Large Group To Attend Gathering

Greenville will be represented by a delegation of forty at the International Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses, Yankee Stadium, New York City, Frank A. Julian, presiding minister here and head of the delegation, announced today that the group will travel by cars to join more than 125,000 other witnesses of Jehovah in their 8-day convention opening July 19.
Julian pointed out that Jehovah's witnesses are coming from every state in the Union and nearly 100 countries to participate in the largest religious convention ever to be held in America. Charter planes carrying delegates from Africa, Europe and Latin America will converge on New York. Large delegations from Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and the Orient are already on the high seas. Some 18,000 Canadians are expected.
"It is significant in this materialistic age," Mr. Julian said, "that people will spend millions of dollars for the privilege of assembling together to worship Jehovah God. It will be a feast for the mind on spiritual food. True faith in God is not declining. Jehovah's witnesses annually report a world-wide increase of about 20 per cent in the number preaching. We expect thousands more will be baptized at the convention."

Cases Heard In Police Court

In Police Court yesterday, Judge Charles H. Wheabee found probable cause in the case in which Jesse Lee Willis, Negro, is charged with burglary.

The court sent the case up to Superior Court. Willis is being held in jail. Testimony was that Willis broke into the home of Mrs. Ella Beaman, on Cherry street, during the night. The woman signed the warrant.

Annie Mae Edwards Buck, disorderly conduct and profane language, case not passed with leave.

Speeding: Aaron G. Tyson, $15; Troy L. Strickland, $25, costs deducted.

Samuel D. Crisp was found not guilty of improper turning.

Willie Staton, assault on a female (his wife), was not guilty. Prosecuting witness failed to testify against the defendant and the court taxed the woman with court costs.

David Reese, disorderly conduct, 30 days in jail, suspended on payment of $10, and the judgment provides that he is not to go on the premises of Wiley Norcott.

Mary L. Rossie, failure to stop at a traffic light, case continued to.

Drun k: Roland Tyson, pryer for judgment continued on payment of $20, costs deducted. The court ordered his probation order revoked; Thelma Marie Williams, case not passed.

The next session of Police Court will be held Monday, July 12.

Reading Conference To Open At ECC On July 7

The annual reading conference sponsored by East Carolina College will be held at the Training School auditorium on the campus Tuesday, July 7, beginning at 9:30 a. m. The conference theme will stress the "how's" of improving instruction in reading in the public schools of North Carolina.

The morning session will include a symposium by representatives from junior and senior high schools who will discuss informally the reading weaknesses observed in student content areas as English, science, mathematics, history, health, and physical education. H. H. Bullock, superintendent of Lenoir County schools, will act as chairman; and eight public school teachers from various parts of the state will participate.

A responding panel will have as speakers supervising teachers from the East Carolina College Training School. Frances Wahl, Training School principal, will serve as chairman. Issues raised by participants in the preceding symposium will be discussed.

The afternoon session at 2 o'clock will begin with comments by Dean Lee W. Jenkins of East Carolina and Dr. J. K. Long, head of the college department of education. They will speak on the topic "Looking Forward in Educational Service."

Special demonstration sessions will follow. These have been planned to show graphically how elementary and high school teachers may improve their instructional programs through emphasis upon certain "basic minimums" of instruction and more carefully planned continuity.

An evening session at 7 o'clock in the parlors of the Flanagan building will bring together representatives of state and private teacher-training institutions, school administrators and teachers, and members of the State Department of Public Instruction. Informal discussion will center attention on needed emphasis and continuity in the instructional program in reading.

Art Mooney Will Be Here July 23

Art Mooney, famed as "That Genial Irish Gentleman," will bring his band to East Carolina College Thursday, July 23, for a concert and dance. The entertainment will be sponsored by the Student Government Association of the college and will be attended by students and their guests.

S. Rudolph Alexander of Goldsboro, SGA president, is in charge of arrangements for the appearance of the nationally known name band on the campus and has announced plans for the evening's program in the Wright auditorium. A concert will be given from 8 to 9 o'clock. Dancing will follow from 9:30 until 11:45.

Few band leaders on the American musical scene have created such a fervor of excitement as Art Mooney. His recording of "I'm Looking Over a Four Leaf Clover" became an outstanding success. It won for him top position in every type of music poll and gave him preeminence in the band world.

The Mooney band has broadcast over the National Broadcasting System, the Mutual Network, and the Columbia Broadcasting System. Theatre appearances have won the group popularity in New York, Detroit, Cleveland, and other cities. Mooney and his band have also played in many of the supper clubs and hotels of this country.

News From Ballards

By MRS. G. S. NICHOLS

Mrs. Myrtle Ruth Tyson was hostess at her home to the June meeting of The Women's Auxiliary of the Piney Grove Baptist Church. The meeting opened with the group singing "Savior Like A Shepherd Lead Us," followed by a prayer. The Bible reading was from 2nd Timothy and was given by Mrs. Myrtle Ruth Tyson who also presented the program on "The Light of Truth Shines on Our Youth." There were four topics — "Hannah a Christian Mother," "Noah A Christian Father," "Isaac an Obedient Son," and "Do Not Sin Against the Child." The main theme of their program was a message to the women to see that children were taught the truth as given in God's word and also to live these truths in our lives so they can see the Christian light shine through us.

This was a very enlightening and informative program and was well presented. She closed with the thought that the evangelized world of tomorrow is dependent upon the missionary zeal in the hearts and lives of the youth of today. Mrs. Clarence Little presided at the business session and several matters of importance were discussed.

There were nineteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Lena Kinsaul and Mrs. Laura Crawford present. We were glad to add Mrs. Kinsaul's name to the roll. At the following hour the hostess served delicious punch, cookies, sandwiches and roasted nuts.

During the 2nd week in June the best Daily Vacation Bible School was held in the history of the Piney Grove Church with an average daily attendance of 82. Mrs. Sallie Little assisted by Mrs. Evelyn Nobles conducted the school and the teachers were Mesdames Clarence Little, Harry Avery, Lester Worthington, Peggy Mills, Bettie Sue Forest, Mildred Case and Wyatt Tyson. The women also had a class and studied the mission books for the year. There was an average attendance of 10 in the class each day and the book was presented by Mesdames Myrtle Ruth Mills, Mildred Nichols and Myrtle Ruth Tyson with discussions in the class. Refreshments were served each afternoon by the members of the Auxiliary. Each afternoon the devotional was given by one of the children's classes.

The past 2nd Sunday was Quarterly meeting at the church and Rev. and Mrs. Hinant were guests during the weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Worthington and Mr. and Mrs. Moye.

Mrs. James E. Stokes and daughter, Linda, arrived from Falk Church, Va., where Mrs. Stokes has been teaching, last week to spend the summer at the home of her mother, Mrs. Mamie R. Holoway.

C. C. Harris attended a meeting of N. C. County Commissioner's in Asheville last week. He was accompanied by Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Carlton Hyman and little son, Clifton are spending several days with her mother, Mrs. Ray Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Barber and family and Mr. and Mrs. Dupree Tolar and family attended a barbecue chicken supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mazingo near Snow Hill.

After spending several days as a guest of Mrs. E. M. Foster at Ocean View, Va., Miss Mary Nichols of Washington, D. C. arrived home Wednesday evening for a few days visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Nichols.

Little Rita Reavis of Enfield is spending several days with her grandmother Mrs. C. C. Harris.

Mrs. Ike Joyner and son, Doug, visited Mrs. Henry Flake in Greenville Sunday afternoon.

Little Billie G. Oglesby of Clinton visited his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Jones last week.

Cayton-Stox Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

In a ceremony marked with dignity and simplicity, Miss Mamie Ruth Stox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tyree Stox of Winterville, became the bride of Wilbur Cortlyou Cayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Cayton, also of Winterville.

The rites were performed in the Winterville Free Will Baptist Church on Sunday, June 28, at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon. The Rev. N. B. Beaman, pastor of the bride, officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The church was decorated with its background of Oregon fern. Arrangements of white gladioli, lilies, carnations and mums surrounded the altar and the soft glow of tapers in candelabra lighted the wedding scene. The pews, reserved for the two families, were marked with white gladioli and candles.

Mrs. Guy H. Corbett of Ayden, pianist, rendered a program of musical music. Mrs. William May of Winterville, soloist, sang "Because" and "Oh Promise Me." As the couple knelt for prayer, "Oh Perfect Love" was sung, and the traditional marches were used.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a full length gown of lace and nylon tulle with fitted Chantilly lace jacket which had long tight sleeves ending in a point on the hand. The skirt was made of a similar material. Her fingertip veil of Chantilly lace was fastened to a beaded and seed pearl crown. She carried a white satin Bible, topped with a purple throated orchid and showered with stephanotis and white satin streamers.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Marvin Mills, sister of the groom, who wore a full length dress of coronation blue taffeta and nylon net, designed with a strapless bodice, taffeta jacket and a bouffant skirt of taffeta and net. Her matching headress was a taffeta caplet, and she carried a colonial bouquet tied with satin ribbon.

Miss Laverne Cayton, cousin of the groom of Winterville, was flower girl and was dressed in pink net and taffeta of similar style. She carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Hugh Allen Stox, brother of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Chester Stox of Ayden was best man and the ushers were Johnnie Stox of Winterville and Dallas Cherry of Ayden.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of French blue lace with white accessories. Her corsage was a purple orchid. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in an aqua syntesia rayon and nylon outfit with white accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

Immediately following the wedding the bride's parents entertained at a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Stox.

