Negotiations Open Monday; Armistice Parley In Sight Prisoners Exchange Talk Scheduled

TOKYO—United Nations negotiators agreed to a Chinese Communist proposal to open peace talks in Panmunjom Monday on exchange of sick and wounded prisoners. The Communists announced readiness to resume full truce talks after the prisoner question is settled.

The note to Clark was handed over at a two-minute meeting at Panmunjom. It contained a copy of Chou's offer broadcast Monday proposing war prisoners who do not want to be repatriated be turned over to a "neutral state."

Fire Consumes Hundreds Of Old Tires In Junkyard

Greenville firemen fought the blazing mass of old tires and junked automobiles for nearly two hours yesterday afternoon when a flash fire occurred at the Fleming junk yard in North Greenville. Hundreds of old tires were consumed in the fire which started when an automobile was being burned out. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Blazing automobile tires in a local junk yard put on a Fourth of July show for April Fool's day here yesterday.

Local firemen who were called to the scene at four o'clock battled the stubborn fire for nearly two hours before the all clear was sounded.

No estimate as to the loss suffered by the firm was known at the time. Neither was known just how many tires and old junk in the yard were lost in the blaze.

Father Rebuffed By Admitted Murderer

DUBUQUE, Ia. (UP)—A heart-broken father, snubbed by a son who murdered five persons and said "there's no such thing as conscience," waited today for a chance to see the killer alone.

Mose McManus, a slight, well-dressed New York brewery executive, arrived here Wednesday night to talk to his Marine son, Fred E. McManus. The 18-year-old confessed murderer greeted his father with a nod—then turned his back. The father covered his eyes and wept.

"I'd just as soon not have anything to do with him if I can help it," the young Marine told deputies, when they told him his father wished to see him alone.

His blonde sweetheart, Diana Marie Weggeland, said that Tuesday, after all the murders had been committed, she asked McManus "I wonder why my conscience doesn't bother me. Doesn't it bother you when you kill someone?"

She said McManus answered: "No, it doesn't bother if I don't know the people. My conscience doesn't bother me because there is no such thing as conscience. It is just a feeling of fear that people have."

Young McManus' words to his grieving parent were curt: "I don't want you to spend any money on me," he said. "I know what I've done and I know what I want to do—get it over with as quickly as possible."

Later, the elder McManus, fearing another rebuff, asked a deputy sheriff to get his overcoat from a room where his son was being questioned. The officer brought back the coat, and McManus, his head bowed, walked out into the night.

Authorities here said they believed he would try to see his son again today.

Authorities from New York, Illinois and Minnesota all vied for the right to try the younger McManus for murder. The youth Tuesday night confessed murdering a Rochester, N. Y., youth, a Kenneville, Ill. couple and two women in Spring Valley, Minn. The crimes, which took place between Friday and Monday, were committed during a cross-country spree with Miss Weggeland, 15, of Summerville, N. Y.

Wednesday McManus told officials he killed two of his female victims because they screamed. He showed little remorse for any of the crimes.

New York state seemed to have the best chance of getting custody of the murder of 19-year-old William Braverman, a college student whom McManus slew while stealing his car. Sheriff Rollin A. Hall of Du Page County in Illinois and Don Cook of Fillmore County in Minnesota also had murder warrants for the youth.

McManus' other victims were Kenneville general store owner George Bloomberg and his wife, Florence, a cafe waitress, Mrs. Harriet Horsman, and Mrs. Agnes Beaton, wife of the cafe owner.

Senator Attacks Foes Of Tidelands Measure

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Spessard Holland charged today that proponents of "big federal government" are sparking the fight against state ownership of the so-called tidelands.

The Florida Democrat told a reporter he planned to discuss the "political philosophy" behind the opposition to the tidelands bill in a senate speech today. Holland is the chief sponsor of the Senate bill to give coastal states title to off-shore oil lands out to their historic sea boundaries.

The Senate swung into what is expected to be lengthy debate on the tidelands bill yesterday after the House passed its own submerged lands measure 285 to 106. The two bills have important differences which will probably have to be ironed out in a conference committee.

Senate GOP Leader Robert A. Taft (R-O) announced that the Senate will start holding daily sessions next week for the first time this year. He said after tidelands it will take up extension of the defense production act, Hawaiian statehood and the appropriation bills.

Holland said the Republican platform of 1948 and 1952 called for state ownership of the offshore lands and the Democratic platform both years "was silent" on the question. He said those who attempted to say that the Democratic party has endorsed federal ownership of the lands "are just wrong."

"The only party declaration in which anyone who favors federal ownership of the submerged lands can find comfort is the 1948 platform of Henry Wallace's Progressive Party," Holland declared.

The Senate bill under consideration would surrender to the states federal claims to submerged ocean lands out to historic boundaries. These boundaries are three miles offshore except off Texas and west Florida where they are 10 1/2 miles.

The House Bill, however, grants title to the coastal states out to historic boundaries and sets up federal machinery for handling oil leasing in the outer continental shelf. The bill would deny to coastal states any rights or revenue over this vast area.

Drop 50 Cents In Slot And Out Pop Your Minnows

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (U.P.)—The vending machine is helping two local fishermen get a good night's sleep while selling their minnows 24-hours-a-day.

The latest device to help the early-bird fishermen dishes out minnows any time a 50-cent piece is dropped in the slot.

Carl L. Sutton and his brother-in-law, James D. Rice, developed the machine as a labor and time-saving operation. According to Sutton, it is only a side-line business so far, but people have shown such interest in it that mass production may be the next step.

"My brother-in-law and I love to fish," Sutton said, "so we just figured that his machine could combine a little business with our pleasure."

The pilot model, located out-of-doors at a Nashville gasoline station, began operation last August, comparatively late in the fishing season. However Sutton feels it should get a good test this summer and easily pay for itself. The model cost $400.

The automatic minnow machine consists of a square, open-top metal tank covered by an over-handing roof. The prospective customer looks into the 10-foot-long, three-foot-wide tank and picks his type of minnow, which are graded and secured in small, net-like plastic containers suspended in the water.

After making his choice, the customer slips the container down a series of bars to the release mechanism inserts his 50 cents and gets 12 average-size minnows. The number of minnows will vary if he wishes a smaller or larger size of minnow.

Sutton said the present machine holds 72 sorted dozen plus a side tank of 5,000 unsorted minnows, but its length and number of coin boxes can be enlarged indefinitely.

Sutton said the minnows are kept in good shape by use of an aerator that continuously injects more oxygen into the circulating water. Also an automatic cut-in of a chemical neutralizes the chlorine in city water.

Free Coffee For Traffic Violators

TUCUMCARI, N.M. (U.P.)—Out-of-town motorists get the surprise of their lives these days when they are flagged down for traffic infractions in this city of 5,000 once reputed as very tough on violators.

Instead of a ticket and a lecture, first offenders today get a smile from the cop, a printed list of traffic "don'ts" and a coupon entitling them to free cups of coffee for themselves and passengers at the nearest eating place.

Police Chief Houston Bragg said the plan was originated with the thought that while erring motorists were drinking coffee "on the house" they'd have the opportunity to read the traffic "don'ts" and to realize that speeding and other violations show a thoughtless disregard for the rights and lives of others.

In the five months it has been in force "Operation Coffee" has definitely helped the city's speeding problem, Bragg added. Traffic offenses have fallen off sharply. The Chamber of Commerce, which underwrites the free coffee tickets by arrangement with cooperating restaurants, also is pleased with results. It reported that Tucumcari's previous reputation for toughness toward traffic violators has been erased and that the present friendliness is being repaid in good will and better-behaved drivers.

