Apology And Cash May Be Demanded From Communists

WASHINGTON (UP)—Diplomatic sources predicted today the United States will demand a formal Communist apology and a cash indemnity for the MIG-15 attack on an American plane in Germany.

Administration and Congressional leaders regarded the unprovoked downing of the plane as one of the most serious incidents of the cold war has produced. It was almost certainly due for top-level discussion at President Eisenhower's weekly meeting with the National Security Council today.

Some members of Congress saw the attack as a bad omen of what the West may expect from the men who took over the leadership of Russia after the death of Josef Stalin.

Diplomatic officials, however, said it is entirely too early to conclude that new Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov has embarked on a more aggressive international policy.

On the basis of preliminary confidential reports from U. S. Air Force officials in Germany, they saw no reason to believe that the attack was a deliberate "warlike" gesture ordered from or inspired by Moscow.

They pointed out that the border between Czechoslovakia and West Germany, where the attack occurred, has been closely controlled by Red and Allied fighter planes for a "long time" with chances of a clash "always possible."

Less than two hours after receiving the first flash from the Defense Department, the State Department instructed the American Embassy in Prague to deliver the "strongest possible protest" to the Czech foreign office against the attack.

Informants said the department moved fast to head off any Red claims that the incident was caused by the American planes crossing the Czech border.

After full investigation, the U. S. is expected to:

1. Deliver a second protest demanding a Red apology and assurances that the border will be respected in the future.

2. Demand compensation for the U. S. F-8 Thunderjet destroyed by the Red jet fighters. The Air Force values F-8 jet planes at $200,000 each.

American officials also see an immediate opportunity to make cold war capital out of the incident by using it to refute Communist "peace" propaganda. The Voice of America will stress this line in its broadcasts to the world, officials said.

The first news of the incident was received here Tuesday morning from U. S. Air Force headquarters in Europe by the Pentagon's 24-hour command post guarded by a general officer. The information was relayed quickly to defense leaders, the White House and State Department.

Survivors Of MIG Attack Unable To Identify Plane Markings

Well Inside German Border, Say U.S. Pilots

WIESBADEN, Germany (UP)—Two American pilots said today they were "definitely seven or eight miles inside the U.S. zone of Germany" when they were attacked by two Soviet-type jets which invaded West Germany from Czechoslovakia.

The attack occurred yesterday and one of the two American jets was shot down.

The pilots, both veterans of the Korean war, told a press conference at U. S. Air Force European headquarters:

"There was not the slightest doubt that we were over German territory when we were attacked."

The pilots are 1st Lt. Warren Brown, 30 of Henderson, Colo., and 1st Lt. Donald C. Smith, 22, of Marysville, Ohio.

Brown's F-84 Thunder jet crashed out of control after bursts from the Red planes riddled its stabilizer. He parachuted to safety, landing in a tree, and suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Smith's plane was undamaged. Both pilots said they were unable to identify the markings on the Soviet-built planes or to determine certainly the exact type of the planes.

"We were definitely sure they were MIGs," said Brown. "I think they were MIG-15s. From my experience in Korea I would say they were MIG-15s.

The MIG-15 is the supersonic Russian-built fighter which is the mainstay of the Communists in Korea.

The two pilots said the attacking fighters flashed past so fast they were unable to distinguish the identifying markings.

"We saw the markings," Brown said. "But the other planes flashed past so fast that they were unrecognizable."

Brown said he flew 100 combat missions in Korea before being transferred to Germany. "We were flying along the Czech border," Brown said, "when we spotted these aircraft. They were about 10 o'clock ahead and slightly to the left in relation to our position. We were not sure what the nationality of the aircraft were. I kept flying to keep Smith in sight."

"Then I saw that one MIG was behind me. I circled several times not knowing what the MIG's intention was. He opened fire and hit me and for a moment my plane was out of control."

"I flipped over on my back and turned in the opposite direction. Then I found myself in a dive. My plane was pretty well shot up."

Brown said he attempted to pick up a hearing on his home base at Fuerstenfeldbruck, Germany,

"I looked around and suddenly saw my right stabilizer was shot up. So was my right (wing) tank. My right wing was beginning to come apart and I didn't think I was calling Smith and told him I shot out, using the ejection seat."

Brown, a short, stocky man with dark hair and a light mustache, wore a bandage over his left ear. He had spent last night at the station hospital at Wiesbaden.

Smith, tall, slender and black-haired, took up the story.

"We were on routine patrol," he said. "At the time of the interception we were flying in a northwesterly direction. The two MIGs intercepted us at 18,000 feet.

"We made a few circles and then one of the planes got on Brown's tail. We made a few more circles and I saw him hit Brown right in the stabilizer."

Both U. S. planes carried ammunition and there was "good reason to return fire but they did not because of standing instructions to avoid incidents," a spokesman said.

Violations of the Bavarian frontier area by Czech jets have become increasingly frequent in recent weeks. But the spokesman said today there had been no marked increase of American fighter patrols as a result.

Secretly Approve Auto Inspection Legislation

Senate Committee Reports Favorably On Compulsory Measure Without Formal Vote In Open Session Of Body

RALEIGH (UP)—A Senate committee reported favorably on a compulsory motor vehicles inspection bill today without a formal vote in open committee session.

Informed by refusal of reporters to let the committee vote in private, Chairman James H. Poy Bailey of Raleigh announced that the "sentiments" of members had been determined by the chairman. He said the vote was 6-4.

The action sent the controversial legislation to the Senate floor where it is expected to meet opposition.

The House Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns could take action today on the measure to call a referendum Nov. 4 on statewide prohibition. Chairman Carroll R. Holmes had said, however, that "nobody knows" when the committee would act.

With reporters present for the Judiciary Committee meeting today, Bailey announced that the matter already had been decided.

"The committee members are aware that the chairman has ascertained the sentiments of this committee and they stand 6-4 for a favorable report," Bailey said.

"If there is no objection, the bill will be reported favorably."

Sen. Arthur J. Kirkman of Greensboro, a committee member, said he wanted to make it clear that he is "generally in favor of voting on the record," but that he "respects the wishes of other members" to keep their vote in committee secret.

"I'm not objecting," Kirkman said, "but I think we should have the formality of a vote."

It was learned the four dissenting votes were cast by Sens. Lumford W. Crew of Halifax, Calvin R. Edney, Madison Republican, H. B. Smith of Union and Kirkman.

Those in favor were Bailey, Robert T. Cash of Transylvania, A. Pilston Godwin of Gates, Malcolm C. Paul of Beaufort, Zebulon Weaver Jr. of Buncombe, and Nelson Woodson of Rowan. T. R. Wolfe of Stanley was absent.

Kirkman said Bailey had expressed a desire to avoid embarrassing committee members by having their votes made public before there was floor action on the bill. Last Friday Bailey adjourned a meeting without acting on the measure because reporters refused an invitation to leave.

Bailey had said yesterday he is "a little bitter" about the refusal of the press to leave the committee room. And he said "when we decide, the press will not be present."

There is no state law touching on the question of reporters defying a move for a closed legislative session. Reporters have customarily abided by committee decisions to go into executive session.

ROKs Strike In Snow Storm At N. Korea Outpost

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—South Korean raiders struck suddenly through a driving snow storm today to wipe out a North Korean outpost in the eastern front in hand-to-hand fighting.

Plowing through snow 10 inches deep, the ROK infantrymen slammed into the surprised Communist position shortly after 1 a. m. (11 a. m. EST Tuesday). The North Koreans were huddled in deep trenches.

The raiders, at times nearly hidden by the heavy snow, cleaned out the North Korean position with bayonets, rifles, sub-machineguns and hand grenades.

An hour and 15 minutes after the attack started, the ROKs moved back into the storm, leaving behind at least 19 North Koreans dead or wounded.

Action along the rest of the front today was limited to minor patrol clashes. A cold rain turned to snow and spread a two to 10-inch white cover over the eastern battle line.

United Nations warplanes were grounded during the morning, but the weather cleared slightly in the afternoon to permit Sabre jets to hunt for Red MIGs. However, none of the Russian-built jet fighters ventured out of Manchuria. The only other planes aloft during the day were weather reconnaissance planes.

United Nations warplanes were grounded for the second straight day. The only planes to take off from Allied air bases were weather reconnaissance craft.

But just before midnight B-29 Superforts braved the weather to drop 10 tons of bombs on a Communist officers' training school and supply area 10 miles north of Sinanju.

Fourteen Okinawa-based bombers struck the 105-acre target when reconnaissance photographs revealed the Reds were repairing damage inflicted in a raid Dec. 17.

Eighth Army headquarters announced that Allied ground forces knocked 2,300 Communists out of action in the past seven days, about 300 more than in the preceding week. The total included 1,380 killed, 920 wounded and four taken prisoner.

A delayed report disclosed the Communists hid 7,600 rounds of artillery and mortar in an American patrol yesterday in an attempt to break up a raid on a hill south, west of Old Baldy on the central front.

United Press correspondent Al Kaff said between 3,000 to 5,000 rounds were fired at U.N. main positions to keep reinforcements from reaching the raiding party.

Sixty Red Chinese were killed or wounded in the one-hour raid. Sixty more Chinese were killed in a South Korean attack on a Communist-held hill near White Horse Mountain.

Phony Physician Prescribed For Hank Williams

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—An ex-convict and self-styled doctor who admitted to a legislative investigating committee he "never went beyond high school," testified last night he prescribed a powerful sedative and heart depressant for hill-billy singer Hank Williams nine days before his death.

The committee is investigating illicit dope traffic in Oklahoma. Toby Marshall, who refused to testify at a previous hearing and was cited for contempt, admitted treating Williams in Oklahoma City Dec. 22. The popular singer and composer died Dec. 31 of a heart attack.

Marshall said the prescription he wrote was for 24 grains of chloral hydrate. It was filled in Montgomery, Ala.

German Farmer Tells Of U.S. Jet's Destruction Eye-Witness To 'Incident'

HUNDESEN, Germany (UP)—A German farmer and his helpers gave a ringside account today of the attack in which a Russian-built jet shot down an American jet fighter over their West German farm yesterday.

Karl Bauer, 49, and his 10 field hands were still shaking. The shooting blazed straight above their heads—so low they buried their faces in plowed soil—and Lt. Warren Brown's Thunder jet crashed and exploded just 150 yards away.

Bauer's big farm is about 15 miles inside the Allied zone of Germany. It was he and his men who picked Brown from his tangled parachute in a tree and delivered him to American officials.

Here is Bauer's story:

"I first looked up when I heard machine guns shooting in the air. It sounded like a wartime air battle. I saw only two planes.

"One plane was chasing the other. There may have been others in the distance.

"A few seconds later, the two planes dived right over our house with more shooting. They must have come down to 3,000 yards and circled. They were going so fast I couldn't see any markings.

"The two jets climbed up again, then circled and dived, and there was more shooting. This seemed to last several minutes and I began to look for cover.

"When the planes came down again, I looked around and saw all 10 of my men flat on the ground. Suddenly one of the jets began smoking and seemed to be coming right at us. It went straight into the ground behind our barn. We put our faces deep down in the dirt.

"There was a terrific crash. Metal flew everywhere and ammunition began exploding.

"We kept our cover for a short time. When I looked up, I saw a parachute just going into a tree.

"The man in the chute shouted. I ran and helped him down from the tree. The plane continued to burn, and there were occasional explosions.

"I couldn't understand a word the pilot said—I know only German. He was bleeding from the face. He could walk, but he staggered—probably from dizziness or shock.

"Policemen arrived from the village and telephoned the police at Ravensburg. A United States car arrived in about 20 minutes, and later another group of Americans came to inspect the wreck. It was still smoking.

"What is going to happen to my field with these exhumers digging up ground and hunting for parts of the plane?"

Official Assurance Brings Urgings For Attack Korea Supplies 'Adequate'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Official assurances that the ammunition crisis is over generated new Congressional pressure today for offensive action to end the sit-down in Korea.

With much of the evidence in Chairman Leverett Saltonstall (Mass.) said his Senate Armed Services Committee found Korean ammunition supplies "adequate" and "rapidly getting better."

The nation's defense chiefs testified this Tuesday in the climax of the committee's investigation of Gen. James A. Van Fleet's charges of critical shortages.

In view of improved shell deliveries, some senators believed there no longer was any reason for the United States to delay positive steps to break the stalemate.

Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.), an Armed Services Committee member, said aggressive action over a period of months probably would cost fewer lives than a static war of four or five years.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), who sat in at the hearing as an Appropriations Committee member, objected to continuing to try "to fight the war without winning a victory."

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson hinted something more positive might be in the wind in Korea when he said in a special statement that ammunition supplies are sufficient for "present scale" fighting but soon would be increased to let field commanders think of "more active" moves.

Wilson, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevenson, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff, and Van Fleet appeared at the ammunition hearing.

Saltonstall indicated the difference of opinion between Collins and Van Fleet stemmed from the fact that Collins, with global responsibilities, couldn't give the former Eighth Army commander all the ammunition and tools he wanted to pursue a more spirited campaign strategy.

Saltonstall said the committee will meet Thursday to decide how to proceed in the ammunition inquiry. He hinted that the problem might be turned over to a task force of the committee's preparedness group.

Reed Measure Facing Test By Mid-April

Tax Vote Assured In House

WASHINGTON (UP)—House members were assured today of a chance to vote on income tax reduction by the middle of next month.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.), a man of jut-jawed determination, fixed April 15 as the "absolute deadline" for floor action on his bill to cut personal income taxes about 10 per cent.

GOP leaders, who had hoped to stall off a tax vote until at least May, conceded they are powerless to stop Reed if he wants to force an earlier showdown on his measure.

At the moment, Reed's bill is resting in a Rules Committee pigeonhole. It was placed there at the request of Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) and Rep. Charles A. Halleck (Ind.), GOP floor leader.

Martin and Halleck have taken their cue from President Eisenhower and insisted that a balanced budget must be in sight before taxes are cut.

Reed told newsmen that unless Martin and Halleck relent on or before April 15, he will reluctantly exercise his authority as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee to call up the bill for consideration on the House floor.

Under the proposed legislation individual income taxes would be cut about 10 per cent effective July 1, or about five per cent for the full year 1953. The bill would advance by six months an income tax reduction now scheduled to become effective Jan. 1, 1954.

As chairman of the most powerful legislative committee in the House, Reed is in a position to make good on his threat to go over the heads of Republican leaders. He can get action on his bill whenever he wants.

This is because tax bills do not have to follow the normal routine and be cleared by the Rules Committee. The chairman of the Ways and Means Committee has power to take a tax bill directly to the floor any time after his committee has approved it.

Reed's bill received committee approval Feb. 16. Since then the New Yorker has been trying—without success—to get the Rules Committee to act on the bill.

Reed wants to go through the Rules Committee for at least two reasons: To avoid a fight over amendments on the floor, and to avoid being cast in the role of a maverick. Reed, a close personal friend of Martin, does not like the thought of bucking the speaker on such an important issue.

Admits Tax Debt But, Don't Push

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Wilbur Plummer, assistant director of the Internal Revenue Bureau here, today said he received a note, but no money, from a taxpayer. It read:

"Buster, you will see that I owe you $20. I will pay it in 30 days or so, but don't crowd me."

Demands For More Data About Yalta Ties Up Bohlen Approval

By JOHN L. STEELE United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—Republican demands for new information about the Yalta Conference held eight years ago stalled Senate approval today of Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as ambassador to Russia.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee postponed a vote on his confirmation for at least a week in spite of the administration's effort to speed him to Moscow in view of the shift in Soviet power and the action of Russian-built planes in shooting down a U.S. jet fighter in Western Germany Tuesday.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) said he wanted some unspecified "papers dealing with Yalta" before voting. Sen. William F. Knowland (R-Cal.) said Bohlen may be called for further testimony before the committee acts.

The State Department was stalled on another front as well. The committee agreed formally Tuesday to consign to a legislative ice box the amended version of President Eisenhower's controversial resolution condemning Soviet "perversions" of war-time pacts that led to the enslavement of free people. Members rescinded their 8-8 approval of last week, called the proposal back, and tabled it indefinitely.

Tabled as well were two compromise drafts, including one by the State Department, which were designed to remove the objections both Republicans and Democrats lodged against the previous version.

Diplomatic officials made no effort to conceal their deep anxiety over the Bohlen delay. They feel Bohlen, a seasoned career diplomat with a fluent command of the Russian language, would be a big help in Moscow right now.

