UN Counterproposal At Panmunjom Turned Down Reds Charge 'Delay'

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The Communists turned down the Allies' 26-point war prisoner plan today, provoking a United Nations charge that the "master" behind Red negotiators deliberately was delaying a truce in Korea.

Americans here speculated the Communists may have been encouraged to take the attitude by British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's statement in the House of Commons last Monday that their eight-point plan might form the basis of an agreement.

"As it stands now, their May 7 proposal is completely unsatisfactory to us and they said ours yesterday is completely unsatisfactory to them," Harrison said.

Another Skirmish Following Tidlands Measure New Off-Shore Fight Seen

WASHINGTON (UP)—A long-fought bill giving the Tidlands to coastal states was bound for the White House and certain presidential approval today but a second offshore oil fight flared in Congress.

The federal government claimed the lands under a series of "paramount rights" decisions of the Supreme Court. Former President Truman twice successfully vetoed bills giving the lands to the states.

Attlee stirred up a hornet's nest of resentment in Capitol Hill when he said some elements in this country wanted to continue the Korean war, criticized the Constitution as an "isolationist" document, and said it was questionable "which is the more powerful, the President or Senator McCarthy."

College Trio Gives Musical Program

The Greenville Music Club presented the Woman's College Trio in a highly successful program at their meeting on Tuesday evening at the Woman's Club. Since this is the second time the Trio has given a concert for the Club, their many friends knew that they could expect a performance of the highest quality.

Coming from different centuries, these numbers showed an interesting contrast in styles from early classics to the present time. They also demonstrated the versatility of the players and their sympathetic understanding of fine ensemble playing.

Refreshments were served at the end of the program by the hostesses consisting of: Mrs. Paul Davenport, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Sprull Spain, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop and Mrs. and Mrs. Edmund Durham.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF MRS. S. J. EVERETTE "Blessed are the dead, which die in the Lord; from henceforth ye shall be with them, and their works do follow them."

On March 28, 1953, the soul of our beloved sister, Margaret Shields Everette, left its earthly tabernacle and went to dwell with her Heavenly Father.

The news of her going came as a distinct shock to almost everyone. So sweet and tranquil was her passing, it was as though she had stepped from one room into another to meet her Lord.

The consciousness that a familiar and beloved face had disappeared from among us, that a clear head, a strong hand and a generous heart would be felt no more in all that goes to make up the life of a church, cast a shadow over our heart, and in every home.

She numbered her friends by the list of her acquaintances. All who came under the influence of her personal charm were drawn to her by cords of love.

As one of the charter members of the Immanuel Baptist Church her love and interest in every church activity was deep and well grounded. As long as health permitted she was always present at every service of the church.

In behalf of the loving service she rendered the Immanuel Baptist Church, in grateful memory of her devotion to the cause, the Woman's Missionary Society of the Immanuel Baptist Church resolve:

1. That we bow in humble submission to God's will feeling grateful that her life was spared to make its impress upon the church during the formative period.

2. We rejoice in the steadfastness of her faith, in the blessed confidence that she has entered into that life everlasting and trust that renewed power may be given to those who remain to carry on the work so dear to her.

3. That we extend to her loved ones our deepest sympathy. May the sustaining grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ be ever present to comfort and bless.

Respectfully submitted, MRS. W. R. SMITH, MRS. HARVEY DALL, MRS. R. H. EVANS

SEED AND FLOWER
Plant a seed and get a flower. Yet who would ever believe as he looks at the little seed in the palm of his hand that it would produce a petunia, a zinnia, or a marigold?
St. Paul, in the fifteenth chapter of I Corinthians, uses the figure of the seed and the harvest to explain the resurrection of the body. Just as something beautiful and unpredictable comes out of the seed and finally emerges in the flower, so the body of the flesh sown in corruption is raised in incorruption, sown a natural or physical body is raised a spiritual body. The seed has to decay and disintegrate before it becomes the flower. Our natural body has to disintegrate also before the emergence of the spiritual body takes place.
All through the Bible the point is made that although the heavenly life will be utterly different from the earthly life, it will have its roots in the earthly life and will depend upon it, as the flower depends for its origin upon the seed. We need not be discouraged over the fact that life here on earth is unpromising. That will not preclude its ultimate and heavenly grandeur any more than the unattractiveness of the seed is any indication as to what the flower will ultimately be like.
Seed and flower, earthly body and heavenly—this is the order and this the progression.

Remember - You Were A Youngster Too

At times we are prone to wonder whether adults really know children as well as they think they do.
In this modern age, volumes upon volumes have been written concerning child psychology and the rearing of children. Some parents never consult such books, others abide by them to the letter. Still others use such information and then toss it aside in a moment of exasperation and return to the time tested rule of the rod.
Almost everyone has a suggestion for handling the problems of youngsters. Experience does not seem to be a prerequisite for offering advice.
We noted with amusement the suggestion made by a group studying means of curbing destructive children in one community. The study group came up with the suggestion that the community build a house which the children could tear down at their leisure.
Well, maybe that would be something to occupy the youngsters' time. But we would wager the house would receive much more destructive attention from youngsters while the carpenters were trying to complete their work, than after the house were finished and ready to be torn to bits.
As we remember childhood, half the fun of being mischievous was doing something without permission. The same mischievous prank done without permission held little lustre for a youngster if permission were granted to perform it.
But let's not be too critical of the youngsters if they get out of hand now and then. There is hardly an adult today who does not recall with inner pleasure some mischievous prank—perhaps destructive—he had a part in long years ago.

Wha! About This Big Three Conference?

Is it worth a try at improving the international situation by calling a conference between President Eisenhower, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Malenkov?
Well that depends on which side of the Atlantic you sit on, which side of the party fence you sit on, or perhaps just what your horse-back opinion of the new Russian government is.
Winston Churchill has urged that a top-level conference between the United States, Great Britain and Russia be held in an effort to solve some of the pressing problems which each day are threatening to change the cold war into World War III.
President Eisenhower, of course, stated his position on that question several weeks ago when he asserted he would be willing to meet with Malenkov; but declared the Russian government must first show by "deeds" rather than words its desire for peace.
So far as we can tell there has been no such exhibition of deeds. Therefore it is reasonable to assume President Eisenhower nois little regard for such a meeting at the present time.