Rev. and Mrs. N. D. Beaman greeted the guests and introduced them to the members of the wedding party and parents of the groom.

The guests were registered by Miss Betsy Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Stox invited them into the dining room where Mrs. Jimmy Stox poured punch and Misses Dorcas and Arlene Cayton served bread, cakes, salted nuts and mints. The table was covered with an imported lace cloth, centered with a three tiered wedding cake which was topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked with a floral arrangement and burning tapers in silver candelabra.

Mrs. Lyman McRoy and Mrs. Guy Corbett heard the goodbyes.

For the wedding trip the bride changed to a navy blue nylon dress, with a white picture hat and other matching accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her Bible.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and since her graduation she has been employed at Pitt Memorial Hospital in Greenville.

The groom also attended Winterville High School and is a vel-

A Wide Open Race For The Senate Post

Though Governor Umstead has indicated he is in no hurry to name a successor to the late Senator Willis Smith, it is apparent that aspirants to the Senate post are letting no grass grow under their feet.

While the days since Senator Smith's death have been relatively few, the list of possible appointees kept by the governor's office has swelled to a considerable number. It is still growing day-by-day and probably will continue to grow for some time.

Obviously some of the men who have been endorsed for the office Senator Smith held are considered on the inside track

Play It Safe

On July Fourth

On the eve of the July 4th holiday, motorists throughout the United States are hearing warnings about the death, suffering and injury which will lurk along the highways during the coming week-end.

As usual, most of the warnings are falling on deaf ears. People know it's dangerous to drive on holiday week-ends in the United States. Yet, most are willing to take the chance for a few days away from home.

This week-end, motorists will be in one of the most dangerous traffic jams of the year. It is estimated 40 million motor vehicles will be on the highways during the week-end, and they will travel close to four billion miles. What the toll in life and limb will be for the gala week-end of travel is yet to be seen.

The grim task of counting the dead and injured in highway accidents will begin across the nation Friday night. Last year the holiday cost 348 lives in highway accidents, and countless hundreds of persons injured in addition to thousands upon thousands of dollars worth of property damage.

July 4th has become a big holiday for everyone except highway patrolmen and undertakers.

This year the National Safety Council has issued a simple, but meaningful warning to those who travel away from home for the holiday week-end: "Play safe on the Fourth — be alive on the fifth!"

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
EVERYBODY IS IMPORTANT
There is nothing which raises us to heights of dignity and grandeur so much as doing the feeling that we are needed. People who cease to feel they are needed either become bitter or wither up and die.

Many a man has lived a life of supreme wedded bliss although his marriage consisted in little more than taking care of a delicate, invalid wife. This responsibility and the feeling that he was needed appeared to have raised him up and given him nobility. It compensated for all the sacrifice and deprivation involved in his wife's condition.

Mothers work their fingers' ends off for children, and continue to do so until they are old and broken. There is mother-love behind this—the greatest force in the world—but there is also the stimulating experience of knowing that one is desperately needed.

Above everything else we must learn how to serve other people, but it is almost equally important that we learn how to accept gratefully the loving service which others offer us. Nothing will kill the spirit of a true man or woman so much as to be repulsed and given the feeling that he or she can contribute nothing to the life of the loved one or to the welfare of a social group or a community.

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Governor Frank G. Clement of Tennessee has been conducting a nationwide lobby drive for Federal funds for the Tennessee Valley Authority that matches the high-pressure practices so frequently charged against the nation's greatest corporations. Yet he has not registered as a special pleader seeking to influence legislation, as provided by law.

The Chief Executive of Andrew Jackson's State has not limited his begging letters to members of Congress in his effort to force the Senate to restore $61,000,000 of TVA appropriations eliminated by the House. He has tried to mobilize the members of State Legislatures throughout the country, urging them to bring pressure on Congress.

He denounces the "power lobbyists" as responsible for the cuts which, he adds, will "paralyze" the Tennessee Valley and "cripple" its natural resources. In letters to politicians and local legislators of almost every state he begs them to "come to the rescue of the Tennessee Valley."

FURTHER ACTIVITIES—But the Clement program of larger appropriations for his area embraces far more extensive activities. The Tennessee Railroad and Utilities Commission has implored similar action in every state to memorialize Congress in favor of more money than the House has allowed. Many have responded favorably, but quite a number of recalcitrant states have been denounced as "shameful and humiliating."

Governor Clement, unfortunately for him, implores State legislators unknown to him, obtaining names from an annual volume published by the Council of State Governments.

A several instances, he wrote to industrialists and public utility representatives who agree with President Truman that TVA is an example of "creeping socialism." Their replies are hardly printable.

ANOTHER TVA LOBBY—In addition to these operations directed by Governor Clement, there is another TVA lobby located here. It is known as the Tennessee Valley Public Power Association. It is financed by the municipalities and cooperatives in the

with the governor's mansion, while others have an extremely remote chance of being named to the Senate post.

Even so, with the many names before the governor already, it is a wide open race for the appointment.

There are two principal factors which apparently are to be considered in selecting the man for the junior Senator from North Carolina. First of all the man must be a person capable of adequately representing North Carolina in the highest legislative body in the land. Secondly, it seems from Raleigh reports, the man who is appointed by Governor Umstead will have to be sufficiently formidable in state politics to withstand an anticipated political onslaught by former Governor Kerr Scott next year when election time rolls around.

Although the former governor has not said specifically he will seek the office in the 1954 election, he is being considered a candidate for the post in the Democratic primary next May.

Another factor already has been settled by the Governor. He has said the successor to Governor Umstead will come from the Eastern part of the state, and that he considers the east-west dividing line in North Carolina the eastern boundary of Orange County.

Tough Road Ahead For

Careless Drivers

Motorists who are afflicted with an habitual "heavy foot" on the accelerator in North Carolina are likely to find the going tough in coming months.

Yesterday a new highway regulation passed by the 1953 General Assembly became effective. It provides a driver convicted of speeding more than 70 miles per hour will automatically lose his driver's license for at least 30 days.

That regulation, coupled with the promise of the new Motor Vehicles Commissioner that highway patrolmen are to adhere to a stricter policy in enforcing highway regulations, points to trouble ahead for speeders or others who have a habit of overlooking "minor" safety regulations when they are behind the wheel.

North Carolina's highway record is appalling. Few will debate the point. A "get tough" policy by the highway patrol seems one of the most effective means of putting teeth into the regulations. But it will be of little consequence unless a similar policy is likewise followed by the courts which deal with convicted violators of motor regulations.

The new provision for revoking the license of a person convicted of driving over 70 miles per hour may sound a little harsh as did the more stringent provision concerning individuals convicted of drunken driving. Yet the latter regulation, since it has been in use, has proved an effective measure in curbing drunken driving on North Carolina's highway.

area which benefit from "cheap power."
The Washington office is headed by Sam A. O'Neal, former newspaperman and erstwhile publicity director of the Democratic National Committee during the Hannegan regime. Although O'Neal receives only a relatively small fee as Washington lobbyist's charges—$10,000 a year—he does only a part-time work.

DEMAND FOR INQUIRY EXPECTED—Ironically, although Clement began his letter-writing propaganda on May 1, his tactics became known on the very day when Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York demanded that the Department of Justice and Internal Revenue Bureau investigate the alleged lobbying work of five New York utilities in the controversy over development of power on the Niagara River.

It is understood that when the dispute over TVA appropriations reaches the Senate floor, there will be a similar demand for an inquiry into Governor Clement's unprecedented attempt to interfere in national legislative procedure.

BASEBALL TOPS GOLF ON HILL—Although President Eisenhower is the most enthusiastic and lowest-scoring White House golfer since Warren C. Harding, baseball remains the most popular sport with members of Congress.

Many are too old to play 18 or even nine holes of golf a day. Younger M.C.'s can't afford the time or a baseball game at Griffith Stadium, although our team is hardly worth watching this year.

But this is not a sports column item. Congressional regard for the national game has political-legal significance. If the D. of J.'s indictment of baseball as a monopoly should be upheld by the Supreme Court, thereby outlawing the essential reserve clause, Congress will immediately reverse the Supreme Court by special legislation.

It is doubtful if the high tribunal would declare baseball to be an illegal monopoly. A majority are fans, which derives from "fanatics." In fact, Chief Justice Fred Vinson was a semi-pro diamond star in his younger days. They will probably hold that baseball is above the law.

Trouble In Paradise

Somebody Told Me . . .

Even Dignity Has Its Limits

Yesterday afternoon I was over in Ayden on a business deal that was very important to our company. On such occasions, so they tell me, company representatives should conduct themselves with extreme dignity.

"On this deal I had picked up G. C. Wynne Jr. in Bebel to help map out installation of shop equipment for Jenkins Motor Company, the Ford dealer in Ayden. G. C. Mrs. J. Jenkins, Bill Jenkins and I were just about to survey the site of the new building when the fire whistle blew. So I had to tell myself, "Jack, you're 29 years old, supposedly a dignified businessman, and besides that, it's dangerous to chase a fire truck. And just think of the bad impression it would make on the customer."

