Clark Ready To Talk Peace

TOKYO (UP)—Gen. Mark Clark said today the United Nations is prepared to resume Korean truce negotiations, but only after agreement has been reached with the Communists on the exchange of sick and wounded prisoners.

Clark's note today answered one from the Communists agreeing to exchange sick and wounded war prisoners. He implied arrangements on sick and wounded would test Red "sincerity" in seeking an end to the Korean war.

The U.N. commander said resumption of truce negotiations would be the "second order of business" for the U.N. truce teams.

Senator 'Sure' Of Presidential Support In Controversy McCarthy Asks Meeting With Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he has asked Secretary of State Dulles to meet with him to settle the controversy over ways of cutting Western trade with Red China.

At one point, McCarthy told Stassen his subcommittee had "accomplished what you and Dulles couldn't accomplish."

McCarthy said he hopes Eisenhower "gets the correct picture" and added that he is "sure that Eisenhower agrees with me that every ship that carries strategic materials to Red China . . . helps intensify the war in Korea—to spill the blood of American boys there."

Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, declined comment on the difference between McCarthy and Stassen. He said he did not know whether Eisenhower had discussed the ship agreements with anyone in the government.

Rep. Taber Says Agency Chiefs Too Modest Hikes Budget-Cutting Goal

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Taber (R-N.Y.) raised his budget-cutting sights today and said Eisenhower administration agency heads were being a little modest in their own estimates of what they can save.

Taber said his 12 1-2 billion dollar goal includes not only reductions in new money requested but cancellation of money voted previously by Congress but not yet spent.

Taber didn't display much enthusiasm for proposed new appropriation cuts volunteered by the heads of four agencies.

Red 'Brain-Washing' Of Prisoners Is Predicted

NEW YORK (UP)—Edward Hunter, author of the book "Brain-Washing in Red China," predicted today that Communist China will soon announce that a large number of Americans captured in Korea "do not want to come home."

Hunter said reports from sources inside China have convinced him the Reds intend to give GI prisoners the same kind of "brain-washing" which has already been used to get American POWs to "confess" carrying on germ warfare.

One Last Bridge To Cross For Getting Cabinet Rank

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby has one more bridge to cross before she can become the first woman cabinet member in a Republican administration.

The Senate Monday completed congressional action on a bill approving President Eisenhower's plan to raise the Federal Security Agency, which she heads, to a cabinet department.

Mrs. Hobby, who is apparently trying to live down the reputation of her sex for talkativeness, would not comment on the Senate's action. But friends said it could be assumed she was delighted.

Salute Signals Army's Farewell

WASHINGTON (AP)—The crash of a 17-gun salute at dusk today signals the end of the 38-year military career of Gen. James A. Van Fleet—one of the nation's most successful and most controversial combat soldiers.

The 61-year-old warrior steps into retirement less than 24 hours before a Senate armed services subcommittee is due to open an inquiry into his disputed claims that a serious and sometimes critical shortage of ammunition existed during all the 22 months he commanded the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea.

Lions Extending Elm Street Park Funds Campaign

A one week extension has been granted to solicitors for the Elm street recreational project, it was announced last night.

Jimmie Harris, fund raising chairman, told members of the Greenville Lions club that the project is falling behind anticipations and thus the reason for the extension.

An estimated 600 persons and business firms in the city were to be contacted but according to a report made by Harris last night, of that number only around 150 contributions had been made.

Total receipts towards the completion of the project were estimated by Harris last night as being around $1,300.

The second part of the fund raising project for the construction of the building was aimed at raising around $8,000.

Harris pointed out that actual donations need not be made, but promises of payment at a future date will be accepted. These firms will be contacted by members of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club later as their part in the drive.

Li. Bennie Lewis, newly-appointed head of the local unit of the Salvation Army, was inducted into the club as a new member. George Wilkerson inducted Lewis.

Following the business session a movie was shown entitled "Telegram for America", a movie prepared by Western Union showing the operation and growth of the Company since its formation more than 100 years ago.

Asks $15,000 For A Broken Wrist

If details of a damage suit filed recently at the Pitt County Court-house constitute conclusive proof, a local man puts a high premium on a broken wrist.

The complaint has been brought by Dennis Anderson against E. N. Worthington of Winterville. Anderson is seeking a total of $15,000—$10,000 for pain and mental anguish suffered and $5,000 punitive damages.

It is alleged in the complaint that on November 1, 1952, Worthington approached Anderson from behind and kicked or shoved him so that he fell to the pavement, breaking his left wrist.

