CITY MANAGER HIRED

Greenville's first city manager was named last night at a special meeting of the local city council.

Hired as the fulltime administrative head of the local municipal government was James S. Hughes, 35-year-old native of Warrenton, Va., who has had 13 years experience in city manager and engineering work.

His salary was set at $7,500 per year.

The final action came at 9:00 o'clock last night culminating more than three months of intensive study and investigation on the part of the local council to find what they termed "the right man" for the position of city manager of Greenville.

Three Months Study
Since coming to office on May 6, the local city council has devoted considerable hours to a detailed study of the 49 applications received by the city for the city manager's position.

Mayor W. L. Whedbee commented following the official action hiring

Hughes, "We've run down every reference in each of the 49 files, and have made independent investigations outside the references given on all applicants which appeared to be promising candidates."

The motion to hire Hughes as city manager of Greenville at a salary of $7,500 per year was made at last night's meeting by Councilman Gene West. The motion was passed unanimously by the four councilmen present at the meeting, and Mayor Whedbee pointed out that Councilman A. C. Ruffin, who is in Georgia, gave his approval of hiring Hughes in a telephone conversation with each of the four other members of the council.

Begins September 1
The new city manager will assume his duties in Greenville on September 1, and will make his home here with his wife and two sons, Bobby, 9, and Richard, 7.

For several hours late yesterday afternoon and early last night Hughes conferred with Mayor Whedbee and Councilmen West, C. Wesley Harvey and John A. Collins Sr.

JAMES S. HUGHES

It was shortly after 8:45 last night that the council went into special session to take action on hiring Hughes.

Hughes Pleased

In a brief statement Hughes declared, "I am happy the council appointed me, and I will do everything I can to do the job they want done. I am sure they want the city manager form of government given a fair try, and I certainly plan to devote my time to this effort."

After the action last night, each member of the council congratulated Hughes on his appointment and pledged his support to the new city manager. Hughes in turn pledged his best efforts for the city of Greenville.

Hughes has served as city manager of Farmville, Va., and South Norfolk, Va., where he made outstanding records, and has served in important construction positions with the Army Corps of Engineers.

49 Applications

In the period of three months while working toward a decision on the appointment of a city manager the local city council interviewed approximately 15 of the 49 applicants for the position. In addition, they conferred with city managers from many cities and towns in North Carolina to study city manager operations and with a view of getting recommendations on applicants.

"In the last analysis the field of applicants was narrowed to six men," Whedbee said, "and finally to three. Of the 49 applicants we picked the man whose education, background, training and experience seem best fitted for the position of city manager of Greenville."

Four Interviews

Hughes was interviewed four times by members of the city council before his employment last night.

"I am pleased we were able to find a man with the exact qualifications we were seeking," Whedbee stated, "and I think the council is fortunate in its selection."

When he officially begins his duties in Greenville, September 1, Hughes will have offices in the city municipal building.

City Council And New Manager Confer

CONFERENCE WITH NEW CITY MANAGER—Members of Greenville's city council conferred briefly last night with James S. Hughes (second from left) shortly after he was named city manager of Greenville. The action came slightly more than four months after the council-manager form of municipal government came into effect here May 6. Hughes was picked from a field of 49 applicants for the position and his salary was set at $7,500 per year. From left are Councilman C. Wesley Harvey, Jr., City Manager Hughes, Mayor W. L. ## Long Experience As Engineer And In City Manager Field

Hughes' Background Suited

James H. Hughes, 35-year-old native of Warrenton, Va., who will be Greenville's first city manager, comes to Greenville with 13 years experience in city administration work, and engineering work in both private industry and with the Army Corps of Engineers.

The detailed account of Hughes' experiences in engineering and city manager fields was one of the principal factors which governed the decision of the Greenville city council in naming him city manager.

Hughes graduated from Virginia Military Institute in 1939 with a B. S. degree in civil engineering, and from June 1939 until May 1940 was employed as a junior engineer by the Cement Gun Company of Allentown, Penn. on "gunite" construction work. The job consisted of three months in the field on actual construction work and the remainder of the time in office preparing estimates and working drawings for field crews.

From May to September, 1940, Hughes was employed by the E. I. DuPont Construction company where he was a layout engineer on a building at the naval powder plant, Indianhead, Md.

In September 1940, Hughes became city engineer of Fredericksburg, Va., where he remained for one year before entering the army. While city engineer of Fredericksburg, his job consisted of planning, design and layout of utilities, streets, buildings and drainage. The city engineer was responsible for the service department of the city gas division; reviewed and approved requests for building permits; checked and approved sub-divisions within the city limits; and checked all utility and street grades constructed by the city, including contract work.

From September 1941 until September 1942, he was with the engineering board at Ft. Belvoir, Va., testing pilot models of construction equipment. After entering the army in 1942 as a Second Lieutenant he was assigned to Ft. Belvoir where he remained until being sent overseas in March 1944. The overseas assignment was with a combat engineering unit on Attu where he was in charge of the design section for all construction done by the engineers on the island. In December 1944 he returned to the United States and remained with the Engineers combat battalion as a plans and training officer.

After separation from the Army in March 1946 he became town manager of Farmville, Va. where he remained until November 1950 when he was appointed city manager of South Norfolk, Va. During his term of office as city manager in the two cities, he handled a variety of city manager duties, and was highly recommended to Greenville by members of governing boards of both cities.

In July 1951, Hughes was recalled to active duty with the Army Corps of Engineers and remained until November 1952. During this tour of duty he was assigned to Anchorage, Alaska where he was project engineer for all military construction at Ft. Richardson, Elmendorf Air Force Base and the Port of Whittier, Alaska. Construction there during the years 1951-52 totaled in excess of $100,000,000, consisting of all types of buildings, roads, water and sewer systems, electrical distribution and telephone systems, and family housing.

Hughes' chief duty was contract administration after award to contractors, to see that construction by the contractor complied with plans and specifications and to keep costs of projects within funds allocated by Congress.

Since that time he has been assigned to the Corps of Engineers, Office of the Chief of Engineers, Budget branch where he has helped with the preparation of the military construction budget for presentation to Congress.

For the past eight years Hughes has been a member of the International City Managers Association, and until called to the Army in 1951 was a member of the Virginia Section of the association, three years of which he served as an officer. From 1948 until 1951 he served as a member of the highway and street committee of the League of Virginia, and was chairman of the committee the last two years.

In June, 1942 Hughes married the former Miss Eloise Coover of Fredericksburg. They have two sons, Bobby, 9, and Richard, 7.

Vote Place
Crop Quota
On Wheat

CHICAGO (UP)—Wheat farmers approved federal marketing quotas on their 1954 crop by a landslide margin, returns from a nationwide referendum showed today.

By law, Friday's vote directed the government's course, unless an unforeseen emergency occurs.

UNANIMOUS

A unanimous if small vote yesterday saw wheat farmers in Pitt County approve present marketing quotas for the 1954 wheat crop. By a 5-0 count, the county's growers signified their willingness to continue under quotas set up in the past, which allows the wheat loans at 90 per cent of parity if they plant within allotted acreages.

The farmers' decision ensures continued high price supports — 90 per cent of parity — and stiff penalties for those who go over acreage allotments.

The official tally, with 47 states reporting, was:
For quotas: 358,981
Against quotas: 53,001
The vote ran about 87.1 per cent in favor of quotas — far more than the two-thirds necessary to carry the proposal.

Breadbasket states like the Dakotas, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Texas, and Montana gave overwhelming support to the quota plan and smothered nominal opposition in states where wheat is a less important part of the economy.

The vote was a signal that farmers do not want to tamper with current prosperity, even if they must submit to federal controls.

There have been no marketing quotas since 1942, but Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson was forced to call this year's referendum because the 1953 supply of wheat was more than 20 per cent above the "normal" amount set by law.

More From N.C.
On Death List

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Defense Department today released names of 134 more Americans, all Army men, reported by the Communists to have died while in Korean prison camps.

It was the third such list issued in the past 24 hours and raised the total of names to 358. The Reds have furnished names of 1,022 men who, they said, died as prisoners. The Defense Department stresses that the Communist reports have not been verified in a single case.

North Carolinians on the list are: Pfc. Harold Clinkdale, son of John H. Clinkdale, 25 Clemmons St., Asheville.

M-Sgt. Charles E. Crawford, Sr., husband of Mrs. Mary E. Crawford, Fayetteville.

Sgt. William E. Piner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Piner, Willard.

Sgt. 1-C Henry N. Porter, brother of Thomas J. Porter, Tarboro.

Sgt. Jack C. Pulley, son of Mrs. Lindsey Pulley, Littleton.

Cpl. Rudolph Sampson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Sampson, Pikesville.

U.S. May Accept
Soviet Members

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United Nations indicated today it might agree to accept the Soviet Union as a United Nations representative at the forthcoming Far Eastern political conference.

Reliable sources said that although the United States still was dead set against including India in the talks there were indications it might be willing to accept the Soviet Union provided the Russians were not given "red carpet treatment."

Crews, Medical Teams In Ruined Ionian Islands

Rescue Effort Under Way

ATHENS, Greece (UP)—U. S. soldiers and airmen picked their way today through the smoldering ruins of the Ionian Islands to offer aid to 4,000 injured survivors of the earthquakes which killed 1,000 persons this week.

Medical teams from the heavy cruiser Salem set up aid stations for the wounded and tents to house as many as possible of the 50,000 islanders left homeless by the disastrous quakes, while airmen flew in with six Flying Boxcar loads of blankets and drugs for the sufferers.

Rescue crews spearheaded by bulldozers were trying to break through to thousands of refugees stranded in the interior of the islands by wrecked roads. A fleet of ships and helicopters was ready to help evacuate the injured.

The Greek government was devoting all its resources to the rescue effort, and the navies of Britain and Italy also were lending a hand.

Fire in the rubble of major islands cities Friday added to the misery created by the earthquakes and tidal waves of earlier days and increased the difficulty of rescue and salvage efforts.

Edward Wynne, U. S. aid official helping in the rescue effort, reported Friday night from Argostoli, chief city of the island chain, that the dead there still were uncounted and that many bodies had not yet been recovered because of the flames.