Winston Churchill is certainly a man of no mean knowledge of the international situation and methods of dealing with the Russian government. His vast experience with European and Asiatic affairs as well as direct dealings with Russia equip him to make a reasonable appraisal of the situation as it now is. It is difficult to believe there is a man in a position of leadership in a major nation today who is better equipped by experience to formulate a workable solution between the East and West than Churchill.
In all fairness, it must be realized that the Churchill government is in no position to negotiate from strength with the Russians. Yet a person who has studied the policies of Churchill over his long years in public life can be reasonably sure that he does not advocate appeasement.
In support of President Eisenhower's stand on the matter of a Big Three meeting, there seems little hope that Russia will negotiate in good faith, or that she would honor any reasonable solution which were reached in such a conference involving international affairs.
There can be little doubt that Russia would follow the same tactics in a high level talk that her representatives have followed in talks of lesser import. Yet there is always the outside chance that she would not.
It could be that a talk between the heads of the Big Three governments may bring more results than anyone dreams of. At best we see that little could be lost by such talks.
It behooves the Eisenhower administration to give careful and thoughtful consideration to the proposal of Prime Minister Churchill before turning its back on the idea.

National Whirligig
WASHINGTON—When Franklin D. Roosevelt and Cordell Hull persuaded a jittery Congress to enact the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act in the depth of the depression, they rejoiced because they believed that they had buried the tariff issue in the national political cemetery alongside prohibition, etc. It was to herald a new era of free-flowing international commerce.
But the behind-the-scenes battle on Capitol Hill over President Eisenhower's request for a mere one-year extension of that law proves that they celebrated prematurely. The supposed ghost is stalking through Congressional corridors as violently and as assertively as it did during the erection of high-tariff walls in the days of William McKinley and Herbert Hoover, when the Payne-Aldrich and Hawley-Smoot measures built the loftiest barriers against foreign imports in our history.
The Ways and Means Committee's hearings on the White House proposal have gone far afield. With the full approval of the Republican majority, industrialists who have suffered during the Roosevelt-Hull-Truman regime of steadily lowered tariff walls have poured forth complaints pent-up but unheeded over 20 years.
A PERPLEXING ISSUE—Rarely has there been such a laboratory demonstration of the fact that the tariff is a "local issue" almost impossible to solve on a national basis, although there is no alternative method of solution. As many Democrats as Republicans stand on each side in the pro and con tariff controversy. Big and little industries disagree and fight among themselves.
The opposition to foreign imports consists principally of interests which have been hurt. They range from such great industries as petroleum, coal, textiles and cement, to the manufacturers of shoes, gloves, lingerie, women's hats, wallpaper, jewelry, furniture, toys, etc.
They argue that the Administration's program for aiding friendly nations with purchases of their goods rather than grants of money—"trade not aid"—will drive them—U. S. industries and manufacturers—into bankruptcy, create unemployment and head the nation into a depression.
POWERFUL FOREIGN TRADE BLOC—But the foreign trade bloc is equally powerful. Headed by young Henry Ford and Eisenhower's Cabinet of bankers and industrialists, it insists that the United States cannot export automobiles, industrial equipment, cotton, tobacco, wheat and related products unless we give other nations a chance to earn dollars in our market. Without such a return, they note, we must keep our allies in the cold war on a taxpayers-financed dole more or less permanently.
The ups and downs of such a popular product as tobacco, for instance, represents this school of economic and political thought. The "weed" is used only as an example here, for the same considerations apply to numerous other manufactured and agricultural commodities.
U. S. TOBACCO GROWERS SUFFER—Prior to England's financial distress, she bought almost one-third of the South's flue-cured tobacco each year, which represented a sizable income. Now, for want of dollars or trade in euro dollars, she is turning for poorer tobacco to Italy, India, Canada, Rhodesia, and wherever else she can buy Sir Walter Raleigh's delight for pound sterling.
Pending proposals to bar wool from New Zealand will further reduce tobacco outlets, for that Commonwealth member buys about 20,000,000 pounds annually from our tobacco-growing states. Most importantly, the prospective economic boycott of smokes by England and other foreign buyers applies to many other manufactured and farm goods, especially cotton and wheat.
Thus, like the poor, we have the tariff issue with us always. F. D. R. and Hull did not solve or settle it. And it is doubtful if Eisenhower can.

OUR FAIR AMBASSADOR—When Clarence Booths Luce was named Ambassador to Italy, a famous newspaper correspondent in Rome queried his New York office on American reaction to the appointment. He got this reply:
"The Catholics think it is 'fine.' The Protestants think it is 'terrible.' Senator Prescott Bush, of Connecticut, says that it is the greatest break we Connecticut Republicans ever got from the White House!"

Charlotte News—Members of the North Carolina General Assembly who voted for the much-discussed "secrecy" law might take note of the action of Superior Court Judge Jordan L. Martinelli of San Rafael, California.
On April 16, Judge Martinelli ordered the courtroom cleared during a divorce trial, but permitted reporters to stay because "they know their obligation to the public at large."
"The press has a duty. They have to be here. Their judge is the public, the finest monitor of the press at large," said the Judge.

