Communists Resort To Violence To Stop Aid Food Parcels Seized

By JOSEPH FLEMING
United Press Staff Correspondent
BERLIN (UP)—The Communists resorted to mass seizures of food parcels and brutal beatings today in an attempt to halt distribution of "Eisenhower food parcels" to hungry East Germans.
The Reds applied harsh strong-arm tactics after the United States stepped up its relief program and announced it would supply food to every one of the 10,000,000 Germans in the Soviet zone of occupation.
The crush of East Germans who defied threats and terror to obtain the food parcels, distributed in the American, British and French sectors of this divided city, already was near the 1,000,000 mark.
Squads of Communist police surrounded the railway station at Potsdam, on the outskirts of Berlin, and began the wholesale confiscation of all "Eisenhower food" found in the possession of passengers returning from West Berlin. Similar measures were reported at other stations.
Identity cards of returning Germans also were being checked and stamped.
Spot checks, some seizures of food and forced "donation" of food parcels to a Communist campaign "for relief of unemployed East Berliners" had been applied earlier this week.
But this was the first major crackdown by Red authorities on the "hunger marchers" who have joined what has become known as the world's longest bread-line.
So many hundreds of thousands of East Germans have flooded into the West since the start of the two-week program last Monday that a spokesman said:
"We now are ready to issue every East German a food package."
The United States said yesterday it was considering extension of its program if food supplies run out before the East German harvest.
The violent tactics were adopted after threats of reprisals and prison failed to dim the defiance of

'Mr. Republican' Dies Of Cancer In New York Hospital At 10:30 A.M. Robert Taft Passes Away Today

Robert A. Taft

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Robert A. Taft, "Mr. Republican," whose party never gave him a chance to run for the presidency, died today of cancer in New York Hospital.
The 63-year-old senior senator from Ohio was the victim of a lingering illness. He died at 10:30 a.m. EST with his four sons nearby.
His death removed from the political scene the key figure supporting President Eisenhower in the Senate and a tower of strength in the first Republican administration in 20 years.
His wife, Martha, his counselor and companion through a third of a century of politics, was forced by her own illness to remain in Washington. She visited him Tuesday but stayed only the one day. Mrs. Taft has been confined to a wheelchair since suffering a stroke three years ago.
The team of "Bob and Martha" the quiet, brilliant husband and the vivacious, witty wife who took the platform with him in campaign years—was separated at the end.
The senator, whose illness forced him to give up the Senate Republican floor leadership early last month, entered the hospital July 4 and underwent an exploratory abdominal operation four days later.
His condition became critical yesterday, but before he fell into a coma he had sat on the edge of his bed and thanked the White House physician for bringing him the best wishes of President Eisenhower.
The President, who little over a year ago had beaten Taft in the Ohio's third bid for the GOP presidential nomination, sent word he had planned to come in person to the bedside. The press of Congress-closing days prevented his coming.
Taft had felt well enough to sit up for breakfast yesterday. But in late afternoon he took a sudden

Morehead City Dog Track Inquiry Continues Confident Track Is Fair

MOREHEAD CITY (UP)—A special legislative committee investigating possible underworld connections with North Carolina dog racing continued its inquiry here today after hearing local officials express confidence that the track here is run fairly and squarely.
Witnesses at the opening day of the hearing here also testified that there had been no increase in crime since the track opened here, that it had proved beneficial to the community, and expressed little opposition to the idea of a city referendum to determine whether tracks should continue to operate.

Atom Bomb Blast Set In October

LONDON (UP)—The government announced today Britain's second atom bomb explosion will take place in Australia in October.
At the same time, Britain again offered to exchange atomic information with the United States.
Minister of supply Duncan Sandys' son-in-law of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, made the announcement of the second atomic weapon test to the House of Commons at its last session before the summer recess. The first British bomb was exploded last October.
Sandys spoke of "atomic weapons trials" and "atomic weapons." But in an official announcement last week in Australia referred to the forthcoming "bomb test."

House Ways And Means Committee Acts With Lightning Speed Debt Limit Request Passes

By REX CHANEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Ways and Means Committee approved with lightning speed today a bill to increase the national debt limit by $15,000,000.
The vote was 17 to 6 to approve the increase.
With adjournment fever running high, the committee acted less than 24 hours after Mr. Eisenhower sent a special message to Congress asking that the debt limit be raised from $275,000,000 to $290,000,000.
The president said the debt is expected to exceed $275,000,000 before the scheduled return of Congress next January.
House leaders were prepared to call the bill up quickly for action on the floor. Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said he was sure the House would approve the measure.
The situation was different in the Senate, however. Many senators, including some Republicans, said they were determined to oppose the President's request.
The Senate Finance Committee, where there was strong opposition to increasing the limit, planned an afternoon meeting to take up the proposal.
Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson called the President's request "startling" and complained because it was made at the last minute.
"Nevertheless," he said, "I do not believe we can refuse to remain in session and study a proposition which the president of the United States considers so important."
The President's message said: "Despite our joint vigorous efforts to reduce expenditures, it is inevitable that the public debt will undergo some further increase."
Under present circumstances, the existing statutory debt limit is so restrictive that it does not allow the financial operating leeway necessary to conduct the government's fiscal affairs effectively.
Democrats were critical of administration officials for waiting until Congress was about ready to quit before asking for the legislation.

Senate Approves Oil Leasing Bill Last Night Revenue For Education Out

WASHINGTON (UP)—The long fight to earmark offshore oil revenue for education was defeated last night when the Senate approved an oil leasing bill for the continental shelf without the school proviso.
The Senate passed and sent to the White House a compromise bill setting up federal leasing machinery for mineral resources of ocean-bottom lands lying seaward of the state-owned tidelands.
The compromise was approved, 46 to 43, after Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland warned that its rejection might mean no continental shelf bill at this session. The bill was on the administration's "must" list.
Backers of the "oil-for-education" proposal fought to reject the compromise measure and force the House to vote on the state-owned tidelands.

Tobacco Growers Hope For Better Prices At Sales

FLORENCE, S.C. (UP)—South Carolina tobacco growers hoped for improving prices today after opening day sales on 11 markets brought averages slightly lower than those at the start of sales a year ago.
The state and federal departments of agriculture reported general averages were estimated at from $52 to $56 per hundred on the basis of initial sales yesterday, "slightly lower than on opening day last year."
The losses were mostly $1 to $2 per hundred, the report said, but fair green lugs dropped $5 and best non-descript $7.50. In contrast, good primings and some lug grades gained $1 to $2.
The practical top was $69 for better quality offerings and several individual baskets went for $70 per hundred.
Quality of offerings was below last year, the report said. The percentage of non-descript and low quality lugs increased but there was less good to choice lugs. Marketings were mainly low to good lugs and fair primings, non-descript and low cutters.
The volume of sales was heavy. All grade averages were above the expected low levels. The gains ranged from $1 to $12 per hundred, with the bigger rises made by low quality marketings.
Estimated deliveries to the stabilization corporation under the government loan program ranged from five to 10 per cent of baskets sold. Last year 11 per cent of gross sales on opening day went to stabilization.