PHONE GIRL REWARDED
SALEM, Mass. (UP)—A telephone operator, Rita Cronin, recently received a special delivery letter containing a hand-crocheted handkerchief and the message, "Thank you for saving my life." It was from the woman whose weak voice on the phone one night said, "I'm very sick—get my doctor." Miss Cronin called a doctor and ambulance in time to save the victim of a serious heart attack.

A Healthy Trend In Local Politics

Although it may be a little tardy in making itself evident, a growing interest in the city council race for Greenville's new government has exerted itself during the past three days. After several years in which interest in local elections and local government has been at best spasmodic, the apparent interest which has sprung up in the past several days is indeed encouraging.

The trend of the past few days indicates there will be good number of well qualified men in the race for the city council by the time the filing closes Saturday. The indication that local voters will have a wide variety of good candidates from which to choose their five councilmen is particularly heartening when it is compared with the situation which existed Monday when there was not a single hat in the ring for the council race.

In the past several city elections there have been many races for municipal posts which created quite a bit of interest among the voters. Yet in the past several years there have been a number of instances in which there was little interest of competition for posts in the local government.

The number of candidates which are entering the field for the coming municipal election in May points emphatically to a more general interest in local government than has been exhibited in pre-campaign activities in a number of years. It suggests that local citizens are awakening from their political passiveness toward municipal government.

For Greenville to make a success of its venture into council-manager government, after being governed for so long a time under the aldermanic form, it is imperative that a competent, progressive council be elected by the people to direct the city's affairs. If the council-manager government is to be a success, it is imperative that the citizens of the city continue to assume a more active interest in the affairs of municipal government.

With Eyes Open And Memories Vivid

Americans are again encouraged by the apparent interest expressed by communists in ending the war in Korea. But many times before our hopes for peace have been inflated to great heights only to be dropped abruptly with the realization that it was another communist scheme.

What will be the answer this time? Are the communists acting in good faith, or is the proposal for exchanging prisoners on a voluntary basis another trick?

The communists are sure there will be a great many prisoners held by U. N. forces who will not want to be returned to their native land. In view of that, it might be made to appear by the communists that a great many United Nations soldiers do not want to return to their native land either. What will be done in that case?

Americans are well aware, through past experience, of tactics used by communists to have men make statements they do not mean. If there are an appreciable number of United Nations prisoners whom the communists do not want to be repatriated, it will be difficult to convince the American people that prisoners in communist hands have not been put under pressure.

With the Russian endorsement of the new peace movement in Korea coming on the heels of the change in Red China's policy, it is apparent that the Kremlin, for some reason, is interested in the negotiations getting underway immediately. In all probability the strategy has been worked out in the Kremlin, and for what ultimate purpose, we can only now guess.

In the interest of peace, the United Nations and American officials must negotiate with the communists to see if the war in Korea can be resolved. But America should go into these new negotiations with their eyes open watching for trickery and watching for an ulterior motive which might pop out at any moment.

In plain language, we just do not have any reason to trust the communist in these new negotiations. We have every reason to suspect their overtures for peace only hide some base motive. Yet, in the interest of peace, we must be sure their purpose is not sincere before rejecting it.

This could be the one chance in thousands when the communists do want a settlement on reasonable terms rather than on their oppressive terms.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—The proposal to televise Presidential and Cabinet press conferences finds scant favor in White House circles or among newspaper correspondents who cover these affairs. It is the general opinion that TV would destroy their character and purpose—namely, to keep the American people informed of their government's operation and direction.

The physical objections alone bar the introduction of this new medium, although they are the least important. As of today, there is hardly sufficient space for newspaper and radio reporters. Stunned in the rear often fail to hear Eisenhower's replies to questions. The television apparatus, with the heat and glare of the lights, would aggravate these difficulties.

What has become, under Ike's handling, the most satisfactory liaison between White House and the public since the press conference arrangement was inaugurated, would be transformed into a stagey and artificial performance.

Televising of Roosevelt and Truman meetings would not have been such a serious infringement. They had become shows more appropriate to the screen than for a factual recording of Presidential thoughts and reactions. But Eisenhower, so far at least, has used these contacts to report to the people as a board chairman does to his directors and stockholders.

FACTORS BEHIND OPPOSITION—The political and psychological reasons, however, outweigh these more superficial objections. And these are the factors which lie behind growing official opposition to the scheme.

Even a President nods now and then, as veteran correspondents have reason to know from bitter experience under Harding, Coolidge, Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman. They made slips which had not been "covered up" for grave reasons of state by the press, could have caused unfortunate, perhaps dangerous, repercussions abroad.

It would be possible, albeit difficult, to protect a President against himself after his remarks had been televised. But in eliminating his embarrassing statements from the record, so many outsiders would be involved that they would become common property.

IMPRESSIONS STAND—Moreover, as numerous incidents illustrate, it is usually several hours later that a Chief Executive, a Cabinet member or a White House secretary catches an inept remark. It is, in such instances, the prerogative of the President to explain his meaning more clearly, or even to deny that he ever made the statement. That has happened frequently in this reporter's experience.

Such a recall of a Presidential ineptitude would be difficult in a TV era. Millions of people might have seen or heard the expression before it could be corrected, clarified or eliminated entirely.

A President's facial expressions often throw more light on his inner thoughts than his words, and this is characteristic of Eisenhower. Whereas, a reporter can make a subsequent check to confirm his impressions, thereby giving the real significance of a smile, a shrug or a frown, TV cannot separate the superficial from the significant.

SUSCEPTIBLE TO PHOTOGRAPHY—Still another obstacle, familiar to every seasoned correspondent, presents itself. It is one of the little known but inside influences in newspaper reporting.

Every public figure is extremely susceptible to photography, still or moving. They do not have their pictures taken, which is a human failing. Many a bigwig who shuns reporters, will preen and primp for a camera. Television has only aggravated this ailment at Washington.

In posing, however, they always become painfully self-conscious, as do lesser folk. This complex affects their inner as well as their outer being. They cannot be completely honest with themselves. They want to put their best face forward.

Thus, it would be possible for even such an honest person as Eisenhower to suffer from these pressures. In answering questions on great affairs under TV, he might give more thought to the sound of his voice—to the proper phrase—than to the content of his views. He might become a snoman instead of a statesman. And that would be an incalculable loss for him and for the American people!

PLATTSMOUTH, N.E.B., JOURNAL: Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, would require that all government departments and agencies spend carried-over funds and unspent balances before they are voted a new annual appropriation.

Discreditable Performance (Greensboro Daily News)

Not the least of the insults which the prevailing leadership of the General Assembly flung in the face of the people of North Carolina last Thursday as it rushed through a secrecy bill was the ruthless presiding of House Speaker Eugene Bost.

It was shocking to those who know something about parliamentary procedure to watch Bost in action. On three separate occasions he refused recognition of Rep. Thomas Turner of Guilford as he rose to a point of order to make parliamentary inquiry and to a point of personal privilege. That Representative Turner was allowed to speak at all was finally due in part to the intervention of some of Bost's own associates who walked to the rostrum and whispered: "Let Tom have his say."

At yet another point Bost refused to allow a division on the bill (requiring members to stand and be counted) although the request was made ample time to allow it. This reported exchange took place between Bost and Rep. Roger Kiser:

Kiser: "Mr. Speaker, a division has been called."

Bost: "The gentleman did not call until the ruling was made."

Kiser: "May I make a statement?"

Bost: "I'm not recognizing anybody."