Somebody Told Me

By J. J. (Jack) EDWARDS, JR.
When I go to and from work I usually turn at the corner of East Fifth and Maple. For the past month or so I have taken two pauses at that corner: one to check the traffic and one to enjoy the poppies growing on the northwest corner of East Fifth and Maple.
My curiosity finally got the best of me so I detoured to find out who was responsible for this brilliant array of flowers. An investigation revealed that the lot is owned by Mrs. John Mitchell but the poppies were planted by Mrs. R. V. Keel. Mrs. Keel lives on Maple Street in the house next to the corner and in her back yard has an arrangement much more impressive than what you see on the corner.
"I started with poppies three years ago," she said, "with 10 cents worth of poppies and one pod of Sherry poppies that were given to me."
Later, Mrs. Keel was attending, as usual, the regular meeting of the Greenville Garden Club when there was a discussion underway about how to beautify the city. All during the time the discussion was underway Mrs. Keel was thinking in terms of the vacant lot on the corner of East Fifth and Maple. What you can see now is the result of Mrs. Keel's plan.
"It certainly was a wonderful idea," I told Mrs. Keel. "and if more people would do the same thing we could have poppies on all of Greenville's vacant lots." But then I asked Mrs. Keel about the expense and work involved, figuring that would be the catch.
Actually, Mrs. Keel is bringing all of the beauty to us for the amazing sum of only $9. It cost her $5 to have the lot plowed and she spent $3 in labor having it weeded. To sow the lot she had one quart of poppy seeds left over from last year.
You can plant poppies with even less effort and expense. Poppies get a head start on weeds and grass, so by simply sowing them in a field you can save some flowers. However, with a little more effort you can make a beautiful poppy field from an unattractive vacant lot.
If you haven't checked the corner of East Fifth and Maple, you've missed a treat. And if you have a vacant lot in mind that needs beauty maybe you could follow the example set by Mrs. Keel. If just a few of us had her interest in beautification of the city Greenville's appearance could be improved 100 per cent.
And I thank Mrs. Keel.

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
HIGHWAYS—Announcement of the new highway division lines and names of the 15 men who will administer the highway system for the next four years, unless subsequent legislative action changes it again, has overshadowed all other news topics around Capitol square this week. There remain serious problems for the new commission in working out allocation of funds and assignment of personnel to the new divisions, but none of these problems are imponderable.
HOMOGENEOUS—Certainly the 14 new divisions are more homogeneous than were the 10 former divisions. Roberson county for example, has much more in common with the counties embraced in the new sixth division all of which are in the same congressional district and have comparable economic, political and social problems, that it had with its associates in the old sixth which included three congressional districts and reached to mid-Piedmont Davidson. New Hanover also has more in common with new associates in the new third division than with those in the old third—which ran upstate to take in Harnett. Of course there will be some rough spots to iron out in making the transition from established division lines. These are more bookkeeping matters than real problems.
GEOGRAPHIC—Another phase of homogeneity is that under the new arrangement commissioners and engineers will have essentially one geographic or topographic problem. In other words, the three coastal divisions have only coastal topography, instead of complications with upper plains terrain; and the three mountain divisions have only mountain problems instead of running into piedmont or nearly flat land in parts of the divisions. By the same token, the upper coastal plains and piedmont divisions are complicated with swampland or mountain construction and maintenance situations. Several commentators have voiced pleased surprise that the Governor and his study commission composed of Walter Woodson, Reuben Robertson, Boddie Ward, Bill Saunders and Hamp Price could work out an equitable arrangement as they seem to have come up with and with as little confusion in the changeover.
MOUNTAINS—Asheville has long been regarded as the political and economic capital of some 20-odd southwestern counties. So your reporter expected some backfire resentment over removing Buncombe from the far western division and "giving" all the area west of the metropolis to a Hendersonville commissioner. A couple of telephone calls to civic and political leaders indicated rather pleased acceptance of the change. Of course we regret losing such intimate contact with our friends in the counties west of us," said one man, "but any loss suffered in that respect was more than made up by the fact under the new alignment we have three mountain commissioners, whereas before we had only one. Reference there was to the fact that the new commission has members from Hendersonville, Marion and Boone. All three of these cities are in the mountain resort area, and while they are rivals for business they have common problems with respect to highway and general economic development.
PERSONALITIES—While there was almost unanimous approval of the new highway division lines, there was some objection to personal appointments on the enlarged highway commission. There has never been a time when selection of public officials, whether by popular election or executive appointment pleased everybody. Always when there is more than one candidate for any position, somebody is displeased with the choice finally made. However, your reporter has not heard a single word of criticism as to the character or ability of any man named on the commission.
RAMPS—Preparatory to the upcoming "ramp convention" in Haywood county some of the sponsors of that annual festival decided they ought to incorporate in order to have an established agency to promote the virtues of the potent tuber. Bill Palmer of Canton sought the help of Thad Eure, secretary of state and "speaker for life" at the ramp conventions staged every spring somewhere in Haywood. Need for action along this line was emphasized by recent claims of a West Virginia town as the ramp capital.
CHARTER—Result of correspondence and telephone calls between Palmer at Canton and Eure at Raleigh was the shortest and most complete corporation charter ever filed in the office of the secretary of state. The statutes require that before a charter can be granted the incorporators must state the name of the corporations and three incorporators, the number and value of shares of stock, the duration of the company and the purposes for which it is chartered. The charter filed this week covered all of these points in one sentence.
LEGAL—The completely legal document filed sets out that the name of the corporation shall be and is "The North Carolina Society of the Friends of the Ramp, Inc." Then all the other

What Other Papers Are Thinking

WHAT PEOPLE WANT (Kinston Free Press)
The Eisenhower Administration apparently has come to the conclusion that it will not be possible to make a tax cut for the fiscal year beginning July 1st nor to even balance the budget. Some of the estimates of the deficit run even higher than the nine or ten billion dollars which the Truman Administration estimated. Of course there is going to be a good deal of "I told you so" mud slinging by politicians who want to build up for the 1954 political campaign.
The Free Press is inclined to believe that the American people are more interested in getting their money's worth and not continuing the extravagant spending of money where it appears that $3.00 is spent for one dollar's return.
The people do not want a cut in the budget which will imperil the safety of the Nation. They do not want an expenditure of unnecessary funds entailing extravagance and waste. They do want the budget balanced and the taxes cut when it is possible to do so.
The Eisenhower Administration was elected last Fall and even a mandate to cut out unnecessary expenditures and accompanying waste and extravagance. The people we believe, want them to do their very best to carry out that mandate.
In this connection it should be kept in mind that President Eisenhower is serving all the people in this country. He is their Chief Executive and he is entitled to all the support that can be given him to cut down expenditures where possible, without impairing the defense and other services essential to the welfare and safety of this country.

