UN Planes Battering At Furious Communist Offensive

By ROBERT UDICK
United Press Staff Correspondent
SEOUL, Korea, (UP)—More than 500 Allied planes carried out one of the heaviest strikes of the war today against Communist troops engaged in their biggest assault in two years.

The Allied planes struck for eight continuous hours on an advancing Communist force on the eastern front.

Flying in shuttle runs, the planes took off in flights that varied from one plane to 20. They churned a 30-mile square area into dust and rubble.

The planes pounded the Red-held area with 2,225,000 pounds of bombs and napalm. Some planes flew as many as four missions during the day, unloading their bombs and returning to base for another.

Shuttle flights of Sabre bombers, Thunder jets, Panther jets, Corsairs, Skyraiders and Mustangs started taking off at sunrise.

The fighting bombers and light bombers zoomed over Red-held positions with clock-like precision, dropping their bombs and returning to their bases to pickup more explosives.

Returning pilots reported smoke and dust rose 9,000 feet and made damage assessment difficult.

Meanwhile, the giant Red assault continued to roll forward under the devastating aerial assault and it appeared nearly certain that several South Korean units were cut off and still fighting it out.

The Red assault, launched by some 25,000 troops last night, slowed somewhat during the day. Late reports said the Reds had knifed about two miles into ROK positions on the east central front a number of sizeable enemy units were seen moving in an area formerly held by South Koreans, and they were immediately brought under heavy artillery and aerial bombardment.

Casualties continued to mount steadily. Figures from the combined U.S. Third and 9th ROK divisions defense of Boomerang Hill, northwest of Kumhwa where the Reds hit with 3,000 men, showed 597 Chinese had been killed and wounded.

Incomplete reports from the Christmas Hill area, where nine separate Red probes were pushed back, said 113 Communists were killed, 38 estimated killed and 48 wounded.

Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor 8th Army commander, flew to the fiery front to get a first-hand report of the big Red offensive that could delay signing of an armistice or give the Communists an advantage on the battlefield when the cease fire is called.

An estimated 20,000 to 25,000 Chinese troops took part in the big battle on the east central front after spearheading advance troops had pierced South Korean positions.

Lt. Gen. Pak Sun Yup, South Korean army chief of staff, went to the front for the first time since returning from the United States last week to talk to his commanders in the field.

The fighting exploded as staff officers at Panmunjon ironed out final details of an armistice that will freeze the battleline.

It was apparent the Chinese were making one last effort to return the battleline to the 38th parallel where the war started three years ago.

The Fifth Air Force met fire on the ground with fire from the air. The Allied planes, flying in shuttle runs, churned a 30-mile-square area into dust and rubble. Some of the pilots had flown four missions each up to 3 p.m. (2 a.m. EDT).

Starting at sunrise, the fighter bombers and light bombers zoomed over Red-held positions with clock-like precision, dropping their bombs and returning to their bases to pick up more explosives.

The fighting exploded as staff officers at Panmunjon worked on the final details of an armistice that will freeze the battleline the Chinese were trying to get back to the 38th parallel where the war started three years ago.

While the Communists held the upper hand on the battlefield, the United Nations had complete control of the air.

Far East Air Forces hurled its biggest effort of the war against the Reds Sunday, flying 1,610 sorties against frontline and rear area targets.

They were joined by planes from four carriers and the battleship New Jersey and cruiser St. Paul fired heavy shells into Communist positions near the east coast.

The Communists threw a division against ROK positions southeast of Outpost Texas where they had broken through South Korean defenses during the past two days. Two Chinese regiments cut into Allied positions in the capitol hill area where the Reds took the commanding height Saturday morning, and another Red regiment smashed Allied positions northwest of Kumhwa in central Korea.

There was ceaseless fighting for Christmas Hill, which had been secured by the Allies yesterday. The Reds also threw troops into Sandbag Castle, Tankers' Hill, the Punchbowl and at seven outposts east of the Pukhan River.

At present the battleline extends from Anchor Hill at the extreme east about 48 miles north of the parallel, to the Han River below the parallel a few miles south of Panmunjon.

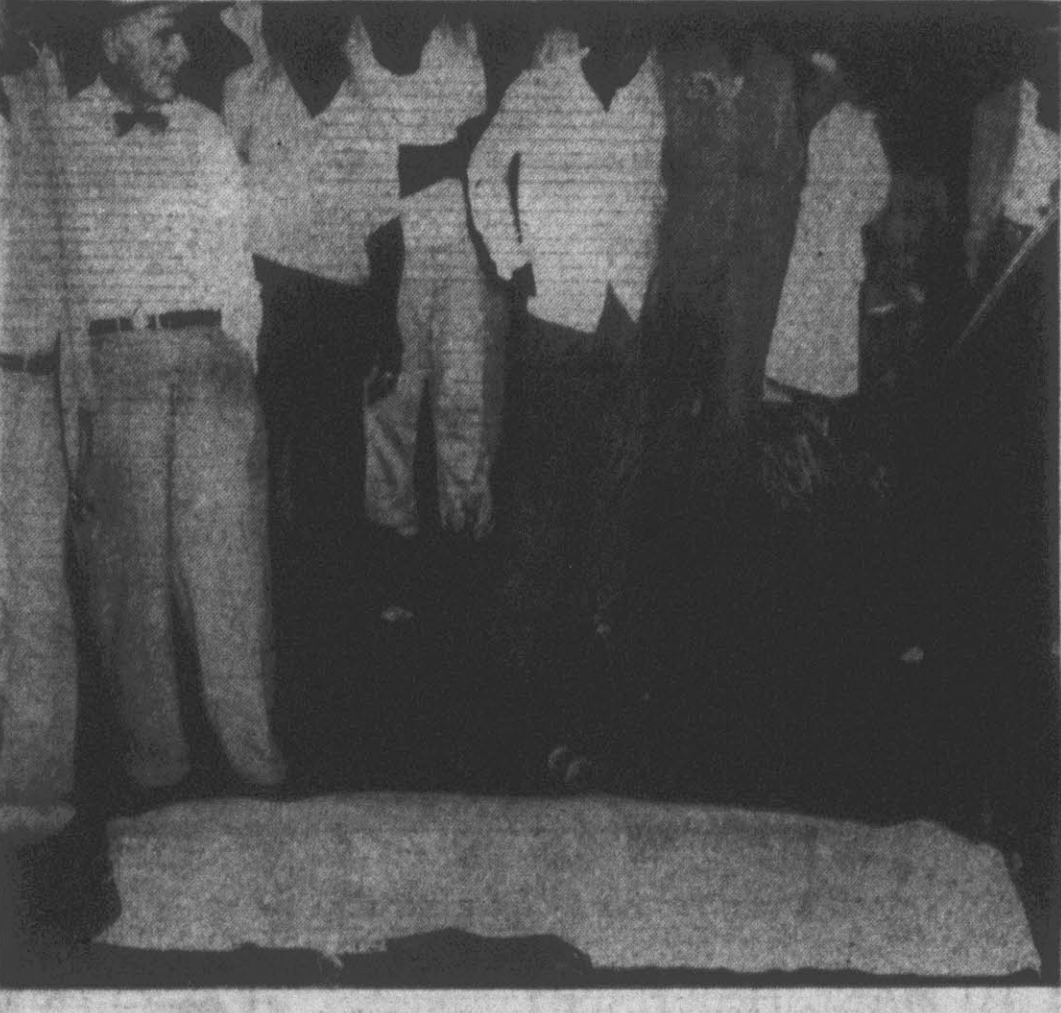

American troops defending the slopes of Outpost Harry successfully kicked off 125 Reds who had fought their way into the trenches. The Reds retreated under fierce hand-to-hand fighting.

The Army tightened censorship restrictions, but it was learned that the ROKs delayed reporting until "hours" after the Chinese had penetrated their defenses.

Southeast of Outpost Texas, a fresh division of about 9,000 Chinese went through a Red spearhead that had battered the area for several days.

An "I" Corps report described the situation at Texas as "fluid."

Shot To Death On Greenville Street

Law enforcement officers Coroner Griffin H. Rouse and Deputy Sheriff Lloyd Manning (left) stand over the body of William S. Gorham, 22, who was shot to death on Clark Street here early Sunday morning. Being held for the slaying is David Chadwick, 22-year-old Negro of Kinston and Greenville who was arrested in Kinston about 7:45 Sunday morning. The shooting, officers quoted witnesses as saying, resulted from an argument over a card game. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

Man Charged With Slaying Picked Up In Kinston Death Followed Card Game

A 22-year-old Negro, David Chadwick, was being held in Greenville jail today charged with the slaying of another Negro who was shot to death on Clark Street here early Sunday morning.

Police officers identified the dead man as William Stanley Gorham, 22, of Greenville.

Officers said the shooting took place on Clark Street near the intersection of 12th St. about 1:30 Sunday morning. When police arrived at the scene, they found Gorham's body lying almost in the middle of the street. Bloodstains were used to retrace Gorham's last steps, and police ascertained he had run 50 to 100 yards before falling dead in the street.

Officers said their investigation showed Gorham and Chadwick and two other Negroes, identified as Andrew Clemmons of 414 West Third Street and Joseph Gray of 1119 West Fifth Street, were involved in a card game near the spot where Gorham's body was found.

Officers quoted the witnesses as saying Gorham and Chadwick got in an argument over the game, a struggle resulted followed by the slaying.

Early Sunday morning Policemen Johnny Plier and Caesar Corbett of the Greenville Police force were dispatched to Kinston where with officers Gay and Francis of the Kinston force, they arrested Chad-

Activities Indicating Truce Near

Liaison Officers Meet As Preparations Are Made To Receive Prisoners

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Allied and Communist liaison officers held a mysterious 19-minute conference today that indicated the signing of a Korean armistice is only a few days away.

Two groups of Allied and Communist staff officers met in the morning and afternoon working on the final details of the truce document.

They were believed near agreement on a cease-fire line, last major item to be settled, even though Communist troops steadily were pushing the battleline southward.

