They May Reach Armistice Agreement

This was the scene inside the negotiating hut at Panmunjom as UN and Communist delegates sat down to begin a session which sources reported brought both sides close to an armistice agreement. Standing at left is Rear Adm. John Daniel of the UN group. Lt. Gen. William Harrison, chief UN negotiator (center) is about to sit down. The hand opening the brief case (right) belongs to Gen. Nam Il, chief Communist delegate who is hidden by other members of his group. (AP Wirephoto via radio from Tokyo)

Taft Views Again Are Attacked

Two Senators Warn Alliance Plan Smacks Of Western Imperialism

WASHINGTON (UP)—Some senators warned today that Sen. Robert A. Taft's idea of an Anglo-American military alliance in Asia smacks too much of Western imperialism. Both Sens. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said India, Pakistan, and the other free nations in the Far East should be included in any defense arrangement in that troubled area of the world. In a statement clarifying one aspect of his now-famous "forget the United Nations" speech, Taft said Friday it was "ridiculous" for nations like India to claim neutrality in the Korean fight and yet to have a voice in U.N. conduct of the campaign. Instead, he proposed: "If we are able to disentangle ourselves from the United Nations, we already have treaties with Australia and New Zealand, with Japan and the Philippines and a very definite understanding with the French in Indochina. I think we should have a free hand to form an alliance with the British if we possibly can do so as to how Far Eastern affairs should be conducted. An alliance has the advantage over the U.N., that each member can express his views and no other member can veto his action, as the U.N. or Secretary Acheson (former Secretary of State Dean Acheson) vetoed the hot pursuit by our airplanes in Manchuria. I believe we should try to work with Britain in a military alliance in the East, but not one in which they possess a final veto against our policies."

Reds Call Time-Out To Study 'Minor Modifications'

New Recess In Truce Talks

By LEROY HANSEN United Press Staff Correspondent PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — American negotiators proposed "minor modifications" to the Communists' latest truce plan today and the Reds called a 24-hour recess to think it over. An informed source said the Americans suggested the minor changes during a 19-minute meeting of truce negotiators, the 22nd held here since the talks were reopened last April 26. The United Nations' delegation was an all-American group because the session again was boycotted by the South Korean delegation, whose government threatens to ignore a ceasefire which would leave Korea divided and allow Chinese Communists to remain on Korean soil. Even in the face of adamant South Korean opposition to the current truce pattern, the Allies pressed on toward agreement with the Communists on the last details of an armistice. The informed source's statement that the changes suggested by Lt.

Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U.N. truce negotiator, and his assistants gave weight to reports leaking through the curtain of secrecy that an agreement ending the fighting may be only days away. After hearing the Allied answer to the counterproposal which the Communists had given to a May 25 U.N. formula, North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head of the Red team, cautiously called a recess until 10 p.m. e.d.t. Saturday. Apparently Nam was not empowered to make impromptu commitments. The secret sessions concern elaborate plans for settling the fate of some 48,000 North Korean and Chinese captives who do not want to return to Communism. Their plight has been the only obstacle to a truce in Korea. The United Nations has promised to protect them from forcible return, while the Communists have insisted they have nothing to fear. South Korean President Syngman Rhee made public an alternative truce plan he had submitted early this week to President Eisenhower.

It proposes simultaneous withdrawal of Chinese and United Nations troops as a basic condition for an armistice but exempts U. S. Air Force and naval units from the joint withdrawal. It also requires an American promise to furnish military aid and furnish ground troops when needed. Rhee's acting premier, Pyu-n Yung Tae, has warned the tough South Korean army would ignore a truce and fight on, but some of Rhee's most recent statements indicate he is not finally committed to carrying on the war alone.

President, Dulles And Advisers Hold Conference South Korea Stand Talked

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower discussed South Korea's truce opposition stand with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and high defense advisers today at a suddenly-called White House meeting. The White House declined to comment on the 45-minute meeting. But informed sources said it was called because of South Korea's violent objections to the truce terms on which United Nations and Communist negotiators apparently are near agreement at Panmunjom. It was understood that the conferees were working on a reply to a letter to Mr. Eisenhower from Syngman Rhee in which the South Korean president detailed his objections to the truce terms and offered a counter-proposal. The Korean embassy last night issued a statement quoting Rhee as saying the U.N. truce proposal was "unacceptable" to South Korea. Rhee demanded withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea, a U.S.-Korean defense pact, and the right of South Korea to try to unify the war-ravaged nation. Rhee's government threatens to ignore any cease-fire which would leave Korea divided and allow Chinese Communists to remain on Korean soil. While the White House meeting was still in progress South Korean Ambassador You Chan Yang said in a formal statement that the embassy had been advised by Rhee "he is determined that Korea will never sign an armistice agreement which will leave the country divided." An embassy spokesman said Rhee's position was communicated to the embassy this morning. Yang said the statement was being issued in response to reports that Rhee had said South Korea would sign the armistice agreement. "We have been definitely advised by President Rhee that he has never made such statements, rather he is determined that Korea will never sign such an agreement which will leave the country divided and permit the Chinese Communists to occupy the northern part of our country," he said. Officials here believed the South Koreans would attempt to unify Korea by force even if the Allies sign a truce with the Communists.

This threat, and Rhee's violent opposition to the truce plan were understood to be the main topic of discussion at Mr. Eisenhower's meeting with Dulles, Asst. Defense Secretary Frank C. Nash and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff.

Pitt Board To Outline Proposal At Special Meet

Air Re-Districting Monday

A proposal to alter township lines in Pitt County to coincide with county school district lines will be offered to the public in a special meeting of the Pitt Board of Commissioners Monday night at 8 o'clock. Chairman F.F. Hendrix of the Board of Commissioners said five members from each of the 13 townships in Pitt County—representing practically every community in the county—have been invited to attend the meeting to hear the proposal. In addition to those citizens invited from each of the townships of the county, the Board of Education and the Board of Elections will also meet with the commissioners to discuss the proposal. Hendrix said the proposed change offered for public consideration Monday night has been under study by the county commissioners for a considerable length of time. It was brought to a head by the preparations for a revaluation program for the county, and also by the recent request for the formation of a new Gritton township in the county. At the present time there are 13 townships and 14 school districts in Pitt County, and in all cases, the township and school district lines overlap making the problem of collecting school district levies much more difficult than apparently necessary. Hendrix pointed out that it is impossible to alter the school district lines of the county, explaining that property within school districts which have outstanding bonds is obligated for the payment of the bonds. The meeting Monday night will be a "public information" meeting, he said, in which the proposal for altering the township lines to coincide with school district lines will be explained in detail by the commissioners. The chairman of the Board of Commissioners explained that no definite action on the matter will be taken at Monday night's meeting, because before the commissioners could decide to follow through with the proposal, it would be necessary to have correct petitions from each township of the county requesting the proposed change be made. Even after petitions are presented to the commissioners, Hendrix said, it would take at least an additional 30 days before the Board of Commissioners could take final action on the proposition.

Battalion-Sized Attack Hits Two Allied Outposts

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—A battalion of North Koreans swarmed down from the crest of Luke the Gook's Castle today to hit two Allied outposts and penetrate the main Allied defense line. The 700 Communist troops ran head-on into a force of South Koreans who engaged them in hand-to-hand fighting which lasted until dawn. When the sun came up, Red reinforcements rushed into the main line of defense, which continued through the morning. It was the 11th straight day of fighting on the blazing eastern front, and the Communists slowly but steadily were pushing back their former countrymen. The greatest accomplishment of the Red offensive was the capture of Luke's Castle, an outpost which commands a view down two valleys deep into Allied lines and also offers good observation into Communist-held territory. Fighting died down on Communist-held Anchor Hill, easternmost bastion of the 155-mile Allied line 40 miles above the 38th Parallel. But heavy fighting again was reported at Bloody Ridge where a battalion of Chinese Communists assaulted outposts in the area. They were thrown back by South Koreans in bloody hand-to-hand fighting. The 6th Air Force said today Sabre jet pilots shot down nine, instead of eight, MIGs yesterday, bringing the number of Red jets destroyed during the war to an even 700. Evaluation of gun camera film gave two MIGs for the day to Maj. Vermont Garrison of Tulsa, Okla., for his fifth and sixth kills.

Still Probing Rubble Of Fireworks Plant Blast

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP)—Two hundred men, working a round the clock, searched grimly for more victims today in the rubble of a $3,000,000 fireworks plant explosion which killed four, injured at least 83 and devastated four square blocks. However, officials believed no more bodies would be found in the wreckage left by a searing explosion that blew apart the ALCO Fireworks and Specialty Co. office-warehouse late Friday. Police Lt. Joe Clark said the blast was touched off by ALCO's General Manager Kenneth Williams, 35, named some fireworks to an elaborate fourth of July display. "I don't know how it happened," Williams said. "I either hit the nail and bounced off and hit the firecracker, or the spark from the nail ignited it. I tried to put (the firecracker) out by grabbing it, but it was too hot for me. When it started to spray sparks all over the room, I just dropped it and ran as hard as I could." Williams and another ALCO employe, G. C. Parrish, 43, apparently were the only ones in the building. Both escaped. The four dead all were residents of an apartment house a block from the plant. They were identified as Mrs. Elva Jean Walton, 26; her children, five-year-old Katie and two-year-old John, and Mrs. Gurnade M. Barziza, 22. The first gigantic explosion was followed by a blast after blast as the fire spread to 40,000 pounds of fireworks stored by ALCO, which

Army Worms Are Spreading Fast

CHICAGO (UP)—Hordes of army worms wriggled through and devoured crops in eight states today as government scientists rushed work to perfect a poison which would wipe out the blight. The greenish-brown insects were discovered in six Western Pennsylvania counties, scattered portions of Virginia, Illinois, Indiana, West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Maryland. In central Illinois, the army worms were joined by a new invader—cut worms. A farmer reported the cut worms eat off the corn leaves and leave them on the ground and the army worms march in and eat the leaves. Some Illinois farmers were reported plowing under their devastated crops to kill the worms so they can seed a new crop. A Pennsylvania farmer counted 70 worms to a square foot in his fields. They leveled a 35-acre field of alfalfa and oats in Prince George County, Va., and blitzed rye fields in southwestern Virginia. A Purdue University entomologist said there are so many of the worms "they are becoming cannibals with the big ones eating the small ones." The U. S. Department of Agriculture rushed experiments to develop a poison to kill the worms with dust made of the pulverized bodies of other worms.

County Forest Rangers Get Six Woodfire Calls

Pitt county forest rangers responded to six calls to woods fires in various parts of the county yesterday. County Forest Ranger N.S. (Kid) Tyson said some of the fires were serious. The first alarm to the Fire Tower, south of Greenville, was received at 10 a.m. yesterday by Mrs. Margaret Smith, "towerman," who maintains a lookout and keeps in touch with the situation by the aid of the two-way radio at the tower. This fire was on H. C. Edwards farm near the Forest Tower, where the blaze got away from Edwards while he was burning brush, the report says. A fire of minor importance one mile south of Winterville was reported to the tower about 12:30 yesterday. A woods fire on Amos Hudson's farm between Boyd's Crossroads and Ham's Crossroads, reported to the fire tower about 12:45 yesterday, did extensive damage before gotten under control. Fire in woods on Junie Dixon's farm near Black Jack yesterday about 2:30 did nominal damage, the forest ranger reported. Forest Ranger Tyson said the men and equipment in his fire-fighting crews were kept busy throughout the day. Residents of the neighborhoods in which woods fires occurred were cooperative in assisting the firefighters. A serious woods fire occurred on Richard Lowery's farm, in the Calico Crossroads community about 4 p.m. Friday. The Pitt county firefighters called for a tractor from the Craven forest service to help break the line of the spreading fire. A minor woods fire in the Fourpenny community late yesterday was extinguished before the forest rangers arrived. Another woods fire occurred late last night near Slaton's Mills while the county forest rangers were at Black Jack. Details of this fire were not available today.