But my better judgment was fighting a losing battle. By the time we were in the car I asked, "Has everybody got time to go to the fire?" Even in Greenville a fire couldn't be too far from the station, so I figured it would only take a few minutes to go to a fire in Ayden.

Almost before I realized it we were zooming out the Vanceboro highway, so I asked, "Where in the world could the fire be?"

"There's no telling," Mrs. Jenkins said. "That's the rural fire truck."

We zoomed around curve after curve, which seemed to be an endless process. Finally, we stopped by the side of the road and had a business conference. Should we go on, or turn back? The decision was unanimous: we had too much invested at this point to turn back.

A few hundred yards later the stream of cars turned right, so we followed suit. Much to our surprise, this was a dirt road. "This proves," Mrs. Jenkins said,

"that all roads in North Carolina are not paved."

"But I don't understand," I replied, "how Kerr Scott missed this one."

Anyway, by the time we arrived at the fire there was such a traffic jam on the road that we couldn't get within 150 yards of the house. Plus the fact that there was no apparent damage from the outside.

All the trip had accomplished was a relief from the regular routine affairs in the middle of a big deal. There's no doubt that a little relaxation now and then makes for longer life and quieter nerves. But normally chasing a fire truck isn't the recommended "relaxation." My company would second that motion, but I hope they feel as we did about the trip: They have too much invested in me to let me go.

And I thank you.

One of the world's most unusual husbands lives in the warm sea waters here — he doesn't know whether he is the father or the mother of the family.

This confused fellow is the male sea horse. After mating he receives the eggs from the lady sea horse in a special pouch. He incubates them himself, goes through complex labor pains, and then gives birth to some 200 baby sea horses, each a tiny swimming replica of himself.

"Well, dear, what do you think of that?" asked a young honeymoon wife who heard this story of sea horse family life during a tour of the aquarium here.

"I don't think," replied her husband, "the arrangement will ever become popular on dry land."

Bermuda, a pleasure resort is actually a vast graveyard—a marine cemetery made from billions of calcareous skeletons of little sea creatures called coral.

Most people think coral is a form of plant life but it is an animal. And Bermuda owes its existence to an odd fact—a baby coral doesn't leave its home. It builds upon its parent's head, and its offspring build on top of it, top of it.

The calcified coral remains also are used to make Bermuda's houses. The material can be sawed like wood. But once exposed to the weather it grays and turns stone hard.

Key Account System

By ELMER ROESSNER
An interesting business-building technique has been developed in the appliance field by Howard T. Schneck, a young Elmira, N.Y., dealer. It's working and it may be worth adapting in other cities and in other lines.

Mr. Schneck calls it his "key account system." First he selects persons in better income brackets who are not customers of his store — usually business and industrial executives and professional men. Then he invites them to be "key accounts."

This, he explains, means that his company, Clair H. Schneck & Sons, Inc., will undertake to repair any appliance the account owns or may buy in the future, and that a similar appliance will be loaned while repairs are being made. It also means that Mr. Schneck will serve personally as shopper for the account in his store, guaranteeing the customer will get exactly what he wants.

He also invited the account to phone for service at any hour of the day or night, and to ask for Mr. Schneck personally when visiting the store. "We will go further to replace a fuse of a key account than to sell his neighbor a refrigerator," he said.

Well, these make very nice customers for the dealer. Being above average income, their purchases are larger. Being busy men, they don't waste time shopping. And being used to making decisions, they usually know exactly what they want.

But their greatest value is that they are persons of influence among their associates and they recommend the dealers to others. Mr. Schneck modestly insists his idea is not original. Seems he once sold a large order to Edwin D. Lonie, an insurance salesman. During the course of business, Mr. Lonie told Mr. Schneck how he had become a member of the Million-Dollar Club by developing key accounts. Mr. Schneck promptly plugged the idea into the appliance business.

MODERN FURNITURE GAINING CONSISTENTLY

The most consistent gains in modern furniture during the past five years have been in dining-room merchandise, the fifth annual furniture survey by Retailing Daily shows. Each year since 1949-1950 modern has shown a 4 per cent. rise and buyers estimate another 4 per cent. in the coming year.

In the season just ended, traditional accounted for 39 per cent. of sales of upholstered furniture. Provincial 12 per cent. and modern 49 per cent. In the new season, buyers expect traditional to drop to 35, Provincial to move up to 13 and modern to 52 per cent.

NATIONAL NEWSPAPER ADS SET 7th RECORD

National advertising in newspapers in towns of 10,000 and over totaled $526,458,000 in 1952, the seventh consecutive year in which a new record was set, the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association reports. The figure is a gain of 2.5 per cent. over 1951.

The largest category was grocers with $120,825,000, followed by automotive with $87,874,000. The largest gain was in books, fixtures, up 109.3 per cent. over 1951. Newspapers advertised in other newspapers to the extent of $1,612,000.

Final Notes On Bermuda Visit

By HAL BOYLE
HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—Last note from a Bermuda scrapbook:

One of the world's most unusual husbands lives in the warm sea waters here — he doesn't know whether he is the father or the mother of the family.

This confused fellow is the male sea horse. After mating he receives the eggs from the lady sea horse in a special pouch. He incubates them himself, goes through complex labor pains, and then gives birth to some 200 baby sea horses, each a tiny swimming replica of himself.

Most people think coral is a form of plant life but it is an animal. And Bermuda owes its existence to an odd fact—a baby coral doesn't leave its home. It builds upon its parent's head, and its offspring build on top of it, top of it.

Beneath the ocean surface lies a 15,000-foot volcano that died a million years ago. It was the action of billions of coral, budding upon each other through the waves that raised above the ocean waves the 159 islands that make up Bermuda, and gave it its famous pink sands.

Death feeds on life, life feeds on death. And nothing seems to me to show this relationship more than a tourist here lolling at ease on a beach made through eons by myriads of sea miles. He stretches out comfortably on these legions of infinitesimal forgotten bone, sifts them through his fingers, and thinks: "Wonder what I'll do tonight?" And out beneath the blue water the descendants of the skeleton sands he lies on are still building . . . building . . . building. When he is dead and gone, when his joys, and griefs and skeleton are long hidden in dust, the little coral will go on building, as they have through all time.

Bermuda fact sheet: The islands import 90 per cent. of their food supply, including Bermuda onions, which now come from Texas. The largest crop here is tourists followed by lilies, bananas, fish and fresh vegetables. Milk is high because cow feed has to be brought over from the mainland.

Anybody who leaves a shower tap running is public enemy one: Fresh water is often must be imported from New York. Water is in such short supply that house roofs are built pyramid shape to catch and channel the rain into tanks.

The population is nearing 50,000 — about a third white, two thirds colored. There is no such thing as a native Bermudian.

The islands were uninhabited when discovered. Mixed into the general population is the blood stream of North American Indians, numbers of whom once were brought here as slaves. Like Ireland and Hawaii, Bermuda has no snakes. Some 14 varieties of sharks cruise its waters. The reefs keep them away from the bathers sharks prey on anything, but unfortunately don't keep the fishermen from getting at the sharks.

Some older residents tell the weather by shark oil barometers. By checking the degree of clearness or cloudiness in a sealed bottle of shark oil they predict whether tomorrow's sky will shine or shower.

Moonlight swimming is popular and safe, but it has a special hazard. Unwary tourists on the way to the water sometimes twist their ankles tripping over dreaming honeymooners on the darkened beaches. However, nobody but a cad would try to tug anybody under those circumstances.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

THE MILK PROCESSORS NURSE A TIZZY

(Charlotte Observer)
If we read the symptoms correctly, some of the state's largest milk distributors are beginning to act unwisely as a result of their defeat in the General Assembly over the creation of a state milk commission.

There was, initially, that business in Greensboro when the majority of distributors upped their bids on a school milk contract, citing the uncertain price prospect that had developed as a result of the Assembly action. That made a certain sense to us. If and when the state milk commission begins to function, there seems reason to believe that price adjustments will be ordered at one or another level of the trade.

Now, however, it's reported that the distributors have reduced the prices paid producers of fluid milk in several areas (without reducing the cost to consumers) because of "seasonal surpluses" and, again, the fear of possible price disruption when the milk commission begins to operate.

That's where we leave the boat. Having opposed the creation of a state-wide milk control agency as unnecessary, we are just as sincerely opposed to unfair and unjustified tactics on the part of the milk distributors in their apparent pique that the control act was adopted.

State Agricultural Commissioner Stag Ballentine, who, incidentally, will be an ex-officio member of the eventual milk commission, has denounced the price-cutting ### action of the distributors as "short sighted and unwarranted."

It is at least that. Though there is, in fact, a seasonal surplus of fluid milk in many communities, nearly all the distributors had made advance allowance for that development in the base-use contracts which they have with milk producers.

Their action, then, seems strictly a punitive measure, born in their disgust over the imminent establishment of a state milk commission. The small dairymen who supply the milk are penalized; the consumers who buy it at retail receive no price benefit. A continuance of such tactics could well support the claim of milk control advocates that state-wide regulation is, indeed, a need.

Yes, There Are Communists In Our North Carolina

By LYNN NISBET

COMMUNISTS — The old story about the lad who cried "Wolf" so often when there wasn't any wolf, and then was killed by the beasts because his neighbors had grown callous to his calls for help, may have some application to the current situation with respect to Communists in North Carolina. There have been so many unsubstantiated rumors about communistic connections, groups and organizations with extreme liberal tendencies have been labeled as communistic when in fact they were only foolish, that there is disposition now to brush off some later developments.