Another sign of an imminent armistice was the increased activity in the United Nations base at nearby Munsan where doctors, medics and troops poured in to take over "his switch," the exchange of 50,000 Communist war prisoners for 12,000 Allied captives, including Major Gen. William Dean.

South Korea's angry delegate to the truce negotiations who has been boycotting the meetings since May 25 made a last-minute appeal to the U.N. to delay signing of the armistice until President Syngman Rhee produces a "better plan."

But Major Gen. Chul Duk Shin's case for a postponement obviously came too late.

Choi told United Press Correspondent Warren Lee he hoped "Washington will change its attitude toward Korea by postponing signing of the armistice in order to give President Rhee time to think it over and make a better plan."

If the United States insists on an armistice which would leave Korea divided, the issue caused Rhee's rebellion, it could at least give in to Rhee's repeated requests for a mutual security pact, Choi said.

Defense Minister Shin Tae Yung said at Seoul he did not know whether South Korean troops which man two-thirds of the Allied battle line would continue to fight after A-Day.

Present Rate Kept Despite Increases In Tentative Budget

Pitt Tax Rate Unchanged

By HOWARD LINDSAY
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt county's tax rate will remain the same during the next fiscal year as it was over the past term, members of the county board of commissioners have decided in approving a tentative budget for 1953-54.

The board agreed to keep the present 90 cents rate on $100 property valuation unchanged despite a proposed increase of $145,718.24 agreed upon in the budget framework completed today.

The commissioners approved the tentative figures at a meeting last week and ordered that the proposed financial plan be published. Under the law, 20 days must elapse between the publication date and official acceptance.

The new contemplated outlay of $1,969,337.73 will be distributed over most of the departments with the general fund and health department rating the lion's share of boosts.

Reginald Gray, county auditor, said today the general fund increase from $342,819.50 last year to $380,700 during 1953-54 will go, for the most part, to foot the bill for the current county-city plan for remapping of municipalities in the county and for the county-wide revaluation program to follow. Some of the boost, he said, will be taken up with salary increases.

The increase in health department allocations will be about 16 per cent over last year's figures. Mr. Gray attributed this to an "effort to bring Pitt county's health department up to the standard it ought to have."

Dr. W. C. Humbert, county health officer, commenting more specifically on application of the proposed added funds said it would go toward hiring one new public health nurse, two sanitarians and an additional clerk. Proposed in the new health allocation is $77,905 as compared with $65,248 last year.

Retirement of this year's portion of the county bonded indebtedness has registered a decrease in this department. Figures for the debt service fund show a proposed drop of more than $15,000 from $147,780 last year to $132,780 this year.

In other departments, the allocations either have remained the same or have shown slight increases as follows: county home fund, $21,297

Queen Reviews Fleet In Spectacular Naval Show

SPIITHEAD, Eng. (UP)—Queen Elizabeth II reviews the mighty fleet of Britain today in history's most spectacular peacetime naval show.

About 1,000,000 persons ashore and millions more at their television sets will watch the stately young queen ride up and down the lines of the biggest armada assembled anywhere since D-day nine years ago.

Standing at her side on a platform just forward of the bridge of the proud little 1,590-ton dispatch vessel "Surprise," will be her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh.

From 3 p.m. 10 a.m. EDT, when the Surprise left Britain's premier naval base at Portsmouth, until midnight, when a final burst of rockets salutes the newly-crowned queen, sea-proud Britons will bask again in the glories of their fleet.

At the completion of the queen's tour of the coronation naval review 300 Royal Navy fighter planes will zoom over her head in aerial salute.

At 10:30 p.m. the vast flag-decked fleet, gathered into nine lines each seven miles long, will be illuminated. For 90 minutes their rockets and fireworks will turn skies over Spithead into a technical fairland of red white, blue and green.

Accept Offer To Serve On Board

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department said today that Czechoslovakia and Poland have formally accepted invitations to participate on the Korean prisoner of war repatriation commission.

Their acceptances mean all five nations invited by the United Nations and Communists to serve on the commission now have formally agreed. Acceptances were received here earlier from Sweden, Switzerland, and India.

During the week the 4-Hers from Pitt will be sharing the summer camp with 4-H boys and girls from Johnston County.

The trip will include a tour of the historic places near Manteo, attendance at the dress rehearsal of the historical pageant "The Lost Colony" as well as camp activities. Instruction will be given in swimming, handicraft, conservation and electricity.

The following boys from 4-H clubs of the county are attending the camp:

Bell Arthur: Charles Carraway, Elmer Flake, J. S. Flake.

Belvoir: Wilbur Owens.

Bethel: Brantley Douglas Cheson, Jerry Stuart Chesson, Jimmy Hardy, Edward Earl Keel, Charles Ward.

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court today refused to stay the execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

No Sharp Drop For Draft Calls If Truce Reached

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense officials cautioned the public today against expecting a sharp drop in draft calls if a truce is reached in Korea.

Maj. Gen. E. C. Lynch, director of the Defense Department's Office of Manpower Requirements, said there will be "no substantial change" in draft calls for probably six months.

Even after that, he did not anticipate that draft calls would drop much from the present low rate of about 23,000 inductees monthly.

Behind Lynch's prediction is Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's recent warning that it will be at least six months before it will be possible to start reducing the army in Korea. The Defense Department position is that a truce in Korea will not mean final peace and it would be dangerous to succumb to another "bring the boys home" feeling such as swept the nation after World War II.

To meet replacement demands, the Army regularly has about 50,000 men in the "pipeline" stretching from training camps in this country to the Korean front. Wilson has stated that once a peace is reached in Korea, the Army strength can be reduced by this 50,000 in addition to the 100,000-man cut already planned.

Once the shooting stops in Korea, Army personnel officials believe it will be possible to start turning off the "pipeline" by extending the tour of men in Korea and ending the early-release program for draftees who have seen Korean service.

The result of this gradual process will be lower manpower demands, and a possible tapering off in draft calls to about 20,000 monthly in another six months.

Plans Pigeonhole Tax Proposals

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-N.Y.) said today the House Ways and Means Committee will pigeonhole President Eisenhower's request for a six months extension of the excess profits tax.

Flatly contradicting the predictions of Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., Reed said the measure will "never" emerge from his committee for House floor action.

Martin had told reporters earlier that "the bill will be on the floor this month and will be passed."

Reed conceded, in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report magazine, that House leaders "may find some way around" his committee, but he said "I haven't discovered what it might be."

"I don't think it—the excess profits law—is going to be extended," he said.

More Identified As Having Checks Awaiting Claim

Checks for back years' tobacco crops sold by farmers through the Flue Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation of Raleigh await a number of Pitt county farmers.

For reasons of changes in address and various other causes, many farmers in this area have not received money due them for tobacco raised during the 1947, 1948, and 1949 seasons, the corporation reports.

To assure delivery of these checks, the Daily Reflector is publishing names of those whose checks have not been delivered. To get their money, farmers finding their names listed should get in touch with the Stabilization Corporation, P.O. Box 2718, Raleigh, as soon as possible and furnish this information:

(1) Identification card and (2) Pink agreement and receipt.

If he doesn't have this information, the following data should be substituted: copies of warehouse bills for the years in question; copies of settlement memorandums describing tobacco delivered to Stabilization Corporation for the years 1947-49; marketing quota number for those years; correct name and address; and names of landlord or tenants for the years named.

Saturday's Daily Reflector carried the first listing of those due checks. A second list follows:

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower's blistering attack on "book burners" stirred capital speculation today that he may be preparing for a test of strength with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy "Wis."

There was no immediate reply from McCarthy to the President's impromptu remarks at Dartmouth College commencement exercises in Hanover, N. H., Sunday. The Wisconsin senator spent the weekend in his native state but his office expected him to return to Washington some time today.

Political observers here felt sure McCarthy sooner or later would take up the gauntlet which Mr. Eisenhower flung down with his declaration that every American has a right to make known his ideas even if they are distasteful to the majority.

Although Mr. Eisenhower mentioned no names his appeal—"don't join the book burners"—came as thousands of books were being removed from U. S. information libraries overseas at the behest of McCarthy's Senate investigation Subcommittee.

McCarthy sharply criticized the libraries operated by the State Department for stocking books by known or suspected Communist authors.

But Mr. Eisenhower said: "How will we defeat Communism unless we know what it is? Why does it have such an appeal for men? It is almost a religion, though one of the nether region."

"We have to fight it and not try to conceal it from our own people."

At another point, Mr. Eisenhower seemed to be defending, not only the right of loyal Americans to learn the facts about Communism, but also the right of Communists to speak their piece.

"They are a part of America," he said, "and if their ideas are different, they have a right to have them, which is unquestioned, or it is not America."

Fifty-Two Pitt Girls And Boys Go To Camp

Fifty-two Pitt County 4-H boys and girls left this morning by bus for a week's stay at the state 4-H summer camp at Manteo.

The 37 4-H boys and 15 4-H girls from Pitt who are attending the camp this week were accompanied by Assistant County Agent C. J. Goodman, Assistant Home Agent Josephine Cusick and Mrs. Willey Waters of Winterville.

During the week the 4-Hers from Pitt will be sharing the summer camp with 4-H boys and girls from Johnston County.

The trip will include a tour of the historic places near Manteo, attendance at the dress rehearsal of the historical pageant "The Lost Colony" as well as camp activities. Instruction will be given in swimming, handicraft, conservation and electricity.

Striking Husbands 'Win' Their Demand; No Chores In Summer

By TOM GRIFFIN
United Press Staff Correspondent
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP)—The "striking" husbands of North 42nd Street today won their demands for "no chores in hot weather" in an agreement that appeared to be a strategic retreat of the wives.

"They have won—with my deepest sympathy," said Mrs. Jim Caldwell, wife of the 63-year-old railroad conductor who last week paraded a picket sign in front of the "unfair wives" of the 900 block.

Caldwell, in announcing the girls had agreed not to ask their breadwinners to do any work around the house for a whole year, showed a failure to grasp the indirect methods of women.