Truce Violations Against U.S. Number Even Dozen Communists Make Charges

By VICTOR KENDRICK
United Press Staff Correspondent
PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—The Communists brought the number of truce violation charges against the United Nations to an even dozen Friday as observers of both sides took over the buffer zone.
Major Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, senior U.N. delegate on the Military Armistice Commission, said the Reds' latest protests involved alleged flights by Allied planes over the 2 1/2 mile wide demilitarized zone Wednesday night and early Thursday morning.
Bryan said both sides agreed at the one-hour and 36 minute meeting on permitting civil police to enter the buffer zone within 36 hours after the line of demarcation has been marked plainly.
He said the Reds had asked for 1,000 police and the U.N. for 650.
The commission agreed to hold its next meeting, the fourth since the truce was signed, at 11 a.m. Saturday (10 p.m. e.d.t. Friday).
Bryan said all of the Communist complaints were being checked thoroughly, even though they appeared "inconsequential."

Coroner's Jury Last Night Ordered That Ned Crawford Be Held For Knife Slaying

A 34-year-old Pitt County man last night heard a six-man coroner's jury order him held for grand jury action under a $10,000 bond for the Sunday afternoon slaying of his youthful companion.
Deliberating just 15 minutes, the coroner's jury ordered that Ronald Ned Crawford, 24, of near Greenville, be held for the knife-slaying of 18-year-old Frank Braxton at a service station near the Greenville city limits.
Crawford was taken back to Pitt County jail where he had been kept since the slaying, in default of the $10,000 bond required by County Coroner Griffin H. Rouse.
The defendant, represented by counsel, did not take the stand and sat silently through the entire proceedings which took exactly one hour.
Coroner Griffin H. Rouse put off five witnesses who gave various accounts of the Sunday afternoon slaying.
The first witness to take the stand was Dr. W. H. Pott, who examined Braxton when he was brought into the Pitt Memorial Hospital after the cutting scrape.
Pott told the jury and packed courthouse of spectators that Braxton was dead upon his arrival at the hospital where he was rushed

Greenville Firm Offers Columbia Painter Work

A Greenville firm today is offering a job to an unemployed Columbia, S.C. painter who said yesterday he would sell one of his eyes for $5,000.
A. B. Whitley, president of A. B. Whitley, Inc., paint and wallpaper concern in Greenville, this morning offered a job to Earl Martin, 42, of Columbia, S.C.
A news story from Columbia yesterday reported Martin is offering to sell one of his eyes because he needs money to pay for an operation for his fiancee. The fiancee, Mrs. Christine Harwell Harris of Columbia, has been paralyzed from the waist down for a year as the result of an automobile accident.
Whitley read the story of Martin in yesterday's Daily Reflector, and made known his offer to give Martin a job. Whitley's message was relayed to A. C. Carson, Jr., city editor of the Columbia Record, who said the newspaper would contact Martin.
Commenting on his offer to give the unemployed South Carolina painter a job, Whitley said, "I felt like he would be a good man. If he can get here we will give him a job."

First Group Of American Prisoners Prepare Today For Journey To Freedom

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Peiping radio announced today the Communists had alerted the first group of American prisoners to prepare for the 200-mile journey to Panmunjom and freedom.
The official "voice" of Red China said British, French, Turkish and other non-Korean captives also had been advised to get ready for the trip.
The broadcast named only three of the prisoners who will ride on the first convoy.
They were two Americans—Samuel S. Thomas, a medic, and a Robert Gleason — and British prisoner Elbert Campbell. Their ranks and hometowns were not given.
Peiping radio said the first convoy "soon" would start rolling down the old "freedom highway" from Pyongyang, on the shores of the Yalu River's great Suibao Reservoir, to this truce village.
They were expected to arrive in the Communist base camp at Kaesong shortly before the scheduled Aug. 5 start of "Operation Big Switch," the exchange of 12,000 Allied prisoners for 74,000 North Korean and Chinese held by the United Nations.
The Peiping description of life in a Communist prison camp sounded something like a press agent's copy of exclusive summer resorts.
The poetic phrases, the broadcast said the first prisoners to be repatriated were wine and dined last night.
"Beautifully decorated elubrooms were turned into dining halls," it said. "The Chinese People's Volunteers and prisoners of war drank and shouted 'long live peace' and toasted those who had worked hard for the success of the Korean armistice."
"Over dishes and glasses of beer and wine captors and captives talked of the good times they had together in the camp and many other things."
The soothing language of the broadcast was in strong contrast to the attitude of Communists here who brought their complaints of supposed truce violations by the Allies to an even dozen.

Construction Of Cable To Bring Network TV Here Begins Monday

Construction of the cable to bring network television programs to TV station WNCN in Greenville will begin Monday, according to an announcement today by the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company.
Frank Harrington, manager of the local telephone office said the initial portion of the construction beginning next week will consist of placing a conduit system underground on Fifth Street from Pitt Street to Five Points, and on Evans Street from Five Points to Twelfth Street.
The placing of the underground conduit system will require the cutting of streets mentioned above, and resurfacing after placing of the conduit. The opening in which the conduit will be placed will be as near the curbing as feasible, Harrington said, and it is not anticipated that more than one to one-and-one-half blocks will be under construction at any one time in order to minimize traffic interference.
Harrington said the estimated completion date for the project is mid-September.
"The underground conduit system to Twelfth Street will be utilized for establishing network facilities for the television station and later for enlarging our cable distribution system in the area around Evans Street," Harrington stated.
The video cable or TV channels which are to be pulled into the new underground conduit system from Pitt Street to Evans at Twelfth will be extended by buried cable along Evans Street Extension to the TV transmitter. The buried cable along Evans Street Extension will also

