Heavy Beef Buying In Southwest Is Started

WASHINGTON (UP)—Agriculture Department today began its biggest beef-buying program since the Dust Bowl days of the Thirties in an effort to save drought-stricken ranchers of the Southwest from ruinously low prices.

Although the buying program is aimed primarily at halting a price panic in Texas cattle markets, the effect may be to boost retail beef prices throughout the country.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said the department will buy 200,000,000 pounds of canned beef, hamburger and boned beef in the next 20 weeks. The purchases, averaging 10,000,000 pounds a week, would represent about 6 per cent of the nation's average weekly beef production. Most of the meat will be used for the school lunch program.

The beef buying program was the most dramatic move yet undertaken by the government to relieve the drought area.

The Agriculture Department prepared emergency legislation for submission to Congress today. Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) said he understood the bill would call for a $50,000,000 increase in the emergency credit funds of the Farmers Home Administration to be used for loans in the drought area.

The Commodity Credit Corporation's Board of Directors held a closed meeting Tuesday night to decide what prices it will charge for surplus corn and other government-owned feed shipped into the drought area. The feed will be sold to ranchers at below market prices and the difference made up out of an $8,000,000 disaster relief fund granted earlier this week by President Eisenhower.

What Could Ever Be More Precious?

We spank'em, find shores for them to do; provide them with more "don'ts" in life than "do's"; criticize them and complain about them...

But on the other side of the ledger: We try to teach them right from wrong and readin', writin' and 'rithmetic; stay up with them when they're sick; vote new taxes and bonds for schools and see that they get proper nourishment and enough sleep; spend fortunes on shoes, clothing, ice cream, soft drinks, movies and toys...

Is there anything to which we attach more value than our children?

Now, out Alabama-way, people imported sixty-seven gallons of rare and precious gamma globulin to combat a disease that

If We Could But

Help Tip The Scales!

Armed only with a stubborn will to resist tyranny, people of Europe caught up by the Soviet empire are waging a rebellion of heroic magnitude against their masters.

Now in the third week of defiance, their determination has come to mean far more than a passing display; the Free World now sees a hint of possible victory sooner than they dared dream.

The iron fist of the Kremlin cannot dissolve this opposition. Time and again, history has shown that tyrannies compounded by new tyrannies only sow greater seeds for upheaval.

If it were only practicable now, to encourage and strengthen the oppressed in East Europe; to demonstrate that the world is watching and working for their freedom, it would hasten the day of liberation.

Democracy as we know it should find fertile ground in Central and East Europe for many years to come. With memories of Nazism and Communism fresh in their minds, it's hard to see how the people could soon accept a new and militant dictatorship.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

Some time ago in conversation with a friend we fell into discussion about a family where the father had certainly practiced everything the books suggest in order to bring about wholesome relationship between parents and children. This father made chums of his boys. He took part with them in their sports. There was a marvelous relationship between the father and his sons.

But did the boys turn out well? Not at all. The father was a devout Christian and his faith had about it everything wholesome and nothing fanatical. Yet the boys spurned religion. They shamed their father's name and did everything that he had taught them not to do. This was a well-educated, upper middle-class family holding a position of real distinction in their community. The home in which the boys grew up was apparently a very happy one.

All of which shows—if human minds can comprehend such situations—first, that environment is not enough to insure a high quality of manhood; second, that many of the books suggest do not work; and third, that there is a mystery about human relationships—especially their evil aspects—which no one can understand.

The father fulfilled every moral and spiritual obligation to his boys. A terrifying responsibility rests upon them for their rejection of his influence.

Free Europe Policy Is Wanted

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The revelations of widespread popular discontent within the Communist Empire will force a sharp revision of Washington's policy toward the Kremlin's dictators, as distinct from the oppressed Russian and satellite peoples.

An Eisenhower-Dulles movement that offers promise of eventual liberation will supplant the Truman-Acheson-Kennan program of "containment" and building "positions of strength" against Soviet expansion. Although this strategy was necessary to save the world from engulfment in 1945, a more positive thrust to break the Politburo's grip on almost 800,000,000 unhappy people is needed now.

INVITED COMMUNIST INVASION—The idea of "containment" or "co-existence" with their official jailers never had any appeal or inspiration to revolt for the subjugated victims. To them it signified Western acquiescence in their permanent imprisonment by Moscow's tyrants and their secret police-military stooges.

It meant our acceptance of incarceration for them so long as we could remain free, or make a workable deal with the Kremlin behind their backs. When Dean Acheson delineated the Pacific and other frontiers that we would defend, it appeared to them that we had turned the lock in their dungeon door. It also invited Communist invasion of South Korea.

LIKE ADVOCATES OF "LIBERATION"—President Eisenhower sensed the difference in the two approaches when he advocated "liberation" during the campaign, presumably with his eyes on certain racial elements support.

He modified his suggestion to "peaceful liberation" when Truman and Stevenson turned it against him. They retorted that such a movement would drench millions of people with their own blood in a futile cause. Nevertheless, Ike has clung to the idea tenaciously. In his State of the Union Message, he said: "We shall never acquiesce in the enslavement of any people in order to purchase fancied gain for ourselves."

In addressing the editors in April in a major foreign policy speech, he specified the conditions under which he would confer with Georgi Malenkov for threatens the lives and futures of many thousands of kids. It's the first such mass inoculation effort of its kind; a vast project, with thirty thousand children under ten years of age to get a "shot".

The quantity of rare serum shipped into Montgomery, Alabama, is something of a testimony to the value today's people place on the lives and wellbeing of tomorrow's citizens. To the living, the future is all-important; and it is concern for the tomorrows that marks progress of humanity and even civilizations.

If the mass inoculation undertaking works out as anticipated, uncounted legions of blood donors can honestly feel he, or she, had a part in making it possible. That is their reward; that, and the unspoken, unheralded bit of inside awareness that somebody's son or daughter will live briefly free of the fear of infantile paralysis.