Dies In Wreck

Pitt County suffered its fourth highway fatality of 1953 at 10:30 this morning when a truck collided with an Atlantic Coast Line train four miles east of Bethel. Highway Patrolman B. H. Jackson who investigated the accident identified the victim of the collision as John Curtis Ricks, 31-year-old Negro whose address was given as 505 East Church Street, Tarboro. Two women in the truck with the man who was killed were rushed to Pitt Memorial hospital for treatment. The names of the women were not immediately determined, and neither was the extent of their injuries. The highway patrol officer reported the truck driver by Ricks collided with the third car behind the engine of the train at the intersection of highway 33 and the railroad. Ricks was killed instantly by the crash which demolished the truck he was driving, the officer said.

Court Told Why Dog 'Evicted'

CHICAGO (UP)—Mrs. Avery Brown explained today why she served an eviction notice on a dog. "The dog's owners had fled," she said, "and left this German shepherd. I waited the five days prescribed by the eviction order, fed the dog while I waited until the time ran out and then called police to perform the eviction. What else could I do?"

Change of Name

MIAMI (UP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goldfish asked in a circuit court petition filed here yesterday to have their last name changed to Fisher.

Defense Secretary Wilson Contradicts Claim U.S. Air Force 'Second Best'

SIoux CITY, Ia. (UP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has contradicted high level criticism that the United States has a "second best" air force. He says there's none better. Wilson told the Iowa Bar Association Friday that the Air Force will become even more powerful under the administration's new tightened defense budget. His analysis of Air Force strength came on the heels of Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg's testimony in Washington that this country has "a second best air force." Vandenberg, retiring Air Force chief, told a Senate committee the U. S. would not have the best air force until "we complete modernization and equipment of the 143-wing air force." The administration has cut back the Air Force goal to 120 wings pending a new review. Wilson coupled his estimation of the nation's air might with equal praise for the armed services. "America now has the finest trained and best equipped armed services that it has ever had except in wartime," he said. "Under our present plans this military strength will continue to increase." The defense chief warned that, even if a truce is reached in Korea, "we should not let up in the defense drive." Speaking specifically of the Air Force, Wilson said "it is still not what we would like to have now what it is going to be, but I believe it is now the strongest, most powerful air force in the world today." He defended the slash in the air force budget, saying "the reduction is not an indication that we believe that air power is any less important. The funds available to the Air Force are ample to continue a rapid buildup in its effective strength."

'Good Turnout' In Early Voting

GRIFTON—Pollholders in Grifton this morning reported voting on the $10,000 bond issue for school expansion is "good" and more voters are expected in this afternoon. Mrs. Robert Newborn, one of the pollholders, said that approximately 30 of 300 registered had voted by 11 o'clock this morning but that the largest crowd is expected this afternoon as the rural population comes in to town. Mrs. Newborn said that cars carrying loudspeakers were out early this morning throughout the Grifton School District urging people to vote. At stake in the special election is a $10,000 bond issue to expand the school facilities at Grifton for the expected large enrollment this fall. Other pollholders are Mrs. Paul Bradley and Louise Newborn. The election is being held at the city hall.

Barn Blown Back On Foundations

ARLINGTON, Ia. (UP)—John Oliver's barn was shifted off its foundation several years ago by a wind storm. This week another big wind blew the barn back onto its foundation.

Kindergarten Association Is Organized At Workshop

The North Carolina Kindergarten Association was organized on the closing day of the Kindergarten Teachers Workshop on the campus of East Carolina College this morning. Three officers and an advisory board were elected. Mrs. J. Duke Haynie of Fayetteville was chosen president of the new organization. The vice president's office was filled by Mrs. Elizabeth Terry of Rockingham, and Mrs. Wakefield Mowery of Raleigh was named secretary-treasurer of the group. The advisory board includes Miss Annie Mae Murray, kindergarten director at the East Carolina College Training School, as counselor in education and technique; Miss Patricia Montague of Raleigh, elementary school supervisor of State Department of Public Education, on public education; and Alumni Secretary James W. Butler of the college, in public relations. Approximately 60 persons from over North Carolina attended the six-day workshop at the college. This was the first educational project of its type in North Carolina. Miss Murray was assisted in directing the workshop by Mrs. Sally Klingenschmitt of the campus Training School.

Two Large Oil Tankers Collide; Fire, Explosions Kill 2 Crewmen

WILMINGTON, Del. (UP)—Two large tankers one fully loaded with a cargo of gasoline, collided in the Delaware River near here early today and burst into flames in a series of explosions. Two men were known dead and one was missing of the 86 men aboard the two vessels. Some swam to the marshy shores of New Jersey and Delaware and others were picked up in small boats manned by residents of communities lining the banks of the river. Involved in the collision were the 11,000-ton supertanker, Pan-Massachusetts, carrying 160,000 barrels of gasoline from Texas City, Tex., to Marcus Hook, Pa., and the empty, outboard Phoenix, a 14,000-ton super-tanker that is the second largest afloat. The empty Phoenix, capable of carrying 265,000 barrels, was rocked by explosions touched off by ignited gas fumes in her huge holds. The Red Cross at Wilmington said 70 crewmen of the two tankers were being cared for at its shelter. Six were in Salem, N. J. hospitals and seven others in three Wilmington hospitals. The dead and missing were from the crew of the Phoenix whose master, Capt. Gustav Jansen, Langhorne, Pa., was burned seriously. Capt. Reginald Gross, Houston, Tex., of the Pan-Massachusetts, said all 41 members of his crew were accounted for and safe. Both vessels were owned by the National Bulk Carriers, Inc., of Delaware. Seven hours after the collision, Navy, Coast Guard and city and private boats continued to search the river by the light of the still burning Pan-Massachusetts. The Coast Guard said it would take some time to sift conflicting reports and determine how the collision occurred. Crewmen of the Pan-Massachusetts said the Phoenix, moving down-stream, signaled with a white blast that it wanted to pass the sister tanker. At the last moment, the crewmen said, the Phoenix

Car 'Objected' All was quiet around the Reflector office yesterday afternoon when Howard Mims, linotype operator, heard what sounded to him like a gun shot outside. Upon hearing the "bang" he rushed to the window, only to see a cloud of dust and a policeman slowly walking across the street. Mims inquired as to what had happened. The officer, who had just finished putting an envelope "ticket" on an automobile in front of the Reflector office, replied that he had had all kinds of objections from people when he was giving out a parking ticket, "but today was the first time that the car had objected." A tire blew out!

GOD and the City

You may not think about it while crossing the ferry, but God plays a mighty part in the life of a city!

A city is coldly impersonal. Its millions jostle one another in the subways and crush each other in the elevators, yet everyone is a stranger. You never get to know the fellow who has his elbow in your face or the lady on whose toe you are standing.

But under the hustle and confusion flows a stream of human and divine love. Sympathy and kindness and understanding express themselves in a million unnoticed acts. Prayer and faith unite multitudes in a bond of reverence and hope.

God is in the city! He is the One who is a stranger to no one... and to Whom no one is a stranger.

That's why in the city, just as in your town and mine, folks turn to the Church to satisfy that universal longing to be known... and Understood... and Loved!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of a character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his children. (2) For his children and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and financial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Nearby Creeks Provide Fishermen 'Sparetime' Sport

Robert Hunt, East Carolina College junior, has passed away many idle hours since school has been out by just sitting on the bank of the river fishing. He says that he has furnished two or three families with enough fish to eat for the past three weeks. (Reflector Photos by Tommie Lupton)

By TOMMIE LUPTON
REFLECTOR SPORTS EDITOR

Oftentimes one might hear a person say, "This weather ain't fit for nothing but fishing, and then if I got a bite I wouldn't have enough energy to pull 'im in." Just about any day of the week in Pitt County there could be found from 50 to 100 fishermen sitting on the banks of the creeks and river or just drifting in a boat waiting for the trip. If they are not fortunate they wouldn't be the one who would not have enough energy to pull the fish in if they caught one. Some of the fishermen pack a picnic lunch along with all their tackle and carry the family along for the trip. If they are not fortunate enough to be in the select group that brings a big catch home from every venture, they do not feel that their time was wasted, for they at least enjoyed the ride and picnic.

Creeks Muddy Now
Wildlife Protector J. O. Teel says that most of the creeks in the county are rather muddy this time of the year, but this fact does not seem to be stopping all the sportsmen of the community. There were numerous five and six-pound bass and large bream caught in the county's waters before all the "holes" became muddy. Before June 1 there was a good deal of net-fishing for shad in the county, but the season for this type of sport is now out. About two weeks ago Teel said that he counted over 55 persons netting for shads about three miles below the Grimesland bridge.

There are a few rock (striped bass), bream and speckle being hooked in Tranters Creek, according to the wildlife protector. Sportsmen have been pulling in a few pike, robins and bream in Big Contentnea Creek near Grifton. Indian Creek, which was closed last year, has been seeing some good fishing. Teel also comments that there have been some fairly good catches around Chicod. Panthers Creek is closed this year for a spawning area and for restocking. Recently 6,000 bass were released in the Tar River and various streams in the county. These fingerlings will some day make a nice catch for some lucky fishermen.

Catfish Bite Good
Catches vary greatly with the "fisherman's luck." Average weight of the catfish being caught is from one to two pounds, but Wildlife Protector Teel has seen several persons with five or six-pounders. He added that he has seen some particularly large catfish landed since the water has been muddy. Catfish, white perch and eels have made up most of Hunt's hauls, the largest being a five and a quarter-pound catfish. The college student had caught as many as 10 eels in less than two hours one day, he related.

He had been fishing with pole and line, rod and reel and a hand line, having the best luck with the hand line. On this line he caught catfish at one time.

Cruising Up The River
One afternoon last week Wildlife Protector Teel was observed as he went out on a routine check up the Tar River. Cruising along close to the bank, Teel was in search of some traps. Though he had hoped to find one so that he would have something to show for his afternoon's search, no trap was found.

Occasionally a lone fisherman could be sighted sitting back in a small rowboat under the shade of the overhanging trees near the bank of the river. Most of the persons that were observed were colored fishermen, and some "fishermen."

With a pole in one hand and maybe a couple more lying beside them on the bank, the sportsmen were a picture of contentment. Most of them, it seemed, didn't care whether they were pulling in anything or not.

Buster Little, Negro, was under the shadows on the north side of the muddy Tar, was caught making his catches with a fly rod, and he seemed to be having pretty good luck; for when Wildlife Protector Teel asked him to show his catch, he pulled a string of over a dozen small bream from the water.

A Real Fisherman
Fishing in something that did not much resemble a boat and using what looked like a long stick, one old colored fisherman was found sitting back smoking his corn-cob pipe. Teel had commented before the fellow was approached that he bet he had a large catch, and sure enough when he pulled his string up it was full of large catfish.

The funny thing about most of the colored fishermen was that they were rather modest about their catches. When asked how many fish they had, they usually replied that they weren't having much luck and that they just had a couple of fish. Yet when they showed their prizes they most always had a big string.

