Communist Build-Up For Impending Sniper Ridge Assault Is Blasted By Explosives, Napalm; Another Jet Ace Emerges In Continued Air Battle

SEOUL, Korea (UP) - United Nations planes, tanks and artillery blasted the approaches to Sniper Ridge today as the Chinese poured in reinforcements apparently for another assault on the vital central front height.

United Press correspondent Victor Kendrick reported that Air Force, Navy, Marine and South African planes flew 63 sorties dropping tons of explosives and 20 tanks of flaming napalm in a seven-hour attack.

American artillery co-ordinated its fire with the relays of fighter-bombers, throwing thousands of shells into attack routes leading to the crest of Sniper Ridge and into the maze of tunnels and caves on the Yoke-a-Red-held position.

A platoon of American tanks crunched across the frozen fields and rice paddies to add point-blank, high-velocity fire to the blistering Allied fire power.

Kendrick said the Red build-up started early this morning and had all the indications of an impending "human sea" night attack. Numerous small groups of Communists up to company strength (200 men), were sighted in the draws and gullies flanking the northern end of Sniper Ridge, he said.

In the air, Capt. Leonard Lilley of Manchester, N.H., shot down a MIG-15 jet fighter to become the 22nd American jet ace of the Korean war. He was the second fourth-fighter interceptor wing pilot in two days to join the select circle.

In addition to Lilley's kill, one MIG was damaged by 1st Lt. John Terclark of New Britain, Conn., a Sabre jet pilot from the 61st wing.

Lilley, describing the battle between 12 Sabres and eight MIGs said it was a "big free-for-all. Everybody was shooting at everybody else."

An examination of gun camera film showed that one other MIG was destroyed yesterday, raising the day's claims to six destroyed, one probably destroyed and one damaged. It was the biggest day for American Sabre jets in the last five weeks.

Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, Tex., and Shreveport, La., shot down one propeller-driven plane in the Korean theater.

Counter-attacking South Korean infantrymen drove a company of Chinese from Rocky Point, the pinnacle of Little Finger Ridge running eastward from Sniper Ridge, shortly after noon today.

The Reds, attacking behind an umbrella of artillery and mortar fire, had gained a temporary foothold in bayonet and hand-to-hand fighting before they were pushed from the crest by resurgent South Koreans.

The Red attack re-opened the month-old battle for Sniper after a 24-hour "lull armistice." During that time, the big guns of both sides fired earth-shaking volleys at each other in a tremendous artillery duel.

American guns caught an estimated 700 Chinese reinforcements moving toward the Yoke yesterday, plastering the area with heavy concentrations and forcing the Reds to take cover.

Security Lapses In H-Bomb Test To Be Reviewed

Senator Says It May Deter War; Expert Hints At Deadlier Weapons

WASHINGTON (UP) - Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper said today the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee will "review the entire hydrogen picture," with special attention to "the security slips that may have occurred" in the recent H-bomb tests.

The Iowa Republican, ranking GOP senator on the committee and prospective chairman of the group, told a reporter "we are ahead of the Communists in this competition for nuclear power—a competition which they have forced upon us."

"Before they think about waging aggressive war, they had best stop, look and listen," Hickenlooper said.

Dr. Jules Halpern, chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, hinted that the H-bomb is only the forerunner of weapons capable of even greater devastation. He said in a statement that the Atomic Energy Commission's historic announcement of H-bomb tests "is a sober and grim reminder to the world that a way must be found to prevent the use of these and even more potent weapons to come."

Hickenlooper made his statement shortly after government officials revealed investigations are underway throughout the H-bomb task force in the Pacific to determine if "restricted data" has been revealed.

Authorities expressed concern about the flow of "eyewitness letters" from Eniwetok describing what the writers, mostly junior officers and enlisted men, called history's first hydrogen bomb explosion. The letters started arriving in this country a week before the Atomic Energy Commission's Sunday announcement of the H-bomb tests.

The task force which conducted the tests was composed of AEC, Army, Navy and Air Force personnel commanded by Maj. Gen. Percy W. Clarkson. Military officials here said the AEC laid down the security regulations for the task force.

The AEC declined to reveal the specific security regulations until the investigations are completed, but a spokesman said "any revelation of restricted data would be a violation of the Atomic Energy Act."

Ministers Rap Bible Revision As 'Blasphemous'

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) - A group of Baptist ministers met here last night in a packed auditorium and unanimously labeled as "blasphemous" the new revised standard version of the Bible.

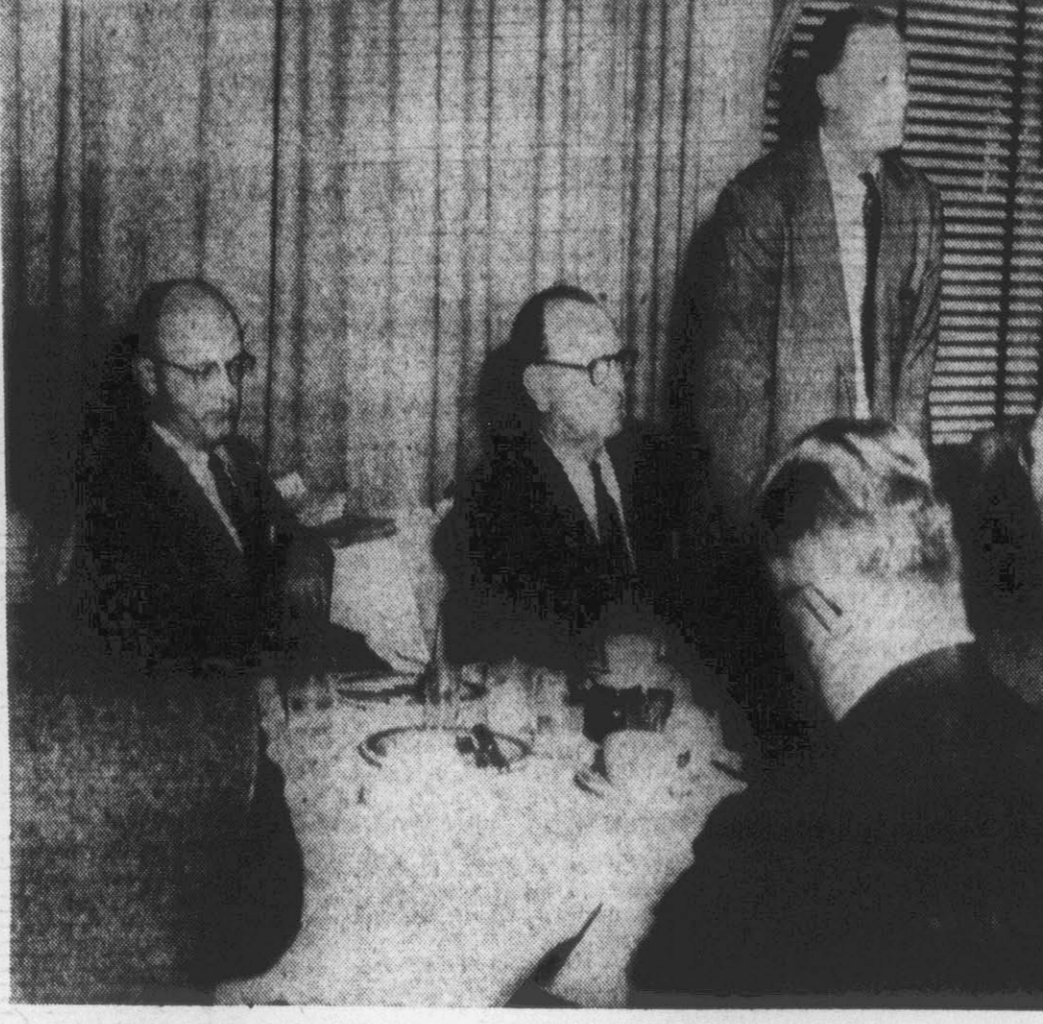

A leader of the group, E.J. Cimino, president of the Southern Bible College in Knoxville, accused the translators of attempting to "wreck the deity of Christ and the virgin birth of our Lord."

The speakers, nine well-known pastors in the East Tennessee area, referred specifically to Isaiah 7:14, Luke 2:33, and Zachariah 9:9, as examples of "blasphemous statements" in the new translation.

In Isaiah 7:14, they rejected the change of the word "virgin" to "young woman." Orthodox scholars have never accepted any other meaning of the word, Cimino said.

"I'm fed up," Naguib said in a speech dedicating a new broadcasting building. "Those who won't cooperate must go."

Community Chest Workers Meet To Open Drive

The 1952 Community Chest Drive got underway this morning after a kickoff breakfast given at the Hotel Proctor. Chest president L. S. Ficklen (standing) predicted the goal of $14,000 would be met by the end of the week. Shown in the photo above are Tom Webb, special gifts chairman; W. W. Lee, general chairman of the drive; and Ficklen. (Reflector photo by C. L. Perkins)

Chest Fund Campaign Officially Opens Today

Canvassing Of Business District Begins Following Kick-Off Breakfast Of Workers; Predict Exceeding Of Goal

Greenville citizens started pouring their funds into the Community Chest Tuesday morning. The 1952 Chest campaign was officially inaugurated at a breakfast of workers on 24 teams in the Special Gifts Division and on a note of optimism the canvassers started their solicitation in the downtown business district.

President L.S. Ficklen, Campaign Chairman W.W. Lee and Division Chairman Tom Webb were unanimous in their praise of "the spirit of Greenville, a spirit of willingness to give to meet the needs of their own people and agencies, a spirit of co-operation in spirit which never lets down any deserving appeal. Greenville has never fallen down on this job."

President Ficklen predicted at the breakfast that the citizens of the community will join wholeheartedly in the Community Chest Drive so that the $14,000 goal will be reached early this week and that even this objective will be exceeded.

"Sell your prospects on the service of the Chest to our needy, to our youth, and to the agencies which build character," Ficklen challenged the workers.

Another assignment was given the workers by President Ficklen as he forecast the creation of a United Fund in which all financial drives will be combined early next year.

"As you go out among the business leaders of this community on this annual solicitation, make a poll of the genuine desire and interest for a united fund. It is up to the community to create and conduct the one-time-a-year fund raising," Ficklen said.

J.B. Kittrell, Sr. closed the speech-making of the morning session with a reminder that the support of the Community Chest includes a gift for the United Defense Fund which is bringing a service to the Greenville and Pitt county men serving in Korea and in military installations throughout the world.

The invocation by the Rev. L.W. Topping, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, opened the meeting.

Webb gave a brief work of instruction to the campaign workers and announced that reports will be (Continued on page twelve)

Indian Proposal For Korea Truce Draws Objection

U. S. Sticks By Demand No Use Of Force To Repatriate War Prisoners

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) - An Indian proposal to end the Korean war on a formula understood to have the blessings of Communist China seemed headed for major revision today to meet American objections.

An eight-nation group set about trying to reconcile the Indian proposal, which was put formally before the United Nations Monday with a peace resolution sponsored by the United States and 20 other countries.

The United States is sticking by its demand that there be no use of force to make prisoners of war return to their homelands after a cease-fire.

The Indian proposal recommends establishment of a five-member commission to take jurisdiction over all prisoners of war in demilitarized zones. Those electing to go home would be repatriated. The problem of those who resisted repatriation would be turned over, after a 90-day period, to a political conference on far eastern affairs already provided for in the tentative truce plan agreed upon at Panmunjom.