His current troubles stem from his duty in 1945 as the late President Roosevelt's interpreter at the Yalta Conference. Bohlen is the only man now alive who sat in on the private Roosevelt-Stalin talks there.

Some Republicans want to know more about what went on at Yalta. But Bohlen said he has the least idea what papers Ferguson is after.

Knowland said he feels there is "need for some sort of record of Bohlen's testimony (before the committee) to lay before the Senate before it acts."

Statehood Bill Is Briefly Stalled

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House-approved Hawaiian statehood bill appeared today to be temporarily stalled in the Senate behind tideland legislation.

Statehood for the mid-Pacific territory is No. 2 on the "must" legislative list of GOP Senate Leader Robert A. Taft. But No. 1 is submerged oil lands legislation, still hung up in the same Interior and Insular Affairs Committee which must handle the Hawaii bill.

The tideland bill is expected to provoke prolonged Senate debate. Even when it is disposed of, some Democrats are already talking of "very lengthy discussion"—they didn't use the word filibuster—the idea of statehood for the solidly

Republican Hawaii and not the traditionally Democratic Alaska.

The House approved the Hawaii statehood bill yesterday 274 to 183, after rejecting by 227 to 182 a motion to send it back to committee.

The House did, however, tack on an amendment requiring Hawaii's constitution to be approved by Congress before the islands become the 49th star in the U.S. flag, which could not happen before 1954. It cut Hawaii's allotment of House of Representatives seats to one instead of two.

Even so, the House vote was split as a victory for the GOP and President Eisenhower, and a licking for Northern Democrats who wanted to include Alaska.

Deposed King Farouk And His Young Queen Divorced In Rome, Family Reveals

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—Exiled King Farouk was divorced from 18-year-old Princess Narriman Sadek in Rome Tuesday night, Narriman's family said here today.

A great aunt of the princess confirmed a Cairo newspaper report that the royal pair had split and said that Narriman would return to Egypt from Italy "immediately."

At Farouk's Villa Dusmet 15 miles south of Rome, the ex-king's private secretary, Amin Mohamed Fahim, said tersely there was "no basis" for reports Farouk and Narriman already were divorced.

He pointed out the couple had appeared in public together at a racetrack Sunday and at a Rome theater Monday evening.

Farouk and Narriman, wed May 6, 1951, were said to have quarreled violently in recent weeks. The independent Cairo newspaper Al Ahran reported the divorce in a front page dispatch today. The newspaper said Mrs. Assila Sadek, Narriman's mother, cabled relatives here Tuesday that "the separation will be final tonight."

Al Ahran, one of Cairo's largest newspapers, said Mrs. Sadek asked relatives to arrange with Egyptian authorities for her return to Egypt with Narriman immediately.

Narriman first caught Farouk's eye in December, 1949, at a Cairo jewelry shop where she was shopping for an engagement ring with her fiancé, young Zaki Hashem, a Harvard-educated economist on Egypt's United Nations staff.

She was only 15 at the time, but palace circles said Farouk, then 29, was "utterly bowled over" by her dark beauty. A week later the king had chosen her for his bride and Narriman's engagement to Hashem was broken.

Up For Decision

The one-way street issue will be decided once and for all tomorrow night in a special meeting of the Greenville Board of Aldermen.

The meeting is scheduled for 7:30 in the session room of Greenville Recorder's Court.

It is to be a public meeting, and a large delegation of citizens is expected to be present for discussion on the one-way traffic issue.

Indicate Coffee Price Decontrol

WASHINGTON (UP)—Price control officials said today coffee prices may be decontrolled this week, but no firm decision has been made.

Officials indicated there has been and still is some difference of opinion both in the price agency and in the coffee industry as to when these ceilings should be lifted between now and April 30.

No Reason For War, Says Eden

UNITED NATION, N. Y. (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden declared today that despite Korea, World War III has not broken out and there is no reason why it should.

Eden, addressing the U. N.'s General Assembly, said "It is nobody's interest that it should break out." He thereby differed from some American leaders who have stated we are already in World War III.

The British statesman said that "with the growing strength of the West, there is no reason why it should break out."

He called for support of the United Nations as a "world meeting place" where opposing forces can get together and try to settle their differences without war.

Eden called on the Communist world to agree to the Indian Korean plan which the Assembly adopted last December. This plan would permit Red prisoners who don't want to go home to stay behind. He recalled that former Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky had said the prisoner question was the only issue preventing an armistice.

"It does not pay to persist in a policy which has united the whole free world against them," and blasted the Reds for having "unconsciously rejected" the Indian plan. It was adopted 84-4.

The free world's determination to resist aggression in Korea, Eden said, "may prove to have been a turning point in history... It may have averted the horrors of a third world war."

"It still lies within the power of those who bear the conflict," he declared, to end it.

Army Draft Call For May Issued

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army today issued a draft call for 33,000 men in May.

This is the same number previously asked in the months of February, March and April. It will bring the total of men drafted or earmarked for service to 1,414,430 since Selective Service was resumed in September, 1950.

Only the Army has been resorting to the draft since last May when the Marine Corps discontinued use of Selective Service after drafting 41,430 men.

The Navy and the Air Force have depended entirely upon volunteer enlistments.

Dr. K. N. Cuthbert, director of the department of music at East Carolina College, visited the High Point city schools Tuesday of this week and, while there, rehearsed with the high school orchestra. He is director of the East Carolina Orchestra, an organization of sixty musicians from the college and various towns in Pitt County.

On Tuesday, March 10, Mrs. N. S. Beard was hostess to the Chatham Book Club. The program for the afternoon consisted mostly of colored movies of India. These pictures were made by a relative of Mrs. Beard while he was in India, representing the American Cyanamid Company.

Mrs. Beard prefaced her most interesting program with a brief history of India before 1946 and also made pertinent remarks about the pictures.

The guests thoroughly enjoyed the colorful pictures of typical street scenes, temples, fortresses, and other interesting spectacles, especially in New Delhi, the capital of India. Many customs of India were depicted in the scenes presented. Interesting personages, such as Prime Minister Nehru, were also included in the movies.

After the program, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. D. Tucker, served a delicious salad course to the guests.

In an atmosphere of spring flowers and good fellowship the members of the Inner Se Book Club met at the home of Mrs. T. H. Henderson on Harding Street Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Henderson had as her special guests, Miss Rhitta Martin of Smithfield.

The president, Mrs. Plato Evans, presided over the business session at which time plans for next year's program were discussed and committees for 1953-54 appointed.

The program leader for the afternoon was Mrs. L. M. Buchanan who chose as her topic "Louisa May Alcott of Concord." As the life of Miss Alcott was interpreted, it became apparent that this famous daughter of a famous father was able to write so satisfyingly for so many generations because she came from a home which had close converse with the great things of human destiny.

Following this discussion Mrs. Henderson, the hostess, served a delicious salad course with coffee.

The Tennessee House of Representatives returned to committee today a bill requiring that all dogs in the state be inoculated.

The House returned the bill because under its present wording it requires the dogs, not the owners, to pay the inoculation fee.

Ladies Day Is Held At Country Club

The women of the Greenville Golf and Country Club held their Ladies Day again last Friday. Golf, lunch and bridge were enjoyed by about 30 ladies.

Eighteen golfers teed off at 10 o'clock. Lunch was served at 1 with the bridge players and all joining together. One hostess of a bridge club entertained her club at the Ladies Day festivities.

The prizes for the golfers consisted of a golf ball for the lowest number of putts, golf balls for two blind bogies, where scores are drawn from a hat and tees for three blind bogies.

Mrs. Dan Wright received the prize for the least putts with Mrs. Ed Rawl Jr. and Mrs. Harold Thomas winning the golf balls for the blind bogies. Golf tees were won by Mrs. Billy Morton, Mrs. E. H. Larkin, and Mrs. Fred Saue.

Interest in this new event is gaining every week and it is hoped that finally all the members of the Club will participate.

Mrs. Royce H. Hunsucker was gracious hostess Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Round Table Book Club. Her home on Harding Street was beautifully decorated with arrangements of spring flowers. Mrs. H. L. Carr was special guest.

During the business hour definite suggestions and arrangements for next year's program were presented by Mrs. W. C. Vincent and Mrs. R. Taylor. The report of the nominating committee given by Mrs. D. S. Spain Jr. was unanimously accepted; president, Mrs. C. O. H. Home; first vice-president, Mrs. Howard Porter; second vice-president, Mrs. W. E. Marshall; recording secretary, Mrs. R. H. Hunsucker; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. D. Messick; treasurer, Mrs. D. L. Moore.

By special request, Mrs. C. O. H. Home gave the program for the afternoon on the life of Toyochika Kagawa, a great Japanese Christian social reformer and author. Kagawa's early life was one of misery and sadness after the death of both parents. However, he loved school and showed signs of genius early. At the age of 14 he was converted to Christianity through the influence of American missionaries. Since that time his life has been one of a true Christian in service to his people. Mrs. Home's talk on this great Christian leader was both interesting and inspiring.

After the program magazines were distributed among the members, one for each person, a gift sent by Mrs. E. E. Rawl with notes made of one "very interesting article."

Mrs. Hunsucker, assisted by her daughter Jane, served a delicious salad plate with hot tea and homemade cake.

The End of the Century Club held its regular meeting Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Ficklen Arthur at her attractive home which was artistically decorated with beautiful flowering shrubs and early spring flowers.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. James Moye, Mrs. J. B. Spilman presided. She gave a most cordial welcome to Mrs. Wallace Wolverson, a new member of the club, and to the following guests, Mrs. Bencroft Moseley, Mrs. Bessie W. Scott and Dr. Kathleen Stokes.

After a short business meeting Mrs. Spilman presented Dr. Stokes who discussed the probable and possible implications resulting from the death of Stalin. She asked the following questions and directed thinking toward possible answers: "What does Stalin's death mean to Russia?" "Can Malenkov retain power given by Stalin?" "Will the satellites remain with Russia?" "Will the Chinese leader follow Malenkov? How long will their alliance last?" "What will be the policy of the Western world? Will they 'wait and see' in the midst of tension, unrest and indecision?"

Dr. Stokes gave a sketch of Malenkov's life, his climb to power, his terrific drive and energy, his ruthlessness and ability to build up a following.

She pointed out the necessity for us to appraise our strength and our weakness; to enlist our special talents needed to win undeveloped territories and backward countries to our way of thinking.

After this thought provoking program, the hostess served a delicious salad course, cake and coffee.

Bar Association Will Fete Ladies

It was voted at last night's meeting of the Pitt County Bar Association to hold "Ladies Night" at the Rotary Club Tuesday April 7, or "on a succeeding Tuesday" in that month.

Association Vice-President Louis W. Gaylord Jr. presided over the meeting in the absence of President C. W. Everette of Bethel.

Bob Rouse, Farmville attorney, gave a short discussion on public relations between lawyers and the general public. He brought out that the public does not understand the average everyday services an attorney may perform.

Rouse said many services normally rendered by lawyers in the normal conduct of their duties could prevent litigation in the future.

The association was informed that the North Carolina Bar Association has undertaken a project of radio programs to develop a better understanding of the services a lawyer may render the public.

Junior Woman's Club Elects Delegates To State Convention

A regular business session of the Greenville Junior Woman's Club was held on Wednesday night, March 4, with the president, Mrs. Howard H. Grady, presiding. The club elected delegates to the Greenville Junior Woman's Club.

The National Convention was announced for May 25-29 in Washington, D. C. Members were urged to attend—if at all possible—since the National Convention is so seldom held at a location quite so convenient to club members in North Carolina.

Following the treasurer's report, the meeting was adjourned. The hostesses for the evening, Mrs. Harold Alder and Mrs. Bill Williams, served delicious hot coffee and doughnuts.

Kazmayer Reviews Revolutions Going On And Future For U.S.

In a forceful and dynamic manner, Robert Kazmayer, speaking for a second time before members of the Pitt County Executives Club last night, kept his audience in strict attention while he expounded on "Whither America 1953".

For more than an hour, the widely traveled speaker helped his audience to see more clearly what lies ahead for the United States and Western civilization by giving an overall picture and a realistic look at the world in which we are playing a vital role.

Kazmayer developed three revolutions which he said the entire globe is experiencing—that of the "have" nations against the "have not" nations; governments doing what the individual once did for himself; and great changes and industrial progress of nations.

"These three revolutions are on the move and the Kremlin is using them for its own purpose," declared Kazmayer. "There was only seven great powers in the world, now there are only two, the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., with each of the nations putting its hopes, fears, hate, and loyalty around the two forces which lie behind the revolution."

"The other peoples of the world will be forced to take sides with either of the two great powers, and the results will be of Russian creation."

Kazmayer drew applause from the audience with his statement, "Douglas MacArthur was 100 percent right" as he began speaking on the Korea War. The speaker cited figures showing the "police action" was almost entirely financed and manned by the United States with only "token" forces from other nations.

"We have no right to send our men, goods, and money to war unless other people do first for themselves," he declared, "and we have no right to sell our heritage for political whims."

"The war in Korea should be called by its right name—war—and should be fought as a war."

In explaining what lies ahead for America, Kazmayer pointed out a number of "hot spots" of the world using South Africa as an example where crime, not politics, is the problem. "The situation there is going to 'burst out,' and the Communists will be in it," he said.

He cited Egypt as another place where the native has seen that his lot is not inevitable and where there is the partially educated, but unemployed person, the same type of person Hitler built his empire with. "The people have said to the government, 'you give us more' and the Communists have made that promise to the people of Egypt". The speaker touched on the inconsistency of the United States in foreign affairs and cited the dislike some foreigners have for Americans. "Moving pictures shown particularly in Egypt, have been seen by persons who are not looking at the plot, art, or photography involved but who are seeing a slice of life from the fabulous land across the ocean."

Dwelling into the personality of the new Russian premier, Georgi Malenkov, the speaker stated that he is even tougher, and harder than Stalin and his rise to power has come by way of the old line city political boss, climbing over others getting to the top.

"I don't know what Russia intends to do," stated Kazmayer, "but they will probably continue to do as they have always done, capitalize on outbreaks all over the world."

American economy also was expounded upon by the speaker. "The American economy has been wonderful we have had a glorious time with our prosperity, but our children and grand-children will have to pay the debt."

In closing, the speaker described the Communist as a man with a belief and conviction, even misguided as he is. "Our fathers gave us the faith that we have and we can't fight a vision or a dream without a finer vision or dream."

In the words of George Washington at Valley Forge the night of an expected attack, Kazmayer said: "Put only Americans on guard tonight."

Country Club Stockholders Vote Build Swimming Pool

Local swimming and diving enthusiasts soon may be able to execute a perfect half-gainer at the Country Club and not fall prostrate on cold, hard "terra firma."

Stockholders of the Greenville Golf and Country Club voted last night to construct a swimming pool and new locker room facilities for both men and women at the club.

Last night's action was taken at a special meeting of the stockholders following a recommendation to that effect made by the club's board of governors.

"Work will begin on the new swimming pool and locker room facilities as soon as possible," President A. B. Stallworth of Greenville said this morning.

Other officials of the club expressed the hope last night that the new facilities will be ready for use by early summer.

The club's board of governors recommended that the locker room now used by the men be renovated and converted for use by women. A new locker room for men is to be constructed.

The new swimming pool and adjoining wading pool will be of concrete construction with tile finishes.

Club officials estimated the cost of the entire improvement program to be between $30,000 and $35,000, which amount is to be paid out of a special permanent improvement fund paid by members of the club.

Details of the improvement project and letting of bids for the work were left to the board of governors. Stockholders representing 116 shares of outstanding stock present for last night's meeting endorsed by an overwhelming majority the proposed club improvement plan.

President Stallworth stated today it is the intention of the group to issue a notice for bids on the project within "the next week or 10 days."

Component representation of the club at present is: 21 life members who were instrumental in organizing the club and who pay no dues; 166 stockholders; 28 non-stock members; and 50 social members.

Committee Split Over Leadership Of Velde

By MILTON MAGRUDER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — The House Un-American Activities Committee split into quarreling factions today as members of both parties rebelled against the leadership of Chairman Harold H. Velde (R-Ill.).

A long-simmering backstage dispute exploded into the open after Velde announced the committee might investigate "Communist infiltration" of the nation's churches.

