive unit worked on improving their work.

Old Sergeant Is 40-Year Soldier

NEW YORK (AP)—"I wouldn't know what to do with myself if I retired this early," says 57-year-old M. Sgt. Linsley S. Lewis, post sergeant major at Ft. Wadsworth, N.Y.

With only two breaks in service since he enlisted in 1912, Lewis has 36 years of service and recently re-enlisted. "I'm going to make it 40," he explained.

Recalling 1912 he said, "We came in at $15 a month, were fed on 21 cents a day and had to buy our own milk." Lewis, who spent 22 years in the infantry, is the father of five children. One of his sons, Sgt. Edward F. Lewis, is himself a veteran of 17 years Army service and was at Hickam Field during the Pearl Harbor attack.

MONSTER UNEARTHED
MONROE, N. Y. (UP)—The bones of a giant mastodon unearthed near here will have a home soon in a special museum after some 20,000 years of undisturbed rest. When assembled the pre-historic giant will stand about 12 feet high and 23 feet long. Its head alone weighs 400 pounds.

World Wide Communion Day To Be Observed By Churches October 5

World Wide Communion Day will be observed in churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 5.

The first Sunday in October is always set aside for the observance of this special day, and churches everywhere, according to their own creeds and practices, hold special services.

World Wide Communion Day is usually associated with Rally Day in the Church Schools, and ministers encourage people to come to church for the purpose of dedicating themselves to Christian living.

Statistics show that for the present year, a larger percentage of the population of the United States is identified with a church than ever before in the history of the country. More than 58 per cent of the population are members of various churches.

On this coming Sunday, church leaders are encouraging all members to go to a church of their choice to unite in prayer and worship with Christians all over the world in the keeping of this holy day.

Drain Is Clogged By Baby Squid

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Louise Johnson, 27, of 752 South Main Street was surprised when she pulled a baby squid from a clogged lavatory drain in her home. Less of the 10-legged member of the octopus family wound around her finger when she poked it into the drain to investigate.

Dr. John D. Mizelle, professor of zoology at the University of Notre Dame, said focal housewives need not fear a similar occurrence. He said the baby squid was of the edible variety imported from the Mediterranean area. He said they have not been known to survive in fresh water.

Dwarf Apple Trees Practical

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Experiments with dwarf apple trees at the University of Kentucky experiment station indicate that this type of tree may be grown in the backyard.

Dr. C. S. Waltman says that early production, easy spraying and harvesting make them practical. The trees, planted at the experiment station farm 10 years ago, are 10 feet tall and produced as much as nine bushels a tree.

The trees begin bearing fruit as early as the second or third year, he reports. They should be planted 10 to 15 feet apart in the late fall or early spring.

TOUGH COP

By JOHN ROEBURT

Chapter Five

He came to with a colony of dwarfs working tiny hammers in his head. Then off the floor and out from under the pile of clothes, he found the sink and stuck his head under a running faucet. When the colony of dwarfs was reduced to just one, Devereaux studied himself in a hanging mirror. There was a lump on his head where a blunt instrument, a blackjack undoubtedly, had struck his skull, and his cheek near the left eye sported a mouse that was rapidly becoming a clear shade of blue.

As he quit the room, he was acutely alive to the lingering pain in his groin. He took the stairs down, reached the lobby, and then without breaking stride, signaled the desk clerk to follow him.

Devereaux entered a room whose sign read "Office." A moment later, the clerk joined him. The clerk surveyed Devereaux uneasily, his eyes noting details of the detective's battered appearance.

"I was slugged in Room 418," Devereaux said. The desk clerk met the detective's glare silently. "Got any ideas about who did it?"

The clerk shook his head. Devereaux collared the clerk and pulled him close. "You've got sharp eyes and you don't miss a bet. No one crosses that lobby without being cased."

"I saw nobody," the clerk said. Devereaux pushed him away. "Empty your pockets. Turn them inside out."

