St. Jude Catholic Church Scene Of Harris-Hatch Wedding

A candlelight ceremony Sunday afternoon, June 14, at 4 o'clock in St. Jude Catholic Church in Grifton, united in marriage Miss Virginia Elaine Hatch and William Harris, with the Rev. Basil Ruane, of Vaneboro, officiating in the double ring ceremony.

The chancel was decorated with greenery interspersed with burning tapers and vases of white gladioli and candelabra were used on the altar.

Prior to the ceremony Mrs. Berkeley S. Rutledge, organist of Ayden, and Ray Harrington, soloist of Ayden, rendered a program of wedding music.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Sadie Hackie Hatch of Ayden. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Harris of Winterville.

Given in marriage by her brother, Van Dyke Hatch of Ayden, the bride wore a gown of embroidered nylon tulle over satin. The fitted jacket had long sleeves with points on the hand. The full-length, reddingote style skirt was finished with ruffled scallops. Her veil of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle was attached to a crown of Chantilly lace studded with rhinestones. She carried a white satin Bible topped with a waist and white accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a pink nylon dress and pink hat with which she wore white accessories and a yellow rose corsage. pink linen dress with navy trimmed pink linen dress fifth navy trimmed pockets and a white cape. Her accessories were white and she wore the orchid lifted from her Bible.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points the couple will make their home near Winterville. Immediately following the wedding the bride's mother entertained at a reception at the Ayden Community House.

Receiving with her was Mrs. Herbert Harris, who greeted the guests, and introduced them to the members of the wedding party and parents of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harris invited the guests to the bride's table where Mrs. Holton Dall served ice cream and Mrs. James W. Everett served bridal cakes. They were assisted by Misses Carolyn Sumrell, Diane Moseley, Shirley Moseley, Brenda Davis, Eleanor Payne and Joyce Farris of Rocky Mount, in serving salted nuts and mints. The refreshment table was covered with a cut work cloth centered with a centerpiece of white carnations and mums flanked with burning tapers in silver candelabra. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Allen invited the guests to the punch table where Mrs. Louis Hatch Jr. and Mrs. Lillian Koonce poured punch. Mrs. Roosevelt Hatch directed the guests to the bride's register where Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Craft presided, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Worthington heard the goodbyes.

Following the Harris-Hatch wedding rehearsal on Saturday evening, Mrs. Louise H. Moseley entertained the members of the wedding party and other guests at cake cutting in the Ayden Community House.

The bride's table was covered with a cut work cloth and had a floral arrangement of white carnations and mums, flanked with burning tapers. After the bride had first cut the three tiered cake which was topped with a miniature bridal couple, Mrs. O. C. Stroud served the wedding cake and Mrs. Lillian H. Koonce served punch.

Entertains Club At Dessert Bridge

Grifton—On Friday evening at 7:30 Mrs. Clifton Jackson had as guests for a delightful dessert bridge members of her card club and invited players for eight tables. The home on the Greenville highway was most attractive with a variety of summer flowers, featuring gladioli, roses and daisies.

Club members scoring high and low were Mrs. Paul Bradley and Mrs. Heber Wade, visitors Mrs. H. P. Quinery and Mrs. Robert Mewborn, the floating prize was held by Mrs. Archie Rogers, other players were Mesdames, Wilbur Murphy Albert Tyson, Jake Worthington, Claude Hart, David Parker, Bryan Davis, John Coward, Alton Chapman, Glendel Tucker, S. E. Coffman, Roger Johnson, W. I. Bissette, Clay Burney, L. L. Mewborn, Ben Tucker, Milton Hart, J. L. Tucker, Ed. Ward Hart, Walter Patrick, Sam Nelson, Richard Nelson, Jack Chapman, Edwin Campbell, Roy Jackson, Miss Hazel Patrick, Miss Bert Johnson and Miss Louise Mewborn.

purple throated orchid, showered with stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Victoria Hatch of Ayden, who wore a waltz length dress of coronation blue nylon net over taffeta, with a shirred bodice, draped stole and bouffant skirt and mits. Her headress was a shirred brim bonnet. With this she carried a colonial bouquet.

The bridesmaids were Miss Inda Lee Williams of Winterville and Mrs. Louise H. Moseley, sister of the bride of Ayden. Miss Williams' dress was of yellow net and taffeta and Mrs. Moseley wore a pink dress of similar material. Their dresses were fashioned similar to the honor attendant and they carried matching cascade bouquets of gladioli.

Miss Isabel Cheryl Manning, niece of the bride of Ayden, was flower girl and was dressed in pink of a similar style. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Mitchell Harris of Winterville was his brother's best man and the ushers were Louis Charles Hatch Jr., Roosevelt Hatch and Rogers Hackie Hatch, brothers of the bride, and Alfon Mosca, all of Norfolk, Virginia. Mrs. Hatch, mother of the bride, wore a dress of rose crepe with lace

Greenville's Recreation Program Grows

Greenville's recreation program is moving into high gear of summer activities now, and it is obvious that more and more people are taking advantage of the facilities and varied programs being offered.

A few years ago the formal recreation program in Greenville was practically nil. There was the swimming pool, a few playgrounds with practically no equipment scattered around, and that was it. There was little if anything in the way of an organized recreation program.

In the past few years, by the support of not only the city government but local citizens as well, the recreation program has made advances toward its rightful place in community activities.

As finances and facilities permit, the city's recreation program is being put on a broader base and attracting the attention and participation of more and more local citizens. The participation of youngsters in the recreation program is increasing as well as the number of those adults who are using the various recreation facilities. At the same time the number of people who are either participating in the program directly or taking the part of spectators is also on the increase.

For the month of May, the report of the recreation director showed a total of 6,885 people participated in the recreation activities and another 9,421 took an indirect part in recreation activities as spectators. Those figures show a total of 16,396 local people either directly or indirectly took part in the city's recreation program last month.

Considering the fact Greenville has no swimming facilities for its summer recreation program, the participation figures are very high.

As funds for bradening the program are available, recreation will be advanced and mean more to the citizens of the community as well to Greenville as a city.

Two Observations On The Chinese Offensive

There are two incidental details in connection with the big Chinese push in Korea that should give food for thought to those those who are planning the United States defense program.

1. Fifteen communist planes bombed the big Allied port at Inchon.

2. Even with air superiority along the Korean front, United Nations troops have had to fall back under the shocking impact of the Chinese field pieces and infantrymen.

The bombing of Inchon — which has never been far removed from the war in Korea — should point to the conclusion that no matter how good an alert is kept in the air or how good defensive air power is, it is always probable that some attacking planes may get through the screen to deliver their punch.

Such a conclusion could be applied to an enemy A-bomb attack on American cities just as well as it did in the recent raid on Inchon.

The advance of Chinese communists in Korea points out again, that in spite of enemy air superiority, it is the foot soldier who inches forward, step by step to take ground which wins decisive victories.

That was shown at Anzio in World War II, in the island-hopping in the Pacific as well as in many other places. It is seen now in Korea.

It should be kept in mind by those who would make all other elements of the nation's military secondary to the air force.

No one element of military strength can execute a major offensive or successfully fight a decisive defensive battle in modern warfare. It takes the efforts of all, and if any group is found lacking, the entire tide of battle may turn because of it.

Need For School Facilities Has A Bright Side Too

Several Pitt County school districts in recent months have passed bond issues to raise necessary money for meeting demands of increasing school enrollments.

These problems of increased enrollment faced in the Greenville district, Grifton district and others in Pitt County are much the same as in several other counties in Eastern North Carolina.

In neighboring Lenoir County the governing board is in the midst of determining whether to call a bond issue of $3,000,000 which officials have estimated would cover the school needs of that county for the next three to five year period.

There, the problem facing school officials are much the same as those facing school officials in some districts of Pitt County. The number of pupils in the school system has grown more rapidly than the teaching facilities. The school systems have been caught between the squeeze of too many pupils and not enough classrooms and other school facilities.

While the need for more school facilities in Eastern Carolina has become a headache for many a school official and county official, it is nevertheless indicative of the growth of the section of the state. It is surely far more encouraging to note that more school facilities are needed to take care of constantly increasing enrollments than would be the case if there had been an exodus of families from this area in the past several years.

As long as the need for more school facilities grows steadily, it is a sure sign that the community is steadily growing. With that in view, it makes it somewhat easier to sell the need for more schools to the people who must vote the bond issue.

They Cheer, But Do Not Heed

WASHINGTON—No president before Dwight D. Eisenhower had so much right to say that inaugurating a system of government economy is like trying to improve or change the weather. The two problems have a great deal in common from the fact that everybody talks about them, but nobody wants to do anything about them.