Republican and Democratic members alike hastened to disavow any intention of conducting a Red-hunt in the religious field. Several of them began laying plans immediately to put a check-rein on Velde.

One dissident committee member was reported to have sought the aid of Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., in clipping the chairman's wings. But there was no immediate word on Martin's attitude.

Rep. Bernard W. (Pat) Kearney (N.Y.), second-ranking Republican on the committee, told newsmen he would demand that a meeting be called immediately to "thresh out this whole thing."

But Velde said he has no plans to call a meeting before Thursday when the committee is scheduled to hear three unidentified witnesses at a resumption of public hearings on alleged Red infiltration of the schools.

Kearney also said he will support the bill before it becomes law.

Expect Profits From Coronation

LONDON (AP)—Britain expects to earn about 15 million pounds—42 million dollars—from visitors to the coronation next June of Queen Elizabeth II. That would be 10 times the 1½ million pounds the government plans to spend on the big event.

The British Travel and Holidays Association said today that the coronation is expected to bring some 80,000 more foreign visitors to Britain in 1953 than the 720,000 who came here last year.

port a move by Rep. Francis E. Walter (Pa.), the committee's ranking Democrat, to bar Velde from starting any new investigations without full committee approval. Walter said he would offer such a resolution at the next meeting.

If Kearney, Walter and the other three Democrats vote solidly on this and other issues, their "coalition" could seize control of the nine-man committee.

Velde stuck by his guns "spite the barrage of criticism from his fellow congressmen."

He issued a formal statement saying that while he had no plans for an immediate investigation of the clergy he was not ruling out "the possibility of such investigations in the future."

Plan To Pardon Collaborators

PARIS (AP)—The French National Assembly today approved a bill pardoning 39,343 persons penalized for collaborating with the Germans who occupied France in World War II.

The bill affects 400 pre-war members of Parliament declared ineligible to run for office again; 23,000 persons sentenced to prison terms of five years or less; and 11,343 civil servants fired, deprived of pensions, or similarly penalized.

Parliament's upper house, the Council of the Republic, must approve the bill before it becomes law.

Red Radio Plans Increased Power

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin radio experts said today that Communist Radio Berlin's transmitter power is to be stepped up soon to make it again Europe's strongest.

These sources said they had learned the transmitter power would be boosted from 300 to 600 kilowatts.

Last January in the radio war with the East, West Berlin's American-operated station RIAS tripled its power to 300 kilowatts to equal that of the East German government radio.

Nehru Sending Gift Elephant

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru is sending a 15-year-old elephant named Usha—Hope—as a gift to the children of Red China.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman today said the animal will sail aboard the "Eastern Queen" from Calcutta March 15 with a special Indian mahout, or attendant, accompanying it to Peking.

It was long believed that a drinking cup made of rhinoceros horn would counteract poison.

Recommend FCC Continue Saving 8 TV Channels

RALEIGH (UP) — The North Carolina Educational Radio and Television Commission recommended to Gov. William B. Umstead and the General Assembly today that the Federal Communications Commission continue to reserve eight TV channels in North Carolina for educational purposes until June 30, 1955.

The 12-member commission, appointed by Umstead at the request of the legislature, also voted last night to ask the lawmakers to approve the activation of TV channels where funds are available from private and local sources.

The commission also requested that the Assembly approve $12,000 in additional funds to continue its survey of the potentialities of educational television in the state.

By 1955, said Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, chairman of a commission subcommittee, the commission will have completed a thorough study of the potentialities of educational television in the state.

By 1955, said Agriculture Commissioner L. Y. Ballentine, chairman, of a commission subcommittee, the commission will have completed a thorough study of the educational channels allocated at Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Durham, Chapel Hill, Raleigh and Wilmington.

The commission also recommended that the FCC be requested to allocate such other channels as may be necessary for educational television to serve all the people of North Carolina.

Ballentine said that since the commission was organized Feb. 12 it has requested the mayors of the localities with educational TV allocations to appoint local committees to study the situation, conduct a public hearing on the possibilities of educational video, and begin an engineering survey on the transmitters needed.

William Carmichael, comptroller of the University of North Carolina, said equipment for a transmitter contemplated at Chapel Hill would cost about $500,000. He said such a transmitter could reach an audience of up to 2,500,000 people. He said the university hopes to get the necessary funds from private sources.

American Coiffures Will Be 'Different'

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — Hair stylists are guessing correctly, it will be American women against the world in the matter of coiffures.

We're going to be brushing our hair forward, but positively, predict experts at the International Beauty Show.

Foreign hair stylists stubbornly insist that women will wear their hair short—but brushed off their faces in a variety of styles to suit different features.

Seven male hair stylists from six countries got into an international beauty argument when they were called on to show the newest hair styles in their countries.

Gambo Santange, Paris stylist, said "very short, but not always combed forward." His model was a pale blonde with her hair brushed up into a coronet of loose curls on top of her head. The back was short and brushed almost flat against the head.

Albert Hoyt-Plangue, from Brussels, Belgium, created something resembling a poodle cut.

The Vienna stylist, Franz Hruschka, presented a blonde with a clipped coiffure reminiscent of Mary Martin's hair style for South Pacific. In the back the short ends were brushed to a point.

"They don't want the poodle any more in Germany. They want a style that can be worn with a hat," said Franz Trimborn, stylist from Cologne, Germany. His red-haired model wore her hair in a softly curled roll, brushed away from her face.

The girls in Holland apparently like the Grecian look, judging from the short, sculptured hair style presented by Van Antwerpen, of Amsterdam.

Then came two brothers from Hollywood. "We call ours the Hollywood flair," said Frank and Joseph Friedrich. "In a few months 90 per cent of the hair styles will be brushed forward. The style will last maybe two years. The backward movement has lasted too long already."

The Friedrich brothers turned out a close-fitting cap hair cut, brushed to the hairline in waves instead of curls. A couple of half curls jutted out over the forehead on either side of the center part.

Behind the scenes, five men disagreed in five languages.

The so-called red cedar is not a cedar but a cypress.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—An incentive suggestion committee has awarded a $50 cash prize to Miss Mittie Miller, veteran Capitol guide for submitting the following suggestion to state employees in an effort to create "more harmonious relationship": "Stop bellyaching."

She said disgruntled state employees should find new jobs if they don't like the ones they have.

Car Is Totally Destroyed By Blaze Today

A car belonging to Elijah Moore was destroyed by fire this morning around 9:30.

Moore's car was totally destroyed by a blaze of unknown origin while the driver was operating the car on the River Road near the Pactolus Highway.

Just how the fire started, Moore did not know. His first knowledge of the fire came when a car pulled up behind him, horn blowing.

When Moore stopped the fire, Moore told him that his car was on fire. Moore and several other persons attempted to put the fire out by throwing dirt on it but to no avail. A fire truck from Greenville was sent to the fire but the blaze had gained too much headway by the time the truck arrived.

Little Tragedy In Nest-Building

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP)—Destiny has decided that an English sparrow won't nest in a tree nest here.

The energetic sparrow was busily lining his nest with fragments of cloth, string and other material yesterday in a tree near the home of John Creighton Overton. Among other furnishings the sparrow had tucked into his nest was a rather long strand of nylon thread. He was in the act of a take-off from the nest when a loose end of the thread became coiled around his neck.

It choked him to death.

Hydro-Power At Niagara Falls To Help Canadians

NIAGARA FALLS Ont. (U.P.)—Workmen are carving two huge tunnels through rock and earth 300 feet below this city as part of a vast power project that will provide push-button rule of Niagara Falls.

When the work is completed in 1956, the amount of waterflow over this scenic cataract may be cut 20 per cent or 15,000,000 gallons a minute. Critically needed power for Ontario's growing industry and population will be increased by 900,000 kilowatts or 1,200,000 horsepower.

The amount of water diverted from the Niagara River could supply domestic needs of an urban population of 216,000,000 persons daily.

Besides the spectacular tunnels, the project being built by the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission at $200,000,000 consists of a huge power—generating station, intake stations and remedial works to insure an even flow of water over the falls.

Scenic Attraction Assured

Statistics emphasize the magnitude of the undertaking. The twin tunnels are larger than either the Suez or Panama Canals, 10 automobiles could be placed side-by-side across them and no hydro tunnels in the world compare in length and diameter.

Tourists need not fear the loss of a scenic beauty. Under terms of the Niagara Diversion Treaty of 1950, at least 100,000 cubic feet of water per second must pour over the precipice between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m.

Remedial works or dams will insure even distribution over both the American and Canadian falls. Without them engineers say, the water would follow the eroded path of the river and pour over in one small area.

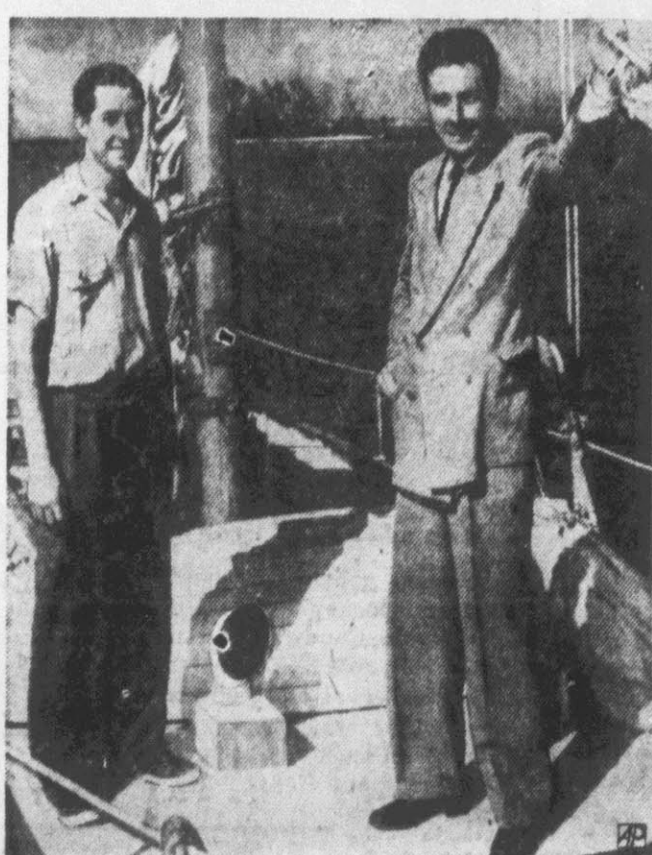

Transformation of water into power begins at the intake stations, two miles above the falls. About 7,500,000 gallons of water a minute are diverted to the 5½-mile-long tunnels under the business section of the city.

The water emerges beyond the city and enters a 2½-mile open canal, pours over a steep 300-foot precipice into 12 penstocks or steel tubes leading to as many 100,000-horsepower generators that produce electricity on demand.

The project, largest in the 46-year-history of the Ontario Hydro Commission, is one of 14 power sources built since the end of World War II. Niagara, started in Jan. 1950, will be initially opened next year when four penstocks go into operation. By 1956, all 12 will be completed.

GOING ROUND THE MOUNTAIN—Work nears completion on pre-stressed concrete bridge between La Guaira and Caracas, Venezuela, in foothills of Andes. Bridge is 1,930 feet long, has 500-foot span 220 feet above creek and is one of longest of its type in world.

Honor Accorded To Wrong Perry

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (U.P.)—When Rhode Island recently set aside two days to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the opening of Japan to world commerce, official proclamations cited the wrong native son.

Gov. Dennis J. Roberts signed one official document, Mayor Walter H. Reynolds of Providence signed another and the World Affairs Council of Rhode Island issued a third.

All praised Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, a native of Newport and hero of the battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812. For his "memorable achievement" in opening Japan to trade.

But it was Perry's brother, Commodore Matthew C. Perry, whom history credits with cracking Japan's isolationism to permit trade with the rest of the world.

Blame for the mistake cheerfully was assumed by John S. Gibson, director of the World Affairs Council who said he took a "hasty look" at the "small print" in an encyclopedia.

Basilica Model Touring America

MILWAUKEE AP)—A detailed scale model of St. Peter's Basilica in Rome, now on tour with one of its builders, has been seen by over two million Americans.

Attilio Savio and his son Lucio spent three years photographing and blueprinting St. Peter's before beginning actual construction. The model is 8 feet high, 15 feet long and weighs nearly three tons.

The basilica was whittled by hand from 400,000 tiny pieces of wood. The replica includes 140 tiny statues of saints, 4,000 crosses, gateways and statuettes trimmed with brass and bronze, 5-inch street lamps that light and fountains in the square which spout real water.

Doctor Urges Care In Wonder Drug Use

By DAVID TALOR MARKE AP Newsfeatures Writer

A famous pediatrician is warning mothers that the life-saving wonder drugs can be overworked.

Some mothers, says Dr. Bela Schick, world renowned pediatrician and originator of the revolutionary "Schick Test," seem to feel that unless a doctor injects a shot of penicillin into a feverish child, his ministrations are incomplete. Faith in the wonder drugs is so absolute that many parents consider antibiotics essential in the treatment of simple colds. Says Dr. Schick:

"Overzealous parents anxious to see their sick children cured in a matter of hours, may be endangering the lives of their youngsters."

As reported in "The 2 to 5 World Newsletter," Dr. Schick who will soon have a million-dollar pediatric center erected in his name at the Yeshiva University College of Medicine in New York, goes on to say:

"Frequent penicillin shots and repeated doses of any of the antibiotics help bacteria slowly to build up a resistance to these drugs. Then, at a time when a serious infectious disease threatens, these life-saving drugs may be ineffective because of prior indiscriminate use."

Dr. Schick cautions mothers "not to insist upon the doctor administering penicillin each time their children come down with colds. Let the attending physician decide whether the illness is serious enough to warrant penicillin, aureomycin, or any of the other 'wonder drugs.'"

The too-casual parent also comes in for some valuable advice from this famous pediatrician:

"Parents should not allow their

HOUSTON (AP)—The pattern of juvenile delinquency in this area has changed in the last 10 years according to a study of juvenile records.

A delinquent child today is much less likely to run away from home than 10 years ago. But he is much more likely to steal an automobile or bicycle. He knows about the stimulation to be obtained from narcotics and from smoking marijuana.

Records of nearly 5,000 cases handled by juvenile authorities between 1939 and 1945 were compared with those handled by the Harris County probation department during 1951.

SHOE MISMATCH.—Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., is perfectly at ease as he testifies before the Senate Interior Committee on the tidelands question in Washington. His aplomb was not visibly shaken when attention was brought to the fact that he was wearing mismatched black shoes (below) at the hearing. Shoe on his left foot is a wing-tip type while the other is a plain brogue. (AP Wirephoto) that entry for a week even before the original draft was made. In all, we spent at least 100 man-hours on 'run' alone."

What about spelling? Gurainik sighed and replied:

"English spelling is one of the most mixed up things in the world, and we poor lexicographers can't do anything about it—all we can do is sit there and record it."

Driving Is Ended After Big Night

HYATTSVILLE, Md. (UP)—J. A. Dobson, 83, pleaded guilty to drunk driving Monday after police testified he shouted "this is the night to howl" when his automobile crashed into a telegraph pole.

The judge suspended a $100 fine when Dobson promised he would give up driving in Maryland.

Families Issued New Land Grants

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Fifteen hundred families have been given land in the Djezirah district through the decree issued a year ago calling for the redistribution of large land holdings and the free distribution of state domain.

Twelve hundred other families will get land within the next few weeks under the program, reports the minister of agriculture.

STINGING DOORS for a hog house keep pigs warm in winter. They can be built to work without "backlash." William Hulsebus, Carnarvon, Ia., lumber dealer, invented this system of hinged panels of tempered pressed wood. The lower panel, 6 inches high, lets the little pigs in and out. It is hinged to the larger panel, 25 inches high and 21 inches wide, for full grown hogs. Atmospheric pressure keeps the door from striking and scaring animals after they pass through. They're "spank-proof."

New Slang Expressions 'Official' In Dictionary

By H.D. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Nuts ("exclamation of disgust, scorn") to you, you jerk ("person regarded as stupid, dull, eccentric")

Let's not get into a hassel ("prated discussion, squabble") about this, but you're a king-size ("greater than normal size") square ("old-fashioned, unsophisticated") if you don't dig ("understand, comprehend") the latest in American English.

Man ("exclamation of pleasure, surprise") what a hopped up ("supercharged") language.