When medical scientists have conquered poliomyelitis, and someday we'll see it, today's drama in the lives of Montgomery's children will be an important milestone in the task.

When one really gets down to it, life is pretty much a chore of bettering the world for those who are yet to come.

Two Viewed The Probes In Different Lights

Compare. Dr. Albert Einstein advised "intellectuals" to refuse cooperation with probes in loyalty hearings.

His recommendation raised the spectre of a "caste system," dividing people into "intellectuals" and "non-intellectuals." Additionally, he blanketed all such loyalty probes under the general category of witch-hunting.

An Ohio school superintendent addressing the National Education Association convention advised all educators to give full and honest answers "when their loyalty is at stake."

Admitting "unfairness" of some congressional probings, he nevertheless decried educators' hiding behind the Fifth Amendment.

All should recognize that America does need some form of countermeasures against communist infiltration. Refusing to acknowledge this is similar to refusing to concede need for a disinfectant in an open wound.

Congressional probings sometimes do, in their zeal, come under just criticisms; but we suspect some of the outraged howls are sounded by the very breed which are their targets.

Certainly they are needed, just as also is needed responsible and careful handling of such probes in order that they do not become all that their enemies claim. One extreme, laxity, is as bad as conducting a sort of super-inquisition.

Somebody Told Me...

One Determined Young Man

Monday night I had an inspiring interview with a young man with about as much determination as anyone can muster. Larry Bodkin, a junior at Greenville high school, has accomplished something at the age of 16 that many of us never have enough push to do: Larry was determined that he was going to work his way to a bicycle and a tape recorder. He subscribed the remaining $200 in stock in the local television station. But when the trip came up he sold his TV subscription and started making plans. As a guest Sunday of the Men's Bible Class of the Memorial Baptist Church, Tommy told his plans. After hearing the story the class decided to serve as his sponsor and donated $25 toward his trip. After talking to Tommy I am convinced that it's not as simple as deciding that you're going to work your way to a foreign country on a ship. The red tape involved is amazing.

Tommy started by answering an ad that resulted in his buying for $2 a publication of the Devonport Seaman Service, 1170 Broadway, New York City. This book is well worth the money, he says, because it gives you the details on how to go about getting official sanction to work on a ship. In the past two weeks Tommy has traveled 1300 miles, via thumb, to speed up the final arrangements. One trip was to Washington, D. C. where he expedited an F.B.I. investigation on himself, which is necessary to get a document for employment. Other trips were to Norfolk, where there is an office for handling applications for merchant seamen. Tommy is especially looking forward to this boat trip, because as he puts it, "I'm hoping to be a Chaplain some day, and I want to find out if I'll get seasick." If Tommy continues to tackle every project in life with the zest that he's applied to this trip he'll make one of the best Chaplains Uncle Sam has ever had. And I thank you. JACK EDWARDS

What Other Editors Are Thinking

IS THIS DEMOCRATIC? (Wilson Times)

The members of the House of Representatives voted themselves a fat tax reduction. They admit that taxes are too high. But the first to be benefited from a tax cut will be those who represent the people.

Without a recorded vote and with not a dissenting voice, the house agreed to let members of Congress deduct from their federal income tax returns all living expenses in Washington. This was done through an amendment that would establish as a matter of law or tax purposes, the legal residence of a Congressman to be his home state and that living in Washington is a business expense.

Let's look at this from every angle. To begin with, Congress appropriated money to run the offices of the members of the House and Senate. Under the plan by which Congress operates, every representative is on some committee, thereby giving him access to the big staff employed to take care of the detailed committee work. For example, take the agricultural committee with its staff of employees. This takes care of office expenses, or business. Then last year Congress voted a $3,000 maximum living cost deduction. Feeling the pinch again, Congress comes forward with still further deductions, allowing all living expenses while in Washington.

Umstead Turned His Appointment Rumors Into Facts

By LYNN NIBBET

NEWS—Newsmen who have been disposed to complain that conferences with Governor Umstead were not productive of copy had a new experience Monday. The Governor took charges of things from the start, announced emphatically that he had nothing to say about the United States Senate and did not know when he would have; he had no board of conservation and development and did not know when he would have. He launched into a rapid fire monologue rolling off the names of his selections for commissioner of revenue, State treasurer, Superior Court judges and several less important offices.

DISCOUNTED—Advance speculation had discounted the effect of some of the announcements. Reappointment of Eugene Shaw as commissioner of revenue and the naming of Edwin Gill to succeed Brandon Hodges as State Treasurer had been widely predicted, but the Governor's announcement took both items out of the rumor column and put them into the factual report. Retention of Special Judges George B. Patton of Franklin and Susie Sharp of Reidsville had also been forecast with considerable assurance. So had designation of Judge W.H.S. Burgwyn as an emergency Superior Court judge. There were surprises among the other five judicial appointments.

JUDGES—Out of the western circuit, in addition to Judges Patton and Sharp, the Governor named Francis O. Clarkson of Charlotte and Lee Whitmore of Hendersonville. Out of the western circuit he named Hoard H. Hubbard of Clinton, Grover A. Martin of Smithfield and Malcolm C. Paul of Washington. That made four Special Judges from the west, three from the east. But designation of Judge Burgwyn as an emergency judge balances the scales so far as geography is involved. The east has also Emergency Judge Henry A. Grady, who despite his advanced age is one of the most active jurists in the whole state. It is further to be noted that of the 21 regular judges, ten are domiciled in the east, eleven in the west. Ten regular, three special and two emergency judges in the east; eleven regular and four special judges in the west gives each area fifteen.

COMMENTS—In off-side but on record comment Governor Umstead envisioned the conference. He gave brief biographic data concerning all the appointees, new and continued, which tended to show why he had chosen them for the positions and why he had not filled the maximum quota of 12 special judges authorized by the General Assembly. He said the statutes imposed upon him the obligation to determine that more than four special judges, two east and two west, are needed. Because fewer courts are scheduled for July and August than any other months and two emergency judges are available for almost full active duty, he deemed it not necessary at this time to have more than seven of the maximum twelve. If additional judicial manpower is needed later he will provide it.

