Grimesland Must Pay $4,500 For Contract Release

Utilities' Price Set

By JESS POINDEXTER, Reflector City Editor

The financial figure the town of Grimesland must pay the Greenville Utilities Commission for release from its wholesale electrical contract has been set at $4,500.

Authorized by members of the commission to determine a definite sum by "considering all angles of the transaction," Supt. Martin Swartz has arrived at the final figure of $4,500, and said this morning the attorney representing Grimesland already has been informed of the decision.

A faction of Grimesland's Board of Commissioners has expressed a desire to sell the Grimesland system to Carolina Power and Light Company, and has petitioned the local Utilities Commission for release from the town's 20-year power contract.

How Determined

The Greenville organization expended approximately $15,500 in rebuilding a rural line to serve Grimesland, and Swartz stated the cited release figure was determined by taking into consideration the fact that the line would have been rebuilt by 1959 anyway to take care of the increased electrical load between Greenville and Chocod Creek.

The superintendent explained the figure was set by subtracting 50 percent of the cost to Greenville of rebuilding the rural line to serve Grimesland, and depreciating the remaining $7,250 for the four years the town has had use of the local line.

The present connection with the Grimesland system was made at Chocod Creek, and Swartz contended that at the present rate of load increase in that area, the Utilities Commission would have been forced to rebuild the line in the next five years even if Grimesland had not been connected.

"This is the first time since 1922, when Winterville became the Utilities Commission's first wholesale customer, that anyone has requested to be released from a contract obligation," the superintendent asserted.

"We have had towns to join other companies in the past, but in every case the company fulfilled all obligations of the contract."

Cited Examples

Swartz cited as examples the towns of Bethel, Robersonville and the Pitt-Greene Membership Corporation, which last year bought the C. L. Hardy lines.

"When Bethel sold out to Virginia Electric and Power Company approximately 20 years ago, the town's contract with Greenville was carried out to its termination.

"In 1947, when Robersonville sold out to VEPCO, that company again carried out terms of the contract made between Greenville and Robersonville.

"Last year when Pitt-Greene Membership Corporation purchased the C. L. Hardy lines, the corporation began, and are continuing, to carry out terms of the Greenville contract.

"The current question of release from the contract," Swartz continued, "has never come up since we have been having wholesale electrical customers."

Elections Decide

Whether Grimesland sells out to CP and L or continues to buy current from Greenville is dependent on a referendum to decide the question scheduled for May 4, date of regular town elections.

Three members of the Board of Commissioners and the mayor favor selling the system to CP and L, and going on a retail-customer basis with the company. Two board members, however, oppose the sale of the Grimesland system and wish to remain on a wholesale purchase basis with the Greenville Utilities Commission.

Commissioners and the mayor favor selling the system to CP and L, and going on a retail-customer basis with the company. Two board members, however, oppose the sale of the Grimesland system and wish to remain on a wholesale purchase basis with the Greenville Utilities Commission.

Swartz explained that if CP and L does take over the Grimesland system after the May 4 elections, the company will have to take over the Pitt town on the company's present rate schedule. "They cannot combat Washington's rate-cutting by decreasing their own rates because CP and L is not a municipally-owned utilities organization," he declared.

However, Swartz stated, CP and L can take over the Grimesland system and still carry out the terms of the town's contract with Greenville to supply Grimesland.

Fulfill Contract

"From strictly a business standpoint," he said, "the only thing for CP and L to do is to fulfill obligations of Grimesland's contract with Greenville to its termination."

As far as rates go under such a set-up, the superintendent concluded, if Greenville's cost rate is higher than CP and L's, the company—as a private utility—may go before the State Utilities Commission and possibly obtain a rate adjustment.

"That would not be the case if the company provides current to Grimesland directly," Swartz contended.

This far, the Greenville Utilities Commission has not received a reply from the Grimesland group regarding the amount set for release from the contract.

Renew Air Attacks In North Korea

Superforts Hit Area Closed To Them During Prisoner Exchange

SEUL, Korea (UP) — The "off limits" sign was off the Freedom Road area today and American Superforts bombed a newly reconstructed airfield near Taechon in northwest Korea.

Eleven B-29's from Okinawa dropped over the airfield, near the spot where Allied sick and wounded prisoners had stopped last week on their way to freedom, and dropped hundreds of small bombs on the runways and revetments.

Results of the heavy attack were not observed.

The attack on the Taechon airfield was the first in that area since last week when pilots were told to stay away from the vicinity of Freedom Road, the 200-mile-long steel-cratered highway that leads from the Yalu River to Panmunjom.

The Allied air attacks occurred only a few miles south of the Yalu River, about 150 miles north of the area where a Communist convoy of 20 trucks was sighted carrying Allied prisoners to be exchanged Wednesday.

B-26 light bombers hit Red supply routes with tons of bombs, destroying 42 vehicles. They also touched off 12 large explosions and 50 to 60 smaller ones at a Red motor pool south of Kilchu.

Maj. Anthony J. Rose of Gaffney, Fla., B-26 navigator, said ammunition stored in the Kilchu area blew up "just like Old Faithful at Yellowstone Park."

United Nations fighter-bombers also hit Communist targets northwest of Chwonan, American F-84 Thunder jets and Australian Meteors kicked up so much smoke from the area that pilots were unable to fully observe the results of their attacks.

Returning pilots said, however, they set off four secondary explosions and six fires in attacks around the Pork Chop Hill area, scene of bitter ground fighting over the weekend.

Navy planes from the carriers Oriskany and Princeton zoomed over Red front line positions and slammed "thousands of pounds" of bombs only 1,500 yards in front of Allied lines.

Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said ground action had slackened on the battlefield yesterday, with action "confined to minor probes and light patrol activity."

Freed Prisoners Say Many Died Of Blows And Death Marches

GIs Tell Of Red Brutality

By EARNEST HOBERECHT, PANMUNJOM, Korea, Wednesday (UP)—Allied war prisoners today told how many of their buddies died under skull-crushing blows from rifle butts wielded by North Korean guards and from lack of medical care on forced "death marches."

They told too of semi-starvation in Communist prison camps and deaths from malnutrition and disease.

And many reported that the Reds still are holding some of the most critically wounded and the most seriously ill.

Their reports were individual and unofficial. But they added up to an ugly sight to the repatriation of sick and wounded.

The stories of brutality, maltreatment and of sick and wounded left behind came to light as the Reds announced the second exchange of non-Koreans will be included among the 100 who in today's exchange at 9 a. m. (7 p. m. EST Tuesday).

Serious questions were raised by the reports that scores of sick and wounded are being left behind in the Red camps.

Pvt. Joseph Picerno, of Jamaica, N. Y., said the Reds still were holding "quite a few prisoners worse off than me," in the camp from which he was released.

"One had his leg off," he said. "One man was paralyzed on both sides."

The exchange is being carried out under provisions of the model agreement under Articles 109 and 110 of the Geneva convention which provides:

"The following shall be repatriated direct: "All prisoners of war suffering from...loss of limb, paralysis, articular or other disabilities."

Sgt. Albert L. Howard, of Nashville, Tenn., said "there still are sick and wounded in our area; more sick and worse off than we are." Asked why the others were not returned, Howard said, "I guess they were too sick to come."

These men were among the 100 jubilant United Nations soldiers who passed through freedom gates yesterday in the second exchange.

One of 35 United States soldiers freed in the second day's exchange of sick and wounded prisoners told of a death march on which North Koreans bashed in the heads of weakening Americans. He said Russians egged the Red guards on.

Another freed GI said 40 out of a group of 100 Americans and Turks died on a forced march.

A free Turkish soldier said about 100 Americans in one camp died of malnutrition.

Communist correspondent Alan Winington said in a dispatch broadcast from Peking that the Communist prisoners exchanged by the U. N. looked as if they had come out of a World War II Nazi concentration camp — "haggard... faces stamped with suffering... suffering from malnutrition. He accused Allied surgeons of performing unnecessary limb amputations.

But these charges were made by individuals. Allied and Red negotiators were not involved, and the U. N. Command continued preparations to resume truce talks Saturday after an interruption since last October.

Developments in "Operation Little Switch," the exchange in daily quotas of 605 U. N. prisoners, including 120 American, for 6,033 Communists included:

1. Thirty-five Americans, 12 Britons, three Turks and 50 South Koreans went through "freedom gate" to liberty Tuesday in exchange for 450 Chinese Communists and 50 North Koreans.

2. A Communist convoy of 20 trucks, carrying the Allied prisoners, was to be exchanged Wednesday, was sighted coming down from the north.

3. The Communists announced that no Americans will be included in Wednesday's exchange. All these 100 repatriates will be South Koreans. The U. N. will give up 350 North Koreans and 150 Chinese Communists.

4. While the prisoner exchange continued, and preparations were made for resuming truce talks, the war kept on. Ground fighting subsided. But B-29 Superfortresses were out.

The Americans and other Allies freed Tuesday were a far happier lot than the first arrivals Monday. They were laughing, shouting, wisecracking as the Communist ambulances drew up at the exchange center here. Even the usually impassive South Koreans were laughing and waving. First American freed was Pfc. Paul O. Blanton, of Brodhead, Ky.

All the Allied prisoners were able to walk-one American on crutches. None had to be taken to the hospital by helicopter for immediate treatment.

In fact, most of them looked in such good health that it raised again the question why they are being returned when it is reported that other U. S. soldiers far more seriously wounded or sick are being kept in Communist prison camps.

Second Division Cpl. Orrville R. Mullins, of Covington, Ky., told what happened after he was captured on Aug. 27, 1951.

He said that of the original group of 162 prisoners of which he was a member only 61 were alive when the group was broken up about one year ago.

"There was real brutality in the early days," Mullins said. He told of the death march, and how men weakened until they could not keep up.

"The North Koreans batted them on the head with rifles," he said. "Sometimes when a man dropped you would hear a shot. Then we would march on."

Pfc. Roger Herndon, of Jacksonville, Fla., said he saw 40 American and Turkish prisoners out of a group of 100 die on a death march.

Pvt. Louis Kerkrath, of Byron, Mich., told how the Communists abandoned sick and wounded prisoners who fell out of line on a month-long march to prison camp.

Streamliner Jumps Tracks In Night; About 150 Injured

DILLON, S. C. (UP) — An Atlantic Coastline railroad streamliner speeding north from Miami to New York, jumped the tracks near here last night, killing five and injuring about 150 as 14 cars slung into a field.

Rescue workers, working during the night by the light of torches and a fire that was "ouched off by the derailment, worked on into the new day searching for more victims. Heavy-duty wreck trains were attempting to pry apart the telescoped steel of the cars.

Cause of the accident, which sent ACL's "champion" hurtling from the rails, was undetermined. An investigating team was trying to find the answer.

It was a miserable night for the injured, many of whom lay moaning in the darkness for several hours in temperatures near the freezing point before they could be moved.

At least 24 of the injured were from New York and vicinity and about 14 others were headed for Eastern destinations between Washington and New York. All hospitals in this area were filled with the injured.

It was impossible to obtain an accurate account of the seriousness of all injuries but at least 90 were hospitalized. About 60 others were given first aid treatment and dismissed.

St. Eugene's 60-bed hospital here was taxed to the limit, and at one time during the night beds were set up in the corridors. Lights burned all night in its one operating room where two unidentified doctors worked without rest as the injured were wheeled in.

"We are trying to save lives here, an attendant at one hospital said. "We haven't time for records now."

The railroad's double track was ripped up for almost half a mile. It would take a major repair job to get the evidence of this wreckage removed.