This is perfectly O.K. English. That is, it will be after March 23 if you want to take the word—the strong word—of the latest "Webster's dictionary, which comes out then. "O.K." is O.K., too. It's entered in the word list, without being labeled even slang or colloquial. It's O.K. as an adjective, adverb, interjection, noun, or verb.

Whether or not you agree that some of the foregoing words belong in the dictionary, or in the language, you might as well face the fact that they are with us. It's a fact that had to be faced by Nazi Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt on Dec. 22, 1944.

When the Germans demanded that the Americans surrender, Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe fished deep into the American language and pulled out a reply: "Nuts."

It's not recorded how Von Rundstedt found out what McAuliffe meant, but it's a lead-pipe cinch ("sure thing") he didn't find it in a dictionary. "Nuts," as an interjection, only recently being added into dictionaries.

It's in this latest one "Webster's New World Dictionary, College Edition" because the editors decided it's a word that's here to stay for a while. The same goes for "faisles," "hot-foot," "know-how," "living saucer," "gook," "hot rod," and "Eisenhower," Dwight David.

Most of the favorable terms which have been cited in this dispatch are carefully labeled as slang or colloquial in the new dictionary.

David B. Gurainik, head of the dictionary department of the World Publishing Co. and general editor of the new dictionary, said in an interview that the inclusion of slang words came down to "a matter of personal choice."

"We kept a citation file of words going all the time," he said, "and when there was a question about whether to include one, we got our staff together and fought it out hammer and tongs."

Gurainik is a World War II veteran, a quiet-spoken man with a prominent black mustache ("the hair on the upper lip of men; also spelled moustache"). He has been with World since it began work on the new volume 12 years ago.

What's the hardest thing about getting out a new dictionary? "Declining the very simple basic vocabulary," Gurainik said. "Take a little word like 'run.' We had two top men working and fighting on

Will Lecture On Camouflage Techniques

The latest developments in the art of camouflage will be the theme of a program to be presented for Army reservists and National Guardsmen of this area tonight. In the picture, Capt. Curtis D. McLellan (right), Intelligence Branch, Engineer Section, Headquarters Third Army, together with Sergeant Charles R. Underwood, are shown illustrating camouflage equipment. The Third Army team will present its program at the Unit Instructor's office, 106 Pickens Street, starting at eight o'clock.

Soviet Envoy Is Ex-Ford Employee

DETROIT (UP)—Vasily Kuznetsov, the new Russian ambassador to Communist China, once punched a time clock at the giant River Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. Al Leggat, former editor of the CIO United Auto Workers Union newspaper and now executive secretary of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board, said Tuesday that Kuznetsov mentioned the fact on a visit here in 1945. Kuznetsov said he worked in the open hearth furnace department of the Ford Rouge plant in the early 1930's after graduation from Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh, apparently under a Ford arranged worker exchange program. Leggat recalled that when Kuznetsov revisited the Ford plant as chairman of the Central Council of Soviet Trade Unions in 1945, he said, "the UAW has accomplished wonders. American industry is wonderful. The country is magnificent and your CIO unions are well organized." Kuznetsov also added, according to Leggat, "thirteen years ago, no union man could get near the Ford plant if Harry Bennett (the late Henry Ford's chief executive) and his goons had anything to do with it. Now I am being cordially escorted by Ford officials themselves."

Lost His Job, Kept On Federal Payroll

WASHINGTON (UP)—Amused Senate investigators today dug into the case of "the man who lost his way," a State Department information consultant who went to the wrong office his first day at work and stayed there on the payroll for more than two years. Chairman Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) of the Senate Permanent Investigating subcommittee said the unidentified employee was not taken off the regular payroll until shortly after election last November. Even then, he remained as a day-to-day paid consultant until early this week. McCarthy's subcommittee has been investigating the "Voice of America" and other State Department information activities. The Wisconsin Republican said public hearings on the "Voice" will be resumed tomorrow. McCarthy said the "lost" State Department employee not only stayed on the payroll at the place he landed by mistake but kept his desk after he was divorced from the regular payroll last November. Since then, between "consultant" duties, he has used the same office to work on a book, McCarthy said. He said the subcommittee is gathering details of the case and will make them public soon.

McCarthy said Thursday's hearing will deal with "waste and mismanagement" involving a "voice" radio transmitter near Vienna, Austria. The subcommittee has received testimony, it was learned, that an original decision to build a superpowerful, high altitude tower was scrapped in favor of a lower, less powerful transmitting tower. The subcommittee questioned four State Department witnesses behind closed doors Tuesday. McCarthy identified two of them as Herbert Fierst, who works with State Department - United Nations liaison, and David Cushing Coyle, an information specialist. Two others gave their names as Robert L. Thompson and John McJennett, both of the department's office of public affairs.

Three Judges

Slight alteration of procedure in the forthcoming city elections in the form of three judges at the polls instead of the original two was announced here this morning by City Clerk H. H. Duncan.

Duncan said the additional judge at each polling place is calculated to expedite election procedure in that it will speed up voting and make it easier for voters to locate their names in the registration books.

Names of registrars and judges, as announced today by the clerk are: Pitt County Courthouse — registrar, Joanne G. Norris, judges, Carolyn E. Bowen, Thurman V. Dail and Charlotte R. Mills; City Hall — registrar, Mrs. Rosa Brown, judges, E. R. Conway, Jr., A. F. Jarvis and Agatha S. McDowell.

Father Stevens Speaks In East Carolina Chapel

Father Lee Stevens, Episcopal monk of the Order of the Holy Cross, spoke on "Christian Marriage" at East Carolina College chapel service Tuesday, March 10. He was introduced to an audience of college students and faculty members and student visitors from the campus Training School by Richard Ottaway, Wilmington sophomore.

Father Stevens is conducting at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Greenville this week an instructional mission for students in this area. His talk at the college was arranged by Dr. Robert L. Holt, director of religious activities at East Carolina.

In his chapel talk Father Stevens differentiated between civil marriage and Christian marriage. The former he defined as a contract set up to provide society's safeguard for the family and to preserve the race.

"Christian marriage," he said, "is a spiritual adventure toward God." Its goal, he stated, is union with God and its means, the blending of personalities on all levels. Christian marriage, he continued, enables man to free himself of loneliness caused by self-interest and to "go out of himself with love." It is, he said, a holy bond and indissoluble and is God's institution for the permanence of His family here on earth.

AWOL Group Is Bound For Korea

ATLANTA (UP)—About 50 soldiers who were AWOL left Fort McPherson yesterday to be flown to the West Coast for overseas duty, it was disclosed today.

The Third Army plans this month to send some 324 soldiers arrested as absent without leave to embarkation points under the Pentagon's new policy calling for overseas duty for AWOL personnel.

A Third Army spokesman said 55 soldiers were sent from the seven-state Third Army area in February. All are being transferred to Sixth Army headquarters in San

Boone Addresses Greenville Lions

Members of the Greenville Lions Club Monday night heard football coach Jack Boone tell that a greatly improved schedule of football games for 1953 was in the offing.

Boone told the Lions that several well-known College teams had been booked to play the Pirates this winter, one being Stetson College in Florida which the Pirates tied in a non-conference tilt last year.

Increased seating capacity at the local ball park was indicated by the coach in his talk. That had been a major problem in getting large schools to send their teams to Greenville against the local college, Boone said.

Generally speaking the local schedule will be one of the very best that local sports fans have seen at East Carolina, the Coach pointed out in closing.

Louis W. Gaylord spoke to the club on the recreation fund raising drive which is now under way. Members of the local club will be in the lead in soliciting the $8,000 needed to complete the Elm Street project.

Lions will call on merchants and other persons in an effort to raise the needed funds to complete the project, this week.

N.L. Roebuck, manager of the Club's entry in the Little League ball series last year, was a special guest.

President Bruce Sugg presided over the meeting.

Anti-Trust Suit Scheduled Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court hears arguments today on whether the New Orleans Times-Picayune — and by implication 180 other publications — has been violating the anti-trust law. It is the first civil action ever brought by the government accusing a newspaper of injuring a competing daily. Three hours of argument were scheduled before the high bench.

The usual time allotment is an hour for each side. But in this case the Boston Post, which appeared on the government's side as a "friend of the court," had a half hour, too. The Times-Picayune was entitled to an additional half hour to reply to the Post.

The case concerns the advertising methods used by publishers of the morning Times-Picayune, who also have an afternoon paper — the New Orleans States. Since Feb. 1, 1950, the company has declined to sell advertising in either paper to anyone who will not take space in both. The rule applies to classified ads and to national advertising but not to space taken by local retailers.

The government charged the Times-Picayune was restraining trade and attempting to monopolize trade to the injury of a competing evening paper, the New Orleans Item. David Stern, III, publisher of the Item, supported the government in an affidavit but was not a party to the case.

Shaw University Choir Will Sing In Washington School On Next Sunday

WASHINGTON, N.C.—The Spring Garden Baptist Church, Washington, N.C. presents the Shaw University Choir of Raleigh, N.C. in concert Sunday afternoon, March 15 at 5:00 in the Elementary school auditorium on Eighth and Bridge Streets.

Shaw University is a church-related college located in Raleigh, N.C. founded by Henry Martin Tuper in 1865. This institution has reached its present growth because of the contributions which thousands of people throughout the nation have made to its progress.

The University choir is recognized as one of the outstanding "symphonic" choral organizations in the United States. It is in great demand and is always enthusiastically received. Harry Gilmory conducts the choir and Miss Annie Mims is the accompanist.

Shaw University is the educational objective of the Negro Baptists of North Carolina. Spring Garden Baptist Church is taking this means of making its annual contribution for Christian Education. The public is invited to hear this choral group. Tickets are now on sale.

of alcoholic beverages. Two major State departments—agriculture and health—are now concerned with administering the regulatory laws. But some of the milk producers feel that more diligent and detailed regulation should be had. A long and complicated bill was introduced in the Senate last Friday designed to set up a state milk boards to have supervision over the production, distribution, sale and storage of milk. It provides a system of inspection and licensing, affords public hearings and makes further attempt to protect the consumer from unhealthful milk.

RESPONSIBILITY — Major responsibility for the duplicative activities among State agencies rests squarely upon the Legislature. Laws are enacted requiring certain agencies to perform specific duties without adequate check to see how they overlap others already authorized, and to perform the additional duties the agencies must have more manpower and in some instances broadened specific authority. The "studies" heretofore ordered have contemplated a few men without much knowledge of the problem giving a few weeks part time to the job. The answer cannot be found until some competent group buckles down to a thorough analysis of the existing structure and anticipated needs and come up with a master plan.

Chapter Six

And the meal began. With Langley Curtis across the table from her, Ruth found it a jolly meal. The man had apparently been everywhere and done everything. While soup was served and consumed, Mr. Langley Curtis discussed certain of the queer customs of St. Paul. Salad found him not at all reluctant to recite stanzas of his favorite poetry—a performance that delayed the meal for the simple reason that his musical baritone held Maggi Colahan utterly spellbound. But it was when the roast ham came that Mr. Langley Curtis really got rolling along into high. Then he talked about radio, about the program he'd had for fourteen years, about the people he'd met all over the country, about the beauties of the country itself. And vibrato crept into his tones. Color came into his face, now enthusiasm glowed in his remarkable purple eyes. He didn't chat but expounded. Yet it was agreeable to be talked at rather than talked with. He had a beautiful command of the English language. Then abruptly, while you were hungering for more, he proved himself to be a real genius by stopping.

"But I talk too much," he chuckled, laughing at himself. He flung a gay glance at his nephew seated beside Ruth Carlisle. "Dan tells me that's a bad habit of mine."

Later Dan Curtis dropped into the chair beside her on the veranda. "You're too tense, Miss Carlisle. I've noticed that you never really relax. For instance, you're not now. Here's something to do. Unclench your hands. And if you'll remember that relaxed hands mean a relaxed body, you'll be better off."

She looked down at her hands, startled. "Well, for goodness sake!"

He laughed softly. "You might remember," he began, then stopped. For now, with sirens and honking horns, the quiet was being effectively shattered. Up the curving gravel drive through the park-like grounds came several limousines, with two motorcycle cops zooming along before them to clear the way. Thunder filled the night; then came the sound of the front door, and excited people from all directions to learn what was going on. They weren't kept in suspense. From the most imposing limousine stepped Mayor Luchetti himself. He waved his elegant walking-stick, he flashed his gold-toothed smile. He met the baleful glance of Ephraim Carlisle on the veranda, and floridly bowed. "My, fine friend always it's a pleasure to see you!"

"Crook!" roared Ephraim. "Politician!"

Ruth rushed to her father's side. After all, he hadn't yet been named to oppose Mayor Luchetti in October! "What a pleasant surprise, Mayor Luchetti! Won't you come in?"

"Such a sweet girl," crooned the mayor. He stalked into the living-room, resplendent in checked suit and purple necktie. Behind him came Sean O'Malley, owner of the Golden City Spectator, and Miss Westertep, president of the Golden City Historical Association. Announced the mayor:

"We come for to make the welcome, Mr. Carlisle, not for the argument. We come for to welcome the great Langley Curtis to Golden City."

In strode Dan Curtis, and with him came Nancy and Ellen Carlisle. Dan Curtis grinned placatingly. "My uncle happens to be ill. By the way, how did you people find out?"

Nancy inched backwards toward the door.

"The redheaded owner of the Golden City Spectator grinned faintly. "Oh, we have eyes and ears, sir. You're Daniel Curtis, of course." He glanced about. "Any objection to introducing us to your uncle? We're honored to have him among us, of course."

"Soon, gentlemen, soon. My uncle still isn't up to it."

Mayor Luchetti stared. "Then why you no send for the doc? You think small town she don't have good doc? Hah! He's a great doc even if she's crazy for to have a hospital here."

"We need one!" bellowed Ephraim Carlisle.

"Please," Mayor Luchetti held up an authoritative hand. "She's no time for politics! A sick man is upstairs without the doc. He's deservin' our respect, hah?"

"You misunderstand," said Dan Curtis quietly. "I'm a doctor, and of course I'm treating my uncle."

Ruth met the flashing black eyes. His comments a few minutes ago began to make sense. An idea came to her. Maybe he could tell her why her ears were ringing so.

There was time for politics after all. Mayor Luchetti exuded sudden charm. "She's a doc! Hey, you practice here?"

"I may," Dan Curtis shrugged. "I may even build a hospital here. But now's hardly the time to discuss that." He turned to Ephraim Carlisle. His voice was very crisp and wordy now. He had the assurance and poise, suddenly, one expected a good doctor to have. "Suppose we let them meet my uncle sometime late next week?"

"My friend," crooned Mayor Luchetti. "She's jost what we need—a doc who'll build a hospital!"

That was when Sean O'Malley hustled to the big front door. He had a once-in-a-lifetime thing. He had not one, but two smash stories! The first would thrill celebrity-starved Golden City. The second would rock the town to its foundations. Meeting Ruth's eyes, he grinned. As he saw it, the summer would be the most interesting summer in years.

Tax Exemptions For Vets Varied

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Fourteen states grant property tax exemptions to all war veterans, according to a survey by the National Association of Assessing Officers.

The exemptions range from $200 in Oklahoma to $5,000 in Louisiana.

Allowances vary according to the war in which the veteran served. Michigan, Oregon and Vermont extend a general exemption to veterans of wars prior to World War I, but exempt property of disabled veterans only among those who served in wars since then.

Several states stipulate that veterans are ineligible for exemptions if their property exceeds a certain value. The limits are $2,500 in Oregon, $3,600 in Idaho, $5,000 in Arizona, California, New Hampshire and Indiana, $7,500 in Michigan and $8,000 in Massachusetts.

Fourteen states provide special property tax exemptions applying only to disabled veterans. They are Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Idaho, Indiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Montana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island, Utah and Vermont.

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Thirteen out of 128 men applying for jobs on the Oakland police force were ruled out Monday because they had too many traffic violations against them.

"If these men can't obey the law, it's obvious they can't enforce it," the department said.

Stalin's Successors To Face Continuous Strain

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Joseph Stalin expanded Russian borders beyond the wildest dreams of the czars. Now the question is whether his successors can hold the gains.

It has caused obvious uneasiness among the men who are taking over.

At the same time, it is giving the West cause for new hope.

It is based on the realization that no dictatorship is self-perpetuating.

Stalin is dead and no one man nor any three can inherit his mantle.

Fear of an internal explosion has been apparent in official Russian announcements which accompanied Stalin's last illness and in the funeral orations after his death.