EMPHATIC—He was very emphatic on one point. The constitution and the statutes empower the Governor to appoint judges under certain circumstances, but once in office the judges can be removed only by impeachment. The Governor cannot "fire" them. He indicated some resentment that letters he had written as personal courtesy to incumbent special judges notifying them they would not be re-appointed had been construed as firing them. Under the law the judges are named for definite terms which in the case of appointed special judges expire at midnight on June 30. Governor Umstead was careful to avoid reference to names of special cases, but several newsmen read into his remarks allusion to the instance of Judge A.R. Crisp abruptly adjourning court upon receipt of notice he would not be reappointed. Some of the special judges appreciated the letter as a personal courtesy. Judge William T. Hatch told your reporter he thought it was a gracious gesture on part of the Governor, all the more appreciated because it was not required.

RELUCTANT—Governor Umstead was so completely in charge of the press conference and covered so fully most of the points raised there was little need for reporter's to ask questions, although during and after his comments he said he would be glad to answer any question asked. One reporter asked about the paroles commission and the answer was prompt: "I haven't gotten around to that yet." The only reluctance manifested in answering a question was when another reporter asked if he had found it difficult to get men to accept appointments as special judges. The Governor stalled for a few

Business Today

Confident Outlook

By ELMER ROESSNER—While business has been far from pessimistic in recent weeks, there has been considerable uneasiness because many forecasters have been saying the economy is at the peak of the boom. This seems to imply that there is no place for it to go but down. However, three recent surveys by organizations definitely on the conservative side indicate that there can be a lot more boom.

The most important of these is the Federal Reserve Board's 1953 survey of consumer buying intentions. It has the weakness that the data were gathered in the first quarter and people can change their minds from April to July. On the other hand, buying patterns in the past have never been far from those indicated in these FRB look-arounds. The Board found that consumers were in more of a buying mood than they had been at the time of the survey in other recent years. The main reasons were that consumers felt themselves better off and that they believed prices are stabilized. These attitudes develop later, and people are more likely to purchase autos and other durable goods, the Board said. It did not go into soft goods.

However, the 22nd annual survey by the Association of Retail Textile Merchants of New York noted that the textile industry had recovered from the lows of mid-1952 and that prospects for the rest of this year were good. It found that first-quarter production of cotton broad woven goods, acetate, nylon and other fabrics of synthetics and silk were above production in the same quarter and, what is more important, that the mill position on unsold stocks and unfilled orders is one of the most comfortable in history for this time of the year. The third survey, by the American Bankers Association, found that the bankers of the country believe that business will continue high for the rest of this year. Bankers believe that inventories are in balance, except among manufacturers in defense work, and that the overall construction industry will continue at present levels, although there may be tapering off of home-building in certain sections. 1952 A DISMAL YEAR. FOR 1 OF 6 PACKERS. Meat packers had a bad 1952, according to a study by Robert Morris Associates, the national association of bank loan officers and credit men. It was the worst year ever for one of the largest packers and only one of the six major packers made more money than in 1951.

Wholesale meat prices on November 1, the end of the fiscal year for most packers, were down 14 per cent from year-ago marks. Prices of by-products fell even more. Tallow, which reached a postwar peak of 27 cents a pound got down to 4 1/2 cents by the end of the year and lard fell to the 1951 price. Hides dropped from 28 1/2 cents to 18 cents.

PROPOSED TAB—FREE SAVINGS FOR ADVERTISING. Considerable interest in advertising circles has been stirred by a proposal of J.K. Lasser, New York tax expert, before the National Industrial Advertising Association.

Mr. Lasser proposed revisions of the tax law to permit every company to take a tax deduction of 5 per cent or more of its sales dollars providing it was put in new noninterest-bearing government bonds. The bonds could be redeemed at any time. If the money was used for advertising or research, it would not be taxed. If it was used for other purposes, a tax would be paid on it when withdrawn. The plan would help companies funds to boost business when the going got rough. Under present laws, profits put into reserves for future use are taxed at regular rates.

Island Paradise For Homefolks

By HAL BOYLE

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Bermuda is a real tourist paradise—but it is a paradise on a long term basis only for the home folks.

Many a visiting American capitalist, on first view, says: "Boy, this is for me—no income tax, no inheritance tax, no sales tax, no big public debt. I think I'll move my money over here and go into business."

But if he investigates, he learns the sad fact that this is a tight little island, and that Bermuda is for the Bermudians. He finds that he can't go to work here unless he has lived in Bermuda for seven years—or gets special permission from the government. He finds that any company that does business here must be at least 60 per cent owned by British stockholders. He finds that only a total of 2,000 acres of the 21-square-mile colony can be owned by non-Bermudians.

He may also be dolefully surprised to learn that property along Front St., the main business thoroughfare, is about as high-priced as footage on Fifth Ave. in New York.

One American tax attorney, whose inquiries disillusioned him on the future of Bermuda as a refuge for the wealthy tax-oppressed, said:

"You have to get an act of Parliament here even to open a hot dog stand." Real financial and political control is held by a dozen or so old Bermuda families—here from 100 to 300 years—known jocularly, even among themselves, as "The Forty Thieves."

Bermuda has known many economic ups and downs in the last three centuries. But some of its first families have over that time held on to fortunes made in waves of wealth from many sources—first tobacco; then salt, then privateering and smuggling, the export of fresh vegetables, prohibition whiskey, and, finally, real estate and tourists.

Today the colony depends for 85 per cent of its trade on tourists, and the old families own or control most of the hotels and shops that cater to them. The wealth is handed down from generation to generation and few sons of the old families migrate. Half a century ago Bermuda was noted for having more old maids per capita than any other place in the world. This was because of a quirk in the inheritance law then.

It provided that, in a family without sons, the property would be divided among the daughters. But if a girl married her share then went back to the other daughters.

