

City Council Orders Dickinson Avenue Survey

May Add Parking Meters

By HOWARD LINDSAY Reflector Staff Writer Whether or not parking meters should be extended on Dickinson Avenue to include the section between Five Points and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad was brought up for consideration by Greenville's city council last night.

The first block of Dickinson, from Evans to Washington, already has meters, put in when the machines first were installed in Greenville about four years ago.

Chief Gibbs was asked to have his report for the next meeting of the board.

South Korean Ambassador Claims Appeasement Violently Objects To Truce

WASHINGTON (UP) — South Korea voiced violent new objections to the United Nations truce plan today as Allied officials, optimistic over chances of ending the three-year war, prepared new instructions for U.N. negotiators at Panmunjom.

South Korean Ambassador Dr. You Chan Yang said in an interview that the "concessions" made by the Allies to the Communists "are nothing but total appeasement."

Noise Abatement Issue Is Taken Up By Council

What should be the city's policy in regulation of use of loud speakers in Greenville?

In other matters brought up, the board:

(1) Consented to Mayor Whedbee's statement that he would write a letter to the Norfolk Southern railroad regarding maintenance of a flagman at the railroad's tracks on the Evans Street crossing.

April Earnings Hit Record Rate

WASHINGTON (UP) — Americans earned money at a record rate of $283,100,000,000 a year during April, the Commerce Department reported today.

The April rate marked the fifth straight month of increase.

The report said farmers earned less in April than in March, but private industry payrolls continued the rise which began last summer.

Famous Pilots Of World War I And Korea Compare Experience

AMI BEACH (UP) — Two of the world's best known fighter pilots got together here last night to compare notes on the differences in dogfighting in World War I and in the Korean action.

"How fast is that Sabre jet?" asked Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, the No. 1 ace of World War I who shot down 21 German planes and four balloons.

Just slapped it a few times," Rickenbacker said.

Eight Red Jets Shot Out Of Sky

Another 'Probable' Kill And Five Damaged By Sabre Jet Airmen

SEOU, Korea (UP) — Allied Sabre jets shot down eight Communist MIGs today, probably destroyed one and damaged five more in low-level air battles near the Suho Reservoir.

The fighting was concentrated on Ancho Hill, eastern and northernmost position on the Eighth Army's battleline where South Korean troops sought to dislodge their former countrymen from positions they seized on the night of May 27.

Five Would-Be Hitlers Jailed

DORTMUND, Germany (UP) — The West German government today clapped five would-be Hitlers in jail for terms ranging from six to 14 months on charges of attempting to revive nazism.

Would Withhold Pay If Silent

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Willis Smith (D-NC) introduced a bill yesterday to withhold the pay of any federal employees who refuse, or has ever refused, to answer questions of a congressional committee.

Where Battles Raged In Korea

Next Session Of Negotiators May Signal End Of Conflict Korea Accord Very Close

By LEROY HANSEN SEOU, Korea, Saturday (UP) — United Nations and Communist delegates met at Panmunjom today in a truce session that may mean the bloody three-year Korean war is coming to its end.

Rhee asserted bitterly that agreement with the Communists on the present terms would be "accepting a death warrant."

South Korea would be "accepting a death warrant" in agreeing to a cease-fire now, he told this correspondent.

Newsmen attempted to button-hole Clark before he returned to Tokyo but he refused to discuss his important talks with Rhee on the eve of the resumption of truce conferences at Panmunjom on proposals believed to be acceptable to both the U. N. and the Communists.

That issue is the disposition of those Chinese Communist and North Korean prisoners, held by the U. N. Command who refuse to go home to Red-ruled territory.

Rhee answered several lists of questions submitted by correspondents. At times he appeared emotionally overwrought and on the verge of tears.

He was accompanied by Maj. Gen. Gilman C. Mudgett, director of plans and operations for the Far East Command. Clark also talked with Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, eighth Army commander.

He also revealed he had asked for a military and economic aid and security pact with the United States "a year or two ago."

Clarifies Views In Suggesting British Alliance On Far East Taft Disclaims Go-It-Alone Attitude

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican leader Robert A. Taft today proposed a military alliance with Great Britain in the Far East in a statement denying that he favored a "go it alone" policy.

That the United States should 'go it alone' in the Far East or anywhere else," he said.

The big power veto in the Security Council can block action. He said the U. N. General Assembly never had any power except to make recommendations.

Taft said that if the United States is able to "disentangle" itself from the U. N., it already has treaties with Australia, New Zealand, Japan, and the Philippines and "a very definite understanding" with the French in Indo-China.

Fishermen Tell Of Sea Monster

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UP) — A fishing boat crew told today of seeing a "sea monster as big as a submarine. Like something out of pre-historic times" that slowly sank from sight when they fired rifle bullets into it.

Salvaged Papers 'To' And 'From' Caudle Aide Find Documents In River

WASHINGTON (UP) — A naval officer testified today he salvaged a mass of waterlogged government documents which he said apparently had been thrown into the Patuxent River or Chesapeake Bay in an attempt to destroy them.

Howard McGrath and John Maragon, one-time White House hanger-on, in some of the papers.

ing (R-NY) said the group which is investigating the Justice Department, will not go further into that unless it gets more definite information linking the discarded papers to the yacht's travels.

Have you heard "The Universal Cry of Human Need"? It is a cry to the Christian people of America from Korea, from Japan and Okinawa, from India and Pakistan, from Greece, Trieste, Turkey, and from Germany, Austria, and Italy. It is a cry for good used clothing for all ages; shoes (tied together, not high heels); quilts, blankets, sheets, pillowcases, towels, washcloths, yard goods and knitting wool. It is a call for sewing kits, medical kits, tool kits and seed packets.

Church World Service (CROP) Clothing Collection is now being sponsored in Greenville through all the churches by the Ministerial Association, the Council of Church Women to provide used clothing for the next winter overseas. Here is one of the most acute needs of the world today. Bring your clothing to the church in secure bundles, boxes or duffel bags with your name and address and the name of your church securely fastened on or tagged to it. It will be picked up here by truck by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and taken to the Reception Center. Get all your used clothing ready and give now so clothing will be available next winter. The need is very great.

Mail Boxes Are Given A 'New Look'

Mailboxes lining the road in the Simpson Community got a face-lifting last week as members of the Home Demonstration club painted the mailboxes and added name plates. Mrs. S. D. ### HD Club Women Work To Improve Mailboxes

Home Demonstration clubwomen in Pitt County now have a new project underway, this time it's mailboxes. The women started their county-wide project not long ago of improving mailboxes and adding name plates which are still being ordered through the home agent's office. The project was adopted at the March meeting of the County Council of Home Demonstration Women. Women in all of the communities have purchased paint and brushes and have called on people in their communities asking if they might paint their mailboxes. "Our road-sides advertise our communities and they need a face-lifting," said Mrs. B. B. Little, county home beautification leader. "Our goal is that every mailbox on every road in Pitt County be made as attractive as possible. "When next you look at your own mailbox, see if you are willing for it to act as the sign that advertises your home," said Mrs. Little. "Is it straight? Does the height and distance from the road comply with wishes of your carrier? Is your sand sturdy, neat, and attractive? Is your name on the box or stand?" asks the home beautification leader. More than 50 name plates for rural mailboxes have been received in the county for installation and approximately 50 more have been ordered. All over the county, women are working on this project with hopes of satisfying and pleasing everyone. More information on the project can be gotten from the home agents office or any home demonstration club member. Name plates can be ordered through the home agents office. "We want to put this project over," said Mrs. Little. "Remember your mailbox is showing, make it attractive."

Sec. Weeks Will Speak At Dinner

CHARLOTTE (UP) — State Republican leaders gathered here today for conferences and an address by Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks tonight at a $50 a plate fund-raising dinner. Differences among state party factions appeared patched up and the new state Republican chairman, Ed Story of North Wilkesboro, disclosed GOP aims to capture four congressional seats in the state next year. The districts, Story said, are the Ninth, 10th, 12th and 8th. Weeks will be introduced by the state's only Republican congressman, Rep. Charles R. Jonas of Lenoir.

New Approach To Posts Sought

WASHINGTON (UP) — Republicans hunted for a new approach today to give them control over an assortment of federal jobs filled by Democratic appointees who have been given civil service status. Opposition from veterans' groups and Democrats have frustrated GOP efforts in both House and Senate to take over these jobs through riders to appropriations bills. The controversial measure gives Congress power to "regulate all executive and other agreements with any foreign power or international organization."

Chairman Frank Carlson (R-Kans.) of the Senate Civil Service Committee told a reporter he is consulting the Civil Service Commission on ways of achieving the goal through separate legislation. A separate bill permitting dismissal of the Democratic holdovers would be easier to pass than the appropriations riders because it would require only a simple majority vote. Carlson failed in an effort to attach such riders to the State-Justice-Correction Departments appropriations bill this week because a two-thirds vote was required. His riders would give the secretaries of those departments a free hand to fire employees who did not obtain their jobs through the competitive civil service system but were "blanketed in" to civil service jobs. As written, his proposals would have made about 300,000 of the 2,500,000 federal employees subject to dismissal, if applied to all government departments and agencies. He told the Senate, however, that he would be willing to amend the proposals to protect the special status of veterans.

Grief May Be Cause Of Crime Rampage

STARKVILLE, Miss. (UP) — Authorities said today a Negro handyman's grief over his mother's death may have caused a crime rampage in which he killed two men and then died in battle with pursuers.

