Back With Wife After 50 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—White-haired Clara Stickle, 86, said today she "never stopped loving" her husband who walked out of their home 50 years ago and didn't come back until this week.

Her husband, Charles, also 86, said he was ready to make up with his wife and forget the quarrel that brought the separation on their 15th wedding anniversary, Nov. 21, 1903.

In fact, he chuckled, he could barely remember what the quarrel was about.

Stickle returned to his wife Tuesday at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stickle. There was not a word of reproach from Clara.

"It was the most wonderful welcome I ever had. Nobody ever received a warmer homecoming," Stickle said.

His wife smiled and took his hand. "I have waited for Charles for 50 years. I never stopped loving him," she said.

Stickle said he believes the argument which prompted his abrupt departure was over whether they should take a roomer into their home. He believed they didn't have space for a roomer.

Clara said she was convinced that Stickle left because his family resented his marrying "a poor girl."

Stickle said he got a divorce from Clara 25 years ago in Detroit and married a woman from Ohio. She died last year. He retired from his job with a jewelry manufacturer in 1946.

Stickle said he would return to Detroit Sunday to wind up his affairs there.

"But this time I'll come back home," he said.

The couple entered the church together. The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white lace over satin with fitted bodice and long sleeves.

Her shoulder length veil of nylon net was attached to a tiara of orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple throated orchid and showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. James Few, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a ballerina length dress of blue nylon net over taffeta with a matching net headress and mitts. She carried a bouquet of mixed summer flowers, showered with satin streamers.

A. K. Evans Jr. was the bridegroom's best man. Ushers were J. W. Black Jr., brother of the bride, and Earl Black, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Manning was graduated from Erwin High School and Hamlet Hospital School of Nursing, Hamlet, N. C., and at present is employed with Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Former Ziegfeld Beauty Succumbs

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Frankie Bailey, whose "million dollar legs" made her a top draw musical comedy star in the gaslight era, died yesterday, lame and almost blind. She was 94.

Flo Ziegfeld once called her "the most beautiful woman in the world" and Broadway was her oyster for 20 years, but Miss Bailey had complained in her old age "I wish I were dead."

She died in a sanitarium, a 47-month ward of the state.

In the gay 90s Miss Bailey appeared with other stars such as Weber and Fields, Lillian Russell, David Warfield and De Wolf Hopper. Her legs were insured for $1,000,000.

"I always played in tights," she recalled recently. "I didn't have to sing or dance. They just wanted to look at my legs. I was famous overnight."

One of her most famous shows was one called "The Black Crook" which appeared on Broadway 58 years ago. Other shows were "Whirl-I-Gig," "Fiddle-Dee-Dee" and "Hokey Pokey."

Miss Bailey was born Frankie Walters in New Orleans. She changed her name when her mother remarried after her father's death. Her stepbrother was A. J. Bailey, a partner in the Barnum and Bailey circus.

She came to Hollywood in 1922 to enter films at the age of 43 and played minor roles in many pictures. After a stint at that, she declared, "I never got the parts I deserved. They wanted me to wear bathing suits."

Six years ago, at a birthday party at Ciro's, she told friends "This is so wonderful, I want no more birthdays. I hope I'm dust by next year. I wish I were dead. What is left for me?"

Lovely To Look At, But Bedlam Prevails

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Fifteen beauties from as many countries may be lovely to behold, but behind the scenes all is bedlam.

Miss Turkey was trying to learn two sentences in English. Miss Switzerland was pressing an organdy petticoat. Miss Italy was taking a bath and Miss Germany had succumbed to exhaustion when a reporter stopped by to interview the girls who will represent their countries in the Miss Universe contest in Long Beach, Calif., Thursday.

Miss South Africa walked into the bedroom of the hotel suite that served as headquarters for the girls' three-day visit here and said, "This heat ... I can't stand it. It's so oppressive."

They were rounded up after a day of sightseeing for some television films being made in the living room of the suite. Some wore bathing suits, including Miss Switzerland (Danielle Oudinet, 30) who was ironing the petticoat in one corner of the bedroom. Others wore bathrobes or evening dresses.

"We call it the look of Greece," volunteered Miss Greece (Dorotta Xirou, 19) as she combed her short, reddish blonde hair. "It was taken from the statue of Hermes." She was referring to her haircut, which resembled the jagged coiffeures known as Italian cuts over here.

The international beauties are so anxious to cooperate with curious questioners that they've already given their opinions on American men, American women, marriage, movies and various other subjects.

"American men look for obvious beauty, for pinup girls," Miss Oud-said Miss France, Christine Martel: "I would also like to be in the movies."

Miss Italy, who is Titta Stazi, came out of the steaming-bathroom to say she'd like to marry an American, only they left her so little time to see the American Air Force sergeant who met her at the plane on Sunday that she supposed she'd have to meet someone else.
"I would like to be in the movies too, but that doesn't mean I couldn't marry an American. I hope," she added.

Summer TV Programs No Longer Just Fill-Ins

By JACK GAYNER
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The millennium has not yet arrived, but there is an occasional sign that the planners of summertime television programs are trying to do more than just hold the franchise until the established stars and shows return in the fall.

One of the more ambitious efforts to keep the TV fan off the streets during the hot months gets under way Saturday night at 10 o'clock when the first of a weekly series of half-hour dramas will be presented on the CBS network under the title "The Medalion Theater."

This is an upper bracket enterprise, as can be gathered from the fact that Henry Fonda is the star the first week, the first property was bought from the Sinclair Lewis estate and the director is William Spier, who handled the out-sized "Omnibus" program all last season.

"I assume that breaking in such a program during what is supposed to be the off-season," said Spier, "is an indication that the sponsor (Chrysler) feels the TV audience will be just as appreciative of good entertainment in the summer as in the winter."

A few seasons back there may have been something to the argu-

Pressure Grows For Staging Of 'Big Four' Meet

By PHIL NEWSOM
United Press Foreign News Editor
Pressure is building on President Eisenhower to agree to a four-power meeting with Russia.

Both Britain and France favor such a move and are expected to try to impress their views on United States Secretary of State John Foster Dulles when the Big Three Foreign Ministers meet in Washington Friday.

The powerful West German Socialists favor it because they believe it is their best chance to achieve a re-united Germany.

This week another voice was added.

It was that of Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito — whose past association with Moscow makes him the best qualified man in Europe to interpret the Kremlin's mind and moves — believes that Russia is in the midst of policy changes brought on by past mistakes and weaknesses.

Tito says his mind was made up by the abrupt changes in Hungary where Premier Matyas Raskosi was deposed and the industrialization campaign sharply emphasized.

First reaction to the bewildering succession of events behind Europe's "Iron Curtain" was one of suspicion — that even the East German uprisings somehow masked some vast new Russian scheme.

Since then, however, the belief has grown that at least some of the events are real and not just tactical.

East German workers who at first attempted unsuccessfully to fight Russian tanks with their bare hands, now have adopted subtler tactics.

Allied sources in Berlin confirm a passive resistance campaign involving slowdowns, slowdowns and strikes by perhaps as many as 100,000 workers. The theory apparently is that, while the Russians might imprison or deport thousands, they would find it difficult to do the same to hundreds of thousands.

In the satellites also there is reason to believe that the Russians are acting through necessity.