The clerk complied, then watched Devereaux finger through miscellaneous and commonplace items. "Like I said, I'm not taking bets any more."

"Strip," Devereaux ordered. The clerk looked at Devereaux protestingly. The detective's blow caught him just under the jaw, close to the Adam's apple. His hands went up defensively when the second blow bent him forward.

Then, looking sick and green and tormented, the clerk began loosening his tie. Soon, nude except for a khaki money belt around his waist, he unbuttoned the belt sullenly and handed it to Devereaux. Devereaux emptied its contents on a table. There were scores of small, square slips of paper—the day's numbers play of chauffeurs, shine boys, doormen, workers, sundry bettors in the area.

"I said you were a smart boy," Devereaux said.

The clerk stooped to recover his shorts and Devereaux kicked them out of his reach. "I asked you a question a while ago!" The detective disdained the mute appeal in the clerk's eyes. "Who did you see running out of that lobby?"

The clerk shook his head, then held his ground stubbornly as the money belt whacked across his mouth. He pressed fingers to the flow of blood from his underlip, with his eyes studying Devereaux as if detached from the pain he felt, as if speculating on the limits of extremes of the detective's relentlessness. Finally he said sullenly, "Nick Longo."

Devereaux looked at the clerk blankly. The name meant nothing to him. "Longo," the clerk repeated. "He's an old-timer."

"New to me," Devereaux frowned. His encyclopedic knowledge of the city's underworld was a matter of pride with him. Very few had eluded his ken, and when it happened Devereaux took it as a personal failure. "Unless the name's a phony," he said. "What does he look like?"

"Medium height, dark. Face looks like it's been through the mill."

"How should I know?"

"What's his racket?"

The clerk shook his head. "I just happen to know the guy by name." Devereaux looked at the clerk shrewdly. "How much did he throw you to play dumb?"

The clerk reddened. "Twenty bucks." He added hastily, "But just to forget I saw him."

On the street, Devereaux made his way to a candy store-lunchette. The pay-station phone booth was unoccupied. He entered and dialed.

"Police Headquarters," the voice announced.

Devereaux muffled his voice. "Check Room 418 at the Hotel Orleans."

"Who's calling?"

Devereaux kept silent, and the voice asked, "What happened there?" The detective hesitated irresolutely. Robbery, or attempted robbery, and possibly murder. But let the police see, satisfy themselves. For now he didn't want the vents in Room 418 confused with the chore he had undertaken on behalf of a young lady. Not officially anyhow, not yet. He hung up and hurried to his car.

The low building diagonally across from Bryant Park wore an outdoor sign on its brow that showed a shapely girl in a swim suit. The building, a pygmy in a skyscraper jungle, housed an odd variety of enterprises. Its directory listed, in part, a gypsy tea room, a check casher, a match-your-pants service, an Athletic Pamphlet Press, a gold buyer, a schatchen, a diamond setter, a detective agency. The last, operated by a plump thirty-second-degree Mason, and a universally respected fellow to boot, was Devereaux's destination.

The gold lettering on the door read: "Solowey Detective Agency." Devereaux smiled, a secret, reverent smile as he took hold of the doorknob. Private detective Sam Solowey wore his badge like a clerical frock. A tolerant man, with the outlook of a psychiatric social worker, Solowey used his agency as an avenue to people and life.

The moon-faced, balding Solowey looked like a laughing Buddha. He was shoeless, and a giant toe peeked through a hole in one stocking. He wiggled his toe, greeting Devereaux, and put down his open copy of Variety.

"Still around, eh?" Solowey said. Devereaux nodded glumly.

Solowey chuckled. "You were in a big hurry to see the world."

"Have you joke, huh? Then let's get down to cases."

"I've had my joke," Solowey said. Devereaux stepped into his shoes. "Now cases?"

"Job of research mainly. Do it yourself, or put a man on it. I want you to check into a girl's parentage. Discreetly."

"Who's hiring me?"

Devereaux hesitated. "I'm hiring you."