DEFINITE — Sworn testimony before the Senate Internal Security committee in Washington last week seemed to establish direct connection between one J. Peters, the Soviet Comintern agent who gave orders to Alger Hiss and Whitaker Chambers, and Mr. M. A. Milton and Miss Minnie Abernathy at Chapel Hill. The "finger" was put on the Abernathy couple by Paul Crouch, a former Communist who is now a consultant for the Justice Department. Called before the committee at a closed door hearing the Abernathy couple admitted practically everything Crouch charged, except that they were members or agents of the Communist party. The testimony seemed important enough to justify further thorough investigation by the Senate committee and it is expected that a subcommittee will visit North Carolina in the near future to continue the search for facts.

SPECULATIVE — Not so direct by definite, but believed by sources close to official investigators to be just as accurate, is evidence that there has been increasing concentration in North Carolina during the past few years of subversive Communists. Evidence will be introduced at the proper time tending to show close relationship between the Communist Party and certain labor leaders domiciled in North Carolina and liberal cash contributions to certain funds for North Carolina criminals.

TIE-IN — The Communist-related North Carolina residents operate over a wide area. Ben Stas, a principal officer in the International Fur & Leather Workers Union, is listed among the top dozen or so Communist labor leaders in the country. With headquarters in New York he has spent a good bit of time in this State and is said to own property at Morehead City. Two men giving Asheville addresses, Emanuel Coultakis and John H. Russell, officials in the Fur & Leather Workers union are presently under indictment in Texas for violation of State laws against solicitation.

SECRET — Government files on these investigations are secret until the information is released at public hearings or by authority of top level officials. Your reporter has not resorted to bribery or cajolery to gain access to closed files, but he did learn in Washington last week that the Internal Security subcommittee has documented material indicating definite relationship of the Communist party, the Fur & Leather Workers union and cash contributions to subversive communistic activities in North Carolina, for the purpose of impeding and delaying judicial processes.

KEY — Impression gained from talking with several people who are actively concerned about this matter is that the Communies have made orderly judicial process their main target. The history of the Rosenberg case as an international incident and the long-drawn case of the Daniels cousins in North Carolina, financed by funds traceable to communistic source, and the refusal of so many witnesses to answer questions on the constitutional ground of self-incrimination, seem to justify that conclusion. If the Communies can substitute sentiment or prejudice for justice in American courts, they will have won a substantial victory.

BASE POINT — Information obtained from reliable sources in Washington further indicates that North Carolina has been chosen as the basis for wide-range communistic activities for reasons very similar to those used in appeals for the location of industry — low, "accessible" location. There are no big cities and this State has a very small percentage of foreign-born population.

DISTURBED — It is as much the effect of this prestige upon other States as the actual impact upon North Carolina of communistic activities based at Chapel Hill, Greensboro and Asheville that disturbs Senator Herman Welker, one of the key men in the Senate Internal Security committee. Senator Walker was born and reared in Idaho and now represents that State in the United States Senate. But he missed being a North Carolinian by just a few months. He is the youngest of eight boys, his seven older brothers all having been born in North Carolina, where his family had been prominent for generations and had taken part in the establishment of Guilford College and several other educational and religious institutions in Guilford and neighboring counties. The late Senator Willis Smith had worked closely with senator Welker and others on the Internal Security subcommittee in ferreting out some of these communistic connections. Assurance has been given that the investigations will continue despite the death of Senator Smith.

Rambling WITH LANG By MELVIN LANG

Something must give. From a comparison of the American League standings on June 21 and yesterday's, that something is the New York Yankees.

Since June 21, the Yankees have had their league leading margin cut from eleven and one-half games to a mere five games through contests played Tuesday. An eight game losing streak has been the biggest reason for the drop, but the reason for the Yankee decline is yet to be seen.

There could be several answers to the popular query of "What has happened to the Yankees?" A Cleveland sports Editor may have the right angle. The Ohio scribe lays the New York drought to the law of averages. Casey Stengel led the Yanks to an eighteen game winning spree three weeks ago that threatened to break the American League record for the most games won consecutively. It would be only fair, according to the law, if the Yankees lost as many games. New York fans probably disagree with his analysis, however.

It is usually the manager who is blamed when a team fails to piece as the Yankees seem to have done. Casey has had a tremendous publicity coverage during the last four years since assuming the managerial position with New York. He has had amounts to phenomenal success with his unorthodox system.

During the last four years, which saw New York win the American League pennant and World's Championship each year, Stengel has abandoned most of the recognized rules of how to direct a baseball team to victory. Yet he has won, so he couldn't be blamed too much. Nevertheless, the managers of past decades haven't studied the baseball picture for nothing. Casey has studied the history of baseball just as hard as anyone, only with the result of introducing something new and entirely against all conventional methods.

It is entirely possible that the often switched lineup system employed by Stengel has caught up with the Yankees. Especially during the last two seasons, a different lineup has been used for nearly each game. The old-timer has kept the opposing players, managers, the fans, and the press confused, and it is probable that the young Yankees are now confused. Casey has had more changes in his lineups than Notre Dame could ever muster in its football program.

Stengel's feuds with distance-hitter Mickey Mantle also could have some bearing on the case. Mantle exploded during the first part of the season as if he were intending to break all existing records for distance on home run smashes. He rapidly cooled off, however, and fell back to being just an everyday hitter.

Casey charged Mantle with swinging for the fences on each journey to the plate, thereby endangering the entire team when he popped up or fanned. The Yankee boss even went so far as to threaten to bench the center-fielder if he did not cut down on his distance. In a game last week, Mantle was retired when he bunted foul on a third strike.

It could have been strategy that backed on Stengel, or maybe Casey was only forcing Mantle to shorten his drives. Either way, it can only be considered strategy with no basis.

Whatever the reason for the sudden losing streak and sandlot style on the part of the Yankees, it is time for New York to snap back. Just how, only Casey and the Yankees can tell.

In past years, New York has picked up a cast-off such as Johnny Mize, Johnny Sain, Ewold Blackwell, or Ray Scarborough on waiver deals from the National League to bolster their own forces in late months. This outlet is not open to them this year, as the New-York-National League system was outlawed.

The only method of inducing new blood into Yankee Stadium is through New York's own farm system was outlawed last winter, short of a miracle for the Yanks to come up with someone better than is now wearing a Yankee uniform.

If Casey Stengel's odd luck returns, as it probably will, New York will soon pick up where it left off a few days ago. The Yankees have started the sports world so many times during the last four years, that it would come as no surprise in some quarters if New York would break loose this week and go on another eighteen game winning streak.

Yankees Lose Ninth Game, 4-0, To Boston

Stengel Calms Down; Cleveland Loses To Tigers

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—Casey Stengel cut out the double talk today and resorted to strict silence in an effort to stop the Yankee losing streak.

For the second straight time his clubhouse in Boston was barred to newspapermen and the usually talkative old guy had practically nothing to say over the latest defeat, a 4-0 four-hit shutout administered by lefty Mel Parnell of the Red Sox. It was the ninth loss in a row.

And, though it wouldn't please him, Stengel might do something today that will put him ahead of another great Yankee manager, Joe McCarthy, in the club's record books. For if the Yankees lose again in Boston, it will be the second longest minus streak in the club's history, topping the nine in a row that McCarthy's 1945 Yankees lost. The only longer one than that was the 13 in a row lost by the 1913 Yankees, bossed by Frank Chance.

Wednesday's triumph by Parnell was his 100th in the majors and his 10th of the season and he limited the Yankees to just four singles, struck out seven, walked only one and let only one man get to second base. Milt Bolling hit a Boston homer and the other runs were driven in on a Sammy White double, and singles by George Kell and Tom Umpfired, all off Johnny Sain who suffered his fifth defeat.

The Yankees lost no immediate ground to Cleveland, five games back, because the Indians dropped a 4-2 decision to Detroit, although Chicago moved to within 1-2 games of the top with a 13-4 battering of the Browns. Washington topped the Athletics 5-3.

In the National League the Dodgers stayed on top with a 10th inning rally that netted two runs and an uphill 5-4 victory over the Phils, while Milwaukee pounded out a 10-2 triumph over Cincinnati. The Cardinals grabbed Chicago 10-5 and Pittsburgh again defeated the Giants 5-3 in 11 innings.

Doubles by Carl Furillo and pinch-hitters Roy Campanella and George Shuba gave Brooklyn its third triumph in four tries against Philly ace Robin Roberts. Carl Furillo and Bob Walker hit homers for Brooklyn and Smokey Burgess homered for the Phils. It was Roberts' 27th straight complete game.

Milwaukee came out of the deep freeze with a 15-hit spree that included homers by Ed Matthews, his 23rd, and Sid Gordon and Joe Adcock. Matthews drove in three runs with three hits giving him 66—tops for the majors in both homers and RBIs. Warren Spahn breezed to his ninth victory, a seven-hit game which a homer by Jim Greengrass was the only earned run.

The Pirates made it two straight over the Giants, scoring twice in the 11th on Hal Rice's first home run plus two errors and a single by winning pitcher John Hetki.