Near starvation conditions have been rumored for months in Hungary both as result of inefficiency in the cooperatives and of a passive resistance campaign among the peasant farmers.

Similar conditions are known to exist in Czechoslovakia.

The result has been that the Russians have been compelled to ease up their campaign to build heavy industry and do something about food production.

Tito believes there is a change in Soviet policy but not basic aims.

Look Who's Got A Bear By The Tail

Somebody Told Me . . .

Kim Wrote 'Thank You' Note

This is a continuation of a recent column about Major Tommy Sellers of the U. S. Marine Air Corps and his young Korean friend, Kim. The news comes through Mrs. Sellers, who is living here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Copeland, while Tommy is overseas.

The story is inspiring because Tommy's Squadron has taken so much interest in Kim, the Korean boy who is their orderly. At Christmas, the fliers took up a collection and bought him a bicycle.

Dot Sellers and her daughters, Sharon and Bunny, sent Kim a bell for his bicycle. Along with his Uncle, who knows some English, Kim composed this letter:

"Dear Sharon,
"Thank you for the letter and bell, also the book. I am very glad to get it, and I am very moving for the story of Jesus in a book that was sent in the same package. I like the bell very much. I think you have a same bell on your bike too.

"I hope you are very enjoying with your sister Bunny and your Mother. I am sixteen years old now and I will go to high school very soon. I have three young sisters and one baby brother.

"I am very happy to say that I am real enjoying with your daddy. My daddy is very nice man and he is always works very hard for our country. I have a nice daddy, too. He is a business man.

"I will waiting for your next letter also. I would like to have some picture of your family.

"Good bye

JACK EDWARDS

"From: Kim Kyung Sun"
There's no telling how much effort Kim put on that letter. Evidently his Uncle enjoys using the word "enjoy" and very Tommy says that Kim can speak Korean, Japanese and Chinese fluently.

Dot hesitates to tell about Tommy's accomplishments in Korea. She is so proud that she's afraid she'll over-do any comment. But she will admit that he's received two Distinguished Flying Crosses for outstanding achievement. After flying 100 missions with the Able-Eagles, an F-9 jet squad, Tommy was transferred to fly Sabre jets with the Army.

Dot says, "He'll be back home in August, and he can tell you the story himself then."

And I thank you

What Other Editors Are Thinking

HOW IT VANISHES

(Wilson Times)

The two cents per gallon Uncle Sam collects on gasoline yields $800,000,000. It's supposed to be returned to the states to help with their highways. But only $550,000,000 comes back. What happens to the other $250,000,000? Is that the overhead cost because we send our money to Washington? And wouldn't we be better off if the national government turned that field over to the states? Wouldn't they be more likely to get $800,000,000 worth of roads for $800,000,000?

We know there are two sides. We know, too, that some of that $250,000,000 which Washington retains goes for engineering, for planning uniformity, for working out military necessities. But should it cost as much as Washington pays? It'll always be open to debate as long as we need roads as badly as we do. With 39,678,000 cars on the roads, two-thirds of which were made since the war, how could we ever accommodate them if all chose to be on the roads at the same time?

We hear much about the needs of our schools and we know they exist. But we'll build roads long before we build schools, unless The Times is mistaken. For the demand is coming from that 39,000,000 motorists who need the roads to go places. They're willing, or so it seems, to pay the gasoline taxes for those roads. But what they want is most they can get for the money. Which, then, to your way of thinking, gives the better service, the states or the national government? And you think it's the states, communicate your thinking to the Congressman who represents your district.

Around Capitol Square

State Capital Now Quiet -- Offices Are Marking Time

nothing, waiting for the new bosses who have not yet been named to take charge of affairs. Some other agencies also were not working at full capacity because of absorbing curiosity among the personnel about what was going to happen to those positions and employees still hanging over the fire.

ON GUARD — Ed Rankin, the Governor's private secretary, was on vacation. So was the Capitol receptionist. "The General," Highway Patrol Corporal Harold Minges, who is the official driver and aide to this third Governor, was at the information desk, standing by in event he might be needed in the main office. Usually, when not at the steering wheel or on a mission for the Chief, Minges spends his time around the Executive Mansion.

FANATICS — It is surprising how many fanatics insist upon seeing the Governor. North Carolina does not provide any such elaborate bodyguard set-up for its chief executive as is provided for the President of the United States. There is, however, a sort of unwritten rule that the Governor shall not be for very long out of contact with some trusted man. It is not a bad idea. Last week, for example, a man visited both the office and the mansion and insisted upon seeing Governor Umstead, because "Jesus had told him to lay his hands on the Governor and make him well." That visitor proved to be perfectly harmless; but there is always the possibility that some fellow might think Jesus had told him to lay hands on the Governor for some other purpose. The mail coming to the Governor's office now and in previous administration contains many items of advice, warning and occasional threats inspired by what the writer professes to be direct orders from God.

DEMOCRACY — Associate Justice Maurice W. Barnhill of the State Supreme Court has found a standard by which to determine whether a government or a people is genuinely democratic. The distinctive characteristic of a real democracy, he says, is that it takes care of the handicapped, the unfortunate, the definitely underprivileged, Dictatorship, whether by a monarch, an oligarchy, a plutocracy or the proletariat, is not concerned with the welfare of the individual as a human being, but only as an integer citizen or a pawn or a statistic. Democracy is concerned with the individual as a person. Justice Barnhill stated this opinion in an informal conversation the other day just after he had officiated in administering the oath of office to members of a State commission concerned with development of human resources. He made clear the distinction between democracy, as he interpreted it, and the attitude of the remembered as on the nature of the events recalled. D.P. McDufee, Henderson attorney and 2nd time member of the General Assembly, was around Capitol square the other day. He quoted an elderly friend as saying that no old man should remember anything more than ten years back. McDufee recognized some merit in the suggestion, but inasmuch as is legislative service was in 1933, he likes to remember the progress which the State has made since then. He doesn't think the designation of "old man" should apply to a fellow in the active sixties, but he concedes that maybe the things remembered should be more frequently re-appraised and evaluated; and there are some things incident to the deep depression times of 20 years ago he would like to forget.

FOLKS — He did not want to forget the way Governor Ehringhaus stood as a bulwark against assaults upon the integrity of State credit. He did not want to forget how valiantly his colleagues in the General Assembly

Consumer Debts Up

By ELMER ROESSNER
The Federal Reserve's newest report on consumer credit showing nonbusiness borrowers and buyers on charge and installment accounts owed a total of $26,715,000,000 on May 29 has given investors with alarm something to look at.

Again speeches and statements are being made to the effect that consumer indebtedness is dangerously high. It rose $544,000,000 in one month and more than $5 billion since May, 1952. To statements — such as have appeared here — that the indebtedness is not out of line with consumer income, and, hence, consumer ability to pay, uneasy economists say, "True. But if there should be a downturn, the heavy indebtedness might change the downturn into a down-spin. A rash of unemployment would cut payments on debts and this might bankrupt merchants and lenders."

The July letter of the National City Bank of New York, without any reference to the latest consumer credit report, throws some interesting light on it.

It is axiomatic that for every dollar of debt there must be a dollar of credit. National City points out that the Federal Government owes no less than $265 billion in interest-bearing debts and that state and local governments owe $3 billion more.

Business, it calculates, has $120 billion in credits and $167 billion in debt, a net-indebtedness of $47 billion.