Deputy Sheriff Bill Harpole said Odum Smith 28, of Sturgis, Miss., apparently went berserk and raided three farm homes yesterday after "grieving for three months over his mother's death."

At one home, Harpole said, Smith fought with the farm wife, Mrs. C. C. Gault, until her 16-year-old daughter Monnell sent him running with a .22 caliber rifle slug in the leg.

Harpole said that at a second home Smith shot to death two white men who once befriended him and routed several women with shotgun blasts at a third home before he fled to the wood where he was slain.

Harpole said the victims were Oliver Sharp, 85, and Sharp's son Lonnie, 62, who once had employed the Negro and on occasion had given him financial help.

During most of the time, Harpole said, Brothers Barrett and Frank Morgan were on his trail and once had exchanged shots with the Negro. When they met again, the deputy said, Barrett Morgan shot the Negro to death.

Harpole said there was evidence of violent struggle at the Sharp home and that the men's belongings had been ransacked, the mattresses ripped apart and the furniture overturned.

"The house looked like a cyclone had hit it," Harpole said.

The Negro apparently first attacked Lonnie Sharp behind a barn with a piece of iron, left him for dead, and then engaged the elder Sharp in a fight inside the house.

He found a shotgun, killed Oliver Sharp, and some time later confronted the younger man staggering from the barn, leaving a trail of blood, and shot him too, according to Harpole.

Neighbors afterward recalled hearing shots 15 minutes apart, Harpole said.

Smith traveled on foot next to the home of James Gray a half-mile away, frightened off the women and thoroughly ransacked that house.

"He went through the house room by room," Harpole said. "every cupboard, every drawer, everything was turned out and looted."

Murder Charge Is Dropped As Inquest Result

TRYON (UP) — A murder charge was dropped against a Polk County political figure today in the slaying of a Tryon theater manager but Solicitor C. O. Ridings promised the "investigation is not over" and said the case may be reopened later.

A coroner's jury at nearby Columbus yesterday heard eight witnesses and deliberated seven minutes before finding that Edward Ball 31, was "murdered by a party or parties unknown."

Following the inquest, a murder charge against Jesse L. Rhodes, former county accountant was dropped. Rhodes still was under $500 bond pending a hearing on charges of assault in connection with a volley of shots fired at Ball's car some eight hours before he was found dead in his theater office.

Ball was wounded in the shoulder by the volley of six shots. The fatal bullet, fired later in the darkened theater on Sunday, May 25, struck Ball in the chin. The murder gun was never found.

Tryon Police Chief Lewis Lindsay testified that Ball's body had been removed from the theater office and the floor and walls washed before any technical evidence could be secured at the scene.

Lindsay said he went to the theater about 10:50 a. m. on May 25, found Ball dead from shots in the face and head, lying on his knees with his head in a pool of blood against the base of the wall. He said he left to examine bullet holes in Ball's car and when he returned 40 minutes later, the body was gone and the office was scrubbed.

Asked who had called the undertaker to remove the body, Lindsay said, "I don't know."

Claude Davis, State Bureau of Investigation agent in Asheville, said he was called to Tryon but when he arrived he was "advised there would be no need in processing the area of the wall where the body was supposed to have been since it had been washed with water."

Davis said Rhodes had denied any knowledge of Ball's death or the earlier shooting in which Ball was wounded, but declined to take a lie detector test.

Mrs. Stella S. Rhodes, wife of Rhodes, had told officers earlier that Rhodes fired the volley of shots at Ball's car while she was sitting with Ball in the car about 2:30 a. m. Sunday. Mrs. Rhodes was not permitted to testify at the inquest.

Bricker Claims Approval 'Sure'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. John W. Bricker predicted today the Senate will approve his Constitutional amendment limiting the President's treaty-making power before the current session ends.

The Ohio Republican also said he hopes the proposal will at least get part way through the house legislative mill this year.

The Senate Judiciary Committee Thursday approved the proposal 84 despite strenuous opposition of the Eisenhower administration. The controversial measure gives Congress power to "regulate all executive and other agreements with any foreign power or international organization."

Primarily aimed at covenants worked out in United Nations organizations, the proposed amendment would prevent any treaty from changing domestic law within the United States without a specific go-ahead from Congress.

Despite strong backing for the bill among senators in both parties, opponents promised to fight it the way on the floor.

RALEIGH (UP) — Fifteen-year-old Carl Roberson Wilson of Neuse faced a life term in prison today after pleading guilty to raping a 7-year-old Negro girl May 23.

Superior Court Judge A. R. Crisp sentenced the youth after the plea of guilty to the capital charge. A law enacted by the 1953 legislature permits a defendant in a capital case to plead guilty. If the plea is accepted by the state a life term is mandatory.

Boy's Curiosity Got Best Of Him

It was lock, stock and barrel. The lock was the automatic device that Deputy Sheriff Loyd Manning had on his handcuffs, the pair in his car when he took it into a Greenville service station for a tune-up.

The stock was Charles Stock, 17-year-old student station attendant whose curiosity got the better of him when he ran across the cuffs while cleaning the vehicle.

And the barrel was what he was over when, wondering how they worked, he tried them on for size and found that they did. Deputy Manning came to the rescue with the key, but not before the youth in an impetuous escape effort, had pounded the rings together beyond the power of the key to tilt the tumblers.

For awhile it looked like Stock must face life in brackets. Then someone came to the rescue with a bolt cutter and the steel band was severed at its narrowest section near the first tooth.

A soberer but wiser young man returned to his duties.

Asks Permission To Exceed Quota

WASHINGTON (UP) — Permission to plant damaged cotton and corn land to peanuts above quotas was requested today as relief for half-stricken farmers in Bertie, Halifax and Northampton counties, N. C.

Sen. Willis Smith made the request of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson. Smith said it is too late for farmers to replant their cotton and corn. He urged speedy action on the quest.

A devastating hail storm Monday did an estimated $5,000,000 in crop damage in the three counties.

Your First Defense Job

Somebody Told Me . . .

About Jay And A Recent Rescue

Recently at Whichard's Beach near Washington Jay Brantley of 1304 Forbes Street and his son Bill rescued 11 people from a boat that sank about half a minute after the rescue was made. When I contacted Jay to ask his permission to print the story he said, "There's nothing to the story at all, and certainly nothing heroic about it. I was scared to death."

One day I was talking to his wife and she told me that an explosion that occurred near Jay during World War II had resulted in his deafness. But Jay has never collected a pension from the government for his loss. With effort he could probably get one, but he simply continues to make his own way.

Because of his ability to live without hindrance from deafness, Jay has been granted a driver's license and enjoys operating his car.

Some say that his deafness is a virtue in his business, that of repairing outboard motors and other small engines in his shop behind his house on Forbes Street. The theory is that he cannot hear the operation of the engines, but can tell more by feeling the vibrations than other repairmen can tell from hearing them.

His wife claims that he sees so much that the rest of us do not notice. It's the theory that you've often heard: When one sense is taken away others grow sharper.

Jay has a far-reaching reputation for his ability to fix these motors. After some other mechanics have failed he frequently finds the remedy for tough jobs.

Maybe that's why Jay noticed the alarm of the passengers on the boat at Whichard's Beach while others whizzed by in their boats without concern. There were 11 people who could not swim who were taken in Jay's boat. Some were very near panic-stricken. There's little doubt that Jay and Bill saved some from drowning by being at the right place at the right time, plus the fact that Jay noticed what others did not.

And I thank you.
JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

(Henderson Dispatch)
Hundreds of miles away, in Paris, the Duke of Windsor, who once for a brief period sat upon the throne of England, watched by television on Tuesday the crowning of his niece, Elizabeth II, as the monarch of all Britain. It would be interesting indeed to know the thoughts that raced through the mind of the man who for a while was Edward VIII, but who abdicated as king for "the woman I love"—the former Wallis Warfield Simpson, of Baltimore, an American divorcee.

for that matter — especially as powerful royalty as that of England. But when Edward stepped down, his brother, known affectionately in the royal household as "Bertie," became the British monarch as King George VI. For the second time since his abdication for a coronation in London, both of which were made possible by his retirement.

coronation pageantry. Edward commented that "it was a very impressive ceremony," but one can but wonder what the thoughts were that came and went as he looked on by television from a great distance. And what was his wife thinking as she watched? In their quiet moments of meditation through the years has either have both regretted the decision of King Edward VIII made on that eventful day of December 11, 1936, when he voluntarily relinquished and signed away the kingship which he held less than a year, and not even long enough to go through a coronation in his own right?

Around Capitol Square

By LYNN NISBET
POLITICS — A deal of hot weather conversation around Capitol Square is about who will run for the United States Senate next year, and who are the present most likely potentials for the government two years later. Once in a long while North Carolina elects a Senator or a Governor whose name had not figured in speculation a year before the nominating primary that was held when Kerr Scott was chosen Governor in 1948 and Willis Smith was elected to the Senate in 1950. Most of the men selected to fill these high offices are from among those whose names have been banded about for several years in political gossip.

CANDIDATES — Senator Willis Smith has stated that he will be a candidate for re-election. Remembering the bitterly fought primary of 1950 it is certain that he will have vigorous opposition. For months it has been assumed by many political observers that Kerr Scott would afford that opposition. A few observers have thought that Scott would not himself be in the race, but would give full support to somebody else belonging to his school of political thought. Extension of this idea is that Scott might try for C again in 1956. A few weeks ago there was a flurry of interest over a newspaper story that friends of State Senator John D. Larkins Jr. were trying to get Smith out of the race and Larkins in. Not much has been heard about that lately, and since Brandon Hodges resigned as State treasurer, Larkins' name has figured prominently as a likely appointee for that post. Mention has been made of Harold Cooley, congressman from the fourth district, as a potential senatorial candidate, but Cooley has been cool to the suggestion. Lindsay Warren, controller of the general accounting office at Washington, whose tenure there expires in 1955, has also been mentioned for both Senate and Governor.