Anderson claims he had just terminated a conversation with Worthington and turned to leave the scene when he was pushed from behind. The incident occurred across the street from the Pitt County Court-house in Greenville.

The plaintiff further contends that he incurred medical expenses of $500 and lost the use of his left arm. As a farmer, the complaint stated, loss of use of his left arm caused permanent injury. Worthington has not filed an answer to the complaint as yet.

The public is invited with no admission charges. The event is sponsored by the Circle K. A. C. E. F. T. A. and is made possible by leading Greenville merchants.

The source of the Rio Grande is in the San Juan mountains of southern Colorado.

Sports Reflections BY Jimmy Ellis

If the pitching will hold up to its present standards, then East Carolina College Pirates will have little to worry about in the coming North State Conference baseball wars.

showings of Jim Byrd, Piner, and Martin Byrd. The one hit he gave up was a questionable one but one which didn't take a thing away from his pitching performance.

Byrd started last Friday's game with Atlantic Christian and lasted five innings before he gave way to Jimmy Piner. In his stay on the mound, Byrd gave up but five hits, struck out five, and walked only two.

With the pitchers in such good shape, the only thing the Bucs seem to need is more work with the batting end of their game. They've been hampered thus far by the chilly weather but should be able to get in plenty of batting practice before the week is out.

Owens, a sophomore from Beaufort who couldn't get going last year, was also another pleasant surprise for Coach Boone. He was tossed into the game as Byrd's relief man yesterday and struck out five men although he was around for just three innings.

The local angle is this: Bell pitched the first no-hit game of his life against a Greenville mid-level team some five or six years ago. Since that time, he has had a hand in about seven.

Pirates Face Flag Chase Without Any Fears At All

HAVANA, Cuba (UP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates are so without hope that they face the National League pennant race without fear. It is clear, after five weeks of training, that the Pirates are doomed to another eighth-place finish.

as a result, Kiner is the left fielder which means that the other outfielders will carry a heavy defensive burden. Kiner's homers will help, of course—especially at the gate—but he may be slow rounding into form because of his late start and the poor pitching he has faced.

Ten Eliminated In Marbles Tourney

Ten players were eliminated but ten others remained in the second round of play got under way in the West Greenville School marbles championship.

The losers in yesterday's matches were Patsy Howard, James Thompson, Maylon Edmonson, Carl Eastwood, Billy Stocks, Clarence Smith, Kenneth Harris, Jack Foley, Harvey Harris, and Milton Manning.

Touring New Englanders Get Single In Ninth Inning To Deprive Pirates Of No-Hitter; Teams Play Again Today

By JIMMY ELLIS Reflector Sports Editor A ninth-inning single deprived three East Carolina College pitchers of sharing the honors connected with a no-hit game but the Pirates won the first of their two game series with the New Bedford Textile Institute anyway. The score was 7-0, the second straight shutout turned in by the Pirates.

St. Bonaventure Coach Is Fired

OLEAN, N. Y. (UP) — Player disension on the St. Bonaventure basketball team, which fell in one season from a national power to a team that won only half its games, lay behind the firing of Coach Eddie Melvin, it was learned today.

Melvin, a former Duquesne star, was informed Monday by school officials that his three-year contract which expires today would not be renewed.

The curly-haired coach, who had guided the Bonnies through six seasons, said he was given "no reason" for his release.

Walcott Flexing Muscles For Bout With Marciano

By JERRY LISKA CHICAGO (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott today began flexing his aging but solid muscles here to pep up sale of 500 tickets for his title fight with Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano at the Chicago Stadium April 10.

Commission To Light Field

GREENVILLE'S softball program was given a big boost by the Recreation Commission last night when the Commission approved a motion to provide lights for night play at the Third Street softball area.

Originally Joe was due from his Eastern camp next Sunday. But the International Boxing Club, which is trying to sell 10,500 "fringe" tickets to the nationally televised bout at $50 per copy sent an SOS which brought Walcott flying to Chicago yesterday.

The IBC has about $150,000 in the till, mainly from sale of lower priced tickets. The organization conceded that $50 tickets were moving fast. There will be no TV of the bout in Chicago or near by Milwaukee.

The more he 39-year-old Walcott reviews his Sept. 23 knockout by Marciano at Philadelphia, the more Old Joe is convinced his title was lost on a fluke punch.