Who has the credit off-setting all this debt? To whom is it owed? Not the banks, because bank credits and debts are in balance.

Well, says National City, it's the average citizen. He is the fellow who owes that $26.7 billion in consumer credit.

In addition to that, individuals owe, as of December 31, 1952, $58 billion in nonfarm home mortgages, $7 billion in farm mortgages and $8 billion in other farm indebtedness, for a total of around $69 billion.

WOMEN TELL WHY . . .
TWO SEND GOODS BACK . . .

Unless retailing is a lot different in New York than it is elsewhere, new survey by a New York newspaper (The Journal-American) may be of interest to local merchants. Of 5,000 women interviewed, 78 said they had sent various purchases back to stores.

Among the reasons given: furniture arrived with one piece missing and the store did not send the missing piece; goods arrived soiled; substitute items received; curtains in wrong sizes were delivered; too long delay between order and delivery; wrong color delivered; item was not the same as advertised; the same item was seen later at a lower price, and the item was a gift duplicating something the recipient already had.

'Horses Are More Human'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The fat man leaned back in the resort chair and looked out across the calm and peaceful sea.

He was thankful he was all alone and could idly wonder about little things—such as, how many waves at that very moment wrinkled the ocean between him and England. A thousand? A million? Maybe two million? Who cared?

The next second a small, bare-kneed girl of about 11 galloped up, her horsetail hair flying behind her, and collapsed into the chair beside him.

The fat man closed his eyes, hoping she would go away, but when he opened them again she was staring at him, broodingly.

"Are you a rancher?" she asked.

"No, indeed," said the fat man, with a feeling of intense satisfaction. "Why?"

"Because if I'm going to live on a ranch, I have to find a rancher to marry," said the girl. "I'm simply crazy about horses. I like horses better than people. Horses are more human."

"Don't you think I'm human?" asked the fat man. Silence. He glanced over, and the little girl politely looked away. The fat man felt crushed.

Suddenly, the girl leaped up, ran four times up and down the walk and collapsed again into her chair, panting.

"Your father planning on entering you in the Kentucky Derby next year?" asked the fat man.

"No, silly. I'm training. At our school during recess, the girls all chase the boys and catch them. We don't kiss them. We just throw them down and sit on them."

"I see."

"All the girls chase Jimmy Flint. He's the most popular boy in school. But some of the bigger girls can run faster than I can, and when I catch up there's no room for me to sit on Jimmy. That's why I'm training."

"I see. Why is this Jimmy so popular?"

"He's human."

That word again: The fat man felt blue.

"Do you know why the moron put his father in the icebox?" the girl asked. "You don't? Why are all men so dumb anyway? He put his father in the icebox because he liked cold pop."

"Get it? Here's another. Why did the moron cut off his fingers? Give up? Because he wanted to learn shorthand."

The little girl shook her horse-tail and laughed, and said: "I just love horses and jokes and riddles. Here's a riddle: What is black and white and red all over?"

"Pooh," said the fat man. "That had whiskers on it when I was in kindergarten. I know the answer. It's a newspaper."

"Oh no it isn't. A newspaper is black and white and red all over. I asked what's black and white and red all over. This is brand new. Give up."

"Well, I don't know whether I will or not," said the fat man. "Oh, please do. I can't wait. It's really a good one."

"Okay. I give up. What is it?"

"An embarrassed bebra."

The fat man laughed aloud, and the little girl, pleased, said: "Don't you know a joke to tell me? Just one."

Dredging deep in his memory, the fat man said:

"Okay, let's play house."

"Play house?" she puzzled.

"Yes, play house," said the fat man triumphantly. "You be the door and I'll slam you."

"Y-y- you be the door," she screamed in glee. "A-and I'll slam you; Oh that's a wonderful one. Wait until I tell that one at school."

"I see."

Worn out with joy, she sat silently looking at the sea for a moment. Then she rose, turned her small freckled face to him and said earnestly:

"I have to go now. You know I wish you were a rancher. You're . . . you're human."

Then she galloped away, horsetail flying, leaving behind her a fat man who yearned less to be a rancher than he did to be 11 years old again.

A Tribute Deserved By Lindsay Warren

The esteemed Comptroller General Lindsay Warren enjoys among both Democratic and Republican members of Congress is evidenced by House action this week to grant him a full pension after his retirement from his present post.

In the House of Representatives Tuesday, both Democrats and Republicans joined in praising the Washington, N. C. native for his capable, efficient, and honest administration of one of the most important positions in the federal government. The occasion arose as the House considered a bill introduced by Congressman Herbert Bonner of the first congressional district, which would grant Warren his full salary of $17,500 annually after he retires in 1955 as Comptroller General.

Warren was appointed to the office by President Roosevelt for a 15-year term, and is ineligible for reappointment.

In his position as chief watchdog of the governments financial operations, Warren probably has done the most outstanding job of any appointed federal official. Under Democratic administrations and Republican, he has toed the line and called the shots straight from the shoulder on Uncle Sam's financial matters. His administration of the General Accounting Office certainly has not been pock-marked by political favoritism to members of either party.

Among many other contributions to the financial stability of the federal government, Warren has held a tight line on spending by other governmental agencies, and his work and diligence doubtlessly has saved American taxpayers many millions during his years as Comptroller General.

The special act by the House — expected to be followed by passage of the bill in the Senate — must give Lindsay Warren a great sense of satisfaction for the appreciation thus expressed for his service to the federal government. No less does it give a great deal of satisfaction to North Carolina's first congressional district which Warren represented in Congress before resigning to accept his present job.

Some may attack the special bill granting a pension to Warren on grounds of economy; but certainly it is a gesture greatly deserved by the recipient.

A Dubious Distinction For Two Drivers

Two Fort Bragg soldiers gained the dubious distinction of being convicted and penalized under the new state law providing stiffer penalties for speeding.

The two soldiers forfeited their driver's licenses for 30 days under the new law providing the mandatory suspension for exceeding the speed limit by more than 15 miles per hour.

Both the soldiers were arrested on July 1, the day the law became effective.

As the days under the new speeding law law wear on, there will be others whose drivers' licenses will be revoked for similar offenses.

The new law may seem harsh, but the suspension of licenses should be an effective measure for cutting down the number of drivers on the state's highways who habitually push the speedometer beyond the 70 mph mark.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
INHALE DEEPLY

We have all seen the neat stone wells built around tree trunks when the regrading of a lawn would have brought the soil a foot or two above the natural level of the ground. The tree would die if soil were to be piled around it. So people who want to raise the level of their lawns and still keep their big trees build a little stone wall around these trees so that they can continue to breathe.

We found the same thing recently with our rose bushes. For some reason they were failing to bring forth satisfactory bloom. Then when a little of the soil was removed from around their roots, they suddenly sprang ahead and bloomed in profusion.

There are thousands of lives today that are being smothered by circumstances that have been graded up to such an extent that they make it impossible for people in the midst of these circumstances to breathe and live. The idea of outgoing neighbors with the newest model of automobile or TV set, with the biggest cocktail party or the best clothes constitute pathetic attempts to get up in the world, to get ahead, and to have the best and the biggest and the most talked about; and all this to the destruction of wholesome ideals and the gradual smothering of satisfactory life.

Remember, folks, you must breathe—and your souls must breathe as well as your bodies.

