Eisenhower Slips Away For Visit

Got Away Virtually Unnoticed To Attend Reunion With West Point Classmates; Returns To Problem Of Trying Complete His Cabinet Before Korea Trip

NEW YORK (UP) — President-elect Eisenhower, after a brief reunion with his West Point classmates, returned today to the problem of trying to complete his cabinet before flying to Korea.

Accompanied by his wife, Eisenhower slipped virtually unnoticed into Washington Friday night for a reunion with his West Point Class of 1915. Just as unobtrusively, the Eisenhowers took an overnight train back to New York. They arrived here at 6:30 a.m. e.s.t. and went immediately to their Morningside Heights home for a leisurely week end.

Eisenhower spent a busy week during which he lined up six top officials for his new administration. Although his Korean trip was imminent, it was impossible for the president-elect to detach himself completely from the problems he will face on taking office Jan. 20.

When Eisenhower leaves for Korea, he will be accompanied by Charles E. Wilson, his defense secretary. The General Motors president announced in Detroit that he was leaving immediately for Washington and New York, presumably for briefings before the Korean trip.

With five of his nine cabinet positions filled, Eisenhower was believed desirous of completing top government assignments before leaving on his Far Eastern mission. The exact time of his departure is shrouded by the strictest security blackout.

Eisenhower filled two more cabinet positions Friday with the designation of George M. Humphrey, Cleveland industrialist, as his secretary of treasury, and Herbert Brownell Jr., his top campaign strategist, as attorney general.

A top sub-cabinet job was also filled with the naming of Harold E. Stassen, president of the University of Pennsylvania, as mutual security director in charge of the multi-billion dollar foreign aid program.

Eisenhower had only four cabinet positions to fill: secretaries of commerce, labor, agriculture, and the postmaster generalship.

Eisenhower on Thursday named John Foster Dulles as secretary of state, Wilson as defense secretary, and Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon as secretary of interior.

The virtually unprecedented speed with which Eisenhower was picking his cabinet so long before his inauguration pointed up his goal to make the shift in administrations as smooth as possible. All the cabinet officers were expected to be thoroughly briefed in their new jobs before actually assuming policy-making responsibilities in January.

The makeup of Eisenhower's cabinet thus far, however, raised one possible political problem for the president-elect—a disgruntled Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Taft, who will be the top power in the new Republican-controlled Senate, exacted a pledge from Eisenhower that there would be no discrimination in appointments as a result of his defeat for the GOP presidential nomination. Thus far, four of the designated cabinet officers were pre-convention supporters of Eisenhower. Only Humphrey supported Taft.

Humphrey is president of the M. A. Hanna Corp., a coal and iron ore firm which also is a holding company for a number of allied industries. He never has held a political post, although he served in 1948 and 1949 as chairman for the Industrial Advisory Committee of the Economic Cooperation Administration.

Red Offensive On Key Central Front Outposts Awaited

Enemy Troops Moving Into Position, Probing Attacks Staged; Air Force Reports Fourteen MIGs Downed In Week

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — South Korean and American officers said today they believe the Communists are preparing to mount a new offensive against Sniper Ridge and Triangle Hill on the central front.

Enemy groups up to 50 men jabbed at South Korean positions on Sniper Ridge until dawn today. Troops holding a slope position on Jane Russell Hill on Triangle beat back a heavier probe of near-company strength.

U. N. battlefield commanders said these probes indicated a new Red build-up was in the making and that the Reds would mount another all-out attempt to drive the Allies from the vital north-south ridges before the first snow falls.

The Communists mounted their attacks from caves on position Yoke on Sniper and Mount Papa, the atom-proof Red mountain fortress. All were repulsed.

Elsewhere on the battlefield, Allied troops holding the line west of the Pukhan river killed or wounded 56 Reds.

Fighting was light on the rest of the freezing battlefield. Brief actions were reported in the Panmunjom sector, northwest of Yonchon and northwest of Chorwon.

In the air, B-29 Superforts attacked a rail bridge at Sarwang mountain, south of Hulchon and a supply area at Yongpyong near the east coast port of Wonsan, bombing by radar during the night. The B-29's reported no fighter opposition.

The 5th Air Force reported allied Sabrejets shot down 14 MIG-15's in the week ending Nov. 22, against one Sabre loss. The F-86's also probably destroyed a MIG and damaged four, fighting air battles against the Russian-built jets on six of the seven days.

The week also saw the Sabre pilots account for the 500th MIG destroyed in the Korean war. At the end of the week, the Sabres had run their score up to 503.

The U. N. lost five planes during the week. MIGs shot down one Sabre, two more Sabres were lost to "other causes" and one Skyraider and one Corsair were destroyed by Communist ground fire.

The state is "going to be compelled" to continue its school building program.

He has not made up his mind on an appointee to succeed Superior Court Judge R. Hunt Parker, who will step down Tuesday to take the oath as an associate justice of the state Supreme Court.

He and the Advisory Budget Commission are in accord on the biennial budget which will be submitted to the 1953 legislature.

The governor also told newsmen Gov. Adlai Stevenson "is certainly a spokesman" for the Democratic party is not "the spokesman." Stevenson added, "is about as much the head of the Democratic party as some of those doing the talking."

Earlier this week Sen. Maybank (D-SC) was quoted as saying he does not regard Stevenson as the titular head of the party.

Scott also said he feels Southern Congressmen will continue to have strong influence despite the Republican victory.

Green, who guided the AFL through almost three decades of turbulent growth, lived a simple life. He often expressed his desire to return to his home in Ohio, where he served with distinction as a Democratic state senator early in life.

George Meany, secretary-treasurer of the AFL, became acting president of the organization upon Green's death. He must set a date for a meeting of the Executive Council to elect a president.

Besides Meany, other possible successors are George M. Harrison, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks, and William L. McFetridge, president of the Building Service Employees Union. Green is survived by his wife Jennie Mobley Green, whom he married in 1894, five daughters and one son.

Funeral Services For AFL Head To Be Held Monday

Rites Will Be Held In His Home Town; Long Served Union Affairs

COSHOCOTON, O. (UP) — Funeral services for William F. Green, president and leader of 8,000,000 American Federation of Labor members, will be held Monday in this small east-central Ohio town.

The elderly leader of the country's largest labor union died quietly though unexpectedly in his modest white frame house here Friday following a heart attack. His death came just 12 days after that of CIO President Philip Murray in San Francisco. Together they were leaders of 14,000,000 union members.

Friends of the immediate family said the body will lie in state in a funeral home here during the weekend and will be moved to the Grace Methodist Church Monday where services will be at 2 p.m. e.s.t. Friends may call at the church after noon Monday.

Green became ill in October and returned to his home here in the rolling hill country where he was born some 80 years ago in a small log cabin. Green's age is listed as 79 in "Who's Who," but the authoritative Ohio Legislative History gives his date of birth as March 3, 1870, which would have made him 81.

The son of immigrant parents, Green joined the United Mine Workers with his father when the union was first organized in 1890.

In his youth he had wanted to be a Baptist preacher but when he was unable to realize the ambition, he stayed in the coal industry and rose through the ranks to become the second president of the AFL — a post which he served for 28 years.

He was elected president of the organization on Dec. 19, 1924, six days after Samuel Gompers, first president and one of the organizers, died.

Gov. Scott 'For' Road Bond Issue

Also Notes Wilmington Citizens Must Help Port Grow

RALIGH (AP) — Gov. Scott told his news conference yesterday he would support a primary road bond program similar to the secondary road program.

In answers to other questions, Scott said:

Wilmington citizens "will have to get busy" and do more to support their port if they expect it to be a success.

Leaderless AFL, CIO Hear Talk Of 'Merger'

John L. Lewis May Sound Unity Call; However, Union Spokesmen Disclaim Any Chance Of Success In Immediate Future

WASHINGTON (UP) — AFL and CIO officials rallied today to keep their 13,000,000 members on the paths cut out by their revered leaders William F. Green and Philip Murray.

They denied any intention of altering the courses set by the men who stood at the helm through so many years — and died within 12 days of each other.

Green, for 28 years president of the AFL, the nation's biggest and oldest labor organization, died Friday of a heart attack in his home in Coshocton, O. On Nov. 9, CIO President Philip Murray had collapsed and died of the same ailment.

Leaderless together: for the first time, the AFL and CIO faced a future with a national administration they have not supported, and from which they expect possible trouble through "anti-labor" legislation.

Observers speculated on the chances of a new move toward labor unity, with new leaders of the two unions seeking to mend the breach. They foresaw a good chance that United Mine Workers chief John L. Lewis would come forth with a new call for one big labor union.

However, CIO Executive Vice President Allan Haywood vice claimed any chance of such labor unity "at this moment." Haywood, who stands a good chance of succeeding Murray as CIO boss, told a reporter his organization is sticking to a demand for a "bill of rights" that would guarantee autonomy to CIO unions if they join the AFL.

An AFL spokesman noted that Acting President George Meany, who is expected to be elected to succeed Green, was "adamant" that unity be "organic" — into the CIO unions come into the AFL under AFL leadership.

This appeared to knock out any immediate chance of unity despite Green's long-time dream that he could wipe out "dual unionism."

Despite his desires, Green was on the outs with Murray and Lewis in recent years even though all three rose together through the ranks of the United Mine Workers. Green broke with Lewis and Murray when they broke away from the parent organization and formed the CIO.

UNESCO Chief Quits In Protest Over Budget Cut

Organization 'Split Wide Open' Over Failure To Approve Big Outlay

PARIS (AP) — Jaime Torres-Bodet resigned today as director general of the U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) in protest against its failure to approve his budget.

Two leading members of the UNESCO executive board also quit, splitting the organization wide open.

Torres-Bodet, a Mexican, had asked UNESCO's seventh annual conference to approve $20,400,000 expenditures for 1953 and 1954. Delegates voted yesterday, however, to set an 18 million dollar ceiling for the 68-nation organization.

He told the conference today his decision to leave his job, which pays $18,000 yearly and $8,800 in allowances, was irrevocable. Unable to come to an immediate decision on what course to follow, the conference recessed until Tuesday.

Paulo de Berredo Carneiro, head of the Brazilian delegation and chairman of UNESCO's executive board, and Vlastislav Ribnikar of Yugoslavia also announced their resignations from the 18-member executive board.

The Brazilian said he quit in sympathy with Torres-Bodet.

The Yugoslav did not make his reasons so clear but did explain that Yugoslavia had abstained on the budget vote because it did not like the way an earlier dispute over admission of Spain to UNESCO was handled. He declared the organization "has given the world the impression it is afraid of free and open discussion."

Stassen May Ask More U.S. Aid To Asia's People

PHILADELPHIA (U. I.) — Harold E. Stassen is expected to call for more aid to the free nations of Asia in his new post as director of the Mutual Security Agency.

The University of Pennsylvania president, former governor of Minnesota and twice an unsuccessful aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, was known to feel that by strengthening armies and economies of free nations fringing on Communist-held countries — Asia and Europe — the West could sap Red strength by maintaining constant pressure.

Stassen said that he was "thrilled" by his appointment. He said he was glad his new task "involves the program of 'reconstruction' in which I have always believed so deeply."

He said he informed University of Pennsylvania officials that he intends to resign his present post effective Jan. 20.

Prisons Release More Than Enter

RALEIGH (UP) — More prisoners were discharged from North Carolina prisons and institutions than were admitted during October, the State Prisons Department said today.

The department said it had an average prison population of 9,210 during October. A total of 1,367 persons was admitted and 1,398 discharged. There were 73 escapes during the month and two prisoners died in jail.

No Official Hint Yet Made By Iron Curtain Countries Over Compromise Korean Truce Proposals; Polish Spokesman Cancels Scheduled UN Address

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP) — First formal reaction from the Iron Curtain governments to India's compromise Korean peace formula may come today when Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzyszewski addresses the United Nations Political Committee.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Soviet-bossed Poland, which had been expected to give the Red reaction to India's compromise Korean peace plan, suddenly decided this morning not to speak in the U.N.'s 60-nation political committee.

There has been no official hint whether Russia and her satellites would accept the Indian formula which calls for repatriation of Korean war prisoners through a four-member commission, with the fate of those who refuse to go home to be decided by a high-level political conference provided for in the tentative Panmunjom agreement.

Skrzeszewski was to be the fifth speaker at the short Saturday session of the 60-nation Political Committee. Officials said it was possible, however, that he might postpone his speech, especially if the delegates of Bolivia, Iraq, the Ukraine and Syria — which preceded him on the list — take too much time.

Soviet block delegates previously have confined their speeches to knocking down the American peace resolution, which calls simply for an immediate cease-fire with provision for voluntary repatriation of prisoners. They have observed merely, as Czechoslovakia did Friday, that they were studying the Indian proposal.

It was considered possible that Russia and her partners might accept the Indian proposal as it stood.

But it was a better bet the West would not accept it without changes. Britain Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden already has suggested two changes to make it acceptable to the West. One would have a fifth member named to the repatriation commission, which could result in a 3-2 Western edge in any voting the group must do. The other would take the ultimate fate of recalcitrants away from the projected political commission and place it in the hands of the Soviet-boycotted U.N. Reconstruction Agency (UNKRA) or a specially-appointed resettlement commission.

These changes were expected to bring American support for the Indian plan, but observers feared they would kill its chances of Communist acceptance.

Syngman Rhee Is Depending On Ike To Bring Peace

AN EAST COAST BASE, Korea (AP) — South Korean President Syngman Rhee said today he expects Dwight Eisenhower "to bring peace and unity to Korea."

"Eisenhower was a professional soldier so he understands all about war," Rhee told thousands of South Korean soldiers during ceremonies formally activating two new Republic of Korea divisions. "He also was a diplomat and therefore understands the problem of diplomacy and statesmanship."

"I expect General Eisenhower to bring peace to Korea. We are depending on President-elect Eisenhower."

Stassen Finds Himself Facing Major Foreign Aid Problems

WASHINGTON (UP) — Harold E. Stassen faces five major problems as America's new foreign aid director, mutual security experts said today.

One top official of the Mutual Security Administration said Stassen will "find himself squarely in the middle of some real domestic and foreign fights in all these and even other problems."

"It's going to be a tough, thankless job all the way around," he said.

Foreign aid experts outlined the most vital problems facing the 45-year old Stassen, whom President-elect Eisenhower named Friday to succeed Averell Harriman:

1. All signs point toward a hostile congressional attitude toward any heavy outlays next year for foreign aid. The outgoing administration is drafting a $7,500,000,000 aid request that is sure to be attacked as far too high.

2. U.S. Allies are suffering new economic crises brought on by the free world's expanded rearmament effort. If aid is cut substantially, aid-receiving countries are sure to cut back their already uncertain defense goals.

3. Any Republican emphasis on "trade not aid" as a substitute for heavy foreign aid spending may collide with demands for higher protective tariffs that would actually cut foreign trade with the United States.