Admiral the Earl Mountbatten, British naval commander in the Mediterranean, said in a broadcast after a flying tour of the islands that Cephalonia "looks as if a giant hand had smashed its buildings to the ground."

On nearby Zante, Mountbatten said, "two modern buildings and one church are still standing, but the rest are in more pitiful condition than the shattered structures on Cephalonia."

An added hazard for rescue workers was created by the hand grenades stored by fishermen to kill fish. Friday's fires detonated many of the grenades.

U. S. helicopters were buzzing over the island, dropping supplies of purified water in areas where aqueducts and reservoirs were destroyed by the quakes. Two British ships were on the way with additional supplies of untainted drinking water, hoping to forestall the threat of epidemics on the stricken islands.

Two U.S. Army
Officers Held In Soviet Germany

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UP)—Two U. S. Army captains, engaged in field maneuvers near the Iron Curtain frontier, mistakenly landed their light plane in the Soviet zone of Germany and were reported today as "missing and presumed held by the Russians."

The two officers brought their L-19 liaison plane down on a highway about six miles northwest of the border town of Hof and a few hundred yards inside the Soviet zone yesterday morning, an Army announcement said.

They have not returned and the Army said it can be presumed they are being held by the Russians. A spokesman said he "assumed" the Russians already have been asked for information on the missing officers and requested to arrange their release.

Both men were assigned to the U. S. 1st Division. They were flying from Aschaffenburg to Bamberg, in northern Bavaria, when they overshot the zonal boundary.

Officers described the flight as "routine operations within the division's area of responsibility."

The names of the two men were not disclosed, pending notification of their families.

Claim Two Held
Back For Telling
Camp Conditions

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP)—Returning American prisoners said Saturday the Communists were holding back two men at nearby Kaesong because they exposed camp conditions to neutral Red Cross teams.

They told newsmen they did not know the names of the men under detention at the Reds' base camp.

Communist Red Cross representatives attended the interviews, the freed prisoners said.

The Communists returned only 50 Americans Saturday, the smallest number in a single day since "Operation Big Switch" began 11 days ago.

They were freed along with 80 Britons and 300 South Koreans. The Communists have promised to release 75 more Americans Sunday.

UPSTAIRS FARM
NEW ORLEANS (UP)—A charge of violating the city sanitary code has been filed against jeweler Leonard Gunzberg for operating a turkey farm on the second floor of his downtown store. Police found 20 fullgrown turkeys there.

'Chief' Williams Retires From Position As Campus Policeman

"Chief" James Louis Williams, Jr., retired this week as campus policeman at East Carolina College after nearly 37 years of active duty.

His retirement is the third this summer of the "old-timers" who have seen the college grow from a plant of five buildings to five times that number now, and from a student body of fewer than 350 to a figure of 2,280 for the past academic year.

Miss Ola Ross, assistant registrar, retired June 30 and Miss Ann L. Redwine retired June 1.

"Chief" Williams first took his position as campus policeman in 1917, but left for other employment after a few nights. On insistence of Dr. Robert H. Wright, president of the college, Williams returned and on January 1, 1918 he began a tenure of service which ran continuously through the administrations of five presidents — Wright, Dr. Leon R. Meadows, Dr. Howard McGinnis, Dr. Dennis H. Cooke, and currently, Dr. John D. Messick — and with only three brief leaves due to illness in the more than three and a half decades he was on duty.

When Mr. Williams took the office of campus policeman he was a "planchetman" and had only a small gun and a time clock which he punched when he was on his rounds of the wooded campus and the Wilson and Jarvis Halls, Austin Building, the dining hall, and the combination steam-power plant or handle any other matter which normally falls within the jurisdiction of a police officer.

A Lot of Walking

"I have had a lot of walking over the campus and in hot weather and dry, rain and sleet and an occasional snow, fair skies and gray, and have seen Greenville and the college grow together to their present size and they are still growing bigger," commented the "Chief", as he has become affectionately known to thousands of students.

"I can't talk about my thrills and close calls," Williams observed, "but I have had thrills and spills, and they have come in spells."

Asked about the difference (if any) in students of a generation ago, or at different periods during his duties as campus policeman, Williams, duly grinned and commented: "Human nature is always the same." And there was no elaboration on this terse sentence.

Chief Williams was born on Friday, December 13, 1884, which makes him 68 years and 8 months old — more than three years beyond the retirement age for state employees — but he stayed on at East Carolina College until replacements could be found. There will be two men to succeed him, and their hours will be shorter; the work is greater, the area to patrol is larger, and the campus population is increasing.

High Waters Recede; Repairing Of Damage Starts

Coast Is Mopping Up

By LARRY DALE

United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW BERN (UP)—Coastal North Carolina mopped up today in the wake of Hurricane Barbara and communications torn down by the Thursday night blow slowly were restored.

NANTUCKET, Mass. (UP)—Hurricane Barbara wheeled out to sea today after buffeting the Atlantic coast from North Carolina to Cape Cod and taking seven lives.

High waters receded from roads that had isolated villages on the Outer Banks. Power and communications were up again, but officials estimated it will take a week or longer to repair all communications damage.

Surveys were being made in every county in the hurricane's path.

While property damage and loss of life was relatively light, crop damage in some sections was heavy.

Losses of corn, cotton and beans by Beaufort County farmers alone was estimated at $1,000,000 by County Agent W. L. McGahey.

Thousands of dollars in property damage losses were counted in Craven, Pamlico, Dare, and Currituck counties, and along the Outer Banks. Homes, garages and other buildings were unroofed.

Two waterfront cottages on the Neuse River in Pamlico County were flattened. A dozen others were damaged.

Literally hundreds of small boats were swamped along the coast. One riverfront warehouse here suffered $30,000 damage to turn-ture when water poured in.

Tobacco, corn and other crops were sodden, much of it ruined. Some fields were flattened by the winds.

The fierce tropical blow carried such force that it ripped huge sections of concrete block walls from the Morehead City yacht basin, flattening a car and damaging a house trailer and another car. Boats in the basin escaped damage.

Gusts were officially clocked at 103 miles an hour at Cherry Point. Wind gauges were broken when winds reached a sustained velocity of 90 miles an hour, but the big Marine air station came through with minor damage. Six Marines received superficial injuries and one man suffered a broken leg.

Rhee Calls For March To North

SEOUL, Korea (UP)—President Syngman Rhee, in a blunt speech on South Korea's sixth anniversary as a republic, called for a "march north at the earliest possible time" to seize North Korea from the Communists.

Rhee predicted the post-armistice political conference would fail to reunite Korea peacefully. He clung to his demand that a 90-day limit be placed on the conference.

"It is our wish and determination to march north at the earliest possible time to save the North Korean brethren from the sure death they are facing today," Rhee said before an audience estimated at 100,000.

"We are destined to share with them life or death and we are fully aware that our mental attachment and official obligation to them hardly allow us to delay their ultimate salvation another few hours."

(In London, Prime Minister Winston Churchill warned that Britain would not support Rhee if he should break the truce. At the same time, Churchill said Britain would be willing to renew the fighting if the Communists violated the armistice.)

The 78-year-old Korean leader said the United Nations could have won the war but "deliberately decided against victory as its goal."

Labor Crisis In France Relaxés

PARIS (UP)—The labor situation in strike-crippled France took a slight turn for the better today, but there were indications that the Communists hope to transform a weekend lull into the calm before the storm.

Highway Accidents Last Night
Send 6 People To Pitt Hospital

Highway accidents in Pitt County last night sent six persons to the hospital with injuries.

Five persons were injured at 7:30 last night when a one and one-half ton truck being driven by a 18-year-old Negro boy went out of control, striking an electric light pole.

The accident occurred on a rural dirt road nine miles south of Greenville, off NC 43.

Investigating officers W. W. Joyner and James Boykin listed the injured as being: Hilda Mae Ward, 24, of Route 2 Greenville, cuts on the face; Delmon Leon West, 14, Route 2, head injuries; Wilbur Ward, 24, Route 2, head injuries;

Mayor Extends
City's Welcome

Mayor W. L. Whedbee has officially declared next week, August 17-22, Little League Week in Greenville in celebration of the Region Five Little League tournament to be held here.

Seven championship Little League teams from six Southern states will be in Greenville next week to compete for the Region Five championship which will carry with it a berth in the Little League World Series to be played at Williamsport, Pa.

In addition to the teams from Lexington, Ky., Dade City, Fla., Rome, Ga., Birmingham, Ala., Nashville, Tenn., North Charleston, S.C., Maderia Beach, Fla., and Concord, N. C., there will be several hundred parents and friends of the players here for the tournament.

Mayor Whedbee in declaring Little League Week declared, "We welcome these Little League teams, the players' parents and their supporters to Greenville. We want them to feel Greenville is living up to its reputation as the "friendly city," and when they leave we hope they do so with a desire to return to Greenville."

"Greenville is honored to have this regional tournament held here," the mayor said. "We feel that these young boys on Little League teams will be citizens of tomorrow and their training in the fair play of competitive athletics will stand them in good stead when they are called on to meet problems which in a few short years will be shifted to their shoulders."

Whedbee urged the visiting Little League players and supporters to make themselves at home in Greenville, and urged the full cooperation of the local citizenry in making their a pleasant stay in Greenville.

The regional tournament being played at the local Little League park next week is under the sponsorship of the Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

New Team Takes Over
As Joint Chiefs Of Staff

WASHINGTON (UP)—A new team of generals and admirals, headed by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, took over the military high command today with the assignment of taking a "new look" at the nation's entire defense setup.

Only simple ceremonies at the Pentagon marked changeover in the membership of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. But from the change may come decisions revamping national defense policies followed for the past several years.

New chairman of the Joint Chiefs and the first Navy man to hold the top military post is the 58-year-old Admiral Radford, who succeeds Gen. Omar N. Bradley. Bradley's last official act was to swear in his successor in the office of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's turn to take the oath came an hour later. The former supreme Allied commander in Europe succeeds Gen. J. Lawton Collins as Army chief of staff.

Linwood Nelson, 18, Route 2, shoulder injury; Hoover Lee Nelson, 16, broken wrist and possible other injuries.

All of the injured with the exception of Nelson were riding in the back of the truck, and were thrown from the truck when it ran off the road and hit the power pole.

Boykin quoted the driver as saying that a small black dog ran in front of him, and in avoiding the animal he wrecked.