Of outside foes, only service teams seem able to handle the Southern Conference clubs. Camp Lejeune, for instance, holds a decision over North Carolina and one over Washington and Lee, the latter scored yesterday by a hefty 19-3 count.

Earl Stewart Wins Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UP) — Earl Stewart, a new golf pro, solved his grocery problem and made his first tournament triumph a memorable one by defeating Sam Sneed in a "sudden death" playoff for the Greater Greensboro Open title and $2,000.

Stewart, a red-haired Texan who turned pro in 1950, whipped the old master from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., in the first extra hole Monday after each shot a 68 in the 18-hole playoff. The 31-year-old Dallas player won with a par four when Sneed missed a six-foot putt for a bogie five.

Dudley Returns To Pro Football

WASHINGTON (UP) — Bullet Bill Dudley returned to professional football today as he signed a contract with the Washington Redskins as backfield coach.

Dudley left the pro ranks a year ago to act as backfield coach at Yale, but he said the Eli post kept him too far away from his insurance business at Lynchburg, Va.

Plan 8 Performances Of Annual Children's Play

Adventures of Robin Hood and his men will be enacted by members of the East Carolina College Teachers Playhouse when they present in April their annual play for children. Six performances, primarily for the enjoyment of school children in Pitt County, have been scheduled for presentation in Greenville. Two additional performances will be given in Kinston.

Several thousand people, both children and adults, are expected to attend the play. Last year's production of "Tom Sawyer" attracted audiences totaling approximately 4,000 people, and children's plays of previous years were also attended by large groups.

Sponsoring the children's play again this year as formerly will be the Greenville Branch of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. C. A. Bowen of Greenville is managing the distribution of tickets to schools throughout Pitt County.

Dr. Lucille H. Charles of the East Carolina English department, director of dramatic arts for the college, will direct the Robin Hood production. The cast and the technical and business staffs will be composed of student members of the Teachers Playhouse.

The dramatization chosen for the production is "Robin Hood, or The Merry Outlaws of Sherwood Forest" by the well-known playwright Owen Davis. It presents in an attractive version legends of the famous outlaw and catches the spirit of Merry England. Characters include many of those who have become immortal in story and ballad—Robin Hood himself, Maid Marian, Little John, Friar Tuck, and others.

The play will be first presented April 18 at the Eppes High School in Greenville. Adults will have an opportunity to attend an evening performance April 20 in the College Theatre. Matinee performances in the College Theatre are scheduled as follows: April 20, 21, 22, 23. The two performances in Kinston will take place April 24.

Red Oak News

On Wednesday night, April 1st, there will be a family night and Talent Program at the Red Oak Community building sponsored by the Youthful Workers Club.

This club is strictly a charitable organization and all proceeds derived from this entertainment will be used to help the needy, bring cheer to the sick and for any purpose that is needful. The club has been organized for about seven years and several churches in the county are represented among them being the Hollywood Presbyterian, Saints Delight, Piney Grove, Seventh Day Adventist and Red Oak Christian. During the seven years that the group has been organized they have made two trips to Camp Lejeune where they presented a three-act play for the soldiers and carried enough home-made cakes, candies and punch to serve about three hundred patients.

Many needy families in Pitt County both white and colored have been remembered at Christmas time and in other times of distress.

If you would like to go something really worth while, come out to the Family and Talent Night and encourage these young people.

Home-made cakes, candies and good entertainment will be there for you to enjoy. There will be no admission charged. Everybody is invited.

Heart disease is almost never inherited.

THE VOICE OF LOVE

Chapter 23

Great was the excitement around the old hotel. Almost with the first speech the guests split into two camps. There were those who felt that Ephraim Carlisle would make a good mayor for the simple reason that he was a good hotel manager. On the other hand, there were those who'd been greatly impressed by Langley and Dan Curtis. As Miss Plunkett summed up their feelings in her bugle-like tones: "They're rich men. They don't have to grub for a living. Therefore the hospital will be properly run at a cost all can afford to pay."

Yet Captain Johnny Lord had a different view of that when he called Saturday evening to take Ruth to the mass meeting. "It's cock-eyed, Ruth. Here's a fellow who could be going back to New York in the fall. I don't know how much his uncle makes, but if Dan Curtis is his agent he must get at least ten per cent of those earnings. So why does he want to stay here? He won't ever make the money here that he can make in radio."

"Perhaps he's a doctor who wants to be a doctor."

"Bob washed up, Ruth?"