Whedbee Summarizes Findings Of Local Survey

"If we can slow down automobiles at intersections, I think we'll have the city speeding problem pretty well under control."
This was the comment of Mayor W. L. Whedbee summarizing findings so far in a current survey to determine effectiveness of present speed regulations in town.
"Our main concern is for the safety of the children," the mayor said. "We'll depend on adults to take care of themselves."
Mayor Whedbee said he and Chief of Police S. G. Gibbs had spent an afternoon touring the town and surveying control needs. He said they had conducted vehicle tests of their own, using a stop watch to measure the time required to stop at various speeds.
"It takes entirely too long to stop a car going 35 miles per hour (generally the limit in the residential section) on a street where there are apt to be a number of children," the mayor said. He added he thought if the city can get drivers to slow down to 30 miles an hour at the intersections, it would just about solve the problem, because drivers would not have opportunity to pick up much speed in-between corners.
The mayor went on to say he is seeking legal help in getting a proposed ordinance drawn up which will put these findings into tangible and binding form. He added he hoped to have a report for the council at its next meeting on August 6.
Meanwhile, the question of new locations for stop lights also has been getting attention. The mayor reported he and the chief had agreed on at least three proposed intersections where lights are needed. These, he said, either will be new or the city may be able to transfer parts of stop signals from other parts of the city where they are not now being used.
At a recent meeting of the Greenville Utilities Commission, Mayor Whedbee and commission members made a list of street intersections they considered "danger points" to be considered as candidates for stop lights in the study.

Educators Attend Meeting On School Law At College

In a conference on school law attended by more than 150 educators, school superintendents, principals and graduate students at East Carolina College, Assistant Attorney General Claude Love of Raleigh Thursday reviewed major changes in the school law and cited significant rulings of his office.

The most significant contribution to the school legislation during the 1953 session of the General Assembly was the authorization of the issuance of $50,000,000 in school plant construction and improvement bonds, subject to a referendum vote of the people. Love declared in the opening of his address.

Dr. J. D. Messick, president of East Carolina College, before presenting Mr. Love, also cited some recent rulings related to the educational systems of the several states in the conference.

The conference was directed by Dr. J. K. Long, chairman of the East Carolina Department of Education, who also presided over the luncheon session in which Mr. Love answered questions from school administrators for more than an hour.

In discussing the school bond election set for October 3, Love reviewed the transition in the program of support for public education from local level through the state-wide pattern, but said in many areas there is need for state-local-unit co-ordination to make the program effective to provide the greatest benefit to the children of the state.

Next in importance in the school law revision, Love said, is the resolution authorizing the Governor to appoint a 7-member commission to study the public school laws of the State and to make recommendations to the 1955 General Assembly as to revisions and clarifications of existing school laws.

The third major problem cited by Mr. Love is the question of termination of continuing contracts of teachers, and he noted that procedure requires the following of the statute for a contract renewal or termination to be valid.

The temperature in Greenville yesterday again reached the 100 mark, and the day passed without rain.

Lowest temperature here last night was 75 degrees, and at 8 a.m. today it was 82.

Yesterday a year ago the highest temperature here was 93 degrees. Lowest that night 71, and at 8 a.m. next day it was 78. An inch and a half of rain fell here that day.

On July 31 and August 1 and 2 last year 3.83 inches of rain fell during a day-long wetting rain. Mrs. Carl E. Maiden, local observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau, stated.

Building Permits Total $21,500

RALEIGH — Building permits totaling $21,500 were issued by public officials in 26 North Carolina cities of more than 10,000 population during June, the State Department of Labor reported.

The June figure was 18 per cent below the May total and 15 per cent below the total of June, 1952, the report states.

Slightly more than half of the June building total in the 26 cities represented new residential construction to provide housing for 877 families.

Building permits totaling $21,500 were issued in Greenville during the month.

British officials say that the country entered World War II with assets of 10 billion dollars and finished it with liabilities of 7 billion dollars.

Jaycees Discuss Tourney Plans

Last night's meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce dealt mainly with reports and plans for the Regional Little League Tourney to be held August 17, 18, 19 and 20.

Indications pointed to a well planned tourney and all committees were reported functioning. Lester Turnage called for a renewed effort on the part of Jaycees selling ads for the programs, as all ads have to be in the hands of the printer by the end of this week.

First reports indicated that the sale of ads was lagging behind the anticipated needs to support the program.

Warren Carroll reported that generally the entire program was shaping up and should be ready in all details prior to the opening of the tournament here.

The extra line up of special guests who will be on hand for the Little League Tourney has not been completed as yet it was reported.

J. B. Smith reported to the club on the Miss North Carolina Pageant in which Pat Dawson, East Carolina student represented Greenville in the State contest. She was sponsored by the local Jaycees.

Gene Ward, announced that all plans had been made for the Greenville Jaycees to attend the August meeting in Kinston.

The speed limit in the business section is 20 miles an hour and 15 miles per hour at intersections. After August 1 motorists who do not have town license tags on their vehicles will be cited to court.

The event this year will be held Saturday night and Sunday afternoon the first time that the show has been given two days run.

East Carolina's Foundation Program

The appointment of Dr. Talmage C. Johnson to the newly-created post of executive secretary of scholarship foundations at East Carolina College marks a new phase in the development of the institution.

In the past there has been no individual connected with the institution who has devoted his full time to the promotion and securing of funds for scholarships for the college. President Messick and others have worked on scholarships and foundations for the college, but they of course undertook the chore in addition to their numerous other duties.

As we understand the new position which Dr. Johnson assumes, it is to promote scholarship foundations for the college. That is an item which will be of great benefit to East Carolina in its present era of growth, and at the same time it will be a great benefit to the entire area served by the college. The greater amount of money made available for scholarships through foundations, the greater number of students who otherwise would be financially unable to attend college will be helped to complete a college education.

Dr. Johnson's varied career makes him well known throughout North Carolina; and that factor may help him to win active support for East Carolina College that otherwise might remain dormant.

In Pitt there have been strides of progress toward building a scholarship foundation for East Carolina; but there remains a great deal of work to be done here at home in that field. In many other localities in this section of the state, the surface has hardly been scratched.

The task which Dr. Johnson assumes at East Carolina can mean a great deal to the institution if effectively carried out. We wish the institution success in its endeavor to build scholarship foundations commensurate to its needs.

Not An Invitation To Pile Up More Debt

Several members in Congress are showing signs of making a rather big fuss about an item which in our estimation is water over the dam.

They are jabbering about raising the legal limit of the federal debt above the $275 billion mark where it is now pegged by law.

Frankly, it looks like it's a little late for such a big argument over the question. The federal government has spent itself practically to the legal limit now, and officials say they are going to have to obtain more money to tide over operations until revenue on this year's federal collections begin pouring into federal coffers.