This created old maids whose sole sale because: (A) Many a daughter hesitated to trade a steady income for a husband who might not be so steady; and (B) Many a gallant suitor hesitated to wed a wealthy girl who would become a pauper at the altar.

A taxi driver told me: "You can't blame the first families for holding on to what they have, but if you aren't born in one of those families you might as well leave. A poor man doesn't have the same chance to get ahead here as he does in other countries."

But many of those who do migrate elsewhere in search of more opportunity often come back. They miss the leisurely life. After all there is little utter poverty here, no real slums, and a man who is willing to work can usually find a job.

Roughly Eighteen City Blocks Paved During Last Fiscal Year

Approximately 18 city blocks have been paved and an additional two to three blocks give "all-the-way treatment" of paving, curb and gutter during the last fiscal year in Greenville.

This was the report today of City Clerk H.H. Duncan in reviewing work completed over the 12 months since last July 1.

Total costs of the work has amounted to $65,565.84 which has been expended under separate contracts for paving and curb and gutter construction. Of this amount, $41,983.77 is for paving work performed by the White Construction Company of Greenville. The remaining $24,482.07 has gone into curb and gutters for which the Clark Construction Company of Kinston has held the contract.

More than 12,000 feet of paving work in addition to all of Tucker Circle has been completed over the fiscal year, Mr. Duncan reported. This includes the following streets: Washington Street from First to Second, one block; First Street from Grease to Cotanche, three blocks; Evans Street from First to Second, one block; Cotanche Street from First to Second, one block; E.venth Street from Cotanche to Anderson, three blocks; Anderson Street from Eleventh to Eleventh, one block; West Rock Spring Road from Edgewood to Fourteenth, one block; Second Street from Cotanche to Jarvis, four blocks; Library Street from the end of the old pavement to Willow Street, about 500 feet and South Alley from Atlantic to Atlantic, one block.

In addition, pavement has been extended on 302 feet for Clark Street from Dickinson Avenue to Bonner's Lane where curb and gutter had already been laid.

Curb and gutter were put in on both sides of a 280 foot strip of Eastern Street and pavement, curb and gutter were laid on Reads Street between Second and Fourth, two blocks.

Explosion Toll Now 28 Killed

QUATEMALA CITY (UP)—The toll of Tuesday's explosion here rose today to 28 killed and 35 injured, amid reports that the blast was caused by the accidental detonation of a store of explosives.

The explosion wrecked most of a block in southwestern Guatemala City, killing a number of rooming house tenants. Police and firemen were sifting the ruins early today, seeking additional victims.

Optical Houses Note Price Cuts

CHICAGO (UP)—Optical houses in 24 states have reported price reductions in eyeglasses since the 1951 signing of a consent decree barring kickbacks to oculists, the Department of Justice has reported to Federal Court here.

However, the report noted that some doctors answering a department questionnaire said they now were doing their own dealing in eyeglasses. The report said the practice was not spreading much beyond the areas where it is now reported, and said "fully two-thirds" of the doctors who replied indicated they were restricting their practice to "purely professional functions."

The report was an outgrowth of six cases filed in 1946 and 1948 by the Department of Justice under anti-trust statutes. The cases sought to break up the rebate or kickback practice, by which the part of the customer's payment to the doctor who wrote the eye-glass prescription and sent the patient to the dealer.

Saves Spittoon As Symbolic Of A 'Hardier Race'

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—An Army chaplain lovingly polished a battered spittoon today which he salvaged from Canada as a "symbol of a hardier race of men."

Col. Paul H. Maurer, chief chaplain for the Fourth Army area of Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas, said he asked the men's club of Kincairdine, Ont., to send the relic after he read in a news dispatch that the club was disposing of its spittoons.

Maurer's message read: "Men of Kincairdine, do not allow these smokers to destroy those symbols of a hardier race of men. If necessary, please send me one of those spittoons and I'll cherish it."

New Fiscal Year Opens With Plans To Borrow

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Treasury began the 1954 fiscal year today by preparing to borrow upwards of $5,000,000,000.

Officials said red ink financing will begin at once and probably will continue throughout the new fiscal year, which is expected to produce a federal deficit of close to $6,000,000,000.

While that is a far cry from the Eisenhower administration's goal of a balanced budget, Republican officials noted that it would be a considerable improvement over the 1953 fiscal year which ended at midnight.

Final official figures on the fiscal 1953 deficit will not be announced until late today or Thursday, but unofficial estimates range from $8,000,000,000 to $9,000,000,000 with most experts favoring the higher figure. Even the lower figure, however, would be the biggest deficit since World War II.

The yawning gap between the government's 1953 income and outgo has already been bridged by easier Treasury borrowing. But it was learned that the Treasury will soon have to return to the nation's

Typhoon On Way To Food-Stricken Isle

TOKYO (UP)—A typhoon with winds up to 173 miles per hour roared up from the Philippines today posing a new threat to the flood-stricken Japanese island of Kyushu, where recent floods and storms already had left more than 2,000 casualties.

Weather forecasters also warned that a "monsoon front" which dumped a record rainfall on the island earlier was still in the vicinity and might return "in a few days" with more rain.

U. S. Air Force weather forecasters said typhoon "Kil," moving across the Pacific ocean 500 miles east of Luzon, was headed at 14 knots toward Formosa and the China mainland. They said it was entering a "critical area" where it might shift north to strike Japan.

National police headquarters listed 509 persons dead, 1,104 injured and 603 missing from Japan's worst flood. In addition, Kyushu counted 1,159,763 persons homeless, 15,174 homes destroyed, 379,000 acres of farmland ruined and 2,120 boats lost.

Gen. Mark W. Clark today thanked American military "mercy" teams assisting Japanese flood victims.

"By the promptitude with which you acted, your selflessness in risking your own lives to save those of others, and by disregard of your own discomfort and exhaustion, you have shown far better than could any words the true nature of our neighborly sentiments toward the Japanese people," Clark said in his message of congratulations.

WITH LANG

By MELVIN LANG

The unpredictability of baseball has been borne out in recent weeks by the major league teams as they have taken turns in having winning streaks and slumps in successive order.