Mrs. Caldwell, spokesman for the ladies, confirmed the agreement but added, ominously: "Let them be kings. We're going to enjoy our defeat."

Just what flaw the women have found in the "contract" neither Mrs. Caldwell nor the other wives would say, but Mrs. Caldwell commented:

"We're going to let the world see what is going to become of those men now!"

The agreement, Caldwell claimed did in fact, look too good to be true.

"It means no more taking care of the baby, moving the lawn, spanking the children, or taking out garbage," he said. "The men work and bring home their pay check. The women take care of things at home. They also must have a bathtub of water ready when the men come home from work. If they don't, we just won't take baths."

Caldwell said the only bargain

Women In The Church

"We dedicate ourselves as a disciplined group to study, pray and individually to take courageous stands," say the members of the United Council of Church Women—arm of the National Council of Churches. And as individuals they commit themselves "to maintain confidence and composure; do basic reading; confer with congressmen; express basic beliefs to clergymen and laymen and to local school boards concerning personal and academic freedoms; contact and cooperate with community groups taking similar stands; encourage more accurate reporting and more careful interpretation of news; encourage the organization of informal study groups."

"The church in the Philippines, with its great vitality, is a real spiritual influence," says Miss Margaret Billingsley, missionary administrator of the Methodist Church, now on a visit to Asia. "One of its strengths is the fact that families as a unit are active in the local church. Often both husband and wife are leaders in the Christian program, with the children participating in the youth and students' groups. We have some fine young missionaries working with the Christian leaders. I do not think I have ever seen any who enjoy their work more or are more integrated into the program. The continued call is for more missionaries."

When UNICEF (United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund) celebrated its sixth birthday recently, the State Department's International Information Administration reported that over 50,000,000 children have been aided by UNICEF-assisted projects. It has furnished diapers for more than a million babies, and shoes, underwear, dresses, and suits for some 6,000,000 boys and girls. It has supplied milk, meat, margarine, rice, cod and shark-liver oil for millions more. Medical aid has included BCG vaccine to protect 14,000,000 youngsters from tuberculosis, penicillin for over 500,000 sufferers of trepanomiasis (yaws), and toxoids to protect thousands from diphtheria and whooping cough. To help countries build up their own services for children and mothers, UNICEF has provided them with supplies and skilled teachers. Many church agencies are trying to strengthen the financial support given to UNICEF by the U.S. government.

Tax Bureau Has 'Friendly' Ideas

BLOWING ROCK, N. C. (UP)—The Bureau of Internal Revenue wants to be as friendly as possible with the taxpayer and still be firm, Assistant Commissioner Justin F. Winkle said today.

Winkle, addressing a Middle Atlantic States accounting conference here, said that a number of "concrete" measures have already been adopted by Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews to "assure that the bureau meets the taxpayer halfway and to assure him a square deal in all tax matters."

"These range all the way from a warmer, more friendly tone in communications addressed to taxpayers to the development of a plan to relieve some 30,000,000 persons who receive only wage income from the necessity of filing an annual income tax return," Winkle said.

Winkle said he believes the reorganization of the Internal Revenue service, which was started in early 1952, is already bringing better service to taxpayers and more efficient operation of the bureau. But he added that it will take two or three years longer to reap the full crop of benefits from the reorganization.

Winkle praised Andrews' "aggressive leadership, open-minded attitude and enthusiasm for long-range planning."

The conference here will close tomorrow night.

Eleven Teachers Completed Course In Driver Education

Eleven teachers in North Carolina public schools completed this week a teacher-preparation course in driver education offered at East Carolina College.

The course was made possible through the cooperative efforts of the State Department of Public Instruction, the State Department of Motor Vehicles, and the college. The instructor and materials were supplied by New York University's Center for Safety Education. The cost of materials used was contributed by the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies of New York and the North Carolina Association of Insurance Agents, Inc. Cars were lent by members of the North Carolina Automobile Association from Perquimans and Pasquotank counties.

John C. Noe of the State Department of Public Instruction was in charge of arrangements for the workshop. Commenting on the purpose of the five-day, forty-clock-hour course, he stated here this week, "For several years motor vehicle accidents have been the chief cause of death for all school-age persons in North Carolina—age 4 to 24. These teachers and the schools they represent have elected to do something constructive about this problem and teach the youth of their communities to use the motor vehicle safely and efficiently."

Thomas Seals, representing New York University's Center for safety Education, was instructor in the course at East Carolina. He is a native of North Carolina and a former teacher in this state and in Delaware. Dr. N. M. Jorgensen, head of the East Carolina College health and physical education department, assisted with local arrangements for the workshop.

In conjunction with the teacher-preparation course at East Carolina, the State Department of Public Instruction and the State Department of Motor Vehicles Highway Safety Division conducted a three-day in-service workshop for seven members of the Highway Safety Division. The purpose was to provide for future cooperative work with the State Department of Public Instruction in the practice driving phases of teacher-preparation courses in college programs and for emergency teacher training in local school administrative units. Those completing the course at East Carolina are Clyde Blackmon, Whiteville; Donna Clemmer, Gastonia; Clifford C. Corey, Enfield; Mrs. Joe Crocker, Oakboro; John William Grice, Chapel Hill; Earl H. Huggins, Raeford; Theodor Paul Jones, Kinston; Cora Martin, Troutman; Oliver Edward Mays, Guilford County; and Ward N. Woolard, Robersonville.

Conditions That Cause Tornadoes During 'Season'

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Because this year promises to be the biggest tornado year on record and the "tornado season" now is at its height, you should know all about the most violent storm nature produces.

Our authority is Snowden D. Flora, retired senior meteorologist of the Weather Bureau, who studied thousands of tornadoes during his 47 years in the service, and is one of the top experts.

There have been tornadoes in every state, but they're much more frequent between the Rockies and the Appalachians. They have occurred in every month, but the season is from March through June. It begins in the South Central states and moves northward. Tornadoes can form during any hour of the day and night but most often they form between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. If the atmosphere is hot and humid — if there are light winds — if the sky is filled with tumbling clouds although horizons are clear, then watch out.

BELL'S PHARMACY

That's tornado weather. Tornadoes are made this way: Heated moist air moves northward from the Caribbean in "weather fronts," sometimes 1,000 miles long. Cooled, dry air moves southward from the polar regions. These are facts of life as regards weather.

Tornadoes result when these two "fronts" come together under special circumstances. Generally, the temperature of the cooled, dry air is decreasing rapidly with altitude when it overruns the heated, moist air.

Being lighter, the heated, moist air rushes upward through the dry, cool air. It cools quickly which condenses its water vapor. Now if the temperature of the cooled, dry air drops sharply with every foot of altitude, the condensing rate exceeds the saturation rate.

That makes for instability and nature often corrects instability with violence — in this case, with a tornado.

The safest place to be during a tornado is in one of the "cyclone cellars" which abound in the Middle West. Next safest is the southwest corner of the basement of a frame house. Tornadoes usually approach from the southwest and if the house is blown away, it will be blown away from people crouched in the southwest basement corner.

Coffee Drinking Reduced Among Gov't Workers

WASHINGTON (UP)—Government workers are drinking 23 per cent less coffee than they did under the Democratic administration, it was disclosed today.

Government Services Inc., which runs most of the federal cafeterias and snack bars, told the United Press it used 44,000 pounds of coffee last September and again in January but only 34,000 pounds in May.

The warm-weather trend to cold drinks and widespread firing account for some of the drop, but GS General Manager Robert R. Ayers attributed most of it to a new Republican policy.

The GOP high command expects people to spend more time at their desks and less in the coffee line.

Byrd-McLawn Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

In an impressive June ceremony of picturesque loveliness, Miss Daphne McLawn and Mr. Roy Hobbs Byrd were united in marriage at the Baptist Church in Winterville on Saturday afternoon, June 13, at five-thirty o'clock with the Rev. Edward G. Cole, pastor of the church, performing the double-ring ceremony. He was assisted by the Rev. E. G. Clary of Bunnlevel, pastor of the church.

The church had been beautifully decorated with its background of bridal greenery, phloxes and garza mums. Arrangements of white gladioli, white lilies, and double bristol fairy surrounded the altar and the soft glow of cathedral candles lighted the wedding scene. The pews reserved for the two families and closest friends were marked with clusters of tulle, bristol fairy and improved amilak.

Mrs. Roy T. Cox of Winterville, organist, rendered a program of nuptial music. Mr. Edward Hill of Raleigh, soloist, sang "Because" by De Hardestel and "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee" by Gounod. As the couple knelt for prayer, the soloist sang "The Lord's Prayer" by Molloy. The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a period wedding gown of chantilly lace over satin, V-neck banded with pearls and cut beads, fitted bodice, fastening down the back and long sleeves with points over the hands. Her full-skirt of lace over satin extended into full train. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion fell from a coronet of pearls and lace.

She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, garza mums and double bristol fairy centered with a large white orchid.

The bride chose for her honor attendant, her sister, Mrs. Ralph Worthington of Ayden. She wore a coral nylon net gown, shirred bodice, draped stole and bouffant skirt with shirred panels in the skirt. Her headress was a shirred bandeau of nylon net with pinocchio roses to match her gown. With this she carried a graceful lacy fan with yellow garza mums and pinocchio roses. Attending as bridesmaids were Mrs. Fred H. Jones Jr. of Raleigh, sister of the groom, Miss Gay McLawn of Atlanta, Georgia, and Winterville, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Charles L. McLawn and Mrs. William M. McLawn of Winterville, sisters-in-law of the bride. They wore gowns and head-dresses identical in style and color to the honor attendant and carried similar bouquets.

Mr. R. E. Byrd of Bunnlevel was his brother's best man. Ushers were Dr. Charles W. Byrd of Dunn, Mr. Hal C. Byrd of Spartanburg, S. C., brothers of the groom; Mr. R. H. McLawn Jr., brother of the bride; and Mr. Fred H. Jones Jr. of Raleigh, brother-in-law of the groom.