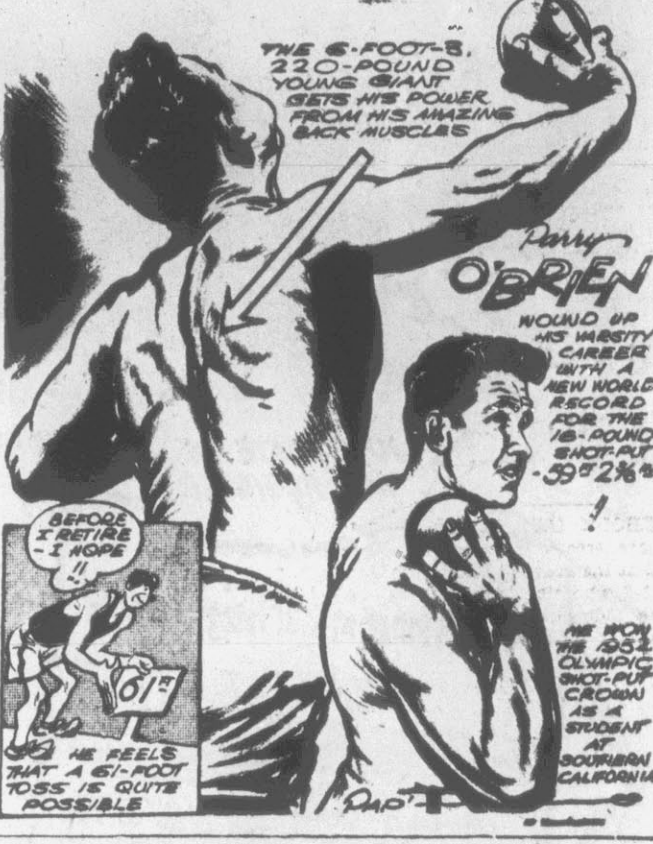

Gerry Staley gained his 12th victory at St. Louis to tie Roberts for the major league lead when he scattered 10 hits. Steve Bilko and Del Rice hit St. Louis homers.

Pitcher Bob Lemon had only himself to blame for Cleveland's defeat for one of Detroit's runs scored on his wild pitch and another by his wild throw, which nullified a two-run homer by Al Rosen. Ted Gray pitched six-hit ball for his third consecutive Tiger victory after nine straight defeats.

Homers by Wayne Terwilliger and Ed Fitz Gerald gave Chuck Stobbs his third Washington victory, all over the Athletics, although he needed relief.

The White Sox put on a seven-run inning that featured a three-run triple by Minnie Minoso in the 13th hit drubbing of the Browns. Nellie Fox hit three doubles and Minoso also had another triple. Dick Kokos homered for St. Louis.

Home Builders Take Game As Southern Bread Loses

Second half play in the Men's Softball League hit its full schedule last night as two games were played under the lights at Third Street Athletic Field. Home Builders took the measure of Garner-Wynne-Manning, 11-7. In the opener, while Carolina Dairies won the nightcap, 6-1, over Southern Bread.

A single run in the sixth led to Home Builders victory in the first game. Ford McGowan led off the frame with a single but Bill Kittrell and Red Painter popped up to the infield. Whit Mallory walked, and Henry Fordham connected for a single to score McGowan.

Extra base hits were frequent in the game. Painter collected a home run for the winners in the first inning with one on. Bill Moore doubled for the losers in the third, and pitcher Bill Phillips tripled in the sixth. The bases were empty for both hits.

Carolina Dairies scored two unearned runs in third inning of the second game to stake their claim. They added two more in the fourth and one in the fifth, coupled with one in the first, cemented their claim.

The Lions strengthened their claim on first place in the Little League yesterday by trouncing the Jaycees, 2-0. The Kiwanians moved into second place blasting the Elks, 9-3. Lonnie Staton bested Walter Lee Allen in the tight mound duel in the second game. Staton allowed only two hits to the opposing Jaycees as he struck out eleven batters. Allen as almost equally effective as he allowed but three hits and fanned twelve.

A single run in the first won for the Lions in closely contested affair. Dick Heller worked Allen for a walk to open the game, and moved to second on a passed ball. Jimmy Churchill was retired on an infield fly, but Aubrey Harrison singled to score Heller.

Three runs in the third provided the winning run for the Kiwanians in beating the Elks, 9-3. Stancil led off with a walk and Bobby Edwards singled. Billy Cox doubled to score both runners, Jimmie Rogers singled to score Cox and James Henderson walked. Delbert Smith cut the rally short, however, by hitting into a double play.

The Moose met the Elks in a single game at 8:30 p.m. this afternoon.

Benton Pitches Ninth Victory

FARMVILLE—Veterans Red Benton and Streeter Tugwell combine to lead Farmville to a one-sided 13-victory over Rocky Mount in High Belt League competition here last night.

Benton allowed eleven hits to the All-Star but really worked himself out of trouble in all but the eighth inning. It was the ninth victory of the season for the red-headed righthander. He has lost two games.

Tugwell, the leading hitter on the Farmville team at the present time was almost a one man show. The outfielder-catcher slammed out a triple, double, and three singles 36 times at bat and batted in three runs while scoring four himself. He tripled in the third inning with one on, but two were on when he lined a double in the fourth. Tugwell's hits enabled him to stretch his hitting streak to fifteen consecutive games.

A single run in the third proved to be the winning run. Tugwell led off with a triple, and came on when Barry Jones' grounder was error by the Rocky Mount third baseman. The Red Sox have brought Bel League games scheduled for home every night this week. The Farmville burg comes to Farmville Friday night. Tarboro invades the local park Saturday night.

Man Favors U.S. Davis Cup Team

NEW YORK (UP)—Alec Mac Jr., for many years non-playing captain of the USA Davis Cup tennis team, said today he believes America has an excellent chance to regain the cup from Australia had his bad luck at the Wimbledon championships.

"I feel perfectly confident that Ken Rosewall's condition has something to do with his defeat by Kurt Nielsen of Denmark," said Mac, "although I certainly don't want to take anything away from Nielsen, who is one of my favorite players."

"But I am sure that Rosewall was handicapped by illness, just as the Australian captain Harry Hopman said. The Aussies don't speak, and if Hopman says Rosewall was handicapped by illness then it is the truth."

"As to the Davis Cup, first we have to win the interzone final against the European champion Brewer, 2b. I would prefer Moore, 2b."

Golfers Fill Golf Bags With Varied Assortment

By OSCAR FRALEY
BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UP)—Weep no more, my ladies, over the embarrassing condition of your cluttered handbag.

You ought to see what the average golf professional carries around in that combination drugstore, repair shop, haberdashery and portable pro shop he calls a golf bag.

It is de rigeur among the fairway fraternity these days to operate out of a piece of luggage big enough for a troupe of midgets to use as a housing development. Most of them look large enough to come complete with hot and cold running shower.

It is sure a big storage shed for a mere 14 clubs, that being the legal limit in the birdie business.

But they need it, ladies, to stash away the male counterparts of compact, lipstick, bobby pins and other vital necessities of the feminine satchel. Consider, as example, the streamlined steamer trunk used by Lawson Little, the former U.S. Open champion who grand slammed the U.S. and British Amateur titles two years ago.

Little, currently in the process of qualifying handsly for match play in the PGA golf championship at Birmingham McCountry Club, accepted a date today and unloaded his clouting closet. Even he was surprised.

"There really isn't much in here," the likeable Little explained as he unzipped a compartment which wasn't a bit bigger than a fat man's overnight bag.

Then he proceeded to pull out, in order:

A golf glove, one hand towel, an extra hat, a package of three golf balls, a booklet on the rules of golf, a hand-said kit, a battered package of cigars, eight more gloves, a roll of adhesive tape, a roll of club repair tape, a Phillips screw driver, a locker key—and one sock.

"That beats me," Little mused. "Wonder what happened to the other one?"

Quickly he unzipped a companion compartment and out of it tumbled:

An insect repellent stick, two golf balls, another glove, 30 tees, a knife used to clean the grooves of clubs, chewing gum, matches, a sheet of local club rules—and a parking ticket.

"Man, that beats me, too," Little grinned, "because I haven't got a car with me!"

With that, he drew out a folding umbrella and heaped it on top of what was, by now, a sizeable pile of miscellany.

"That's all," said the man from Pebble Beach.

"Hmph!" snorted a lady standing nearby. "If that belonged to a woman golfer, she'd never hear the end of it."

Hi-Lo Forbes Is Favorite Today

WESTBURY, N. Y. (UP)—World record holder Hi-Lo Forbes was expected to go to the post as favorite tonight against nine rivals in the $25,000 National Cup Derby at the Roosevelt Raceway.

Hi-Lo Forbes, a five-year old black which will be driven by 66-year old trainer Henry Clutey, smashed the world standard for a one-mile race on a half-mile track in his last start here, June 6, when he clocked 1:58 3-5.

In fact, the fast-stepping side-wheeler, owned by Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wagner of Landover Hills, Md., has set track records here, at Laurel, and at Roscoff in his last three starts. He was listed a 3-1 favorite for the mile and a quarter derby and experts gave him a good chance to eclipse the world record of 2:31 3-5 set by Good Time in this race last year.

Ghezzi Pacing PGA Qualifiers

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (UP)—The old men were in charge of the PGA golf tournament today as they began the final 18 holes of qualifying play with ancient Vic Ghezzi setting the pace on the strength of a four under par 66 that matched the Birmingham Country Club course record.