She wished Johnny would stop looking at her that way. She wasn't a monster! She hadn't betrayed anyone! She'd never given Bob reason to hope she'd marry him! "I never loved him, Johnny. I like him very much. But beyond that—"

To her relief, they reached the park.

But she discovered an unusual thing as she glanced around at the crowd. Most of the people there were merchants and their families, farmers and white-collar workers. The fishermen were conspicuous by their absence, as were the farmers' hired hands, and the lower paid people who worked in the various stores. A chill went through her. See what harm Dan had done already! By this appeal to lower emotions he'd divided the town on class lines. With practically one stroke of his pen he'd clouded the issue. Now the hospital was unimportant to these people. A deadly insult had been given, and now anger would fight, not reason. She shivered. "Johnny, this is terrible!"

He nodded. As they found seats down front the fire-department band played a fanfare and up jumped Mayor Luigi Luchetti to the platform. The first shot of the campaign was to be answered.

"My fine friends," he boomed genially, "she's a pleasure for to see you again. Me I don't talk the English so good, but the heart, she's in the right place. You vote for me, you no vote for me, she's all the same to me. Mayor Luchetti, she's love all of you tonight."

"She's love you too much," he boomed on, "for to see the taxes go up. Me, I work for the living, too. You, you work for the living same as me. But do we get ahead? Hah, see what the food costs! See what the shoes cost! See what the car costs! This makes me sorry for all the peoples and for Mayor Luchetti, too."

There was applause.

He denounced the Civic Betterment Society for its socialistic tendencies. He denounced the free loaders of Fisherman's Quarter who expected the city to shoulder the costs of their illnesses. But it wasn't all denunciation. For Ephraim Carlisle he announced pity rather than animosity. "For she's a good man," he told his audience. "She serve fine meals, she's a fine friend to all. She's joosta man led into deep water by another old man who deserves the pity, too, for she's worn out from forty years of being the fine doc."

It was a good show. In the days that followed Ruth heard the sentiments of the mayor repeated over and over again by his followers.

Up went the blood pressure of Ephraim Carlisle. "Name calling! A rotten trick! You can call names even while you're pretending not to."

No less annoyed, Ruth managed to hold onto her temper. "You might," she said mildly, "insist that facts be used to decide the issue. You might print an advertisement saying that you can call bad names, too but that you have too much respect for the intelligence of the voters to do so."

He sat down, breathing deeply. "They wouldn't print it in the paper."

She chuckled. "Dad, Sean O'Malley isn't a monster. As a matter of fact, he very firmly believes in the right for all to be heard. And then, of course, we do have quarter-page ads in his newspaper each week, don't we?"

He stared, but not for the reason she thought. "Hmmm. Could be you're right. Look, while we're all here nice and peaceful like, are you going to do during the campaign? I don't care if you're against me. That's all right. You have the right to think, to use your own mind. But it'd be nice to know."

"I'm against the sort of campaign they're conducting, Dad. I'm telling Dan so when he comes back from San Francisco. I think it's a disgrace to use such an argument."

"Let him," grinned Ephraim Carlisle. He ran his hand through his thin sandy hair. "Every time they call those names I get more votes."

"Which isn't the way for the issue to be decided. Right, Mom?"

Ellen Carlisle nodded. There were other thoughts in her mind, and to her they were more important than the campaign. This, she was thinking, was the old Ruth. This was a creature of mind as well as emotion. With luck... but there Ellen Carlisle stopped, not daring to go further.

Knights Templar Meet Cancelled

T.I. Moore, Commander, Knights Templar, announced today the Stated Conclave of Bethlehem Commandery No. 29 and customary Easter Services at the Temple Sunday have been cancelled.

In making the announcement, Moore pointed out that many church and fraternal activities for Easter have been arranged, and urged that all Knights Templar attend Easter services at the church of their choice and so fulfill the Holy Day obligation.

Committees that would have made reports at the Stated Conclave Thursday have been notified to attend a committee conference to be held for that purpose soon after the Easter holidays. Due notice will be made later.

The Commander especially requested that all Sir Knights attend the conferring of the Degree of DeMolay on Wednesday night, April 1, at the Masonic Temple. "It is of particular interest to all Knights Templar" he said, "as this fine boys' order was named for DeMolay, one of the Most Eminent Grand Masters of the Temple."

SPRINGFIELD, O. (UP)—Firemen were surprised when they answered a call to put out a blaze in an overturned automobile and found no sign of an accident or a fire. A bystander gave this explanation:

The car was a hot-rod containing eight teen-agers. When the car overturned and caught fire the kids rolled it back on its wheels, put out the fire and drove off.