The Repatriation Commission, proposed by India, would comprise Czechoslovakia, Poland, Sweden and Switzerland. A fifth member - or "umpire" - would be selected by these four powers or by the General Assembly.

India was known to have sounded out Communist China and informed sources said New Delhi had received assurances that Peiping would "not react violently" against its proposal. The Indians were understood to have received no assurances from Russia that it will support it, however.

A top-level U. S. spokesman rejected the Indian proposal, "as it stands," on the following grounds: 1. It provides for a cease-fire but offers no final solution of the major problem of a Korean truce; what to do with prisoners who resist repatriation, a problem that might lead to the breakdown of any truce.

2. Its provision to send the prisoners to the Indian proposal, "as if stands," on the following grounds: 1. It provides for a cease-fire but offers no final solution of the major problem of a Korean truce; what to do with prisoners who resist repatriation, a problem that might lead to the breakdown of any truce.

3. It places the entire burden of settlement, under its provision for an evenly split East-West Repatriation Commission, upon the "umpire."

4. The U. S. will in no event use force to hand over a prisoner to international machinery that provides "only one exit" - meaning a return home.

"The general belief among the Arabs and Asians," the spokesman said, "appears to be that the whole thing can be fudged up - get a cease-fire and everything will be all right."

Appears Relaxed And Refreshed After 'Partial Vacation'; Does Not Know Yet When Korea Trip Will Be Made; Crowd Of About 1,000 Sees Him Depart

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) - President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower said today as he concluded a post-election vacation that he does not know when he will make his promised trip to Korea.

Eisenhower, looking refreshed and relaxed after ten days of golf and as much lazy living as he could squeeze in, talked briefly at the Augusta airport before leaving for Washington and the first of a long series of conferences leading up to his inauguration as president of the United States.

"The question about which I have been asked to talk is Korea," Eisenhower said. "About that I cannot say anything until I return from out there. I still don't even know for certain when that trip will take place."

The president-to-be said with a broad smile that his stay in Augusta had been "only a partial vacation" because of the heavy correspondence that swept down on him like a tidal wave after his Nov. 4 election victory.

He also had several important conferences and made some policy decisions. Among them was the appointment of Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and Detroit banker Joseph M. Dodge as his liaison agents with the outgoing Truman administration.

But Eisenhower said that while the work "has been a great burden, it also has been a great satisfaction because it evidences a great determination of our people to maintain a keen interest in governmental affairs which they so clearly evidenced in the past campaign."

The president-elect said he looks forward to his administration receiving "critical and intelligent support, rather than blind support for the next four years."

A crowd of about 1,000 was at the Augusta airport to wave goodbye to Eisenhower and his family as their big Eastern Airlines charter plane roared off the runway at 10:37 a. m. EST.

After Eisenhower's conference with President Truman, he goes on to New York tonight with consultations with Republican leaders, including Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

As an indication of the importance of the New York appointments, Taft said in Washington that he has made recommendations for the next president's cabinet.

Taft told a news conference he does not know if his selections will be acceptable to Eisenhower. Neither would he identify the men he has suggested.

"I've been asked to submit recommendations and I've done so already," Taft said. "The general was kind enough to say he would be glad to have my recommendations. If he'll follow them or not, that's another matter, that's his privilege."

The nation's capital has prepared a thunderous reception and President Truman ordered government departments to give employees time off to greet the president-to-be on his triumphant drive down historic Constitution and Pennsylvania avenues to the White House.

Heated opposition of several government officials to the program to include city planning, forestry, marine sciences, petroleum sciences, pulp and paper, agriculture, nursing and public health.

Taft Lists Cabinet Selections

Secret Recommendations Given To Ike; Does Not Know If Acceptable

WASHINGTON (UP) - Sen. Robert A. Taft said today he recommended to Dwight D. Eisenhower men for the president-elect's cabinet.

The Ohioan did not know if his selections would be accepted. Taft told a news conference that he acted on Eisenhower's request for suggestions. He declined to specify the men he suggested for cabinet posts.

At the same time the Ohio Republican said that while he is "available" for the Senate floor leadership he is "not running for anything."

He did not see "any necessity for Eisenhower's intervention" in selecting a senate GOP majority leader. He said he believed Republicans in Congress would "work out an amicable solution" of the knotty problem.

Taft did suggest enlargement of the group which traditionally represents the Congress at White House meetings. He suggested that three men from the Senate, the floor leader, the chairman of the policy committee, and the chairman of the conference of all GOP senators, consult with the incoming president at the weekly legislative meetings. Taft is policy committee chairman and he did not disclose if he would retain this post.

President Truman's policy has been to consult with the so-called "big four" - the vice president and the Senate Democratic leader and the House majority leader and House whip every Monday during congressional sessions.

On the question of cabinet posts Taft said in reply to questions: "I've been asked to submit recommendations and I've done so already."

"The general was kind enough to say he would be glad to have my recommendations. If he'll follow them or not, that's another matter, that's his privilege."

Taft, along with prospective House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., will consult with Eisenhower in New York City tomorrow about the legislative program.

Taft said that among matters to be discussed are the budget, taxation, possible extension of the April 1 deadline for the president to reshuffle federal bureaus, continuation of price, wage, rent and allocation control powers and amendments to the Taft-Hartley labor law.

A reporter noted that no foreign aid or foreign policy matters were included on Taft's list.

He said the foreign aid issue was "only a question of how much it should be," and that he "assumes" the new secretary of state will conduct a "re-examination" of the nation's foreign policies.

Asked if he had a recommendation for secretary of state, Taft said, "if so, I'm not going to say."

As for the Senate majority leadership, Taft previously had told confidants that he might take the post if necessary to avoid intra-party squabbles over it.

Eight Killed In Transport Crash

Engine Falls Out Of Flying Boxcar; Eight Aboard Survive

BILLINGS, Mont. (UP) - Eight of 16 men aboard a C-119 transport were killed when one engine dropped off the big, stumpy Flying Boxcar, Air Force investigators reported today.

The other eight were carried or crawled out of the crumpled aircraft alive after it slammed into a creek bank 10 miles northeast of here Monday and burned.

The official investigation disclosed one of the plane's propellers fell off and then one of the two engines plummeted to the ground shortly afterward.

The transport, which carried five crewmen and 11 passengers, was en route from maneuvers in Alaska to Greenville, S.C.

It had landed briefly at Great Falls, Mont., early in the day. O. E. Hawthorne, on whose farm the plane crashed, said he was eating lunch when he heard the transport roar overhead.

"It was coming straight at the house and then, thank God, veered to the left and passed between the house and barn," Hawthorne said.

The farmer said he rushed to the flaming wreckage at the creek. Both wings were ripped off and debris and bodies were scattered over a large area. The plane was in flames.

Hawthorne said he "wrapped myself in an Air Force sleeping bag I found at the scene to ward off the flames."

"I believe I helped pull six survivors and five dead men from the wreck," he said.

Downed Two

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Navy reported today that two Russian-made jet fighter planes had been shot down at sea only 35 miles - just a few seconds flying time - from U. S. Task Force 77 off the East Coast of Korea.

A third Russian-made aircraft was damaged in the action, the Navy said. It placed the scene in the Sea of Japan, about 100 miles southeast of Chongjin. It said Navy jet pilots shot down the two MIG-15s.

Although Navy planes were credited with one of the first downings of a MIG jet in the Korean War in the autumn of 1950-Navy and Marine air encounters with the enemy fighters have been rare.

Only five MIG kills have been credited to Navy and Marine pilots throughout the conflict.

Returned Cash Is Stashed In Bank

CHICAGO (UP) - A widow who used to distrust banks changed her tune today and stashed her fortune in a big, safe one after a "soft-hearted" purse snatcher returned the life savings he had stolen from her.

The unknown thief mailed Mrs. Wilma Gardner a bulky envelope. When she opened it Monday, $9,780 in old, well-worn bills dropped out.

Stuffed into the envelope with the currency was a crudely penciled note that said, "When I opened the purse I was just as scared as you were."

The young lough accosted the 58-year-old widow on the street near her home last Wednesday, beat her and sprinted off with her purse. It contained $10,000 - her life savings.

She had given her nest egg up for lost until Monday, when a postman told her that the Chicago postoffice was holding four letters for her because postage was due.

Accompanied by two police officers, Mrs. Gardner went to the postoffice, claimed the envelopes and found her money.

The letter from the "soft-hearted" thief said:

Curfew Imposed After Ambush

TUNIS, Tunisia (UP) - Police were under orders today to shoot anyone found on the streets of Gabes during the hours of darkness.

The dusk-to-dawn curfew was imposed on the port city 140 miles south of Tunis following a terrorist ambush of two buses loaded with unarmed French soldiers Sunday night. Four soldiers were killed and seven wounded.

Southern Governors Slap Down Suspected Step To Bureaucracy

NEW ORLEANS (UP) - Southern governors, critical of "big government" the last chief executive, slapped down a threat of "bureaucracy" in their own organization today.

Governors attending an annual regional conference decided they wanted no part of a "fund raising" foundation to help support their joint educational program because it smacked of "another sprawling bureaucracy."

Two general sessions at New Orleans International House, a state dinner, a tour of the harbor, a reception and a final executive business session were on schedule for the 16 governors on this final day of the three-day conference.

This post-election session of the Southern Governors Conference already had echoed with jubilation over a Republican victory which, the chief executive felt, meant an end of federal encroachments.

The governors then got down to the job of expanding their unique program of sharing state higher education facilities and came to the proposal for the foundation.

Heated opposition of several government officials to the program to include city planning, forestry, marine sciences, petroleum sciences, pulp and paper, agriculture, nursing and public health.

It was reported that the program begun four years ago in just a few fields, now is providing higher education for 1,059 students who cross state lines to use facilities not available in their own states.

The proposed foundation, which several educators thought would be $1,200,000 dollar construction job - one of the three existing U. S. bases - has already begun and will be completed next spring.

The statement added that a minor part of the work to be done - a $1,200,000 dollar construction job - has already begun and will be completed next spring.

Denmark Reveals Further Expansion Arctic Bases

COPENHAGEN (UP) - The Danish government guardedly announced today that Western defense facilities in strategic Greenland are being expanded.

The announcement gave no details of what the expansion would mean, but reliable government and engineering sources said last night that the U. S. had agreed on construction of at least four huge new U. S. air bases on the big island across the North Pole from Soviet Russia's Arctic doorstep.

This report brought statements from a U. S. State Department spokesman, Danish Foreign Minister Ole Bjorn Kraft and Finn Nielsen, acting chief of Denmark's Greenland Department, that they knew nothing about any such agreement.

Gilbert And Sullivan Production Draws Large, Delighted Audience

Some 600 people from Greenville and nearby cities and towns flocked to the American Savoyards presentation of "The Mikado" given last night in the College Theatre on the East Carolina campus here.

The famous Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was presented by the young cast with finesse. Fine voices and just enough stuffiness to bring to life the satire on Victorian society, with allusions to contemporary society.

Presented here by the Greenville Music Club, the Charles Wagner production under the direction of Dorothy Reeder compared very favorably with the Wagner productions which have been presented in Greenville under the auspices of the Music Club for the past two years.

with the authentic make-up and the animated shenanigans of Ko-Ko (Lord High Executioner) portrayed by Rue Knapp, Poo-Bah (Lord High Everything Else) portrayed by Arnold Walker, Marvin Worden as Nanki-Poo and Sally Knapp as Yum-Yum were well cast and presented convincing performances.

Another outstanding feature which added to the presentation was the well controlled orchestra under the direction of Elizabeth DeMartini, conductor.

