Throng Attended Newcomers' Party

More than 150 newcomers to the city since February of last year gathered in the National Guard Armory last night to be entertained and welcomed by the older citizens of Greenville. After registration, guests found their way to long tables decorated with a Valentine motif, where games were played and gifts distributed. (Reflector Photo by Muriel Showell)

Newcomers Plied With Gifts And Games Last Night

City's Party Drew A Crowd

Approximately 150 Greenville newcomers were entertained in style last night at the second annual Newcomers party staged by ten Greenville business and civic organizations. The honor guests were plied with gifts of all descriptions contributed by local business firms, entertained with an array of games under the direction of the local recreation department, and served an abundance of sandwiches, cakes and other refreshments. Chairman Tom Webb, who headed the committee for this year's newcomers party, termed it a success. "All the organizations helping sponsor the party really pitched in and carried the ball," Webb said. "The success was only possible because of the fine cooperation of all the civic clubs and business organizations which participated in entertaining the newcomers to the city." He expressed his sincere appreciation to the 10 individual organizations which sponsored the event. Manager W. T. Kyzer of the local Chamber of Commerce termed the party a success also. "We had hoped for more newcomers at the party," he said, "but added the epidemic of flu and colds kept some of the new residents of Greenville away. "We hope they enjoyed the party," Kyzer said. "They looked like they did."

Defense Chiefs Doubt Effect Of New Review

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense authorities doubted today that major revisions in the military budget will result immediately from the quick study ordered by the administration. Although they were hopeful of achieving savings, new civilian heads of the military service already were beginning to regard the fiscal 1954 budget inherited from the Democratic administration as a high "vat-talored job. Navy Undersecretary Charles S. Thomas said as much Tuesday. Former President Truman submitted the budget—for the year beginning on July 1—to Congress in January. Deputy Defense Secretary Roger M. Kyes has instructed the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries to propose "changes aimed at obtaining "intelligent savings." He set a Feb. 28 deadline. Some authorities believed the most that can be achieved in the next 17 days will be to "educate" the new service secretaries on budget problems and to identify areas where savings may eventually be made. They regard a "major remodeling" of the defense budget as out of the question in so short a time. The task is complicated, it was disclosed today, by the fact that Mr. Truman's budget estimates on fiscal 1954 military spending apparently will turn out too low. The spending figure he gave Congress was $4,300,000,000. At the time, Defense Department experts predicted that $48,000,000 would be more accurate and latest figures on Korean war costs and rearmament bills tend to support them. The current monthly spending rate is just under $4,000,000,000. The Republican administration seeks reductions in both spending rates and requests for new appropriations. Mr. Truman's military budget called for $41,535,000,000 in new appropriations for fiscal 1954. Defense authorities said the current studies may eventually result in stretched-out production of some armaments to spread spending over longer periods. It was too early to predict another general stretch-out like that ordered by the Truman administration over military objections last year, they said. Informants said that really substantial savings in military spending probably would involve changes in military strength goals.

Tanker Laden With Jet Fuel Is Nearing Red China Destination

SINGAPORE (UP)—The Finnish tanker Wilma, carrying 7,000 tons of jet fuel for Red China, dropped anchor off this British bastion today but her uneasy captain refused to talk about his hot cargo. Singapore authorities could not board the 7,717-ton tanker, little Finland's newest, because she was outside port limits. The Wilma arrived mysteriously in pre-dawn darkness. She had been sighted since she passed through the Suez Canal from the Red Sea. The ship was sighted last night by the Singapore Mount Faber Signal station. It challenged, the tanker gave her name and early today she dropped anchor. The Wilma is expected to make Hong Kong her next port of call. The United States vainly tried to stop the China-bound tanker. State Department officials contacted Helsinki to ask if the Finns could prevent the Wilma from loading the jet fuel in Romania. However, the Finns said they could not legally stop the China voyage. The U.S. also asked Turkish officials at Ankara if the ship could be intercepted in the Dardanelles. The Turks replied they could not

Administration Indicates Stern Measures Not Yet Ruled Out

Brakes Applied To Blockade Talk

By JOHN L. STEELE United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—The Eisenhower administration yesterday applied the brakes today to mounting Congressional demands for a blockade and bombing of Manchuria. At the same time, it made clear it was not finally ruling out either move. It even hinted the demands served the excellent purpose of keeping the Communists guessing on U. S. strategy. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, warned that the naval blockade many Republicans and Democrats have called for might touch off World War III. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a secret session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee there is no administration plan pending to blockade Red China, to bomb Manchuria, or to use the atomic bomb in Korea. In testimony before the same group, Bradley said this country would run into trouble trying to police the sea lanes to British Hong Kong but said otherwise there was no legal barrier to blockading the China mainland, including the Soviet-leased ports of Dairen and Port Arthur. Nevertheless, the nation's top military leader indicated the action might force a showdown if Russia chose to ignore the blockade or China invoked the Sino-Soviet mutual defense pact. Senators said Bradley's testimony echoed the opinions he gave in the 1951 MacArthur dismissal hearings when he said a blockade could be taken as "an act of war" and would be ineffective "unless it was a United Nations blockade, not just a U. S. blockade." With the sobering words of Bradley and Dulles, committee Chairman Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.)

warned his colleagues that the blockade and other possible measures for cracking the Korean deadlock were up to President Eisenhower to decide, not Congress. And two Democratic committee members protested against too much "loose talk" from Republican Congressional leaders on such delicate issues. Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a leading committee Democrat, said he hoped reluctant U. S. Allies "might go along with the blockade idea" if this country pressed the issue "very strongly" before the United Nations. The mounting fears of jittery European Allies was believed one of the reasons that Bradley and Dulles were careful not to give the Congressional debate any further encouragement. Some military leaders are known to have urged a blockade as a follow-up measure. And such influential Republicans as Sen. William F. Knowland of California said the United States should do it alone, if necessary. Meanwhile, it was learned Bradley gave senators an estimate of the alternative moves considered feasible in Korea and relative costs but made no specific policy recommendations.

Blockade Termed No Act Of War

WASHINGTON (UP)—A blockade of Communist China would not be an act of war but it would involve a calculated risk that might lead to war, U. S. experts said today. They said there is nothing in international law that would make establishment of a naval blockade an act of war in itself. But Red China might consider it provocation and declare a state of belligerency and a naval screen could lead to an incident which might cause a third nation to declare war. The experts pointed out that a blockade of the Chinese coast would be something new in international relations because it would be imposed before a formal state of war exists. In the past, wars have always been underway when any nation established a blockade of its enemy. On at least one occasion in the past the United States has said it could not recognize a blockade by a third nation to declare war. The experts pointed out that a blockade of the Chinese coast would be something new in international relations because it would be imposed before a formal state of war exists. In the past, wars have always been underway when any nation established a blockade of its enemy.

Water And Sewer Service For College View Now Planned Utilities Okay Subdivision Contract

By JESS POINDEXTER Reflector City Editor An official contract which ultimately may bring water and sewer service into College Court subdivision "within the next few months" was adopted by the Greenville Utilities Commission last night. A spokesman for M. O. Blount and others, owners and developers of College Court property, expressed satisfaction over terms of the contract and intimated the agreement will be entered into and the project given the green light within the very near future. The approved contract, which is a form agreement designed to apply to all future developments of property inside the city limits, is based on a resolution passed last month calling for property owners to advance the cost of extending lines into the area. Cash Advance As passed, the resolution provided for a cash advance of the estimated cost of labor and materials to be made by the developer to the Utilities Commission. The owner would be reimbursed the full amount if his property should be completely developed at the end of five years. Last night the resolution was amended in three specific instances: 1. If cost of extension is under the estimate, the difference would be refunded the owner; if cost is more than the estimate, it would be absorbed by the Utilities Commission. 2. Provided that the five-year limit for development be dated from the completion of the utilities project, and not from the date the contract should be entered into. 3. Called for a plan and map to be attached to the contract showing course of project, exact number of feet to be covered and the point where extension should be terminated. Estimate $14,000 Cost estimate for College Court is more than $14,000, and terms of the contract call for the developers to recoup the full amount if the property has been developed at the end of five years from the date the project is completed by the Utilities Commission. Utilities Superintendent Martin Swartz reported on progress being made on the long-anticipated connection with Virginia Electric and Power Company, which has been pending for several months. Swartz said the new sub-station at the utilities plant is now completed for the most part — except for a few conductors and testing — and he set April 1 as the maximum date for connection with VEPCO.

Construction crews from VEPCO have crossed the Fictious highway in the direction of Greenville with wires, the superintendent reported, although there will be a great deal of testing before power is actually put through the sub-station. "The pending connection, when completed, will give us positive insurance against any future breakdown at the plant," Swartz explained. "The VEPCO line will provide enough current that should the entire plant generating capacity suddenly go out no one in Greenville would notice it." Following the pattern set by the local Board of Aldermen this month, the Utilities Commission also voted approval to the joint resolution calling for the formation of a central purchasing agency for the city and the utilities department. Central Agency It would consist of four members: the mayor or city manager as "ex officio" chairman, two members to be elected from the board of aldermen or city council and two from the utilities commission. The agency, as planned previously, is to go into effect under the present city administration without waiting until "Plan D" goes into effect in May. Members of the commission expressed satisfaction over an announcement by Larry Brown, utilities secretary, to the effect that all rural customers in the Vanceboro area who have filed applications and met requirements have been connected or orders have been made to connect them. Brown reported that, to date, a total of 182 rural customers have been connected by the utilities' own force since the contract with REA funds was terminated. "This was done," the secretary stated, "at a total cost of $42,576.06, or an average cost per customer of $233.33." At the present time, he declared, there is total of 1,233 rural customers connected on lines strung by REA funds. Of the $454,000 borrowed to do that work $78,000 has already been paid back from utilities earnings, leaving a balance of $376,000. The commission instructed Superintendent Swartz to designate a "visiting date" for Greenville customers to inspect the new water plant which, except for a few minor details, has been completed. Swartz agreed to set a date "in the near future" for open house at the plant. Commissioners J. B. Kittrell and Dr. K. B. Pace were absent from last night's meeting.

To Study Change

RALEIGH (AP)—Aroused by the rustic eloquence of Bertie's Rep. J. A. Speight, the House Education Committee today voted to study possible changes in the state's school consolidation policy. The committee authorized a seven-member subcommittee to draft state-wide legislation designed to protect small schools from consolidation after hearing Rep. Speight explain a local bill which would reopen two Bertie high schools. State-wide consolidation changes apparently would have strong administrative support. Gov. Umstead recommended revision of consolidation policy in his inaugural address.

New York Harbor Tugboat Strike Reaches Accord

NEW YORK (UP)—Tugboat crews went back to work in full force today under a new agreement ending the costly 10-day strike which had forced many huge ocean liners to dock without aid. A back-to-work movement started Tuesday night after Local 333 of the AFL Longshoremen's Union and the tugboat operators settled the final dispute in a contract covering 3,800 workers. The agreement was expected to be used as a pattern in efforts to settle similar strikes in Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va. Tug crewsmen in New York will get a general 17-cent per hour wage increase and fringe benefits. The union withdrew its demand for a contract provision assuring employment of no less than three men on each tug.

Fire Kills 4 In Boarding House

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—Fire swept through a men's boarding house here early today, killing four roomers and injuring six others. Police said 15 other roomers and the boarding house owner made their way to safety, many of them down firemen's ladders. Four of the injured jumped out top-floor windows of the three-story building. Those who escaped the flames were only partially clothed and were taken in by neighbors. Some fled the building even without shoes.

Nylon 'Diapers' Arrive In Korea

SEOUL (Korea UP)—The Army's first nylon armor diapers arrived in Korea today for combat tests. Modeled after the proven armor vest, they are designed to protect the lower part of a soldier's body from shell explosions and land mine blasts. An 8th Army team will go to the western front tomorrow to test several hundred diapers under actual combat conditions. "We'll put them on men going on patrol and how they react to them," said Capt. Mack Strauss of South Bend, Ind., head of the team.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy called on President Eisenhower at the White House today, but said they did not discuss "business."