The accident, which happened shortly before midnight as most of the passengers were settling for a night's sleep, produced its quota of heroes whose names were not even learned by grateful recipients of their help.

Louis Gargano, a linotype operator on the New Haven, Conn. Evening Register was in a chair car with his bride. They were returning from a Florida honeymoon. He said an unidentified man "pulled everybody out of our car and then came back to dig down for any he might have left in all that mess."

Gargano said "we were going along nicely. I was about to fall asleep when there was this sudden bang. My wife and I weren't hurt at all but she lost her shoes."

"Mrs. Frank Hicken of Springfield, Mass., was trapped in the wreckage for almost five hours. She was laughing and joking when she was rescued but cut her out of her car at 4:12 a. m. She apparently was not badly hurt."

Mrs. Hicken was in a car lying on its side in a field. It was two hours after the wreck before rescue workers heard her cries for help. They had to cut through the bottom of the car and pull the elderly woman through a window on top of the coach.

Held Back

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea (UP)—Charges that the Communists are holding back sick and wounded Allied prisoners in an exchange supposed to include all the ailing were backed up by two freed Americans today.

Pvt. Joseph Picerno, of Jamaica, N. Y., said he knows of two men, one paralyzed, the other with a leg amputated, who apparently are not to be included in the exchange.

There are "quite a few" others, he said, who are worse off than he is and are still in prison camp.

Pfc. Wilbert Warring, of Philadelphia, said: "There were 50 still in the hospital when I left. Twenty-five came with me. Some who could not walk were left behind. I don't know why."

Warring was wounded in the leg and arm before his capture Oct. 6, 1952. He was on a litter when interviewed. "I can't straighten out my leg," he said.

Arrest Man On Forgery Charge

A 25-year-old Negro from Chocod was arrested this morning on a charge of forgery.

Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs reported that Milton Taft, home address listed as Chocod, was arrested by L. H. E. Wooten and W. C. Flake around 10:30 this morning.

Gibbs said the man attempted to cash a check in the amount of $118 at the Dickinson Avenue Branch Bank. The check was given on Dr. H. B. Kelly, local Negro doctor. Gibbs stated.

Officers were called when a bank teller became suspicious of the check and the man attempting to cash it.

Taft, booked on a charge of forgery, was lodged in city jail in lieu of $500 bond. If he is unable to obtain bond, he will be given a hearing at the Wednesday morning session of City Police Court, Gibbs said.

Only 34 Sign Reed Petition

WASHINGTON (UP)—A total of 34 House members have signed a petition calling for floor action on a bill by Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) to cut personal income taxes about 10 per cent effective July 1.

The signatures of 218 members—a majority of the House membership—are required to force the bill out of the Rules Committee, where it is piling high in accordance with the GOP leadership's desires.

New Applicant Files For Office Of City Manager

A second application for the position of city manager, this time from a man who married a local girl, has been filed with the Greenville city clerk.

The most recent letter of application was received from Herschell Francis Snuggs, 33, a former North Carolina native who is currently serving as the first city manager of Highland Park, Ill.

Snuggs was born in Badin, N. C., educated in the public schools at Winston-Salem and in 1950 was graduated from the University of North Carolina with a B.S. in Public Administration.

He is married to the former Miss Christine Hellen, a Greenville girl whose parents reside at 302 Elizabeth Street. The couple have two children.

After completing five years of service in the Army during World War II, Snuggs returned to school at Chapel Hill to obtain his degree. From school he went to Portsmouth, Ohio, as assistant city manager, and in 1951 he became the first city manager of the Illinois city.

According to his letter, Snuggs and his family plan to come to Greenville on a visit about May 30, and will discuss with the new council possibilities of the job.

Russell Opposes Talkathon 'Gag'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Richard B. Russell said today he will oppose any Republican effort to throttle the marathon debate against the "hideland" bill even though he favors the measure.

The Georgia Democrat, who has led many Southern filibusters against civil rights legislation, said foes of the bill should be allowed to talk "if they are willing to take the odium attending filibustering."

Senate Republican Leader Robert A. Taft told the Senate last night that a petition aimed at cutting off debate has been drafted.

He admitted that the 84 votes necessary for limiting debate could not be obtained at the present time. But he said some senators are "very anxious" to start a cloture petition through the mill.

Under Senate rules, a petition signed by 16 members can force a vote on the issue of limiting debate. But it takes a constitutional two-thirds vote—64 senators—to invoke the gag rule.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) meanwhile continued the verbal attack on the bill to give coastal states title to offshore oil lands.

Jackson began his speech at yesterday's first night session which ended at 10:51 p. m., and planned to wind up this afternoon.

Trial Of Young Mother In Death Of Children Set

GASTONIA (UP)—A young mother who said she drowned her three children so they wouldn't have to "grow up like I had to" will be brought to trial here tomorrow, Solicitor Basil Whitener said today.

A grand jury yesterday indicted Mrs. Mary Irene Hullett on three charges of murder in the drowning of her three daughters. The victims were Bertha and Margaret Jewel Dixon, aged 3 and 2, Mrs. Hullett's daughters by a previous marriage, and Ruby Pauline Hullett, eight months.

Mrs. Hullett admitted to officers that she pushed the three children one by one into a water-filled quarry ear her Easte Sun "because I wouldn't want to see them grow up like I had to."

She said she had planned to drown herself when she left her husband at home and took the children for a walk, "but I just couldn't do it."

Protest Keeping Democrat Office Holders On Job

WASHINGTON (UP)—House Republicans have protested that the Eisenhower administration is allowing Democrats to hold almost all federal jobs and is even "promoting" some of them.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said about 25 GOP members sounded off on the subject at a special meeting. They were "mad," he reported.

Martin called the Republicans to a closed meeting to discuss appropriations for fiscal 1954, but he said the members spent most of the time talking about Democratic job holders.

"That was the most popular theme," he said. "They complained that you don't see anybody but New Dealers and Democrats holding these jobs throughout the country... And some are even being promoted."

He said "some of the shafts were aimed at the Agriculture Department" in connection with field employees of the Production and Marketing Administration.

RALEIGH (UP)—The State Senate received a bill today to increase the number of trustees of the University of North Carolina by five and to provide for their appointment by the governor.

Says Gen. Ridgeway Cancelled Offensive

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins has told Senate investigators that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway called off, on his own initiative, a proposed Korean offensive in May 1951.

Collins, it was learned, told the Senate ammunition investigating subcommittee yesterday that Ridgeway had not been ordered by the Joint Chiefs of Staff to stop the drive which Gen. James A. Van Fleet wanted to undertake.

Ridgeway was then supreme commander in the Far East. Van Fleet commanded the 8th Army in Korea.

Van Fleet has testified he was "crying to be 'burned loose' and planned to couple a ground attack with an amphibious assault on Korea's east coast.

Collins confirmed Van Fleet's testimony that Ridgeway gave the order preventing the offensive. Collins was reported to have told the Senate subcommittee that Ridgeway apparently feared excessive casual-

Justice Dept. Is Preparing Drives Against Leftists

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department today mapped plans to move against about a dozen Communist front organizations as a result of an official ruling that the American Communist party is a "puppet" of Russia.

Department sources said their plans for action against the fronts will not be affected by the Communist decision to appeal an order of the Subversive Activities Control Board that the party register with the department as a Russian-controlled organization.

They conceded the appeal would delay "for at least a year" the effective date of the board's order. But they said the court fight would not prevent them from also asking the board to order several organizations to register as Communist-controlled groups.

The board, established by the 1950 McCarran Communist-control law, issued its order Monday. It ruled that the American Communist party is "a subsidiary and puppet of the Soviet Union" and must comply with the law by registering a "Communist-action" group.

The party promptly announced that it would defy the order. In a statement issued in New York, the party said it would appeal the ruling to the U. S. Court of Appeals—an action which, if taken within 60 days, makes the order unenforceable at this time.

Former left-wing Rep. Vito Marcantonio A. L. P.—N. Y., who is acting as the party's lawyer, said he expects the case to go eventually to the Supreme Court for a decision.

Asked if party members would register if the courts uphold the board's decision, a party spokesman told newsmen:

"That's a premature question. But our attitude has been revealed before—that we will not."

Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., said once the courts have upheld a registration order, the organization and its officers have 30 days in which to register. If they fail to do so, they are liable to be indicted, tried and, if convicted in the courts, subject to a maximum criminal penalty of $10,000 fine and five years imprisonment.

Reason For Belief Soviet Influenced Toward Peace

Dulles Departs With 'Hope'

By DONALD J. GONZALES, United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today "there is good reason to believe that the growing strength of the Soviet Union will influence the Soviet Union decisively in the direction of peace."

Dulles said the principal objective of the meeting in agreement on NATO defense programs for this year.

The new program, however, will be formulated on reduced American aid. The plan is to build up the defensive strength of 50 divisions in various stages of development and to add some 10 more by the end of 1953.

The strategy Dulles and the other American officials will propose calls for a steady defense buildup over a period of 10 to 20 years.

Dulles said the Paris meeting also will examine the treaty nations this week will agree on "a substantial increase" in their defensive might this year.

"I do not believe that our present security planning can be justified by recent Soviet moves," Dulles said.

He added that "nothing that has happened so far justifies any relaxation of effort or any weakening of NATO defenses."

"Instead," he asserted, "there is good reason to believe that the growing strength of the free world may influence the Soviet Union decisively in the direction of peace."

Grant Rate Hike To Southern Bell

RALEIGH (UP)—The State Utilities Commission granted Southern Bell Telephone Co. rate increases in North Carolina today which will give the company an additional $1,648,056 in annual gross revenue.

Of the total increase granted, $891,000 a year will come from increased toll service rates. The remainder of $757,056 a year will come from increases in other classes of service.

The majority opinion granting the increase was written by Commissioner Fred C. Hunter. A dissent was written by Commissioner Joshua James.

Police Chief Is Speaker At Club

Greenville's Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs spoke to the Lions Club last night on Law Enforcement and its progress over the years. In speaking before the civic club, Gibbs stated that in the first half of the century, law enforcement has changed from a job to a profession. "The test tube, microscope and laboratory are now regarded by most officers as more important than the gun at their side," the Chief pointed out. Gibbs attributed most of the success in the rising standards of law enforcement officers to the general cooperation of the public. "There is more opportunity to do a service in the field of law enforcement now than any other field," the Chief said. "The camera, fingerprint kit and laboratory have replaced the third degree of the old days and is now resulting in more and more conviction among the criminals than before," the police official said in closing.

'Kiwanis Follies' Dates Are Set

Eli Bloom's "Kiwanis Spring Follies", a musical extravaganza supplanting the "Kiwanis Minstrel", featuring some of the best college and local talent, will be presented at the college next Tuesday and Wednesday, April 22 and 23. The show is sponsored by the Greenville Kiwanis Club and is for the benefit of the club's underprivileged child fund. A "look-in" at rehearsals revealed that one of the features of the show will be a "surprise" number by Tige (Sweetpea) Gardner, former professional vaudeville entertainer. Specialties in the show will be singing and dancing numbers, monologues, comedy skits, the Greenville High School band and a chorus of Kiwanians singing Broadway hits. Thirty-five Kiwanians are in the cast, including Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, dean of East Carolina College and Kiwanis president, and Dr. Howard H. Grada. Bloom said the dancing numbers by pretty girls from the college and local points and the accompanying music "will be a knockout for sparkling entertainment." Members of the cast are rehearsing nightly under Bloom's direction. Tickets for the two shows are now on sale by Kiwanians. Businessmen of Greenville are sponsoring the souvenir "Kiwanis Spring Follies" programs. Tickets are not reserved this year. "There is an abundance of talent in Greenville and Pitt County, and a lot of it at the college," Producer Bloom said today. "We have picked some of the best entertainers—singers, instrumentalists and dancers—an d this is going to be the 'show of shows' we are putting on here in Greenville next Tuesday and Wednesday for underprivileged children. Explorations for oil in western states sometimes bring up water instead, but this is often diverted to livestock on range.