Although not a surprise to most people in the baseball world, the New York Yankees started the wacky spin by winning eighteen consecutive contests. Milwaukee, the newest addition to the majors, was next in order as the transplanted Braves went on a winning streak of their own and shoved Brooklyn out of first place.

Through Monday's games, New York's lead had been cut to full six games. This would be considered a wide margin in any other league and at any other time, but it seems to be somewhat different when the Yankees are concerned. Casey Stengel's group had an eleven and one-half margin on June 21, but seven consecutive league defeats has rapidly narrowed the count.

Cleveland, with three of the Yankee defeats marked to its credit, is in a good position at the present time to make a tight race in the American League.

The Indians have six games with last place Detroit on tap this week. These tough games will follow, however, when Cleveland plays host to the tough Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox, only a half game behind Cleveland, are another team that is rapidly moving into challenge New York for the league lead. The White Sox have two games with seventh place, but sometimes rough, St. Louis

Dodgers, Yanks Flounder As Braves Take Redlegs

NEW YORK (UP)—Granny Hamner called it a "catch fire" ball game and Manager Steve O'Neill of the Phils, who has seen many a thrilling late inning rally, agreed today that the 10-9 10th inning victory over Brooklyn "could start us on our way."

"I said all along that if we could just stick in fairly close until Curt Simmons can pitch again, we might get enough of a lift to move right up to the top," said O'Neill.

"The kind of a league it is this year, any team which gets hot now for a stretch can win," whooped Hamner, who had driven in four runs with a homer and double.

"We're hitting and I think we've got the pitching."

It was, all hands agreed, their most important triumph of the year. The Phils, though still in fourth place three games back, gained on all the leaders. They won it the hard way on a two-run single by rookie Ted Kazanski, plus a deft squeeze bunt by Richie Ashburn, which netted them three runs in the 10th to cushion against a last ditch Dodger rally that produced two tallies on a bases-loaded two-out single by Gil Hodges.

The Phils had another big rally in the seventh when pitcher Steve Riddick hit a homer and Hamner came through with a three-run round tripper and they made their margin 7-5 in the eighth when winning pitcher Jim Konstanty singled in a run. But Wayne Belardi's homer, Hodges' triple, and Carl Furillo's scoring fly tied it at 7-7 for the Brooks in the ninth and the Phils had to go all out for victory in the 10th.

Milwaukee's eight-game losing streak finally came to an end in the second game of a double bill at Cincinnati when Eddie Mathews hit his 22nd homer in the 10th with a man on base for a 6-4 victory. Cincy took the opener, 6-3 on homers by Andy Seminick, Jim Greengrass and Bob Borkowski in the late innings. Cincy's victory was its sixth. In a row, but the Milwaukee win ended the streak and put the Braves within half a game of the top-dog Dodgers.

Trouble still plagued the Yankees, who blew a 4-3 lead at Boston with two out in the ninth when Sammy White hit a two-run homer to give the Red Sox a 5-4 victory and extend New York's losing streak to eight games. George Kell also homered for Boston and Allie Reynolds went down to his fourth defeat. Andy Carey and Yogi Berra homered for the Yankees.

Cleveland moved to within five games of the panicky world champions with a labor saving, five-inning 6-4 victory in a rain halted game at Detroit. Al Rosen and Dale Mitchell each hit two run homers for the victory margin as Art Houtteman beat his ex-mates for his fourth victory. Detroit scored on a homer by Johnny Pesky just before the rains came.

Bob Porterfield was Mr. Victory all by himself at Philadelphia when he pitched his fourth shutout, a six-hit 3-0 victory for Washington in which he also delivered a home run. It was his ninth triumph.

The Cubs hit into the third-place Cardinals again for 18 hits and handed them their third straight loss, 10-3 as the Phils moved within half a game of the St. Louisans. Howie Pollet, who gave up five hits before tiring in the heat, won his third game against his old mates as Ralph Kiner connected for his 16th home run. He got three of the Chicago hits. Frank Baumholtz collected four.

Murry Dickson pitched six-hit ball and Cal Abrams started him off right with a first inning homer as the Pirates topped the Giants, 3-1.

It is estimated that the leaning Tower of Pisa tilts .04 of an inch farther each year.

Satterfield Seeks Chance At Crown

CHICAGO (UP)—Hard punching Bob Satterfield will go out of his weight class tonight to try to earn a battle for a championship with light-heavyweight titleholder Archie Moore.

Satterfield, a 27-year-old Chicago scrapper who has scored 23 knockouts in winning 30 of his 46 pro fights, will tangle with Pittsburgh heavyweight, Bob Baker, in the television scrap from the Chicago Stadium.

Baker, expected to weigh about 215 pounds compared to around 180 for Satterfield, was a 7-5 favorite for the brawl, but he had less to lose than Satterfield.

Should Baker win the battle, he would only strengthen his claims on the fourth ranking among the heavyweights, behind champion Rocky Marciano, and challengers Eckard Charles, Roland LaStarza and Jersey Joe Walcott.

But Satterfield then would return to the trial horse role he has fulfilled for the past two years, and continue unranked in the top 10 light-heavyweights.

The only match in prospect for Satterfield, should he win, would be against Moore. His manager, Ike Bernstein, claimed to have a signed contract for a title scrap coinciding upon winning tonight.

A Baker win probably would get him a battle against the winner of the Tommy Harrison-Dan Bucceroni bout slated here July 22. But Bucceroni ranks fifth among the heavyweights and Harrison sixth and Baker couldn't help his title hopes much by beating either of them.

Baker has been beaten only twice in 35 pro fights, and has won his last five outings. Satterfield has lost 14 battles, most of them by knockouts, and has been tabbed as "glass jawed."

Nats Purchase Keith Thomas

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Washington Senators' roster had a "new look" today with the addition of outfielder Keith Thomas, who was purchased from the Philadelphia A's, and three players acquired in a swap with the Chattanooga Lookouts.