"The Mikado" was first produced in London at the Savoy Theatre on March 14, 1885. Written and produced by Gilbert and Sullivan at a time when anything Japanese seemed strange, romantic and exciting, due to the fact that as a country Japan was only then emerging from medieval obscurity, the curiosity of the public was aroused to a high pitch. Beatty-Kingston, the eminent theatre critic of the time, wrote that the music consisted of "a string of musical jewels of great price aglow with the lustre of pure luminous genius." The sly wit and brilliant satire of Gilbert and Sullivan brought delight to the audiences of the 19th century just as it did to the audience in the College Theatre last night.

Charles A. White, chairman of the Greenville Music Club project committee highly praised the presentation of the operetta last night. "It was a very successful performance, and was the first really professional presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan ever given in Greenville," he said.

White was high in his praise of the scenery and costumes used in the performance, and also of the work of members of the cast and orchestra.

Mrs. Herring expressed the opinion that something should be done to make the teaching profession more attractive to young people who are beginning a career, so that more teachers will be available to help alleviate the crowded conditions in the school. Another thing which she mentioned was the fact that every day more than 60,000 children in North Carolina are absent from school each day whose needs should be investigated and whose cases require special study. Trained workers are needed badly for this field, she said.

The Department voted to sponsor a class in making hooked rugs. It was suggested that any member who was interested in this work contact Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, who is heading up the committee which is planning this. The classes will start in January, the chairman announced.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
November 16, 1912
WASHINGTON—Some time next summer or fall, no exact date being specified, a vessel will pass from the Atlantic to the Pacific across what is now the Isthmus of Panama, which consequently must disappear from the world's geography and by the same human agency the Western Hemisphere will be divided into two continents. The vessel will be one of many small water craft in daily use by the canal builders and probably the only passengers will be Col. George W. Goethals and the staff of American engineers, who for the past eight years have been carrying on the greatest engineering work the world has ever seen.

Mrs. Frank Sheppe and daughter, Paula Karen, sailed from New York last Saturday on the Queen Mary to join her husband, Major Frank W. Sheppe, who is stationed in Augsburg, Germany.

Mrs. Sheppe and daughter have been spending the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus Smith, in the Red Oak community. Major Sheppe is an officer in the Intelligence Corps and was stationed at the Pentagon in Washington for nearly five years after having served three years overseas. He and his family are expecting to be in Germany for about three years.

Mrs. Sheppe was accompanied to New York by her sister, Mrs. J. J. Grimesly and Mr. Grimesly of Ormondville.

Oakley, program chairman for the afternoon, introduced Miss Ona Shindler, director of the glee clubs at Greenville High School, who presented her all girl chorus in a number of musical selections.

Mrs. Luther Herring was guest speaker for the afternoon. She spoke on the topic "United Forces for Education." She quoted statistics which showed North Carolina has more pupils per classroom in school than any other state in the union except Mississippi.

"Too many children in a classroom are bad for the individual pupil for he fails to get the attention he needs," she added. "In Greenville the average number of pupils enrolled per teacher is 25, while the figure for the nation as a whole is 35.8."

Mrs. Herring expressed the opinion that something should be done to make the teaching profession more attractive to young people who are beginning a career, so that more teachers will be available to help alleviate the crowded conditions in the school. Another thing which she mentioned was the fact that every day more than 60,000 children in North Carolina are absent from school each day whose needs should be investigated and whose cases require special study. Trained workers are needed badly for this field, she said.

The Department voted to sponsor a class in making hooked rugs. It was suggested that any member who was interested in this work contact Mrs. J. Hicks Corey, who is heading up the committee which is planning this. The classes will start in January, the chairman announced.

The members also voted to sponsor a bridge tournament after the first of the year.

Dunn Policemen Are Acquired

DUNN (UP)—Two Dunn policemen were acquitted yesterday of charges that they beat a young war veteran with blackjacks and a pistol while arresting him on a drunkenness charge.

Superior Court Judge Henry L. Stevens, in freeing officers Garland Stone and Francis Hall, said the State Supreme Court has held that a police officer himself is the judge of what force is necessary in arresting a prisoner.

The charge had been brought by W. R. Lewis. Other Dunn police rushed up to congratulate Stone and Hall when the verdict was announced.

"North Carolina is one of the few states in which an officer is allowed to use force," Stevens said.

Parmele Couple Celebrate 50th. Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. George Cornelius James of Parmele celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday afternoon, November 2, from 3 to 5:30 with an open house. Eight of the nine children were present for the occasion.

Mrs. James is the former Sallie Ward, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Ward of Parmele, and Mr. James is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. W. James of Parmele.

Mrs. Clara Roberson, Mrs. Bob James, and Mr. Tige Gardner welcomed the callers at the door, and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Finch introduced them to the receiving line, which consisted of Mr. and Mrs. James, and five members of the original wedding party. They were Mr. and Mrs. N. O. Van Nortwick Sr. of Greenville, Mrs. Dora Bowers of Parmele, Mrs. Albert Hardy of Scotland Neck, and Mrs. Mollie Redick of Fountain. Mr. and Mrs. Abe Gray directed the guests to the dining room.

The dining room was decorated with yellow roses, gold magnolia leaves, and yellow tapers. The table was covered with an organdy cloth with insertion of Venice lace over gold satin. The centerpiece was a three tiered wedding cake in gold and white, topped with a bride and groom over which hung a gold 50. Pairs of three branched gold candelabra with yellow tapers tied with gold ribbons and tiny gold wedding bells were on either side of the cake.

Nuts, gold and white mints and party squares were served with orange ice punch. Mrs. A. J. Crane served party squares, and Mrs. Tige Gardner poured the punch. Misses Cynthia James, Jean Cargile and Patsy James and Mrs. Wayne Rogerson all assisted in serving.

Floral designs of gold foliage and bronze chrysanthemums were used for decorations on the mantel and tables throughout the home. Lighted yellow tapers furnished illumination. The guests were then directed to the register which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. James of Greenville, and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Edmunson of Bethel.

Presiding in the gift room were Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Edgerton and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fleming. During the afternoon music and old favorites of 50 years ago were rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Ben James, and Mr. and Mrs. Wadie Ward. Goodbyes were said by Mr. Carlton James of the home.

Many relatives and friends called during the afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. James were the recipients of many lovely gifts.

Ike Resigns His University Post

NEW YORK (UP)—Columbia University announced yesterday that Dwight D. Eisenhower had submitted his resignation as president of the university.

In a letter, Eisenhower explained that "my recent election to the presidency of the United States now makes it impossible for me to continue longer as a member of the Columbia administrative group."

Eisenhower suggested that the resignation become effective Jan. 19—the day before he is to be inaugurated as president.

Women In The Church

By Mary Fowler
In spite of "the social prejudice against women as ministers," there are situations "where a woman naturally functions with greater ease than a man can, especially in cases of sickness, grief or baffling perplexity," says Mrs. Margaret K. Henriksen, of North Sullivan Methodist Circuit in Maine. Mrs. Henriksen entered the ministry when her husband died. She declares that if a woman wants to enter the ministry, "she can no more avoid expressing her response to God's love through this channel than a man can when he has received a similar call. Any other avenue of expression is incomplete and unsatisfying. We must obey that call no matter what it may cost in facing up to unfairness, prejudice and limited opportunity or may require in financial sacrifice or expenditure of energy."

Two Christian Maya girls—the first of their people to be graduated as registered nurses—are now in charge of the "Bethesda Clinic" in Xocenpich, Yucatan, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. They are the first and only medical and nursing help available for Xocenpich and some twenty-five other Maya villages, many of them located deep in the interior jungle. The Maya girls are graduates of the Southern Presbyterian La Luz Hospital, in Moravia, near Mexico City. When an evangelistic plane was in Xocenpich recently, the nurses were flown into the jungle villages to minister to their people in isolated villages.

Encouragement of the employment of full-time church workers in the fields of spiritual service, teaching Bible classes and study groups, education of confirmands and for general youth work, was voted by a recent conference of meeting in Stockholm, Sweden. Danish, Norwegian, Swedish and Finnish Lutherans were represented. They concentrated discussion on "church service by women" aside from the question of ordaining women to the ministry. It was agreed that women should be employed as full-time workers in as many Scandinavian congregations as possible, but especially in large cities. Before assignment to duties, the women will be given theological education and practical training.

Court opened yesterday for a scheduled four-day term, and was resumed this morning at 9:30.

Four of the eight divorces granted yesterday involved white couples, while the remainder were Negro. All but one divorce were granted on the grounds of two years separation. One suit was brought on the grounds of adultery.

'Beastly Futbol' Next To Undergo Soviet Criticism

MOSCOW (AP)—The newspaper Soviet Sports indicated today that American "futbol" is a rough, bad game that cripples players both physically and spiritually. The Russians previously described "beizbol" as a "beastly battle, a bloody fight with mayhem and murder."

"It were as if American 'futbol' had been created for inciting beastly instincts both in the audience and in the athletes themselves," the organ of the Soviet Sports Committee declared.

"Futbol cripples youths spiritually and physically and therefore it is widely cultivated at stadiums of American universities and colleges." The article was illustrated by a photograph of a "futbol" scrimmage taken from an American publication.

The Soviet Sports story was part of a general article which purported to prove that all American student sports are corrupt and intended solely to prepare American youths for militarism. The odd sports are due to the different Russian alphabet and are apparently the closest they can get to the pronunciation.

"In the education from American youth of an army of bandits and human haters, an important role is played by sport in educational institutions," the newspaper declared.

It claimed that new games had been invented in American higher educational institutions such as "races on all fours, races with back frontwards and wrestling in a pit with rotten fish."

"Student sport in the United States today is a school for training American youth in a militaristic spirit," the article concluded.

The Soviet youth magazine Smena told its readers Sept. 6 that "beizbol" was an American distortion of the old Russian village sport of Lapta. "Beizbol" players in the United States, it said, are slaves—bought and sold like sheep. Then, added Smena, when they are worn out and crippled from playing field injuries, they are thrown out on the street to die of starvation.

N. C. Requires Milk Imports To Meet Demand

RALEIGH (UP)—North Carolina's dairy industry has to import 6,725,593 pounds of grade A milk from other states to meet the demand during September of this year, the State Agriculture Department said today.

The department said production of grade A milk and cream in North Carolina continues to increase steadily, but is still unable to keep up with demand.

A total of 42,824,804 pounds of grade A milk was purchased from producers during September, a 7.9 per cent increase over September of last year, but retailers sold 46,936,422 pounds.

The department said that the number of grade A producers has increased from 2,008 in January, 1948, to 4,599 in September, 1952.

There is a larger number of windows than widows than widowers the proportion being 3 to 1 in the United States.

Bank Silent On Tongue-Lashing

TOLEDO, O. (UP)—Officials of the First National Bank of North Baltimore, O.,

had nothing to say today about a tongue-lashing given them by a federal judge who refused to sentence a cashier convicted of embezzling $7,500 from the bank.

Judge Frank L. Kloeb said the bank officials themselves should have been indicted for paying the cashier such a low salary.

Judge Kloeb lashed out at the bank officials Monday when George W. Sponser, 53, a 32-year employe of the bank, appeared before him for sentencing.

The judge said Sponser received $1,000 a year when he began work for the bank in 1920. In 1942, his salary was only $1,900 a year, the judge said, pointing out that the money was taken in small amounts before 1941 and used by Sponser only for the support of his family.

Sponser was making about $5,000 a year when he resigned his position with the bank several months ago.