The animal, being led from his pen in a local stockyard to the slaughterhouse, suddenly bolted from his handler.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks steadied before noon today after another selling drive concentrated on aircrafts, oils, and metals.

First hour sales rose to 690,000 shares because of an active opening involving several blocks running above 5,000 shares. This was the most since Feb. 24 and compared with 640,000 shares yesterday.

The market was still under the influence of prospective resumption of trade talks in Korea. Market men recalled how the list broke wide open when the Korean war started and then went into a prolonged advance. They noted that any big event containing uncertainties usually brings a decline which often is overdue.

This one appeared to be running its course shortly after opening prices sent the list down a point or more in many issues.

Immediately after the first burst of selling that caused ticker lateness for a period of five minutes, the list turned up from the lows. By noon many stocks showed gains running to more than a point in Texas Gulf Producing and Denver & Rio Grande Western. Pacific Western Oil touched a new high of 47 3/4 up four from its low and then fell back to 45 3/4 up 1-2.

Rails met good support and so did the oils. Chrysler, duPont, and several others came back to the previous close.

Farm Machinery Harming Roads; Warning Issued

The Highway Patrol this morning issued a warning to county farmers regarding the movement of farm machinery across and along the county's highways.

Cpl. C. E. Whitfield of the Greenville office reported that the Patrol, along with the Highway Commission, have been receiving continued reports of roads and shoulders of the county road system being torn up by farm machinery.

Most of the destruction is being caused by the movement of harrows being used now to clear and prepare land for spring planting.

Whitfield reminded that a law on the State books prohibits the movement of such machinery which damages the roads. He cited the law as reading: "It shall be unlawful to move along or across any highway any harrow or other farm machinery with projections that will cut or otherwise mutilate the road surface unless ample protection is made to prevent such injury to the surface of the highway."

Arrests of any person found destroying the roads and shoulders have been ordered by the Patrol, Whitfield stated. Hereafter any person found moving farm machinery improperly will be subject to arrest.

The increased number of violations has brought about a lot of work for highway maintenance workers at the time of year when they are usually swamped with routine road work, Whitfield said.

Fire Alarm System Enlargement Is Underway

Enlargement of Greenville's present fire alarm system was partly completed yesterday when seven new alarm boxes were installed. Delayed for nearly two years, due to a shortage of copper wire, the project calls for the erection of 14 new call boxes in various sections of Greenville now isolated from the fire alarm network. Most of the boxes will be placed in new subdivisions which have been built after the present system had been installed. Above, firemen Alton Vincent, Claude Christopher, and Ray Smith are shown placing box 432 in operation. This box is located at Liberty and Willow Streets. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Rotarians Have Fun Just Planning Their Womanless Wedding Project

By WYATT BROWN

Rotarians are normal guys until thespian aspirations put a glint in their eyes. Last night at their regular weekly meeting they sang as usual, ate as usual — good chicken stew with dumplings — greeted their guests as usual. But from then on a spirit of levity pervaded as plans for the forthcoming Womanless Wedding were kicked around.

To set off the evenings bing was the Production Manager—he briefly tangled with the subject, "What is a production manager, anyway?" He didn't say anything but the way he said it made everyone glad he did — or was he put on the Boys Work Committee?

Then J. B. "Honest John" Kittrell, the producer for the "Womanless Wedding," took the ball but not for long. Everybody was having too much fun to let any one person monopolize the time.

All I-remember is that Phillip L. "Phyllis" Goodson, Senior, announced to the press that "she" would be available for photographs in her wedding togs one day this week. The distinguished guests for the marriage are to meet in Knott Proctor's office one day this week. Oh yes, and the groomsmen are to meet Francis Bowen and decide on whether they would wear tails or no tails—or as J.B. put it Tuxedos or monkey suits.

There was one other matter—A Gordian Knot. The Rotarians have already purchased enough tickets to fill the Austin auditorium at East Carolina College. How was anyone else going to get in? The final decision was to let Charlie Bisette sell tickets at his drug store and all the room left, after the public

Two Injured In 3 Car Accidents

Two persons were admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital over the weekend as result of three highway accidents in the county.

Eldo Ray Stallings, 15, received a lacerated head and L. W. Stallings, 57, lacerations of the face and head in a two car accident at the intersection of NC 903 and NC 11 Sunday morning.

Patrolman Bruce Jackson reported that a car driven by Joe Rowson, 57, of Route 3, Bethel, attempted to make a left turn at the time a car driven by Lina White Stallings of Edenton, 46, started to pass.