In the third place Bost refused to inform the House of receipt of telegrams from citizens representing the combined press associations of North Carolina. They requested time for a hearing on the bill, something which presiding officers universally respect.

Speaker Bost violated age-old precepts of parliamentary procedure. The honored tradition of American representative government is that any and every legislator have his say. That doctrine lies at the heart of our government system and when any man in authority violates it, he shames the whole system which grants him power in the first place.

The principles of the secrecy bill—which, by the way, ought to have their constitutionality tested in court—are bad enough any way. It is twice shameful that any presiding officer of a North Carolina General Assembly should push such legislation through by using techniques which mock the very soul of representative government.

Those "Peace" Gestures

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.

If you follow this column you remember that from a discussion of the one-way streets I branched off into the question: Are Greenville clerks as attentive as they should be? Reaction from readers brought blasts from both sides and the subject is not dead yet.

Roger Collins Jr., General Manager of Coastal Refrigeration, writes, "There has been quite a discussion in your column as to what is hurting business in Greenville. We are at loss to say, but we feel that most people in business do not know what a customer is and the only way we can have more business is to have more customers."

We have the following definition of a customer to offer to you.

Somewhere and sometime I picked this up and have tried to use it as a guide in my business for myself and my employees for the past six years.

- 1. A customer is the most important person ever in this office—in person, by mail, or by telephone.
2. A customer is not dependent on us—we are dependent on him.
3. A customer is not an interruption of our work—he is the purpose of it.
4. We are not doing a customer a favor by serving him—he is doing us a favor by giving us an opportunity to do so.
5. A customer is not an outsider in our business—he is part of it.
6. A customer is not a cold statistic—he is a flesh and blood human being with feeling and emotions like our own.

A customer is not someone to argue or match wits with—nobody ever won an argument with a customer.

A customer is someone who brings us his wants—it is our job to handle them profitably to him and to ourselves.

"Jack" Collins concluded, "We feel that if these definitions are followed it will mean more to business than in any other way."

My opinion is that the short crop has been the determining factor in business. But no one can deny that Mr. Collins has the right approach to help business, short crop or not.

And I thank you.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET

BLOCKED — There are a lot of closed doors around Capitol square every day now, and a lot of blocked hallways. Most of the doors are not actually closed. It is just that so many people come to attend public hearings on bills that none of the committee rooms can accommodate them. Result is they pack the aisles, stand up around the walls, block the doors and overflow into the hallways. Usually there are four or five hearings in progress at the same time, so that it is impossible to move from one place to another when some crowds are too big and others do not fill the room where the meeting was scheduled.

INTERESTED — The mass invasions of the State Capitol by citizens of the State disprove the scornful comment of one legislator who voted for the secrecy bill last week that "the people are not interested." Further evidence of keen interest in government is afforded by the thousands of school children who visited the Capitol city almost every day, Tuesday morning, for example, there were upwards of a thousand nurses here for the committee hearing on three proposals to revamp the nurse practice act. At the same time there were more than a hundred city and town officials, real estate men, chamber of commerce representatives and others for a hearing on the urban redevelopment (slum clearance) measure. Wednesday the square was crowded and committee rooms jammed with people interested in the vote on an ABC referendum and many more who were vitally concerned about the master bill controlling the school consolidation program.

IMPOLITE — At the recent hearing on the liquor referendum it was the proponents of the state-wide vote, who professed to represent the interests of the moral and righteous, who had to be called to order for discourteous interruption of those who favored the present local option plan. At Tuesday's hearing on the nurse practice bills, it was necessary several times for Chairman Carl Hicks of the Senate health committee to ask advocates of the so-called "nurses' bill" to desist from interrupting those who were speaking for the so-called "small hospital" advocates who imposed upon the committee's time to prolong arguments which served no purpose except to give the speakers an opportunity to address a mass meeting — when all the votes were concentrated around a small table in front of the speakers.

CONFUSING — It is confusing when a member of a committee directs a question at someone presenting a case for the purpose of clarifying his own thinking and somebody yells back in the room yells "Louder!" It also confuses the committee when a speaker turns away from those to whom he is supposed to be talking and makes a speech to the crowd assembled out front — where there may be enthusiasm but no votes for or against the pending bill.

NURSES — The hearing on the nurse practice bills is used for illustration only because it is the latest of record. (This paragraph is being written before report on Both days there were from two to three thousand school children.

INADEQUATE — The experience of this General Assembly, different from previous sessions only in that more people are coming to see the wheels go around, is that facilities for carrying on the business of North Carolina's State government are utterly inadequate under the traditional policy of mass meeting public hearings by committees.

PETITION — The right of public assembly and petition for relief of grievances in person or by proxy is guaranteed in both State and Federal constitutions. It becomes increasingly obvious that many of those who come to these mass meetings do so not so much for the purpose of petitioning the General Assembly as for letting off steam and appealing to mass prejudice.

INTOLERABLE — The current situation has become intolerable and serious thought must be given to working out a better plan. Preponderant majority of the citizens of North Carolina protest closed door legislative committee sessions. At the same time anyone who has attended these mob-hysteria, Bible-waving, professional-pride hearings must feel sympathy for the committee members who are honestly seeking to find the truth and to get information upon which to base their own votes.

REPRESENTATIVES — The most sensible suggestion yet made for solving the problem is that members of the General Assembly and of its committees and subcommittees, who are themselves the representatives of all the people, be given authority to require that the various groups desiring to be heard select their own representative spokesmen to present their case and that the mass meetings be held somewhere else.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER... One of the paramount factors in the recent arrangement for Kaiser-Frazer to purchase Willys-Owens Motors, Inc., was the high but tax-limited earnings of W-O and the large loss record of K-F.

K-F's losses made the deal profitable no matter which company bought out the other. The combined companies' earning power has been increased slightly because a large part of Willys' earnings that once went to the Government in taxes can now be retained to cover Kaiser-Frazer's past deficits.

This is only one kind of many nonphysical assets in business. The giants, of course, keep careful tabs on them; smaller businesses often overlook them. Trade-marks are worth thousands, even to small businesses. And Pontiac's Indian or Texaco's fire chief helmet probably could not be purchased for a million dollars. Most businessmen trade-mark their products and promote quality and advertising to maintain and enhance the trade-mark.

Contracts and orders are especially valuable. They're the material business is built of. In winding up many of these commitments have provided unexpected profits. Franchises and licenses (where possible) are worth money even if they cost the seller nothing. Automobile agency franchises are especially valuable. Taxicab license shields in New York City are another example—often selling for more than the cab.

Lists, including mailing lists, customer lists, supplier lists, tested so forth, have very definite values. Selective lists, such as customers interested in certain products, can often be sold or rented. Highly specialized lists, such as of people interested in pure-bred dogs, or men who buy hand-painted ties, have exceptional value per name.

Credit records, if properly kept, are very important to the buyer of a business. Knowing which customers are the best credit risks can save sizable sums in unpaid bills. Without these lists, the purchaser of a company requires outside credit information, higher credit insurance or runs the risk of offending good credit customers.

Sales records give necessary information on seasonal and style trends if they are complete. They provide a guide against over-or-under-stocking. When a business is bought or sold care should be taken to see that all these items are carefully included or excluded to protect all parties.

NEW FORMULATION FOR SOIL TREATMENT... A new formulation of (Monsanto's Krillium) soil conditioner may prevent soil crusting in agriculture for as little as $5 an acre. The conditioner is in liquid form and tests indicate it stabilizes many types of soil against slaking, sealing and crusting.