No purchase price was announced for Thomas, who hit .260 for the A's in 75 games last year and 122 in 24 games this year. At the same time, the Senators sold outfielder Carmen Mauro to the Athletics for an undisclosed sum.

Options to the Lookouts were pitcher Julio Moreno and catcher Bob Oldis, and released outright to the same club was infielder Gene Verble. Called up were shortstop Jerry Snyder, catcher Frank Sacka, and pitcher Jerry Lane.

Lions Win 8-7, Move Into First; Jaycees Lose Game

An 8-7 victory over the Moose pushed the Lions into first place in the Little League yesterday afternoon. The Exchangees handed the Jaycees a 10-4 loss in the second game of the doubleheader.

The victory places the Lions in undisputed first place of the league with a 4-3 record. Playing a make-up game for one rained out Monday afternoon, the Lions scored their runs in the first two innings and held on in the later stages to win.

Six runs in the second inning won for the Lions. Only two hits, a single by Tadpole Cates and a double by Jimmy Churchill. Four walks and a hit batsman led the Moose downfall.

A three-run rally in the fourth by the Moose was cut short when John Adams was retired on a fly to leftfield. With one away in the inning, Stocks singled and Ken Joyner was safe on an infield error. Leon Stocks walked and Lonnie Finch singled to bring the third runner home.

The Exchangees exploded for six runs in the fifth inning to take their 10-4 game in the nightcap. A double by Dick Evans highlighted the frame. Singles were collected by Billy James, Tommy Braxton, and Edward Buchanan.

The Rulanes continued on their winning ways last night by dropping the Ford-O-Matics, 7-3, in the first game of a Pony League twin-bill. The second game went to the Red Men, 6-2, over Bright Leaf.

Four runs in the first inning won the contest for the Rulanes. James Hudson started the frame by walking, and immediately advanced on a single by Mack Roebuck. Ike Riddick, who hurled the first three innings, was safe on an error. Oscar Stoneham walked but was cut down catcher to third baseman. Charlie Smith went out third to first. Mike Riddick walked, as did Hudson Miller. Charles Catlette finished the scoring by doubling off Billy Fields.

The Red Men slugged out their win over Bright Leaf. Donald Patrick and Roy Martin each slammed a home run for the winners. Patrick's blow came in the fourth and Martin hit his four bagger in the second. No one was on the base at the time of either hit.

The winners scored three runs in the first to clinch the contest. Successive walks to Patrick, Jackie Spain, and Jim McGee loaded the bases with one out. Wake Jordan fanned, and Johnny Harrison fled out to second base. John Tripp singled to bring the runners home.

To Women Who Have Changed Shampoos During the Past Year

If you have changed your shampoo in the past twelve months, you've had lots of company. For like yourself, literally millions of women are constantly switching from one brand to another, almost all with unhappy results.

Of course there's a good reason for all this coast-to-coast shopping around—two reasons, in fact:

1. A great many shampoos now on the market are so-called "all-purpose" shampoos.
2. Hair conditions differ just as skin conditions do. And each requires a different type of shampoo.

After all, what is an "all-purpose" shampoo but a shampoo that tries to be a "jack of all trades." The result: It ends up by being "master of none." On the other hand, your hair is as individual as your skin. Your hair is either dry, oily, normal or tinted and bleached. So how could any "all-purpose" shampoo be right for all these types of hair?

There is only one sensible, scientific solution to the shampoo problem: 4 DIFFERENT SHAMPOOS FOR THE FOUR TYPES OF HAIR.

These 4 custom-formulated shampoos are now available for the first time. They bear a famous name—"Aquamarine Shampoo" by Revlon. While each is expressly formulated for a different type of hair, all work their wonders through a new exclusive shampoo principle—magnetism.

An uncanny new shampoo ingredient, discovered by Revlon chemists, called "Magnetol" gives you complete control over your hair immediately after shampooing. It's almost as though each bottle came complete with a hairdresser: your hair is so amazingly manageable.

Here's how "Magnetol" works: As you probably know, when your hair is thoroughly cleaned, many important natural oils have been removed along with the dirt. "Magnetol" replaces these oils, because this incredible ingredient is magnetically attracted to hair. In other words, clean hair actually attracts "Magnetol" to it, and thus "Magnetol" practically becomes part of the hair shaft, so that your hair has more "body" immediately after your shampoo. In fact, it becomes as beautifully manageable in minutes as it would be two or three days after an ordinary shampoo!

This we promise: you'll never again say, "I just washed my hair and I can't do a thing with it."

You know which type of hair you have. Every woman does. Now at long last you can do something positive about it. Simply ask for Aquamarine Shampoo for Dry Hair... Oily Hair... Normal Hair... or Tinted and Bleached Hair. You'll get what you've always been looking for—a perfect shampoo for your type of hair... a shampoo that cannot fail to give you shimmering, beautifully clean hair, alive with dancing highlights... hair that is manageable instantly instead of 3 or 3 days later.

Unbreakable plastic bottle — so safe, so economical to use. $1.28 each. No Federal tax.

Usual Warnings Unheard By 50 Million Motorists

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Fifty million American motorists are warned before each national holiday of the hazards of the road at such times.

And just about that many motorists disregard the sound advice, which is, "don't drive."

L. S. Harris, executive director of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators, realizes that many times he is wasting his breath. But he says what he has said many times before: "immobility is the best holiday policy."

Last year over the July 4 holiday, Harris said 348 persons died on the highways. And he adds: "In view of the inexorably intolerable and dangerous traffic conditions when additional millions of drivers take to the highways—many with rusty driving skills—it would be wiser to select holiday entertainment which can be reached afoot or by public transportation."

Harris admits that a lot of people will insist on driving anyhow. He thinks that these folks would greatly "improve" their chances for survival if they would back off a few paces and make three frank admissions to themselves:

1. Admit that your car is not the fastest on the road. Don't try to impress the passengers in your car by attempting to pass everything.

2. Admit it when you are tired. Stop every two hours for a cup of coffee and a muscle stretch. Instead of trying to prove you are an iron man.