Marshall-Huff Vows Spoken In Station Chapel, Cherry Point

VANCEBORO — In a ceremony beautiful in its solemnity and traditional charm, Miss Frances Huff of Vanceboro and Cherry Point and Captain John Bryan Marshall, Jr. of Cherry Point and St. Louis, Mo., were united in marriage in a candle-light ceremony in the station chapel at the Marine Corps Air Base Friday night, April 11, at 7 o'clock with Chaplain Edmund Smith officiating in the double-ring ritual.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. John W. Huff and the late Mr. Huff of Vanceboro. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. John Bryan Marshall and the late Mr. Marshall of St. Louis, Mo.

A prelude of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Jack Lee, organist of Havelock and Berlon Lanin of Jacksonville, soloist, who sang, "I Love You Truly" and "Because", using "The Lord's Prayer" as the benediction. The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride escorted and given in marriage by Co. T. A. Smith of Cherry Point, wore a Meriam original of nylon and chantilly lace over satin, an apique lace sheer yoke with Johnny collar and long light fitting sleeves of nylon pointed cuffs. The front panels and full-train were of chantilly lace. She wore a finger-tip veil of nylon-net with Dutch Cap of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid showered with Valley lilies and white satin streamers.

Mrs. David Huff of Vanceboro was matron of honor for her sister-in-law. She wore a gown of blue nylon tulle over taffeta, with matching sleeves of nylon pointed cuffs. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums, with rainbow satin ribbons.

Miss Barbara Jean Williams, niece of the bride who served as junior bridesmaid, wore a strapless dress of pink net, with fitted bodice and bouffant skirt, lace bolero, matching mitts and a head dress of pleated pink illusion. Her bouquet was of rose pink gerberas, tied with matching ribbons.

The honorary bridesmaids wearing pastel formals and matching orchid corsages were Miss Evelyn Lucas of Springfield, Miss Esther Cobb of Pinetops, Mrs. Virginia Hurst and Miss Kathleen Mullens of Havelock and Mrs. Joel King of Newport.

Miss Minette Marshall was flower girl. She wore a dress of white organza over pink with small floral headpiece. She carried a basket of pastel rose petals.

Captain Marshall was attended as best man by Captain William Atwaters of Cherry Point. Ushers were David Huff and Sonny Harrington of Ayden, the bride's nephews.

Mrs. Huff, mother of the bride wore a dress of navy blue, with Navy accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the main lounge of the officers club at Cherry Point. The lounge was attractively arranged with white glad-stick and Southern simlax. Captain and Mrs. Otto Marx presented the guests to the receiving line composed of Mrs. John Huff, mother of the bride, the bride and groom, Col. and Mrs. T. A. Smith, Miss Barbara Jean Williams, Mrs. David Huff and Miss Minette Marshall. Mrs. Edgar Butler presided at the guest book and Mrs. Roscoe Whitley invited guests to the refreshment table where punch, salted nuts, green and white mints and bridal cake was served, with the honorary maids assisting.

Mrs. Marshall received her education in the Vanceboro schools and the Business College of Norfolk, Va. She holds a position in the disbursing office at the Cherry Point Marine Base.

Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to the New England states and Canada. For traveling Mrs. Marshall wore a costume suit of Navy, with Navy and white accessories and the orchid from her prayer book.

Out of town guests present for the wedding and reception were: Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Butler and daughter Ann of Marian, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Shipp, Miss Theresa Shipp and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Whitley of New Bern; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Eberly of Norfolk, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Mack Harrington and Miss Jackie Harrington of Ayden; Mrs. Olive Harpener, Mrs. Edith Kemp, Mrs. Jennie Aldridge, Miss Susie Moore, Mrs. J. B. Daw, Jr., and Miss Marjorie Kemp of Oriental; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Witherington, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Huff, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Forrest and Mrs. Vivian Hoyle of Vanceboro.

DAR Signs Up The First Lady

WASHINGTON (UP)—A 20-year rift between the White House and the Daughters of the American Revolution ended today as the society welcomed Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower to its ranks.

The news that the first lady has signed up brought jubilation to the 5,000 members attending the 62nd annual DAR Continental Congress.

"We are indeed delighted to have Mrs. Eisenhower as a member," said Mrs. James B. Patton, president general.

Mrs. Patton revealed that President Eisenhower has for many years been a member of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Mary Jane McCaffree, secretary to the first lady, disclosed that Mrs. Eisenhower had applied for membership after the rumor began to spread at Constitution Hall last night.

The first lady's "proof" of direct descent from a Revolutionary War figure was approved by the DAR board of management last Friday. She will be a member-at-large. Induction formalities will be completed after Mrs. Eisenhower's return from Augusta, Ga., today.

Relations between the DAR and the White House have been strained ever since President Roosevelt greeted delegates as "My fellow immigrants," at a DAR Congress early in his administration. He never again addressed the society.

Mrs. Roosevelt resigned her DAR membership during the furor that blew up when the organization refused to allow Negro singer Marian Anderson to sing in CONSTITUTION HALL.

President Truman turned down all invitations to address DAR conventions. He also raised the daughters' ire when, after the DAR called on the government to count the gold at Ft. Knox, Ky. He suggested that the ladies take on the job themselves.

Mrs. Truman and Margaret both were eligible for membership, but neither joined.

Reports Success In Parking Plan

A committee report made last night at a meeting of the directors of the Greenville Merchants' Association revealed that the courtesy parking plan instituted several days ago was moving along successfully.

The report was made by Jack Edwards of the Courtesy Parking committee who said that in the two days it has been in progress, the plan has proved successful.

A number of routine business matters were handled by the board and the membership committee announced three new members since March. The new members are Larry's Shoe Store, Hudson's Garage, and Ben Harrison.

It was announced that the May board meeting will be postponed one week as several members of the board are planning to attend the North Carolina Merchant's Association Convention in Winston-Salem.

The program of the 51st annual convention will include an address by Brandon Hodges, State Treasurer, an address by W.H. Neal, vice-president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Winston-Salem, and an address by Edmund Harding, and panels on selling.

Vice-president B.D. Johnston presided over the meeting last night in absence of President Wesley Harvey.

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—A 700-mile inland waterway using the Parana and Tiete rivers could give a tremendous boost to Southern

Strength for the Day

HUMAN WISDOM?
An outstanding student of world affairs said recently that one-half the cost of the American military establishment for one day could, if spent wisely, create new social and health conditions throughout the world. Hospitals could be built, educational schemes put into operation, whole nations made literate. All this for one-half of what the United States spends on its military equipment every 24 hours.

The stupidity of man is utterly beyond comprehension. We all know that no war is ever won, that the next worst thing to an ignominious defeat is a whopping victory. We destroy cities knowing that we will have to build them. We tax ourselves until we have hardly enough money to make ends meet, and yet when we read in the paper that hundreds of millions of dollars have been thrown away on some silly scheme wherein some one blundered, we simply turn the pages of the newspaper and read about last night's basketball game, or peruse the advertisements of coming movies.

Man is called homo sapiens. We doubt it. Animals live only by instinct, but they escape a lot of the mistakes which humans make every day.

We can invent TV, we can construct jet propelled planes which break through the sound barrier, but we go on wallowing in our own ignorance.

A Pre-Election Chore To Be Attended To

Greenville's municipal election is just two weeks away, and the pre-election activities of the candidates for city council are gaining momentum.

At the same time, the hour has arrived for the citizens of the city to give consideration to their voting status in the election. Of course a person must be properly registered on the city's book before he or she is eligible to vote in the May 5 election.

The registration period for the coming election opens tomorrow and the registration books will be held at the polling places for 10 days exclusive of Sundays. Those 10 days should provide an ample opportunity for newcomers and other citizens of the city to make sure they are properly registered for the election.

New residents of wards one and two will register at the court house, and residents of wards three, four and five will register at the city hall.

The city's registration books have been recopied and revised to be brought up to date since the special election of January 12. They should be in good order, but in such a procedure, there is always the possibility of error in recording the names of voters or classifying them in specific wards. Therefore, it would not be amiss for the voters who have previously registered to check to make sure they are properly registered for the coming election.

As for the citizens of the city who have registered, here are a few of the fundamental requirements an individual must meet before becoming eligible for registration on the city's election books. A person must meet the age and literacy requirement as set forth by the state. In addition a person must have been a resident of North Carolina for at least one year prior to the election, and must have been a resident of the ward in which he registers for at least 60 days prior to the election.

The importance of the coming city election — just as every other election — behooves the citizens to exercise their responsibility and privilege to help select the officials who will govern the city of Greenville during the coming two years.

It is important that the citizens of Greenville make sure they are properly registered for the election so they will be eligible to cast their ballots when election day arrives May 5.

Maybe It Will Lighten Some "Heavy Feet"

Automobile drivers in Pitt County who have trouble with a "heavy foot" on the accelerator are finding themselves confronted with another persuasive device which may help them keep their motor vehicle speed within the limits of the law.

The "whammy" is now operating in Pitt County.

The radar clocking device for computing speeds for motor vehicles has been tested previously in Pitt County and a number of demonstrations have been held to familiarize the people with the device. Now it has been put to work to help cope with the speeding on the highways in the county.

A "whammy" is not a secret weapon used by highway and traffic authorities to trap motorists who exceed the speed limit. Everywhere it has been put into use, the citizens have been given ample notice about the device and how it works. It does not set up a speed trap, nor is it a device used solely to give members of the highway patrol great delight in apprehending more speeding motorists.

For a number of years North Carolina has been trying various means to produce a better highway safety program, and the introduction of the "whammy" is another of the innovations brought into play in the program.

While on the surface the whammy may appear a device for catching speeding motorists, it is, in our opinion, more fundamentally a device to deter motorists from taking the risk of being arrested for speeding, by influencing them to keep their speed within the law. We hope in Pitt County the use of the whammy will be an incentive for local drivers to keep their speed within the law.

The slogan "it's speed that kills" is just as applicable on Pitt County highways as it is on highways anywhere else in the state.

Freedom's Air Again Fills Their Lungs

Sick and wounded American soldiers held captive by communist forces in Korea are now on their way back home after an ordeal which can only be described by those who have experienced it.

Even then, the description may not fully convey the hardships and misery which have been endured.

The first two days of exchanges went off without hitch. The Americans who were returned to freedom by and large expressed their delight at breathing freedom's air again. Some few, as was to be expected, have been partially converted by their indoctrination on communist principles and propaganda. Those few may sound a discordant note in the chorus of gratitude expressed by the liberated prisoners who are returning.

It can only be hoped that those who have been misled into the communist chain of thought will quickly realize their mistake and resume their places as constructive citizens of the free world.

While the exchange of prisoners has continued to heighten the hope for a complete exchange of prisoners in the Korean War, and ultimately an armistice in the war which has been raging for almost three years, there still remains the shadow of doubt of sincerity on the part of the communist. There still remains the strong possibility of intrigue and deceit by the communists who heretofore have broken almost every agreement, written or oral, made with the free world.

The harmonious note of peace now coming from the communist have raised the hopes for world peace to their highest point since the close of World War II. But whether the note of harmony is superficial or genuine remains to be seen.

In the meantime, a few United Nations prisoners held by the communists are regaining their freedom.