Street Vendor Has Saved $8,000 Sleeping In Street Car; Bed 'Uncomfortable'

CHICAGO (UP)—A 73-year-old street vendor said today she has been sleeping on streetcars at night for seven years and likes it. "A streetcar's got a rooming house beat a mile for comfort," said Mrs. Anna Cox, "and it's cheaper." The 73-year-old lady said she didn't sleep in rooming houses because she couldn't afford a bed and a roof. "Rooms are drafty and the beds are uncomfortable and once I was in a hotel when it caught fire," she said. Authorities learned of Mrs. Cox' "home" Tuesday when it came time to release her from county hospital where she had been treated since Jan. 16 for a leg injury suffered in an auto accident. Hospital attendants insisted she give them her home address and, after some hesitation Mrs. Cox admitted that he was a permanent guest of the Chicago Transit Authority. "But I always paid my fare—and it was worth it," she said stoutly. The wizened old lady said she sold hair nets and beauty aids on street corners. She displayed a bank book that showed a balance of $8,236. "I couldn't have had a better place to sleep than on a Chicago streetcar, especially those on the long Western Avenue run," Mrs. Cox insisted. She told hospital authorities she could make six rides—at a total cost of $1.02—last night. She never bothered to try to work schemes with transfers in order to ride all night with one fare. The CTA is often the object of anguished complaints by streetcar riders, but Mrs. Cox' loyalty was unwavering. "I don't know why everybody's yelling against the CTA all the time," she said. "Everybody talks about how wonderful those new green cars are, but I'll still take the old red cars. The old ones seemed to be warmer and their seats seemed softer for sleeping."

PTA Groups To Talk Bond Issue

"How can we get a bond floated for new schools for Greenville?" will be discussed by panel members tomorrow night at a joint meeting of three school Parent-Teacher Association groups in the city. Convening at the Training School tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, PTA groups from West Greenville School, Third Street School, and Training School will hear a panel discussion on the provision of more classrooms for school students in the city. The panel discussion is being sponsored by the legislative committee of the Training School PTA which is made up of Reynolds May, Dr. M. P. Hoot, and Frank Steinbeck. Slated to come up before the panel tomorrow night are such questions as how many classrooms are needed for grammar school and high school students, where and how additional classrooms are going to be distributed, what is planned for the present high school, and what is the estimated amount of money that will be required to get additional classrooms. Letters have been sent out to PTA members and parents of school children informing them of the meeting and urging them to be present. Before the panel discussion is presented, a short program will be presented. Making up the panel will be Mrs. James Joyner, James Brewer, Mrs. Martha Forbes, John O. Reynolds, Reynolds Mays, Mrs. R. P. Rogers, and Frank Steinbeck.

Harry McMullan Back To Office

RALEIGH (UP)—Atty. Gen. Harry McMullan, confined at his home by illness for two months returned today to his state capitol office in his Washington, N. C., home yesterday. McMullan took the oath for his new term of office at his home last month, standing at the head of the stairs while a court official, also unable to climb stairs, stood at the foot.

By EDWARD S. CORNISH United Press Staff Correspondent RALEIGH (UP)—An "all or nothing" statewide liquor referendum bill was expected to hit the 1953 General Assembly today and its sponsor, Rep. H. M. Moore of Clay County, said many legislators are "enthusiastic" about it. Moore has been drumming up support for the measure which would leave it to the voters to either outlaw the sale of all whiskey, beer and wine in the state, or to allow liquor sales in all 100 counties. The bill would end the local option system. "I mentioned it to a good many representatives and they all seemed enthusiastic," Moore said. Moore's bill is separate from a measure expected to have support of Gov. William B. Umstead.

Gen. Taylor Takes Over Eighth; Front Is Quiet

Driving Snowstorm Along Battleline Turns Into Steady Drizzle, Curbs War On The Ground And In The Air

SEOUL (Korea UP)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell Taylor formally took command today of the United Nations 8th Army which was bogged down in the air and along the 155-mile Korean front by rain, snow and heavy clouds. A driving snowstorm lashed the 155-mile front before dawn and then turned into a steady drizzle of rain about 7 a. m. (5 p. m. EST Tuesday). Temperatures rose to above freezing in some sectors. There was no air action during the morning, but in the afternoon fighter-bombers flew scattered attacks to hit Communist targets in the Sariwon and Wonsan area. F-86 Sabre jets flew above the clouds over Northwest Korea but reported no contact with Red MIG-15 fighters. One of the few planes to fly was the Air Force Constellation that took Gen. James A. Van Fleet, outgoing 8th Army commander, to Tokyo on the first leg of his journey home. During the flight to Tokyo Van Fleet told newspapermen the United Nations today could launch an offensive and break the military deadlock in Korea despite a steady buildup of Communist forces. Taylor's first official act as new 8th Army chief was to sign a paper in which he officially assumed command of the Korean war. The important scrap of paper, lying on Taylor's big leather topped desk, marked the end of nearly 23 months of command by Van Fleet. It said: "I hereby assume command of the 8th United States Army in Korea. (signed) Maxwell D. Taylor, lieutenant general, United States Army, commanding." Tying next to this document was a small stack of important-looking red-edged messages, ready for Taylor's immediate attention. Despite the bad weather, thirteen American B-29's last night dropped 130 tons of bombs on Communist supply areas north of Sinanju and near Huichon. No Red fighters or anti-aircraft guns opposed the Japan-based bombers. It was the first time since August that U. N. warplanes hit the Huichon target. The fact that no Red fighters appeared led one American to believe that Communist pilots fear the night-flying American jets that convoy bombers over North Korea. "They're scared to death of us," said Lt. Col. Robert McHale of West Palm Beach, Fla., commander of an F-94 squadron. "As soon as the Communist radar picks up one of our night fighters all the Red planes in the area turn tail and run for the Yalu River. "They are so afraid, in fact, that we frequently accomplish our mission just by being in the air." In ground action last night, the new 15th Republic of Korea Division beat back an attack by a North Korean platoon near Anchor Hill. The Communists used machine guns, rifles and anti-tank weapons in the attack, but were repulsed in 30 minutes.

Assembly Awaits All-Or-Nothing State Whiskey Referendum Bill

The second liquor referendum bill has been drawn up by the dry forces including the Allied Church League and its sponsors are waiting to confer with Umstead about it. In his inaugural address Umstead called for a liquor referendum as a "moral question" to be decided by the people. Regardless of sentiment in the assembly for or against liquor sales, a referendum measure is certain to encounter stiff going because of the amount of revenue involved. Senate Appropriations Chairman John Larkin has estimated it might mean the loss of from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year. Similar referendum bills have been killed off in committee in past sessions of referendum advocates see a better chance of getting a bill to the floor this session. A host of representatives from schools, colleges, training schools and hospitals appeared before the Joint Appropriations Committee yesterday and asked for almost $5,000,000 more in biennial budget funds than has been recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission. North Carolina College at Durham wanted the most—$3,783,172 for permanent improvements and $12,000 for operations. Dr. Alfonso Elder, president, told the committee that the college is attempting to enlarge its graduate facilities to take care of Negro students who otherwise would have to battle through law suits in attempts to enter the University of North Carolina.

Strength for the Day

SIGNIFICANCE IN THE TENSES In the Book of Revelations, the song of the angels is that the kingdoms of this world "have become the kingdoms of our God and his Christ." Note the tense used—"have become."

We talk very often about the coming of the kingdom of God. The Bible teaches that it is already here. It is established. To be sure it is only a beachhead. Jesus referred to it as leaven, as a mustard seed, as good wheat among the tares, as a field containing all manner of good and bad growth. But the point is that it is already established. Jesus Christ came into the world chiefly for three purposes—first, to make possible the forgiveness of our sins; second, to teach us how to live; and third, to establish the kingdom. He died crying out, "It is finished." What did he mean by this? He meant that the things he had come to do had been completely and divinely accomplished; and one of these things was the establishing of the kingdom of God.

The Bible does not teach that this kingdom will continue to grow until at last we have perfection upon the earth. The unmistakable Scripture message is, that at some time in world history a cataclysmic change will take place, and what has begun here and has been growing through the ages will be consummated with heavenly glory.

The Kingdom is here—the kingdom in its final and complete glory is still to come.

Another Dollar Day Lies Just Ahead

When the doors of Greenville stores open Thursday morning the traditional mid-winter Dollar Day officially begins.

The semi-annual one-day event in Greenville has become known throughout this section for the bargains galore the local merchants offer. It is really one day the bargain hunters look forward to with much gusto. And actually before the day is over their search for good buys at reduced prices is very fruitful.

Just like any other occasion of its kind, Dollar Day is looked to with a sort of holiday spirit. A holiday spirit, that is, except for those who work in the uptown stores. They know the day means unusually large numbers of customers to wait on, plenty of rushing, and little time to sit back and watch the crowds.

Like any other occasion of its kind, there are various and sundry jokes made about Dollar Day. One of the favorite jokes is that it is the day all the 79 cent items are marked $1 and the shoppers gobble them up. Another favorite picture Dollar Day as the occasion merchants have to move out the articles they have not been able to move since last time the event was staged.

All in all, however, in spite of such stories, shoppers have found Dollar Day is a day when the Greenville Merchants give shoppers real bargains... much more than a dollar's worth for each dollar spent.

Tomorrow is another Dollar Day in Greenville. There'll be plenty of tired, aching feet by the time the day is over; but there will also be great numbers of highly pleased shoppers who came to Greenville stores to take advantage of the sales event.

Issue Resolved, And N. C. Justice Upheld

The United States Supreme Court has spoken. And a question which has hung over North Carolina's courts system since 1947 has been answered by the highest judicial body of the land.

Now the justice which has been meted out by North Carolina Courts in four cases in the last five years may reach consummation.

The United States Supreme Court has held by 6-3 decision that North Carolina's method of selecting juries from property and poll tax lists is valid; and that such a method of selecting citizens eligible for jury duty is not in conflict with the 14th amendment to the constitution or any part of the constitution.

The decision should quiet—at least for a short time—the outspoken contention on the part of some radicals that Negroes are systematically excluded from jury duty in the state; and that members of the Negro race tried under such conditions have been denied their constitutional rights.

Such contentions have not a leg to stand on, according to the decision of the Supreme Court.

As a result of the decision, four Negroes who have been on death row—one almost six years—following convictions of capital crimes, must pay for their crimes with their lives. The victory of justice was long delayed by the intricate legal maneuvers which were executed in an effort to prevent the execution of these convicted criminals. But now justice' triumph is imminent barring only the remote possibility that Governor William B. Umstead would intervene in the cases and grant commutations to the four who wait on death row.

Bennie and Lloyd Ray Daniels of Pitt County, convicted in May, 1949 of the brutal slaying of William O'Neal, are among the four whose last hope of clinging to life vanished with the Supreme Court decision. Raleigh Speller, thrice convicted by a Bertie County court or raping a middle aged white woman is another. Clyde Brown, convicted in Forsyth Superior Court in 1950 of raping a 17-year-old-white girl is the fourth.

The legal fight to uphold the constitutionality of its courts has been a long and costly one for the State of North Carolina. At the same time the fight which was aimed at having North Carolina's system of selecting jurors declared unconstitutional was also costly. And the funds for that fight likewise came from the pockets of citizens in various sections of the state.

Now there should be as little delay as possible in seeing that the four men whose sentences have been delayed by subsequent litigation receive their just deserts for the crimes they committed against the people of North Carolina.

There will be no excuse, as we see it, for future long drawn out higher court fights on the same question. The Supreme Court has spoken, and that should suffice.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—Wall Street's restrained reaction to President Eisenhower's policies and principles has so far failed to bear out Harry S. Truman's campaign warnings that a Republican triumph would mean the transfer of government from Washington to the financial canyons of downtown New York. The market takes a sober look at the national and world scene, despite the return of conservatives to power.

Instead of sensational or even steady rises in stock values, they have remained dull and weak, with declines in rails and industrials. Such "war stocks" as aircraft, steel and motors gained only fractionally. Even public utility securities, although heartened by Eisenhower-McKay promises of greater consideration for private interests in future developments, did not rally.

Motion pictures and theaters were almost the only stocks to move upward. But the optimistic trend was influenced more by the prospect of gazing on Ava Gardner in three-dimensional films than by any words or acts at Washington. In certain respects Ike cannot compete with the Hollywood beauty.

COMMODITY MARKET REACTION—The movements in the commodity market were especially significant. They seem to repudiate lugubrious forecasts that the proposed removal of controls on April 30 will result in soaring food prices at the retail markets.

Wheat and corn for delivery in May, which will be after the expiration of controls, fell several points. Cattle prices are down. There was a complete absence of speculative interest. Eisenhower's failure to outline any specific plan for boosting farm prices undoubtedly accounted for the lethargy in these commodities.

A basic reason for Wall Street's apparent indifference, perhaps, is that the new Administration's effect on the financial community had been discounted almost since Eisenhower's nomination. An "Ike boom" set in immediately after he was chosen to oppose Adlai E. Stevenson, with Wall Street betting on a GOP victory.