Issues — Some political campaigns are waged on personalities. Witness the 1950 senatorial race in which Frank Graham's personal following was far more potent than his political philosophy. To some extent the personality of Kerr Scott, who had appointed Graham to the Senate, was involved in that race — as it had been in the 1948 gubernatorial contest. Indications now are that next year's campaign (like most of those in the past) will be on issues rather than personalities. It seems equally certain that the controlling issues cannot be predicted now.

NO BOSSISM — This attitude of North Carolina voters not to put relative strangers into high places of political honor and trust has occasioned charges that a few political bosses dictate who shall hold the offices. That is not true at all. The traditional policy simply emphasizes the truth that Tarheel voters want to know who they are voting for — even if sometimes it is difficult to tell why. Take the instances mentioned. Kerr Scott had not been thought of as candidate for Governor, but he was well known to the voters by reason of three terms as commissioner of agriculture. Willis Smith did not get into the senatorial race until three months before the primary, but he had been speaker of the House of Representatives and was well known as an eminent attorney at law. As for bossism, it is historically true that the then entrenched "bosses" of the Democratic party vigorously opposed them both.

UNLIKELY — It is entirely probable that some persons who have not figured in speculation to date may become active contenders for the senatorship next year. It is even possible that some such person may win the nomination. There is less than 50-50 chance for the nomination of an unknown, who has not been prominent in politics and government for several years. The newcomers add zest to the campaign and in the total balance contribute greatly to good government — but they seldom get elected in this state.

To Develop Atomic Energy Not Enough

Yesterday's atomic blast in Nevada — previously termed the "granddaddy" of the current series — really lived up to its advanced billing.

an item which challenges the imagination and likewise challenges man's ability to be master of this production rather than having it become master of him.

The blast that was seen as far away as Canada and Mexico, some 1,000 miles north and south of the blast area, has sent another shudder through the America people, and surely through those who would wage full scale war against this nation.

The power of nuclear energy a decade ago was a dream. Today it has become a reality, and with it has brought new nightmares to haunt the lives and future of men.

Concentrated power such as was evidenced in Thursday's blast can hardly be imagined by those who have not seen it first hand. Its ability to kill, maim and destroy is Realistically, there are few who are not thankful that the United States, rather than some other nation, holds the last word in atomic energy in its hands. Yet even in this country there are few who do not fear for the future of the world if atomic energy is ever unleashed in its full fury in all-out warfare.

New Hazards From The Dry Weather

Forest fires that have begun to sweep across North Carolina during the current dry spell, should be sufficient to provoke caution from those who traverse wooded areas, and motorist who travel highways bounded by trees and undergrowth.

To be sure progress is being made in the use of atomic energy to bring better living and greater benefits to humanity. For the present, however, it remains by and large a force for destruction rather than an instrument for building a better world.

From various sections of North Carolina in recent days have come reports of fires which have swept across many hundreds of acres of timberland doing thousands of dollars of damage.

By no stretch of the imagination could the United States afford to give up this tremendous source of power which has been developed. But in order to continue to be its master rather than become its servant, the inner man must rapidly approach the threshold of the atomic age spiritually, rather than considering himself self-reliant with the atomic bomb in his hand.

Most of the fires — as is the usual case in forest fires — were caused by carelessness on the part of some individual or group. Once started, the fires have swept over many acres before they could be stamped out.

Promises That Will Be Difficult To Keep

President Eisenhower has pledged that United States action in Korea will not result in "a new Munich" nor will it bring on the risk of a greater war.

The origin of many of the fires could be a smoldering cigarette carelessly dropped on the ground or flipped from a car window; a campfire not thoroughly put out; or a match which was still burning when dropped into dry leaves or grass.

Those are promises which are difficult to make to any people in these perilous times. They are promises which are even more difficult to keep than to conscientiously make.

While the dry weather which has prevailed over the state for the past few weeks is causing more concern for young crops than for the woodland, it still behooves the people of the state to exercise caution in or near wooded areas. The dry weather can do a tremendous amount of damage to the crops in the fields; and if mixed with a little carelessness on the part of people, it can do a tremendous amount of damage to the state's valuable woodlands as well.

The critical situation in Korea, with the truce apparently nearer than ever before, and the South Koreans bucking the terms almost agreed upon by other principals in the conflict, have cast a shadow across the world.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
In reading the Bible, we very often miss the point that the body is very important in the spiritual life. Oftentimes we get and hold fast to the idea that the body is the enemy of the soul. We quote the statement: "The flesh lusteth against the spirit and the spirit against the flesh," and conclude that the body is bad—the enemy of the soul. The body is sometimes indeed the enemy of the soul—very often in fact—but it is not intended so to be. The Bible tells us that the body is the temple of the Holy Spirit. Jesus was raised from the grave with the same body in which he had suffered, and the Bible unmistakably seems to teach that the physical body with which Christ arose from the grave was not forsaken but glorified in his ascension into heaven. Someone has called Christianity not the religion of the spirit but the religion of the body. If we grasp the teachings of the New Testament in their fullness, we come to regard the body as a divine instrument—something beloved and honored of God, the temple of his indwelling Spirit, and the promise of a general resurrection of the body in which the promises of eternal life will be fulfilled in an amazing and overwhelming fashion. Body and soul together! These make up life. Honor your body.

It is agreed that the principles for which American and other United Nations troops took up arms in Korea can not be disregarded for the sake of an armistice. At the same time the world has grown weary of the Korean stalemate and does not relish a spread of the conflict over a wider area. Still there is the threat of communist aggression elsewhere if the Korean war is settled and the Red Chinese troops occupied there are free for other duty.

Taft-Hartley Act's Roadblock

WASHINGTON—The legislative roadblock which may prevent any revision of the Taft-Hartley Act is the unusually bitter, backstage battle over proposals to outlaw the union shop. The politicians dare not touch this explosive issue, and labor leaders fear that they may lose the protection and privileges which this system now affords them.

To foretell the future is impossible in present world affairs. To promise peace and freedom from aggression is one thing. To deliver these dreams is another. The people of the United States have great confidence in President Eisenhower, yet it is not being skeptical or pessimistic to assert he has gone out on a limb with his promise of "no new Munich" — "no risk of a general war."

Both Taft-Hartley and the Railway Labor Act provide for compulsory unionism. They require an employee to join a union within a specified time, from 60 to 90 days, under penalty of discharge. Both prohibit the so-called "closed shop," although there is no practical difference between that and the union shop, once a worker has been hired.

It can only be hoped that he has the foresight and guidance to lead the destinies of the world through the narrow path which leads between the two.

STATES GIVE PROTECTION—Thirteen states have passed laws or constitutional amendments providing that the right to work shall not be based on an employee's union affiliation or non-affiliation. As always, interests, affected or restricted by national laws, run to the states for protection against Uncle Sam.

Worse still from the union's viewpoint, it was their beloved liberal, Justice Hugo Black, who served the shrewdest warning against compulsory unionism. In one of the most important decisions on this question, he wrote the majority opinion. He said: "Just as we have held that the due process clause erects no obstacle to block legislative protection of union members, we now hold that legislative protection can be afforded non-union workers."

TAFT-HARTLEY ENDS THE STATES' JURISDICTION in this field, but a 1951 amendment to the Railway Labor Act does not. Measures permitting the states to supersede the Federal laws on this point have been introduced on Capitol Hill. The question has also been raised in several legal disputes.

In view of Justice Black's background and philosophy, labor spokesmen did not indulge in their usual violent criticism of his ruling. But they did shift their strategy, and now prefer retention of the present law to enactment of even more hostile legislation.

COMPULSORY UNIONISM—Labor's underlying fear of any reopening of the labor-management legislation problem has been aggravated by several recent Supreme Court decisions. The Roosevelt- Truman body which was expected to preserve F.D.R.'s social and economic reforms, has upheld the right-to-work laws

Retailer's Expansion

By ELMER ROESSNER
A few years ago the successful operator of a retail establishment, deciding he knew all the answers to merchandising, began opening other stores until he had a chain of eight. More recently he sold all but two. He operates one, his son, the other, "I was almost stolen out of business," he said. "There was considerable shop-lifting. But what was worse, my branch managers didn't seem to be able—or want—to prevent dishonesty among employees. Employees would knock down part of the receipts and undercharge their friends and relatives. On top of that, some of my managers were dipping into the cash, writing false refunds and neglecting to record sales."

managers' bonuses and, when a shortage is grave, the manager may be fired. Then managers will be watchful of shop-lifters and employees.

"I hired a protective agency. It did some good and even gathered some evidence that would stand up in court. But I didn't want to send anybody to jail, so I sold out."

Tight stock control means frequent inventory taking. Some chains require manager to make their own stock counts weekly, then check items at random, supplementing this with complete stock checks less often.

"The first is the installation of a system of recording sales that is as near cheat-proof as possible. Most companies selling cash registers or sales slips can recommend systems that have been tested and are working successfully."