Damage to the truck was placed at $350. The electric light pole was broken and had to be replaced.

West was charged with having no operator's license.

An accident occurring at 6:25 last night on the Old Creek Road was blamed by Highway Patrolman James Boykin on "racing of three automobiles."

Boykin said that a witness at the scene of the accident stated a car driven by Russell Harris, 34, of Route 4 Greenville, was racing with two other cars at the time it went out of control and traveled 339 feet, overturning four times.

The driver was charged with driving drunk, and careless and reckless driving.

The car was demolished in the accident.

The accident occurred on the Old Creek road, two miles north of Greenville.

Pride in the teaching profession is the privilege and should be the possession of every teacher in America, declared Ella Cherry Moore of Batteboro, immediate past president of the North Carolina Classroom Teachers Association, addressing the Robert H. Wright Chapter of the Future Teachers of America at East Carolina College.

Miss Moore and her twin sister, Millie Moore, were campus guests and addressed FTA chapter members on the privileges of being teachers. They were presented by Miss Olive Clinks of Kingston, ECC student.

Miss Virginia Dare Harris of Littleton presided and Miss Lena Taylor of Sea Level recorded the proceedings.

Misses Moore discussed objectives of the Future Teachers of America in professional growth and advancement of teaching. While on the campus they were guests of Miss Emma L. Hooper, advisor to the Robert H. Wright FTA chapter.

City Employee Is Found Dead

N. H. Stokes, 44, city employee, was found dead around midnight last night at his home at 117 Colton Street, Coroner Griffin H. Rouse reported today.

He had been dead around one hour when discovered by his wife, Helen, Rouse said.

The body was taken to the S. G. Wilkerson Funeral Home for burial.

Nearby Room Is Urgently Sought

Not all of the 300-odd people following their favorite Little League baseball team from home towns to Greenville for next week's Region V Tournament are in the same fix as a young player and his mother from Rome, Georgia.

The Georgia player will stay in Wilson Hall at the college with his teammates, but his mother would like to find a room as close by as possible, in order that her son may receive needed attention. The young Little Leaguer has diabetes.

Anyone who has a room available for either one or three persons close to Wilson Hall is requested to contact Mrs. Warren Carroll, at 5277. Rooms are urgently needed for many other fans and parents accompanying the squads. Most will arrive here tomorrow to stay until Thursday.

Anyone wishing to rent out a room or two during the week is also asked to get in touch with Mrs. Carroll at 5277.

Kiwanians Hear Musical Program

George E. Perry, East Carolina College music department, and Miss Ellen Sprinkle of Asheville, mezzo-soprano, presented a musical program at the Kiwanis Club's weekly supper meeting last night.

Miss Sprinkle, a student at the college, sang the following numbers: Handel's "He Was Despoiled," Quilter's "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal," Sibelius "Black Roses" and Clara Edwards' "Into the Night."

Mr. Perry, at the piano, played "Jealousy," a specialty number.

For an encore, he and Miss Sprinkle played two duets, "Tango in D" by Albeniz, and "Dixie Fingers" by Confrey. J. C. Clifford Jr., program chairman, invited the two musicians to appear on another Kiwanis program in the autumn.

Chairman Robert Elks reported that the Kiwanis Little League Committee had completed arrangements for providing supper for the visiting baseball players at Elm Street Park Sunday evening at 6:30.

Guests of the club last night were John Reitz of Charlottesville, Va., Larry B. Carr of Greenville, television specialist, and Dr. J. L. Winstead of Pitt Memorial Hospital staff. President Leo W. Jenkins presided.

WARM FRIDAY

The highest temperature in the Greenville area yesterday following the rain and wind storm Thursday was 80 degrees. Lowest temperature last night was 70 and at 8 a.m. today it was 78.

Modern Utilities' Water Plant Is Nearing Completion

WALKWAY PATTERN — A study in symmetry is afforded by the rectangular walkways over the four new sedimentation basins. Water enters these after having been mixed with chemicals for purifying and separating the trash. Provision is made for adding additional basins when needed.

WATER GETS LAST DOSE — In the clear water flumes above, the filtered and treated water gets one final going over as ammonia and chlorine are added to put a damper on any harmful bacteria which may have survived the other stages. From these compartments it is pumped into the mains out over the city.

NEW PLANT NEARS COMPLETION — A view of the new $538,000 water plant of the Greenville Utilities Commission on the Tar River catches a perspective from showing the concrete filter troughs in the foreground with the remainder of the plant behind. The new system now has a capacity of 3,000,000 gallons of ready-to-use water over a 24-hour period. (All Reflector Photos by Roy Hardee)

ENTIRE PLANT WORKED HERE — The control panel in the central upstairs portion of the building from which the major part of the water flows is controlled. Motors are operated and pumping power is added or decreased by buttons and levers visible on the panels at left, while gauges at right tell "how much" and "how long."

$538,000 Set-Up Took Seven Years In Building

By HOWARD LINDSAY
Reflector Staff Writer

The most ambitious enterprise in recent years for improved utilities service in the Greenville area now is nearing completion on the banks of the Tar River—a modern $538,000 water plant, fully equipped from intake lines to power pumps.

Requiring seven years in the construction, the new plant and filtration system already has received official inauguration when water was started through its various processes for the first time about three months ago.

Now it won't be long before the remnants of the old plant, which has been raised to make room for the present set-up, are cleared away and the final stamp of approval is in order.

With the adding of these finishing touches, Greenville has a plant with twice the capacity of its old station and additional provision for making it four times as large, formerly if and when the need dictates.

Four new sedimentation basins and filters which will handle 750,000 gallons each gives the new plant a total capacity of 3,000,000 gallons of water over the 24-hour day as compared with only 1,500,000 gallons possible when the old plant was in operation.

In the new plant, water must go through a number of separate cleansing and purifying stages before it is ready to be pumped out over the city's mains and into the faucets of several thousand users.

First, the "raw water," as it is called, is drawn from the Tar River into mixing chambers where such purifying ingredients as alum, lime and charcoal are added and thoroughly mixed with the water in the "flocculation basins."

The water next goes to the filters where it is cleaned of dirt and other impurities.

Although one ordinarily thinks of sand as dirt in itself, rather than a cleansing agency, that is what is employed — and in two different sizes — in giving the water itself a "face-washing."

After that, it passes through four layers of rock where sandstone collects additional scum and dirt particles. As the water drains down, bits of trash tend to adhere to the surface of the rock. Further enhancing of the cleaning job is afforded by pressure from below which keeps the water in a constant rinsing motion with the sand.

In the "clear water flumes" into which the filtered water moves, new insurance is taken to combat any remaining bacteria in the water.

Here it gets one last dose of ammonia and chlorine after which it is ready to be moved out of the reservoirs into the city system.

One of the happiest features of the new plant and its all-concrete filter basins from the standpoint of Chief Operator Jess Whitchard and his assistants is the ease of operation. At one control panel, for example, operation of the motors and in fact, the entire plant can be handled merely by buttons depressing or throwing switches.

So far as the city and utilities commission is concerned, another happy feature is the price tag.

Starting out with an estimate of $413,000 in 1946 with funds partly derived from a $296,000 bond issue, the commission has supplemented this with $125,000 since construction got under way.

The total of the 3,000,000 capacity equipment added which comes to $538,000, compares favorably with plants of the same size in Burlington, Chapel Hill and Goldsboro where the costs ranged from $623,000 to $728,000.

Bonds floated for the project were the 35-year variety, scheduled to be paid off in 1987.

In addition to the chief operator, the utilities commission employs three attendants who work in shifts and keep an eye on the plant's operations 24 hours a day. A laboratory section also has been provided where the water is tested continuously for its bacteria content.

Constructed in conjunction with the water plant new electric equipment has been installed, and was put into operation in 1950.

Reproduction Of Holy Land, And Drama Is Planned

By JACK GAVER
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP) — A permanent reproduction of a portion of the Holy Land of 2,000 years ago in which the drama of Jesus Christ would be enacted year after year is the latest plan of Eddie Dowling, noted actor and producer.

The project, to be called Holy Land U.S.A., probably will be established on a mile-square site near Jacksonville, Fla., where temperature and terrain are similar to the original, Dowling said.