Several persons were seen trying their luck down the river. Up Red Creek, just a little ways down the Tar, no one was seen, but Teel said that oftentimes persons could be found making fishing in the area. After the trip on the Tar, it was concluded that people in this community don't have to travel a great distance to do their fishing, for many fish are being hooked every day right here in their own "back yards."

When asked why he did not keep the fish, Mr. Tripp replied that he was just fishing for the fun of it and that he got his pleasure from just pulling in the catch. A few days earlier he had caught some rock that weighed as much as four pounds.

Further down the Tar Robert Hunt, East Carolina College junior, was found as he was getting ready to call it a day. Hunt said that he had been fishing about every day since school had been out. He was at the end of Eastern Street, about four blocks down stream from where Tripp was.

Modest Fisherman
Robert commented that the fish were not biting good, but one would have been led to believe a little different after he had seen Robert pull his catch from the river. He said that he had not had a bite in a couple of hours, but that was the worst luck that he had had.

Catfish, white perch and eels have made up most of Hunt's hauls, the largest being a five and a quarter-pound catfish. The col-

From the expression on this fellow's face he seems to be mighty happy about something. Maybe he has been having good luck at his fishing. He is just before casting out, in hopes of pulling in another big one.

Wildlife Protector J. O. Teel has been riding up and down the Tar River in search of traps, but he has had no luck. Teel makes his rounds over the counties creeks and other fishing areas each day, checking to keep fishermen from breaking the laws.

Lengthy Docket Heard In County Recorder's Court

By CHESTER WALSH
In Pitt County Recorder's Court Tuesday, Judge Dixie James disposed of an unusually heavy docket. Mack Clark Jr., Negro, was found guilty of larceny and the court gave him four months on the roads. Another case against Clark, charging larceny, was not pressed with leave. Leroy Pittman, Negro, receiving stolen goods, three months on the roads. He gave notice of appeal to Superior Court. The case against Joseph Clark, Negro, charged with assault on a female, Mattie Edwards, Negro, was dismissed. In the case in which J. C. Jones and Keith Jones were charged with assaulting a female the court gave J. C. Jones 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on condition that he pay $25 costs deducted. The judgment also provides that he is not to go on the premises of Tower grill for two years. Robert Hester, assault with a deadly weapon, four months in jail, sentence suspended on payment of costs and he is to pay $50 damages. John Lee Hudson, charged with driving drunk, requested a jury trial and the case was sent up to Superior Court. John Lee Hudson, charged with obstructing an officer in the performance of his duty, asked for a jury trial, and his case was transferred to Superior Court. The case against Harry Lee Barrett, charged with assaulting Mattie Fletcher, was not pressed with leave. Careless and reckless driving, George A. Gurganus, not pressed with leave; Jesse J. McLawhorn, case dismissed; Robert Clayton, bright, case continued. Judge James did not press the case against Maddie Lee Fisher, charged with entering, larceny and damaging personal property. No operator's license: Mark E. Gorham of Falkland, guilty, taxed with court costs; Sam Carter, costs. Speeding: Luther R. Burns Jr., $25 costs deducted. He gave notice of appeal. Linwood A. Stocks, pay courts and he had to surrender his driver's license for 10 days. Drunk: Leo Hawkins, court costs; Otis Hawkins Jr., $5 on costs; Clayton Williams, prayer for judgment continued on payment of court costs; Edna Barfield, $10 and costs. Joe Austin, assault with a deadly weapon, four months on the roads, sentence suspended on payment of $5 on court costs and other bills. The judgment also provides that he is not to molest or harm Beatrice Jenkins, prosecuting witness. He was placed on probation for two years. The case against Emma Morrow, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was dismissed.

SOMETHING WRONG HERE
JACKSON (UP) — When George Jones found a billfold containing $350 he found the owner and returned the entire amount. Recently he lost his own billfold containing $117 and received a telephone call from a woman asking what reward was offered. When Jones said $17 the woman laughed scornfully, said she would send back his papers and keep the money. Sweden has about one automobile for every 20 people.

This old fisherman seems happy over his catch. His equipment may not be the best, but one may rest assured that his fishing is. He may be seen most any day sitting under the shadows of the tree along the Tar, and most of the time he has something to show for his efforts.

TO KISS, OR KILL

By Day Keene

Mandell took a deep breath and walked into the hotel, acutely conscious that he had no hat or top-coat. He hoped Inspector Carlton enjoyed whatever Carlton intended to do with him. He fingered the stubble on his jaw, then touched the back of his head. His head was sensitive to his touch. He bought a white shirt for five dollars and walked down the marble stairs of the hotel barber shop. The barber was dubious but agreed to try to wash the clogged blood from his hair and replace the stained bandage with gauze and a piece of adhesive tape, after he had shaved him. The barber applied fresh gauze and tape to the bare spot the police surgeon had shaved on the back of Mandell's head. Then, parting the fighter's hair carefully on the left side, he held a mirror in front of Mandell's face for approval. "How's that?" The new bandage barely showed. "Fine," Mandell said. "That's swell." He gave the barber his last ten dollars, knotted his tie between the collar tabs of his new shirt, then climbed the marble stairs to the lobby. The pretty colored girl who had asked for his autograph was on duty in one of the waiting cages. Her smile was friendly and sincere. As Mandell stepped into her cage she said quietly, "I'm glad it's clearing up, Mr. Mandell. I knew you didn't kill that girl. Like Mack said last night when I got home, any man who fights as clean as you do couldn't have any truck with any cheap trash like that." Mandell squeezed her arm as she opened the grille door on the fifth floor. "Tell Mack thanks." Mandell's shoulders squared as he swaggered down the hall. There was a bounce in his step. And the bounce was in his toes. Suite 501 was at the far end of the hall. Mandell lifted his knuckles to run them across the room door and squeezed a fist full of air instead as a voice on the other side of the wood said: "Forget him. You're beautiful, beautiful, beautiful. And you're mine. All mine." The voice was male. With a deep whisky husk. Vaguely familiar. Mandell's lifted hand fell to his side. The light went out of his eyes.

His broken nose made breathing difficult. He tapped it with a crooked forefinger, feeling the old sickness and uncertainty fill his head again. Gale was with some other man. The big veins in Mandell's temples began to pound. His throat constricted to the point of pain. "I'll kill him, Mandell thought. I'll kill them both." He waited for Gale to answer her. When she didn't, he tried the knob of the door. The door was unlocked. Mandell opened it and walked in. And found himself in the sitting room of the suite. Bright sunlight was pouring in the window. Dresses and skirts and blouses and sweaters and lingerie spilled in colorful confusion from half a dozen open suitcases on the floor. Gale's soft brown hair formed a pillow for the pale of her face. Her lips were parted in a smile, as if she were dreaming of some thing pleasant, but even in the half-light Mandell could see that her cheeks were stained with tears. The chances were that Gale had cried herself to sleep. Gale stirred like a sleepy kitten. Mandell touched her. "Gale, darling, Baby." She sat up, gasping. "Barney!" She strained her body against him, then pushed him away from her. "No." "No what, baby?" Mandell asked. Gale's eyes were sullen. Her lower lip thrust out. She looked like a spoiled little girl. "Where have you been? You called two hours ago and said you were coming right down." "Sure," Mandell said soothingly. "But—" Gale squeezed her hair again. "I waited and waited and waited." Mandell protested. "But darling, if you'll let me explain—" "I don't love you any more." Gale's lower lip quivered. She began to cry. "I fly all the way from Bermuda to be with you. And what happens?" She was shouting at him now. "First you get in a nasty mess with some woman. Then you lie to me. And leave me alone. For hours." Mandell tried to explain. "But sweetheart—" Her bare feet were inches from his hand. He tried to pat one of them and Gale kicked his hand away. "No. Don't touch me. I don't want you ever to touch me again." (To be continued)

TOOK DAD'S ADVICE
HARTFORD (UP) — Francis Roberts told his five-year-old son Jimmie he'd have to practice before he could go fishing with him. Jimmie took his father at his word and Mrs. Roberts had to spend an hour untangling fishing line from her washing machine where the lad tried to improve his skill.

Next AMA Head Chosen In Voting
NEW YORK (UP) — Dr. Walter B. Martin, 65, a Norfolk, Va., specialist in internal medicine, will be the next president of the American Medical Association. Martin defeated Dr. Robert B. Robins of Camden, Ark., in balloting yesterday by the AMA House of Delegates. He will take office in June, 1954, at the AMA convention in San Francisco, replacing Dr. Edward J. McCormick of Toledo, O., who look over as president this week.

GOOD JOB ASSURED
INDIANAPOLIS (UP) — Democrats here are experiencing difficulties in keeping secrets from their opponents. The new Marion County Democratic treasurer, Joseph W. Barr, decided to have the party's books audited. The George S. Olive & Co. accounting firm was assigned the job and sent accountant Adrian E. Wilhoite, treasurer of the Republican county committee.

COPS ADD GLAMOR
PENDLETON, Ore. (UP) — Summer uniforms for Pendleton police will add a touch of the Old West. Chief Ralph Bond said plans are to abandon the traditional year-around blue uniforms for a modified cowboy-cut shirt and trousers, with a western-style hat. The color scheme will be gray with green trim.

Stated Either Way, It Sounds Isolationist

Mr. Republican, Robert A. Taft, has come up with a new explanation of his solution of the problem of international entanglement in which the United States finds itself in world affairs.

In so doing, he has denied that his controversial statement of May 26 advocated a "go-it-alone" policy on the part of the United States. Even though many people took strong issue with Taft on his statement — including President Eisenhower — there is reason to believe that Taft's original statement may have been misconstrued.

Now he says, this nation should seek alliances with individual nations rather than attempt to carry out far reaching international agreements through the United Nations.

Doubtlessly Senator Taft has clearly in his mind what he means by these statements, and what he proposes as the alternative to the present international policies of the United States. From his statements, we have not been able to grasp a concrete meaning or proposal.

Supposedly Senator Taft has shifted from an isolationist to a non-isolationist in the past several years. Now it seems those isolationist views which he once held — and apparently still holds — are once more coming to the fore in his proposals.

As nearly as we can tell, Senator Taft feels that the United States can not "go-it-alone" in the world today, but it should be selective in picking its alliances rather than working through the United Nations or any other international group.

Such action, in our opinion, would set this nation right back on the road to isolationism which it can not afford. Even in the most selective alliances, the United States would have to give and take on many points.

In a position such as America holds in the world today, it certainly appears folly to go back to a method of international relations which was once tried and failed miserably.

It may be just a shot-in-the-dark; but perhaps what Taft is proposing is that the United States go it with those nations which see eye-to-eye with the United States, and do that only so long as decisions of this country hold sway. Surely that is the road back to isolationism.

Monsters Provide Relief In Daily Happenings

It may be the real thing, or it may be just the association with flying saucer stories, but the reports of sea monsters and other various and sundry oddities seem to be occurring more frequently.

Whenever things get dull in the world of news, and a respite from depressing news reports are needed for readers, a monster always seems to appear from somewhere to give variety to the picture.

Somewhere in the world a group of people will relate a hard-to-believe tale about a great monster which has appeared as if out of another world.

News wires hum and the story spreads like wildfire.

Radio and television commentators have something different to talk about; editors bang out some "monster" headlines. Newspaper space on front pages and editorial pages usually devoted to some more reasonable subject give way to the monster.

The photographer is the only one left out. There is never a picture to be had.

The reader considers the monster and questions the source of the news. He chuckles to himself and subconsciously wonders whether he someday will have occasion to report a "monster" story.