This, of course, is bothersome and expensive. But the only real test of a stock control system is whether it costs considerably less than the potential loss through pilfering. The large market chains, you know, maintain control over thousands of different items with less loss than many a one-store enterprise.

"The second is the establishing of a tight system of stock control and making the manager responsible for his inventory. Shortages may be charged against

Looking Back On The Big Show

By HAL BOYLE
LONDON (AP) — Coronation memories:

ers for 24 to 48 hours to watch their queen ride by.

British wives often have a feeling of envy for the freedom American women enjoy and the power they have in the home. Here the Englishmen's house is not only his castle—he is pretty much the king in it. He has the big say, if any partner in the marriage does, particularly in the spending of money.

But what surprised me was the number of parents who took their children through the same pneumonia-risking ordeal, children too small to understand the meaning of the event. There were hundreds.

Naturally, then, wives here like any step leading toward more feminine authority, and they aren't unhappy at all to have a queen instead of a king reigning over the land. They'd like to put the same system into their own households.

I watched one lot of four—the same age as the queen's own son—who had waited with his parents nearly 33 hours on a curb for the queen and her troops to come past. He was in torture for hours, the torture of a child whose tired body cried out for sleep.

Maybe that's why Jay noticed the alarm of the passengers on the boat at Whichard's Beach while others whizzed by in their boats without concern. There were 11 people who could not swim who were taken in Jay's boat. Some were very near panic-stricken. There's little doubt that Jay and Bill saved some from drowning by being at the right place at the right time, plus the fact that Jay noticed what others did not.

Meanwhile two interesting announcements came over the loud speaker:

Thus, perhaps one of the most cheerful moments of symbolism in the coronation ceremony to many a British housewife was the act of homage paid to his wife, the queen, by the Duke of Edinburgh.

"The R.S.P.C.A. (Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) advises not to bring animals into the coronation crowds. Those coming into London are reminded to be sure to leave plenty of food and water for their pets at home and provide for their exercise.

Knelling at her feet, the handsome duke spoke his ritual: "I, Phillip, Duke of Edinburgh, do become your liege man of life and limb, and of earthly worship; and faith and truth I will bear unto you, to live and die, against all manner of folks."

Before you light your coronation bonfires be careful to see that no birds have built their nests in them, as they have been up for a long time.

Many a wife here must have been dawning of how nice to be in the queen's position at that moment. One middle-aged housewife, after viewing the scene on television, turned around with a look of utter happiness on her face and said:

There was no warning at all about not bringing toddling children or infants in arms to the long coronation watch.

"At last we're coming into our own!"

What happened to the little boy on the curb? All the queen's horses and all the queen's men couldn't keep him awake. He fell asleep on his mother's shoulder. When the queen's royal gold coach rolled by, the mother roused her son.

The beginning of Queen Elizabeth's reign may be the beginning of the end of the long rule of "Eber, the hard-hearted usbard, No one can help admiring the British gift for courage and very good humor in a test of fortitude. It was shown strikingly by thousands who stood or slept on the pavement through shine and show-

But he only glanced at it, and then threw his small arms around her neck and sank into his dreamland, perhaps a dreamland where little boys are kings and don't have to sit on a curb a day, a night and half a day again to see a parade and queen-even one so fair as Elizabeth II.

Many a wife here must have been dawning of how nice to be in the queen's position at that moment. One middle-aged housewife, after viewing the scene on television, turned around with a look of utter happiness on her face and said:

Potential N.C. Candidates And Some Contingencies

Newdeal-Fairdeal segment of the party. If eight months from now it appears that the incumbent National and State administrations are making good, the opposition candidate to Senator Smith, whom ever that might be, will have a hard time. On the other hand, if by that time it appears the incumbent administrations are not making good the burden will be transferred to Smith and his supporters.

heeded the ancient admonition that a vigorous offensive is the best defense. He took a firm stand against unrestricted immigration, against negotiated contracts favoring New England textile mills over North Carolina plants and in favor of State sovereignty over fishing and recreation along the coast—which was the real issue in the much publicized "islands" matter. These positions offer targets for the ultra-liberals to shoot at, but essentially they constitute an offensive against the idea that we should give our heritage without considering how the recipients will guard it.

Principles of Christian Stewardship

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buesthor

Scripture—II Corinthians 8-9.

The Christians in Jerusalem were in need and the churches in Corinth and Macedonia were asked to contribute to help them.

In the matter of giving, Paul writes: "He which soweth sparingly, shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap bountifully."

The generous givers will be "enriched in everything to all bountifulness, for the administration of this service not only supplieth the want of the saints, but it is abundant also by thanksgiving unto God."

The Jerusalem Christians would not only be grateful for the generous contributions for their comfort, but would glorify and give thanks to God for their brethren in Christ, and would pray for them.

Principles of Christian Stewardship

PAUL URGES GENEROUS CONTRIBUTIONS TO NEEDY BRETHREN

Scripture—II Corinthians 8-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL THE MATTER of giving to our church and to other worthy causes is always one of the world's problems now as it was in the earliest days of the Christian church.

The "saints" (as Paul calls them) in the Jerusalem church were very poor, often in need, so Paul wrote to the church in Corinth to give generously to them, citing the liberality of the Macedonians.

Discussion of church finances almost always is embarrassing to the congregation and to the minister. In our day we must not only donate liberally to our church, but there are also many other causes which ask our financial help.

to die for men; poor and lowly by birth, and materially poor all His earthly life.

Paul writes that he is sending Titus and two companions—whom he does not identify—to Corinth to help in collecting the bounty.

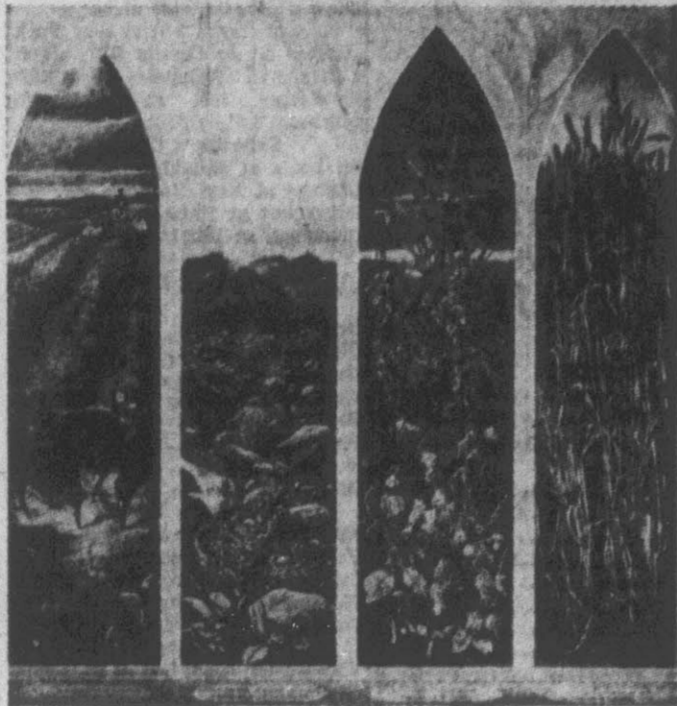

"But this I say, He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully."

"Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver."

Those who give of their abundance need have no fear for their own future, Paul writes: "And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound in every good work."

TV Film Output Is Sweeping Hollywood

By ALINE MOSBY

IF HOLLYWOOD UP) — More television films are being made in Hollywood today than theater movies, and the man who pioneered the TV-Hollywood business says the town "once thought I was mad."

The Hal Roach Studio was the first movie factory to go in for home screen movies back in 1947, when only 13,000 TV sets flickered in Los Angeles and only a handful of cities in the U.S. boasted TV stations.

Today Hollywood bustles with 23 television movies in production, but only 21 theater movies. A year ago 23 theater movies were before the cameras; two years ago, 44.

"We had to try to convince television people of the possibility of using film," explained Hal Roach Jr. "They were mostly ex-radio people and they didn't know much about pictures. We didn't know much about radio. It took some doing for us all to get together."

"Then you heard the argument on any New York street corner that TV never would be on film and the TV industry never would come to the West Coast. They couldn't understand our argument that filmed shows could be used over and over. We just sold 100 old 'Rocket Squad' films for $1,000,000."

Roach and his father, pioneer movie-maker Roach Sr., sank their future in TV production. This year the Roach Studio alone will turn out more film, by the foot, than MGM and 20th Century-Fox put together.

The old studio in Culver City used to make Harold Lloyd, Our Gang and Laurel and Hardy movies. Today the sound stages are busy with television's "My Little Margie," with Gale Storm and Charles Farrell, "Lise of Riley" with Bill Bendix, and "Rocket Squad" with Reed Hadley.

You can also see Laraine Day, Brian Aherne, Peter Lind Hayes and Mary Healy on the lot acting in test films for TV series.

Other small studios have clamored on the television bandwagon. General Service, Motion Picture Center, Goldwyn, RKO-Pathé, Eagle-Lion and Republic studios rent space to TV movie companies making films with such big-name stars as David Niven, Charles Boyer and Dick Powell.

A rumor persists the Warner lot may cater to TV rentals, too. "The big studios haven't gone in for TV yet because they own theaters, indirectly, and they have to protect those theater seats," Roach Jr. said.

"We don't own theaters."

New Peg Leg For Rice Field Work

TOKYO (AP)—The American-Korean foundation has developed a new type of artificial leg which will permit a war-maimed Korean soldier to work in the rice fields.