National Whirligig

WASHINGTON—The Jenner Security Committee is getting closer to the inside operations of blundering or pro-Communist American diplomacy than any other Congressional investigating group, even including the Nixon inquiry that exposed the Whitaker Chambers-Alger Hiss relationship.

It is putting the finger of accusation on the specific individuals who gave outrageously bad advice to several Secretaries of State—Byrnes, Marshall, Acheson—either because of their Kremlin sympathies or out of sheer stupidity.

It is also identifying the distinguished officials who sponsored and praised these inept or Russian-minded individuals, and relied so completely on their untimely suggestions. It is the first attempt at classifying the active conspirators and the merely complacent.

MARSHALL'S ROLE—Former Secretary Dean Acheson has been listed as the benefactor of one of the most prominent of these advisers, along with former Secretary Henry Morgenthau. Similarly, Acheson depended on the advice of the Owen Lattimore group with respect to American policy in Korea, China and the Far East generally.

The innocent victim of the wrong-headed clique was General George C. Marshall, who inherited the personnel and policies established in State by his predecessors. As former Under-Secretary of State, Acheson had been a dominant figure in the Department before Marshall was named to head it.

By an irony of history, Marshall had an important role in the decisions which helped to lose China, alienated the Italian people and transformed the Arab world from friends into enemies of the United States. He was not responsible for any of these major moves. He had to balance his diplomatic ignorance and inexperience by acting on the advice of Acheson-Morgenthau "experts."

GLASSER, ECONOMIC ADVISER—A key witness before the Jenner Committee has been Harold Glasser, who said that he had attended thirty or forty foreign conferences, as the protege and adviser of Acheson. Nevertheless, on grounds of incrimination, he refused to say whether he was a Communist, or whether he had passed on to his superiors the also served in Treasury, UNRRA and WPA) advice he had received from Communists. He has been accused of association with Hiss in a Red underground.

Somebody Told Me

By I. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
If ever I talked to a man of muscle, it was yesterday. Joe Cherry of Greenville, the tree mover, is every inch a man.
The Saturday wind blew a tree down in my yard and I was talking to Joe about moving it. In the process he unveiled some interesting facts about this business of moving trees.
Joe and his crew recently won a bid on moving a giant Elm tree near the court house square in Windsor. The tree, Joe says, was a whopper, with a trunk over four feet in diameter. There were 10 men on the job and it cost $250 to move it.
When the tree was reduced to a stump the plan was to cut it down with an axe, level with the ground. "So smooth with the ground that a bicycle could ride over it without a bump."
"I told them," Joe went on, "that I could not only cut it smooth, but I could do it in three hours."
One of the bystanders asked Joe to repeat that statement, which he did. "Do you think," the bystander said, "that you could do it in three hours to the extent that you would put a $10 wager on it?"
Joe didn't hesitate a minute before he took the bet. "At the end of three hours," Joe says, "the tree was so near down that you could tie a rope around it and pull it down. But it wasn't down so I had to pay the $10."
Joe wasn't making any alibis about not cutting down that tree in three hours, but he did say, "Darkness overtook me and I couldn't place my licks."
By the time he finished, 15 minutes past the deadline, Joe was as wet with perspiration as if he had been submerged in water. Joe is 37 years old, six feet tall and weighs about 200 pounds. "I can sock an axe in a tree," he says, "and it takes a good man to pull it out. But my trouble is that I walk out of so many axe handles."
"Walk out of?" I asked.
"I mean I break so many. But back in the days when the woods were thick I could cut up four cords a day. But now you have to hunt for the good trees and I can't do it."
He sharpens his axe with a file and a hone and says, "After I've sharpened one you can shave with it."
And I thank you.

BUDGETING — Senator Willis Smith digs back into his memory for some interesting additional facts on the establishment of the executive budget system in North Carolina. Smith served for the first time in the Legislature of 1927, became Speaker in 1931, and is presently the junior United States Senator. His first term in the House was the second Legislature in the administration of Governor A.W. McLean, and one of the big issues was the continuation of the budget act enacted in 1925.
SPEAKERSHIP — Ezenator Smith relates some almost forgotten incidents about the speakership race that year. The three candidates were H.G. (Tobe) Fountain of Edgecombe and N.A. (Nat) Townsend of Harnett. All were personal and political friends of Governor McLean. It developed early in the pre-session maneuvers that Townsend did not have enough pledged votes to assure his election, leaving the major contest between Connor and Fountain.
ISSUE — Connor was generally recognized as the abler man. He was an intimate friend of the late Walter (Pete) Murphy, one of the most influential members of the Assembly and a bitter foe of the budget act. When Governor McLean could not get a promise from Connor that he would not appoint Murphy as chairman of the appropriations committee, or a statement from Murphy that he would support the budget, the Governor threw his support to Fountain, he would not accept the chairmanship of which Smith was a recognized leader. When the committees were appointed by Speaker Fountain the appropriations group was headed by Z.V. Turlington of Iredell and Finance by A.H. (Sandy) Graham of Orange. And the executive budget act was assured two more years of life, during which it gained sufficient strength to weather all storms since.
LOCAL — Senator Smith recalls that it was the second McLean assembly and his own first which put into effect the ideas that developed into the Local Government Commission, of budgetary control which had providing for counties and municipalities some of the same kind given to the State. Charlie Johnson, who had not then been named treasurer, had considerable part in organizing the local government situations.
PROGRESS — Logical extension of the budget plan was subsequent inclusion of the division of purchase and contract and the central control over State employed personnel. North Carolina would have grown tremendously without these governmental safeguards, but the fact that the State's financial structure stood up under both depression impact and wartime inflation more stably than those of neighboring states is tribute to the soundness of the budget policy.
EISENHOWER — President Eisenhower's visit to Salisbury last week was sincerely appreciated by the people of Rowan county and all of North Carolina. He was gracious in tribute to the pioneering independence of his hosts as well as their forefathers, and made a hit when he said he had not come to make a speech but just to attend a birthday party. The occasion was the 200th anniversary of the establishment of Rowan county. It was impossible for politically conscious observers to overlook some significant political aspects of the visit. Republicans have served notice that they expect to make a more determined drive for votes in North Carolina, and it is admitted that the Eisenhower visit did not hurt their prospects for success in that drive. In less serious vein there were many wiser observations among the Democratic legislators while waiting in the cold wind for the delayed arrival of the President.
PROVIDENCE — One small group was talking about how the rain had necessitated postponement of the opening baseball game in Washington, so that President Eisenhower instead of Vice President Nixon was able to throw out the first ball. "Providence took care of the Senators, quipped the fellow. "Let us hope the same protection will be accorded the whole country for the next four years." Another group had in it a kind of Joe's homier, who said his shivering colleagues not to mind the cold wind, because it was just conditioning them for the hardships they might expect in a Republican administration. One of the happiest fellows in the whole stadium was Ralph Fisher, Republican in the North Carolina Legislature. He not only beamed upon the first Republican President in 20 years, but two or three of the charming Young Republican ladies greeted him with kisses. Fisher said he couldn't understand why the rest of the folks thought it was cold.

What Other Papers Are Thinking

(Kinston Free Press)
AN UN-AMERICAN LAW
The State Senate Friday passed House Bill No. 850 which places the responsibility for overtime parking on streets in 98 North Carolina counties on the owner of the vehicle.
This law came about because some municipalities found difficulty in convicting drivers for over parking, and the local courts resorted to the plan of putting the responsibility on the owner of the car and making such ownership prima facie evidence that the owner was the driver and therefore responsible.
On an appeal case the State Supreme Court held that it was not prima facie evidence under existing statutes hence this law.
The new law as passed is un-American. It presumes guilt without giving the defendant an opportunity to prove his or her innocence.
The Free Press agrees with one of the senators from this district, Senator John Larkins of Jones County, who contended that the bill "reverses the law used since the county was founded—that a person is presumed innocent until proven guilty."
Unquestionably there has been a tendency during the past quarter of a century to depart from the time honored rule of giving the defendant an opportunity to be heard before adjudging him guilty. This reversal of the law characterized some of the bureaucratic actions in the application of labor laws and other allegations of transgressing federal statutes. In some of these cases the bureaucrats made their own laws, so to speak, and proceeded to hold folks guilty without a hearing.
The Free Press believes that the traditional American plan to give all defendants a chance to be heard and keep the responsibility on the prosecution to convict, rather than placing it on the defendant to show his or her innocence, is the best.
The law is not a good one.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
Washington—The defense program, as your correspondent reported here yesterday, is unlikely to be cut back for a long time, if the men close to President Eisenhower can prevail upon Congress.
There may, of course, be lags. The Defense Department, as were its predecessor departments over a hundred years, is split between two groups, one of which wants no model changes so that full-speed production can be maintained; the other constantly seeks to incorporate improvements in every weapon.
If the first group had a continuing ascendancy, our fighting men would still be armed with antique guns, produced in profusion. If the second group had dominance, the fighters would have little of anything, because no sooner would production on one weapon be started than it would be stopped to incorporate some improvement in design.
Part of the shortages of ammunition in Korea has been caused by the second type of thinkers. Contracts have been delayed until the last-minute improvement was incorporated in design. But the perfectionists have been forced to give way to the tough guys who insist on getting stuff to the front quickly, with less regard for perfection.
If the fighting in Korea eases off, the perfectionists will again be dominant, and perhaps rightly. And if they are, that means that a lot of contracts for guns, tanks, planes and other weapons will be slowed down until newer and better models are devised.
That can mean a slowing down of defense spending, but not much. Some of the funds that were being used for production will be spent for design instead. The total outlays will not be much different from what they have been for some time.
If defense spending is to continue at present levels, how, then, are our taxes going to be cut deeply? The answer is that they are not. Some more remarks on this tomorrow.
INSURING YOUR WIFE'S FUTURE — "Teach Your Wife to be a Widow" is not a new and gruesome whodunit but a recently published book on how the head of a family can best prepare his financial affairs and his wife's life in case of his death.
It's well known that in this country at least, many wives tend to outlive their husbands and providing for their protection is often haphazard or nonexistent. This book (written by Donald L. Rogers, financial editor of the New York Herald Tribune) deals with the advantages and disadvantages of various financial arrangements and basic facts a wife should know about insurance, the stock market, mutual funds, real estate, wills and local, state and Federal taxes.
Foresightedness is more important in the young than in the old, the author maintains. If a wife is widowed at 30 she has many years of family and financial responsibilities ahead of her. A widow at 60, however, generally requires less protection. Her needs are comparatively simple, her home often paid for and her children mature enough to lend some support.
THERE'S PROFIT IN COAT STORAGE — Thirty-nine per cent of retail fur outlets' sales lie in fur servicing, a Women's Wear Daily survey indicates. Servicing accounted for about 25 per cent of department stores' fur operations and about 47 per cent of fur specialty shops' volume.
In the group of outlets surveyed, 43 per cent of all fur coats stored were ordered cleaned, 23 per cent repaired and 8 per cent remodeled.
NEW PRODUCTS — GREETING: Glass greeting cards (little glass dishes that can be re-used as ashtrays or coasters), are being readied for the Christmas market (by L.J. House Concrete Glass Co., Point Merion, Pa.).
ROPE: A wire rope with a plastic core, to replace fiber core ropes in the drilling of oil and gas wells, has been developed (by Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Gateway Center, Pittsburgh, Pa.). It is claimed that the plastic is not adversely affected by acids, caustics and other sub-surface substances.