TRADERS IN STOCKS SLOW DOWN—Now, despite their delight over the departure of the Democrats from the Capital, the traders in stocks, bonds and commodities have slowed down their activity while they take inventory. They are keeping their fingers crossed and their wallets zipped while they await definite action by the White House and Congress on legislation and Federal finances.

Eisenhower's positive and aggressive foreign policy largely underlies their caution. An expansion of the Korean conflict as a result of the denaturalization of Formosa, with heavier and stepped-up defense production, would send some stocks skyward, while others would fall. There would be a decline in many lines, if American exports drop because of Western Europe's failure to heed Secretary Dulles' ultimatum on unity.

Minister Churchill's experience also urges against premature rejoicing and reaction. Although he took office with pledges to undo the Labor Government's "socialistic reforms," he has found it a slow and difficult task to eradicate basic changes in England's social and economic structure.

PATRONAGE EPISODE—A recent patronage episode on Capitol Hill illustrates vividly the good and bad points of President Eisenhower's handling of this problem.

He Lee White, a New York lawyer living in Short Hills, N. J., came to Washington to attend the Inauguration. He dropped into the office of Senator H. Alexander Smith to pay his respects, sitting with a score of other Jersey constituents.

After an hour, Senator Smith's administrative assistant got around to unknown lawyer White. He asked the visitor's name, address and occupation, as he does to all Mr. White explained that he was "not just passing through Washington," that he "was not in business at Washington" and that he "was not in government work"—routine, secretarial queries.

Finally, it developed that lawyer White had not been appointed as Assistant Secretary of the Air Force! The incident testifies to Ike's desire for air force.

How can America meet the challenge of Communism when her zeal for freedom is just a clique?

We have fed and clothed many people of the world in the last few years. Their stomachs were made full but the march of Communism continued.

A successful crusade needs a noble cause—we believe the cause for freedom is noble enough. A successful crusade needs an inspired cause—this has been the source of our failure.

We have given attention to the empty stomachs—we should have known that even more important were the empty hearts.—(Prepost, Ohio, Press)

With the tremendous margin of votes for General Eisenhower over his opponent, Adlai Stevenson—whose 27,311,316 popular votes was the largest vote on record for any defeated candidate—the Electoral College procedure seems more than ever unnecessary. Many critics of the outmoded system contend its usefulness died with the horse-and-buggy days when communications were slow. Today, they contend, count of the popular vote, available within hours after election, should settle the matter.—(Warren, Ark. Eagle Democrat)

The Prodigal "Fatted Calf"

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

Yesterday John Biggs in Biggs Drug Store asked me, "Did you know that crows live to be 100 years old?"

"Well," I answered, "don't stop there. Tell me the rest of the joke." "It's no joke," John said. "I read it in Grier's Almanac and so far I can't find anybody to dispute it." Before John finished this amazing story I had a copy of the story, written by John Martin, Editor of Southern Outdoors.

The story relates that the fastest money any Southern farmer can make is being overlooked. It is estimated that the common crow does $10 worth of work in a year. With an average life span of 100 years, the crow costs the Southern farmer $1,000. Thus, 20 crows in the bag would mean $20,000; that is, if the farmer is fortunate enough to live 100 years after shooting the crows to cash in on the saving. The crow not only damages crops, but he also destroys nests of beneficial songbirds and takes delight in gobbling up or pecking egg shells. If all the efforts spent toward shooting game birds are turned against the crow, Southern farmers would not only save thousands of dollars, but would probably have a lot of fun.

Crow shooting is a wonderful sport when followed by a shot-gunner, using a crow call. The season is open all year long and there's no bag limit. But, as Mr. Martin puts it, the crow is a smart rascal. He is fast to learn and he is a tricky target. Don't underestimate him.

Successful crow shooting depends largely on concealment or camouflage, plus the ability to hit a tricky target. In most parts of the South crows are abundant. Their clannish nature makes them a sucker for a good call, and they are quick to respond.

After you have cleaned out the crows in your immediate vicinity jump into your car and drive about two miles. It's best to have a partner, for one fully-loaded automatic isn't enough to take care of a flock. Conceal yourselves, but leave some openings for shots through the trees. Toot your call in blasts of three: Ca-a-w, Ca-a-w, Ca-a-w. They'll head for your call in a hurry. Keep your rifle ready and stay ready from the very first call. They'll get over you before you have time to think.

To me, this crow shooting seems like a good sport, and very profitable. If you want more details John Biggs can give them to you. And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

TAES — Distributed among Raleigh Kiwanians at their latest luncheon, and presumably among civic luncheon clubs all over, were some highly interesting "Tax Facts" compiled by the United States Chamber of Commerce. Authority for the figures was given in footnotes as the U.S. Departments of Commerce and Treasury. The leaflets showed that since 1939 the personal income of Americans has more than trebled, going up from $73 billion to $254 billion; but in that same period Federal taxes have multiplied 21 times, going from $1.2 billion to $26.1 billion. It is also stated that you can't eat or wear taxes, but last year the aggregate Federal, State and local taxes paid by Americans amounted to more than the total bill for food and clothing—direct and hidden taxes amounting to $84 billion, while food and clothing bills were $81 billion.

PUNCH — The punch line was that "In 1953, you won't start working for yourself until April 22. Combined Federal, State and local taxes will take all the income of American people derived from wages, salaries, rents, interest and dividends through April 22. 'Government economy begins with you, the taxpayer,'" quips the U.S.C.C. which also remind that "the government belongs to those who take an interest in it."

ONE-SIDED — The ideal relationship between government spending and government receipts from taxes is one of accurate balance. Exact balance cannot be obtained except by accident, but the goal which everybody strives for is a reasonably approximate balance. Surpluses and deficits are equally obnoxious to those who would maintain true balance.

Laws now on the books and bills pending in the Legislature purport to give authority to adjust downward in order to keep the balance, but not to adjust upward—no matter how serious the need for such adjustment, due to conditions which could not be anticipated at the time tax levies and appropriations were made.

BUDGET — The executive budget act makes it mandatory upon the Governor as director of the budget to cut appropriations made by the General Assembly if the State's revenue is not sufficient to meet the commitments. There is no provision for the Governor as director of the budget, or for the Council of State or the Advisory Budget Commission, or any other agency, to increase allocations when more money comes in than was expected—no matter how serious the need because of inflation or what have you.

PROPOSAL — There is now pending a bill signed by about half the 50 Senators purporting to authorize and direct the Governor to issue a proclamation reducing income tax levies made by the General Assembly in the event State revenue has exceeded appropriation commitments. But —there is no authority to increase levies in event revenue is not enough to meet appropriations.

BALANCE? — Statutory authority to cut appropriations and the proposal for income tax — "its own way of saying — "The Government to issue a proclamation reducing income tax levies made by the General Assembly in the event State revenue has exceeded appropriation commitments. But —there is no authority to increase levies in event revenue is not enough to meet appropriations.

DELEGATION — We are concerned here mostly with State relationships, and still talking about balance of authority as well as balance of budgets in dollars and services. The question then government has no right to collect more taxes than may be required to meet its reasonable needs, and government has no right not to collect enough taxes to meet the reasonable obligations to its citizens.

CONSTITUTIONAL — Under the system of constitutional government in the United States and in North Carolina the legislative branch has supreme authority. The executive branch must administer and enforce the laws, and the judiciary must act as a sort of referee or umpire to see that neither the legislative nor executive branches violate the constitutional rights of citizens. That is called the system of checks and balances, and while each of the branches sometimes invades the provinces of the others, by and large the system has worked admirably in this country and in others which have patterned their governmental structures on similar lines.

AUTHORITY — It is true that in both the Nation and the State each of these branches have at times delegated some of its inherent authority, and at times may have assumed authority which had not been delegated. That has been true to a degree in Federal government circles where executive and judicial departments have obviously invaded the legislative field to much greater extent than "contemplated" by the legislative branch when it voluntarily surrendered some of its prerogatives.

DELEGATION — We are concerned here mostly with State relationships, and still talking about balance of authority as well as balance of budgets in dollars and services. The question then movement epidemic. Let it be noted that in practically every reorganization which has come to light more places have been or would be provided for worthy and deserving place-holders. North Carolina grows to issue a proclamation reducing income tax levies made by the General Assembly in the event State revenue has exceeded appropriation commitments. But —there is no authority to increase levies in event revenue is not enough to meet appropriations.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESNER — Now that income tax (this is approaching, many married couples are asking whether it pays the wife to work in addition to the husband. The answer is that it does, but not very much.

The way to tell how much it is to make a detailed examination of each case.

Take the case of the Wappingers. Robert makes $100 a week. Lulu gets $80. Total income, $180 a week. Total take-home pay, less.

Lulu spends 30 cents a day getting to and from work five days a week, fifty weeks a year. That's $75 a year. She eats a light lunch, paying an average of 60 cents a day, $150 a year.

She calculates that she spends about $350 more a year for clothes than she would if she were not working. And because she has less time for home work, she has a part-time cleaning woman who gets $8 a week, or $400 a year. Other working in a large office, she feels required to contribute to an endless series of engagement, going-away and other presents and occasionally stand a treat of afternoon coffee expenses she would not have if she stayed home. These, and an annual Christmas gift to her maid, she figures come to $70 a year.

Special security and group hospitalization charges are deducted from her pay, but these are really bargains so she doesn't count them.

Now, under the split-income provisions of the law, if her husband alone worked, the family's total Federal income tax would be about $77. Under the same provisions, with both working, their tax bill comes to around $144, assuming average deductions in both cases. In short, her added income increases their taxes by about $67. The family's income has been increased 60 per cent by her labors; its tax bill, 85 per cent.

The total added cost of Lulu's job is therefore $1,722. Subtracted from her annual pay of $3,120, that leaves $1,398, or $26.88 a week.

Lulu is still better off than her sister Mabel. Mabel has a child and she and her husband get a $600 deduction. But she has to pay $25 a week, of $1,250 a year to have the child cared for while she works.

ASSOCIATION PROTESTS — Other trade associations are expected to join the National Retail Dry Goods Association's protests of a recent ruling of the Internal Revenue Bureau. The Bureau held the disability or accident benefits to employees from employers' self-insurance plans were taxable as gross income.

THE N.R.D.G.A. holds this is a burden on employees so protected benefits paid to employees when insured through private companies is non-taxable. DOOR-TO-DOOR GROUP FOR LEGIBLE CONTRACTS — Agreements in "large, legible type" — on which this department has harped — were named as one of its principles by the National Association of House to House Installation Companies, convening in New York.

Other principles adopted include honest and fair representation of merchandise, no deceptive statements by sellers, no false or misleading canvasses, cooperation with organizations representing the best interests of business, investigation of employees prior to hiring, and ethical methods in collecting accounts.

NEW PRODUCTS — PAINT — A latex-base enamel, said to be easier to apply than solvent-type enamels and to be quick drying and odorless, is being offered (by Glidden Co., 11001 Madison Ave., Cleveland 2, Ohio). Finish can be washed repeatedly without harm and the brushes cleaned with water.

BAR — A spring-controlled bar on shoulder-shaped coat hangers is said to hold shirts and trousers securely. It's made of plastic in gray, black or maroon (by Madison Products, Ltd., 500 Madison Ave., New York).

WINDOW — Pine window units with a load-bearing factor of 2,400 pounds are being made (by S. A. Air-Flo, Inc., Elkart, Ind.). Eliminating need for additional bracing to bear roof load, they may be easily installed with a screw driver and hammer and feature built-in screens and weather striped joints.

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE — NEW YORK (AP) — George Washington, now known as the Father of His Country, once was a teen-ager by himself.

And like the teen-ager of today he found himself beset by many problems of conduct. It was as tough to bridge the gap between boyhood and manhood then as it is now—perhaps even more so.

What did young George do about it? He decided to improve himself by drawing up his own code of behavior.

At the age of 16 he had left his widowed mother to live with his half-brother at Mt. Vernon. The young boy felt ill-at-ease in the sparkling Virginia society.

So he took a goose quill pen and wrote in his copybook his now famous 110 "Rules of Civility and Decent Behavior in Company and Conversation." Written in shaky grammar and spelling, some rules were copied from an English etiquette book: Some of young Washington made up himself.

But by following them the earnest youth became one of the most courtly men of his time. His copybook maxims have recently reprinted in a small beautiful volume by Lewis Glaser of New Haven, Conn.

Some are quaint and old-fashioned now. Others will always remain cornerstones in civilized society.

Here are a few of the youthful George's teen-age tips to himself: "Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect to those that are present."