Business Today

By ELMER ROESSNER
A five-point plan for the rehabilitation of urban and business areas was put forth by the National Association of Real Estate Boards over the week-end.
The association calls for zoning of industrial areas for the exclusive use of industry; street zoning for the exclusive use of public transportation in these areas; local studies to determine the feasibility of eliminating parking on streets in downtown areas; encouragement of privately-owned, off-street parking facilities and adjustment in assessed value and tax burdens to encourage rehabilitation, neighborhood conservation and rezoning.
The NAREB suggests this program "to eliminate blight and slum conditions." The association's plans calling for the establishment and encouragement of business and manufacturing areas reflect sound thinking but no suggestion is made for relocating families living in blighted areas.
This problem arises even in slum clearance projects which replace antiquated structures with new dwelling units. Often the new units cannot accommodate as many families as the old house did. And when there is a sufficient number of new dwellings, they are often priced well above what former tenants can afford.
In several cities some excellent business district rehabilitation is under way.
In Boston, an ugly railroad yard will be converted to a business center including a convention hall, hotel, office buildings, professional building, theater, stores and an underground garage.
Office buildings, a hotel and special purpose buildings will replace a Philadelphia railroad property.
A former gas works in Washington, D.C. will be the site of a hotel center.
These projects are primarily to rehabilitate blight areas, not slum areas.
Slums are not eradicated by making them business centers. They merely develop in another section of town. Ideally, plans for development of a residential-industrial area should be accompanied, by a residential project somewhere in the city to house those who must move.
JOBS PLENTIFUL WORKERS SCARCE
The seller's market in the employment field continues. The high rate of quits, 25 per 1,000 workers in March, indicates that jobs are easier to find and that workers are taking advantage of the fact.
Other signs that labor is hard to get are the firing rate—eight per 1,000 employees and a postwar low for March—and the hiring rate of 13 per 1,000, 10 per cent higher than a year earlier.
Relatively high rates of factory hiring have been maintained since the end of the steel strike last summer. A large part of industry groups report more hiring this March than in March 1952. Lumber and tobacco were the only industry groups where the hiring rate was down appreciably over the year. Sharpest declines in the number of lay-offs are in fabricated metals, furniture, textiles and the stone, clay and glass industries.
NEW MAGAZINES SET FOR STANDS
The uncertainty over the future economic trend doesn't seem to bother magazine publishers a bit. A total of six new magazines are being readied for publication this year, "Printers' Ink" reports.
Most prominent will be "Tempo," due June 4, which picks up where "Quick" left off. A good part of the "Quick" staff (the Digest is merging with "Look") will move over to "Tempo."
A million issues of "Family Friend" are to be distributed through druggists as "Woman's Day," "Better Living," "Everywoman's" and "Family Circle" are distributed through supermarkets and "Today's Family" and "Family Life" are distributed through variety stores.
"The Westerner" bows on the Pacific Coast in June. A bi-monthly Negro magazine, "Bronze Echo," is already out. "Automotive Chain Store" begins in July. "Visual Aids" will be available, starting in July, for those interested in visual and sound aids.
BRITISH READY TO BURN MONEY
Anyone with the problem of disposing of those old, dirty, worn bills can get a new machine designed and built in England for the reduction of money to ashes.
The "money destructor" is meant primarily for banks and can digest 250,000 pounds in 1-pound bills a day. The British, for some reason, think there's a great future in this machine.
NEW PRODUCTS BOUNCY

Hal Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Notes on a Midwest visit.
As the great Middle West goes, so generally goes the nation in terms of prosperity.
And a returning native son sees no signs of anemia in the pulsing heart of America. There is a sturdy air of satisfaction with the present, of solid confidence in what the immediate future will bring.
The political hates and hysteria engendered by the election last fall have died down. Many Democrats and Republicans alike who voted for a new administration in the sincere belief it was "time for a change" did so worriedly. The fear this would bring a vast depression knocked secretly at many hearts.
Now that the dust raised by the new broom in the White House has begun to settle a bit there is a feeling of general relief, a belief that the relatively prosperous pattern of American life will go on.
Here are typical reactions:
A Democrat—"He has passed no political miracles, and the country still faces the same problems. He is still highly popular, but some people who thought otherwise are beginning to suspect now that everybody in the Truman Administration wasn't a villain."
A Republican—"The people are behind President Eisenhower more than ever. They like the commonsense way he has gone about his job."
Both Republicans and Democrats like the President's firm position toward Russia. The release of ailing American prisoners of war has stirred a new interest in Korea, but the "let's win or get out" advocates are less vocal.
Most Midwesterners are simply frankly puzzled about the whole Korean situation, more willing now to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude. They have a faint, President Eisenhower will find the best possible solution, and prefer to follow him rather than take sides with his quarreling generals.
One Midwesterner's dry comment on the present times:
"There certainly is no great fear of a depression among employers—or else they all wouldn't be asking for more money."
"Everybody wants to live as good as the boss does, and most of them do eat as well. Every working man now still is eating three good meals a day—except those who feel they are well enough off to afford to go on a diet."
A successful self-made businessman had this to say on the possibility of a recession:
"There are still too many 'boom businessmen.' Everybody who could get into business today still is in business. On a rising market you can make mistakes and still make money."
"But the boom is leveling off. Competition is increasing, and you can't afford to make any more mistakes. Profits are getting smaller in terms of your dollar volume of sales."
President Eisenhower's interest in golf has been a real boon for the country clubs.
Men and women never before knew the difference between a divot and a misant are now ecstatically basking and hot overthe country-side to the grave peril of neighboring cows, whose milk sometimes is curdled by their surprise over the antics and costumes of some duffers.