As we see it, if that be true, there are three alternatives to raising the present legal limit of federal government indebtedness: 1. the government could go out of business; 2. declare itself bankrupt; or 3. put itself into the hands of receivers. Naturally, any of the three alternatives is out of the question.

Therefore, the only thing left to do is raise the legal limit of red ink on government books.

Certainly the necessity of raising the government's limit of indebtedness should teach government officials and the people a lesson. We just can not afford to continue spending more for government than is received in revenue. Sooner or later the practice will catch up with us, and while the legal limit of the debt can always be raised by Congress, the fiscal capacity of the nation may not be able to finance an unlimited federal debt.

If the legal limit of the federal debt must be raised to keep the government solvent, then action must be taken. The new ceiling arrived at, however, should not be high enough to appear an invitation for Uncle Sam to get any more in the red than he already is.

A Nice Addition For Pitt County

Location of the Eastern district office of the North Carolina Blind Commission in Greenville will be a nice addition to district offices of state and federal agencies located in Pitt County.

Even though the district office of the Blind Commission will be serving some 20 Eastern counties in addition to Pitt, location of the headquarters here probably will make for more closely coordinated work with the blind between the commission office and local health and welfare authorities than otherwise would be possible.

It should make for further improvements of the already outstanding work with the blind and visually handicapped already being done in Pitt County.

Strength for the Day

CHILDREN OF THE WAY

Christianity is a way of life. It involves the following of customs which are hallowed by ages of use. But none of these customs is Christianity. Christianity is a way of life, a pattern of existence.

Three things characterize the Christian way of life. First of all it is a life of joy—since true Christians are always happy people. Again, the Christian life is a life of security. To be sure many Christians have had to suffer torture and death for their faith. But they had an inner security of heart which made them willing to do this and more, for the faith to which they were committed.

Last of all, the Christian way of life confers power upon those who walk therein. Jesus said that all power had been given to Him in heaven and on earth. He passes on to us what He possesses. The Christian is a good man, but he is more than that—he is good for something. He sets himself to the living of such a life that he will be helpful to those around him. He supports helpful enterprises. He arms himself with every spiritual weapon and goes forth to attack evil in its stronghold. He is a humble person of no station or wealth, nevertheless the true Christian exerts a profound influence upon everyone with whom he comes in contact.

The Christian way of life—a way of gladness, a way of security, a way of power. Christians are children of the Way.

FPC And Private Power Plea

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON—Charges of politico-economic prejudice against the reorganized Federal Power Commission in its handling of the Hells Canyon project, the West's greatest undeveloped source of hydroelectricity, are contradicted by the professional record of the author of the indictment. He is C. Girard Davidson, an original New Dealer, former Assistant Secretary of the Interior, and now counsel for the National Hells Canyon Association.

The FPC is now holding hearings on the application of the Idaho Power Company for construction of three dams in this mighty delta, and public power advocates fear that the private firm's request will be granted.

Whereas the Truman Administration, through former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, intervened in the proceedings on behalf of Federal development, Secretary Douglas McKay has withdrawn from the action. He has also indicated that he prefers private to government sponsorship.

The Davidson group is undoubtedly laying the basis for an appeal to the courts against an FPC decision adverse to their interests. It is this fact which clothes the current charges against the new Eisenhower group with importance, for they would be cited in any legal action as evidence of bias. That accusation has been voiced on the floor, and outside of Congress by propagandists of what Ike has called "creeping socialism."

DAVIDSON THE UNREADY—The Davidson contention of unfairness is based on the FPC's refusal to grant him a 90-day delay for preparation of his case on behalf of developing Hells Canyon along the lines of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He explained that he was "unprepared" to proceed immediately and also noted that the Idaho Power Company had been able to concentrate on the matter for some time.

With Davidson's career in mind, the commission members apparently felt that, if he were not ready to try the case now, he never would be. There is also need for terminating this historic battle between further Federalization and private enterprise. Despite the Korean truce and possible easement of the cold war, the booming Northwest suffers from a definite shortage of power.

AN OLD HAND AT IT—In view of his 30-year crusade for public power, no lawyer or layman should be better acquainted with the Hells Canyon problem than Davidson. Although he resigned as Assistant Secretary of the Interior in December, 1950, he did so with the distinct understanding that he would organize and promote the association he now represents as counsel. Moreover, he was paid by the Truman Administration as a consultant while engaged in this semi-political service.

In a "Dear Jerry" letter accepting Davidson's resignation, Truman gave his blessing to the arrangement under which a government-financed lawyer would argue and lobby for public power. And here is the amazing document conferring this assignment on the Hells Canyon crusader, Chapman wrote:

"Defense industry desperately needs the large blocks of cheap hydroelectric power that can be developed from the Columbia River system. While everyone in the region would like to see that latent power developed, there is as yet no large body of opinion united behind a single program for accomplishing this."

"I am asking you, therefore, to consult with the public and private agencies and other individuals in the region, and to recommend to me as soon as possible a unified plan which will result in the quickest and most effective development of the great power resources of the area for defense purposes."

BIRTH OF THE ASSOCIATIONS—Thus, the Chapman-Davidson, National Hells Canyon Association was born, almost three years ago. In addition to this experience, Davidson has served with TVA, the Bonneville Power Administration and the Interior Department with power expansion as his special assignment.

Although originally from Louisiana, where he was admitted to the bar just before he landed on the New Deal "gray train," he considers himself an Oregonian with special knowledge of that section's problems.

UNDERWORLD VS. A BISHOP—A television-minded Senator has a per comment on the publicity values of the leaders and newscasters of that industry: "When we had the waterfront and underworld rats up here, we couldn't satisfy their demands for television time. But when Bishop Oxnham, a great religious figure, appears to discuss Communism, we get no request to put him on the screen."

Somebody Told Me

Small Child Swallows Thumb Tack

Last night at the regular meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce I sat beside Frank Deiner Jr. of People's Bakery. If ever any men sounded like women in a conversation it was us, because we jabbered about our children.

"Judging from your column," Frank said, "I get the impression that your children have done almost everything. But this time I think I'm one up on you. Our boy swallowed a thumb tack!"

Frank III is almost 13 months old and like every other baby at that stage pops everything into his mouth. Now that the danger is over Frank laughs about it, but at the time it was a serious matter.

Frank even manages to smile when he mentions that the ordeal has already cost around $43, with more bills to come.

It seems that Frank III pulled hard enough on a curtain to loosen the sash and pop out the thumb tack that was holding it. He paused, looked at the tack, and said "good," then proceeded to swallow it.