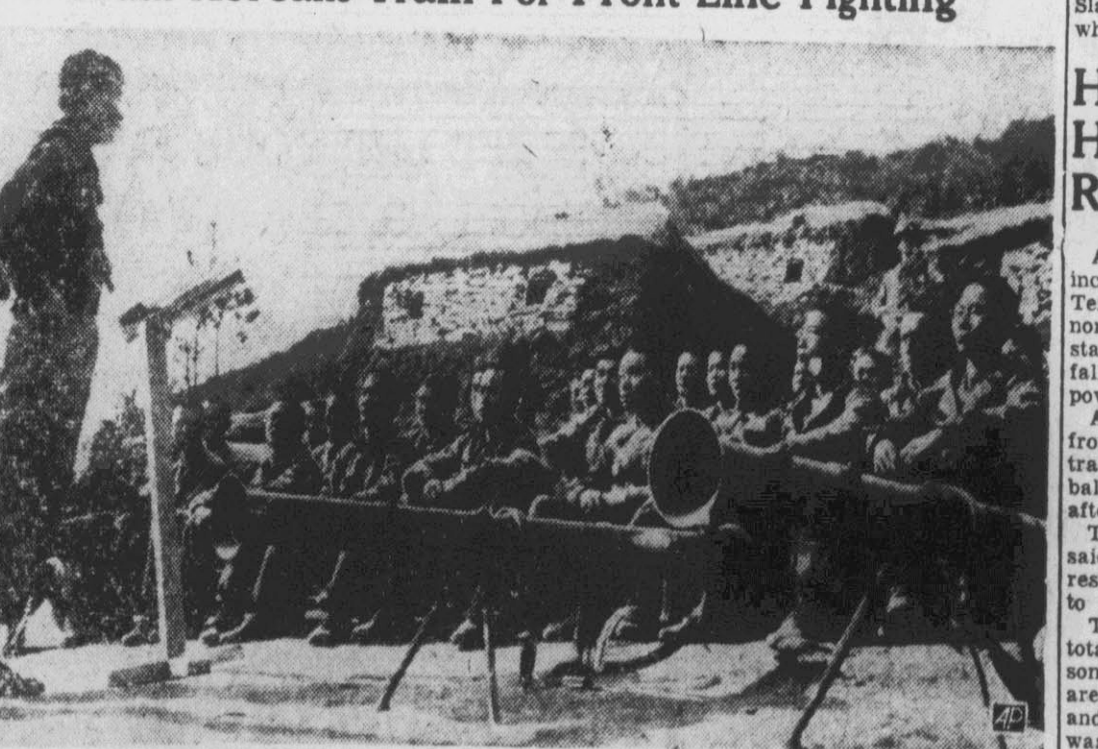

4. In his new job, Stassen will be administrator of the Battle Act which restricts the flow of strategic products and materials from aid-receiving nations to the Communist bloc. Many nations had signed contracts with Red nations before the act became law and deliveries are ready to go. Unless an exemption is made, the law requires that all American aid be cut off if the goods are delivered.

5. The bulky Mutual Security Administration is slated for reorganization to put defense, economic, Point Four and other aid projects under tighter administrative control. The history of such schemes is that they delay programs and frequently end up with yet another agency on top of the old ones.

Stassen, one-time governor of Minnesota and now president of the University of Pennsylvania, got a swift invitation from Harriman to drop by soon and get acquainted with some of his new duties and problems. Stassen agreed, but no date was set. Harriman promised his "full and complete cooperation."

Program On Visual Aids Given At PTA

The West Greenville PTA held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. W. Joyner, president, presiding.

America the Beautiful was sung as the opening hymn and Caroline Jessup, a student in the seventh grade, conducted the devotional.

Mrs. Joyner announced that the PTA has now enrolled three hundred members.

A report on the Halloween Festival showed that it was an outstanding success, both financially and as wholesome entertainment for the whole family.

Many parents visited the school during American Education Week and Mrs. Joyner urged all members to visit the classrooms of their children more often so as to become familiar with the kind of instruction being given.

The Association voted to contribute twenty-five dollars to the National P. T. A. Home in Chicago.

Mrs. Gardner's third grade won the prize for securing most members during the membership drive.

Mrs. Joyce Zeh presented a program on "The Use of Visual Aids in Teaching." All visual aids equipment was displayed and explained. Much interest was manifested in these teaching aids and an informal discussion period followed.

The next meeting of the P.T.A. will be held on the night of December 17, at which time the regular Christmas program will be presented.

Mrs. Helen Wolff's first grade won the attendance award.

Mrs. Bunting Hostess To Bethel Book Club

BETHEL—On Tuesday, November 11, Mrs. J. B. Bunting was hostess to the Round Table Book Club, with Mrs. Clara Robinson presiding.

After the usual business was transacted, Mrs. J. B. Bunting, program chairman, presented Mrs. David Spiers, guest speaker for the afternoon, who gave the life story of John Keats, a great English poet of the early 19th Century. She concluded her program by reading two of Keats' best known poems, "A Song About Myself" and "The Eve of St. Agnes."

At the conclusion of the program, the hostess, assisted by Miss Camille Staton, Mrs. J. I. Taylor, Mrs. Don Carson, Sr., and Mrs. T. R. Andrews, Jr., served delicious refreshments.

Fifteen club members and the following guests enjoyed Mrs. Bunting's hospitality: Mrs. Zeb Brinson and Mrs. Milton Moye of Tarboro; Mrs. Paul Davenport of Paeolus; Mrs. Blount of Greenville and Mrs. Don Carson, Mrs. H. V. Staton, Mrs. Wadsworth Ward, Mrs. David Spiers, Mrs. J. I. Taylor and Mrs. T. R. Andrews, Jr.

Mrs. W. L. Hall Continues Club Study On N.C.

The Sans Souci Book Club had one of the most enjoyable meetings of the club year on Tuesday, November 18, at the home of Mrs. W. L. Wooten on Maple Street.

The always hospitable home was made still more attractive by arrangements of fall flowers. Mrs. Preston Tyson of Wilson and Mrs. Felix Harvey III of Kinston were welcomed as guests.

In a short business session the club voted, as is its custom, to buy a subscription bond.

After the usual exchange of books Mrs. Ragdale, program chairman, presented Mrs. W. L. Hall as leader for the afternoon. As a third program in the year's study of the Old and New North State Mrs. Hall gave a most interesting and informative talk on the Indians of North Carolina. Beginning with the Coastal Plain area, she followed the various tribes across the state, giving some of the characteristics of each tribe, and closed with a resume of "Unto These Hills," the thrilling story of the Cherokee.

Mrs. Hall again proved her ability to take an ordinary and familiar subject and make it alive with interest for her hearers.

Following this delightful program Mrs. Wooten, with the assistance of her daughter, Miss Lillian Wooten, and Mrs. J. H. Waldrop, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

Gold Star Mothers Honored; Legion Auxiliary Buys Bond

The American Legion Auxiliary met on Thursday night in a meeting to honor the Gold Star mothers of Greenville and Pitt County.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Spillman, the first Gold Star mother of Greenville and also a member of the Auxiliary. As the members arrived, they were presented to the mothers, who were given corsages as guests of honor.

Twelve of the Gold Star mothers were present. They were Mrs. Spillman, Mrs. Walter Cherry, Mrs. G. A. Clark, Mrs. Roy Cox, Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. H. R. Rogers, Mrs. J. L. Rollins, Mrs. M. C. Sermons, Mrs. Abe Gray, Mrs. W. L. Davenport, Mrs. Margaret Tetterton, and Mrs. Ackie Davenport.

Mrs. H. R. Rogers, president, presided over the meeting, which was opened with the ritualistic ceremony. Reports from all the officers were heard. Mrs. Harvey Dall, hospital-ity chairman, read notes of thanks from members who had been remembered during the month with gifts and cards. She also read a list of those who had been so remembered. Mrs. Woodrow Worthington reported that money had been sent to veterans for cigarettes for Thanksgiving and that money had also been sent to Oteen for the veterans' gift shop there. A collection of gifts was brought to the meeting for the gift shop at Fayetteville.

The president announced that at the December meeting, the State Rehabilitation chairman, who lives in Wilson, will be a guest speaker. At the same meeting a musical program will be presented to be arranged by Mrs. Knott Proctor.

A motion was made and passed that the Auxiliary would help a needy family during the Christmas holidays. Members also voted to purchase a $25 tuberculosis bond, and an anonymous donor pledged to match this amount with another bond of same amount.

Mrs. W. C. Harris gave the highlights of the area meeting which was held this week in Wilson. The president urged the Auxiliary to send in more news to the "Alasab," the state news publication of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Frank Taylor introduced Mrs. Tom Andrews of Bethel, who sang two musical selections accompanied by Mrs. W. R. Humelect, also of Bethel. The numbers rendered were "Mother Machree" and "Give Thanks and Sing."

Dr. W. E. Marshall of the social science department of East Carolina College, was presented as the speaker for the evening. Dr. Marshall, a local authority on the United Nations, discussed the organization with reference to its aims, accomplishments and purposes. He enumerated a number of situations which have helped to prevent war or serious international complications. Dr. Marshall also commented on the health, social and economic problems which have been successfully handled by the U. N. He presented the United Nations as the best organization for the preservation of peace and listed as its main overall objectives the furtherance of the brotherhood of man.

During the social hour which followed, the hostesses served an ice course with nuts and individual cakes. The hostess committee was composed of Mrs. Spillman, Mrs. Agnes Barnes, Mrs. F. A. Bendall, Mrs. J. K. Hester, Mrs. Novella Williams, Miss Augusta Williams, Miss Grace Smith and Mrs. E. A. Worthington.

Many of the early buildings have been restored or reproduced, she said, and they and their furnishings mirror three centuries of architecture and living. She recalled the romance of Priscilla Mullins and John Alden and told of a visit which she had made to the Alden home.

Mrs. Batchelor said that most of the information concerning their clothes came from the portraits of Governor Edward Winslow and his children, which were painted while they were on a visit to England in 1651. She remarked that contrary to the popular belief, the Pilgrims did not insist on a uniform manner of dress.

She concluded her program by reading the poem, "Thanksgiving Day," by J. J. Montague.

The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell and Mrs. James Moye, served a delicious salad plate with dessert, coffee and salted nuts. Guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Leon Russell, Mrs. J. L. Russell, Mrs. Carl Richardson, Mrs. James Moye, Mrs. Clara Moye Shackell and Miss Jessie Moye.

Shriners To Hold Ladies Night Party

Ladies Night for the Pitt County Shrine Club will be observed on the first Thursday night in December. The date is December 4.

The affair will be a party to be held at the Greenville Country Club beginning at 8:30 p. m. Committees have been appointed to formulate plans for the affair, which promises to be a big and better than ever.

Jimmie Brewer, chairman of the sub-committee, already has prepared and has for sale tickets to the affair. These may be secured from Tige Gardner, Jimmy Brewer or J. W. H. Roberts.

Negotiations are moving forward for the securing of a name band to provide music for dancing. A refreshment committee has been named to provide "eats" for the evening. Favors will be given to all the ladies. All Shriners of the county are urged to make plans to attend.

Dr. A. D. Frank Discusses Political Situation At Club

The Chatham Book Club met on Tuesday afternoon, November 18, at the home of Mrs. Earl Forbes on Library Street.

After a business session over which Mrs. Luther Bowling, president, presided, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Carl Adams, program chairman, who presented Dr. A. D. Frank as speaker for the afternoon.

Dr. Frank, a member of the social studies department of East Carolina College, talked about President-elect Eisenhower, giving his opinions and unbiased views of the political picture as it is now shaping up. He said with reference to Eisenhower the man: "We have never had a president as well known throughout the world as Eisenhower."

Quoting from a conversation which he had had with Dean Harry Gorman of Columbia University, Dr. Frank said, "The dean says that Eisenhower is a very patient man and he will not make snap judgments but will weigh the facts well and once he has made up his mind, he will not change, therefore, he has the ability to select a good group of men to work with him." His talk was informative, timely and of interest to the club members.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Luther Bowling and Mrs. C. A. Bowen, served a delicious dessert course with coffee during the social hour which followed the program.

WCSA Prayer Service Planned For Monday

A Day Apart, for Meditation and Prayer, will be observed on Monday, November 24, from 11:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m., at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church.

The Morning Prayer and Meditation will begin promptly at 11:00 o'clock. Lunch will be served at 12:00 noon and there will be a short period of fellowship. Immediately following, the group will again meet for meditation and prayer for one hour.

This Day Apart will be conducted by the Spiritual Life Committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service. All who are interested are invited to attend and participate.

The lunch will be simple. Each one who attends is requested to bring sandwiches. Coffee and tea will be served by members of the Committee in charge of the service.

Birthday Party Given For Peggy Womack

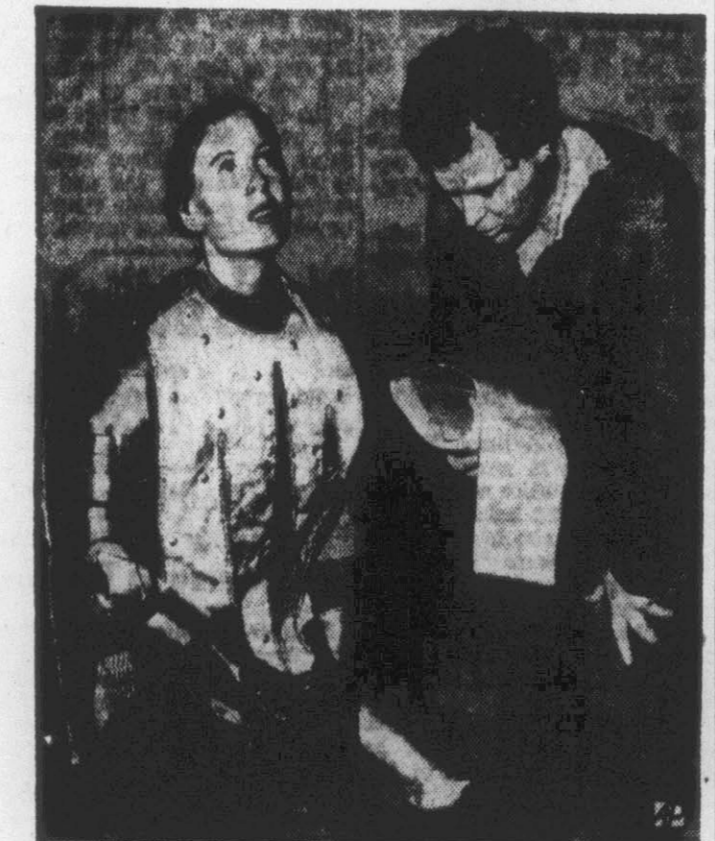

Bethel—Little Miss Peggy Womack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Womack, celebrated her fourth birthday at her home on Friday afternoon from 3 to 4:30 p. m.