"In the presence of others sing not to yourself with a humming noise, nor drum with your fingers or feet."

"Sleep not when others talk. Sit not when others stand. Speak not when you should hold your peace. Walk not when others stop."

"Put not off your clothes in the presence of others, nor go out your chamber half dressed. (Parents of teen-agers today would like to have this one carved in brass.)

"Spit not in the fire. . . Nor set your feet upon the fire especially if there be meat before it."

"When you sit down, keep your feet firm & even, without putting one on the other or crossing them."

"Shift not yourself in the sight of others nor gnaw your nails. Kill no vermin as fleas, lice, ticks, etc., in the sight of others."

"Read no letters, books or papers in company. . . Also look not high when another is writing a letter."

"Reproach none for the infirmities (George couldn't spell that word) of nature. Show not yourself glad at the misfortune of another though he were your enemy."

"If any one come to speak to you while you are sitting, stand up though he be your inferior."

"Let your discourse with men of business be short and comprehensive."

"Strive not with your superiors in argument, but always submit your judgement to others with modesty."

"In your apparel be modest and endeavour to accommodate nature, rather than to procure admiration. . . Play not the peacock."

"Run not in the streets, neither go too slowly nor with mouth open. Go not shaking your arms, kick not the earth with your feet, go not upon the toes nor in a dancing fashion."

"Speak not of doubtful things in a time of mirth or at the table. Tell not your dreams; but to your intimate friend. . . Speak not injurious words, neither in jest nor in earnest. "Being set at meat, scratch not, neither spit, cough nor blow your nose — except there's necessity for it. . . If you speak bread in the sauce let it be no more than what you put in your mouth at a time. . . Put not another bit into your mouth until the former be swallowed. . . Let not your morsels be too big for your gowls (jaws)."

"When you speak of God or his attributes, let it be seriously and with reverence. Honor & obey your natural parents, altho, they be poor. (Can Daddy help it, Kids if he can't afford to buy you a television set?)"

"Labour to keep alive in your breast that little spark of celestial fire called conscience."

This was the last maxim young Washington put down. And it guided him to greatness.

Washington Letter

By JANE EADS — WASHINGTON—A new semester has begun for students of the Capitol Page School on the third floor of the Library of Congress.

And in a preliminary course the boys memorized a picture book. The book contained likenesses of Congress members and Supreme Court Justices.

Pages by congressional appointment are ranging in age from 14 to 18, the regular high school courses, is Miss Ruth McRae, appointed by the District of Columbia Board of Education. Classes begin at 6:30 a.m. and continue until 10:30, when the boys go to work as pages and messengers on the floors of the House and Senate and in the Supreme Court Building.

The faculty of the Capitol Page School consists of five teachers and a basketball coach. Subjects are English, social studies, mathematics, science, typing and short hand. Government is a senior subject required for graduation. The school is accredited by the Middle States Association and students earn the same credits they would if at any high school.

In addition to those they earn in the classroom the boys get credits from the secretary of the Senate, the doorkeeper of the House and the Marshal of the Supreme Court on the work they do in these departments. "Also, this is the only school in the country where a student gets two report cards, one for his parents and one for his sponsor," Miss McRae told me. "It makes them doubly on their toes, for the sponsor is as interested in the boy's work as his parents."

Miss McRae expects to have a good basketball team this year, because the new pages all seem taller. The team plays small schools in the District and nearby Maryland. She also expects to organize a golf and swimming team to enter local inter-high competition.

All but four of the youngsters are appointed by Republican members of Congress. They boys get a monthly salary of approximately $25 but are expected to pay living expenses, but many of them live with their parents or relatives in or near Washington.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

NOTE ON REORGANIZATION (Greensboro Daily News)

The Raleigh scene is really breaking out with reorganization. Already the paroles office has been reorganized with substitution of a board of three commissioners for the single official who has been presiding over the paroles system.

Either introduced or in the offing are measures to reorganize and possibly expand the State Board of Conservation and Development, reorganize the State Highway Commission and increase its membership from 10 to 5 and expansion of the judicial system through creation of six new Superior Court judgeships; and there may be others which will make the movement epidemic. Let it be noted that in practically every reorganization which has come to light more places have been or would be provided for worthy and deserving place-holders. North Carolina grows to issue a proclamation reducing income tax levies made by the General Assembly in the event State revenue has exceeded appropriation commitments. But —there is no authority to increase levies in event revenue is not enough to meet appropriations.

Grifton WSCS Holds Regular Meeting

Grifton—The February meeting of the WSCS of the Methodist Church was on Monday night at the church, Mrs. John Oglesby, Jr., presiding.

Spiritual Life Leader, Mrs. Sam McLehman, Sr., conducted the devotional and used as the meditation "Blessed Are The Merciful" prayer and the singing of the hymn "There's a Wideness in God's Mercy" concluded the opening of the meeting.

After the roll and minutes by the secretary, Mrs. Oglesby thanked the members for their part in getting clothing for the Korea relief.

Plans for a delegate to the annual conference in March in Rocky Mount were discussed. It was voted that the society register Mrs. A. E. Brown for this, with other members attending also.

Mrs. F. L. Cox volunteered to be on the welcome committee with Mr. Cox for the next month at the Sunday school hour.

The president urged all members to attend the study course which is in session each Wednesday night in the Richard Nelson Class room of the church. A program following the business was presented on "By One Spirit Are We . . . One Body". Mrs. Milton Hart gave the opening prayer from the China Unit of the World Federation of Methodist Women. The program presented the thought of missions and missionary education. Mrs. Cecil Cobb gave a meditation, "Now is The Time," urging all women to work with God in promoting the building of His Kingdom.

Hostesses for the evening were Mesdames Richard Nelson, Sam Nelson, Roger Johnson and W. E. Rasberry. The refreshment table was covered with a linen cloth and held a lovely bowl of flowering quince, red candles in silver holders, punch and sandwiches and salted nuts were served.

Little Ladies Club

The Little Ladies Club will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Armory. This week, something for mothers on Valentine will be made. All little girls are reminded of the Membership Drive which is still on. Barbara Brooks and Ruth Cotton, Clark are leading but they are not too much ahead, so everyone has a chance. The meeting will last until 4:30.

AIR ATTACK DRILL

RALEIGH (AP)—North Carolina's first simulated "enemy air attacks" for Ground Observer Corps test purposes will be staged this weekend in the Mecklenburg County area, Civil Defense Director W. F. Bailey announced today.

Mrs. Lee Hostess To Atheneum Club

The Atheneum Book Club met with Mrs. W. W. Lee on Greene St. at 1:00 P. M. Tuesday, February 10.

After being greeted at the door by the hostess, the guests were assigned seats by attractive Valentine place cards. The home was beautifully decorated throughout with spring flowers in a color scheme of yellow.

A delicious two course barbecue luncheon was served.

The program for the afternoon was given by Miss Gloria Blanton, youth director of Memorial Baptist Church. Miss Blanton reviewed the book, "A Faith For You," by Brooks Tatters Church. She pointed out different beliefs and religions of our country, which was most inspiring and interesting.

There was a short business meeting after which the books were distributed.

The guests for the afternoon were: Mrs. Luther Moore, Mrs. F. W. Mills and Miss Richardson.

Last Rites Thursday For James Edwards

WASHINGTON, N. C.—Funeral services for James Watson Edwards, 29, former resident of Washington, will be held at the Paul Funeral Home Thursday at 3 p. m., conducted by Elder G. W. Shepard of Wilmington, assisted by Elder Clyde I. Shepard of Erwin. Burial will be in Oakdale Cemetery. Mr. Edwards died Sunday afternoon following a motorcycle-car collision in West Palm Beach, Fla. He had been making his home in Florida for the past three years. He was born in Washington, son of Joseph O. and Pearl Potter Edwards, was a former garage employe here, and was a veteran of World War II. Surviving are his parents, his wife the former Telza Williams of Farmville, and a brother, Joseph O. Edwards, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga.

Mr. Edwards was the brother-in-law of Mr. Bill Williams of Greenville.

It is estimated that there have been six million visitors to the restoration of colonial Williamsburg, Va., since the restoration was started in 1926.

Wolves formerly ranged over most of Europe, Asia and North America, but were not found in Africa or South America.

Eight Removed From Classification Of Blind

Eight persons in Pitt County were removed from the classification of blindness, during January, the monthly report of the case worker for the blind reveals.

The report was made Monday night at the regular weekly meeting of the Greenville Lions Club.

Altogether, 126 persons received aid-to-the-blind grants. Two new applications for aid to the blind were approved.

Reviews were made of all aid to the blind cases and revisions in grants were made as circumstances or recipients changed.

The report is prepared monthly by Jennie Manning, case worker employed by the Pitt County Association for the Blind and the Lions Club of Greenville.

The case worker visited the blind in their homes during the month, and assisted in personal and family adjustment and craft work. In addition, braille was taught to several persons and assisted some with a braille reading machine. Occupational therapy crafts and materials were distributed to needy persons by the case worker.

Four persons were sent to camp Butner for rehabilitation, while three other continued training at the center.

Two persons were assisted in finding employment, one as an operator of a store and one as a broom winder.

Eye examinations were arranged for 36 persons, and glasses were recommended for 23, surgery for five, and treatment for four. In four other cases there were no recommendations made for improvement of vision.

Three eye operations were performed during the month.

The Greenville Lions club assisted six needy persons in paying for glasses, totaling $48.49.

In addition the Pitt County as-

Offers Soldiers For Korea Duty

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)—Caribbean strong man Rafael L. Trujillo, predicting revolutions in Latin America if the Communists are not stopped, has offered Dominican Republic troops to fight the Reds in Korea.

Trujillo told newsmen his government was ready to offer a regimental combat team—usually about 5,000 men—for service with the United Nations forces in the Korean war.

At the same time, he warned that Communists are on the point of taking over Guatemala's army and are ready to launch revolutions in Venezuela and Cuba.

Trujillo said the Guatemala Communist cells have been armed with pistols, machine guns and grenades in preparation for re-

Grifton Will Be Featured Town In Radio Show

RALEIGH—Grifton will be featured in "The Finer Carolina Show" over a 23-station radio network soon as a $1,000 prize winner in the Finer Carolina Contest sponsored by Carolina Power & Light Company.

The radio show will be produced at Grifton High School auditorium at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, February 16. Fred Fletcher of Raleigh, the master of ceremony, will interview Mrs. Thurman Williams, 1952 general chairman of the Finer Carolina steering committee, and W.E. Rasberry, newly elected 1953 chairman.

"The Finer Carolina Show" features comedy skits and songs by Mary and Bob Bird, David Witherspoon, with Bob Sawyer at the organ. The show is heard for 30 minutes on Sunday afternoons over a network of stations in the two Carolinas.

The show produced at Grifton Monday night will be recorded on tape and will be broadcast over the Finer Carolina network on the afternoon of Sunday, February 22.

Grifton is one of the first towns to be featured on the new radio show by virtue of its selection as first place winner among towns of under 1,000 population in both the Carolinas. Its prize was $1000.

Silver Usage In Constant Growth

NEW YORK (AP)—The world used 251,300,000 ounces of silver in 1952, reports the 37th annual Handy & Harman silver market review.

Silver is now being used in brazing alloys, where it provides a fast inexpensive method of bonding metals. It also is being widely used throughout the chemical and electronic industries.

Of last year's consumption, $6 million ounces represented United States use in the arts and industries.

Clowning For Half A Century, He's Still Active

IMPERIA, Italy (AP)—A former Letin professor claims to be one of the oldest active clowns in the world. Although 73, Adriano Wetach doesn't feel like an old man yet and has no thoughts of retiring.

Making people laugh for the past half century has kept him young, he claims. "My folks wanted me to be a watchmaker," said the clown, known professionally as Grock.

Born in Reconville in the Swiss Bernese mountains, Grock has played before most of the crowned heads of Europe. He counted among his friends such monarchs as Czar Nicholas of Russia, William II, Albert and Leopold of Belgium and George V of England.

Red China Film Industry Grows

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Peiping radio reports that Red China's film industry attracted audiences totalling 582 million during 1952.

State and private film companies produced 81 motion pictures and dubbed Chinese into 83 other productions from Russia and "the people's democracies," the Red radio says.

Sunfighter's Return

by Leslie Ernenwein

Chapter Eleven

The hot glare of noon's shadowless sunlight was on Main Street when Jim Rimbaud came out of the Alhambra Hotel. He had slept the clock around, yet he didn't feel rested. He had downed two cups of black coffee in the dining room but still felt sluggish and depressed. Even the cigarette he smoked didn't taste right.