The 41-year old Inwood, N.J. pro who beat Byron Nelson for the crown in 1941, said "I shot it up like gang busters" as he took a one-shot lead in the first round over 48-year old Jimmy Hines of Glenview, Ill. and 38-year old Jim Browning of Weston, Mass.

Another stroke back at 66 were Chandler Harper, the 39-year old 1950 champ from Portsmouth, Va., and 34-year old Johnny Palmer, the 1949 runner-up.

The "old men" even dominated a foursome banked at 69. They were 41-year old Sammy Sneed the tournament favorite; 38-year old Pete Cooper, 43-year old Dutch Harrison and the "baby" of the first round bolschis—33-year old Felice Torsa of St. Charles, Ill.

Ten others broke par in the opening round with 70's and these included defending champion Jim Turnesa, former champion Jimmie Hines and former runner-up Walter Burkemo.

Still right there as far as winning the medalist prize with even money, par 71's were a dozen others including Cary Middlecoff, last year's runner-up Chick Harbert, former National Open champion Lew Worsham and one-time runner-up Mike Turnesa.

Ghezzi clipped two strokes from par on the front nine with a 34 and chopped off three more for a 32 on the back nine as he hit every one of Birmingham's narrow fairways.

He capped an 18-footer for a birdie three on the 340-yard second hole and his wedge lipped the cup on the 310-yard par four sixth where he picked up another stroke.

On the back nine, he birdied three holes in a four-hole stretch. Hines, playing in tournaments for the 21st year and twice a semi-finalist in the PGA, cut two strokes from par on each nine to a 34-33—67, while Browning, an unknown, had 35-32—67.

Bob Satterfield Aims For Higher Weight Champion

CHICAGO (UP)—Bob Satterfield, a slugging light heavyweight with big time ambitions, aimed today for a heavyweight title fight "because I don't think Archie Moore wants to fight me."

Satterfield surprised heavyweight Bob Baker and a tiny gathering of 765 paying guests Wednesday night with a convincing first round knockout of Baker at 2:32 of their scheduled 10 round television match in Chicago Stadium.

"He never hurt me," Satterfield said. "I was kind of playing possum for a while. Sure. He hit me. But I figured I could take his best punch and come back, and I did."

It was Satterfield's 24th knockout triumph in 41 pro scraps, and it was as hard earned as any. Baker, a 214 pounder compared to 180 1-2 for Satterfield, apparently had the battle under control after the opening bell.

He banged at Satterfield with both hands, but Satterfield connected regularly with his counter punches. Baker shoved Satterfield against the ropes, and apparently staggered him with a right to the head.

Satterfield hung on. But as Baker moved in for a kill, Satterfield erupted with a barrage of combinations which finally ended when Baker collapsed flat on his face, apparently as the result of a right hook.

He lay inert until after the count of nine and then barely reached his knees before referee Frank Giljner rolled out the ten count.

"With my weight," Satterfield said, "I can go either way, heavyweight or light heavyweight. But I think I'm a heavyweight. I'd like to fight (Archie Moore), but I don't think he wants to fight me."

Hogan Favorite In British Open

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland. (UP)—Scottish golf expert today installed Bantam Ben Hogan as a solid favorite to win next week's British Open championship—the only event being by how many strokes he would do it.

All Scotland has been captivated by Hogan, although it is his first visit here.

Easily the betting favorite at 7-4 odds, Hogan is ranked substantially ahead of defending champion Bobby Locke, who is the second choice at 8-1.

Hogan has been playing near flawless golf during his practice rounds. He insists he likes the smaller British ball and adds that it gives him greater distance. On the 7,200-yard course where the open will be played, length of the tees is bound to be an important factor.

The usually-solemn faced Hogan has been in such good spirits due chiefly to his fine practice rounds, that he has joked with the gallery often as arrival.

Within the past two days, Hogan has paired with Lloyd Mangrum against the British pair of Dai Rees and former Open champion Max Faulkner. The last match between the four met ended all square but all were playing in relaxed fashion. Just only one game this year.

Louise Suggs Is Triangle Leader

SCOTCH PLAINS, N. J. (UP)—Louise Suggs, sweets winging Georgia star, was favored to win the first annual Triangle Round Robin Golf Tournament which gets under way today at Shackamaxon Country Club.

Winner of six tournaments in 15 starts this year, and of $20,000 in prize money, Miss Suggs rated choice over Patty Berg, winner of five tournaments, and the 14 other feminine links stars who are scheduled to play five rounds through Sunday.

The "Triangle" will be played exclusively in the Palm Beach Round Robin for men pros, in which points are won by outscoring the other three rivals. The 18 contest series will meet each other in a series of four-ball matches.

Miss Suggs was scheduled to tee off against one of her main contenders for top honors on the women's pro circuit—Betsy Janson, as well as personable Marilyn Smith and Beverly Hanson.

Today's schedule—Louise Suggs vs. Marie Bauer vs. Betty McKinnon vs. Betty Bush.

Giants Play Here

The Greenville Giants take on the league leading Nashville here this weekend in two Carolina-Virginia League contests. Both games, Saturday at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m., are to be played in Guy Smith Stadium.

Greenville is in second place, behind Nashville in the league standings, with a 1-3 mark. It is just back from a trip into Virginia where it divided two games. Nashville has lost only one game this year.

East German Premier May Become 'Fall Guy'

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor

Otto Grotewohl is 58, balding, moon-faced and bespectacled. Up to this moment he also is premier of Communist East Germany.

The time element here is important because tomorrow, or the day after, he may not be the premier any longer. The Russians are going to look for a "fall guy" to take the rap for the East German revolt and it looks as if Grotewohl may be tapped.

There are a number of reasons why he could have outlived his usefulness to the Reds.

The first, of course, is the East German revolt itself.

A second is the failure, in fact outright refusal of many, of the East German peoples' police to cope with the uprising.

And, finally, the fact that Russian troops finally had to take over, effectively erasing any doubt there may have been about East Germany being a deliriously happy "peoples republic."

Up to now Grotewohl has been a good and cooperative stooge. The Russians put him in office because he bore none of the taint of Moscow training and he was well known both as a German socialist and as an anti-Nazi, in fact served time twice in Nazi jails, once as result of a plot against Hitler in 1939.

Thus his government had at least the outward appearance of being authentically German.

Grotewohl has the reputation of being a gambler, and he is shrewd as well as intelligent.

He took his big chance, politically, in 1945.

It was then that he jumped into leadership of the left-wing faction of the Social Democratic Party and advocated its merger with the Russian-backed German Communists.

Late in 1945, he and Wilhelm Pieck, the Communist leader, joined forces to form the Social Unity Party (SED).

German Socialists called him a traitor but he stuck to his guns. Russian Zone Communists called him a hero and his eventual reward was to be named East German premier when the new state came into existence in 1949.

The betting now is that if Grotewohl does become the Communist fall guy, his successor will be shifty-eyed, smart and clever Walter Ulbricht.

Ulbricht is 56, Moscow-trained, and the Kremlin's most trusted German henchman.

Actually, even now, although nominally a deputy premier, he wields more power than Grotewohl the front man.

Grotewohl has said he would not resign and it appears that Grotewohl the gambler, still is gambling that he can hold his place with his Russian bosses. But few would care for his future.

Concertina And Dance Please East Carolina Audience Tuesday Night

Boris Gregory, concertina virtuoso, and Red Strong, dancer, combined their talents Tuesday night at East Carolina College in a program which pleased a audience of students, faculty members, and guests on the campus. Frequent applause punctuated the performance and brought the artists back to the stage for a number of encores.

Playing an unusual instrument, new to most of his audience, Gregory gave two groups of solos which exhibited his artistry as a performer and gave evidence that music of fine quality can be produced on the concertina. Selections popular with those present included "Nocturne" and "Waltz" in C Sharp Minor by Chopin, "Melodie" from Gluck's "Orfeo," and compositions by Paganini, Tchaikovsky, and others.

With Gregory as assisting artist and Peter Howard at the piano, Strong, a young and dynamic dancer, gave a pleasing performance. Tap, ballet techniques, and pantomime combined to give variety, and numbers ranged from dances set to music by Bach and Mozart to dances based on compositions by Shostakovich and Gershwin. A fine sense of humor made several of the numbers particularly attractive.

was open after the shot got under was open after the ship got under father told about his ordeal later.

Little Inesa began to cry. Desperately the father went to work with his pen knife trying to whittle an air hole in the rubber packing of the intake.

"I got frightfully upset and as I felt I might never make it, I said to myself, 'Knock, even if it means Siberia. Then I faded out.'"

Just then the captain, who had imprisoned his four-man crew in a cabin, opened the tank. The father was unconscious but the child was dead.

The four refugees were the second group to break out of the virtually impenetrable iron curtain around Latvia to Sweden in seven years. The Swedish government has given them political asylum.

Ohioan John Davey founded tree surgery as a science at Kent, O., in 1880.

Child's Death Is Price Of Escape

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Latvian refugees have erected a stone as a memorial at the grave of blond little Inesa, 2-1-2, who died from suffocation in her hiding place in an empty water tank of a Soviet trawler on which she was trying to escape.

The child's father and mother and two other Latvian men arrived at the Swedish island of Gotland with the crew of the trawler imprisoned at gunpoint in the cabin.