The most famous Loch Ness monster of Scotland, of course would have the most enviable press clippings, because for more than 30 years it has been rearing its ugly head, scaring the daylight out of supposed witnesses and becoming the subject of many legends.

Monsters we have with us always. Sometimes they take one form, sometimes another. Always they bring comment, wonder and skepticism.

Suspense In Joint Bank Accounts

If life ever gets to be unexciting to you, open a joint bank account with your wife. This will add suspense to your life. You will walk around singing to the tune of "Doggie in the Window" something like this:

"How much is that money in the ba-nk."
"I do hope we're not overdrawn."
Yesterday I decided that our check stubs were awfully out of balance with the bank's figures, so I called up the Guaranty, Dickinson Avenue Branch. "My bank account is so confused," I told them, "that I'm going to stop all deposits and checks until it settles down. If my present outstanding checks overdraw me, will you please call me?"

With a joint bank account the only thing you can do is check up about twice a year; that is, if you're like we are. In order to keep spending down, we keep every little cash in our pocketbooks. Therefore, we get caught and have to write checks.

By now you have probably decided that I'm going to put all of the blame on Wife Rachel. But you're wrong, because I'm going to take about one-fourth of the blame. All W.R. does wrong is to write checks on the wrong branch and fails to remember the exact amount of a check she has written so that I can stub it.

All I do wrong is forget to stub the check after she tells me to. With this sort of a combination, you can see that our joint bank account is a great sport. We never know what to expect. When the statement comes in at the beginning of each month it's interesting to see the business we have transpired.

It would be interesting to hear what the bank employees would say about such an account. In money, it would be even more interesting to determine how much they lose by handling the account.

But I don't suppose it's really as bad as I'm making it out to be. Maybe it's a great sport to some, too, to see what we'll do next.

Even without this added sport and suspense, paying by check can't be beat. Instead of running all over town and failing to find a place to park you can simply mail payment. It's far cheaper to mail than to ride.

If you find life dull and want to add excitement, take it from me: you can have great fun trying to tell how you stand when you have a joint bank account.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

GENTLEMEN AND (OR) SCHOLARS
(Greensboro Daily News)
The University of Virginia is clamping down on public drunkenness. A student who waves a bottle at an athletic contest or who has to be carried out in a semi-horizontal position is liable to be shooed.

The students are of two minds on the subject. The student council president asks, "How do you feel when you are classed as a playboy at a second rate university?" and he asserts that "the university can no longer be a haven for exhibitionists." On the other hand, some of the students think their freedom is being taken from them.

Our own feeling is getting by with acts on the campus which would be misdemeanors or felonies outside. Drinking is no crime but public display of liquor and public drunkenness are crimes. Higher education ought to prepare youngsters for what they have to face in life. Why shouldn't a student who is drunk in public be indicted for public drunkenness? Why shouldn't a "panty raider" who breaks into a girls' dormitory be indicted for house-breaking?

Why should the campus, which is supposed to be a training ground for citizenship, become a sanctuary for crime?

As this is being written we note that some 65 boys, most of them identified as State College students have been booked by Raleigh police for making a "panty raid" on Meredith College. We trust the court will hand out sufficient punishment to convince the raiders that education and crime don't mix.

N. C. Retirement System And How It Is Working

BY LYNN NISBET
RETIREMENT — There has been a good deal of gossip and newspaper speculation recently about the retirement status of several top level State department employees, and a much larger number of school teachers and administrative officers.

Many changes have been in the retirement act since it was first adopted in 1941. Benefits have been extended and increased, wider coverage has been granted, and other liberalizing features have been added. There has been no change of consequence respecting the age limits of those eligible for benefits.

CLASSES — Members of the retirement system are grouped in three major classes. Any member may elect to retire upon reaching age 60, but retirement is not automatic or mandatory. Upon reaching age 65 the member is automatically retired, unless the employer (which has been construed to mean the head of the agency which employs the worker) requests him or her to remain in State service, and gives notice of such request in writing at least 30 days prior to the end of the year in which age 65 was reached. At 70 years retirement is mandatory, but the employee may be retained on the payroll at request of his employer and formal resolution by the full board of trustees of the retirement system.

RESPONSIBILITY — Stated another way, responsibility for retirement between ages 60 and 65 rests entirely upon the member employee. Retirement at ages between 65 and 70 rests jointly upon the eligible employee and his superior employer. Above 70 the responsibility is the employer's. The retirement system trustee notifies both the member-employee and the employer-of-record of the approaching retirement age in classification. Practice has been to make the retirement effective at the end of the fiscal year in which the age limit was reached. Any employee reaching age 60 between July 1, 1952, and June 30, 1953, is automatically off the payroll on July 1, 1953, unless the employer has notified the employee and the retirement office on or before June 1 that he should be retained.

AFFECTED — Just how many members of the retirement system will be forced to retire unwillingly because of having reached the 65 mile post has not been ascertained. It will not be large. The point to remember is that however many and whoever they may be, they will be automatically out of July 1 unless somebody else took positive action several days ago to retain them. It is not necessary for them to resign, with or without request from above, and they will not be fired or replaced by the whim of any appointive agency. Their replacements will be to full vacancies created by statute.

UNAFFECTED — There are a good many men and women on the State payroll as on the payrolls of local school administrative units who are above 70 years. Most of them are not members of the retirement system for the reason that they either had passed 60 when the act was adopted, or they did not have sufficient prior service to justify paying the retirement insurance fees which could not be matched by the State after 60. Incidentally, the retirement system is not a "pension" proposition except to the extent that the State originally put into the fund enough to match what would have been the contributions of employees for service prior to enactment of the law in 1941.

Since then the system has been set up on a strict actuarial insurance basis with employer (State) and employee contributions matched to buy benefits just as most big private industry outfits operate.

CONSOLIDATION — The State Board of Education is still bothered with problems incident to the consolidation of schools, especially in the high school bracket. Large part of the time at Thursday's meeting was devoted to delegations and correspondence affecting proposed consolidations in Buncombe, Cumberland, Martin and Washington counties. None of the problems was new, the board having heard the arguments several times before, and very little new material was offered.

DEMOCRACY — The fact is that the Board of Education, like most State agencies, leans over backwards to give full opportunity for the processes of democracy. Although fully conscious that in most instances they can do nothing about the matters discussed because of the laws involved, members of the State boards are loath to deny any group which requests a hearing. They listen patiently while fathers and mothers of school children, and lawyers whom they have employed to present their cause, plead for relief which it is understood cannot be granted. Sometimes these public hearings at Raleigh are used mainly for the airing of local factional feuds, and on rare occasions local politics obviously transcend sincere interest in the welfare of the school children.

That doesn't happen often, and even when it does the board members seem to understand that, too, is democratic process at work.

OVERWORKED — The two most recent meetings of the education board have demonstrated that Governor Umstead's inaugural address phrase about the "human element" in school consolidations is being overworked. Almost every appeal has used that as justification for what the appellants want done. It becomes then the duty of the board to determine the relative human values among rival factions in

Corporation Profits

By ELMER ROESSNER
Profits and corporations are gravely misunderstood, it is contended in a report prepared for the annual meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board a nonprofit institution for private research. The report, entitled "Profits in Perspective," dramatizes some of the little-known facts about corporations. For example:

In 1929, corporation dividends and undivided profits were 10.2 per cent of the national income; in 1952, they were 6.1 per cent. Over the same years, corporate income taxes rose from 1.6 per cent of the national income to 7.8 per cent.

For each man-hour employed in manufacturing in 1951, manufacturing companies paid 56 cents in taxes and earned 17 cents in dividends and 19 cents in undivided profits. Average hourly earnings of employees in manufacturing in 1951 were $1.59, according to the Department of Labor.

Over the past 24 years, profits after taxes have averaged only about 6 per cent of the total national income.

Nonfinancial concerns' profits in 1951 and 1952 were equivalent to only 3.3 per cent of sales. Surveys have shown the average persons thinks it is much greater.

Since corporation taxes were first levied in 1913, corporations have paid $200 billion into the U. S. Treasury.

The first corporation tax was 1 cent per dollar of profits. In 1952 it was about 50 cents per dollar.

Federal and state governments took as much in taxes per man-hour in 1951 as the average took as much in taxes per man-factory worker received for an hour's work in 1929.

In any one year, a large percentage of corporations make no profit. Each year since 1916, from 37 to 82 per cent have been in the red.

One of the problems of corporations is the creation of new jobs, the report points out. "The Bureau of the Census estimates the probable increase in the number seeking employment at 22,000,000 by 1975," the report notes.

The projected increase in the labor forces by 1975, according to one rough estimate, will call for the investment of an additional $50 billion in manufacturing alone. The voluntary flow of private capital to provide for the industrial expansion in the years ahead may not be forthcoming unless profit prospects are regarded as attractive and unless the economic environment and tax treatment become more favorable to investors.

CITIES CURRENT TRENDS IN HOME BUILDING
Air-conditioning for homes costing under $15,000 is still in the experimental stage in most areas, R. G. Hughes, first vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders, told a group of New York editors. Other points he made:

Home building costs may rise 3 per cent in the next few months. The trade-in house plan will help owners of old homes to buy new ones.

What Makes An Englishman?

By HAL BOYLE
LONDON (AP)—What is an Englishman?

To American gagwriters, he is a fellow who wakes up in the morning and asks his wife, "What time is it?"

"What time is it?"
In vaudeville he is two fellows with monocles and drooping mustaches. The first mumbles through his bristles, "I say...uh...er...uh...are you English?" And the second stutters back, "Er...ah...uh...if I were any more English, old boy, you wouldn't be able to understand me."

In joke books the Englishman boards a train going from London to Edinburgh, and a stranger in the compartment says, "Nice weather we're having." As the Englishman leaves the train at Edinburgh, he turns to the stranger and snaps, "Chatterbox."

These are outworn stock caricatures, of course. But many Americans still think of the Englishman as a guy a bit behind the times and proud of it, very reserved and reticent, but one who always faces life with a stiff upper lip—a dull companion in victory but a great comrade to have at your side when the bullets are coming your way.

This makes him out a nice fellow, but one not likely to become the life of a party.

Perhaps I have been meeting the wrong type of Englishman, but I don't find him that way at all. The English have the same appetite for fun and self-indulgence as a 5-year-old boy turned loose in a candy store, and have had it for centuries. Were there ever greater roisterers than the English of the first Elizabethan Era, 400 years ago? If there were, Shakespeare was a liar.

The Englishman of today is just as glib and vital as his ancestors. The trouble is he hasn't been turned loose in a candy store for a long time. The coronation showed he loves to kick up his heels when life gives him a chance.

I don't find the Englishman reticent. He's a great talker. But you have to open him up. You open a clam with a sharp knife. You open an Englishman by kindness by showing a real interest in him. Then he is as exposed as an opened clam, and will tell you even his dreams.

But if you look the least bit bored, he'll clam up again. That is why I find the Englishman the world's best conversationalist.

They say Englishmen talk to each other only about the weather, and in a series of "Hrrumphs" and "Um-ums" that only they can decode. If this is true, the only possible reason I can advance is that most people like to talk about their troubles, and in a crowded land where everybody has more than his share of them, who wants to listen to the other-guy complain? It is safer to criticize the climate.

Life is rugged for the average Englishman, compared to life in America, although he beats damnations are looking up now. Wars, depressions and an old caste system that is cracking up but still exists have made him something of an underdog. That probably explains his tremendous sentimental sympathy for all underprivileged things—dogs, cats, birds, flowers and children.