Until recently, Eisenhower thought that his economy pledges ranked with the Korean conflict and his anti-Communist purge promise as his major victorious issues. But now he has his doubts, for the very friends and interests most concerned over budget and tax reductions are the most insistent on continued federal spending and extravagance.

Although extending the excess profits tax for six months is essential to even a remote possibility of balancing the budget and reducing various tax burdens, it is opposed by two organizations which have frequently been assailed by the Democrats as annexes of the Republican National Committee—namely, the National Association of Manufacturers and the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

SATIRIZED BY F. D. R. AND H. S. T.—Franklin D. Roosevelt used to satirize these organs of business and industry as "economic royalists" and "members of well-fed clubs," linking them with the Union League. Harry S. Truman had them in mind when he directed whistle-stop pot-shots at the "predatory interests of Wall Street."

It is, perhaps no exaggeration to say that 99 per cent of their membership voted for, contributed to and campaigned for an Eisenhower victory.

OPPOSED TO TEMPORARY SACRIFICE — Although the most spectacular demonstration of its kind, the NAM and the Chamber of Commerce are not peculiar in their unwillingness to accept temporary sacrifices for long-term benefits.

Many corporations and business organizations throughout the country, large and small, still demand a steady flow of largesse for themselves, although not for the other fellow. They cheered, but do not heed Eisenhower's recent speech on federal economy, in which he said: "Government alone cannot do this job—any more than any other job—utterly alone. You and your fellow-citizens who want your government to spend less must yourselves practice self-restraint in the demands you make upon government."

"You as citizens cannot help the common cause by merely favoring economy for every group except the one to which you belong."

But when an economy-minded Administration and House of Representatives began to practice what Ike preached, the officials and lobbyists for the nation's greatest and smallest corporations began to bombard the Senate with protests.

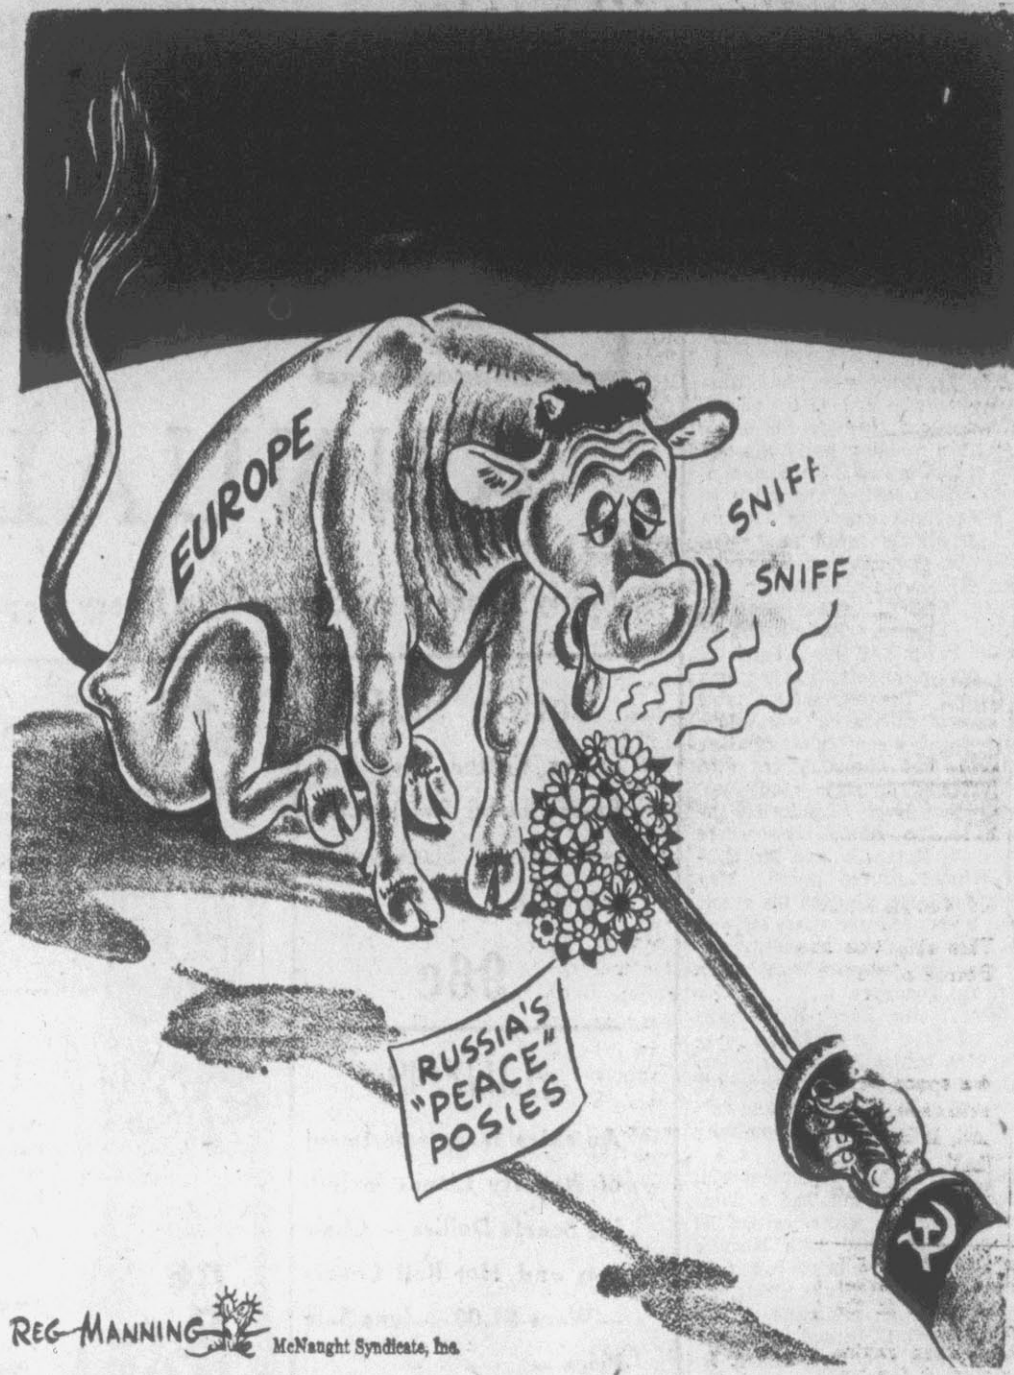

In person, as well as by telephone, telegraph and mail, they insisted on Senate restoration of House cuts affecting their special interests.

DEMAND RETENTION OF RESEARCH FUNDS — Multi-million-dollar food-processing firms demand retention of funds to aid their research. The General Electric Company, among others, wants no cuts in appropriations for the census of business because the statistics are valuable in planning sales campaigns. Atlantic and Pacific Coast interests say they are dependent on continued fish research by Uncle Sam.

Local Chambers of Commerce, summarizing sentiment of their communities, protest against elimination of projects for dams, bridges, irrigation systems. Conservative Missouri Basin spokesmen, headed by their governors and senators, insist on construction of multi-million-dollar dams branded as unnecessary by Budget Director Joseph M. Dodge and Interior Secretary Douglas McKay.

Economies in the Labor and Agriculture Departments, which would cut out or reduce their production of data on crop and industrial prospects, wages and income, are opposed by great industrial and agricultural units. They have relied for years on this free information which they cannot afford to assemble themselves, and they insist that Uncle Sam continue to serve as a bellboy for business.

Somebody Told Me . . .

Greenville Folks Are Travellers

There was a time when it was big news when somebody from Greenville took a trip to New York or California. But now an order to create a stir you have to go abroad.

At least two Greenville people are over there now: Mrs. J. H. B. Moore and Dorothy Nell Henderson. Others who have been recently include Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Jr., Jim Picklen, Lillian Wooten, and Mrs. Grover Maxwell of Augusta, Ga. (formerly Tine Bradsher of Greenville). Lib Kittrell left today for Europe.

The tobacco representatives in Europe go every year on business, making contact with cigarette manufacturers who buy Greenville tobacco and receive it in hogshead, just the way it leaves Greenville. So there are many trips abroad for business as well as pleasure.

Dorothy Nell Henderson was in London for the coronation. Charlie and Betty Lou Howard, who came through there a short time before the coronation, said that the town was already jammed beyond description.

Yesterday at a bridge club meeting with Mrs. Bob Ross on Harding Street, wife Rachel happened to be playing at the same table with Betty Lou Howard, recent returnee from Europe, and Lib Kittrell, who left today.

Betty Lou was busy making recommendations to Lib. and W. R. was taking it all in. The fourth player at the table was Mrs. Dow Calloway. W. R. and Joyce soon started teasing the girls about Europe.

"Where have you been lately?" Joyce asked W. R.

"To Rocky Mount, how about you?"

"I haven't been anywhere lately, but I think I'm going to journey to Concord in a few weeks."

