Accord On Korea Cease-Fire Near

By EARNST HOBERECHT United Press Staff Correspondent SEUL, Korea, Saturday (UP) - South Korea and the United States have reached virtual agreement on a compromise armistice plan, reliable sources said today. President Syngman Rhee and his 400,000-man South Korean army under control as full-scale truce talks reopened following a 20-day recess. Nam and his staff met with Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, chief U.N. negotiator, and his aides at Panmunjon for 2 1/2 hours, exactly two years from the formal opening of the truce talks. Now, 131 top level meetings later the signing of an armistice appeared in sight, though not necessarily imminent. The two chief negotiators recessed the talks until 11 a.m. Saturday (10 o'clock, e.d.t., tonight). Neither of the chief negotiators would discuss the talks, but Alan Winington, a British Communist correspondent, told Allied newsmen outside the conference that Nam had insisted on the U.N. putting Rhee and his tough army under wraps after armistice day. Winington said that as soon as Harrison gives the Communists the necessary "guarantees," the truce will be signed. A few hours before the two top truce talks sat down to talk Peiping Radio said the first order of business would be "How will the American side prevent Syngman Rhee from wrecking the armistice?" Winington, unofficial "mouthpiece" of the Communists, blamed the continued fighting in Korea on the South Korean president who had wrecked the truce talks by releasing anti-Communist war prisoners. And it was understood that South Korea had not given a promise that it would respect a cease-fire if it appeared that the U. N. was losing out in post-armistice diplomatic talks.

Funds Plea By Agencies Heavily Cut

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Appropriations Committee today cut a whopping $961,840,500 from the $1,085,985,084 requested for more than a dozen agencies including Air Force construction, Voice of America, and civil defense. The committee approved only $148,185,584 of the requested funds. That was a slash of 8 1/2 per cent, the biggest cut in a major appropriations bill in the memory of veteran legislative observers. Eliminated entirely was the Truman administration request for $700,000,000 in new funds for Air Force bases at home and abroad. President Eisenhower had pared the request to $400,000,000. The committee cut all of that out, too, but approved $240,776,000 for construction out of funds already appropriated but not obligated. Other items in the bill for the fiscal year which started July 1, include: Civil Defense: Approved $37,700,000, a cut of $47,450,000 from President Eisenhower's request. International information and educational activities: Approved $60,000,000, a cut of $17,000,000 from the request. In addition, the committee lopped off $20,000,000 for new radio facilities for the overseas propaganda program. Defense production activities: Approved $9,740,000, a cut of $5,465,000 from the request. The committee, in a report, sharply criticized the Air Force and Voice of America. The committee said it was concerned with "the lack of decision which has marked the military construction program of the Air Force" and said that large unexpended funds indicated the Defense Department has been "sadly deficient in planning and administrative direction." It said it was "terribly disappointed" in the State Department's overseas information program. "Enormous numbers of personnel in excess of those required are maintained and enormous numbers are engaged in the preparation, publication and propagation of things that are of no value and which really tend to make the United States ridiculous," the committee said.

Treason Charged Secret Police Chief Beria; Believed Now In Jail Russia's No. 2 Man Is Arrested

By HENRY SHAPIRO United Press Staff Correspondent MOSCOW (UP)—Secret Police Chief Lavrenti P. Beria, arrested on treason charges presented by Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, faced trial today for plotting to seize leadership of the government and overthrow communism in Russia. Beria, No. 2 man in the Soviet government since Josef Stalin's death last March, was stripped of all his power and expelled from the Communist Party as an enemy of the state. (The official communiques announcing Beria's downfall first break in the leadership of the Malenkov government, failed to disclose Beria's whereabouts and it was presumed he was in jail awaiting trial. (The removal of Beria, who had been the middle member of the ruling triumvirate along with Malenkov and Deputy Premier Vyacheslav Molotov, was expected to cause world-wide repercussions and possibly great policy changes in Iron Curtain countries. (It was also believed the government would conduct a sweeping investigation into Beria's ministry of interior affairs, which includes the secret police, and possibly purge its personnel.) Beria's case was presented to the Supreme Court of the Soviet Union after Malenkov had named him as a traitorous counter-revolutionary in a recent report to the Communist Party Central Committee. Pravda published authorities posted the news on public bulletin boards. Workers stood in line to read the news then hurried on to work as usual without comment. Trade union leaders overwhelmingly endorsed the government decision to fire and prosecute Beria at their meeting and individual speakers personally denounced him. Pravda's announcement said the Central Committee had named Sergei Nikiforovich Kruglov, a veteran security police official, to succeed the disgraced Beria. The newspaper said "irrefutable facts" prove Beria has become an "agent of international imperialism." Catawba's Polio In Epidemic Stage

NEWTON (UP)—Catawba County's polio outbreak, numbering 34 cases, reached "epidemic" proportions today as health authorities pressed efforts to obtain a supply of gamma globulin to inoculate 14,100 children. Dr. Benton V. D. Scott said the polio situation "has reached the epidemic state." Two new cases were reported today. "Every effort is being made to procure the necessary serum for the county," Scott said. "A report on the progress of this request is expected in Raleigh from Washington today." The county asked the Office of Defense Mobilization for enough of the serum to inoculate all children under 10. Both Scott and Dr. Fred T. Foard, director of the division of epidemiology of the State Health Department, were pessimistic about immediate availability of a supply of gamma globulin. Foard said "it is in Washington he'd told him it might be two weeks before the request could be filled. However, arrangements for the inoculation went ahead, Scott said equipment used to inoculate 12,802 children in neighboring Caldwell county earlier this week was being held for possible use. In addition, he said Foard had contacted all county health officers and the state's three medical schools which supplied personnel for the Caldwell inoculations and asked them to do the same for Catawba. Dr. Lawrence Caldwell, a private physician, told a Kiwanis Club meeting last night that the polio incidence this year was the highest in the county's history. Mayor E. B. Clapp proclaimed next week "clean up and paint up week" in an effort to remove dirt that might breed additional polio. All but one of the cases in Catawba has occurred within the past four weeks, and District Health Officer Dr. Benton V. D. Scott ordered swimming pools and Sunday schools closed recently and urged theaters not to admit patients. In Raleigh, however, Dr. Fred T. Foard, director of the division of epidemiology of the State Health Department, warned that a supply of gamma globulin may not be available for some time. Dr. Foard said he has been informed by the Office of Defense Mobilization, which handles distribution of the serum, that there may not be any more available for the next 10 days or two weeks.

President Flies On Inspection Of Arid Southwest

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower flew to the drought-ravaged Southwest today for an emergency conference in Amarillo, Tex., with governors of six affected states. The President left in the government plane, the Columbine, with Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, presidential assistant Sherman Adams, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson and Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson. The President will return to Washington tonight. The chief executive was invited to the conference by the governors of Arizona, Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas. He planned to make his visit strictly business, having asked the governors "to forego any plans for official or public receptions." Sen. Clinton P. Anderson predicted the House and Senate conferees will reach agreement on the drought emergency legislation by Saturday night. The New Mexico Democrat said the measure should be ready for the President's signature early next week. The bill sets up a disaster revolving fund in the Department of Agriculture to make government loans available to farmers and ranchers in the drought area if they are also suffering from price drops. It also sets up a new government credit program for established livestock producers either in or out of a disaster area who are in financial trouble because of forced sales in the drought area. The major difference in the House and Senate bills involves the government program for subsidizing shipments of low cost feed and seed to drought area stockmen and farmers. At present, this program is financed through the President's emergency fund and $8,000,000 has been allocated for the drought area farmers. Evidence right now is that everything looks awfully good. It looks as if gamma globulin has the result for which we had hoped," said Gill.

Foreign Ministers See Major Opportunity For Free World Ahead Beria Downfall Spurs Big 3 Work

By DONALD J. GONZALES United Press Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON (UP)—The Foreign Ministers of the United States, Britain, and France launched a series of fateful conferences today on ways to exploit the unrest sweeping the Communist world and reaching into the Kremlin itself. The downfall of Lavrenti P. Beria, friend of Stalin and No. 2 man in Russia, lent unexpected urgency to the talks for it dramatically emphasized the need of the Allies for a new cold war strategy. When the announcement of Beria's purge came from Moscow Thursday night, the Foreign Ministers, top administration leaders and Congressmen were unanimous: It was a good thing for the West. It proved beyond a doubt that the Kremlin is being torn by a power struggle that should rule out any moves to touch off World War III for the time being at least. It presented the free world with a rare opportunity to drive for a showdown on the great East-West issues that have threatened the peace for the last eight years. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were notified immediately of the break-up of the triumvirate that has ruled the Soviet Union since Stalin's death. But they had no immediate comment. The State Department announced it would have nothing to say until it studies the report, which U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen filed from Moscow early today. A spokesman for French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said if by any chance responsible for Russia's recent soft policy, "then his removal may have serious consequences." Less than an hour elapsed before the President's statement and the announcement of Matthews' resignation. There were indications of some contact between McCarthy's office and the White House beforehand. But whether it was on the Matthews matter was uncertain. Meantime, McCarthy said he would go ahead today with a showdown fight with the three Democrats on his seven-man subcommittee over whether he as chairman or a majority of the subcommittee has the right to hire and fire staff members. The three Democrats—Sen. John L. McClellan (Ark.), Henry M. Jackson (Wash.) and Stuart Symington (Mo)—were primarily after Matthews' scalp for his attack on the Protestant clergy. They got it last night. Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich.) threw should be fired. But Potter had joined them in saying Matthews did not reveal how he would vote on the basic question of whether McCarthy or the subcommittee majority had the right to fire Matthews. Matthews quit with a challenge that the three Democrats in "common decency" give him a chance to prove his charges about the Protestant clergy which they denounced as untrue. McCarthy said he would let the three Democrats decide.

Honor-Grade Prisoner At Local Camp Escapes

GRIMESLAND—An honor grade prisoner serving time for a number of offenses made good his escape from a Pitt road gang near here yesterday afternoon, apparently with the aid of a well-camouflaged Paul A. Crawford, prison superintendent. Crawford said this morning said he believes Claude V. Cooley, 21, home address listed as Youngville, N. C., made good his escape from a farm near Hama Crossroads with the aid of an automobile which was waiting for him. Crawford said that Cooley, who was serving a six to eight year sentence for a series of robberies, thefts and a "little bit of everything," had been made an honor grader and was serving as work boy for his road gang. The prisoner apparently made his bid for freedom around 3:30 when he slipped away from the gang to get away. Crawford said that he had received information the prisoner was seen getting into a car with a black body and yellow or cream color top. The car was believed to be occupied by two white males and a white female. The description of the missing prisoner was given as: age 21, 5' 8" high, weight 185 pounds, brown hair and heavy built with dark complexion. At the time he left the road gang he was wearing overalls, blue shirt and a red cap. One of the sentences for which the man was serving time was for the ABC robbery at Sims some time ago.