3. Admit that you are late. And don't try to make up lost time by breaking speed and safety regulations.

Incidentally, the Auto Manufacturers Association wants Congress to adopt a 10-year road modernization program. They think it would help to solve the nation's congested traffic and save a lot of lives.

James Cope, vice president of Chrysler, has presented the AMA proposal to a House committee.

Overcrowded and unsafe roads and streets, he says, cost the motoring public at least $2,000,000,000 each year. "AMA studies," he adds, "also show that two in five traffic deaths could be avoided if needed improvements were made in roads and streets. At the current rate, this would mean 15,000 lives annually."

Cope thinks it costs far more today to tolerate unsafe and inadequate highways than it would cost to finance a road system which would eliminate the economic losses and accident penalties resulting from the lack of needed road improvements.

Some homes in Greece of 432 B.C. closely resembled modern "ranch" type dwellings.

Street Clean-Up Yielded Plenty

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—A Federal District Commission foreman, fed up with waiting for the city to clean the street in front of the Parliament buildings, put his own men to work on the job.

The clean-up yielded: A brassiere, a dead cat, the tail of a squirrel, a carton of revolver cartridges, an empty cement sack and a bale of wastepaper that had fallen off a truck.

May Fatalities Below Last Year

CHICAGO (UP)—The nation suffered 3,000 traffic fatalities in May, 2 per cent below the same month a year ago but more than for any previous month in 1963, the National Safety Council said today.

It was the first month this year in which traffic deaths have been below the corresponding period of last year. The May, 1962, total of deaths was 3,150. There were 3,000 deaths in April.

Council President Ned Dearborn warned that traffic deaths have increased 160 a month since February with the advent of spring and summer weather.

Car Sank With Load Of Coins

St. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—When city hall elevator operator Harry Barrett piled 26 sacks of nickels and pennies—$6,150 in all—in his car at the second floor landing, the weight, more than 2,000 pounds, sent the car sinking to the subbasement.

It took 10 minutes to get the elevator and coin cargo back up to the unloading platform.

Anti-Trust Suit Proves Expensive

CHICAGO (UP)—The Du Pont anti-trust trial has cost the defense a hotel bill estimated at $750,000 and has given Federal Judge J. Walter Labay 2,000,000 words of legal transcript to study this summer.

The overall cost of conducting the trial has run into the millions, but no detailed estimate is available.

The legal marathon began last Nov. 18 and was recessed for the summer last Monday. The government has until Oct. 1 to file briefs and the defense until Nov. 16. Final arguments will be heard Dec. 7.

The government charge that E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. sought to create a monopoly and a protected market for its products through its control of General Motors and U. S. Rubber.

Labay, hearing the case without a jury, has listened to the testimony of 49 witnesses in all. The transcript fills 7,000 pages. Exhibits, including letters and records of the three industrial giants, total 2,357.

The trial has been interrupted by several recesses, but it has consumed 91 days in the courtroom.

'Pay-Off Day' For National Carbon Plant Employees 2-Year Saving Plan

The employees of National Carbon Company, a Division of Union Carbide Corporation here, received checks today totaling $38,250.29 at the termination of a two-year Savings Plan made available by the corporation.

Of the amount, the employees themselves saved $29,893.50. The Corporation added $8,356.79. Checks were distributed to 113 men and women who participated in the Plan.

During the period of this Plan, which went into effect on July 1, 1951, the Corporation put up 30 cents for every dollar deposited by an employee with three or more years of service. For two-year employees, the Corporation paid in 20 cents for each dollar, and 10 cents was added to each dollar deposited by one-year employees.

According to A. W. Bryan, Superintendent, the Savings Plan which has just matured was the seventh such plan made available by Divisions and Units of Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation since July, 1935. A new savings plan starts today.

Wage Rate Hike At DuPont Plant

It was announced today at the local DuPont plant that hourly wage rates of all employees were increased effective June 29.

This adjustment in wage rates, it was stated, is being made at this time in order to maintain the employees relative wage position as compared with rates paid for comparable work in industry.

The wage increase varies from four-and-one-half cents per hour to nine-and-one-half cents per hour depending upon the job classification of each employee, with higher skilled employees receiving the larger increase.

Non-supervisory salaried employees will receive a comparable increase effective July 1.

The plant, which produces "Dacron" polyester fiber is now operating about one-half capacity with construction work on the balance of the plant proceeding according to schedule, an official said. Approximately 1,800 persons are now employed by the plant, many of whom are in training for the start up of additional lines as soon as they are completed.

No Early Relief In Drought Area

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U. S. Weather Bureau said today that the drought-stricken Southwest and Central Plains areas probably will get no relief in the next 30 days.

In its 30-day weather outlook for July the bureau said "substantial drought-relieving rains are expected from Central Texas eastward to the Appalachians."

"But dry conditions," it added, "are expected to persist from the Southwest into the Central Plains." These same areas also will be hotter than usual, the outlook said.

The bureau predicted "near normal" rainfall for "the northern tier of states, the Ohio Valley, and the Middle and South Atlantic states."

Warmer than seasonal weather is expected over the Central and Western parts of the country "except for slightly cooler than normal along the West Coast."