"To much bourbon last night," prying at his teeth with a toothpick while Rimbaud walked up to him. "Good morning," Robillarde greeted in a blandly impersonal voice. "What's this I hear about you riding for Sam Maiben?"

"You heard right," Rimbaud said.

"But the man is a fugitive from justice," Robillarde insisted. "A wanted cow thief. Why get mixed up with him?"

"My business," Rimbaud said. "I'm warning you that any interference with the capture of Maiben will not be tolerated."

Rimbaud laughed at him. He asked, "Would that be a threat or a warning, Sol?"

"A warning. My political future may depend on what takes place in the next few days. I want no more trouble for the newspapers to puff up into headlines. Don't want it, and won't stand for it."

"So," Rimbaud mused. "Well, now I'll tell you something, Sol. Any Roman Four rider that trespasses on Maiben's property will do so at his own risk."

"You're just asking for trouble," Robillarde warned again. "Just asking for it."

"Sure," Rimbaud peered, "like I asked Ernie Link to take a pot shot at me from the Shiloh's back door."

"Then he went on to the stable to have his horse saddled. Joe Gabbert came out of the harness room, tusk-haired and yawning. "A big night," the liverman reflected. "You leavin' so soon?"

Rimbaud nodded, handed him a silver dollar, and asked, "Which is the best way to Sam Maiben's place?"

"So them rumors is true," Gabbert said. "Well Sam couldn't have a better man sidin' him by grab. You got Lew Stromberg eatin' out of your hand. Never saw the beat of it the way you bluffed Lew down last night."

"I wasn't bluffing," Rimbaud said. "How about some directions?"

"Well the Spanish Strip road forks off to the north a mile beyond the cattle pens. Just keep on it till you top Big Mesa then bear left on a trail that drops off into Embrace Canyon, cross the creek, and climb Jigsaw Divide. Maiben's place is off to the north about five crow-flight miles from the divide.

The wagon road winds around from Big Mesa and branches off at Labelle's Camp. But it's a good piece farther that way.

"Thanks," Rimbaud said and rode out.

The Roman Four crew would be on the hunt for Maiben again to-day, he supposed. At least the headquarters crew, which, according to Limpy Smith, consisted of five men. Two others, who held down a line camp in the Potholes, probably hadn't been in on yesterday's man hunt. But there was another Roman Four man unaccounted for in town last night—a fellow Limpy called Booger Bill. "Big as a Percheron stud," Smith had described him, "and a trifle loco in the noggin."

The smoky years had taught Jim Rimbaud the value of vigilance on the trail so that now, observing that distant dust plume had vanished, he angled off the road. The unseen rider, he decided, had halted somewhere south of the road on a brush-blotched ridge that bulged the long slope. His presence up there might not mean a thing. But from now on, day or night, the threat of ambush would be a nagging companion, and wariness would be his only shield.

He crossed the slope some three miles north of the ridge, and presently re-entering the Spanish Strip road, followed it to the broad crest of Big Mesa. Here he halted, scanning his backtrail and giving the roundabout terrain a questing attention. No risen dust showed anywhere and no sound disturbed the windless, sun-warmed air. When he turned into a westward trail he noticed two sets of horse tracks—one set headed toward the road, and another set angling away from it. Keeping to one side of the tracks, he observed a similarity in the hoof-prints, as if they might have been made by the same horse. But the tracks were five or six hours old, he judged, and so disregarded them as his horse eased down a narrow, steep-titled trail into Embrace Canyon.

Presently, as the roan drank from a pool in a boulder-strewn creek at the canyon's bottom, Rimbaud had an overwhelming urge to take a swim. This was more water than he had seen in months. Not enough to swim in, really; but a man could splash around in it and get himself wet all over!

Rimbaud scanned the towering wall of Jigsaw Divide, which rose high above the canyon. This might be one of the places Roman Four would watch in the hunt for Sam Maiben. But he detected no sign or sound of movement anywhere on the divide, and water was hugely tempting.

"I'll risk it," Rimbaud decided with a gambler's fatalism. Trying the roan to a clump of brush, he took off his clothes and eased into the pool. This was better than any barbershop bathtub. It reminded him of his boyhood in Texas; now he used to ride ten dusty heat-hammered miles for the boyish pleasure of taking belly-splashes in a muddy river. There had been no other boys to share the fun, but he had whooped and hollered, making believe that he was accompanied by rollicking companions. He recalled the fine feeling of the water against his flesh when he first jumped in, and how his father had poked fun at him, warning that he'd grow up web-footed. A long, long time ago. . .

Rimbaud was splashing around and thoroughly enjoying himself when a voice called, "I that you, Sam?"

The term "lory" originally referred to a Papist outlaw in England; later became the nickname of one of the most respectable political parties of the country and in recent years has become a term of reproach.

Local Fans Pull For Davey

The hubbalo and glory that once reigned supreme for gladiators of the squared circle, returns for a brief, stint tonight when "the people's choice" Chuck Davey challenges the "keed from Cuba" Kid Gavilan for the World's Welterweight Championship boxing title.

Due to the popular medium of television, Davey has captured the fancy of the public in a manner reminiscent of the "golden era of boxing" that started to fade some-what when Joe Louis ascended the heavyweight throne and began to bowl over challengers with ridiculous ease.

Champion fighters were once hailed among sports dignitaries and society alike as men of great distinction. Invasion into the fight game by racketeers who bought fighters and fixed fights for betting cleanups almost destroyed public interest in the sport.

Because of television the public has had a chance to follow college-bred Davey's short spectacular career and he has been adopted as a sentimental favorite by fight fans all over the U.S. The blond, fragile looking holder of two degrees from Michigan State College is viewed by fans as a right guy in a wrong element and they want the best for him.

Gavilan has been established as a 12-5 favorite by the men whose money speaks, but the college cutie has fooled experts before and the sentimental public believes he can do it again.

Greenville fight fans are good examples of Davey's popularity. Les Turnage, Greenville realtor, says, "I'll be pulling for Davey but Gavilan is far superior to anyone he's fought so far. However, I believe Davey will win but I wouldn't want to bet on it."

Bookie Eddie, local insurance agent, emphatically declared, "Davey has shown himself to be the smartest fighter to enter the ring in a long time and I believe he will outsmart Gavilan."

Don Schliez, Reflector News Editor, a close follower of the ring sport, surmised, "Gavilan will be trying for a knockout and if Davey gets careless for a moment it will all be over. Gavilan can end the fight with one blow but the problem for him will be breaking through Davey's southpaw defense to land one solid punch. If the fight goes the distance Davey will no doubt win on points."

Notebook in hand, professional fighter Tip Tipton, ex-professional Ed (Tip) Tipton, ex-professional and Sporting Goods business here, for a professional view.

"If Gavilan beats Davey he'll have to knock him out. The fight will be a terrific battle of brain-work. Davey will be striving to job out a decision and Gavilan's only hope is to break inside Davey's defense for a quick knock-out punch."

"Fights like these aren't usually crowd pleasers. Neither fighter will get credit for the brainwork involved. Gavilan has this problem: He must try to stay away from Davey enough to keep him from piling up too many points and at the same time try to land a finishing blow."

"Davey's offense is his defense and you can't have a better defense. Gavilan is a great counter puncher but I don't see how he's going to get a chance to counter."

"Chuck isn't actually a southpaw; he leads with his right but he fights from a squared stance and uses his terrific speed to swing immediately to a left lead. You can bet that Gavilan will have a few new tricks up his sleeve as to how to get inside on Davey and if he does he'll end the fight with a couple of punches."

"The Chicago style of scoring a fight is in favor of Davey. In Chicago points are scored for edge in leading, contact made and punching ability. The fellow that lands most punches wins. In New York scoring is different. Ten hard punches get more points than 20 jabs in New York."

"I look for Davey to win on a decision."

College Students For Chuck Davey

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) Nearly 10,000 students at Michigan State College will be rooting for Chuck Davey in his welterweight championship fight tonight with Kid Gavilan.

Before climbing into the Chicago ring, Davey will be presented with a 200-foot "good luck" letter signed by his former fellow students here.

The letter was circulated Tuesday in all campus dormitories and residential units for presentation to the former Michigan State boxing star.

Phantoms Lose 47-45 At Elizabeth City

Late Phant Rally Halted By Time; Free Throws Fail

By WAYNE BISHOP

Greenville High's Phantoms made a spirited somewhat belated rally that felt victim to the time limit as Elizabeth City edged out a 47-45 victory in a thrilling Northeastern Conference basketball game here last night.

The Stokes girls started the evening's action by thoroughly routing their visitors, 45-15, and the boys finished up what was left by out-scoring their opponents 67-50.

In the girls game, Jane Bullock and Helen Copeland were the leaders of a Stokes attack that finished up even hotter than it started. Jane led the scoring for the night with 17 points but she was barely ahead of Helen's 16 tallies.

The Stokes girls led 12-8 at the end of the first quarter and 26-10 at the end of two periods.

All-Conference forward Jack Warren was the big gun for the boys in their half of the activity. Warren, a senior, got 24 points—most of them after the second quarter started.

Walstonburg all but completely stopped the Stokes attack in the first period to lead 16-11 but Stokes started moving in the second quarter and had taken a 31-28 lead at half-

The United Press today announced that East Carolina College Assistant Coach Clyde Biggers is one of three men being considered for the position as Head Football Coach at Wofford College. There has been no announcement of any sort from either Wofford athletic officials or East Carolina officials.

Biggers could not be reached for comment.

Also being considered for the job, according to the United Press report, are Jim Camp of the University of North Carolina and Mississippi State. Camp served as a backfield assistant at Carolina under Carl Snaveley.

Biggers, a native of Salisbury and a 1947 graduate of Catawba College, has been at East Carolina for one year. He received state-wide praise for his work with East Carolina linemen and the Buc offensive and defensive lines were recognized as being among the toughest in the conference.

Before coming to East Carolina, Biggers served as head coach at Fayetteville High School. He also played one year of professional football with the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Farmville Splits Wins With Rams

FARMVILLE—A pattern that has become all-too-familiar for Farmville basketball fans was reported last night when the Red Devils' girls team won 44-34 from Robersonville while the boys lost 46-41.

The Farmville girls, paced by Sue Flanagan's 16 points, had very little trouble in winning their game. They led 22-17 at the half and had no trouble at all in the last two quarters.

In the boys game, Farmville stayed close to Robersonville throughout the contest but could never muster enough steam to take the lead for keeps. Robersonville led 12-8 at the end of the first period, 26-23 at the half, and 36-33 at the end of the third period.

Farmville's Charlie Fitzgerald and Robersonville's A. Warren each had 14 points to share the high scoring honors for the night. Ted Allen of Farmville and Everett of Robersonville shared the runner-up honors with 11 points apiece.

Russell Gains On Leading Scorers

Sonny Russell, All-Conference forward of the East Carolina College Pirates, has moved into second place in individual scoring in the North State Conference. The New Bern senior has an average of 23.3 points per game.

Gulford's Bob Shoaf, one of the hottest scorers the conference has ever seen, is riding high in first place with an even 25 points per game mark. The Quaker ace has 451 points in 18 games while Russell has 349 in 15 contests.

Ronald Rodgers, the Western Carolina Little All-American, is in third place with a mark of 21.7, three-tenths of a point ahead of fourth place Bobby Hodges of East Carolina who has checked in with a 21.4 mark. Rodgers has the greatest number of points for the season, 492.

Russell stands a slight chance of taking over the scoring lead even though the Pirates have only three regular season contests remaining. Shoaf's Gulford mates have five regular games left before the two teams buckle down to play in the North State Conference tournament.

Russell will get his next chance to increase his scoring mark Saturday night when he and the Pirates play host to Eion. The Christians are currently rolling along in second place in the loop but they have a tough game with High Point scheduled for tonight.

Yesterday, the Pirates spent most of their practice time in reviewing the Eion style of attack. They paid particular attention to the roles of center Dee Atkinson and guard Billy Hawkins, the leaders in the Eion play since the suspension of All-State forward Ben Kendall.

Athletic Director N. M. Jorgensen announced yesterday that the Jacksonville High School Cardinals of the Class A East Central Conference would meet the East Carolina Freshmen team in a preliminary contest Saturday at 6:30. The Varsity game will follow at 8 o'clock. There are tickets still available for the Varsity game but officials are expecting a large turnout of fans because of the close, 76-75, score the first time the teams met.

Phantoms Fall At Foul Line

A poor showing at the foul line provided the margin of victory for Elizabeth City. The Phantoms hit only 19 of 37 tries from the free throw line.