After the guests arrived, the honoree opened her many nice and useful gifts. The boys and girls were then invited into the hall where they sang to Peggy, after which she blew out the candles on the cake.

Refreshments, which consisted of ice cream, cake, nuts, suckers, and favors were served to the following children: Peggy Womack, Carrie Lin Gurganus, Patsy Joe Gurganus, Bob Whitehurst, Nancy Grant, Eleanor Weeks, Bobbie Keeks, Henry Weeks, Mary Agnes Hammond, Edward Hammond, Gayle Davis, Frances Rowlette, Tenna Thigpen.

Sandra Nicholson, Donnie Carson, Trudy Whitehurst, Felix Whitehurst, Cynthia Whitehurst, Sally Ann Whitehurst, Ferrell Blount, Sue Ellen Cannon, Billy Wayne Rogers, Sue Carson, Owen Thomas, Charles Whitehurst, Hilton Carson of Bethel, Paul Dudley and Reggie Etheridge of Dudleyville.

Dr. George Martin Talks To Cosmos Club

Mrs. George Martin was hostess to the Cosmos Book Club on Tuesday, November 18. Her home was lovely with fall flowers.

As soon as the members and guests arrived, a delicious dessert with coffee was served.

The president, Mrs. Charles Howard, called the meeting to order, and welcomed the guests, Mrs. William Hudson and Mrs. Sherrill Prevatt. It was voted to buy a five dollar TB bond. The club members decided to help a needy family again this Christmas, as they have done in the past.

Mrs. Martin, who was responsible for the program, introduced her husband, Dr. George Martin, a member of the faculty of East Carolina College. He gave a most interesting program on "The Not So Good Earth." He began his talk by saying that about 75 percent of the land surface of the earth will never be good agricultural land. Much of this large fraction is classed as wasteland and none of the region included will support great numbers of people. He showed slides illustrating the cold lands, the mountainous lands, the rough and rugged lands, and the dry land.

At the conclusion of Dr. Martin's talk, the books were distributed and the meeting adjourned.

Successful Revival Closes At Ballards

Using as a theme during the week "All power comes from God," the Rev. Alfred K. Dudley closed a successful revival at Ballard's Presbyterian Church on last Sunday evening.

Some of the subjects used were the power of the sovereignty of God, power of the Holy Spirit in the world today, and power through prayer. Each of these subjects was related to the living of a Christian life.

There were 12 additions to the church, eight on profession of faith and four by transfer of letter. Visitors were present from Greenville, Farmville, Durham, Kentucky, Tarboro, and Lang's Crossroads for many of the services.

Cake Frosting Is His Medium Of Art

'If It Exists, It Can Be Put On A Cake' -- Says Master Of The Art

By JESS POINDEXTER
Reflector City Editor

With a final flourish he attached the last delicate petal to a fragile rose, looked up from his work, and said, "If it exists it can be duplicated on a cake."

And to Frank Diener, Jr., of Greenville, that was a sincere and amazingly accurate statement, because he is a professional cake decorator — catering to perhaps the most unique and exclusive vocation to be found in Pitt County.

The young cake decorating expert is not new to the baking trade, having worked sporadically in his father's business since boyhood. And the work comes naturally to him because Frank's father, a master baker at 19 in his own right, operates a Greenville bakery.

Always Interested

"I have always been intensely interested in decorating cakes," Frank admits. He recalls while other boys his age were dipping stealthily into the cookie jar and getting their knuckles rapped for it, he was delving into more fertile fields — but with the same result.

Even his mother describes how she reprimanded him when, as a boy of 12, Frank would "snitch" quantities of expensive cake icing from the bakery and practice artistic scrollwork and designs on cheeseboxes and tin cans.

But strangely enough, although he has aspired to that particular accomplishment for years, it was only recently — January, 1952 in fact — that he followed his "calling" through to culmination. That month Frank and his wife went to Chicago for instruction under an authority.

Attended State

"Somehow, I just never found time before," says the 24-year-old decorator. He was graduated from Greenville High School, served two years in the Navy and entered N.C. State College in 1948 with tentative expectations of becoming an industrial engineer.

"During the next two years I attended State in regular sessions and worked in the bakery summers," Frank reflects. "But after mathematics, machine shop and mechanical drawing I decided I wasn't cut out for engineering, so I left school and began work here fulltime."

There has been a decided transition. Hands that once manipulated precision grinder and caliper in a college laboratory today deftly shape a tistic flower for wedding cakes, or write "Happy Birthday Lucille" in flowing pink icing across the show-white top of a remembrance token.

Largest Cake

Young Diener discloses with obvious pride that the largest and most elaborate wedding cake he has ever decorated was the one prepared for his brother Tommy's wedding, Tommy, now in the Navy, was married in September.

The cake was a five-tier affair weighing more than 100 pounds, and was transported in sections all the way from Greenville to Memphis, Tenn., where the wedding was held. It was luxuriously decorated with crystal hearts, cupid and bells, plus multi-colored flowers, lattice-work and "cutouts."

"Although Tommy's was the most difficult on which I ever worked," Frank declares, "I have decorated several cakes that weighed 100 pounds or more." However, he adds, most of them were for church functions.

Professional Touch

In reply to questions relative to why he finally decided to go away for a course in cake decorating, Frank states he had been working on cakes for years, but realized they were not on a level with and lacked the luster of the professional touch — a touch he has since acquired.

"Most experts in that line come from foreign countries, where the art originated," young Diener explains, and he goes on to describe "colorful and interesting" John J. Zenker, a Bavarian immigrant who instructed the class in cake decorating.

Zenker was pastry chef at the LaSalle, Congress and Stevens hotels in Chicago for 15 years. He is the author of several books on cake decorating and created the "sugar hat" sensation, which resulted in a feature article by Life magazine.

Of all sales made at the bakery, birthday cakes are in the greatest demand, and most cakes of any type are ordered on weekends. Frank contends he can decorate a birthday cake in 15 minutes to one hour — depending on the size — but some of the larger wedding cakes take from four to six hours to complete.

Practice Mandatory

"But in his class Zenker taught only basic fundamentals of the art," Frank reports. "To be learned well — and to become adept at it — cake decorating must be diligently practiced."

According to the local student of the art, floral designs so widely used on cakes during the past few years are a recent innovation in the field. Decorations once were confined almost exclusively to intricate scrollwork and elaborate borders.

Tools Of Trade

It has been said the tools of a man's trade are the test of his craftsmanship.

And it that ancient adage holds true Frank Diener ranks with the best of them, because the tools of his artistic trade number in the hundreds — and he makes many of them himself.

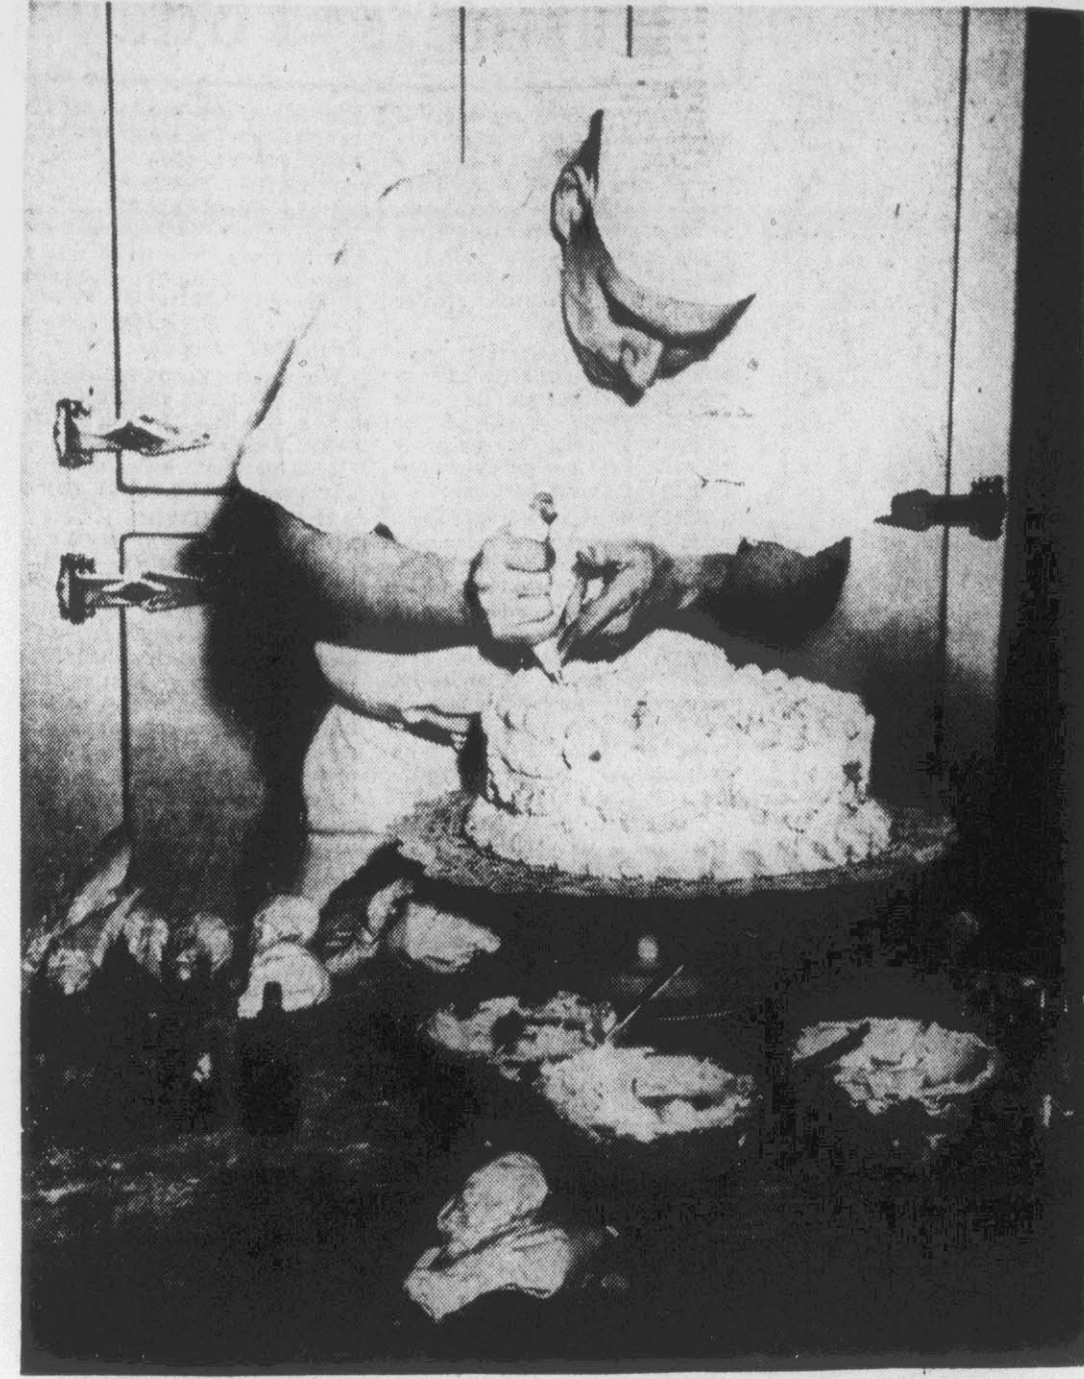

Mixes Icing

Frank mixes his own decorating icing and colors it to coincide with the theme of the celebration or desired occasion. He sometimes uses as many as five different colors or types of icing on one cake.

Even the weather is an important factor with which to cope in decorating. Hot, cold, moist, dry — each particular weather condition demands and warrants its own special formula. Icing has to be mixed to a consistency befitting prevailing temperature and humidity.

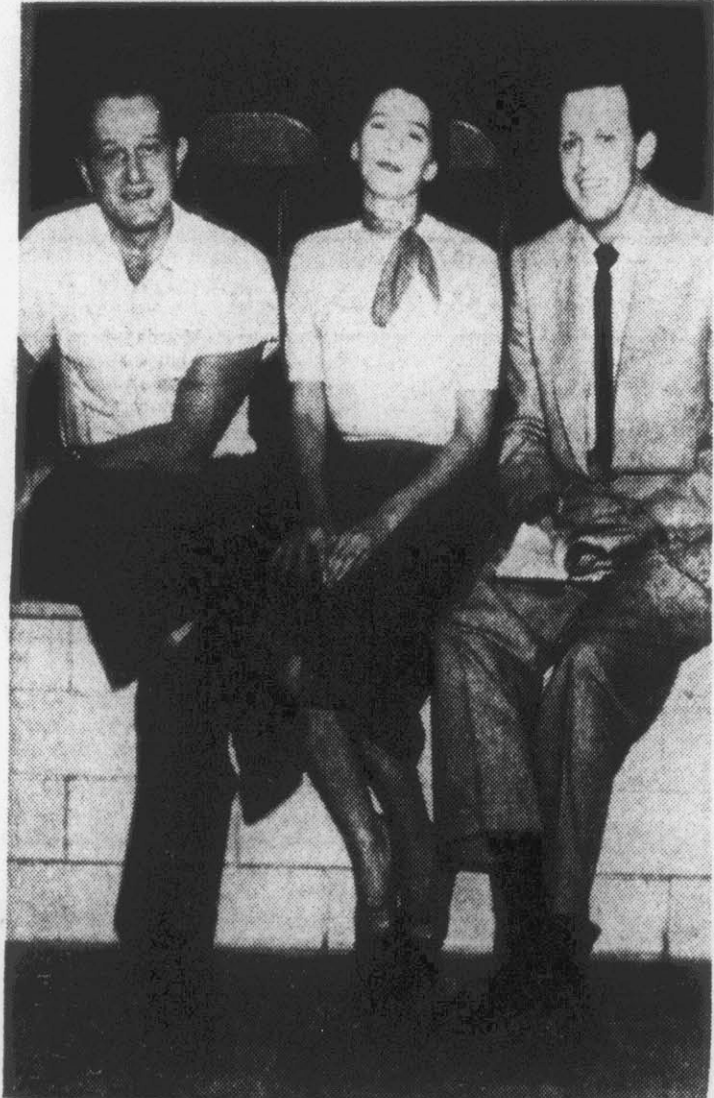

The devices used to create flowery designs are called "tubes," and a different type exists for each floral variety — whether it be roses, daisies, or what have you. More than 200 individual tubes may be used in decorating, and sometimes a dozen kinds are needed to complete a dozen kinds are needed to complete a boy's birthday cake.

It's laborious and demanding work, but I like it," Frank asserts convincingly, and, with the conversation ended, he turns once again to creating a magnificent cowboy panorama on some little boy's birthday cake.

"TOOLS OF THE TRADE." The young cake decorator is shown at work on one of his many weekly orders. He is surrounded by the tools of his trade, which includes tubes, different colors of cake icing and floral equipment. Frank sometimes spends as much as six hours at work on a single wedding cake, but he can decorate an ordinary birthday cake in less than an hour. (Reflector Photo by Jess Poindexter.)