Dr. Howard A. Rupp, head of the private organization's six-month mission, said the peg leg type had been equipped with a metal rocker at the bottom which will enable a worker to lift his foot from the mud more readily.

Break Ice Jam With Gunfire

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Chinese Communists say they recently used artillery fire to break up a big ice jam on the Yellow river which threatened a flood in Suiyuan province of North China.

A Peiping broadcast heard here said artillery was ordered up ahead of time and "fired the jam southwest of Paotow when pent up waters behind the ice threatened dikes upstream."

Elks' Bynum Hurls No-Hit Victory Over Exchangites

After First Inning Wildness, Bynum Settles Down And Pitches Near-Perfect Game For Winners

Merrill Bynum pitched the first no-hit, no-run game in the current Little League season as he hurled the Elks to a 3-0 win over the Exchangites yesterday afternoon at Elm Street Park.

Eleven Exchangites went down swinging as the Elks' Bynum was pitching the masterpiece. Three batters reached base by way of bases on balls and Bynum hit one other batter.

The most part of this wildness by the no-hit pitcher came in the top of the first inning when he issued two free passes and hit one better. With the bases loaded and two men out, Bynum settled down and struck out his first batter of the contest, Jeff Fountain, to end the threat.

After the first inning, only two batters of the Exchangites got on base, one by an error and the other a walk. Bynum struck out the side in the second and third innings.

Charles Bested led the Elk batters with two singles. There were no extra-base blows in the entire contest. 10-0 shutout win over the White Sox gave the Minor League Red Sox their eighth win against only one defeat. McGee was the winning pitcher.

Box score for Elks vs Exchangites. Elks won 3-0. Bynum pitched 9.0 innings, 0 hits, 0 runs, 0 errors.

City Playground Directors Open Parks June 10

The playgrounds of the city will open Wednesday, June 10, at 3 p.m. All children are invited to attend, as big plans are being made for the summer, according to Recreational Director Warren Carroll.

In cooperation with the vacation Bible schools of the city, all playgrounds will operate only in the afternoon until Bible school is over. The hours of operation will be as follows: 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., with special events, parties, filled in during the evening hours and at other odd times.

All personnel will attend a playground training institute in Kingston on June 8 and 9. The institute is sponsored and conducted by the North Carolina Recreation Commission.

Carroll says, "Playgrounds are for adults as well as children. Since all playgrounds will be operated on a point basis this year attendance by adults will mean a great deal to the children that attend."

George MacMillan is in charge of athletics equipment and will act as assistant director for the summer. The playgrounds and their directors are as follows:

- White: Elms Street Park, Linda Whitehurst; Third Street, Mrs. Johnny Foell; West Greenville, Nancy Howell. Special Instructors: Music and dancing, Mary Dunn; Arts and crafts, Mrs. Frank Dudley; Tennis, Carolyn Clapp; Athletics and special events, Beck Corbin.

Colored: Riverside, Eleanor Heagan; Epbes, Albert Hill, Francis Vines; South Greenville, Margaret Newton and Charity Williams.

Willie Pep Takes Comeback Step At Garden Today

NEW YORK (UP) — Tricky Willie Pep, absent from New York rings for 20 months because of bad behavior, makes an important stop on the comeback trail tonight at Madison Square Garden in a television fight with socker Pat Marcune of Coney Island.

It will be wily Willie's first New York appearance since Sept. 26, 1951, when he failed to recapture the featherweight crown from Sandy Saddler. Ex-champ Pep was stopped in the ninth round. And he was banned indefinitely for rough tactics.

Short of cash but still hopeful of another title shot, 30-year old Pep will match his lingering speed and skill against the right-handed explosiveness of 24-year old Marcune.

Pep of Hartford, Conn., was favored at 12-5 to win the 10-rounder, which will be televised and broadcast nationally at 10 p.m. e.d.t.

He was avowed because of his experience in 183 professional bouts and because of his top ranking among the world's featherweight contenders in the latest ring ratings. Marcune, an in-and-outter, was not listed among the top 10.

Benton Pitches 2-1 Win For Farmville

A brilliant fielding play by short-stop Bill Kennedy protected a slim one-run lead for Farmville's Red Benton, as he pitched his team to a 2-1 win over Wilson last night in a Bright Belt League game played in Wilson.

Two men were out in the sixth inning and Wilson had two runners on first and third bases. On a deep hit ground ball between second and third bases, Kennedy raced back and made a spectacular catch of the ball and quickly played it to second for a force out of the runner on first.

Berry Jones paced the winners' batters with two for three, while the losers' Al Rehlem collected two base hits for four times at bat for Wilson.

Farmville faces Stantonburg in a three-game series this weekend, meeting them in Farmville tonight and tomorrow night and playing in Stantonburg Sunday afternoon.

Bright Leafs Romp; Independents Win

The Independents chalked up their third straight Pony League victory by edging the Red Men 4-3 in a tight contest at Third Street Park last evening. The Bright Leafs walloped the Ford-O-Matics 10-2 in the second contest.

Dunn and Harrington had home runs for the Independents, while the only extra-base blow for the Red Men was a double by Jordan. Roebuck had two singles for the winners. Winning pitcher Miller fanned 13 Red Men, while the losing hurler struck out 10.

A last inning single by Edmundson was the only Ford-O-Matics hit off the offerings of Arnold as the Bright Leafs romped to their second win against one setback. Arnold had three hits, including a home-run and a double to lead his team at the plate.

Score by innings for Bright Leafs vs Independents. Bright Leafs won 4-3.

Score by innings for Bright Leafs vs Ford-O-Matics. Bright Leafs won 10-2.

Score by innings for Red Men vs Bright Leafs. Red Men won 3-0.

Carroll Regional Director For Little League Tourney

City Recreational Director Warren Carroll has been appointed Little League tournament director for Region V by Little League Baseball, Incorporated, Williamsport, Pa. The tournament will be held here August 17, 18 and 19 at the Elm Street Park.

The Greenville Jaycees are taking over the sponsorship of the event and are planning all the events that will be offered for the visiting Little League players and fans following the teams. Plans at present call for entertainments and socials for the visitors while the games are not going on.

Region V will have an entry of eight teams coming here from eight sections in the Region. The sections are: North Carolina, I; South Carolina, II; Northern Florida, III; Southern Florida, IV; Alabama, V; Tennessee, VI; and Kentucky, VII.

After the local tournament is completed, the winner will journey to Williamsport to participate in the Little League World Series.

Lemon Hurls Indian Win Over Red Sox; Giants, Phillies Take Games To Keep Close To League Leaders

NEW YORK (UP) — Maybe it would be better not to "hate the Yankees."

The White Sox tried to stir up a feud by saying the umpires favored the Yankees. General Manager Frank Lane openly challenged some decisions and protests went all the way to League President Will Harridge. Before that General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Indians told all of his players to "hate the Yankees" and similar sentiments were voiced throughout the league.

Before the White Sox got into the act, they were the only club in the league to dominate the Yankees. They had beaten them four out of five times. Then came the reeking. Casey Stengel brought his boys into Chicago and they came out swinging. They won four with three victories in a row, taking the finale Thursday by a 9-5 count in 10 innings when Gil McDougald hit a homer in the appendent frame to open the flood gates for a rally that put the issue beyond doubt.

Thursday's victory was their seventh in a row and it gave Allie Reynolds, in a relief role, his fifth victory. Micky Mantle homered by beating them 10-5 in another run, also drilling a double.

Elsewhere in the American League the Indians stayed 5 1/2 games behind by topping the Red Sox 6-1 as Bob Lemon pitched a seven-hitter and Larry Doby hit a grand slam homer, while the Senators drubbed the Browns, 10-1 in a night game, and the A's swept a doubleheader from the Tigers, 11-2, and 9-6 in 10 innings.

Brooklyn moved back to within a half game of the braven Braves by beating them 10-5 in another Ebbets Field slugfest in which Bob Morgan, Gil Hodges, Duke Snider, and Carl Furillo hit homers. Snider drove in two runs, also connecting for a double and single. Johnny Logan paced the Braves with three hits as Max Surkont finally went down to his first defeat after six straight victories. Billy Lefeb won his seventh game with relief help from Jim Hughes.

The Giants settled into the kind of a rut they'd like to test in for a lifetime when they won their second straight game by an 11-3 score from Cincinnati, piling up seven runs in the eighth inning for their margin. The Pirates without Ralph Kiner defeated the Cubs with him, 6-1 as Ralphie got a double but couldn't offset the slugging of his team mates of the day before. Carlos Bernier hit a homer inside-the-park and Bob Hall pitched seven-inning ball for his first win. The Phils beat the Cards, 6-5, in 10-innings when Johnny Wyrostek's single scored Richie Ashburn from second base. The win gave the Phils sole possession of third place.

As I've said many times before, the "people in Pittsburgh" have treated me wonderfully. I have ever since Branch Rickey came here as general manager. I don't say that in a derogatory way. I merely mean that I'm not Rickey's type of ball player. He likes them young and fast.

I am remorseful in leaving Pittsburgh which I have come to know as my home. It would have been great to hit a home run out there yesterday. I was trying for the long one but couldn't quite get it. But today was just like any other game and a home run feels good anytime.

As long as I had to be traded, I'm glad I was sent to the Chicago Cubs. Chicago is a wonderful place to play so many night games.

Old Timers In Athletics Battle Sprouts Of Sports

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP) — There's gold-plated evidence at hand today that the old-timers of the athletic world are hangin' in there grimly against a game assault by the sprouts of sports.