This continued on with the girls comparing notes on trips to Winterville, Grimesland, Arden and other points of interest. Anybody who goes abroad will be teased about it. Frankly, I would like the opportunity to be teased.

Professor John Reynolds of East Carolina College is planning a trip to New Orleans by boat. Greenville people are constantly on the move, bringing back stories that give all of us broader outlooks on what's going on all over this country and the world. As glamorous as it all is, everybody ends up with the same conclusion: There's no place like home.

And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

THE VEEP'S DIAGNOSIS (Henderson Dispatch)

Alben W. Barkley, private citizen since he gave up the vice-presidency last January 20, has come up with a diagnosis of conditions and circumstances which he says lost the presidency for him. In brief, it was, said he, the fact that he gave in to his temper and in anger spoke his mind after Franklin D. Roosevelt as President castigated the Senate for refusing to enact a tax measure FDR wanted back in 1944.

Roosevelt wanted four billion dollars. But Barkley said he simply couldn't get it through the Senate, and had to be content with two billion, eight hundred thousand—or nothing. Roosevelt vetoed the bill and called a measure for the "relief of the greedy instead of the needy." Barkley resigned as majority leader of the Senate, after saying he would not "take it lying down." Next day, however, he was reelected majority leader unanimously and accepted. The two, on the surface, later reconciled their differences.

At the time, a few months before the 1944 Democratic National Convention, Barkley was supposed to have the inside track for the vice-presidency. The now Governor James Byrnes of South Carolina thought he had it in the bag, too. But the unions wanted neither, and so Roosevelt turned thumbs down on both and took Harry Truman, then a member of the Senate, after Truman and been "cleared with Sidney" Hillman, garment workers head, and who had Roosevelt's ear.

Roosevelt was, of course, re-nominated for the fourth term, and in a few weeks died, and Truman became President, the job Barkley wanted and which he thought he was entitled to — and probably was. And the country might have been better off had it gone to him.

This is just one of the strange turns of fate that alter the course of history. Barkley has diagnosed it as he sees it, and seems to have a theory with the ring of logic.

Around Capitol Square

Vacation Crowds, Fans, Politics And The Courts

By LYNN NIBBET
CROWDED — Reports from the coast and the mountains are that the past weekend saw record-breaking travel in both areas. The Blue Ridge Parkway, Mount Mitchell State Park, and numerous privately managed attractions in the western part of the state were taxed to capacity. The story from the coastal section is even more impressive. Beach hotels and other facilities opened earlier than usual this year and have been filled to the brim since mid-May.

BOATING — Upstate Tarheels are going in for boating to greater extent than ever before. A large percentage of the cars on the mountain roads and at the popular beaches bear out-of-state license tags. By way of contrast, jamming the waterways, yachts and marinas from Virginia to South Carolina, and along the rivers inland for 50 miles or more, are of North Carolina registry. This is the dull season for long-range cruising between New England and Florida, but there is nothing dull about the use North Carolinians are making of their own attractive waters. Some of the folks are fishing, but many more are just cruising around, seeking and finding in the placid waters a sense of peace and relief from their normal activities.

CRAZY — Any story about the use of eastern waters would be incomplete without mention of a "crazy" idea—which proved to be anything but crazy. Promoted by the advertisement, about mail order music courses which featured the wisetrack "They laughed when I sat down at the piano." Well, some of those who laughed at the inauguration of a salt water fishing school by the State College extension service aren't laughing any more. Excess enrollment this year, and advance applications for next year, prove that this school is justifying its dual purpose of promoting salt water and deep sea fishing as a major sport, and at the same time relieving upstate streams and lakes of some of the load imposed upon them.

FANS — Add to the casualty list due to the progress of science the once popular hand fan. Just a few years ago almost every church had a full supply of fans bearing the advertisement of some funeral home or other mercantile establishment. You don't see them any more. One Raleigh church, missing the donated advertising fans, sought to buy enough to supply the congregation. Search of Raleigh stores and telephone calls by these dealers to their usual sources of supply failed to discover any fans for sale. Electric fans and air conditioning apparently have made the manufacture of the hand-moved variety unprofitable.

HORNETS — A group of Charlotte women; here to a Ed Scheidt sworn in as commissioner of motor vehicles, admitted they had a secondary motive. They protested the crowded appearance of the bronze plaque in the capitol commemorating the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence. Tom Byrd, volunteer spokesman for the group, insisted that the hornet nest at top of the plaque ought to be polished and shined so that everybody passing through the corridor would be impressed with the fact they might get stung if they do not go along with the ideas of freedom enunciated in the Mecklenburg Declaration. D.V. — Members of the clergy and the legal profession like to use Latin expressions sometimes instead of plain English. One of the favorites is D.V. (Deo Volens) meaning "God willing." A paragraph in this correspondence the other day about probable retirement of some judges occasioned use of that expression. Associate Justice Wallace Winborne said "D.V." he would be a candidate to succeed himself next year. Associate Justice M.V. Barnhill offered a verbal concurring opinion. Both men have attained retirement status by reason of age and service on the bench. Neither is ready to quit full service. So that's two positive announcements for the 1954 state-wide primary.

PROMPT — The courts move slowly sometimes, and there has been a lot of criticism about delay in judicial process. They can move fast when lawyers and litigants want action. Take the matter of the county-municipal building at High Point. A bill authorizing the city council of High Point to issue bonds for construction of the building was introduced in the Legislature on February 27 and ratified on March 18. The question came before Judge Hoyle Sink in Guilford county Superior Court on April 9. His decision was appealed and final controlling opinion was handed down by the State Supreme Court on June 12.

Worth Noting
"LIKE BEER PINK? ORDER "RED EYE" — Some taverns in western United States serve "tomato beer" and some in western Canada offer "red eyes."

Inequalities In Taxes

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Treasury Department, says Secretary George M. Humphrey, is studying a broad revision of the entire Federal tax structure. The House Ways and Means Committee, under Representative Daniel A. Reed (R., N.Y.) begins hearings today on 40 tax topics, which could amount to a general revision.

One of the things George and Daniel may get around to is the inequality between levies on workers and business firms. There are plenty.

The amount of money a worker spends getting to his job is not deductible in calculating his income for tax purposes. The sum a corporation, partnership or individual enterprise spends in getting to a job is deductible.

A woman hiring a baby-sitter so she can work can't deduct the cost, but a firm can deduct the cost of nurses, governesses and other "employee sitters." While a mother can't charge off baby-sitter's fees, a company can establish a baby-sitting nursery for employees and charge that off. Theoretically, the employees would have to report as income the value of such company service, but we've never heard of the Bureau of Internal Revenue making that stick.

A worker can't deduct the cost of the extra food he needs for an arduous job or other things required to keep him alive, but a corporation can charge off its fuel, light and rent.

A company can move from New York to San Francisco to better its income position and charge off every cost. An individual moving from Kansas City to St. Louis to get a better job can deduct $0.00.

An executive can't deduct the cost of a shave, but a company can subtract the cost of having its windows washed—although both are for the purpose of attracting more business.

A firm can charge off its advertising without question. But a salesman can't charge off a new suit or a sincere tie—which may be his way of advertising.

It may be argued that the personal and head-of-a-family deductions are intended to compensate wage and salary earners for their "overhead" and "cost of doing business." Non-deductible. Proprietors, stockholders, landlords and farmers get exactly the same deductions — and the honest have to wear a tie while collecting rents.

SALES RISE FASTER THAN INVENTORIES
Inventories grew into better balance with sales during April, an analysis of Commerce Department figures indicates. Total sales were $44,533,000,000 compared with $40,061,000,000 a year earlier, a rise of 10 per cent. Inventories rose from $74,877,000,000 to $77,087,000,000, or only 3 per cent.

Manufacturers' sales were up 1 per cent while their inventories rose 3 per cent. Wholesalers' sales rose 4 per cent while their inventories rose 3 per cent, and retailers' sales went up 7 per cent while their inventories rose only 5 per cent.

Retail drug and food stores' inventories declined during April.

MORE-CONCENTRATED ORANGE JUICE COMING
A more-concentrated frozen orange juice may soon hit the market. The Florida legislature has authorized the manufacture of concentrates that will take five times their bulk in water. Most concentrates now take only three.

The stronger concentration takes less shipping space, weighs less and is said to remain more stable. It will hit the institutional market, the home market later.

Perhaps 'Rest' Will Be Fruitful

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—A truce is not often a happy settlement of a problem—whether it be a school-boy feud, a marital argument, or a war in Korea.

But, since time sometimes cures more human ills than common sense, a truce often serves a purpose for all parties. It allows an interval in which the situation may change.

That may be the great gift of a truce in Korea. A ripening of political reasoning in Asia may do more to achieve a balanced peace than continuation of the three-year war on that bitter peninsula. A war in which vast armies have buffeted each other like blind men in the dark.