Gamma-Globulin Said Effective

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP)—State and county health officers here said today the mass gamma globulin inoculation program carried out here last week "has proved to be effective." Dr. A. H. Graham, Montgomery County health officer, and Dr. D. G. Gill, Alabama state health officer, issued a joint statement which said the injections to about 32,000 children already have reduced the number and severity of polio cases. "We believe that in line with the results of experiments in Houston, Tex., Sioux City, Ia., and Provo, Utah, that the next four weeks in Montgomery will show fewer cases by possibly 80 per cent of mild and moderate severity," the statement said, "and fewer paralytic cases than would have been expected without the aid of the gamma globulin shots for children of 9 years and under." Gill said that only six new cases of polio have been reported since the mass inoculation program began here. He said this compared with 27 new cases in the 10 days preceding the inoculations. Graham said none of the new cases has been severe while in three cases where polio struck before the gamma globulin had time to take effect, the attack was "very light."

House Prepares Vote Today On Extending Law EPT Bill Victory 'Assured'

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower was assured of a smashing victory today as the House prepared to vote on legislation to continue the excess profits tax on corporations until Jan. 1. Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. predicted that the House would approve the bill—under pressure of administration leaders—by a vote of at least two to one. Some members thought the margin would be more than three to one in the 435-member house. Martin called the lawmakers into session two hours earlier than usual for five hours of debate before the final vote. It was expected that the House would pass the bill around 3 p.m. (EST). It will then go to the Senate, where there is little opposition. Republican leaders look for easy Senate passage next week. The legislation was presented to the House under a procedure barring any amendments. Some members raised objections to this plan, calling it a "gag," but Republican leaders noted that tax bills normally are handled that way in the House. Mr. Eisenhower asked Congress on May 20 to continue the excess profits tax until Jan. 1 to raise some $800,000,000 in additional revenue, and to make its expiration date coincide with a 10 per cent cut in individual income taxes. Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) an uncompromising foe of the excess profits tax, agreed to let the House Ways and Means committee hold hearings on the President's request, but after the hearings he put his foot down and refused to let the committee vote on Mr. Eisenhower's proposal. Not until House GOP leaders threatened to bypass the Ways and Means Committee did the committee assurances that the committee would bring the issue to a vote. And even then the assurances came not from Reed but from other members of the committee. When the committee did make its decision Wednesday, 16 members voted to send the legislation to the floor. Nine members, including Reed and five other Republicans, voted no. The excess profits tax is applied against corporation earnings that are in excess of "normal earnings." The normal earnings, for tax purposes, generally are defined as those in the base years 1945-49. The tax rate on excess profits is 82 per cent—39 per cent surtax on top of the 82 per cent regular income tax rate. Corporations earning less than $25,000 a year are exempt.

Umstead Announces C&D Board Choices

RALEIGH (UP)—Gov. William B. Umstead today announced the appointment of Ben E. Douglas as Charlotte to succeed George Ross July 20 as director of the State Department of Conservation and Development. The governor also reappointed seven members of the present board and named six new members. Umstead said Douglas, former mayor of Charlotte and member of the State Highway Commission, is a "man of wide experience and a splendid administrator." He said Douglas would take the oath of office July 20. Umstead reappointed to the board Scroop W. Eades Jr., of Spruce Pine; W. J. Danforth of Asheville; Miles J. Smith of Salisbury and Charles Jenkins of Altitude for terms of four years;

Stolen Hoard Of Explosive Pose Special Danger

VENTURA, Calif. (UP)—Thieves who stole 600 pounds of high explosives may be endangering themselves and anyone within a city block because the explosives can be set off by radio waves, authorities said today. Sheriff's deputies seeking the thieves explained the explosives included 140 electrically-wired caps containing pure nitroglycerin, a type used in seismic exploration, which are set off by a radio transmitter. One deputy estimated that if the caps came within 100 feet of a radio transmitter and received the right kind of waves, they would explode, perhaps setting off the rest of the explosives which include more than 600 pounds of high-

Twins Added To His 19 Children

CHILDS, Pa. (UP)—An unemployed mine worker and 13 of his 19 children today awaited the return from the hospital of the latest addition to the family. Mrs. Rexford Oakley, 44 gave birth to a boy just 16 months after she bore twin sons. The children range in age up to 24 years. Mrs. Oakley and her husband also have five grand-children. At the time the twins were born, Oakley, who had a job then, was quoted as saying he wanted two dozen children. But now, he said, "the only way I feel about it is that we accept them as they come."

Trapped By Forest Blaze, Fifteen Burned To Death

WILLOWS, Calif. (UP)—Fourteen missionary trainees and a forest service employee were trapped and burned to death last night when a forest fire they thought they had controlled broke out anew as they sat down to eat dinner. The trainees were members of the New Tribes Mission, a Protestant group in training at Fouts Springs, Calif., for jungle missionary work. The fire broke out yesterday 28 miles northwest of here in a canyon at the foothills of the Pacific Coast range. The fire was believed controlled last night about 10 p.m. and a group of 24 firefighters from the mission sat down to eat. One spot fire broke out again across the canyon and, puffed by a 15-mile an hour wind, swept through the camp just as the religious men said grace. Nine of the men climbed a rope out of the canyon and escaped down a fire trail by a bulldozer. The bodies were found at the camp site, except for one found about a quarter of a mile away. The forest service employee was in charge of the fire-fighting group. He was identified as Robert Powers. Charles Lafferty, one of the trainees who escaped, was delegated by the crew to watch the forest fire while the others ate a late dinner. Lafferty said the wind switched to the north and fanned sparks into flame. Lafferty ran back to the camp, getting there just ahead of the fire, and shouted an alarm. Some of the men climbed a rope out of the gully and escaped down the fire trail, but others tried to dig in to fight the flames. A layer of rock 8 to 10 inches under the soil prevented them from digging deep enough.

GIs Engage In Hard Hand-To-Hand Fight

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—American troops fought in bloody hand-to-hand combat today with Chinese infantrymen for control of vital Porkchop Hill guarding the Chorro Valley invasion corridor to Seoul. The Reds battled up the northern slopes of the outpost in the third day of their stubborn drive to crack allied defenses on the western front. For two hours today, in near-record heat, men of the U. S. 7th Division and the Chinese fought with rifles and lists. The close-in battle slackened only when both sides paused from sheer exhaustion. At last reports, the Communists held the northern slope and the Americans the southern slope. The crest was churned up no-man's-land of broken equipment and bodies blown apart by almost incessant artillery barrages. A report from United Press correspondent Al Kalf at a first aid station said one American infantryman had a finger nearly bitten off by a Chinese and quoted the soldier as saying he killed the Red by clubbing him with his steel helmet. A few miles to the east of Porkchop, South Korean troops were driven back to the southern slope of an outpost on Arrowhead Ridge by a reinforced Chinese company. Soldiers of the ROK Second Division counterattacked and at last reports the fighting still was going on. The Reds tried to haul 100 tons of troops into the fight on Porkchop Hill but American artillery caught them in the open and killed or wounded all with timed, air-bursting barrages "nothing could live through."

Strike A Blow For Motherhood

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate struck a blow for bovine motherhood yesterday. It rejected, by overwhelming voice vote, an effort by Sen. Dwight Griswold (Neb.) to amend the relief bill to provide for a government-subsidized program of sterilizing cows. Griswold argued that overproduction of calves was a basic cause of the cattle industry's distress. But opponents contended that "barbaric birth control" was not the answer to low livestock prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Massey Honor Guests At Delightful Dinner

One of the loveliest parties of the season was a dinner party given Wednesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Minges and Mr. and Mrs. T. I. Wagner entertained for Mr. and Mrs. Moulton Massey Jr.

The dinner was given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wagner on Evans Street. Various beautiful arrangements of white gladioli, asters, and other summer flowers were used in decoration of the living room where guests assembled for appetizers, served by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Clark Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Flanagan, prior to dinner at seven o'clock.

Upon arrival Mrs. Massey was presented a bridal corsage by her hosts and hostesses.

The traditional green and white motif was featured in decoration of the dining room. The dining table, covered with a lovely cream lace cloth over white satin, held a bowl of white gladioli, baby's breath, carnations and fern. The room was lighted by white candles in silver candelabra. The buffet was arranged with an attractive bowl of gladioli and a smaller table in the dining room was decorated with a bridal doll, surrounded by various white flowers.

Following a delicious two course dinner, bridal cakes, ices and mints were served as a dessert to the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Massey. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. O. W. Dudley and Mrs. John Clark Sr.

A most delightful surprise came to Mr. and Mrs. Massey when they received a telegram requesting them to answer the door at the side of the home. When the honorees opened the door a chef handed them a basket filled with gifts for their kitchen. The shower came as a completely unexpected event of the party.

Miss Forrest Is Complimented By Joint Hostesses

Approximately 20 friends met last Wednesday night from 8:00 to 10:00 to honor Miss Peggy Lou Forrest, bride-elect of July 19, at a linen shower at the home of Mrs. J. G. Forrest.

Miss Mary Jane Forrest and Miss Agnes Markham served as joint hostesses at the event.

Miss Forrest, bride-elect, received a lovely matched set of sheets and scalloped pillowcases from the hostesses. She was also presented a corsage of white carnations. After a social hour of entertainment, an umbrella of linen gifts were showered upon Miss Forrest.

Guests were then ushered into the dining room, which was attractively decorated in green and white. A centerpiece of cape jasmine and fern was on the table, where green and white mints, peanuts, bridal cakes and green and white ice cream was served. Mrs. V. M. Forrest, mother of the bride-elect, helped serve at the affair.

Harmless Boa Is Roaming Chicago

CHICAGO (UP)—A boa constrictor was at large today in Chicago's busy Loop, and its owner was afraid someone might harm the "friendly" critter.