Little Miss Betty Jean McLawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McLawn Jr. and niece of the bride, was flower girl; and Jack Byrd, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Byrd of Dunn, served as ring-bearer. Honorary attendants were Miss Faye Brooks and Mrs. Lewis Jones of Raleigh, Miss Ann Rackley of Smithfield, and Miss Jennie Lou Newbold of Elizabeth City.

Mrs. R. H. McLawn, step-mother of the bride, wore a rose gown of lace and silk with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. J. C. Byrd, the groom's step-mother, was dressed in an aqua lace dress with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

For traveling the bride chose a costume suit of coronation blue silk shantung with navy and white accessories and a white orchid.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Richard Herman McLawn and the late Mrs. Janie Tyson McLawn. She is a graduate of Meredith College. For the past year she has been on the faculty of Needham Broughton High School in Raleigh.

The groom is the son of the late Mrs. Linnie Hobbs Byrd and the late Mr. James Caleb Byrd of Bunnlevel. He is a graduate of North Carolina State College and served in the United States Army during World War II. He is in business with his brother in the firm of "Byrd Brothers Farms."

After a wedding trip through the mountains of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. Byrd will be at home in Bunnlevel.

Reception Immediately following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herman McLawn entertained at a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Roy H. Byrd, and their wedding party.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McLawn Jr. and presented to Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Wilkerson who introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Herman McLawn, Mrs. J. C. Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hobbs Byrd and their wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Whitehurst invited the guests into the dining room for refreshments. A silver epergne filled with Brides Roses, white snapdragons and bristol fairy centered the pineapple linen and lace covered table. Silver candle holders surrounded the centerpiece.

Mrs. Ruel W. Tyson served lemon ice and guests helped themselves to Smithfield ham with rolls, dainty assorted party sandwiches, bridal mints and decorative cakes and salted nuts.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Beland received in the hall and invited guests to the gift room where Mr. and Mrs. Jack Quinley, Mrs. L. W. Tucker and Mrs. Roy T. Cox presided. From the gift room to the library, Mr. and Mrs. George Strickland made them feel welcome and invited them to the coffee table where they were served French frosted coffee, cheese straws and dainty tea pastries by Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Langston. Mr. and Mrs. Obed Costelloe registered the guests and goodbyes were said to Mr. and Mrs. D. T. McLawn. About 400 guests enjoyed this delightful affair.

Southwest Still Sizzling With Big Heat Wave

By UNITED PRESS

The sizzling Southwest, which suffered through a disastrous drought last summer, baked in another 100 degree-plus heat wave today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said there was no relief in sight today or Tuesday for Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and the lower Mississippi Valley.

Texas ranchers were driving their cattle to market early, rushing the market and dropping the price of livestock. The cowmen had no choice.

Last summer the heat was so oppressive and rainfall so scarce that portions of the Lone Star State were declared federal disaster areas. The parched pastures had not recovered when this year's heat wave began burning the grasslands again.

The number of cattle received in the Fort Worth, Tex., stockyards last week hit record or near-record level, and prices dropped from $1 to $2 per hundredweight.

Meanwhile, the toll of persons across the country killed by the late spring heat wave was at least 20. Saturday six persons died in Kansas City, Mo., alone.

Three little girls, Beverly Jean Scott, 11, Melissa Scott, 10, and Linda Marshall, 12, said they fried an egg Sunday on a sunny allas sidewalk. They said the egg sputtered and fried.

The temperature in Dallas was 106, and the girls said a reading taken near the sidewalk showed 120 degrees. The 106 reading was only three-tenths of a degree below the all-time June record in Dallas, set last Friday.

Kingfisher, Okla., reported 113 degrees heat Sunday, and at Hobart, Okla., the mercury climbed to 112. Oklahoma City police were kept busy answering calls to enforce the city's stringent water usage laws.

The rest of the country had moderate temperatures and generally clear skies.

Noted Editor's Funeral Tuesday

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—Funeral services are tentatively planned Tuesday for Douglas Southall Freeman, famed editor and historian who won the Pulitzer Prize for his biography of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Freeman, 67, died of a heart attack at his home here Saturday while at work on a sixth volume of his life of George Washington. Death came a few hours after he had finished a regular morning radio broadcast.

He had retired from the newspaper field in 1949 after 34 years as editor of the Richmond News Leader to devote all his spare time to his biography of Washington.

Questions Stand By Einstein On Probers' Rights

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Herbert R. O'Connor, former head of the Senate Crime Committee, thinks Dr. Albert Einstein's advice to teachers to refuse to testify before congressional investigators is an "unwarranted interference by an alien in our midst."

The Maryland Democrat termed Einstein's action "an insult" during an address yesterday before the Pennsylvania Railroad Holy Name Society.

"It is an insult to a Senate committee for anyone to defy legitimate inquiries into the existence of a world-wide conspiracy which has as its aim the overthrow of American institutions by force and violence," O'Connor said.

Airport Will Need Constant Support

Now that the Eastern Carolina Airport Authority is officially organized, the time is at hand for the eight local government units involved to begin to demonstrate in concrete terms they are behind the program for a joint airport.

The Authority has asked that each of the eight local government units, in preparing budgets for the coming fiscal year set up in some contingency fund a proportional part of $40,000 which the authority may call for if needed between now and June 30, 1954.

Under the legislation which created the joint Airport Authority, each of the four counties — Pitt, Nash, Edgecombe and Wilson — are to provide 12½ per cent of the airport funds, and the percentages for the four cities are to be Rocky Mount, 18; Wilson, 15; Greenville, 11; and Tarboro, six.

Naturally the airport proposed is not to be had without expense. Even preliminary work on securing a site, making surveys and taking care of other matters is going to cost something. The contingency fund asked for by the Authority during the coming fiscal year certainly is reasonable enough.

The Reflector hopes each of the eight governmental units will see fit to include its share of the $40,000 in the budget for the coming year. The money will be kept by the respective units, and turned over to the authority only if and when any money is needed.

For Pitt County, its part of this $40,000 fund for the coming fiscal year would be $5,000 laid aside in case it is needed. For the city of Greenville, the proportional part of the fund will amount to $4,400. The money may or may not be needed by the Authority, but it should be included in the individual government budgets just in case it is needed.

The harmony and optimism sounded by members of the Airport Authority at the organizational meeting, plus the solid note of determination, should be an inspiration to the people of the four-county area who realize the need for a major airport and the benefits to be derived from such a facility. It probably will take several years of diligent work before the airport begins operations; but progress must be made step by step.

First steps already have been taken. Many subsequent steps will require outlay of funds from the eight local government units involved. It would be a major setback if any of the units renege on the first call for support from the Authority.

A Stiff Sentence Deserved By All Who Try Bribery

It is thought by many people that many favors and underhanded deal can be had by individuals who placed the right amount of money into the correct channels to be received by the proper law enforcement officer or other government official.

There have been a number of cases where officials actually have been convicted in courts of taking bribes from unscrupulous people. But the number of officials convicted of receiving bribes are far less than the number who are accused — officially or otherwise — of having their hands behind their back.

Each time it comes to light that a would-be briber has been exposed by the official whose services he sought to purchase, it somehow does a great deal to boost public confidence in the "public servants."

By that we do not mean that most people believe the majority of officials would turn a fast trick just for a few extra dollars. On the contrary, with the exceptions of a few spots perhaps in government, public confidence in the integrity of officials probably has never been higher.

In Marion last week a 28-year-old man was sentenced to four to five years for attempting to bribe a highway patrolman. The attempted $100 bribe was reported by the patrolman to his superiors, and the briber was brought to court.

The sentence, in our opinion, while it may seem stiff, is certainly justified in such an instance. Those who would bribe public officials to accomplish some end by illegal means, are doing just as much to undermine government as any outside force which is seeking to destroy democratic government. The whole process of democratic government is based upon the conviction that men should choose their own officials and by so doing a mutual confidence is established which must not be betrayed. Superior Court Judge H. Hoyle Sink who slapped the four to five year sentence on the would-be briber set a good example to be followed by other Justices confronted with a similar situation.

The crime of bribery, in the final analysis, strikes at the vitals of government. Not until punishment for the crime is made sufficiently severe, will men desist from that method of securing favoritism as a means to undermining the law of the land.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
SAND TRAPS

Sand traps are the bane of most amateur golfers. Get in a sand trap, and all hope of a satisfactory score goes glimmering for most people.

But not for the professionals. Recently an authority on golf was telling of a match played by one of the world's great golfers, and it seems that the player put his ball in the rough every time on his drive from the tee. Frequently he was in a sand trap. But when a golfer is skillful, he can sometimes get on the green more certainly from a sand trap than from the fairway.

The truth of the matter is that the professionals know how to handle difficult situations. Some of them have actually made themselves so skillful in getting out of troublesome situations that they would just as soon be in the rough and in the sand trap as on the fairway.

Film Stars Losing Tax Loophole

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Hollywood stars and producers may soon be forced to forego picture-shooting sojourns overseas as a device for dodging heavy American income taxes. With typical Hollywood over-acting, they have killed the goose that laid so many million-dollar eggs.

Their flight from Uncle Sam's collectors and clutches is entirely legal, according to Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, although Congress will eventually plug this loophole.

But so many top actors and actresses, headed by Gene Kelly, Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper, have taken advantage of it that box-office patrons are shocked. The popularity of the two-score tax evaders, how well identified, may drop.

INDICTMENT OF TAX ESCAPISTS—Full-dress indictments of these tax escapers have been delivered on House and Senate floors. Hollywood and other unions are refusing to provide projection operators for films shot abroad. Certain famous colleagues, notably Joan Blondell, brand the practice as "unpatriotic," save when script and plot demands make it necessary.

A further deterrent is the unfavorable publicity given the racket by many California newspapers, especially in Hollywood, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Pasadena, etc. Newspaper editors and columnists there and throughout the country have joined the campaign against a system that cheats the Treasury, causes unemployment in the movie industry and angers less favored taxpayers.

PROMISE OF 1951 AMENDMENT—What has now become known as the "Hollywood loophole" was a 1951 amendment to the Internal Revenue laws. It provides that an American who works 17 out of 18 months in foreign countries be exempt from payment of federal income taxes.