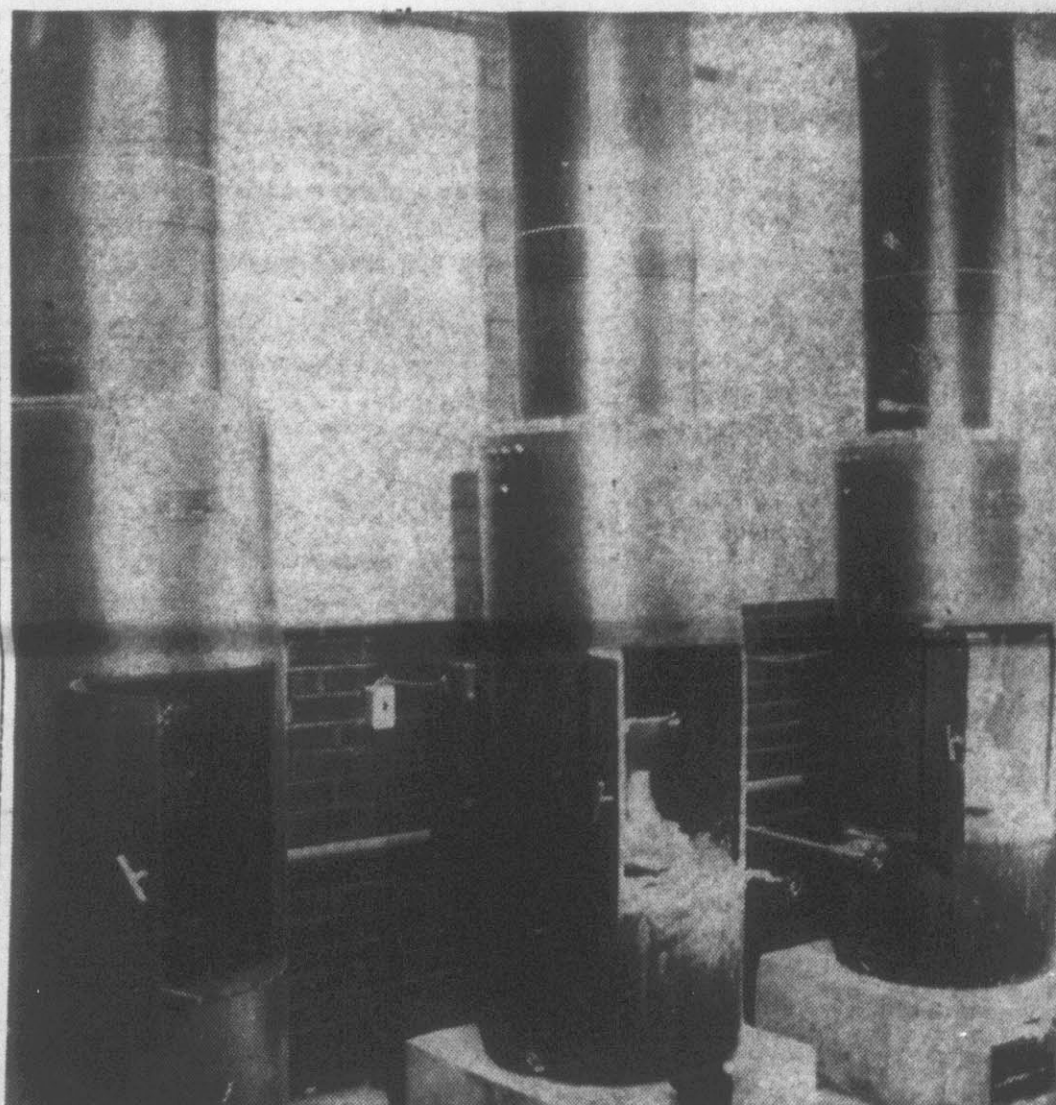

Dowling, revealing the plan in the current issue of the Catholic Digest, said the $2,000,000 project will be non-sectarian and supporter already include persons of many religions. The producer said he anticipated no trouble in raising the money once the stock subscription is opened to the public.

The physical structure will be a reproduction of a sort of composite Bethlehem, Jerusalem and Nazareth, with the ancient type of homes and roads and shops. People wearing the dress of the period will go about the traditional activities while Holy Land, U.S.A. is open to visitors, who will pay a nominal entrance fee.

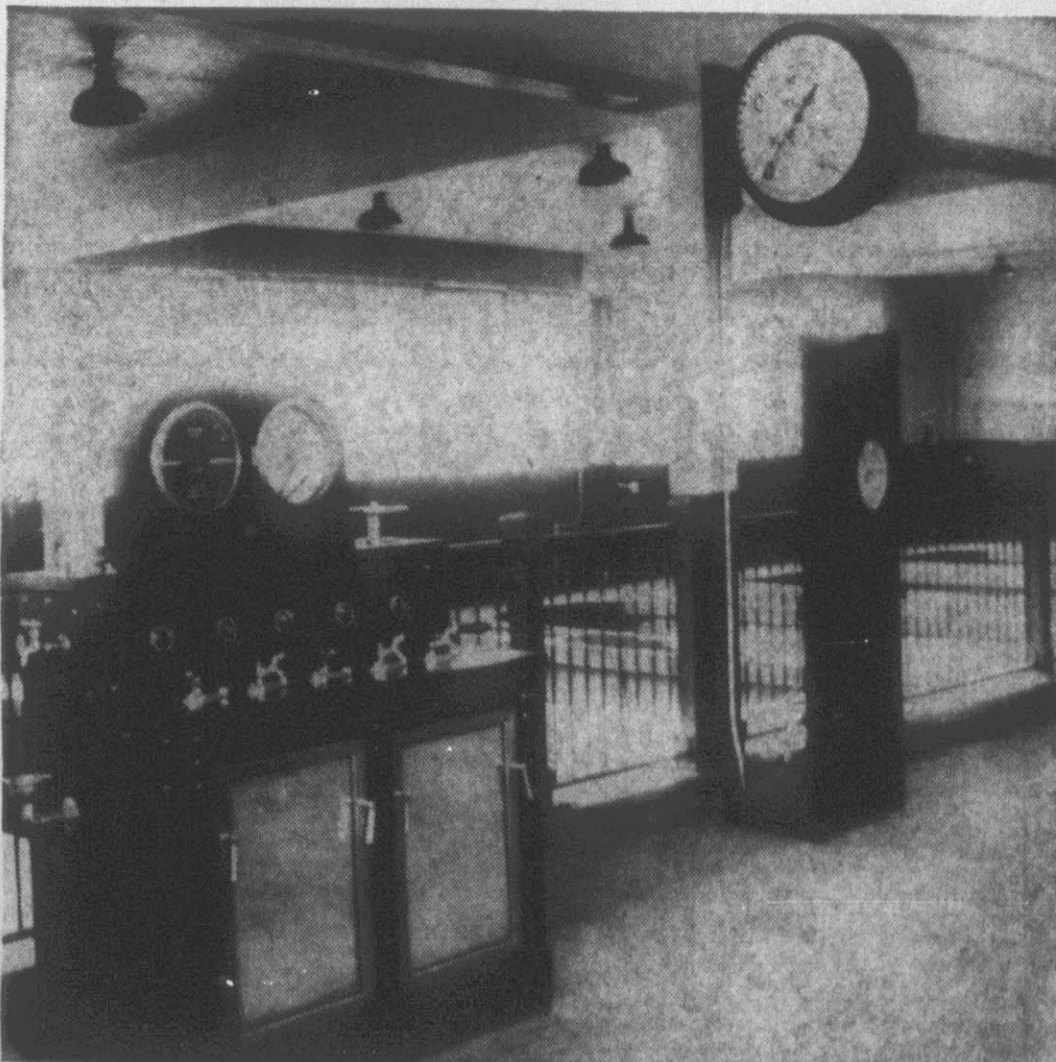

Included will be an amphitheater seating 5,000. Here the drama of the Nativity and the Passion will be enacted by professional players for 120 performances from the Christmas season to Easter. Admission to the performances would be scaled at movie prices, Dowling said.

The producer has selected two works to be performed — the late Don Marquis' "The Dark Hours," to depict the Passion, and Vittorio Gnaninni's musical "Emanuel" for the Nativity play.

Dowling and his principal associate, Howard B. Kreitsek, acquired two parcels of Florida land as possible sites. One is at Punta Verda, south of Jacksonville, and the other just north of Palm Beach. While a final decision hasn't been reached, the Punta Verda

FEED SOURCE FOR MIXING — Here are the 'feeders' which send the proper quantities of alum, lime and vegetable charcoal into the mixing chambers in the early stages of the purifying operation. This mixing takes place in continuous movement after the "raw" water has been brought in from the river.

A Mighty Big Business In The County

Most people in Pitt County are justly proud of East Carolina College and the service it is performing for communities throughout the eastern section of the state.

Every now and then, however, we come across some figures which point out in concrete terms rather than intangible form what the college means to the county.

While the dollars and cents value of East Carolina College to Pitt County is almost insignificant compared to what the college means to the county in other ways, we thought we would pass these figures along.

The Threshold Of The Fall Season

With the opening of tobacco markets in the Eastern Belt just a few days away, the pace of business activity is increasing in Pitt County.

Officially fall will not be here for a month yet. But so far as most Pitt Countians are concerned, the fall season will begin Thursday when the chant of the tobacco auctioneer begins.

For farmers the opening of the tobacco market will mark the beginning of the season in which they exchange the product of a year's labor for dollar bills. For merchants, it will be the beginning of the busy season when people are buying all those things they have put off buying since last fall, or at least since the first of the year.

Almost without exception citizens of Pitt County are looking forward to the fall season with great anticipation. The guessing as to what the marketing season holds in store for this outstanding agricultural county will soon pass as a definite trend in this year's tobacco prices and other farm commodity prices are seen.

In short, Pitt County now stands at the threshold of the season of the year in which money flows most freely within its boundaries. This year—as in past years—the old slogan "trade at home" is being emphasized throughout Pitt County.

It has proven good advice over a long period of years.

Strength for the Day

By EARL L. DOUGLASS
NO CONFLICT EXISTS

It is strange how people keep on harping about the conflict between science and religion. There is no conflict between science and religion, for science deals with the seen world and religion with the unseen. To be sure, religion brings the unseen down into the daily walks of life and makes spiritual realities practical. But religion has its source in a realm which none of our five senses can touch. The only way we can arrive at a knowledge of religious truth is by the exercise of faith—a sort of sixth sense. The object of our faith must be the Bible, the Church, and the continual daily messages which God is sending to our inquiring spirits, our groping minds.

Science on the other hand deals with material things. The scientist is right in saying that as a scientist he knows nothing about any truths such as religion sets forth. As individuals, however, many scientists—probably most of them—have their religious convictions just the same as other people do. But they are led to these religious convictions not by their science but by their faith.

There is never any conflict between science and religion if each stays within its own bailiwick. They are not contradictory in outlook and teaching but complementary.

Who Halted The GIs' Advance?

By RAY TUCKER

Every Saturday this veteran Washington newspaper correspondent devotes his column to answering readers' questions of general interest on national and international policies and personalities. Questions may be sent direct to Ray Tucker at 6308 Hillcrest Place, Chevy Chase, Md.

WASHINGTON—"To settle an argument," writes J.B.G. of Aberdeen, Wash., "who issued the orders stopping the American Army west of Berlin and waiting for the Russians to come through Poland and East Germany and take Berlin? And who stopped General Patton's armies from taking Prague, and caused him to retreat in Czechoslovakia?"

Answer: I know, as J.B.G. points out, that President Eisenhower, in a campaign speech, assumed full responsibility for ordering our forces to retreat and abandon key areas to the advancing Russians. Technically, he was correct. He did issue the formal military orders calling back our troops.

ADVANCE DECISIONS MADE BY ADVISORY BODY—But these arrangements had been made far in advance by the European Advisory Commission at London, with the late John G. Winant as the American member. Their decisions were approved, naturally, by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. Here is what General Omar N. Bradley says on this question on Page 533 of his memoirs, entitled "A Soldier's Story."

"Indeed if we could reach the Elbe River, as we proposed to do, we would have overrun one-fifth of the zone allotted to the Soviets."