The captain of the trawler arranged the break by secreting his friends and the child on the ship. The father and child hid in the water tank, but a member of the crew noted the lid of the tank

Family Chef Spoils Professionals' Life

NEW YORK (UP)—Too many chefs in family kitchens are spoiling life for professional cooks, a restaurant man says.

"Women aren't afraid to try anything," sighed Vincent Sardi Jr., head of a restaurant that's a favorite spot for the theatrical crowd. "Every woman wants to be a chef."

Naturally this adventurous new spirit in American kitchens affects the noisy confusion of a restaurant kitchen. About every third food order is followed by a request for a recipe. Anything a chef can do, the emancipated family cook thinks she can do too.

"My wife and I gave a party one night and served a creamed seafood dish our restaurant chef had prepared," Sardi recalled. "We had so much left over we sent each guest home with a jar. One woman told me later she had taken it home and frozen it to eat later. I was horrified. We wouldn't dream of freezing something at the restaurant and serving it later."

Housewives, he decided right then and there, are the "real experimenters with food. They have developed a whole new way of preparing meals."

This still doesn't solve the recipe problem. All good restaurants get requests for the secret of the "Specialite de Maison." Some discourage amateur cooks by charging stiff prices. Others refuse on the ground the chef has never put his recipes in writing.

Sardi is a man who recognizes a new era when he sees one. So he decided not only to part with the

'Wore' Raccoon On Plane Flight

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (UP)—That was no 'coonskin cap pilot Dick Wallace was wearing on a flight to Atoka, Okla. It was a 'coon.

Wallace flew to Miami, Okla., to pick up a pet raccoon to show at a wildlife exhibit at Atoka. The 'coon got out of his box en route and climbed all over Wallace. But the pilot kept going until he reached Pryor, Okla., where he set the plane down for a "change of head-gear."

Over the Fourth —
Refresh without filling

Enjoy Pepsi-Cola, the modern, the light refreshment, for celebrating in the modern manner

This week-end, notice them on the beaches, watch them at picnics, catch them in the evening in their summer party clothes.

Have you ever seen so many people look so wonderful, no matter what they wear? It's the modern slender figure that does it—and the modern, wholesome trend to food and drink that's lighter and less filling.

A trend with which Pepsi-Cola has steadily kept pace. That's why today's Pepsi is dry (not too sweet), reduced in calories.

And why Pepsi is now more popular than ever! This week-end, refresh without filling. Look to your holiday supply of Pepsi-Cola now.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK UP—Railroad issues led a further rally on the stock market in the morning trading today with sales the best in more than a week.

Carrier gains ranged to a point or more in such issues as Atlantic Coast Line, Denver & Rio Grande, Illinois Central, and Santa Fe some of these were reduced before noon.

New York Central featured in activity with blocks ranging to 5,000 shares. A sale of American Power & Light was made near noon at 2 1/2 unchanged on 15,000 shares, the largest transaction for the first part of the session.

Sales for the market as a whole totaled 240,000 shares in the first hour. This contrasted with a mere 130,000 shares yesterday, smallest since Aug. 31, 1949.

Some of the oils ran up a point or more and a few special issues including G. R. Kinney and Fidelity-Phenix were strong. The motors held in a narrow range. Steels were firm. In the tires, Goodyear rose a point while Firestone lost 1/2.

'Near Panic' In Cattle Section

ARDMORE, Okla. (UP)—Agricultural officials from 10 Southern states said today a "near panic" had developed among cattlemen watching their stock and range go to ruin under the merciless summer sun.

The officials, in conference here, asked for a federal guarantee of 12 cents a pound for beef on the worst Southwest drought in history, falling meat prices, insect pests, and a simmering heat wave.

Mearwhile, Texas Gov. Allan Shivers asked all residents of that state to offer prayers for rain Sunday because all "human means" of drought-relief had been exhausted.

And in Colorado, Gov. Dan Thornton announced that the worst grasshopper invasion in the state's history was menacing 1,200,000 acres of farm and ranch lands.

The Southern farm experts wound up a three-day meeting here by endorsing "high level rigid support for farm commodities" with production quotas to keep the supply in check. States represented were Oklahoma, Kentucky, Louisiana, Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Federal aid for portions of Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, Arkansas and New Mexico has already been pledged by the Eisenhower administration and some rains have sprinkled the parched land. But the rain came too late to save most crops, and the federal relief measures can do little more than help ranchers and farmers "hang on" this summer.

In Kansas, cattle were removed from U. S. grazing lands and the feed situation was called "serious." Missouri planned to join the list of states asking federal disaster relief.

The U. S. D. A. said movement of cattle and calves to market and to other grazing areas continued here, but was somewhat below the "runs" on livestock markets two weeks ago.

Seeks Rebuild Democrat Party In Texas Address

BRYAN, Tex. (UP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell tried to resell the National Democratic Party to Texas voters today after predicting the party would rebuild on "the rock of the Solid South."

Mitchell, touring the state on a party goodwill jaunt, speaks here today and at Waco tonight.

At Beaumont last night the Democratic chairman said "the Democratic party of the future will be built on the rock of the Solid South" but warned that it must "join North and South, East and West."

He told an audience at Kilgore, Tex., earlier that "those Republicans who believe that depressions are inevitable are simply selling America short."

The 49-year-old Chicago attorney said "the old GOP elephant has forgotten nothing and has learned nothing. The party still stands for reaction in domestic affairs and isolation in foreign affairs."

He criticized President Eisenhower's administration as one of "big business" and said the trend toward tight money was curtailing industrial expansion, home building and other activities.

He said Americans are becoming alarmed at the "meat ax" cuts in the Air Force budget. "If tight money plunges us into depression we can still survive but if our anxiety to reduce taxes leads to a cut in our national defenses below the margin of safety," he said, "then not only our wealth, but our lives and civilization will be lost."

Pleads Freedom Of Expression At NEA Session

MIAMI BEACH Fla. (UP)—The president of the National Education Association appealed today for freedom of expression so that the public school system "can serve its avowed purpose everywhere."

Mrs. Sarah C. Caldwell of Akron, O., a teacher and retiring president of NEA, made the plea before 5,000 educators attending the convention's general assembly.

"In our public schools," Mrs. Caldwell said, "we have the true instrument of human progress. But such progress can continue only when the climate is right—when the air is cleared by forthright, open discussion."

The nation has nothing to fear, she said, as long as "there is an enlightened American citizenry which dares to venture out ahead with its wealth of talent and ideas."

"We must, therefore, continue to strengthen our public school system today, tomorrow and every day until it serves its avowed purpose everywhere."

Topics ranging from teaching about the United Nations to the importance of educators' "peace of mind" came up for consideration today as NEA moved into the fourth day of its 91st annual meeting.

Thirty sectional meetings and discussion groups were scheduled before thousands of educators met for an afternoon general session to hear preliminary committee reports and greetings from PTA President Mrs. Newton P. Leonard of Chicago and a South Korean leader here to thank NEA for its aid to teachers overseas.

Discussing moral and spiritual education in classroom and community, Roscoe H. White of Shreveport, La., said that "an emotionally disturbed teacher in a few brief moments can destroy the faith and high ideals that have taken maybe months or years to build up in some children."

"Peace of mind on the part of the classroom teacher is of major importance to the children in that room," said White.

He added that moral and spiritual education must permeate the school program "and the entire curriculum from arithmetic to zoology."

Checks Awaiting Tobacco Growers

Here is another instalment of names of tobacco farmers who had crops in the 1947, '48 and '49 seasons and who have a lot of money coming to them after they identify themselves.

The Flue Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation, Raleigh, is holding hundreds of checks for farmers whose addresses are not now known.

Persons whose names are listed here should communicate with the Stabilization Corporation in Raleigh for full information.

Two Local Tobacco Companies Have Recent Changes In Organizations

Changes in officers of two local tobacco companies were made recently at meetings of the boards of directors of the companies.

Charles W. Howard Jr. formerly executive vice-president of Greenville Tobacco Company, was named president of the company, filling the post formerly held by his father, the late C. W. Howard.

E. C. Wilkerson, formerly secretary of the company, was elevated to the post of vice-president, and John L. Howard was elected secretary of the company. H. L. Narron was re-elected assistant secretary of Greenville Tobacco Company.

R. M. Garrett Jr. of Greenville and Lumberton yesterday became vice-president of Person-Garrett Tobacco Company, by action of the board of directors. R. M. Garrett Sr. of Greenville is chairman of the board of directors of Person-Garrett Company, and W. S. Bost of Greenville is president of the company.

The South Greenville Park Committee will meet tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the Fleming Street School auditorium. All interested persons are asked to attend, and each club is asked to have a representative present. This is very important.

The senior ladies auxiliary of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church will meet Sunday at the home of Mrs. Rosa Langley, 1302 W. 2nd St.

Colored News

Mrs. L. R. Taylor has returned home after spending a week in Brooklyn, N. Y., where she attended the National Baptist Sunday School Congress which met there.

She was a delegate from Sycamore Hill Baptist Church, Others who went from this area were Rev. J. A. Nimmo and Rev. J. E. Tillett. Rev. Tillett is pastor of Cornerstone Baptist Church.

While in New York Mrs. Taylor was house guest of Mrs. Augusta Blount and daughter, Mrs. Holland McLawhorn. They were formerly of Pitt County.