Dr. Pott reassured the Deiners when he told them that he has known of children to swallow open safety pins, and the large size at that, with no harmful effects.

"It's probably a good thing I wasn't at home when it happened," Frank says, "because I would have probably held him upside down and got the tack in the wrong position."

Our neighbor, Burney Warren

III, swallowed 11 cents (a dime and penny) some time ago with no harmful effects. How do you keep children from swallowing things? Impossible, so they say. You can make an honest effort to keep things out of their mouths, but sooner or later they'll do it when you aren't looking.

Frank III swallowed his tack on Tuesday and left the hospital yesterday. Frank Jr. seems quite proud about the whole thing and will delight in telling you one details if you ask him. He's so relieved that his son is all right that he's in a jovial mood.

It's just another one of the many examples of the trials and tribulations of parenthood. And I thank you

What Other Editors Are Thinking

UGHT TO BE PAID FOR

(Henderson Dispatch)

Approval by the House Post Office Committee of a proposal to require Congress and government departments to pay their own postage bills instead of charging them to the Post Office Department is a step long overdue. This is the first time serious attention has ever been given to this portion of the postal deficit.

It is about as broad as it is long, and, as stated, is purely a bookkeeping procedure for the government. At the same time, it reduces the annual postal deficit by one and a half to one and three-quarters of a million dollars for congressional and $35 to $40 million for departmental mails. At present this discrepancy is tossed in as part of the argument about the postal service not paying its way. But it is an item that ought to be paid from appropriations made to those who clutter the mails with this service.

Since Congress will adjourn probably at the end of this week, there is no chance that the measure, even though carrying committee approval, will be enacted. Actually, it is an additional tax aimed at yielding more revenue, and on that ground ought to be vigorously opposed by congressmen as well as their constituents.

shelved for the current session, and probably should be permanently, with such deficit as may develop charged to the general fund as a public service, as is the case with all other government departments and agencies.

The administration favors the whole schedule of hikes in postal rates and will be back on Capitol Hill in January to press its request. Unless the people, who are users of the postal service, rise up in protest, it will probably be enacted. Actually, it is an additional tax aimed at yielding more revenue, and on that ground ought to be vigorously opposed by congressmen as well as their constituents.

State Looks Towards Fuller Utilization Of Streams

By LYNN NISBET

WATER — The Board of Conservation and Development was considering development of ports and utilization of sounds and streams in coastal North Carolina, and seeking how to improve the commercial fisheries industry, at its meeting in Morehead City early this week. At the same time the State Stream Sanitation Commission was holding public hearings in the western part of the state looking toward the fuller utilization of mountain streams. Meanwhile, all over the state farmers are distressed at the ravages of drought as they see cash and food crops withering in the fields and pastures brown and seared for lack of rain. Water is fast becoming the most important factor in the economic life of North Carolina.

ATTENTION — Governor Umstead has indicated his purpose to give more attention to water. In his comment to the C&D board and to its several committees, he emphasized the necessity of cooperative activities on part of the fishermen and the shippers, the management of deep-water ports and smaller ports along the inland waterway, the industrial promoters and recreational agencies. The Governor's primary objective is industrial expansion and development, and he says an almost complete dependence upon adequate water.

DIVERSITY — Not only for the immediate purposes of the manufacturing plants, but as avenues of commerce, source of power (steam generating plants require almost as much water as hydroelectric installations), an important source of food supply—both salt and fresh water, and as a recreational asset, Governor Umstead has indicated his purpose to assume personal direction of basic phases of the development program. The proposed survey of navigation facilities and the study of stream uses up state, as well as the soil conservation program, all are designed for the same general end: to make North Carolina a more pleasant place to live and a more profitable place to do business.

PRIORITY — Answering implied criticism that he might be giving undue priority to industrial development, Governor Umstead told the C&D board that he was equally concerned with all other phases of his diverse activities.

"Anything is important," he said, "that when developed contributes to the progress of the State or the happiness of the people." He urged the board members to keep in mind the big objective, not to overlook the little things which go to make up the overall big package of a complete commonwealth.

PUBLIC — So many important things happened at the Morehead City meeting it was impossible to get them all in the brief news stories. One of the Governor's most significant statements was not accorded much attention. After he had made his comments to the whole board and then to each committee in turn, he said he had made these suggestions in the presence of all the committees, the hundred or so visitors and the press. "This board so completely represents the welfare of all the people, Director Ben Douglas and I both feel that its deliberations should be held in public," he said. That observation takes on added significance in view of the fact that the "secrecy law" enacted by the recent General Assembly may become an issue in the upcoming political campaign.

POLIO — The polio epidemic in several North Carolina counties cast its shadow over the C&D meeting. The 15 men who compose the board and the dozen or so departmental division heads and responsible officials upon whose shoulders rest the obligation to promote and develop the whole state were acutely conscious of the adverse impact of the polio scare. The effect is more immediately noticeable in reduced travel and curtailed use of parks and recreation grounds. One long range probable effect upon those seeking new locations for industrial plants was not discounted.

There was rather general protest at the type of spectacular publicity accorded polio incidence, and there was definite feeling that the situation had been overplayed.

FACTUAL — Your reporter discovered no disposition on part of anybody to suppress facts. The board members are fully conversant in Governor Umstead's idea of making public the facts, bad as well as good. There was protest against the policy of counting incidence from January 1, when the facts are that some cases originally diagnosed as polio were a few days later declared not to be, and other actual cases had apparently completely recovered although still carried in the official tabulation.

DELICATE — There was also the delicate situation involving belief on part of some people that organized efforts in behalf of the March of Dimes campaign sometimes deliberately over-emphasized conditions in order to arouse popular support of the campaign. Suggestions also were heard that some local health officers might be over-zealous in imposing quarantine restrictions on basis of erroneous diagnosis of stiff necks and headaches as polio. Here again is a delicate balance, and the question is whether the health authorities should wait until they are sure or take precipitate action. On the hand too quick action causes loss of millions of dollars, perhaps without justification; on the other, delayed action might increase the chances of general epidemic.

DELICATE — There was also the delicate situation involving

Worth Noting

Of course, we all want government spending cut just as much as possible consistent with adequate national defense. But the administration has shown that it is willing to slash military outlays whenever this can be done safely. Over-zealous action either in pulling our troops out of the Far East or other danger spots and unwise economy could cost us far more in the long run. What more do we need to say than to point out that if our troops had stayed in Korea we would never have had to fight that bloody war. Let's not make that same mistake again.