WASHINGTON—Mother Nature wardrobe mistress for the capital's annual No. 1 attraction, missed her cue and dressed her leading ladies, the cherry trees, too soon, but a record crowd of half a million launched the tourist season undimmed. There was plenty to do and still plenty to see, and the visitors — 100,000 more than last year — swarmed over a city already throbbing with unusual activity.
The festival, with Mrs. Eisenhower crowning the pretty Cherry Blossom queen at the Jefferson Memorial, was held without its backdrop of pink bloom. Young and old stood in long patient lines to inspect Washington monuments and bulged the sight-seeing buses. David Lynn, architect at the capital building, said guides were "worked to death" and that this year for tourists is "the granddaddy" of all the years since he went to the capital in 1923. Some 3,000 to 4,000 have gone through the domed-building daily.
White House police, counting more than 24,000 heads in eight hours of open house, said this was all-time high too. Staggering numbers visited the Lincoln Memorial, the Smithsonian Institution, the National Gallery, the Library of Congress. More than 5,300 went to the top of the Washington Monument; more than 2,000 climbed the stairs.
Washington big-wigs and socialites had their hands full with their own affairs. The diplomatic set was being Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany. The German charge d'affaires and Mrs. Heinz Krueger gave a huge reception for their vigorous 77-year-old leader and his daughter, Lotte, a doctor of philosophy who teaches German history in a Bonn high school. Lotte wore a simple dark green, short-sleeved suit and black calot to this dressy affair.
At the same time there was merrymaking at the Luxembourg Legion, where several hundred more were drinking champagne toasts to His Highness Prince Jean of Luxembourg and his bride, Princess Josephine-Charlotte of Belgium. To add to the confusion, there were a half dozen gentlemen in the throng here, including the apostolic delegate, Amleto Cicognani; a couple of blue and white-garbed nuns from Mabus, Germany; a tall, dark man who someone said was a former European heavyweight champion, and the Cherry Blossom princess from Arizona.
Also the same day the snooty Athletic Club held its annual costume ball at a downtown hotel with such characters as Tom Sawyer, Abe Lincoln, "Churchy" in Fezzes, and the "Egg and I" giving out-of-towners a touch of the nightmarish.

'Lost World' Of Venezuela Opens

CARACAS, Venezuela (U.P.)—The Gran Sabana, a 5,000-foot high plateau in eastern Venezuela—the inspiration for the late Sir Conan Doyle's "The Lost World"—is now prepared to receive settlers.

A Caracas explorer, Capt. Charles C. Baughan, is prepared to fly in week-enders over the impenetrable jungle for a look at a region where gold and diamonds abound and where the world's highest waterfall, Angel Falls, can be found.

Venezuela last year produced $10,000,000 worth of diamonds and most of them came from the Vign Gran Sabana fields. Large quantities of gold nuggets were also yielded by the Plateau's rivers.

The Gran Sabana is said to be the only place in the world where diamonds are found with alluvial gold. Vast quantities of iron, nickel, manganese, and other minerals have been discovered.

No Restrictions

The wide prairies of the Gran Sabana, dominated by lofty mountains, are a cattleman's paradise. The climate is pleasant and the rivers abound in fish—some weighing up twenty pounds.

Long closed to exploration and settlement because of the surrounding jungle, this "Land of Tomorrow" as Baughan calls it, is now being prepared to receive qualified settlers. Cottages are planned where visitors can look over the prospects at $15 a day per head for accommodations and meals.

No discrimination against foreigners exists in Venezuela. The country is underpopulated and want both settlers and investors. There are no regulations against outsiders, establishing their own business or buying property. Funds may be taken out of the country at will.

Old 'Beer Well' Is Found Again

LONDON (U.P.)—A large medieval cave, with a well that supplied water to make beer for ancient dukes and kings, has been discovered near Nottingham Castle in the Midlands.

Caves cut into the rock on which the castle stands were used in Robin Hood's time for brewing ale, and archeologists have been searching for years for the water supply to the old brewing caves.

The archeologists estimate that the newly discovered well was last used about 130 years ago. It was found 200 feet below the Old Brewer's Yard in the castle.

Diamond Hoax Is Costly Teacher To One Texan

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Gabriel Castillo, filling station operator, is no longer interested in rewards offered for lost diamonds.

A customer who drove into his filling station complained that he had lost a diamond set from his ring in the washroom.

A search failed to reveal the missing stone. The man told Castillo he would pay him $50 as a reward if he found the stone and left his telephone number with the filling station operator.

Later another customer walked in and said "I have just found a diamond stone." Castillo told him of the other man's loss but the finder was in too big a hurry to try to locate him. He suggested Castillo give him $15 and then collect the $50 from the owner.

After the man left, Castillo discovered he had paid $15 for a piece of glass.

Softball Meeting Thursday Evening

An open meeting for prospective softball players will be held Thursday night at 7:30 in the Armory. All persons who are interested in participating in the city softball program this summer are requested to attend the meeting.

Five firms have already announced that they definitely intend to support teams in the league and there is the possibility of at least three more being added before league play starts.

The teams that have already signified their intentions of playing are from Home Builders, Garner-Wynne-Manning, Carolina Dairies, Wagner-Waldrop, and Southern Bread. Greenville Mills, DuPont, the National Guard, and the East Carolina College ROTC unit have also discussed the possibility of having a team.

All of the teams which are definitely committed or which are still in the planning stage are requested to have a representative at the meeting Thursday. All persons who are interested in playing are also asked to come with the idea of being placed on a team in mind.

Lights have been made available at the Third Street School so that all of the league contests can be played at night. Play will start as soon after May 1 as is possible with approximately a 28-game schedule planned if an eight-team league is formed.

CHICOD—Bobby Fornes, a junior righthander, both pitched and batted Chicod's Hornets to a 7-3 victory over the Bethel Indians yesterday.

Fornes struck out 14 batters, walked only one, and gave up just three hits—all in the same inning—in pitching the victory, his second of the year. In the batting department, he smashed out a three-base hit and a single to lead batters from both teams.

The Hornets sported Bethel a three-run lead in the third inning when the Indians touched Fornes for their only hits of the game. Riddick and Whitehurst put a double and a triple back-to-back for the first run and a hit batman and a single by Nelson accounted for the other two.

After that one spurge by the Indians Fornes settled down to pitch good base ball and even got stronger as he went along. At the end of the contest, the righthander had struck out nine of the last 10 batters to face him.

The Hornets got their winning margin in the fourth inning on hits by Tony Williams and David Tripp and a walk, an error, and a fielder's choice.

The victory was the seventh of the year in eight conference decisions for the Hornets who will meet Grimesland Wednesday at Chicod. A victory over Grimesland could easily sew up the conference championship for Chicod.

Score by innings:
Bethel 030 000 0-3 3 4
Chicod 012 202 7-1 6 0
B. B. Tetterton, L. Tetterton (5), Richardson (6), and Nelson; Fornes and C. Mills.

Pirates Play

East Carolina College will attempt to pick up some ground on the league-leading Elon Christians today when the Pirates travel to Wilson to meet Atlantic Christian College's Bulldogs.

The Pirates are in second place in the Eastern Division of the North State Conference with a 5-2 record. Elon is in first place with a 5-0 record for the season.

Righthander Martin Byrd is expected to start today against ACC for the Pirates with ace Jimmy Byrd slated as the probable pitcher in tomorrow's home game against Elon. Martin Byrd has figured in two decisions thus far this year, breaking even in the win-loss department.

Today's game is slated for Wilson's Municipal Stadium. Tomorrow's game will be played on the ECC diamond with the first pitch scheduled for 2:45.

Charles-LaStarza Foes For Big Bout

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UP)—Ezzard Charles and Roland La Starza are rivals for a shot at the heavyweight championship, and Charles today was ranked ahead of La Starza by the National Boxing Association.

La Starza of New York was promised a bout with the winner of the May 15 title fight between Rocky Marciano and Jersey Joe Walcott after he scored a 10-round decision over Rex Layne.

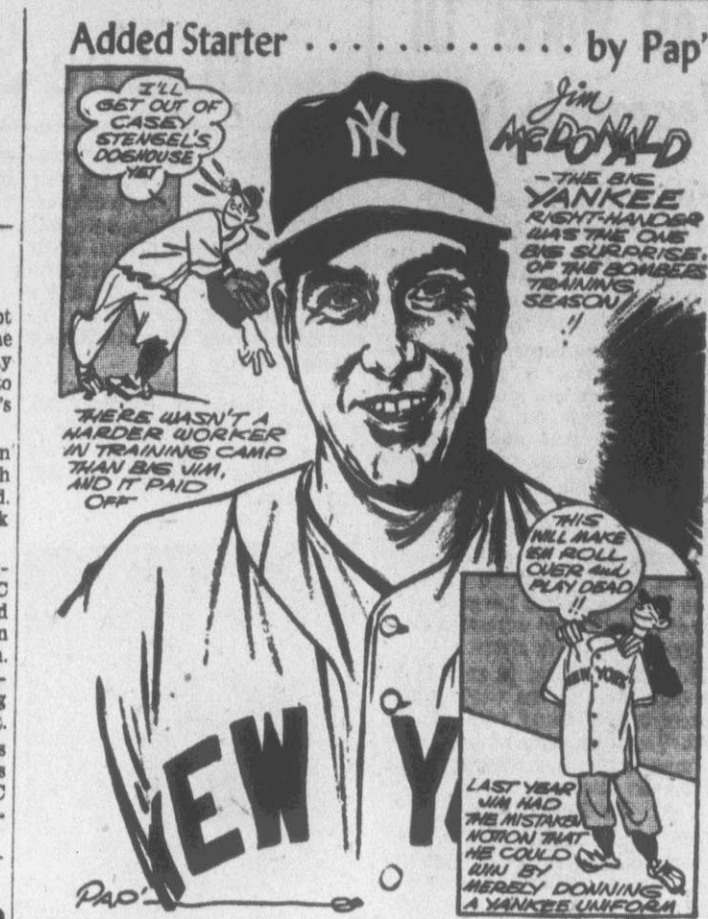

But after that Charles met Layne and stopped him in eight rounds. And the latest NBA rankings, issued today, ranked the four top heavyweights as follows: Marciano, Walcott, Charles and La Starza. In fact, Walcott and Charles were called "logical contenders" and La Starza only an "outstanding boxer."

Carolina League Season To Open Tomorrow Night

RALEIGH (UP)—The 1953 Carolina League baseball season swings into action on all fronts tomorrow night, and the swarms of sweat are predicting a down-to-the-line finish fight between the Class B loop's two independent teams, Raleigh and Reidsville.

The defending champion Capitals of Raleigh, with the same manager, Herb Brett, and almost the same team as last season, ruled as favorites to repeat. But Reidsville, also with just about the same team that took the Shaughnessy Playoffs from the Caps, should have the best pitching staff in the league.

But there will be plenty of class to go around through the eight-team circuit.

Native Dancer Draws Foes As Well As Fans

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—There was a flickering hope along Gaibin Alley today that the big horse named Native Dancer could be beaten in the Kentucky Derby—and it was expected to last four more days.

A surprising number of horsemen thought the great grey ghost was "unimpressive" as he returned to the races Saturday and won his 10th race in as many starts. It is a theory made spurious by wistful hopes for their own longshot hayburners.

It also is a premise which should evaporate when the Vanderbilt comes walks off with the $100,000 Wood Memorial this Saturday.

For there is no greater tribute to Native Dancer than the attempts being made to tarnish the glitter of his performances. A parallel can be drawn to the days when Joe Louis at his peak was enlisting members in his "bum of the month" club and the reaction was "who did he beat?" The obvious answer was "everybody available."

The Dancer's critics have pointed out that he has a tendency to "loaf" when he gets on top and that he was outclocked by two rivals Saturday.