Go back three years — which is a long time in the muscle marts — and you'll discover that the 10 top athletes still are doing fine, thank you, in the cheers and checks department.

The basis for this lesson is the monthly Hickok Poll to determine the outstanding pro athlete, which winds up annually voting the year's best in a run-off among monthly winners.

You won't find a Johnny-come-lately among the four monthly winners to date.

The honors have gone to such golfing graybeards as Ben Hogan and Lloyd Mangrum, a punch granddaddy named Kid Gavilan, and Gordie Howe, the youthful veteran of the hockey rinks. All of them have been around more than long enough to succumb to the shakes — but haven't.

Second at that time was another mighty mite, Hogan — cast in chilled steel and irrigated with ice water. Yep, he's still the man to beat and name your own Nassau.

Third was Ezzard Charles. At last reports he was angling to fight — again — for the heavyweight title and nobody looked better able to play bofo with Rocky Marciano.

Jim Konstanty was fourth, and still tosses tough pitches for the Philles; George Mikan was basketball's best, and still is; Stan Mutka ranked sixth, and he's better than ever, while Willie Shoemaker was up there, too, at that time and today is holding more of those babies home than anybody else.

Kiner Anxious Now To Team Up With Hank Sauer

By RALPH KINER As Told To The United Press PITTSBURGH (UP) — I'm anxious now to team up with Hank Sauer who tied with me last year for the home run lead in the National League.

I'm anxious to see what we can do now that we're going to be together. I was in Chicago Wednesday night when one of the club's officials came up and told me it looked like I was going to Chicago.

Actually, I knew all the while that I would be traded sometime. I have ever since Branch Rickey came here as general manager. I don't say that in a derogatory way. I merely mean that I'm not Rickey's type of ball player. He likes them young and fast.

I am remorseful in leaving Pittsburgh which I have come to know as my home. It would have been great to hit a home run out there yesterday. I was trying for the long one but couldn't quite get it. But today was just like any other game and a home run feels good anytime.

Duke Uses 2 Rookies To Win NCAA Games

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (UP) — Regardless of how Duke fares in the College World Series next week the new, District No. 3 NCAA champs can claim a record for audacity in using two rookie hurlers to beat Georgia in two crucial, qualifying games last night.

The fledglings who climbed on the mound for the Southern Conference champs confronted the mighty University of Georgia champions of the Southeastern Conference with a total of 19 innings of regular game hurling experience between them.

In fact, the 19 innings all belonged to sophomore Dick Kruetzies, who handed Georgia its first defeat of the Third District tournament, a 9 to 1 drubbing. He struck out nine and gave up just three hits.

The other rookie, sophomore Jerry Snyder, had no regular game hurling record at all — just some tosses for batting practice — behind the 11 to 3 humiliation he dealt the Georgians in the deciding nightcap game. He struck out six men and gave up only three hits.

Perhaps the audacity of it was what bowled Georgia over, but Coach Ace Parker the two-rookie performance was the payoff of a drastic longshot to bring Duke down behind and grab a berth in the big series at Omaha, Neb. Parker's regular moundmen were frazzled from the earlier competition.

Duke in the opening game grabbed three quick runs in the first inning and coasted into the win 7-1.

with 12 hits of two Georgia hurlers while young Kruetzies kept the Georgia batters flusterbaggasted. But the demoralized Georgia squad had not seen anything yet. Young Snyder walked up for his first game and calmly limited the Bulldogs to a run in the second and one each in the seventh and eighth. His teammates slammed 11 hits good for 11 runs — off two more Georgia moundsmen.

Latest Financial 'Deal' Will Again Take Czechs

By PHIL NEWSOM
 United Press Foreign News Editor
 Ten weeks ago Czechoslovakia's newly "elected" president, Antonin Zapotocky, promised the Czechs a new "paradise."

Today most of his audience have reason to suspect the word was "pair-of-dice" and that the dice were loaded.

All Czechs are under orders to line up this morning (June 4) at banks and special money exchange centers and submit to a financial shake-down that would make Big Julie's crooked game in "Guys and Dolls" look like a charity bazaar.

Basically, the deal works like this:

If you've managed to keep a few dollars — they call them crowns in Czechoslovakia — jingling in your pocket or nesting in the company till, you step up to the window and shell them out to the man for crisp, new currency.

Fifty of the old "capitalistic" crowns will get you one of the new, pegged to the Russian ruble.

Bank savings for workers will be run through the wringer at rates scaled from five to one for the first hundred dollars worth, to 30 to one for the more respectable sums. Owners of several billion crowns of bank accounts dating back before 1945, and impounded since then, have been advised to simply forget the whole thing. That money is worthless.

The government also had news for anyone foolish enough to have invested in Czech government loans or government securities. They're worthless, too.

But that's not all. A whopping 80 per cent cut in wages and salaries has been decreed by the government. In other words, if your pay check was 8,000 crowns last month, the next one will be for 1,600 crowns.

That bitter pill was sugar-coated—thinly—with an announcement that prices will be cut an average of 31 per cent. At best that would leave a 50 per cent gap between the cut in wages and the cut in prices.

Bread prices, for instance, are cut only 12 per cent; flour 22 per cent. The biggest cuts — 80 per cent — are for heavy industrial goods. Want to buy a dye-cutting plant, comrade?

But even that is not the end of the story. One additional decree has been quietly issued. It provides that Czech workers can be required to work "unlimited overtime", on top of the standard 40-hour week "in the interests of the state." Nothing said, either, about time and one-half or other benefits.

It all adds up to something that has been long suspected. The Czech economy is staggering, to the point of collapse, under the strain of trying to dance to Moscow's Communist tune. Her profitable markets with the West have been cut off. Her valuable consumer industries — glass, porcelain, toys, musical instruments — have been scrapped in favor of greater output of the guns, tanks and other war material Russia demands.

Prague Radio, in announcing its "financial reforms" let slip this bit of interesting information.

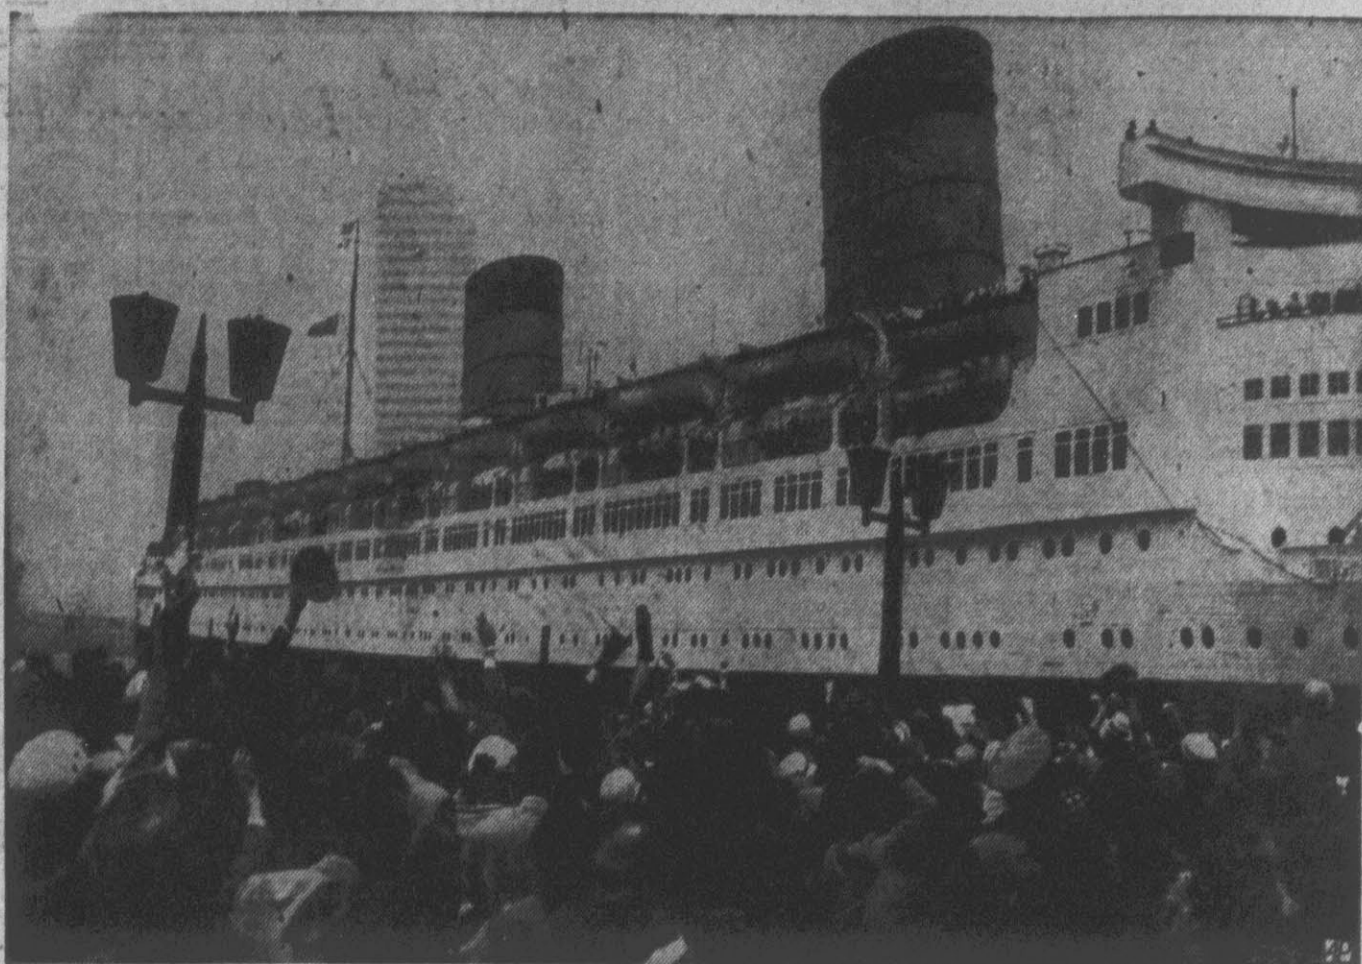

The new 50 crown notes will be engraved with a picture of a Czech partisan shaking hands with a Soviet soldier. At least the Czechs should know whom to blame for their financial plight.