"These occupation boundaries had already been drawn by the European Advisory Commission in London. They had been haggled over at Quebec, approved at Yalta, and finally forwarded for compliance to us in the field."

EISENHOWER, BRADLEY DUMBFOUNDED—I personally asked Bradley about his reaction to this division of territory. He said that he and Eisenhower were "dumbfounded," but had to obey orders.

Here is what he says about the split-up of Berlin that has caused so many postwar difficulties:

During the fiscal years from 1947 through 1952 the state of North Carolina spent for permanent improvements on the campus of East Carolina College a total of $3,854,519 which included in addition to other buildings the new library which is under construction.

This year the 1953 General Assembly of North Carolina appropriated another $1,988,360 for permanent improvements at East Carolina College which will include among other things the construction of a new dormitory for men and one for women.

In addition to this more than five million dollars appropriated for permanent improvements at East Carolina in the past six years, the amount of money appropriated by the state for operation and maintenance of the institution showed an increase of 34.3 per cent from the 1951-53 biennium to the 1953-55 biennium.

For the period 1951-53 a total of $2,797,356 was appropriated for operation and maintenance expenditures at East Carolina. In the biennium which began last July 1 total expenditures for similar items will amount to $3,224,118.

Taken altogether, those figures amount to big money even in big business terms. And for most part, a great percentage of that money is spent in Pitt County. Add to that amount the money spent each year by individual students at the college, and it rises even higher.

It certainly is not idle chatter when one remarks that East Carolina College one of the greatest single industries as well as one of the greatest assets Pitt County has. Neither is the assertion that the college needs the constant active support of the people of Pitt County to be taken lightly.

The Tail Is Wagging The Dog

Widespread unrest in France which threatened to topple the already unstable French government apparently is subsidizing.

For all practical purposes, the general strikes—inspired by communists and highly organized workers—amounted to a revolution in an attempt to overthrow the government of Premier Joseph Laniel.

In his recent formation of a new French cabinet, Premier Laniel announced far reaching economy measures designed to rescue France from its precarious perch on the cliff of bankruptcy. The general strikes by some four million union workers—many of them government employees—were in protest to the measures outlined by the new Premier.

The power exhibited by the employees of the French government in the strike was clearly a case of the tail wagging the dog rather than the dog wagging the tail. It has certainly become an unhealthy situation in the French government, and a situation which will make it difficult for elected government to regain sufficient control to operate government for any length of time.

"Meanwhile, as a result of an agreement reached in London by the European Advisory Commission, Berlin was established as a four-power island in the center of the Russian zone. . . . We were to have no corridor, no assurance, no specific guarantee of passage through the Russian zone."

OFFENDED BY BERLIN ISOLATION—"Although I did not dispute the Great Russian—for I was no less beguiled than the others on the Soviet's friendly postwar intentions—this isolation of Berlin offended me primarily because it violated one of the fundamental tenets of logistics. In fighting a battle, I would never have assumed responsibility for a sector unless I was certain I could have supplied it."

"In the supply of Berlin we were to be totally dependent upon the good will of the Soviets."

You lose the argument, Captain J.B.G.

IS HATCH ACT A FRAUD?—"Doesn't the Mayock-Lasdon-Snyder tax scandal prove that the Hatch Act is a fake?" inquires F.T. of San Diego, Calif.

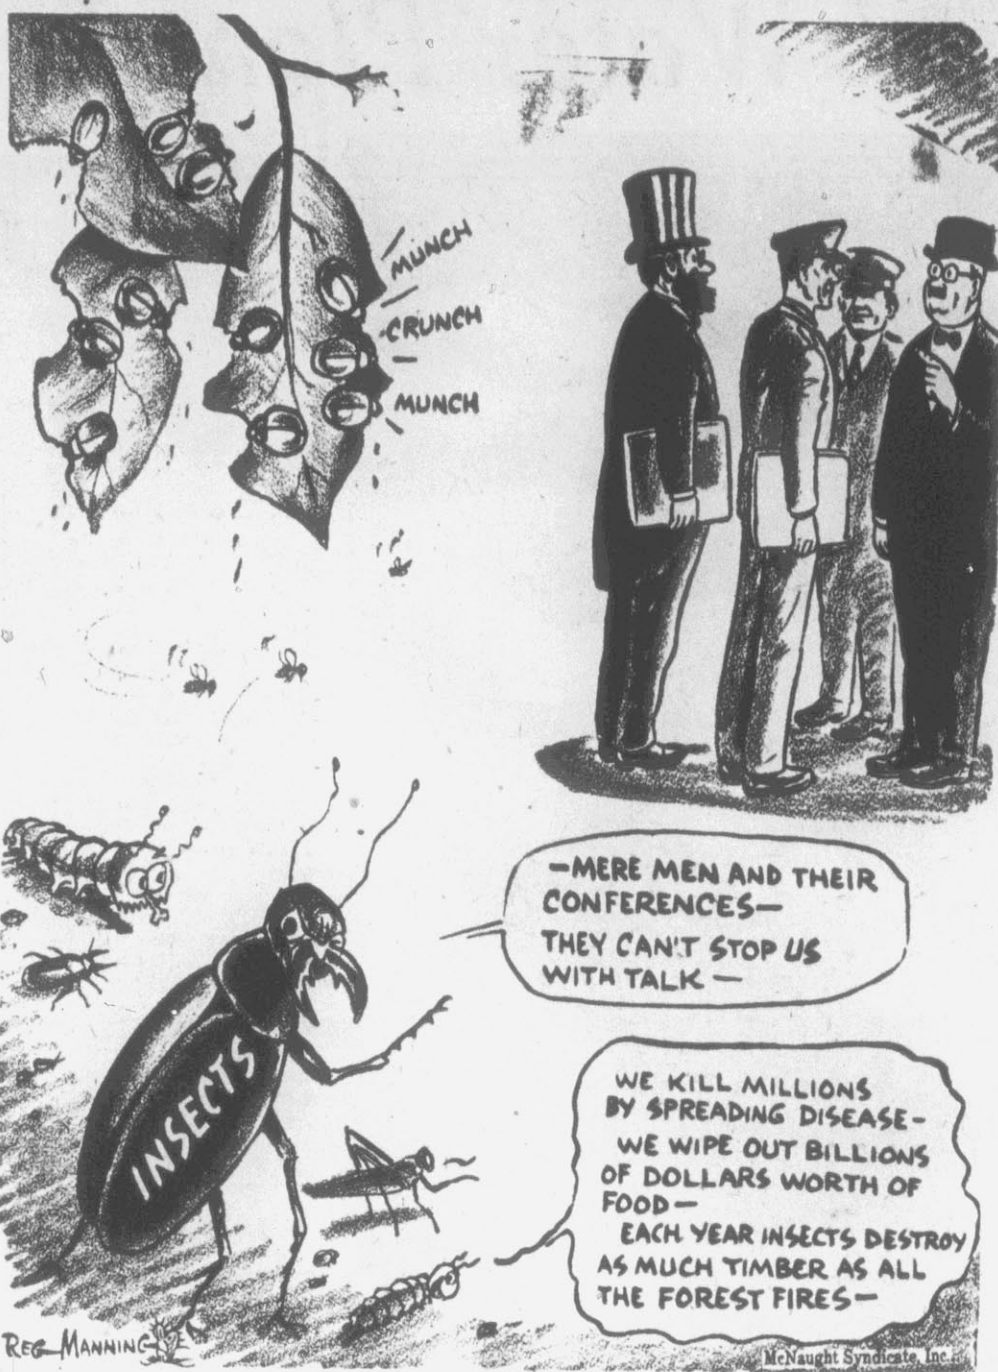

Answer: It did not need this near-crooked deal to demonstrate that the so-called clean politics law is and has been a fraud, and was deliberately written to please the pure-in-heart voters without hurting the politicians.

The statute limits the amounts which each national committee may spend. But it does not prevent phony political committees from spending the maximum. It limits the amount candidates for Congress may shell out. But it permits their friends to spend $5,000 each.

In the Mayock affair, the Democratic lawyer funneled $30,000 of his fee into the coffers of the Democratic National Committee and persuaded friends to contribute the maximum of $5,000. But he did not invent the system. In every election since the law was passed, wealthy Republican and Democratic families have evaded its provisions in this same way.

From experience with this and the Corrupt Practices Act, it is evident that it is impossible to write an honest and enforceable law on this subject.

The Worst Enemy

Somebody Told Me

Hospitality Time For Little Leaguers

My message for today will probably be delivered to you very soon from every angle, but nevertheless I want to urge you: Be unusually friendly next week!

The 5th Regional Little League Championship playoffs at Elm Street Park will bring an estimated 500 people to Greenville, and that estimate is very low. The eight state championship teams will bring in 128, and their followers will bring the total up to at least 500.

The Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the event and every detail is being directed by the general chairman of the project, Les Turnage. The players will wear special "T" shirts, donated by the Greenville Chamber of Commerce. Adult followers of the teams will wear a special lapel pin, bearing the Little League emblem on a white card with their names written in. If you ever did anything to help Greenville, please do this: Keep your eyes open for these people next week and when you spot them, walk up to them on the street and tell them that we're glad to have them here.

Robert Elks has donated many hours of his time to line up meals every night (Sunday through Wednesday) for the boys at Elm Street Park. Many merchants have given food for this purpose. Civic clubs have donated many dollars to make these free meals possible. The JC entertainment committee has lined up swimming, movies, and visits to the Greenville tobacco market for the boys.

Les told me to be sure to emphasize that rooms are still needed for followers of the teams. Rooms for the players and coaches have been rented by the JC's from East Carolina College, and they will be housed at Wilson Hall. But the parents and other fans will be in dire need of rooms. That's about the only thing that's really worrying me," Les said. "We certainly do need rooms. Be sure to say that if you have room, call Margie Carroll, 5277, and let her know."

One team, the North Florida Champions, arrived yesterday. When the coach saw Elm Street Park he was carried away. "I don't know how we could possibly get such a beautiful park in Florida," he said. "Maybe we should take some of this tobacco down there if it gets such results."

Dot Edwards, one of the followers of the State's third-ranking Little League Team, Greenville, to the Greensboro State Championship playoffs, remarked that it was a very enjoyable trip out Greensboro was most un-cordial to their visitors. Please make a different impression on our visitors next week!