TWO NEW USES FOR TELEVISION... A bank has found television the answer to the problem of rapid verification of check endorsements. The teller, on receiving a check, phones the account name and number to a clearing house. In 20 seconds a sample of the account's signature flashes on a screen before the teller for easy comparison. (It is being used by the New York Savings Bank.)

Another device converts an ordinary television receiver into a closed circuit. An average-size book can be trained on school rooms, hospital rooms, factory areas, or even backyards or playrooms to keep track of children. A wire from the camera is plugged into the television set and what the camera sees is then shown on the screen.

NEW PRODUCTS... MARKER: A laundry machine which leaves no mark for the customer to see is being imported from England. The machine heat seals an identification tag to the garment. The tag is easily removed before delivery to the customer. (It is made by Polymark Ltd., 148 Cromwell Rd., South Kensington, London, S.W. 7, England.)

GLASS: A flat glass which eliminates the need for such supplementary light control as blinds, hoods, louvers and shades has been designed for use with glass block panels. The glass is Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., Pittsburgh, Pa.) is composed of two layers of window glass laminated with an inner layer of neutral grey vinyl plastic.

POOL: Kiddie play-pool accessories recently introduced (by Bilnor Corp., 300 Morgan Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y.) include a shower spray, a cover to keep leaves and other foreign material out, and a "sn hose to siphon pool water to the nearest drain instead of drenching the ground.

SHARPENER: A sharpening kit for hand-sawed lawnmowers, which is easy to use and guarantees to give perfect alignment of reel blades and cutter bar, and to duplicate power lap-grinding, is being made by Marcus Mig. Co., Detroit, Mich.)

Hal Boyle's Column

NEW YORK (AP)—America today is divided into two and those classes—those who diet, and those who laugh at diet.

Dieting began as a fad, now is one of the nation's greatest industries. It spread faster than television, but doesn't have as many good sustaining programs. The people who used to laugh at Bernarr MacFadden as a health fanatic because he carried carrots in his pockets now try to find out where he buys them. The empty stomach has replaced the full dinner pail as an American success symbol. But, of course, it has to be fashionably empty.

hungry man used to be a financial failure. Today a man of wealth who gets fat is regarded as an anti-social wretch who is deliberately plotting to make his wife a widow.

This is odd, because for centuries in China a middle-aged man's wealth was measured by the size of his paunch. And he remained remarkably free of the heart ailments that ambush the chubby executives in this country. Maybe one reason is that the civilized Oriental found out long ago that lying on a couch and munching rice while listening to a little lute music didn't wear the heart out as fast as chasing a golf ball.

But millions of Americans, rich or poor, male or female, now seem to feel that less food, rather than less tension, is the formula for a long life. They no longer count sheep while trying to cure insomnia. Makes one think of food, so they count calories jumping over a fence—the calories they plan to eat tomorrow.

As a matter of fact, a zealous dieter hardly can mention food any more without a twinge of conscience. When one meets another, he boasts, "Guess what I had for lunch today?—350 calories and five minerals. You should have joined me."

If he finds that he has exceeded his calorie quota, he starts worrying—and up zooms his high blood pressure. Is that good?

It used to be said that it was easier for a camel to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man to enter the gates of Heaven. Many a diet-lean rich man now dreams fondly of galloping through that needle on horseback.

A Wall Street broker looks like a piece of upright spaghetti as he scans his ticker-tape. The working man is going in just as much for calorie-nibbling. He no longer carries a toothpick. He is one.

The biggest danger to a healthy, normal, happy, relaxed, cheerful, easy-going fat man now is that he will laugh himself to death at the ex-buffers trying to live to be 100 on lettuce-leaves and vitamin pills. A rabbit eats lettuce. Ever meet one with a long beard?

One fat friend of mine has an usual theory about the dieting craze. "It's all just a housewife's conspiracy to get out of kitchen chores," he said. "They aren't trying to make their husbands live longer. They're just trying to cut down on the time they spend cooking."

"They used to have to spend at least four hours a day in their kitchen. Now all a wife has to do to fix a meal is to as up a few vegetables for a raw salad and hold a lamb chop for a few seconds over a lighted match. Then dinner's ready."

"I say my husband who lets his wife starve him to death that way ought to have a saccharin tablet over his grave instead of a monument."

Mme. Kamimura enjoyed her role as First Lady to widowed Ambassador Araki, the manning of her own home, her freedom to get about and participate in American life. "It's been heaven to work in the kitchen and go to the parties," she told me "heaven compared to some of the life I've seen."

In June 1945 Mme. Kamimura put her two sons in boarding school and went with her husband to Manchuria on a diplomatic mission. Then came the Soviet raids of August. She headed a group of 150 women and children sent to northern Korea. When Japan surrendered to the U.S. and the Communists moved into northern Korea she led the group south to the 38th parallel.

"I shall never forget it," she said, "we had to walk all the way. We walked 100 miles, days or hours, but for two weeks and slept on the road." Back in Japan, she found her two sons — Elchi, now 18 and a student at Georgetown University School of Foreign Service, and Jiro, 17, in high school here — were all right, but it was a year before she heard from her husband, still in Manchuria.

"All Japanese mothers worry about the war in Korea," she said. "They never want to see guns again. But my eldest son wants to join the college ROTC, and my youngest is already in the Cadet Corps at high school. Both hope one day to become ambassadors to the United States."

Mme. Kamimura, educated at Sacred Heart Convent, Tokyo, speaks excellent English. She also learned French, Japanese writing with a brush, European history, the tea ceremony and flower arranging at the convent. Here she got a driver's license and whipped about sight-seeing. She went to Parent-Teacher meetings and join ed clubs, did all her grocery shopping at chain stores.

Even in modern-day Japan, she says, the traditional woman still is behind the present generation. "And here, when we give parties for the older Japanese I walk behind the ambassador and have the butler serve him first," she explained. "But at official parties for our Western friends I walk before him and am served first."

A & T College Chorus To Sing Here

The A and T College Men's Glee Club, a singing group from Greensboro, North Carolina, will be heard on Sunday April 5, at Eppes Auditorium.

Coming from the largest Negro college in the country, the Glee Club is currently on its annual tour. A and T's choral groups reached their peak during the 30's and 40's under the able direction of Professors Warner Lawson and Coleridge Braithwaite, noted conductors. Concert tours covered half of the continental United States, along with C.B.S. and N.B.C. radio broadcasts.

Professor Howard T. Pearsall is now serving his third year as conductor of the singers. Mr. Pearsall, a product of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is a graduate of Fisk University. He received his Music Master's degree from Western Reserve University. He, since then, has taught in the public schools of Cleveland, Ohio, and headed the music departments of A. & M. College, Normal, Alabama; Storer College, Harper's Ferry, West Virginia and Tougaloo College, Tougaloo, Mississippi. He is on the executive board of the N.M.W.C. and a member of the M.E.N.C. and A.U.F.

Home Financing Plans Discussed

Kenneth G. Hite, Greenville attorney, speaking at East Carolina College Wednesday to an architectural drawing class taught by Dr. Kenneth L. Bing of the industrial arts department, discussed methods of financing a home. His lecture was the second in a series now being made by business and professional men of the city before students of industrial arts at the college.

Mr. Hite indicated that about 95 per cent of the homes being built today are financed in some manner. A mortgage on the home is no longer considered a bad business deal as it was in years gone by, he said, but is now considered the acceptable manner of procuring the necessary money for building a home.

He explained the differences in the requirements for borrowing from a Building and Loan Association and from the Federal Housing Administration. Mr. Hite also answered questions asked by students about interest, methods of payment, insurance covering loans, and other points of interest to members of the class.