He will accept cruelty to himself more easily than he will cruelty to lesser creatures.

Duly and discipline are taken more seriously by the ordinary Englishman, it seems to me, than by the ordinary American.

All men are morsels of yearning in a crust of courage, thick or thin. On the Englishman the crust has grown a little deeper than on most, and whatever put it there—time or the weather or himself—it is this that chiefly makes him an Englishman.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SO BE CAREFUL

The word "martyr" comes from a Greek word which means "witness." The martyrs were people who by their suffering witnessed to their faith.

Some time ago a friend was telling me about a minister who for some dreadful reason had to submit progressively to the amputation of both legs and finally of both arms. There was nothing left but the mere hulk of a man. But this hulk was the inspiration of the community in which he lived. He got more work done, more enterprises started; he could point to more genuine achievements in the community in which he was the prime mover than could any of his fellow citizens. Everybody loved him. His activity was the bewilderment and inspiration of all his friends.

This man was a martyr—that is, a witness. He had to take something dreadfully hard, but he took it in a spirit which witnessed to the community such gallantry and such deep religious faith that everyone felt the presence of God was moving mightily in their midst.

We must witness to something—good or bad. Happy the man who at the end of his life can be pretty confident that on the whole his life has been a witness to righteousness, faith, and love. You can be sure that someone is watching you. Your life influences someone. You are—for better or worse—a witness.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED!
Over the years, American retailing has made enormous advances in its services to the consumer—there is simply no comparison between the typical retail store of today and that of the past. And its employment policies have shown comparable progress.

An amusing and significant example is found in a set of rules posted in an Illinois store back in 1880. These included the following: Store must be open from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. the year round. Store must be swept; counters, shelves and showcases dusted; lamps trimmed, filled and chimneys cleaned; doors and windows opened; a pail of water and a bucket of coal brought in before breakfast. The employee who is in the habit of smoking Spanish cigars, being shaved at the barber's, going to dances and other places of amusement, will assuredly give his employer reason to be suspicious of his integrity and honesty. Each employee must pay not less than $5 a year to the church and must attend Sunday School regularly. Men employees are given one evening a week for courting. After 14 hours in the store the leisure hours should be spent for the most part in reading.

That was the situation 73 years ago. In retailing, as in other enterprises, the lot of the American worker has improved to an almost unbelievable extent.

Taft's Speech Widely Distorted

By RAY TUCKER

Every Saturday this veteran Washington correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Millcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—Does Senator Taft's criticism of the United Nations, especially his suggestion that the United States go it alone in Korea, reflect the sentiment of a majority in Congress? Inquires F. C. of Los Angeles, Calif.

MISINTERPRETED REMARKS—Answer: I am amazed at the unjustifiably excitable reaction to Senator Taft's speech. Like Clement Attlee's supposed attack on the United States, it was misunderstood and misinterpreted here and abroad.

President Eisenhower had to answer it only for that reason—namely to calm foreign fears that we might pull out of U.N. With only a few exceptions, foreign reporters at Washington, including the British and French, do a remarkably poor job of describing and analyzing the American scene for their readers and governments.

WHAT TAFT REALLY SAID—Taft did not say that the U.S. should "go it alone in Korea." He said that he should "go it alone in the Korean truce negotiations," referring to the British desire to negotiate peace at almost any cost, which would cause American prestige and influence in Asia and Africa to disappear.

The senator said what everybody admits—namely, that the U.N. is a futile body in preventing or conducting wars. Had not Russia been sulking and its delegation absent, the Moscow veto would have kept the U.N. from voting for resistance to the Communist invasion of South Korea. And now we are getting only token military aid from member nations there, perhaps 50,000 in a force of 1,000,000 men on or behind the fighting lines.

EFFECTIVE—Despite their vocal devotion to the international organization, Truman, Acheson, Eisenhower and Dulles have admitted it.

In our most important diplomatic and military decisions since World War II, the United States has bypassed and short-circuited U.N. In the Marshall Plan, Greco-Turkish aid, NATO, our alliances with Japan, the Philippines, New Zealand and Australia, we conducted foreign policy on the basis of the historic "balance of power" lines. Likewise, our Technical Aid Program is a national rather than an international venture.

MAJORITY ON HILL AGREE WITH SENATOR—I think that a majority of Senate-House membership agree with Taft's major thesis. Like him, they still have hope that U.N. will amount to a world force for peace, although Russian recalcitrance presents a full and final barrier to that objective.

Taft may be subject to criticism because of the untimeliness of his remarks, which may frustrate efforts toward a Korean armistice. But the Senator doesn't think that we should do an ostrich act forever.

REDEEMING GERMAN BONDS—How do I redeem German bonds issued in pre-Hitler days and now recognized by the Bonn Government? asks C. R. of Brooklyn, N. Y.

Answer: I have answered this question before, and wish those interested would paste this in their hats or somewhere. Bonds of German corporations for German Corporation Bonds, 910 Seventeenth Street, N. W., Washington 6, D. C. Securities issued by political bodies—Federal, state or city—should be forwarded to the Foreign Bondholders Protective Council, 90 Broadway, New York City 4, N. Y.

Don't expect too much—or anything—on political money or bonds or other securities issued before 1928. Most of them were wiped out by the Dawes-Young negotiators of that day. Holders must submit proof of legitimate purchase and ownership as the Russians tried to cash already redeemed securities after they seized Hitler's vaults in May, 1945.

Loyce Fillingame Honored With Shower

VANCOBORO—Miss Loyce Fillingame, whose wedding to Floyd Gray Lancaster Jr. took place in the Vanceboro Methodist Church on Friday, June 5, at 4 o'clock, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower last Monday night by Mrs. John Whitford Jr. and Mrs. Wilton Edwards at the home of Mrs. Whitford.

Mrs. D. M. Robinson greeted the guests at the door and Mrs. Walter Elks presided at the bride's book. Upon arrival, Miss Fillingame presented a corsage of red carnations. Mrs. Dave Fillingame, mother of the honoree, and Mrs. F. G. Lancaster, mother of the bridegroom-elect, received white carnation corsages.

Mrs. Harvey Whitford and Miss Sybil Fillingame directed the guests to the dining room. The dining table, which was covered with a handsome white hand-drawn imported linen cloth, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and fern in a silver bowl, flanked by silver vases containing feverfew and burning white tapers. Refreshments of lime pie, punch, bridal cakes, nuts and green and white mints were served. Mrs. F. G. Lancaster poured punch. Mrs. L. W. Purser assisted in the dining room.

The beauty of the Whitford home was enhanced by many artistic arrangements of roses, sweetpeas and gladioli. Miss Fillingame received many lovely gifts from approximately 45 guests who called. Goodbyes were said to Mrs. Wilton Edwards.

Luncheon Fetes Bride-Elect

VANCOBORO—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Witherington on Main Street was attractively decorated with artistic arrangements of gladioli, feverfew, sweet peas and Queen Anne's lace Tuesday when their daughter, Miss Janis Witherington entertained with a luncheon, complimenting Miss Loyce Fillingame, bride-elect of June 5. Miss Fillingame was most attractively attired in a yellow linen suit, with which she wore a corsage of white gladioli presented by the hostess for the occasion.

A delectable luncheon of chicken salad on lettuce, a casserole dish of peas and asparagus, hot rolls, iced tea and meringue shells filled with ice cream topped with strawberries was served at card tables which were covered with white cut work linen cloths centered with old fashioned nosegays in crystal holders. Place cards tied with green ribbons and small bags of rice attached, and gladioli corsages marked the guests places, who with the honoree were: Mrs. Dave Fillingame, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. F. G. Lancaster, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. Wilton Edwards, Miss Patricia Laughinghouse, Miss Doris Rose Bryan, Miss Joyce Fillingame, Miss Betty Gaskins, Miss Eva Forrest, Mrs. Fred Oladson Jr. and Mrs. A. D. Morris.

Following the luncheon the guests fringed a luncheon set with place mats and napkins which was presented the honoree and a hostess gift china in her chosen pattern.

W. S. G. Showers Miss Eva Larsen

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. V. P. Scoville with Mrs. Dorothy W. Johnson and Miss Annie Turner also serving as hostesses. Miss Jane Hadley, the president, presided.

Mrs. Scoville gave the devotional which was most inspiring, using as her subject, "We Have So Much to Sing For." The scripture was taken from Psalms 96:1-4.

During the business session which followed plans were made for the Guild's months to work in the church, July and August, and the committees for the new year were read. The Guild voted, in event of death of an immediate member of a Guilders' family, make a memorial contribution to the church's special mission fund, contributions to which are recorded in the local church's "Book of Remembrance."

Mrs. Johnson, program chairman, presented Mrs. L. W. Herring who in a most interesting manner gave a very comprehensive study of "Africa," bringing out the many needs and the great suffering there. She also gave interesting facts concerning the work being done there by the Methodist Church.

The climax of the evening came when Miss Hadley brought in a surprise shower of gifts from the Guilders to Eva Larsen, a member who is leaving Sunday to enter Duke School of Nursing. Included with these gifts was a nurse's watch which had been sent as a parting gift by Miss Larsen's Sunday School Class.

For refreshments the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Fred Sauve and "Richy" Sauve, served delicious cherry tarts with whipped cream and salted pecans.

THE DAILY REFLECTOR
June 4, 1923

Frank Patrick returned from Chapel Hill last night where he has been attending school.

Miss Bendall Is Complimented At Bridge

Miss Rose Messick, Miss Nadia Danbridge and Miss Mary Nave entertained at bridge at their Cameron Village apartment in Raleigh on Wednesday night, June 3, in honor of Miss Frances Bendall, bride-elect.

The theme of spring flowers was carried throughout the home.

Upon arrival of the guests, Miss Bendall was given a corsage of white carnations.

The guests were then seated for bridge during which time cold fruit drinks and mixed nuts were served.

At the conclusion of bridge, a delicious salad course was served over which the bride-elect was presented an attractive postery casserole set with wrought iron tray by the hostesses.

School Teacher Is Honored In Vanceboro

VANCOBORO—At the last meeting of the Vanceboro Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. Ralph Hill, president, announced that this association had received recognition for its contribution toward the building fund for the erection of a building which will serve as headquarters for the National Congress of Parent-Teacher Association in Chicago, Ill.

The Vanceboro association made its contribution in honor of Mrs. Mollie Harper Forrest, who has served most of her thirty-one years of service in the teaching profession in Vanceboro elementary school, or those within the district. Mrs. Forrest's name will be placed on the Honor Roll which will be placed in the new building in Chicago upon completion.

Mrs. Forrest and the Vanceboro association were given recognition at the state Parent-Teacher convention held in Wilmington, along with others throughout the state.

The Vanceboro association is proud to recognize the ability and services of a teacher who has contributed so much to the school and community. Many students who have been fortunate enough to be under her strong influence and guidance have made better citizens, and will be happy to know that Mrs. Forrest has been so honored.

District Forensic Rally Meets In Ayden Monday

AYDEN—The district National Forensic League Speech Rally will convene in Ayden Monday, June 8, with the Ayden NFL chapter as sponsors.

Approximately six schools are expected to be represented, including Greenville High School.

The rally will open with a general assembly in the Ayden school cafeteria after which the first round in World Peach speeches will be heard. A gold medal will be awarded the winner of the World Peach speeches.

However, if more than seven boys and seven girls enter this contest, a medal will be given in each division.

Preceding a forum on "who is the greatest American of the past?" poetry interpretation and impromptu speaking will be held. In the afternoon session, finals in the World Peach speeches will be held.