And I'll really appreciate it, as a Greenville JC.

What Other Editors Are Thinking

APPROACHING THE BIBLICAL LIFESPAN
(Rocky Mount Telegram)

Thanks to modern science, the Biblical lifespan of three score years and ten (70) years will soon be the average lifespan in the United States.

That's the interesting information provided by the statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

They base their prediction on the record high longevity achieved by Americans in 1950 and the 21-year gain in average lifespan during the first half of this century, as shown by records of the National Office of Vital Statistics.

In 1950 the average lifespan of the American people reached 68.4 years. White girl babies born today can expect to live, on the average, 72.4 years. For white boy babies the figure is 66.6 years.

All white women 21 years old or older can expect, on the average, to live to be 75 years old before they die.

Among non-whites, expectation of life at birth is much lower. For males in 1950 it was 59.2 years and for females 63.2 years. Length of life on the average for non-whites in 1950 was practically identical with that for whites in 1937, the statisticians point out.

Further figures showing the improvement in longevity during the past half century are given as follows: With the mortality conditions of 1900, only 66 out of every 100 newly born babies (without distinction as to sex or color) could expect to live to age 40. Their remaining lifetime then averaged 28.3 years.

Under mortality conditions today, the newborn baby's chances of survival to age 40 are 92 in 100 and expectation of life at that age is 33.1 years. In other words, those that survive to 40 years can expect to live another 33.1 years.

The chances of living from age 40 to age 65 have risen to 74 in 100 and those aged 65 now can expect, on the average, to live another 14.1 years instead of the 11.9 years they would have had ahead of them at the turn of the century.

Certainly this information speaks well for our men of medicine and of science. It also speaks well for our American standards. Our information, for instance, is that the lifespan in India and China averages hardly half that of the United States.

This information also provides one of the finest arguments for our way of life in contrast to that in many other countries, some of whom have been trying to tell us what to do.

Sheriffs Stress Teamwork Among All Law Enforcers

By LYNN NISBET

SHERIFFS—The informal attitude of those attending as well as the formal programs of the N.C. Sheriffs Association meeting at Nag's Head emphasized the absolute necessity for co-operation among all law enforcement agencies if the persons, property and rights of citizens are to be protected.

It is to be expected, of course, that the high sheriffs of adjoining counties will work together. The large number of places where State agencies come into the co-operative scheme was surprising to your reporter.

INTEGRATED—Integration might be a better word than co-operation. Everybody understands that there is direct relationship between the sheriff's office and the Highway Patrol or the State Bureau of Investigation. The two State agencies dedicated chiefly to law enforcement. What about the Departments of Insurance and Labor? Why should they be interested in what the sheriffs do? And the Department of Welfare? All of these departments were represented at the convention.

INSURANCE—It developed that the insurance department is intimately concerned with many phases of the sheriff's activities. Any crime that involves stolen property or property damage or personal injury covered by insurance, becomes the concern of the insurance folks. So the presence of representatives of the State department and several casualty and fire insurance companies was appropriate.

LABOR—Forest Shuford, commission of labor, explained how his office was interested in safety law enforcement, often calling for mutual aid of State and local authorities. A major function of the labor department is dealing with labor-management difficulties, which many times erupt into violence. Cooperation was asked and pledged in controlling these situations before they become acute.

WELFARE—The welfare department and the sheriffs might seem at first glance to have little common interest. But in nearly every county the sheriff is responsible for operation of the jails, and in all the counties the welfare department is responsible for inspecting and regulating jail practices.

PATROL—The intimate relationship of the sheriffs and the highway patrol is in some respects more intimate because it is so obvious. Ed Schieldt, commissioner of motor vehicles, supported by Col. W.B. Lentz, patrol commander, and Maj. Dave Lambert, executive officer, pledged fullest possible cooperation of their agency. At the same time, Schieldt suggested that the sheriffs and other local law enforcement officers should not call upon the patrol to assist them until it was clearly evident the aid was essential. He emphasized the need for patrolmen to stay on the highways, and reminded that traffic law enforcement is also a responsibility of the local officers, while necessary assistance in other fields is the province of the patrol.

PEOPLE—Similar expressions of mutual aid were given by the SBI and the new parole board. All the promises and pledges are without value unless the public supports the officers in law enforcement. That point was forcibly made by Edwin Gill, State treasurer, after U.S. Senator Alton Lennon had commended the high type men who have filled the offices of sheriff in the 100 counties now and in the past.

Senator Lennon noted that North Carolina has been singularly free from any scandal involving a sheriff. Gill concurred in that commendation and added that since popular support is necessary for good law enforcement it is essential the chief enforcement officers be men of such high character. The attitude of the people and public willingness to support full and impartial enforcement of the law is the most important factor in the whole scheme.

POLITICS—Besides being the chief law enforcement officers in their counties, the sheriffs are generally high among the political leaders. So it is inconceivable that a sheriffs' convention would be held without a good deal of political talk going around. Majority of the incumbents are furthering plans now to hold their offices through next year's primaries and general election.

ENTERTAINMENT—Unlike some other groups which load convention programs with heavy material, the sheriffs apparently

Spending Speed-Up

By ELMER ROSENBERG
Spending by corporations and some partnerships and individuals may take a spurt as a consequence of tax considerations.

The excess profits tax is scheduled to expire at the end of the year and it is not likely to be extended. The last extension got through Congress only on promises, direct or implied, that it would not be re-enacted.

Tax consultants are already advising corporations in the EPT bracket to accelerate deductible expenditures. Assuming an eventual profitable return, it is better to spend dollars that would be taxed up to 83 per cent than to spend dollars taxable at normal corporation rates.

This is how it works out: Assume a corporation in the EPT bracket has blueprints for introducing a new product, and assume the promotion will cost $100,000, for which the corporation will gain a new market producing profits for years to come. If it spends in the current year, the actual reduction in net profits might be as little as $17,000. But if it spends the same sum next year, the reduction in net profits may be as much as $53,000.

On April 1, 1954, maximum normal corporation rates are scheduled to drop from 53 to 47 per cent. This, too, will tend to speed up certain expenditures. While the spread is smaller than in an EPT case, a vastly greater number of corporations are affected.

Personal income tax rates also are scheduled to drop around 10 per cent at the end of the year. This will cause a similar speeding up of spending by proprietorships and partnerships.

Before any spending is advanced, however, it should be determined whether the amount is deductible. Capital investments, of course, are not, but outlays for research, selling, promotion, and advertising usually are. But differentiations are so fine that no enterprise should embark on a program of spending tax dollars without the advice of a competent tax expert. Even at this, it is always a gamble because no one can ever be sure that taxes won't go up instead of down.

NO SOCIAL SECURITY FOR PHONY "EMPLOYEES"

The Internal Revenue Service is out to bust up a neat little racket.

It seems that some people have been hiring relatives as law clerks, bookkeepers and companions, and paying Social Security taxes on their "salaries."

This gives the relatives a pension for life after they reach 65. Hereafter, the IRS says, it is going to examine each case and if the employment isn't bona fide, it will not accept the tax.

So far the IRS hasn't caught up with many corporations that hire owners' wives, sons and nephews on salaries that come largely out of excess-profits taxes.

PERSONNEL DIRECTORS' SALARIES INCREASE

The average top salary members in personnel and industrial relations this year is $10,000, and in addition 65 per cent are receiving supplementary compensation averaging $1,881, according to a survey by Dale Yoder and Lenore P.N. Wilson of the University of Minnesota industrial relations center. Average salaries were $9,685 in 1952 and $8,700 in 1949.

STORE-TO-PARKING LOT PASSENGER BELTS PLANNED

New Yorkers have been talking for decades about a conveyor belt to replace the shuttle train between Grand Central and Times Square, but it looks as if Floridians will ride on one before Gothamites do.

A new supermarket planned for North Dade County will have to 2,000-foot passenger conveyor belt. The manufacturer (Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.) is testing a similar moving platform in an Aurora, Ill., factory. It also expects to sell more to other retailers, especially for use in taking customers to and from parking areas.

Worth Noting

LOST: $150,000.00

How much does government-in-business cost you as a taxpayer? The following statement by Professor O. Glenn Saxon of Yale helps provide an answer:

"With federal projects now producing one-eighth of our total (electric) generating capacity, the probable tax revenues lost to the federal government last year exceeded $90,000,000, and the loss to state and local governments approximated $60,000,000."

Her Little Roots Pulled Easy

By SAUL PETT
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Amy Pett, who is 10 and has roots, has finally changed her mind. She is now willing to move with her family to a larger house.

For months, we had talked about getting larger quarters. As the only male in a three-female, one-bathroom house, I was tired of shaving in the office. There were other reasons, too, but none that persuaded Amy.

All her friends are here, she insisted, and, besides, the cats wouldn't like it.

She was that adamant until a recent Sunday morning when the wind blew the real estate section over her comics.

"I wanna move," she yelled.

My wife and I exchanged direct looks of triumph. It was, in its way, a rare tribute to our long, subtle efforts to make the child change her mind without injury to the roots. The idea was to make her think it was really her decision—not a command.

"I wanna move to this house," Amy said.

The ad she displayed concerned a house with 49 rolling Connecticut acres overlooking Long Island Sound. It was described as a "gem-like residence of pure Italian Renaissance design" facing two miles of private waterfront.

How blind parents can be: It had never occurred to us that "pure Italian Renaissance" was Amy's favorite period.

The ad said the property included:

1. An outdoor floodlight theater.

"I could put on puppet shows and make a pile of money," Amy said.

2. Four formal gardens, including floodlit fountains and a replica of the famous Garden of Versailles.

"I'll plant tomatoes."

3. A ballroom with a maple floor balanced on springs.

"We could tip the whole thing."

4. Two and a half miles of automobile road.

5. An aerial organ in a 30-foot domed reception hall.

"What chopsticks?"

The tone of the interior, the ad said, is reflected by "the lavish use of gold leaf and marble" and "old fittings and Wedgewood inlays in the master bath." The ad continued:

"The main residence has six master bedrooms. Also on the property is a 14 room superintendant's cottage, an additional 8 room cottage, large greenhouse, stone coach house, and an 8-car garage."

This place, Amy observed, had more room for cars than our house now has for people.