Greenville's Little Theater Guild Has Another Production Scheduled For December 8 And 9

Like a small player, who struts and frets his hour upon the stage and then is seen no more, the Greenville Little Theatre Guild has been spoken and re-spoken through the centuries — by many players on many stages in many countries — since it first resounded in the vaulted, octagonal confines of the old Globe Theater in London.

That specific speech and countless others written by him have combined to make William Shakespeare immortal in the annals of English literature. His work has served as a stimulus for development of the play as the foremost theatrical diversion among the peoples of the world.

And in Greenville exists one of the so very many organizations developed throughout the United States to perpetuate that fine art of "playmaking," which stemmed from Shakespeare's unparalleled work with words begun in the closing years of the 16th century.

Organization Of Guild

The Greenville Little Theatre Guild was organized in the city around 1936 and gave its first production during the first week of the opening of the Pitt Theatre.

The guild became a part of the Greenville Recreation Department in October, 1951, since the recreation department wanted to expand its program in dramatics and the guild felt it needed the affiliation with the department. Both groups felt that the interest in dramatics would be expanded if they joined together.

One of the first steps made after the guild became a part of the recreation department was the organization of a Children's Little Theatre. The little guild functioned to some extent last year but this year it will go under the name of the Youth Little Theatre because it hopes to bring more teenagers into the group.

as president of the organization for two years. The first production of the guild after its re-organization was "Mama's Little Angel Child."

Mrs. Elizabeth Savage followed Miss Askew as president and this year its officers are Gay Gnagay, president; Betty Gordon, secretary; Claude Taylor, treasurer; and Helen C. Jackson, vice-president.

During the past three years the Little Theatre has given such plays as "Personal Appearance" by Lawrence Riley; "Fish" by Mary Roberts Rhinehart; "Hands Across the Sea" by Noel Coward; and "The Legend of Raikes Cross" by Stuart Ready.

Guild Activities

Members of the guild have appeared on many radio programs which included excerpts of plays. In addition to giving programs for clubs, the guild has participated in the Eastern Regional Drama Festival at East Carolina College for the past two years and is one of the sponsors of the festival.

The guild has also given plays for the past two years for the Fine Arts Festival and is a member of the Carolina Dramatics Association.

Affiliation Made

The guild became a part of the Greenville Recreation Department in October, 1951, since the recreation department wanted to expand its program in dramatics and the guild felt it needed the affiliation with the department. Both groups felt that the interest in dramatics would be expanded if they joined together.

One of the first steps made after the guild became a part of the recreation department was the organization of a Children's Little Theatre. The little guild functioned to some extent last year but this year it will go under the name of the Youth Little Theatre because it hopes to bring more teenagers into the group.

Present Production

At present, the guild members meet several times during the week rehearsing a three-act comedy, "Ring Around Elizabeth", which will be presented December 8 and 9 at the West Greenville School auditorium.

The play centers around Elizabeth, the hard-taxed center of an irritating household. Her husband is a dullard, one of her daughters hysterically in love with a cynical playboy, and the other daughter is sturdily precocious.

There is a selfish old mother who hoards antiques and a fussy father-in-law who chases fires, a nosy house guest, and a bossy cook. And most of these people are worse than usual because they are panting after a legacy that Elizabeth has received.

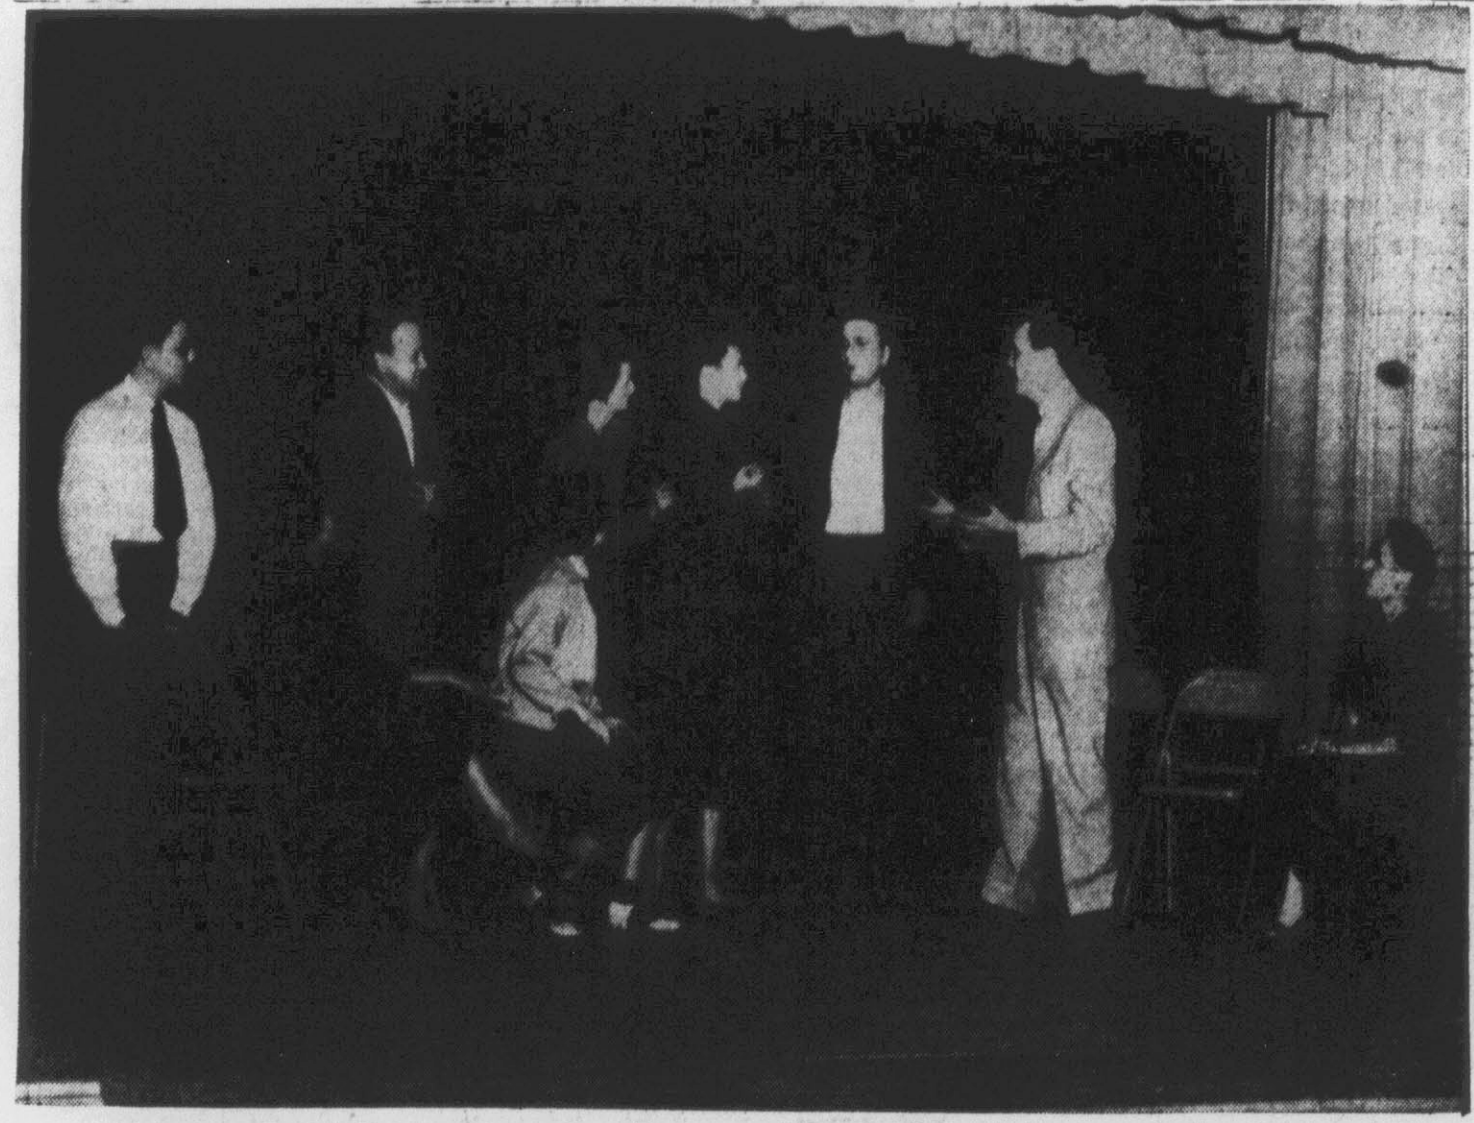

Having reached the breaking point, Elizabeth contracts a nice case of amnesia in which 20 years are blotted out and she is a girl again. This enables her not only to indulge in caprices like taking up with her daughter's young man, but also to tell all the members of the family what she thinks of them.

All these things show results that promises well for the future of Elizabeth and her family.

"Ring Around Elizabeth" is being rehearsed under the direction of Dan Hower, a newcomer to Greenville and the guild. Most of the cast is made up of old members and some who were charter members of the Greenville Little Theatre.

DRIVERS PAY UP

DETROIT (UP)—The average fine for traffic violations of all types in Detroit is $5.71, traffic court officials report, and only one case in 100 goes to court.

Strength for the Day

LATE AFTERNOON REFLECTIONS
May I have just a word with you, young man? You are standing at the beginning of life; in my mid-sixties I am conscious of the lengthening afternoon shadows.

If you will allow me to do so, I should like to tell you a few things I would surely do if I were to live my life over again. First, I would get all the education and higher learning I could. I spent many years at this, but not enough. I would put health before everything else but honor. I would never drink (I never did, and have found the regime satisfactory and pleasant). I would try to think as little about myself as possible and as much about others. I would give my best to the job nearest at hand trusting that the future would open out satisfactorily. I would dedicate my life to some great cause and press continuously for its achievement.

But above all I would accept the Bible as God's directive and Jesus Christ as God's answer to all of life's problems, and I would live my life in the firmness of that conviction. You may be interested to know that I came to this latter conclusion after many years of searching, but I have long since decided that it was the most important discovery I ever made.

The Passenger Also Has A Responsibility

What could have been one of the most serious school bus accidents in North Carolina actually was only a Pitt County incident yesterday.

Nevertheless, it is an incident which should be remembered long and well in Pitt County, not only by those who drive school buses; but by the children who ride the buses, their parents and motorists in general.

The 17-year-old driver of the bus told officers who investigated the accident she ran into a bridge because her attention was distracted by a disturbance caused by the children on the bus. According to the driver, the monitors, whose job it is to see that school children behave while riding the bus, were having trouble keeping the children quiet. As the commotion in the school bus increased, the driver's attention was distracted, and the accident which could easily have taken the lives of a number of children happened.

Children, first-grade age or high school age, like to have a good time when they get together. As a general rule the noise they make is just part of having a good time. When it comes to school buses, however, there is a certain amount of responsibility for safety which rests with the individual child as well as with the driver of the bus.

In Pitt County schools from time to time the children who ride buses are cautioned about their behavior while in transit to and from school. For the safety of the children, individually and collectively, parents likewise should impress upon their youngsters the importance of proper behavior on school buses.

While it is one of the functions of the school system to stress safety, often a word of caution from a parent will carry more weight with a child than a similar word from a teacher.

Eisenhower's Selections Appear Good Ones

If the first five men whom Eisenhower has appointed to his cabinet are any indication of the quality of advisors the President-elect will have in key governmental positions, the federal government will not lack capable leaders under Republican stewardship.

All of the five cabinet members already designated by Eisenhower are, in light of their past records, sound businessmen and good administrators.

John Foster Dulles, the new secretary of state, has been called on in the past by Democrats and Republicans alike for difficult tasks in shaping the foreign policy of the United States. As far back as 1917 Dulles served in the Department of State under Democratic President Woodrow Wilson, and since that time he has not been far from the foreign policy activities of the nation. His activities in foreign affairs were peaked in 1950 when President Truman appointed him his personal representaative to negotiate the Japanese peace treaty.

That Dulles has the confidence of the leaders of both the Democratic and Republican parties can not be questioned. That he has sufficient background to fit him for the job as Secretary of State can hardly be debated.

Charles E. Wilson, as in-coming Secretary of Defense, is stepping down from one of the highest paying industrial positions in the nation to assume for the first time governmental duties. His rise to the top of the General Motors Corporation, plus his pioneering achievements in the fields of both management and labor in themselves inspire confidence in people in all walks of life in the United States.

Governor Douglas McKay of Oregon has been chief executive of his state since 1949 and reputedly is one of the leading authorities in the nation on Western affairs and particularly in the fields of conservation and reclamation. For the new job of Secretary of the Interior, he seems well qualified.

The other two most recent appointees of Eisenhower, George M. Humphreys of Cleveland as Secretary of Treasury and Herbert Brownell as Attorney General both have long records of high achievements in their chosen fields.

There are many citizens and party leaders on both sides of the fence who will look with skepticism upon the cabinet appointments of President-elect Eisenhower. It is apparent, however, from the first five appointees, that Eisenhower is not elevating to high governmental post pencil-pushing politicians as pre-campaign comments indicated he would if he had a chance.

Those whom Eisenhower has appointed appear to be capable men. How well they discharge the duties of the posts for which they have been designated remains to be seen.

National Whirligig

Every Saturday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' letters of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions will be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6306 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"Why do not the House and Senate elect the chairman of their committees," asks M. T. of Elizabeth, N. J., "instead of giving such important positions to them under the seniority system? Wouldn't that advance younger, more energetic men, and less hidebound members?"

Answer: This question was raised by the Democrats in the campaign as an argument against the election of Eisenhower. They maintained that, if the GOP controlled both houses of Congress, he would suffer from the fact that so many committee heads would be extreme conservatives or outright isolationists.

Despite its admitted faults, however, progress by seniority seems to be the only practical procedure. Otherwise, a President seeking tight control of the legislative branch could—and might—use his influence to place his own men in positions of power. That would upset the structure of a balanced government, with the legislators having a check on the executive agencies.

The election of committee chairmen would be conducted with logrolling by economic and regional groups, and there is too much of that on Capitol Hill now.

Moreover, if the committee membership wishes, it can always override a chairman, for he has only one vote. Time and again, committees have reported out measures or authorized investigations in the face of opposition from the nominal boss.

TAFT'S POSITION—"Why does Senator Taft want to be the Republican leader of the Senate," asks O. F. of Sandusky, O., "as well as head of the Policy Committee? Is he simply grasping for personal power?"

Answer: The explanation for Senator Taft's leadership try is simple. The chairmanship of the GOP Policy Committee was a responsible job when a Fair-Deal President sat in the White House, for it enabled Taft to provide effective opposition and to give direction to his Party's course.

With Eisenhower in the White House, basic policy will be fixed there instead of on Capitol Hill, although Congress may modify or reject it. As Senate Majority Leader, the Ohioan would be both an adviser and pilot of White House legislation.