One sign has been the repeated call to the Russian people to unite behind the "experienced leadership" of the Communist party.

Georgi Malenkov, Stalin's pudgy successor as premier, Lavrenti Beria, who has emerged as his chief lieutenant, and Vyacheslav Molotov face a fearful task.

The so-called Soviet Union is a seething cauldron of unhappy peoples.

Before his death Stalin was forced to admit that in 30 years he had been unable to weld the U.S.S.R. into a cohesive whole. He may also have felt that it was over-extended. At any rate he was planning a house-cleaning.

Newspapers suddenly attacked "political carelessness and loafing complacency."

They spoke bitterly of "Ukrainian nationalists and remnants of the bourgeoisie."

IPOH, Malaya (AP)—Lee Meng, sullen 25-year-old Chinese woman guerrilla, displayed no emotion when told last night she had been spared from death on the gallows.

This was reported today by W. J. Burton, superintendent of Taiping Jail. After she was given news of yesterday's reprieve, she was removed from the cell for condemned prisoners to another part of the jail, he added.

The gun girl, an accused leader of Red terrorism in Malaya, had been sentenced to death by a British judge for carrying a grenade. The offense is punishable by death under Malaya's state of emergency laws.

unstable, disloyal, crushed elements of the Soviet populations still infected with bourgeois-nationalist views."

A British publication, the Eastern Quarterly, in its most recent issue printed a piece especially interesting in that it was written prior to Stalin's last illness but speculated on what would follow his death.

It was written by Ivan Bahri-anj, leader of the Ukrainian Democratic Revolutionary party.

Bahri-anj holds that social national and political differences inside the U.S.S.R. "are festering like incurable wounds."

He adds that the reign of terror under the Kreml masters only makes the outbreak of counter-revolution "more certain."

Actually, talk of any revolution in Russia seems to overlook the fact that no one can fight tanks with their bare hands. But a look at Russia's internal situation would seem to suggest that Communist leaders will go slow on any new, outside adventures.

Ancient Indian Village Is Dig Up

FONDA, N.Y. (U.P.)—Archeologists are watching with interest a painstaking, time-consuming excavation at the site of an Indian village that flourished 276 years ago.

For the past two years the Very Rev. Thomas Grassmann, OFM Conv., director of the Catherine Tekakwitha Memorial Shrine, and volunteer helpers have been digging at the site.

So far the priest-archeologist and his crew have—by piecing together the pattern of post holes—discovered the outline of three buildings.

When Father Grassmann and his helpers complete their task, the village will be the most completely excavated of any of the sites once occupied by Iroquois.

The village was established by the same tribe that 30 years before had tomahawked the Jesuit missionary, Father Isaac Jogues. It was the home of Catherine Tekakwitha, who has been declared "venerable" by Pope Pius XII.

Sale of Series E, H, J, and K United States Defense Bonds in Pitt County for the month of January 1953 totaled $85,354.00. Of this amount, $59,250.00 was in Series E Bonds; and $26,104.00 in Series J & K Bonds (combined). This sales announcement was made today by County Defense Bonds Chairman J.H. Waldrop, based on the monthly sales report from Allison James, State Director of the U.S. Defense Bonds Division in Greensboro.

The total figures for North Carolina's 100 counties were as follows: Series E $3,820,217.50; Series H $281,000.00; Series J & K (combined) $442,548.00; totaling $4,543,765.50.

statement regarding sales: "January sales of Defense Bonds are encouraging. To summarize—sales of Defense Bonds of all series were 14 percent higher than in January, 1952, and redemptions were 12 percent lower than a year ago."

"On behalf of Secretary Humphrey and the whole Treasury Administration, I extend to you appreciation for your part in achieving this good beginning of the 1953 Program."

Don't blame your car for STALLING until you try this GAS

Esso Extra Gasoline now contains an added ingredient that helps prevent "carburetor icing" . . . one of the commonest causes of stalling. If your car stalls while the engine is warming up, wouldn't it pay you to try Esso Extra before you spend money on repairs that might not correct the trouble? Ask your Esso Dealer for full information.

If your car stalls in damp, cool weather (30° to 55°) during the first fifteen minutes of driving, the chances are the cause is carburetor icing. This is not the fault of your car. Mechanical adjustments can't cure it.

Esso Extra now contains built-in anti-freeze that virtually eliminates carburetor icing and the bothersome stalling it causes. It's especially good in cars with automatic transmissions, where restarting after stalling is more troublesome. In addition, Esso Extra gives you a great all-around combination of qualities . . . quick starting, fast warm-up, high anti-knock, power, and long mileage . . . everything you need for Happy Motoring from the instant you touch the starter. Is it any wonder more motorists use Esso Extra than any other premium gasoline in the area served by Esso Dealers?

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

It's quite a trick to take enough heat out of the air on a hot summer day to cool an entire house to a comfortable degree.

Through a complicated mechanism, the heat is usually transferred into a flow of water, which is carried away into the sewers. This takes a lot of water—2,000 to 3,000 or more gallons per day. So water supply and water disposal become big problems in air conditioning.

In some areas where air cooling is needed the most, water is an especially scarce item. A Texas air conditioning dealer put his head out the window last summer and explained: "Smells wonderful out there; the asphalt's melting!" With the temperature above 100 for weeks, he did a thriving air conditioning business in his water-short area.

Elsewhere, merely the number of new homes recently added has severely taxed water facilities. On New York's Long Island, water is rationed for lawn sprinkling. The cost of water seems to be the least of worries.

Therefore, various methods have been devised for using water over again in air conditioners.

Water is used to cool the condensers of almost all air conditioning plants. Room coolers, such as window units, use air the same as your kitchen refrigerator. But for plants with 2 to 3 tons or more capacity, air apparently might not be efficient. Ton capacity is gauged by the amount of cooling that equals the melting of a ton of ice.)

The average air cooling system works by blowing warm and humid room air over a sealed coil in which a refrigerating liquid—usually Freon-12—is evaporating rapidly into gas. This evaporation has a high cooling effect because the gas soaks up the heat. Then the gas is compressed back into a liquid, giving off its heat in a condenser where water carries the heat away. The cooled liquid is then ready to evaporate again within its sealed circuit and absorb more heat. But without the flow of water it would be difficult to remove the heat from the condenser.

Some people have used wasted condenser water for their lawns and gardens. They have argued that they might spend $50 for sprinkling water anyway, so they cancel the cost of water for their coolers. But where water is scarce local ordinances may prohibit its use in this manner.

One solution to this problem is to reuse water by erecting a cooling tower in the backyard. These structures, resembling the louvered gadgets on top of ice cream factories, give the water a place to cascade down through the air. A certain percentage is lost through evaporation, but usually not much, except by wind loss which may mount up. The evaporation aids the cooling and even on hot days the water is said to be returned 10 degrees cooler than it goes into the tower.

These atmospheric towers have to stand in the open, where they'll get the most air, and they can't be covered with shrubbery or vines. If you have a big place, you can cool the water with a fountain and pool, or with an outdoor swimming pool. Other contrivances involve motor-driven fans, but they are bulky, noisy and may cost more than $400 in contrast to $150 or so for a tower. (Piping and pumps are extra.)

Working on this problem, Coleman of Wichita, Kan., has announced a water-saving device employing a power-projected fog to cool the refrigerant. It uses less than six gallons of water to operate a 2-ton cooling installation in contrast with 200 gallons per hour.

This machine is placed on a shelf in the garage, or elsewhere outside of the house and the engineers claim that its efficiency is 10 to 25 per cent greater than customary towers. They also claim up to 40 per cent savings in electricity.

Another big problem in summer cooling is dehumidification. When the excessive humidity of summer air can be lowered, you feel more comfortable than when the temperature is lowered another 10 degrees or so with damp air. Tests have shown that the average person becomes physically uncomfortable when temperature exceeds 79 degrees with a relative humidity of 50 per cent.

The colder air can be made, the more humidity is removed from it. However, since comfort prevents the blowing of very cold air directly into a room, a system of tempering this chilled, drier air has been devised. This system is used in small-duct, high-velocity installations. Because the ducts are small, the air has to be cooled more than usually. This dries it. Then it is blended in a wall chamber with air from the room it is entering, so that both its temperature and velocity are tempered for comfort when it is circulated through the room. This blending is credited with increasing efficiency, whether in a cooling or heating process, since only a measured amount of fresh air is taken in—enough to refresh the recirculated air.

Broiler Prices Call For Change

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—The general drop in farm prices has resulted in North Carolina broilers selling at or near the break-even point. Broilers which cost 24 or 25 cents a pound to produce are now bringing in 26 cents a pound, says a North Carolina State College poultry marketing specialist.

Charles W. Williams says competition from other broiler areas and the drop in "c" prices are largely responsible. He advocates more efficient broiler production as the best way to combat the situation.

Eagles often attack fishing creeps, making them drop fish they have caught and then seizing the food; but sometimes a group of ospreys will attack an eagle and drive it out of the neighborhood.

Malenkov Had To Sound Reasonably Peaceful; Lenin's Prophecy Recalled

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Just because Malenkov didn't threaten war in his funeral oration for Stalin is no reason for the West to feel safer. Malenkov sounded fairly peaceful because he had to. It's the Communist line: Russia is the No. 1 peace-loving nation. Stalin established it. Malenkov has been following it. He must do so here at the start of his regime, at least, to build confidence of the Russian masses in him.

War talk the first time he opened his mouth after Stalin's death would cause more fright than devotion. What he and the party actually do later is not necessarily connected with what Malenkov says now or later.

He said his policy is based on the "Lenin-Stalin premise of the possibility of the prolonged co-existence and peaceful competition of two different systems, capitalist and socialist."

The trouble with the word "prolonged" as he used it is that it does not mean "forever." Prolonged means for a while. Lenin laid down the doctrine which plainly says "peaceful co-existence" can't last forever.

"As long as capitalism and socialism remained, we cannot live in peace. In the end one or the other will triumph—a funeral requiem will be sung either over the Soviet republic or over world capitalism. This is a respite in war."

The Communist already have proved in Korea what they'd try when they thought they might get away with it. From Communism's viewpoint it's good psychology, or more than one reason, to call Russia the No. 1 peace-lover.

In the first place, the Stalin-Malenkov problem is different from Hitler's. When he came to power the German people, humiliated by their World War I defeat, felt bitter and mistreated.

They had an old tradition of nationalism. Hitler pumped them full of that to make them fighting mad. Since they had also an old militaristic tradition, he appealed to that, too. And because the Germans felt crowded, he could direct them to war with promises of more living space and revenge for World War I. By threatening war he strengthened his position with the Germans.

But the Russians came out of World War II victorious. They felt neither humiliated nor mistreated. So they had neither need nor desire for revenge. How then could they be prepared for war and induced to support it?

By repeatedly telling them they were innocent peace-loving people surrounded by enemies getting ready to attack them. That puts the six million Communist Party members and the other 20 million Russians not permitted in the party all in the same pot.

That's the pot Stalin stirred up. And Malenkov himself vigorously stirred it last October when, addressing the 19th All-Soviet Communist Party Congress in Moscow, he accused the United States of trying to "wreck the peace."

In addition to all that, the Russians probably have a healthy respect for the atom bomb supply in possession of the West and probably don't feel ready yet to start talking aggressively.

Plan Monument To Heroine Who Saved A Prince

CAMPBELTOWN, Scotland (AP)—Flora MacDonald, the Jacobite heroine who 200 years ago saved the life of Bonnie Prince Charlie, the pretender to the Scottish throne is to have a highland cairn the traditional Scottish memorial, erected in her honor.

The Clan Donald Society announced that the memorial will be unveiled in April at Arrivullin Mill-ton, her birthplace in the Hebrides. The memorial will be a 6-foot-high conical mound of stone built from the moss-covered ruins of her cottage.

Flora saved the life of Prince Charles Edward in 1746, when he took refuge after the Battle of Culloden against the British at Benbecula, in the Hebrides. She obtained a pass to the mainland for herself, a manservant, and an Irish spinning maid, Betty Burke.

The prince was taken off the island disguised as Betty Burke, and escaped to France.

CONSTRUCTIVE LEGISLATOR

ATKINSON, N. H. (UP)—Mrs. Lillian R. Brock, a member of the New Hampshire legislature, has built two houses with her own hands. She built her own home and a house for her daughter. A bricklayer was the only hired help.

STILL ATTRACTING ATTENTION— Spectators at annual Rose Monday carnival parade in Cologne, Germany, see float depicting ex-King Farouk of Egypt pass along street. Eye-catching float was titled "Just a Poor Traveling Workman."

TOPPING HER OWN RECORD— Julie Ann Scheid, 8, poses with the five kids born to "Julie Ann," a pedigreed Saanen goat, left background, at Wilton, Conn. The quintuplets topped by one the number of kids born to the same goat last year.

If driving makes you tired
don't blame the road
—it's your car's fault!

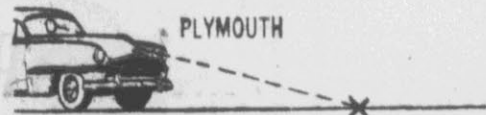

HERE'S HOW THE NEW '53 PLYMOUTH
KEEPS YOU FEELING FRESH—ALL DAY LONG!

The new Plymouth fights the road for you, not with you! True balance designing "irons out" rough roads to give you a boulevard-smooth ride. Also, it takes the struggle out of steering, reduces the fatigue and nervous tension of long hours at the wheel. In the new Plymouth you know you've got complete control of the car and the road — and it's a mighty comforting feeling!

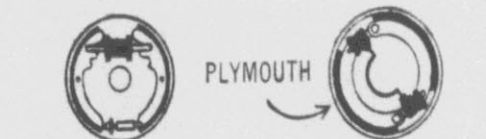

An old-fashioned "Rock of Gibraltar" hood design can keep you tense, on edge — worrying about what you can't see that's directly ahead of the car.

The new Plymouth has a low hood silhouette that lets you see more of the road directly ahead. This is modern styling—with a practical purpose!

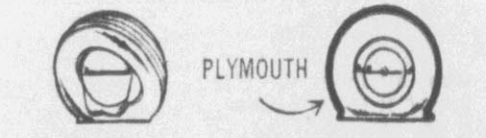

You can't relax, even on a short drive, if you're cramped or crowded in an unnatural seating position. The new Plymouth gives you the lasting comfort and posture protection of Comfort Level seats. Full-depth, full-width coil springs — not the common platform type — always give you correct, cushioned support.

Nothing builds up nervous tension like brakes that give an uncertain, uneven response to the pressure of your foot on the pedal. But with Plymouth's Safe-Guard hydraulic brakes you drive relaxed, confident of smooth, even braking response at every stop. There are two hydraulic brake cylinders in each Plymouth front wheel, where competitive cars have only one, plus greater areas of Cyclebond brake lining that assure longer, more dependable braking.

How can you relax when you have to worry about blowouts? Plymouth's famous Safety-Rim Wheels protect you with special retaining ridges that hold a deflated tire safely on the rim in case of a blowout. These and many other thoughtful Plymouth features add up to the most carefree, as well as the most comfortable, ride ever built into a low-priced car!