"Despite the sumptuous nature of the house and grounds," the ad concluded, "it is possible to maintain the entire property, inside and out, with 10 in help."

"If desired, furnishings are available at $100,000."

So, naturally, I called the agent to find out how much the place cost without the furnishings.

"It has just been reduced," he said, "from one million to $500,000."

You see, with a little patience, tact and subtlety, you can get a child to agree to anything.

Hollywood Presbyterian Church Scene Of Brock-McGowan Vows

In a candlelight ceremony of quiet simplicity Miss Irene McGowan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie McGowan of Greenville, became the bride of Mr. Raymond Brock, son of Mrs. Raymond Brock Sr. and the late Mr. Brock of Winterville on Friday, August 14 at 5:30 p.m. at the Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

The Reverend Matthew W. McGowan of Homer, Georgia, brother of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony, assisted by the Reverend E. Lee Willingham III, pastor of the Hollywood Presbyterian Church.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Virginia Belle Cooper of Ayden, pianist, presented a program of sacred nuptial music. Miss Cora Pauline Moore of Ayden, soloist, sang "Entreat Me Not to Leave Thee," and "The Wedding Prayer" and as a benediction she sang "The Lord Bless You and Keep You." The traditional wedding march by Wagner and Mendelssohn were used for the processional and the recessional.

The church was decorated with a background of rich green huckleberry, oregon, plumoseus and emerald greens. Seven wrought iron branched candelabra with tall cathedral candles were used in front of the altar. Single candelabra with tall cathedral candles, decorated with sprays of white gladioli, were used at the altar on each side of the prie dieu. Large floor standards of white gladioli and entwined with huckleberry completed the setting. Pews were marked with plumoseus fern and white satin bows.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned with a high collar and fitted bodice embroidered with rhinestone over lace and a bouffant skirt forming a circular train. Her fingertip veil of imported bridal illusion edged in Chantilly lace fell from a cloche of lace and satin trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums centered with a white orchid and lightly showered with tuberoses and tied with bride's satin.

Miss Nina Lou McGowan, sister of the bride, attended her as maid of honor and Mrs. Harold Wall of Grifton attended as matron of honor. They wore gowns of mauve pink satin and net with fitted bodice, net stoles, and bustle backs. Their full gathered floor length skirts were covered with net and they wore matching bandeaux and mitts. They carried colonial bouquets of pompon mums and painted daisies tied with peach and better times satin ribbon.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gilbert Woolard Jr. of Williamston and Miss Barbara Ann Mayhew of Davidson. Their dresses were of light blue net over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice, and full tiered skirt and net stoles. They carried similar bouquets tied with fuchsia and peach satin ribbon.

Holden Avery of Winterville was his brother-in-law's best man. Groomsmen were Charles E. McGowan, brother of the bride, Harold E. Alder, and Connie Hines of Greenville and Laddie Avery of Winterville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McGowan chose a charcoal grey shantung dress with black and pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Mrs. Brock wore for her son's wedding a navy dress with navy and white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party received in the church against a background of palms, floor standards of flowers, and seven branched candelabra holding lighted tapers.

Mrs. Brock is a graduate of East Carolina College where she received her degree in Elementary Education. Since graduation she has taught in the Lexington Junior High School, and at present is a member of the Bethel School faculty.

Mr. Brock received his education in the schools of Winterville. Having served two years in the Army, he returned in May to further his education at East Carolina College.

Later in the evening the couple left for a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a blue suit with navy and white accessories. She wore a white orchid lifted from her bouquet.

DOWN HE GOES!

But he's a game little fike, this youngster so well-padded on the North side. Even though his pillow doesn't keep him from falling, it does cushion his falls while he learns how to balance himself, how to stroke, and swing.

It will be that way with his life, too—and yours. As you grow older you often feel the need of something to cushion yourself against the jolts that come suddenly in everyday living.

Since you learn to skate only by skating, and to live only by getting into the thick of life, you have to expect these mishaps.

If you cushion yourself with the true knowledge of God and His ever-present love and watchful care, you will feel these blows less.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Home Builders Wallop Wholesalers 10-3 To Capture City Championship

Dan Gordan Shuts Out Garner-Wynne-Manning After Second Inning On No Hits; Tournament Starts Monday

Behind the five-hit pitching of Manager Dan Gordan, the Home Builders made a two straight over Garner-Wynne-Manning to win the City Softball Championship, as the Builders tallied 10 runs on 11 hits last night at Rose Athletic Field to turn back the Wholesalers 10-3.

Home Builders pushed across three runs in the top of the first inning and were never headed in the contest. The Wholesalers came back and scored twice in the bottom of the first inning on a homerun by Tom Boyd, and three consecutive singles.

The Garner-Wynne-Manning team made its final run in the second when Mac Eure led off with a walk and Boyd doubled. After the hit in the second inning, the Wholesalers did not touch Gordan for another hit or run. Home Builders played errorless ball throughout the game.

Leftfielder Red Painter paced the winners' attack with two singles and a double. Shortstop Paul Jones collected a single and double for the Builders, while Catcher Bob Dash had two singles. Boyd was the only player on the losers team to hit safely twice.

A double elimination tournament will start in the softball league Monday, with all six teams in the league participating. Monday night at 7:30 Carolina Dairies plays Wagner-Waldrop. At 9

Porterfield, Pierce Battle In Scoreless Inning Derby

By CARL LUNDQUIST
NEW YORK (UP) — The score was 34-23 to 29 today in favor of Billy Pierce over Bob Porterfield in the American League scoreless inning derby.

Porterfield got his chance today to overtake Pierce, but the chances were good that neither one of them would disturb the all-time record of 56 scoreless innings set by Walter Johnson of the pre-Porterfield Washington Senators of 1913.

Pierce Friday night pitched the third straight shutout, pitching the White Sox to a 7-0 victory over the Tigers on his sizzling six-hitter, which also was his 16th victory of the year. He had a no-hitter until Bob Nieman hit a pop-fly double in the fifth. Pierce hasn't been scored upon in two weeks during a period in which he has blanked the Senators, Yankees, and Tigers, plus turning in relief stints against the Athletics and Indians.

The White Sox lefty still was in another race with teammate Virgil Trucks to see who will come closest to winning 20 games. Right now it looks like both are a cinch to hit that figure and that would be unique since the White Sox have not had a 20-game winner since 1941 when Thornton Lee had 22.

"I'm not trying to set any records in any direction," said Virgil Trucks, "Porterfield probably will go ahead of me today on the scoreless innings. And as far as winning 20 for the White Sox, Virgil and I aren't in any race. We should both make it, figuring we'll both start eight more times. Right now I'm ahead of Virgil, but the way he is pitching I've got to win every game to keep that lead. What we're both interested in is whitening down that Yankee lead."

Pierce said he thought for a time Friday night that he would come up with a no-hitter.

"Until Nieman's fly fell through in the fifth, I figured this was the time I might make it. It is funny how you get that feeling sometimes but I'm not thinking about that or the shutout record. Sure it would be nice to get your name in the books but I just want to win."

"The only team I give a darn about shutting out is the Yankees." The Indians topped the Browns, 8-7, as Luke Easter drove in five runs with two homers and a single and Al Rosen also hit a Cleveland homer. The Yankees were rained

Football Practice

Greenville High School Football Coach Bill Kittrell has issued a call for a boys who are interested in playing football this year to report to the NYA center tonight at 7 o'clock for a short meeting.

Kittrell will give instructions for practice which is slated to be in Monday.

All-Conference For Farmville

Jack Allen, left, and Teddy Allen, right, will be two of the big boys in the Farmville High School football attack this year. Jack, a 185-pound center, and Teddy, a 165-pound halfback, paced the Red Devils last season and both boys made first team All-Conference.

Native Dancer Has Chance To Climb

But although the record book shows that Jim Dandy, at 100 to 1, beat Gallant Fox in the 1930 Travers, horsemen hardly could see how Dictator, Fly Wheel, Guardian 2nd, and Mr. Jamieson — who take on the Dancer today — could pull off another startling surprise.

For Jim Dandy's victory was scored in the mud. Native Dancer proved mud couldn't stop him when he romped home by eight lengths in the Arlington Classic.

The Arlington victory put the Alfred G. Vanderbilt colt in fifth place on the money-winning list. The winner's purse of $18,850 in the Travers would raise Native Dancer's total to $877,420.

Native Dancer was quoted at 1 to 20.

Kinston Battles Greenville Tonight

Kinston's Grays will meet the Greenville Giants tonight at 8 o'clock at Guy Smith Stadium in a Carolina-Virginia League contest. The local Negro semi-pro team currently leads the loop race with a 28-6 record.

With Paul Eason tossing a neat one-hitter, the Giants took their game last Sunday from the Nashville Ramblers, 2-0. The only hit off the offerings of Eason came in the eighth inning. Underwood, Clemmons and Winston were the leading batters for the victorious Giants.

Fifteen Farmville Footballers Return From Last Year's Team

Fifteen lettermen are expected to be on hand for the first practice session of the Farmville High School football team Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the high school gymnasium, according to Coach Charles Tucker.

Farmville opens its 1953 season with a home contest with Jamesville, new addition to the Coastal Conference, September 11. Last year the Farmville squad compiled a record of six wins, two losses, and one tie. The Red Devils compiled a total of 160 points to their opponents' 45.

Returning lettermen include first team All-Conference Center Jack Allen and Left Halfback Teddy Allen. Jack tips the scales at 185, while Teddy weighs 165. Jimmy Allen, 20-pound tackle, and Freddy Thorne, 170-pound end, will be back for the 1953 season. Both these boys made the second team All-Conference. Thorne, who made the honor as a freshman, has three more years of playing eligibility.

Coach Tucker will have his hard-running fullback, Sigbee Dild, back for another year. Dild saw a lot of action on defense as a line backer. Fleet-footed Jess Joyner, 133-pound right halfback, will be back.

Dick Allen, a senior, and Carroll Wooten, sophomores, are both among the returning lettermen. Both boys saw considerable action in the guard slots last season. Jack Lewis, 200-pound tackle who was used on defense last year, should bolster the Red Devils.