Damage to both cars was reported at $650.

Jackson charged Rowson with failure to yield the right of way. The accident occurred at ten o'clock Sunday morning near the St. John Church on NC 903.

A broken tire rod caused a car driven by D. W. Stocks, Route 1, Ayden, to wreck on a rural road near Warren Chapel Church. Jackson quoted the driver as saying that his tire rod broke and he hit a ditch, causing damage estimated at $600. No charges were made.

James H. Rose, 18, was charged with careless and reckless driving Saturday night when his car rammed into the rear of an automobile driven by Vance Drake, 50, on US 258 one-half mile north of Fountain around ten o'clock.

No injuries were reported.

Thief Obtained Hollywood Award

LONDON (UP)—A thief got himself an "Oscar" in London last night.

He stole the one Vivien Leigh won for her role in "A Streetcar Named Desire" when he raided her home. The total loot from the empty house was estimated by police at $510.

Large Turn-Out Greets Minister

A large congregation greeted Rev. W. D. Morris at Memorial Baptist Church last night, where he is conducting revival services this week.

Mr. Morris is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Scotland Neck, and preached in revival services here three years ago. His subject last night was "He Went Away," using as a basis for his discussion the story of the rich young ruler. At the conclusion of the service three came accepting his invitation to confess Christ and unite with the church.

Services are being held at eight o'clock each morning and at eight o'clock each night. The subject for tonight's sermon will be "Hidden Springs."

The music in these services is being led by the adult choir with Mrs. Joan Gray as organist and director, and a large youth choir led by Miss Florence McPadden with Evelyn Smith as pianist. Frank Bodkin is leading the congregational singing.

The pastor Rev. Richard E. Hardaway extends a cordial invitation to the people of Greenville to attend these services, which are a continuation of the visitation evangelism program held by the churches of Greenville three weeks ago.

C-Of-C Speaker Urges Participation In Govm't

Burnell Stevens, United States Chamber of Commerce official, urged local chamber members to take a more active part in the government, not as a group but as individuals.

Stevens, who is program advisor for the southeastern division of the US Chamber of Commerce, told the group last night to take action by letting congressmen know what they want and why.

The speaker said he was not present to form anyone's opinions but to give the facts and discuss them pro and con and get the public to take more interest in legislation.

He stated he was encouraged by the increase in interest in national affairs through the last election but opined "there is still" a long way to go in bringing public interest where it should be.

Stevens touched lightly on nine major issues which are before the present Congress. He listed them and commented briefly on each issue. Named by Stevens were the defense production act, labor relations, taxes, expenditure control, foreign aid, trade agreements, social security, federal aid to education, and submerged coastal lands.

In speaking about foreign aid, Stevens told the group that $7 billion dollars had gone for foreign aid in the past 12 years through the Mutual Security Program and only about 11 billion had been repaid.

Following the informal talk, a question and answer period was held. Stevens was brought here by the national and legislative affairs committee of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce.

Credit Women Hear Attorney

Attorney Kenneth Hite, on Tuesday night, March 24, was instructor for the second in a series of ten lessons on Commercial Law that is being studied by the Credit Women's Club of Greenville during the next several weeks.

These classes are held each Tuesday night at the City Hall, with instruction being given by one of the local attorneys.

Hite's topic was the duties, rights and responsibilities pertaining to principles, agents and agencies; partnerships and corporations. This topic, embracing as it does such a wide scope of legal angles to be covered in one evening's instruction, was condensed by Mr. Hite so that the lesson proceeded almost without pause. Tested cases from court records were used to illustrate points of law involved.

At the conclusion of the lesson the club educational chairman presented the attorney with a gift of appreciation from the club, and he was complimented and thanked by the Credit Women, many of their bosses and sponsors.

Club Endorses Society's Work Against Cancer

The Credit Women's Breakfast Club of Greenville, through its president, Mrs. Eleanor Norris, has announced its endorsement of the American Cancer Society's campaign against the dread disease.

Some members of the club will solicit donations to the American Cancer Fund. "We of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club heartily endorse the American Cancer Society's program of research, education and service to patients. We ask all to donate generously to the cancer fund."

"In Pitt county last year, more than $1,900 was spent on our indigent cancer patients," the letter from the credit women states. "Our local unit also made a $400 grant to the nursing home for indigent cancer patients at Lumberton, established there two years ago," Mrs. Norris added.