The Pastor's Aid Club of St. Peter's Baptist Church will have its second anniversary Sunday night. Rev. E. N. Staton will preach. All are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Bryant of Chester, Pa.; and 75 grandchildren and 85 great-grandchildren.

Released North Koreans Offer Join ROK Army

PUSAN, Korea (UP)—About 1,000 North Korean war prisoners freed by President Syngman Rhee have volunteered to serve in the South Korean fighting forces, reliable sources said today.

The prisoners volunteered for service either in the army or in the national police who are fighting Red guerrillas in South Korea. The volunteers, easily recognizable as former prisoners, were loaded into trucks today and taken north, cheering Rhee and the Republic of Korea.

A Korean government spokesman said in Seoul that there is no organized plan to induct the freed men into the army.

"But President Rhee has received petitions written in blood from thousands of former prisoners asking that they be allowed to fight against the Communists," the spokesman said.

Wreck Victim's Condition Said To Be 'Grave'

The condition of C. B. Galloway of Greenville is chairman of the board of directors of Person-Garrett Company, and W. S. Bost of Greenville is president of the company.

The condition of C. B. Galloway of Greenville, who was injured in an automobile accident at Paris and Myrtle Avenues yesterday morning, was reported today as being "grave."

A car driven by Mr. Galloway was involved in an accident with Billy Dunn, of near Greenville.

Pitt Memorial Hospital reported the injured man had not regained consciousness this morning. Full extent of his injuries had not been determined due to the man's condition.

Investigating officer W. C. Flake this morning said that investigation of the accident is still "under investigation."

Taxi And Pickup Truck Collide

A taxi and a pickup truck collided this morning on Cotanche St. but no injuries or arrests were reported by police.

Investigating officer J. B. Cannon identified the drivers as James Marshall Williams of 100 W. 3rd Street as driver of the taxi and June Applewhite, 604 McKinley Avenue, as driver of the truck.

The truck was undamaged and damage to the taxi was estimated at approximately $20.

Cooley Endorsed For Appointment To Senate Seat

WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Thurmond Chatham (D-NC) said today he endorsed Rep. Harold C. Cooley (D-NC) for appointment to the Senate to replace the late Sen. Willis Smith who died last week.

Chatham said he has sent his views to Gov. William B. Umstead. He expects the governor to make an appointment this weekend.

Cooley has been in the House for 19 years and is ranking Democrat on the House Agriculture Committee. Willis' term as senator runs until 1955.

Chatham has shown his ability and would make a "very creditable, fine senator."

Former Robersonville Native Dies In Norfolk

Mrs. Edith Vick Fleming, 33, wife of Roy Fleming of Norfolk, died early Tuesday morning at her home in Norfolk, Virginia.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the arrival of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Vick, who have been visiting a daughter in California.

Mrs. Fleming was born and reared in Robersonville and had been living in Norfolk for the past 13 years. She had been a clerical worker until about a year ago.

Surviving are her husband; her parents; a sister, Mrs. J. S. Brown of California.

Grizzly Escaped From Zoo Pen

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Zoo keepers today kept a wary eye on a yearling grizzly bear that escaped, lunged at its pursuers and stalked through a park where 150 children were playing.

A frightened caretaker sounded the alarm when the 200-pound brute bounded across a path in front of him yesterday.

A crew of zookeepers, armed with pitch-forks, policemen and park officials ran the silvertip down in the park. The children were unaware the grizzly was in the vicinity until the men surrounded the bear.

Polio Toll Still Behind '52 Count

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Public Health Service said today there were 538 cases of polio reported last week as compared to 583 in the comparable week of 1952.

The total for the year now stands at 4,087 as compared to 3,556 cases reported in the same period last year.

Mrs. Ralph C. Deal Dies; Rites Friday

Mrs. Celeste Deal, wife of Ralph C. Deal, died in Pitt Memorial Hospital at 8:25 Thursday morning. She had been critically ill for two days.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Chapel of the Wilkerson Funeral Home Friday morning at 11 o'clock by the Rev. L. W. Topping, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, assisted by the Rev. J. W. Hassell, Presbyterian minister of Greenville. Burial will be in the Methodist church cemetery at Elizabethtown at four o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Deal was born and reared in Elizabethtown and came to Greenville in 1923. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and was active in the Women's work of the church as long as her health permitted. She was an active member for a number of years in the Woman's Club and the Garden Club, and was also active in the work of United Daughters of Confederation and Daughters of American Revolution.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Miss Elizabeth R. Deal of Greenville and Mrs. William Merner of Hopewell, Va.; two sons, Ralph C. Deal Jr. of Washington, D. C. and N. Harvey Deal of Charlottesville, Va.; seven grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. J. Bayard Fayetteville.

The family requests no flowers.

City Tax Levy Collection Is Nearly Complete

More than 95 per cent of the 1952 city tax levy now has been collected, it was reported today by the city clerk's office.

Total amount collected of the $322,268.57 levy for 1952 amounts to $306,513.18 as of the close of the fiscal year Tuesday. This leaves $15,755.39 of this year's levy still to be collected.

Two words that mean so much... "OUR Kimball!" A long-cherished dream, now an inspiring reality. And the children's musical benefits assured. Its styling is authentically beautiful! Its performance outstanding through the exclusive Kimball "Tone-Touch" features. A Kimball piano is within the reach of everyone. All these bring a justifiable pride of ownership to Kimball owners.

Come in, see the new incomparable Kimball! They cost considerably less than you might expect.

YES! I GIVE IN! I SURRENDER!

ACQUIESCE!

CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK

YOU CAN "SPOT" A PERSON'S OCCUPATION BY THE LOCATION OF HIS CALLUSES.

AS ZONING COMMISSIONER, I POINTED OUT TO B. O. PLENTY THAT HE HAD BEEN VIOLATING THE LAW FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

WE ALSO SUGGESTED THAT SINCE HE WAS THE COMMUNITY'S MOST PROGRESSIVE CITIZEN, HE SHOULD GET ON THE BALL.

WE POINTED OUT THE CONVENIENCES OF THE MODERN BATHROOM.

THEN UNCLE CANHEAD PLAYED HIS ACE-IN-THE-HOLE AGAIN!

HE SAID HE WANTED TO BUILD THE BATHROOM STRICTLY AS A GIFT TO SPARKLE!

AND SPEAKING OF UNCLE CANHEAD— THEN IT'S AGREED! TOMORROW I SHALL GET A CATALOG FROM THE FINEST FIXTURE HOUSE IN AMERICA AND YOU CAN PICK OUT JUST WHAT YOU WANT.

HOORAY! YOWEE! WHEE!

AND I HAVE A REAL SURPRISE FOR YOU! IN THE MAIL TODAY I RECEIVED A PACKAGE FROM AUNT LENOUR.

YES?

IT'S THE ONLY KNOWN PICTURE OF THE EIGHT PLENTY BROTHERS TOGETHER!

OPEN IT, CERTIE.

WHAT?

WELL, I'LL BE DAD-DOGGED! I DIDN'T KNOW US EIGHT BROTHERS EVER HAD A PITCHER TOOK.

SHE SAYS, "IT'S A FAMILY HEIRLOOM. IT CAN BE HANDED DOWN TO YOUR CHILDREN AND THEIR CHILDREN."

"IT'S THE ONLY PITCHER EVER TOOK OF ALL YOU PLENTY BOYS TOGETHER."

"THERE'S ONLY ONE TROUBLE WITH IT. IT WAS TOOKEN BY PA'S COUSIN BESS AT THE OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION."

AND ALL 8 OF YOU PLENTY BROTHERS WAS ON THE MERRY-GO-ROUND AT THE TIME.

"NATURALLY, NONE OF YOUR LITTLE FACES IS TOO CLEAR."

BLONDIE by CHIC YOUNG

HAS EVERYBODY GOT THEIR BLANKETS?

YES, DEAR. COME ON--WE'RE READY TO GO

HERE WE COME

WELCOME

AREN'T THE WOODLEYS SWEET TO LET US ALL SLEEP OVER HERE WHILE OUR HOUSE IS BEING PAINTED?

YEH, BUT I'M GETTING HUNGRY

I HEAR SOMEONE IN THE KITCHEN

IT'S PROBABLY JUST DAGWOOD --I TOLD HIM TO HELP HIMSELF IF HE GOT HUNGRY

WHAT ON EARTH IS THAT?

ONE OF MY SPECIAL SANDWICHES--WANT ME TO MAKE YOU ONE, TOO?

HOW DO YOU LIKE IT, HERB?

I NEVER TASTED ANYTHING QUITE LIKE IT BEFORE

YEOW--MY STOMACH IS TURNING HANDSPRINGS

YEOW

YOU TRIED TO POISON ME!

COME ON, NOW--WHAT WAS IN THAT SANDWICH?

HONEST HERB--IT WAS JUST ONION AND PEANUT BUTTER AND SARDINES AND JELLY AND CHEESE AND PICCALILLI

FINE THING--NOW OUR WIVES ARE DISGUSTED WITH US AND LOCKED US OUT!

YOU'RE LUCKY YOU LIVE RIGHT NEXT DOOR TO ME--WE CAN SLEEP IN OUR HOUSE

WHAT ABOUT THAT SMELL OF NEW PAINT?

A BILLION PEOPLE IN THE WORLD AND I HAVE YOU AS A NEIGHBOR