Following the finals a forum will be held on "other than President Eisenhower, who is the outstanding world personality in the world today?"

Parties and refreshments will be served with the Coca-Cola to the 30 guests who came. The bride was presented a flower compote by the hostess.

MAIN STREET.—Floodwaters pour over a six-foot ledge gouged in Bayfield, Wisconsin's main street as a result of heavy rain. The torrent caused an earthen dam at the reservoir on the edge of town to give way, sending an avalanche of water into town. No one was injured, but damage was estimated at $100,000. (AP Wirephoto)

Cooperation Of Pitt Businesses Is Highly Praised

Pitt county business men have an almost perfect record of cooperation up to the present time in the U.S. Bureau of the Census' Current Business Report, it was announced today by Joseph R. Norwood, Supervisor of the Census Bureau's Raleigh office.

"Cooperation in Pitt county has been splendid and I'm glad to take this opportunity to publicly thank and commend these business men who have continued the fine record of Pitt county for willing contribution of facts and figures which go to make up the statistical picture of the nation's economic and social life," Norwood stated.

Although only started in this area in January, the Census Current Business report is an extension of the Census Bureau's Monthly Retail Trade Report which has been in existence since 1930 and has furnished invaluable information as to the current level of business activity throughout the country to business men, state and local governments and other interested users.

The Census Current Business Report program is expected to give the Census Bureau a "check on usage" as to the completeness of coverage in the forthcoming nationwide 1953 Census of Business to be taken in 1954 as well as providing more complete information on retail sales throughout the country.

Pitt county was selected in conjunction with Craven county as one of 230 sample areas throughout the country to represent the nation's retail business. Sales figures obtained from these areas on a sampling basis are projected to give an accurate picture of the nation's business life as a whole, Norwood pointed out.

Monthly questionnaires to a cross section of the stores in the Pitt-Craven area are mailed out each month by the Bureau's Raleigh office — these questionnaires were designed as simply as possible and only request the previous month's sales figure. Also representatives of the Census Bureau personally visit business in different areas of the country each month to obtain added information to complete the picture. These areas change each month so that in the majority of cases a business man will only be asked about his operations once a year.

Norwood again stressed that figures obtained by the Census Bureau are held in the strictest confidence as required by an Act of Congress and that they are used for statistical purposes only and never for the purposes of taxation, investigation or regulation.

Friday's Cases In Police Court

In Police Court Friday, Judge Charles H. Weddbee found two soldiers not guilty of transporting tax-paid whiskey and aiding and abetting in transporting tax-paid whiskey.

Jasper Lee Sumner and Wilbur F. Harris, Pitt countyans who are now in the United States Army, stationed at Fort Jackson, South Carolina, were arrested January 24 at First and Greene streets after another car collided with them. They were charged with possessing more liquor than the state law allows.

Testimony showed that they did not have more than the law allows.

John I. Wade, Negro, was found guilty of driving drunk. The court gave him six months on the roads, suspended on payment of $100 and costs. The court recommended that his driver's license be revoked for a year.

Three motorists were before the court on the charge of operating vehicles without a driver's license. William E. Kittrell was fined $15; Zebedee Moore, 30 days in jail, sentence suspended on payment of court costs; Leslie Blaw, Negro, prayer for judgement was continued on payment of court costs.

Franklin I. Hall, careless and reckless driving, was found guilty of speeding and prayer for judgement was continued on payment of $10.

Drunk: John Ingram, Negro, 30 days at the County Home; Benjamin Reaves, Negro, drunk, 30 days in jail or pay $10.

WATER WAS FINE
HARTFORD (UP)—A workman created quite a splash when he undertook a job at the YWCA. The man was supposed to clean out the swimming pool with a vacuum-cleaning-type contraption. The pool was supposed to be emptied of water first. But the worker fell into the pool before he could drain it. He cleaned the bottom, anyway. "The water felt so warm, I thought I'd stay in, clothes or not," he said.

Tulips were first imported into Europe in 1864.

Greenville's playgrounds will be opened June 10, according to Warren Carroll, recreation director. The different playgrounds in the city will organize teams to compete against each other. A point system has been set up and each playground will be trying to earn the most points.

Points will be given for the organization of teams for playing tennis, horseshoes, paddle tennis, tennis and girls softball. Also points will be awarded for work done in arts and crafts, music and dancing, picnics and parties and special events. The playgrounds may get points for publicity and playground newspapers.

The point system was set up to provide special incentive for children and adults that participate in the activities of the various playgrounds. Staffs of the parks in the city should be better trained this year than previously, for all personnel are going to attend a playground training institute in Kingston on June 8 and 9. Other than the regular playground directors, there are several special instructors.

George MacMillan, assistant recreation director for the summer, announces that the new Third Street Park will be dedicated Tuesday night. Tentative plans call for a softball game between two of the top teams in the Men's Softball League and a baseball contest between the top teams in the Pony League.

Breadmen Lose 10-1; Granites Victorious

Garner-Wynne-Manning made it four in a row as they walloped Southern Bread 10-1 in the first game of the Men's Softball League last night at Third Street Park. The Granites fought off last inning threats by the Home Builders to take the second contest 8-6.

With Phillips pitching one-hit ball, Garner-Wynne-Manning was never in serious trouble last evening as they kept their season record clean with a decisive win. Randolph Tripp was the only Southern batter to reach base with a hit.

Phillips and Roland paced the winners at bat with two hits each. Foell had a triple for three times at bat.

Loose fielding by Home Builders and effective pitching by the Granites' Rausch was the story in the second game. The Granites made all its runs in the first three innings and went on to hold the Builders under control in win.

Rausch and Butler each collected two hits for the winners, while no

Farmville's Jones Hurls Relief Win Over Stantonburg

Superb relief pitching by Farmville's Vincent Jones gave the Red Sox an 8-3 win over Stantonburg last evening in Farmville. The decision strengthened the Red Sox's lead in the Bright Belt League.

Jones, who took over on the mound in the second inning, held the Stantonburg team scoreless for the remainder of the contest. The Farmville ace hurler has now tossed 16 consecutive innings of scoreless ball for the Red Sox.

Leading the winners at the plate was Tommy Cole, who had four hits for five times at bat. Ronald Percel collected three base hits for the losers.

Farmville meets Stantonburg at home again tonight. Tomorrow afternoon the Red Sox travel over to Stantonburg for a contest.

Jaycees Increase Lead With Victory Over Hapless Moose In Little League

Arthur Andrews Hurls Five-Hit Win For League Leaders; D. Nobles Bangs Out Four Hits In Game

A four-run first inning by the league leading Jaycees proved to be more than enough to give them a Little League win over the hapless Moose in yesterday's contest at Elm Street Park.

Arthur Andrews tossed the victory for the Jaycees, allowing only five hits. Two hits each were off the bats of Stocks and Riggs. Andrews struck out three and walked four Moose batters.

Twelve base hits were clouted by the Jaycee batters, with four coming off the big bat of shortstop D. Nobles. Pitcher Andrews contributed two hits to his win, as did third baseman Walter Lee Allen. All 12 of the Jaycees were singles.

The win gives the Jaycees one full game over the second place Lions in the Little League race. Monday afternoon at Elm Street Park the Kiwanians meet the Jaycees. In their last outing the Kiwanians upset the Lions.

Baseball talk lately has been about the Pittsburgh Pirates trading of Ralph Kiner to the Chicago Cubs. We don't know whether Kiner and Hank Sauer will provide a one-two punch potent enough to lift the pumy Cubs from the cellar, but they will be one of the best pair in the majors for hitting homeruns.

Kiner and Sauer tied for the homerun crown last year, each with 37, but Kiner had captured it alone all the other years that he had been playing in the majors. The pair will probably together hit more homeruns than any two major leaguers on the same team have hit since back in 1949 when the Boston Red Sox's Ted Williams and Vernon Stephens slammed out 43 and 39, respectively, for a total of 82.

Whether Kiner and Sauer break any sort of record, the outcome should prove interesting to sports enthusiasts.

Flock Notifies Darlington Field Of Purpose In Mind

DARLINGTON, S. C. — Forty Flock of Decatur, Ga., served notice on the field that he's coming to Darlington with one purpose in mind and that is to tuck away the championship trophy in the July 4 race for modified and sportsmen's stock cars.

"You can tell them I'm out to make it two in a row at Darlington," Fony said as he filed his entry yesterday in the Independence Day speed classic.

Flock won last year's "Southern 500" and last week he moved back on the winning trail by capturing first place honors in the 300-mile Grand National event at Raleigh, N. C.

Glenn (Fireball) Roberts of Daytona Beach, Fla., who finished third in last year's National Championship holiday race here, was among the drivers to enter yesterday.

Billy Myers, speed demon from Winston-Salem, N. C., has been labeled as one of the "darkhorses" in the star-studded field.

Myers is setting a torrid pace on short tracks this year. He is already a three-time winner at Bowman Gray Stadium in Winston-Salem.

Among the other drivers already in the fold are: Defending champion Curtis Turner, Roanoke, Va.; Speedy Thompson, Monroe, N. C.; Buddy Shuman, Charlotte, N. C.; runner-up last year, Joe Weatherly, Norfolk, Va.; Buck Baker, Charlotte, N. C.; Ned Jarrett, Newton, N. C.; Richard Blackwell, Startex, S. C.; and Ralph Henderson, Spartanburg, S. C.

The entry deadline for the July 4th race is June 15, Robert Colvin, Raceway president, emphasized yesterday.

A field of 75 fastest cars in time trials will be competing for the increased purse of $10,000. The winner's share will be $1,500 while $1,000 goes to the second place finisher.

Time trials for the Independence Day event will open Tuesday, June 30 and will continue through Thursday, July 2. The fastest qualifier on opening day will occupy the pole position. Race time on July 4 is 1:00 p.m.

The improvements on the world's largest track for stock car races are near completion. Contractors are now busy resurfacing the track with asphalt. Colvin said that the track will be open to the public next week.

Willie Pep Cut Like Fatted Calf After Big Fight

NEW YORK (UP)—Willie Pep was sliced up today like a fatted calf although he had returned triumphantly like a prodigal son to the "big time" Friday night.

Fifteen stitches were required for two big cuts about his left eye. The ex-featherweight champion suffered the gashes while scoring a thriller-diller technical knockout over Fat Marcune in the 10th round at Madison Square Garden.

Willie was sliced 127 3/4 pounds; Fat Marcune weighed 127 1/2.

Pep 30, was very bitter about the cuts, which will keep him out of action for at least a month.

"Look what I got for trying to fight clean," said the Hartford (Conn.) speedster who had been banned from New York rings for 30 months because of rough tactics. He claimed butts caused the cuts.

Willie surprised the 3,571 Garden fans, who witnessed the nationally televised and broadcast bout. He tried to be a perfect gentleman in the ring. His conduct and his terrific finish, although half-blinded by blood that gushed into his left eye, won not only an ovation from the fans but also unstinted praise from Chairman Robert K. Christenberry of the New York Boxing Commission.

None of the three ring officials gave Marcune more than one round and one eye.

Christenberry told Willie, "You fought like a good fighter. I used to read about. We want you back here in another fight as soon as a match can be made."

Braves Beat Phillies As Dodgers Top Cards

NEW YORK (UP)—Ruben Gomez, whose doctor told him he should have been home in bed, gave the Giants renewed hope today that they yet may make a strong stand for the pennant.

The 25-year-old kid pitcher from Puerto Rico had a heavy cold and a fever but he got out of bed and pitched the Giants to an eight-inning 11-1 victory over the Cubs, striking out 11 batters with a baffling screwball and slider for his first big league victory.