Peaslee Streets, mayor of Lake Park, Fla., and a delegate at the convention of Lions Clubs here, said he was thankful his purple indigo snake and two alligators didn't get away along with "Oscar," the 7 1/2-foot boa.

Robert Bean, director of Brookfield Zoo, said that if Oscar doesn't get run over crossing a street he could live amid the skyscrapers for a long time.

Both Bean and Streets said the three-year-old constrictor was too young to kill a human being, although it could probably overcome a stray poodle or cat easily.

Streets said he first found Oscar, missing from his cage atop the Streets automobile Wednesday afternoon. The car was parked in a hotel parking lot.

"I thought some other Lions from Florida, or some smart-aleck who knows snakes, had taken it," Streets said.

But Thursday he spent most of

Monkey Business Cost Him $90

ATLANTA (UP)—Edward Watters, a barber, reported today the cost of finding whether people would believe a dead monkey, shaved and with tail removed, was the remains of a "little man from outer space."

Here is his balance sheet: 1 monkey purchased, $50; tip for pet shop employe, $2; 1 truck rented, $8; 1 misdemeanor fine, $40, total $100. Subtract $10 won on bet: Net cost $90.

Watters, 28, said he was surprised it cost so much. He was more surprised by the national stir which followed the hoax he staged last Tuesday night to win a $10 bet that he could get his picture published.

"I thought people were smarter than that," Watters said. "I don't believe in flying saucers. I think what I saw (nothing) was as true a flying saucer as there is anywhere."

Haled into court yesterday Watters told the judge he bought the monkey, carefully shaved it, administered ether and killed it, and then removed the tail. Then with two companions, he staged the "flying saucer" episode.

Watters said he rented a truck, placed the monkey on the pavement of a highway near here and told the first motorist who stopped that he had just struck and killed "a man from outer space" as other "little men" fled in a glowing saucer.

Judge James P. Manning of Cobb County Superior Court fined Watters $50 for violating a health ordinance with the monkey carcass and Watters declared, "you can be sure I'm through with monkey business."

WOMEN'S HOTEL
BOSTON (UP)—The Franklin Square House, founded here 51 years ago, claims to be the world's largest hotel exclusively for women. With accommodations for about 800 guests, the hotel has registered more than a quarter-million persons from the 48 states and 60 foreign countries since the turn of the century.

These hot days checking with other conventioners, who all denied stealing the boa. Streets called police.

In the meantime, his hotel evicted him because the chambermaids were terrified by Elois and Napoleon, a pair of four-foot alligators who had been splashing happily around in his bathtub.

The Florida mayor said he was sorry that elevator girls and chambermaids were so frightened by his alligators. They don't bother him, he added when asked what he did when he wanted to take a bath.

"I just move the alligators out and get in myself," Streets said.

"They don't mind."

Tax Officials Check Listings Of Vehicles

The warning klaxon soon will be sounded for Pitt county automobile owners who have been slow about getting their vehicles registered with the county tax office.

This was apparent this week in the way county tax officials were going about preparing lists of undeclared cars from records supplied by the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles.

As a consequence, Pitt contains for whom the state has records of automobile registration cards but whose names do not appear on the county's books soon will be getting their first notices.

According to County Auditor Reginald Gray, this will merely remind recipients that after a careful scrutiny of names of citizens dropping in last January to record their worldly belongings, there was among the missing, a listing for the holder of this envelope, or words to that effect.

After a reasonable period of time with no tangible effects, another notice will go out—this one, with a little more "oomph" and at some sacrifice, perhaps, to the first's note of invitation. It will, to be more exact, quote the law.

This should be the end of it—that is, all over but the pay-off. County officials report that most delinquent listings, anyway, seem to stem from "oversights," "waiting for official notification," and other equally reasonable and human explanations.

But, inevitably for some, will be the "last resort." Last year, subpoenas were issued for 23, and of these, 20 paid the penalty for late listing plus court costs of $20.

Main objective of the county, however, Auditor Gray explains, is not to penalize but to make certain the man who owes taxes, pays them. This is only being fair, he points out, to other citizens who already have paid theirs.

Before notices are sent out, the county this year is having Greenville postal workers check the delinquent list for recent changes in address.

Even at a rate of a-cent-a-name, the county auditor says he figures the procedure will save money since he estimates each notice returned due to incorrect address would cost the county at least a nickel in envelopes, time and postage.

Capital Is Host To Blind In 27th Annual Meeting

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — The capital is host to some distinguished visitors this week-end. There are about 500 blind men and women here for the 27th annual convention of the American Association of Workers for the Blind.

Heading the entertainment committee is Arthur L. Voorhees, who is blind himself. He is a rehabilitation specialist for the blind on the staff of the Office of Vocational Rehabilitation in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

As such, he is an expert for "safety patterns" for blind workers. Voorhees lists a set of rules of courtesy to the blind.

"These," he said, "are based on common sense and normal American good manners."

First of all, the blind expert said, when you offer help to a blind person, do it directly. Speak in a normal tone and just ask, "may I help you?"

When guiding a blind person, it helps if you invite him to take your arm. A nice way to do this, according to Voorhees, is to say "here is my left arm," or the right. The blind person then is at ease and can follow the motions. Never "grab" a blind man's arm.

In walking, go along at a normal pace. Hesitate slightly before stepping up or down; don't drag the blind person over the curb.

In giving directions to the blind, of course, you don't point. Say "three blocks ahead and the building is on the right."

In showing a blind man to a chair place his hand upon the back of it. Don't try to push him into it. His touch will tell him the type, width, and height of the chair.

When eating with a blind person, offer to read him the menu, including prices unless you're picking up the tab. As you place each item

Women Advised To Choose Own Styles

By ELIZABETH TOOMY
NEW YORK (UP)—Dare to be different. Jane Derby advises women, and dress to please yourself. Mrs. Derby, a designer with plenty of daring ideas up her sleeve, thinks we're too inclined to wear clothes the way they come off the store dummies.

"Change the buttons, change the belt, or sew a little piece of black piping on the neckline," she suggested. "Fix it so it looks best on you."

"You should dress to please yourself," she insisted. "Now we're dressing to please other women," she added, "because everybody's become so style conscious that wardrobes are sometimes more fashionable than becoming."

"If a full skirt is completely out of style, wear it anyway if that's what looks best on you," the designer said emphatically.

"Anything goes when a good designer starts combining fabrics and colors," Mrs. Derby thinks a little of the same originality could be developed by any clothes-minded woman.

Article On Works Of Novelists Is Published

Dr. Donald M. Murray of the East Carolina College English faculty is presented in the current issue of the scholarly journal "The South Atlantic Quarterly" by an article entitled "Henry B. Fuller: Friends of Howells."

The study gives a critical estimate of the works of Fuller, a Chicago novelist; compares and contrasts him with the realist Howells; and provides an interesting background based on the intellectual life of Chicago near the turn of the century.

The author of several "escape" novels, Fuller achieved his best work, Dr. Murray says, in two realistic stories with Chicago settings, "The Cliff-Dwellers" and "With the Profession." In spite of his success in these two novels, Fuller felt a certain lack of sympathy for the virile spirit of the West and was attracted by the traditional, romantic attitudes of Boston and the East, the article states.

Dr. Murray pictures Fuller against his Chicago background, especially during the Uplift, "that extraordinarily self-conscious movement in the nineties by which the city of Chicago attempted to raise itself by its bootstraps to aesthetic and moral heights on a level with Boston." Particular attention is given by Dr. Murray to Fuller's participation in the activities of the Little Room, "an important though informal club for artists and writers . . . an exclusive circle, not so much calculated to encourage what was original as to imitate the taste and tone of Brahmin Boston."

Dr. Murray contrasts Fuller with Howells, a champion of realism, who did not "become Boston-plated," though he moved among the Brahmins." Howells, the article states, "simply saw more of life than Fuller ever did, loved ordinary human beings more, and put down what he saw and understood."

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Filmz. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applier, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but when ants touch it their legs become paralyzed and they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches! Roach Filmz is available at Belk-Tyler's, 3rd Floor. —Adv.

Municipal Executives Conference Opens Today At U. Of North Carolina

Chapel Hill—The fifth annual municipal executives conference opened at the University of North Carolina this afternoon. It will be a two-day meeting.

Hubert Henderson, recreation director at Thomasville, president of the Municipal Division of the North Carolina Recreation Society, is program chairman.

The University Extension Division's Bureau of Recreation, headed by Dr. Harold D. Meyer, will be host to the group.

Ten conferences will be featured by panel discussions. At the opening session today "Planning and Evaluation" was the topic with William T. Robertson of Morganton as chairman. Other participants will be Warren Carroll of Greenville, Walter Parker of Hickory and John Tate of Newton.

"Directors Problems" will be discussed that night with Glenn Bannerman of Whiteville serving as chairman and Augusta Barnett of Asheville participating.

Light Rainfall

The highest temperature in Greenville yesterday was 91. Lowest 69 and at 8 a. m. it was 71. Little over a quarter of an inch of rain fell here.

Yesterday a year ago, the highest temperature here was 98 degrees. Lowest that night 65, and at 8 a. m. today it was 78. No rain that day.

Atomic Dream Crops Around Corner?

Ever dream of a corn crop in Pitt County yielding 2,000 or 3,000 bushels an acre? Or a tobacco crop that produced 6,000 or 7,000 pounds of tobacco per acre?

As a matter of fact, we hadn't either. But a physicist predicts that American researchers soon will come up with a method of increasing the yield of field crops as much as 30 times.

The New Orleans Times-Picayune says a physicist, who has been working with atomic energy on nutrition problems explains the basis of the finding is that ammonia can be made to give up its nourishing atoms to roots of plants much more rapidly than it normally does.

Granted, those who are working with atomic energy experiments on plant life know much more about its possibilities than those of us who merely sit on the sidelines and cast a skeptical eye at their findings and predictions. Yet the whole thing sounds like fantasy until . . . until, that is, we realize the progress made in agricultural production in the past hundreds of years. Or in the past several decades, for that matter.

There are those today who have seen the yield of their crops doubled or in some cases nearly tripled during their years on the farm.

But this business of increasing crop yield nearly 30 times is something else again. It would be a terrific boon to man's plight for food in some sections of the world, but would present serious problems in other

Housewives Find Food Prices Lower

Greenville's decline in food prices during the past year is good news for every family in and around Greenville.