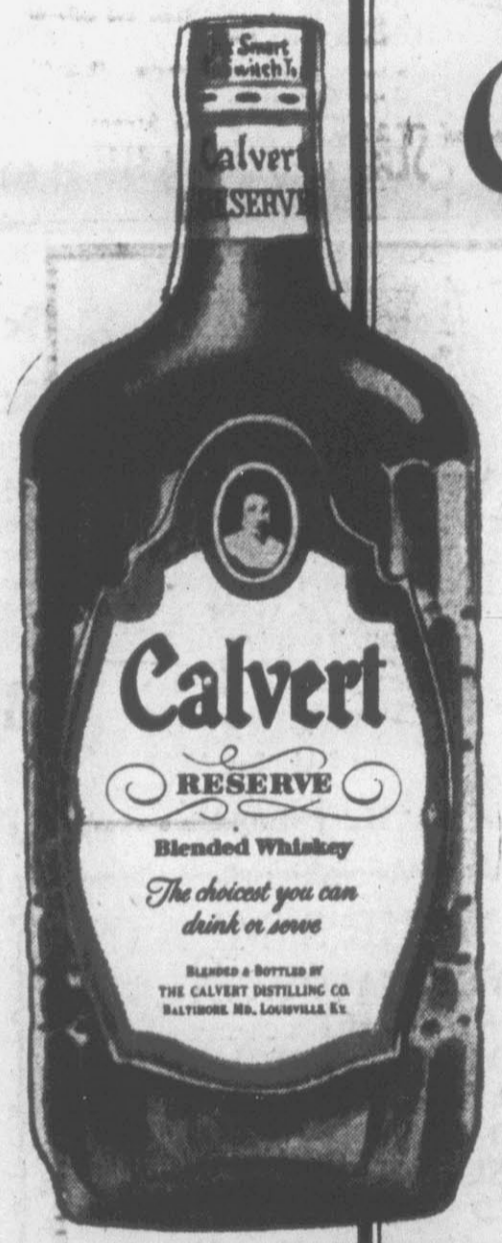

"Greatest departures from the warm side of normal are expected over the Southwest and Central Plains," the weather bureau said. Temperatures are expected to average "not far from normal in the Northeast and slightly cooler than normal in the Southeast."

'Antibodies' Are Secret Of Struggle Against Polio

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP)—Gamma globulin, one of the many components of blood, contains the "antibodies" with which the body fights off invasions of disease-causing microorganisms such as viruses.

and after the invader is routed, they remain in the blood for a long time.
That is why a person who has had a virus-caused disease once, never has it soon again. If any micro-organism of that stripe should invade, a host of antibodies is waiting to strangle it. The person is made immune by the antibodies, but only to the disease whose micro-organism stimulated their production.

When it comes to Molding a Youngster's Future...
there's nothing like MONEY-IN-THE-BANK.
If you have children, open thrift accounts here for them. Teach them to save regularly. As each bank balance mounts, you'll see a successful life-pattern "taking shape" for them. Start now!

caused by three different micro-organisms or viruses, the antibodies which protect against one, are no good against the other two. But all three viruses are extremely inefficient as disease causers.

Hardly one person in a thousand who is invaded by one or another of the polio viruses could recognize it. Nevertheless, the invasion produces antibodies which are in the blood stream for many years, perhaps for the life of the person.

There being so many thousands upon thousands of these carriers of antibodies against polio micro-organisms it was reasoned that if you took their blood and mixed it all together, as is done in the Red Cross blood pools, and then extracted the gamma globulin from the pool, you'd have a substance teeming with antibodies to all three of the polio micro-organisms.

Driver Termed Seriously Hurt In Car Collision

One person was seriously injured and three others slightly injured in a two-car accident at Myrtle and Paris Avenues this morning at 8:30.

Seriously injured was C. B. Galloway, 41, Greenville, who was rushed to Pitt Memorial Hospital with severe head injuries.

Galloway was taken into surgery minutes after his arrival at the hospital's emergency room.

Investigating officer W. C. Flake reported that the man's injuries were listed by hospital officials to be "very serious." The man suffered head lacerations, facial injuries and possible internal injuries.

Galloway's car was traveling North on Paris Avenue at the time it was involved in a collision with a car going East on Myrtle Avenue, driven by Billy Dunn of Oakmont, Greenville.

The force of the impact caused the Galloway automobile to go into a skid and hit a large oak tree, heavily damaging the car. Mr. Galloway was thrown from the car, hitting the tree and pavement.

Flake said that due to the condition of Galloway he had been unable to talk with him in regard to the accident. He reported that Billy Dunn stated he entered the intersection and did not see the car until it was a few feet from him and was unable to stop.

Passengers in the car driven by Dunn received minor injuries. They were Jerry Phillips and Gene Hudson. They were treated at Pitt Memorial and released.

Investigation of the accident is in progress.

Delegates from all areas of the state gathered in Greenville Monday and Tuesday for the Sixth Annual meeting of the North Carolina Negro Business League which centered around the theme "Harnessing the Negro Market in North Carolina."

Approximately 50 delegates, representing 10 cities from Durham to New Bern, registered for the two-day session held at Eppes High School.

The theme of the meeting was developed by speakers from Greenville and other locales. Awards were presented, workshops held, and officers elected as a part of the meeting.

Six business firms in the state were given citations for outstanding and meritorious service during the past year in memory of the late Dr. C. C. Spaulding. Those firms honored were: Platter Shop, Fayetteville; Service Printing Company, Durham; Home Drug Store, Clinton; Dr. Thompson's Clinic, Chapel Hill; D. D. Garrett Insurance Agency, Greenville; and Hugh Floriss, Ayden.

Gwendolyn Fair of Wilson was awarded a $100 scholarship by the N. C. Negro Business League.

Officers elected included the following: A. J. Turner, Raleigh, president; A. H. Bryant, Rocky Mount, first vice-president; Mrs. N. R. Dupree, Greenville, second vice-president; Mrs. J. DeShazor Jackson, Durham, secretary; Mrs. Nannie Thompson, Goldsboro, assistant secretary; T. R. Speight, Durham, treasurer; J. J. Henderson, Durham, board chairman; and D. D. Garrett, Greenville, public relations director.

In carrying out the meeting's theme, J. A. Ezzell of Clinton stressed "quality in service" before the group and Mrs. Fannie Jackson of Greenville said that the Negroes must apply themselves to harness the market.

J. J. Henderson of Durham carried out the theme in the form of a statistical report, saying that the potentialities of the communities must be analyzed and must set out to do business with other groups. In his talk, D. D. Garrett of Greenville pointed out three items needed by the Negroes: pride, economic security and faith in God.

For local ABC enforcers, the still yesterday was the second within two days which officers had uncovered.