Plymouth offers two great lines of cars: the CAMBRIDGE the CRANBROOK

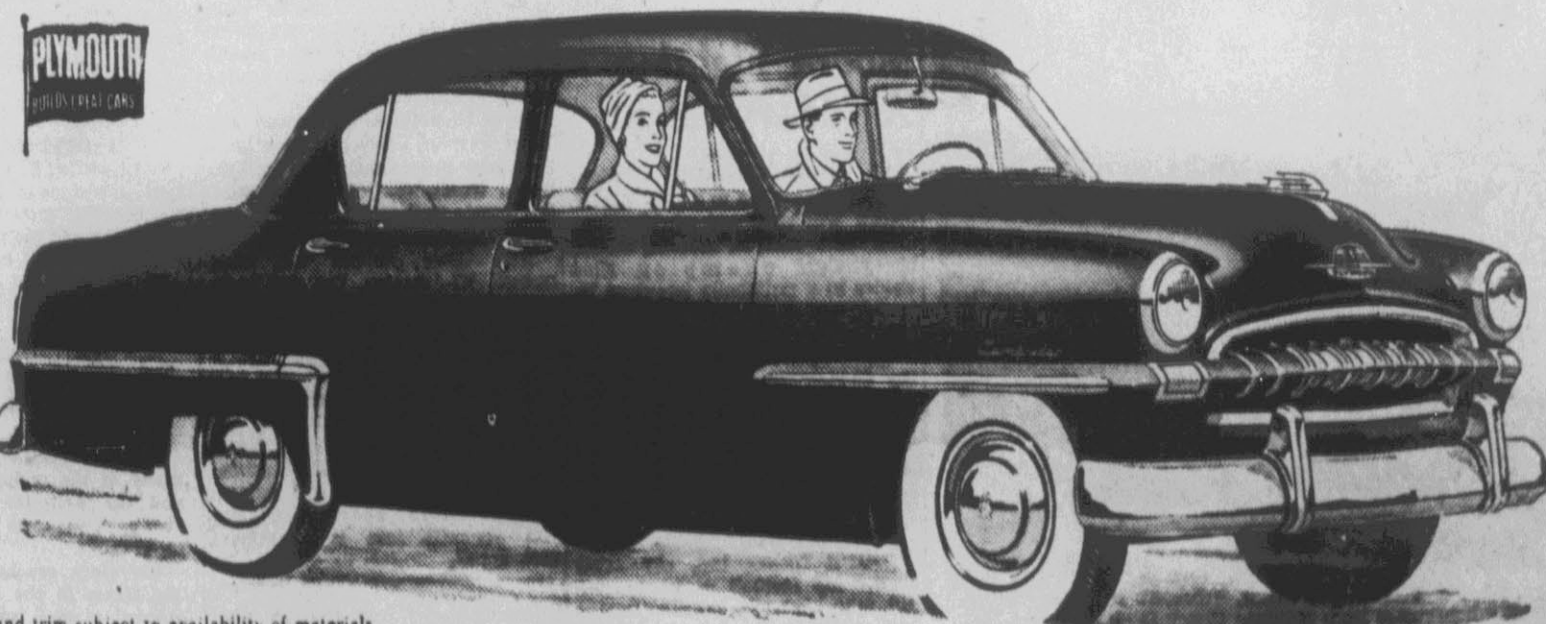

Illustrated below is the 4-door Sedan in the thrifty Plymouth Cambridge line—great value leader in the lowest-priced field. Same great value in the Plymouth Cranbrook 4-door Sedan, with luxury and refinements offered by no other low-priced car.

Pirates Lose To Arkansas Tech, 85-81, In N. A. I. A.

Pirates Impressed By Teams In Tournament

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Editor

"It was wonderful."

Norwood Talton, manager of the East Carolina College basketball team, was doing the talking. He was referring to the telegraphic support the team got from local fans while it was in Kansas City in the N. A. I. A. tournament.

Norwood, making his first trip to the Midwest as one of the members of the squad, said that the team as a unit got "around 10 or 12 telegrams" Monday and when Coach Howard Porter went downstairs before the game Tuesday afternoon there were four or five more waiting. One of the telegrams carried more than 50 signatures of East Carolina students.

The Pirate manager substantiated the general belief that there were plenty of good teams in the tournament. "Mississippi Southern looks mighty good. Stetson University also has a good team and one of the Nebraska teams looks very good, probably because they have a seven-foot pivot man to work around. Tennessee A and I, an all-Negro team, also looks good and has a boy from Goldsboro on the squad," the manager continued. He didn't get a chance to see any of the other teams.

Referring to the East Carolina-Arkansas Tech game, Norwood said that there was really no solid explanation as to why the Pirates lost the big lead they had early in the game.

"We started missing our shots," Talton said, "and when we did that we started rushing them—something that made the situation worse. By the time we could get settled down it was just too late. We missed (Sonny) Russell and Bobby Hodges after they fouled out."

The comeback made by the Arkansas team should indicate the general strength of the teams entered in the N. A. I. A. field. The Pirates usually manage to hold their own once they get a lead in a ball game and have even made it their specialty to "comeback" in the second half — the thing which gave the Arkansas team the victory.

Norwood had some kind words to say about the quality of basketball played by the undefeated Arkansas

Baseball Briefs

SERIOUSLY INJURED
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Wally Lammers, rookie shortstop of the St. Louis Cardinals, was under observation today following an accident in which he suffered a brain concussion and narrowly missed suffering a broken neck.

Lammers, who played with the Cardinals' Columbus and Rochester farm clubs in 1952, was injured when his head struck second baseman Jack Dittmer's knee as the rookie slid into second base in the second inning of Tuesday's game with the Braves. The Braves won, 7-5.

TRIPLE PLAY
TUCSON, Ariz. (UP)—The feat required the aid of a triple play but the Chicago Cubs had their first victory of the Grapefruit League season today.

After absorbing three consecutive losses, the Cubs turned on the Cleveland Indians Tuesday and defeated them, 10-4, as Fodie Miksis and Bill Serena hit homers.

SORE ARMS
LAKELAND, Fla. (UP)—Veteran pitcher Art Houtteman and Ted Gray nursed sore arms today as the undefeated Detroit Tigers met the Boston Braves in search of their fourth victory of the spring.

Manager Fred Hutchinson said neither of the two stars would pitch for at least five days but the ailments still were considered minor.

TOP RECORDS
ORLANDO, Fla. (UP)—The world champion New York Yankees boasted a 3-1 Grapefruit League record today and a pitching staff with a 1.29 earned run average.

Bob Wiesler, Johnny Schmitz and Johnny Sam collaborated to turn in the Yankees' latest excellent pitching performance Tuesday—a three-hit, 2-0 triumph over the Boston Red Sox.

HODGES GETS HOMER
VERO BEACH, Fla. (UP)—Gil Hodges of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who went hitless in 21 tries, had his first 1953 hit today—a home run.

Hodges exploded the blow off Karl Drews with a teammate aboard to produce a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning Tuesday night and the Dodgers went on to beat the Phillies, 3-2, when rookie Junior Gilliam singled home the decisive run off Jim Konstanty in the eighth.

PIRATES BEGIN PLAY
HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates began a full month of competition with Cuban All-Star competition today after the Philadelphia A's series with a 4-2 victory Tuesday night. Behind the eight-hit pitching of Carl Scheib and Morris Martin, three Pittsburgh errors aided the A's who managed to make only six hits.

RECREATION BASKETBALL
On Tuesday afternoon the War Hawks defeated the Globetrotters 22-12 to move into the city championship game against the Redskins from West Greenville.

The War Hawks led the Training School Boys' League all season and then topped the post-season playoffs by defeating the Cougars and the Globetrotters.

Peanut Numm and Raymond Bullock led the winner with eight points each yesterday. Dick Evans got seven for the Globetrotters.

The finals for the city championship are scheduled for 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Armory.

MOORE FIGHTING A HEAVYWEIGHT
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore will step out of his class once more tonight, meeting Cuban heavyweight champion Nino Valdes in a nationally televised 10-round war at the arena.

Moore will probably be outweighed by 30 pounds or more by the 28-year-old Valdes, who tips the scales near 215. But Archie, taking on his fourth non-title bout since he won the crown from Joey Maxim here last December, will be a top-heavy favorite.

Hodges Paces Pirates With 27-Point Show

Undefeated Arkansas Team Makes Second Half Comeback To Defeat Pirates In Opening Round Of National Championships

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Undefeated Arkansas Tech, the "wonder team" of the N. A. I. A. tournament, kept its record unblemished by putting on a whirlwind comeback show yesterday to defeat East Carolina 85-81. The victory was Tech's 24th of the season.

The Techmen of Russellville, Arkansas, trailed throughout the first three quarters and caught up only after the fourth quarter had gotten underway. They trailed as much as 17 points at different intervals in the contest.

With All-Conference center Bobby Hodges leading the way, East Carolina jumped to a tremendous lead in the first quarter. After Paul Jones' free throw had started the scoring, the Pirates went to work fashioning a lead that was as much as 15-3 at one point in the quarter. Hodges, Sonny Russell, and Charlie Huffman helped out in the scoring to put the Bucs on the long end of a 32-15 quarter score.

In the second period, Tech's E. C. O'Neal began finding the range and Tech began cutting down the big East Carolina lead. The tall Arkansas forward came through with 25 points during the game but it was his second quarter points that started Tech on its victory march.

Despite the big upswing in the Arkansas offensive in the second quarter the Pirates still managed to hang onto a six point lead at the halftime. They maintained that margin throughout the third quarter and wound up the period with a 68-62 lead.

As the fourth quarter got underway, Hodges popped in a set shot to stretch the gap to eight points and East Carolina looked as if it was on its way to victory. That's when their attack stalled, however, and the men from the Ozark country began putting in points from all over the court. Arkansas finally caught up at 72-72 and then began the drive which pulled them away from the North Carolina team.

The East Carolina attack was seriously hampered in the third period when Russell, an All-Conference and All-State forward, left the game via the four route. When Hodges fouled out late in the fourth quarter, the Bucs were forced to go along with reserves and Arkansas was able to maintain its slim advantage.

Hodges came out of the game with scoring honors, 27 points. Tech's O'Neal was right behind with 25. Cecil Heath took runner-up honors for East Carolina with 17 while Russell and Huffman chipped in with 12 apiece. Billy Baker got 13 for the Arkansas.

East Carolina had the better shooting percentage during the game but they weren't shooting enough to make it pay off. The Pirates from Greenville took 71 shots from the floor and made 32 of them for a 45.1 mark. Arkansas Tech took 102 shots, hit on 35, and wound up with a 34.3 percentage.

Coach Howard Porter of the Pirates said yesterday that the team would return to Greenville as soon as plane reservations out of Kansas City could be arranged. The Pirates expect to arrive in Greenville sometime Thursday.

ALL-AMERICANS ON ALL-EAST TEAM
NEW YORK (UP)—All-Americans Walt Duke of Seton Hall, Tom Gola of La Salle and Ernie Beck of Pennsylvania were unanimous choices today on the United Press All-East basketball team.

Dick Ricketts of Duquesne and Togo Palazzi of Holy Cross were the two other members of the team, which was chosen by eastern sports writers and radio broadcasters.

With three players who were named All-America, the east team was rated at least as strong as that from any other section of the country. As a group, it had scoring average of 23.1 points per game and averaged six-percentage, 6-12 inches in height.

All five players led their schools into major post-season tournaments this year. Beck and Palazzi into the NCAA, and Dukes, Gola and Ricketts into the National Invitational.

Little Leaguers To Meet In Armory

Parents of players and supporters of the Little League Baseball program are reminded of the meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Armory.

The new president of the program, Dick Evans, said that the meeting would be largely devoted to discussion of the rule changes, especially the one affecting the starting times of game so that more parents and supporters may attend the games. The discussion will be a carryover from the last meeting. It was delayed until the present time so that the Recreation Department could sound out public opinion on the matter.

The meeting will be an open affair and any interested person can attend.

Pros, Amateurs Gird For Meet

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Thirty top professional golfers warm up today in a one-day pro-amateur tournament for the $10,000 St. Petersburg Open which gets underway here Thursday over the hazy and marked Pasadena Country Club course.

Jackie Burke, young Houston pro, won the title last year at nearby Lakewood Country Club with a course record of 262 or 72 holes. Burke elected to pass up today's pro-am contest but will defend his title Thursday on the long, hard-packed fairways and tricky greens at Pasadena.

Sam Snead, veteran West Virginia who won the Baton Rouge Open last week and a three-time winner here, and Gary Middlecoff, Memphis, refused to play because the tournament was moved to Pasadena. Their protests were based on the condition of the greens and fairway in 1950.

Top favorite to take down honors was 1952 National Open champion Julius Boros, of Mid Pines N. C. Others entered are Jim Ferrier, San Francisco; Peter Cooper, White Plains, N. Y.; Tommy Bolt, Durham, N. C. and Al Besslink, Royal Oak, Mich.

Fleet Marines Win Tournament

CAMP LEJEUNE, N. C. (AP)—The Fleet Marine Force won the 1953 Atlantic Fleet basketball championship last night by beating Fleet Destroyer Force, 70-63.

Highest individual honors, as the tournament's most valuable player, went to marine Leroy Smith of Newark, N. J., a former Long Island University star.

A COLT IS NAMED
HALLANDALE, Fla. (AP)—James Donn, president of Gulfstream Park, was recently presented with a colt which reached racing age on New Year's Day. Donn has requested the name "Lanark" for the Florida-bred horse in honor of the city of his birth in Scotland.

Baseball Notice

Baseball has already started at many of the schools in this area and the Reflector would like to give each team as much publicity as possible.

Therefore, coaches of the various teams in the county are requested to mail in squad information and schedules to the sports desk as soon as they are completed. We'll greatly appreciate it.

Liverman Scores 34 Points In Winterville Tourney Win

ABERDEEN — Winterville's Pitt County champions built up an early lead and then played possession ball in the last quarter to defeat Crossnore 56-55 in the first round of the state girls tournament.

All-Conference forward Jean Ann Liverman scored 34 points to pace the Winterville attack but high scoring honors in the game went to Crossnore's Donna Doyle. Miss Doyle, a six-foot forward, tossed in 45 points to pace a second half comeback which fell short.

Winterville took an early lead in the game and had a 23-11 edge at the end of the first quarter. The margin had been extended to 37-20 at the half but that's when the honeymoon ended.

With Doyle leading the scoring, the Crossnore team "got hot" in the third quarter to pull up to a 49-38 score. In that last quarter, with Winterville playing possession ball all the way, the Crossnore lassies got 17 points but Winterville managed to work in seven to keep the wolf from the door.

The Winterville players will move into the second round of the tournament against Aberdeen next Monday night. All tournament games are being played in the Aberdeen gym.

Dukes Sparks Rally For Seton Hall Win

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Duquesne's unseeded "Iron Dukes" were stealing the thunder from top-seeded Seton Hall today as both quietests advanced to the semi-final round of the National Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Dukes, a true iron-man quietest built around scoring terrorists Dick Ricketts and Jim Tucker, built their swiftly growing prestige to a new high by ousting fourth-seeded Western Kentucky in impressive fashion Tuesday night, 69-61.

Seton Hall, on the other hand, just barely outdistanced a dead-game but too-short Niagara U. squad, 79-74.

Duquesne thus will be a solid favorite when it takes the court tomorrow night against unseeded St. John's in the first game of the semi-finals at Madison Square Garden, while Seton Hall will be the wary choice over third-seeded Manhattan in the other.

"Duquesne's should beat St. John's by, say, three or four points," predicted Assistant Coach Ted Hornback of Western Kentucky, who actually coached the Hilltopper quietest all year because of the illness of Ed Diddle. "But it should be a whale of a game."

Many observers believe that Duquesne's rebounding strength of six-eight Tucker, six-seven Ricketts, and six-four Fletcher Johnson will prove too much for the Brookline Redmen. These three tall towers did brilliant work against a Western Kentucky lineup that included only one starter less than six-four.

The Dukes were ahead all the way, holding a 39-32 halftime margin, but that Hilltopper height kept the pressure on to the end. Tucker, who leaps high in the air to fire an overhead shot from something like 12 feet off the ground, led the Dukes with 20 points while Ricketts had 17 and five-10 Dick White of Western Kentucky scored 16.

"Look what they did against a club much taller than we are," marvelled Coach Al (Dusty) DeStefano of St. John's. "And they can outjump anybody in the country."

"I'm afraid of St. John's," said Coach Donald (Dudey) Moore of Duquesne. "Year in and year out they have a good, well-coached team and DeStefano, in his first year as coach, has done it again. If I had been Loeffler (Coach Ken Loeffler of La Salle) I would have been scared."

Moore was referring to the fact that Loeffler, apparently holding St. John's too lightly, tried to beat the Redmen without using either of two ailing stars, Tom Gola or Jack Moore. He finally after 16 minutes) had to use both, and still St. John's won, 75-74.

Niagara didn't have a starter within seven inches of Seton Hall's All-American center, six-11 Walter Dukes. But the inspired Purple Eagles led for almost three periods as six-four Charley Hoxie and six-three Ed Fleming leaped for rebounds like kangaroos. But then Dukes, who scored a total of 26 points, spaced a nine-point spree that put Seton Hall ahead, 63-56.

The loss of Hoxie on personals crippled Niagara, but the Eagles battled back to trail by only 73-72 with two minutes left before six free throws clinched it for the Pirates.