The reason for that is that the Gotham was run in two divisions. Native Dancer was in the "soft" half, for the racetrack promoters weren't going to ruin the good draw in the upcoming Wood. Thus his two principal eastern rivals, Laffango and Invigorator, were in the other division.

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Dick Gernert, who passed his freshman course under professor Lou Boudreau with flying colors, looked like a star student for the Red Sox again this year as a sophomore.

Dandy Dick, the big first baseman from Reading, Pa., smashed three home runs Monday in 4-2 and 11-4 victories over the Senators as they finally got around to opening the season in Boston with a morning-afternoon Patriot's Day double header.

Those are the only homers hit thus far by the Red Sox, who only a few years back were the most murderous sluggers in baseball, but who now are banking on young Gernert as their most authentic long ball threat.

Gernert, a 23-year-old right handed swinger who came up from Louisville after last season was well underway, credits Boudreau with his rapid improvement. He hit 19 homers and drove in 67 runs in 102 games in 1952.

Gernert, who replaced Walt Dropo as the regular first baseman after last season's big trade with the Detroit Tigers, had been in a batting slump until he burst forth Monday.

He drove in six runs for the day. In the opener, his two homers gave lefty Mel Parnell the margin for the 19th victory of Parnell's career over Washington, his even more support from Gernert, who delivered his third homer, then crashed a three-run double in a seven run rally in the seventh inning.

Robin Roberts, number one pitcher in the majors last season, pitched one of his most brilliant games, a three-hit, 2-1 decision for the Phils against the Red Sox.

Johnny Wyrostek and Gran Hamner gave him his margin. Roberts, beaten on opening day by Larry Jansen of the Giants, reversed proceedings this time as Jansen was tagged with the defeat. He yielded five hits.

The payoff came for the Phils with two out in the ninth when Hamner delivered his drive, Richie Ashburn, fleet center fielder for the Phils, saved the day for Roberts when he hauled in a long drive by Bobby Thomson at the fence in the ninth. The ball might have gone for an inside-the-park homer had Ashburn failed to catch it.

Joe Pesko showed no signs of the sore arm which bothered him last year as the Cardinals downed the Braves, 4-1, in a night game. Steve Bilko drove in four runs and belted a three-run homer in a 13-hit attack which routed Warren Spahn and sent the Braves down to their third straight loss.

The Dodgers and Pirates were held by snow and cold weather at Pittsburgh. All other teams had open dates.

Derby Status Is Left To X-Rays

NEW YORK (UP)—Laffango's status for the Kentucky Derby hinged today on a series of X-ray pictures taken of the colt's sore left fore ankle.

The Trio Stable representative developed another swelling in the ankle following his victory in a section of the Gotham Handicap last Saturday. It definitely ruled him out this weekend's Wood Memorial at Jamaica and left trainer Merritt Buxton without much hope for the Derby.

Laffango, after a good juvenile campaign, was forced out of training in Florida this winter with calcium deposits in the ankle. But after a month's rest and a series of injections he came back as good as ever to win the Experimental Handicap, April 8.

NEW YORK (UP)—He went down but he wouldn't stay down, so rugged Tony Portuzes of Costa Rica wound up today with another victory in his record and a return engagement at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Portuzes, the Central American middleweight champion, was handed a split decision in his 10-round televised bout at the Arena Monday night over Irish Garth Panter of Salt Lake City.

Panther, making his eastern debut as a 3-2 underdog despite 50 wins in 59 fights, nailed Portuzes with a hard right to the jaw midway in the final round. Portuzes went to one knee, but bounced up and began fighting immediately.

Refuses To Quit, Gets Another Win

BOSTON (UP)—Tony DeSpirito indicated today he isn't going to let a tumble or two interfere with his bid for another national riding crown.

The jockey world's defending champion returned to action Monday after a 10-day absence and rode three winners on the opening program at Suffolk Downs.

It was tough Tony's first day in the saddle since April 9, when he suffered a mild concussion in a tumble at Lincoln Downs.

Nardico Goes After Title Bid

MILWAUKEE (UP)—Hard-punching Danny Nardico, who is ranked among the top light heavyweights of the nation, meets Larry Watson, an unranked light heavy windup in the Milwaukee Arena tonight.

Nardico's aspirations for the light heavy crown were set back recently when he lost to Joey Maxim after sending Maxim to the canvas for the second time in his career. Nardico is short on technique but makes up for it with powerful punching such as he displayed here last June when he defeated Joe Blackwood.

Watson recently scored a TKO over Wes Bascom of St. Louis and also upset Billy Noble.

Athletes' Aid Hits Legal Snag

DENVER (UP)—College aid to athletes hit an unforeseen legal snag Monday.

The Colorado Supreme Court ruled, 4-1, that former University of Denver football player Ernest E. Nemeth was entitled to compensation for a football injury received during practice because he had been hired by the school to play football.

Nemeth had applied for payment under the workmen's compensation act, and the State Industrial Commission awarded him $11.87 per week beginning June 11, 1950. He was also awarded $1,000 for hospital expenses.

The U.S. Bureau of Land Management says the red harvester ant has denuded 90,000 acres of public lands in Wyoming.

Roberts May Reach 30 Wins But Only If Jansen Quits

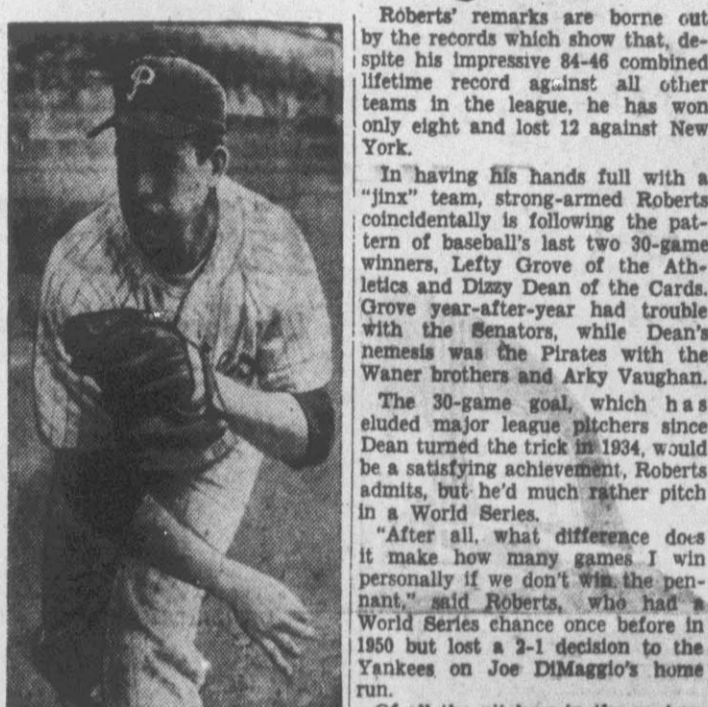

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Robin Roberts of the Phillies, baseball's best bet to become a 30-game winner, said today the goal would be a lot easier if he could only get Larry Jansen and the Giants out of his hair.

When Rapid Robin beat the Giants 2-1 Monday, it marked his first triumph over Jansen in more than three years. Despite his supremacy over nearly every other pitcher in the National League, Roberts has won only two of his six man-to-man duels with Jansen.

"Why do I find the Giants so tough to beat?" Roberts mused in the dressing room in answer to a reporter's question. "It's not hard to explain. It's tough bucking their pitching. Why, in the six times I've hooked up with Jansen, I can remember only once when we got more than two runs.

"No, the Giants' hitting doesn't bother me nearly as much as their pitching," he went on. "I always seem to be bucking one of their aces. If it isn't Jansen, it's Maglie or Jim Hearn, who've also done pretty well against us. I never have an easy time with them."

Monday's Cases In Police Court

By CHESTER WALSH

In Police Court Monday, Judge Charles H. Whedbee found A. J. Taylor, Greenville Negro, guilty of operating a lottery.

The court gave him six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $100, court costs deducted. The judgment further provides that Taylor is to be of good behavior and not violate any law for two years and he is on probation for five years.

On the charge of possession of a gambling device ("numbers" lottery tickets), Judge Whedbee gave Taylor 30 days on the roads.

Taylor will have to serve the 30 days imposed for possession of a gambling device, he paid half of the $100 fine for operating a lottery and indicated to Court Clerk E. Johnston Dees today that he will pay the other half to avoid serving the six-months' road sentence.

Joe Hinson was found guilty of assaulting a female (his wife, Mrs. Ruby Hinson), and the court gave him 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $19, court costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is to be confined to the city jail on three consecutive Saturday nights and to be released each Sunday morning. The court's judgment also provides that Hinson is to remain of good behavior and not harm, threaten or molest his wife.

John Frank Daniels, Negro, was found not guilty of larceny. Simon Hardy, Negro, was given three months on the roads for the larceny of $19.97 from Mrs. Lillian Calhoun. The court suspended sentence on condition that Hardy pay $19.97 to Mrs. Calhoun and $25 fine, court costs deducted.

SEEDLESS TOMATOES

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Tomatoes without seeds multiplied into big business for a Pittsfield couple. Irene and Eugene Olanahan opened a "seedless tomato" enterprise here eight years ago as a backyard hobby. Their "no-seed" hormone now is produced in a Chicago factory and is sold around the world.

The U.S. Reclamation Bureau built 110 storage dams and 63 diversion dams from 1902 to 1952.

Irish Turning To Use Of Seaweed

DUBLIN (U.P.)—Along the rugged storm-swept coast of western Ireland the sturdy peasantry extract everything possible from the Atlantic Ocean to help them earn a living and the government is taking renewed interest in their work.

The men must turn to the sea to augment their sparse profits from the land and here they frequently risk their lives in storms to bring in catches of fish or lobsters. In addition, both young and old regularly harvest the crops of seaweed to be used as fertilizers and food.

This natural fertilizer is found in abundance around the shores, and farmers regularly collect it by the cartload to keep their land in good condition.

Rather surprising is the use of seaweed as food.

Factory Opened

The kind of seaweed used for this purpose is known as carrageen and makes a delicious dessert after it has been properly treated. Carrageen has become so popular in city areas that the peasants along the west coast give it special attention.

Sometimes wading out into the water up to their waist, they gather the salty seaweed in bundles and bring it back to the beach where it is spread to dry in the sun. This slow and awkward process goes on every summer, but as the inadequacy of the peasants' methods became apparent, a factory was set up in one area—about 35 miles north of Galway—right on the seashore to meet the demand.

The weed is brought to the factory in huge boxes and then distributed. Girls reject the unsuitable portions and prepare the rest for packing in small cardboard boxes with cellophane covers and detailed instructions for cooking a variety of carrageen dishes.

These carrageen boxes find their way into the most expensive food shops in Dublin where they meet a ready demand.

The possibility of cleaning and sorting carrageen by machinery to improve its general standard is now being examined at the request of the Department of Lands. In addition, work has begun on developing a process for the commercial manufacture of a dried extract of carrageen.

American Crop Dusters In Spain

MADRID (UP)—Two energetic Americans will inaugurate crop dusting in Spain. They are Georges de Sonchen and Phil Murray from California.

The Spanish government has just granted them five-year concession for exclusive experiments with the country's agriculture. Thousands of acres of cultivated land will undergo this treatment starting June 15 when special American airplanes and expert crop-dusting pilots will be available here.

De Sonchen is an old friend of the country, intimately connected with its activities for the past eight years and a flyer himself. Murray is the oldest crop-duster in the United States, president of the Murray Crop Dusting Corp. at Oxnard, Cal. He has been dusting crops for 27 years.