Not Many Good Ideas

By ELMER ROESSNER

There never has been a shortage of ideas for new enterprises, but there always has been a shortage of good ideas, says a report in the June Monthly Review of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston. The report was written by Cyril C. Herrmann, assistant professor of industrial management at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, under a research grant by the bank.

One venture capital firm seeking new business ideas filled three filing cabinets with ideas from all sorts of people in all corners of the globe and still did not receive a single idea it considered meritorious, the report states.

But it is possible to find good, profitable ideas, the report adds and suggests some sources. Past experience in an industry may be one; observation of an unsatisfied need another. Market requests are another. The report cites the case of a lawyer who was asked to find a new method of storing water for use in lifeboats. Not knowing that canning companies had considered it impossible to can fresh water, he went ahead and canned it and the idea became the basis for a successful new firm.

Technological progress, ideas from others through personal contacts and through methodical research also are suggested. Sometimes ideas come from hobbies, but not many, and some come from accidental discoveries, says the report, adding, "In the total range of new ideas sources, accidental discovery does not occur frequently."

Among the specific sources for new business ideas, Mr. Herrmann lists inventors, patent attorneys, mechanical and consulting engineers, scientists and technicians, salesmen, manufacturers' agents, commercial bankers, chambers of commerce and trade associations, public utility and railroad companies, founders that work on new products, pattern makers and model shops, chief engineers of established firms, purchasing agents, court news telling of estates chartered and difficulties analyzed. The report discusses these and other considerations important to a new enterprise.

"Founders of new businesses seem to choose their new product idea pretty largely on an emotional basis," it states. "They 'fall in love' with the idea, and from that point on are strongly biased in its favor—the enthusiastic choice of a poor idea frequently leads new firms to eventual failure."

RETAIL SALES RISE GENTLY IN JUNE

Retail sales in June were slightly ahead of May, by Department of Commerce reckoning. Durable goods stores showed sizable rises but among nondurable goods, the apparel and food groups fell below May marks.

The grand total of all retail sales, $14 billion was 6 per cent higher than June, 1952.

The Magic Carpet Age Is Here

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—We are just entering the real magic carpet age.

Before the year 2,000 some American mother, noticing her daughter furiously packing her suitcase on a Saturday morning, will ask:

"Where are you going, Mary?" "To Calro. They're having a houseboat-on-the-Nile party there tonight," Mary will reply. "Now don't worry, Mother. I'll be home tomorrow afternoon."

Weekend tourists trips to the moon probably won't be popular until a few years after that. Such ideas still sound a bit fantastic to us. But the generation of 1900 would have hoisted if someone had said that in 1953 airplanes would fly the Atlantic Ocean in less than five hours; as two jet bombers did this week in a routine journey at above 600 miles an hour.

Why, in 1900 only fools like those two dreamy but impractical Wright brothers even thought of a heavier-than-air machine could fly. The average man knew it was scientifically impossible.

In 1492 Christopher Columbus took about 70 days to sail the ocean blue and reach an island out post of the Western Hemisphere. It took him 16 days more to reach Cuba, which he was sure must be Japan. After four days passed with out seeing any sign of life, however, he decided he must be in some other part of Asia.

In 1620 it took the Pilgrim Fathers 96 days in the Mayflower to reach America, and there was no Grover Whalen to greet them. Nope, just a few wild Indians, completely unimpressed because at that time they had no reservations.

As late as 1773 a traveler marveled at the speed and ease with which a fellow could go from Boston to New York in only a week, by riding a stagecoach every day from 4 a.m. to 10 p.m. How could progress go any further? Today you can fly the distance in less than an hour, and you don't have to get out and help push it if it gets stuck.

Today the space between nations is, in terms of time, less than the space between neighbors in the frontier days of Daniel Boone. But the distance between the earth's peoples, in terms of understanding each other, is still a vast gulf.

The world is shrinking faster than the human heart is expanding. That fact is the great danger of our civilization. We have built speedy machinery that makes each man a neighbor of every other man on earth, but no machinery has been invented to make all neighbors friends.

Millions of people today can travel now to foreign places they couldn't afford to do so, even a generation ago. But often they stay there only long enough to intensify a prejudice. It is more like a trip to the zoo than an adventure in discovering the fellowship of man. The foreigners seem even more alien to them than if they had never seen him.

For such as these travel is narrowing, not broadening. They return home smaller in spirit, not larger.

They remind me of the old New Hampshire farmer who all his life had heard of the strange goings-on in Boston. At last he decided he simply had to go and see for himself.

He caught the morning milk train to the city. Late that evening he wearily stepped off a returning train at his depot.

"Have a good trip, Jeb?" asked a hanger-on.

"Yep."

"Tell me, what's Boston really like?"

"Boston?" said Jeb. "Well, to tell you the truth, there was so much going on at the railroad station I never did get out for a look at the village."

The Christian Home

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Ephesians 5:15-33; 6:1-9; Colossians 3:12-4:1.

When a man marries, Paul writes, he leaves father and mother and is joined to his wife, "and they shall be one." He should love his wife; she should reverence him.

"Children obey your parents in all things, for this is pleasing to the Lord. Fathers, provoke not your children that they be not discouraged. Honor thy father and mother."

"Servants be obedient to your masters, work with goodwill. Masters, give unto your servants that which is just and equal, knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven."

"Be filled with the Spirit; speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord." MEMORY VERSE—Ephesians 6:1-2.

LOVE AND KINDNESS MAKE A HOUSEHOLD CHRISTLIKE

Scripture—Ephesians 5:15-33; 6:1-9; Colossians 3:12-4:1.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
"BE IT ever so humble, there's no place like home," the song says. Most of us are able to say or sing those words sincerely, for we have come from happy homes and maintain the same ideas when we have left our childhood abodes.

This has been true in all generations in all lands, and the same ideas that Paul stresses in his letters to the Ephesians and Colossians is just as true today as it was in those ancient times, although homes of today are far different in many lands to what they were when Paul wrote his epistles.

Times have changed but the ideals of happy Christian homes is the same, and the same problems face us today which were present in the homes of Paul's day.

How appropriate are the first two verses of those assigned for today's lesson:

"See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil."

All the world is in turmoil today—and how much more world juvenile delinquency and crime, we do well to ponder his words: "Wives, be in subjection to your husbands, as is fitting in the Lord."—Col. 3:18.

"Husbands love your wives, and be not bitter against them."—Col. 3:19. Many young couples omit the "subjection" or obedience of the wife to the husband from the marriage service as they feel that it makes the wife feel inferior and the husband usually prefers that they two should work out their relations with each other with love and understanding.