"It is a shame to look at such a record," Judge Kloeb said. "The bank should actually have been indicted in this case. If I had the authority, I would sentence the bank officials and the board of directors to read the story of Scrooge at Christmas (Charles Dickens' 'A Christmas Carol') and think of the defendant."

Judge Kloeb deferred sentencing indefinitely and permitted Sponser to go free.

Strength for the Day

SIGNIFICANCE OF CALVARY
Many Bible readers, as they peruse the narrative of the crucifixion, fail to catch a sense of its profound universal significance. Through the ages it has been the faith of the Church that in some manner which we cannot fully understand, the death of Christ on the cross produced for all mankind release from the guilt of sin's bondage. Goethe expressed it well when he said: "If I saw the world and felt toward it as God does, it would break my heart."
The crucifixion of Christ did just that. The guilt of sin, whether it be individual or racial, is something so terrible that God alone knows its mental dimension. The cross represents God's method of dealing with this tragic scourge. When we say that it liberated mankind from the bondage of sin, this does not mean that mankind now has no sin. What it means is that man now has an escape from the guilt of sin if he cares to make such an escape. And any individual who cares to make such an escape has only to address the throne of God and sue for forgiveness in the name of the crucified Christ to feel the burden of guilt from his heart and to know that at last he is free.
The breaking of God's heart on Calvary means the healing of our heart today—that is, if we will take advantage of what God offers.

A Statement of Policy We Like

A new police chief has assumed the responsibility of the administration and direction of the Greenville police department. The man who has been chosen for the position is a capable, experienced law enforcement officer; an individual of integrity whom, we believe, has the administrative ability to continue the high caliber police operations which Greenville wants and has had.

With time we believe Police Chief S. G. Gibbs can lead the local police department to new heights of efficiency and performance.

The Reflector particularly likes the simple statement of policy which the new Police Chief set out for the members of the police department in the presence of the Board of Aldermen yesterday. Gibbs asserted no factional groups or cliques in the police department of Greenville will be tolerated under his administration. He likewise pledged his undivided support to officers who make sure they are in the right in every instance and carry out their duty whether the "defendant be rich or poor, black or white."

Those two simple statements of policy form a good foundation for a sound, effective law enforcement department.

We like them.
Unfortunately in recent years the local police department has gone through a series of periods of unrest and undercurrents of politics. On occasion these have broken forth on the surface to the detriment of Greenville. Even in the appointment of the new chief of police the overtones and insinuations made it apparent that these undercurrents have not yet completely subsided.

To be effective the police department must be kept far removed from politics, and that is the responsibility not only of the chief and the members of the force, but likewise the responsibility of the members of the governing board of the city.

Another thing we like about the new Chief of Police is that his appointment brings the prospect of even closer cooperation between the various law enforcement agencies of the city, county and state.

In past years Pitt County has been blessed with far better than average cooperation between the several law enforcement agencies. With the new Greenville Police Chief a former member of the State Highway Patrol and the State Bureau of Investigation — both positions which called for close work with police, sheriff and ABC officers — the experience and friendship acquired should prove an invaluable asset to better coordination between all the groups.

The new chief will have his problems which must be overcome. His job will be no bed of roses in spite of the favorable circumstances which are distinct advantages at the outset.

Chief Gibbs will need not only the support of his own force, but of the city officials, the citizens of the city and the other law enforcement officers stationed in Pitt County.

The Last Vacation For President-Elect

There's a certain charm about vacation-time to which people look from year to year. For most individuals vacation time means that one or two weeks a year when they are away from their daily work and really relax and do just what they please.

For President-elect Ike Eisenhower who returned today from his post-campaign rest, his last vacation for at least four years has come to an end.

To be sure in the next four years he may spend weeks or even months away from the White House; but only for moments at a time will he be able to remove from his shoulders the tremendous responsibility of Chief Executive of the greatest nation in the world.

For Eisenhower the "vacation" in Augusta, Ga. was the last days he will be able to call his own for at least four years — maybe even eight.

There are few men who envy the President of the United States.

There are few men who would swap their daily burdens for his. There are few men who would give up their pleasures and their carefree moments even for the page in history which is reserved for those few men who dwell at 1600 Madison Avenue.

The task of president, while it is the highest honor the American people can bestow on a fellow-citizen, has gained the reputation as a killer. Rightly so, for there are few men who, after a tenure of office, are not broken or badly bent by the burdens of the nation which they have shouldered. President Truman was a relatively young man as presidents go when he assumed the position of Chief Executive on that April day seven years ago. Outwardly at least he still appears in good health after his strenuous tour of duty; but even in the "young" Truman the office has taken its toll.

To the President go many honors and the highest prestige. But in that office an individual gives up one of America's most prized possessions: a day off.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—A grave problem confronting the incoming Eisenhower Administration must be the recognition that the United Nations, the only remaining bridge between the free and the slave worlds, is tottering because its apparent futility has generated disillusionment abroad and in the United States.
In U.N. circles there is a growing belief that it must be scrapped or strengthened, and only the United States can undertake that task.
Trygve Lie's resignation and his despairing farewell address, as well as the revelation that Communist sympathizers have served on the staff of the U.S. delegation, have precipitated a crisis recognized but not advertised at New York and Washington. Members of Congress are now questioning openly the usefulness of the international body.

U.N. A PAWN IN COLD WAR—It has been criticized by the American Legion on the ground that Russian obstruction, as exercised in its veto power, blocks any constructive action for world peace or economic restoration. It has been assailed by the Daughters of the American Revolution because it jeopardizes the sovereignty of our Federal and State Governments.
Foreign members share our disappointment. France threatens to walk out if the U.N. dares even to debate its disputes with Tunisia and Morocco. The Asian-Latin American bloc consistently lines up against the Anglo-American faction with the argument that Washington and London have made the U.N. a pawn in the cold war with Russia.

AMERICAN APATHY—But it is American apathy which constitutes the most ominous threat. Although both Presidential candidates declared their support of the U.N. and the theory of collective security embodied in regional treaties, this was probably the least effective issue with the voters.
What bothered 60 million voters was the organization's failure to achieve either a victory or a peace in Korea, not to mention Malaya, Burma and Indochina.

Another nationwide gripe is the spectacle of the Soviet, although a key member of this peace-loving body, waging war against several fellow members.
KEYSTONE OF FOREIGN POLICY—U.N.'s decline in prestige at home is attributed by American attaches and correspondents stationed at New York headquarters to other causes than its palpable failures and Russian recalcitrancy. It is in this field that Eisenhower may be able to improve conditions.

In the first instance, both F.D.R. and Truman oversold and magnified the organization's possible contributions to international order, justice and peace. Deregarding Moscow's hostility, they made the organization of the U.N. the keystone of their foreign policy, and as such described it as a partisan achievement. Thus the voters' repudiation of Truman foreign program was an indirect criticism of the United Nations.

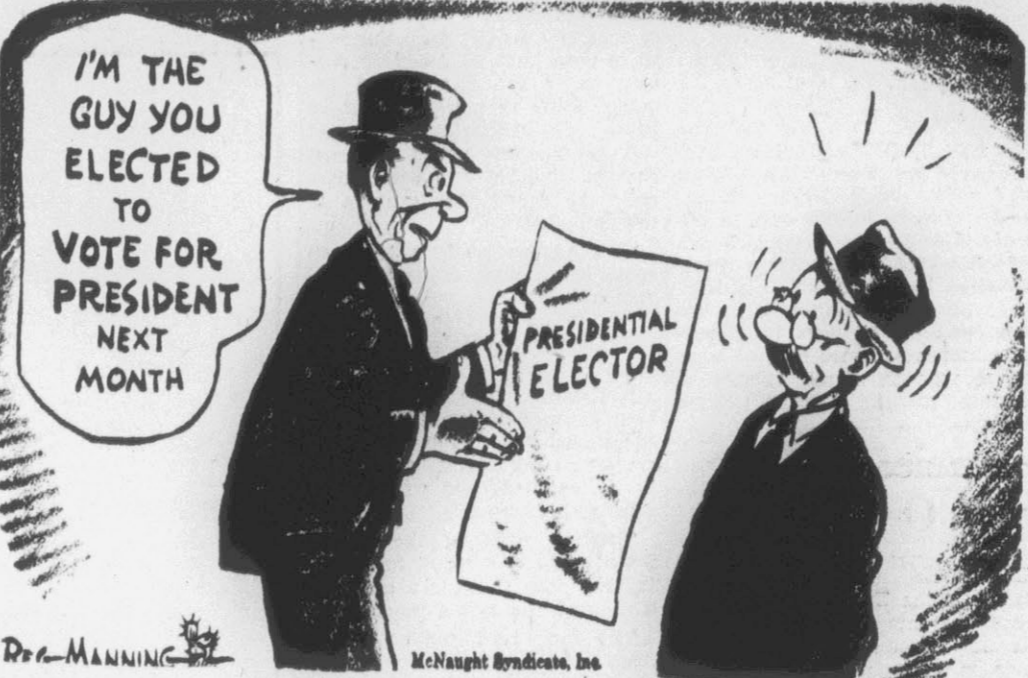

AMERICAN DELEGATION—The American delegation to the U.N. has never been a particularly forceful group of individuals, even though it includes such distinguished figures as Warren Austin and Eleanor Roosevelt.
The Russian representatives, Malik, Gromyko and now Vishinsky, have frequently outmaneuvered and outtalked them. As a publicity forum, it has been of more advantage to Stalin than to Truman or Acheson. The presence of Red sympathizers on our staff, as disclosed by a Congressional committee, may have been partially responsible for these failures. The prospect of shakeup of the State Department after January 20 may correct that situation, especially if Eisenhower names more effective delegates.

HONEST APPRAISAL—Any honest appraisal of U.N.'s seven-year record, although neither its friends nor enemies agree on the conclusion, shows that it has been something less than a success. Although commitments are dangerous, the ill-fated League of Nations had hunk up a better record of achievement over a similar period, even without U.S. membership and support.

The U.N., for instance, has accomplished nothing for international disarmament, especially atomic control. It has not been able to organize the proposed mobile, international army as a police force. It has not settled the problem of "colonialism" to the satisfaction of the great powers or the victims of this system.

It intervened in Korea in only a "token" manner simply because Russia happened to be boycotting the Security Council at the moment. It has not been able to settle conflicts there or in other sections of the world.

Surely You Remember Me!