Drove 287 Miles To Pay His Fine

DETRUIT (UP)—Cecil Cline, 55, of Jackson, O., drove 287 miles to Detroit to pay a $1 traffic ticket. Only when he got here did he discover he could have paid the fine by mail.

Traffic Court Referee Oscar A. Riopelle Jr. suspended sentence. "You deserve a break in my book," he said.

Honor Society To Pick Winner Of Annual Award

Members at East Carolina College of the Beta Kappa chapter of Phi Omega Psi, honor society for students of business education, are now preparing to select the recipient of the National Chapter Award offered annually by Phi Omega Psi. The award will go to the chapter, among 85 in this country, which is judged most outstanding in its activities during the present school year.

Last year, when the award was established, the Beta Kappa chapter at East Carolina was selected as the first to receive this national recognition. As a result, this spring the college chapter here will act as a judge in choosing the recipient. The decision will be made by April 15.

Joan Britt, junior from Fairmont, heads the committee in charge of arrangements for choosing the award winner. Other members are Clement Gray of Trenton and Carolyn Burnette of Hopewell, Va.

Home Ec Club Officers Named

L. Gwendolyn Williams of Oakboro, sophomore at East Carolina College, will head the home economics club at the college during the 1953-1954 school year.

Other officers chosen in a recent election to serve next year in the club, one of the largest departmental organizations on the campus, are Marcelline Aycock, Black Creek, vice president; Evelyn Davis Warsaw, secretary; Peggy Faircloth, Roseboro, treasurer; and Mary Lee Gillette, Jacksonville, and Kitty Geringer, Draper, reporters on Student publications.

Father Of O. E. Dowd Dies In Dunn Hospital

O. E. Dowd, principal of the Greenville High School, received a message that his father, David John Dowd, 80, of Dunn, died at the Dunn Hospital last night.

Mr. Dowd died about an hour after being struck by an automobile. Funeral arrangements had not been made pending arrival of sons from California and Florida. The family lives on North King Avenue.

Cases Heard In City Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Police Court Wednesday, Judge Charles H. Wheeler found Roosevelt Sanders, Negro, guilty of failure to yield right of way and gave him 30 days in jail.

The court suspended sentence on payment of $10 on condition that Sanders pay all medical expenses of Louise Spell, Negro. Sanders is not to drive a motor vehicle for three months unless he makes restitution for property damage to Leroy Spell, Negro. Testimony in court was that Sanders' car collided with the Spell car at First and Greene Streets.

Robert H. James was fined $5 for driving on the left of center of a highway.

Izel Hines, Negro, paid $15 for speeding and he is not to drive a motor vehicle for seven days.

Isaac Stafford, Negro, larceny of H. L. Roberts' truck, prayer for judgement continued. Testimony was that Stafford, Roberts' employe, "temporarily borrowed the truck."

Ben Alton Barnes paid $10 for being drunk. Clarence H. Crocker, Negro, paid $5 for passing another vehicle at an intersection. Benjamin D. Forrest, Jr., making a left turn in the face of oncoming traffic, $15.

Nathan Cole, driving drunk, 60 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100 and costs. The judgement provides that he is not to drive a motor vehicle for a year.

Ernest E. Barrett, hit-and-run driving, 60 days on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $50, costs deducted. The judgement also provides that he is not to operate a motor vehicle for 30 days, remain of good behavior and not violate any law for two years. Testimony was that Barrett collided with a car driven by Van Johnson, Jr., at a rural point.

Marine Corps Officer Procurement Team To Visit College On April 14

A Marine Corps Officer Procurement team will visit the East Carolina College campus Tuesday, April 14, according to an announcement by Dean Leo W. Jenkins of the college.

While on the campus, the team will discuss with students the two Marine programs, the Platoon Leaders Class for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors, and the Officers Candidate Course for seniors. Neither course requires any drills to be attended nor uniforms to be worn during the academic year.

The Platoon Leaders Class consists of two summer training programs of six weeks each and appointment to second lieutenant upon graduation from college. The "OCC" for seniors is a ten-week course at Quantico, Va., which convenes after college graduation. Newly commissioned second lieutenants attend a five-month Officers Basic Course at Quantico before further assignment. Draft deferment is granted to members of both programs.

Flight training is now available after the completion of only fourteen weeks of Officers Basic School. The next "OCC" will convene in July for June graduates.

Those interested in these programs should contact the team at East Carolina on April 14, Dean Jenkins states.

Vote To Repeal Hedgehog Bounty

MONTEPELIER, Vt. (UP)—The Vermont House of Representatives voted to repeal a law providing 50 cents bounty for hedge hogs, payable upon presentation of the animal's ears.

Representatives said woodsmen sometimes made as many as 28 pairs of "ears" from other parts of hedge hog's pelts.

Consumption Is Related To TV

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—W. H. Putnam, general manager of the Water Works Board, finally determined why water consumption jumps as much as 3,000,000 gallons at regular half hour intervals here.

"It jumps just as television programs change," he said.

Britain Expects Many Americans

NEW YORK (UP)—More than 40,000 Americans—one out of every 3,750 persons in this country—will attend the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II in London on June 2, the British Travel Association estimated today.

The Association predicted on the basis of advance reservations that the number of Americans attending would be 73 per cent higher than the number who viewed the coronation of Queen Elizabeth's father, the late King George VI, in 1937.

Racing Season Brings Out Big Bet 'Plungers'

NEW YORK (UP)—The opening of another New York racing season only served to prove that the big town still boasts the sport's richest plungers.

14 Local Ladies Enter Tournament

Greenville sent 14 players to the East Carolina Ladies Golf Association in Wilson Tuesday. The group was part of a field of 74 players.

Six Top Winners Head List For Azalea Golfing Open

REYNOLDS READY ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Allie Reynolds is ready—and now it's up to Manager Casey Stengel whether he wants to call on the big 20-game winner to open the season for the New York Yankees in Washington on April 13.

Reynolds, pummeled in previous outings this spring, demonstrated he was ready Wednesday as he limited the Philadelphia Phillies to one run and five hits in eight innings. The Phillies won the game, 2-1, when Smokey Burgess homered off Tom Gorman in the 10th.

Buhl Comes Through NEW ORLEANS, La. (UP)—Bob Buhl, 24-year-old rookie right hander from Saginaw, Mich., is making Manager Charley Grimm of the Milwaukee Braves look like a brilliant prophet.

Grimm personally recommended that the returning serviceman be taken to camp and predicted he would make good. Buhl, effective all spring, turned in his most impressive job of the spring Wednesday when he pitched nine innings against the Dodgers and retired them in order in six frames. He allowed only four hits but the Dodgers won the game, 3-2, in the 10th on a run-producing single by rookie shortstop Don Zimmer.

WARD MAKING GOOD ALPINE, Tex. (UP)—Preston Ward, striving to make good as a center fielder, is sparking the Chicago Cubs at the plate in the absence of Hank Sauer.

Including his four hits Wednesday in a 10-8 loss to the St. Louis Browns, Ward has collected 10 hits in his last 15 at-bats and has raised his spring average to .367. Four of those 10 hits, including two Wednesday, were home runs.

STILL IN SOUP WICHITA, Kan. (UP)—Manager Leo Durocher's Giants still were in the soup today as the New Yorkers sought to snap their eight-game losing streak at the expense of the Cleveland Indians.

The Indians, continuing to humiliate the Giants, beat them, 12-11, Wednesday and now have taken seven straight from New York and lead in the spring series, nine games to two. They hit five home runs to increase their total to 19 in the last five games.