"Our trouble with new members," said a locker room attendant, "is to keep them from calling up the long distance to brag about it every time they come in with a score under 100."
Washington Letter
By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—Many times during the past 30-odd years Mrs. Nathan Hurwitz has set forth to buy herself a new dress and returned instead with an old fan. Her collection of fans from every country and period, is acclaimed the world's largest.
Once a year she unpacks her treasures now numbering more than 1,000 arranged them in appropriate groupings and lends them for charity exhibits or some special occasion. Mrs. Truman, after viewing the array, added a French fan she had from Cuba. Lady Corea, wife of the Ceylonese ambassador, gave her a ceremonial fan from her country.
Mrs. James Monroe's grandson gave her Mrs. Benjamin Harrison's inaugural fan, for fixing up Mrs. Monroe's inaugural fan, which he had in his own collection.
Mrs. Hurwitz started her fan collection while living in Spain, where her husband was representing American business interests. She had already begun an extensive collection of antique pottery and porcelain, but the fans soon gested these interests. Many of her fans once belonged to the royal ladies of Europe. Every type of lace made is represented in them. Some are embroidered in sequins and pearls and riddled with real gems. Others are of painted hand-made paper or silk.
Some are of what is called "chicken skin," which Mrs. Hurwitz says is not really the skin of chicken but of a very young animal. She has a Japanese fan made of buffalo skin, hand-carved worked as delicately as lace. Some are painted with miniatures. The Spanish fans have "sticks" of olive and other native woods. Mothers-of-pearl and Ivory distinguish the French, and fine Ivory and sandalwood are used for the Chinese. She has Chinese old, dardar fans over 150 years old, priced according to the number of faces hand-painted "on" Ivory. The costume of each little figure is applied in silk in vivid colors like turquoise and emerald green.
One of her prized items is an American paper fan illustrating Gen. U. S. Grant's planting of banyan trees, a good-will gesture, accompanied by a speech on the State House ground at Nagasaki, Japan, later destroyed by atom-bombing.
"I've exhibited my fans for good causes at all times and never accepted a penny for showing them," Mrs. Hurwitz told me. Everybody wants to touch the fans, but Mrs. Hurwitz permits viewers to handle only one—a Japanese fan of highly polished copper, like a mirror.

Special Bed For 525-Pound Man

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UP) — The U. S. Spring Bed Co. tackled an engineering problem today to fill the "biggest" order its factory ever has received. An unidentified man from Athol, Mass., ordered a special spring and mattress to accommodate his 525-pound frame in comfort. "This is no ordinary job. It's an engineering problem," said Vice President William E. Leverett. He said preliminary plans call for a reinforced bed with 12 legs.

Pirates Choke Off ACC Rally For 8-6 Conference Win

Eugene Rose Pitches Victory In Last Tilt

Five-Run Seventh Inning Contest For Pirates; Team Winds Up With 16-5 Record For The Season

By JIMMY ELLIS
Reflector Sports Editor

It took two and a half anxious hours and the East Carolina College Pirates finally put the cap on their 1953 baseball season. And they did it just the way they started—with a victory over the stubborn Atlantic Christian College Bulldogs.

The Pirates played bang-a-way with the Bulldogs yesterday and won a hard-fought 8-6 North State Conference victory. Relief hurler Eugene Rose was the winner.

The Pirates gave up a run to the Bulldogs in the second inning to start their own misery which was eased somewhat by three East Carolina runs in the third. The same misery was all but forgotten in the midst of a five run spree in the seventh but it was all brought back in the eighth and ninth innings when the Bulldogs made a futile attempt to crack through the Pirates' hold on them.

Good Fielding
Rose, a freshman hurler from Red Oak who hadn't seen much action this year, got into the contest in the fourth inning when starter Clyde Owens lost every bit of control he had. Rose rolled along smoothly until the late inning when the Bulldogs started begging away again but he worked his way out of the trouble, thanks to some top-notch fielding by substitute outfielder Bob Penley.

Penley, a husky built freshman more noted for his hitting than his fielding, got on his horse in the top of the ninth inning to drag down a long fly ball off the bat of Jerry Williams. The play didn't end Atlantic Christian's rally but it choked off any hopes of further scoring by the Bulldogs.

Until Penley made his catch, the few Pirates who hadn't gotten into the game were doing some tall squirming on the bench. They had seen the underdog charges of Jack McComas come up to within two runs of the Bucs after trailing by five at the beginning of the eighth inning.

Heath Homers
A five-run spree in the seventh frame was what saved the contest for the Pirates and Rose. Cecil Heath, the little fireball who holds down second base for the Pirates had started the inning with a tremendous inside-the-park home run and Bill Cline, the hustle-and-holler guy who does the catching, ended it with a triple that might have gone for a home run if the ACC outfield hadn't been hustling like sixty on the play.

In between the two big blows, the Pirates got the benefit of a single by W. C. Sanderson, a walk to Galtner Cline, another single by Paul Gay, an infield out, and still another single by Boyd Webb. That was all they needed but barely enough.

The Bulldogs, beaten in three previous affairs with the Bucs, started out in their usual fashion by getting behind by a big margin. They woke up, though, in the eighth when they put together a triple, a double, and a single for two runs and nearly ran the Pirates out of the park in the ninth when three more runs on a single, a walk, another single, and a big fat error by a Pirate infielder.

Despite their usual play in the "middle" innings, the Bulldogs nearly upset the applecart of Coach Jack Boone's boys in the early innings. Owens, a big righthander from Beaufort, started out on the mound for East Carolina and while he wasn't giving up any hits he was walking almost everybody he faced. He was finally pulled in the fourth when he had walked the bases full.

Rose came into the game and pitched the last five and a third innings. He gave up seven of the ACC hits, walked two and struck out two. He got the benefit of some fielding by his teammates—by Penley and Charlie Cherry particularly—and was always able to come through with big pitch when he needed it.

He also got the benefit of a not-so-powerful-but-highly-effective batting attack presented by the Pirates.

Heath Hits
Cecil Heath led the way with his home run and a single but Sanderson and Gay also came through with a pair of hits. Sanderson had two singles as did Gay.

The Bulldogs heavy hitters were scarce, two in number to be exact, but the hitting was bunched in such a way that Rose was in boiling water when he did get in trouble. Jerry Williams was the chief trouble maker with a triple and single while Bobby Morris got a double and single.

Howard Hamm started out for the Bulldogs but was finally chased in the seventh inning after giving up six runs, six hits, eight walks, and only four strikeouts. Louis Todd, his successor, lasted for two-thirds of an inning and two runs, and big Bill Beacham finished the contest without getting into any serious trouble.