Former Champs Lead NAIA Play

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—Defending champion Springfield (Mo.) Teachers led the parade of teams into the second round of the NAIA Tournament today, and based on their first round showing, it will take strong ropes and a tight muzzle to keep them in check.

Next team to draw that assignment is Stetson University of DeLand, Fla., who beat Iowa State Teachers handsly, 75-57, in the first round. However, that paled in comparison to Springfield's 98-74 mauling of Gonzaga, Wash., Tuesday night.

Hamilton, the only multiple champion in the field—Hamilton won it three different years—is another well-regarded club. The Pied Pipers had their hands full in eliminating Louisiana Tech, 89-80.

Another team to move into the second round was Tennessee A & I, the first all-Negro team in the history of the tournament.

Pete Kinkade, Geneva guard, set the individual scoring mark for the opening round with 14 field goals and 15 free throws—a total of 43 points.

He also set an all-time record with 15 straight free throws. The old mark in that department was 10, set by Sheffer of Southern Illinois.

Rocky Uses Horse In Training Runs

HOLLAND, Mich. (UP)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano races with horses in his training program and says they're perfect for conditioning.

The block buster from Brockton, Mass., canters along beside a horse for as much as six miles during his morning roadwork as he trains for his April 10th title fight with Jersey Joe Walcott.

He explains that P. T. Scheff, his host at the Holland, Mich., training camp, is a horse fancier who routinely goes for a ride in the morning along the Lake Michigan sand dunes.

"I'd meet him along the paths," Rocky said. "So I thought it would be a good idea to run with his horse. I don't say I can beat the horse, but it's good conditioning for my legs."

Meanwhile, Marciano also concentrated on other phases of his spirited and strenuous training program. It's becoming more evident each day that all the emphasis isn't being placed on just one punch.

Rocky is throwing a multitude of left jabs and he's feinting, bobbing and weaving constantly in the warm-up drills.

BROTHERLY ADVICE
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Ed Mikan of the Indianapolis Olympians in the NBA likes to play against his famous brother, George, of the Minneapolis Lakers. But Ed never has been able to outscore his big brother. Says Ed, "I always pick up a lot of good tips when I play George. After the game he always tells me what I did wrong."

OLD RIVALS
DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—When Duke's basketball team defeated Princeton in the final round of the Dixie Classic recently it marked the first time the teams had met since 1940. That was when the Tigers came to Durham to help dedicate Duke's indoor stadium. The Blue Devils won that game, too.

FIREMAN READY AGAIN—Joe Black, Brooklyn's ace Negro reliever, gets a word of confidence from manager Chuck Dressen before taking the hill in one of Brooklyn's spring training games. The big right-hander won 18 games last year — most of them in relief.

Past 'Prosperity' Said Due To Steadily Increasing Debt

By ROGER BABSON
 BABSON PARK, Fla.—Ex. President Truman, in his final report to Congress, likened the 1952 boom to the Hoover boom. He noted that our total output has doubled since 1933; and that agricultural output has increased about 50 per cent. There is little question but what, in many ways, the last twenty years have been kind to us, as well as devastating.

OUR BIG DEBT
 The truth is that we have been living on borrowed money. Any family can make a big show for a few years by going heavily into debt. Furthermore, Harry Truman didn't point-out that in 1933 the total number of Government employees, excluding the Armed Forces, was a little over half a million. Today there are 2,500,000, not including the Armed Forces, on Government payrolls.

 He neglected to mention that he had left President Eisenhower a $260 billion debt inheritance, this being thirteen times bigger than twenty years ago. Nor did he mention the millions of people he has made dependent upon the United States Treasury for relief of one sort or another: subsidies, pensions, price supports and all the rest.

Farmers Have Been Fooled
 It was a comfortable yet heinous prosperity, heinous because it reminded one of the stupid farmer who took everything he could out of his land without every any thought to fertilization, crop rotation, problems of erosion, or preventive spraying. Certainly, no professional farmer would fall to do these things. Very few backyard gardeners plant without some thought to fertilization, watering and pest control.
 Yet, business has been expected to turn out bumper crops year after year, with little or no cultivation; while at the same time its best plants became root bound. Vines have withered and dried up because borers and suckers ate away at the vines. This is the Republican's inheritance. It may look good to the novice, but the professional businessman and the professional farmer know business is not as healthy as it appears to be.

ARTIFICIAL PROSPERITY
 Most economists agree that our great new industry—Defense—is what has kept us going since we caught up with post World War II demand. While many may have viewed Republican victory as the harbinger of happy days, former President Truman was probably more nearly correct when he likened our situation to the Hoover boom. I've said many times that governments can influence the course of economic action, but they cannot repeal Newton's Law of Action and Reaction.

There now is no such thing as perpetual prosperity. Barring war, we may well be at the down turn of the economic cycle. If we had not had the Korean outbreak in 1950, the Truman Administration would not have fared so well. Our Government is still "priming the pump" with national security expenditures to the tune of about $48 billion annually. A peak figure of $60 billion may be reached by 1954. After 1954, what's going to happen when Government defense spending is gradually cut back $7 billion to a maintenance level of about $40 billion in 1960? The only hope is to treat businessmen and investors in as friendly a manner as labor leaders have been treated.

NATIONAL DEFENSE SPENDING
 At currently planned rates, national defense spending would purchase about 17 per cent of our total national output by 1954, but soon drop back to only 9 per cent. One of our main problems, then, is for merchants to find customers who can afford to purchase goods and services to take up the slack. I do not believe we can do this until a very substantial cut is made in Government spending and taxes. The bottom 80 per cent of our population, where the mass market lies, holds only about 7 per cent of our gross national savings. This is a very important statement. Think it over.

Eisenhower's problem is going to be a tough one, moving from a kind of straw man economics to an economics of natural law. His "eleven millionaires and a plumber" Cabinet brings to the job outstanding experience and abilities. Certainly they understand, as well as any man can, the problems of business. Time will tell how well they understand politics so as to get real results.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

AP Newsfeatures
MAXIMUM LIVING SPACE in a minimum of construction is featured in this plan for a small lot. With three bedrooms, bath, good sized living-dining room and a model kitchen, the house covers only 975 square feet without garage (which is figured separately). This is Plan 52,366 by Victor Civkin, architect, 12 Ermine St., Fairfield, Conn. It was designed for the Young America homes program of the General Electric Co., to feature complete modern kitchen equipment, year-round air conditioning, new developments in lighting, wiring and plastics.

Liquid-Cooled Conductors Used

CLEVELAND (AP)—What is described as the first large generator with liquid-cooled conductors will be installed in the new East-lake power plant of the Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co.
 The new installation consists of a tandem-compound turbine rated at 208,000 kilowatts and a generator rated at 260,000 kilowatts, which makes it one of the largest in the world. The generator alone will be capable of supplying the household electrical needs of some 600,000 persons.

Coal Shortage Is Still With Them

LONDON (AP)—Forty-four per cent of Britain's households need more coal than rationing allows, but one in four homes cannot afford it, even if more were available, reports the Coal Utilization Council.
 The report said 98 per cent of British families heat the living-room with an open-hearth or other type of coal fire.

NOTICE OF MUNICIPAL ELECTION

CITY OF GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA
 Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 115, Private Laws of 1899 and amendments thereto, and Chapter 160, Article 21, of the General Statutes of North Carolina, and by order of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greenville, North Carolina, notice is hereby given that a non-partisan election will be held in the City of Greenville, North Carolina, on Tuesday, May 5, 1953, for the purpose of electing a City Council, consisting of five members elected at large by and from the qualified voters of the City for a term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified, and electing a Recorder, who shall be a qualified elector of the municipality, and a prosecuting attorney for the Recorder's Court of the City of Greenville, for a term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The books for the registration of voters will be kept open between the hours of 9:00 o'clock A.M., EST and Sunset each day for ten days, exclusive of Sunday, from April 22, 1953 to May 2, 1953, both inclusive. All persons residing in Wards Nos. 1 and 2, who are eligible to register and vote in said election, will register their names at the Pitt County Courthouse with the Registrar of said election, and all persons residing in Wards Nos. 3, 4 and 5, who are eligible to register and vote in said election will register their names with the Registrar at the New City Hall.

There will be two (2) polling places, to wit: The Pitt County Courthouse, and the New City Hall. All registered and qualified voters residing in Wards Nos. 1 and 2 will vote at the Pitt County Courthouse, and all registered and qualified voters residing in Wards Nos. 3, 4 and 5 will vote at the New City Hall. The polls will open on said date, to wit, May 5, 1953, at 6:30 o'clock A.M., EST, and will close at the hour of 6:30 o'clock, EST, on the same date. Every person who is duly registered and is otherwise qualified to vote in said election shall be eligible to vote.

For the purpose of registration of voters and of holding said election the following persons, whose addresses are given below, have been appointed Registrars and Judges of Election for each polling place:
 Pitt County Courthouse: Registrar, Joanne G. Norris, Greenville, N. C.; Judges: Carolyn R. Bowen, 503 E. 4th St., Greenville, N. C.; Thurman V. Dall, 2534 Sunset Ave.; Charlotte R. Mills, 209 E. 42th St., Greenville, N. C.
 New City Hall: Registrar, Mrs. Rosa Brown, 522 S. Greene Street, Greenville, N. C.; Judges, E. R. Conway Jr., 1510 E. 5th St.; A. P. Jarvis, 411 E. 9th St., Greenville, N. C.; Agatha S. McPowell, 608 W. 4th St., Greenville, N. C.

All voters shall be registered according to Wards in which they reside and the names of all candidates for office shall be placed on one ballot, and there shall be maintained at each polling place a ballot box upon which shall be plainly marked the number and designation of the Ward, and all ballots cast shall be deposited in the ballot box bearing the number of the Ward in which the elector is registered. No person shall be eligible to register and vote in said election unless such person is a qualified voter under the Laws of the State of North Carolina and is a bona fide resident of two months duration of the Ward in which he offers to vote.

 All candidates for office shall register their candidacy with the City Clerk at the New City Hall at least thirty (30) days prior to the first Monday in May, 1953, and shall deposit with the said Clerk the sum of one dollar as a registration fee therefor.
 By order of the Board of Aldermen of the City of Greenville.

Stevenson Visits Korea Casualties In Hospital

TOKYO (UP)—Confused Army escorts kept introducing Adlai E. Stevenson to war wounded servicemen from Kentucky today in the belief that it was his home state.

The former Illinois governor and 1952 Democrat presidential candidate said very little as he passed through the wards of Tokyo's Army hospital.

"I haven't been through enough hospitals to become used to this," he said.

During his hour-long tour, Stevenson stopped occasionally to chat with the soldiers, mostly from Illinois and Kentucky. He also met and congratulated soldiers from Turkey, Holland, Thailand and France.

At first, members of Stevenson's party thought the Kentucky men, such as Cpl. Charles Sames of Midway, Ky., were being presented because of the presence of Barry Bingham, president of the Courier-Journal and Louisville Times Co., of Louisville, Ky.

An officer explained later Army escorts thought Stevenson was a native of the Blue Grass State.

Stevenson first visited the section of the 1,000-bed hospital where men with serious head wounds and those partially paralyzed were being cared for.

Then he moved on to other wards where less serious cases were treated.

At the bed of Sgt. Lloyd Harrington of Decatur, Ill., Stevenson chatted briefly with the soldier about his length of service in Korea and asked him where he had been hit.

"In the belly and out the side," Harrington replied. "I gain five more pounds and I'm out of here and home."

"You'll make it before I do," Stevenson said.

Stevenson also talked with Pfc. Harold A. Rodbro of Waukegan, Ill., who was prepared with a gift-

Marijuana Ring Believed Broken In Pair's Arrest

RALEIGH (AP)—Federal narcotics agents say the arrest of two Mt. Olive youths on narcotics charges may result in the smashing of a marijuana ring suspected of operating between Mexico and the United States.

The youths, Rupert Dail, 14, and Dulan D. Powell, 20, are awaiting trial in federal court on charges of conspiracy to violate the narcotics laws and transfer of marijuana on which federal tax has not been paid. They were given a preliminary hearing and bound over under $500 bond each.

Dail is a former student at Edwards Military Institute at Salemburg. Powell formerly attended the B. F. Grady School in Duplin County.

Warrants have been sent to two Western states for at least two other persons implicated in the case, federal agents said.

The arrest of Dail and Powell followed an investigation headed by William T. Atkinson of Greensboro, federal narcotics agent. J. H. Eggers, a postal inspector, said he and Atkinson intercepted a bundle of marijuana mailed to Dail. This developed, Eggers said, after Dail had told Lt.-Col. W. J. Alexander, commandant at EMI, that he was expecting the dope to arrive in the mails. The package, shipped from a state near the Mexican border, was supposed to be turned over to Powell, authorities said.

W. J. Blanchard, president of Pinebluff-EMI, asserted yesterday that narcotics had never been known to be distributed on the campus. He added that Dail was expelled after the incident.

Last Photo For Navy Cameraman

TOKYO (AP)—A young Navy cameraman captured on film the last seconds of a wild bomb which skidded toward him down a carrier flight deck. Then he was killed as the bomb exploded.

The Navy released the story today.

Hot fragments and flames killed another man and wounded 15 more when the bomb blew up on the deck of the fast U. S. carrier Oriskany off Korea's east coast last Friday.

A Navy Corsair warplane returned from an air strike with one bomb still dangling from the wing. As the plane touched the flight deck, the bomb tore loose, bounced twice on the deck and exploded.

Ammunition went off. Fragments pierced the gas tanks of a jet fighter, pouring gasoline onto the hangar deck.

The two killed were Thomas Leo McGraw, 22, photographer airman, of Theresa, N. Y., and Thomas M. Yeager, 19, aviation electrician airman, of Columbus, O.

The photographer was at his station to take motion pictures of the carrier landings. When the bomb came loose, he started his camera. The camera was shattered by the explosion and McGraw was killed instantly.

Winterville FFA Members Install Street Signs

Four members of the Winterville Chapter of the Future Farmers of America yesterday completed installing street signs in Winterville. The entire chapter membership cut posts, painted the signs and printed street names with three-inch black lettering. The plans for locating the signs were made by the boys through a careful survey of the position from which they could be best seen. Approximately forty signs were put up for the town of Winterville. Installing the last sign yesterday were, left to right, Archie Nobles, Ray Sugg and Danny Wainwright. (Reflector Photo by Muriel Shotwell)

Grand Jury Attacks McGrath's Probing

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—A special grand jury summoned in a 1952 move against organized crime has denounced as a "smoke screen" the investigation of former Atty. Gen. J. Howard McGrath.

The grand jury charged yesterday that organizers of the investigation here met privately with witnesses and knew in advance they had nothing to report.

"It was crystal clear," the jury reported, "that the jury system was being used by the attorney general's office of the U. S. as a smoke screen. We resented keenly that the head of the Department of Justice would use the grand jury system as a grandstand play."

McGrath, before he lost his job in the Justice Department, had ordered U. S. attorneys throughout the country to make periodic investigations of organized crime in their localities.

The panel, formed here by U. S. Attorney Herbert Phillips, Tampa, Fla., charged the move was made to divert attention from charges of corruption being made against the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

McGrath, reached at his vacation residence in Palm Beach, Fla., said the charge is "ridiculous."

"This all happened long before there was anything said about my situation," McGrath said. "The idea for such investigations came about when I testified before the Kefauver (Senate Crime) Committee."

"I told the department to study the idea and put it into effect in places where the various United States attorneys thought it necessary. After that, I had nothing to do with the matter. It was left entirely to the attorneys. In this case Mr. Phillips," he said.

In all, 93 grand juries were impaneled throughout the country and the report here was the third to be issued. The first report, issued last June, sharply criticized operations of the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Justice Department at the Washington level.

The jury here charged that Phillips "had previously met with witnesses and knew that they would testify that they knew of no organized crime that was not already being dealt with."

"It was perfectly apparent that no information would be given to the jury and the U. S. attorney knew that none was available that would show the existence of crime, organized crime, or racketeering."

The jury said it was nevertheless "amazed" to learn that for six years no check or audit had been made by the Internal Revenue Bureau of the income tax returns of "the most notorious individuals."

16,000 Gambling Tax Stamps Sold

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some 16,000 professional gamblers have bought federal gambling tax stamps since July 1.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue took in $739,000 on July-through-January stamp sales and collected another $5,777,000 as its 10 per cent of all bets handled by the registered gamblers during those first seven months of fiscal 1953.