I do not believe that Taft seeks mere personal power. He has never impressed me as that kind of man. He has definite ideas and theories about the Federal Government's function in our society, and he wants to be in a position to execute them, if possible.

USE OF TAFT-HARTLEY ACT—Numerous readers, including E.V.R. of Russell, Ky., and J.W. of Springfield, Mass., ask how many times President Truman invoked the Taft-Hartley Act, which he calls a "slave labor law," in industrial disputes.

Answer: According to the latest tabulation, Truman used this statute nine times. He resorted to it in controversies involving atomic energy workers at Oak Ridge, the meat packers union, three times against John L. Lewis' soft coal miners, against the longshoremen twice, telephone workers and copper miners and smelters.

The principal disputants in all these cases were unions affiliated with the CIO and the United Mine Workers, both of which supported the Stevenson-Truman ticket in the recent campaign.

SAFEGUARDING PRESIDENT'S FAMILY—"General Eisenhower will be our next President," observes Mrs. S.D.S. of Walls, Wash. "According to regulations, the FBI immediately surrounds the President-elect and his family. But Eisenhower's son in Korea. Do some FBI men go to Korea to protect him, or is he brought home?"

Answer: First, it is not the FBI but the U. S. Secret Service which is charged with safeguarding the President, the President-elect and their families. The S. S. considers itself a far finer body than the FBI. Don't confuse them.

Major John Eisenhower gets no special attention or protection while in military service. From my own experience in the Army, however, I doubt if his commanders will assign him to dangerous or exposed positions. Incidentally, FDR's sons, James and Elliott, never had any Secret Service guardians in World War II.

EXPENSES—Although I have answered them before, questions still roll in as to who paid President Truman's whistle-stop expenses. Although "broke," the Democratic National Committee says that it put up the cash.

CORRECTION—In a recent column, I said inadvertently that Eisenhower favored Taft-Hartley repeal. He doesn't, of course. He advocates amendment, with preservation of the law's basic tenets.

Reserved Seat—

Somebody Told Me

By I. A. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you follow the news carefully you have already read a report to the effect that President Harry Truman is bored. Whether you have read it or not, you must admit that it's news when the President of the United States gets bored with his job.

Harry doesn't make a habit of being bored, either. In fact, nobody seems to remember any time in Truman's public life that he has been bored with his job before.

Outwardly, Harry seems OK. He still makes quick decisions and takes time for a chat with an old friend. And he still smiles at photographers. But indications of Harry's boredom are as plain as the nose on your face. He was talking to Senator Bill Benton of Connecticut and admitted that his calendar was loaded with speaking engagements up to January 20th.

and he is sorry that he accepted so many. Harry didn't show up for one engagement; that he was slated for a luncheon date with the National Conference of Christians and Jews. Then, on Armistice Day, he sent the Secretary of the Navy, Dan Kimball, to Arlington Cemetery to represent him at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. He cancelled his regular press conference with the excuse that he had nothing to say. Then he refused to let his press secretary publicize the arrival and departure of relatives and in-laws who are coming to the White House to see him because their opportunity to visit there will soon be gone.

Harry did turn up at the National Press Club's Founder's Day banquet. He helped himself to a bourbon and water and watched the floor show. When it came time for a few presidential words, he said that he always has a good time at reporters' gatherings, although he can't say as much for his meeting with publishers. He knows the Press Club and how it operates, he said, adding: "The members do as they damn please—and so does Truman."

The President said he went to bed early on election night, aboard his campaign train. He woke up about midnight to listen to the radio. Harry then began to mock Radio Commentator H. V. Kaltenborn. Since 1948 Harry has been mocking Kaltenborn's commentary on election night; then, when he insisted that Dewey was winning, now Harry mocked H. V., saying that Ike was winning. Only this time, Harry said, the old boy turned out to be right.

And I thank you.

FINANCIAL—Monday, November 24, is deadline for final reports on political campaign receipts and expenditures to be filed. The law requires that a preliminary report be made 10 days before the election and a final report within 20 days thereafter. For recognized political parties and campaign committees operating on state-wide scope the reports must be filed with the local units with the clerks of the superior courts in the several counties. There is no requirement for individual personal reporting of general election finances, except possibly in case of independent candidates. Party candidates are presumed to be running not as individuals, but as representatives of their party.

BORDERLINE—In North Carolina only three state-wide organizations file preliminary reports, and Secretary of State Tamm Eaves says he thinks that completes the required listing. They were the Democratic State Committee, the Republican State Committee and the Citizens for Eisenhower group. It will be recalled by old timers that refusal of the Democrats for Hoover Committee to file report in 1928 occasioned a good deal of fuss. There are a few borderline cases now, like which is credited with large part in the huge Mecklenburg county vote for the Republican candidate for Congress. If this group operated beyond Mecklenburg county lines, the law contemplates the financial report should be made to the Secretary of State. If activities were confined to Mecklenburg the report should be made to the clerk of court. Opinion of several good lawyers, including high ranking State officials, is that such report should be filed somewhere. At the same time, it is admitted that procedure would be uncertain in event the group declines or refuses to make any accounting. Similar uncertainty has arisen before in connection with many loosely organized "committees" in election campaigns on bond issues, beer and wine, special taxes and other quasi-political subjects.

TIME-OUT—Governor-elect William Umstead took a welcome recess from politics and problems of government, including unprecedented pressure by friends in favor of certain appointees to official position, for a few hours Wednesday night. A couple hundred of his friends and neighbors at Durham and a few from other points staged a sort of going-away dinner at Harvey's Cafeteria, which culminated in presentation of handsome silver service to Mr. and Mrs. Umstead. Toastmaster William Ruffin set the pattern for occasion when he stated the assembled group was not particularly interested in Senator Umstead or Governor Umstead, but that his neighbors had got around to expressing their affection for their friend, Bill Umstead. In appropriately brief remarks Percy Reade mentioned some of the past political honors won by the honor-guest and predicted continued public service on his part, only as further proof of the fine personal qualities which influenced his neighbors to respect and love him. When it came his time to respond, Umstead confessed he just couldn't talk and wouldn't try to say much except "Thank you." The gracious manner in which Mrs. Umstead expressed her thanks testified to the fact that North Carolina's first lady will add to the record of poise and charm set by former mistresses of the Mansion.

LIGHTER VEIN—In casual conversation around the hall after the dinner several items came out that did not appear on the public program. For instance, the fact that Umstead took an unofficial trip to New York a few days ago, and while there bought his inauguration clothes. He commented to one long-time friend: "You are always bragging about what you have seen in your travels, but you ain't seen nothing yet. Wait till you see me in a stove-pipe hat, a long-tailed coat and streaked britches." That is the traditional garb for North Carolina Governors on the days they come in and go out of office, and is seldom used between times. Governor Kerr Scott has said he sold a couple of cows to buy his inaugural outfit, and had wondered if he could sell it back after next January for enough to buy one calf.

GOOD-BYE—Associate Justice Timous Valentine wound up his tenure on the North Carolina Supreme Court with a bit of personal philosophy. Arguments for this week were concluded Wednesday and when the court next meets his seat will be occupied by Associate Justice R. Hunt Parker. Valentine's last stint was to write a dissenting opinion to majority decision of the court in sustaining a lower court ruling to let a case go to the jury. His valedictory follows, concluding with a quotation from Sir Thomas Moore's "Lalla Rookh": "My philosophy of life includes

What Other Papers Are Thinking

ELECTION CHANGES GREATLY NEEDED

(Greensboro Daily News)
Reports from all over North Carolina say that voting facilities were wholly inadequate for the heavy turnout of citizens in the recent election.

Long waiting lines are reported from practically all of Tarheel's centers of population. In quite a few instances the voting was so slow and the machinery for handling it so inadequate that many citizens gave up or did not get an opportunity to exercise the highest privilege which is theirs.

To be sure the voting represented a record turnout. But let us hope that it is merely evidence of a continually high civic interest and its manifestation at the polls. It must be remembered that the pattern is changing in North Carolina; the entire state is growing and many of its cities and towns have had an especially large gain in population. These changes so far have not been noted and acted upon in our voting system.

Greensboro is no exception. While we believe that conditions at the polls here were relatively good, they certainly were not all that is to be desired. Improvement in registration methods and checking do represent a tremendous improvement, but there is still need for division of some of the more heavily populated precincts. Take, for instance, the precincts in which the city's two public housing projects are located. An overhauling is in order to take care of shifts in population. The time has also come when serious attention should be given to voting machines as a means of cutting down the time necessary to ballot.

Now, with the lessons of the last balloting still fresh in mind and a session of the General Assembly at which remedial legislation would in some instances have to be passed just ahead, is the time to give attention to these matters—and draft a program of changes which will safeguard against recurrence of hindrances, delays and congestion and outmoded methods and practices, come another outpouring of citizens two years hence.

Business Today

Although there is considerable uneasiness in some business circles over what will happen to the economy to the economy after defense spending passes its peak, a nationally known engineering organization ventures to state that, "If America is ending a cycle, it is only to enter another beyond calculation."

The York engineering, construction and manufacturing companies of Pittsburgh, in their "York Report," published for executives, point to numerous opportunities for industry and nominates as the best ten:

Fuel from atomic energy; electronic brains that will approach the field of creative thought; push-button factories; the engineered home; television advances in color, third dimension and industry; the small auto; new metal processes; advances in rare earths; antibiotics and farm chemicals to increase food supplies, and better plastics "with characteristics tailored to amazing new uses."

The report concedes that its selection is "an educated guess," but adds, "The greater chance of error lies, not in the possibility that any of these ten will fail, but that other developments, now unknown, will overtake them. "Economic gains available in these ten fields are stupendous," the report says. "At various times in the past the phonograph, the Model T, radio and the mechanical refrigerator have buoyed the American economy. Yet what those products have done may be small compared with the possibilities awaiting in those golden areas listed."

"Opportunities are so dazzling that it is little wonder some see only the shadows."

DEBT INTEREST LOAD.....
OVER $15 BILLION.....

The net private and public debt reached close to $520 billion at the beginning of this year, statisticians for the National Industrial Conference Board have calculated.

At 3 per cent interest (some of the debt carries more, some less) the cost of supporting this debt would be more than $15.5 billion a year. About half the debt is public; half private.

PAWNSHOP DRIVEN OUT.....
TO MEET ITS PATRONS.....

Will Rogers said something to the effect that this was the only nation ever to drive to the poor house in its own cars.

Things have changed a lot since those depression days. Now a body doesn't even have to drive to the pawnshop. The pawnshop is driven to him. This week a nonprofit loan society put a "loanmobile" on the streets of New York. It has a regular weekly schedule of stops. People may meet the bus at certain intersections and hook the family watch on the spot.

POPULATION TIMES PI.....
EQUALS SHOE SALES.....

The national demand for shoes can be closely calculated with a formula involving "pi," the ratio of the diameter to the circumference of a circle, the Tanners Council of America discloses.

Simply take the population and multiply by 3.1416 and the answer will be the total annual sale of shoes. With a population now of 157,000,000 that indicates sales this year of 493,000,000 pairs.

CAST IRON SOIL PIPE.....
INDUSTRY FIGHTS BACK.....

The cast iron soil pipe industry is fighting back against inroads of competitive materials. Homer E. Robertson, executive vice-president of the Cast Iron Soil Pipe Institute, made a point of telling the American Society of Sanitary Engineers the convention that reports of failures of substitute materials were coming in from all part of the country.

Simply take the population and multiply by 3.1416 and the answer will be the total annual sale of shoes. With a population now of 157,000,000 that indicates sales this year of 493,000,000 pairs.

SHORT SIGNIFICANT.....
NOTES ON BUSINESS.....

A national campaign to stimulate eating out is about to be launched by the National Restaurant Association. . . Companies wanting to offer an unusual prize to employees can now get a 7-day packaged trip to London, from a firm specializing in incentives. . . A Chicago packer is using a German invention to produce sausage which shows the words "Merry Christmas" on the face of each slice. . . The National Lumber Manufacturers Association is asking the government to spend $30,000,000 a year for roads in Federal forests to make available coverage and damage timber.

STICKS: A magnetic key case that can be attached and hidden under a car's fender, bumper or other metal part is being introduced by Glass Laboratories, 407 Douglas St., Brooklyn 17, N.Y.). The magnet is said to be so strong that the hardest jar or bump will not loosen it from position.

CLASSICS: Musical plaques which play a selection of Chopin, Stravinsky, Brahms or Mozart are being marketed by Gilbert Leonard, 1544 Northern Blvd., Manhasset, N.Y.). The composer's likeness appears in bas-relief on a gold finished medallion.

DRY: Dehydrated whipped cream, said to be impossible to tell from the real thing, has been developed by the Army Quartermaster Corps. It needs no heating, just water, for reconstituting, and is expected to effect savings in packaging and shipping costs when released for civilian use.

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The explosion of an H-bomb weapon in the Pacific may have startled the diplomatic world. The average American, however, took little more note of it than if, on a summer night, he had glanced up and seen a star fall.

Previous tidings of other new and marvelous ways in which the human race could destroy itself have exhausted his capacity for terror and dismay.

The ordinary mortal today is tired of being frightened by graphic previews of what may befall him. He has eaten the bread of crises so long it has come to have a stale taste.

People were so upset over the atom bomb that the wider threat of the H-bomb can hardly appall them. You have to rest from fear sometime, and the average man feels like taking a seventh-inning stretch right now.

"So maybe I'll get conked sometime by an H-bomb instead of an A-bomb," he thinks. "What difference does it make to a fly whether it is swatted by a rolled up newspaper or a baseball bat?"

He is also losing his ability to marvel at the fresh marvels of science, because so many of its wonders turn out to be blunders.

This has been a fearful and tremendous century of strident and continuous change, multiple death and vast growth. It is perhaps the most adventurous and exploratory century in history, one that has thrown a small candle of light into the darkness of strange new Worlds which seem to many more terrifying than inventing.

A man who is only as old as this century—just 52-years has endured a lot. He has weathered at least three depressions and 2½ world wars. When he pauses to catch his breath and look back, it seems to him that nothing has remained unchanged with the possible exception of mother love.

It is no wonder that this middle-aged man in a middle-aged century now often yearns, most of all, for some form of security, a sanctuary from the threat of immense danger that has paled his times almost as long as he can remember. Even the young, ordinarily venturesome, are infected today by the craving for a kind of security no generation ever really has had in the long hard lot of mankind on this earth.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—"Gosh," grumbled a burly newspaper photographer as he held his camera ready to "shoot" celebrities. "I don't know any of these people. Some of them might even be Russians."

Many in the hordes that descended on the Soviet embassy for the celebration of the 35th anniversary of the Communist revolution were Russians, and it is true there were few familiar faces.

A handful of important people were welcomed by the new Soviet ambassador, broad-shouldered Georgi Zarubin, who wore diplomatic dress of gold-cuffed black with gold-braided velvet collar and an impressive row of medals across the chest. But the big-wigs of U.S. government circles were conspicuously absent.