TO OPTION YORK FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—The Chicago White Sox said today they will option first baseman Earl York to their Charleston, W. Va., farm club in the American Association next Sunday.

York hit .307 for Tulsa in the Texas League last season but batted only .192 in 26 at-bats for the White Sox this spring. It was not enough to beat out two-time American League batting champion Ferris Fain.

Stokes Wins 16-6 Against Grifton

STOKES—Stokes pounded out 14 hits off Grifton's John Lewis Tuesday afternoon to defeat the Bulldogs 16-6 in a Pitt County Conference baseball game.

Stokes' Billy Jones led the assault on Lewis with three hits, one of them a sixth inning home run with two men on base. Lewis led Grifton's eight hit attack on Richard White by getting two hits, one a bases-empty homer in the second.

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP)—The top six men on this year's professional golf money winning list headed the field for the fifth annual $10,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament which got under way today at the Cape Fear Country Club.

Topping the list with $6,730 pocketed this year was Lloyd Mangrum, Niles, Ill., who returned to action to sharpen his game for next week's Augusta Masters classic. Mangrum won here two years ago. He has been out of tournament play for several weeks.

The No. 2 winner, Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn., is only $300 back of Mangrum in 1953 winnings.

Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J., brings the No. 3 bankroll into action—$4,375. In fourth place with $5,247, comes Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., recent Jacksonville, Fla., Open winner.

Fifth is Doug Ford, Harrison, N. Y., at $5,163 and sixth is Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., with $4,633.

Ford, Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., and Sam Snead lost a Greensboro Open playoff to Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas, Texas, last Monday. Snead is passing up the Azalea Open. Only six of the top 18 on the latest PGA money list are not here.

Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., who won last year with a record 272 is back for another shot at the $2,000 top award. Also in the field is PGA Champion Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., runnerup the last two years.

A field of about 115 will play 18 holes today and tomorrow after which the entry will be cut to the low 60 and ties for the third round Saturday and the final round Easter Sunday afternoon.

Host For Terry Maian said the 6,852-yard, par 72 course is playing the fastest he has seen this year. He looks for some low scoring, in view of the good condition of the fairways. However, he cautions that the greens are fast and tricky and that the real tournament story will be told there.

Watson Stars In Belvoir Victory

BELVOIR—Belvoir's William Watson ran his hitless innings string to 12 consecutive frames Tuesday afternoon by blanking Winterville in six innings of relief pitching in a game that resulted in a 2-1 Belvoir victory.

Watson came into the game for Belvoir in the third inning as a relief man for starter Seber Cobb. Cobb had pitched the first two innings of the contest and had given up one run on three hits. Watson finished the regulation seven innings and added an extra frame without letting a single base hit drop for the Winterville club.

The winning run in the contest came in the eighth inning when Howard Bullock stole home after a single, a stolen base, and a Winterville error.

Bullock led the hitting for Belvoir with three hits in four official trips to the plate. Leck Keeter was Winterville's top sticker.

Belvoir, now with a 2-1 season's record, will play host to Bethel today.

Pirates Play

The East Carolina College baseball Pirates moved back into North State Conference baseball play today by meeting the High Point Panthers in High Point.

The game today is the first of two on the present East Carolina road trip. They'll move over to Guilford tomorrow to face the Quakers in another conference contest.

Right-hander Jimmy Byrd, winner in last week's game with ACC, was expected to start today's game with High Point. Jim Piner, another right-hander, will probably start tomorrow's game.

All-Stars Defeat Trotters, 97-94

RALEIGH (UP)—A team of college all-stars edged the Harlem Globetrotters 97 to 94 in a marathon basketball game here last night which went into three overtime periods.

Dick Kostman of Kansas State tapped in a basket and a free throw by Ernie Beck gave the collegians their margin of victory at midnight before 12,500 fans at the Reynolds Coliseum on the campus of North Carolina State College.

It was the second all-star victory in five starts of a scheduled 19-game countrywide tour by the two teams.

The Globetrotters' starting center, Goose Tatum, was unable to play because of an ailing back. But the pros battled from behind in the first two overtime periods before knocking under.

The teams swapped leads throughout the contest with the all-stars ahead 20-17 at the end of the first period but the globetrotters leading at the half by a sizeable 37-24. The all-stars regained the lead 59-56 at the end of the third but the pros from Harlem were five points ahead 71-66 with about three and one-half minutes of regulation time remaining.

Ron Fiereleski of DePaul sank a free throw with 21 seconds left to force the first overtime, which ended 82-82, the second finished 88-88 and the Trotters jumped to the lead at the start of the third extra five minutes before succumbing.

High scorer for the game was Josh Grider of the Trotters with 29 points. The leading pointmaker for the winners was Beck with 23 points. He also matched Irv Bemoras of Illinois as leading rebounders of the contest with 14 each.

REDS SEEK WIN SAVANNAH, Ga. (UP)—The Cincinnati Reds sought their third straight victory over the Washington Senators as they met their American League barnstorming companions in the fourth game of their nine-game spring series.

Big Ralph Branca Still Walking In Baseball Shadow

By OSCAR FRALEY NEW YORK (UP)—After a year and a half, Ralph Branca still is walking in the shadows.

Big Ralph, you'll remember, threw the home run ball to Bobby Thomson which cost the Brooklyn Dodgers the 1951 National League pennant. Never since has he been the pitcher he was before.

Aliments, some real and others believed to be imaginary, have made him a very infrequent starter. Now, as another season gets under way, he was supposed to prove himself this time out but is bothered by a "bad back."

The validity of the injury undoubtedly is questioned by Manager Chuck Dressen. The little leader of the Dodgers has taken no pains to conceal his disdain at Branca's continued reluctance to fire the ball at the plate. His unspoken indictment is that Branca in his mind always will be throwing that fatal home run ball every time he steps to the mound, thus accounting for an unconscious unwillingness to pitch.

Dressen could be right. For you knew, when you saw Branca immediately after Thomson's home run blast that October day in 1951, that there was a man crushed completely. Branca is six feet, three inches tall and weighs 220 pounds but he sat in stunned silence in the Dodger dressing room, too shocked even to sob.

He had lost the first game of that exciting three-game playoff when Thomson touched him for a home run. But the Dodgers got even the next day and the first Thomson homer was forgotten.

It was in the third and deciding game, Don Newcombe was leading the Giants, 4-2, when he weakened in the ninth and put two men on. The second guessers have debated since as to why Dressen didn't summon Clem Labine, who had won the second game handily.

Dressen looked bad later when he shifted the burden by saying the bull pen coach told him that Branca was "ready."

Branca came in, fired one pitch past Thomson, and then the rawboned Scot belted the ball high through the late afternoon gloom and into the stands. It was the ball game—and the pennant.

It may have been the end of Branca, too. Because last year those injuries, some of them said to be imaginary, began to plague Branca. Always before, Ralph had been a workhorse. He had worked as many as 280 innings one season and, in 1951, had been in 204.

But last season he worked only 61 innings. He complained bitterly that he wasn't given enough work but Dressen retorted sharply that he was used as much as his "ailments" permitted.

Greenville Golfers Trounce Farmville

Charles Clamors For Title Chance

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Edward Charles, at 31, one of the finest pieces of fighting machinery in the nation, clamored today for another shot at the world heavyweight championship he once held.

After giving Rex Layne the worst beating of his young career here last night, Charles believes he is entitled to another crack at the title.

"I have won six in a row now and I'm ready," he said after his bloody match with Layne. "I'm heading for Chicago right away to challenge the winner of the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott go."