Gavilan Favored Over Davey In Welterweight Title Bout

CHICAGO (UP)—Lynchburg man Chuck Davey, the college-educated southpaw who became a ring sensation through television, will try to win the welterweight crown tonight from the Cuban Kid Gavilan, well-proved product of the school of hard knocks.

Should Davey of Lansing, Mich., upset the Kid in their scheduled 15-round video fight at Chicago Stadium, he would be the first college graduate to win a world championship in ring history.

The noble experiment of pitting Davey and his sheepskins against Gavilan and the "bolo" uppercut he learned while cutting sugar cane was expected to draw about 17,500 fans and more than $270,000 at the Stadium tonight.

Regardless of the gate, however, the Cuban Keed—who has risen from sugar cane to "heavy sugar"—is guaranteed at least $80,000, largest purse of his career. Davey is assured $40,000. Their guarantees will come out of the $200,000 net gate which the television sponsor has assured promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club.

As champion, making his fifth defense, Gavilan was favored not only in the purse percentages but also in the betting. He was a 13-5 choice to lick the widely publicized challenger. And at least one admirer offered to wager even money that the Keed would win on a knockout.

The 147-pound ruler was favored because many boxing men rate him the best all-round fighter in the world today. Apparently near his peak at 27, the Keed was unbeaten in his last 26 bouts although held to a draw by Johnny Bratton.

Although only four months older than Davey, he has had nearly three times as much professional experience. In 105 bouts, Gavilan won 89, knocked out 28, Davey won 37 of his 39 commercial contests and was held to draws by Ross Virgo and Carmen Basilio.

Baby Phants Win 16th Consecutive Basketball Game

Guard Ike Riddick sank 19 points as the Greenville jayves recorded their 16th straight win by defeating Elizabeth City 50 to 39 in Elizabeth City last night.

The high flying Baby Phants trailed 13 to 11 at the end of the first quarter but came back to out-score the Jackets 13 to 1 in the second period to lead 24 to 14 at halftime. The two teams battled on even terms throughout the rest of the game.

Guard Tommy Saled played a snappy defensive game and added 8 points to the attack. Center Harold Edwards totaled 6 points and grabbed 13 rebounds.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

A lot of people are looking to the Eisenhower administration to make it easier to own and maintain homes.

They argue that this can be done without any government subsidy which we'd have to pay for with income taxes.

The pressure is coming from two directions. The home builders are clamoring for lower down payments on new houses. The building industry in general, including the institutions that lend money to home owners for repairs, want older houses to be given as good a break as new houses when it comes to credit for bills owed. This all sounds like quite a trick without a government handout. But the experts think it can be done.

They cite the fact that the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) — the agency which made it possible for so many million people to buy homes — has cost the taxpayers zero in 14 years.

Yet, when you need repairs or improvements for your house today, the cost of saying "charge it" amounts to a pretty penny. It seems that the man who wants to buy a new house gets a much better break, and he does.

Furthermore, so much modernization work is needed that the FHA exhausted its authorization to insure 1 1/2 billion dollars worth of such loans many months ago. Material manufacturers want that limit raised quickly. Because more than a fourth of all repair loans are used for roofing, siding and other exterior finishing to keep the weather out, the Asphalt Roofing Industry Bureau is pushing for this.

So big men are going to bat for you. The men who supply the equipment and the money have suddenly realized that the 43 million existing dwellings in this country make up the biggest single TABLE FOR 15 AT $50 A WEEK.—Mr. and Mrs. L. oyd Brooks, both 37, with their family of 12 daughters and grandfater sit down for a meal in their home in Pittsfield, Maine. Left to right: Rosalie, 9; Elaine, 12; Mr. Brooks; Eunice, 15; Ervena, 11; Janice, 8; Hazel, 5; Donna, 7; Janet, 8 (twin sister of Janice); Eleanor, 3; Mrs. Brooks; Rae Jean, 4; Alma, 14; Joyce, 14 months, and Grandpa Benjamin Webb. House and Home, trade publication the asset 200 billion dollars) in the inventory of our national wealth.

Forty-one of these leaders got together recently in a round table discussion at Rye, N.Y., to draft a letter to Eisenhower on this subject. One of the things they observed in their report, published in the Time-Life-Fortune group, "There is no economic justification for the present policy of insuring much higher percentage mortgages for the purchase of new houses than for the purchase of old housing. . . . Mortgage insurance should be made available to held finance improvement costs at the same low interest as new construction and over a much longer term than is now generally possible."

So two powerful movements are now under way: One, this campaign to make painless a new roof, new heating plant, garage, paint job or whatever your house needs. The other to make it easier for you to buy a house—new or old. "There is no economic reason," "why the down payment on an $11,000 house should be five times as big as the down payment on a $7,000 house."

This handicap placed on new home buying was shown by a national survey. The National Association of Home Builders polled leading contractors throughout the country on the cash payment handicap. They were asked if a return to the original FHA cash rule of 10 per cent down on an average house now priced around $12,000 would help home buyers.

Out of 260 returns, 248 big builders said such a change would range from "mild improvement" to "sensational."

Bankers and money lenders in general are beginning to realize that credit on a family's home depends on a security that is much broader than arithmetic shows. The sentimental value you place on your own home is much greater than its market value.

This was demonstrated several years ago when mortgages of terms longer than 20 years were first proposed. Economists held that mortgages for 30 or more years—designed to make monthly payments lower—would be actually insolvent for a certain period. They argued that the annual depreciation rate for a house would exceed the amortization rate at which the mortgage would be paid off.

So there would be a time in which the property might not be worth the amount of outstanding debt.

We asked an astute practical builder about this at the time. He was Alfred Gross of the Gross-Morton Corp. His answer was: "Theory! What man who loves his home compares its market value with his mortgage? His home means more than that. He will hang on to it through thick and thin—as long as he can. His home means more to his family than it does on the market. Money can't buy some things!"

There's an old economic saw: "The higher the risk, the higher the interest." So we may see the time when money lenders look at the security of home ownership somewhat like they look at government bonds—worth a lower rate of interest.

Pactolus Ruritan Hears Dr. Piver Discuss Advances

FACTOLUS—Dr. William C. Piver of Washington, guest speaker at the Pactolus Ruritan Club's supper meeting Monday night, spoke on "Today's Practitioner and 10 Years Ago." President Burney Baker presided.

The physician recited the history of medicine, using 1939 for comparison with the present. He said extension of electric and telephone lines and improved highways are important factors in the advancement of medical service. He said control of various diseases has been improved to a great extent, and that food poisoning was reduced 75 per cent during the last five years as a result of improved refrigeration facilities, especially deep freeze units.

Dr. Piver recalled that in 1939-40, in Washington between 300 and 350 cases of malaria were treated in hospitals and he stressed the point that no case of malaria has been treated there, except when the patient came from outside the territory. He ascribed this advancement to better drainage, use of DDT insecticides and screening of homes and other buildings. He said farmers have contributed to this work by draining low places on their farms.

New drugs and methods of administration them have reduced the hazards of pneumonia, and as a result a pneumonia patient may be treated in a hospital and released cured in three or four days. In 1939, the physician said, a patient was in a hospital about two weeks.

Typhoid has been almost eliminated by vaccination and plumbing facilities, better drinking water from enclosed wells and pumps.

Referring to the present outbreak of influenza, Dr. Piver advised common sense methods of avoiding contagious diseases and discretion in efforts to prevent spread of diseases to other persons.

Forestry Committee Chairman Roy Dail requested the Ruritans to cooperate with the state forestry authorities in preventing forest fires and their spread. Landowners must obtain a permit from forest rangers to burn brush at this time of the year and they must notify adjoining landowners.

Seventy-five percent of Pactolus Ruritan Club members attended in a body religious services at Tranter's Creek Christian Church January 25, W.R. Langley reported. The club adopted a schedule of programs for the monthly supper meetings and special objectives during 1953.

Investigated 52 Auto Accidents During January

State highway patrolmen investigated 52 highway accidents on highways in Lenoir, Greene and Pitt counties during January.

Sgt. John Laws of Kinston, District 5, Troop A, reported that five persons were killed on the highways—one in Lenoir county, two in Pitt and two in Greene during the month.

Twenty-six persons were injured —10 in Lenoir county, 12 in Pitt and four in Greene.

Estimated property damage, $28,850.

Patrolmen made 554 arrests in the district during January. Of the total, 170 arrests were for speeding, 49 for driving while drunk and reckless driving, 55 no driver's license, and 41 for drunk on highways.

Other arrests were for failure to yield right of way, passing on curves and hills, defective lights and brakes and stop sign violations, etc.

THEY DON'T KNOW YET PONTIAC, Mich. (UP)—Three young men set fire to a $20,000 vacant house to decide a bet that the flames could be seen eight miles away. They were arrested and charged with arson before they could learn who won the bet.

Camera News

By IRVING DESFOR
AP Newfeatures.

Stereo Photography has claimed some more of my attention lately, what with shooting some more three-dimensional pictures and attending a meeting of the Stereo Society.

My problem was to shoot some indoor pictures though the camera was loaded with Daylight Kodachrome and I had no flash attachment for the new Revere stereo camera I was testing. The answer was to shoot with blue flashbulbs and use a flashgun from another camera. The blue flashbulbs could have been fired in hand flash or even in a bridge lamp electrically, but I decided to use my 4.5-inch camera which has a synchronized flash.

I set the stereo camera on a tripod and adjusted the focus. The subjects were the children looking at television. The number 5 blue flashbulb had a guide number of 55 and with the subjects 7 feet away, I could shoot at f-8 divide 55 by 7 to get diaphragm opening.

With the stereo camera ready, I set up the other camera next to it, merely to shoot off the bulb. Suddenly it occurred to me that I might as well take advantage of the same time. Two pictures on the one bulb! I couldn't resist the bargain.

Here's the "open flash" procedure to make sure the full light of the bulb reached the stereo camera. The stereo was set on Bulb exposure. On Bulb, when you press the button, the lens opens and doesn't close until you release the pressure of your finger.) With my left hand on the stereo button and my right hand on the flashgun button I waited for the right shooting moment. When it came, I pressed the left hand finger first, opening the stereo lens, then pressed the flashgun button with the right hand finger and then released my left finger. It may sound confusing, but with two cameras at hand, it's easier done than said.

Of course, all this fuss wouldn't be necessary if a synchronized flashgun were used along with the stereo camera. Incidentally, the latest announcement reveals that an exposure guide for indoor color flash photography will be calibrated directly on a dial on the focusing knob on Revere's new stereo 33 camera. That should eliminate some of the computing and most of the guesswork from indoor color flash shooting.

At a meeting of the Stereo Society, I was quite impressed with a group of stereo slides taken by James Perry Wilson as he gave the audience a realistic, three-dimensional view of some of this country's most impressive scenic sites.

In a chat with Mr. Wilson, later,

More Exciting On Lincoln's Lap

CHICAGO (UP)—A woman chiropodist who said she got a letter from President Eisenhower on her 100th birthday, commented that it wasn't such an exciting event compared to sitting on Abraham Lincoln's lap.

"But," said Dr. Nellis F. Johnson, "it was nice of that young man anyway."

The elderly woman, who celebrated birthday number 100 yesterday, said Mr. Eisenhower's letter offered "heartly congratulations" and said "I am sure the day will bring many memories of the varied activities, the joy and sorrows, and all the changes that time has wrought through the decades of a long and useful life."

"When I was a little girl I sat on Abraham Lincoln's lap," Dr. Johnson said proudly.

The chiropodist was spry and happy on her birthday and stayed up late to enjoy the party her friends had prepared.

"I was married first when I was 13 years old," she said. "I had three nice husbands and a nice career. What woman wants more?"

The British museum said the archeologists will dig beneath Heile's mud-built palaces and homes to trace the origin of the fine bronze heads and terra cotta reliefs first discovered there in 1910 by the German explorer, Leo Frobenius. Other art objects were found near a palace in 1938.

God 'Assigned' Special Chore

GOSHEN, N.Y. (AP)—Pupils in Miss Helen Fitzgerald's first grade here have given God an assignment.

When death deprived them recently of Cindy, a mongrel dog, who had for five years been a faithful pupil and teacher's helper, the children wrote Cindy a letter.

One pupil asked how she would get the message.

No trouble about that, another small mourner said confidently, "God will read it to her."

It is believed that many of the "witches" executed during the inquisition of the Middle Ages were practicing the pagan religions which existed in their countries before Christianity.