Trying To Keep Adlai Alive

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON—Although Adlai E. Stevenson has been visiting remote sections of the world for weeks, his friends and admirers have taken special pains that the name and memory of the 1952 Democratic Presidential nominee remain in the political spotlight. Their devotion irritates both the Truman regulars and the Roosevelt-Harriman liberals.

Several prominent Democratic leaders now refer to the Congressional Record as a "Stevenson campaign sheet." Their sarcastic comment derives from the fact that an almost daily account of Stevenson's travels, speeches and interviews has been inserted in the Record since he left the United States.

STEVENSON NOT CRITICAL—These reports consist of newspaper articles which Barry Bingham, the defeated candidate's traveling companion, sends back to his newspaper, the Louisville Courier-Journal. They are invariably eulogistic, although Bingham's praise of the political tourist's behavior is duplicated by less partial correspondents.

All emphasize his refusal to criticize the Eisenhower Administration, or to indict the so-called colonial powers' record in the Orient, India and the Middle East. Stevenson's restraint and his small entourage frequently are contrasted with the Far Eastern trip made by Governor Thomas E. Dewey, who is said to have swaggered through these same lands in style.

SPLIT IN DEMOCRATIC PARTY—The apparent attempt to prevent the 1952 loser from becoming only a political museum piece sharpens and dramatizes a generally unrecognized split within the Democratic Party—namely, the smoldering conflict between the Truman stalwarts and the faction enrolled in the Americans for Democratic Action group.

On his recent visit to New York and Washington, the former President showed a definite antagonism toward both the Stevenson and the ADA elements. He mingled only with the politicians and former officials associated with his Administration. In fact, he made some tart comments about "reformers."

Same Old Story

Month After Month

Day-by-day it may not seem that many traffic accidents happen on highways of Eastern North Carolina.

When figures are compiled by the Highway Patrol at the end of the month, they present quite another picture.

Highway patrol statistics for the month of June show 379 accidents were investigated by the patrol in the 27 counties (including Pitt) making up "troop A". There were eight people killed and 140 injured in the 379 accidents.

If traffic accidents in individual municipalities were added to that figure, the number would shoot even higher into the hundreds.

Although the Highway Patrol did not include in its report the estimated amount of property damage involved in the 379 accidents, chances are it ran close to six figures. In addition to that, court fines and costs imposed during the month on those arrested by members of the patrol amounted to $67,932.43 in the 27 counties.

Without considering the inestimable loss due to deaths and injuries in highway accidents, it is clearly seen that a terrific toll is being paid because of carelessness on the part of people who use the highways.

The figures for June are bad enough; but the really pathetic part about it is that a similar loss is suffered every month in the year.

BALTIMORE MD. DAILY RECORD: "It is unfortunate that the charitable instincts of the public should ever be taken advantage of by unscrupulous individuals, but there are plenty of instances where 'charity rackets' have gathered in a lot of dollars. The only safe thing to do if you are approached is to check with your local Better Business Bureau or Association of Commerce."

When the former President was asked if he favored anybody for Democratic National Chairman, he proposed Frank McKinney of Indianapolis as a successor to Stephen A. Mitchell, Stevenson's personal appointee. And Truman indicated that he thought the change should be made immediately. In view of the revelations of McKinney's questionable financial deals, he is definitely not the Stevenson type of politician.

HALLEY SELECTION UPSETS MISSOURIAN—Another development which marred the Missourian's vacation was the Liberal Party's selection of Rudolph Halley as its candidate for Mayor of New York. It was Halley who, as counsel to the Kefauver Investigating Committee, exposed laxity and corruption at Washington and elsewhere during the Truman Administration.

Adolph A. Berle Jr., head of the Liberal Party, was a sub-Cabinet member under F.D.R., and is generally associated with the ADA crowd. ADA-ers figured prominently in Stevenson's circle of advisers and strategists.

ADA POLITICIANS HAVE OWN IDEAS—But the ADA politicians have ideas of their own for 1956, and the 1952 entry does not figure in them. Despite his friends' current attempts to preserve the Stevenson tradition, they realize that a man holding no public office is easily forgotten in a few years. Moreover, they shun the thought of renominating a candidate so badly defeated.

As of today, the plan is to rally around Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. of New York, with Averell Harriman and Senator Estes Kefauver as possibilities. If necessary, they might even accept Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri. Those are the only names now mentioned in party circles and conversation.

By contrast 40 years ago state and local governments received 67 per cent of all tax revenue; the Federal government 33 per cent. The huge increase in the Federal share of taxes shows plainly why the states have to depend on Federal grants." Upsala, Minn. News Tribune.

Training Of Children With Speech And Hearing Difficulties Stressed In Talks

"Every child has the right to develop his capabilities to the highest possible degree," Betty C. Wright, field secretary of the American Hearing Society, Washington, D.C., told approximately 175 people who attended Wednesday the Fourth Annual Special Education Day at East Carolina College.

As principal speaker on a program which dealt with the training of handicapped children, especially those with losses in hearing and defects of speech, she voiced the theme of the meeting. Mrs. Dorothy W. Perkins, director of special education in the East Carolina department of education, acted as chairman at sessions held during the day.

Speakers who appeared on the program included Carolina Caldwell of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults; Felix S. Barker, director of special education in the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction; and Catherine Furber, speech consultant in the Saginaw, Michigan, public schools and visiting professor at East Carolina this summer. Dean Leo W. Jenkins of East Carolina and Dr. J.K. Long, director of the college department of education, extended greetings to guests, including superintendents, principals, teachers, and others from various localities throughout North Carolina.

Miss Wright, speaking at a luncheon meeting, addressed her remarks especially to classroom teachers. She explained the special problems to the child with a hearing loss, who lives in a "world between silence and sound" and whose "line of communication with others is cut."

The American Hearing Society, she said, pioneered in work for children with losses in hearing. "We have been working for thirty years," she stated, "on the education of these children in the public schools."

Offer Workshop On Out-Of-Doors Education Study

East Carolina College is offering this summer for the second consecutive year an Outdoor Education Workshop at Crabtree State Park. The event will extend from August 10 to August 21. Final plans are now being made, and those who wish to register should do so on or before July 15. Dean Leo W. Jenkins of the college has announced.

Dr. Charles G. DeShaw of the East Carolina department of health and physical education will serve as director of the workshop and has planned activities and courses of study. "The workshop is offered," he states, "to give teachers a better orientation of how they can use the outdoors to supplement work in the classroom." Outdoor education for both elementary and secondary schools will be included in the work offered.

Dr. DeShaw will be assisted in conducting the workshop by faculty members of the college health and physical education department and by various consultants from state agencies.

Those enrolled in the workshop will use facilities of Crabtree State Park, including cabins, the dining hall, and the arts and craft lodge. Located twelve miles west of Raleigh, the park is an attractive camp site which has a well-developed waterfront and offers excellent recreational advantages.

Seven areas in outdoor education will be considered during the workshop: Camping in the School Program; Conservation; Health and Safety in Camps; Recreation; Activities; Nature Study; Social Studies, with emphasis on group living and guidance; and Outdoor Education Literature.

Cardinals' Polish Rookies Lead St. Louis To 7-3 Triumph; Brooklyn Extends Record Home Run Streak To 22 Games

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK (UP)— Sometimes it sounds more like a ski-jump than a ball game when the Cardinals win, but don't overlook those Polish rookies Rip Repulski and Ray Jablonski in the 1953 pennant race.