To some housewives who do the family grocery shopping, the decline in food prices locally may not seem as marked as they appear in cold statistics released by the North Carolina Department of Labor.

The drop of 7.8 per cent in food prices in Greenville since last year certainly means one factor in the cost of living is coming down. The 7.8 per cent drop in local food prices compares very favorably with the average 3.8 per cent drop in food prices in the seven cities throughout the state included in the government survey.

Considering the fact that six months ago a grocery basket of 54 standard food items cost more in Greenville than in Greensboro, Raleigh, Charlotte, Asheville, Salisbury and Wilmington, the local drop in food prices is particularly significant. The same basket now costs less in Greenville than in any of the other six cities.

In any one week there are only a handful of families which buy a television set, a suit of clothes or any other of an endless number of items. But every week, a portion of the contents of every family's pocketbook goes to purchase groceries. When prices come down in the food retail category, practically every family feels the benefit of it.

Solons Set Limits On Big Three

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—The most powerful leaders in Capitol-Hill have served sharp notice on the "Big Three" diplomats meeting here today that they will be wasting their time, if they make any definite decisions or plans with regard to the East-West conflict that contemplate a friendly settlement with Communist Russia or China.

While not seeking to sabotage the "Little Bermuda Conference" prominent Republican and Democratic spokesmen have set definite limits on its scope. They have warned that they will use their power over the American Government's purse strings to block any action which, in their opinion, jeopardizes this country's interests.

Although it is not generally recognized, the seemingly concerted blast against Anglo-French policies of "appeasement" of the Reds constitutes the most serious attempt made by Congress to interfere with President Eisenhower's exclusive conduct of foreign affairs. It exceeds in audacity Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's various adventures and escapades in this field.

PURPOSE OF ANGLo-FRENCH SCHEME—The British and French representatives—Lord Salisbury and Georges Bidault—have come to Washington with two principal objectives. The first is to persuade Moscow to try to reach a peaceful agreement with the West for ending the wars in Korea and Indo-China, which are extremely unpopular in Britain and France.

The underlying purpose behind the Anglo-French scheme is to eliminate the need for building a vast and expensive European military, naval and air force under American auspices.

As Churchill contends, the Kremlin's post-Stalin peace offers seem genuine enough to deserve consideration. The Prime Minister and Bidault also feel that the recent anti-Communist outbreaks give the West new and greater bargaining power.

WANTS PROOF OF GOOD INTENTIONS—The skeptical Eisenhower does not share this view.

While some few are dreaming of this yield increase of some 30 times for crops it may not be amiss to hedge a little just in case these dreams come true. Some economists had better start dreaming up an equally fantastic solution for consuming the production and assuring the farmer an equitable price for his production . . . just in case.

Last Weeks Are No Bed Of Roses

As the summer heat bears down on Washington as well as the rest of the nation, Congress has a long, tough row to hoe before it reaches its adjournment target of August 1.

Priority in these final weeks of the session has been given the all important tax legislation and money bills which must be written into before the Congress can adjourn.

The controversial bill to extend excess profits tax for another six months is one of the hot potatoes which Congress must resolve. After weathering many legislative storms in the past few months, it appears that excess profits taxes will be continued another six months as the administration has urged. Yet, all the fight has not been taken out of Rep. Reed and other outspoken opponents of the legislation.

Consuming much time during these final weeks will be bills to provide funds for various departments of the sprawling, federal government.

With the tentative adjournment date less than three weeks away, Congress has completed action on only the bill providing funds for the Treasury and Post Office Departments. Ten of the 11 other appropriations bills have moved far along the line toward approval by the legislative body, leaving only the foreign aid bill far from the finish line.

It is obvious with the work to be done by Congress before August 1, there will be much maneuvering and much pressure in Congress.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
DESIGN FOR LIVING

When marine architects design a ship, they anticipate the worst. They provide more water-tight compartments than are ever likely to be necessary; they equip the vessel with lifeboats and rafts capable of holding more people than will ever be aboard; they arrange for life-jackets, emergency flares, auxiliary pumps, and so on. They hope that all this equipment will never have to be used. But they know that if these things are ever needed, it will be too late to supply them then.

The wise man prepares for life in the same way. He hopes for the best, but he acknowledges the possibility of the worst. He desires, for example, to be honest; but he knows that great temptations may come to him. Accordingly, he strengthens his own standards by aiming at the high standards set by his religion.

He desires to be temperate, but he knows that humans often overindulge; and so he schools himself in the self-discipline which his church requires of its members.

He desires to be happy, but he knows that tragedy may strike any life and that sadness is bound to come sometime to all. So he strengthens his religious faith until he can face whatever comes with perfect confidence, knowing that the ship of his life has been designed by the Great Architect of all creation.

point, and demands more concrete evidence of Malenkov's good intentions. Likewise, he believes that signs of stress inside the Communist Empire counsel a delay in negotiation. He is as insistent as ever that Western Europe proceed with its rearmament program even more rapidly.

However, lest the President and Secretary Dulles be persuaded to retreat on these points, the bipartisan Congressional bloc has notified him and the foreign delegation that it will not go along on such a program. In addition to withholding necessary appropriations, it will not ratify any executive pacts designed to undertake a weakening of American policy.

THREAT OF FOREIGN AID REDUCTIONS—These considerations animated Senator Taft, Majority Senate leader, when he notified Mutual Security Administrator Harold E. Stassen to prepare for inspired Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, hitherto an internationalist, when he snapped that "I have voted for Mutual Security funds for the last time."

Recent House members, by an overwhelming vote, showed their impatience toward our European Allies' more recent behavior, and toward Salisbury-Bidault arguments. They provided for a $1 billion reduction in foreign aid money, if Europe failed to meet NATO schedules on rearmament. The Senate retained this provision, but vested discretionary authority in using this weapon in the White House.

CONGRESS DEJECTED OVER TRUCE TERMS—Although willing to accept the proposed truce terms in Korea for humanitarian reasons, a majority in both chambers are dejected over such an outcome. Many have a secret sympathy and admiration for Syngman Rhee's insistence on reunification of all Korea by force, if necessary.

In short, while the European visitors propose peace and reconciliation with the Reds, the American Congress informs the President that it wants no letup in the cold war, now that the United States seems to be winning.

Somebody Told Me . . .

Something Different In Helping

Ever heard of the Youthful Workers Club? Until recently I didn't realize there was such an organization, yet it has been functioning for some years at the job many of us neglect: helping our fellowman in need.

Mrs. W. J. Tripp told me about this interesting club, suggesting that I call Mrs. Ernest J. Cassick for details. Mrs. Cassick said, "I can't take credit for starting the club," she said, "it just happened that the first meeting was held at our house. At the time my husband was president of the Sunday school class."

This organization is a church group, but unusual because it is interdenominational. The 25 members come from Red Oak Christian Church, Piney Grove Free Will Baptist, Hollywood Presbyterian Church, and Seventh Day Adventists.

"We realize that many needy people are taken care of through regular funds provided for them," Mrs. Cassick explained, "but our mission is to take care of those missed by the regular sources." The Youthful Workers Club has also pledged itself to bring cheer to those in need, and has as one of its projects a trip to Camp Lejeune each year. In order to entertain, some of the members have become quite proficient at acting. One of their productions was run 14 times.

President of the club is Lawrence Tyson. There are no dues charged, but money is raised through contributions by members. With limited funds, the Youthful Workers Club does the most good possible.

Christmas before last the members met at the Red Oak Community Building and prepared food. Then they went on a tour around the county, visiting 20 families in need, giving food, clothing and good cheer. Whites and Negroes alike were helped.

Mrs. Cassick says, "You have no idea how much people can be in need until you make a visitation of that type." The Youthful Workers Club deserves a lot of credit for the job it is performing. More organizations with a similar purpose could be used in every community. This club has proved that a lot of good can be done with a small amount of money and a large amount of spirit.

And I thank you.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

HIGH SCHOOL MERGERS COME UNHOOKED (Charlotte Observer)

The consolidation of small high schools in North Carolina may be at a virtual end as the result of legislation enacted by the General Assembly. Having regarded the move at the time as a body blow to educational progress in this state, we are concerned, though not surprised, by recent developments inspired by the act.

Already six small schools that had been merged with larger units in Bertie, Moore, Duplin and Hertford counties have broken their consolidated ties and resumed operations on a separate basis. Each has less than 60 pupils in average daily attendance. The breakup was made possible under a retroactive section of the new

State law that permits the reopening of high schools closed since January 1, 1952, if an average daily attendance of at least 45 pupils can be "reasonably expected" and if local funds are provided to pay the salaries of any teachers required above the State allotment.

Under similar provisions, any future school with an average attendance of 45 to 60 pupils can continue to operate. In view of the accepted curricula requirements for a modern high school that policy seems patently ridiculous. Not that signers alone assures a good school. But a reasonably large enrollment is essential to the support of a well-rounded high school program and the maintenance of all the facilities that such a program entails.

Public resistance to abandonment of a school under a consolidation movement is too often based on emotional reasoning or personal, selfish motive which, though understandable, is not of sufficient validity to deny the children involved the educational advantage that nearly always results.

The North Carolina Board of Education has not been ruthless in its approach to consolidation. Its efforts in that direction have been more cautious than reckless, with a proper regard for community sentiment and all the other factors that need to be considered.

Under the current law, however, the educators' hands are tightly bound. The restriction ought to be removed at the earliest possible moment.

ONLIENT—Dealing in superlatives is always hazardous. A paragraph in this correspondence the other day said that Clyde Hoey and William Umstead were the only North Carolinians to serve in both branches of Congress and as Governor of the State. That was wrong. Cameron Morrison also filled the three positions. Hoey is the only man to be elected to all three offices. Morrison and Umstead going to the Senate by appointment. Umstead is the only one to serve as Governor after his Senate tenure.

Y.D.C.—In looking around for a president the Young Democratic Clubs are seeking to maintain east-west alternation policy. For some years the State YDC tried to alternate men and women as well as observe geography. That policy was abandoned because it was found that application of two criteria caused a lot of trouble. It has been a long time since a woman served as State president by election, although Henrietta Price Gillespie of Asheville functioned for four years during the war period, taking over as vice president when Leonidas Rux of Halifax entered the armory services soon after his election in 1942. The next elected president was Hoover Taft of Greenville, chosen at Raleigh in 1947. He was followed by Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, named at Greensboro in 1948; Terry Sanford of Fayetteville, elected at Greensboro in 1949; Robert Williams of Asheville, named at Asheville in 1950; William Stator of Sanford, elected at Carolina Beach in 1951; and Billy Harrison of Rocky Mount, the incumbent, chose last year at Greensboro. It is necessary to count Aberdeen and Sanford in the west in order to preserve the rotation.