'Supertanker' Is Added To Fleet

NEW YORK (AP)—A new supertanker capable of hauling enough gasoline to operate 13,500 automobiles for one year has been added to the Sun Oil Co. fleet.

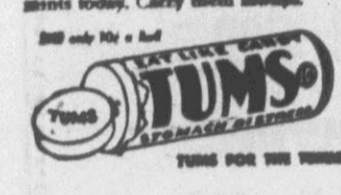

The 30,000-ton, 815-foot craft is the first of four ordered from the Sun Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. The tanker is capable of hauling 215,000 barrels of crude oil or nine million gallons of gasoline at a speed of 16½ knots. The vessel is turbine-propelled.

"Corn" usually refers to the important cereal crop of the nation; wheat in England, oats in Scotland and Ireland and maize in the United States, says the National Geographic Society.

For top-rated relief from acid stomachs—get a roll of America's favorite antacid tablets today. Carry them always.

I was even more impressed with the practical use to which he has put these stereo pictures in his regular work. He is a staff artist with the American Museum of Natural History and has been painting backgrounds for the habitat groups for 19 years. For authenticity, he has always made oil sketches on location wherever possible.

In 1941 he found that taking 35mm color slides was of some help in producing his backgrounds later. When stereo became practical, he was among the first to try it. By that time he had a Contax camera with extra lenses and accessories. In 1947 he got a stereotax attachment which enabled him to take stereo pictures with the Contax and this is the outfit he still uses.

Today, though he still makes some sketches on location, he spends more time taking numerous stereo views of the scene which is to be the background of an exhibit. In collaboration with museum officials one stereo view is finally selected as the setting for an animal group. He paints the background with frequent reference to the stereo picture in the hand view-

Groundhog Shows One Week Late

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One of the St. Louis Zoo's groundhogs finally left its burrow—just a week too late for any weather forecasting.

The animal viewed its shadow yesterday with little interest and went scrambling for tidbits. The zoo's second groundhog stayed downstairs to sleep.

Zoo Director George P. Vierheller, who waited in vain for the animal Groundhog Day, said "It must have gotten its Mondays mixed up."

One estimate of U.S. wealth of the United States, which excludes some items and which uses the value of the dollar in 1929 for all years, indicates that it grew from 164,200,000,000 dollars in 1896 to 518 billion dollars in 1951.

The Tropic Lightning News is printed in Seoul. American editors who neither speak nor read Turkish and Korean proof read the copy. The stories are hand set by Koreans who neither speak nor write English and Turkish.

Cominform Said Organizing Web

LIMA, Peru (UP)—The Peruvian government charged Sunday that the Cominform is organizing a web of underground Communist movements throughout Latin American.

The director of the government information department said he has "definite evidence" of Red conspiracy in last week's abortive strike at the port city of Arequipa. About 100 persons were arrested as a result of the disturbance.

Government agents have seized some 500 weapons of various types smuggled from Bolivia by Red agents, an official said.

Japan Is Seeking 5 Trade Pacts

TOKYO AP—The Japanese government is sending a trade mission to five Middle East nations to conclude trade agreements. The newspaper Asahi says the mission will seek to improve the presently dull trade situation by arranging pacts with Iran, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon and Turkey. Asahi says the government also will send a goodwill mission to Cuba to revise the existing agreement between the two countries.

County X-Ray Program Outlined By State Health Dept. Official

PLAN X-RAY SURVEY — County and state officials last night discussed plans for the mass X-ray survey which will be held in the county April 25 through June 18. Featured last night at a meeting held in the Pitt County Courthouse were Dr. Walter Humbert, Health Department director; Mrs. J. B. Spilman, executive secretary of the county Tuberculosis Association; and Dr. W. A. Smith, chief of the Tuberculosis Section of the State Department of Health. (Reflector Photo by C. L. Perkins, Jr.)

By MURIEL SHOTWELL
Reflector Staff Writer
Speaking before 27 representatives of Pitt County, Dr. W. A. Smith, chief of the Tuberculosis Section of the state Department of Health, outlined plans for the mass x-ray survey which will be held in this section April 25 through June 18.

and two public relations men to assist the local department and the local tuberculosis association. He brought out that there are an estimated 41,000 persons in Pitt County who are eligible for x-ray. The units will serve all persons over 15 years of age and under 15 in referred cases.

Dr. Smith said in 1949 North Carolina was in the top third of states in the southeastern and middle Atlantic for the number of cases and death rate, but at the present, North Carolina has the lowest death rate of all southern states. In Pitt County during 1952 the case rate was three to one, Negro to white, and the death rate is a somewhat lower ratio, two to one. The chief of the state tuberculosis section said persons who were x-rayed will know the results about three weeks following the survey. For those who need retakes, x-rays can be obtained through local doctors or the local health department. "From past experience," said Dr. Smith, "five percent of the people x-rayed will have a positive finding, indicating some kind of disease."

East Carolina Students To Present Satiric Comedy, 'Born Yesterday'

With Ralph Rives of Enfield, graduate student at East Carolina College as director, rehearsals are now in progress for a production

Wednesday, February 18, by the Teachers Playhouse of the college of the Broadway hit "Born Yesterday." The play will be given in the College Theatre at 8 o'clock.

Bar Association Hears Patrolman

"If the device ever makes a wrong computation it's always in favor of the motorist," State Highway Patrol Lt. Tom Brown told members of the Pitt County Bar Association last night.

The Greenville patrol officer made that statement during a comprehensive explanation of the new radar speed control meter recently acquired by the local department. Following the explanation, Brown and Pit. Jim Davis were beset with questions from Pitt attorneys concerning the device's operation, and its legality.

The two officers then showed a short movie concerning courtesy and safety on the highways, which a local attorney termed "well received" by the group. At the regular business meeting of the association, Att. L.M. Stocks was reinstated to full membership after several years absence with the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

J.W.H. Roberts of Greenville, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, reported on plans for "Ladies Night," and it was voted to hold the annual event "sometime in April."

Clifton Everette of Bethel, president of the association, presided over the meeting.

If the value of the 1935-39 dollars taken as 100, the 1915 dollars were worth 137.9 cents and those of 1952, 53 cents.

"Breaking on the wheel" was an ancient form of torture in which the victim was stretched out on a wheel and all his bones broken with an iron bar.

A member of the local tuberculosis association, Lester Turnage, said he was sure many civic groups and organizations will cooperate in seeing the survey through as a success.

The mass x-ray survey is sponsored by the Division of Tuberculosis Control of the State Department of Health, the local health department, the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association and has been endorsed by the P. County Medical and Dental Society.

Failing Eyesight And Its Causes Discussed At Club

Dr. Walter C. Humbert, Director of the Pitt County Health Department spoke to the Greenville Lions Club Monday night on "Conservation of Sight".

President Bruce Sugg, who presided, announced that there would be no program next Monday night, since the annual Ladies Night celebration will be held on Thursday, February 19th, at the Country Club.

Listed among the reasons for the rapid increase in the number of persons developing poor eye sight, the health officer included preventable accidents, diseases and heredity. Hereditary traits were listed as 30 per cent of the cause for the rise, while diseases accounted for 45 per cent with 25 per cent being attributed to preventable accidents.

Humbert gave the following rules to be followed in order to maintain good sight: Get a frequent eye examination, use safety measures, adequate lights, avoid eye strain, early detection and correction of diseases, adequate rest and sleep.

Humbert was introduced by Frank Brown. Franklin Brown, Jr., was inducted into the club as a new member by O.E. Dowd, international counselor.

Bob Starling announced that the school speech tournament would be held here Friday and Saturday, under the sponsorship of the local club. Students from many of the high schools in North Carolina will take part, Starling pointed out.

Artist Painted 'Next President'

TOPEKA, Kan. (UP)—President Eisenhower sent his thanks today to a Topeka artist who sent a package to the White House last Oct. 22 with the instructions: "Do not open until the arrival of the next president."

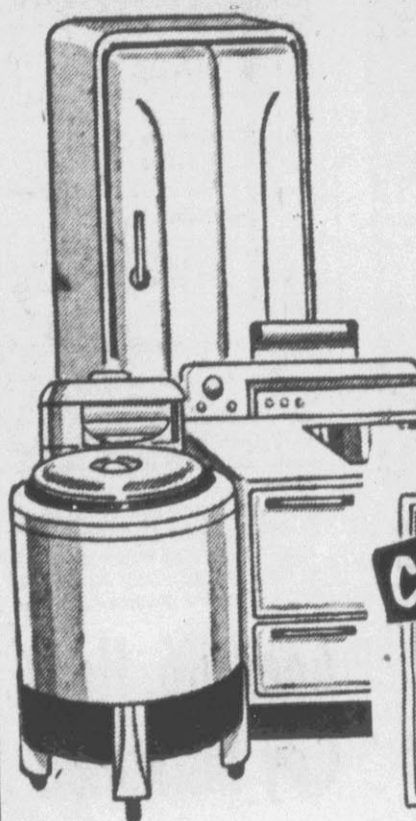

The present, sent by artist L. W. Markley, was an oil painting of Mr. Eisenhower.

The President wrote Markley that the gift "was a welcome evidence of your friendship and good will."

Traffic Grows Despite Embargo

HONG KONG (AP)—The Chinese Communists claim the volume of freight carried by coastal vessels in 1952 was six times greater than in 1950, despite the U.S. embargo. The Reds also say that river traffic has increased but no percentages or figures were given.

A new kind of Motor Oil that prolongs new car life

Uniflo is a year-round heavy-duty motor oil for all new cars and all cars in A-1 shape

- No other premium quality heavy-duty motor oil will do all these things so well for your car all year 'round: • Maintain new car performance longer • Reduce engine wear • Provide easier starting in cold weather • Fight engine deposits that cause knocking • Reduce cold weather battery drain • Reduce power loss • Protect against sludge formation • Protect against corrosion

UNIFLO . . . an entirely new idea in engine protection . . . will do more for your new car engine year 'round than any other leading heavy-duty motor oil. It replaces the different grades of motor oil many motorists have had to use in different seasons of the year . . . giving you one all-around motor oil for all temperatures . . . the perfect running mate for Esso Extra Gasoline. Uniflo flows freely at 25° below zero and gives you quick easy starts with less drain on your battery. Yet at engine temperatures of 350° or more, you get outstanding lubrication protection.

Until now, carbon deposits have reduced the efficiency of new engines after a few thousand miles . . . often causing knock. Uniflo checks these deposits in a clean engine, keeps it running like new and greatly reduces engine wear.

These features make it the ideal motor oil for modern tight-fitting high-compression engines. Uniflo was developed only for such engines — in older engines our other fine motor oils will give full protection. Uniflo is approved by leading car manufacturers for year 'round use in new cars and cars in A-1 shape.

Another fine ESSO product for Happy Motoring!

Zsa Zsa Has Ideas On Pursuit Of Men

By SAUL PETT

AP Newsfeatures Writer
"Marriage," she said, fluffing her curled, or coiled, up in a big chair and began firing opinions on life, liberty and the pursuit of men, diamonds and mink.

NEW YORK — Zsa Zsa Gabor straw blond hair, "will be abolished in 100 years years as a useless institution."
The international beauty and actress wore a low-cut black sweater. Her ring finger and ear lobes reflected a blinding light. As she talked, she swung a leg out occasionally as though to examine the tips of her gold shoes.

"Marriage," said the belle of Budapest, Broadway and Beverly Hills, "does something to love. I think George (Sanders) and I were happier before we were married. "Our marriage won't end in divorce. I'll end in murder. We fight all the time. You fight with someone you love because you want them to be perfect."

"You see, we're both terribly spoiled, but I think he likes me. Anyway he's going to a psychoanalyst every day to find out why he likes me."

But about marriages, the institution, Miss Gabor?
"Well," she said, "there are too many laws against the man in this country. California, for example. Half of a man's money belongs to his wife. This helps poison his mind against her. In Europe, a woman knows that if her husband leaves her, she's got nothing left. So she works harder at the marriage."

"There's also this. A man may want to marry, say, Marilyn Monroe, in the worst way. So he marries her and figures she's in the bag. Then he starts looking at other women. If he weren't married to her, he'd still be concentrating on Marilyn."