Somebody Told Me

By I. A. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you can afford to eat regularly these days chances are that you either:
(1) Own a television set, or
(2) Some day hope to be able to own one.
And if you continue to read today's column you are going to find out the evils of the number owning a TV set. Some of the television dealers in Greenville are friends of mine, and I certainly hope they will forgive me for writing such a story. But after all, a journalist tells the truth, so it goes:
To illustrate how bad it is to have a TV set, let me describe the last two evenings of my existence. Last night I was observing the leisure of the Sabbath; that is, after the children were all settled down, so I went to Wife Rachel. "If ever I was in the mood to look at TV, tonight's the night. And to make it more interesting, there is an excellent lineup of shows coming up!"
W. R. replied, "Well, for a change I'm caught up with everything and I would enjoy it too."
By now you should know what happened. There were two drama shows on, and the reception from Norfolk was just good enough to keep us looking. It was one of those nights that will run the Greenville televisioner crazy. The reception was just good enough to shine a ray of hope, and the sound is good enough to keep you halfway in the plot of a good story. Never can you tell exactly what happens.
At this point let me emphasize that there are many intelligent Greenville televisioners, who have enough judgment to turn the set off on nights like Sunday. But for every sensible one, no doubt there are nine like me, without much TV judgment.
There is another evil just as bad as the Sunday night situation. In fact, it happened last night. Television was coming into Greenville just as though the proposed WGTC station had already been built. It was just like a movie. So why am I complaining? Simply because of obligations, I had to leave home and couldn't watch TV! It seems always that when I look forward to seeing the shows, the signal is too weak to bring them in. When the signal comes in, I have something else that must be done!
Such is life! Again let me apologize to the TV dealers of Greenville, and especially those who advertise in the Reflector. But you dealers have TV sets and must admit that it's the truth.
And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

By LYN NISBET

ISSUES—As the date for convening of the General Assembly approaches there is increasing interest in what may be some of the big issues which will confront that body. It is conceded that there will be more vigorous effort than any time within 16 years to get authorization for a state-wide vote on the sale of liquor. It is believed that strenuous effort will be made to have the matter of a bonus for soldiers of World War II submitted to popular vote. Almost certainly there will be requests for bond issues to finance expansion of the mental hospital system and to extend further aid to counties in building school houses. Proposals for a multi-million dollar bond issue for improvement of primary highways is entirely probable, since it seems fairly certain that debt service and maintenance requirements will take most of the anticipated normal-highway receipts. There will be proposals for substantially larger appropriations for school operation, health and welfare. Two or three suggestions for reorganizing the state governmental structure are in the offing.

MONEY—Majority of these projects will require additional money, and a lot of it. If the people should vote out legal liquor, some $50 million dollars in State and local revenue must be replaced from some source. If a soldier bonus should be voted, not less than $200 million must be found to finance the program. The tentatively suggested hospital and school building program will call for another $200 million. The added cost of school operation and welfare services will depend upon the extent of increases in these areas. Without any of these new or expanded activities the impact of inflation upon current salary scales and operating costs will require some $25 to $40 million more than was spent last year. Some public building is an absolute MUST, probably about $10 million worth, as against total requests for $60-odd million. In other words, to hold our own the State must find about $50 million more than was spent last year, and to meet what is claimed to be reasonable demand for service it must find $300 million more; and to go all the way with a soldier bonus and without alcoholic beverage receipts it must find something like a billion new revenue.

RE-ORGANIZATION—Heading the list of governmental reorganization proposals, which were designed to save money rather than add in costs, is revamping of the highway and public works set up. This total project is in two major sections. One is the question of divorcing the prison department from the highway commission. The other is to do something to retard the trend toward ten separate and distinct divisions in highway management, restore unified central state control, and at the same time to try to bring highway administration closer to the people. There is comparable desire on part of many people to return larger control over public school affairs to local units, without destroying the unity of a uniform State system.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

VARIATION ON A THEME (Winston-Salem Journal)
There is a certain sameness about Communist party congresses. Hundreds of hand-picked delegates converge on the meeting hall; a prominent figure in the party hierarchy welcomes them; the election of a congress president follows. This president is hand-picked by the party leaders, and if there are any dissenting votes, they are kept so quiet they never appear on the record. After the routine business is out of the way, one of the party leaders gives an hour-long address on the state of the nation and things in general. So it happened in Moscow last month, and so it happened in Zagreb, Yugoslavia.
Of course there is a difference between the Russian and the Yugoslav congresses. It is not a difference of form, but of content. Whereas the Russian congress heard that the West was fomenting an imperialistic war, the Yugoslav congress was told that the present world tension was caused solely by Soviet foreign policy. This was said by Marshal Tito himself, who went on to praise the West for its unconditional defense aid to Yugoslavia in the face of Russian threats.
Although serious economic and financial problems are facing Yugoslavia (which will undoubtedly call for aid from the United States), the first days of the Congress stressed the Yugoslav Army General Koca Popovic, chief of the delegates that the Army was capable of resisting aggression despite its numerical inferiority. Marshal Tito later called the Army "one of the strongest in Europe" and said that Yugoslavia will defensively support "joint defense against aggression."
In Tito's words he reasons why the West has seen fit to send arms and economic aid to Yugoslavia. They explain why the democracies are willing to ally themselves (albeit unofficially) with a Communist dictatorship against another Communist dictatorship. Both dictatorships are distasteful to us, but the Russian variety is much more so because it is combined with Russian imperialism. It is the imperialism, rather than the dictatorship, which threatens the world. Therefore, as we looked at the Moscow party congress with apprehension, we can look at the Zagreb congress with the assurance that in the cold war against Communist aggression Yugoslavia stands with the Free West.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Forecasts for the first quarter of 1953 are far more nearly unanimous than were the forecasts for the recent election. Almost anyone who has a speech to make or a questionnaire to answer is predicting a rousing good volume of sales.
ITEM: A majority of 1,322 large manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers responding to a Dun Bradstreet poll said they expect to increase their dollar sales in the first quarter of 1953.
ITEM: Charles F. Roos, president of the Econometric Institute, told a business group in New York that department store sales in the first quarter are likely to be 5 per cent above this year's. The gain in the second quarter will be about 1 per cent, he added.
ITEM: Retailing Daily reported that home furnishing retailers expect gains of from 2 to 5 per cent over a year ago in the first six months of the new year. There is always a danger when optimism becomes so general. Even if all the forecasts come true, there is generally a minority of manufacturers and retailers who overestimate the upward surge in sales and increase their inventories too much.
Excessive inventories lead to distress sales and these have a tendency to weaken price levels. It may be noted that the forecasts do not contemplate a wild boom; the anticipated rise averages only a few percentage points. It may also be remembered that the public has shown a considerable under-current of caution and this caution can become dominant if the public becomes convinced that there will be a let-down later next year.
The situation seems to call for playing it to win but not for shooting the works.
SEPTEMBER SALES UP 6%; MOST LINES SHOW GAINS
September retail sales were 6 per cent above a year ago, according to the Department of Commerce.
Gains in almost all lines were reported, the largest being 13 per cent in gas and service stations and office, store machine and equipment dealers.
Those lines in which declines were reported include meat and fish markets; candy, nut and confectionery stores; drinking places; men and boys furnishing stores; floor covering stores; farm equipment dealers; jewelry stores and luggage and leather goods stores. Confectionery stores and farm equipment dealers showed declines of 3 per cent; all other declines were less.

OPPORTUNISTIC RIVALS
STRIP RETAIL ASSOCIATION
The National Appliance Radio-TV Dealers Association is irate over competition by a number of firms selling well-known brands through gas stations, finance companies and individuals.
Gas stations, etc., are offered nationally advertised TV and radio sets and large and small appliances at prices slightly above usual wholesale. They sell from catalogues and the suppliers send the goods direct to the customers. The dealer has no investment in stock and pays no additional rent, storage, insurance or delivery costs and hence can undersell regular dealers.
The association says manufacturers should refuse to sell products in rate-cutting channels.
MILLIONS BEING SPENT... IN RESEARCHING PRODUCTS.
The importance of research in goods is being dramatically illustrated by the opening tomorrow of a half-million dollar research center by Lever Brothers at Edgewater, N.J. The center, which will cost an estimated $1,500,000 a year to operate, unites research previously conducted in widely scattered places.
At the new center, 300 scientists and their assistants, with a large amount of the newest equipment, will continually seek ways to improve the company's soap, detergent, cosmetic and good products and test new products. It is also likely that competitors' products will get a going over.

QUITTING BUSINESS... SOME DAY, ANYHOW
Rival merchants are getting annoyed about a Las Vegas furniture store. Its lease-expiration sale is now in its second year.
NEW PRODUCTS
TURKEY: Completely boned, quick frozen turkeys, weighing from 8 to 12 pounds, are being introduced by Mission Glass, 11 East 47th St., New York. They merely require defrosting for one or two days before roasting.
COATING: A cement paint said to protect porous masonry walls and floors from seepage, dampness and water absorption while allowing masonry to "breathe," has been developed by Prima Products, Inc., 10 East 40th St., New York. It's available in white, gray, green, rose and buff.

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—In the present reach for a better world now seems the opportune time for government to do something about the martini.
The problem of the martini and the people who inhale martinis is one above the boundaries of science, politics, race, age or sex. The flat dictum of many bartenders is:
"They'll never have peace anywhere in the world so long as they allow martinis. Congress ought to abolish them by law if possible—or by force if necessary."
One oldtime bartender said: "You know when you serve a man or a woman an ordinary drink, you have some idea what it will do to them—and they have some idea, too."
"But when I mix a martini for a customer for the first time I always have a sense of curiosity. No matter how well I thought I knew him before, I see a new side to his character once he switches to martinis."
"The only thing I'm sure of is that he will behave differently than before. But what will he do? Complain against the dear old mother he always praised before on a bourbon ration? Fight the memory of his father or the nearest man within reach? Or will he be just starting flapping his arms and try to fly through the bar mirror?"
"I tell you the uncertainty gets a man down, particularly after a lifetime in this business."
The martini quaffer is a lonely but proud figure. The majority of mankind, taking the human race around the globe, is and usually always has been heavily against the imbibing of alcoholic beverages in any form. They figure this has caused more trouble to more people than it has been a benefit to. The arguments pro and con go on endlessly.
But even among the gentry who share a liking for the flowing cup that cheers them there is strong prejudice against those who seek mellowness in mixtures of gin and vermouth. The martini man realizes this, and one toasts another by saying:
"Well, there aren't many of us left, are there?"
There is a growing conviction, however, among sound bourbon, rye, Scotch or wine fanciers that the number of martini admirers is on the increase rather than the wane.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Who will be the capital's No. 1. Hostess for next four years?
Will Mrs. Morris Calhoun, wife of one of Washington's top leaders, continue to hold the title? She was unofficially dubbed "the" when Mrs. Perle Mesta, wealthy widow, was named by her friend, President Truman, as minister to Luxembourg.
Mrs. Mesta could claim the title, despite the fact she is over to the Democratic side of the political fence just about the time Harry Truman was named vice president. Known as "Two Party Perle," Mrs. Mesta is a close friend of the Eisenhowers and often entertained them in her home when Ike was being lionized as a general. Ike used to put on a song and dance act to amuse the guests. Mrs. Mesta has entertained the President-elect and Mamie in Luxembourg, and visited them in Paris. She is expected to resign her post, and rumor has it she has been thinking of buying a house here.

Both women entertain lavishly, drawing into their salons the celebrities of the day, the diplomats, the lawmakers, the headline makers of all varieties. The contest is likely to be close.
If not Mrs. Calhoun, or Mrs. Mesta, who then? Names of several prominent ladies come to mind, chiefly in the Republican fold. There's the very attractive and rich Mrs. Robert Guggenheim and the equally rich Mrs. Truxton Beale. Mrs. Robert Low Bacon. They all give parties, too, elegant parties, very exclusive but not the kind that usually make headlines.

There's also Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth, who made such a splash in society when her late father, Teddy Roosevelt, occupied the White House. She is a distinguished hostess. A comparative newcomer, Mrs. "Baizy" McCormick Miller Tankersly, niece of the Chicago Tribune Publisher, Col. Robert R. McCormick, and herself former publisher of the Washington Times-Herald, is already gaining considerable attention as a hostess. She gives unusual, gay and colorful parties at her nearby Maryland estate and nabs off all the big names as well.

On the Democratic side there are some old hands in the field of entertaining—the fabulously wealthy Mrs. Joseph Davies, wife of the former ambassador to Russia, and the very popular Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, former minister to Norway. Both own beautiful homes and boast many friends in both parties but do their entertaining more or less privately.