The treatments by air will include defoliation, weed-killing and hormonization of trees, plants and cultivated produce.

The urgent problem for Spain is the treatment of pine forests which are suffering serious destruction by caterpillars. The American company will disinfest these first. It is estimated that about 85 thousand acres of pine forests will be dusted in the immediate areas surrounding Madrid, Seville and Barcelona.

Land cultivated to oranges, lemons, olives, rice, cotton, beet, sugar and wine will receive treatments after the forests.

Attended 2-Day City Tax School

William M. Moore, assistant city clerk and tax collector, has recently completed a two-day tax school held under the auspices of the Institute of Government at Chapel Hill.

Featured speakers at the two-day session were Henry Brandis, dean of the University of North Carolina School of Law, and Henry W. Lewis, Institute of Government official.

According to Moore, a few of the more important issues discussed at the school were computing interest on unpaid taxes, defining, tracing and enforcing tax units, and exercising legal claims against property of taxpayers who fail to pay property taxes.

Puts a Good Mark on a Man!

Regardless of where he drives, no man is wholly a stranger to the people about him—if he sits at the wheel of a 1953 Cadillac.

His name may be unknown—and also his occupation—and, likewise, the whereabouts of his home.

But he is not without standing. For his Cadillac marks him as a man of character and substance.

Wherever he may be, let him arrive at the door of a distinguished hotel or restaurant—or let him seek the car of anyone for direction or information... and he has the courtesy that goes with respect.

And let it be said for Cadillac owners that, almost invariably, they respond in kind.

Indeed, the honor which Cadillac does to its owners is the fruit of the honor they have so long bestowed upon Cadillac. When so many wonderful people favor a particular make of car over such a long period of time—the car must inevitably become a mark of distinction.

All of this, of course, comes to the owner of a 1953 Cadillac as an extra joy and satisfaction.

It comes in addition to the magnificent performance of Cadillac's 210 h.p. engine and improved Hydra-Matic Drive... the wonderful comfort of Cadillac's new Air Conditioner... the car's soft, easy, relaxing ride... its marvelous balance and handling ease... its long life and dependability... and its truly amazing economy of upkeep and operation.

Put them all together and they spell the grandest satisfaction in all the world of motoring.

Have you seen and driven the 1953 version of the "Car of Cars"?

If not—we should be happy to see you at any time. Why not come in today? *Optional at extra cost.

ON THE HOUSE

By DAVID G. BARUTHER, AP Real Estate Editor

Haste makes waste, said an old house painter. With all of his experience he ought to know. The home owner bent on saving a few dollars in this spring clean-up, paint-up season should be able to use that tip. With the price of good paint what it is today, there's no economy in a slap-dash job.

So we asked an authority in the paint industry. He tells us we can save the most by using our heads before we try out brushes. He says "Think" is worth a gallon of paint any day. He's Douglas C. Arnold, head of Keystone Paint and Varnish.

Arnold lists these five points for any householder's profit:

1. Use a high quality paint. Cheap paint may look fine when applied, but it can chalk excessively or harden to a finish that will chip and peel. Good paint is engineered to "breathe" in accordance with its requirements. It will last longer and forestall frequent redecoration.
2. Use the right paint for the right surface. Trims and woodwork, subject to wear, need a gloss or semi-gloss enamel, although flat paint may suffice for the wall. But never use indoor paints outdoors. They won't stand the weather.
3. Prepare the surface properly and carefully. The best paint in the world will not hold or look well over old paint that is peeling and cracking. Cracks in a surface must be filled and smoothed and the surface thoroughly cleaned before even a priming coat is applied.
4. Apply paint properly. Brush it in narrow strips from top to bottom indoors, taking care that the edge of the strip does not have time to set before the next strip is painted. Outdoors, paint is horizontal strips following the clapboards or shingles.

5. Accurately estimate the amount of paint needed. It is better to have a little too much than not enough. But you won't go overboard if you use your head. The number of square feet you can cover with a gallon of paint (see table) depends on the material being painted, on the paint and on its dilution.

"Several thin coats of paint will look better and last longer than a lesser number of heavy coats," says Arnold. "A thin coat will dry more quickly. It is important that a previous coat of paint be allowed to dry thoroughly before the following coat is applied."

Estimating the amount of paint needed for any area is fairly simple once measurements are taken. Multiply the distance around the house by the height to the eaves line. Make no deductions for windows and doors—unless windows exceed more than 100 square feet each—since these openings will be cancelled by board edges, eaves and other details.

Gable ends are measured by multiplying the width at base by half the height. For a gambrel roof add 25 per cent to this figure. For double hip, Gothic or barrel roofs, add 50 per cent.

For dormer windows, use a quick estimate of 100 square feet, regardless of width. Eaves are discounted unless more than a foot wide. When beams or rafters project under eaves the area is doubled.

The trim around the average window or door is usually calculated as 35 square feet. Balustrades and lattice work are figured by measuring the front area and multiplying by 4.

Awarded $5,670 In Suit For Damages

A Pitt Superior Court jury yesterday awarded damages totaling $5,670 to L. I. Stancil as the result of a civil suit growing out of a collision that happened in February, 1952.

Testimony brought out that a car driven by Job Parker collided with a car on which Stancil was riding, causing Stancil to be painfully injured.

Stancil filed suit against Parker for $10,670, but Parker, who was paralyzed as the result of his automobile overturning, countered with a $20,000 damage suit against Stancil.

The civil jury yesterday found that Parker was not injured through negligence on the part of the plaintiff and should recover nothing. At the same time the jury decreed that Stancil was injured due to the defendant's negligence and awarded the plaintiff $5,670 in damages.

Divorces Heard

Of the nine divorces heard yesterday, all but one were granted on the grounds of two years separation. Seven of the divorces are between white couples.

One divorce, that in the case of Ruby Nichols vs. E. E. Nichols (white) was granted on the grounds of adultery.

UNC Foundation Gathering Slated In Pitt Thursday

Three prominent members of the athletic department of the University of North Carolina will be principal speakers Thursday night at a meeting of the Pitt County chapter of the UNC Educational Foundation.

Lee A. Folger of Greenville, member of the board of directors of the University of North Carolina Educational Foundation, said the Pitt County meeting will be held at 7 o'clock Thursday evening at Respass Brothers barbecue place. It will be a dutch supper meeting.

Frank McGuire, UNC basketball coach, Marvin Bass of the football coaching staff, and Church Erickson of the athletic department at Carolina will be the speakers at the meeting. McGuire will discuss the university's basketball team, Bass will discuss the football team and Erickson the overall athletic program of the University. One of the highlights of the meeting will be an evaluation of the intra-squad football game held at Chapel Hill last Saturday as well as a discussion of the prospects for the Carolina football team next fall.

In addition to Folger, J. Con Lanier of Greenville is also a member of the board of directors of the Educational Foundation of the University.

Folger urged members of the foundation, alumni of the University and other persons interested in the athletic program of UNC to attend the meeting.

Check-Your-Gun Signs Reappear As Voting Nears

By EARNST HOBEBRECHT
United Press Staff Correspondent
MANILA (U.P.) — Cafe owners in Manila are looking around for those signs they used four years ago.

Those are the signs that said: "Please check your gun at the door." They are desirable because another presidential race is on.

Local experts say over and over again they "hope" there won't be any bloodshed this time. But already there have been deaths which some persons believe have political backgrounds.

Four years ago here were more than 100 deaths throughout the nation which could be counted as being more or less due to campaign and election differences.

Although voting is not until Nov. 10, and although neither of the major parties has officially picked its candidate, the race is in full swing. The mud-slinging began in January and has increased steadily since.

Magsaysay As Opponent

President Elpidio Quirino is almost certain, local observers say, to be picked by the Liberal Party again.

His announced rival probably will be Quirino's former close friend, Ramon Magsaysay. Magsaysay served as Quirino's defense minister and was a member of the Liberal Party. He quit his job to stump for the Nacionalista Party nomination.

Magsaysay is strongly supported by Sen. Jose P. Laurel, sworn political enemy of Quirino who served as President of the Philippines during the Japanese occupation.

Laurel has been suggested as a possible candidate, but observers believe he has made a deal with Magsaysay and will not run.

Regardless of who runs the campaign will be built around personalities. There is little difference between the Liberal and Nacionalista parties.

Since the race and the success of the parties depend on personalities, attacks on the records of the possible nominees already are being made. Charges and counter-charges are being made in the newspapers and on the radio.

V.P. Important

This is one campaign in which the vice presidential candidate will be very important—at least on the Liberal Party ticket.

Under the constitution, no person can serve more than eight years consecutively as president. This means that Quirino, if elected, will not be able to serve a full term and the vice president automatically will become head of the government when he steps down.

Quirino became president after Manuel Roxas died. He served out Roxas' term and then was elected in his own right. He can serve only a little more than two years if reelected this time.

Possible vice presidential nominees on the Liberal party ticket include:

1. Fernando Lopez, the present vice president. Lopez is anxious to get the nomination and feels he is entitled to it.
2. Joe Avelino, former Senate president. Avelino, one of the founders of the party, fell out with Quirino four years ago and ran against him for President. They have settled their differences.
3. Jose Yulo, former Speaker of the House of Representatives. At present he is a member of the Council of State, the nation's highest advisory body, and owner of one of the largest sugar estates in the Philippines.

Visiting Minister Speaks At Rotary Club Session

The Rev. Charles M. LeFev of Hagerstown, Md., visiting minister this week at the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church, addressed Greenville Rotarians at the meeting of the club last night.

Rev. LeFev was introduced by the Rev. Leon Russell, pastor of the church, who explained that all Methodist Churches in North Carolina east of Burlington and Methodist Churches in Virginia, Georgia and Alabama are having simultaneous services this week.

The Maryland minister, in his address to the Rotarians, chose as his topic "Dislocated Bones," and asserted too many people in the world today have their jawbones where their skull should be. "Too many people talk before they think what they are going to say," Rev. LeFev declared.

Every person has a right to his opinion and a right to express his opinion, the speaker said, but "we have no right to our opinion until we have given it some thought and investigated it. If most Americans said exactly what they thought, we'd have a period of vast silence. We need to get the skull working a little before we use the jawbone."

Another example of dislocated bones in the American system, Rev. LeFev said, is that the crazy hope of too many people is where the funny bone should be. He explained that sensitiveness is one of the greatest gifts God has given man, but it is when this gift of sensitiveness turns inward in an individual that it is bad. He said many people become sensitive to themselves and take themselves too seriously and as a result have no fun in life. "There are those who take life too seriously," Rev. LeFev declared. "Life is real, but there is a lot of fun in it. We should keep the funny bone where it ought to be and in good order."

Rev. LeFev urged the Rotarians to "laugh with people who get under your skin, and then laugh at yourself. Learn to laugh in a tough situation."

Another example of dislocated bones in present society, he said, is that of getting the wish bone where the backbone should be. He elaborated, saying that too many individuals are walking with an opportunity and do not know it. Rev. LeFev declared that keeping the backbone in place is the "margin of courage that makes it possible to go on when it seems impossible to do so."

The minister's address was presented in a humorous manner and yet in a serious vein.

During a brief business session, Rotary President J. Knott Proctor congratulated members of the club on the presentation of the Womanless Wedding last week, and the club gave a rising vote of thanks to J.B. Kittrell, Sr. who headed the production of the wedding. Appreciation was also expressed to others who had a part in

Pitcairn Island Natives Have A Special Jargon

SYDNEY, Australia (U.P.) — Pitcairn Islanders have a jargon all their own which Pastor Frederick Percival Ward calls "Pitcairnesse."