It has been an odd war. It is a war in which the United Nations decisively defeated the initial enemy, North Korea, fought inconclusively against a second enemy, Red China, and yet never locked in battle at all with what many feel to be the main enemy, Soviet Russia, the chief architect of aggression in the Far East and its main arsenal.

It was an international war grafted upon a civil war, but it remains inconclusive because none of the giants of the earth involved in it ever risked committing his full strength. Thus, as there was no utter defeat, there can be no full victory.

In the Korean "police action" the cops never caught the robbers, or even disarmed them. They merely chased them back into the next county—and kept them at bay. And many critics of the campaign have pointed out this is the first one the United States has won "cleanly" since 1812.

But if Uncle Sam is to go on sharing with the British the job of being the world's policeman, it is a type of unsatisfactory way his nephews may have to face again and yet again. Other Kof-eans may await us around the globe unless, which seems unlikely, we pull back into our shell and face the world crabwise.

Some two million Americans have seen action in Korea. The skies above it, or on the waters around it. Did they gain anything from this experience except the brood of influence of "traffels?"

Many went into war with a sure knowledge of what they were fighting for. They had no personal figures to guard as did the veterans of Europe in the Second War, who knew that if they "strayed A-G" Hitler they could go home.

A figure of hatred is a "mighty moral" fact in a war. The United Nations was fighting against there was not a man but a system—a stem aggression—in terms of hate.

Some veterans feel that their sacrifices in Korea were futile. So do mothers of their parents, and a number of the nation's politicians. They draw me is, not that no final victory was won, but that our troops fought so ably and stoutly, particularly in the early days, when there were too few eyes to form a continuous battleline.

This is a great tragedy. It is the discipline of the American soldier, and to the courage of a generation has been pictured as wanting to go through the cuff, one with the motto: "Son of a— for nothing."

The war cost us billions of dollars. It cost us fewer lives than we will needlessly each year in highway accidents.

But it woke up America. It built a firm iron fence against the Iron Curtain. It showed that sometimes a big nation will put its fist for the good of a small nation to live.

That is a total of 106 calendar days from initiation of the legislation to final determination by the highest court of authority.

CONTRAST — When contrasted with the record in other civil cases, and some involving criminal actions, which have been drawn out for five years or more, the conclusion seems justified that they are desired. It would also seem that the much criticized delay in the courts is due to lawyers and litigants rather than to inadequacy or income of the judiciary.

AUTHORITATIVE — In writing the controlling opinion of the court in the High Point case, which held the 1953 act unconstitutional in that it authorized a bond issue without approval of the voters, Associate Justice Hunt Parker took a sly dig at the assumption of the General Assembly. He said: "The legislative construction of the constitution is entitled to great weight, but it is not binding on the Court."

Scenes Have Changed In Onetime Frontier Town

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
AUBURN, Calif. (UP)—They don't mine gold any more in the area that was the scene of the gold rush over a century ago.

In this mining town, neon lights have replaced the gas lamps. The modern drinker gets his nourishment out of a long-stemmed glass and pays current prices. In the old days miners exchanged a pinch of dust for a short of whisky and bartenders with big thumbs commanded premium wages.

Men don't plug one another any more without having to contend with the law.

History is preserved in the form of bronze plaques along the golden route. Some of the towns bear the names they did in the rip-morning 1860's. Like "You Bet," near here. One fellow bet another there was gold in the hills. There was. Then there are "Fiddletown" and "Whiskey Gulch."

The legends of the old days remain. Even men with gold in their pockets or the vaults were afraid. There is a story about a banker with a lock on his money sack. One day a fellow in search of a loan came in and put up a hard-luck story. The banker finally gave in. The customer was so re-lished that he offered to part with a couple of pinches of dust to buy the banker a drink.

"If you're that care-ful with your money, just let me hold the pinches for you," the banker said.

The rush started in 1848, when a page in world history was written by James W. Marshall at Sutter's Mill, now Coloma.

That started things. Among those seeking their fortunes was a party from the Johnson ranch, a well-known frontier post in Sacramento Valley. This group was organized by a man named Claude Chana and three fellow Frenchmen. They started directly across the foothills for Sutter's Mill.

First night out they camped by a stream in what is now known as Auburn ravine. Chana decided to test the gravel for gold. On his first pan he came up with three fair-sized nuggets.

The men started mining opera-

The WHALE SHIP LAGODA

AP Newfeatures

This ship was built in 1826 by Seth and Samuel Foster of Scituate, Mass. In 1841, Jonathan Bourne of New Bedford bought her and changed her rig to that of a bark and fitted her out as a whaler, the most noticeable change being a super structure at her stern, consisting of a house on the starboard side containing a galley and one on the port, containing two lockers with a pair of stairs between them leading to the officers' quarters below. Both houses and the space between were roofed over with two openings cut in the forward part to enable the helmsman to see the luff of the sail. She was the most successful of Bourne's many whalers and, in her 12 voyages of two or three years each, made a net profit of over $650,000. A model (half size, said to be the largest ship model in the world) is now in The Bourne Whaling Museum in New Bedford, given by Miss Emily H. Bourne as a memorial to her famous father.

N.C. Guardsman Killed In Wreck

ANNISTON, Ala. (UP)—A North Carolina National Guardsman was killed and 16 companions were injured when six trucks of a convoy bound for summer training at Ft. McClellan, Ala., crashed on a rain-slick mountain road.

Pfc. David Allen Moore, Dunn, N. C., was crushed to death yesterday as his heavy truck pulling a 105-millimeter Howitzer turned over, mashing the cab against a retaining wall.

Eight guardsmen riding in Moore's truck were hospitalized.

Authorities said the five trucks following Moore's vehicle were all preceding at slow speed when they topped an incline in a rainstorm. After Moore's truck crashed, a second truck rammed the rear of a third and three other trucks skidded into ditches—all within seconds.

The convoy was taking members of the 113th Field Artillery Battalion, 30th National Guards for summer training.

Those guardsmen hospitalized were Pfc. Thelton D. Beasley of Newton Grove; Cpl. Sherril R. Hardison, Pvt. Martin Bush, Pvt. William C. Stephenson, Cpl. Josiah W. Jernigan Jr., Pvt. Nathan L. Carroll Jr. and Pvt. Raymond Wood, all of Dunn, and Pvt. James E. Griffin of Erwin.

SURE THEY'RE BITING!!!—Louis Kresser, Denver triple amputee Navy veteran of World War I, holds up the shimmering trout he caught on a South Platte River fishing trip for 100 convalescing veterans from the Denver area hospital. Kresser, a devoted sportsman, spent most of his time hooking trout and then letting other vets land them. (AP Wirephoto)

Teenager Trod One Of Many 'Paths To Fame'

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK (UP)—The ways to fame are many and the people who succeed are varied, but the most unexpected to hit town in a long time is a 13-year-old girl known as Sunshine Ruby.

She sings, but she doesn't read music. She plays the "git-tar," but she left the instrument at home. She doesn't care about meeting any famous people "because I don't know any."

Ruby's from Myrtle Springs, Tex. Nobody famous ever came from Myrtle Springs, but she ever heard of, Ruby said, but on the other hand, nobody back home seems to think she is anything special either.

She made her first recording last February down in Texas, and now the song is number two on the RCA Victor Western record selling list. The company invited Ruby and her mother, Mrs. Arthur Beaman, to New York, expenses paid, for another recording session.

"I didn't bring my Western hat because I didn't know how much room we'd have on the plane," said Ruby. "I'd never been on plane before." She was wearing a black and gold satin fringed skirt and jacket.

That was her longest statement of the interview. Her drawled replies were short enough to suit the most terse Western scenario.

Claims Her Kiss Caused Accident

WINDSOR, Ont. (UP)—Eugene Duda's girl friend, Betty Loveless, took the blame today after Duda's car jumped a curb and knocked down a lamp post.

"It wasn't his fault," Miss Loveless told police. "I kissed him."

"HAPPY SNAKES"
SAN PEDRO, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. Katherine Lund reported to police her five pet snakes missing from her back yard must have been stolen.

"They were too happy to have left on their own," she insisted.

Will Set Opening Of Leaf Sales Within 2 Weeks

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (UP)—Opening dates for sales on the five flue-cured tobacco leaf markets will be fixed at a meeting of the executive committee of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association with member warehousemen and dealers within the next two weeks, Association President Fred S. Royster said today.

Royster was re-elected to his third term as president of the Bright Belt Warehouse Association at an executive session of the board of governors here yesterday.

The association is winding up its annual meeting. Re-elected in addition to Royster was Guy Barnes of Rocky Mount, N. C., secretary treasurer. Earnest L. Anderson of Mullins, S. C. was elected vice president.