The Cards have such a bulwark of Polish players they have begun to call them the "Polish Falcons" and when that old Pole pop Stan Musial and his younger colleague Steve Bilko fail to produce, the younger "ski" team takes over.

That's what they did last night in Cincinnati as Repulski hit a three-run homer and Jablonski contributed five of the 15 St. Louis hits in a 7-3 two-hit victory for Wilmer Mizell, which put the Cards only half a game behind second-place Milwaukee. Mizell gave up two runs without a hit when he walked three and hit a home run in the second inning, but settled down and pitched brilliantly the way for his eighth victory against just three defeats.

The Cardinal "Ski Team" outshone the Cincy tandem of Bob Borrowski who got one of the two hits off Mizell, and Harry Perkowski, who was batted out in the seventh and suffered his seventh defeat.

Milwaukee skidded to 1-2 games behind the league leading Dodgers as Warren Hacker of the Cubs stepped the Braves 7-3 with a steady 10-hit job, while Brooklyn pounded out an 8-4 decision over the Phils and extended its record home run streak to 22 games as Carl Furillo and Gil Hodges hit for the distance. The Giants topped the Pirates 10-7 in 11 innings with a five-inning finish climaxed by Monte Irvin's homer which offset a final two-run gasp by Pittsburgh.

The Yankees moved six games in front in the American League with a 4-2 victory over the Red Sox while Chicago took over second place by clubbing Detroit to the ground 14-4. St. Louis ended its 26-game losing streak at home with a 6-3 victory over Cleveland to drop the Indians to third while Washington defeated the Athletics 7-4.

Clyde McCullough and Bill Serna hit homers for the Cubs and Frankie Baumholtz delivered a triple and three singles to set the victory pattern against Milwaukee.

The Dodgers gave Billy Loes 13-hit support as he breezed to his 11th victory at Philadelphia and the home run hitters set the overall pace, Furillo also getting two doubles and a single and Hodges also smashing two doubles.

The Giants blew a 5-0 lead and had to win the hard way in extra innings as Pittsburgh caught up with three runs in the sixth and two more in the eighth.

In the American League, the Yankees cashed in on two unearned runs to win an otherwise tightly-waged battle with the Red Sox. Gil McDougald's two run single put them ahead to stay in the first and offset two runs drilled in later by relief pitcher Sid Hudson of Boston on a triple and homer.

Chicago pounded out 15 hits including a grand slam homer by Sam Mele in its victory over the Tigers, who also got 15 hits. Minnie Minoso also batted in four runs and stole a base while Jim Rivera stole two.

The Browns put together six singles in a five-run rally to top the Indians and Clint Courtney strengthened their belated winning cause with a homer as they ended

Bakers Defeat Home Builders

Carolina Dairies collected only one base hit yesterday but they scored a 4-0 win over Wagner-Waldrop in a Men's Softball League game. Southern Bread won its first game of the second half by trimming Home Builders, 9-5.

The Dairymen put together a walk, an infield out, a hit batsman, an error and a single by George Brannan to score four runs in the fifth inning. Wagner-Waldrop threatened only once in the contest, when two men reached base in the first inning.

Southern Bread scored four runs in the top of the ninth inning to break a 5-5 stalemate and went on to win the second game. A double by Smith Worthington and a triple by Corbin were the highlights of the contest.

Exchangites Win Second Straight; Kiwanians Lose

The Jaycees humbled the Kiwanians, 3-1, in the second game of the Little League doubleheader yesterday behind the one-hit pitching of Jasper Tripp. Exchange took the measure of the Moose, 13-3, in the opening game.

Tripp lost his no-hitter in the last inning after one man had been retired, when Bobby Edwards connected for a single. The Kiwanians scored an unearned run in the fourth on three walks, an error, and a wild pitch.

Farmville Team Loses 4-2 Contest To Stantonsburg

FARMVILLE — Lefty Spencer handcuffed Farmville last night and pitched his Stantonsburg teammates to a 4-2 victory over the league leading Red Sox.

Two unearned runs in the seventh won the contest for the visitors. With Hardison and Sengstock on base, Luke McKeel hit a single into leftfield. The ball took a bad hop and went over the head of Paul Gay, allowing Hardison and Sengstock to score. McKeel was thrown out at third.

Red Benton went the distance for the losers and was touched for ten hits, including a triple by McKeel with one man on base in the sixth. Benton scored one of the Farmville runs when he stole home in the fifth inning. Spencer allowed but five hits and fanned ten batters.

Gay led off the seventh inning with a triple, but was unable to score. No Farmville batter got more than one hit.

The Bright Belt League all-star game will be held here tomorrow night and Stantonsburg is back again Saturday night. Both games start at eight p.m.

Charles Is Top Title Contender

WASHINGTON (UP)— The National Boxing Association again named Ezzard Charles the only "outstanding contender" for the heavyweight crown today, despite persistent rumors that Roland LaStarza will be the September challenger against champion Rocky Marciano.

Fred J. Saddy of Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA's Rating Committee, emphasized Charles' preferred position.

LaStarza of New York tops the "outstanding boxers" in the heavyweight division, but that department is below the logical contenders.

The name of Jersey Joe Walcott was omitted for the first time in 10 years in the organization's quarterly ratings.

In the other seven divisions, only two logical contenders are listed: Johnny Gonsalves of Oakland, Calif., for the lightweight crown, and Percy Basset of Philadelphia for the featherweight title.

Senior All-Stars Lose Receivers

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—A pair of injuries on the same night left Manager Charley Dressen with the problem today of picking two new catchers for the National League All-Star team for Tuesday's game against the American League.

Del Rice of the Braves both suffered hand injuries Wednesday night.

Rice was struck on the right hand by a foul tip off the bat of Roy McMillan of the Cincinnati Reds in the second inning of the Cards-Redlegs game in Cincinnati. The blow dislocated his right thumb which was placed in a splint by the team physician, who said Rice would be unable to play for about 10 days.

Crandall also was nicked by a foul tip on his bare hand in the seventh inning of the Braves-Cubs game in Milwaukee. The result was a deep cut between the ring and middle fingers that Braves Manager Charley Grimm said would take some time to heal.

Rice had been counted on to catch the knuckleballs of Giant pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm. In his place, Dressen must pick another backstop experienced in handling the unusual delivery. The most likely candidates appeared to be Wes Westrum of the Giants and Joe Garagiola of the Cubs, who regularly handles the slants of fluttermaker Dutch Leonard.

Roy Campanella of the Dodgers will be the starting National League catcher because he was selected by the vote of the fans. Rice and Crandall had been added to the squad by Dressen.

Senior All-Stars Lose Receivers

By ROBERT MUSEL
CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (UP)— Ben Hogan, blessed by good weather but frustrated by many putts that missed by inches, shot a one-under-par 71 in the second round today to set the stage for his supreme bid for the British Open golf championship in tomorrow's 36-hole final.

Hogan's score, added to the one-over-par he shot in yesterday's opening round, gave Ben a 144 at the half-way mark of the competition over Carnoustie's 7,200 bunker-pocked yards.