Leo Durocher said the youngster definitely won himself a job as a regular starter on the Giant pitching staff.

Gomez, who walked seven, left 15 men on base. He also delivered two hits to the 14-hit Cubs, striking out 11 batters with a baffling screwball and slider for his first big league victory.

The local team is currently in second place in the league standings.

One Time King Of Tennis Passes Away Friday Night

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—William T. "Big Bill" Tilden, one time king of the tennis world, died at his apartment Friday night of a reported heart attack at the age of 60.

Death came to the "father of organized professional tennis" even as he planned more tennis matches.

His bags were packed for him to leave Sunday with tennis professional Bob Rogers, of Los Angeles, for Cleveland where he was to be tournament manager of the World Professional Tennis Championships.

He was scheduled to play in an exhibition match at Wichita, Kan., next Tuesday.

A fire department resuscitator squad attempted for 30 minutes to revive the famed athlete with the "ageless legs" after he was discovered unconscious in his apartment by friends with whom he had a dinner engagement.

The coroner's office said he succumbed to a heart attack "by all apparent indications," but that further examination would be conducted to determine the cause of death.

The fire department rescue unit announced that Tilden apparently had been dead "two hours" before they arrived.

His friends, including Mrs. Marion Anderson, found him sprawled on his bed. They said Tilden's only complaint lately had been that he had a cold.

Kell Grabs Lead In Batting Race As Vernon Slips

NEW YORK (UP)—George Kell of the Red Sox grabbed the American League batting lead back from Washington's Mickey Vernon this week and they seemed headed for a see-saw race.

Kell, ousted last week by Vernon, now tops the loop with a .348 average compared to Vernon's .345. Al Rosen of the Indians follows with .342.

There's no such juggling in the National as Red Schoendienst stays on top with .370 in games through Thursday night. Johnny Wyrostek of the Phils follows with .360.

But in the payoff department it's still Roy Campanella at the top. He has batted in 54 runs, tops for both major leagues. Rosen leads the American with 37.

South Greenville Park Project Drive Underway

South Greenville Park Project committees were organized May 29 with a purpose of raising enough money to develop a plot of land behind the South Greenville School into a park for the Negro citizens of the community.

A goal of $2,500 has been set by the group as an initial step in the project. With this money two baseball diamonds will be laid out, including fences and screens. The drive is now under way.

Clearing of the tract of land that is owned by the city was sponsored by the Bachelor Benedict club. All this land will be used when the project is complete, according to John Bizzell, commissioner of recreation for Greenville Negroes.

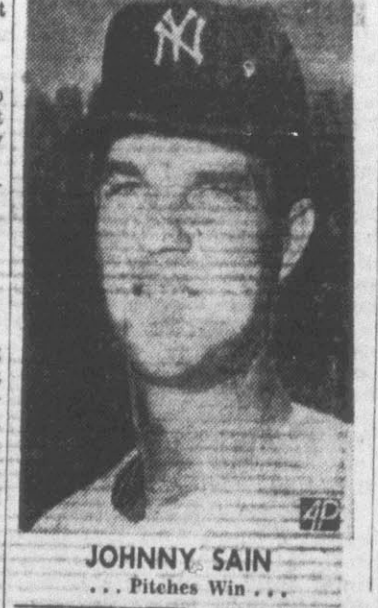

At the present time the city is trying to purchase a 300 by 1100 foot tract of land adjacent to the present area. The piece of land is a wooded area and would probably be used at a later date for a picnic area, a swimming pool and possibly a recreation building.

Present plans call for the building of several tennis courts, outdoor basketball courts, a big football field and three small baseball diamonds.

Favorite Role Today In Race At Belmont

NEW YORK (UP)—Cerise Reine, a fast-stepping filly from the Midwest stable of Mrs. Ada L. Rice, was favored to "turn" in another runaway victory today in the $50,000 Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park.

The mile and three eighths race will be broadcast and televised nationally starting at 4 p.m. e.d.t. Cerise Reine won last week's Delaware Oaks by a dozen lengths. If she can duplicate that victory today she may be entered in next week's Belmont Stakes.

Milwaukee Players Convinced That They Are Team To Beat

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Fearless Frayley's facts and figures: Some baseball men believe that the surprising Milwaukee Braves may be a flash in the National League pan, but the members of the team are firmly convinced that they'll be in the pennant chase all the way to the wire.

"You can't overestimate how much the Milwaukee fans have encouraged us," said outfielder Andy Patko. "That enthusiasm could sweep us right to the flag. You've got to play extra hard when folks appreciate your efforts the way they do."

Rookie Bill Bruton, trying extra-extra hard as he also shoots for Rookie of the Year honors, figures that Brooklyn "is the team to beat but we'll also have to keep an eye on the Cardinals and Phillies... better just keep his eye on the ball..."

Olympic champion Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old middleweight who has scored six knockouts in winning his first seven pro fights, may wind up as a heavyweight challenger in five or six years.

"He's a shade over six feet tall and he is the type who will mature late," insists Manager Gus D'Amato. "Floyd is big boned and his mother and father are large, too." Which may make him a world beater when he grows up, if he retains some of his dazzling speed and that paralyzing punch.

Collegiate sweepstakers bet their shirts during the annual Intercollegiate Regatta at Syracuse, June 20. Each member of the winning eight collects a shirt from his 10 rivals. I thought it happened only in horse racing.

Memory lane: Speaking of horse racing, 34 years ago today a big boned colt startled the fans at Belmont Park as he won his maiden race by six lengths. He wasn't an unknown long because soon the butcher, baker and candlestick maker were speaking of Man O'War.

How does a boxer feel when he knows his bout is being televised? Randy Sandy, the alliterative young middleweight who has lost only one of 13 pro bouts, says he "gets all about it until he is waiting for the decision."

"Then you hope you've made a good showing," he admits, "because making a flashy fight on television can 'make' a young fighter overnight." He also contends that amateur fighting was tougher because the pros know how to pace themselves and fight only in flurries...

'Juice Time' For Youngsters In Kindergarten Workshop

Children are having "juice" time at Miss Annie May Murray's kindergarten in the Training School on the East Carolina college campus. Kindergarten teachers attending the workshop here this week are observing the activities of the youngsters. The 60 teachers at the workshop are from more than 30 North Carolina communities and one Virginia community. Daily sessions have been held all this week. (Reflector Photo by Tommie Lupton)

Fifty-Three GHS Graduates Plan To Further Education

Approximately 70 percent of the others attend a college located in the state. "Our students go to approximately 10 or 12 different colleges," explained the principal. The principal said the percentage of graduates from the local high school going to college would be higher than it is now since seven of the 35 students enrolled in summer school will graduate and enter college in the fall. Several more in summer school will go into the service upon graduation. Of three students who graduated from summer school last year, two went to college and one married. Out of a graduating class of 95 last spring, 70 went on to college. The Class of 1953 was one of the smallest in the recent history of the high school. "This class was small even when it entered the first grade and through the years, a number of them dropped out of school for various reasons," explained Dowd. "Those who drop out of school usually attend East Carolina College and do so between the seventh and 12 grades." When the Class of 1953 entered the first grade, 130 were enrolled, a drop of 51 students.

Three Arrested For Corn Theft

Three youthful Negroes were in Pitt county jail today in absence of $500 bond awaiting hearing Tuesday in county court on charges of larceny of 20 bushels of corn. The three are Willie Mack Hudson, 16, Haywood Lawrence Jr., 18 and Russell Shephard, 17, all residents of State Highway 11 below Bethel. The corn was taken from Louis Hightsmith's farm, supervised by William Short, several hundred yards across the highway from the defendant's residence. Deputy Sheriff Arthur (Duke) Andrews, who made the arrest, said there were nine bags in all with two bushels to the bag. The defendants allegedly carried the corn across the field to a cart, hauled it the rest of the way to their farm, loaded it on a car, and carried it to a mill near Bethel for sale. It was sold for $30, the deputy reports. Two of the defendants, all of whom were natives of Martin county, were arrested on the highway and the third was taken a short while later at a farm about three miles from the scene of the theft, Andrews stated. Bloodhounds from the State Prison Camp near Greenville were used in helping trail the three from the Hightsmith field to the farm across the road. A well-laid thatched roof will last 15 to 25 years.

Tenant House Is Lost To Flames

A tenant house owned by Ola Forbes, on the Falkland highway, was destroyed by fire last night. Greenville firemen responded to an alarm around ten-thirty last night but were unable to save the building which was engulfed in flames by the time the alarm was received. Local firemen earlier in the day were called when smoke was observed coming from the home of Mrs. Nan Moore, 112 East 10th Street. Firemen reported that trash was being burned and the smoke made it appear that the house was on fire.

Thorne Is Chairman Of Photo Committee

FARMVILLE—James Thorne, son of Mrs. Maynard Thorne and the late Mr. Thorne, has been elected chairman of the Photography Committee of North Carolina State College Union. He is a sophomore in ceramic engineering. The purposes of the College Union is to provide students with opportunities to improve their social and recreational skills through good use of leisure time.

LAST PASSENGER
PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—With only one passenger aboard, Luther E. Sears of Lenox piloted the last Boston & Albany railroad passenger train between Pittsfield and North Adams, ending a service started 107 years ago. The first map of America produced by the U.S. Revolution was engraved by Abel Buell who also served time in jail for counterfeiting, says the National Geographic Society.

CATTLE SAFE
SOUTH WINDSOR, Conn. (UP)—Sixty-eight cattle suffered no ill effects as result of being trapped for 10 days on an island by swollen river waters. The animals had to swim 200 feet to high ground when the waters receded sufficiently. A well-laid thatched roof will last 15 to 25 years.

Youth Mangled By Big Alligator

MIAMI (UP)—A teen-aged boy was badly mangled by a six-foot alligator while swimming alone at an abandoned water hole near here. James Stewart, 15, was hospitalized after getting surgical treatment for gashes in the head and other parts of the body. Physicians said his condition was "not critical" but his right foot, chest and arm were "badly chewed."

Harold Hale, attendant on an ambulance which brought the boy to North Shore Hospital last night, said tooth marks also were "clearly visible" on Stewart's head but not very deep.

Hale said the youth, during his ambulance ride from a rural grocery store near the Greynolds Park water hole, gave a harrowing story of repeated encounters with the alligator.

Stewart said he swam frantically toward shore after seeing the alligator but the reptile bit him on the right foot. He twisted free but then the alligator grabbed his right arm Hale said.

Stewart again freed himself only to get more bites on the head, right shoulder and chest when he slipped and fell while scrambling to shore, Hale said.

Stewart said he had stripped to his undershorts for the swim. Despite his injuries he put on his clothes and rode his bicycle to the grocery store a mile away. Store attendants gave him first aid and called for help.

Bidault Accepts Offer To Form New Government

PARIS (UP)—Outgoing Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, accepted today President Vincent Auriol's offer to try to form a new government.

Bidault was the fifth statesman invited by Auriol to solve France's 17-day cabinet crisis.

Authoritative sources had predicted Bidault would accept Auriol's offer, but they speculated he would find it difficult to win approval of the assembly which only last Thursday turned down a bid by Pierre Mendes-France.

Bidault said he would go before the National Assembly next Tuesday or Wednesday to seek approval as France's 19th post-war premier.

The president asked Bidault last week to attempt to straighten out France's difficulties, so the nation could be represented at the Big Three meeting in Bermuda. Bidault at first declined on the ground he wanted to watch developments.