George Thomas, tobacco marketing specialist of the foreign agriculture service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the meeting that domestic leaf is getting increasing competition from foreign production.

Thomas, just returned from a world tour to study foreign tobacco structures, said the reason for increased foreign production is the scarcity of American dollars overseas. The people of Europe, he said, are not so interested in foreign aid as in increased trade with the United States as a means to become self-supporting.

Thomas predicted that more American leaf can be sold overseas by a national policy of generally increased trade and the continuation of non-prohibitive tariffs.

Thomas' tour took him through Africa, Egypt, Southeast Asia as well as through Western Europe.

Gave Him A Hug, Took His Wallet

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—Police were looking today for the 300-pound woman who hugged grocer Julius C. Hensler.

They said the woman, about 35, walked into the grocer's store, ordered a can of peaches and then gave Hensler a big hug.

Later Hensler missed his wallet containing $35.

Convicted Atomic Spies Had Humble Beginnings; Did Well, Until Caught

This is the second of three dispatches reviewing the atomic spy trial which brought death sentences to Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, now in Sing Sing's death row.

By NORMAN J. MONTELLIER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The cells in Sing Sing's death row are all the same. But two of the prisoners are markedly different.

Julius Rosenberg, 35, a New York electrical engineer, is just one of several doomed men in the men's wing of death row. His wife, Ethel, 37, is alone in the women's wing.

By their crime they are apart from other death row inmates. Unless there is a last minute stay of execution, they will be the first American civilians to die for espionage—the first man and wife condemned together.

In 1951 they were sentenced as spies, for having conspired to transmit U. S. atomic bomb secrets to Russia.

Communists and others have depicted them as persecuted progressives, victims of anti-Semitism, anti-Communism or war hysteria. There have been charges they were improperly tried and illegally sentenced; that their crime was espionage because Russia was a wartime ally; that it wasn't espionage because there is no "atomic secrecy" and the United States never knew anything the Russians didn't know first.

The Rosenbergs are products of New York's "Lower East Side." Harry and Sophie Cohen Rosenberg came to New York in the early 1900's from Russia. Julius was born May 18, 1918. He went to a Hebrew school, then the New York Public schools.

It was at Seward Park High School that he first met Ethel Greenglass.

Her parents, Barnet and Tessie Greenglass—he was Russian-born, she Austrian, came here about the same time as the Rosenbergs.

The Greenglasses moved into a small apartment on narrow, grimy Sheriff Street. Barnet Greenglass repaired sewing machines in a little machine shop in front of the living quarters. Tessie, now 70, still lives in the crowded cold-water flat where she reared four children—first Louis, now 43, then Ethel, then Barnet, now 35—and finally David, now 30.

It was David Greenglass who was the star witness in the trial which sent Ethel to death row. Ethel called him "Cain."

Julius attended New York City College while Ethel worked as a stenographer after they finished high school.

He was graduated as an electrical engineer in 1939 and that June he and Ethel were married.

In 1940, Rosenberg got a civil service job with the Signal Corps of the War Department General Depot in Brooklyn. Ethel worked for four months that year as a civil service clerk in Washington.

In 1941, Julius transferred to the U. S. Army Signal Corps and rose to engineering inspector in Philadelphia and New Jersey. The civil service post paid about $3,000 a year. He was promoted later to a job paying nearly $7,000.

In 1942, the Rosenbergs moved into a three-room apartment in a middle-income government housing project in Manhattan. They paid $51 a month rent. Their home was still on the lower East Side—but a long way from the childhood years of hardship.

In 1945 there was a faint sign of trouble. The Signal Corps suspended Julius when it was indicated he was a Communist—the Federal Bureau of Investigation had produced a party transfer card made out to Julius. He told friends then: "It could have been worse." It was five years later when he was charged with having been a spy in those wartime years.

Julius became owner of the Pitt Engine Products Inc., a small ground-floor machine shop, when he left the civil service. His employees said they never heard him discuss politics.

Things were going well. The Rosenbergs had two sons, Michael, now 10, and Robert, now 6. The business was doing well, the boys went to day camp in the summer and the Rosenbergs vacationed outside New York.

Ethel's brother David in these years finished his schooling and in 1943, at the age of 21, was drafted.

He promptly married 18-year-old Ruth Prince. In 1944 he was sent to Los Alamos. A skilled machinist, he was in charge of a shop assembling parts for the atomic bomb. In February, 1946, he was discharged. He and Ruth moved back into the old neighborhood. He was earning from $75 to $120 a week, depending on overtime. He and Ruth had two children.

Then the world of the Greenglasses and Rosenbergs fell in.

First David, then Julius, then Ethel, then Ruth were arrested by the FBI for conspiring to commit espionage in wartime. The indictment said the Rosenbergs had organized an espionage system, that they recruited David to get information from Los Alamos, that Ruth carried messages between them and David.

David confessed. This implicated the Rosenbergs—but also brought his wife, Ruth, under the shadow of death. While indicted as a co-conspirator, Ruth was freed without being tried after she cooperated with the FBI and testified at the Rosenberg trial. David drew leniency because of his cooperation and was sentenced to 15 years in jail.

The Rosenberg trial lasted 15 days in March, 1951. They were sentenced to die first on May 21. But appeals to higher courts—four times to the Supreme Court—and for judicial and presidential clemency stalled the death verdict.

Opera Players Please Audience

The Comic Opera Players, opening the summer entertainment series at East Carolina College Monday night with a performance of Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief," were enthusiastically received by an audience of approximately a thousand people from the campus and the city of Greenville.

Excellent voices, good acting, and simple yet effective staging characterized the performance.

David Shapiro, musical director and accompanist, and a cast of four young singers made Menotti's humorous, yet pathetic, opera of small town life a delightful experience to the audience. Laughter and applause were frequent.

Madeleine Voss, mezzo soprano, as the old maid, and Albert Medinets, tenor, as Bob, whose visit adds glamor to her dull life, gave excellent interpretations of their parts and showed themselves competent both in singing and acting.

Geraldine Leslie, as the gossipy Miss Pinkerton, contributed a pleasing touch of comedy; and Virginia Copeland, as a comely housemaid, played well a part combining the humorous and the romantic.

A series of encore numbers by the company included hit songs by Rodgers, Gerahwin, and others.

The next attraction on the college entertainment series will be a performance June 30 at 8 p.m. in the Austin auditorium by Boris Gregory, concertino virtuoso, and Rod Strong, dancer. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Ferris Is Named District Head Of CROP Drive

The Rev. Fred L.E. Ferris, Minister of the Trinity Episcopal church, Chocowinity, N.C., has been appointed 1953 CROP District Supervisor for Beaufort, Martin and Pitt Counties.

CROP (Christian Rural Overseas Program) now has sixteen District Supervisors in North Carolina to lead in the organization of counties for the collection of farm commodities to meet overseas needs.

Ferris expresses his interest in CROP in the following way. "The world is fast becoming 'one world,' one community, in which we are to learn the principles of community living and sharing one with the other. There is no finer example set before Christians everywhere than that of sharing what they have, however little it may be, with those less fortunate in another portion of their community — this 'one world.'"

Research Post Goes To Recent ECC Graduate

Walter Clarke Biggs of Wilmington, who was graduated at East Carolina College last month, has received a graduate research assistantship at the University of Kansas. At the college here, Mr. Biggs specialized in work in the department of science; at Kansas he will work in the field of zoology.

The assistantship amounts to $1200 for a nine-months school term. At the University of Kansas Mr. Biggs will participate in a research project on "The Mammals of North America," including all of the kinds from Greenland to Panama. His work will involve preparation of maps showing geographical distribution, the analysis of the literature of certain genera, and research in other phases of the project.

Mr. Biggs will be an assistant to Dr. E.R. Hall, chairman of the department of zoology at the University of Kansas, and to Dr. Keith R. Kelson.

Wheat Acreage Allotments Open

Farmers on land on which no wheat was seeded for any of the years 1951, 1952, and 1953 may apply for a 1954 wheat acreage allotment, according to Carl Scott, chairman of the Pitt County PMA.

To be considered for an allotment on a farm which had no wheat seeded for any of those years, the farmer must apply in writing to his county Production and Marketing Administration Committee by June 30, 1953.

Blank application forms are available at the county PMA office for use in filing requests for allotments.

ASPHALT DUMPED ON CAR.—Firemen probe the wreckage of a convertible coupe after a runaway dump truck spilled its 10-ton load of smoking, hot asphalt into the interior of the open car in Hollywood. Mrs. Yeonora Kunz, 31, driver of the convertible, died soon after reaching the hospital of third degree burns. Her year-old son, Andrew, was also seriously burned. Police and passersby dug Mrs. Kunz from the scalding asphalt with their bare hands. The truck driver said his brakes failed as he drove down a long hill. The accident occurred when he tried to turn up an inclined street. (AP Wirephoto)

Back To Bourbon And Water After Drink Inventions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP)—Forty Hoosiers went back to bourbon and branch water today after judging a wildly imaginative array of brand new cocktail inventions in the state's first drink-mixing contest.