GREAT DIVIDE—The dividing line has never been established to the satisfaction of anybody other than the person drawing it. Both Lee and Moore counties are in the 8th congressional district, usually considered western; Lee is in the eastern judicial division, Moore in the western. The geographic center of the state is at Gulf in Chatham county, barely west of Sanford. The new population center is close to Greensboro. So the argument goes merrily on.

4-H CLUBS—The current issue of "North Carolina Facts," weekly publication of the N.C. Research Institute of which Felix Grissett is editorial director, devotes its entire space to an analytical report of 4-H Club activities. "Facts" offers no new material, but the data available has so as to make more impressive the State's place in the national picture of activities of the youthful farm groups. Technically the 4-H age limit is 10 to 21, but actually almost the whole membership is under 18. The club insignia is four-leaf clover, and the 4-H's are explained in the club pledge: "My Head to clearer thinking, my Heart to greater loyalty, my Hands to larger service, my Health to better living, for my Club, my Community and my Country."

LEADERSHIP—Not only does North Carolina have more 4-H clubbers than any other State, the percentage ratio of members to farm population is higher. Attainment of this top position some years ago and its maintenance ever since is due largely to the devoted efforts of L. R. Harrell, State 4-H Club Leader, under whose direction since 1926 2,236 clubs in every one of the 100 counties, with a total membership of 140,369 at the end of last year. There is an average of one 4-H clubber for every two farm families in North Carolina, whereas the national ratio is one member for every three farm families. Stated another way, North Carolina has seven percent of the national 4-H Club membership, with six percent of the national farm population. Still another favorable comparison is that 44.54 per cent of the Tarheel rural population between 10 and 19 is enrolled in 4-H clubs, while only 43.94 per cent of the comparable national farm youth is enrolled.

COUNTY RANK—Wenden has the smallest number of 4-H clubs and members, 261 members in four clubs. Nash has more club units, 66, with 2,356 members, but Robeson leads in total membership, 3,545 enrolled in 25 clubs. Other counties with more than 3,000 members are Johnston with 3,318 and Sampson with 3,356.

NEGROES—In terms of total population Negroes have a better record than whites in 4-H enrollment. Of the total 140,369 members 47,098 were Negroes. That is about 34 per cent, whereas the percentage of Negroes in total rural farm population is about 30 per cent. One-third of the clubs, 72 out of the total 2,280, are made up of Negro members. A more detailed analysis of North Carolina membership by race makes an even better showing for Negroes.

FIFTY—Negro membership is confined to 50 counties, there being no clubs for that race in the other 50. In those 50 counties having both Negro and white clubs, the rural farm population is 46 per cent Negro, but they provide 47 per cent of the 4-H enrollment. The counties which have both white and Negro clubs

Boom In Recordings

Phonograph merchants were dismal when 45 and 33 revolutions—per-minute disks spun on the market a few years ago to join the established 78 rpm platters.

All they saw ahead was ruin. They said: Dealers would have to triple their inventories. The public would be confused. Few people could afford three separate phonographs. Most of them would stop buying records until the industry agreed on a standard speed. Some would buy sound recorders and build music libraries by recording radio programs or the playing of friends' records.

Well, last year these dealers sold $200,000,000 worth of records, about twice the total gate receipts of professional football, baseball, hockey and horse racing.

In 1946, there were about 8,000,000 phonograph turntables in the country; now there are 24,000,000, according to estimates of Emanuel Sacks, vice-president and general manager of RCA Victor's record department. And dealers who threatened to liquidate a few years ago are trying to forget they ever said it.

The reasons for this unexpected up-sweep in prosperity are these: Almost all new phonographs have three speeds, making every owner a prospect for all types of records.

Records have been improved both in fidelity and durability. Radio and television, believe it or not, have improved tastes in music.

And vigorous promotion has developed the market for records. There are six major record markets: classical, pops, children's country and western, rhythm and blues and international. Fastest growing are the children's and classical markets.

The rising birthrate, radio and television and more aggressive advertising are keeping the children's market booming. An apparent maturing of American tastes has kept classical markets growing. Before World War II, classical music accounted for 20 per cent of all record sales. Today, it accounts for 30 per cent and the much greater. Meanwhile, pop records have lost no ground; sales gain in numbers is, of course, of a million copies of a single record are not uncommon.

The addition of new outlets for records has helped the artists and the manufacturers, though not the music shops. Records are now marketed through supermarkets, variety, drug and book stores.

WORD TEST HELPS—SELECTING EMPLOYEES—An "adjective" method of evaluating candidates for employment was recently described at a Boston meeting of the Young Presidents' Organization by James Whitehead, Regal Shoe president.

The system involves ascertaining five "personality aspects": aggressiveness, social initiative, emotional control, social adaptability and intelligent behavior. These are determined by giving the applicant a list of 51 adjectives, with instructions to check, first, those that have ever been used in describing the applicant since meeting of the Young Presidents' Organization by James Whitehead, Regal Shoe president. Evolution Among The Bosses

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Bosses are people.

In a single generation the boss in America has changed from just another four-letter word to a human being, from a cartoon of evil power to a person who can be dealt with.

In Russia, which promises the working man the moon but still employs slave labor, there is a vast gulf between the peasant and the bureaucrat.

In America and other parts of the free world, which long ago abandoned slavery as unprofitable and in the long run unworkable, the working man has reached a new peak of human dignity.

A rising standard of living—and such gadgets as the income tax, perhaps—have reduced the difference between the boss and the hired hand. The creature comforts of our civilization, cars, homes, better food, television sets, are more and more within the reach of all.

The old hate-gap between employer and employe, between capital and labor, has narrowed, too.

The guy who works for a wage and the guy who supervises or owns the business are coming to understand that both are in the same boat, and if either rocks the boat hard both may drown. This truth seems in a century there will be no more of the most murderous in history, the best portent for survival of a way-of-life that has prospered more people than any system since the story of man began.

The plain fact is that capitalism has shown itself more responsive to change, more willing to correct its own abuses, than communism. It has given more people more hope, more freedom, more bread, more opportunity, more dignity, more happiness.

This recognition of the teamwork between boss and hired man has made the role of boss more difficult.

An old song says, "A Good Man Is Hard To Find." But industry is finding today that a good boss is even harder to find—and

The old style boss, who often ruled his underlings by the whip-lash of fear, is gradually joining the dinosaur. The new type boss leads men rather than drives them. His greatest weapon in getting his job done is not his authority—it is his depth of understanding. He must know how to get along with people.

He is less of an autocrat and more of an artist in human relations. He knows that a symphony orchestra conductor cannot lead a tuba player in the same way as a violin by beating him over the head with a baton. The baton is a symbol, not a club. It draws from each musician the right note at the right time—and the result is harmonious achievement. The task of the boss, in office or factory, is the same as that of an orchestra conductor—to get from each man the best that is in him.

A boss today sometimes isn't sure whether he is a father, a policeman, a football coach, or a psychiatrist. There are days when he must be all of them. And some days, when nothing seems to go right, he feels less like a boss than he does a prisoner. And, of course, that is what he is—a prisoner of responsibility.

Bosses who deliberately set out to win the affection of their employes rarely do. But a boss who deals fairly and squarely cannot help but gain their admiration and respect, qualities which in time turn to fondness.

Why are good bosses scarce and in high demand? Ask the average employe if he really wants to be the boss himself.

My wife kind of wants me to, but I don't," he will say, if honest. "Too many worries. No fun. You gotta please too many people."

That is perhaps the best tribute you can pay a good boss today. Most people who work for him no longer envy him because they wouldn't take his troubles for his salary.

Army Is Moving Romance Indoors

TOKYO (UP)—The Far East Command opened a campaign today to drive love indoors.

Outdoor petting and necking between American servicemen and their Oriental girl friends has become a matter of "grave concern," it was disclosed, because it offends the sensibilities of the Japanese.

The new drive, revealed in the weekly newspaper "Cavalier" of the U. S. First Cavalry Division, will utilize "troop information programs and guidance councils" to educate the G.I.s in Japanese custom.

"Recently," the newspaper said in a front page story, "it has come to the attention of the commander-in-chief, Far East, Gen. Mark W. Clark, that the impression being created by the security forces personnel in Japan is one of grave concern.

"Uninhibited displays of 'petting' in public are contrary to the standards of behavior instilled in the Japanese people through the centuries.

"Such overt actions as holding hands and walking with one's arm around the waist or shoulders of a girl, and 'necking' in public, while seemingly innocent enough to themselves, nevertheless bring derogatory remarks and unjust accusations of immorality from people unaccustomed to the sight of such familiarities.

The campaign followed the advent of warm weather when, apparently, American soldiers too liberally illustrated their springtime chant:

"Hooray, hooray for the first of May, outdoor love begins today."

Social Studies Meet Conducted At ECC

"Understanding Our World" was the theme of a conference held at East Carolina College Thursday under the sponsorship of the department of social studies. Papers prepared and read by graduate students working this summer in Dr. George Pasti's classes presented various aspects of the 20th Century intellectual revolution and stressed the complex nature of our culture.

Dr. Pasti opened the day's program with a statement of the conference theme expressed in a talk on "The Crisis of Understanding."

Thomas J. Nixon III of Bedford gave a discussion of "Henry Adams, 20th Century Prophet." Psychiatric Diagnoses of Culture" by Robert Cannady of Dunn and "Escape from Freedom" by Thomas S. Shutt of Roanoke Rapids presented ideas which have had an impact upon and are significant to our times.

Three papers gave answers to the question "Is Our Civilization Dying?" Spengler's views were discussed by Katherine Collins of Rocky Mount; Toyne's by Lenwood Lee of Colerain; and Sorokin's by Pauline Alexander of Seven Springs.

A group of discussions of modern literature included "Western Culture Reflected in Literature" by Iralia Oglesby of Hamilton; "James Joyce and the 20th Century," by Undine W. Barnhill of Scotland Neck; and "Franz Kafka and Modern Man's Dilemma" by William L. May of Maury. "The Crisis of the Intellect" by Warren B. Langston of Greenville concluded the series of papers.