Sergeants Built Swank Club For Their Own Recreation

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHANUTE AIR FORCE BASE,
Ill. (UP) — Perhaps the spiffiest service club in the world is operated on this base — not by the officers but by the "first three graders."

The "first three graders" are the sergeants, master sergeants, and technical sergeants.

More amazing than the fact that the non-coms outdid the officers is that the $400,000 club is paid for.
It didn't cost the taxpayers a penney. The boys paid for it themselves, as did the officers in their place called the "fan masker," and the armen or GIs in this club.

These three projects were worked out with the help of Maj. Gen. B.
E. (Hun ry) Gates, the boss of this sprawling base.

"When the officers finished their swanky affair," the general told me, "The sergeants said they in wanted one, too. I told them that people under me don't get something for nothing. They'd have to pay for it themselves. They wanted to know how, and I told them."

The boys sponsored a circus and put all of the profits in a fund. The take was considerable since counting officers, men, and their wives and children there are some 40,000 people here.

After that the sergeants backed a carnival, some musical entertainment with the talent donated by celebrities, and they got the concession for the only gas station on the base. And, believe it or not, when it was all over they had enough money to build their club.

Gates knows how to cut the corners. For instance, all of the concrete blocks put into the building were made by military prisoners on the base.

"That saved a lot," the general said, "but something else came of it. The prisoners, most of them in for minor infractions, learned a trade. Most of the work on this big building was done by the boys themselves."

The 3200 non-coms have everything in their club that you would find in a first-class night club.
There is a huge dance floor that can be used also for a dining hall.
There is a stage with perfect acoustics. There is indirect lighting and 300 loud speakers in the ceiling.

There are three bars, tended by the men themselves. There are modern kitchens. There is a parking lot which will accommodate 1,000 cars.

"We know the boys will have their fun, so we built a game room," Gates said. "But I put my foot down on high stakes poker.
It's a game for fun and the stakes are held within the boys' means.
The wives like the other kind of steaks."

Outside, the grounds will be terraced to look like a country club.
In effect, it soon will be a country club. Through the picture windows by the main entrance, you'll see the boys working on a nine-hole golf course which will be opened by next August. This will be open to everyone on the base.

"It'll pay for itself, too," the general said. "Its open to all men of all ranks — for 50 cents a round.
The armen and non-coms will operate the beer and sandwich concessions to be set up at the 10th hole. Some day, when we get the money, we'll extend it to 18 holes.
In fact that is a dream which will come through in a couple more years."

Grimesland Is In Process Of Basketball Rebuilding

By HERMAN HICKMAN, Reflector Sports Editor. Grimesland basketball fortunes may not include the Pitt County championship this year, but the following year could very well include such an honor. Every member of the Grimesland boys' team is eligible to play another year after this one. This year's squad has five juniors including Roger Mills, Bobby Andrews, R. H. Heath, Jerry Gaskins and Earl Teel. Reid Godley, S. W. Heath, Larry Andrews and Donald Ferguson are sophomores and Clarence Elks is a freshman. Mills, Godley, B. Andrews, S. W. Heath and R. H. Heath are the probable starting five. Gaskins and Teel are also slated for plenty of action. Grimesland Girls' Team The Grimesland girls' team didn't lose a single player from last year's squad. Four seniors, Joyce Mazingo, Jane Tucker, Shirley McLawhorn and Janice Cayton, are expected to carry an experienced attack against opposing teams this season. Mazingo, Tucker and McLawhorn are forwards and Cayton is a guard. Adrienne White and Annie Laura Taylor, juniors, complete the starting six. Becky Mills, a freshman, has shown an amazing knack for hitting the hoop and may win a starting assignment at forward before the season is over. Joyce Tripp, Mary Jo Fleming and Lou Hardee, juniors, also are ready to provide adequate reserve power at forward. Jean Buck and Joy Lewis, sophomores, and Jane White, freshman, are guards. Both teams are coached by Joe Lupton who says, "I think we will win as many as we lose this season. These boys and girls sure love to play basketball and they play to win." GRIMESLAND HIGH SCHOOL 1952-53 BASKETBALL SCHEDULE Nov. 5—Maury, there Nov. 7—Hookerton, home Nov. 14—Maury, home

Duke-Carolina Prepare For Annual Grudge Grid Battle

Victory In S. C. Ignites New Hope For Tar Heels

CHAPEL HILL (UP)—Ticket sales for the traditional North Carolina-Duke football battle picked up today as the Tar Heels began to show definite signs of life. In high spirits after their 27-19 upset of South Carolina, the Tar Heels romped gaily through a short workout yesterday with freshman Flo Worrell conspicuous in the varsity lineup after his performance against the Gamecocks. Coach Carl Snively praised his team highly and gave only a light workout to those players who saw extensive action against South Carolina.

Duke

DURHAM (UP)—Duke football captain Lou Tepe, offensive center, was in light gear because of a re-injured ankle last night as the Blue Devils began practice for the annual grudge fight with the University of North Carolina. Coach Bill Murray picked on weaknesses in the attack he felt would have to be corrected if the team is to capture the Southern Conference crown and victories over all Big Four opponents for the first time since 1945.

The offensive team functioned fitfully Saturday in winning 14 to 7 over Wake Forest, Murray complained. "We don't deny that we have a good defense but we have a real offensive problem," he said. "We're not sure we can win without the offensive line."

Wake Forest

WAKE FOREST (UP)—Wake Forest counted out pass catcher Bob Ondilla and substitute end Louis Simmons as the Deacons began getting ready for Saturday's game against Furman. Coach Tom Rogers worked three defensive stalwarts only in light equipment during opening practice.

All five men suffered injuries in last Saturday's fray with Duke. Rogers expected defensive backs Bobby Friderick and J. M. Bland and guard Bill Finnance to be able to play Saturday. But Ondilla suffered a severe collar bone injury that will keep him out and Simmons suffered a dislocated elbow.

N. C. State

RALEIGH (UP)—The North Carolina State Wolfpack ran through a light signal drill yesterday without the services of guard Ed Mazgaj.

The 206-pound sophomore from Lackawanna, N.Y., strained a ligament in his knee during the 48 to 6 pounding the Wolfpack took at the hands of Pitt last week. Mazgaj may be sidelined for Saturday's game with William and Mary.

State scouts threw a scare into the Wolfpack before yesterday's short drill by reporting that WM "may be the best team we'll face this year."

Promoter Plans Jersey Joe-Rocky Bout For March

NEW YORK (UP)—Promoter Jim Norris hoped to match champion Rocky Marciano and ex-champ Jersey Joe Walcott today for a return heavyweight title fight at the Chicago Stadium March 25. Weill emphasized that the champion would be unable to train before Jan. 1 because of touring dates. "And he'll need about three months to get into proper condition," the manager stressed. Weill's New York statements indicated he was weakening from his previous insistence that he would not permit Rocky to defend until June.

Norris conferred Monday with Weill and with Felix Bocchicchio, manager of 38-year-old Walcott. Bocchicchio wants the return match "as soon as possible." Walcott of Camden, N. J., lost the title to Marciano of Brockton, Mass., at Philadelphia last Sept. 23 on a knockout in the 13th round. Their contract assured Walcott of a return shot at the crown within 90 days. Because of facial cuts and bruises suffered by both scrappers, their managers agreed to waive the 90-day clause and to postpone the return bout until after Jan. 1.

Four Teams Compete For Top Grid Honor

Liberty Network Battles Baseball For Game Rights

CHICAGO (UP)—Baseball contended in Federal Court today that its agreements restricting game broadcasts do not violate anti-trust laws. Answers were filed for 13 major league teams and American League President Will Harridge. All asked for dismissal of the $12,000,000 damage suit filed by Liberty Broadcasting System which charges that baseball conspired to prevent the network from making a profit.

"Our basic defense is that they are reasonable agreements," attorney James E. S. Baker, representing six National League teams said. Baker filed answers for Pittsburgh, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, New York and St. Louis. "We don't deny that we have a good defense but we have a real offensive problem," he said. "We're not sure we can win without the offensive line."

Baseball said that Liberty had presented no claim on which relief can be granted. In addition it pointed out that if any conspiracy existed, Liberty "was part of it and enjoyed its benefits" because the network broadcast for as long as five years under contracts signed with one or more major league teams.

The network broadcast National League games from 1948 through 1951 and American League games in 1950 and 1951, the answers said. Baseball also said that Liberty had contracted with the Chicago White Sox to broadcast from 1952 through 1954 and had 1952 contracts with the Boston Braves, Brooklyn and Cincinnati.

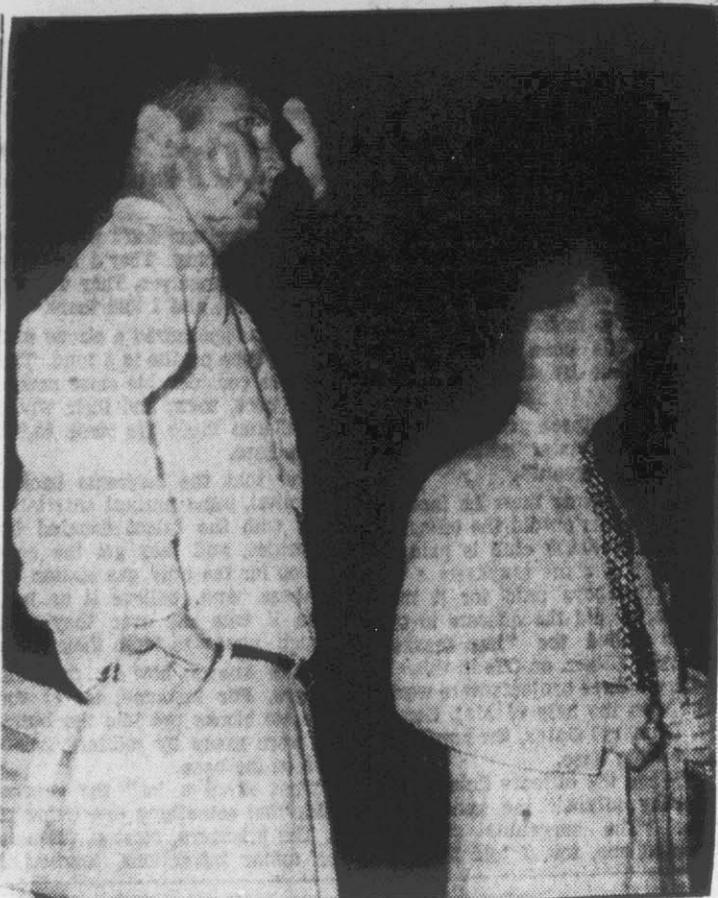

NEW YORK (UP)—Only four teams remained in the race for the 1952 national collegiate football championship today with Michigan State apparently assured of the title if it beats Marquette Saturday. Southern California, UCLA and Georgia Tech were the only other clubs still in the running, but it looked like their pursuit would be a hopeless one. Only a convincing victory by either Southern Cal or UCLA in their Pacific Coast title and Rose Bowl berth game Saturday or a gigantic display of power by Georgia Tech in its two remaining games could possibly out Michigan State from the No. 1 spot.

For with only Marquette left to play, Michigan State won the first place vote of 29 of the 35 outstanding coaches who make up the United Press Rating Board in this week's ratings and wound up with a total of 338 points—only 12 short of the perfect score of 350. Of the six coaches who did not put Michigan State first on their ballot, one voted them second place, four third place and one fourth place.