Bartender Fred Mennar won first place in the gin-base division with his "liberty," a formula of grenadine, creme de menthe, lemon, cointreau, sugar and naturally gin.

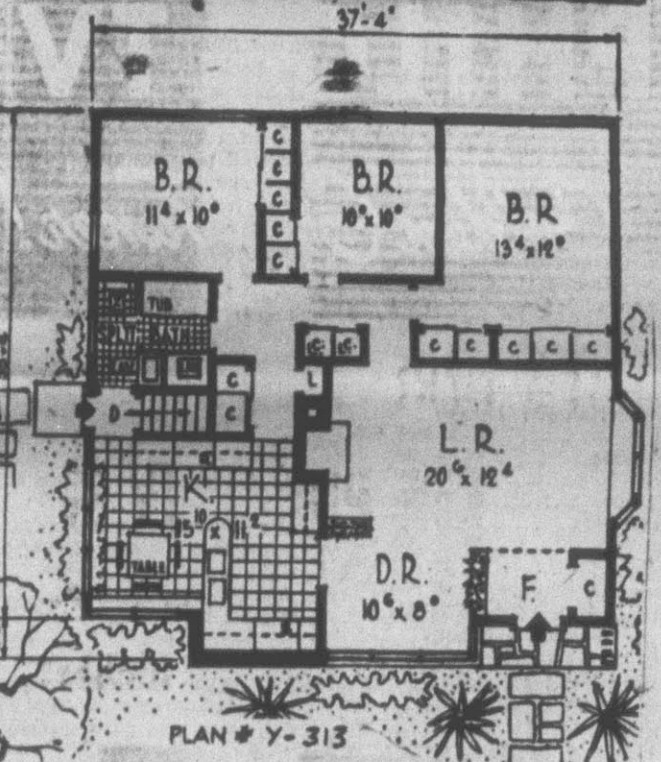

Mike Correlli carried home another first prize for his "500"—a shot of bourbon fortified with cointreau, lemon juice, and a spray of champagne.

In the tall drink division, Russell Heib knocked 'em dead with his "Hoosier julep"—a stimulating mixture of gin, vodka, creme de menthe and orange juice.

It took the 40 judges five hours to sip their way through the inventions of 36 contestants.

A Month For Single Girls To Be 'Sorry'

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—This is the time for the most neglected group in the world, the single girls, to feel good and sorry for themselves.

First of all, it's June. The average single girl—(to be interpreted as meaning any girl under the age of 40 and unmarried)—is shopping again in the gift department. The clerks all know her by now. Most of the things she's passed out to brides through the years she'd like to have for herself.

Who gives a single girl a nice silver tray or a set of burn-proof cooking pans or a dozen monogrammed sheets? Not even her mother. She has to eat, sleep and entertain too, but with inferior equipment.

Mothers and fathers get special attention one day a year; weeks are set aside for babies, secretaries and animals; school teachers get apples. Nothing for old maids.

Women outnumber men in the United States now, though they didn't until recently, so we may as well start trying to make leftover girls feel at home.

June is an ideal month to start playing up their virtues. For instance, who else listens so patiently to long tales of precocious children without producing a single kid's snapshot of her own? And think of the endless conversational topic the single girl gives her married friends—"Why doesn't somebody marry good old Maybelle?"

She's often a bridesmaid, often a godmother and often stuck with somebody's cousin at a dinner party. But the sterling silver comes out of her own paycheck.

Here are some suggestions in case anybody wants to form a committee to remedy this national neglect:

Try not to consider any unattached man a prospective husband for her. It makes everybody uncomfortable, especially the unmarried pair, who take an immediate

Post-Korea GI Insurance Grows

WASHINGTON (UP)—The veterans Administration reported today that more than 19,000 veterans are now covered by the new post Korea GI term life insurance. That is about nine times as many as were covered a year ago.

Eligible post-Korea veterans must apply to VA within 120 days of their discharge for the policies, which may be renewed every five years at the premium rate for the then-current age. The policies may not be converted to another type of GI life insurance, nor do they earn interest. However, the premium cost for most ages is the insurance administered by VA.

Rulanes Suffer First Loss At Hands Of Lowly Red Men

Bright Leafs Gain On Leaders With 5-2 Win Over Ford-O-Matics In Opening Game Of The Evening

Behind the effective pitching of John Tripp, the Red Men handed the Rulanes their first defeat of the season as they edged the league leaders 5-2 in the second game of last night's Pony League slate.

The opening contest at Rose Athletic Field saw the Bright Leaf beat the Ford-O-Matics 5-2 in a well-played contest.

Tripp averaged striking out one man an inning as he scattered seven hits over the distance of the game. Usually a strong hitting club, the Rulanes were allowed no extra-base blows by Tripp. John Wesley Hudson and Mack Roebuck each had two of the seven hits collected by the losers. Kelly Barnhill had two hits for the Red Men.

Stingy with base hits, Ralph Johnson fanned eight and allowed only four safeties in tossing the Bright Leaf win. John Ed Arnold lashed out two doubles to pace the winners at bat, while Angus Duff helped the victors cause with a home-run in the fourth inning.

The Bright Leafs are now only one game behind the Rulanes in the standings.

Winger Captures Golf Championship In First Pro Try

HERSHEY, Pa. (UP)—Bo Winger, sandy-haired Oklahoman City Okla., swinger making his first tour of the pro circuit, today was holder of the Pennsylvania State Open golf championship.

The former Oklahoma A.&M. star, who deserted the amateur ranks a little more than a year ago, had a three-under-par 71-71-143 Tuesday to take the $1,000 first place money from a field of 80 topflight pro-amateurs.

He fought off determined bids by defending champion George Giffin Jr., Green Valley, C.C., and Jim Coleman, Oakmont, C.C., who had second place 144.

Lew Worsham, Oakmont C.C., former National Open champion, was fourth with 145, and tied at 146 between were Johnny Weitzel, Hershey C.C. and Smiley Quick, Los Angeles C.C. George Fazio, Pine Valley C.C., a pre-tournament favorite was seventh with a 147. Lynn Creason, Colonial C.C., Harrisburg, Pa., was eighth with 148 and was the top amateur in the tourney.

Two Main Events Highlight Today's Wrestling Card

Four matches are scheduled for Greenville's fourth weekly mat card at the New Enterprise Warehouse tonight at 8:30 p. m.

A double-main event, starring Roy (Professor) Shire versus Charlie Lave and "The Swedish Angel" versus Curado Perez will highlight the night's program.

Jim (The Bull) Auster, the shaven-headed Italian, will meet young Dick Bishop, baby-faced Georgian, in the night's opener. Two rugged veteran stars, Al Getz and Jack Moore, will tangle in the second event on the program.

Yank Tryout Camp

The New York Yankees will hold a tryout camp in Wilson on June 29, 30 and July 1, according to Bill Harris, scout. All boys are invited to attend the camp, which will start at 10 o'clock each morning. Boys must bring their own uniforms, glove and shoes. Any boy signed by the Yankees will have his expenses refunded.

Olson Favorite In Middleweight Fight With Young

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UP)—A beautiful rhubarb may develop if Carl (Booby) Olson beats Paddy Young Friday night, as he is favored to do at 13-5.

Angry Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager, threatened today to break with the International Boxing Club if Bob beats Young at Madison Square Garden, and then the IBC tries to stage an Olson-Randy Turpin fight for the world middleweight crown in New York.

"The Olson-Turpin fight belongs in San Francisco, just as Friday's fight with Young belonged there," declared big Sid, here at Bob's training quarters in the Hollywood Hotel.

He emphasized that Kezar Stadium in San Francisco could seat between 90,000 and 100,000 for a fight. Also that Olson's great popularity on the Pacific Coast would attract "four times as many people there as in New York."

Pilot Flaherty is very unhappy about Friday's fight. He said it would draw only about $40,000 at the gate. In addition there is a $50,000 radio-television fee. Each fighter will receive 30 per cent of the net gate and 30 per cent of the fifty grand.

"We could have got the same TV money in San Francisco," he complained, "and the gate would have been more than $100,000."

Castellani Slight Favorite Today

CLEVELAND (UP)—Nifty-boxing Rocky Castellani was a slight favorite today to score a revenge triumph tonight at the Arena in a re-run of his much-disputed bout against rugged French middleweight contender Pierre Langlois.

However, Castellani was nothing like the heavy 3-1 choice that he was on Feb. 6 when Langlois upset him on a split 12-round decision at Madison Square Garden.