A panel discussion of the question "What's To Be Done in an Age of Anxiety and Crisis?" had as participants ten graduate students in the Eastern Carolina department of social studies.

Cigar-Passer Is Rightfully Proud

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Charles Igms was passing out cigars today after earning the privilege the hard way.

When it became evident his Japanese war bride, Sachie, 23, was ready for delivery, Igms realized it was too late for a trip to the hospital.

He did the next best thing. Telephoned the doctor and following the physician's instructions, brought his seven-pound, three-ounce daughter into the world.

'No War' When Russians Paint

OTTAWA, Ont. (UP)—The Ottawa Journal, noting that the Soviet Embassy residence here was being painted, predicted flatly there would be no war in the immediate future.

"The powers that be in the Kremlin would never order that large embassy residence painted if they knew that next week or next year they were going to bomb the city to smithereens. Not with the cost of painters what it is today," the Journal said in an editorial.

Volcanic Dust Shadows Alaska

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP)—Ash and dust from three erupting volcanoes plunged 20,000 square miles of Western Alaska into darkness today, disrupting communications and possibly endangering the lives of 100 persons in a remote fishing village.

The volcanoes began erupting early Thursday sending clouds of hot ashes falling like black snow over a vast area. The explosions were the most severe in more than 40 years.

The volcanic dust completely blacked out Anchorage, a city of 50,000, for several hours.

Fears were expressed for the safety of 100 residents of the fishing village of Tyonek, about 80 miles southwest of Anchorage. There were unconfirmed reports the village was in the path of a huge cloud of hot ashes. However, there were no reports of a lava flow.

The three volcanoes were Mt. Spurr, a 11,069-foot peak, Mt. Tolbert, a 10,600-foot peak, and an unidentified mountain. They sent their curtain of ashes and smoke as high as 50,000 feet into the air.

All air traffic to and from the volcano area was suspended. The Civil Aeronautics Authority warned pilots that engine failures might occur if their engines become covered with dust.

Officials of the Alaska Native Service were trying to establish radio contact with Tyonek, but the dust completely disrupted communications.

Dynamite Blast Wrecks City Bus

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP)—A dynamite explosion damaged a city bus last night in another act of violence stemming from a five-week transit strike here. No one was injured.

Witnesses said a stick of dynamite was tossed beneath the bus from a green sedan which was occupied by two men and which bore no license tag. The sedan sped away as the dynamite exploded.

The bus was halted at a suburban stop, witnesses said, while the non-union driver and his helper had dismounted momentarily, leaving one passenger aboard when the explosion occurred.

Several other acts of violence have occurred since non-union drivers took over operation of the transit system while union operators remained on strike for a five-cent hourly pay increase.

Gunfire damaged one bus, and thrown bricks damaged several. One non-union driver told police he was beaten at gunpoint. Someone tossed a tear gas bomb into one crowded bus, sending six passengers to a hospital. A union driver who returned to work said his home was fired upon.

Recruiter Works Against WAFS

LAWRENCE, Mass. (UP)—When pretty Catherine Joan Clement, 20, stopped in at a recruiting station to enlist in the WAFS, Sgt. Joseph T. Rutledge, 26, helped her fill out an application.

As a matter of regular procedure Rutledge later visited her home to discuss the matter with Miss Clement's parents.

Finally, after a number of visits to the Clement home Rutledge succeeded in persuading her to stay out of the Armed Forces.

They'll be married in the fall.

Seeks Return Of Gold Standard

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) has introduced a bill to return the United States to the gold standard.

He made clear that he did not expect action this year. But he cited the 1932 Republican platform calling for convertibility of dollars into gold and said he thinks a start should be made.

Teams Will Benefit By Change

The changes made Wednesday in the sites for the District One Little League tournament may prove to be beneficial to all of the leagues in the district.

Games have been scheduled to be played in Farmville, Tarboro and Greenville in first round activity, with the semi-final and final round sites to be chosen later.

Each of the six leagues in this district are operating on a scanty budget. The regular style tournament would have necessitated a larger expense account than is now required.

As the set up now stands, both leagues in Tarboro will play each other on July 23, while Williamston and Greenville will meet here.

This manner of elimination is highly recommended by Little League's national directors out of Williamsport, Pennsylvania.

Player Comparisons Continue

Baseball fans have created a huge furor during the past months by comparing the deeds of New York's prized Mickey Mantle and Ed Mathews of Milwaukee.

Neither of the young sluggers completed as much as two years in the minor leagues before being called to the majors.

Each powered the longest home runs ever hit in two major league stadiums during one week in April.

The tape was not applied to Mathew's home run blast out of Wrigley Field in Chicago.

The youthful stars get most of the air power from their physical strength. Mantle has one of the most perfectly developed set of back, shoulder, and arm muscles in organized baseball.

Mathews' greatest asset is his powerful wrists. Ex-Yankee great Tommy Henrich said that it was only natural that Mathews should hit a ball out of sight as his wrists were those of a blacksmith.

Braves Have Aided Baseball

Milwaukee's advent into the major leagues has given baseball a much needed shot in the arm.

The transplanted Braves seemed to have caught some of the spectator's enthusiasm right from the beginning by winning the first game of the season.

Brooklyn and Milwaukee, both of whom have monopolized first place in the National League, have been served warning by the New York Giants to protect their lead.

One of the biggest drawbacks for Leo Durocher has been his inability to find an additional starting pitcher of the necessary calibre.

Brooklyn is next on the list for the Giants, and if the pitching and sensational hitting continues, New York could easily move higher in the standings.

Parnell Hurls 4-0 Shutout Over Yankees

Chicago, Indians Each Win Games

Boston Hurler Gets "Consolation" By Beating Yanks And Stengel; Phillies Edge Brooklyn To Cut Lead

By CARL LUNDQUIST United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Casey Stengel admitted he asked for trouble when he left pitchers Mel Parnell of Boston and Bob Porterfield of Washington off the All-Star squad, and they might give it to him in a big one-two punch.

Parnell, one of the authentic stars who won't be twinking when the big league big-wigs battle each other at Cincinnati next Tuesday, was happy enough today to settle for his second straight shutout over the Yankees as a consolation prize.

He's only the number one winner in the American League with 12 victories and four defeats, but Stengel, the American League manager, didn't think he rated a spot on the squad.

And now Stengel has to contend today with Porterfield, another ace pitcher, who has won 10 games, five of them shutouts.

Porterfield, who blanked the Yankees 4-0 with a five-hitter at Washington last Sunday, had an extra day of rest and would be delighted to do the same thing that Parnell accomplished.

Parnell, trying hard to conceal his disappointment at not being named to the squad, said "it would have been a privilege to be there, but now maybe I'll get enough rest for an extra start or two and I can spend some time at home with my family."

Stengel, who picked five right-handed pitchers and a lefty despite the fact that the starting National League lineup will contain six left-handed batters, said he expected repercussions but that his big thought was to concentrate on hitters who could offset the senior circuit's power boys.

"So I had to leave off some pretty good pitchers, but I still think I have a tough squad to beat," he said.

Parnell gained his victory, which cut the Yankee lead to five games, with steady eight-inning ace Dick Gernert supplied the power with a three-run homer off loser Whitey Ford.

Both second place Chicago and third place Cleveland gained on the Yankees. Cleveland downed the Browns 9-1 in a night game as Bob Lemon pitched a five-hitter and drove in three runs with a double and single for his 11th victory.

Chicago topped Detroit 4-2 to hand on to second place a game ahead of the Indians.

In the only other American League game Washington defeated the Athletics for the sixth straight time, 8-4 as Spec Shea turned in his eighth victory against one defeat, but ran into trouble because he gave up 10 walks.

Sam Mele hit his third homer in as many games with a man on base to give the White Sox their victory as relief pitcher Harry Dorisch pitched scoreless one-hit ball for 5 1-3 innings.

In the National League, Brooklyn's lead was cut to three games when the Phillies came from behind to beat the Dodgers, 6-5, on a two-run double by Smokey Burgess in the eighth inning.

The game was notable because the Brooklyn record N.L. home run streak was extended to 23 games on a two-run blast by Roy Campanella and because Robin Roberts, who had hurled 28 straight complete games over a two-year period, was knocked out of the box in a two-run Dodger eighth.

Bob Miller came in to relieve him and receive his first victory.

The Giants cashed in on the second two-hit shutout of the year by routing Ruben Gomez, beating the Pirates 4-1 in six games.

Hank Thompson hit a two-run homer, his 15th, and Whitey Lockman collected four hits including his 1,000th as a major leaguer.

There were no other major league games scheduled.

Stengel, who picked five right-handed pitchers and a lefty despite the fact that the starting National League lineup will contain six left-handed batters, said he expected repercussions but that his big thought was to concentrate on hitters who could offset the senior circuit's power boys.

"So I had to leave off some pretty good pitchers, but I still think I have a tough squad to beat," he said.

Parnell gained his victory, which cut the Yankee lead to five games, with steady eight-inning ace Dick Gernert supplied the power with a three-run homer off loser Whitey Ford.

Both second place Chicago and third place Cleveland gained on the Yankees. Cleveland downed the Browns 9-1 in a night game as Bob Lemon pitched a five-hitter and drove in three runs with a double and single for his 11th victory.

Chicago topped Detroit 4-2 to hand on to second place a game ahead of the Indians.

In the only other American League game Washington defeated the Athletics for the sixth straight time, 8-4 as Spec Shea turned in his eighth victory against one defeat, but ran into trouble because he gave up 10 walks.

Sam Mele hit his third homer in as many games with a man on base to give the White Sox their victory as relief pitcher Harry Dorisch pitched scoreless one-hit ball for 5 1-3 innings.

Rulanes Slug Way To 13-1 Win; Red Men Get Victory

Wesley Hudson hurled one-hit ball and his teammates supported him with three home runs last night as the Rulanes continued their run away in the Pony League by blasting the Ford-O-Matics, 13-1.

Hudson was tagged for a single by lead-off man Charles Rumley in the first inning, but from then on the Ford-O-Matics were unable to reach base as the result of a base hit.

The winners collected only five base hits, but each one went for extra bases. Ed Riddick, Charles Smith, and Hudson Miller each picked up a four-bagger and Wesley Hudson and Mike Riddick each doubled.

The Red Men won the first game of the contest by a score of 19-8, beating Bright Leaf. Extra base hits were frequent in the game also, with the losers getting three and the Red Men two.