The amendment was designed to implement the Point Four Program for American technical assistance to "backward and undeveloped" lands, as proposed by former President Truman in his 1948 inaugural address. Congress and the Treasury urged it as an inducement to persuade engineers, skilled workers, economists and business executives to undergo hardship in hot, remote, primitive areas.

It was not intended to be a movie "grave train."

EXILES FOR FINANCIAL REASONS—Smart Hollywood tax agents and advisers quickly scented the application of this provision to their clients. Gene Kelly is said to be the first to advertise that an "American in Paris" need pay no taxes to Uncle Sam, but Gary Cooper and Claudette Colbert have become fellow-exiles for financial rather than theatrical reasons.

It is estimated that almost 50 major pictures were filmed abroad last year, with England, Africa and India as the most popular locales. More than 30 of Hollywood's top names starred in these films. They included Kirk Douglas, Errol Flynn, George Raft, Ava Gardner, Lana Turner. Producers partial to foreign operation include John Huston and Willie Wyler.

OTHER ADVANTAGES—Besides the income tax benefits, there are other advantages. Production costs are lower, in view of the lower wages paid to technicians, studio personnel and other workers. With the eight major studios having about $40,000,000 in frozen or blocked funds overseas, this is almost the only way that they can recoup. There is much to be argued for the escapers.

The unions complain because it reduces the number of jobs. Their Hollywood agents estimate that about 5,500 of a estimated 20,000 technicians are now out of work, although all the unemployment is not due to the tax-dodging practice. Competition from television and the transition to 3-D films are contributory factors.

ISSUE OF COMMUNIST INFLUENCE—Union spokesmen have also raised the issue of Communist influence on foreign-shot films, though it seems far-fetched. The Reds driven out of Hollywood unions have gone abroad, where their political beliefs do not bar them from studio employment, according to this viewpoint. Thus they may be able to do dirty work in overseas movies which they cannot get away with in Hollywood.

Here are a few proposed checks on this scheme: One is an amendment limiting tax exemption to only the first $25,000 of foreign earnings. Another is definite limitation of immunity to salaries less than $15,000, which would advantage only Point Four people. And the unions may yet require that all foreign pictures be made with a full complement of highly paid Americans.

Psychology In Selling

By ELMER ROESSNER
A toy manufacturer has brought out a cardboard brief case containing six fun books, crayons, pencil quizzes, games, and puzzles. It's to keep children from 4 to 9 amused while on trips.

It's a nice little dollar item. But in designing it, the manufacturer (Sam Gabriel Sons & Co., 200 Fifth Ave., New York 10) added a little twist that might profitably be adopted by other manufacturers of toys and other things for youngsters. There's a space on the take-along brief case for the child's name, address, phone number and age.

Children are the most possessive little creatures in the world. Anyone who has the slightest experience with them knows how often "That's mine" is screamed. This inborn desire for sole ownership can be cited as evidence that communism will eventually pass away.

It's a good guess that all other things being equal, children will prefer games, dolls, space weapons and other toys that have their names permanently inscribed, or provision for such inscription. This can also apply to apparel, furniture and other items.

That address and phone number space is a good idea, too. Psychologists tell us that a large number of children have secret or expressed fears of getting lost. Therefore, toys that identify them with the home and family have added appeal. Some say that adults' preference for things personalized with their names or initials is partly a carry-over from childhood apprehensions.

These facts suggest questions why some manufacturer has not brought out an inexpensive apparatus by which stores could add names and addresses to toys and other children's goods; why photographers and label makers haven't got together to offer stickers bearing photos, names and addresses of children for their own labeling of possessions or—if these products are being made better.

REP. SWEATERS

ANGER U.S. KNITTERS
The National Knitted Outerwear Association is protesting that the Foreign Assets Control regulations prohibit American manufacturers from obtaining cashmere originating in Communist China, while British and Australian manufacturers may, and may send sweaters made from that goat hair into the United States.

The association complained to the Treasury Department that American dollars are flowing into China through foreign sweater manufacturers and American manufacturers are losing their customers. In short, it says its members are being made the goat—the pun is deliberate—of the FAC regulations.

POINTS UP IMPORTS
A California supermarket hung a giant map of the world on one wall and ran ribbons from the countries of origin to displays of imported goods. An airline loaned travel posters showing scenes abroad to add a festive note. At the store's invitation, school principals sent classes to see the displays and hear explanatory talks, and sales increased considerably.

AIRLINE SENDS TICKET OFFICES TO CUSTOMERS

Borrowing an idea from banks that have installed traveling branches in trucks, an airline has put a motorized ticket office in Los Angeles and San Francisco. A shortwave radio keeps the trucks in touch with central offices. The migratory ticket offices will be stationed near games, conventions and other sources of business distant from main offices.

Arguments For A Continued High Tax Structure

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK—I can give many economic reasons why taxes should not be cut until the Federal Budget is balanced; but here is why taxes should be cut if possible. In 1940, an average married couple with no children and a net income of $5,000 on their Federal income tax return (after real estate taxes, charities, interest, etc.) had over $4,800 left for themselves. Today, after taxes, a similar couple with a $5,000 net income has only $4,150 left. This perhaps wouldn't be so bad were it not for the fact that their $4,150 buys them only $2,160 worth of goods.

HIGHER TAXES, HIGHER PRICES

New Deal tax policies, to be sure, seemingly did much to improve the dollar status of many workers. But executives earning over $10,000 were really mowed down. Take the $20,000-a-year man as an example. In 1939-40 he had nearly $18,500 left after taxes. In 1953 he had left only about $14,500. You say you wouldn't mind having even the $14,500. That may be true; but see how the $20,000-a-year man's standard of living has been lowered. Today his $14,500 net buys him only about $7,500 worth of 1939-40 goods!

This same principle applies to corporations. Business has been good for the last dozen years. It was made good by war. With war came the all-out effort to produce weapons. There were few civilian goods, so workers had little to buy. Dollars piled up. When a big supply of dollars started chasing a little supply of goods, trouble began. Prices automatically went up. With increased came demands for increased wages to meet with increased prices. And this resulted in increased taxes. As wages and taxes rose higher, employers added wage and tax costs on to production costs. This kind of spiraling has gone on spiraling until prices today are nearly twice as high as they were in 1939-40.

THE NEED FOR A 100 CENT DOLLAR

Were this sort of thing allowed to continue, our nation could end up in bankruptcy. One of the best examples of postwar inflation is little Greece. In 1940 about 150 drachmas were equal to one of our dollars; today the official rate is 15,000 to the dollar. How would you like a life insurance policy or a pension plan in Greece today? It could happen here, too!

That $20,000-a-year retirement policy you were building in 1940 and on which you were planning to retire in 1960, will buy little more than $1,500 of rent and food and clothes today. Congress made its big mistake after the war when there was a shortage of goods and pent-up buying power. Right then and there the Government should have raised its spending to the house. Instead, we continued to spend, and in so doing built up further demand for civilian goods. Hence, things got badly out of control.

THE BUDGET SHOULD BE BALANCED

Truman's 1953-54 budget called for a $79-billion expenditure. That is $10 billion more than the Government will take in, even at the present high tax rate. To balance the budget, $10 billion will have to be lopped off somewhere. This could very well come by reducing Government pay rolls, tightening up a loosely run Veterans' Administration, and stopping the pointless moving of military personnel from one side of the globe to another, then right who did not insist that he remain.

Readers, however, must remember that any public economy program means firing a lot of people and perhaps starting the unemployment cycle. Congressmen may resist such economies. They don't like to see their constituents lose their jobs in either Government or industry. Therefore, my present guess is that high taxes will continue. If so, we can meet them only by producing more, working harder, and being more sympathetic with our employers who are suffering from DOUBLE taxation.

DOUBLE taxation.

Bostian A 'Natural' For N. C. State College Selection

By LYNN NISBET

CHANCELLOR—Dr. Carey H. Bostian, newly elected Chancellor of State College, was described by President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University, as a man "with scholarly background and solid achievement." That brief statement, pretty well summed up the qualifications presented in detail to the board of trustees, which promptly and unanimously chose Dr. Bostian to succeed Col. John W. Harrelson, who will retire as chancellor on August 31. Until a few weeks ago when his name first appeared in speculation about the chancellorship, Dr. Bostian was not widely known outside academic and scientific circles and in his own church and neighborhood. He has national stature in the fields of zoology and genetics, which are directly related to agriculture.

HOME GROWN—His selection

follows the pattern set by the University trustees some years ago, in selecting directive leadership from among native Carolinians, who have broadened their perspective by collegiate training and experience in other states. He was born in China Grove, graduated from from Salisbury high school and Catawba College, and earned post graduate degrees at the University of Pittsburgh.

North Carolina has furnished leadership for many colleges and universities throughout the country, and has proven fully able to grow its own leadership at home. President Gordon Gray of the Consolidated University, Chancellors Robert B. House at Chapel Hill, Corey H. Bostian at State (also retiring Chancellor Harrelson) and Edward K. Graham at Woman's College, are all Tarheels.

So are Comptroller W. D. Cameron, Jr., and the three institutions business heads—Claude Teague at Chapel Hill, Graves Vann at State and John Lockhart at Woman's College. A surprisingly large percentage of the faculties at the three institutions are home folks, who have studied elsewhere and came back to teach.

GROWTH—In a tribute to Col. Harrelson the development of State College and the whole State of North Carolina was traced by T. J. Pearsall, chairman of a committee to memorialize the retiring chancellor and his 46 years connection with the institution. When he entered as a freshman in 1905 the college enrollment was 480 and the plant was valued at about a million dollars. He will turn over to his successor on September 1 and institution with a plant valued at $25 million, an enrollment of nearly 4,000 with students coming from every one of the 100 counties in North Carolina, from 44 other states and 40 foreign countries. When Col. Harrelson was named head of the

OLD PROMOTER MISSES

JOB OF A LIFETIME

It was a weeklong Old Promoter who strolled into the office today. Even a cigar pushed into his paws failed to cheer him.