Not only was the verdict disputed in that one by Castellani, but although the fight had been billed as a "middleweight championship elimination," Langlois then was dropped from the tourney to find a new 160-pound ruler and he began to complain.

Langlois goes into tonight's fight with the ranking of No. 5 contender for the crown, but he's still on the outside looking in at the championship goings-on.

Tonight's bout will be over a 10-round distance instead of 12, and there wasn't expected to be much difference in weights. Last time Rocky, formerly of Luzerne Pa., but now of Cleveland, weighed 159 1/2 pounds and Langlois an even 160. The fight will be nationally televised.

Patty Berg Tries For Fifth Women's Open Golf Title

ATLANTA, Ga. (UP)—Patty Berg, who is shooting for her fifth women's Western Open golf championship, drew another tough opponent today in the second round.

The long-hitting professional from St. Andrews Ill., just squeezed past Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., 1 up on the 19th hole Tuesday. Today she was matched against defending champion Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C.

Other feature second round matches pitted hometown girl Louise Suggs against Marnie Polk of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. Jackie Pung of Honolulu against Pat Lester of Seattle, Wash.; and Claire Doran of Cleveland, O., against Marilyn Smith of Wichita, Kans.

Elks In Tie For First Place

The Elks Little League team has been playing some of the best ball in the league recently and are currently in a tie with the Lions for first place with two wins against no defeats. The players are: front row left to right—Harry Forbes, Louis Arthur, Bobby Arthur, Lester Brown, J. G. Proctor, Denny Hardee, and Dallas Clark; back row left to right—Carl Bested, Joe Moye, Howard Garner, Charles Roberts, Merrill Bynum, and Ray Corbett. Not pictured are Manager Bill Kittrell, Lucian Bryan and Jimmy Jenkins.

Raleigh Capitals On Auction Now After Bad Slump

By UNITED PRESS

The slumping Raleigh Capitals went on the auction block today and the possibility appeared that the Cap franchise may go to High Point or Rocky Mount if there are no Raleigh buyers.

President O. W. Hooke announced that poor attendance—an average of only 800 fans per game—made the team's five owners decide it "just looks as though the people of Raleigh don't want baseball."

Carolina League President Glenn E. (Ted) Mann said that if the league deems it necessary to withdraw the Raleigh franchise, there are "numerous" other cities interested in taking it.

"The Carolina League is one of the strongest in the country and will continue to exist with or without Raleigh," Mann said.

The Capitals, in third place, lost their fourth straight game last night. League-leading Bur-Gra scored four runs in the ninth to triumph 6-4. Hooker made his announcement following the game, but said the decision to sell the club was made at a director's meeting earlier yesterday.

Hooker said the owners want to sell the club to Raleigh owners and "local interests will have first chance at it." He said the owners would operate it through June if it isn't sold, then will give up the franchise.

Hooker mentioned Rocky Mount and High Point as two cities where interests are eager for a Carolina League franchise. Another strong possibility is Charlotte. Although the Charlotte Hornets are now in the Tri-State League, there is a wish by Charlotte interests to switch to the Carolina League.

Elsewhere in the Carolina League, Winston-Salem whacked second place Danville 8-2 knocking the Leafs 4 1/2 games behind the pace-setting Bur-Gra Bucs.

The Greensboro Patriots went on a hitting rampage, slaming two homers, six doubles and seven singles in whipping Durham 17-2.

Reidsville dropped Fayetteville 6-4 to push the Highlanders lower in the cellar.

Elks Rally For Three Markers In Last Stanza To Edge Moose

Scoring three runs on two hits and three errors in the bottom of the last inning, the Elks edged the Moose 5-4 in a Little League game played at Elm Street Park yesterday afternoon.

Merrill Bynum was on first by an error to open the last stanza, and Howard Garner singled. An infield out moved the runners to second and third. Bobby Arthur singled to score the tying runs for the Elks and advanced to second on an error by second baseman Leon Stocks. Arthur scored when shortstop Tommy Henderson erred on a ball hit by Jimmy Jenkins.

Leading hitters for the winners were Joe Moye and Louis Arthur with two for two each. One of Arthur's blows was a double with a runner on base.

With three singles, Lonnie Finch was the big man at bat for the losers. Henderson had two doubles, one which came in the last inning with two men on base.

Carl Bested hurled the win for the Elks, striking out four and walking two. The win gives the Elks a 2-0 record for the second half of Little League play and puts them in a tie for first place with the Lions. Scheduled to play today in a doubleheader are the Kiwanis and the Jaycees.

Jack Minges Leads Batters In Men's Softball League

Batting at a .637 clip, Jack Minges of Wagner-Waldrop is leading the batters in the Men's Softball League. Garner - Wynne - Manning's Johnny Foell has collected the most hits with 12 and stands high in the batting figures.

The averages are figured on players who have been to bat 10 or more times, and only the top hitters from each team are listed.

Smart Has High Average As Driver Of Harness Racing

COLUMBUS, O. (UP)—Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware, O., was credited by the U.S. Trotting Association today with having the highest average ever made by a harness racing driver at an extended pari-mutuel meeting.

USTA records showed Smart's .325 average for 32 wins in 42 starts during the meeting ending at Hazel Park, (Detroit), Raceway last Saturday was far above the next highest mark.

Officials of the Universal Driver Rating System, which tallies harness racing averages, said Smart's average which includes credit for four seconds and one third was the highest ever registered by them.

Smart drove 17 horses at Hazel Park and won at least one race with every one of them.

Sweden was an important factor in the settlement of what is now the United States, having founded a colony on the Delaware river in 1638.

Elks In Tie For First Place

The Elks Little League team has been playing some of the best ball in the league recently and are currently in a tie with the Lions for first place with two wins against no defeats. The players are: front row left to right—Harry Forbes, Louis Arthur, Bobby Arthur, Lester Brown, J. G. Proctor, Denny Hardee, and Dallas Clark; back row left to right—Carl Bested, Joe Moye, Howard Garner, Charles Roberts, Merrill Bynum, and Ray Corbett. Not pictured are Manager Bill Kittrell, Lucian Bryan and Jimmy Jenkins.

Elks Rally For Three Markers In Last Stanza To Edge Moose

Scoring three runs on two hits and three errors in the bottom of the last inning, the Elks edged the Moose 5-4 in a Little League game played at Elm Street Park yesterday afternoon.

Merrill Bynum was on first by an error to open the last stanza, and Howard Garner singled. An infield out moved the runners to second and third. Bobby Arthur singled to score the tying runs for the Elks and advanced to second on an error by second baseman Leon Stocks. Arthur scored when shortstop Tommy Henderson erred on a ball hit by Jimmy Jenkins.

Leading hitters for the winners were Joe Moye and Louis Arthur with two for two each. One of Arthur's blows was a double with a runner on base.

With three singles, Lonnie Finch was the big man at bat for the losers. Henderson had two doubles, one which came in the last inning with two men on base.

Carl Bested hurled the win for the Elks, striking out four and walking two. The win gives the Elks a 2-0 record for the second half of Little League play and puts them in a tie for first place with the Lions. Scheduled to play today in a doubleheader are the Kiwanis and the Jaycees.

Browns Break Streaks With Win Over Yankees

NEW YORK (UP)—The Yankees thought they had everything figured out right then and Duane Pillette, who specializes in beating them when they came home from Western road trips, spoiled all the fun by ending their 18-game winning streak.

Pillette did more than that. He snapped a 14-game losing streak for the Browns with his five-hit pitching and handed lefty Whitey Ford his first defeat after 17 straight successes as a starting pitcher in Tuesday night's 3-1 St. Louis triumph before the home Elks in Yankee Stadium.

It was Pillette who cooled off the Yankees two years ago on June 12 at the stadium when they came home from another Western trip with a four-hit, 5-1 victory. Last year he varied the procedure a little by handing them a seven-hit, 4-3, defeat at St. Louis as they launched a Western road trip.

The Yankees admitted they deserved to lose in a game in which the odds were tremendously in their favor.

"He gave us plenty to hit at, but we couldn't deliver," said Manager Casey Stengel. "Now I guess we gotta go out and start another streak all over today with Alie Reynolds."

The only consolation for the Yankees was in the pinch-hitter by Johnny Mize which drove in their only run and which gave him his 2,000th major league hit.

However, runner-up Cleveland blew a chance to gain and stayed 10 1/2 games behind as Eddie Joost sparked a three-run eighth inning rally with a two-run single that gave Philadelphia its seventh straight win, 9-7.