Missing from last year's squad will be Quarterback Charlie Fitzgerald, two ends, two tackles and one guard. The Red Devils coach will be assisted in his split-T formation tutoring by Sam Steel, who helped with the coaching chores last year. Some 25 or 30 boys are expected by Tucker and Steel for the first few days of the practice sessions. The first three or four days will be devoted to conditioning workouts, with the squad expected to get into heavy gear about Thursday.

In 1952 the Farmville eleven had a good passing attack, but Coach Tucker commented that he was in need of a passer. The Farmville mentor says that he will have to do a bit of experimenting to find a quarterback to run the team. A good punter would be a welcomed sight, comments Tucker.

Ayden defeated the Red Devils 14-7 last season, and Morehead City set Farmville down by a 6-0 score.

Game To Benefit Greenville Park

The South Greenville Park Project committee is sponsoring a baseball game Sunday afternoon at 2:30 between the Bethel Juniors and the Greenville Dodgers at Guy Smith Stadium.

Ladies and children will be admitted to the game free, and the men folk will pay a 50 cent admission charge. The committee is hoping to raise the remainder of the $3,000 goal needed to develop the South Greenville Park. All but approximately $50 has been turned in, and Luke Hemby, park and recreation supervisor, is hoping that the remainder of the goal will be reached at the game.

Dennis Morris is manager of the Dodgers.

Marlene Stewart Bids For Crown

LONDON, Ont. (UP) — Marlene Stewart, the first Canadian to win the British women's amateur golf title, bids for the Canadian Ladies' Open crown today when she plays Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., in the 36-hole final.

Miss Stewart, a 19-year-old student at Rollins (Fla.) College, overcame a three-hole deficit on the last four greens Friday to gain the final with a 1-up victory over Pat Lesser of Seattle, Wash.

Miss Romack, also 19, posted a 3 and 2 victory over Grace Lenczyk of Newington, Conn., in the other semi-final.

Fraley's Facts, Figures: LaStarza Seeking Revenge

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK (UP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Roland LaStarza is bitter and anxious for revenge against heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano in their title fight, Sept. 24 but he isn't letting his feelings give him any foolish ideas.

Rollie's animosity stems from a close decision he lost to Marciano three and a half years ago, and the latter's failure to live up to a return bout agreement.

"They don't have to tell me to get mad for this one," LaStarza says, "but I'm not saying that I'll be a tiger. That's not my nature. But I will fight with one purpose, and I'll do it boxing and punching and if I get a chance to knock him out, I'll take it." But it is clear he'll settle for a decision.

Lew Worsham, who won the lucrative "World" golf championship at Tam O'Shanter by holing out his approach shot on the final green, wants everybody to know that he didn't "miss" the shot. That idea got around because his wedge shot rolled so far — and a wedge isn't supposed to act that way.

"It isn't an ordinary sand wedge," Lew explains, "but a special MacGregor club which can be used either from traps or from the fairway and can give you two different types of shots." He used the same club to birdie the 17th, which shows that his winning eagle wasn't all "luck."

The almost unanimous race track conjecture that the four-year-old Tom Fool will defeat Native Dancer if and when they meet this fall isn't a backhanded blow at the greatness of the Belmont and Preakness winner. It's just proof that both of them may be real great.

Tom Fool was the two-year-old champion in 1951 but was out early in 1952 with a virus infection and missed those glory races such as the Derby, Preakness, etc. But since then he has proved that he had been around, he'd probably have been top horse. Anyhow, it should be quite a race when they meet.

Sabe Didrikson Zaharias, preparing for a comeback after a cancer operation, says she still gets "tired" but is determined to make good again "because you just can't let it beat you"...proving that, as a champion, she's never been away.

"Just call me 'Podner'!"

I've got the rope, and as soon as I can get a loan from First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Greenville to build me a corral, I'll have a place to keep the calf uncle Hank gave me. Should be able to borrow that much, because Pop borrowed enough to help buy our rancho.

Layne Sets Pass Record As Lions Beat All-Stars

By ED SAINSBURY
United Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (UP) — Even a varied pass defense couldn't stop pitcher Bobby Layne from setting a new throwing record, and when the Detroit Lions showed their mid-season form, the 20th annual pro-college All-Star scrap was all but over.

The result, before 93,818 Soldier Field fans, was Lions 24 All Stars 10. It was the 12th win for the National Football League champions in the aging series in which the collegians have won six times with two games tied.

Layne pitched 21 strikes in 31 attempts for 323 yards through the air and the Lions amassed 339 yards on aerials to exceed the old record for the game of 306 yards set in 1940 when Cecil Isbell hurled the Green Bay Packers to a 45-28 win.

"Our offense was in mid-season form," Lions Coach Buddy Parker, in his second year, said. "Layne was throwing real good. After we moved the ball the first time, I didn't have any doubt."

Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech, coaching the All-Stars for the second straight year, said the pros "made great catches" to spark the win.

"When pros make catches like they did, no college boys are going to stop them," he said. "We played well under the circumstances, but they didn't stop the running game."

No Funds Remain To Pay Damages By Stray Dogs

Two Pitt County citizens have been notified by the county auditor that no funds are available for payment of claims for losses last year caused by stray dogs in Pitt.

Auditor Reginald Gray this week notified by letter Mrs. Vine Simmons of Greenville township and Claude Hardee of Swift Creek township that their claims for losses approved some time ago by a board of appraisal appointed by the County Commissioners—would not be paid because of insufficient funds left in the dog control program and the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947.

Gray explained that under the state statutes claims for losses caused by stray dogs must be held until the end of the fiscal year, and are to be paid if any funds remain in the dog program after paying expenses of the dog warden and approved some time ago by a board of appraisal appointed by the County Commissioners.

Money for the dog program and for the payment of claims must come from collections of dog tax by the county. The auditor pointed out that during the fiscal year which ended last June 30, the dog control program of the county cost a total of $460.38 more than dog taxes collected, and therefore left no funds for payments of such claims.

Gray said Mrs. Simmons' claim was for the destruction of 14 turkeys valued at approximately $90, and Hardee's claim was for the destruction of one sheep valued at $26. Both claims were filed with the county during the past fiscal year.

Public Welfare Board Used Roughly $500,000 For Year

Public accounting of approximately $500,000 allotted to the Pitt County Board of Public Welfare for the fiscal year 1946-1947 was released this week by Welfare Superintendent K. T. Futrell here in Greenville.

The report, covering the period from July 1, 1946 through June 30, 1947, stated that, in general, "for each county dollar used, North Carolina puts up one other dollar and the Federal Government puts up seven more." The survey listed the five principal financial services of the Welfare Department as: (1) Old Age Assistance; (2) Aid to Dependent Children; (3) Aid to the Blind; (4) Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled; and (5) Hospitalization.

As of last June 30, there were 890 active cases involving Old Age Assistance. According to the report, the minimum payment in old age cases is $5.00 and the maximum $55.00. The report stated the average grant in Pitt County was $25.57, which ranks the county 83rd among 100 counties in North Carolina.

Aid to Dependent Children, or money payments made to needy dependents who have been deprived of parental care and support, counted for 147 active cases on June 30, as compared with 213 for the previous June 30, a decrease of 66 cases.

There were 125 cases where Aid to the Blind funds were used. In this field of service, Pitt County ranked 60th in North Carolina with an average grant of $36.83. These services have included in the past year such items as Braille instruction and vocational rehabilitation training.

The newest state welfare service, which became effective in January,

The annual report ended with a vote of thanks to "the other county departments and county officials for the splendid cooperation given during the year. The local Cancer Committee, the I.B. Committee, the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs have given of their time and money in a fine and cooperative way. Physicians and the general public have given cooperation and support in all areas of service."

Reds Boast Big Losses By Allies

TOKYO (UP)—Communist propagandists claimed Saturday the North Koreans and Chinese "volunteers" killed, wounded or captured 1,093,839 United Nations troops, including 397,543 Americans.

Quoting an announcement from "supreme headquarters" of the Communists in Korea, Radio Peiping and Radio Pyongyang also said Red pilots and anti-aircraft crews had downed 5,729 Allied planes.

Observers here considered the Communist boasts ridiculous. The Communist count of 397,543 Americans killed, wounded and captured was more than twice the figure given by the Pentagon. Red claims on materiel also were considered grossly exaggerated.

The Communists' final summary of three years of warfare broke down the casualty list as follows: 397,543 Americans, 667,293 South Koreans, and 29,003 Britons, Turks and French.

The U. S. Air Force and attached United Nations units reported losing 999 planes during the war, only one-fifth the Red figure.

The Communists also claimed their troops captured 21,245,071 rounds of small arms ammunition, 489,200 artillery shells and 224,183 hand grenades.

They said the Communists sank 164 Allied warships, damaged 93 and captured 12. If this statement were true, the whole U. S. 7th Fleet would have been sunk. Actually only five small U.N. warships were sunk.

MANCHESTER Eng. (UP)—Two speeding trains collided on a high viaduct here today with such force that one crowded coach crashed through a two-foot-thick brick wall and plunged 90 feet into the Irk River, killing at least 10 persons.

Fifty police and voluntary rescue workers said they feared several more persons may have died in the twisted, half-submerged wreckage of the coach.

Ten bodies have been counted, they said, and 50 or more injured have been taken to three Manchester hospitals. Several were reported in serious condition.

MANCHESTER Eng. (UP)—Typhoon Nina approached this American island station today with winds raging within it at 155 miles an hour. It was expected to hit Okinawa sometime tomorrow.

The typhoon was the second most powerful in the Pacific since World War II ended. Only Gloria in 1949, which caused $100,000,000 in damage to Air Force installations on Okinawa, was stronger.

American personnel here, many of them remembering the onslaught of Gloria, were ready for Nina, even though weather forecasters believed the eye of the storm would miss the island.

Military personnel and their families moved into anti-typhoon cement block structure on the island to "sit out" the storm. They were issued emergency rations.

Pilots flew B-29 Superforts to locations out of range of the typhoons.

CALL HER BARBARA NEW BERN, N. C. (UP)—As gales of Hurricane Barbara lashed this city Thursday night a girl was born to Mrs. N. E. Ward at Kafer Memorial Hospital.

They named her Barbara Gale.

In 1930 in the United States about one out of seven employed persons living on farms had non-farm jobs. In 1940 the figure was one in five and in 1949 one out of three.