Someone estimated that not more than 500 of those who received the handsomely engraved invitations streamed up the red-carpeted staircase to the vaulted stone reception room where the ambassador stood under a massive portrait of Stalin. Mme. Zarubin remained in Moscow, but in the receiving line with Zarubin were Maj. Gen. Aleksandr F. Sivov, the military attaché, also in gold braid and medals, and Mme. Sivov, a plumpish blonde woman in a blue taffeta afternoon dress.

As far as I could determine, this government was represented only John F. Simmons, chief of protocol of the State Department, part of whose job it is to do such chores, and Richard Davis, head of State's Russian desk. Mme. Munthe de Morgenstjerne, wife of the Norwegian Ambassador, was there without her husband. The British ambassador and Lady Franks stayed less than five minutes, as did the Canadian ambassador and Mrs. Hume Wrong. The Ambassadors of Argentina, Mexico, India, Indonesia, Afghanistan and Turkey stayed longer. As usual, Paul Robeson, the Negro singer, lowered in the throng.

Biggest crowds centered around the bars and lavish buffet tables. Bowls of caviar were consumed with gusto. It was imported Imperial caviar and the first item to disappear.

"How many pounds have you got?" I asked the butler.

"I'm not talking," he mumbled, looking as if I'd asked how many atom bombs the Soviets had.

There were thousands of canapes, shrimp dishes, hot things stuffed with meat, potato salad, whole turkeys, whole salmon decorated with mayonnaise, capers and anchovies, lobsters, creamed sandwiches, salmon and other goodies, such as assorted cakes, borbons, nuts. The table was a shambles, after the mob fed itself from loaded plates.

Every Day is Thanksgiving Day

When John, Mary, and Faith set out to church that morning nearly 300 years ago, it was with a deep sense of thankfulness. It had been a busy but a good year. Now they had a small cabin, built after cutting and dragging heavy logs from the woods. They had cleared, planted, and harvested a small plot of ground. They had survived serious illnesses and the future stretched promisingly across this land of freedom and boundless opportunity. But through all their thoughts ran a note of deepest gratitude because no one could tell them how they must worship. They were free to do as they pleased. Today, in America, you still have this privilege of going to the church you choose, of working and living where you choose. In America—with material, educational, and spiritual advantages not even dreamed of in other lands—every day is Thanksgiving Day!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of a character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values, democracy, and civilization. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) Which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Sport Reflector

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Writer

The acceptance of a bid to the Cigar Bowl by Lenoir-Rhyne's Bears puts the bowl game hopes of Coach Jack Boone's East Carolina College Pirates on a rather shaky foundation. Thus far, the Pirates haven't been formally approached by the sponsors of any bowl game although it is common knowledge that they are being considered for two games in addition to the Cigar Bowl.

The Bucs have been told that there will be no announcement about teams in the Lion's Bowl (Salisbury, December 13) until after Lenoir-Rhyne and Catawba play on Thanksgiving Day. The Pyhian Bowl (Roanoke, Virginia, December 13) hasn't bothered to say that much about the teams which will play in that game.

All the fuss about bowl games for the Pirates started immediately after the Buc game with Setson University two weeks ago. As soon as that 19-19 tie game was over, Boone was button holed by a couple of sponsors of one of the Florida games. That set off a round of talk which is still going strong.

Just what the Pirates will do now is a question that can't be easily answered. They've gone a week without a workout and would still have three weeks to wait should they receive an invitation to play in either of the two games they're reportedly being considered for.

Appearance in a bowl game would mean a lot to the team and the college. The financial return would provide for the launching of an even better program while the publicity received would go far in arranging a far more attractive schedule.

You would have hard time getting Howard Porter to admit it, but the one word which describes his East Carolina College basketball team is "loaded."

By that term, we mean that the Pirates have what it takes to be a much better ball club than they had last year. They lost two men from last year's starting team but they've picked up some fine freshmen and their other players are a year older -- and more experienced.

Probably the most difficult task facing Porter when the Bucs trot out for their opener on December 6 will be the selection of a starting team. Right now, only one fellow -- All-State and All-Conference forward Sonny Russell -- can be sure of a starting position and even he can't be too sure until that December 6 game with Guilford rolls around.

The Pirates appear to have two really outstanding freshmen in J. C. Thomas and Harold O'Kelley. Thomas, a native of Raleigh, has looked very good in the drills thus far while little O'Kelley is beginning to warm up after having been with the football squad this fall. O'Kelley is from High Point.

There are still some 25 candidates working out for the 12 positions on the Pirates traveling squad. Porter has done very little squad paring thus far this year but will probably get through that phase of the work sometime next week.

Dick Groat's professional basketball appearances with the Fort Wayne Pistons puts the former double All-American from Duke in a rather enviable position: there's the possibility that the Pistons and the Pittsburgh Pirates will have to outbid each other for Groat's services.

While it's true that a star isn't made with one or two performances, there isn't any question about Groat's ability to play basketball with the big boys. His exceptional abilities could steer him into a mint of money if good friend Uncle Sam doesn't put in his non-refusable bid for The Great One.

The all-time and all-teams will begin coming out in the next few days and it's going to be interesting to see how the voters get around the problem of having so many good men to choose from.

The All-American team is going to be a real lulu because of the presence of an abundance of good quarterbacks. We're betting that Maryland's Jack Scarbath will be "Mr. Big" on the All-American team and we still find it hard to pass up such guys as Harry Aganis, Tom Yewic, Dale Samuels, Tommy O'Connell, and even Worth (a million, inflation) Lutz.

Traditional Games Climax 1952 Football Schedules

Bowl Hopes Dim

Bowl game hopes for the East Carolina Pirates dimmed considerably last night when Lenoir-Rhyne College's athletic council and executive committee of the faculty voted to accept an invitation to the Cigar Bowl.

The Pirates had been among the teams considered for the December 13 game at Tampa, Florida, but they never received a formal invitation.

Bowl hopes were not banished altogether by the action, however. The Pirates are reportedly still being considered for two other bowl games. They finished their regular schedule last Saturday night with a 34-7 victory over West Virginia Tech.

Bethel Boys Win To Split Twinbill With Grimesland

Bethel and Grimesland split two basketball games last night at the Grimesland gym.

The Grimesland girls edged out Bethel 34-26 but the Bethel boys balanced off the defeat by winning the second game 52-40.

Robert Nelson and Dalton Council led the Indians scoring with 21 and 19 points respectively.

Bethel, Pitt County champions last year, got off to an early lead and were only threatened in the third quarter when Grimesland pulled within seven points. Three quick Indian field goals ended the threat and Bethel coasted to victory.

Bobby Andrews was the top point getter for Grimesland with 11 and S. W. Heath contributed eight points.

Becky Mills chipped in 13 points to pace the Grimesland girls attack. Jane Tucker was runner-up with 10 points.

The Bethel girls were leading at halftime and held the lead until the fourth quarter. The Grimesland girls led by Mills and Tucker finished strong. They overtook Bethel with three minutes remaining and were pulling away when the game ended.

Bears Accept Bid To Play Tampa U. In Cigar Bowl

HICKORY, N. C. (AP)—Lenoir Rhyne's unbeaten, untied Bears will meet Tampa University in the Cigar Bowl at Tampa, Fla. Dec. 13.

The Bears formally accepted the football bowl invitation late last night. Acceptance came after the school's athletic and faculty executive committees had voted earlier to take the bid "provided that a satisfactory contract" could be arranged.

Several hours of long-distance communication between Hickory and Tampa settled contract arrangements and cleared the way for the Bears' first visit to a Florida Bowl.

Tampa has wins over two North State Conference foes this season. The Cigar Bowl hosts downed Catawba 20-6 last night and had previously defeated Appalachian, 19-0. Lenoir Rhyne has one more regular season game to play -- the conference championship game, with Catawba Thanksgiving Day.

Tampa handed Lenoir Rhyne its only defeat in two years, defeating the Bears 27-14 last year.

Sedgeman Breezes To Title In Australian Net Tourney

SYDNEY, Australia (UP)—Frank Sedgeman once again demonstrated today why he is ranked as the world's greatest amateur tennis player when he breezed to the New South Wales championship with a 6-2, 4-6, 6-4, 6-1 victory over Ken McGregor.

McGregor, Sedgeman's Australian countryman who was shooting for the number two singles spot in the Davis Cup challenge round competition, simply did not have the guns to compete with the power strokes of one of the greatest net stars of modern times.

Sedgeman was at his best in the final set which he came close to winning at love. He went to a 3-0 lead, then lost one game and rebounded to take the next three with ease.

It was the first victory in this tournament for Sedgeman and represented one of the few Aussie titles that had eluded him. Last year he did not compete in the meet because he was on his wedding trip at the time it was held.

The finals were played on the famed White City Stadium courts before a crowd of about 5,000 -- near capacity.

McGregor concentrated most of his efforts into the second set which he managed to win just before it went to deuce. However, he had little zest for the battle after that and Sedgeman won going away.

The All-American women's final between California stars Maureen Connolly of San Diego and Julie Sampson of San Marino was to be held later today with Miss Connolly a distinct favorite.

Groat Rides High In Pro Cage Game

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Dick Groat, the former Duke star, is such a hit with the Fort Wayne Pistons that the owners threaten to outbid the Pittsburgh Pirates if the time ever comes when the National League team makes him choose between basketball and baseball.

Groat has averaged 18 points a game in his first two pro basketball contests and the New York Knickerbockers, against whom he scored 25, admit that "he killed us." Groat, who hit .285 as shortstop for the Pirates in his rookie year, will let the bids do his talking.

Ice hockey fans are starting to wonder whether Gordie Howe was overrated when he was called the "greatest" wing in the history of the sport and are beginning to wonder whether much of his success wasn't due to the work of center Sid Abel. With Abel gone from Detroit to coach the Chicago Black Hawks, Howe's goal production is far off with only eight in 17 games. Maybe the line of Howe and Ted Lindsay is set now with Metro Prystai in the middle.

Professional basketball, hockey and boxing are studying the major league baseball retirement plan, which began paying its first benefits this year to the coaches and trainers. Among the first recipients was Honus Wagner and the widow of Arky Vaughan.

Football bowl game proprietors are overlooking a good bid in the service teams. The Marines have a pistol in Parris Island while the Army has a fine eleven in Camp Breckinridge, Ky., unbeaten in seven games. The Camp Breckinridge "Screaming Eagles" have a fine pro prospect in fullback Bernard Stephens of Florida A.M., who has scored 12 touchdowns and averaged 9.4 yards on 85 rushes -- two yards better per try than teammate Larry Coutré of Notre Dame.

Californian Johnny Gonsalves has two ambitions -- to be lightweight champion of the world and the world's best dressed fighter. He'll move up a step in the former if he beats Orlando Zulueta at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

Balloting is being conducted for "Horse of the Year" honors. Why be secretive? Here it's Native Dancer, with One Count the top three-year old and Crafty Admiral the handicapper king.

Old Fearless gets a kick out of the fact that four members of the Marquette football team are dental students. Today they play Michigan State, the number one team in the nation.

Hold still, men, this won't hurt a bit!

Bulldogs Blast Pam-Pack, 48-19

By The Associated Press

Winston-Salem Reynolds shares the Triple-A Western Conference lead with Charlotte Central High today, thanks to a story-book victory over Boyden High of Salisbury.

With only 58 seconds remaining in a grid battle at Winston-Salem, Reynolds' Bill Shelton booted a field goal that gave his mates a 15-14 win over Salisbury and a chance at the Conference and state championships.

The Class AA championship picture also came into focus last night as Henderson High breezed over Washington, 48-19. The victory sends Henderson against Rockingham next week for the Eastern AA title. The winner will meet the winner of the Charlotte Harding-Reidsville Thanksgiving Day game for the state title.

Stokes--Pactolus Merge For Cage War

Stokes and Pactolus have consolidated and their two basketball teams will play as one.

The Stokes boys team is built chiefly around four seniors, Mac James, David Roberson, Jack Warren, and Warren Whitehurst. Richard White, Glenn Cherry, John Gray Jr., Douglas James, and Donald Warren also figure prominently in Coach Arthur Dempsey Jr.'s plans for a successful cage season.

Carl White, Jimmie Tripp, Billy Perkins, and Alton Prigen, all sophomores, are ready to substitute duty.

The girls team is composed largely of sophomores and juniors with several first year girls out. Jane Bullock, soph, Judy Etheridge, junior, and Helen Copeland, senior, are the top ranking forwards who will be depended on for most of the scoring.

Coach Jack Edwards has a group of 20 girls trying out for the team. Most of them are sophomores or freshmen but according to their coach they all show a lot of promise.

Syndicate Buys Baltimore Track

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP)—A three-man syndicate was scheduled to purchase the controlling interest in the Pimlico Race Track at noon today.

The syndicate is headed by Cary Boshammer, a textile magnate from Clovers, S. C., and also includes two brothers, Benjamin and Herman Cohen, Baltimore television station owners. Boshammer also is one of the owners of the Thistle Downs and Cranwood race tracks in Cleveland, O.

Injured Jockey Returns To Races

LINCOLN, R.I. (UP)—Recovered from injuries suffered when thrown a week ago, jockey Tony Desposito today resumes his bid for a world's riding record with four mounts at Lincoln Downs.

The nation's leading jockey with 347 wins at the start of the day's racing, the 17-year old rider was just 42 wins out of a new record for victories in a single season.

His physician, Dr. S. L. Frumson of Woonsocket, gave him a green light after an examination Friday. Desposito had intended to ride nine mounts in an effort to make up for lost ground during his week-long layoff, but it was decided to limit his riding to four horses daily for the next few days.

Desposito suffered a concussion and bruises Nov. 14 when he was thrown twice by Answer Man. Tossed just before the start of the first race, Desposito remounted and brought Answer Man home for his 347th victory only to be thrown again after the horse crossed the finish line.

Tatum Has Never Lost Bowl Game

COLLEGE PARK, Md. Nov.—In his first five years as Maryland football coach, Jim Tatum has taken the Terps to three bowl games and never has lost. The '48 Gator Bowl game with Georgia was a 20-20 tie, then came a 20-7 win over Missouri in the Gator Bowl of 1950 and this year's 28-13 victory over Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl.

'Flying Italian' Holds Race Lead

DURANGO, Mexico (UP)—Giovanni Bracco, the "Flying Italian," held a seven-minute lead over two German racers today at the start of the fourth and next-to-the-last lap in the 1,938-mile Pan American Road Race.

Bracco, racing 617 miles from Mexico City at an average speed of 115 miles an hour Friday, piled up his lead over Karl Kling and Hermann Lang with a time of five hours, 21.19 minutes.

Less than half of the 92 racers, who started the five-day grind at Tuxtla Gutierrez last Wednesday, were still in the running. One driver had been killed and 14 cars had been wrecked.