Milwaukee went back in front by a game and a half in the National League race by coming home and winning a double header from the Phils, 6-5 in 10 innings, and 3-2, as Brooklyn lost at St. Louis,

International Events Indicate 'Crime Does Pay' For Russians

By PHIL NEWSOM
The loud-mouth who has been slapping people around for eight years now says it could be over did it a bit, and maybe some of it was a mistake.
And so some of the people who have been slapped around say, "thank you, very much," because they are tired of using up iodine and bandages and "let's just forget the whole thing."
Which may be over-simplifying things, some but which is a fairly accurate picture of the current Russian "peace offensive," so far. Russia's bewildering array of "peace" pronouncements hasn't cost it a nickel but has succeeded in dividing the Western Allies as no amount of threats ever could.
Which, in turn, makes us wonder why Stalin never thought of it, instead of being continually as hard-nosed as he was.
In large part the current Russian campaign contributed to:
Premier Alcide De Gasperi's failure to win a decisive victory in last week's Italian general elections.
The failure to establish a West European defense community and the slow-down of the West's deense drive.

The growing irritation between the United States and Great Britain.
Increasing indications that West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will have a rough time of it in next fall's West German elections.
You can forget about the effects of crime movies and television on junior. Just let him read the international news. It will convince him that crime really pays.
At Stalin's funeral last March, his successor, Georgi M. Malenkov, said that all outstanding world issues could be settled by negotiation. Here are some of the Russian gestures up to now:
1. The return of British, French and American civilian Korea prisoners — held illegally, in the first place.
2. Extension of amnesty to a British embassy official sentenced to jail on charges he denied.
3. Expression of regret at shooting down an unarmed British bomber in Germany and killing its crew.
4. The suggestion for a four-power talk in Berlin on settlement of the air corridor question — so far unsettled and which, according to a Russian suggestion, would cut down the number of corridors from three to one.

5. The granting of a few exit visas for wives and children of American citizens.
6. The freeing of American newsman William Oatis from a Prague prison — sentenced two years ago on trumped up spy charges.
7. The war prisoner agreement in Korea — one of the few real developments.
8. The lifting of controls in Austria. (The Austrians humbly "thanked" the Russians for a move undertaken by the Western Allies six years ago.)
9. The easing of controls in East Germany. Still less than long since had been granted by the Western powers in their sons.
10. The peace offer to Turkey and the renouncing of territorial claims which never had been acknowledged.
Europe wants to believe that Moscow now really is trying to live in peace with the rest of the world. But there is also the suspicion that by a sudden switch in tactics, Moscow hopes to fatten us up for the kill.

Hates TV; But Judge Is Firm

CHICAGO (UP)—If you don't like a television program, turn it off. If your wife won't let you do that, go for a walk.
Do not, a Chicago judge has ruled, attack the set with an axe, kick it or take it apart.
Judge Charles I. Fleming yesterday granted a plea by Mrs. Ruby E. Anderson that her husband, Arthur, 56, be restrained from banging her TV sets around.
Anderson, testimony showed, was cool toward TV three years ago when his wife bought the couple's first set. Dramatic programs, in particular, did not appeal to him.
One night Anderson left the living room briefly, returned with an axe and charged toward the set. Mrs. Anderson threw herself in the way and saved it temporarily.
Anderson began a campaign of psychological warfare.
When a dramatic program appeared on the air, he would grab a screw driver, tinker around in the back of the set and then announce to his demoralized wife: "You'll never hear that station again."
Mrs. Anderson was down to only two channels when her husband lost his patience and kicked the set out of operation.
Mrs. Anderson testified that she bought a second and then a third set that went the way of the first.
"I hate TV and I'm going to break it up," she quoted her husband.
"I understand that some people are allergic to certain TV programs," the judge commented. "But I don't think they should be permitted to destroy such valuable property."
Mrs. Anderson has left home.

Warmer Weather For Thirty Days

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Weather Bureau said today the next 30 days will be warmer than normal for this season over a large part of the nation.
Above-normal temperatures are expected over the western two-thirds of the country except along the West Coast. The Southern Plains and the Southwest are in for a particularly hot spell. Below normal temperatures are predicted for the Middle and South Atlantic states, and near normal elsewhere.
The 30-day rain outlook is above normal in the Middle and South Atlantic states and the Far West, generally dry in much of the Central and Southern Plains and the Southern Rocky Mountain states, and about normal elsewhere.

Scientists can make gasoline from coal, cattle fodder or sawdust.

Train Toot Has Town In Uproar

GRANDVIEW, O. (U.P.) — "To toot or not to toot?" is the question plaguing Mayor A.K. Pierce, who said he is ready to turn the entire matter over to the council, people and railroad.

Before March 13, the town's officials were flooded with demands that Pennsylvania trains crossing two busy intersections be allowed to blow their whistles. An old city ordinance prohibited it.

There had been six fatalities at the two crossings besides numerous accidents involving personal injury and property damage.

State law provides that trains be required to toot whenever they approach a crossing, but the law also provides that the requirement is not in order if a municipality forbids the tooting.

Town officials approved a plan to let the trains whistle for 60 days.

"Now I'm getting complaints from local citizens who object to the whistles," the frustrated mayor complained. "All I know is there have been no accidents since the train whistles have been sounding."

BUSY BEES SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California had a new record of 48,974,000 pounds of honey in 1952. The Federal-State Market News Service announced this was 74 per cent above the previous record, in 1951, and kept California the sweetest state honeywise.

WILKEN advertisement featuring a bottle of whiskey and the text "The gifts began pouring in from all over the country—New York, St. Louis, Chicago, Indianapolis, Portsmouth, Va., and other cities—in one, two and five dollar amounts. The total hit $425 in cash, with more coming in, plus a washing machine, furniture and clothes for the children. She appeared Monday on a radio show and received other gifts, including a wheelchair for her husband. When she received the cash she became ineligible for relief—but she was happy to get off the relief rolls. "The Lord does his work in strange ways," she said. "Since I know He's watching now we can't help but win. He wouldn't have sent the wheelchair if Ray weren't going to be okay and come home." O'Gara, a carpenter, suffered a stroke January 17, and lies paralyzed in a hospital. The mortgage was foreclosed on their home in suburban Oaklawn and the family was forced to sell the furniture. Mrs. O'Gara put Patrick, 7, Raymond, 6, Mary, 5, Mike, 3, and Kathleen, 2, in St. Joseph's Home for the Friendless and placed her baby, Bileen, one, in St. Vincent's Orphanage. She went to work as a waitress until she found the tournament and had enough cash to last a few weeks. "We sure has to skip," she said. "I cut us down to two meals a day. We just stayed in bed all morning and skipped breakfast." Finally she had to ask for relief. She paid the rent and bought some groceries with part of the first and only check she received. The thief got the rest and started the family back on the path of hope and happiness. "We have three meals a day now," Mrs. O'Gara said, "and that's fun. Soon, I'm sure, my Ray will be home."

Market Reports Stock And

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks rose more than a point early today in moderately active dealings.

All departments joined in the upswing which was an extension of yesterday's smart rally. Before yesterday's recovery got underway, industrial issues fell to their lowest levels since May 19, 1952.

Despite all the strength displayed by the market, early dealings were slow. Sales in the first hour totaled 220,000 shares, compared with 220,000 in the same period yesterday.

Railroad and oil shares sparked the advance with a number of pivots showing good gains.

In the carriers, Seaboard Air Line jumped two points to 109. Southern Railway ran up 1 3/4 points to 89 3/4. Santa Fe and Union Pacific tacked on gains of a point each.

Texas Pacific Land Trust registered one of the widest gains in its group. It spurted four points to 123. Amerada Petroleum was up 1 1/2 points to 163 3/4. Phillips was up more than a point.

Steel shares moved higher, but gains here were limited mostly to the fractional zone.

Young Housewife Shoots Herself With Shotgun

VANCEBORO—Mrs. Alma Lee Haddock Coward, 26-year-old housewife of Route 1, Vanceboro, committed suicide this morning at her home near Chapman's Crossroads.

Coroner Griffin Rouse said the youthful mother used a 12 gauge double-barrel shotgun as the death weapon. She died 30 minutes after arriving at Taylor Hospital in Washington. Rouse said probable cause of the suicide was bad health.

Rouse said Mrs. Coward's husband was in the front yard when he heard one shot and then the three-year-old child cry out. Mrs. Coward was found on the back porch with the gun lying beside her.

Wet Road, Slick Tires, Said To Cause Accident

GRIMESLAND—Wet road and slick tires were termed causes of an automobile accident today on Highway 264, two miles west of Grimesland.

Highway Patrolman D. E. Perry identified the driver of the vehicle as Franklin Mitchell Johnson, 17, of Berkeley Road, Greenville.

He quoted the youth as saying he was traveling about 52 miles per hour when the car began skidding and overturned. Damage to the car was estimated at approximately $800. No charges were made and no injuries reported.

ALL THE BANKS
The two youths from Pitt County attending the short course in modern farming at State College were awarded fellowships by all the banks in Pitt County, not by the Guaranty Bank and Trust alone, as stated in yesterday's Reflector.