John Ed Arnold homered for the losers with the bases filled in the seventh, while teammates Roger Bullock and Billy Staston collected doubles.

John Tripp and Kelly Barnhill each doubled for the winners.

Bright Belt Will Play 'Star Game

Williams Home; Play Again '54

By HAL WOOD United Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Capt. Ted Williams, the batting Marine, is back on U.S. soil and all ready to return to the Boston Red Sox outfield in 1954 — and to renew his feud with Boston sports writers.

"I'm ready to battle some of those sports writers any time," Williams said after landing at nearby Moffatt Field. The towering star had been on the Korean battle line for five and one-half months, during which time he went on 39 aerial missions.

He was returned to the states for treatment of an ear trouble. "Know something?" Williams asked. "There are only two major league towns where the newspapersmen continually harp against the ball players. Boston and Cleveland. Those Cleveland guys have been picking on Luke Easter the last couple of years — and he is the man who makes that team click."

When he got back into the lineup last year, they nearly won the pennant. And he has put them back in the running this year, too. "But they keep pounding away at him, just as they do at me in Boston."

"I got along all right there for the first year. Then the right-field fence was moved in from 400 to break Babe Ruth's home run record. When I didn't, some of the guys started riding me and they've been doing it ever since."

Williams was affable as he landed here. He was tanned and in good physical shape — only 10 pounds above his playing weight at 210 pounds. He doesn't expect to play this year.

"After all I'm not supposed to get out of the Marines until October and the baseball season is over in September," he pointed out.

Farmville's starting lineup will have Paul Gay, Streeter Tugwell, Sam Stell, and either Tommy Cole, in the outfield. The infield will consist of first baseman Barry Jones, second baseman Millard Webb, Bill Kennedy at short, and Piestrak at third. Red McDaniels will be behind the plate.

Managers Ambler Davis of Rocky Mount, Fred Peltan of Stantonburg, and Fonza Felton of Maccliesfield could very well have the solution in the hitting. The All-Star squad is not loaded with sluggers, but with a steady corps of batters. Ronald Percise and Jack McComas of Stantonburg are two of the more dependable hitters in the league, as are Peck Stokes and Pete Stuart of Maccliesfield. Al Densen, former pro star, is a good hitter and excellent fielder for Rocky Mount.

Piestrak will probably send Vincent Jones to the mound as Farmville's starting pitcher. Jones will be backed up by veterans Red Benton, Joe Jones, Art Sirois and Pete Hardison.

Hogan Two Strokes Back; Final Two Rounds Start

By ROBERT MUSEL United Press Sports Writer CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (UP)—Steel-nerved Ben Hogan, only two strokes off the pace and in perfect position for another of his famed finishing drives, faced the most dramatic challenge in his career today as he marched out to play the final two rounds of the British Open golf championship in a single day.

Amateur star Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., was tied with Hogan at the end of 36 holes, but the spotlight and the pressure were squarely on the wiry little 40-year old Texan.

For this is the day that will decide whether Hogan is to crown his career with one of the most dramatic triumphs in golf history. He went into this competition at rugged Carnoustie course, possibly the world's toughest links, as the shortest-priced favorite in the tournament's history and the teeming galleries dogging his heels have added to the pressure.

America's mighty mile from Texas trailed only three golfers going into today's morning round. They were Eric Brown, 28-year old former railroad engineer from Scotland, and little Dal Rees of Wales who were tied for the lead at 142, and long-hitting Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, who was only one stroke behind at 143.

Hogan admitted his position only two strokes behind was a "nice position to be in."

But he quietly added, "you have to play when you're in that position." And he added that the puzzling Carnoustie course, with its many traps, its unpredictable weather, and its strong, shifting winds would be a tough foe to conquer.

"This is a course you can't keep going on," said Hogan. "You get it rolling and then you have to play a defensive shot some place."

Tied with Hogan and Stranahan at the 144 mark was Peter Thomson, the 23-year old Australian champion who finished second in this tournament last year. And only a stroke behind them at 145 was defending champion Bobby Locke of South Africa and 1951 champion Max Faulkner of Britain.

A Pattern of Christian Behavior

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Romans 6:1-4; 12.

"I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your reasonable service."

Be "not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord, rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation, continuing instant in prayer; given to hospitality. Bless them that persecute you."

"Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep. Be of the same mind one toward another. . . Be not wise in your own conceit. Provide things honest in the sight of all men."

If thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink; for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head."

ST. PAUL GIVES BELIEVERS RULES FOR RIGHT LIVING

Scripture—Romans 6:1-4; 12.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL. LIFE is a constant struggle, is it not? Not only do we strive with outside influences—school, society, jobs, national and international problems, etc., but our inner struggles are constant from childhood to old age. We have ideals of conduct, but how rarely does our conduct live up to those ideals?

body, but "all members have not the same office. So we, being many, and every one members with gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith," and so with other gifts—ministering, exhorting, etc. Who should then be envious of others with differing talents?

"Let love be without dissimulation (or hypocrisy). Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good. "Be kindly affectioned one to another with brotherly love; in honor preferring one another."

Be not slothful in business, Paul says further, and that is a reminder most pertinent today when we see irresponsibility, sloppy work and idleness frequently. Let Paul's words to the Colossians, be our motto: "And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men."—Col. 3:23.

"We should rejoice in hope; be patient in trouble, pray constant-for our sins, and we who believe died with Him and also rose with Him. However, we mustn't stop there. We must go on striving with all our might to live in Christ, and to grow more and more like Him as life goes on.

Beginning chapter 12, Paul writes: "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."

It is our bodies that get us into trouble. Our feet carry us where we should not go; our hands grasp out for things we should not have. Our mouths say things that we never should say, and our minds think of things that are better suppressed at once—how to get a better mark in school by cheating; how to get that job we want even if we have to climb over a friend's head; how to get what other people have by fair means or foul.

Possibly we think too highly of our skills—not enough of other people's abilities. What does Paul say? "For I say to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith."

We have many members in one body. These admonitions of St. Paul's are high ideals, but we can—large or small, rich or poor—strive toward them and pray.

ly. Also he asks that hospitality be given to the missionaries when they came, weary and footsore, needing food and shelter.

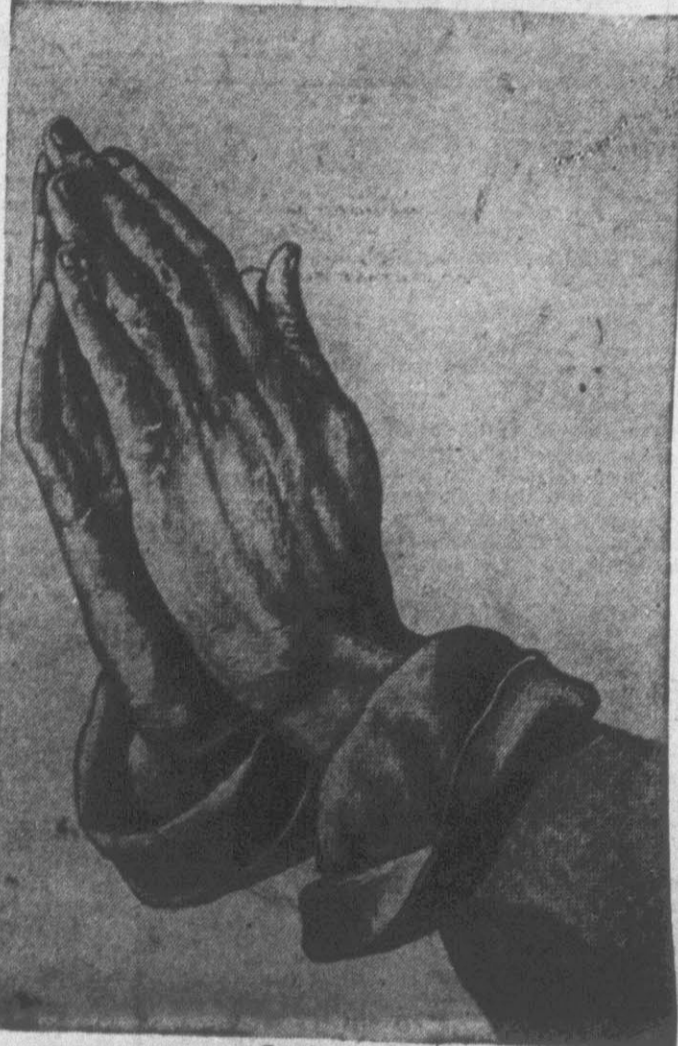

"Bless them which persecute you; bless and curse not. Rejoice with them that do rejoice; and weep with them that weep." "We tend to take our friends' griefs lightly, do we not? with words of sympathy, it is true, but with any depth of feeling. "Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men."

"If it is possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men."

"Avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is Mine; I will repay, saith the Lord." If your enemy is hungry, feed him; if thirsty, give him drink, for in so doing you will heap coals of fire upon his head. If you had treated a person very badly and he returned your cruelty with kindness, wouldn't you feel small and mean? That is what heaping coals of fire on his head most likely means. And such treatment might very well result in the overcoming of evil with good.

These admonitions of St. Paul's are high ideals, but we can—large or small, rich or poor—strive toward them and pray.

Advertisement for Greenville Utilities Commission. Text: 'July 1, 1953 CHANGE IN BILLING PROCEDURE & DUE DATE. This Is A Notice Of Special Importance To You To All Utilities Customers: Due to the greatly increased number of Utilities Consumers, now approximately twenty thousand meters, it has become necessary to adopt a new billing procedure for preparing and mailing your monthly statements. Beginning this month all meters within the City and areas immediately adjacent there to will be read between the 10th and the end of each month, bills will be posted on the last working day of the month, will be due and payable on the 1st of the following month, and become delinquent on the 15th. All other meters including Rural Districts and other Communities will be read generally between the 1st and 10th of each month, bills will be posted on the 15th of the month, will be due and payable on the 16th, and become delinquent on the last day of the month. In short all bills will be due when presented and are payable within the half month following the postmark date. Fifty cents (50c) will be added to each bill becoming delinquent and service subject to suspension without further notice. This change is being made in order that we may better serve you and your full cooperation in seeing that your remittance reaches us within the NEW due date will be greatly appreciated. Yours very truly, GREENVILLE UTILITIES COMMISSION'.