The victory gives the Pirates a conference record of 12 wins and four losses—good for second place in the Eastern Division standings—and an overall mark of 16 wins and five defeats. In conference play, they defeated A.C.C. four times, High Point four times, Guilford twice, and Elon twice. The losses were to Guilford (two) and Elon (two). The only non-conference defeat on the regular schedule was to

Pony Meeting

Boys who are planning to participate in Pony League baseball during the coming season are invited to attend a meeting tonight at 7:30 in the Armory.

Managers of the four teams will be present at the meeting and problems relating to the program will be discussed for the benefit of the players. Boys who have questions or problems are asked to be prepared to present them at the meeting.

Montclair (N.J.) State Teachers College but the Pirates got revenge for that with a double victory over the Redmen.

The victory also overrode the Pirates' possession of the Bohunk Bucket at least until basketball season next year. The old wooden water pail is a symbol of athletic supremacy between the schools and goes to the winner of any sports competition between teams from the two schools. It has been in possession of the Pirates all year long on the basis of two basketball victories and the four baseball wins.

Red Sox Win, 6-5, Over Visitors

FARMVILLE—A single run in the eighth inning brought the Farmville Red Sox to a 6-5 victory over Stantonsburg in a Bright Belt League game played here last night.

Bill Kennedy scored the run after leading off the inning with a single, being sacrificed to second by pitcher Ark Siros, and moving on around on a single by Millard Webb.

Sam Stell, a former Coastal Plain League batting star, continued to set a hot pace in the batting department for the Red Sox by driving out three hits in four trips to the plate but he had to give up batting honors for the night to James McLawhorn of Stantonsburg. McLawhorn got four singles in four trips to the plate.

Siros, the pitcher for the Red Sox, was making his first start for Farmville. He pitched last year for Amsterdam, N. Y. of the Class C Canadian-American League. The left-hander is now working at the duPont plant near Kingston.

Farmville will meet Rocky Mount Saturday night in another Bright Belt League contest. The Saturday game will be played in Farmville with the Sunday game scheduled for Rocky Mount.

Willie Pep Wins 177th Ring Bout

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP)—Dancing Willie Pep has lost little of the ring finesse which carried him to two world's championships as a featherweight.

The Little Hartford, Conn., veteran of 177 bouts had little trouble winning his 171st victory Wednesday night before a national television audience as he scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Jackie Blair of Dallas, Tex.

Wee Willie gave his Texas opponent a boxing lesson from the second round on, scoring repeatedly with lightning flicks of his left and punishing right crosses.

He danced and dodged with ease to keep out of range of Blair's lethal right. When the Texan, who outweighed Pep 131 pounds to 129 3/4, did land a blow Pep usually was rolling with the punch.

Pep is campaigning for another shot at champion Sandy Saddler, the man who beat him out of the title in 1948 and again in 1950.

He is rated the No. 1 contender now and the ease with which he outboxed the well regarded Blair indicated he might be about ready to become the first man ever to win the featherweight title three different times.

Girls' Softball

Regular season play in the girls' softball league has gotten underway with a pair of league contests already played.

The first game of the season was played between the Sluggers of West Jackets of the Training School with the Sluggers coming out on top by a 10-4 margin.

In the second contest, Beth Murray of the Training School hit a pair of home runs to lead the Black Phantoms to a runaway 41-6 victory over the Third Street School Tigers.

TV Should Show Title Bout Well

By ED SAINSBURY
CHICAGO (UP)—Rocky Marciano's battle Friday night to retain his heavyweight championship against Jersey Joe Walcott should be a "natural" for television fans.

The styles of the two boxers probably will provide clean cut action, with most blows obvious in their effects, even on a television screen.

Marciano will fight only one way, driving in constantly to attack. His tactics probably will be the most difficult for the television expert to follow.

Rocky has concentrated on body blows, particularly left hooks, in training and his strategy will be to bore in with a two-fisted slugging attack to the midsection.

Should these blows slow Walcott, Marciano may shift his attack to the head, aiming for a knockout, the instant Walcott begins to show signs of fatigue.

It is unlikely that any of Marciano's punches in the early rounds will show prompt effect on the video screen, for Walcott is in top condition and, even though hit persistently in the body, it is unlikely that his punching or movement will be affected for at least six or eight rounds.

Walcott's attack should be much easier to follow on television. The 39-year old ex-champion is rated far superior in boxing skill. His strategy probably will be to stay away, hit and run, keep Marciano off balance, and use the advantage of his longer reach to fight at long range and pile up points.

With Walcott keeping his distance, his blows should be easily distinguished on television. At times they may appear more effective than they are, should Marciano succeed in blocking the jabs.

Walcott has worked on both left and right hooks to the head and these should be easy to follow.

Though Walcott has said he would strive for a knockout from the first bell, most boxing experts believed he will attempt to put in the sleeper punch only from long range.

If the former champion moves in to attack at close quarters, it

Milwaukee Braves Setting Hitting And Pitching Paces

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The crack of extra-base hits was just as joyful a noise today to Milwaukee fans as the smack of all those strikes their pitchers are firing in to the catchers' mitts.

Right now, besides boasting the National League's top pitching to date, the bat-happy Braves also are setting the pace in long hits with a total of 61 as against 59 for the potent Brooklyn Dodgers.

Milwaukee leads the league in home runs with 24 and in triples with 10, and ranks fourth in doubles with 27. Brooklyn has 22 homers, eight triples, and 29 doubles for its runner-up figure.

The hitting was expected, since the Braves acquired such sluggers as Andy Pafko, ex-GI Del Crandall, and Joe Adcock during the off-season to go with such carry-over muscle men as Ed Mathews, Sid Gordon, and Walker Cooper.

Walcott could move in for a slugging contest at any time, and, when he does, the television fans should watch closely to catch the punch or series of punches which might end the fight.

Either fighter could do it, at any time.

Then Johnny Logan, Jack Dittmer, and occasionally rookie Bill Bruton broke into the act.

But the pitching was a pleasant surprise, and along with his seven starters, Jolly Cholly Grimm demonstrated again Wednesday that he had a fine reliever in young Lew Burdette in a stirring 11-1 rout of the Giants.