It was a devastating left that won Charles his rubber match with the 24-year-old Layne. He snapped it into Layne's face so effectively in the sixth, seventh and 10th rounds that his foe crumpled to his knees. But Layne, one of the gamest boys in the ring today, never went all the way down.

And he always was standing straight up as soon as the count started.

Charles was disappointed that he failed to score a knockout, because he obviously hit Layne with about everything in his repertoire.

In the sixth round, Charles had Layne down once on his knee and a moment later had him reeling around the ropes. He was ready for the kill. But Referee Frankie Carter stepped in between the two fighters, believing the bell had rung. It hadn't and they resumed fighting. That may have saved Layne from a knockout.

The decision was unanimous and as early as the third round it was apparent that Layne was in for a rough evening. Rex had many openings but his reflexes just never responded. The Utah battler's best rounds were the second fifth and eighth when he landed rebounding blows to Charles' mid-section.

Miami Beach, Fla. (UP)—Top-seeded Gardnar Mulloy collides with his toughest opposition so far in the Good Neighbor tennis tournament today when he meets Mexican champion Gustavo Palafox in the quarter-final round of men's singles.

Palafox, seeded eighth, has been forced to three sets in each of his last two triumphs over weak rivals. But, if he is at his best, the Greenville's Coastal Golf Association team won its third match in four outings yesterday by trouncing Farmville 91-16.

Medalist honors for Greenville were shared by Kirell Webb and Ben Harrison. Both shot 73's for the afternoon. Low score for both teams, however, was turned in by Creighton Liles of Farmville with a one under par 71.

Other low scores for Greenville included a 74 by Charlie Bill Moya, 76's by Reynolds May and Milton Harrington, a 77 by Bob Lang, 78's by Jimmy Phelps and Tom Smoot, and 79's by Lucian Bryan, Tyson Bilbro and Red Corbett.

Farmville's Cecil Lilly Jr. had a 77 and C. Quinley had a 79 for the afternoon.

Individual match scores are as follows: May lost to Liles 3-0; Webb won over Lilly 3-0; May and Webb won over Liles and Lilly 2 1-3 to 1-2; Greenville 5 1-2 points, Farmville 3 1-2.

Harrison won over Pickett 3-0; Phelps won over Masburn 3-0; Harrison and Phelps over Pickett and Masburn 3-0—Greenville 8 points, Farmville 0.

Moya won over Quinley 3 1-2 1-2; Smoot won over Bradham 3-0; Moya and Smoot over Quinley and Bradham 3-0—Greenville 8 1-2 points, Farmville 1-2.

Harrington won over Darden 2-1; Bryan won over James 3-0; Harrington and Bryan over Darden and James 3-0—Greenville 8 points, Farmville 1.

Keck lost to Rabel 2-1; T. Bilbro won over Joyner 3-0; Keck and Bilbro over Rabel and Joyner 3-0—Greenville 7 points, Farmville 2.

Herring won over Ewell 3-0; Larkins halved with Lewis 1 1-2 1-2; Herring and Larkins over Ewell and Lewis 3-0—Greenville 7 1-2 points, Farmville 1 1-2.

Tippon lost to Harris 3-0; Moton won over Drake 3-0; Tippon and Moton over Harris and Drake 3-0—Greenville 6 points, Farmville 2.

Dr. Brown won over Rouse 3-0; Dr. Massey won over Allen 3-0; Brown and Massey over Rouse and Allen 3-0—Greenville 9 points, Farmville 0.

Dr. Wright won over McDavid 2 1-2 1-2; Merritt won over Kennedy 3-0; Wright and Merritt over McDavid and Kennedy 3 1-2 1-2—Greenville 8 points, Farmville 1.

Tilley won over Outland 2 1-2 1-2; Julian won over Williams 3-0; Tilley and Julian over Outland and Williams 3-0—Greenville 8 1-2 points, Farmville 1-2.

Corbett won over Jones 3-0; Long won over Roundtree 3-0; Corbett and Long over Jones and Roundtree 3-0—Greenville 9 points, Farmville 0.

Garrison won over Rollins 2-1; Dodson won over Friedman 3 1-2 1-2; Garrison and Dodson halved Rollins and Friedman 1 1-2 1-2—Greenville 6 points, Farmville 3.

Afraid To Hope Reds Will Release Prisoners

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP) — The long, long wait may be ending for families of American prisoners of war in Korea, but they are almost afraid to hope.

One mother has been disappointed so many times she is afraid to think of the possibilities her son at last may come home soon.

Their hopes soared when the Communists published a list of their prisoners in December, 1951, because they knew for the first time their sons were alive.

Since then they've waited, hoped briefly when truce talks were begun, and then waited again. Now they could hope again, but they're suspicious.

"The news sounds good now," Mrs. Martin Hussey said cautiously. "But really I'm kind of afraid to hope."

"We've been through so many ups and downs we don't believe anything," said Mrs. Edward Brown, wife of a Manhattan waterfront guard.

Mrs. Hussey, the wife of a gardener in New Canaan, Conn., has never told the son who is a Communist prisoner that his two brothers, 21, are in Korea now too, fighting near Heartbreak Ridge.

"We didn't want to worry Donald," she said simply.

Mrs. Brown didn't write either when a second son headed for Korea in August of 1951. Her elder son, Harold, 23, went to Korea a year earlier and was a prisoner after a few months of fighting.

Most of the families have had no letters from the prison camps since early last fall. A few have stopped writing.

"What's the use?" asked one bitter father who has had just one letter from his son in two years. "The Red Cross can't even get in there."

Letters that did arrive were brief and vaguely worded, so families don't know if prisoners were sick or wounded.

Families have memorized the few dates that mark a son or a husband's imprisonment.

"He's been a prisoner 27 months now... it was Nov. 8 he was captured... we got the last letter on...

The final date won't be the signing of the truce in Korea. It'll be the day a son or a husband or a father walks in the door.

"We don't know how John will look," said his father, Norman Curtin of Brooklyn. "He left for Japan when he was 18. But we know one thing. He's been a prisoner 27 months and he'll sure be glad to get home."

Taxi Stopped, Robber Ran Off

TOLEDO, (UP)—A cab driver saw George Upchurch standing with upraised arms and thought he wanted a ride.

The driver didn't see the man standing behind Upchurch holding a gun his back. When the cab stopped, the would-be robber took to his heels.

"Can't say again I couldn't get a cab when I needed one," Upchurch said.

Anthropologists believe they have observed one of the processes by which farming was started in Western Australia where tribesmen who dig up yams, put part of the yam back in the hole.

Chapter 25. It wasn't until August first that Dan and his uncle once more returned from San Francisco. That gave her the opportunity to see more of Rod and Johnny and Ted Hopkins and Bob. It also gave her time to think. That, she discovered, was something she'd really not done since a certain evening when twinkling black eyes had met hers on the veranda. And that, she also discovered, was something that had to be remedied. Dan or Bob, life as a doctor's wife or life as a farmer's wife? And did she approve Dan's plans, and did she really oppose Doctor as much as she'd first thought?

Nuclear Engine May Be End Of Surface Navies

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Some splitting atoms in the ancient volcanic wastelands of Idaho may have signaled the ultimate doom of surface navies.

That at least is the way some experts read the news that the world's first version of a nuclear engine for submarines has "gone critical" at the Atomic Energy Commission's Arco (Ida.) reactor testing stations.

The AEC's announcement does not mean the engine actually is producing power. But the engine's atomic boilers have been fired up, so to speak, and power will result when the experts in charge decide the time has come for the big test.