Frank Stranahan, the Toledo, O., amateur who topped the first round scores with a sparkling, two-under-par 70, shot even par 36 on the front nine today but slipped coming in and took a 74. That also gave him a good 144 but Frank was mad and snarled "what a lousy score" as he kicked open the clubhouse gate.

Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, O., the other member of America's "big Three," fired a 39-37—76 after posting a 75 yesterday. He joined Hogan and Stranahan in the final rounds with a 151 but appeared to be too far back to make good on his bid to stymie Hogan.

Meanwhile, little Dai Rees of Wales grabbed the early score round lead with a 70 for a 142. Rees sank three 24-foot putts and wound up his two-under-par round with an eagle three on the 18th.

Followed by a gallery of 2,000, Hogan fired a par four on the 406-yard first hole. His bid for a 15-foot putt and a birdie three missed by inches and that narrow failure proved typical of his round.

Hogan had four birdies and three bogies but, on his bogie holes and most of his par greens, he missed putts by inches.

Stranahan had the same trouble missing a series of putts that sent him off the course angry at his caddie and himself after carding two birdies and four bogies.

All-Star Game

FARMVILLE—The 1953 Bright Belt League All-Star game will be held here tomorrow night. A hand-picked team from Stantonsburg, Rocky Mount, and Maclefield will play the league leading Farmville team.

Farmville will probably send righthander Vincent Jones, the league's leading hurler, to the mound. The starting pitcher has not been named for the All-Star. Game time is 8 p.m.

Montana Draft Board Quits In Protest Move

HELENA, Mont. (UP)—A Montana draft board resigned en masse because, it complained today, "the rich man's sons go onto the farm, while the poor man's boys go into the army."

The Daniels County board quit last month, but the resignations were not announced until yesterday. Brig. Gen. S. H. Mitchell, state Selective Service director, said he was not sure why the board had resigned.

However, Walter Ware, one of the three board members, said it was a case of drafting 18½-year-olds while older men were being deferred for farm work.

"We didn't want to draft these younger men," Ware said, "so we just quit."

"In our county, we have a lot of farm deferments. Those boys deferred on the farms in the last two or three years are now about 25 or 26 years old and should serve in the armed forces.

"The rich man's sons go onto the farm, while the poor man's boys go into the army."

"You take an only son whose father is able to buy him a farm. The boy gets deferred and later on gets married and starts to raise a family. Then he's lost to us forever."

Ware said the poor man, "with maybe several sons," is unable to buy farms for them. The poor boys go to work in the towns and are drafted.

"Now we're down to the 18½-year-olds, and rather than draft them, we quit."

Miss Louise Morris Guest Of Radio Program And Famous Sportscaster

NEW YORK CITY—Harry Wismer, famed sportscaster, today played host on his daily Mutual radio show, "Wonderful City," to Miss Louise Morris of 203 Greene Street, Greenville, North Carolina.

Miss Morris is in New York to attend the Ministers' Conference at the Union Theological Seminary. When Wismer's staff discovered that she is director of religious education at the Eighth Street Christian Church in Greenville, he checked further to find out what he and "Wonderful City" could do in recognition of her fine work.

As a result, Miss Morris will return with a complete supply of sporting equipment and toys for the children, as well as an 8 mm. projector, and a new Oxford Press Bible for Dr. H. O. Haney, minister of the church.

And since Miss Morris has taken up golf, she received for herself a golfing outfit to wear on the links and a new set of clubs. Wismer helped prove to the visitor from Greenville that New York is truly a "wonderful city."

Monkey Was No 'Space Visitor'

ATLANTA (UP)—A tale of a visit from outer space by saucer-flying, monkey-like creatures without tails turned out today to be just that — a tale.

The evidence, the body of a "little man from outer space," was there but scientists said it was no man, only a monkey.

Two barbers and a butcher said they ran down the creature in their automobile Tuesday night as it and two companions raced for their "flying saucer" which "sat in the middle of the highway, glowing red all over."

"They all jumped for it," said Edward Waters, a barber. "Two of them made it. I hit the other one."

Arnold Payne, a butcher, and Thomas Wilson, a barber, confirmed Waters' story that they had been "out honky-tonking" when they ran down the creature.

"We hit something and stopped," added Waters. "but the red object turned blue and sailed away at a very fast speed."

But Dr. Marion Hines, professor of experimental anatomy at Emory University here, said that if the 21-inch creature "came from mars, they have monkeys on mars."

Dr. Hines said the corpse looked as if a tail had been clipped off and hair shaved from the body with a razor blade.

And Dr. W. A. Mickle, anatomy professor at Emory, observed that "if it's from outer space, they haven't invented anything new."

When Waters was told of the scientists' opinion, he replied: "I have orders to say nothing more about it."

New Electronics Plant Scheduled For N. Carolina

BOONE (UP)—Construction will start "immediately" on a new electronics parts manufacturing plant here which is expected to be in production by January, officials said today.

The new plant was announced by President Charles Weyle of the International Resistance Co., Philadelphia, Pa. It is the company's second factory in North Carolina, another having been built near Asheville in March.

Oliver J. Greenway, vice president, said the plant would employ from 150 to 200 persons at the start and would need about 800 workers when in full operation. All workers, with the exception of 10 technicians from the Philadelphia headquarters, will be recruited from Watauga County.

Inquest Called In Death By Fire

MORGANTON (UP)—Police planned an inquest today into the death of an elderly woman who perished in a fire which destroyed her home while her son slept in a barn nearby.

Burke County Coroner R. F. Setzer said Mrs. Lula Dale, 77, was burned to death yesterday and her husband, Lester, received painful burns. Bessie Smith Mrs. Dale's sister, escaped unharmed.

Setzer said Mrs. Dale's son William was found sleeping in the barn near the house when officers arrived. He said he will be questioned in connection with the fire.

Housework Easy Without Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many folks suffer nagging backache—feel miserable. Minor blood vessel irritations due to acid or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 60 years. NICE TIMING market. The job was done while both the police chief and the only state trooper in town were in municipal court.

MUNCIE, Ind. (UP)—To prove the wisdom of its aims, the Muncie public library has borrowed two owls to rid the building of pigeons. T ermites of the species Coptotermes niger have been called the

CREAMY FRESH PEACH PIE

1 unbaked 8-inch pastry shell
8 to 10 fresh peaches
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour

Dash salt
¼ to ½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ cup this cream
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Peel peaches; cut into eighths and arrange one-layer-deep in unbaked crust. Stand peaches on side so the pie will be full after baking. Mix together remaining ingredients and pour over peaches. Bake in hot oven, 450 degrees for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 40 to 50 minutes longer. Serve slightly warm, never cold. Cut in small pieces, for this is very rich.

Police Court Had 153 Cases In June

Judge Charles H. Whedbee and Solicitor Ely Bloom disposed of 153 cases in Police Court in June, Court Clerk E. J. Dees' report shows.

A summary shows that there were 114 convictions or guilty pleas; 18 acquittals; 12 cases dismissed, not pressed or combined with other cases; eight cases were sent up to Superior Court, and one defendant was called and he failed to appear.

The report shows that receipts of the month were disposed of as follows: To City Clerk H. H. Duncan (court costs), $558.35; Pitt county auditor (court fines), $843.25; state treasurer, $176; Pitt county Peace Officers' Association, $88; witness fees paid in three cases—

Non. 4711, 4712 and 5549—$11.60; arrest fee (No. 5383), $2.—Total—$1,979.20.