"Children, obey your parents in all things, for this is well pleasing in the Lord."

"Fathers, provoke not your children, that they be not discouraged."—Col. 3:20-21.

"Honor thy father and mother, that it may be well with thee."

"And ye fathers, provoke not your children to wrath: but nurture them in the chastening and admonition of the Lord."

In Paul's day, servants were

MEMORY VERSE

"Children, obey your parents in the Lord, for this is right. Honor thy father and mother."—Ephesians 6:1-2.

there is known today and how very much more we know about it than was known by even the most learned of Paul's day!

Has our wisdom and conduct grown with the centuries? Have we grown more Christlike in our attitude toward others? Are our homes happier than they were in those far-off days?

In a great many countries, living conditions in homes have improved—but what of the spiritual atmosphere? This I believe, that in the majority of homes there is love and understanding between husband and wife and between parents and children, and Paul's ideal of the happy home is at least partially realized.

Good homes mean so much to the world. In them our children are trained to be kind, forgiving and considerate of others—all others—so that eventually, through struggle and sacrifice, peace shall be brought to the earth.

However, to return to Paul and his advice to the Ephesians and Colossians. In this day when broken homes, due to divorce, are so much a problem and are the primary cause of so much of our and labor in our day. Masters are told to be considerate of their servants, and the servants are advised to work "with good will, doing service as unto the Lord, and not unto men; knowing that whatsoever good thing each one doeth, the same shall he receive again from the Lord, whether he be bond or free," because in heaven "there is no respect of persons."

"Masters, render unto your servants that which is just and equal; knowing that ye also have a Master in heaven."

What constitutes a happy Christian home? It is one in which parents love each other, where children are trained to obey their parents in an atmosphere of loving kindness, mutual understanding and respect. It is where sweet harmonies are made, where all attend church together, pray together, and sing together in "psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your hearts to the Lord."

Teachers, talk to the children about their own homes, showing them what in the part they must play in order to achieve a truly Christian home.

Yanks Lose More Ground As Chisox Stage Hit Spree

Champs Have Only 24-21 Record Since Last June 16

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (UP)—The Yankees can be caught and it will happen in about a month, if they keep losing ground the way they have since their 18-game winning streak was ended on June 16.

Since that time they have only a 24-21 record while the second-place White Sox have a gaudy 30-12 mark for the same stretch and the Yankee lead of 10 1/2 on June 16 has been whittled to 4 1/2. The Yankees, in fact, have played the poorest ball of any of the teams in the first division, during that stretch. Boston has gone 27-16 while Cleveland is 26-20.

Thus, if the White Sox could continue their pace, which was even more spectacular until they hit a recession last week in which they lost six out of seven games, they definitely could overtake the New Yorkers. Of course, if the Yankees perk up, they can coast home.

Thursday, as Manager Casey Stengel observed his 62nd birthday gloomily, the Indians salvaged a 4-3 victory in the finale of the series as relief pitcher Early Wynn became the first man to beat them three times this year.

Wynn did it with three scoreless relief innings, and young Bill Gynn, subbing at first base for the slumping Luke Easter, supplied the winning punch with his first major-league triple in the eighth inning after relief pitcher Tom Gorman had walked Wally Westlake.

The White Sox put on their biggest hit spree of the year, pounding out 21 in a 17-1 rout of Boston for a sweep of the three-game series. Ferris Fain, Minnie Minoso, and Tom Wright homered, Jim Rivera hit three singles and a double and Fain, Minoso and Sherm Lollar made three hits apiece in the melee.

Washington topped Detroit, 7-4, on the margin of a bases-loaded triple by Jim Busby in the fifth. That offset a three-run homer by Walt Dropo in the ninth inning when tiring Chuck Stobbs gave up four of Detroit's six hits.

The Athletics swept a three-game series with the Browns by scoring five runs in the second inning for a 5-3 triumph. Gus Zernial led off the frame by hitting his 23rd homer off loser Mike Blyzka. Marion Fricano held the Browns to eight hits for his fifth victory. Milwaukee cut Brooklyn's lead to seven games in the National by defeating the Giants, 5-0, on a six-hitter by Lew Burdette, while the Dodgers lost, 3-2, at Chicago on the margin of Ralph Kiner's three-run first inning homer. Philadelphia crushed Cincinnati, 17-8, as Del Ennis drove in six runs with a pair of homers and a pair of singles and the Cardinals topped Pittsburgh, 10-4.

Burdette, who has been converted into a starter, gave Milwaukee its third shutout in the four game series with the Giants. The Braves knocked out starter Sal Maglie in the first inning with three runs, two on a single by Joe Adcock.

Kiner's 24th homer gave Bob Rush working room for his fifth victory, a seven-hitter, and he would have had a shutout except for errors. The defeat ended a five-game Brooklyn winning streak.

The Phils made nine runs in the sixth inning when 13 men came to bat. They made 18 hits, Gran Hamner also getting four.

A five-run sixth inning rally in which Solly Hemus hit a two-run homer and Red Schoendienst got a two-run pinch double highlighted the St. Louis victory. Enos Slaughter collected four straight hits.

Furgol Leads Field Into O'Shanter Round Today

CHICAGO (UP)—Golf's biggest money winners chased a million dollars in six years today as Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill., led the field into the second round of Tam O'Shanter's $25,000 "all-American" open.

Furgol, 34-year-old pro for 11 years, slashed six strokes off par with a 66 to gain a one-stroke edge on Doug Ford of Harrison, N. Y., and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y. Behind these three were Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y., with 68 each. Trailing even further behind were such "names" as Lloyd Mangrum and PGA champ Walter Burkemo with 69s, Lawson Little with 70s, Lew Worsham, Dave Douglas and Henry Ransom with 71s, Cary Middlecoff, Sam Snead and Chandler Harper with par 72s, and Tommy Bolt, Jim Turnesa and Ed Oliver with 73s.

Furgol, who started steady play on the tournament route in 1944, won only the Houston and the Western Open, both in 1951.

Betty Hicks of Culver City, Calif., paced the women's Open with a par 76. Patty Berg of Chicago, and Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., trailed by one stroke.

Babe Zaharias, who underwent an operation for a malignant growth on last April and was making her first tournament start, was discouraged with a 45, seven over par, on the first nine. But after an intermission snack she cut one stroke off par on the return nine with a 37.

John Levinson of Chicago led among the men amateurs with a four-under-par 68. Dick Colliard of New Orleans had a 72, and favorite Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., 74.