Bracco's three-day time for 1,293 miles was 13 hours 10.06 minutes compared to Kling's time of 13:17.15 and Lang's 13:38.20.

In the stock car class, Johnny Mantz of Los Angeles, Calif., led with a time of 14:56.23 with Reginald McFee of Rochester, N.Y., a close second with 14:57.46. Chuck Stevenson of Lynwood, Calif., Friday's leader, was third in 14:57.58.

Radars Keeping Guard On Pacific Coast

FRONTIER sentinel — silver "Radome" of the northwest.

NEAH BAY, Wash.—Up on a mountain peak overlooking this northwestern corner of the United States sits a million-dollar giant eye which keeps a sweeping watch for danger from the north Pacific Ocean.

More than 200 men of the 758th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron see to it that The Big Eye keeps awake around the clock, constantly on the alert for possible enemy aircraft.

The Big Eye is 78 miles from Port Angeles, Wash., nearest U.S. Coast Guard station, and just south of Vancouver, B.C., Island, where the Strait of Juan De Fuca enters the Pacific. It is one of the latest radar mechanisms developed, responsible for alerting Northwest defense pilots at the slightest hint of danger from the sky.

The Big Eye is inside a silver "Radome." It looks exactly like a small observatory from the outside. Its pressurized insides are secret.

Any planes not reported by military or civil officials to Commanding Officer Maj. Albert Sporer's men are subject to immediate investigation by U.S. Air Force jet interceptors based nearby. The men consider their small base "one of the finest" in the Air Force, says that officer from Des Moines, Ia.

The men compete to make themselves keener at sighting aircraft. They're tucked away from most signs of civilization with only The Big Eye to make them realize that things may not be so peaceful in other parts of the globe. It's a lonely assignment, says Maj. Sporer, but the men of the 758th are proud of their job.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court yesterday, Judge Charles H. Wheedbe found Hughie Lee Wilson guilty of failure to yield right of way and sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Testimony was that Wilson was in collision with a car driven by Roy W. Alcock, Hillcrest Drive, and that injury to an occupant and property damage resulted.

The court ordered that sentence be suspended on payment of $15 to the court, and that he pay medical expenses incurred by the wreck. The court's judgment also provides that Wilson is not to drive a motor vehicle for six months unless he makes restitution for property damage.

Seven persons charged with speeding appeared in court yesterday. The case against one of them, Rodney H. Bodkins, was not pressed.

Speeding: William H. Hinson and William J. Jackson, (75 miles an hour, each given 60 days on the roads, sentences suspended on payment of $25, costs deducted, and that they surrender their driver's licenses to the clerk of court for six months. In the case of Peter E. Rasberry, Negro, (65 miles an hour), the court continued; aver for judgment on payment of $15 and costs, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for seven days, except on official business as a taxi driver. David D. Moore, (65 miles an hour), 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 on costs and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a week. Jack Cohen, (65 miles an hour), 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $20, costs deducted, and he is not to operate a motor vehicle for a week.

In the case of Fred E. Darden, Negro, charged with speeding he was called and failed to answer to his name. The judge ordered an in-stanter capias issued for him.

James Williams, Negro, no operator's license and improper brakes, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $25 and costs.

Sam Stafford, Negro, assault on a female, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $15 and he is not to molest or threaten Rena Mae Anderson, Negro.

In the case of Eddie Moore, Negro, who was found guilty of non-support of his three children, the court gave him six months on the roads. Sentence was suspended on condition that he pay $15 for his children before his release. He is to pay $15 a week to the Welfare Department beginning November 29, 1952 for support of his children. The children's mother is Mrs. Mabel Moore of Hassell, N. C. Judge

Merry Christmas from 'Wonder Fiber W'

"W" IS FOR WOOL... Among all the new "miracle fibers," old-fashioned wool continues to hold its place in high fashion. Witness this candy-pink, baby-soft sweater of wool and angora, a Christmas hit.

GIGGLE HER FASHION... Any girl would love this casual skirt and blouse in sand wool with tiered yarn fringe.

MODERN PIRATE... Outdoor girls will go for this outfit of gray flannel pirate pants and tweed jersey middie top, right for hiking, after-ski or just lounging.

CHRISTMAS COLORS... John Fredericks' red knit turban band charmer worn with Frances Smider's white wool lace blouse and jet-trimmed stole, white jersey skirt.

Wheedbe placed Moore on probation for two years, and a special condition is that he not leave Pitt county from the probation officer.

Plymouth L. Clark, Negro, non-support, six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $90 for his family before his release. Also, he is to pay $15 a week beginning November 29, 1952, for his family. In addition Clark is to pay $150 for his family by December 15, 1952.

Teachers Playhouse, East Carolina College student dramatic club, will present the popular farce "Charley's Aunt" in three performances December 10, 11, 12, according to an announcement by Lloyd Whitfield of Kingston, president of the organization.

Rehearsals have been in progress on the campus for several weeks under the direction of Dr. Lucile H. Charles of the English department, director of dramatic arts at the college, and of Caroline Clapp of Greenville, student member of the Teachers Playhouse. A cast of ten members, a group of undergraduates, and a large technical and production staff are working on the play.

John B. King, freshman from Clinton, will have the role Charley, and Miss Clapp will appear as the aunt. Percy Wilkins of Benson as Charley's friend and Billy Canady of Clarendon and Ann McCrary of Durham as the sweethearts of the young men are among principals in the cast.

Others who have important parts in the play include Ralph Rives of Enfield, Atwood Smith of Kingston, Lloyd Whitfield of Kingston, Larry Williams of Ocracoke, and Patricia Goodwin of Ocracoke.

Senate Republicans, faced with a precarious margin in the new Congress, were keeping close watch today on a post-election senatorial battle in Michigan.

Rep. Charles E. Potter, a Republican, ousted Democratic Sen. Blair Moody at Michigan's polls Nov. 4, according to an official canvass which had Potter ahead by 45,936 votes.

Yesterday the Senate elections subcommittee, which had been asked to investigate what State Democratic Chairman Neil Staebler termed many irregularities in the count, requested that official notice of Potter's election be held up pending completion of a preliminary probe.

At Lansing, however, D. Hale Brake, acting chairman of the Senate Board of Canvass, turned down the committee request and said the board saw no reason to change its mind about certifying Potter.

Whether Potter is seated when the new Congress meets Jan. 3 could be vital in GOP plans to organize the Senate.

Dramatic Club To Stage Farce

The Teachers Playhouse, East Carolina College student dramatic club, will present the popular farce "Charley's Aunt" in three performances December 10, 11, 12, according to an announcement by Lloyd Whitfield of Kingston, president of the organization.

Rehearsals have been in progress on the campus for several weeks under the direction of Dr. Lucile H. Charles of the English department, director of dramatic arts at the college, and of Caroline Clapp of Greenville, student member of the Teachers Playhouse.

Enthusiastic Audience Listened To Byron Janis

Byron Janis, American pianist, played at East Carolina College Thursday evening of this week before an audience which was still enthusiastically applauding for encores as the youthful artist made his final bow. The concert in the Wright building, the fourth number on the 1952-1953 Entertainment Series at the college, was attended by patrons of the Series from the campus, Greenville, and other eastern North Carolina towns.

Janis, whom noted critics have acclaimed as one of this country's leading pianists, gave a program of selections from the works of Mozart, Brahms, Kabalevsky, Chopin, Ravel, and other composers. The technical skill and the sympathy of interpretation shown by Janis in widely varied compositions made the evening of music outstanding among concerts which have been presented on the college Entertainment Series.

Noteworthy on the program was Kabalevsky's "Sonata No. 2," which gave the pianist opportunity to display the force, power and technique which have contributed toward placing him among "the elite of his art."

Interpretations of three Brahms waltzes, a group of Chopin numbers, and two compositions by Ravel were among selections to which the audience responded most enthusiastically. The Schulz-Evier arrangement of Strauss' popular "Blue Danube Waltz" closed the program. The concert was followed by encores from the works of Schumann and Albeniz.

East Carolina President To Speak At Campus Thanksgiving Service

President John D. Messick of East Carolina College will speak at a Thanksgiving service to be given Sunday, November 23, under the sponsorship of the Inter-religious Council, an organization made up of representatives from student religious groups on the campus. The service, an annual event at the college, will take place in the Austin auditorium at 7 p. m. and will be open to the public.

Waylon C. Upchurch of Sanford, president of the Inter-religious Council, heads a committee of students who have arranged the program for the evening. Dr. Robert L. Holt, director of religious activities at East Carolina, has assisted in making plans for the service and will preside at the meeting Sunday.

A program of music presented as part of the Thanksgiving observance will include the singing of hymns by those who attend; a solo, "Rejoice Greatly" by Handel, sung by Monteen Winstead of Tabor City; and organ music by George E. Perry, faculty member of the college department of music.

Talks Too Much In Wrong Place

PARIS (UP) — Henry Fayet talks too much when he's drunk. Recently Fayet wandered into a doorway and thought it was another bar.

"Honesty," he told the "bartender," doesn't exist anymore. I should know. I've been robbing my boss for weeks.

The bar proven to be a police station and the "bartender" jailed Fayet when investigation proved his story was correct.

Youth Temperance Council Organized At Bethel Meet

BETHEL—A Youth Temperance Council was formed at Bethel last week at the high school following a program presented by some of the students. After the program, all students were invited to join and 24 took the pledge to form the new organization. For some time the WCTU has been trying to organize a youth temperance council in Bethel.

Norma Williamson explained the purpose and motto of the council. She stated that its purpose is to unite the young people of the community, state, and nation in Christian Citizenship, to build for total abstinence for the individual and sobriety for the nation.

The program was opened with a hymn and Jack Wynne led the group in prayer. A group of high school students gave a speech choir, "I Belong to the YTC." The requirements were given for joining and the pledge was explained.

A meeting of the new members followed the program at which time officers were elected. The officers are: Norma Williamson, president; Jack Wynne, vice-president; Arelene Manning, corresponding secretary; Ernest Wilson, recording secretary; and Bill Latham, treasurer. The two adult leaders are Mrs. J.L. Gurganus and Mrs. J.C. Williamson.

The next meeting of the council will be held November 25.

Student's Poem Is Chosen For Nat'l Anthology

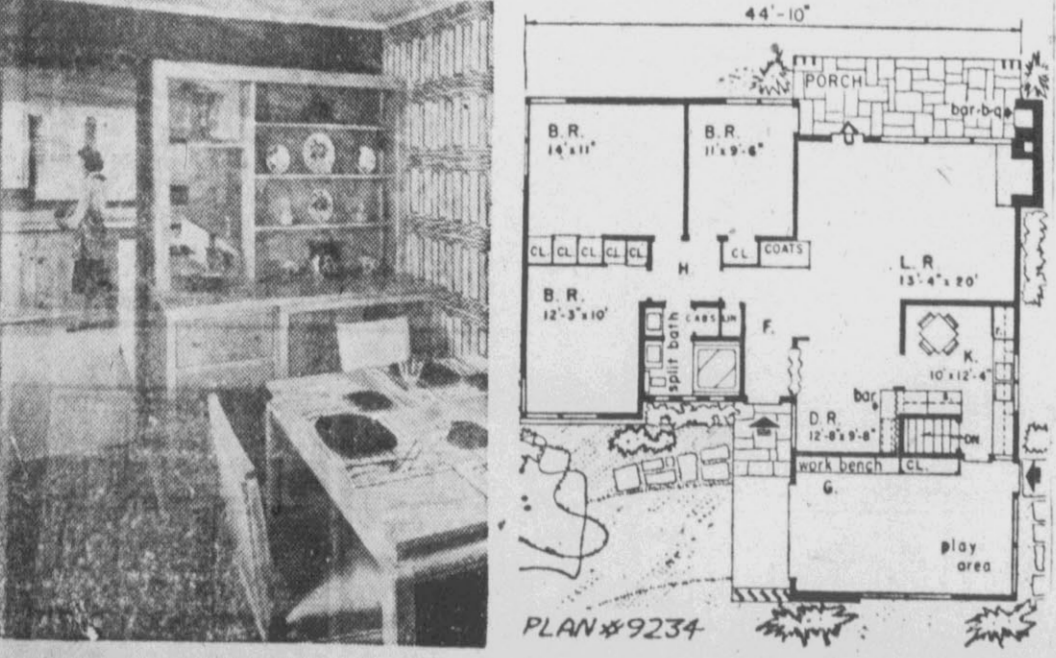

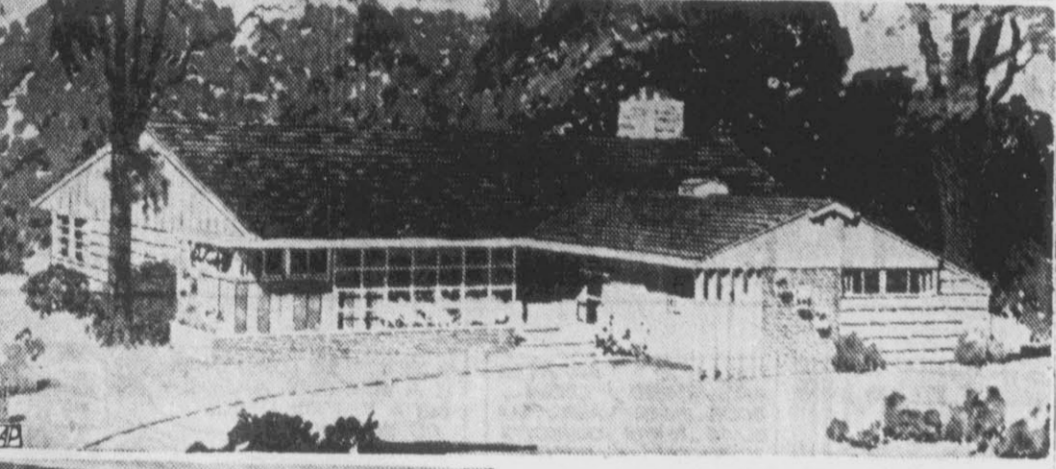

Wilson Lovett of Tabor City sophomore at East Carolina College, has received notification from the National Poetry Association that his lyric "Flower Visit" will be included in their "Annual Anthology of College Poetry" for the current school year.

"The Anthology," says Secretary D. Hartman of the National Poetry Association in a recent letter to Lovett, "is a compilation of the finest poetry written by the college men and women of America, representing every State in the country. Selections were made in thousands of poems submitted."

Lovett, who is specializing work in the department of science at East Carolina, became interested in composing poetry through the influence of the late Lucie Bramlette, English teacher in the Tabor City schools. When "Flower Visit" appears in the anthology of college poetry, it will become the young author's first published work.