Ward, a Seventh Day Adventist, who returned to Sydney after 14 years on the lonely Pacific island where he got accustomed to greeting fellow Islanders with "Bou' y' bin?"

"Bou' y' bin?" explained Ward, means "about where are you going?" and could bring forth a reply such as "I gun up an hill get the production."

Rev. A.H. Butler of Falcon, father of Rotarian James W. Butler, was a guest at the meeting as were visiting Rotarians Alton Rowe Dr. Wes Gooding, Wilbur Ormond and Snod Edwards of Ayden.

one barra's firewood." That meant the Pitcairner in question was going up the hill to get a barrow of firewood.

Ward believes some of the Pitcairners' speech deviations come from Tahitian — handed down through the centuries from the original survivors of the British warship Bounty, wrecked on the island.

Reunion Brought About By Video

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Norma Webb saw a familiar face on the television screen during a local program. Within an hour there was a reunion.

The man on the screen was Freeman May, new hospital administrator in Memphis. Miss Webb had saved him from drowning almost 10 years ago. The last time she had seen May was during World War II in Bari, Italy where both were with the Red Cross.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey's statement that the United States is not headed for a depression continued to bolster the stock market early today.

The modest early advance was an extension of yesterday's upswing which was touched off when Humphrey said there would not be a depression regardless of a peace in Korea. The rally also was called technical because prior to Humphrey's speech, the rail and industrial lists had hit new lows for the year. Expectations in Wall Street that an increase in steel prices is imminent also bolstered the market considerably.

Despite the improved tone, dealings were slow. Transactions in the first hour totaled only 290,000 shares, compared with 350,000 in the same period yesterday.

Steels led the advance in the first hour. However, just before noon they ran into some opposition and their gains were shaved considerably. Bethlehem Steel, after showing a small gain, was unchanged at 52 1/2. U.S. Steel after holding at its previous close, slipped 1/2 to 39 1/2.

Union Pacific stole the spotlight in its section with a gain of 1 1/2 points to 108 3/4. Other rails rose slightly.

VFW Campaigns Against Economy In Vet Benefits

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars called on its members today to "stand up and be counted" against a congressional drive to economize on veterans' benefits.

In a news letter signed by legislative director Omar B. Ketchum, the VFW charged that "the heroes of yesterday—for whom nothing was too good—are again under the guns of economy."

"There is a growing philosophy that veterans, other than those who have proven service-connected disabilities, are entitled to no more consideration than non-veterans," Ketchum said. "The fight is on and the time has arrived for veterans, their families and friends, to stand up and be counted."

Ketchum singled out for special criticism Rep. John Phillips (R-Calif.), chairman of a House Appropriations subcommittee which handles Veterans Administration funds. Phillips recently told the House that veterans with big incomes are getting free hospital care, for ailments not due to military service, simply by claiming they can't pay.

Phillips' disclosures set off a drive in the House to plug what Phillips and other members called loopholes in the law.

Ketchum said the economy drive is "contagious" and has spread even to President Eisenhower. He said the Budget Bureau is reported to be whacking $68,000,000 off the Veterans Administration budget prepared by the former Truman administration, and said such a cut might force the closing of five or six VA hospitals with 6,000 beds.

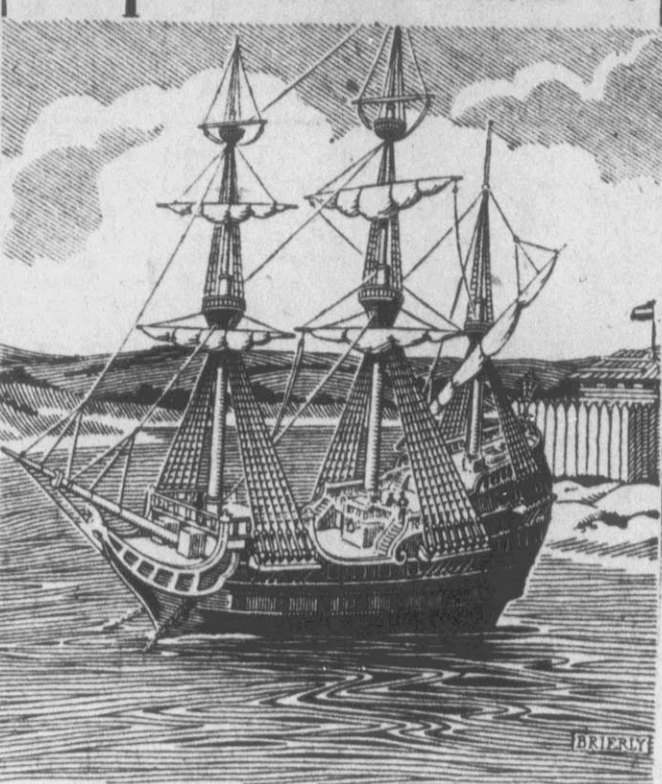

Secret Meetings Of GOP Rumored

MARSHALL (UP)—Persistent rumors of "secret" meetings of state Republicans to iron out a split over patronage problems brought a flat "no comment today from GOP Executive Committee Chairman James M. Baley Jr., Marshall.

"I just can't comment at all," Baley said when asked if it was true the Republicans met in Charlotte over the weekend and had planned other off-the-record meetings this week.

The patronage problem has caused a big rift in the GOP ranks in the state, although Baley has said a compromise is being worked out for presentation at a scheduled meeting in Greensboro April 30.

Ships of America -- 7

The NEW NETHERLAND

It was not until they had observed the strong outposts of the English in Virginia and Massachusetts, that the Dutch West India Company finally decided to establish a permanent settlement of equal strength on Manhattan Island. As a result, the ship New Netherland sailed from Holland in March of 1623, reached New Amsterdam (New York) the following May and set ashore thirty families of emigrants, many of whom had left Europe to escape religious persecution. Overcoming hardship and privation, the usual lot of the early settlers, they soon built homes for themselves and later a fort, thus establishing permanent settlement of New York.

Eight Persons Dead As Plane Plunges Into Bay

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Eight persons were killed when a Western Airlines DC-6 plunged into San Francisco Bay last night—only minutes after 30 other persons got off the plane.

A Navy rescue boat found two survivors bobbing in the bay waters. The plane, en route from Los Angeles to Seattle, was on a seven-minute, cross-bay hop from San Francisco to Oakland to take aboard more passengers when the unexplained crash occurred.

The crash was witnessed from the Oakland Tower at 11:08 p.m. (PST) and Navy and Coast Guard crash-boats and helicopters were at the scene in less than 30 minutes.

The two survivors who were plucked from the water and rushed to Alameda Naval Air Station where they were transferred to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital were senior stewardess Beverly Nelson, 27, of San Jose, Calif., and passenger Jerry Adams, 21, of Fairbanks, Alaska.

Four bodies were recovered by the searching surface craft, but only one was immediately identified. He was tentatively listed as Dave B. Petty, San Bernardino, Calif.

The other four victims were still missing at 3 a.m. and searching Coast Guardsmen said they believed it would be impossible to locate them before daybreak. It was believed the missing four were still trapped in the submerged wreckage.

Only witness to the crash was CAA traffic controller Robert O'Neill who was on duty in the Oakland Airport tower. He said he was tracking the incoming plane on a newly-installed radar set in the tower when the image "just disappeared."

"I looked out the window and I saw a terrific explosion on the bay," he said. "It was immediately followed by a bright gasoline fire which looked like it spread over a quarter of a mile of the bay. It lasted very briefly and went out within 10 or 15 seconds."

O'Neill said he was talking to the pilot just two minutes before the crash and said the plane captain gave no hint that he was in trouble.

PMA Staff Cut In Economy Step

An economy-minded Republican administration dipped among County Production Marketing Administration staff members yesterday and plucked one official from the payroll.

Johnny Bryan, a field man with the PMA organization for the past seven or eight years, yesterday became the first staff member of the PMA set-up to feel the bite of the economy move ordered down from Washington.

Bryan, who made his home in Greenville, came to work with the PMA department sometime in 1945, it was learned.

He was a field supervisor for a district which included ten counties in the Eastern part of the State. Bryan was one of six dismissed by an order which required PMA offices to cut their staff by 13-14 per cent. The cut actually called for dismissal of nine persons.

Effective date for dismissals have been placed at May 4th.

An announcement from Raleigh stated that the choice of dismissal was based on civil service ratings.

According to an official at the Pitt County PMA office, Bryan's dismissal will be covered by a supervisor from another district in a double-up move.

Whether or not the economy move will effect any of the other personnel now employed at the County PMA office was not immediately known.

However, a reduction in funds for carrying on operations may make it difficult for county agencies to carry on their full-scale programs if a cut in staff is called for.

One Boy Injured In Series City Traffic Mishaps

An 11-year-old Negro boy, Roscoe Heath of Mack Street, City, was injured last night on Dickinson Avenue as he stepped into the path of an oncoming car.

Damage to Leggett's car was estimated at $350.00 while damage to the truck was set at $10.00.

Bernice C. Terrell, Negro, 23, of Railroad St. was charged with driving without an operator's license as the result of an automobile accident yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Emelyn Harris, Hickory Street, white, 25.

Police reported as the result of the accident, another person, Roy Terrell, Negro, was charged with operating an unlicensed driver to allow his car.

The police report quoted Bernice Terrell as saying she came out of Green Street to make a left turn onto 14th Street, and when she cut short for an oncoming car, she hit Mrs. Harris' car which was parked.

Damage to Mrs. Harris' car was set at $150 by investigating officers Lt. Roy Harris and Patrolman H. H. McGowan. Terrell's car damage was set at $15.00.

No charges resulted in the accident which occurred last night on East Fifth Street involving cars driven by Rosalind Teel Scott, Harding Street, white, 29, and John W. Aycock, Pearl Street, Rocky Mount, white, 43.

According to the police report, Rosalind Scott said she slowed for a car pulling from the curb and was struck by Aycock's car. Damage to the right rear fender of the Scott car was estimated by officers Ackert and McGowan, at $25.00 and damage to Aycock's car was estimated at $200.

No injuries were reported.

Anti-Trust Suit Filed Against Oil Companies

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Justice Department today filed a civil anti-trust suit charging five major oil companies conspired to participate in an international oil cartel.

The suit, filed in federal court here, is intended as a substitute for a grand jury investigation of possible criminal charges involved in international agreements of the U. S. oil industry.

Made defendants in today's action were Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey; Socony-Vacuum Oil Co., Inc.; the Texas Co.; Standard Oil Co. of California; and Gulf Oil Corp.

The suit charged the five companies with conspiring among themselves and with other companies to monopolize foreign trade, restrain interstate commerce, control foreign production, maintain agreed-upon domestic and world prices, regulate oil imports and "divide world foreign producing

Voice Sympathy In Wolfe's Death

RALEIGH (UP)—The State Senate sent its condolences today to the family of Sen. T. R. Wolfe of Albemarle, who died yesterday of a heart attack at the age of 56.

Lt. Gov. Luther Hodges named a four-man committee from the Senate to assist with funeral arrangements for the 19th District senator. The chamber also passed a resolution expressing its sympathy to the family.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, pending efforts to bring Wolfe's son, Lt. T. R. Wolfe Jr., home from Korea where he is serving with the First Marine Division.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my dear son, Thomas H. Godette, who departed this life one year ago today:

The angels are safely guarding a sacred and silent grave, for in it lies a precious one we loved but could not save. His kind words were ever cheerful, to the stranger or the friend. All who knew him love him dearly; he was faithful to the end. I have only your memory, Thomas, to remember my whole life through, but the sweetness will linger forever as I treasure the memory of you.