It marked the ninth successive week that Michigan State has led the ratings and the Spartans were not expected to have much trouble in winding up their season undefeated. Marquette has won only three games while losing four against opposition far below the caliber Michigan State has faced. Southern California, fifth last week, moved up into the runner-up spot in this week's ratings as Georgia Tech, No. 2 last week, dropped to fourth place after just beating Alabama, 7-3, last Saturday.

Southern Cal received one first place vote and a total of 79 points while UCLA received two first place ballots and 272 points for third place. Georgia Tech, with two first votes, accumulated 258 points. UCLA advanced one notch for it was rated fourth last week.

Maryland, third last week, dropped down into a sixth-place tie with Tenn. see after being upset by Mississippi. The triumph won

EAST CAROLINA COACHES Jack Boone and Clyde Biggers have just put the cap on one of East Carolina's most successful football seasons and, like the rest of Pirate followers, are waiting for some definite word on reported bowl bids. Boone is in his first year as the Head Coach of the Pirates while Biggers is in his first year as a college coach. (Reflector Sports Photo.)

No News Yet From Pirates About Reported Bowl Bids

With their regular season's completed schedule behind them, the East Carolina College Pirates took the day off yesterday. But they kept their football gear handy—just in case. The Pirates are reportedly under consideration by committees from three bowl games. Two are New Year's Day affairs but the third, the Lions' Bowl, is a North Carolina game which will be played December 13 in Salisbury.

Athletic Director N. M. Jorgensen of the college said this morning that the Pirates were "still waiting" some sort of word from the other two games. He was not at liberty to name the other two games.

The Salisbury bowl game is a successor to the Pythian Bowl game which has been moved to Roanoke, Virginia, after a long stay in Salisbury. Undeclared West Chester State Teachers College of West Chester, Pennsylvania, has been named as one of the teams with the opponent expected to be either Lenoir-Rhyne, Catawba, or East Carolina. No formal announcement is expected until after November 27 when Lenoir-Rhyne and Catawba square off in their annual Thanksgiving Day game. The Pirates closed their season Saturday night with an outstanding 34-7 performance against an outclassed West Virginia Tech team. The Bucs started their scoring quickly, ran up a 27-0 lead at halftime and then coasted home for their sixth win of the year. Prior to the game, they had lost to Lenoir-Rhyne and Norfolk Navy and tied Catawba and Stetson.

Most of the active athletic attention at the college turned yesterday to the pre-season practices of Coach Howard Porter's basketball team which is in the midst of preparations for their December 6 opener in Greensboro against Guilford.

This caused an argument over whether a future president should risk his neck out here. Mills finally conceded: "Well, he should at least talk to the guys on the line instead of the guys in the rear with three hot meals a day."

Playing Possum Outwitted Bear

MISSOULA, MONT. (AP)—Max E. Harris played possum and escaped death in the powerful paws of a grizzly bear with a head "as big as a washtub."

Harris was attacked while hunting on a wilderness trail. The huge grizzly, often considered the most ferocious of bears, lunged at Harris as he could shoot. The bear clawed Harris' scalp and right hand, and chewed his shoulders. Harris went limp. The bear dropped him and ambled away. The wounded man managed to fire his rifle and attract companions. A helicopter later plucked Harris from the woods and flew him to a local hospital where he is on the mend.

Rotarians Hear Education Needs Of North Carolina

By WYATT BROWN
Rotary observance of National Education Week took place last night at the Greenville Club's weekly meeting when a portion of the Greenville High School Glee Club sang and Dr. M. W. Aldridge made a presentation of a legislative program and the need for such. The program was presented by Ercell Webb.

First, a group of young ladies of the Glee Club sang an anthem "O Divine Redeemer" and then "Daddy's Sweetheart." They were under the direction of Miss Ona Shindler. In presenting the glee club members and their director Rotarian Webb took occasion to remark on the many successful years of fine work done in music for the youth of Greenville by Miss Shindler.

Dr. Aldridge said he wanted to present the current legislative program being promoted by the United Forces for Education. This program, he said, fell into two parts: First, a basic legislative program and second additional legislative needs. He said the legislation was sought to meet the appalling situation which "we hope to do something about with the help of all those interested." The elementary school situation was pointed to as the main sore of the moment.

The basic legislative program proposed by the United Forces for Education he indicated fell into five main heads.

First, immediate reduction of the number per class from thirty-two to thirty per teacher, based on average daily attendance. This number to be reduced to twenty-five as soon as possible. It was at this point he spoke as though the elementary schools were the main ones in mind.

In support of the initial proposal Aldridge pointed out that North Carolina public schools have more students per class than any state except Mississippi. Classes of forty are not rare and in some schools more per class are found.

Such a situation keeps the pupils from getting enough time from the teacher; creates excessive numbers of non-promotion students, absences, and "drop outs" each year. Cited were 44,000 annual drop-outs and 77,000 non-promotions.

The second proposal is that minimum salaries range from $2,600 to $4,100 for teachers. In support of higher salaries he declared the increases would do away with teacher shortages, improve the quality of teachers.

The third proposal sufficient funds to provide enforcement personnel. This proposal is aimed at further reducing "drop outs" now running 19,000 out of 118,000.

Fourth, additional funds to carry out an improved program. The improvements would call for additional required services.

Fifth and final of the basic legislative program has to do with securing provision for capital outlay funds by bond issue to provide equipment on the basis of need and ability to provide. He cited the inadequacy of presently provided funds and the need for additional state funds. Aldridge stated that these are the needs if the state is to "stay up" with other states.

Next he briefly listed the second category of "additional legislative needs: (1) Extended terms of tenure for teachers; (2) sickness and retirement provisions for teachers; (3) provisions for more special vocational education; (4) adequate school busses where there are too few.

In conclusion Dr. Aldridge declared himself personally behind the listed proposals. Taking into account Greenville City Schools staff of a grade teachers Mr. Aldridge warned that Greenville might not be so fortunate in the future. He stated again that he thought the pay of teachers in North Carolina far too small.

At the conclusion of Dr. Aldridge's presentation several Rotarians made comment. First to speak was Dr. Howard McGinnis who told of good teachers who he knew who wanted to teach in North Carolina but who could not, for to do so would inflict too great a sacrifice in salary from what they are getting in other states.

J. E. Winslow pointed out that the recent senatorial primary had precipitated a situation that would require millions to "straighten out." Others appearing as proponents were Ercell Webb and Dr. Carl Adams. Webb said the schools merited the best since they handled "our very best crop — our children." Dr. Adams cited statistics to implement his statement that deferment of dealing with the situation was only waiting until the problem became bigger to deal with it in view of increasing student enrollments due to population increases.

Visiting Rotarians were Ralph Hardee of Ayden, Maynard Fletcher of Washington, and Bob Hardee and Robert Foster of Kinston. J. Knot Proctor, Club president, presided.

Jesses James Leary paid $10 for not having a state license tag on his car and failure to stop at a red traffic light.

The case in which Jesse Nobles, Sr. was charged with an affray, was dismissed.

The case against John B. Foster, Negro, charging assault with a deadly weapon, was not pressed.

Drunk: Johnny Meye paid $15; James Killbrew, Negro, $10; James Edwards and Jarvis Parker, Negroes, each 30 days in jail or pay $10; Dalton Jones, $15, and Charles Sawyer, 30 days in jail or pay $10.

Pharmacy Group Has Multiplied

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Pharmaceutical Association, 100 years ago with 24 members, has increased nearly 1,000 times.

Membership doubled between 1936 and 1945 and has tripled since then, according to Dr. Robert P. Fischell, executive secretary. The big reason for this growth, he said, was the need for modern pharmacists to maintain close professional relationships to keep pace with rapid development of new drugs and therapeutic agencies.

District Forensic League Congress Here On Nov. 28

The Appalachian District of the National Forensic League will convene its annual student congress in Greenville Friday, November 28, with the local NFL Chapter as host. This is the first occasion of the official district legislative session being assembled in Eastern Carolina. Bob Langston has invited the schools with NFL chapters and a few others to participate in the two-day two-house legislative session.

Asheville, Marion, High Point, Concord and Raleigh are the first schools to officially register for the November 28-29 session of Congress.

The first bills to be submitted were mailed in from Marion. Minnie Jane Bowman, president of the Marion chapter, has presented a bill that "prohibits the advertisement of distilled spirits for beverage purposes." Jacquelyn Hewitt submitted a bill "to promote the further development of public library service in rural areas."

Greenville has the largest membership and will seat thirteen students in the House of Representatives. The second largest delegation will represent Concord High School, for Concord will seat 2 Senators and 7 House members.

Gold and silver medals have been received from the national office in Ripon, Wisconsin, and will be presented to the outstanding students participating in the congress. Gold pins will be awarded all presiding chairmen. A national congressman will be nominated for the National NFL Student Congress which is scheduled for Denver, Colorado, in June 1953.

Mother Believes Son Still Lives

Van Fleet has a mother's faith that her missing son is alive in North Korea.

It's faith that overrides the evidence. She has studied the cold facts compiled for the young pilot's father, Gen. James A. Van Fleet, by the Air Force and Army since Jim, Junior, 26, messaged "out of gas" and disappeared last April 4 on a bombing mission over North Korea.

An exhaustive search failed to locate young Van Fleet or the B-26 light bomber he was flying. But seven months have not dimmed Mrs. Van Fleet's stubborn conviction.

"I know Jimmy is alive," she tells friends. "When I picked up his old hat at home I felt it was a part of him and I know he is alive." There was no sign this morning that her faith had wavered before her husband's soldierly acceptance of the fact that young Van Fleet probably will never return.

"She has in her way, deduced from all the facts that young Jim is alive somewhere in North Korea," a friend told United Press. "She doesn't say he is a prisoner. She just says he must be alive. It's just a matter of faith and mother instinct."

The general and Mrs. Van Fleet, who is in Korea on a "little visit" as the guest of President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee, spent last night in the Eighth Army headquarters compound in Seoul. It was the first time they had been together in 19 months. She arrived here Monday.

Music Groups To Be Presented In Concert At College Nov. 23

Walter Noona, music student at East Carolina College, is shown above in a practice session with the East Carolina Orchestra, a campus-community organization. As piano soloist in the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 2 in C Minor, the young student from Norfolk will be a featured performer at a joint recital Sunday, November 23, at 4:00 o'clock in the College Theatre on the campus.

The East Carolina Orchestra, a community organization, and the Varsity Men's Glee Club of East Carolina College will be presented in concert Sunday afternoon, November 23, at 4:00 o'clock in the College Theatre on the campus. Walter Noona, junior music major from Norfolk, Va., will be piano soloist with the orchestra as it presents Rachmaninoff's Second Piano Concerto. Dr. Kenneth N. Cuthbert, head of the college music department, is conductor of both groups appearing on the program. Jack Willford of Farmville will be accompanist for several selections on the program. The East Carolina Orchestra draws its members from faculty member and students of music at East Carolina and from musicians in Greenville and the surrounding area. Membership includes fifty men and women. The group is a member of the American Symphony Orchestra League and is now in its second year under Dr. Cuthbert's direction. The glee club is composed of fifty college students.

Noona, whose appearance with the Orchestra in the Rachmaninoff Concerto No. 2 in C Minor will be a major event of the concert, has attracted attention both locally and nationally as a pianist. In 1951-1952 he was awarded a Greenville Music Club scholarship and also was chosen as first place winner of the Nationwide Piano Contest of the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Orchestra selections for the afternoon will include numbers by Bach and von Weber. After three songs by the men's vocal group the program will close with "Onward Christian Soldiers" by the glee club with accompaniment by the orchestra.