"All my life I have been dreaming of one kind of a job," he said. "Then when this job popped up, I didn't get it. I didn't even hear about it. Some girl got it."

"What was the job?" he asked. "Postmaster in a one-family town."

"Better than that," the O.P. said. "It was demonstrating a mattress by sleeping in a Main Street show window in Fitchburg, Mass. Not only that, it was a paying position."

SEEKS TO FEDERATE

40,000 OWNERS

The National Association of Real Estate Boards is attempting to form a national federation of owners of real property. The organization is intended to oppose laws infringing on property rights and to fight excessive spending and borrowing by the Federal Government.

The association estimates 40,000 persons are property owners. With their families, they could decide any national election.

"If wives had to put up with their husbands at home for a full year—even only once every 10 years—it would cause more divorces than all the blondes since drugstores started selling golden hair rinses. Woman's place is in the home, and a man's place is at his job, at least until he is too old and tired to criticize her house-keeping."

"I am getting along fine in my job because nobody knows just how much I do. The truth is I don't do anything. It has taken me years to arrange it. I don't claim my boss is any relation to Albert Einstein, but if I left on a year's vacation it wouldn't take even him more than six months to figure out why there was less confusion in the office."

Several others polled were roughly of the same opinion. It could be summarized, as follows:

"Let's be sensible. Who wants to give an employer a full year to brood over how really vital he is to his personal welfare?"

And this was the attitude of the housewife:

"If wives had to put up with their husbands at home for a full year—even only once every 10 years—it would cause more divorces than all the blondes since drugstores started selling golden hair rinses. Woman's place is in the home, and a man's place is at his job, at least until he is too old and tired to criticize her house-keeping."

A Redwood All Your Own After A 2,000-Year Wait

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
CONFUSION HILL, Calif. (UP)—This big hunk of rock mountain impressed me as something that needed to be investigated. Nobody in the heart of this empire of redwood trees could tell me what was confusing about it, so I did my own gum-shoeing—by auto.

I believe I know the answer to the puzzle. For some unexplained reason when you go up the hill you have a feeling you are going down. And when you go down you think you're going up.

Confusion Hill, pretty as she is, isn't the most lovely thing in the so-called avenue of giants. We stopped at ranger headquarters in Pyerville.

"Out that window," said the pleasant young ranger, "you'll see the highest tree in the world."

We looked and there in the distance stood a redwood towering 464 feet. If that log happened to fall on a football field, it would stretch the length of the field, with many feet to spare on each end.

Down through the winding roads in this land of towering trees we came upon a restaurant built in the base of a still-growing tree. It was cool inside. The food did not have a woody taste.

Like all such places you find things for sale along the avenue of giants.

The most popular item in this particular case is something called a "burl." A burl is a small bud that grows out of the bark of the tree.

Some folks make a fat living going around snipping off the buds and putting them in pots to sell to folks who want to grow their own redwoods.

If watered, the burls grow.

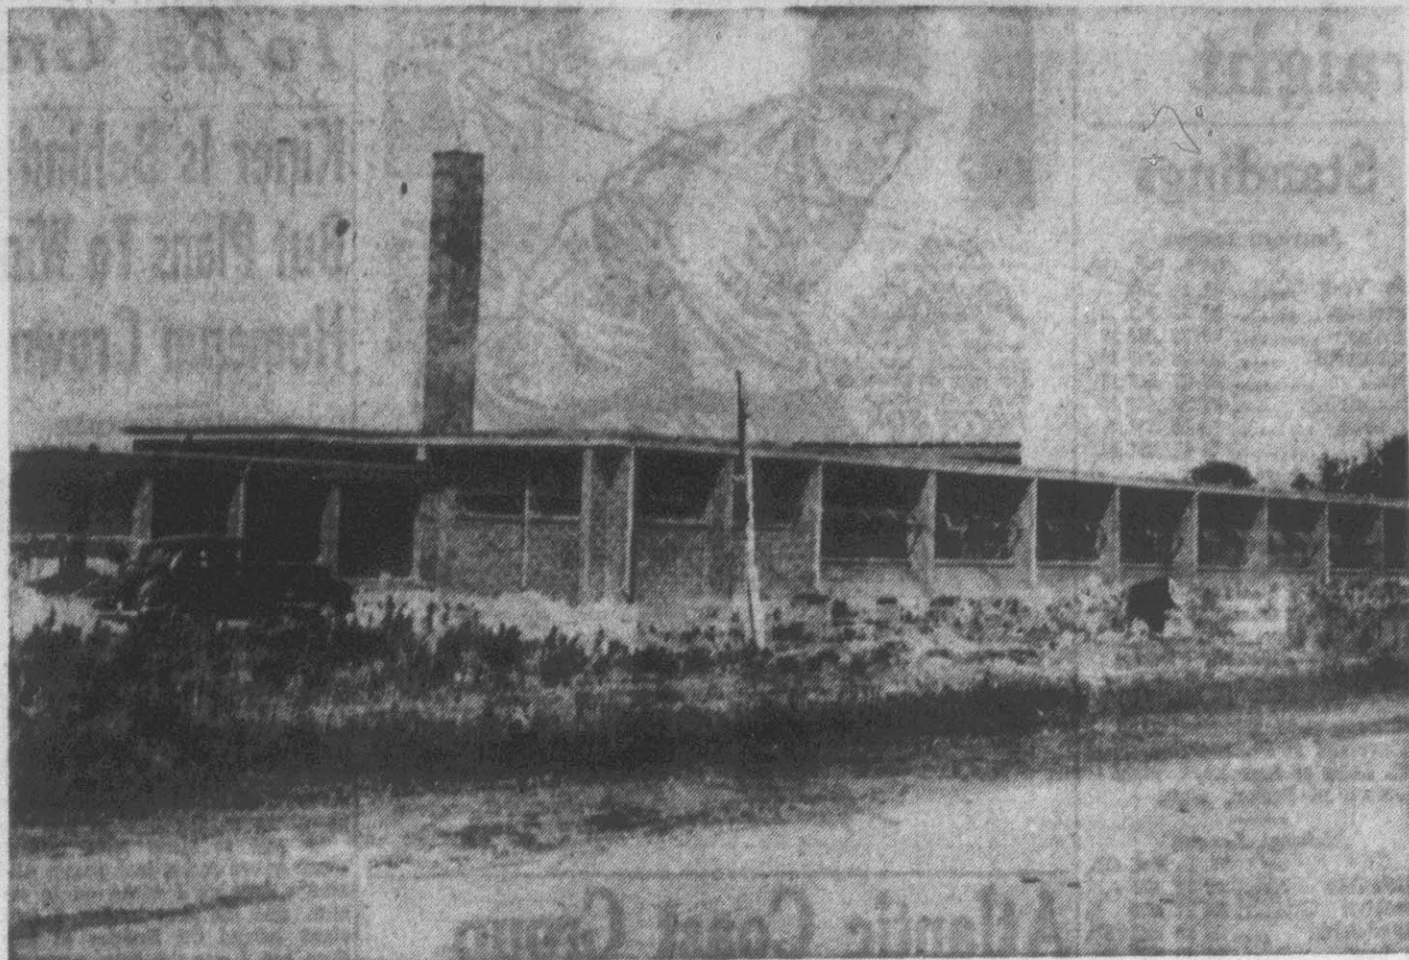

I bought a couple of burls and shipped them home. I hope to have a forest soon in our living room back in Silver Spring, Md.

I asked the woman who sold me the sprigs of lumber how long it takes to raise a full grown redwood, one about 300 feet high—and should I worry about it poking through the roof?

"I don't think you should fret," she said. "Some of the trees in this forest are over 2,000 years old and haven't grown up yet."

Of the meteorites which reach the earth, the large majority are of the stony type, with only a small per cent of iron in them, although most of the meteorites in museums are of the type which contain high percentages of iron.

No Major Construction For School System Planned

Work on a new eight room elementary school unit at Farmville is in progress, and county school officials are in hopes the building will be completed and ready for occupancy at the beginning of the school term in the fall. (Reflector Photo by Roy Hardee)

No major construction will take place on county schools this summer but extensive repairs, some of which have already begun, have been planned for most of the schools.

Superintendent of county schools D.H. Conley said this morning that no definite building program has been planned for the summer. However, he did say summer plans included the building of a shop at Stokes and Chiswell Schools and the enlarging of the shop at Belvoir.

He also said construction on Farmville's new elementary unit will probably continue through the summer in hopes of having it ready for occupancy by the time the school term begins in the fall.

Conley noted the summer check on schools had begun on such phases as heating, plumbing, and electrical installations. The heating plants in the county schools have been checked and will be cleaned, water drained out, valves inspected and painted. A thorough inspection will be made on the school water systems and toilet installations.

The superintendent said he and a number of school committees had made a review of school repairs and listed those which need to be made. He said some of the work had begun last Monday and would be completed in less than 90 days.

Summer work on the schools, other than checking mechanical installations, included work on roofs, gutters, windows, doors, and the cleaning and treating of floors in a number of the schools. Also included in this summer's work will be the painting of the exterior of some schools and the painting of the interior. Coal is being obtained and stored for next winter's use and 10 more carloads are to be unloaded. He said schools use about 1,500 tons of fuel each year.

Conley said that preliminary sketches for the expansion of school facilities at Grifton had been drawn up. The sketches include an eight-room elementary unit.

He also stated if the budget clears, the school officials hope to get plans and specifications drawn up for an auditorium at the Farmville Negro School.

Arithmetic In Elementary Grades To Be Discussed At ECC Conference

Problems in the teaching of elementary arithmetic will be discussed at a conference at East Carolina College, Wednesday, June 17, according to an announcement by Dr. Percy C. Scott, director of the college mathematics department.

The program has been planned for the benefit of teachers in the lower grades of the public schools, and both talks and group discussions will deal with practical aspects of instruction. The meeting will take place in the Flanagan auditorium on the campus and is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. to noon.