Flagpole Sitter Is Coming Down

DAVENPORT, Ia. (UP)—Flagpole sitter Dixie Blandy said today he will come down to earth Sunday after 20 days aloft, abandoning his effort to break his own record of 73 days and nights. "I can't stand this weather any longer," he said. "One day it's hot, the next day it rains and the wind blows like a tornado, and then it turns cold."

Report High Toll In Japan's Flood

FUKUOKA, Japan (UP)—Police today estimated casualties in Southern Japan's recent flood at 664 dead, 1,900 injured and 477 missing and presumably dead. An announcement said the number of dysentery cases rose 105 from Tuesday to 906, including suspected cases. The number of deaths due to dysentery reached 53, according to health officials at the Japan flood relief headquarters today. This was an increase of 11 over Tuesday.

Phoenix Schools End Segregation

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—Racial segregation in all Phoenix public high schools and the city's junior college has been abolished, effective in the next fall term. The action of the Phoenix union high schools and college board of trustees last night affected some 11,000 white and 481 Negro students. Segregation will continue in the lower grades. Approximately 2,000 Negro grade school students attend three all-Negro city schools. Wilson noted such a step would require amendment of the Constitution but said it "probably would be worth it." He added Woodrow Wilson suggested a similar plan years ago. The United Press executive said the lack of responsibility in either major party is due largely "to the fact that there is neither party discipline nor the means of enforcing it."

"You might say there is no such thing as a Republican party or a Democratic party on a national level," he said. "In the House and Senate, for years past there have been members of the same political party who rarely if ever voted together on any major piece of legislation." Without party discipline, he said, any person in a position of power can wield that power according to his own wishes "regardless of his party leadership." He said chairmen of congressional committees, such as Reed, "are beautifully situated to impose their views upon a majority of their fellow members, or upon an administration itself." Forty years ago the average hen in the United States produced about 87 eggs per year, whereas today she is capable of producing 194.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks eased today on volume equal to yesterday's small total.

Weekend evening up operations plus uncertainties stemming from firing of Russia's No. 2 leader accounted for the decline, according to the market experts.

At the end of the first hour the industrial section was down eight cents on average, rails down 58 cents and utilities down six cents. Sales were 170,000 in the first hour, same as yesterday.

Some of the movies, tobaccos, oils, metals and mail order shares managed to rise 12 to 25 cents a share. Twentieth Century-Fox Film led in turnover. The mild improvement in the movies reflected a move to remove the federal tax on motion picture theaters.

Central Railroad of Georgia, up 5-8; Missouri Pacific preferred, up 5-8, and Missouri-Kansas-Texas, up 3-4 were exceptions in a lower rail section. Losses amounted to a half point in Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore & Ohio, Great Northern, and Southern Railway and a point in Union Pacific.

REINFORCEMENTS SAID MOVING TO EAST GERMANY

Berlin (UP)—Informed sources said today the Soviets are reinforcing the 300,000-man occupation force in East Germany as a result of uprisings against Communist rule.

The informants said four new Soviet divisions are being moved in. At the same time, according to the sources, authorities have ordered the Red German regime to cut the "garrison peoples police" from 120,000 to 60,000 men because the force proved unreliable during the anti-Communist rebellion.

Soviet occupation authorities were forced to declare martial law and move their occupation troops into all major cities of the Russian-occupied zone to restore order.

The new Soviet forces will be billeted in barracks vacated by police units which are being dissolved, the sources said.

CHICAGO (UP)—Cotton futures prices at noon EST today: New York July 33.44; Oct. 34.04; New Orleans July 33.26; Oct. 34.03.

2nd Lt. Lemuel Clemons Jr., husband of Mrs. Clemons, the former Joan Beattie of Greenville, left recently for Camp Kilmer, N. J. where he will begin processing for an overseas assignment.

The South Greenville Park committee will hold a meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Fleming Suseet School. The public is asked to be present.

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Officials of Oklahoma A. & M. College didn't count on student pranks when they constructed the ornamental marble fountain in front of the new $4,500,000 library.

First off, a catfish was found swimming in the cool, clear water. Then a few students tried to cool off.

When campus cops were posted, the youths took it as a dare and fountain pool alternately glowed purple, red and green.

To end it all, someone dropped in a batch of soap flakes and the next morning the pool was sudsy.

AMERICAN SAVING ACCOUNTS GROW

WASHINGTON (UP)—Americans saved $2,500,000,000 during the first three months of 1953, more than in any other first quarter-year since World War II.

The Securities and Exchange Commission said "the more permanent types" of savings—savings accounts, insurance, and savings and loan association shares "continued at, or near, the high rates" of the past year.

MASKED FOR SKUNK

WOONSOCKET R.I. (UP)—Firemen donned gas masks while fighting a fire in the Woonsocket Napping Machinery Co. It was a minor blaze and there was very little smoke but that skunk trapped in the basement—whew!

WEST GERMANS' ELECTION IS SET

Bonn, Germany (UP)—President Theodor Heuss of West Germany today officially proclaimed Sept. 6 as the date for the next federal parliamentary elections.

Voters will name 484 deputies, 82 more than were elected in the August, 1949, balloting. Upper house members will not be elected in September, since they are chosen by and represent the governments of each province.

Storm Hovers On Story Royal Romance Killed

LONDON (UP)—A storm gathered today under black headlines in the London press over reports that Princess Margaret cannot marry the man she loves.

"An official ban on such a marriage would be deeply wrong," the New Chronicle thundered editorially.

Some morning newspapers headlined denials of reports that the cabinet had rejected marriage because Group Capt. Peter Townsend, 38, reported object of Margaret's affection, is a divorced man.

Under these negative headlines, the newspapers published stories strongly linking the pretty 22-year-old princess to the handsome pilot who has been transferred to a post in Brussels.

The Socialist Weekly Tribune reported yesterday the cabinet had been asked to consider the marriage and rejected it. Government sources immediately denied the Tribune's report.

This morning's papers pounced on the denial.

"Margaret: Denial that cabinet said 'no' to her marriage," the Daily Mirror banner screamed.

"Princess: 'Princess: A report denied,'" the News Chronicle's top headline said.

On its editorial page, the News Chronicle said in its lead editorial: "If the young princess wishes to marry Group Capt. Townsend are there any just and proper reasons for denying her wish?"

"There could be no thought that in making the marriage she would be falling short of moral standards the nation and the commonwealth desire to preserve.

"If the marriage were forbidden the sacrifice which the princess would be required to make would be one which an enlightened age could not in good conscience demand."

The air ministry's announcement last week of Townsend's transfer to Belgium broke open the simmering rumors of romance in the British press which largely had ignored them when they were printed earlier in America and on the continent.

Reinforcements Said Moving To East Germany

Berlin (UP)—Informed sources said today the Soviets are reinforcing the 300,000-man occupation force in East Germany as a result of uprisings against Communist rule.

The informants said four new Soviet divisions are being moved in. At the same time, according to the sources, authorities have ordered the Red German regime to cut the "garrison peoples police" from 120,000 to 60,000 men because the force proved unreliable during the anti-Communist rebellion.

Soviet occupation authorities were forced to declare martial law and move their occupation troops into all major cities of the Russian-occupied zone to restore order.

The new Soviet forces will be billeted in barracks vacated by police units which are being dissolved, the sources said.

Police Court To Resume Monday

Judge Charles Whedbee will preside over a regular session of Police Court at the City Hall next Monday, July 13.

The judge and court officials will conclude their vacations this week. Hereafter regular sessions of court will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Special attention is given to traffic cases on Wednesdays, Solicitor Eli Bloom stated.

Clerk E. J. Dees said a heavy docket is scheduled for trial Monday.

Freight Bills Go Up In N.C. Today

RALEIGH (UP)—North Carolina shippers faced an estimated increase of $1,000,000 a year in their freight bills today as a result of the nine per cent boost in railroad freight rates granted by the State Utilities Commission.

The commission reversed itself yesterday, with one dissenting voice, in granting the railroads a rate increase of nine per cent on shipments within the state. Coming on top of a six per cent raise granted Jan. 3, 1952, the new increase grants railroads a full 15 per cent hike in intrastate freight rates to match that granted on interstate rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission had denied the full 15 per cent boost in its 1952 decision on grounds that the railroads had sufficient earnings to get along on six per cent higher rates.

In coming across with a figure to match ICC levels yesterday, the commission majority held that the lower rates required within the state amounted to "unlawful discrimination" against North Carolina railroads since nearly all other states had followed the ICC rise.

Commissioner Harry T. Westcott, however, dissented with the comment that the state commission does "not necessarily have to follow the decisions of the ICC."

Issue Draft Call

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department has issued a draft call for 23,000 men for September, the same as for July and August. All of the draftees will be assigned to the Army.

Sober Judge

Petaluma, Calif. (UP)—A jury and Judge William I. Locarni ruled Thursday that Judge Roland C. Webb was "sober as a judge" when arrested here for drunkenness last month.

Use of insecticides on peanuts has increased yields an average of 500 to 600 pounds per acre.

Medal Of Honor For Killed Hero

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Medal of Honor was awarded posthumously today to Marine Staff Sgt. William E. Shuck Jr., Clearfield, Pa., who was killed in Korea by an enemy sniper while helping to remove casualties from the battle field.

Shuck was a machine gun squadron leader in the Seventh Marine Regiment. During an attack on Communist forces on July 3, 1952, an infantry squad leader was wounded and Shuck immediately took command of the riflemen, combining them with his own machine gun squad to form an attacking force.

He was wounded twice while leading assaults but refused evacuation, and the citation said, "remained in the foremost position under heavy fire until assisted that all dead and wounded were evacuated."

Shuck was killed by a sniper bullet while helping to remove the last casualty.

Invites Ideas On Entertaining Of Festival Crowds

Chairman John Barnhill of the Entertainment Committee for the beauty contest and farmers' festival to be held in Greenville September 8 and 9 today invited suggestions for entertainment features.

Barnhill, agricultural implement and farm machinery dealer; B. B. Sugg, banker and tobacco warehouseman; and Dr. Howard H. Grady, physician and surgeon, from the Greenville Kiwanis Club, have been assigned the task of providing entertainment for the farmers' festival event in September.

Present plans provide for arranging for entertainment that will appeal to the general public—a diversified program. Barnhill said "persons having suggestions about the proper program for the annual event are requested to communicate with him or any other member of the committee."

Cats have been known to live as long as 30 years.