Wightman Cup Draw Set Today

RYE, N. Y. (UP)—The draw for this year's Wightman Cup tennis matches between feminine stars of the United States and Great Britain will be held today at the Westchester Country Club, site of the matches Saturday and Sunday.

Members of the American team will be Wimbledon and U. S. champion Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif.; Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla.; Shirley Fry of Akron, O.; and Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif. Members of the British team are Mrs. Jean Rinkel-Quertier, Angela Mortimer, Helen Fletcher, and Anne Shilcock.

Vern Stephens Is 'Home' Again

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Vern Junior Stephens, who figured in a deal which involved $310,000 and seven players six years ago, returned today to his original big league club, the St. Louis Browns, for "a little more than the water price."

Obtained from the White Sox, the 32-year old infielder who has batted only .186 in a handful of games with Chicago this season, is expected to hold down the St. Louis third base job for the remainder of the season.

'No Recall' Rule Goes Into Effect

NEW YORK (UP)—The major leagues' new "no recall" rule will go into effect at midnight tonight. The new rule provides that any player under option to a minor league club must finish the season with that club unless he is recalled before midnight.

Richmond Angler Lands Sailfish

NAGS HEAD, N.C. — Tom Winston of 1018 Pepper Street, Richmond, Va., landed the first sailfish of the 1953 season while trolling on Saturday from aboard the Laurie skippered by Capt. Sam Tillett. The Richmond party which also included Clark Jones and Wilson Scarborough caught more than 50 small dolphin, the largest running to about 12 pounds.

The Winston sailfish measured 6 feet and 10 inches from tip to tip. It weighed 38 pounds.

This was not the first sail to be landed off the Dare coast during 1953. Previously this year during July three sailfish have been landed by anglers off Hatteras troling from aboard charter boats basing at Hatteras.

Other bill fishes taken so far this season off Hatteras and Oregon Inlets include three white marlin and one blue marlin.

Skippers of cruisers fishing off Oregon Inlet and Hatteras recently have reported many sailfish, some of which were hooked and played before being lost.

ANTS

There's a new and better way to kill ants. It's called Roach Film. When applied to any surface with the built-in cap-applier, it leaves a hard, dry, clean, invisible film. The film can't harm or soil any surface; but, when ants touch it they die in two hours. A single application remains effective for months. You never see it, but it sure does get rid of ants and roaches. Roach Film is available at Belk-Tyler, 3rd Floor.

Wife Of Wayne Rides In Truck

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. Esperanza Bair Wayne complained today that her film actor husband, John Wayne, has three Cadillacs while she has to drive around in a garbage truck.

The former Mexican actress appeared in court yesterday to appeal $1,100 temporary alimony awarded her last month, pending trial of her separate maintenance suit against Wayne.

Wayne now is in Mexico making movies. The attractive Mrs. Wayne drove up to the courthouse yesterday in a pickup truck, which she explained her gardener uses to haul rubbish and garbage.

Her attorney, Frank Belcher, protested in court that her Cadillac had been attached because of an unpaid grocery bill.

Flames From Auto Endanger Barn

A fire truck from Greenville was sent to Ham's Crossroads yesterday afternoon when an automobile caught fire and for a time endangered a nearby tobacco barn.

Fireman Jennis Allen reported that a car owned by Lee House Jr. caught fire and since the car was locked it could not be moved from the tobacco barn where it was parked.

However, the fire was prevented from reaching the barn, Allen said.

Wilmington Pilot Drops Last Bomb

TOKYO (UP)—The U. S. Navy disclosed today that Lt. William F. Finley, Jr., Wilmington, N. C., dropped the last Navy bomb of the war on Yonpo airfield in North Korea.

His action ended three years of combat for Carrier Task Force 77. The four-plane "Sounder" squadron from the USS Lake Champlain flew the task force's final mission Monday afternoon, a few hours before the cease fire.

All four Panther jet pilots scored hits on the airstrip near Hungnam after being diverted from their primary target by bad weather.

Pennies, Sundry Items Missing From Pitt Store

About $5 worth of pennies and sundry items were missing from a Pitt County store this morning following a break-in sometime during the night.

Sheriff's deputies reported the establishment of Larry Hudson Jr. at Hudson's Crossroads in Chocowinity was entered last night by a person or persons who broke in through the back window and made an exit through the back door.

Missing, in addition to the cash from the cash register, were two pounds of cheese, cigarettes, tobacco, several soft drinks, and a flashlight.

The cash on the back window had been broken, deputies said, adding they had tracked the intruder as far as a mile from the store and had found the discarded flashlight in a tobacco barn.

Working on the case, in addition to Deputies Jasper Lee Mills and Elmer Haddock, is Capt. S. B. Dorsey, special investigator. Officers said bloodhounds were used in an effort to pick up a trail.

Industrial Use For Pitt Airport Before Council

A recommendation asking that the Pitt-Greenville airport property be designated for industrial purposes last night was passed along by the Greenville Planning Board to the Greenville city council and the Pitt county commissioners.

The planning board approved unanimously the request which would need affirmative action by both city and county governing boards before it could be made effective.

In making its recommendation, the board also asked the two boards to appoint a committee to work with the Chamber of Commerce and Greenville Industries Inc. for the purpose of devising means of attracting new industries to Greenville.

The planning board took under advisement a recommendation from Mrs. D. M. Clark, member of the group, to direct serious thought toward establishment of additional park areas in Greenville in its future planning.

In regard to the proposal to extend First Street east to Greenwood Cemetery, discussed at length at the board's last meeting, a report was made by City Engineer Tom Rivers that drawings of the proposed street will be made pending locating of subdivisions proposed for this section.

It has been brought out that the Greenville City Schools have decided against further contemplation of the section as a site for a proposed elementary school at this time.

Contacted today, Supt. J. H. Rose said that the board had agreed to look elsewhere because "there were too many uncertainties" in connection with the First Street area.

No other definite site has been decided on for the school as yet, he added.

Police, Firemen Called As Local Whistle Blows

The steady wailing of a whistle at a local tobacco company last night caused a considerable amount of excitement in nearly all parts of the town for some time.

Shortly after ten o'clock the wail of a whistle broke the stillness of the hot summer night, audible in nearly all parts of the city.

Telephones at the local police and fire stations were ringing for nearly an hour by excited persons who wanted to know "Where is the fire?" "What is it?" "Is it an air raid?" and so on.

Soon after the whistle broke loose, a police car located the origin of the sound and contacted the proper authorities. The whistle was at the Greenville Tobacco Company on 10th and Clark Streets.

A spokesman for the firm this morning said that the whistle sounded off when steam pressure became low and set off the device.