Typist's Error Caught In Time

ALBANY, N.Y. (UP)—Superintendent of Public Works Bertram D. Tallamy said a typist's error almost cost the state $129,596. It also would have resulted in a mighty funny looking bridge.

Tallamy said the error was found in job specifications for a new 1,187-foot bridge across the Genesee River at Rochester, N.Y. The specifications called for 550 "catch-basins" instead of 550 feet of "curbing."

Touring Students Guests At Barbecue Dinner

Students from State College toured the State Experiment Station and the Speight Seed Farm near Winterville yesterday afternoon. The group of agriculture students then were given a barbecue dinner at the home of Brantley Speight, one of the owners of the Speight seed farm. Above a group are shown around the table. Tobacco's Role In Economy Of Section Outlined By B. B. Sugg

"Tobacco is at the foundation of the section's economy and we ought to all be more sympathetic toward it," B. B. Sugg, president of the State Bank and Trust Company, Greenville office, told Greenville Kiwanians last night.

The chairman of the club's Agricultural committee went on to say that tobacco men from the flue-cured belt would meet soon with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson in Washington to discuss future prospects for leaf producers.

The tobacco industry is unique, he pointed out, in that while producers of other crops have kept hot on the trail of the government for patronage, the tobacco industry never has cost the government one cent while it has put into federal dollars about one and one-half billion dollars a year.

The speaker recalled the days when tobacco brought only eight cents a pound. Without the tobacco program, he said, there could have been no East Carolina College as we know it today.

Comparing it with the areas where oil is king, he brought out that if oil wells went dry, then all community life would be drastically affected as the oil men moved on to more fertile areas.

"Farm leaders and farmers," Mr. Sugg said, "are uncertain about what is to take place." He cited the drop in acreage under cultivation over past few years as one cause for concern, and urged the backing of the communities to which the industry has contributed so much.

But he praised the advertising of the industry, especially the type conducted by R. E. Rogers, local warehouseman, of the club, whose messages, Mr. Sugg said, had "dignity and religion" in them.

He cited particularly the slogan: "If you don't sell with us, sell in Greenville."

The speaker was introduced by J. Bryan Brown, vice-president, presiding in absence of President Leo W. Jenkins.

Kiwanians Bill Taft and Dick Forest had birthdays and they donated a dime for each year of their age to a Kiwanis fund. It is a Kiwanis custom for the members to sing "Happy Birthday" when a Kiwanian has a birthday. Dr. Walter Humbert and Dr. Melvin Hoot, who had birthdays some time ago, insisted that they have a song. Eli Bloom led the singing.

The Kiwanis officers and directors will meet at the American Legion Home next Monday night, June 8, at 6:30. Director John A. Collins, Jr., will be host at supper for the group. Guests of the club were Bill Taft, Jr., Gilbert Peele of Augusta, Georgia, and Howard Lindsay of Cheraw, South Carolina, who is a recent addition to the Daily Reflector news staff.

As a special gesture toward Secretary David C. Moore, Jr., who has a perfect attendance record for 22 years, the meeting was suspended and three Kiwanians visited Moore who is ill at his home and adjourned the meeting there.

The auroch, extinct cow, believed to be the ancestor of modern cattle, survived in remote parts of Poland until the 17th or 18th century.

He cited particularly the slogan: "If you don't sell with us, sell in Greenville."

DICK TRACY

WITH ONE SHOT LEFT IN HIS REVOLVER, THE FRANTIC ODDS ZONN LUNGES AT THE CLASS SHIELD AND RIPS IT AWAY FROM TRACY, WITH THE INEVITABLE RESULT.

WE TRIED TO TAKE HIM ALIVE, CHIEF, BUT IT COULDN'T BE DONE.

2-WAY RADIO

FATE DOES THE UNBELIEVABLE, AS THOSE DICE ROLLED FROM ODDS'S SHIRT POCKET, THEY KNEW—

CRAPS!

AND IF WE'VE FIGURED RIGHT, THE PRINT OF THIS GLOVE IS IN OUR FILES NOW, WHERE WE TOOK IT FROM THE SIDE OF THAT ARMORED CAR.

THE ODDS ZONN PICTURE IS BEGINNING TO TIE UP. IT FOLLOWS THE USUAL GANGSTER PATTERN OF FRUSTRATION, DEFEAT AND DEATH.

YES, SAM, JUST HOW COMPLETELY IT IS BEGINNING TO TIE UP, YOU MAY NOT NOW REALIZE. LET US LOOK AT A SCENE NOT TOO FAR AWAY.

YEAH! I THINK I DO.

ROW OVER THERE.

WAIT! NO! DON'T GO ANY CLOSER! NO!

WHAT IS IT?

YA-RRR—

I SEE IT, TOO!

A WOMAN!

THERE'S A POLICE PATROL STATION UP AT THE DRIVE BRIDGE. LET'S TELL 'EM.

MEANWHILE ONE MEMBER OF THE ZONN FAMILY IS ENTERING A NEW PHASE OF HER LITTLE LIFE—A LIFE THAT PROMISES JOY AND LAUGHTER AND LOVE!

LITTLE WING, YOU'RE WELL!

YES, I WELL.

AND THEY'RE LETTING YOU GO HOME WITH US TOMORROW—FOR GOOD!

JUST WAIT! YOUR FATHER COMES HOME--I'LL HAVE HIM TAKE CARE OF YOU

DAGWOOD, YOU'LL HAVE TO PUNISH ALEXANDER--HE WAS CARELESS AND DISOBEDIENT

DAGWOOD, HE'S TOO OLD TO HAVE TO STAND IN THE CORNER FOR PUNISHMENT

HOW ABOUT NOT GIVING HIM HIS ALLOWANCE THIS WEEK?

THAT WON'T WORK--HE'S ALREADY COLLECTED HIS ALLOWANCE FOR THREE WEEKS IN ADVANCE

I'M TOO YOUNG TO GO TO JAIL

LET'S SEND HIM UP TO HIS ROOM WITHOUT SUPPER

THAT'S NO GOOD--HE'S DIETING ANYWAY AND HE HAS BOOKS AND MAGAZINES UP THERE TO READ

HOW ABOUT A GOOD OLD-FASHIONED SPANKING?

NOTHING DOING--HE'S TOO BIG--I'D RATHER WRESTLE A WILDCAT!

THERE MUST BE SOME WAY TO DISCIPLINE A BOY HIS AGE

IT'S A FATHER'S DUTY

IF YOU'D TELL ME JUST WHAT HE DID, I COULD MAKE THE PUNISHMENT FIT THE CRIME

HE LEFT OUR NEW LAWN MOWER OUTDOORS LAST NIGHT IN THE RAIN AND IT GOT ALL RUSTY

WHAT'S THE MATTER, DAGWOOD?

I HAVE A CONFESSION

I'M THE GUILTY ONE--I LEFT THE LAWN MOWER OUT LAST NIGHT

OH, GOODIE, THAT MAKES IT SO MUCH EASIER

THERE ARE A THOUSAND WAYS TO PUNISH A HUSBAND

I'M SORRY, POP, BUT I TRIED TO TAKE THE RAP FOR YOU

THANKS

SEARCH THE CITIES, FARMS, JUNGLES, AND DESERTS. TAKE PHOTOS... THOUSANDS! I'VE A PANEL OF EXPERTS TO SIFT THEM. MIRIAM WILL LOOK AT THE BEST.

AND THE WORLD-WIDE SEARCH BEGINS, AS THE ARMY OF PHOTOGRAPHERS SNAP EVERY ATTRACTIVE MALE IN SIGHT!

CITIES AND FARMS, JUNGLES AND DESERTS-- THE GREAT SEARCH GOES ON.

PHOTOS ARE JUDGED BY THE EXPERTS--

BUT HOW CAN WE JUDGE? IT'S STRICTLY A MATTER OF TASTE. A HANDSOME MAN IS A HANDSOME MAN, PERIOD. MIRIAM SHOULD HAVE ALL WOMEN ON HER PANEL.

BUT THE EXPERTS PICKED THAT HALF-DOZEN AS THE BEST-- OUT OF THOUSANDS, MISS MIRIAM!

THEY ALL LOOK DULL! KEEP SEARCHING!

FAR OFF IN THE JUNGLE-- AS THE SEARCH CONTINUES--

RUSTY RILEY

WHO ARE YOU, MISTER? ARE YOU LOOKING FOR SOMEBODY?

WELL, STRICTLY SPEAKING, I'M NOT LOOKING FOR A PERSON AT ALL... ARE YOU IN CHARGE HERE?

I GUESS YOU COULD SAY I'M IN CHARGE WHILE MISS DOOLEY IS SICK... AT LEAST, I'M IN CHARGE OF THE HORSES.

NOW WE'RE GETTING SOMEWHERE! IT'S THE HORSES I'M HERE ABOUT.

LOOK, SON, MY NAME'S CLINTON... I'M A PRIVATE INVESTIGATOR... HERE'S MY POLICE CARD... I'M LOOKING FOR A HORSE NAMED 'SILVER LAD'.

A DETECTIVE? GEE, MR. CLINTON, WE'VE GOT TWO HORSES, BUT I DON'T THINK THAT'S THE NAME OF EITHER ONE.

GOLLY, I NEVER HEARD OF A PRIVATE EYE LOOKING FOR A HORSE!... WAS IT STOLEN OR SOMETHING?

NOTHING LIKE THAT... MY CLIENT IS A RICH HORSE BREEDER, AND IT SEEMS THIS NAG IS THE LAST OF A CERTAIN BLOOD LINE... HE WANTS HIM BAD, SO HE HIRED ME TO FIND HIM. LET ME TAKE A LOOK AT YOUR HORSES.

COME ON... I'LL LET YOU SEE THEM.

OKAY... I'VE GOT TO SHOW SOME RESULTS... SO FAR I'VE FOUND THREE 'SILVER LADS', BUT NONE OF THEM WAS THE RIGHT ONE.

HOLY SMOKE! I MUST BE WRONG AGAIN!... NOBODY WOULD PAY A GUY FIFTY BUCKS A DAY AND EXPENSES TO FIND THOSE!

THEY'RE FINE HORSES, MR. CLINTON... THEY JUST NEED TO BE CARED FOR... GAY! HERE COMES THE SHERIFF... HE MIGHT HELP YOU.

WELL, RUSTY, WE LANDED A COUPLE OF BIG FISH... MEL AND TRIXIE WERE WANTED BY THE F.B.I. FOR FORGERY AND CHECK PASSING... GOT THEIR JOBS HERE WITH FORGED REFERENCES... WHO'S THIS GENT?

THIS IS MR. CLINTON... HE'S A PRIVATE EYE AND HE'S LOOKING FOR A CERTAIN HORSE.

HORSE NAMED 'SILVER LAD' SHERIFF... GOLD AS A YEARLING IN LEXINGTON... SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN BOUGHT LATER BY DENVER DOOLEY WHILE HIS CARNIVAL WAS PLAYING THERE.

WELL, LET'S GO SEE DOOLEY'S SISTER IN THE HOSPITAL... LIKE AS NOT SHE CAN SETTLE IT.

A LITTLE LATER I'VE HIT THE JACK POT, RUSTY... ONE OF THE HORSES IS 'SILVER LAD', ALL RIGHT... I'VE PHONED MY CLIENT AND HE'LL BE HERE TOMORROW.

YES, SIR... I'LL LOOK AFTER THEM TILL HE COMES... IF HE BUYS 'SILVER LAD', MAYBE HE'LL GIVE ME A JOB.