Philippines Plan Help For Burma

MANILA (AP)—The Philippines plans to recruit 2,000 Filipino physicians and engineers to send to Burma in its economic and health development programs. Senator Thomas Cabili said he had discussed the plans with President Elpidio Quirino after returning from a trip to Burma. AIR EXPRESS GROWS CHICAGO (UP)—Air express shipments in and out of Chicago increased 127 per cent during the first week in October, compared with the same period in 1951.

Determined Enemy Air Raid Can Pierce Defence

By PHIL NEWSOM United Press Foreign News Editor A determined Russian air attack still could get through to U.S. targets despite the finest and most modern defenses.

The U. S. is taken as an example simply because in any new global war, we certainly would be a foremost objective.

The uncomfortable conclusion that even radar warning and our best interceptors would stave off only a small percentage of the attackers long had been a suspicion among military planners. They were given conclusive proof last month in Operation "Arden" against the British Isles.

So conclusive were the tests that top British air officers now admit that the "total interception" theory they have followed since the war almost certainly must fail.

It follows that if Britain's "tight little island" cannot be protected, the U.S. problem is multiplied a hundredfold.

One group of American Air Force officers has estimated that as many as 90 per cent of all attacking Soviet bombers would fight through to their target.

In the British tests, as might be expected, defending fighters scored a high percentage of "kills" against American piston-type B-29 and B-50 bombers, similar to the type that would be used against the U.S. in case of war.

But even throttled down jet bombers gave the defenders a bad time. British twin-jet Canberras were limited to altitudes of 35,000 feet, but even so, only American designed Sabrejets and fast-climbing British Venoms were able to intercept them with any margin of safety.

Sabre pilots admitted that the Canberras sometimes out-manuevered them at high altitudes.

Which is one of the reasons that plans both for our own and Western Europe's defenses may undergo some overhauling.

The Korean air war has shown that almost any Allied plane but the Sabre is a sitting duck for the fast and efficient Russian MIG-15. The Russians have an even better jet fighter in the MIG-19 which now is reported showing up in Romania and Hungary.

Altogether, it is believed the Russians have some 2,000 modern jets along "eastern borders in her satellite states. It has been estimated she has some 1,100 planes in the Balkans and about the same number divided between Poland and Czechoslovakia. These figures make no accounting of Russian planes in Russian-occupied East Germany.

It has been the Allied ambition to have 10,000 planes of all types in Western Europe by the end of 1954. Those figures now have been scaled downward.

Meanwhile, there has been criticism of the Allied aircraft building program. "Particularly under the French some 300 'Mystere' jet fighters. The British particularly have been critical, claiming they had better planes in the air while the Mystere still was on the drawing boards.

Latvian Refugees Find U. S. Land Of Opportunity

SLEDGE, Miss. (UP)—When Harvey Howze offered to find homes on his 1,500-acre plantation here for 25 families of Latvian refugees he little realized he was undertaking an impressive experiment in American opportunity.

As a matter of fact, Howze had occasion to regret his decision many times before a common understanding resulted in a profitable venture known as the Latvia Furniture Manufacturing Co. It became a firm which now sells school furniture to all but three of the 48 states and has an annual payroll of $200,000.

When the families, all of whom had fled their homes from both Germans and Russians, arrived they had little more than the clothes they wore. Few spoke more than broken English and all were unaccustomed to the climate and they did wonders with the tent houses to which they were accustomed in the Mississippi Delta, signed — putting in new floors, papering the ceilings and breaking ground for new gardens. Their ability to grow much on a small plot amazed all the planters but they couldn't get used to American cotton plantation methods.

Climate Too Hot "They are a cultured people unaccustomed to rigorous toil under a broiling sun," Howze said. "They were more accustomed to dairying and livestock than to cotton farming."

The Latvians became restless and Howze sensed it. He noted many of them showed exceptional skill in woodworking and mechanics so he set up a woodworking hobby shop on the plantation. It wasn't many days before Howze discovered he had some excellent craftsmen.

This odd job soon had developed into orders for store fixtures and even one request for a bank interior.

Orders Pour In Then Howze found out from the National School Service that 600,000 desks were needed for classrooms over the country.

He and the Latvians moved their hobby shop to a 40-acre site. Soon defense orders began to come in, too.

To day the plant employs 25 workers. The five original Latvian workers have key jobs. All of the 12 families now living in this area have new automobiles and they have built their own church, equipped with pews hewn in the local shop. Their fear long since has given way to hope for the future.

In Britain the process of removing carbon from an automobile is known as decoking.

FULL REGALIA—General Sir John Harding, Chief of Imperial General Staff, is shown in full dress at London War Office after attending state opening of Parliament.

Grifton Cemetery Beautified In Contest Work

As a part of Grifton citizens' participation in the Carolina Power and Light Company's "Finer Carolina Contest", beautification of the cemetery was accomplished and a front wall was added. (Reflector Photo by Herman Hickman)

(Continued from page four) port for the program. The liquor referendum is in a different category. Information sources that have proven reliable in the past tell your reporter now that there has been raised a war chest of some $20,000 to finance a lobby for a liquor vote, which will be managed by O. M. Mull of Shelby. That indicates an interesting legislative fight, former Speaker of the House of Representatives (1941), culminating a legislative career that began in 1907. Mull is an ardent dry-personal and political. He was State Democratic chairman in 1928, when Al Smith lost North Carolina to Herbert Hoover, for the only time since reconstruction days that this State gave its electoral vote to a Republican. It was charged then that Chairman Mull was not enthusiastic for the national ticket because of Al Smith's alleged "wetness." Four years later Mull was a valiant warrior in the rank for Franklin Roosevelt, admittedly "wetter" than Smith was ever charged to be. The point to be remembered is that Odus Mull is a good lawyer and an astute political strategist; and his management of the lobby for a vote on liquor presages the hardest fight on that subject since 1935.

ANCILLARY — Long time observers of legislative procedure agree that length of the 1953 session will depend largely upon outcome of floor fights for referendums on liquor and soldier bonus. In event an election on either or both of these issues is authorized before the general election of 1954, the General Assembly will have to make provision for revenue to take care of the situation if the people vote out legal liquor and vote in a soldier bonus. In opinion of many of these experienced observers the only alternative is a State ad valorem tax-a tax on land and personal property-which the State had not levied since 1933, except for the

W. H. Watson, Jr., Louis W. Gaylord, Jr., and Ben Rouse were named as members of a "follow-up team" in compiling reports of the other divisions of the Community Chest campaign. B. D. Johnston, chairman of the Branch Firms Division, Mrs. J. B. Cummings, chairman of the Women's Division conducting the residential area canvass, and Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, chairman of the East Carolina College division, are at work on their respective assignments.

Chairman Lee said a parade Wednesday afternoon through the business district, with the Greenville High School band, Epes High School band, and the East Carolina College band providing the music, will spotlight the Chest campaign. Members of the local teen-age club will also march.

Directors of the Community Chest, and troops from the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts will march in the parade.

Wolfpack Club To Hear Coach Case

Farmville—The Wolfpack Club of Pitt County will meet Wednesday night in Bonnie's Cafe at 7 p. m. Coach Everett Case, of N. C. State College, will be present to show movie highlights of 1952 basketball season. Following the movie, Case will talk on the outlook and prospects for Wolfpack cagers during the coming season.

Ben L. Lang, chairman of the program committee, extends a cordial invitation to State College Alumni and Wolfpack Club members to be present for the meeting.

Bundy Appointed To Demolay Post

W. J. Bundy of Greenville has been appointed deputy in North Carolina of the Grand Council of Demolay, a youth group sponsored by the Masonic Order.

Bundy, who is solicitor of the state's Fifth Judicial District has long been active in Masonic circles and has held many responsible offices in the order.

The local solicitor is a 33rd degree Mason, past Grand Master of North Carolina and former Potentate of Sudan Temple.

In explaining Demolay, Bundy said it is an organization for boys between the ages of 14 and 21, and is designed to train youth in clean living — for home and country.

"It is not a Masonic group and members do not have to be sons of Masons to join," he declared. "However, it must be sponsored by the Masonic Order, and any local lodge may organize a chapter of Demolay."

Police Called To Home On Report Of Suicide Try

Police were called to the home of Thomas A. Stocks, 1112 Fairfax Avenue, last night to investigate a report that he had attempted suicide with a combination shotgun and rifle.

The police report states that Stocks, who is listed in the city directory as a farmer, had phoned his estranged wife that he intended to commit suicide. A police detective who went to the home reported that Stocks had wounds under his arm and on his chest. He was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The report also stated that Stocks had damaged some of the kitchen furniture.

Police are continuing their investigation. Chief S. G. Gibbs stated.

Turned Self In Following Raid

A Greenville Negro was absent when officers raided his house over the weekend and confiscated his whiskey, but he turned himself in yesterday.

Pitt County ABC Officer J. M. Ward reported this morning that James Redmond, who lives on "Allen's Alley," gave himself up to officers yesterday and was recognized to appear in County Court Tuesday, November 25.

Redmond was charged with possession of non-tax-paid whiskey for the purpose of sale after raiding officers found seven pints of bonded whiskey and two pints of "white" whiskey in his house during a short search.

"Only his wife was at home at the time of the search," Ward stated.

Participating in the raid were Pitt ABC officers and deputies "Duke" Andrews and Jasper Lee Mills.

Funeral Wednesday For John H. Howell

John H. Howell, 75, died at Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday at 12:10 a. m. after a period of declining health and eight days of critical illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Greenville Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Rev. Leonard Topping, assisted by Rev. Carl Morris of Washington, will officiate. Interment will follow in Greenwood Cemetery.

He had made his home in Greenville for the past 36 years, and was a former resident of Martin County. He was married to Cleo Ellis of Edgecombe County in 1906.

Surviving in addition to his wife are three daughters, Mrs. W. C. Gursanus, Greenville, Ruby and Annie Howell of the home; two sons, Arthur (Red) Howell and R. E. (Yank) Howell, local tobaccoist and member of the Board of Aldermen, both of Greenville; seven grandchildren, several nieces and nephews.

Marines Active In Relief Work

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP)—The U. S. Marine Corps is not exactly what you would call a relief agency but elements of this branch of the service are doing quite a job of welfare for war-orphaned Korean children.

Piled up at the Marine Corps Air Station near Santa Ana today are 2,490 pounds of clothing, toys and canned goods which will go to Korean orphans when ship space is available.

Marines are not only directing the stateside collection of needed articles, but they now have their own orphanage in Korea.

Officers and enlisted men of the First Marine Air Wing contributed more than $3,500 for 15 acres of land, the site of the war memorial orphanage. There are now two buildings on the site, accommodating 40 Korean boys and girls.

Churches and relief societies in the United States, at the request of the marines, are aiding in collecting clothing, food and toys for shipment to the orphanage and other needy Koreans.

About 1,200 persons a year are drowned in the United States in accidents involving small boats.

Police Officer Lends A Hand In Finding Cash

Police Sgt. B. R. Buck, while off duty but in uniform yesterday morning at Five Points rendered an appreciated public service.

A young woman left a city passenger bus and appeared to be in distress. The police officer approached and asked what was wrong. "I've lost all of my money — about $90 and it's tied up in a white handkerchief," she stated. "I think I dropped it on the bus," she added. She was Mrs. Bety S. Cherry, 605 Wiley Street, Greenville.