Mathews hit his seventh homer and Gordon his second in the first inning to give the Braves a lead they never relinquished. After two innings of no-hit pitching, lefty Johnny Antonelli suffered a blood blister on the index finger of his throwing hand and when hit by his own foul tip and Burdette took over to pitch a four-hitter the rest of the way and gain his second triumph in relief. The Braves made 14 hits.

The victory put the Braves in second place only a half-game behind the idle Phils and 14 percentage points ahead of Brooklyn, as Brooklyn at Chicago, Pittsburgh at Cincinnati, and Philadelphia at St. Louis were rained out as the National League wound up its first month with the worst weather in 50 years. There were a total of 35 postponements in 30 days.

In the American League, the Yankees made it four in a row by coming from behind to down Cleveland again, 9-4, while Eddie Joost's home run in the eighth gave the Athletics a 2-1 victory seven game losing streak. The Red Sox blanked the White Sox 3-0 and Detroit at Washington was rained out.

Joost, who also hit a memorable grand slam homer against Satchel Paige in the ninth year ago to beat the ancient St. Louis reliever in a thriller, made his blast Wednesday night the margin for Alex Kellner's fifth victory against two defeats, a five-hitter in which he yielded no earned runs.

The Yankees put over four runs in the seventh on a succession of singles and walks to erase a 4-3 Cleveland lead and give Ed Lopat his third victory, although he needed relief help from Alie Reynolds, Hank Bauer and Don Bollweg homered for New York and Joe Tipton and Harry Simpson for Cleveland.

to be called at the end of five innings because of darkness. In the first game, Edwards hits a bases loaded home run in the third inning to wrap the game up for the Kiwanis. The blow was his second hit of the big inning with the other base knocker being recorded as double. All told, he had a single, two doubles, and the bases-loaded home run plus a walk in five trips to the plate.

Billy Cox, a teammate of Edwards, also had a good day at the plate with five hits in five trips. Two of Cox's hits were doubles.

Edwards started out as the starting pitcher and went three innings before Cox took over the hurling duties. Edwards got credit for the victory.

Merle Bynum hit a home run with the bases empty in the Elks' half of the fourth inning.

In the second contest, the Jaycees took advantage of a wild pitch and stolen base to score three runs that beat the Lions. The scoring was done with the aid of only one hit, a single by Richard Nobles that set up the scoring situation.

The contest had to be called at the end of five full innings because of darkness. There had been enough play, however, for the game to be counted as an official contest.

Musial Out Of Batting Slump

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The man is on the beam again. Stan Musial, king of the National League hitters for the last three years, slugged his way out of a crippling slump mainly because he has a mind as keen as his batting eye.

Musial's skid on the St. Louis Cardinals' road trip had cost him 100 points in the last five games in enemy territory.

But he blasted out with three hits in five tries against the Philadelphia Phillies in the Card's 6-5, Tuesday night defeat.

Musial lifted an easy foul pop in his first appearance against the Phillies' Jim Konstanty. But he came up with a whistling line drive single on his next trip and doubled off the right field screen the time after.

He struck out in the eighth inning when he tried to dissolve a 1-1 tie with a roof ball. But he hit a blistering grounder in the ninth inning off relief pitcher Karl Drews which skipped between first and second for a safety.

He wound up the night with one run scored and another batted in.

Colt Trapped In Pit Dies After Rescuers Fail

NEW MARKET, Tenn. (UP)—A young unweaned colt, trapped for three days without food in a 50-foot pit over which his master and mother kept an anxious vigil, died last night after being pulled to the surface.

Raymond Larrance, 27-year-old owner of the two-weeks-old colt, said the animal apparently strangled or died of a broken neck while being hauled to the top of the "sink hole."

A volunteer, Milo Trent of Jefferson City, Tenn., lowered himself by rope into the dangerous, arrow entrance to a large underground cave to tie the rope about the colt's neck.

He then came up and several men began pulling the colt out but the jet-black animal was dead when it reached the surface.

I told him I saw Harry push Uncle Ranson over the cliff. Phil was furious—I thought he'd kill me for daring to ring in a detective.

"But, trusting little husband that he is, he thought West was lying." The story was making Brindle a little sick.

"It was sweet of him, wasn't it?" "But he didn't kill West then."

"That wasn't true," Brindle put in. "I received it on Monday. He must have mailed it on Saturday."

"He was lying to Phil, of course. But by that time he must have been planning to kill Phil himself."

"Just as clever as he could be, wasn't he?" Brindle smiled to himself. Durst had even thought to make the conditions of the note vague so that it couldn't be tested for time and place of collection.

"Brindle thought he heard noises downstairs. Kids must have found the open window and be coming in. In her excitement, Frances seemed to have heard nothing."

"When your husband couldn't lay hands on the key, he arranged to have the box drilled, is that right?" "You think he's nuts? That would be taking too much of a chance. By the way what did you do with the key?"

"The bottle of rum I took with me to the police station," he smiled. "I had dropped the key inside, earlier?"

"Very clever." "Mind if I have a last cigarette?" Her green eyes flashed warily. "Don't move."

"Relax. I haven't a gun. And I haven't a cigarette. Can I bum one?" "No," she said nervously. "I'm going to kill you now. If I wait any longer I'll lose my nerve."

"Nonsense," he laughed. "When the time comes, I'll just squeeze the trigger. The gun'll do everything."

"You're pretending you're not afraid," she fumed, "but you are, aren't you?" "I'd like to ask a few more questions," he said. But he could see she had talked herself out. He got up. "Look, Frances," he said, "I've some very bad news for you. If you'll listen closely, you'll hear a noise downstairs. I wasn't kidding it's the police."

"The noise wasn't downstairs any longer. It was very close. In the hall. Behind him. She stiffened. He thought then she'd pull the trigger out of confused desperation. He didn't turn around when the door swung open. That would be Kidd and Johnny. He watched her finger ready to jump away when it tightened.