What happened was that uranium fuel in the test engine's atomic firebox has achieved a self-sustaining atomic chain reaction in which gradually will build up until the heat generated is sufficient to change water into steam for conversion into power. A pound of such fuel is equal in energy content to 2,600,000 pounds of coal.

The engine undergoing tests at Arco is the exact prototype of an atomic powerhouse that will drive the submarine Nautilus whose keel was launched at Groton, Conn., last June.

The AEC's scientists usually take their time in bringing an experimental reactor from "criticality" to full power. How long it will be before Arco sub engines begin to manufacture massive amounts of power is a military secret. It may be weeks or months.

The engine's masters want to salvage every scrap of information about their new gadget as they go along, and at the same time they want to avoid any possible breakdowns that might result from haste.

The test engine was built into the bowels of an actual submarine hull erected at Arco. While it is being nursed through its early paces to full performance, Westinghouse Electric Corp. is pushing work on a duplicate engine which the Navy hopes will be driving the submarine Nautilus through the seas some time in 1954.

Among those who believe the atomic sub will rout surface warships from the oceans is Rep. Carl Hinshaw (R-Calif.), chairman of a House Senate Atomic Energy subcommittee on nuclear reactors.

He also believes that the "successful start-up" of the Arco engine "bodes well" for the development of an atomic power plant for airplanes, also at Arco.

Ailing Children Are Only Guests

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—Five children held an exclusive chicken pox party here Tuesday to celebrate their first childhood disease.

The children had been taking dancing lessons together for more than a year. All broke out with chicken pox within a four day period. Mrs. Jerry Lloyd gathered the group of four-year-olds at her home for a party. "Naturally," she said, "we can't invite anybody else."

Drop Lecturer For Her Silence

NEW YORK (UP) — Dr. Gene Weltfism, anthropologist lecturer, who refused to tell a Senate committee whether she was a Communist, will be dropped from the faculty of Columbia University at the end of the current academic year.

The university news bureau said Miss Weltfism was ineligible for re-appointment as a lecturer under university rules adopted last November. About 30 other teachers are being dropped under the same budget-lightening rule.

The navy of the Byzantine empire used "Greek fire" in attacking the enemy and some students believe some of this material was explosive.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks netted small gains in the major averages during the morning dealings today. Trading fell off further with first hour sales down 100,000 shares from yesterday.

Traders moved cautiously in view of the long weekend holiday. The market closes tomorrow for the Good Friday holiday and remains closed to Monday morning.

Leading issues firmed fractions. Atlantic Coast Line, an exception, stood out in the rails with a rise of a full point. Special stocks had a long list up a point or more and a few down that amount.

Several strong oils gained more than a point, including Shell, Seaboard and Sun. Texas Gulf Producing lost more than a point.

Others to rise one or more points included Corning Glass, General Foods, Hooker Electro-Chemical, Lone Star Cement, John Morrell, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Pittsburgh Plate Glass, and Zenith Corp.

International Railways of Central America weakened with the common off 1/4 and the preferred down 5/8 points. Excello lost a point and Douglas Aircraft more than a point.

No Charges In Auto Accident

Slick tires and wet pavement were attributed as causes of an automobile accident last night, resulting in $600 damage but no injuries.

Ira J. Pugh, Negro, 24, of Route 1, Grifton, lost control of his car on a rural road two miles south of Gardnersville around 11 o'clock last night.

He told investigating officer Highway Patrolman J. W. Boykin that he went off the pavement on the right side after losing control of his car then overturning on the opposite side of the highway.

No charges were placed against the driver.

Has NCEA Post Guided Missile To Be Tested In North Carolina

Mrs. W. W. Howell, critic teacher of Business Education in the Greenville high school, has been elected president of the Business Education Division of the North Carolina Education Association. The election of Mrs. Howell to this position was held during the 1953 convention of NCEA in Asheville.

After graduation with the A. B. degree from LaGrange College (Ga.) and the M. S. degree from North Carolina State College, Mrs. Howell held teaching positions in Elon College and State College prior to coming to Greenville. Her husband, W. W. Howell, is a professor in the Department of Business Education of East Carolina College.

Mrs. Howell succeeds Miss Lois Frazier of Woman's College, U. N. C., Greensboro, in this office in the Business Education division.

Has NCEA Post Guided Missile To Be Tested In North Carolina

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP)—A new supersonic weapon which would be used to defend American skies from enemy attack will be tested here this month.

The new weapon is the "Nike," a faster-than-sound guided missile that searches out and destroys aircraft at high altitudes. The tests will start April 18 at the Western Electric Plant here, which developed important parts of the missile, and then move elsewhere.

Plans for the tests were announced yesterday by Rep. Carl T. Durham of Chapel Hill, a member of the House's Atomic Energy Committee. Durham said the "Nike," named after the Greek goddess of victory, is "one of the most important defense developments since the

A-bomb." He said it "is designed to attack aircraft in flight and at ranges in altitude which were impossible when using conventional anti-aircraft gunfire."

Dupont Plant Official Is Speaker At Ayden Rotary

AYDEN—Gwynn Merritt, production control supervisor at the DuPont company's plant, speaker at the Ayden Rotary Club's supper meeting last Friday, said "Your next promotion may kill you."

He said "Your life should be planned on the three-way basis of work, play and rest." The DuPont executive pointed out the serious results of placing too much emphasis on either work, play or rest. "Any strenuous exercising of either of the three basic things will result in difficulties arising for those who follow this course," he added.

Marries stressed the value of work hard when you work, play to enjoy it and rest for the true value of relaxation. He concluded his message with the suggestion that "instead of living to work, let's work to live, and happiness will be the reward for those who live accordingly."

Rotarians Frank Kilpatrick won the "on time" prize; John Burns, the "fellowship" prize. Dr. Fred Irons of Greenville was the visiting Rotarian.

The Tennis Court Committee announced plans to provide funds for completion of the courts now under way.

President Ralph Hardee, who presided, inducted Bob Denton into membership of the club. O. Clay Stroud, will be inducted into membership at a later date.

Gilbert Davis, Boy Scout cub master, announced a meeting of the club's Cub Pack Committee, with Warren Kinlaw, chairman; Bill Johnson, Cory Stokes, James Everette and Bill Moore.

The Ayden Rotary and Ayden Lions clubs will hold a joint meeting to honor the Ayden High School athletes at the usual annual program.

The Rotary Club will meet at a cabin near the river next Friday night at 6:30 for an old-fashioned fish stew.

The Buick Special Convertible, now lower priced for 1953. Wire wheel covers, illustrated, optional at extra cost.

IT'S back again—big, bold and beautiful—the Buick Convertible in the budget-priced SPECIAL Series.

And do you know what that means? It means a barrel of fine fun for a lot of people who have their hearts set on a sleek Buick Convertible—and their eyes on the price they pay.

For this beauty delivers for just a few dollars more than the Convertible models of the so-called "low-priced three" but what a giant of a difference from there on in!

Here you get Buick power—from a walloping big Fireball 8 Engine now raised to the highest horsepower and compression ratio in Buick SPECIAL history.

Here you get the famed Buick Million Dollar Ride—now made even gentler by softer-acting coil springs on all four wheels.

Here you get Buick room, Buick comfort, Buick style, Buick structure—plus a wonderfully easy handling that far lighter cars would envy.

And here, if you wish, you can have Twin-Turbine Dynaflow Drive* with its jet-like getaway and infinite smoothness—and Power Steering* to make parking and traffic maneuvers still easier.

This could be for you—this dream car with the down-to-earth price tag. Why not come in to see us and find out?