The clerk's report also shows that 17 defendants were given time in which to pay their penalties. The total amount of fines and costs with time to pay totals $235. Nine cases in which time was allowed to pay have paid up, the total of fines and costs in the cases is $130.

EVER VIGILANT
MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UP)—Executives of the Middletown National Bank worked around the clock guarding depositors' money. They took turns standing by the bank vault while its door was being transferred to a new vault. The job took 36 hours.

Much Blood Shed For Porkchop Hill

By LEROY HANSEN

WITH THE U. S. 7th DIVISION (UP)—The mud-caked lieutenant turned his head aside as he passed the huge pile of bloody bandages and clothing lying outside the battalion aid station.

"For all I know," he exclaimed, "a lot of that stuff could belong to my platoon."
There wasn't much left of the lieutenant's unit today as it left the Porkchop battleground after a day and a half of heavy fighting. The platoon was happy going in, but angry that the crest now belonged to the Chinese.

"But we'll get it back," a corporal said, "maybe tonight, maybe tomorrow, maybe next week. But we'll get it back."

The dead tired infantrymen had to be taken from the outpost in armored personnel carriers because of the constant mortar, artillery and sniper fire.

Their eyes were sunken and bloodshot from too much fighting and too little sleep. Their once green fatigue uniforms were coated a light tan with layers of encrusted mud.

As they left the personnel carriers and moved toward trucks, to take them to a rear area, they walked with a tired shuffling, stumbling motion like old men.

They spoke little, only asking the whereabouts of buddies serving other units who were also hit on Porkchop. But they gave merely a shrug of resignation when they received the answer they didn't want to hear.

Second Lt. William H. Stewart, Quincy, Mass., commanded one of the first platoons struck by the Communist surprise attack Monday night.

"I had a man on a listening post," Stewart said, "he got hit by artillery so I sent a medic out to take care of him. The first I knew the Commies were on the hill was when they wounded the medic and before I could do anything they were at my command post."

The American troops were pounded back by an estimated two battalions of Chinese. Late last night they counterattacked, but the Reds were then firmly entrenched.

"The hand grenades slowed us," said Cpl. Edward Pratt, of Rochester, N.Y., "and there was a hell of a lot of sniper fire."

"The damned Chinks' attack happened so fast it didn't give anyone a chance," he said.

As the men talked, a little jeep pulled up in front of the battalion aid station to unload a Negro soldier. A blood stained bandage across his eyes looked sparkling white against his dark face.

One doctor wondered whether the soldier should be evacuated by helicopter.

"It doesn't matter," said another doctor, lifting the bandage slightly, "both eyes are gone anyway."

The soldier had been hit by Communist shrapnel.

Hears 7 Cases In County Court

In Pitt County Court Tuesday, Judge Dink James disposed of seven cases.

Suzanne Barnes, Negro, of New York, pleaded guilty to driving to the left of center of a highway. The court ordered her to pay court costs and recommended that her driver's license be terminated unless she made restitution for damage to another automobile. She paid the damage.

The case of Willie Taylor, charged with driving while drunk, was transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Bill Moore, Negro, assault with a deadly weapon (shotgun), was given four months on the roads, sentence suspended on condition that he pay $25 and costs and surrender the gun to the court.

Ed Kenneth, speeding, $25 fine, costs deducted.

The case in which Walter H. Davenport is charged with driving drunk was transferred to Superior Court for jury trial.

Glennie Eastwood, Rosa Lee O'Gary and Lula Mae Jones, assault, were fined $5 and costs and they were ordered to pay $12.50 to Nanie Lee Harrell for damage to her clothing. The court not pressed the cases against Dorothy and Betty Lou Eastwood, juveniles.

V. E. Fountain of Tarboro, paid court costs for speeding and surrendered his driver's license to the court for 10 days.

Lists 39 Auto Mishaps During June In City

A summary of Police Chief S. G. Gibbs' report of traffic accidents during June shows that there were 39 accidents, 36 of them involving two vehicles in collision, two motor vehicles and fixed objects and one collision of motor vehicle and bicycle.

There was no fatality. Police arrested 18 drivers of motor vehicles. Seventy-seven persons, 65 males and 12 females, were involved in the mishaps. There were no accidents involving pedestrians. Twenty-eight accidents occurred in the day and 11 at night.

Three persons were injured. Property damage was estimated at $12,345.

The majority of accidents occurred between noon and 8 p. m., the report shows.

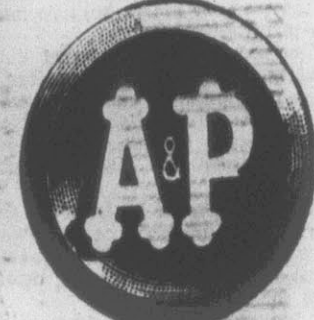

Fifty-one persons involved in accidents are residents of Greenville, and 26 live elsewhere.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Traders ignored the main list of stocks today and dabbled in special issues. American Power stood out with a single transaction involving 20,500 shares at 2 1/2 off 1-8. That made it the most active stock on the board.

New York Central, helped by a 3-50 share opening, and LaCade Gas were well up on the active list. The former held unchanged while LaCade rose half a point.

Minneapolis & St. Louis railroad stood out by making a new high. New York & Harlem, always a wide mover, looked good because it had a 30-point rise on a 10-share trade. Cincinnati Milling ran up 1 1/4 points to 47 1/2. Eaton Manufacturing and PARK & Tilford gained a point each in their respective sections. Leigh Coal & Navigation generated some volume and rose nearly a point. Texas Gulf Sulphur also was a firm spot.

Motors held minor gains and steel minor losses. Oils were irregular in a fractional area.

Vows He'll Get 3-Toed Monster Stalking Streets

NEW HAMBURG, Ont. (UP)—Police Chief George Thomas vowed today he would get the slimy three-toed monster that is stalking this town's streets by night.

Thomas said the monster hasn't done any harm yet but he is going to shoot it on sight—if he sees it again.

After the chief reported seeing the lizard-like creature last Saturday night, it turned out the thing has been around for three years without anyone making a fuss. But many mothers won't let their youngsters go near the river after dark.

More than 20 witnesses, including town clerk and treasurer Clayton Ingrid, admitted they had seen the monster as long ago as three years. But they said they didn't want to mention it to anyone.

"Our people are religious, quiet folks and they wouldn't want people to accuse them of drinking," Thomas explained.

The chief believes the monster lives in the Nith River, which winds around the town of 2,200 persons. He estimated it weighs 50 pounds.

Thomas said he found traces of the monster again yesterday. It had left its three-toed track and a long scaly tail.

"There's not much we can do but follow the tracks and try to corner the thing wherever it beds down," he said. "Of course, it may not be dangerous—at least it's been peaceful so far."

Dr. F. A. Urquhart, director of zoology at the Royal Ontario Museum, offered the opinion that it is more than likely was a great blue heron or some other less fearful species.

"I guess I know a bird when I see one," the police chief snapped. "This is no joke."

Showers Pelt Part Of Dry Belt; Feed On Way

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Scattered showers pelted parts of the bone-dry Southwest drought belt today as initial shipments of grain were hurried to the area to save starving cattle.

Governors of five states prepared to meet in Amarillo, Tex., tomorrow to discuss the drought situation, and a new livestock association, seeking federal price supports for cattle, was to be formally organized at Dalhart, Tex.