Speakers who will appear on the program include four members of the East Carolina faculty. Dr. Eva Williamson and Dr. Keith Holmes, whose work in the department of education is largely in the field of elementary education, and Louise Williams and Dr. John O. Reynolds of the mathematics department will discuss various aspects of the teaching of arithmetic. Dr. Scott will preside and will be in charge of discussion among those present.

Teachers in this area are expected to attend the conference. Those who are interested in the topic of discussion are invited to be present.

Braves Topped Pirates Twice As Dodgers Beat Cubs In First Game; Cards Sweep Two From Giants

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK (UP) — All that stood in the way of a record tying 19-game Yankee winning streak today was a 14-game losing streak. What's more, the Casey Stengel demolition crew has a day to rest up before returning to Yankee Stadium to put its 18 straight triumphs on the line Tuesday night against the Browns, who have nothing but 14 straight defeats to offer in resistance.

VIC RASCHI
Tosses Three-Hitter

The Yankees now are 10 1-2 times in front of second place Cleveland, 30 games over the 500 mark, and there is no telling when they may be stopped. Sunday, as they swept to 6-2 and 3-0 victories over the Indians, making it seven in a row over their closest contenders this year, they gained support from two stars who hadn't been clicking like the rest of the crew.

Yogi Berra, below par because of a stomach ailment, crashed a three-run homer in the eighth inning to break the opening game wide open and give lefty Bob Kuzava a victory in relief. Vic Raschi, batted out in three straight starts during the long winning winning streak, came through with his best effort in the season in the second game, twirling a three-hitter to end Mike Garcia's five-game winning streak.

Nos over Sunday magic could save the Indians. After 12 straight wins on Sunday, the Indians found themselves against men instead of boys and that charm went the way of voodoo and witchcraft as they suffered their first defeat on the sabbath since the Yankees last turned the trick last Sept. 14.

In the National League, madcap Milwaukee cashed in on fine pitching by rookies Bob Buhl and Don Liddle to top the Pirates 7-3 and 2-0 and go back into undisputed possession of first place while Brooklyn topped the Cubs 6-3, then battled to a 6-6 darkness-halted tie in the second game when Ralph Kiner hit a grand slam homer in the ninth to knot the score. The Cards twice defeated the Giants 1-0 and 9-4 and the Phillies defeated Cincinnati 4-1 on Granny Hamner's two-run homer after Jim Greengrass drilled a ninth-inning double to send home the opening run against Robin Roberts as Philadelphia lost the opener 2-1.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Athletics twice topped the Browns 4-1 and 3-1, Chicago double-blanked Boston 6-0 and 1-0 and Washington topped Detroit 6-1. Milwaukee came from behind to win the opener and Jim Pendleton broke a 3-3 tie with a key single in the sixth to give Liddle his margin for a five-hit triumph. Andy Patko suffered a bruised knee in a costly injury which may keep him out of the Milwaukee lineup a week or more. Liddle gave up only two hits in winning the second game.

Billy Loes gained credit for his eighth victory in the opener at Brooklyn on the margin of a two-run triple by Junior Gilliam, his second of the game. Kiner's big homer in the second game was

Texas, Lafayette Fittle To Remain In NCAA Tourney

OMAHA, Neb. (UP) — Texas and Lafayette meet tonight for the right to play Michigan in Tuesday night's game of the NCAA college world series here.

Texas remained in the running in the double elimination tournament Sunday night by smacking Michigan 6-4, after losing to the Wolverines 12-5 on Saturday. Lafayette defeated Boston College 2-1 in 11 innings to earn its shot at the national college baseball title.

Michigan drew its bye into the final game Tuesday by its Saturday night victory over Texas, which made the Wolverines the first team to win three straight games.

Each of the three remaining teams have won three and lost one. Monday night's loser will be eliminated.

Much Smoke, But No Fire As Trading Deadline Nears

NEW YORK (UP) — There was plenty of smoke — but so far very little fire — today as the major league teams approached the mid-night trading deadline.

The Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns were reported close to a major transaction and several other teams admitted "talking in a serious stage," but the feeling seemed to be that the deadline might slip past without the completion of a big deal.

The Indians, 10 1-2 games behind the runaway Yankees and desperate to get back into the race, were reported seeking catcher Clint Courtney and outfielder Vic Wertz from the Browns. The Browns may have paved the way for such a deal when they acquired catcher Darrell Johnson and pitcher Lou Kretlow from the White Sox in exchange for Virgil Trucks and Bob Elliott last Saturday night.

That deal indicated that Browns President Bill Veeck may be willing to unload his tradeable players if enough cash were involved. The Yankees were not expected to produce any news, having acquired slick-fielding shortstop Willie Miranda from the Browns for $20,000 in order to back up the veteran Phil Rizzuto. With their imposing lead the Yankees were in a position to "sit tight" and let their panic-stricken pursuers attempt to make the deals.

In the National League, the Brooklyn Dodgers reported "little chance" of a deal and were merely expected to add either an outfielder or a pitcher from one of their farm clubs by nightfall.

Manager Leo Durocher and Vice President Chub Feeney of the New York Giants admitted they still were shopping around for a pitcher but said the situation did not look promising.

The feeling in the National League was that the recent 10-player deal between the Cubs and Pirates had just about closed the market to another huge player-turnover.

Atlantic Coast Group Makes Plans For Year

RALEIGH, N.C. (UP) — With no decision reached yet on whether the University of Virginia will join the powerful, brand-new Atlantic Coast Conference made plans today to compete next season as either a seven or eight-member athletic group.

The new conference, which figures to be one of the strongest in the nation, was officially born Sunday when its seven members formally withdrew from the Southern Conference.

Present at the first organizational meeting of the new league were representatives of Duke, Clemson, North Carolina State, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina and Wake Forest. The 10 schools left in the old Southern Conference will meet at Roanoke, Va., June 27, to reorganize that group.

The whole question of Virginia's participation was left cloudy by official announcements.

A formal invitation to Virginia to join may have hinged on the presence of Virginia's Athletic Director Gus Tebell at the meeting but personal reasons forced Tebell to remain home in Charlottesville, Va. An invitation is regarded as almost certain, since five of the present seven members favor it. Should Virginia decline to join, it was believed that an invitation would be offered to West Virginia University.

There were indications that Sunday's meeting may have taken some action regarding an eighth member, but league secretary Dr. O. K. Cornwell of the University of North Carolina would say only that it involved a "ticklish" situation on which no immediate statement could be made.

Hogan Needs British Open Win To Be 'Greatest Of All Time'

Kiner Is Behind But Plans To Win Homerun Crown

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

BROOKLYN (UP) — Hold up that coronation of Eddie Matthews as baseball's new home run king because the old one, Ralph Kiner, declared today he hasn't "the slightest intention" of giving up his crown.

Mathews, the muscular Milwaukee clouter, already has 19 homers while Kiner only walked his 13th, a ninth-inning grand-slam against Brooklyn Sunday.

"I wouldn't feel right if I wasn't behind in the home run race," said Kiner, "but anyone who thinks I've given up on the title is screwy."

"I was 10 home runs behind Hank Sauer during last year's All-Star game but I came on to tie him. And the year before, I was eight behind Gil Hodges at one time but I won the title, anyway."

"Don't get me wrong. I'm not underestimating Mathews, or even Roy Campanella or Ted Kluszewski (each of whom has 17 homers) for that matter, but I still am confident that I'll wind up on top."

Carl Erskine didn't realize it when he served up the curve ball that Kiner hit for a homer Sunday, but it helped the Cub slugger accomplish three distinctions.

To begin with, the wallop which landed in the lower left field-stands earned Chicago a 6-6 tie in the nightcap of a doubleheader. It was Kiner's 307th homer of his career, tying him with Al Simmons as the ninth leading home run hitter of all time, and it also tied Rogers Hornsby's all time record of 12 home runs with the bases full.

Kiner feels that a total of 40 homers will be enough to retain the National League crown he has either won outright or wound up in a tie for during the last seven years.

OAKMONT, Pa. (UP) — Ben Hogan stood one victory away today from universal recognition as the greatest golfer of all time.

Win or lose in his first crack at the British Open late this month, the tiny Texan already had a solid hold on such a claim after scoring his fourth U.S. Open victory within an injury-interrupted span of six years.

But if he wins the British Open, too, the stubborn old guard finally will have to move the phenomenal little man up ahead of such storied heroes as Bobby Jones, Harry Vardon and Walter Hagen.

There was unprecedented acclaim for Hogan even from his fellow pros after he fought off another of Sammy Snead's ill-fated bids to win the Open at Oakmont Saturday. His total of 283 was five strokes under par and 11 under the 20-year old course record for 72 holes.

It was even more fantastic, his runaway six-stroke edge over the second place Snead, when you consider that he was only one stroke ahead of Slammin' Sam with but six holes to play. It was one of those old Hogan finishes as he blasted out birdies on the last two holes to really wrap it up.

Such pros as Gene Sarazen, Cary Middlecoff and even Lawson Little, who long has been one of the Jones' contingent, immediately proclaimed Ben as the best. "How could there ever have been anybody better?" demanded Sarazen, who himself ranks as one of the all-time finest.

Middlecoff pointed to the implacable Hogan as the greatest, too, in the putting department. "Everybody always talks about Jerry Travers' putting," the Doc insisted. "Well, Ben must have him whirling in his grave."

The adulation was reaching a hitherto unexpected crescendo because little Ben, long a poker-faced automaton who hid behind an icy exterior, suddenly had developed into a warm and engaging personality who went out of his way to make friends. Throughout the Open he bantered gaily with all hands and even did a certain amount of joshing with the gallery.

Nobody thought par would be broken at Oakmont over the 72-hole stretch. Hogan was the only man in the field to do it, and he trimmed it by five shots. And, although in semi-retirement, he had won four of the five tournaments in which he has competed this year — the Open, Masters, Colonial Invitational and Pan-American.

Tosses Perfect Game

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — The first Southern Association "perfect game" since 1917 went into the record books today to the credit of Bill Harris, a 22-year old rookie righthander from Dorchester, Canada.