Shell-Diving In Tahiti Is Halted

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP)—The current diving season in the pearl-shell stolls of the Tuamotus Archipelago is to be the last for an undetermined number of years. The lagoons will be closed to permit propagation of new varieties of mother-of-pearl oysters.

The native shell — the black-lip variety, now sadly depleted. Scientists of the French Colonial Government are reported as favoring introduction of the regal gold-lip shell from the Solomons, or perhaps the multi-colored types found in the Persian Gulf.

Some tank ships now carry 200,000 barrels of oil and others are being built to carry 300,000 barrels.

Senate Demos Hopefully Talk Budget Compromise

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democrats talked hopefully of a compromise today in the controversy over President Eisenhower's cutback defense budget.

At the request of Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), Air Force planners were busy working up a new budget aimed at the old 143-wing goal rather than the administration's cutback 120-wing target.

Informed sources revealed the revised budget probably would call for $3,500,000,000 to $4,000,000,000 boost in the new appropriations request. President Eisenhower submitted the request for the year starting July 1. This would still fall somewhat short of the Truman recommendation.

Sen. Burnet R. Maybank (D-S.C.) said he is ready to introduce an amendment to the Defense Department money bill to restore funds to finance the new Air Force program. He predicted that most Democrats and "some" Republicans will support it.

Peanut Storage Talks Scheduled

GREENSBORO — Farm Bureau Executive Vice-President E. Flake Shaw announced here today that he has been instructed by the board of the North Carolina Peanut Growers Association to call a special meeting of producers at the Agricultural Building in Winton, on June 8, at 3:00 P.M. to discuss peanut storage plans for the 1953 crop and the advisability of constructing additional warehouse facilities.

Shaw, who has been negotiating for the past three months with officials of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, said he has obtained a ruling on the availability of government funds which may be borrowed for storage construction.

He pointed out that funds are available from the Commodity Credit Corporation for the construction of storage on a matching basis, provided the counties or individuals furnish 20 per cent of the initial cost. "This money will carry an interest rate of 4 per cent and is to be amortized over a period of five years," he said.

Shaw emphasized that sufficient peanut storage must be available for the 1953 crop if farmers are to take full advantage of the 90 per cent loan rate for basic commodities. "It is highly important that producers use the loan heavier stages of the marketing season," he declared.

The Farm Bureau chief said there is a substantial portion of the 1952 peanut crop now in storage and facilities for storing the 1953 crop "will be very scarce in certain areas unless steps are taken to provide additional space."

Britons Prepare A Marriage Code

LONDON (UP) — A nine-point "highway code of marriage" is to be used in Britain by the Church of England and all branches of the Free Churches, in a drive over the next 18 months to repair unhappy marriages and lower the divorce rate.

The code was drawn up at a conference of the British Council of Churches in Birmingham, during which Canon H. C. Warner, chairman of the executive committee of the standing conference on sex, marriage and family, pointed out that divorces in Britain are now averaging 30,000 a year.

The code's points are: Parents should be educated in a simple understanding of the psychology of their children. Parents should be urged to establish Christian homes. Young parents should accept the responsibility in introducing their children to the facts of life.

Teachers should cooperate with the parents in these respects. Older schoolboys and schoolgirls should be taught more about home-making. Chaplains and others concerned with young people should explain why moral standards are worthwhile.

Colleges training men for the ministry should give continuous thought to the subject of marriage and family life.

The government should provide a handbook on marriage for the 30 per cent of couples who marry in Britain's register offices. All churches should go ahead with their own plans to bring education into marriage and family life.

Downy Mildew' Appears In State

RALEIGH — Cucumber and cantaloupe growers were warned today that downy mildew has made its first appearance in North Carolina this year.

Frank Haasis, plant pathologist of the Vegetable Research Laboratory at Wilmington, found evidence of the disease in New Hanover County on Monday, according to H.R. Garriss, in charge of plant pathology for State College Extension Service.

Garriss said this is the earliest report of the disease since 1949, when it was also observed on June 1, and caused serious losses on both cucumbers and cantaloupes.

Army Worms Cut Widening Swath

By UNITED PRESS
 Relentless army worms marched into new areas in at least six states today, felling small grain like it had been mowed and shredding tender young corn and clover.

Meanwhile, other insect pests like the corn flies beetle and the tent caterpillar also were massing in troublesome hordes in some areas.

The brownish-green army worms were ruining crops in parts of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, West Virginia and Maryland.

Many farmers had already lost thousands of dollars in anticipated income.

Agriculture Department experts in Washington said they hoped to kill army worms with a dust made of the powdered bodies of other army worms, captured and inoculated with a virus deadly to the species.

The experiment will be tried on Maryland fields near the Beltsville Md., research center. Dr. S. R. Dutky, pathologist at the center, said 500 worms had already been captured and inoculated with "polyhedral" virus disease. They will be ground up and made into dust spray soon.

The Agriculture Department, sympathetic to the farmers' plight was conducting thorough studies to learn if the use of high-powered insecticides like dieldrin on small grain would poison the grain heads and make them dangerous for human consumption.

A decision was expected in a "day or so."

Many farmers, especially in West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, were harvesting wheat and other grains before they were ripe to save them from the "almost unbelievable" ravages of the army worms.

Agriculture Department experts said they hoped the traditional enemies of the army worm, parasites that kill the hungry hordes, can halt the northward march of the pests.

Experts reported that the corn flea beetle was taking a "serious bite" out of Illinois and Indiana crops. The Department of Agriculture said that Illinois is having the worst outbreak of the tiny, black insect in 20 years.

Several New York Central Railroad trains were delayed in the last few days in the northern part of the state when hordes of tent caterpillars moved over railroad tracks.

The trains could get no traction over the slippery mass of larva.

ALL-PURPOSE GAS UNIT CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — A gas-powered unit, capable of generating heat, refrigeration and air-conditioning for the home, probably will be available soon for American homes, according to Allen W. Lundstrum of Columbus, O., president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

It is estimated there are more than 20 million water buffalo in India.

Mandell wiped his cheeks with the back of his hand. 'I don't know, sir.'
'You didn't put it there?'
'No, sir.' Mandell thrust out his arm and showed Mr. Ebbing the bare spot that the extension bracelet of his wrist watch had worn in the hair on his left wrist. 'That I know. I had to hock my watch to buy a pack of cigarettes.'
'I see,' Ebbing said. 'Now, about this other matter, Bernard. About the man who you claim opened the door, turned out the light, and shot at you and killed Mr. Curtis.'
'Yes, sir.'
'What did he look like?'
'I don't know.'
'No, sir. Like I told Mr. Gilmore, it came so all of a sudden. And he was through the fire door and gone by the time I got out in the hall.'

him and she said my father used to send him four dollars every week so he and his wife could eat.'
Attorney Ebbing passed the fingertips of a well-cared-for hand over his eyes. 'It would seem that patent law has its points.' He sighed, 'Now, just two more questions, Bernard. Then I'll let you go to Gale. Did this Mr. Curtis tell you anything that, in your opinion, might cause someone to want to shoot him or you?'
'No, sir.'
'Did he tell you anything that we might tell the police that would help them apprehend the man who killed him?'
'No, sir.'
'He didn't make sense while he was talking. It still doesn't, sir. But Mr. Curtis knew all about my uncle Vladimir. And he was very pleased when I told him that my father had changed our name from Mantschok to Mandell. He said they'd been trying to contact me for some time; that they'd known where I was all the time, but there was some mix-up and they hadn't realized who I was. Then he came right out and said it was about a lot of money and about something even more important.'
'Did he say what this some thing was?'
'No, sir.'
'Is your uncle wealthy?'
'No, sir. He's dead.'
'Ebbing was a bit impatient with him. 'Was he wealthy?'
Mandell shook his head. 'I doubt it. I doubt it very much, sir. Because I asked my mother about

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

New Gimmicks In Selling Game

CHICAGO (UP) — Advertisers have come up with a suitcase full of new gimmicks in an effort to sell more goods.
A recent advertising meeting revealed many firms are using "booby traps" to startle customers into noticing their wares.
Among the "booby traps" is a miniature phonograph that plays a 50-second message. It can be concealed in a car or refrigerator door and starts playing when the door is open.
Some of the tiny phonographs have been hidden in the base of a pop-up toaster display. The advertising pitch comes when the lever is pushed down.
Another new advertising gadget is the "rotolight." It's a projection device that forms the advertiser's message out of a haze effect, brings it into focus, then lets it fade away.
A spokesman hailed the new gadgets as a personnel saver on sales floor. He said the machines give customers the initial pitch, leaving salesmen free to concentrate on the most likely buyers.
Stage Effects
Advertisers have even taken a tip from the armed forces in the continuous sales campaign.
"Cartographic visualizers," used extensively by the U.S. Navy, are the basis for an animated training and sales aid for a tractor firm.
Variable cams activate moving cardboard parts to give effects of coordinated motion. Operation of the tractor's hydraulic system can be seen by turning a wheel in the chart. This carries the hydraulic system through a 24-stage cycle.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Paced by rails and industrial issues, stocks early today extended yesterday's closing rally. Trading was moderately active.