'Badlands' Prove Disappointing To Young Boy

BUTTE, Mont. (AP)—Montana may be in the heart of the TV cowboy's bad lands, but a 4-year-old New Yorker is sorrowfully learning that civilization has encroached upon an area where even brave men once walked with caution.

The youngster critically examined an undershirt as his parents filed an automobile accident report. "How come you only got one sun?" the boy finally said. "Western sheriffs is supposed to have two."

When two deputies with only one gun each and dressed in business suits and ordinary hats left the office and jumped into an automobile to answer a call, the boy became disgusted. "Let's go find some Indians," he said to his father, Robertson Short of Nowood, N.Y.

Iran Readied For Possible Break

TEHRAN, Iran. (UP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh took a preparatory step today toward a possible break of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

Mossadegh issued a communique asking all Iranians to write his office immediately with their preferences of European and Asiatic nations to protect Iran's interests in Britain following a possible diplomatic break.

The communique said the Iranian public must make the decision to protect its interests since Britain might not accept Iran's recent counter-proposals to settle the long-standing British-Iranian oil dispute.

Mossadegh's message said Iran will be forced to withdraw her diplomatic representatives from Britain if Britain does not accept a major stumbling block in the Iranian proposals was the demand that Britain immediately pay Iran $137,200,000—most of it in United States dollars.

Although Britain still had not replied formally to the demand she previously has indicated this point would make the proposals unacceptable.

The communique said a cabinet meeting would follow the indication of the people's choice of a substitute representative in Britain and the cabinet would take the "relevant decision."

Confusion over signals resulted in a collision of two cars at West Fifth and Pitt Streets at 4:45 p.m., the report states. The car driven by Robert E. Worthington of near Winterville collided with the parked car owned by Joe T. Cathey of Salisbury and then started. None of the occupants was injured. No arrest. CORN PRICE SUPPORT WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department announced today it will support this year's corn crop at a national average price of $1.60, three cents a bushel more than last year's average.

regular conventions in Raleigh or Durham or Chapel Hill because of the geographic, economic and political "center" represented by these communities. Mostly, however, these annual meetings go to Asheville or Charlotte or Winston-Salem where assembly space is inadequate—but where beds can be had to sleep in.

BUDGETING — The advisory budget commission has completed its open hearings on applications from State agencies, departments and institutions. Earlier in the summer the budgeteers had visited most of the institutions and gathered first hand information about needs for permanent improvements. These two phases of budget operations have been completed does not mean that the advisory budget commission has finished its work for the year. The big job is still to be done. That is to consider in executive session sometime before the middle of December all the data presented on the visits and at a public hearings, and to fit all these demands for expanded services into the limits of contemplated State revenue for the next two years. The demonstrated needs as presented by the administrators responsible for operating the institutions and providing the services far exceed any reasonable expectation of revenue to meet them. So the budgeteers in their later closed door sessions must work out a proper balance and prepare for the next General Assembly revenue and appropriation bills that will theoretically "balance the budget."

Plan To Attend Training Course

Several Girl Scout leaders in Greenville are planning to attend a training course which will be held in Goldsboro for three days. The course will be conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Griffin, executive secretary of the Goldsboro Girl Scout Council. The course will be held from 10 until 12 on Friday, October 3, Tuesday, October 7, and Friday, October 10.

RESPONSIBILITY — The budget report and recommendations are not legally binding upon the General Assembly, either as to proposed taxes or recommended appropriations. Experience through the years since the State of North Carolina adopted the budget system has been that while not legally binding, the commission recommendations are powerful influential upon the Legislature. That puts a tremendous responsibility on the advisory budget commission. Estimates of prospective revenue obtained from the Departments of Revenue and Tax Research indicate there will be more dollars available next year than ever before, except when bond issues charged current spending against future tax receipts. But—proposals by the agencies of State Government for public service will require not only more dollars than ever before heard of, but more than the tax folks think will be available. The budgeteers must make the first choice and the General Assembly finally decide what use to make of these inadequate dollars.