Harris faced only 21 batters and retired them all Sunday to give Mobile a 1-0, seven-inning victory over Memphis in the second game of a doubleheader. The no-run, no-hit masterpiece was the fourth win of the year for Harris against three defeats.

THE HEART OF JULIET JONES

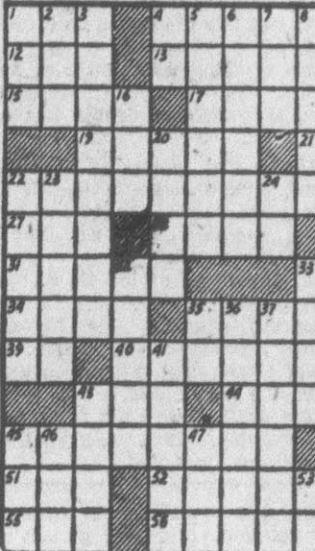

TO KISS, OR KILL

Chapter 25
"Do I hear a bell?" Mandell asked.
Gale smiled. "Of course. The front doorbell."
"Oh," Mandell said. "I see." The bell continued to ring for a few more minutes, then stopped.
Gale cupped Mandell's face in her hands. Her eyes were worried. "You're acting awfully funny, Barney."
"I feel funny," Mandell admitted. Andre entered the room and addressed Mr. Ebbing. "An Inspector Carlton and a Lieutenant Rose are at the door, sir. They wish to speak to either you or Mr. Mandell."
"Turn that music down," Mr. Ebbing said.
"Yes, sir," Andre said.
He turned off the record player. In the intense silence that followed, Mandell could hear the pounding of his heart, the rasp of Gale's breathing against his chest.
Ebbing got heavily to his feet. "You wait here, Bernard. Don't leave the room." The attorney looked at Andre. "Did you tell them Mr. Mandell was here?"
"No, sir," Andre said. "I merely said I would see if you would see them."
"Good. If they should question you, you haven't seen Mr. Mandell. Understand, Andre? He and I sat, clinging together, with-bath. With the oversized bed, the silk hangings on the wall, and the green and yellow parrot in an ornate cage, it looked like a movie set. Mandell sat on the edge of the bed smoking the cigar as he had thought was a cigarette, wondering: he wondered if a man's mind could slip a cog once in a while, like a broken tooth in a differential, without the whole thing being ruined. "Forget him," the parrot awked. "You're beautiful, beautiful, beautiful. And you're mine. All mine." "I can do without that bird," he told Gale.

Debra Paget Grows Up; Her Roles, Too

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD — Debra Paget abdicated today as the world's only date-less and kiss-less movie actress. She's switching to sex appeal and even blissfully admitted "I'm in love."

This calls for a switch in the editorial policy of the fan magazines, which have been spanking Debra with paternal prose for refusing to date the gay young blades of the plaster city. Now Debra, who'd never bussed a man before except in movie scenes, has decided at the age of 20, to take the plunge.

"It's a secret who he is," she said with a girlish giggle. "I'm in love and I've been kissed and that's all I'll say."

Debra's blossoming out has the familiar change-to-sex-appeal fever that's hit Jeanne Crain, Joanne Dru, Jane Powell, Ann Baxter and other actresses. Like those movie queens, Debra has changed her dark hair to blonde.

She's now sporting a spangly-type hair-do, with flaps of hair hanging over her ears, for her role of a Christian Virgin martyr in 20th Century-Fox's "Demetrius," the sequel to "The Robe."

In one scene, Debra is ravished by six burly gladiators before she is thrown to the lions.

After the movie is finished, the actress will also hit the nightclub circuit with a song-and-dance act at the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas Nev., and the Royal Hawaiian in Honolulu.

Though Debra has become more daring, her mother, as usual, still sat on the sidelines of the movie set today.

"Debra and I are just kind of pals," she said. "Why would I not

Leading Europe In Polio Rate

GENEVA, Switzerland (UP)—Europe suffered considerable increase in polio cases last year but still ran far behind the record in the United States, a United Nations report said today.

The World Health Organization of the U. N. reported 87,244 polio cases recorded in the U. S. in 1952, twice as many as the previous year.

This amounted to 36 Americans infected out of every 100,000, an all-time high. In certain states the proportion was as high as 60 per 100,000.

According to the report, Europe had 32,000 reported polio cases in 1952, also twice as many as in 1951. But this proportion amounted to 46 per cent less than in the U. S. since the European countries for which statistics were available have a population double that of the U. S.

August and September were the worst polio months in the U. S. last year. More than half of all cases reported occurred during those two months.

A large area of the U. S. was affected by a wave of polio but generally speaking the Eastern states were relatively untouched despite their high population density, the WHO said.

The densest epidemic focus was in Houston, Tex., where 3,895 cases were reported.

Market Reports Stock And

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks sagged a bit today on small volume. About the only consistent rise was in the small group of companies making paper cups. Dixie Cup gained a point to 32½ and Lily-Tulip was up 1½ to 60.

Two high-prices issues made wide gains. Superior Oil of California rose five to 540 on one sale and International business Machines ran up four to 228, also on small volume. Lambert Co. gained a point to 21½. Reo Motors ran up 1½ to 22½, a wide move for that stock.

Allied Chemical and Union Carbide each lost ½ point to new lows for the year.

Small declines appeared in General Motors, Northern Pacific, American Telephone, Standard Oil (N.J.), Westinghouse Electric, Southern Railway and Kennecott.

The steels gained among the leaders. Eastern Air Lines rose a point to 24½ in the airlines. Chrysler, Firestone, Montgomery Ward, and Johns-Manville were among the small gainers.

Sales in the first hour totaled 170,000 shares, against 180,000 shares in that hour on Friday.

Pickets Ask Clemency For Rosenberg Couple

WASHINGTON (UP)—Picketing pickets seeking clemency for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, who are scheduled to die in the electric chair at New York's Sing Sing prison at 11 p.m. Thursday, their 14th wedding anniversary.

In New York, Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman was scheduled to rule today on an unusual request for a stay of execution made by a Tennessee lawyer who has studied the case. The attorney, Pyke Farmer of Nashville, presented a 51-page petition Saturday charging legal errors in the indictment and trial of the Rosenbergs.

Farmer said he filed the petition on behalf of Irwin Edelman of Los Angeles, Calif., "a friend" of the condemned couple.

No demonstration occurred when Mr. Eisenhower returned to the White House from a five-day speaking tour late Sunday. The President entered the grounds through the west gate out of sight of the pickets.

Defense attorney Emanuel H. Bloch said that if the court refused to interfere, as it has on three previous appeals, he would again ask clemency from President Eisenhower who has already rejected one such request.

Almost 1,000 demonstrators paraded before the executive mansion Sunday in what police described as the largest crowd to picket the White House in recent years. During the night about 17 Rosenberg sympathizers maintained the 24-hour vigil promised by the National Committee to Secure Justice in the Rosenberg Case.

Rooms Sought

There is an urgent need for rooms in town for women students who have applied for entrance to East Carolina College this fall, according to President J. D. Mesick.

More than 200 women beyond dormitory capacity have applied for quarters at the college. Dr. Mesick stated that if persons in town would open their homes for even one term it would help a great deal.

Any persons having rooms that they wish to rent to these women college students should call Dean Lee W. Jenkins at the college.

Underwriters Elect Officers

Pitt County Association of Life Underwriters at a supper meeting last Friday night, elected Ray Phillips president.

Leon Fleming was elected vice-president; Lloyd Nixon, secretary and treasurer; Reddick Revelle was named National Committeeman and Ray Phillips state committeeman.

The association voted to suspend meetings during the summer and to change the date of meeting from the second Friday to second Thursday of each month. The next meeting will be held September 10.

Stokes Student At Conference

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. — Donald Roebuck of Stokes, a student at East Carolina College, Greenville, is one of 300 Methodist students and adult counselors attending an eight-day leadership training conference here.

The meetings will continue through June 16. Delegates are here from 12 states and several foreign countries. The foreign students are in the United States on Methodist scholarships.

Funeral On Tuesday For I. J. Broadhurst

Mr. I. J. Broadhurst, 78, died at 10:40 o'clock Sunday night after suffering an apparent heart attack while at work at the Utilities plant.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock and burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery. The Rev. Frank Julian, Jehovah Witness minister of Greenville, assisted by the Rev. Stewart Joyner and the Rev. Paul Manning will conduct the services.

Mr. Broadhurst was born in Sampson County, but spent most of his youth in Craven County near Ft. Barnwell. He came to Greenville about 25 years ago. He was with Smith and Sugg Warehouse for many years and had been with the Utilities Commission for nine years.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mollie White Broadhurst; three daughters: Mrs. C. L. Reid of Wilson, and Mrs. F. E. Brickhouse and Mrs. Linwood E. Brewer of Greenville; eight grandchildren; two great grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. D. T. Marshburn of Mt. Olive and a brother, R. L. Broadhurst of Richmond, Va.

Little Damage, No Arrests For Weekend Traffic

Little property damage, no arrests, and no personal injuries were reported by police on two wrecks occurring in the city Saturday.

A car driven by Martha S. Braxton of Greenville struck a car driven by Allen J. Baker of Route 1, Farmville, as she pulled out of a parking place on Dickinson Avenue, police reported.

Property damage to both cars amounted to about $90.00, reported investigating officer M. E. Buck. No charges were made.

A car driven by Madge Barnes Allen, Negro, of Greenville struck the rear of another automobile driven by Gerald D. Smith, Rt. 2 Greenville, as the brakes on the car failed. The accident occurred on Cotanche Street Saturday afternoon.

Damage to both cars amounted to about $250. No charges were made by investigating officer W. E. Peterson.

more Hill Baptist Church met Sunday at the home of Miss Fannie Langley on 1st St.

A chicken dinner was served. Fifteen members were present.

At this time the Baby Contest came to a close. The three babies sponsored were:

1st prize, Mrs. Lula Ellison, May Baby

2nd prize, Mrs. Dorothy Barnes, Bell Baby

3rd prize, Mrs. Willie Mae Cherry, Cherry Baby.