SIoux COST US MONEY LARAMIE, Wyo. (UP)—The United States government spent more money fighting the Sioux Indian campaigns of the 1860s and 1870s than it did for the Louisiana Purchase, a study of University of Wyoming archives and western library information showed.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

GARAGE IN THE FRONT YARD in this design permits driving up to the front doorstep, which is sheltered by a wide roof overhang. Lattice work in front of a planting box gives the appearance of a large front window, but the living room is secluded at the rear, where it opens on a garden porch with an outdoor barbecue fireplace. The photo shows an interior view of a corner of the dining room looking toward the kitchen in a house built from this design. This is plan #234 by Rudolph A. Matern, architect, 90-04 161st St., Jamaica, N. Y. The house covers 1,173 square feet without garage, which is figured separately in building estimates. (Further information and plans are available from architect named above)

November Rains Back To 'Normal'

October was recorded as a "dry month" with less than three-fourths inches of rainfall but November's record so far shows almost four inches of rain.

Rainfall for this month totaled 3.99 inches of rain with 2.20 inches

Aging Fast

WASHINGTON (AP)—The population of the United States is growing older fast, according to a survey by the Census Bureau.

The bureau said yesterday about one in 12 persons in the United States was 65 years of age or older July 1, 1951.

Fifty years ago the number was one in 25.

falling in the last week. Even with the high total November of last year topped this month's total by 2.71 inches.

Rainfall last November was 6.70 inches.

Driver Charged In Car Accident

In a collision of two cars at Fourth and Davis streets yesterday afternoon, both vehicles were damaged. None of the occupants was injured.

Speight W. Wadford, 117 West Third street, was driver of one car. Clara E. Tyson, 1707 Smith street, was driving the other.

Police arrested Clara E. Tyson on the charge of failure to yield right of way. Estimated damage to Wadford's car, $100; the Tyson car, $50, the police report states.

Light Damage In Auto Collision

Cars driven by Ernest H. Eaton, 605 Ford Street, and Lester F. Johnson, collided on Green Street, near Tar river bridge yesterday morning.

The police report states that the collision resulted from confusion over drivers' signals. None of the occupants was injured. No arrests.

Estimated damage to the Eaton car, $150; Johnson's car, $200.

Car Rolled Over, Occupants Were Unhurt

Two occupants escaped injury Thursday night when the above automobile hit a soft shoulder on the Stokes Highway and fell down an embankment into a small canal filled with water. The top of the car was partially crushed in, but the driver, Charles J. Carney, 38-year-old Negro of Stokes, Route 1, and his son, escape unhurt. Investigating officer Highway Patrolman Paul Whitley estimated damage at $800. No arrest was made. (Reflector Photo by Muriel Showell)

MONKEY NOT SO SMART

DETROIT (UP)—Terry, a pet monkey, escaped from his cage and led Humane Society employees a merry chase, but had only himself to blame for his return to captivity. His pursuers tried to throw a blanket over him. He jumped aside, grabbed a corner of the blanket and rolled himself up in it.

State Masonic Officials To Be At Monday Meet

Dr. William I. Gause, Grand Master of Royal and Select Masters in North Carolina, accompanied by C. A. Eury, Provincial Grand Master, will visit the local Royal Arch Chapter and Council of Royal and Select Masters at the Stated Convocation on Monday night, Nov. 24 at 7:30 o'clock. The local Council will meet following the Chapter in a short meeting.

Both of these dignitaries are well known among the Greenville Masons for their activity in York Rite Masonry in North Carolina and have a message of importance to bring to the local Masons. The local officials urge all Companions of the Chapter and Council to be in attendance to greet the visitors.

Arrest Involved Several Charges

Greenville police arrested Rufus Steppes on charges of driving drunk, property damage and possession and transportation of non-tax paid whiskey at Five Points this morning.

The police report states that Steppes' car collided with a car owned by James Bullock of Jacksonville, at Fifth and Evans streets. Estimated damage to the Bullock car is $150. None of the occupants was injured. Police found a bottle of moonshine whiskey in Steppes' possession.

Capitol Square

(Continued from Page 4) an abiding faith in the good judgment and common sense of the men and women who constitute the juries in our courts. To me, the right of a trial by jury is one of the brightest jewels in the diadem of democratic processes. In my mind he was guilty of no error who once said that "all we see about us, kings, lords and commons, the whole machinery of the State, . . . end in simply bringing twelve good men into a box."

"In conclusion, as my tenure of office draws to a close, I beg leave to say that I shall always carry in my heart a deep sense of gratitude for the opportunity of having served the people of my State as a member of this Tribunal. I say now, and certify to succeeding generations, that the fellowship and cooperation of my colleagues constitutes a priceless treasure which I shall carry with me on the journey westward toward life's sunset with its radiant glow.

"Let Fate do her worse, there are relics of joy. Bring dreams of the past, which she cannot destroy; Which come in the nighttime of sorrow and care, and bring back the features which joy used to wear.

"Long, long be my heart with such memories filled! Like a vase in which roses have once been distilled—You may break it, you may shatter the vase, if you will. But the scent of the roses will hang around it still."

It is believed that there are more than 25,000 distinct forms of birds.

HOPALONG CASSIDY

By DAN SPIEGLE

ONE OF SIR ROLAND'S TWO FRIENDS TRIED TO FIND YOU BY SHOWING UP AT THE "PARADISE PALACE" TONIGHT... IN DISGUISE. FORTUNATELY, WE GOT WISE TO HIM.

"YEAH.... IT'S A LONG DROP OFF TH' TOP O' THIS MESA, VALE."

BUT THAT'S MURDER! WHEN HE FAILS TO REJOIN HIS COMPANIONS, THEY'LL COME LOOKING FOR HIM.

I'M SURE THEY WILL. FOWLER IS OUTSIDE, WATCHING THE APPROACH TO THIS STRONGHOLD.

DAN SPIEGLE

MEANWHILE, OUTSIDE....

WHA...?!

CASSIDY!

YES, I WAS LUCKY TO BE CONSCIOUS ENOUGH TO GRAB SOME BRUSH WHEN VELVET SHOVED ME OFF THE MESA.

SHE AND BLAZE ARE HOLDING GREGORY VALE CAPTIVE IN THAT HOUSE. YOU'RE GOING TO TELL ME WHERE!

THAT'S A MATTER OF OPINION.

FLASH GORDON..... by Mac Raboy and Don Moore

AS QUEEN VIKKI GUNS HER JET-CAR TO FLEE THE JUNGLE CLEARING, A BLUE MONSTER WRAPS ITS TENTACLE AROUND THE CRAFT. THE JET-CAR IS HELD MOTIONLESS IN MID-AIR LONG ENOUGH TO PERMIT FLASH TO GRASP A TRAILING VINE AND SWING HIMSELF ABOARD.

THE "BLUE ONE" LASHES OUT AT ITS NEW ENEMY, BUT A SWIFT BURST FROM FLASH'S CHEMI-SPRAY GUN LOOSENS THE MONSTER'S DEATH GRIP!

SUDDENLY FREED FROM ITS WEIRD ANCHOR, VIKKI'S CAR SPRINGS UP AND FORWARD. FLASH BARELY MANAGES TO GET A GRIP ON THE CAR AS IT SPEEDS AWAY. "SLOW DOWN," HE SHOUTS. "GIVE ME A CHANCE TO PULL MYSELF IN!"

FLASH FINALLY MANAGES TO SCRAMBLE INTO THE COCKPIT. "I'M SORRY I GOT PANICKY," VIKKI SAYS, "BUT I'M TERRIFIED OF THOSE AWFUL BLUE ONES!" FLASH REPLIES GRIMLY: "I'M NOT SO SURE YOU REALLY ARE SORRY, BUT THERE'S NO TIME TO ARGUE ABOUT IT-- THERE'S A STORM JUST AHEAD!"

ON VENUS STORMS MOVE WITH SUPERSONIC SPEED, AND IT IS ONLY A MATTER OF A MOMENT BEFORE THE JET-CAR IS CAUGHT IN THE VORTEX OF A RAGING WHIRLWIND! AGAIN THE QUEEN GIVES WAY TO BLIND PANIC. "I'LL TAKE OVER!" FLASH SHOUTS, AND HIS WORDS ARE ALMOST LOST IN THE FURY OF THE STORM. WHILE VIKKI CLINGS TO HIM IN TERROR, FLASH CALLS UPON ALL HIS SKILL AS A PILOT IN AN EFFORT TO RIDE THE WIND CURRENTS DOWNWARD TOWARD A SHELTERED LANDING SPOT!

We have equipped our shop to take care of your Mower through the Winter months.

For a small charge we will Clean, Oil, Sharpen and inspect every part of the Machine. We will drain out the old Oil replacing same in the Spring with new oil. If any parts are needed, we will contact you about them, getting your approval before using them.

We have plenty of storage place, each Machine will be identified with owners name and full coverage of insurance against fire or theft.

Telephone us and we will call for and deliver.

WHAT IN BLAZES--?

OH! DEVIL, NO!

AS THE BANK ROBBER RETURNS UNEXPECTEDLY TO FIND DIANA DIGGING UP THE LOOT, DEVIL LEAPS AT HIM--

MEL--WHAT WERE YOU YELLING ABOUT--HUH? WHAT ON EARTH YOU GOT THERE?

ALL I KNOW IS--IT'S A DAME--AND SHE WAS DIGGING UP OUR STUFF!

A DAME--AND A PRETTY ONE! WHAT ARE YOU DOING HERE? WHO ARE YOU?

THE--THE PHANTOM

LISTEN TO HER! SHE MUST BE BALMY!

I SHOT THE DOG-- IT MUSTA CRAWLED INTO THE BRUSH TO DIE.

I TOLD YOU THERE WAS SOMETHING IN THE BUSHES! IT WAS HER SPYING ON US! I WONDER IF ANY-ONE ELSE HEARD THE SHOT.

WOUNDED, DEVIL CRAWLS QUIETLY AND PAINFULLY THROUGH THE THICK BRUSH--

DIANA--GONE? AND DEVIL HAVN'T SHOWN UP YET? WHERE ARE THEY GURAN?

I KNOW NOT, O GHOST WHO WALKS.

THERE'S A MAN OUTSIDE WHO WANTS TO SEE RUSTY AND PETE. HE WAS HERE BEFORE. GAVS HIS NAME IS CLEM.

JEEPERS! HE'S THE SAILOR WHO WAS ON THAT FREIGHTER WITH US!

LET HIM WAIT! WE'VE GOT TO FINISH UP THIS FORECLOSURE!

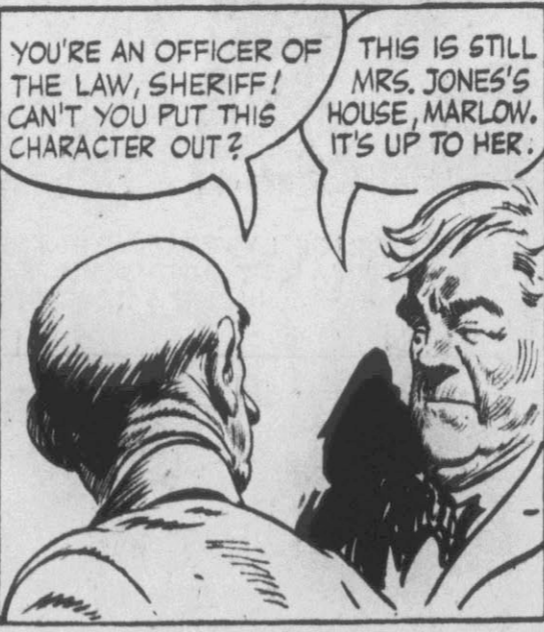

I COULDN'T HELP HEARIN' WHAT YOU WAS SAYIN' WHILE I WAS WAITIN' OUTSIDE. SEEMS LIKE YOU BOYS HAS GOT A SPECIAL USE FOR SOME REAL MONEY REAL QUICK! RIGHT?

RIGHT, CLEM... BUT...

LISTEN, MISTER.. WHATEVER YOUR NAME IS.. YOU CAN WAIT OUTSIDE.. WE'RE BUSY WITH PRIVATE BUSINESS!

NOW, JUST TAKE A REEF IN YOUR MAINS'L, BUB. WHAT I GOT TO SAY MAY JUST FIT INTO THAT BUSINESS!

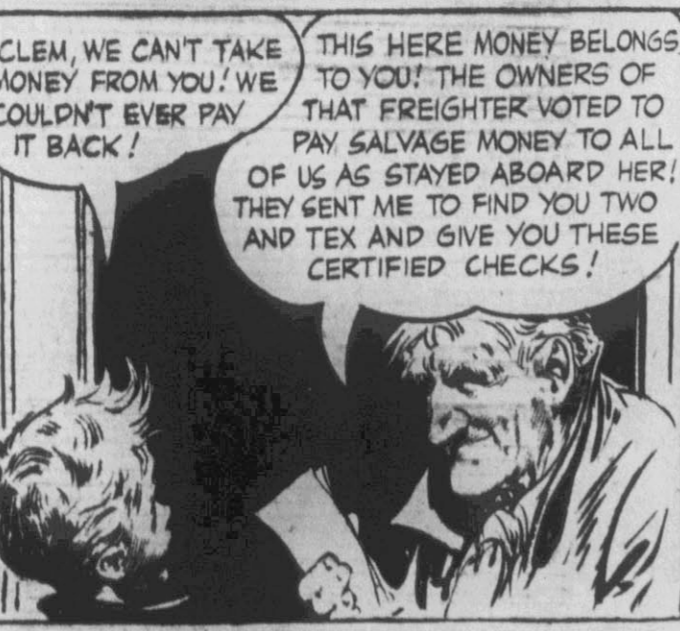

YOU'RE AN OFFICER OF THE LAW, SHERIFF! CAN'T YOU PUT THIS CHARACTER OUT?

THIS IS STILL MRS. JONES'S HOUSE, MARLOW. IT'S UP TO HER.

WHAT COULD YOU POSSIBLY HAVE TO SAY THAT CONCERNS THE BUSINESS WE HAVE IN HAND?

ALL I KNOW IS THAT THESE HERE LADS NEED A THOUSAND DOLLARS IN MONEY, AN' I'M HERE TO GIVE IT TO 'EM!

CLEM, WE CAN'T TAKE MONEY FROM YOU! WE COULDN'T EVER PAY IT BACK!

THIS HERE MONEY BELONGS TO YOU! THE OWNERS OF THAT FREIGHTER VOTED TO PAY SALVAGE MONEY TO ALL OF US AS STAYED ABOARD HER! THEY GENT ME TO FIND YOU TWO AND TEX AND GIVE YOU THESE CERTIFIED CHECKS!

HERE, MR. MARLOW! THIS'LL PAY UP WHAT MRS. JONES OWES YOU, AN' MORE! YOU CAN GIVE HER THE CHANGE!

I DON'T HAVE TO ACCEPT A CHECK! NOTHING DOING!

I'M THINKIN' YOU DO, MARLOW! A CERTIFIED CHECK IS PRACTICALLY THE SAME AS CURRENCY!

HEY! WHAT'S GOIN' ON HERE?

I THINK I'M GOING TO FAINT.