The rains which fell yesterday and today over parts of Oklahoma and Texas were spotty, and only one area received adequate moisture to help crops for the present.

Up to two inches of rain fell at O'Donnell in Lynn County, Tex., and neighboring Dawson County received heavy showers measured at more than an inch and a half. The two counties are in the heart of the drought area.

The rains sent farmers scurrying to town to buy sorghum grain seeds to plant in soil that has been too dry for germination.

Other showers fell in Oklahoma and Texas, but were not of the soil-soaking variety. More scattered rain showers were predicted for the Oklahoma and Texas panhandle areas later today.

Aid of another nature was on the way. C. H. Moseley of the Dallas Production and Marketing Administration office said 777 rail cars of corn, 114 cars of oats and four cars of wheat were en route to more than 100 rail points in the Texas disaster area. An additional 15 cars of corn and 13 cars of oats went to 40 Oklahoma counties. They will be sold at bargain prices.

Self-Inflicted Wound Reported 'Not Serious'

Greenville police were called this morning to investigate a report that a 61-year-old Negro doctor had been taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital suffering from self-inflicted throat wounds.

A police report lists the victim as Dr. Jasper C. Foust, who is living in Greenville with his brother.

According to investigating officer Lt. W. E. Peterson, the man cut his throat with a razor blade sometime around five o'clock this morning.

Discovered shortly after, he was rushed to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment, where his wound was found not to be serious. He was released later and taken home by his brother.

No charges were brought against the man by local officers, Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs stated.

Revivalists Schedule Special Service For Negroes Tonight

The old-fashioned revival and healing campaign which is currently in progress at the big Gospel Tent Tabernacle located at the intersection of the Kingston and Farmville highways, and conducted by the Rev. James Cole, will have a special service tonight for the Negro people of Greenville and the surrounding communities.

The outstanding attraction will be the appearance of Deacon David Williams, of Grifton, who is known as "The Prophet." In addition to Prophet Williams, there will be other Negro religious leaders and an outstanding group of Negro singers who will take part in this special service.

Half of the Gospel Tent Tabernacle is being reserved for the Negroes and the other half for the white people. The public is invited to attend this meeting, and the regular meetings each night at 7:45 for the next two weeks.

BOSTON (UP)—The public has been "oversold" on the value of gamma globulin as a polio preventive, according to Dr. David B. Rutstein of the Harvard medical school.

The professor of preventive medicine said in a radio address last night that "the most we can say for it is that it's all we have in the absence of a developed vaccine."

He predicted an effective vaccine against polio would be developed within the next five to 10 years.

"While many hopes are placed on gamma globulin by many people, experimentation in the last two years suggests, but doesn't prove, that a person is protected during the second and third weeks after injection," Dr. Rutstein said. "After the third week the evidence is very tenuous."

He said the infection "seemed to be milder" if a person became ill within a week after a gamma globulin injection.

Rutstein said rest and personal hygiene still were the most effective preventives. "It is particularly important that children not over-tire themselves," he said.

No Objection To Publishing Facts

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressional experts said today President Eisenhower can publish the essential facts of life or death in the atomic age whenever he concludes the time has come to do so.

Mr. Eisenhower said at his news conference Wednesday that he thinks that time has come. He added, however, that certain parts of the Atomic Energy Act, which he said are outmoded, must first be changed.

Chairman W. Sterling Cole (R-N.Y.) of the House Senate Atomic Energy Commission disagreed. He said the law makes the Atomic Energy Commission, the President approving, the judge of what atomic facts may be made public "without adversely affecting the common defense and security."

Mr. Eisenhower did not detail just what information he thinks should be made public.

Chairman Cole said before the size of the U.S. stockpile is disclosed "we will be well advised to look long and hard at this matter." But he said "no sensible person" will want to withhold information from Americans or their allies "if it can be demonstrated that the release of such data will promote the common defense and security of the United States."

Cole noted that the president did not propose to disclose anything about "the internal workings of atomic weapons."

Among the chief proponents of less secrecy have been atomic scientists generally and the Civil Defense Administration in particular. David L. Hill, physics professor at Vanderbilt University and chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, hailed the President's statement as "encouraging."

Adding Machine For Housewives

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—Clarence Saunders, who has made and lost millions in the self-service grocery business, announced today that he has produced a miniature adding machine on which the housewife can total up her bill while choosing groceries.

The new gadget, dubbed "foodelectric" by the 71-year-old Saunders, records the price of each item purchased and its inventor claims that with "foodelectric," four persons can operate a $1,000,000-a-year grocery business.

Saunders, who founded self-service stores with his "Piggly Wiggly" markets 38 years ago, said each customer would receive one of the small metal gadgets as he entered the store.

The "key" is inserted in a slot under a display case of the food desired and when the article drops out, the price is recorded on the tiny adding machine which can total up to $99.99.

Saunders claimed that a store using "foodelectric" would be able to operate at less cost, resulting in a saving of about 10 per cent for shoppers.

The Piggly Wiggly stores made Saunders first fortune which he later lost. He made a second fortune with his Clarence Saunders Stores but went broke in the depression.

The Keesdoole stores which fed groceries onto a conveyor belt were founded by Saunders five years ago but folded after a year at an estimated cost to their inventor of $1,000,000.

Share Honors In Air Race Event

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP)—A pretty flying instructor and her copilot, both of Inglewood, Calif., today shared top honors in the seventh all-women's "Powder Puff" Derby transcontinental air race.

Mrs. Frances Bera, copilot of the winning plane two years ago, and Marcella Duke both 28, were announced the winners yesterday in a field of 44 light planes that completed the daylight hop-scotch race from North Andover, Mass.

The pair flew their 165-horsepower Stinson Voyager over the 2,678-mile course at an average speed of 122.258 miles an hour, reaching Long Beach in an elapsed time of 21 hours, 53 minutes.

A court Wednesday ruled he was sane and found him guilty.

On all these points of comparison... Chevrolet's farther ahead than ever!

... IN NEW AND ADVANCED STYLING—The new low, sleek lines of the 1953 Chevrolet set new standards of beauty in the low-price field. Here you will see careful detailing and a richness of appointments always before found only in much costlier cars.

... IN HIGH-POWERED PERFORMANCE—The most powerful engine in the low-price field! The entirely new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine in combination with new Powerglide* brings you new high-compression power and a wonderful gain in economy, too. In gearshift models you will find the advanced high-compression 108-h.p. "Thrill-King" engine.

... IN SMOOTH, SIMPLE AUTOMATIC DRIVING—Expect faster getaway with Powerglide's new automatic starting and passing range... and new economy, too. Chevrolet's new Power Steering* takes over 80 per cent of the work of steering, makes parking unbelievably easy.

... IN ECONOMY AND VALUE—Now, you'll get many more miles out of every gallon of gasoline. You'll save on over-all operation and upkeep, too. Yet Chevrolet remains the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

... IN AMERICA'S FAVOR—Again this year—as in every single postwar year—more people are buying Chevrolets than any other car. In fact, latest official registration figures show that Chevrolet is over 25% ahead of the second-place car. Nearly 2 million more people now drive Chevrolets than any other make.

*Optional at extra cost. Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine available on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models only. Power Steering available on all models.