But it relaxed. "Phil," she said. (To be continued)

Steelworkers Open Bid For New Wage Accord

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The United Steelworkers (CIO) opens key negotiations today with the giant United States Steel Corp. on new wage demands which the industry said would boost steel prices.

USW President David J. McDonald, making his first appearance as No. 1 union negotiator since he succeeded the late Phillip Murray, will lay his still unspecified proposals before a 35-man company delegation.

The wage demands made on U. S. Steel will be the demands for the entire basic steel industry. McDonald already has stated he believes the industry should grant pay increases because they are "sorely needed" by the USW's 1,200,000 members. The industry said higher wages are not justified and would mean higher prices.

McDonald's assistants also will meet today with officials of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. at Youngstown, O., fifth largest producer, and Inland Steel Co. at Indiana Harbor, Ind., sixth ranking. Meetings with the other major producers are expected to start in a few days.

But the union again has singled

Long Docket Is Heard At County Court On Tuesday

By CHESTER WALSH
In Pitt County Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James found Robert Lee Belcher, Negro, 202 West First Street, Greenville, guilty of possession of non-tax paid whiskey and transporting it.

The court also found Belcher guilty of careless and reckless driving and speeding at 90 miles an hour.

Judge James gave the defendant four months on the roads on the consolidated charges. Sentences suspended on payment of $200, court costs deducted. The judgement also provides that his car shall be confiscated by the State and that his driver's license be revoked for a year.

The case against Warren Spell, Negro, who was in Belcher's car at the time of the arrest, was dismissed.

David Slade was fined $100 and costs for driving a motor vehicle while drunk. His driver's license was ordered revoked for a year.

Charlie Davis, Negro, of Conecote, was fined $25 and costs for careless and reckless driving. His driver's license was ordered suspended for four months.

Pleasant Thigpen, Negro, was fined $10 and costs for driving without an operator's license.

Judge James found Martin Luther Whitfield of Bethel not guilty of driving a car after his driver's license had been revoked.

Drunk and disorderly, refusal to pay board bill, using vulgar and profane language: For these offenses, Judge James gave Willie Highsmith 60 days on the roads. Sentence is to be suspended if Highsmith pays the board bill, Solicitor Horton Rountree stated.

Milton Evans, drunk and disorderly, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of $20 and costs and he is not to go to Pate's Grill for two years.

William Earl Taylor, assault on a female, six months on the roads sentence suspended on payment of court costs. The court placed Taylor on probation for five years. He is not to go around his wife's premises and is not to interfere with her in any way.

Mary Goddard, Route 1, Robersonville, $25 and costs for possession of non tax-paid whiskey.

Theodore Moore, simple assault, 30 days in jail.

Haywood Clemmons was found not guilty of failure to pay taxi fare.

Oscar Moye, Negro, guilty of larceny of cured meat, six months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $125.

Cleveland Wilson and Naah Hardy were found not guilty of larceny. Abandonment and non-support:

Would Also Curb Pedestrians

NEW YORK (UP)—A traffic safety official suggests that penalties be provided for "reckless walking" as well as reckless driving.

William Greene, director of the Connecticut Safety Commission told a group of police traffic control students here that many pedestrians seem to think they have "an undeniable right" to walk where they please. Legal penalties should be imposed, he said, when reckless walking is responsible for traffic accidents.

Farmer's Plow Cut Phone Cable

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Telephone repair crews restored long distance service west of Omaha to normal today and hoped their cables would keep out of the way of plows.

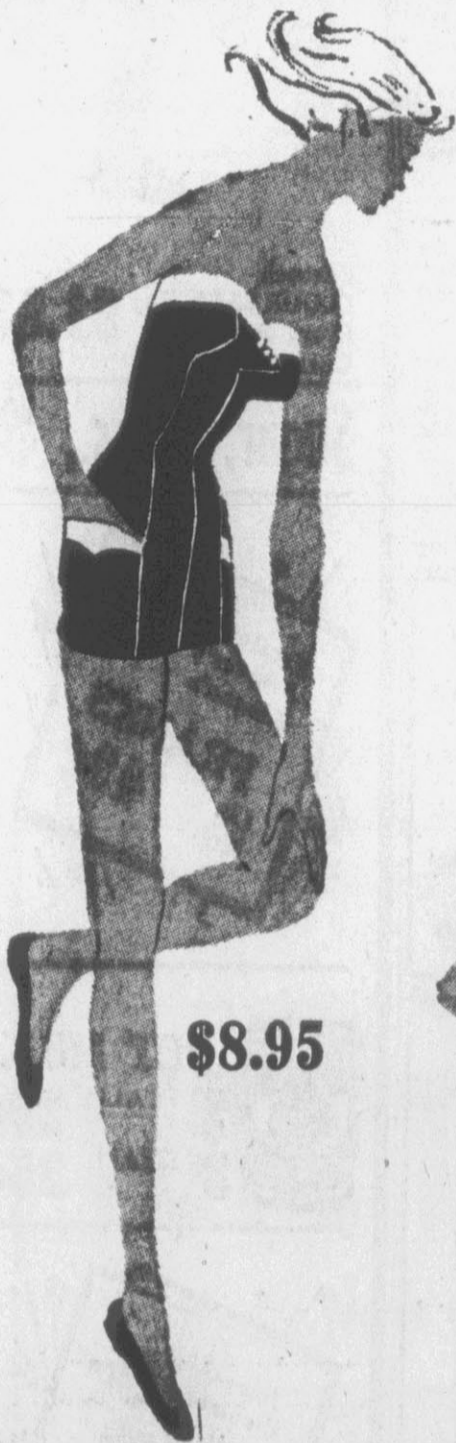

Nearly all toll lines to the west were cut Wednesday when a farmer plowed through one cable and half-way through another on the outskirts of Omaha. Erosion had washed away soil which normally would protect the cables.

Johnny Sutton, ordered to pay $25 a month. Jonathan Rouse, Negro paid up. Offie Bryant asked for a jury trial. Joe Junior Green paid up.

No doubt about it...
Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Safe-Tway Service
A public service program to promote safer driving.

CHEVROLET

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Load-master engines in heavy-duty models... the remarkable gasoline economy... the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction.

And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.