Gains in the rails and industrial issues ranked to more than a point. A few high-priced oil equities lacked on good gains.

The advance was described in Wall Street as mostly technical because of the recent slump in the market which drove industrial prices back to the levels of last Oct. 30.

Sales in the first hour totaled 270,000 shares, compared with 160,000 in the same period yesterday.

Denver & Rio Grande registered one of the best gains in the carriers. It jumped 1 1/2 points to 80 1/2. Santa Fe added 1 1/2 points to 91 1/2 and Seaboard Air Line was up a point to 114 1/2.

Skelly Oil was the bellwether in its section with a gain of 1 1/4 points to 77 3/4. Amerasia Petroleum and Texas Pacific Land Trust ran up more than a point each.

VFW MEET OPENS NAGS HEAD (UP)—Nearly 5,000 members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the VFW auxiliary opened the 23rd annual state encampment here today. Ernest O. Moore, supreme commander of the Military Order of Cooties in the United States, will be the principal speaker at a banquet tonight.

INFLATION GOES TO THE HEAD—This plastic hat, created by France's Andre Miracle, is blown up to form a large cartwheel headgear that gives ample protection from the elements. When uninflated it can be folded away in a handbag.

Gardner Files Building And Dept. Fire Reports

Greenville Fire Chief George Gardner's report of fires in the city during May shows that the department answered six fire alarm boxes, 12 telephone calls, three in the county, and one false alarm. The firemen had five calls for the emergency ambulance.

The chief said the fire losses for May had not yet been adjusted. His report estimates the fire loss in Greenville for the three months ending April 30 to be $105,264.02. The report states that $70,550 of this amount was for the North Side Lumber Company, across Tar River.

The chief's report shows that the volunteer firemen's payroll for May is $135; for the fiscal year, $2,283.50. Chief Gardner, also building inspector for the city, reported that he issued 10 permits during May for dwellings and six permits for duplex apartments valued at $181,700. The inspector also issued permits for two commercial buildings valued at $39,500 and one alteration to a commercial building at a cost of $53.28.

The report states that Assistant Fire Chief Casper L. Jones and Chief Gardner attended the North Carolina Fire College and Drill School at Chapel Hill at a cost of $53.28.

ABC Officers Uncover Still; No Operators

Pitt county ABC officers, working with Martin county officers, helped uncover a 50-gallon copper still in Flat Swamp near Robersonville Wednesday.

The still, which was not in operation, included two 50-gallon mash barrels and an extra 100-gallon container, all empty. No traces were found as to the operators.

The still was seized and the copper parts confiscated. Last one uncovered by the Alcoholic Beverage Control officers in Pitt was last Thursday.

Assisting from this county were J. M. Ward, J. L. Taylor, H. B. Lilley and R. W. King. Cecil Bullock and Wiley Croft were the Martin officers.

Church Demands Public Apology

WESTMINSTER, Md. (UP)—The Methodist Conference of the Methodist Church has demanded a public apology from Rep. Donald L. Jackson for his "disrespectful remarks" about Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

The conference, attended by 6,000 lay and clerical delegates, unanimously approved the motion which called Jackson's statement an "affront to the Methodist Church."

The California Republican recently charged that Oxnam "works for the Lord on Sunday and the Communist fronts the rest of the week."

He was not immediately available for comment.

More Warned To Be Ready To Flee From Flood

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (UP)—Authorities warned 3,000 more persons to be ready to flee their homes here today as the muddy Missouri River, fed by flood-swollen tributaries, rose steadily.

About 2,000 persons had already been evacuated here and in nearby communities. Some smaller towns and farms were reported almost completely underwater.

Meanwhile, normally tame tributaries of the Big Muddy ran wild after days of heavy rain.

Airman Lowell Jones, from Kansas City, who flew over the almost completely inundated town of Belt, Mont., and the community of Monarch, Mont., Thursday reported:

"Cabins located between Belt and Monarch are going down Belt Creek. The steel trestle of the Great Northern Railroad between Belt and Monarch was almost twisted into a semi-circle."

The U. S. Weather Bureau predicted Chavis Park in Raleigh in the afternoon.

Three hundred men, including personnel from a nearby Air Force base, worked in four-hour shifts to help shore up the dikes holding the Missouri and its tributary, the Sun. Both rivers join here.

An Air Force C-119 flew to Glasgow to pick up sandbags from Army engineers at Fort Peck. Already the fort has contributed 10,000 sandbags.

Gov. J. Hugo Aronson called for federal aid in a proclamation issued at Helena after a visit to the flood areas.

There was some encouraging news.

Three tributary rivers were falling slightly and Missouri River water was shut off upstream at Canyon Ferry Dam near Helena.

Asks Bidault To Try Solve Crisis

PARIS (UP)—President Vincent Auriol today called in Catholic Popular Republican (MRP) leader Georges Bidault to ask him to try to solve the French government crisis.

Auriol turned to the former premier and foreign minister after the National Assembly rejected radical socialist Pierre Mendes-France's bid for the premiership.

The assembly action left France without a government for the third straight week as time grew near for scheduled Big Three talks in Bermuda.

Bidault, a veteran French representative at international parleys was the fifth political leader asked to try to form a new government since the current crisis began May 21.

Mendes-France, 46-year-old finance expert, failed by 13 votes Thursday night to obtain confirmation as premier of a left-of-center coalition government pledged to bring a quick end to the Indo-Chinese war.

He needed a 314-vote absolute majority, but received only 301. Voting against him were 119 deputies and 207 others abstained or were absent.

The Socialists voted solidly for Mendes-France—the first time they supported a candidate for premier in an investiture vote since they went into permanent opposition two years ago.

Opponents of Mendes-France were fearful that his program would throw into reverse most of the foreign and domestic policies of postwar France.

'Peace Session' Planned By UN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations made plans today for a "peace" session of its General Assembly two to three weeks after signing of a Korean truce agreement at Panmunjom.

High U.N. sources said the assembly at that time would choose a site for the Far Eastern political conference called for in the cease-fire agreement. The assembly also would have to decide which nations should participate in the conference.

Optimism was running high in U.N. quarters that an armistice was within sight at the Panmunjom negotiations, although some diplomats pointed out that a truce had appeared imminent before and then had failed to materialize.

RE-UNITED—Film producer Walter Wanger, who last year served a jail term for shooting a movie agent he thought was breaking up his home, arrives with his actress wife, Joan Bennett, at a Hollywood party. The Wangers were estranged after the shooting in 1951. Wanger moved back into the family home six months ago, but this was their first appearance together at a public social affair. (AP Wirephoto)

Two Automobile Accidents Reported In Greenville, Yesterday And Today

Two automobile accidents were reported in Greenville yesterday and today by city police.

More than $100 damage was listed to three cars which wrecked at Fifth and Greene Streets yesterday afternoon at 3:35.

A truck operated by Samuel Dunn, 38-year-old Negro, traveling South on Greene Street, was involved in an accident with a car driven by Mrs. Mattie Cannon Smith of Route 2, Greenville, and a parked automobile owned by J. H. Mills of 916 Evans Street, City.

No charges were made in the accident and there was no injuries reported.

Around $300 damage was listed in a two car accident at 10th and Railroad Street early this morning.

Cars involved were driven by Jehu Taft and William M. Bryant.

Investigation of the accident is incomplete.

Draws Maximum In Perjury Case

NEW YORK (UP)—William Perl, former Columbia University physics instructor, was sentenced today to five years in federal prison, the maximum allowable on a perjury conviction for denying that he knew convicted atom spies Julius Rosenberg and Morton Sobell.

The jet propulsion expert, 34, showed no emotion as Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan handed down the sentence. Ryan sentenced him to five years on each of two counts, the sentences to run concurrently.

tion in Tarboro the second Tuesday in July. Requests presented and granted amounted to $175 for the Negro unit, first of its kind in Greenville fire fighting, which has received an annual consideration in the city's budget.

(3) Took under advisement a request concerning appointment to the city recreation committee of a replacement for Dr. H. B. Kelly from the Colored City League. Wiley Norcott, representing the league told the council that its appointment of John Bielle to the post at its April 30 meeting had not been made on recommendation of the league, as has been the council's policy in the past. Norcott requested that the board rescind its past action and withhold further appointment until the league makes its recommendation. The unexpired term extends through February of 1955.

(4) Assured Warren Carroll, head of the recreation commission, that the city would furnish a street light and water as needed at the South Greenville School where Carroll said a fire place has been set up for outdoor recreation use. Costs for the light will amount to one dollar a month, he said, adding that water also is needed for the recreation area at the Third Street School. Under usual procedure the water taps are paid for by the city, while use of the water comes out of the recreation department budget. The arc system lighting is on the city's system. Motion was made by Councilman A. C. Ruffin, seconded by Wesley Harvey, Jr.

(5) Changed the hour of summer council meetings to 8 p. m. through August, with the agreement to return to the 7:30 meeting time in September.

(6) Made insert to the minutes of the last meeting pertaining to appointment of all city department heads, making it read that they will be appointed "at the same salary as last year and at the pleasure of the council."