Collections for the full fiscal year are again expected to fall far short of the $400,000,000 estimated by some members of Congress when the stamp tax and the ten per cent levy were made law in 1951.

The fiscal 1952 take on both taxes was $5,345,000. The law was in effect only two-thirds of that year.

The Supreme Court ruled Monday that the annual $50 wagering stamp tax is constitutional, and the Justice Department Tuesday signalled full speed ahead on prosecution of several hundred big and small-time gamblers accused of dodging the fee.

Under the law, bookmakers, numbers racketeers and other lottery operators must buy a $50 stamp each fiscal year, and each operator must turn over ten per cent of his "handle" to the federal government.

Judge Looks For Machine Justice

AKRON, O. (UP)—Law enforcement by "mechanical monsters" may lead to justice by "machine" in the view of Common Pleas Judge Clay Dietrich.

In considering the increasing use of parking meters and radar to detect traffic law violators, Judge Dietrich recently told the Fraternal Order of Police chapter here that man has traditionally lived under government by man, by law and by dictator.

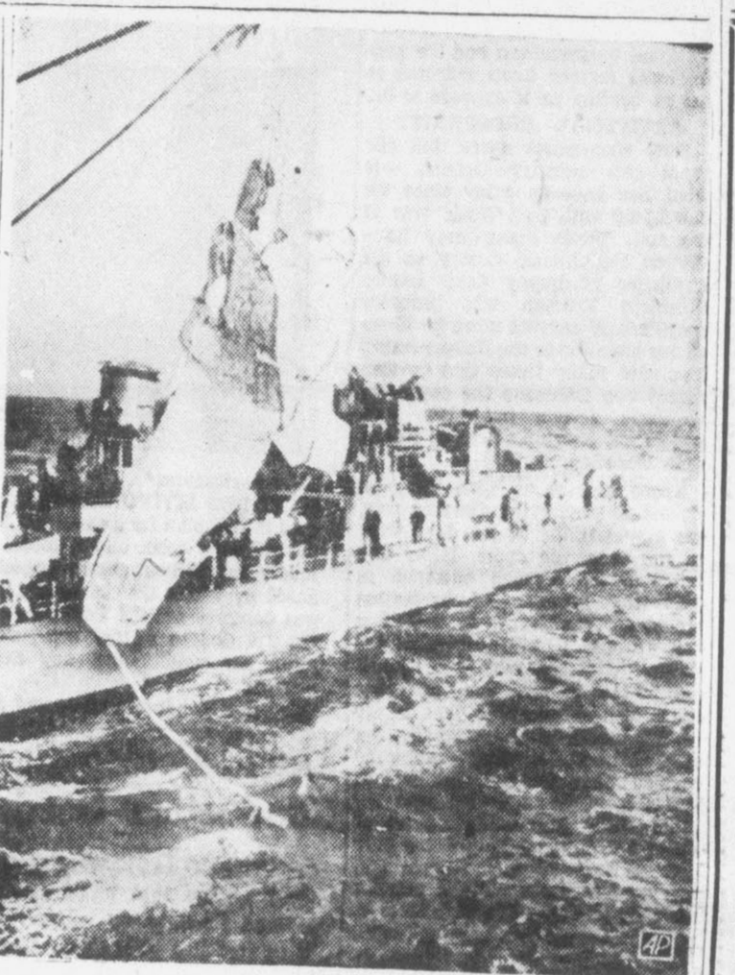

"Now we seem to be getting a fourth kind of government — government by a machine, or the records of a machine," he said.

Judge Dietrich pointed to radar as an example of the latest wrinkle in detecting offenders and said the large increase in number of victims indicates either "the law enforcement before was lax, or the public is being exploited now."

Possible solutions to this state of affairs he said, are more reasonable and simpler laws and better enforcement officers.

Failing to take these steps, Judge Dietrich warned that increasingly the public will be victims of enforcement by "mechanical monsters."

"There'll be a big machine sitting on the judge's bench," he said. "The evidence will be recited to it, a few lights will go on, a few bells will ring and the machine will boom out: '$15 dollars and costs!'"

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks moved up with increased vigor today after a cautious, steady opening.

Traders were wary in their first transactions. The net changes held to small fractions and many issues were unchanged on small volume. When new selling failed to develop, buyers returned to the market.

The result was a rise in first hour volume of 50,000 shares over yesterday's 280,000 shares. Prices moved up fractions to more than a point and at midday all groups showed increases.

Oil shares and rails made the best showing. Steels firmed. Chrysler stood out in the motors with a gain of nearly two points. General Motors firmed after a dip at the outset.

Coppers, air conditioning issues, aircrafts, tires and chemicals joined the rise. In the last, duPont rose more than a point.

In the rails, Santa Fe, Illinois Central and Northern Pacific rose more than a point each. A long list of the oils moved up fractions and Superior of California ran up 20 points to a new high for the year. Anderson Richard rose nearly two points to a new 1953 top.

Six-Day Week

Taxpayers served by the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau office in Greenville were reminded today that the office is remaining open six days a week in order to assist in the filing of returns.

Because the traditional March 15 deadline falls on a Sunday this year, the date by which returns must be filed has been extended to March 16.

Three agents are presently serving with the local office to help facilitate the tax-filing processes.

Carolina No. 1, 5.00-6.50; other grades 2.50-4.25; New Jersey 1-2 bu 5.00-5.00.

Live poultry: Steady. Turkeys hens bronze 55; rabbits all varieties 20-35; fowls 27-40; pullets 35-50; homionized frvers 32-42.

RALEIGH (UP) — Central North Carolina live poultry: Fryers or broilers steady, supplies adequate, demand good; heavy hens steady, supplies short to adequate demand.

Prices at farm up to 10 a. m.: Fryers or broilers 2 1/3 lbs 27, heavy hens 24-27, mostly 26.

Eggs: Market steady, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers FOB local grading stations: A large 45-48 A medium 42-45, B large 40-45.

NEW YORK (UP) — Cotton futures prices at 11 a. m. EST today: New York March 33.77; May 33.84; New Orleans March 33.76; May 33.83.

CHICAGO (UP) — Produce: Butter, 1,030,509 pounds; market steady; 93 score 68 1/2, cents a pound; 92 score 66 1/2, 90 score 64 1/2, 89 score 61 1/2, carlots; 90 score 65; 89 score 32 1/2.

RALEIGH (UP) — Hog markets: Tarboro, Siler City, Mount Olive, Dunn, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, Lumberton, Marion, Fayetteville, Florence, Clinton: Steady at 20.00 for good and choice 180-240 pound barrows and gilts.

Wilmington, Washington, New Bern, Jacksonville, Wilson, Kinston: 25 cents lower at 19.75. Smithfield: Ranged from 19.75-20.00.

RICHMOND, Va. (UP) — Hog market steady with top 20.00 for good and choice 180-220 lb. barrows and gilts.

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — Benson Ford, vice president of the Ford Motor Co., believes the recent attacks upon Catholic and Protestant clergymen in Eastern Europe are "only the beginning of a vicious attempt to eliminate all religion in those countries."

"We can only guess at how far this new persecution will go," Ford told the Florida Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews here last night.

"It is apparent that a defenseless minority group is again to be made both a scapegoat and a sacrifice—a scapegoat to the Kremlin's failures and a sacrifice for its intrigues and its mad ambition to rule the world," he added.

"Racial and religious persecution is a standard resort of tyrants who want to divert the attention of people from their own poverty and suffering," Ford, grandson of the late Henry Ford, said.

BOOK PASSERS VERMILION, O. (UP) — When the new high school building here was completed, Ann Chadwick, librarian, solved the problem of moving her books from one building to the other by employing the old "bucket brigade" technique.

Students lined up between the old and the new libraries and passed the books from hand to hand.

The Matron's Social Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock with Mrs. Annie Streeter on 14th St.

The New Bethel Gospel Singers will sing at the Cornerstone Baptist Church Sunday, March 15, at 7:30 p. m.

Many Attend Church Visitation-Evangelism Event

More than 150 workers from churches in Greenville attended a supper held last night at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church as part of the city visitation and evangelism program now in progress. The visitation program will continue through tonight.

Sees Eventual Try By Reds To End Religion

Responses to the seventh city-wide visitation evangelism program, sponsored by Protestant churches of Greenville are gratifying, it was announced last night.

Dr. John Pemberton, Baptist minister of Cape May, N. J., who is directing the visitation in Greenville, and who briefs the solicitors before visitations, expressed appreciation for the wholesome cooperation among the participating churches.

The third meeting of the workers in the visitation evangelism project was held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church last night. Women of the church served supper to the 160 men and women engaged in the program.

Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, and chairman of the Committee on "Visitation Evangelism," said the responses are gratifying, and indications are that church memberships will be considerably increased after the program is completed tonight.

Protestant churches sponsoring the "evangelism visitation" program are: Memorial Baptist, Immanuel Baptist, Free Will Baptist, Church of God, Jarvis Memorial Methodist, Eighth Street Christian, First Presbyterian, Meadowbrook Presbyterian, Hollywood Presbyterian, St. James Methodist, Pentecostal Holiness.

Other churches, it is understood, are planning to sponsor the program next year.

Dr. Pemberton delivered the last of his short noon-day sermons on evangelism at Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church at noon today. Ministers of the city said his messages have been inspiring.

The last of the "evangelism visitation" meetings will be held at Memorial Baptist Church tonight at 6:30.

Dr. Pemberton will speak briefly at the supper, and then hear a report of the men and women participating in the "evangelism visitation" meetings. A general report of the work will be compiled tonight and given to the public tomorrow.

Former Prisoner May Be Citizen

CHICAGO (UP) — Reinhold Pabel, German war prisoner who escaped to become a Chicago book store owner, may win United States citizenship.

Immigration authorities said a hearing may result in a recommendation for citizenship. They said that Pabel could not be deported because of illness; entry because he was brought here as a war prisoner.

The 38-year-old German who escaped from a prison camp in Illinois in 1946 told immigration officials he had led a good American life and has dependents here.

He married an American woman two years ago. They have an eight-month-old son.

Pabel was captured in Italy in 195. After his escape, he came here wearing Army clothing dyed blue.

He told authorities he first worked as a dishwasher and then as a clerk in the Loop bookstore for two years. He decided to open his own store in 1948, and built it to 10,000 books in a year.

The former Nazi is a theology graduate of the University of Munster, Germany.

His wife said she did not know he was a fugitive. "It wouldn't have made any difference," she said. "I love him."

CHICKEN WIRE DRESS FORM CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — Rosemary Demor, 17, has devised a dress form that costs about 50 cents. She used three feet of chicken wire, covering it with tissue paper.

Prisons Control Bill Introduced

RALEIGH (AP) — Rep. John W. Umstead of Orange today introduced his long-awaited bill to remove the state's prisons from control of the State Highway Commission.

Umstead's measure would place the prisons under a new State Prisons Department which would be run by a five-member commission and prisons director.

The commissioners would be named by the governor for six-year terms. The director would be named by the commission.

Meanwhile, legislation to redistrict the state so as to give it 11 new Superior Court judges and solicitors and to end immediately terms of the present members of the State Board of Elections was okayed by legislative committees.

Also receiving favorable committee reports were bills to require drivers involved in accidents to furnish proof of financial responsibility and one allowing a motorist to get his driving license renewed without taking an examination.

The judicial redistricting bill received the unanimous blessings of the Senate Committee on Courts and Judicial Districts.

It would divide the state into 29 judicial districts instead of 21. All of the new districts except three would have one resident judge and a solicitor as the present 21 districts have.

Three of the districts, the 18th embracing Guilford County, the 20th, embracing Mecklenburg, and the 25th embracing Buncombe, Madison, Macon and Swain counties, would have two judges each.

Many common birds normally fly at about 25 miles an hour.

The so-called Douglas fir tree is not a fir but a false hemlock.

Going Home

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — With tears in his eyes, American Ambassador George Allen left for home and a new assignment today. He said Yugoslavia and the United States would work - and fight, if necessary - together in the future.

"We are all in the same boat," he told newsmen just before boarding the embassy plane. Allen is returning to Washington before taking over as ambassador to India.

He summarized his three years here as ambassador as a period "marked by broad changes as Yugoslavia readjusted following the break with the Cominform."

Seeks Increased Constables' Fees

Pitt County constables may receive in the future more money for their efforts if a bill introduced yesterday in the Senate receives approval of the General Assembly.

Sen. Paul E. Jones of Farmville introduced a measure that would increase the fees a constable may charge for carrying out various aspects of his duty.

Senator Jones proposed that fees should be increased in this manner: arrest fee, $2.50; serving a subpoena, 50 cents; claim and delivery, $2.50; ejectment, $2.50; attachment, $2.50; and serving a summons, $1.50.

The present schedule of constables' fees, according to Justice of the Peace H. L. Jenkins, is: arrest, $1.50; subpoena, 40 cents; claim and delivery, $2.00; ejectment, $2.00; attachment, $2.00; and summons, $-00.

Tax Lien May Delay Opening

ASHEVILLE (UP) — A $9,056 federal tax lien against the producers of the outdoor drama "Thunderland" may interrupt the scheduled opening of the dramatization of the life of Daniel Boone.

Internal Revenue Director Edwin Gill filed the lien here yesterday. He said Sunset Mountain Attractions, Inc., which produces the drama, owes the government that much for the quarterly tax period which ended Sept. 30.

The United States once had three Presidents in a month: William Henry Harrison succeeding Van Buren March 4, 1841, and being succeeded on his death by Tyler, April 4.

President Will Retain Yacht For Seclusion

WASHINGTON (UP) — A Navy spokesman revealed today that President Eisenhower decided to keep the presidential yacht in service mainly as a hideout for intimate conferences on government problems.

The USS Williamsburg not only provides a perfect escape from the official hubbub of the capital. The spokesman said it offers an obvious advantage as far as the President's "personal security" is concerned.

In other words, it is easier for the secret service to guard him on the decks of the floating White House than at some public resort.

When Mr. Eisenhower first moved into the White House, there were reports he would decommission the Williamsburg as an economy measure and confine his trips away from the capital to such golf centers as Augusta, Ga.

Prisons Control Bill Introduced

RALEIGH (AP) — Rep. John W. Umstead of Orange today introduced his long-awaited bill to remove the state's prisons from control of the State Highway Commission.

Umstead's measure would place the prisons under a new State Prisons Department which would be run by a five-member commission and prisons director.

The commissioners would be named by the governor for six-year terms. The director would be named by the commission.

Meanwhile, legislation to redistrict the state so as to give it 11 new Superior Court judges and solicitors and to end immediately terms of the present members of the State Board of Elections was okayed by legislative committees.

Also receiving favorable committee reports were bills to require drivers involved in accidents to furnish proof of financial responsibility and one allowing a motorist to get his driving license renewed without taking an examination.

The judicial redistricting bill received the unanimous blessings of the Senate Committee on Courts and Judicial Districts.

It would divide the state into 29 judicial districts instead of 21. All of the new districts except three would have one resident judge and a solicitor as the present 21 districts have.

Three of the districts, the 18th embracing Guilford County, the 20th, embracing Mecklenburg, and the 25th embracing Buncombe, Madison, Macon and Swain counties, would have two judges each.

Many common birds normally fly at about 25 miles an hour.

The so-called Douglas fir tree is not a fir but a false hemlock.

Going Home

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — With tears in his eyes, American Ambassador George Allen left for home and a new assignment today. He said Yugoslavia and the United States would work - and fight, if necessary - together in the future.

"We are all in the same boat," he told newsmen just before boarding the embassy plane. Allen is returning to Washington before taking over as ambassador to India.

He summarized his three years here as ambassador as a period "marked by broad changes as Yugoslavia readjusted following the break with the Cominform."

Seeks Increased Constables' Fees

Pitt County constables may receive in the future more money for their efforts if a bill introduced yesterday in the Senate receives approval of the General Assembly.

Sen. Paul E. Jones of Farmville introduced a measure that would increase the fees a constable may charge for carrying out various aspects of his duty.

Senator Jones proposed that fees should be increased in this manner: arrest fee, $2.50; serving a subpoena, 50 cents; claim and delivery, $2.50; ejectment, $2.50; attachment, $2.50; and serving a summons, $1.50.

The present schedule of constables' fees, according to Justice of the Peace H. L. Jenkins, is: arrest, $1.50; subpoena, 40 cents; claim and delivery, $2.00; ejectment