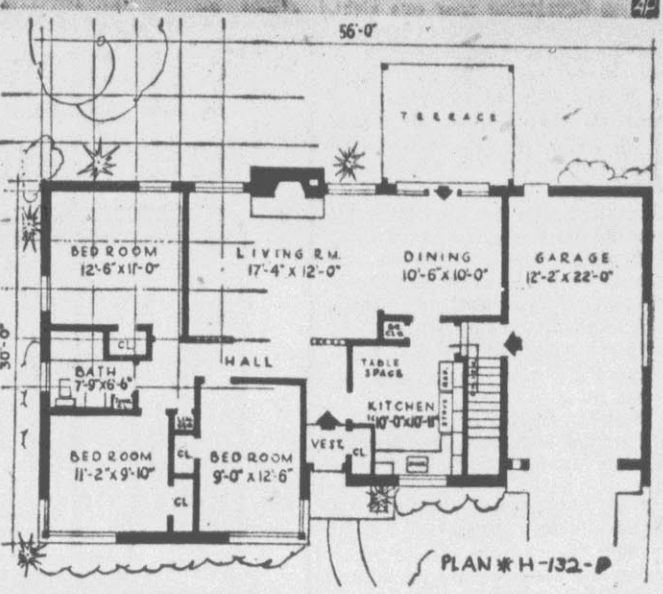

Miss Gabor, who has been married "a few times, was asked about housework.
"Dishes? I've never washed dishes. I think I'd hate it. Cooking, I love. When I was courting George—he was too lazy to court me—I cooked for him all the time. I caught him with my cooking. Moment I caught him I stopped cooking."

"I love to go marketing. I go with my friend, Kathryn Grayson, who makes $12,500 a week. I wear mink and beautiful French gloves to the markets. She wears her simplest coat. It's so funny to her Kathryn getting excited about eggs going down two cents.
"Me, I don't know the price of eggs or butter but I always know the price of diamonds and mink."
Mink, Miss Gabor added, is a phase every woman has to go through.
"It's like a sickness," she explained. "You have to have it to get over it. I'm over it, although I still have three mink coats. I think tailored velvet or tweed is much more elegant."
As the interview drew to a close, Miss Gabor suddenly clouded up. "But darling," she said, "we haven't said a word about my new picture, 'Moulin Rouge.' You know I'm studying very hard to become a good actress. Darling, write down that I am a very serious actress now. Please don't make me a screwball, darling."

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures
TURNED AROUND HOUSE to give the living room and dining room advantage of a garden view, this plan puts the kitchen in front, handy to front door as well as to service entrance from garage. Basement stairs are conveniently placed off vestibule. This is Plan H-132-P by the Homograp Co., 1171 East Eight Mile Road, East Detroit, Mich. The house covers 1,193 square feet without garage, which is figured separately in building estimates.
(Further information and plans available from architect)

Aged 106, He Is City Institution

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Albert Woolson is 106 today and he's getting used to being an institution. One of two surviving veterans of the Union Army, he's as popular as an institution as Duluth's aerial life bridge. Tourists have taken to stopping by for a handshake.
He receives his guests with dignity befitting his age. And he'll recite "After the Battle, Mother" (all 10 verses at the drop of an eyelash.)
He gets hundreds of birthday cards every year and answers them all. Last week he shoveled snow from his front walk "so the postman won't have any trouble getting in."
The ex-drummer boy, veteran of the dash for Vicksburg, thinks President Eisenhower is doing a fine job and puts him in the class with Gen. Grant—his highest compliment.
"Grant had good horse sense," he said. "Ike has too."
Woolson was born in Watertown, N.Y., and came to Minnesota when he was 14 to join his father, a former circus bandmaster. He thinks that is where he gained his musical talent. To this day, the senior vice commander of the Grand Army of the Republic can rap out a drum break or play a tune on his cornet.

TWO DOLLAR ROBBERY
LOS ANGELES (UP) — Two dollars tried to parlay themselves into $12,000, police said today.
John Dollar and his wife, Patricia, were arrested on charges of robbing $12,000 from a mail pouch.
Wolves in northern countries usually are larger and stronger than those in southern countries.

NAMED TO POST — T. Coleman Andrews, 53-year-old Richmond, Va., accounting expert, has been named Commissioner of Internal Revenue by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Robersonville News

By MRS. W. L. SWINDELL

After an illness of two weeks duration, Larry Williams of the L. B. Williams Company entered Park View Hospital in Rocky Mount, Saturday afternoon.
Mrs. L. D. Williams returned home Monday from Park View Hospital where she was a patient for several days.

Mrs. Vance Roberson and her daughter, Miss Vernida Roberson shopped in Raleigh Monday and stayed over to the Arthur Piedler concert. Miss Jeanine Taylor, Mrs. Irving Smith and Miss Becky Roberson met them at the Coliseum and returned with them.
Mrs. Claude Wilson has returned from a two day visit with her husband, Ensign Wilson at Little Creek, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bunting left Sunday for Savannah, Ga., where they stayed until Tuesday.
Mrs. L. H. Matthews, a surgical patient at Park View Hospital, is recuperating at her home.

Mrs. Pearl Everett of Lomita, California visited relatives in Robersonville last week before going to Rocky Mount to spend a few days with her son, Mr. Maurice Everett and his family. She will return to the home of her mother, Mrs. W. E. Page for a short time and will then leave for Alexandria, Va., where she will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Grace De Friez whose family has recently moved there. Mrs. Everett was a resident of this town for many years.

Mrs. Irving Coburn has been confined to the house for several days with influenza.
Mrs. Stator Leggett is a patient in Park View Hospital.

Mrs. C. M. Hurst is spending a short time in Tarboro as the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Adler.
Mr. Durwood E. Everett, Sr., cashier of the Robersonville branch of the Guaranty Bank and Trust Company has returned to Richmond to continue treatment for arthritis. For several weeks in November and December, he was a patient in the Medical College. Mrs. Everett is visiting her son, D. R. Everett, Jr. and his family in Raleigh during her husband's absence.

Mrs. Elliott Taylor was in Greenville Friday for treatment for a throat ailment.

Lt. and Mrs. E. H. De Friez and children, Jo Ann and Herbie of Lomita, California who spent a week with Mrs. De Friez's grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Page, left Monday for Alexandria, Va., where they will make their home while Lt. De Friez continues his education.

Mr. Jim Coffield is home from the Edgecombe General Hospital in Tarboro where he has been a patient since he broke his leg in an automobile accident over a month ago.

Miss Mary Jo Prince of the Baptist Orphanage, the Kennedy Home in Kinston, is the week-end guest of Mrs. J. R. Matthews.

Mrs. Wadie Carson was at the Park View Hospital Thursday for diagnosis and treatment. She was accompanied to Rocky Mount by her sister, Mrs. William Hurst.

Tuesday morning, Mrs. Harry W. Johnson of Kinston, was taken to the hospital with pneumonia. Mrs. Johnson, a frequent visitor to Robersonville, is the sister of Mrs. John Tyler.

Mr. Ben Ollie Coburn had the misfortune to break his leg in three places Tuesday afternoon.
Mr. and Mrs. James Smith of Newport News visited relatives last week-end. His mother Mrs. Lizzie Smith, accompanied them home for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Manning have returned to Columbus, Georgia after a visit with his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Manning.

After spending twenty-one days with relatives in Robersonville, Fred Matthews who has been stationed at Bolling Field in Anacostia, D. C. left Saturday morning for New Jersey where he will be assigned to overseas duty. He is the son of Mrs. George Matthews.

Clayton Davenport returned to the Sherwood L. Roberson Company Thursday after being on the sick list.

Miss Mary Frances (and a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital for two weeks is home, much improved in health.
Mr. Jake Mobley made a business trip to Atlanta, Ga., last week.

MATTER OF LENGTH
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Food and Drug Administration has settled a tasty problem—when is a sardine a herring?
The agency ruled Tuesday that once a sardine attains a length of nine inches it is a herring.

Stocks And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks edged upward early today in slow dealings.

Gains at the end of the first hour of trading were limited to very small fractions with a number of issues holding at their previous close. Only a handful of stocks managed to move out of the narrow range.

Dealings were at a snail's pace. Sales in the first hour totaled only 260,000 shares, compared with 290,000 in the same period yesterday.

Northern Pacific was one of the few stocks that moved out of the fractional zone. It jumped 1 3/8 points to 76. Shell Oil was a bright spot with a gain of 1 1/2 points to 71.

In the main industrial group, steel shares held steady. Bethlehem Steel was unchanged at 52 1/2.

U. S. Steel firmed. Automotives were the same with Chrysler holding at its previous close of 90 1/2 and General Motors moving up 1/2 to 66.

Texas Gulf Sulphur slumped 2 1/2 points to 100 1/4 despite an extra dividend of 25 cents a share. Wall Street quarters had expected more.

Small gains were noted in Woolworth, American Can, Texas Company, U. S. Rubber and Lockheed Aircraft.

Worthington Says Cold Reception Is Awaiting Bill

Pitt Rep. Sam O. Worthington of Greenville yesterday predicted a bleak reception in the House for a Senate bill that would allow persons accused of probation violations to appeal to higher courts.

The committee of which Worthington is chairman, House Judiciary No. 2, reported favorably on the bill and, in so doing, set off a warning by the Pitt representative that "you might as well get ready for a fight on the floor."

The measure, which was introduced by Sen. Cameron Weeks of Senate, provides that persons accused of violating probation may appeal from inferior courts to a Superior Court judge on the question of whether they actually had violated terms of probation.

Senator Weeks said the bill was merely designed to protect a defendant's right of appeal, but it has met strong opposition from the State Probation Department. Acting Director J.D. Beatty contended it would weaken the probation system.

The Judiciary Committee rendered a favorable report on the bill, in committee hearings, but Worthington inferred it will be a different matter when the bill, which originated in the upper house, goes on the floor of the House.

serve. And to paraphrase that of quoted statement, the power to reduce ought to include the power to increase. Otherwise the budget system is a half way measure with a dead end on one end of the road. If the Governor is to be required to reduce appropriations and taxes at one end, he should be given comparable authority to increase them at the other.

Brotherhood Day Speaker Named

National Brotherhood Day, annually observed on the campus at East Carolina College, will bring to the campus for a series of talks Tuesday, February 17, Rabbi Solomon Herbst of the Oheb Shalom Congregation of Goldsboro, according to an announcement by Dr. Robert L. Holt, director of religious activities at the college.

Rabbi Herbst will visit East Carolina through arrangements with the Jewish Chataqua Society. He will speak at chapel exercises at noon, and during the day will talk to members of classes in economics and world religions.

Before economics students, Rabbi Herbst will discuss "Racial Discrimination in Employment in Nazi Germany" and will draw upon his personal experiences during the persecution of the Jews by the Hitler government. He will have as his topics in a talk to students of world religions "The Place of Judaism among Living Religions of Today."

Dr. Holt has announced that visitors will be welcome to attend these meetings.

There will be a special meeting tonight for the Knights of Pythias at the Pythias Hall at 8 o'clock.

More Surgery For Rodney Dee

CHICAGO (UP) — Rodney Dee Brodie was reported to be in satisfactory condition today after a plastic operation which almost finished the job of covering his brain with skin transplants.

The 16-month-old boy lost most of the natural protection for his brain vault when he was separated from his Siamese twin, Roger Lee Dec. 17, Roger — ee died last month of complications arising from the separation.

The twins had been joined at the top of their heads.

A spokesman at the University of Illinois Educational and Research Hospital said that while yesterday's surgery did not quite complete the job of covering Rodney's brain but that doctors now felt that the danger of infection was minimized.

Another operation will be conducted soon to finish the skin transplants, and at a later date a supporting structure such as bone or plastic will be grafted under the skin.

Vote Extension Of Water Lines

GRIFTON—The town commissioners of Grifton held a routine business meeting Monday night without any item of importance coming up before the board.

However, the board did extend some water lines amounting to about 1,000 feet. They were extended in different directions and Mayor W.E. Rasberry termed this action as "something we do every day".

The board discussed opening a street through the town park but decided to wait on any definite action until park plans are developed further.

Colored News

Henry Green died at his home on the E. H. Boyd farm where he had been living for the past 19 years. Funeral services were held at the funeral home this afternoon.

Surviving are his wife, Lillie Reeves Green; four children, June, Jimmie, Julia and Roy; and two foster daughters, May Belle and Jean Staton.

There will be an F.T.A.D.P.O.W. membership meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Union Hall, 305 West 14th St.

Service Emblem Is Awarded Two

Two Greenville residents have been awarded employee service emblems by the Farmers Cooperative Exchange, according to Robert A. Ponton, Raleigh, personnel director of the organization.

Receiving the awards were N.L. Scott, manager of the Pitt FC Service, who received a 10-year service emblem, and his wife, Mrs. Mary Scott, who received a 5-year service emblem.

The Farmers Cooperative Exchange is a purchasing and marketing organization with a membership of 161,000 farm families in the two Carolinas. It operates service stores in 58 cities and towns.
